Fishing Boat Given To Naval Air Station

A boat previously tied up here has been given to the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station by a San Antonio physician.

Now, men at the Air Station who don't have their own boats will be able to try their luck at deep sea fishing, thanks to Dr. S. Foster Moore, Jr., who donated his 29-foot custom-built boat, the Sirius, to NAS with no strings attached.

The boat was tied up here and Moore told Navy officials they could have it if they would come and get it.

A crew from the NAS boat-house picked it up and is now making it shipshape. It soon will be ready for deep sea fishing excursions into the Gulf of Mexico.

The boat, built of mahogany and teakwood, has a flying bridge and is equipped with a depth recorder and a ship-to-shore radio.

It is powered by two 185-horsepower motors, each with less than 100 hours of operation.

The NAS special services department, which will supervise the use of the boat, value it at $10,000.

Bonanza Shrimp Harvest Is Now Underway

Shrimp prices will favor the housewife this year if biological indications and the harvest trend continues, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

There are many signs which point to a very good shrimp harvest this year. A biologist's five-minute catch in a 10-foot trawl sample in Sabine Lake in early June netted 6,500 small brown shrimp, his largest catch in six years of sampling.

The May harvest of bait shrimp in Galveston Bay was a record: 202,000 pounds as compared to 19,000 pounds last year. Fish and Wildlife Service landing reports so far show offshore brown shrimp catches are 30 days ahead of last year.

The May harvest of shrimp in Texas totaled 2.4 million pounds, more than 220,000 pounds above landings for the same period last year.

Generally speaking, offshore shrimpers in the Gulf are making excellent catches this year, according to reports. The one exception appears to be a blank spot offshore where the Matagorda bay shrimp should have migrated.

Cold storage operators have been carrying high inventories of imported shrimp. A report published by the Fish and Wildlife Service for the January period predicted some weakness in shrimp prices, the degree depending upon how plentiful catches and imports were.

Prospects for continuing good catches and lower prices are favorable. The only "if" would be a long spell of bad weather which could keep the trawlers from operating.

This year's bonanza crop started with a mild winter which permitted the first wave of brown shrimp to move into the nursery areas of the bays and estuarine areas in February, much earlier than usual.

A mild spring followed, keeping the nursery area waters warm and fertile. These ideal conditions caused rapid growth and good survival of the browns, which make up the bulk of the commercial harvest.

Though spawned in the gulf, young brown shrimp migrate to the shallow nursery grounds to grow. As they increase in size, they move to deeper water and finally end up in the Gulf.

Department biologists, who constantly monitor shrimp movements, detected the early gulfward movement of this year's crop. The early migration prompted the Department.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $950,700 grant to be applied to funding a project to supply fresh treated water to the Rockport-Fulton area.

U.S. Rep. John Young announced that the department had approved the grant which was sought by the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District.

Harold Picton, president of the Conservation District, said the grant will cover part of the total cost of $2,450,700 for the water project.

The total cost will be provided as follows, Picton explained:

—$1,222,000 firm commitment loan from Texas Water Development Board at interest rate not to exceed 3.7 per cent.

—$280,000 commercial bond commitment from First South-west Co., San Antonio.

—$950,700 H.U.D. grant.

The water system plan envisions providing Aransas county with a dependable and long-range treated fresh water supply from Nueces River and adequate storing, pumping and distribution facilities to meet projected needs of the entire county until 1989.

Treated water from the Nueces River will be purchased from the San Patricio Municipal Water District and stored in an elevated tank with a capacity of 200,000 gallons.

The elevated storage tank will be constructed in the vicinity of the San Patricio district's delivery point near Ingleside. It will be linked by a 24-inch main supply line about 68,500 feet long to a 1.5 million-gallon terminal ground storage tank west of Rockport. Pump station distribution lines will be located at this point.

With notification of the H.U.D. grant, Picton said the next step will be for the Conservation District to present to the City Council a contract whereby the city will purchase water from the Conservation District. This contract must be ratified by voters of the city.

The Conservation District, Picton said, is now engaged in contract negotiations with the San Patricio Water District.

Regarding actual construction of the water system, Picton said, "We estimate that if prompt negotiations with Rockport take place, the system could be in operation in 14 to 16 months."

"The citizens of this area," Picton continued, "owe much to Congressman Young in connection with the water system plan. His help on this project has made it approach the present point of near reality."

"The Board of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation also wish to thank the many citizens who helped on this project by writing to their representative in favor of the project."

"The district also realizes there are some questions regarding the project that need to be answered so that everyone has complete understanding of the plans for the project, the method of financing and the importance to this area. The District intends to provide complete information by whatever means are necessary."

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller, speaking in behalf of the city of Rockport, said, "We are pleased to see the Conservation District receive the H.U.D. grant."

"The city has received from Urban Engineering a report of a study to determine Rockport's costs to produce and distribute water, and the council is in the process of analyzing this report."

"As soon as the report is accepted by the council, we will be in a position to begin negotiations with the District on a proposed contract for purchase of water."

Editorial

"CANNING DAY"

There came across the desk a few days ago a release from the extension service about it being "home-canning season" again. The handout commented that families don't go in for storing back fruits and vegetables as much as they used to.

On the surface it would seem to be the understatement of the year because in the old days families in town and country put back row upon row of canned peaches, apples, fresh home-made pickles, relishes from green tomatoes, beans and peas and so on.

Time was when Mom looked upon the pantry with pride and when visitors came during the winter months she diplomatically guided them into the store room to show off her jars that she had canned during the summer, and usually when the visitors left, she would insist that they take with them a jar of her pear preserves or her pickled relish.

Mom knew, too, a well-stocked pantry was like money in the bank come winter days when there would be little money coming in from the farm and she could withdraw from her food bank a few jars of this and that and she could whip up a pretty good dinner without spending her butter-and-egg money.

"Canning day" was a mad one back on the farm. Mom always wanted some pickled peaches on the front shelves of her pantry so people could see them. She always bragged that she canned the prettiest pickled peaches in the county.

This meant washing and peeling a couple or three bushels of the fruit out on the back porch, off from the kitchen. Pop brought up a wash tub and placed it beside the well beside the porch and he pulled up a bucket of cool water and dashed it into the tub and gave the fruit a good bath. Then on the steps, where there was shade from the sun the members of the family gathered, armed with peeling knives they sat to work and they'd peel and peel until the thumbs on their hands showed blisters and red spots.

Mom wanted green beans, plucked fresh from the garden, and they had to be washed, too, and then Mom would take them to the old wood stove in the kitchen, and she'd cook them lightly, and then carefully poke them down into the glass Mason jars and then she'd yell for Pop to come and screw the lids on tight over the rubber bands because he had a tighter grip. He'd screw and screw, and groan and wipe his hands to remove the moisture and then he'd say the lids were on as tight as they were going to be and he'd head for the front porch to sit and rest while Mom kept right on working stacking away the jars in the pantry. Then as the sun went down behind the oak tree out in the pasture back of the house, she'd close up shop and fall in bed dead tired from the labors of "canning day" and she'd sleep the sleep of an exhausted Mom, but content in knowing the pantry was full and the dinner table, come winter, would have food, and she wouldn't have to strain the financial resources by going to the store in town for fruits for pies, pickle peaches and green vegetables.

Much can be done to ease the travel of non-English-speaking foreigners here. If a real influx of European tourists is to develop, there must be more multi-lingual signs in U. S. hotels and stores and interpreters must be available.—Washing (Del.) News.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

THE RETURN OF MCGUFFEY

An Oklahoma firm has reprinted the set of six McGuffey's Eclectic Readers (and Primer), for use, we hope, in many American schools. William Holmes McGuffey, professor of moral philosophy at the University of Virginia (1845-1873), first issued his delightful disorganized, somewhat sober-sided but humane, Readers between 1835 and 1857. During the 19th century, and, indeed, until about 1920, the books were used in at least 37 states and sold, in the original and revised editions, some 122 million copies.

Those familiar with Professor Arthur S. Trace, Jr.'s fine critique of "progressive" education reading methods (Reading Without Dick and Jane), will readily appreciate the need for some literature of McGuffey's sort. "Dick and Jane" and "Run, Spot, Run" readers, as almost everyone knows, are everywhere. Professor Trace has described the teaching of reading in our schools as "programmed retardation."

Far too many Readers currently used in American schools deny students the opportunity of reading. Certainly, few, if any, can claim (as McGuffey claimed), "to obtain as wide a range of leading authors as possible, to present the best specimens of style, to insure interest in the subjects, to impart valuable information, and to exert a desired and healthful moral influence."

The McGuffey Readers included selections from almost every great American author then known: Nathaniel Hawthorne, Washington Irving, Louisa May Alcott, James Fenimore Cooper, Ralph Waldo Emerson, John Greenleaf Whittier, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, to name only a few.

The young people who read their McGuffey Readers learned a great deal about their own and others' countries. Reminders of God's presence, which appeared from time to time, contributed something to their spiritual wellbeing. Also taught obedience to law and order, respect for home and parents, the dignity of work, the value of Thrift and many other attributes of good citizenship.

If they can do so again, while improving our children's appreciation of literature, we say—with feeling—"Welcome back."—Columbia (S.C.) State.

STATISTICAL PUZZLE

The statisticians really have turned up a mystery in their discovery that eastern North Carolina and the eastern section of Georgia have the highest death rates from stroke in the United States. While even long lasting impressions may be inaccurate, these two areas have been regarded as easy-going, soft drawing places where life moves slowly, free from the tensions of such ratrace places as the great metropolitan centers.

The mystery is not lessened by the fact that the lowest rates occur in such places as southern Florida and Southern California. Rightly or wrongly, the impression has grown that these are the places of the congregation of the elderly and many often ready to blow their tops on almost and subjects.—Raleigh (N.C.) Girl Loses Spleen, 5th In Family

Twelve-year-old Laurie Little returned home from Spohn Hospital this week after becoming the fifth member of her family to undergo surgery for removal of her spleen.

She had surgery last week to help correct a blood condition that had made her anemic, hospital officials said. She was the fifth in her family to undergo a splenectomy at Spohn.

Laurie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Little of 1219 S. Church St.

Mrs. Little underwent the operation five years ago. Her brother had a similar operation 20 years ago.

Mrs. Little's son Jeffrey, now 9, had a splenectomy three years ago. And Luanne, now 6, underwent the same operation last year.

The same surgeon, who asked not to be identified, performed the operations on Mrs. Little and her three children.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet Tuesday, Aug. 1 at 9:30 a.m. in the fellowship hall at First Methodist Church with members of the Faith Circle presenting the program on "Rediscover Man Power." Mrs. Charles Garrett will be the leader. ctf

One Month Left To Get Teal Permits

Austin—Duck hunting Texans who would like to get in on the early teal hunt have less than a month to submit their application to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for a special teal permit. Final application date will be Aug. 18.

The nine-day early hunt will be held from Sept. 22-30 with a daily bag limit of four and possession limit of eight.

This year's hunt climaxes a three-year experiment to determine if the teal population can withstand added hunting pressure.

The early hunt gives most hunters their only opportunity to hunt the small, fast duck which migrates through the state to their wintering grounds prior to the opening of the regular duck season.

Permits will be issued to all who apply, provided the applicant submits his full name, complete home address and county of residence, on the requests. Applications should be made in writing to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank everyone for the flowers, cards, telephone calls, visits, gifts and other acts of kindness shown us during Kenneth, Jr.'s stay in the hospital. And a special thanks to Pat Smith for his assistance and quick decisions at the time of the accident.

Reginald Wendell Touring Europe With Student Band

As a member of the All-Student Band, U.S.A., Orchestra and Chorus, Reginald Wendell is touring Europe.

Following is the latest report from the tour directors who are associated with the Shenandoah Conservatory of Music, Shenandoah College, Winchester, Va.:

"Nice is nice—and so is Monaco. So goes the general consensus of opinion of the 'All-Student Band, U.S.A., Orchestra and Chorus.' The European tour of this organization is now in the final week, and while the excitement of Paris and London are at hand, the students are beginning to look forward to returning to the 42 different states from which they originally come.

"In Nice and Monaco a concert was given at Quai Albert I pavilion. The students also enjoyed a day of swimming in the Mediterranean in some of the bluest, clearest water ever seen.

"The ride from Nice to Genoble was mountainous and beautiful, and the overnight stop in Genoble gave the students an opportunity to become acquainted with the town which is already preparing to host the Olympic games in 1968.

"In Paris the students had an unusual opportunity — to participate in the Bastille Day celebrations. They performed for television and were heard on the radio. There were fireworks and dancing in the streets and a large parade. Concerts were also scheduled in the Luxembourg Gardens and on the Eiffel Tower. Special tours and guides were provided for trips through the city of Paris and to Versailles. The remainder of the time in Paris has been for private sightseeing by students.

"As this bulletin reaches you the 'All-Student Band, U.S.A., Orchestra and Chorus' will be in London, arriving there by train and boat across the English Channel. The itinerary calls for sightseeing of London, a visit to Kneller Hall of the Royal School of Music, and concerts in Battersea Park and St. Paul's Gardens. Then follows the return flight to the U.S.A.

"It has been a marvelous tour, one filled with memory-making material, and a very satisfactory venture in music making, horizon broadening, and furthering of good relationships between the United States and other countries."

Commercial and Vocational Students May Be Deferred

Austin — Under new draft board policy, students taking commercial or vocational courses not leading to a baccalaureate degree may still be deferred for their activity, but this deferment is not mandatory.

Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Thursday that he is continuing to recommend that local boards give "serious consideration" to deferment if these students are "receiving instruction a minimum of 25 clock hours a week, either day or night classes."

The state director said "deferment will be by local board judgment of the merits in each individual case and may be denied on the basis that it is not in the national interest."

Colonel Schwartz said he had advised boards that, under present policy, the commercial college or vocational school student would now be classified in Class 2-A instead of 2-S, if deferred.

The reason for this change, he explained, is that Class 2-S now deals with the deferment only of students working toward a degree. Class 2-A deals with deferment because of civilian occupation, except agriculture and study for a degree.

This type of deferred student may expect to have his classification changed from 2-S to 2-A in the future.

Those attending besides the honoree and hostess were Mrs. Philip Baldwin, Mrs. Chester Barre, Mrs. Tom Whelan, Mrs. Norman Spears, Mrs. J. D. Gray and Miss Karen Jo Kneupper of Austin.

Scholastic Deferment of Undergraduate College and University Students Mandatory

Austin — Scholastic deferment of undergraduate college and university students who meet the requirements of the new draft regulations now is mandatory upon the request of the students.

This was the official advice of Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, Tuesday to the state's 155 draft boards.

Class ranking and test scores in the consideration of student deferments is now "officially immaterial" Colonel Schwartz said.

The state Selective Service director said he had advised all college and university registrars that "rank-in-class information is no longer needed in the administration" of the Selective Service law.

Draft boards have been advised officially not to request any student or school in the future to furnish class-rank data.

The boards have been advised officially by Colonel Schwartz to reopen the classification of qualified undergraduate college students now classified in 1-A as available for military service, even though they may be under induction orders.

To be qualified, the student must be under 24 years old and must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction toward a baccalaureate degree.

"Such a student must be considered as qualifying even though he may be in summer vacation at this time," Colonel Schwartz said.

"Also, to qualify," he continued, "such a student must have requested deferment in Class 2-S after July 1, 1967."

The state director said that, in cases where these students have not requested deferment, he advised local boards to postpone induction to give them an opportunity to request it.

These students will be advised that their induction orders will be cancelled if scholastic deferment is requested immediately.

An undergraduate student now eligible for statutory deferment must continue satisfactorily to pursue a full time course of instruction in order to remain eligible, Colonel Schwartz pointed out.

"If he does," the state director said, "he is deferred by law until he completes the requirements for his baccalaureate degree, or reaches his 24th birthday, whichever occurs first."

The new regulations governing the deferment of undergraduate students define a student's "academic year," Col. Schwartz said. The regulations state that "a student's 'academic year' shall include the 12-month period following the beginning of his course of study."

The regulations also describe the conditions under which a student "shall be deemed to be 'satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction,'" the state draft director pointed out.

"A student pursuing a four-year course," Colonel Schwartz said, "should have earned 25% of the credits required for his baccalaureate degree at the end of his first academic year, 50% at the end of his second and 75% at the end of his third."

"In the case of a baccalaureate degree for which five years of study are prescribed by the institution," he continued, "a student should earn 20% each year of the total credits required for the degree."

The student, under the new regulations, will have the duty of providing his local board each year with evidence that he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at this college or university.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — Newspaper readers throughout Texas soon will be seeing long columns of type about important issues as Secretary of State John Hill begins to advertise the six proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on Nov. 11.

Fourteen additional amendments will be on the 1968 ballot.

Eight of the 20 amendments are of interest mainly to special groups (eg: legislators or state employees). Eight others would provide local governments with new powers or duties. Only four of the group directly affect most Texans.

Amendments to be voted on this year will appear on the ballot in this order:

● No. 1, House Joint Resolution 3, to permit counties to put all tax money in a single general fund rather than dividing income in specified amounts among separate funds for earmarked purposes as is now required.

● No. 2, HJR 37, allowing cities and other governmental units with hospital districts to levy taxes for participation in mental health and mental retardation community centers.

● No. 3, HJR 17, reviving the veterans land program and authorizing a total of $400,000,000 in bonds to finance continued purchase of farm and ranch land by veterans, including those who have served in Southeast Asia during present hostilities.

● No. 4, HJR 6, authorizing counties to pay medical doctor and hospital bills of county law enforcement officers injured in line of duty.

● No. 5, HJR 12, authorizing a $75,000,000 state revenue bond issue for the development of state parks and recreational areas. Bonds are expected to be financed by a small admission fee.

● No. 6, HJR 27, permitting state officers and employees to hold non-elective positions under the state or U.S. governments where there is no conflict of interest and where the state might benefit.

That's all for '67. Top interest in these amendments doubtless will center on the park bond proposal and the veterans land amendment.

Hospital mental health and mental retardation groups will emphasize the importance of Amendment No. 2 to the new community center approach of treating mental patients close to home.

Calling the 1967 election for Veterans Day and a Saturday, undoubtedly, was to assure a large voter turnout for the land fund amendment. A substantial campaign to urge its passage already is taking form.

Gov. John Connally is the principal backer of the parks bond issue. Last December he unveiled a 10-year plan for acquiring and developing 150-

960 acres of recreational lands and historical sites. This would more than triple present state park acreage and open a variety of new facilities for outdoor recreation.

Only opposition to the amendment to date has been based on the $1 a car park-entry fee, initially proposed by Connally to finance the vast program; and scattered complaints that facilities included in the governor's master plan do not adequately serve some areas of the state.

He is expected to spearhead an intensive fall campaign—supported by parks, recreational and outdoor groups—to put over the bond issue.

The veterans land amendment would add another $200,000,000 to state bonds previously authorized and through which 35,300 veterans have purchased farm and ranch properties at low interest rates spread over a 40-year pay period.

This amendment would raise the amount which could be borrowed under the program from $7,500 to $10,000. The program was initiated in 1949. Additional bonds were approved by voters in 1951 and 1956. Amendments to enlarge the bond authorization were rejected at elections in 1963 and 1965. Opposition came mainly from Dallas and Houston.

Proponents emphasize that, while thousands of veterans have benefitted from the program, it has cost the state no money and actually has turned a profit of $2,500,000 a year while providing an expanded land market.

Opposition has adopted the argument that it is not the function of the state government to engage in the loan business and that veterans have had plenty of time to participate. Some also contend that "cheap money" invites purchases of land not needed and which will not be put to productive use.

Amendment No. 2 specifies that the legislature in providing for creation of hospital districts, does not have to require that the districts assume full responsibility for community mental health and retardation centers and services. It would permit cities and counties to levy taxes and issue bonds for such services. Subdivisions within existing districts would be authorized to do so unless statutes creating the districts expressly prohibit.

An attorney general's opinion held that the constitution does not allow political subdivisions within the boundary of a hospital district to levy taxes for medical and hospital service. Under that ruling, cities and counties located in such districts were restricted from participating in establishment of community health centers. Therefore, only hospital districts could establish such centers, a key part of the mental health program.

Amendments No. 3, No. 4 and No. 5 are self explanatory

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Castlerline were in the Valley last week and also visited Mr. and Mrs. John P. Reese and children.

Mrs. Gene Roberts, Christy and Robyn have returned to their home in Richmond after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Faucett.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Haynes and Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Haynes were recent visitors in Fulton with Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Haynes.

and apparently non-controversial Amendment No. 6 is aimed primarily at permitting educators, who are paid from state funds, to serve on federal advisory boards.

This and That

JOHN KINSEY

Hungry guy went into a restaurant and ordered a whole pie.

Waitress asked, "Do you want to eat it here?" "Yes," the man replied, "Cut it into individual pieces." "How many?" the waitress inquired, "six or eight?" "Six," said the man, "I can't eat eight pieces of pie."

Speaking of eating too much, my wife and I have taken up bicycling to lose weight.

So far, the only weight loser is Pancho, our Labrador retriever who has to run to keep up with us.

I phoned a lady's home the other day to get some information for a news story.

"Mama can't come to the phone right now," the lady's young daughter explained, "because she's taking a shower bath."

At the close of Monday night's council meeting, Mayor Delmar R. Hiller asked me to let the public know about the following:

The manufacturer of a new type refuse container placed one on exhibit at the City Hall and this same container will be on display in front of the First National Bank today and Friday, and other places next week.

The unique thing about this container is that the part that holds the garbage and refuse consists of double thickness paper bags which you simply remove when the garbage is to be disposed of. The bags are attached to the outside of a metal frame.

According to the mayor, the container with an "easy to undo" clasp costs $4.50, and the double thickness paper bags sell for 15 cents.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ivey last week were his mother, Mrs. Emma Ivey, Clarence Ivey, Lexton Ivey, Braxton Ivey and children of Bebe, and Tim Haynes, Jr. of Kingsville. Clarence and Lexton are brothers of Roy.

CHECK ACCURACY OF SOCIAL SECURITY ACCT

Do you receive social security credit for the wages or self-employment income you earn? Make certain that you do—by checking your social security record in the central accounting office of the Social Security Administration in Baltimore, Maryland. To do this every three years or so is a good idea, says H. M. Cleveland, manager of the Corpus Christi district of the Social Security Administration.

"Most people know that they can get retirement insurance at age 62 or 65, but some do not realize that the amount of their monthly payment is determined from their individual earnings record," Cleveland pointed out.

Upon request, the social security office will give you a post card to fill out and mail to check on your account. In reply, you will receive a statement showing that the total earnings which have been credited to your account. After checking the statement of earnings, if it is not correct, or if you want an estimate of your future benefits, you should get in touch with the social security office.

The post card forms can be secured from the Social Security Administration, 1802 South Staples Street, Corpus Christi. The field representatives who make regular visits throughout the 11-county district also have a supply of the cards.

The Corpus Christi office remains open until 8 o'clock every Thursday evening for the convenience of those people who cannot come in during the usual working hours, Cleveland says.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Cade, Jr., and sons, Jim and Randy of Abilene are visiting Mrs. Cade's grandmothers, Mrs. Arthur Edmison and Mrs. Sallie Townsend.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Owens from Raymondville met the Cades here.

Msgr. F. O. Beck To Tour South America

Monsignor F. O. Beck is leaving for South America Saturday, July 29 with a group of friends who have selected the Overseas Travel Company as guides through the following countries: Columbia, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil. A large city in each of these countries will be visited with points of interest in their respective vicinities.

Monsignor Beck states his interest does not lie in sightseeing as much as learning of the progress the Catholic Church is making in these various countries under the new projects which the church has its clergy undertake in addition to the spiritual work.

As to sightseeing he states: "There is only one place which has any particular attraction and that is the underground Cathedral in an exploited salt mine in Bogota, Columbia. The architect, Mr. Harold Rambusch, president of the internationally known firm of Rambusch & Co., of New York City, who designed this monumental work was well known to me. I made his acquaintance in 1950 when I consulted him for reconstructing St. Mary's Church in Victoria.

"It was then that Mr. Rambusch was traveling back and forth to Bogota, Columbia, to supervise the construction and on several occasions stopped on his way back at Victoria. Well do I recall that he spoke of this project with a certain amount of 'reverence', as it were, and insisted that this was the highlight of the firm's assignments in its 80 years of existence.

"We are putting forth our best mental and technical efforts," he said, "so that we will come near to fulfilling the ambition of the government which is to make this structure the 'eighth wonder of the world'."

"Another project," continues Monsignor Beck "that holds my attention is the interviews which will be held with prominent church dignitaries so that we might inquire about the status of the common people and their progress toward the middle class.

"I have a personal interest in this problem which is derived from the following fact:

"The Institution where I completed my studies for the ministry in 1921 is known as the Pontifical College Josephinum and is now located in Worthington, Ohio on a 1,000-acre tract of land. From 1887 to 1967 this Institution educated young men for the priesthood who were to serve in positions of this country where priests were mostly needed.

"This Institution is one of the best endowed of its kind in the nation, because every student accepted there is assigned a scholarship which means that the additional fee for education, etc., is very small. When the late Pope John XXIII, issued a request that seminaries give particular attention to students who wish to devote their life to Missionary work in South America, the Josephinum decided to discontinue its present project when it can be conveniently done, which is this fall, and devote the entire institution to education of young men for South American work.

"In addition to the usual courses of Philosophy and Theology, beginning with this Fall Semester, the following subjects will be added: 1) A four year's course in Spanish or Portuguese, 2) full course in soil conservation, 3) a thorough knowledge of the fundamentals of Credit Unions and Co-operatives.

"It will be most informative to meet these outstanding clergymen on this tour to inquire about the progress and the success the clergy have to record in trying to bring about a higher standard of living among the poor who are so plentiful in every country in South America."

Monsignor Beck will return Aug. 21 and then assist again in conducting services at Sacred Heart Church.

Deferment of Some Graduate Students Is Now Mandatory

Austin—The deferment of graduate students in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, or optometry is mandatory under new amendments to the Selective Service regulations, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Wednesday.

"When the Director of Selective Service identifies other studies necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest upon the advice of National Security Council," Colonel Schwartz said, "deferment for advanced study in these subjects also will be mandatory."

Post-graduate study in other fields may be allowed under the new regulations, within certain limitations, the state Selective Service director said; but deferment is not mandatory in these cases.

"Consideration can be given by local boards to any case," Colonel Schwartz said, "regardless of class standing or Selective Service test score; but there is a limit to the time the student can be deferred."

The new regulations provide that a student who is entering on Oct. 1, 1967, his second or subsequent year of post-baccalaureate study without interruption—outside the field of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, optometry, or field that may be identified by the Director of Selective Service upon the advice of the National Security Council—may be deferred in Class II-S if his school certifies that he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction leading to his degree.

"The regulations say he 'may be,' not he 'shall be,'" Colonel Schwartz pointed out. "This means that it is up to the local board in each case outside the fields covered by mandatory deferment."

This student entering his second or subsequent year next fall can not be deferred under the new regulations for more than one additional year in the case of a course toward the master's degree.

He can not be deferred for more than five years for a doctoral or professional degree or the equivalent, or a combination of master's and doctoral degrees, including the years already used in the course of study, except that, if he already has spent five years in such study on Oct. 1, 1967, he may be deferred for one additional year to complete his degree.

The State Selective Service director pointed out that these time limitations are mandatory.

A graduate student outside the mandatory fields who is enrolled for his first year of study Oct. 1, 1967, or accepted for admission on that date, may be deferred if he has entered the first class commencing after the date he completed the requirements for admission, the new regulations provide. But his deferment is not mandatory. It is up to his local board.

The graduate student outside the mandatory fields who begins, or is accepted to begin, his study next fall, can be deferred for one academic year only, and this limitation is mandatory, the state Selective Service director pointed out.
