State Railroad Commission Suspends Ordinance Lowering Gas Rates Here

ACTION HALTS REDUCTION SET FOR THURSDAY

Municipal Gas Posts Bond Of $60,000 to Repay Consumers

LONG DELAY SEEN

State Investigation Into Rates May Last for Several Months

The state railroad commission Tuesday suspended the Wichita Falls city ordinance which recently reduced gas rates here to 50 cents per thousand cubic feet, according to a United Press dispatch to The Record News. The ordinance was to have gone into effect Thursday, Oct. 1.

The Municipal Gas company posted a bond of $60,000, the report stated, which represents a pledge to repay city consumers if the reduced rate eventually is upheld.

Investigation Here

Action of the railroad commission followed the receipt of an opinion from the attorney general which held that upon filing of an adequate bond the reduced rates should be suspended, it was said. It was indicated that similar action will be taken with reference to rates in McLean, Gray county town.

Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. and City Manager V. R. Smitham, who attended last Friday in Fort Worth a meeting of the Texas League of Municipalities for consideration of the gas rate situation, stated Tuesday that they anticipate an investigation here by the railroad commission at an early date.

Layton Stanbury, head of the gas division of the commission, and Pat M. Neff, a commissioner, both stated at the Fort Worth conference that the investigation of utilities pipe line rates will begin at once with the Lone Star Gas company's properties, it was said. The Municipal Gas company is understood to be a subsidiary of the Lone Star, and draws its supply of gas from that concern for distribution within Wichita Falls.

Delay Reduction

Wichita Falls preparations of the past three months, it was indicated, are expected to occasion the investigation of local rates at, or near, the outset of the railroad commission's investigation. More than $90,000 was set aside by the legislature last summer to finance the state-wide investigation of such utilities charges.

Mr. Nelson said Tuesday evening that several months may be required to obtain a final action upon the ordinance voted here three months ago to reduce local domestic gas from 75 to 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. He predicted, however, that Wichita Falls will be one of the first communities to obtain the investigation of the railroad commission as provided by the legislature.

SAN ANGELO COMPANY TO OPEN RECORDS

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 29. (AP)—E. R. Bradbury, local manager for the Texas Public Service company, informed Mayor Brown F. Lee today that the company's financing and operations would be furnished in detail to the city commission at a meeting called for next Monday.

He was told by the commission that the city intended to order a reduction from the 75-cent initial gas rate if a comparison of the company's earnings and investment warranted.

POSTOFFICE CONTRACT LET

Construction Officials to Arrive Soon

The contract awarding the construction of the Wichita Falls federal building and postoffice to the H. W. Underhill Construction company of Dallas, was formally let in Washington Tuesday, according to a special dispatch to The Record News.

The contract price is $408,860, the low bid on specifications calling for stone facings around the entire building. The sum provides for the entire construction of the building, including plumbing, heating and wiring. Elevators for the structure will be let under a separate contract. This cost, according to Herbert Voelcker of Voelcker & Dixon, architects, will be about $30,000. An additional sum of $50,000 has been set aside for furnishings.

The entire cost of the building will be approximately $100,000 under the estimate made three months ago with the drawing up of specifications, Mr. Voelcker explained. Building material prices have dropped to such an extent in the past few months to result in a tremendous saving of cost, he said.

Representatives of the Underhill company are expected in Wichita Falls within the next few days, Mr. Voelcker said, and preliminary operations toward construction are expected to start shortly thereafter. The contract calls for the completion of the structure in 400 working days after notice has been served to start operations.

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 29. (AP)—Ted Daniels, itinerant used car salesman and ex-convict who came to Amarillo six months ago from Houston, was convicted of robbery and sentenced to six years imprisonment by a jury in district court here today. Muskogee Matron Relates Assault on Highway Near Tonkawa

MOTHER QUESTIONED

Mrs. Griffith Near Collapse After Tenure on Stand

NEWKIRK, Okla., Sept. 29. (UP)—Earl Quinn, charged with murdering two Oklahoma school teachers last Christmas time and leaving their bodies near a lonely country highway, was named in district court late today by a Muskogee society matron as the man who attacked her almost a year ago near the scene of the double killing.

Mrs. M. M. Patton closed the state's case against the former Missouri convict and rum runner. Attorney Bruce Potter asked the jury of Protestant married men to sentence Quinn to death for murdering Jessie and Zexia Griffith as the two sisters were driving to their school posts at Norman and Warner after spending the Christmas vacation with their parents.

Kept Attack Secret

"Yes, Earl Quinn is the man who attacked me in his automobile," she testified. "I never told anyone about it, until I read of the killing of the Griffith girls."

Mrs. Patton will be cross-examined again tomorrow by Defense Attorney James Mathers.

Mathers announced it was unlikely that he would present any defense testimony.

"The state failed to link Quinn with the slayings," Mathers said. "But two of the jurors appear to have their minds made up to convict my client regardless of the testimony. I probably will withhold defense testimony. If Quinn gets a hung jury, we will be able to obtain a new trial in another county and our defense testimony will not be exposed."

Another Man Named

Mathers added a sensational angle to the trial when he attempted to place blame for the brutal crime on Jim Coleman of Tonkawa. J. F. Griffith, father of the girls and

Santa Fe Inaugurates New Pick-Up Service

TOPEKA, Sept. 29. (AP)—The Santa Fe Railway company next Thursday will inaugurate throughout its entire system a new type of service—free pickup and delivery of less than car load shipments of freight.

Under the plan, which has received approval of the Interstate Commerce commission, the railroad will pickup and deliver less than carload shipments within a radius of 300 miles of its stations. For distances greater than 300 miles a charge of 10 cents a hundred pounds will be made. Shippers who prefer to deliver their freight to the station will be allowed five cents a hundred pounds on shipments.

Inauguration of the service has been regarded as a step by the railroad to regain freight business lost to trucking companies.

Grand Jury 'No Bills' Two Amarillo Officers

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 29. (AP)—A Potter county grand jury, investigating the mysterious shooting of Bill Elston, Carson county surveyor, today "no-billed" E. R. Murr and Sid Harper, members of the Amarillo police department.

The local officers, who were suspended when charges were filed by District Attorney Edward W. Thomerson July 29, were back in uniform within an hour after the grand jury's report was received, and will return to their duties tomorrow.

Elston was killed on the night of July 26 when Murr and Harper went to Jack Hall's ranch, a recreation resort near Amarillo, to serve him with a warrant charging criminal assault. The complaint had been filed by an Amarillo girl.

Gasoline Cargo From Rumania Goes to Detroit

MONTREAL, Sept. 29. (AP)—A cargo of 2,250,000 gallons of gasoline from Rumania was today in course of transit through Montreal under bond en route for Detroit, consigned to the Sunny Oil company of that city.

The gasoline was brought to Montreal from Constanza, Rumania, aboard the Norwegian vessel Lincoln Ellsworth. An agent of the consignee was in Montreal today and denied reports the gasoline was a Soviet product. Manifests and other papers examined by port officials here showed the gasoline was Rumanian and not Russian.

The cargo was transferred from the Lincoln Ellsworth to shore tanks and will later be pumped into the Dutch tanker Pendrecht for passage through Canadian canals and Great Lakes to Detroit.

11 SECURED ON ALSUP JURY

Court Warns Attorneys to Speed Questioning

With 11 jurors chosen at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for the trial of John Alsup, former Fort Worth policeman, on a charge of murder, attorneys for both sides struggled unsuccessfully during the ensuing two hours in an effort to obtain the 12th juryman. Court was recessed by Judge P. A. Martin at 5:30 o'clock after Deputy Sheriff H. L. White had been sworn to obtain 10 additional talesmen for appearance at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Testimony to Start Today

Despite admonition from the bench earlier in the day to speed up their questioning of prospective jurymen, attorneys for both state and defense continued throughout the day to quiz the veniremen exhaustively with reference to their attitudes toward issues expected to figure in the trial. Three men were dismissed in succession late in the afternoon after professing prejudice against imposing a death sentence on a defendant. At another

Woman Stabs Witness And Attacks Official

HOUSTON, Sept. 29. (AP)—One man—a witness for the government—was stabbed over the heart with an ice pick and a postoffice inspector was threatened with like treatment when a woman who had been under investigation in a defamatory letter case ran amuck here today. Charges of assault to murder were filed against Mrs. Frances Suessmuth.

A. T. Davis, an automobile salesman, who was a government witness against the woman, received a deep wound over the heart when Mrs. Suessmuth attacked him at the motor firm.

The woman rushed to the office of Postoffice Inspector H. M. Hageney and attempted to attack him with the same ice pick, officers said. He was warned by Inspector L. G. Bragdon, who saw the woman rush into the office with the pick in her hand.

HOUSTON, Sept. 29. (AP)—Arch Poston, former Texas Christian university student, who was convicted in 1928 of using the mails to defraud, surrendered to Postoffice Inspector H. H. Black today on a warrant charging him with violating his parole. Poston was released on his own recognizance but ordered to keep in communication with the U. S. attorney's office.

Poston declared he had learned of a warrant having been issued for his arrest, and surrendered as soon as he could come to Houston.

Poston was convicted on charges which grew out of the air school which he claimed he was conducting at Galveston. Postal authorities investigated and found out that the school did not exist.

HOOVER TO SEE SERIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. (US)—President Hoover will go to the world series game at Philadelphia on Monday, Oct. 5, he announced today.

CAL COOLIDGE GIVES HOOVER CLEAR PATH

Former President Quiets Agitation for Him to Run Again

BORAH IS WATCHED

Idaho Senator Believed Only Obstruction to Herb in 1932

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. (UP)—A statement by former President Calvin Coolidge today that he would not be a candidate in 1932 and would support President Hoover left but one possible obstruction in Mr. Hoover's path toward renomination to succeed himself.

There is an outside chance that a small western boom for Senator Borah of Idaho, may gain momentum, but at present he is believed not to be a candidate. Borah is on his way to Washington from Idaho, and is expected to make a statement upon his arrival.

Lengthy Statement

Coolidge's statement was made in a copyrighted article in the Saturday Evening Post. Unlike his puzzling "I do not choose to run" statement in 1928, which left the country guessing for months regarding his real intentions, the former president's statement today was clear and specific, and of ample length, though it did not mention Mr. Hoover by name.

"When I announced my determination not to run for president in 1928, my decision had been made a long time. . . . why would it be supposed that what I was then seeking to escape I am now seeking to acquire?" he said.

No Predictions

"A retired president ought to be an example of loyal support to his successor."

Coolidge made no predictions. His idea was that a president should be given the chance at a second term, even if it meant defeat for the party. Party solidarity, loyalty, he said, was essential.

BIG MONEY FOR CAL IN ANNOUNCEMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. (UP)—Former President Calvin Coolidge took 2,809 words to announce, in this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, that he would not be a candidate in 1932 and would support President Hoover.

He would receive, at his reputed literary rate of $2 a word, $5,618 for his article.

When Coolidge was president and his statements on matters of national interest were necessarily made publicly, his only direct pre-campaign statement was made in 10 words:

"I do not choose to run for president in 1928."

That statement was variously interpreted. Coolidge refused to amplify or clarify it, and for months no one knew for certain what it meant.

Johnson Named Congressman By Landslide Vote

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 29. (UP)—A landslide carried Robert D. Johnson, Democrat, to victory tonight in the special election in the seventh Missouri congressional district.

Johnson defeated John W. Palmer, Republican, by approximately 9,000 votes. His showing exceeded the most optimistic predictions of his campaign managers.

L. L. Collins, independent wet, trailed far behind.

Returns from 225 out of 240 precincts in the district gave: Johnson, 26,821; Palmer, 17,829; Collins, 3,732.

Republican in 1928

Johnson's victory was the most sweeping in the district in years. Normally closely contested, the district went Republican with the Hoover landslide in 1928.

In 1930 Samuel C. Major, Democrat, defeated Palmer for the district's seat in the national house of representatives by about 2,500 votes. Major died during the summer and Palmer again was a candidate at the special election.

Economic issues dominated the campaign, although Collins injected the dry issue by coming out as an independent on a platform calling for prohibition repeal.

Palmer urged voters to send him to congress as evidence of their support of the national administration. State political leaders stumped the district in a strenuous campaign.

The Democrats brought Senator Joseph T. Robinson, candidate for DENVER, Sept. 29. (AP)—The Protestant Episcopal church adopted a new matrimonial canon today, a canon flavored with liberalism and approved over scattered opposition by convention delegates weary from prolonged legislative sessions.

STERLING PUTS REVENUE PLAN BEFORE SOLONS

Governor Claims Sabine River Acreage Will Erase Deficit

ADJOURNMENT WAITS

State Land Will Yield 20,000,000 Barrels, Ross Asserts

AUSTIN, Sept. 29. (UP)—Gov. Ross Sterling of Texas, who raised himself from poverty to wealth on oil, today announced he will do the same for the state. As a first step he forced the legislature to postpone adjournment and consider a bill for getting oil for the state from the Sabine river bed in East Texas.

"I have not forgotten how to drill oil wells yet," he said as he figuratively donned oil field overalls again.

"The state has 1,000 acres in the bed of the river in the heart of the East Texas oil field. We ought to get 20,000,000 barrels of oil from that."

This 20,000,000 barrels of oil, Governor Sterling figures, will lift the state out of a threatened $4,000,000 or $5,800,000 deficit and again fill its coffers.

Senate Passes Bill

The senate passed the bill authorizing state drilling by a vote of 16 to 10 tonight. The bill has yet to go to the house. Miss Margie Neal, lone woman senator, expressed the hope that it can be so amended there as to safeguard water supplies. If that is done, she indicated, she will not further oppose its passage.

At Governor Sterling's suggestion senate leaders secured a postponement of adjournment to Friday night. The house amended it to Saturday night and the senate concurred.

Adjournment Delayed

Delay in time of adjournment automatically revived a bill authorizing the governor, the state land commissioner and the chairman of the state railroad commission to drill for oil in the Sabine river.

It is a bill which Miss Neal "talked to death" last night by holding the floor until within 24

ICE COMPANY GIVEN CHARTER

$200,000 Capital Stock for Wichita Concern

Reorganization of the Wichita Ice company, with Frank Kell, J. T. Gant and Joseph A. Kell as new owners, was announced here Tuesday.

The concern, under the new name of the Wichita Falls Ice company, has been granted a charter at Austin, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The Record News. Capital stock is $200,000.

Mr. Kell and Mr. Gant were owners of the company previous to 1926. At that time they sold the concern to the present operators who have conducted the business during the past five years.

Details of the policy and plans for the operation of the plant will be announced in the near future, Mr. Gant told The Record News. R. J. Irvine is at present vice president and manager of the concern. No immediate change in management or personnel is contemplated, it was said.

point in the examination, four veniremen successively were dropped upon their admission that they had formed some opinions relative to the defe dant's guilt or innocence.

Those chosen Tuesday for the Alsup jury are E. M. Pepper, Wichita Falls grocer; J. P. McIntyre, farmer, Wichita Falls; F. N. Kennedy, oil field worker, Burkburnett; Eli Whitehead, oil field superintendent, Wichita Falls; and O. C. Willis, a warehouseman, of Wichita Falls. About 90 men had been questioned in obtaining the first 11 jurymen, attorneys said. The six men selected Monday are R. A. Wolfe, J. A. Goodloe, W. W. Whatley, and T. R. Hutchins, all of Wichita Falls; M. L. McCulley, Electra, and A. W. Salter of Burkburnett.

Fifth Trial of Slayings

With the promise of the final juror being found among the 10 talesmen to be examined Wednesday morning, indications were that the examination of witnesses will begin before noon. Alsup is being tried for the third time for the death of Isaac Tate, negro, on April 10, 1930, in Fort Worth. The negro admittedly was killed by the defendant as he (Tate) ran from the First State bank of Polytechnic following an alleged effort to hold up the bank. The state contends that Alsup was party to a conspiracy which occasioned Tate's attempted holdup, the defendant allegedly planning to kill the negro and qualify for a $5,000 reward offered by some banks for the killing of a bank bandit.

The first trial on this charge resulted in a hung jury. The second resulted in a conviction, and a sentence of 25 years. That verdict was reversed and remanded because of a faulty charge by the trial court, it was said. The case then was transferred to Wichita Falls on a change of venue.

Two negroes were killed by Alsup after the alleged holdup, it was shown. Charged with murder in the first case, he was tried twice, the second trial resulting in acquittal. The defendant has been in jail at Fort Worth since April 16 of last year.

Munday, Benjamin, Goree, Olney and Iowa Park delegations. The trophy contest, making plug and nozzle connections, was won by the Benjamin team with a time of 22 seconds. Benjamin won the engraved brass nozzle on beating out the Munday team after the two had tied at 24½ seconds.

In the water polo tournament Iowa Park took first prize of $15, Munday second prize of $10.

A school of instruction was held also during the afternoon by Fred H. Cushing, El Paso, representative of a safety appliance company. He demonstrated first aid methods and gave instructions for attending injuries and administering artificial respiration. A number of Seymuor business men and students from the high school heard the lecture.

President McCracken spoke on salvaging property in a fire. He explained in several cases how property can be salvaged from burning buildings.

Activities of the convention closed Tuesday night with a street dance, after a banquet had been served in the basement of the city hall by the Seymour Chamber of Commerce.

Junior C-C to Invite Regional Convention for Four States Here

Assistance for Football Special to Childress Pledged by Board of Directors in Meeting

The regional conference of the national Junior chamber of commerce, scheduled for January, will be sought for Wichita Falls, it was announced following a meeting of the board of directors of the local junior chamber here Tuesday.

In the event the conference is held here it will be held jointly with the Texas state convention of the junior chamber, which was obtained by Wichita Falls at last year's convention in Dallas. The two meetings are expected to draw about 250 delegates here from points in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.

To the city obtaining the regional conference, a visit will be paid during the session by George Olmsted, Des Moines, national president, and Harry J. Krusz, executive secretary. Other officials of national and state junior chambers also are expected to be present.

The selection of the convention city will be made in the near future by the four directors of the region, Jerry Vinson, Wichita Falls; Howard Hayden, Dallas; Lee B. Thompson, Oklahoma City; and Robert G. Fry, Tulsa.

If the meeting is obtained by Wichita Falls, it was said, the convention will be held for young men of the region, regardless whether or not they are affiliated with a junior chamber.

The board also voted to draft a resolution to the railroads of Wichita Falls, requesting that certain grade crossings in the city be repaired.

A verbal agreement between railroads and the city was reached during the administration of John W. Hunt as street commissioner that the rail lines should keep in good condition crossings where street pavement intersects, it was declared. Repairs and grading are particularly sought for the crossings on Harrison, Brook and Taft streets.

The group endorsed three resolutions originating with the San Antonio Junior chamber of commerce and having to do with proposed new legislations. The resolutions petition the state legislature for laws to abolish the fee system; to repeal existing laws using an arbitrary number of miles as the standard of driving safety and to enact laws making it possible to use highways to the fullest extent consistent with safety and defining negligence as the basis of traffic regulation; for laws requiring motorists to pass an annual test of fitness to drive and for legislation placing the cost of destruction of life and property on roads upon the automobile operators.

It was decided to name a committee to confer with officials of the Kemp public library to determine how the junior chamber may assist in obtaining new books for the library.

Cooperation was pledged to encourage the football team of the Wichita Falls High school. Assistance will be tendered by the junior chamber in making a success the special train to Childress Oct. 10, when the Coyotes engage in a major grid battle.

Announcements were made concerning fire prevention week, Oct. 4-10, and the tour of Wichita county Friday afternoon to announce the Wichita county free fair at Iowa Park Oct. 8-10. It was decided to send a band to the fair on Oct. 8, Wichita Falls day at the exposition.

Society Matron Accuses Quinn

night police chief at Blackwell, was searching for Coleman, assertedly in connection with the murder of his daughters, Mathers said.

Mrs. Griffith was taken from the courtroom when she became almost prostrated after testifying. She identified clothing the girls were wearing when they were killed, and was cross-examined by Mathers.

"Did you not tell Mrs. Hugh McDermott of Norman (wife of the University of Oklahoma basket ball coach) that Jim Coleman killed your daughters?" asked Mathers.

"No," replied Mrs. Griffith.

"Did you communicate with your son, Amos, when he was in jail at Chickasha on Jan. 10?" Mathers asked.

"I did not."

"Was your son afflicted with shell shock?"

"No."

"Did he spend time in the sanitarium at Silver City, N. M.?"

"No."

"You saw him soon after the tragedy?"

Son in Courtroom

"Did you know your son, Amos, was in this courtroom today?"

"I did not."

Mathers did not explain if Amos Griffith, brother of the victims, really was in the courthouse. It was the first mention that Amos Griffith had been in jail at Chickasha.

Mathers had in his possession the August, 1931, copy of the sheriffs and peace officers publication, which revealed that only a month ago J. F. Griffith, father of the victims and Blackwell night police chief, was looking for Coleman.

Although Mathers claimed a circumstantial case had been built around Coleman, whom Mathers had summoned earlier in the day as a defense witness, the attorney insisted he did not plan to put on any defense testimony.

Mathers said he would attempt to weave his circumstantial case through questioning of Coleman. He hoped to bring from him testimony supporting the theory that someone other than Quinn killed the sisters, mistaking them for two others whom he had marked for death for revenge. The reason for revenge, Mathers said, was that a year ago Coleman's stepson was run down and killed by a car in which were riding two daughters of Milt Harris, wealthy Blackwell oil man.

"These girls bore striking resemblance to the Griffith sisters," Mathers said.

NO DISTRESS after eating

GET RID of that old dread of indigestion, and eat without fear of distress.

When food ferments; disagrees; lies like lead in the stomach, it is a sign of too much acid. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. The quick corrective is an alkali. Don't resort to burning doses of soda—take instead, an antacid that will correct the condition. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A spoonful of this soothing alkali restores the proper alkaline balance to an acid-soaked system. Then the stomach, liver and bowels function as they should.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is what you need when bad breath or coated tongue indicate too much acid. Take a spoonful today, and for several days, and see how soon it sweetens the entire system. Your digestion will be vastly improved. Things will taste better and you will feel better in so many ways.

Also, you will find when your system is properly alkaline you are not so susceptible to sickness and colds. That you are no longer troubled with constipation, or with headaches, gas on the stomach. An alkaline balance builds resistance.

Ask for Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, which is the preparation of magnesia prescribed and recommended by your own doctor for correcting excess acid. 25c and 50c bottles are sold at drugstores everywhere.

To avoid the condition of acid mouth, you should use a milk of magnesia tooth paste. Your teeth are worthy of the best dentifrice. Try Phillips' Dental Magnesia, which contains 75% concentrated Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

EMIGRES REACH HIGH PLACES

Russian Noblemen Still Retain Titles

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (AP)—America has no royalty, but every day here in the world's largest Democratic city there are stenographers who say, "Yes, prince" when they take dictation and "I'm sorry, duke," when they make mistakes.

Most of the titled foreigners are Russian emigres who left their native land just before or after the revolution.

Today, after 14 years, many have risen high in the commercial fields they chose. Some are on Wall street, others have been successful in the banking field and many have prosperous businesses of their own.

But although they have become thorough Americans in most respects, nearly all still retain their titles and shun the customary Mr., Miss or Mrs.

At a steamship office it is "Prince Chavchavadze" one asks for if one wishes to see the man who married Princess Nina, kin of Grand Duke Cyril Vladimirovitch, pretender to the czarist throne.

In an exclusive Madison avenue shop Princess Obolensky, whose daughter fell to her death from the Eiffel tower last July, is referred as "The Princess."

Those who made Grand Duchess Marie's autobiography a big seller and other of her business associates who will greet her tomorrow on her return from Paris speak of her as "The Grand Duchess" and assume their hearers know who they mean.

In banking circles no one ever says "Serge Obolensky," it's always "Prince Obolensky," and in shipping circles it is "Prince Agarin."

One of the most interesting of the emigres is Prince Matchabelli, who knew Stalin as a peasant in what was once the republic of Georgia and now is part of the Soviet republic.

A handsome, dapper young man of distinguished mien and once envoy from Georgia to Rome, he now makes for American women the perfume he formerly concocted as a hobby, for his royal friends.

Negro Youth Killed In Frederick Accident

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 29.—Robert Lee Mason, 8-year-old colored boy, was killed almost instantly on Grand avenue here while the heaviest traffic was in the streets, by a touring car driven by W. W. (Dock) Morgan of Hollister.

The boy darted from between two parked cars, from the south to the north side of the street, when the Morgan car, which was proceeding east, struck him with the front bumper. The car was going slowly, and the driver's immediate use of brakes caused the back wheel to stop almost upon the boy. However his skull had already been fractured either by the fall upon the pavement or the grinding to a stop of the back wheel, and the lad was in a dying condition. The accident was declared unavoidable.

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 29.—A two-year penitentiary term was assessed by a jury in the 90th district court Saturday against Andrew ("Blackie") Funderburk, charged by grand jury indictment with possession for sale of intoxicating liquor.

The 35-year-old man was alleged to have been the possessor 400 gallons of whisky confiscated by the sheriff's department March 22, 1930, near Crystal Falls. The seizure was one of the largest ever made in this county.

Cities Above Million Gain

Nearly Two Score Centers Hit Magic Mark

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (AP)—Nearly two score cities of the world now have a population of a million or more it was revealed with the announcement that Mexico City had gone over the magic mark in its 1931 census by annexing its suburbs.

Another indication of the great trend of population to the cities and the tremendous rates of growth metropolitan centers have experienced was noted in the recent Moscow census which gave the capital of the Soviet republic 2,745,000 inhabitants, an increase of 35.5 per cent since 1926.

Even Leningrad, one time capital of the czars, which was understood to be slowly dying as the Soviet state neglected it in favor of the development of Moscow, was revealed as having jumped into the two million class, with a gain of 38 per cent in five years.

Most of the great cities of the earth have been counting heads in the last year and some startling figures have resulted. London counted 8,000,000 while New York reached 7,000,000. Chicago jumped into the three million class, Berlin just stopped short of 5,000,000, two additional American cities—Detroit and Los Angeles—counted above a million, while many others either added a million or made a flying start on an additional million.

Seven countries now have cities of more than a million. Technically China leads the list with seven, although a liberal interpretation places the United States first, with five cities directly credited with one million or more, and six others with a metropolitan population above a million.

American cities with a metropolitan population above a million include New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Boston, Cleveland, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and St. Louis.

DECK CLEARED TO TRY CAPONE

Federal Judge Prepares for Hearing

CHICAGO, Sept. 29. (INS)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who has won the reputation of being "hard boiled" with gangsters, today cleared the decks for Al Capone's trial next Tuesday for alleged income tax law violations.

Capone's battery of lawyers formally filed a plea of not guilty after losing an attempt to obtain governmental evidence in the case. Their demurrers to the indictment on grounds of vagueness and insufficiency were overruled by the judge.

The demurrer was placed in the discard without argument, attorneys for the underworld chieftain and government prosecutors agreeing that the same points had been raised in the cases against Ralph Capone, brother of Al, and others.

The stage is now set for the opening of Capone's trial before Judge Wilkerson one week from today.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas is well down in the list in textile development with 1,036 cards, 274,932 spindles, 5,420 looms. North Carolina leads all the states with 17,064, 7,031,538 and 89,180 respectively, although South Carolina leads in number of looms with 135,690. The southern states lead all other sections with 49,767 out of 72,765 cards in the United States; 20,170,391 out of 33,716,790 spindles, 353,927 out of 647,305 looms.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Matters industrial. . . . The old Pierce refining plant at Fort Worth, recently acquired by the Sinclair company, is being rebuilt, and the first rebuilt unit, of 5,000 barrels daily capacity, will be in operation within a week with 125 men now busy on its rebuilding. A second 5,000 barrel unit is to be added shortly and probably a third unit of the same size later on. The company has the state contract for gasoline and oil for the coming year. . . . Empire Oil and Refining company, Beaumont, contracts for 2,000 tons of steel plates for another tank farm. . . . Goodall Worsted company, Sanford, Maine, is considering establishment of a palm beach clothing factory at Galveston. A Chicago concern has leased a building at Los Fresnos and will install machinery for a leather goods factory. A pecan shelling plant, to cost $100,000 and to employ from 500 to 1,000 women workers, is to be built at Laredo. Construction has started at Kingsville on a $100,000 steel and concrete building to house equipment for crushing 9,000 tons of carrots annually. Operating under a new process, the plant will transform the carrots into syrup, jelly, marmalade juice and breakfast food. Kingsville was selected because of the year-round growth of the crop in that section. . . . Starting work on a new mineral crystal plant at Mineral Wells develops the interesting fact that during the past year the crystals have found ready sale to the extent of a half million pounds at a dollar a pound. Increase of capacity of existing plants with completion of the new one will bring this year's total output to twice as much as last year's. . . . A Texas cement company, for the first time, landed a big contract at Cristobal, Canal Zone, securing a $100,000 order in competition with East Coast plants that heretofore have had a monopoly on that business. . . . Kilgore, Pittner Junction and Gladewater are to be sites of oil refineries by one of the major companies, the three representing investment of $1,000,000. . . . New rice terminal loading plant at Beaumont will handle 1,000 tons daily.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Sept. 29—Cottonseed is bringing $7 at the gins and oil mill here. This is the lowest price ever given in this city, is the claim made by cotton raisers who have been here for many years. In an exchange at the oil mill it is said $8 per ton is being given.

About Tax Relief

HARD times always put an added sting in the tax collector's visit. No one ever really enjoys paying taxes, of course. But it is only when a depression comes that the average citizen really puts his heart into his complaints.

In Ohio, numbers of taxpayers are organizing formal associations in the hope that something can be done about tax relief. As the organizer of one of these groups said:

"When there are 10,000 of you in our organization, and tongues are wagging about us, then we can talk to them when they threaten foreclosure on our farms and homes because we can't pay our taxes."

That, of course, is true enough. But to "talk to them" isn't quite enough, where taxes are concerned. That, in fact, has always been our chief trouble. We have talked and talked, but we have done very little.

How are you going to reduce taxes—by cutting down expenditures? Fair enough; and how are you going to do that?

Suppose it is municipal expenses you want to reduce. Where will you start? With the fire and police departments? With the school budget? With the street maintenance department? With the water supply organization? With the playground budget? With such services as sewage disposal, garbage collection, building inspection?

There is hardly a city in the land where cuts could be made in any of those services without doing genuine damage. They are essentials; in most cases they need to be extended, not reduced.

What is the answer, then? Must taxes go on increasing, year after year, in good times as well as bad? Isn't there any hope for a reduction at all?

It isn't quite that bad. But every citizen will have to help, and the job won't be an easy one.

Government is an affair that is made expensive by politics. Politics, as we have it today, inevitably means waste, inefficiency and graft. We put up with it because we are too lazy and too prejudiced to create anything better; and as long as we do we shall be cursed by high taxes. If the taxpayer wants relief, let him organize—not to "talk to them," but to put his governmental institutions on a sound and sensible basis.

Tariff Comes to Life

PRESIDENT WILLIAM GREEN'S demand that the government withdraw tariff privileges from industries which cut their wage scales may not bear any particular fruit, but there is a chance that it will help to restore to political campaigns a historic issue that has recently been lost sight of—the tariff.

A generation ago campaign after campaign was waged almost solely on that issue. Free trade versus protection—the whole electorate joined in the argument, and the verbal battles were entertaining and, on the whole, instructive.

In late years, however, the issue became almost insignificant. Candidates and platforms tended to pussy-foot. They did it partly to avoid committing themselves and partly because they sensed that the public at large did not really care a great deal about the tariff one way or the other. If, now, the tariff again becomes a live issue, our political campaigns will at least look like those of the old days.

Our New Airships

WITH the navy's giant new dirigible, the Akron, busy on her series of test flights, Uncle Sam will have to make up his mind very soon whether he wants to complete the sister ship for which the Goodyear experts have made plans.

Just how effective these enormous airships may be as instruments of war is a matter for the naval experts to decide; but, waiving that rather important issue, there is little doubt that most Americans would be glad to see the second one built—and, for that matter, a third one and a fourth.

This is so chiefly because dirgibles are very fine and inspiring things to look at. To see a mass bigger than the ordinary skyscraper go drifting off into the sky is to experience a huge thrill. The ordinary mortal may not know much about aviation, but he knows what he likes; he likes dirigibles, and he probably hopes that the navy department will see eye to eye with him.

A PERFECT SET OF TEETH AT THE AGE OF 116—Ramon Gomez, a Madrileno, who died in June, 1906, at the age of 116, remembered clearly the French Revolution and the Napoleonic campaign in Spain. THE SHORTEST CHARGE DELIVERED TO A JURY—A new record for speed in the disposal of contested suits in circuit court was established in October, 1930, by Judge Vincent M. Brennan of the third judicial court of Michigan, Detroit, who handled an appeal case from the common pleas court in 12 minutes and 45 seconds. In the case of Sprague vs. Roberts, after trial in the lower court, the lawyers' arguments were limited to two minutes, only three witnesses were called, and Judge Brennan then charged the jury—"Go." The jury was out only five minutes to reach a verdict of no cause of action.

THE GIRL WHO WON

By May Christie

Nollie Day, young and pretty, goes to New York for a career. After searching in vain for a position, she faints on the street. She regains consciousness in a suspicious looking house owned by a woman called "Daffy." Nollie flees in terror when one of Daffy's "friends" make advances. Later, she obtains a position as public stenographer in a high class hotel where she meets Mrs. Virginia Judson, a wealthy widow. Nollie substitutes for Mrs. Judson at a theater party Mr. Hiram, with whom Mrs. Judson had the appointment, sends young and handsome Tony O'Brien in his stead. Nollie tries to explain she is not Mrs. Judson but Tony does not hear her. After a happy evening together, Tony tells Nollie he will telephone her next day.

It dawns upon Nollie that Tony will call Mrs. Judson. Later in the evening, she had not revealed her identity as she feared it would break the spell if he knew she were not the fashionable widow. Next day, the telephone operator has a difficult time convincing Tony Mrs. Judson has sailed for Europe.

Nollie sees Tony in the hotel, but before she can reach him, he disappears. Nollie thinks Tony did not recognise her because he believes her an imposter. She takes a new position as secretary to Jack Brilling of Galbraith & Co.

Nollie's thoughts are all of Tony. One night, after working late, Brilling invites her to dinner.

CHAPTER XVI.

"A girl like you," said Mr. Brilling sententiously as he sat with Nollie at a corner table in the chop house near the office, "should never have to work at all."

Over her plate of salad she smiled faintly.

"And what am I to do then? Starve?"

He took a long pull at a glass of beer. It was the real thing, and it heartened him.

He didn't answer her question. Instead he put one to her.

"The boss told me today you came to him with a letter from Jinny Judson. She a pal of yours?"

"Oh, no. I mean, she was very nice to me. I—I did some work for her."

"Secretarial?"

"Well, sort of." Nollie hesitated as she remembered how she'd 'deputized' Mrs. Judson. "For a day or two. I was kind of a jill-of-all-trades to her."

"Ah?" Mr. Brilling attacked his sliced corn beef. "Jinny's a high stepper."

Nollie said quickly, "I don't know what you mean by that, but she was very pleasant and good-natured to me and I liked her."

"Hum? She can be disagreeable as the dickens if she wants to."

"That may be. But if you knew her generosity—her charities—" Nollie broke off abruptly.

"Ha? Giving away Jinny's pet secrets?"

"No. But I admire her."

"Well, I'm not surprised at her taking a shine to you, though personally I'd judge Jinny as selfish as they come—"

"Oh, I don't think so," interpolated Nollie staunchly, "you just think of her that way because she has the money to gratify every whim."

"And I wish I had!" Mr. Brilling looked moody.

Nollie was surprised. Mr. Brilling's appearance and his mode of life and background (he had a good deal of social position, according to the papers) suggested plenty of money.

"I thought you were in the firm," she remarked timidly.

"I shall be, very soon. But I'm not so sure I care about it."

"Not care about it? Why, Galbraith & Co., are awfully well known."

"I don't know that I care about the conditions." Mr. Brilling stared at the beads rising in his stein of beer.

Then he swung round on his secretary.

"What d'you say you and I go on and dance somewhere?"

Nollie was startled. This was scarcely a proper suggestion to an employe from one's "superior" . . .

"I couldn't, thanks."

"Oh, do. I know of an awfully cool roof that's just opened."

"It's kind of you, but—"

"Come on. Don't you think you and I have earned a little relaxation this evening?"

"Certainly we have. Each in our own way. But dancing on a roof tonight wouldn't be mine."

"Then let's do a movie, shall we? They pump the air through ice or something in the big houses."

"No, thank you very much. I must go home." And Nollie pushed her chair back from the table. She felt embarrassed now. A little surprised at Mr. Brilling's new attitude to her.

"But I have brought it on myself," thought she, "a girl with her chief, even if she does work late for him."

"Well, we'll taxi uptown anyhow," rejoined Mr. Brilling, again moody. "I refuse to go in the subway in this heat. I'll take you home."

But she made him drop her at 47th and Broadway, saying she had an errand to be done.

She didn't want to drive up to her door with him. There might be prying eyes and gossipy tongues. And in this queer, erratic mood of his, and at a loose end as he seemed to be, he might offer to come in.

At noon the next day a tall, hard-faced girl swept into the glass enclosure where Nollie worked and which led into Mr. Brilling's office. The newcomer stared hard at Nollie.

Nollie rose.

"Do you wish to see Mr. Brilling?"

The strange girl said abruptly: "I'll attend to that myself."

And she swept on. But the look she had given Nollie was enough to scorch her.

Nollie went on typing. She wondered who the rude young woman was.

Above the sound of her machine she could hear the stranger's voice raised in the inner office.

One of Mr. Brilling's friends. Probably had come to take him out to lunch.

This was correct. But, as the pair passed out together, it didn't seem too happy a meeting.

The hard-faced girl (her expression angry) had him by the arm. And Mr. Brilling's usually smooth forehead was drawn into a deep frown.

His partner turned to stare again at Nollie, and the latter this time had a better view of her. She saw she was no girl, but a mature woman.

Several years older than Mr. Brilling, that's to say. She looked very much annoyed. Nollie wondered what could be the matter?

He didn't get back till after 2 o'clock. He was in a bad mood. Irascible.

At 5 o'clock, the same woman came again. This time she didn't march right in. She sat down in the outer office.

Lit a cigaret and started to read an evening paper. She utterly ignored the secrctary.

This was strange behavior.

"Is she quite right in her mind? Who is she?" Nollie wondered.

"Shall I tell Mr. Brilling that you're here?" Nollie inquired.

"Mr. Brilling expects me and will be out in a few moments," was the stiff rejoinder.

"Oh, very well." Nollie went on with her work.

Suddenly the woman leaned forward and spoke to her.

"Strange that you don't know who I am," she remarked.

"I haven't been long with the firm and you didn't tell me your name," said Nollie levelly.

"Well, it's Galbraith. My father is the head of the firm. And—the woman drew her lips in as she stared at Nollie—"I am engaged to be married to Mr. Brilling."

All of them, however, illustrate the potency of love in ruling human lives, and many of them unfold more of tragedy than of happiness.

Artist Program At Forum Is Outstanding Success

Texas artists at least are not without honor in their own country as was proven Tuesday afternoon when every chair in the large auditorium of the Woman's Forum clubhouse was filled for the first artist program of the season when John Gurley was present in person and his beautiful music made a marvelous program.

Mr. Gurley, who was introduced by Mrs. W. N. Maer, president of the forum, gave a brief introductory talk telling of different episodes in his life that had given him the idea for his music. He explained that his negro music was not the form known as spirituals; that he wove into the music the threads of color he found in living; that he wrote of what he knew best—cowboy and negro life.

The composer announced his own numbers, giving a little history of the compositions before they were sung. Cowboy numbers sung by Baldwin Montgomery were written after Mr. Gurley's life in old Mexico where he had contact daily with these colorful characters. The group was given with spirit and melody with Mrs. R. E. Shepherd accompanying Mr. Montgomery.

In the next group sung with delightful informality by Mrs. W. M. Priddy and Mrs. C. Y. Tully, with Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff accompanying, negro folk songs were featured and the haunitng lullabies were given real color by the two voices that blended in exquisite melody. They sang both solo numbers and duets.

Mr. Gurley told of his life on a plantation near Waco where he came in contact with the real southern negroes before R. E. Shepherd, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd, sang the group of songs that gave the audience vivid pictures of negroes in the cotton fields.

Members of the audience stated that they sat through the program with lumps in their throats, the music was so full of feeling.

At the solicitation of music lovers in the audience, Mr. Gurley sang one of his cowboy songs and played for them several beautiful compositions.

Opening Program

Mrs. Guy Rogers, program chairman for the year, opened the meeting by announcing coming artist attractions and calling attention to the Russian luncheon to be given Oct. 8 with Mrs. Sam Kruger as chairman.

Mrs. W. Newton Maer, forum president, made a gracious welcoming talk stressing the spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm among the women as the thing that makes the forum outstanding. She called attention to the programs outlined and the strength of the various departments, especially mentioning the fact that the Musicians club, a strong independent organization, which will meet at the forum this year, will furnish music for the music department. Mrs. Gurley introduced Mr. Gurley with a graceful tribute to his work.

The receiving line included the executive board, the officers of the forum and members of the social committee. Mrs. W. P. Killingsworth was chairman of arrangements and serving with her were Mesdames Julian Montgomery, J. E. Roberts, C. N. Alexander, Charles William Wallace, B. K. Boot... and O. T. Alles.

The auditorium and adjoining dining room was never more beautifully arranged. The ferns and hanging baskets suspended from the beam between the two rooms gave a semi-tropical effect; a low white fence was the dividing line and on the gate posts where the pretty gates swung open, were baskets of ageratum and queen's wreath. Baskets of pampas grass were placed around the auditorium walls and peacock blue vases filled with purple thistle were on the stage. On the table in the foyer, the lavendar ageratum shaded into the handsome purple vase that held it.

The dining table, where Mesdames G. D. Anderson and W. Newton Maer served from handsome silver trays, was a pretty picture. The fluffy ageratum was used in a handsome silver bowl combined with pink roses, to center the table which was spread with a handsome Italian punchwork cloth. Silver compotes filled with colorful sweets completed the pretty picture.

Approximately 250 members and guests were present.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS L. N. CASON

I was invited to luncheon in the Spanish tea room at the Woman's Forum clubhouse yesterday and of course I went. The Spanish tea room has put on its new autumn dress with orange curtains that match orange leaves I have seen in Tennessee woods.

There's a gorgeous new screen across the service corner, the blue and orange and tan making a modernistic ocean, shore and sky with seagulls by the bunch. (I did not know what they were until I heard the canvas was an ocean and sky, then deducted the gulls). But it is a brilliant addition to the room.

Little vases of ageratum center the bright black enameled tables where orange doilies and napkins make gay luncheon settings. In the center of the largest table, a black basket filled with dusty miller is—to me—the most beautiful thing in the room.

Then there's the black enameled stand from which an empty golden bird cage hangs, waiting an occupant, and there are Mexican water jars and Mexican serapes.

But the best and really the prettiest things there are the luncheons served; reasonable in price and unusual in their delicious combination of food values. And the first course given me was a cocktail glass of grape juice, with purple grapes in the clear and beautiful liquid.

Thinking of you, my dear readers, who like good things that are easy to make, I asked the hostess for her recipe and here it is. A small basket will make about a gallon of juice and the grapes served in it have the taste of the fresh Concords.

Sterilize quart jars; wash Concord grapes you have removed from the stems and put in each jar two cups of grapes and two-thirds cup of sugar. Pour into jars (full as possible), boiling water; stir until sugar is absolutely dissolved and all bubbles gone then seal. In two weeks (the least time), you may serve the clearest and freshest fruit juice you have ever seen.

Luncheon is to be served at the Spanish tea room each day. It is the ideal spot for parties and non-forum members as well as those who hold membership cards may use it without cover charges.

I imagine there'll be some parties this autumn and winter for according to news I have just heard over my desk phone, the depression is over.

The opinion was arrived at because a merchant's wife was so sure of business, she informed a woman who came into her husband's store dressed in beach pajamas that if she could not dress respectably, she could stay out. They would not have done that when the depression was on.

I saw two girls driving two cars before the junior college this morning who had no regard for life, limb nor reason—of any bystander, at least. They were running into and backing cars up and down a crowded street at a mileage as fast as they would make down town. If Wichita Falls could afford it, there should be a traffic cop there at the opening of school, during the luncheon hours and at the closing hours.

Reagan P.-T. A. Board Meets to Plan Program

An interesting program for the first meeting of Reagan Junior High P.-T. A. was outlined by members of the executive board who met Tuesday morning with the president, Mrs. Monte Staniforth. Numbers outlined for the opening of the regular P.-T. A. season, which will take place at the school Thursday, Oct. 8, include the devotional by Roy J. Daniel; greetings by the president, Mrs. Staniforth; "What the P.-T. A. Means to the School," H. D. Fillers, superintendent of the city schools; "Recreational Agencies and Their Value," A. D. Beck. A social hour will follow, with Mrs. Yeager acting chairman for that occasion.

Pep Squad Will Be Equipped With Uniforms

At a called meeting of high school and junior college parents called to meet in the small auditorium of the college Tuesday morning, several plans were put before the organization to raise money for pep squad uniforms.

Mrs. Wm. Huff, athletic chairman, reported that plans for a vaudeville show are in process that will raise funds to equip 100 girls.

The feature of the meeting was a talk by Barry Holton, head coach of the high school, in which he expressed the gratitude of the school to the group who were organizing and uniforming a splendid pep squad.

He stressed the importance to students in the fact that each girl in order to be a pep squad member must pass her scholastic work and stated that the movement would be a benefit to the girls and would make a greater team and school.

If you use Listerine after a shampoo; you can part your hair or arrange it where you choose. Moreover, when used full strength, frequently, Listerine is a preventive of loose dandruff—also a remedy. Tens of thousands of cases have yielded to it. You simply douse it on full strength and massage thoroughly. Keep the treatment up several days. You will be delighted by results.

If infection is present on the surface of the skin, Listerine attacks it. A powerful germicide, it kills bacteria in 15 seconds, the fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Listerine helps to dissolve oily crusts and quickly removes them, as well as horny scales. And Listerine quickly relieves that burning, itching sensation. It soothes inflamed or irritated areas of the scalp.

If scalp is excessively dry, a little olive oil may be used in connection with the Listerine shampoo, or independent of it. The oil aids in dissolving crusts and scales and keeps hair from drying out. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

LEAGUE CLOSES 12TH ASSEMBLY

Plans Laid for Arms Meet in November

GENEVA, Sept. 29. (AP)—The 12th assembly of the League of Nations adjourned this afternoon having set in motion a plan for an armaments truce beginning Nov. 1. The league council, however, remained in session to consider the Sino-Japanese conflict in Manchuria.

The closing session was marked by an exchange of appeals that the powers use every means to make next February's disarmament conference a success and the members congratulated themselves over the collaboration of the United States with the league's work at this session, expressing gratitude to Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson for his interest in the league's work for peace.

The move for an armaments truce although less direct and concrete than some of the delegates had desired was characterized as a valuable contribution to the success of the meeting next February.

Lord Cecil, for England, asserted that this session, which opened "with an expectation of barrenness, has been one of our most fruitful meetings." Despite outside criticism, he said, the session showed the league at its best.

Representatives of several of the other nations echoed his sentiments.

Learning From Life

Throughout life, from the moment we inhale our first breath to the moment that we exhale our last, we are constantly coming in contact with experience which causes us to react instinctively or to make decisions. Every one, whether he is born in a mansion with servants to wait on him or whether he is born in a log cabin in the midst of poverty, must undergo lessons in the stern and unsympathetic school of experience.

Maybe you have the idea that in order to learn you can do so by poring over books, but the fact remains that while reading is helpful, you will learn most of your real experiences from life. Many of our most successful men had but little schooling and yet they learned each day from the world about them. The one who gets the most out of life learns from his experiences without being downed by them.

We can learn a great deal about how to function in the world if we will keep constantly alert by watching ourselves and others, and by trying to use the accumulated experiences of the past in fathoming what lies in the road ahead. An example of one way you can learn is to study an attack of sickness. The wise man or woman takes advantage of a sickness to learn something about getting well. When you are sick, pay attention to the things which made you sick. Then, when you are well, you can prove that you have learned your lesson by changing your bad habits to good ones until you find the way to keep well. The one who makes the same mistakes over and over and is sick time and again shows that he has not learned anything by having been sick.

Some people think that you can get health by reading a book. It is true that by reading various books about health you may learn a great deal about the theories of health, but it is important that you must also learn to practice good habits, to eat, sleep, exercise, and work in a way that will prevent illness. To learn how to keep well by reading is very easy in these days when so much health advice is available, but it is another thing to learn to do each day those things which bring health.

There is an old saying, "That which hurts teaches." One great value of sickness is that it makes us so uncomfortable that we are willing to do anything to restore health. If one did not feel pain and discomfort when ill, one would make no effort to try to find out the causes of sickness or attempt to correct them. When you are sick you can learn a lot about the things not to do; while you are well you can keep on learning about the foods, mental and physical habits which build more abundant health.

The wise man learns his lessons from his experiences and builds himself so that he can cope with still greater experiences. The search for temporary pleasure is futile. That type of experience which leads to the most permanent and lasting happiness is really the best kind to seek.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sunburn More Likely During Midday

Question— Duane asks: "Is there any difference in the quality and quantity of violet rays in the noon sunlight compared with the early morning or late evening sunlight?"

Answer—There is no difference in the quality of the ultra violet rays at different times in the day. However the quantity becomes lessened in the early morning or late evening. The noon sunlight has a greater amount of the heat or infra red rays than it has in the morning or late afteroon. The ultra violet light is also more concentrated. Sunbaths should be shorter in the middle of the day than in the morning or evening in order to avoid sunburn.

Intestinal Irrigation

Question—Mr. I. P. B. writes: "I have been taking enemas for some time and have been greatly benefited by them. However, I notice that some of the water is left in the intestinal tract. Approximately a glass or a glass and a half is left in. Is this water detrimental or harmful in any way?"

Answer—It is not unusual for some of the water of an enema to remain in the intestinal tract and it does no harm.

No Way to Predetermine Sex

Question—Mrs. Vera O. writes: "We have two boys aged 2 and 4½ years. We would like a girl soon so that they can be raised together. We are buying our own home and can only afford one more child and would appreciate any advice along this line."

Answer—Science has found no way to predetermine the sex of a child. The chances are almost even as to the child being a boy or girl. There are a number of schemes which have been devised and talked about but none of them have been successful in more than 50 per cent of the cases and then, of course, it is only a coincidence.

The first bill directed that an election should be held within 180 days after Aug. 21 when creation of a district and a two cents per $100 valuation tax should be voted on.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Horning in somewhat late, Miss Dorothy Milner of Henrietta, one of the more gifted of C. I. A.'s gifts to the world of letters, offers a painful commentary on the recent poetic duel between the Rambler and his deadly literary enemies in Electra and Nocona.

I say the commentary is painful—that is, it is painful to the Electrans, the Noconans, and, what is more important to this corner, to the Rambler himself.

To the average reader, looking in from the sidelines as we alleged poets plunge off tackle and burst through center in an attempt to reach the Poetic Hall of Fame, Miss Milner's verse must seem, on the contrary, quite stimulating.

With these prefatory remarks we present Miss Milner's "Ode on the Poetical Situation in Certain Sporting Circles":

Electra's alleged dithyrambs
Incite me to most fervent dambs;

Nocona's slightly scrambled verse
Calls forth a long, iambic curse;

And I must add, in accents sad,
The Rambler's rhymes are getting bad.

All of which makes me query, "Why
Does anybody versify?"

Of course, I can't answer the question, and I daresay the Electrans and Noconans can't either. For my part, had I a glib answer ready, I would be afraid to utter it, for fear it would call forth another poetic lacing from Henrietta.

Mates, this is a sad state of affairs, when a woman beats you at your own game. There is no doubt but that Miss Milner's verse is a "dambed" sight more clever than anything anybody in Electra or Nocona or in the Rambler's corner has written. At any rate we make this public confession. What we may think privately is another matter and is not for public discussion. In public discussions, the woman always wins, anyway.

The Rambler was nurtured in the belief that women were the ones that incited poetry, much in the manner a Communist incites a riot. The sad realization that women also wrote poetry did not dawn until we had attained mellow middle age and had learned to shave with a straight edge. Now that women have infringed on man's innate heritage, what, I ask, are we to do? Surely, there are women left whose lush complexions and starry eyes are worthy of a sonnet, but should an innocent male pen one, he is almost certain to find that the gal can write one just twice as good as his. To be plain, women should be barred from wooing the Muse. There orta be a law agin it.

We should thank heaven that women were not afflicted with the divine urge in the days of old blind Homer and rhapsodic Dante. Had there been female versifiers in those days, would Homer have sung the beauties of Queen Helen or Dante have gnawed the pencil's end scribbling of fair Beatrice—or, to journey nearer our own times, would Ernest Dawson have swooned o'er the doubtful beauties of a certain hash-house waitress he imagined to be his goddess, and in whose arms he fancied he would find the goal of Earth's Desire?

Alas, we fear not. Queen Helen, lips crimson with drug store rouge and cigaret dangling therefrom, doubtless would have inspired blind Homer not pluck his bloomin' lyre, but to an early suicide. "Aw Homy," we can imagine Helen saying, "that second canto is the bunk. Great Scott, can't you see the rhymes are awful? Now listen, I think this makes me sound more idyllic. Oh, boy, won't the school kids in after ages get a wallop outa reading this!"

Dante's Divine Comedy, we imagine, would have been a sour flop had Beatrice had a hand in it. Dante is said to have met the luscious maid on a bridge in some Eyetalian town, and to have been smitten with the desire to write the great epic, or whatever it is. Now what if Beatrice, sensing that a pome was in the making, had come up to Dante with this: "Now lissen here, pard. I can see that you think I'm the stuff, but none of this rhyming tear with beer, y'unnerstand? And for goodness sake, lay off these attic hexameters! They're as cold as a relief pitcher who didn't go to the bull pen, and you've gotta get some fire into this stuff, hear?

Nay, in those days, women knew their place. They probably knew a lot else, too. In fact, we imagine Queen Helen and Beatrice were pretty much the same as women are nowadays, i. e., crafty, shrewd, self-seeking, infinitely skeptical and inwardly laughing at the sublime efforts of the moony males who tag along after them—but at least they let the males alone, and let them think they were the royal okra.

The gist of all this, and Miss Milner probably sensed it in the first place, is that us male bards may be fighting a losing battle, but we hate to be reminded of it.

Counterfeit Suspect Is Escaped Convict

TYLER, Texas, Sept. 29. (UP)—Arthur Richardson, arrested on a counterfeiting charge at Gladewater, had been identified here today as A. C. Harden, an escaped convict from the Oklahoma state penitentiary at McAlester. The man was identified through the Bertillon department at Washington.

TIGHT BATTLE IS EXPECTED

Zundy Eleven May Tangle With Burk Seconds

While their big brothers, the Coyotes, go against the Ardmore eleven on the Oklahoma gridiron next Friday, the Junior High elevens will have a chance to step in the glare of the local spotlight. The Reagan Junior High team of Coach A. D. Beck will stage the only gridiron battle of the city this weekend, when his charges go against the Burkburnett Junior High school on Culberson field, at Eleventh and Harrison streets.

Up until Tuesday night, the Zundelowitz Junior High school team had no battle scheduled for the week-end. A game booked with the Iowa Park Hawks was subsequently called off, and negotiations were immediately started for a game here Friday with the Burkburnett second team. Plans for this game had not been completed, however.

The Reagan-Burkburnett game promises to be an interesting one despite the fact the Burkburnett High schol was forced to withdraw from competition in the Junior High school conference organized last year. Financial worries, coupled with a host of ineligibilities and a dearth of men for a football team caused the withdrawal of the Burk entry, it was said.

Ineligibles to Play

An arrangement between the two schools, however, probably will add zest to Friday's battle. It was agreed that the ineligibles in the Burkburnett squad should be allowed to play against Reagan, and this arrangement may enable the Burk eleven to present a strong front.

The game will start at 3:45 o'clock and an admission price of 10 cents for students and 25 cents for adults will be charged.

Coach Beck, stripped of many of his last year's stars through graduation, is not satisfied with this year's aggregation, which lost its initial skirmish last week to the Iowa Park Hawks, 13 to 0; but the Reagan mentor has not thrown in the sponge, and is working hard to mould a winning machine. He is being ably assisted in this work by Homer Doke, who will be remembered as a former Coyote and Junior college football star here. Doke, now a teacher in a rural school near Wichita Falls, comes in every afternoon and helps Beck with the work of training the Reagan youngsters.

Coach Beck Tuesday had not decided definitely on a starting lineup for Friday's game. In all likelihood, however, J. L. Creecy, brother of Cleo Creecy, now a promising backfield candidate of the Coyotes, will hold down the right end post while on the opposite end C. E. Edwards will perform. At tackles David Asheraft and Howard Clark seem the logical nominees. Frank Oster and Jack Rambo will hold down the guard positions, with Nae Stone at center.

Backfield Posts

Don Yeakley has looked promising at the quarterback position, and probably will be the field general Friday. Others in the backfield will be Virgil Stingel, right half; "Country" Smith, left half; and Allen Robertson, fullback. The latter lettered at end last year, but this season is being switched to the backfield, where he shows much promise.

PACK GROOMS FOR ARDMORE GAME

Head Coach Barry Holton gave Malcolm Mauldin and Bill Reynolds, regular guards, a rest Tuesday, but these two were the only ones to loaf in the Coyote camp as the team continued its preparations for its first tough game of the season Friday at Ardmore, Okla.

The squadmen were put through much the same drill that was handed them Monday, with punting, passing and tackling sessions being topped off with a scrimmage period lasting nearly an hour.

Holton announced he was much pleased with the showing of young Dick Warren, quarterback prospect who without a doubt is the fastest backfielder in the camp. Warren has yet to see full time service in a game, but it was indicated he may get into action Friday. If he does, high school fans may expect to see a merry war for the quarterback post between Warren and J. Z. Powell, the ex-Reaganite, who is some scrapper himself, but who is not the speed demon that Warren is. Warren excels in shaking off tacklers, and is just about the best broken field runner in Holton's crop of recruits.

Today the team will go through another stiff workout. A let-up will follow on Thursday, the day before the game.

Wichita Polo Four Defeats Crowell, 7-5

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Sept. 29.—Led by Horrace Robbins, who scored five of his team's goals, the Wichita Falls polo four defeated the Crowell team here today, 7 to 5. Others on the Wichita Falls team to score were G. L. Coffey, and Jack Brown, with one goal each.

C. H. Featherston of Wichita Falls, playing on the Crowell team, scored two of Crowell's counters. Cecil Adkins, Glenn Offield and Everett Bell each came through with a counter for the other scores.

Mack's Strategy Will Win, Says Foxx

Cards' Hurling Will Stop A's, Says Grimes

By JIMMIE FOXX
First Baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29.—Strategy in baseball, to use my own definition, is out-thinking the man who is trying to outsmart you.

And it is the Athletics' strategy which has pulled us through many a game when base hits were lacking.

And it wouldn't surprise me to see strategy play an important part in what I believe will be a convincing victory over the Cardinals.

Almost as surprising as Ehmke starting that first game against the Cubs in 1929, was the way we pulled the squeeze play in Philadelphia last year against the Cardinals.

Here were two unexpected moves—yet they were important factors in our winning.

Plums for Connie

Credit for the resourcefulness of the Athletics must go entirely to Connie Mack. He moves his players as a chess player pushes his pawns. To put it bluntly, Connie is the works, the big brain, the master organizer and the almost faultless tactician.

I believe the fact that all the authority is vested in one man—Mack—gives the A's a decided edge over the Cardinals.

Gabby Street, of course, is the supreme boss of the Cardinals and on him the success or failure of the Cardinals rests. He is a good manager—an exceptionally good one, as his record shows. But Connie's skill and daring, made more powerful because he enjoys the unlimited confidence of the fans and players alike, makes him the Athletics' best asset.

More Reasons

To return to the more practical aspects of the game, I think our ability to hit for extra bases is greater than that of the Cards. This was proved in the last series, and I think it will be just as evident this year. Here are some other reasons why I think we'll win:

1. Haines, I am sorry to say, will probably not be available for the series. I would give him a better chance against us than either Derringer or Hallahan.

2. Grimes, who pitched two beautiful games against us last year, appears to have lost some of his effectiveness.

3. Grove is almost unbeatable.

4. All of our players have been able to rest up, more or less, the last two weeks of the season with the result that we shall be in tiptop physical condition for the series.

Discounts Derringer

From all reports, the Cards are counting on Derringer strongly to pull them through the series. Here is a fine pitcher, but it must be remembered that he, or any other first year pitcher for that matter, is likely to take a world series assignment too seriously, with the result that he is not at his best. No matter how much stuff Derringer has, I would say that he should not be as effective as some of the older pitchers on the St. Louis staff.

I predict that either Hallahan, Grimes or Johnson would be more effective against us than Derringer, but the series may prove otherwise.

But I can't give any St. Louis pitcher more than a one to two chance against either Grove or Earnshaw.

I don't see how anything except an unseen combination of circumstances can keep us from our third straight world's championship.

The way it looks to me now, the Cards haven't a single pitcher who can stop us.

I hope I am "looking" right.

Wichita All-Stars Beat Saint Jo, 6-5

Special to The Record News.

SAINT JO, Texas, Sept. 29.—The Wichita Falls All-Stars nosed the local baseball club out in the eighth inning Sunday by the score of 6 to 5. Pitcher Cromer for Saint Jo allowed only seven hits but his own error and errors of his mates let the All-Stars have four unearned runs. Cromer walked three and struck out seven, while Parker of the All-Stars walked five and struck out three. The game was tight until the eighth when the All-Stars scored three runs. From then out it was a ragged affair, Saint Jo making two runs in the ninth on Price's three-base hit, a walk, single and an error:

Missouri Scrimmages With Longhorn Plays

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 29. (AP)—Using University of Texas plays, a freshman team made consistent gains against a University of Missouri eleven made up largely of reserves today. The regulars were equally as impressive offensively when inserted in the lineup.

With Van Dyne definitely out because of scholastic difficulties, Coach Gwinn Henry devoted considerable time to punting and passing, two specialties of the Sedalia youth.

Damon Runyon Predicts A's Will Polish Off Cards in Short Order

Athletics' Pitching Is Under-Estimated and Cards' Hitting Is Over-Estimated, Scribe Contends

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright, 1931, by Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—It appears that many of our most eminent experts are picking the St. Louis Cardinals to give the Athletics a sound belting around in the impending world's series.

I do not quite comprehend the logic of this reasoning.

Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy seems to have about as good a baseball club as has been mobilized in any town in many years.

It may be one of our all-time great clubs.

Therefore, I expect to see Mr. McGillicuddy's outfit give the Cardinals a whipping in the affair we call baseball's "annual classic," though it is not infrequently anything but. That is, anything but classic.

Nor do I anticipate a long series.

I expect Mr. McGillicuddy's club to make it reasonably short, and reasonably sweet. You can readily see that I put great store by Mr. McGillicuddy.

Or, did I pick the Cardinals last year?

I believe that the advocates of the Cards set forth as grounds for their contention that the St. Louis club will beat the A's this year, a set of facts that include the restoration to batting health of a number of individuals who struck me as very sick last year.

They tell me that Jeems Bottomley, for instance, an invalid who couldn't hit the size of his by no means over-sized cap, in 1930, will probably pulverize Mr. McGillicuddy's pitchers this year.

It may be true. I wouldn't mind seeing it, as I like Jeems.

The Cardinals have a great hitter this year in Chick Hafey, high man of the National league, in fact. Hafey wasn't so hot in 1929 and 1930.

Bottomley and Hafey, hitting as they ought to hit, could win the series between them to be sure, but I am guessing that Mr. McGillicuddy's pitching men will make 'em hold still when the time comes.

Mr. McGillicuddy has the world's greatest pitcher in Robert Moses Lefty Grove, and while some of the experts are trying to tell me that Grove wouldn't get past a wind-up against the Cardinals' great right-hand pitchers, I must see that come off to be convinced.

I like the Athletics.

I like 'em as an all-around proposition, except one, and that's the law of average, which makes it very tough for a club, however great, to keep winning world's series.

The Cardinals' advantage as I see it is that they are about due.

In 1928 the Yanks murdered 'em in four straight. Last year the A's smothered them although the Cardinals managed to win two games. Hafey and Bottomley couldn't hit a lick in that series. They are bound to be better this year simply because they couldn't possibly be worse.

Taylor Douthit has gone from the Cards, but they have a corker in a young man named Martin. I believe he is styled "Pepper." All Martins are "Pepper," the same as all Rhodes are "Dusty," in baseball. Martin is a hitter, and has a terrific blast of speed. Furthermore, he is a cocky guy—what they call "aggressive."

In pitching, the Cardinals have quantity if they haven't got quality on the A's, although the redoubtable "Gabby" Street, manager of the Cardinals, gives the impression that he is going to make Derringer and Hallahan do the heavy lifting in the series.

That's enough. A pair of real good pitchers is all a manager needs in a short series. Sometimes a manager is blessed by the baseball gods and gets three, as Mr. McGillicuddy used to have in Coombs, Bender and Plank. But two is sufficient. Back of Derringer and Hallahan, Mr. Street has Sylvester Johnson, Flint Rhem, Stout, Lindsey, and Jess Haines. He isn't likely to get that far back.

But even so, and nevertheless and notwithstanding, and all that sort of thing, I like the A's.

St. Louis always draws the most picturesque world's series crowd of any town on the map. It brings in all the old time players and all the old-time fans from the Middle West and South. Many of these fans have already assembled in St. Louis, because they are the kind that like to get on the ground early and cut up old scores with comrades of bygone years.

You will see in St. Louis this week many a baseball character, owner, player, manager, umpire, or what-not, that you haven't heard of in many years. Some of them you thought were probably dead. They have been hibernating through the years in some small western or middle western, or maybe some remote southern port, coming up for air at rare intervals.

The baseball hospitality of St. Louis exceeds that of any other city, too. They make an occasion of the world's series down there. The club owners spread themselves. The atmosphere of the Jefferson, which is baseball headquarters, is something to feel.

But I like the Athletics.

I think our experts are over-estimating the hitting strength of the Cardinals, and under-estimating the pitching strength of the A's, at the same time forgetting that Mr. McGillicuddy has a few hitters himself.

Furthermore, the A's have been sort o' slipping along without a ripple this season, creating so little stir while winning the pennant as to make some of the experts forget they are still in the baseball business.

But I think you will hear from Mr. McGillicuddy's men presently. Maybe they'll get mad this time and not let the Cardinals take even one game.

Legion Auxiliary at Frederick Wins Prize

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 29.—The distinction of having had the largest percentage of attendance of any group in Oklahoma belongs to the Frederick American Legion auxiliary, according to verified reports of meetings from December, 1930, to Sept. 1.

The state department of the auxiliary awarded the Frederick unit $25, which is a division of the Lew Wentz prize money for the membership drive of the past year.

The John S. Kerr auxiliary received the check for the award through Mrs. Tony Coursey, retiring president, Sunday.

$1,000,000 Construction Contracts Awarded

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (AP)—Contracts for construction work involving more than $1,000,000 have been placed with the Austin company. The work includes a manufacturing plant for Jefferson Electric company at Bellwood, Ill.; a sales and service station for Firestone Tire and Rubber company in Chicago; an office building for United Air lines at Dallas, Texas, and a new hangar for American Airways at Chicago.

THREE OIL BELT GAMES BOOKED

Breckenridge Bucks Meet Mineral Wells

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Sept. 29.—Three of the six teams of the Oil Belt sector will provide the customers with a great quantity of class A football this week-end. Abilene, Ranger and Breckenridge, strongest bidders for the district rag, turn their backs on the class A field.

The Breckenridge Buckaroos, after giving the Stamford Bulldogs a 71 to 0 trouncing the past week-end, will take on Mineral Wells Mountaineers at the local field.

Breckenridge had very little trouble in taking the measure of the Stamford aggregation which was outweighed by ten or more pounds to the man. Shotwell sent his first string to the bench early in the game and sent in his second and some of the third.

Ranger Plays Central

Ranger will play Fort Worth Central high this week. They are not due to have as tough a team on their hands as Friday when they lost to Amarillo, in a closely contested game, but the fans will get to see a good game. With several breaks in their favor to win the game against the Golden Sandstorm, the Oil Belt boys were unable to push over the needed counter.

Abilene Eagles will journey to Sweetwater to play the Sweetwater Mustangs. This will be the Eagles' second game of the season. They gave the Colorado Wolves a sound 73 to 0 thrashing in their first engagement.

Sweetwater and Abilene are both given chances to come out on top, but Abilene holds the inside track. The Eagles, who are supposed to be right with the leaders for the Oil Belt district crown, will have a chance to show what they can do against the team that held Ranger 7 to 0 two weeks ago.

The Cisco Loboes and Colorado Wolves will clash next week. The Loboes will probably give the Wolves another beating, but they will have to play better than they did against Comanche if they expect to win many of their following games.

Other Games

The Comanche aggregation, whipped the week before 54 to 6 by the Buckaroos, were able to let the Loboes score only 20 points on them. Early in the contest the Cisco team scored a touchdown, and after that the Indians were continually threatening to tie the score, but the Loboes managed to slip two more over the goal marker.

Brownwood may experience a little trouble with Ballinger, but they should win. The latter team defeated Lampasas 50 to 0 the past week.

Eastland handed the Fort Worth Polly Parrots a 6 to 0 defeat Saturday. Their next game has not been announced.

Lawton Grid Teams Face Tough Opposition

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 29.—Flushed with two straight victories, both the Lawton High school and the Cameron college gridiron squads probably face their strongest rivals this week-end.

Lawton high will play the crack Norman team on the local grounds next Friday night while the Cameron Aggie face the strong Oklahoma Military academy squad of Claremore.

Lawton high has defeated Weatherford and Walters while Cameron took the scalps of the crack Amarillo team and of the Texas Military college.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (AP)—Cotton was generally lower today, under a moderate volume of southern selling combined with liquidation or some local selling.

December contracts closed at 6.07, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 6 to 10 points.

The opening was steady, unchanged to 4 points lower under southern selling, combined with some selling here for continental account and scattered liquidation which may have been promoted by the easier showing of Liverpool.

Prices gradually worked lower under a continuation of southern selling and liquidation or local selling promoted by the action of the stock market. Prices for all position made new low records for the day and movement, with October selling off to 5.85 or 10 points net lower; while March declined to 6.34 making a net loss of 8 points. Closing quotations were the lowest of the day on most positions.

Expectations of a possible increase in crop estimates following the favorable weather of this month were encouraged by the first of the private crop reports to make its appearance. This placed the condition of the crop at 66.5 against 67.1 a month ago and placed the crop indication at 15,908,000 compared with the last government estimate of 15,685,000. The figures, however, seemed to be without any appreciable effect on the market.

Liverpool cables reported hedging and general liquidation in that market and said Manchester was quieter with the decline in cotton checking business in cotton cloths and yarns. Export today 27,906 making 682,767 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29. (AP)—Moderate trading featured the cotton market today. Price fluctuations were comparatively narrow with a slight downward trend.

Liverpool cables were a shade lower than due but sterling exchange was steady. The market closed steady, showing net losses for the day of 3 to 8 points. Liverpool is due 1 to 2 penny points down tomorrow.

Liverpool cables came in 6 to 7 penny points worse than due on New Orleans but sterling was steady maintaining the previous day's advance. Private cables stated that there was hedge selling and also general liquidation on the improvement in sterling. Manchester cabled that the market was quieter for cloth and yarns owing to the decline in cotton.

The close was at or close to the lowest with December at 6.05 down 7 points net for the day and January at 6.16 down 6 points net.

Continued Fear of Disturbing News Pushes Stock Quotations Off Again

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (US)—Stock quotations continued to slump today under persistent pressure of offerings which expanded as prices declined. Total transactions, instead of confirming the previous day's suggestion of a drying-up climax, expanded to approach the 3,000,000 share mark, compared with Monday's 1,500,000 shares. There was the same attitude of nervousness in market circles, the same fear of impending disturbing developments such as has characterized all recent sessions.

The bond market again disappointed stockholders who had been looking for cheer through development of stability in bond prices. Instead, United States government bonds suffered what to them is severe depreciation and the entire list continued weak. Foreign securities continued to reflect the expectation of further abandonment of the gold standard; Italian issues were in free supply.

The Franco-German discussions with the promise of economic collaboration failed to bring the widely-anticipated bullish interpretation; there was an element of wait-for-final-results.

With average prices down to new lows for the entire bear market, there were few exceptions to the trend. Declaration of the usual extra dividend of $1 by American Can brought a short-lived rally which wound up in a resumption of the decline. General Motors broke under 25 and apparently only short-covering was being attracted to support the issue. There is no question now in mark etcircles concerning the probability of a lowered dividend, with the majority opinion that $2 will probably be the new rate.

Du Pont, which depends mainly upon its General Motors investment for income, naturally slumped in sympathy with General Motors. Short selling may be playing some part in Dupont's decline, but it is of modest proportions in G. M. itself. Reduction in motors' dividend would probably lead to similar action by Du Pont.

Short selling could hardly be blamed for the greater part of the selling which has been taking place of late. In the first place, a great many of the "bear objectives" have been reached or exceeded on the downside. Secondly, the very persistency of offerings today as on previous days, evidenced a fright among stockholders which extends even to large-scale holders of stocks. Whatever buying is taking place, and there is reason to believe there is a modest amount of what is termed "strong buying," appears to be taking place only on a scale downward.

There was still hope that the railroad group may furnish guidance for at least a rally; they held firm most of the day through joining in the final downswing. Still, they held above their previous low.

Meanwhile, one of the most widely used averages showed industrials under 100 for the first time since October, 1924. Auburn slumped under 100, for a net loss of 11½ points. Coca-Cola dropped an additional 11½. Western Union 4. Steel common, which was in free supply throughout the day, was hurt by rumors that operations in the industry the present week are lower, and Bethlehem broke under 30.

The public utilities were the most disappointing section of the market. Very obviously these stocks are now suffering from forced liquidation. Stiff premiums are being demanded to borrow some of the utilities, evidencing a strong effort is being made to discourage selling, but their weakness seems to be based not on short selling but on selling coming from frightened holders or from interests who find it impossible to hold their securities against the colossal decline in all other stocks.

Enormous shifts are taking place underneath the surface, involving great changes in control, and these particularly aply to the great public utility enterprises.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 29. (AP)—Carried down by untoward actions of the stock market, grains today equaled or outdid the season's lowest prices. Adding to unsteadiness of wheat were reports that Russia had cheapened her export quotations 2¾c a bushel, and that pressure to sell Canadian wheat abroad had intensified. European purchases of wheat from North America dwindled to a meager total, 250,000 bushels, exclusively Candian.

Wheat closed fidgetty, ⅜@2¼c down, corn ⅜@1c off, oats at ⅛@¾c decline, and provisions unchanged to 12c up.

Lowest prices of the day in wheat, duplicating the season's bottom level for the September delivery, were reached just before trading ended. Simultaneously, all deliveries of corn slumped down to below any 1931 record.

Shipping demand here was the lightest in a long while. Oats fell with other cereals.

Despite lower quotations on hogs, provisions were firm on account of covering by eastern shorts.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—Sept. 43¾c, Dec. 46⅛@46⅝c, 47¾c; March 49⅞c, 50¼c, May 50½@50¾c, 52⅛c. Corn—Sept. 35¼c, 39c; Dec. 35@35⅛c, 35⅞@36c; May 38¾c, 39⅝@39¾c.

T-O AIRLINES CHANGE HANDS

Lawton Man Buys System From Tarbutton

The purchase of the Texas-Oklahoma airlines, operating between Wichita Falls and Ponca City, by Joe Reed of Lawton, was announced here Tuesday. The company was purchased from R. H. Tarbutton, Wichita Falls, operator of the line since its formation in April.

In a telephone conversation following the purchase Mr. Reed told J. Glen Groves, traffic manager here, that new equipment would be used on the line, and that he expected in the immediate future to make reductions in the current fare schedule.

Mr. Reed is himself a pilot and has been manager of the Lawton municipal air port for a number of years.

Headquarters of the Texas-Oklahoma lines will remain at Wichita Falls. Whether or not Mr. Reed will remove here to assume charge of the business had not been learned Tuesday by Mr. Groves.

Equipment to be used on the line will be six-place Travelair planes. One new plane already has been purchased. One or two more planes of the same type will be added if required, Mr. Reed told the agent here.

With its inauguration here April 11, the line was operated between Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City. Later the northern terminus was extended to Ponca City. About 10 days ago a double schedule, with two planes operating each way daily, was instituted.

Democrat Sweeps Missouri Race

vice president in 1928, and other nationally known orators into the district to speak for Johnson.

Their plea for votes for Johnson was based on an attack on the record of the Republican administration in dealing with the business depression.

Neither candidate took notice of the prohibition issue raised by Collins.

Johnson carried six of the eight counties in the district, including Palmer's home county of Pettis. That county gave the Democratic candidate a margin of 1,000 votes.

In some counties, Johnson ran three to one ahead of his Republican opponent.

Collins polled 2,526 votes in Greene county, his home. Other counties gave him a scattering vote.

Most of Texas Mohair Consigned to Co-Op

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Sept. 29. (AP)—The Texas Wool and Mohair Warehouse association consigned 86.2 per cent of the fall Texas mohair clip to the National Wool Marketing corporation, a federal farm board unit, last night.

The advance was 15 cents on grown hair and 35 cents on kid hair, to be paid to the accounts of the growers with no warehouse charges deducted.

Plans were to ship the mohair immediately. Goat ranchers of Texas will receive $1,750,000 within the next 15 days.

Spring clip of 1932 was included in the contract signed last night.

NOCONA, Texas, Sept. 25.—It was voted here today to retain the Nocona Independent school district tax of $1 on the $100. The ballot was counted 99 for the retention of the old tax rate; no dissenting votes were cast.

The Nocona Independent school district absorbed the Darrel Springs school district here a few weeks ago. The tax election was held under the provision of law that when two school districts merge the question of the school tax must be put before the people.

Importer of Skunks Reports Theft of Nine

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 29. (UP)—A courageous burglar stole nine imported skunks from the home of R. N. Bowman, he reported to police today.

Bowman imported the animals from Europe at an expense of $350.

"I don't know why anybody would want to import skunks when the native ones are bad enough," commented Capt. Howard Brooks of the sheriff's office. "Anyway, the trail ought to be easy to follow."

Birth Insurance Racket Uncovered In Mail Fraud Investigations

DALLAS, Sept. 29. (AP)—Postal inspectors investigating ramifications of an allegedly fraudulent marriage insurance ring announced today that certain branches of the organization had been engaging in the sale of "birth insurance" policies.

Inspectors announced today they had arrested a man who sold such policies. They said he would be prosecuted with 36 persons suspected of defrauding residents of the Southwest of over $750,000 in the past year.

Seventeen of the 36 suspects have been arrested and are held in jail, six at Dallas, seven at Lubbock, two at Houston, one at San Antonio and one at Spur, the inspectors said.

Eleven of the persons charged were alleged to have been connected with operations of the National Marriage and Birth Endowment association. Activities of the Lone Star Matrimonial Mutual association involved 25 other persons.

Regional Leader of Relief Work 'Surprised' to Find Chest Fund Raised

M. C. Williams, representative of the national community chest organization for the Southwest, addressed about 30 persons at local community chest headquarters Tuesday night relative to raising and distributing funds for relief work during the ensuing year.

Mr. Williams is one of the regional directors named several weeks ago at the request of President Hoover's Gifford unemployment relief committee, he said, to aid in the creation of community chest funds. His territory was described as including Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arkansas, and Louisiana. The work of regional directors is limited to cities of 25,000 or more population. Mr. Williams will visit Fort Worth Wednesday night, and will then go to New York for a conference with other regional workers. He then will establish headquarters in Dallas, from which he will operate throughout his territory during the winter.

The speaker expressed surprise at finding the community chest campaign already completed here, and plans for relief during the ensuing year already formulated. He discussed methods in vogue in other cities for handling the problem of relief for transients, and for taking care of needy families resident in the community.

Mr. Williams was introduced by C. E. Basham, president of the local community chest board.

Body Taken From Beach Near Scene Of Collings Murder May Prove 'Key'

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (AP)—From the waters of Long Island sound today came the body of an unidentified man—a possible "key" to the Benjamin Collings yacht murder mystery.

Apparently about three weeks in the sound waters, the body was washed ashore at flood tide on Asharoken beach, near where the Collings cruiser was 20 days ago when Mrs. Collings says two men, who boarded the cruiser for the announced purpose of seeking aid for a wounded companion, killed her husband and abducted her.

Search for the third man produced no results, and authorities until today leaned to the theory he was mentioned only as a pretext for invading the Collings yacht.

But the body, found at daybreak by Milton Bonneau, a milkman, bore a hole in the back of the head, possibly a pistol wound.

An autopsy was begun in a Northport garage to determine if possible his identity and cause of his death.

After the preliminary autopsy, Assistant District Attorney Munder said it had been determined the man was in the water at least 10 days and possibly longer.

"On that basis," he said, "we can not dismiss the possible connection with the Collings case."

Mrs. Collings remained in Stamford today. She was shown photographs of two persons, father and son, suspected of complicity in the crime but stated positively that she had never seen either of them.

Crash at Terrell Kills Iowa Park Resident; Two Wichitans Injured

TERRELL, Texas, Sept. 29. (AP)—Bill Copeland, 24, of Iowa Park, Texas, died in a Terrell hospital today from injuries received when a car in which he and three other persons were riding overturned east of here.

Roy Noble of Wichita Falls and Luther Poole of Dallas, other occupants of the machine which was wrecked this afternoon were recovering from their injuries. Anderson Noble was less seriously injured.

WIFE OF VICTIM LEAVES FOR TERRELL

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Sept. 29.—William M. Copeland, 24, fatally injured in an automobile accident near Terrell Tuesday, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fernandez Copeland of Iowa Park. The family moved here about a year ago from Petrolia.

Bill Copeland had been working in the Gladewater oil fields for the last eight months, and was returning to Iowa Park to visit his wife when the accident occurred. Mrs. Copeland left here immediately after receiving word of the accident.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed early Tuesday night.

Roy Noble, 33, injured in an automobile accident at Terrell, is the son of Mrs. Janie Noble, 1400 North Fourth street, Wichita Falls. Anderson Noble, 16, also injured, is her grandson. The two men were returning to Wichita Falls after a trip to the East Texas oil fields in search of employment.

SENATE VOTES LEASING BILL

Sterling Urges Drilling for Oil by State

hours of the time then set to adjourn. No bill can be voted upon within 24 hours of adjournment.

It was first offered as a bill to authorize the land commissioner to lease the river bed for oil. The state would receive one-eighth royalty on such leases and also any bonus that might be bid. It was amended to provide that the state itself shall drill the river bed, taking all the oil. Governor Sterling said he personally preferred that the state drill.

Cities Object

Miss Neal's successful opposition to the bill, and its defeat while Governor Sterling still was absent from Austin, was based on objections of Longview and other municipalities to drilling in the stream for fear of pollution. Longview gets its water supply from the Sabine.

Sterling says the river can be drilled without pollution.

If the legislature fails to act, the governor still plans to act.

"I feel sure I have the power to go ahead with an executive order," he said. "It means millions for the state treasury.

"The representative of one major company alone admitted that if the state drills the river bed they will have to put down 30 offset wells. I told him it would be cheaper for them to pay the state a royalty and not drill."

INJURED IN CRASH

Fannie Meyers, negress, was attended at the Wichita General hospital late Tuesday afternoon for severe arm and leg cuts received when her automobile overturned on Marconi street after striking a bump in the road. She was carried in an ambulance to the hospital but was able to return to her home after having her wounds attended.

BEER AND BONUS
Wichita Legion Members To Discuss Issues At Meeting

Reports of the national convention recently held at Detroit, discussion of the "beer-and-bonus" question, and musical entertainment provided by the Burkburnett post will feature the regular meeting of the American Legion Pat Carrigan post at the Memorial auditorium Thursday evening, Oct. 1, at 7:30 o'clock, according to Roy J. Daniel, post commander.

The national convention will be reviewed by J. F. Friberg, service officer of the local post. Mr. Daniel announced that an open forum will be held on the matter of proposed repeal of the prohibition amendment, and on that of further government payments to world war veterans in the near future.

Steve Marchand, post commander at Burkburnett, will head the "Hickville band," which is scheduled to present a musical program at Thursday night's meeting.

Circus Draws Big Attendance

The circus still retains its old-time lure for hundreds of grownups as well as youngsters, judging from the crowds which attended the two performances of the Sells-Floto circus here Tuesday.

Both the matinee and night performances of the circus drew excellent crowds. Tom Mix and his famous horse, Tony, cavorted about the big arena to the delight of many juvenile movie fans, but most of his performance was offered in a separate show from that under the big top. Mabel Ward, aerialist, and "the Great" Peters, who drops through space with a noose afound his neck, received most of the plaudits of the crowds.

The performances were presented at the show grounds near the baseball park.

CHURCH VOTES LIBERAL CANON

Episcopal Body Adopts Marriage Code

marriage. With the issuance of such nullification the parties concerned have the right to be married by a minister of the church.

A rather unruly house of clerical and lay deputies raised only a few voices in protest as the Rev. Z. B. Phillips, Washington, D. C., presiding officer, called for the vote on the most controversial issue of the convention. The vote was not recorded but was overwhelmingly favorable.

In the house of bishops, 70 affirmative votes were cast against 19 nays after Presiding Bishoj James De Wolf Perry, of Rhode Island, had guided the bishops through a parliamentary maze and speakers had presented final objections amid cries for the question.

The canon, as finally adopted, was a compromise between the bishops and the deputies. Questions not definitely settled were referred to the next general convention.

The canon provides for establishment of an ecclesiastical court operating through the bishop for consideration of matrimonial cases, in each diocese and missionary district at the discretion of the diocese or district.

No marriage shall be solemnized unless the intention of the contracting parties has been signified to the minister at least three days before the ceremony.

No minister, the canon recites, "shall solemnize the marriage of any person who has been or is the husband or wife of any other person then living, from whom he or she has been divorced for any cause arising after marriage." The canon makes it unlawful for any member of the church to enter upon a marriage when either of the contracting parties is the husband or wife of any other persons then living from whom they have been divorced for any cause arising after marriage.

The canon, however, makes an exception of the innocent party to a divorce granted on grounds of adultery.

Only minor matters remained before the convention with adjournment set for tomorrow.

MAJESTIC: Four Marx brothers in the comedy sensation "Monkey Business." Interesting short topics, Dogville comedy and sound news.

STATE: "The Squaw Man," featuring Warner Baxter, Lupe Velez and star cast. Short topics, cartoon and news events.

GEM: Bebe Daniels in "Dixiana," with Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey. Mickey Maguire comedy.

When people are happy, they are inclined to laugh at all sorts of monkeyshines; when they have been oppressed by months of economic worry, it is medicine to laugh. Perhaps for these reasons citizens of Wichita Falls and of neighboring towns have crowded in to laugh at the four Marx brothers.

The manager of the Majestic theater is holding the show over until Friday because the town has gone Marx. His movement is an answer to a clamor for laughs.

Quiet, staid and dignified people have chuckled over the outlandish (of course it's on the ocean) activities of four actors who keep things going without the necessity of a plot. Children adore the play—rather the circus; and do not forget that the piano keys are tickled and the harp strings really resound.
