Castro Vows To Halt Flights

Precinct Conventions Here Saturday May Be Lively

Precinct conventions — often routine — may be lively affairs here Saturday night when Democrats and Republicans convene to consider resolutions, some of which are anticipated to stir excitement, and elect delegates to the county confabs.

Both the Democratic and Republican county chairmen stoutly maintain that they don't anticipate any real dissension when the precinct conventions are held immediately following the close of the polls. Democratic chairman W. T. (Dub) Zimmerman said his party conventions will convene at 7:15 p.m. at the polling sites. Republican chairman

N. A. Steed said the GOP conventions will start at 7:30 p.m. Not all of these will be at the polling sites. (See list below). Zimmerman said "I don't anticipate any controversy whatsoever in the Democratic Party in Wichita County."

Steed said "I don't anticipate any conflict."

Discussion Rumor

There is rumor among the ranks, however, that some of the Saturday night conventions will be spiked with discussion in both parties.

At the GOP meetings the dissension may take the form of opposition to some Republicans' plans to try to get endorsement for Ariz. Sen. Barry Goldwater for president.

One Republican source also said he has heard rumors of a write-in campaign against Robert Priddy who is the only candidate for the county chairmanship. There was no word as to whose name might be written in.

Steed, who decided not to run for the chairmanship again, reported that while he is not proposing any resolutions for the consideration of those attending the precinct gatherings, he understands there is some movement to get resolutions passed on the civil rights issue.

Four Proposals

Zimmerman said that Democrats attending the 57 precinct conventions will be asked to act on four proposals.

Only one of these might bring on some conflict. The first resolution which the Democrats will be asked to pass is the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Memorial Resolution which follows:

"Whereas, one of history's most tragic events occurred Nov. 22, 1963, the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the President of the United States, and

GOP Candidate Visits In City

By PETER HINCHLIFFE

Jack Crichton of Dallas, unopposed Republican candidate for governor in the May 2 primaries, declared that he was against any increase in state taxes, and in fact would try to reduce taxes wherever possible, during a Wichita Falls interview Thursday.

Crichton visited with Republican party officials here prior to traveling on to Amarillo, where he was scheduled to attend a meeting in support of Sen. Barry Goldwater Thursday night.

He has already travelled more than 25,000 miles to meet Republicans around the state, and intends to open an even more intensive campaign following the primaries. "I plan to shake the hands of as many poll tax holders as I can between now and the November election," he added.

"This state is ready for a Republican governor to carry out Republican policies of financial responsibility and the encouragement of private enterprise," Crichton declared. "In the 1963 gubernatorial race, Republican candidate Jack Cox came near to beating Gov. Connally. A Republican Governor for Texas can be elected with less than a 4 per cent swing on the 1963 vote."

Crichton pointed out that the state budget for 1964-65 showed a 20 per cent increase. He thinks a far more vigorous stand should be taken on two subjects vital to the future of Texas: the import of beef and the import of oil.

He identified himself wholeheartedly with Sen. Goldwater's See REPUBLICAN, Page 4A

Living Costs Inch Upward For Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs inched up one-tenth of one per cent in March as prices rose for virtually all consumer items except food, the government reported today.

Lower food prices were offset by higher costs of housing, medical care, transportation and other basic items, bringing the consumer price index to 107.7.

This means that it now costs $10.77 to buy goods that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

A Labor Department spokesman said costs could be expected to go up again for April, but he added "there is not the slightest indication of any serious inflation."

The spokesman, Deputy Commissioner Robert J. Myers of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said relatively stable prices during a general business upturn provided "a very reassuring performance."

Food prices generally declined three-tenths of one per cent, mostly for meat and eggs.

Fruit and vegetable prices increased 1.1 per cent from February, however, largely because of shortages caused by late winter freezes in Florida.

Household costs rose two-tenths of one per cent mainly because gas bills began returning to regular levels following last month's government-ordered refunds.

Transportation costs went up three-tenths of one per cent, largely because of higher gasoline prices.

Responsibility For Incidents Put On U.S.

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Wednesday night Cuba will try to prevent U.S. reconnaissance flights over this island "to the limits of what our weapons can do."

But in remarks to diplomats and newsmen attending a Japanese diplomatic reception he did not specify if that means Cuba will use Soviet rockets to try to bring down U.S. planes.

The United States has announced it will continue such flights despite Cuban protests and Soviet support of the protests.

Castro said Cuba "will not surrender an inch in the problem of flights." He said "we will defend our sovereignty whatever it may cost and wherever it may happen."

He said any responsibility for any incident that may arise from the flights would lie with the United States.

He declared that the air surveillance "cannot be imposed on Cuba indefinitely."

When asked if ground-to-air rockets now controlled by the Russians are going to be turned over to the Cuban army he answered emphatically that those rockets "will be handed over to Cuba."

He did not specify any date. He said the United States has known for a long time that Cuban personnel have been trained and that those weapons were going to be turned over to the Cuban army.

Goldwater Gains Delegates

See Roscoe Drummond on Editorial Page 4C

Castro said this knowledge gave the United States "one and one-half years to rectify its flight policy."

He accused the United States of violating the agreement with the Soviet Union, made during the October 1962 crisis and said, "The United States now knows quite clearly that they are violating those agreements."

"We are ready to talk and to search for peaceful solutions to all pending problems but, any positions of force against us are going to fail," the Cuban leader declared.

He repeated that "solution of the problem of the flights is fundamental. We will not give up on this."

Government Grabs New Skin Cream

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced today seizure of a quantity of "Helene Curtis magic secret wrinkle-smoothing skin lotion" on charges that it is a new drug not covered by an approved application and is being marketed under false claims.

The agency said the product is a drug rather than a cosmetic and moved against it in federal court under provisions of drug regulatory laws.

FDA said U.S. marshals seized over 35 cartons of the product today from a dealer in Baltimore, Md.

The product was shipped in interstate commerce, FDA said, by Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., beauty salon division, from Chicago.

The agency said several similar products have been placed on the market since the first of the year and reportedly others are planned. Those on the market are being investigated, the spokesman said.

The announcement said papers filed in U.S. District Court in Baltimore included the following charges:

1. The product is a new drug not generally recognized as safe and effective by qualified experts for prolonged, continued use for removal of wrinkles and no new drug application has been approved for it.

2. The product is misbranded because its labeling is false and misleading when read by the ordinary consumer. The labeling presents an exaggerated statement of what the drug will do and a misleading statement of how it works.

Senator Returns Campaign Attacks

By KATRICA COCHRAN

Denouncing a claim by his Democratic opponent for the senate nomination that he had failed to pay an overdue note on a $6,000 debt, Sen. Ralph Yarborough made a whirlwind stop in Wichita Falls Thursday and made a few charges of his own.

The senator said, in an interview with the Times, that the suit in question was filed 10 days before his senate election in 1957 and that the "note wasn't due."

He had borrowed the money for campaign expenses and was paying it back in installments, he said. "As soon as the note became due it was paid," Yarborough said, "but not through the law suit."

The records in Austin show that, he added. The suit was a "political move to defeat me," the senator claimed.

"Dishonest"

In retort to the effort by Gordon McLendon to get conservatives to vote Democratic in the primary and then go to the GOP ticket in November, Yarborough labeled such actions politically unethical and "dishonest."

SEN. RALPH YARBOROUGH

At a rally attended by supporters at the Yarborough headquarters, 902 Lamar, the senator spoke briefly and warned that "if the hate gang in Dallas puts over this campaign to try to destroy me—we will have two Republicans in the Senate who vote against the 20th Century."

He asserted that there are four Republicans and a "hate-smear Republican" running in the race.

In answer to the charge he had received $50,000 from Billie Sol Estes, the senator said "That has been shown to be absolutely groundless."

The man who said he had seen the senator receive the money in Pecos on Nov. 6, 1960 was not in the West Texas town at the time. Yarborough said the man's military records show he was in the day of his discharge... and was

Space Test Is Successful

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) —

Manned Spacecraft Center engineers have completed the first successful, controlled test of the paraisal — the system that may be used to bring the first American spacecraft to a land landing.

"It could not have been more successful," said Lee Norman, project engineer on the development of the paraisal.

The drop Wednesday was the third of a full-scale paraisal and model of a two-man Gemini spacecraft.

The first drop was not a control drop but was merely to test the deployment problems and a parachute was used to lower the spacecraft.

Norman controlled the descent of the paraisal and model spacecraft by radio from the retriever, a converted Army landing craft that the center uses for various tests.

From an altitude of 11,000 feet, the spacecraft was rolled from the rear of an Air Force cargo plane. As it fell from the plane, a small-drogue chute popped from its neck.

And It's About Time Too

LONDON (AP) — "We have nine children," said Lionel Burleigh, 57, "and after 25 years of going steady I think Vivian and I should get married."

"I don't feel a man should get married until he's had children. I feel very strongly on the subject."

Burleigh and Vivian, 44, tried to get married Wednesday but the Holborn Registry Office told them to come back next Wednesday. He didn't have the right papers.

The couple was accompanied to the office by four of their children.

As they left the office, 8-year-old Samuel asked: "Are you married yet?"

"No," replied Vivian. "Daddy didn't have the papers showing his old divorce had been made absolute. So we can't get married today."

"Oh, dear," said Samuel,

"how madly gay."

"I got a divorce in 1944," Burleigh told newsmen. "I thought the absolute decree came along automatically. I've got the papers somewhere.

We'll be back next week with the proper documents."

Wife William, 12, showed annoyance, his sister Mercedes, 19, said: "You've waited 12 years for them to get married. A few more days shouldn't hurt you."

To reporters she added: "I was against their getting married at first. They've been living together for 25 years. There didn't seem much point in getting married but it's what they want."

White House Is Now Different

Editor's note—With a change in style in White House dealings in presidents comes a change with Congress. An AP House staffer who is on close terms with many of Capitol Hill's leading lights took some soundings, and the result is this comparison of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson's way of doing congressional business.

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of Congress, trying to describe President Johnson's style in dealing with the legislators as contrasted with the late President John F. Kennedy's, end up with something like this: "He's much more approachable. But at the same time you're more afraid of crossing him."

One Democrat was asked to explain this apparently contradictory assessment. "There's one thing you always have to remember," he said. "Kennedy never was part of 'the establishment' when he served in the House and the Senate. He was an attractive, even glamorous figure, but he was on the outside, so far as the leadership was concerned—a sort of a loner."

Famous Duo

"But Johnson was the leadership in the Senate—the majority leader. And he was the strategy partner of the late speaker, Sam Rayburn in the House. They were the ones you went to with your problems, but they were also the ones who could crack down if you got out of line."

"That sort of thing carries over." As for approachability, a representative was musing over Johnson's recent mingling with tourists on the White House lawn.

"Can you imagine Kennedy walking over to the fence, order the gate opened and saying, 'You all come on in?'" he asked. The Democrats who discussed Johnson's party leadership obviously were not talking for quotation by name.

Ladies Different

One of them, a Westerner, said the difference in style between the former and the present First Ladies was at least as marked as the contrast between their husbands.

"When Mrs. Kennedy invited you to the White House, you were beautifully received at a beautiful party, thought out in every detail. I imagine each one was planned for at least a week, and she would not have thought of arranging one on shorter notice."

"But last Dec. 23, Congress was trying to get through so we could get home for Christmas, and it became apparent we wouldn't make it that day."

"In the middle of the afternoon, the White House called up inviting everybody over for later that same day. It was informal; there were big bowls of egg-nog; there were the Johnsons circulating around chatting with everybody. It was fun and we all relaxed."

Embarrassing Question

A representative without much seniority said, "When my wife went home during the Kennedy administration, people would ask her what Mrs. Kennedy was really like. You know, the people at home assume if you're in Washington you're on easy terms with everybody."

"She had to say she had never met Mrs. Kennedy. That's a little hard on a congressional wife. Now she can tell them what Lady Bird said the last time she was at the White House, what she wore and all that sort of thing."

Johnson's use of the telephone, and his manner over the wire, are legendary. But the stories keep being told: "Johnson hadn't been president very long. There was a vote coming up and it was close. A page came up to the representative sitting next to me with a note that there was a call for him in the cloakroom."

Who's Calling?

"When he came back, I asked who was calling. 'The President,' he said, and he looked sort of glazed. 'Johnson knew just what point the debate had reached and who needed calling right then.'" en's acknowledged talents as an encourager and persuader on the Hill.

Johnson has kept on Kennedy's legislative liaison man, Lawrence F. (Larry) O'Brien, and he extensively uses O'Brien's acknowledged talents as an encourager and persuader on the Hill.

"But you have the feeling it isn't exactly the same," said a veteran of the two administrations. "Larry operated more on his own, did more planning, under Kennedy. Now you're never in doubt about who's calling the shots. It's Johnson."

22, 1963, with the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy during what had been a triumphant visit to the State of Texas; and

"Whereas, President Kennedy earned a special place in the hearts of the American people through his vigorous leadership for peace, and throughout the Free World he became a symbol of our nation's dream of freedom for all mankind;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that this precinct convention express its deep sorrow over the loss of our beloved President Kennedy who gave his life in service to his people."

Back President

Zimmerman said that secondly he is asking for unanimous endorsement of President Lyndon B. Johnson, for his nomination to the presidency and his election and for his "humanitarian program."

Third — and this is the one where there may be some dissent from the supporters of Don Yarborough, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor — is a resolution asking that Gov. John Connally be named to head the state delegation to the national convention to work for the nomination and election of President Johnson.

Zimmerman said that he will also ask the convention attendees to adopt the unit rule.

Some of the Democratic precincts also face the prospect of conflict over the selection of permanent chairman.

The Democrats will elect 308 delegates to the county convention which will be held at 2 p.m. May 9 at Wichita Falls High School. Republicans will elect 275 delegates to their county meeting which will be at 1 p.m. May 9 at the Young Women's Christian Association.

The official tabulating center for the election returns for the Democrats will be at Times Square and for the Republicans at their headquarters, 703 Bluff.

Consolidations

Sixteen of the Republican ballot boxes have been consolidated as to location. There will be 57 boxes, but in some instances two or more will be at a single location since the Republicans were unable to secure voting places in all the precincts.

Those that are doubling up and the location of the boxes are:

Precinct 1, 2 and 41 — Court-house; 10 and 20 — Zundelwitz Junior High School; 16 and 57 — S. H. Rider High School; 18 and 42 — City View School; 21 and 53 — Harrell School; 27, 28 and 29 — 506 Oaks in Burk Burnett; 33, 34 and 35 — Faith Baptist Church in Iowa Park; 3, 40 and 54 — Holland School; 48 and 52 — Ben Milam School.

Precinct 6, convention at 2012 Clarinda; 21 and 53 at 350 Morris; 25 at 2116 Hiawatha; and 45 at 2104 Indian Heights.

A complete list of all polling places, both Democratic and Republican, will be published in the Friday Times and Saturday Record News.

Crichton pointed out that because of his considerable experience in the oil industry, he was well able to speak out on the oil import situation.

Background

The 48-year-old gubernatorial hopeful is an independent oil executive, an engineer and a petroleum consultant. He was born in Crichton, La., and this is the first time he has sought public office.

He graduated from Byrd High School in Shreveport, La., in 1933; received a BS degree in petroleum engineering from Texas A&M in 1937; an MS in petroleum engineering from MIT in 1938; a professional degree in petroleum engineering at Texas A&M in 1953; and attended a special course at Dallas College of SMU.

Crichton served in the U.S. Army during World War II, and has served as vice president and president of many oil companies. His civic activities include committee chairman of Dallas County Civil Defense, and the Military Affairs Committee and Oil and Gas Committee of Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

He received the Air Medal, Bronze Star and other awards as a result of his wartime service.

During his visit here, he was hosted at a luncheon given by his supporters.

Army Retreats On Lie Detector

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has given not a civilian in private employment in Pecos at that time.

As to the second man who reportedly saw the transaction, Yarborough said Thursday that "I wouldn't know the man if I saw him. The people of Pecos said he was not even in town at that time."

"It is fakery and perjury," he claimed. "The FBI is right on the trail of those perjurers now."

"I think some prosecuting attorneys and grand juries are going to be interested before this job is done."

The senator had said earlier he had received a total of about $7,000 from Estes—all before Estes' arrest in 1962.

Yarborough attacked McLendon's statements of doing away with farm subsidies by pointing out that his opponent has the "greatest subsidy of all — six free licenses to use the public airwaves where he makes millions of dollars."

Defends Farmers

The senator was referring to the six radio stations owned by McLendon. Furthermore, Yarborough said, McLendon "has said he would keep his radio stations and run them," even if elected.

"Can you imagine the evil this would unleash on the air?" Yarborough, in defense of farm subsidies, pointed out that "agriculture is the basic industry of Texas. It puts more money into the state of Texas than any other one thing... it brings in two and a half billion dollars a year to Texas."

"There are 300,000 farm families in Texas comprising a million and a half people. "The ending of crop price supports would spell disaster to Texas' farmers and ranchers," he charged, and "would drive 100,000 families off the farms and into the cities to join the ranks of unemployment."

Yarborough told his supporters of McLendon's having filed for bankruptcy in May 1952 and of his creditors losing $713,000. "He had the bankruptcy discharged in 1953," he pointed out.

The senator said it has been charged he voted against beef import restrictions. "I have voted for these restrictions," he said. "I voted in favor of labeling meat imports by nations" so the housewife would know where the meat comes from.

Yarborough told the rally that he was glad to be in the "city that really gave me my political start. I am glad to come back to this solid Democratic area because I am the only Democrat running for the Senate."

He held up a copy of the Sept. 28, 1956 issue of the Record News which called for a "draft Yarborough" movement. "It started right here," he said.

Praised Editorial

The senator said he was proud of the editorial endorsement by Rhea Howard, president of the Times Publishing Co. He also reported that the Houston Chronicle had endorsed him "for the first time."

Yarborough had no comment to make on how great a victory he will have in the Saturday primary explaining he had "not faced this situation before" with the Republicans having a primary.

Neither would he predict which Republican would win the GOP nomination for the Senate Saturday. "I'll comment on that next Monday," he said.

From Wichita Falls the senator flew to Sherman with stops planned in Texarkana and Tyler Thursday night. A large rally is planned in Tyler where both he and Mrs. Yarborough graduated from high school.

Friday he will spend in Fort Worth — and will make a statewide telecast at 9:30 p.m. — before returning to Austin to vote Saturday morning and to await the campaign results.

way to the pressure of a congressional subcommittee and made a vital change in its use of lie detectors. But the subcommittee clearly wants more.

The first fruit of an investigation by a House Government Operations subcommittee came when the Defense Department agreed to begin letting subjects know about any two-way, mirrors or hidden microphones used in a lie detector test.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the subcommittee, made the announcement Wednesday. He and other members of the subcommittee had asked the Army to change its ways.

Methods Revealed

In a hearing several weeks ago, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., developed testimony that the Army has special lie detector rooms, sometimes equipped with two-way mirrors and hidden microphones.

Maj. Gen. Ralph J. Butchers, the Army's provost marshal general, said there was no reason to tell soldiers about the mirror and microphones because they all know "they are being monitored and big brother is watching."

But Reuss believed that the constitutional rights of the subjects were being violated and, at least, the men should be advised about the monitoring.

The Army finally agreed. But the subcommittee, while appreciating the Army action, appears to want far more actions by the federal government.

Report Stated

It is understood that once its hearings are over, members of the subcommittee plan to issue a report demanding appointment to set new minimum standards for operators of lie detectors and to limit their use to a few special situations.

Amunition for this report came Wednesday when the subcommittee heard four psychiatrists and psychologists attack the scientific basis for the present use of lie detectors and to suggest far higher standards for the operators of the machines. The subcommittee planned to collect more evidence from them today.

Many lie detector operators in the federal government administer the tests and interpret them after as little as six weeks training.

Dr. John I. Lacey, a professor of psychophysiology at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, said he allows nurses, X-ray technicians, and college graduates to operate the machines in his laboratory only after at least six months training "and I would not be comfortable for them to read the data after three years training."

Jurors Say Belli Accused Them

DALLAS (AP)—Two jurors in the Jack Ruby murder trial said Wednesday they were ready to swear that Melvin Belli, former chief lawyer for the condemned slayer, made false statements about them.

Allen McCoy and Mrs. Louise Malone were subpoenaed as witnesses for a hearing on Ruby's plea for a new trial. Neither was placed on the stand.

Both said they would have testified under oath that Belli accused them falsely during a tirade after they joined other jurors in voting to send Ruby to the electric chair for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Mrs. Malone denied she was tied to a nephew, a Dallas policeman, while she sat in the jury box.

McCoy denied he had expressed an opinion that Ruby was guilty.

Band To Attend Music Festival

By MAURINE WALKER
Teen Times

The S. H. Rider High School Band will be among 197 bands attending the 32nd Annual Tri-State Music Festival at Phillips University in Enid, Okla., Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Tri-State Music Festival is a music education project developed by the many directors and individual participants in this annual event. It provides artistic performances by great virtuosi and concert groups so that students may learn to build better school music organizations from hearing and seeing world renowned musical talent.

The Tri-State Music Festival is one of many Rider band projects. Others include performances at pep rallies, football games, contests in marching, concert and sight reading, Christmas Concert, Annual Pop Concert, parades, concert at First Baptist Church and a Spring Festival.

In addition, the band has helped the music department sponsor the traditional S. H. Rider High School Talent Show.

Directing the band in its multitude of activities is Harold J. Jackson, who holds both the bachelor's and master's degree in education.

Assisting Jackson are the 1964-65 band officers: Johnny Crespo, president, Paul Pond, vice president, and Marilyn Martin, secretary-treasurer.

The Band Council, which plans and regulates the band's extra-curricular activities, is composed of Mark Madera and Curlette Forester, seniors; Danny Lester and Joann Childers, juniors; Mike Linder and Carolyn Thompson, sophomores; and Mike Spiller and Marsha Gearhart, freshmen.

Other necessary functions are performed by Paul Pond, student conductor; Sandra Phillips and Carol Hargrove, uniform managers; Karen Hardee and Joann Childers, librarians; Paul Pond and Bob Johnson, equipment managers; Martha Stone, reporter; Sandy Ausanka and Curlette Forester, historians; and Russell Lloyd, Johnny Crespo, Mike Tindall, David Nelson, David Washburn, Paul Pond, Terry Larson and Allan Chapman, drill captains.

Rotary Hears Archbishop

The Most Rev. Angus C. MacInnes, the Anglican Archbishop of Jerusalem, addressed members of the Wichita Falls Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting Thursday at First Methodist Church on "Problems of the Middle East."

The Archbishop has jurisdiction over five dioceses comprised of Jerusalem, Iran, Egypt, Libya, Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and the Sudan.

The Diocese of Jerusalem was established by the Anglican church in 1888 for work primarily among Jews and Moslems to establish friendly relations with other communities in the area.

Archbishop MacInnes is the one man, other than United Nations officials, who may travel freely between the Jewish and Arab countries in the Holy Land.

Program chairman was Dr. Claude Beesley.

Thursday evening at 8 p.m. Archbishop MacInnes will preach at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, 5023 Lindale, opposite Rider High School.

Washington Seeks Cuban Trade Cut

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials are understood to have urged anew in private talks here this week that Britain revise its policy of trade with Cuba and support the U.S. effort to deny vitally needed industrial and transportation equipment to the Castro government.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has held a series of discussions on world problems with British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler. President Johnson had a conference with Butler Wednesday.

Officials have confirmed that Cuban issues were raised in the Rusk-Butler talks. The White House only said that the foreign secretary and the President discussed matters of mutual interest.

Going To Japan

Butler has been in Washington for a conference of the Central Treaty Organization which ended Wednesday. He is going on to Japan and the Philippines for talks seeking some way to avoid a serious crisis between Indonesia and British-backed Malaysia over territorial claims pressed by Indonesia.

Britain made a deal with the Castro government last January to sell Cuba 450 buses and spare parts at a total cost in excess of $12 million. France followed with a deal to sell trucks to Castro. The United States protested against both sales.

U.S. leaders fear that if the British persist in handling Cuban trade as a purely commercial matter other European countries will come under heavy pressure from their own businessmen to pursue the same policy and the economic barrier in the end will collapse completely.

Goldwater Blasts President's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says the United States is at war in Viet Nam as well as with poverty and he doesn't like the Johnson administration's handling of either battle.

The Arizona Republican said Wednesday the United States faces "slow defeat" in Southeast Asia unless a more aggressive strategy is employed, leading to the cutting off of Communist supplies and the destruction of rice and opium crops in North Viet Nam.

As for the President's war on poverty, Goldwater called it a "Santa Claus of the government handout."

Goldwater, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, wound up his one-day Southern California campaign in Los Angeles County with a Republican rally in San Fernando Valley Wednesday night.

Goldwater said his tougher strategy in Viet Nam would not involve bombing Vietnamese, or Vietnamese cities.

"It could mean messing up some roads, hitting some depots, and stopping some shipping," Goldwater added. "This means threatening or actually interdicting the supply routes from Red China, Laos, and Cambodia."

Goldwater said North Viet Nam rice crops could be destroyed, as well as the opium crop "upon which North Viet Nam bases a good part of its foreign exchange."

He did not say whether he recommended the use of U.S. forces in this action.

But he later softened the proposal, saying the mere threat of destruction might be sufficient. "If not, it might require only very limited anti-crop action to make our point," he added.

Earlier, Goldwater said he expects New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his rival for California's 86 GOP convention votes in the June 2 primary, to switch his support to Henry Cabot Lodge.

Goldwater said his campaign chiefs have concluded that Rockefeller and Harold E. Stassen "will gang up on me." He said he expects Rockefeller to announce soon that his delegates will go to Lodge on the second ballot at the Republican National Convention.

LBJ Will Accept Some Bill Changes

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will accept some changes in the civil rights bill as long as the Senate produces enforceable legislation, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today.

Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader who is floor manager for the measure, said Johnson prefers the House-passed bill as it stands. But, he added, the President is not against amendments that do not weaken it.

Humphrey told this to a reporter as the Senate headed into its 44th day of debate. The civil rights leaders apparently are determined to move to shut off debate next week on a pending compromise jury trial amendment unless Southern opponents agree to a fixed time for voting on it.

Humphrey, apparently more optimistic than some other supporters of the bill, doubts it will be necessary to file a cloture petition to break down Southern resistance.

"If we have to file, we'll file it on Monday," the Minnesota said. "We have the votes for cloture. I doubt if we'll have to file."

Mississippi GOP Apparent Victor

By JAMES SAGGUS
JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The move to stamp out republicanism in Mississippi with new election laws looked like another lost cause today.

The 22 bills backed by Gov. Paul Johnson, which passed the State Senate, ran into surprisingly strong opposition in the House.

After two straight setbacks in House votes, Rep. Roy Strickland, floor manager of the package of bills, showed little hope for future victory.

"I think Wirt Yerger, State Rep. M. L. McAllister and Sen. Dirksen have won their battle," he said.

Only Republican
Yerger is state GOP chairman. McAllister is the only Republican in the Mississippi Legislature. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., is the party's Senate minority leader.

The revolt against Johnson's election bills was signaled Tuesday when a key bill was sent back to committee for further study.

Rep. Abie Miller of Greene, told the House the move against the GOP "could upset bringing in industry to Mississippi."

Strickland's second defeat came Wednesday.

Key bills in the package would force the state's budding GOP to measure up to major party standards in organization and operation.

At present, the GOP couldn't make the grade.

Serious Bid
The party made its first serious bid for the governorship in the last election, astounding Democrats by drawing almost a third of the votes. The proposed election laws was the reaction.

The key bill referred back to committee would set these standards:

Half the precincts in a county must stage precinct conventions before a county convention is valid.

Thirty of the state's 82 counties must stage valid county conventions before a state convention is valid.

The other key bill would force all candidates to run in primary elections, even if unopposed, and primary winners would have to draw at least 10 percent of all votes cast in both party primaries to be eligible for the general election ballot.

Davis' Campaign Is Family Affair

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer
Dr. Milton V. Davis thinks doctors make good politicians. That's why the 42-year-old Dallas heart surgeon, a Republican, wants to be Texas' next U. S. Senator.

"The practice of medicine is fundamentally a political endeavor," Davis told The Associated Press. "People come to us in pain and panic and doctors have to be tremendous politicians to deal with them."

"How do you go about telling the parents of a six-year-old boy that the kid has to have heart surgery? You have to use politics. Then there are some people who get mad if you examine them and find nothing wrong with them. You have to use politics," he said.

Long Hours
Doctors are accustomed to working the 16 and 18 hours a day common in a political campaign. They are used to the irregular hours for sleeping and eating. "Doctors have a mental attitude of persistence that is good for politicians," Davis said. "I tell my medical students that they should act like they think every patient is going to get well. I think that is the way to run a political campaign too."

Actually, Davis' campaign is pretty much a family matter.

He and his wife, Vera Nell, travel together and run the campaign almost entirely alone. They have only one paid employee, an office secretary, "and she isn't paid very good," Davis said.

Davis took a leave of absence from his Dallas partnership, beginning the first of April. He and Mrs. Davis make out their own itinerary and he writes his own speeches. When they think a press release is needed they look up a public stenographer and he will dictate a statement.

First Experience
This is Davis' first experience as a candidate but not as a campaigner. "We ran the first race with John Tower in 1960 when there were not 20 people in the state who knew him," Davis said. He was state chairman of both the Doctors for Nixon-Lodge and Doctors for Tower organizations. He was founding secretary-treasurer of the American Mexican Political Action Committee (AMPAC) which helped defeat the Democratic administration's medicare legislation proposals in 1962.

But he considers Mrs. Davis his most valuable political advantage.

"There's never been a candidate elected to statewide office who married an east Texas girl. She's from Route 2, Gilmer — and you don't hardly get any more east Texas than that."

'To Broadway' Hits It Big

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP) — Take a lot of tunes everyone knows. Add sure nostalgia—a fad, a foible, a faded headline. Combine with some daring visual stunts.

The result? "To Broadway With Love," a shiny, snappy, song-filled family show which premiered Wednesday night at the Texas Pavilion of the New York World's Fair.

Conceived and staged by Morton Da Costa, the fast-paced spectacle compresses a rich assortment of entertainment into 90 opulent minutes. Producer George Schaefer and Da Costa clearly have spared no expense.

The main theme is review of 100 years of musical theater—the tunes caroled and danced range from "Dixie" to "Hello, Dolly!" But it's a more than incidental kaleidoscope of American life during that span. Newsreel clips link events and melodies.

In addition to the array of tin-pat-alley favorites, a group of "tomorrow" songs is provided for the finale by the current White Way team, Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick.

The big cast performs with gusto. Leading singers are Bob Carroll, Patti Karr, Nancy Leighton, Don Libert, Rod Perry, Guy Rotondo and Millie Slavin. The main dancers are Carmen Alvarez, Kelly Brown, Ted Forlow and Reby Howells.

"To Broadway With Love," first of several entertainment enterprises planned for the fair's amusement sector, sets a high standard.

FOR OIL SYMPOSIUM Preprint Paper On Flood Ready

When registrants attending the sixth biennial Secondary Recovery Symposium in Wichita Falls next Monday and Tuesday receive their preprints they will include a paper co-authored by three men.

The paper is titled "Study of the Inverted Nine-Spot Flood Pattern."

Co-authors are Dr. Ben Hall Caudle, Dr. I. H. Silberberg and Ronald E. Watson.

North Texas Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of the AIME is sponsoring the Symposium. All technical sessions will be held in Maskat Temple.

Caudle is chairman of the department of petroleum engineering at the University of Texas. He received his B.S. degree in chemistry in 1943 and his Ph.D. in petroleum engineering in 1963 from the University of Texas.

He joined the crude oil production research department of The Atlantic Refining Co., Dallas, in 1947, where he was an assistant research engineer, following four years as junior chemist-assistant chemist with the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

Joined TPRC
Caudle terminated his work with Atlantic as group supervisor when he joined the Texas Petroleum Research Committee, University of Texas, in 1961.

Silberberg received his B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in chemical engineering from the University of Texas. He held the position of senior research technologist at Dallas research laboratories of Socony Mobil Oil Co. Inc. for 2 1/2 years.

Watson graduated from the University of Texas in 1962 with a B.S. degree in petroleum engineering and received his M.S. degree from the same university the following year.

After employment with Mobil Oil Co. in Wichita Falls, he joined the Texas Petroleum Research Committee in Austin. He is now employed by Mobil Oil as a petroleum engineer in Hobbs, N.M. He is a junior member of AIME.

Review Of Paper
Here is a brief abstract of the paper co-authored by Caudle, Silberberg and Watson:

"The effects of mobility ratio, rate ratio and the presence of an initial free-gas phase on the performance of the inverted nine-spot water injection pattern have been investigated.

"Artificially consolidated sandstone models, miscible fluids and a photographic technique (which has been used to make similar studies of other reservoir elements) were used.

"The effect of mobility ratio on sweep efficiency and conformance ratio was studied for the mobility ratio range of 0.1 to 10. The rate ratio of the two producing wells was varied from one to 18. The effect of an initial free gas saturation was evaluated at two oil bank sizes, two mobility ratios and three rate ratios."

U.S. Chamber Wants Red Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

RED TRADE: The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has put itself on record as favoring increased trade in non-strategic goods with the Soviet Union and other European Communist nations.

The resolution was approved Wednesday by about 90 percent of the businessmen at the annual meeting here.

Speakers favoring a freer trade policy said if U.S. businessmen were prevented from selling to the European Communist countries, the business would go by default to other Western nations with fewer restrictions.

The resolution called on the United States to re-examine its export control system "with the objective of strengthening some controls and eliminating others which result in discrimination harmful to its competitive position."

It also urged a coordinated free world trade policy to "effectively inhibit and prevent the buildup of Communist war-making potential."

UNDERGROUND TEST: The Atomic Energy Commission reports a low yield underground nuclear test was conducted Wednesday at the AEC's Nevada test site. It was the seventh weapons-related test to be announced by the AEC this year and had the blast equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT: Federal employment increased by 1,615 during March to a total of 2,470,045.

In reporting the figures, the joint congressional committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures said it was the first increase since last October.

The Defense Department made further civilian job cuts in March but several civilian agencies had increases.

Argentine Wants Return

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Rudolph Ambra, 51, an Argentine who left the United States Wednesday in compliance with a ruling that he was living here illegally, said he would ask readmittance.

Ambra came to the United States in 1921. He was ousted under legislation forbidding re-entry of aliens who claimed draft exemption as aliens. This was invoked in 1954 upon his return from a business trip abroad.

Ambra said he claimed draft exemption during World War II because he was repairing 40 to 50 typewriters a day for the War Department and the department wanted him to claim exemption. He said he didn't know the action would make him ineligible for American citizenship.

The office of the late Rep. Francis Walter, Pennsylvania Democrat, said there was no record that Ambra had been advised by the War Department to seek exemption.

Police Report Five Accidents

Five accidents with no injuries were reported to police here Wednesday.

Details are as follows:

In 3000 block of Seymour (2:35 p.m.)—1963 Chevrolet ($50 damage) which was parked, owned by Mrs. R. F. Miller, 320 Kessler, and a 1962 Oldsmobile (undamaged) driven by Helen Fox Hurst, 3710 Kessler.

In 800 block of Glendale (7:10 p.m.)—1954 Ford ($100 damage) driven by Charles David Evans, 106 Morgan, overturned while negotiating a curve.

Twelfth and Indiana (11:25 a.m.)—1964 Pontiac ($125 damage) driven by Maudie B. Williams, 1205 North Third, and an unidentified vehicle.

Jacksboro and Galveston (6:20 p.m.)—1956 Ford ($5 damage) driven by Harvey Thomas Hutten, Fort Worth, and a 1963 Buick ($200 damage) driven by Lloyd Curtis Thomas, 2610 Amherst.

Avenue H and Giddings (8:48 p.m.)—1960 Chevrolet ($30 damage) driven by Mrs. Barbara Patterson, 1007 Harlan, and a 1964 Volkswagen ($10 damage) driven by Raymond H. Bonner Jr., 2108 Jones.

Absentee Vote Shows Gain

Absentee ballots mailed out by the county clerk's office are beginning to return according to Dora Davis.

Through noon Thursday 102 such ballots had been received by the county clerk's office out of the 243 that were mailed out. Mrs. Davis said this was a high percentage compared with other election years and she expected most all of the 243 to be in her office by the 1 p.m. Saturday deadline.

Democrats cast 406 absentee ballots in person in the Wichita County courthouse while 18 were cast in Electra and three in Burkburnett for a total of 427 "in person" absentee ballots.

On the Republican side of the ledger, 27 absentee ballots were cast in the courthouse with none marked in Burkburnett or Electra.

This gives the county a total of 454 "in person" absentee ballots. Coupled with the mailed out ballots, the judges will have 697 absentee ballots, for both parties, to count if all the mailed out ballots are received in the mail by 1 p.m. Saturday.

Veteran City Worker Retires

A retirement party was in progress Thursday afternoon for Mrs. Mary Caudle, who had been an employee of the water department of Wichita Falls for 44 years.

The senior employee now of all the city's 800 employees as well as the 29 in the water department offices, Mrs. Caudle, who has worked in the department since 1920, has always met the public. In recent years she has handled deposits on new meters and, according to recollection of some of her co-workers, has never made a customer mad.

"And in this business that is not easy," said one co-worker.

Sonic Boom Damage Seen

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Some damage in test homes has been found since the Federal Aviation Agency began its sonic boom program here, but a spokesman said it is not believed that the trouble was caused by faster than sound airplanes.

In a report to the FAA Wednesday, two firms said they found cracked wall mirrors, an extended crack in wood trim and some missing grout. Four houses are used as tests.

The report said the damage was minor and was not believed due to sonic booms.

FAA has been conducting the sonic boom program since Feb. 3 to test reaction of people and property to the noise and vibration created by the aircraft.

Psychiatrist Will Address Unitarians

Dr. Walter Speakman, psychiatrist, will be guest speaker at the adult forum of the Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship, 1100 Monroe, at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Dr. Speakman will review the recently published book, "The Feminine Mystique," by Betty Friedan. The public is invited to attend. There will be a coffee hour after the meeting.

At the annual business meeting of the Fellowship on April 26, the following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Loren D. Wicks; vice president, Kathryn Norris; secretary, Gladys Bauer; treasurer, Paul Meadows.

Scranton Sees Demos As Broken

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The governor will go to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco in July with 62 of the state's 64 delegates pledged to him as a favorite son.

Second only to Scranton's total was the write-in vote for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge who polled almost 80,000 votes. His showing was more than double that of Richard M. Nixon, former vice president, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican. The only two delegates elected by Republicans in the state not pledged to Scranton as a favorite son are Goldwater men.

But it was the battle by Miss Blatt against the Democratic organization which attracted the most interest in the state.

Surprising Race
Miss Blatt's showing in the Democratic senatorial race also added stature to Sen. Clark who encouraged her to buck the organization. Musmanno, a Pittsburgh resident, attributed the closeness of the race to "that vicious, slanderous campaign of Clark." He said "a lot of the material that Clark used came from Scott."

Incumbent Sen. Hugh R. Scott, Republican, had no trouble winning re-nomination, soundly defeating W. Henry MacFarland, a fellow Philadelphian, by a margin of almost 8-1.

With all but 19 of the state's 9,261 precincts reported unofficially, Miss Blatt led Musmanno—454,020 to 450,566.

But there are perhaps as many as 10,000 absentee ballots to be counted and they won't be touched until May 8.

As Favorite Son
The governor said he guessed his total might reach 40,000; his wife, Mary, guessed 67,000.

Scranton expressed surprise at his write-in total, which topped a previous state high of 183,073 votes recorded by the late President John F. Kennedy in 1960.

GM Earnings Hit Record High

NEW YORK (AP) — Booming automobile sales boosted General Motors Corp.'s profits in the first three months of this year to the highest level of any corporation in history.

GM reported Wednesday that its earnings soared to $336 million, or $1.87 a share, from $414 million, or $1.45 a share, in the 1963 first quarter. The previous high was $306 million in the final quarter of 1963.

The figures exceeded by far the second-ranked money-maker American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which in the three months ended Feb. 29 earned $397,912,000, or $1.58 a share.

GM sales increased to $4,786,000,000, a 15-per cent gain over $4,147,000,000 in the 1963 last quarter.

Worldwide factory sales of cars and trucks totaled 1,774,733, another record. Domestic sales totaled 1,363,049, topping the previous first quarter mark of 1,214,083 set in 1963.

In releasing the earnings report, Frederic G. Donner, chairman, and John F. Gordon, president, forecast an average annual market of 10 million cars and trucks in the United States by 1970.

The record earnings were achieved after payment of $553 million in U.S. and foreign taxes.

First quarter employment by GM rose worldwide to 683,680 from 637,623 in the 1963 first quarter and payrolls advanced to $1,175,000,000 from $1,046,000,000.

The company reported that as of March 31 net working capital had grown to $4,126,000,000 from $3,727,000,000 three months earlier and $3,676,000,000 a year earlier.

With sales showing no signs of abating, GM announced two months ago plans to spend $2 billion on a two-year expansion program. The added capacity, it said, would create 50,000 jobs.

GOP To Display 'Youth And Vigor'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans plan to put youth and vigor on display for the television audiences who watch their national presidential nominating convention in San Francisco.

While they are thus pepping up the party image, leaders hope to avoid intraparty controversy by selecting a slate of spotlight performers satisfactory to all factions.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, former GOP national chairman under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has been selected as permanent chairman to wield the gavel during the convention.

Morton, 56, tall, handsome and a polished performer on the platform, is the oldest of the three star performers.

The others expected to be selected by the Republican National Arrangements Committee at its meeting here late in May include Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon as temporary chairman and State Chairman Robert A. Forsythe of Minnesota as convention keynoter. Hatfield is 41 and Forsythe 42.

The choice of Morton as permanent chairman broke a deadlock in which congressional members generally were backing House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana for the job while GOP governors were plugging Hatfield.

Morton, an Eisenhower moderate from a border state, has the backing of conservatives booming Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the party's presidential nomination.

As a former national chairman he has the confidence also of the Eisenhower and liberal wings of the party. This is important because a chairman often can influence the course of events at a convention by his rulings.

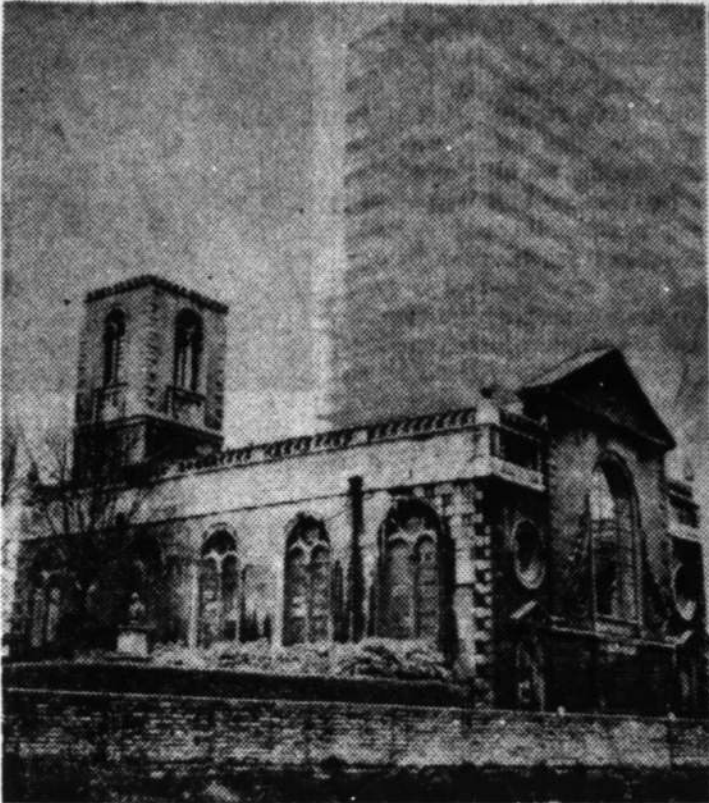

Hatfield, who has vice presidential aspirations, is vice chairman of the Western Governors' Conference. He led a fight last year to force a statement by the National Governors' Conference on civil rights, but Democrats prevented any action.

He is listed as a party liberal, a designation that provoked opposition to him among Goldwater supporters, particularly from the South.

Forsythe, former assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, is a lawyer, farmer and former teacher. He is regarded as a middle of the road Republican. He formerly served as administrative assistant to former Sen. Edward J. Thye of Minnesota and counsel for the Small Business Committee.

A champion debater in college, Forsythe is serving his second term as Minnesota state chairman.

A Church to Honor Churchill . . .

FROM LONDON TO FULTON—A drive is on to raise $1.5 million to move a historic, 296-year-old church from England to Missouri as a memorial to Sir Winston Churchill. The church, St. Mary Aldermanbury's (left), was designed in 1667 by Sir Christopher Wren and bombed out by a German air raid in 1941. It will be moved stone by stone to the Westminster College campus in Fulton. It was at Westminster in 1946 that Sir Winston coined the phrase, "Iron Curtain." In the right photo, the then President Truman presents the former prime minister to his audience.

According To Boyle

Retirement Is Popular Topic

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—What do you plan to do if and when you retire?

That seems to be the most popular topic of conversation in America now.

It isn't limited to older people. The second question a college graduate asks during job interviews now is, "How soon can I retire?" The first question is,

"When can I begin my four-week vacation?"

Experts say you should have sunset goals for your twilight years, that you should map your retirement program early. This seems to be about what nine-tenths of America's employed class—from hired hand to board presidents—are doing.

Day Dreaming
Most of them enjoy doing it on company time, too. Nothing makes the working day go faster than day-dreaming what you're going to do when Uncle Sam delivers that first Social Security check.

Here are a few of my retirement ambitions:

Settle a problem that has been bothering science for a long time: Whether it's more fun to rock north and south in a rocking chair, or east and west.

Eat an eel in England, a snail in France, a baby octopus in Italy, and a suckling pig at a luau in Honolulu.

Be the first man over 65 in my neighborhood to learn to play the ukelele.

Learn to pitch an honest game of horseshoes.

Build Houses
Build two bird houses and rent them free—one to a wren, one to a bluebird. I'd like a couple of Baltimore orioles around the place, too, but they prefer to knit their own wind-danced home high in the tree.

Outlive my wife's doctor—the one who keeps telling her how I ought to change my ways if I expect to be long for this world.

Discover an ingredient to put into martinis that will make them bring out the best in people rather than the worst.

Win a Black Belt at judo so that, if a group of teen-age bullies tries to mug me in my old age, I'll be able to wrap them around the nearest fire-plug.

Watch Mets Win
Watch the New York Mets win their first World Series against the Yankees in four-count 'em—straight.

Listen to a Wagnerian opera all the way through, and see if I can figure out what all the shouting's about.

Get a part-time job as a bikini-fitter in the busiest department store along the French Riviera.

Live long enough to have two grandchildren—one a girl named Margaret Kathleen, the other a boy named Ben, Dan, Bob, Frank, or James Aloysius.

Never go anywhere the rest of my life where I had to keep my shoes on more than four hours at a stretch.

THE DOCTOR SAYS 'Breakdown' Vague But Real Term

By W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

What is a nervous breakdown? Doctors find this term vague. Medical textbooks skirt around it. Yet it describes a condition that is far from being imaginary.

Breakdowns are not caused by simple overwork, as some persons believe, but by the fear that one cannot quite live up to all that is expected of him day after day.

Most persons who are on the verge of a breakdown, even though they sense this fear, are unwilling or unable to admit that it is the cause of their trouble. So they seek medical advice for a host of symptoms such as palpitation of the heart, indigestion, generalized body aches and chronic fatigue.

Since a breakdown is not considered a communicable disease, there are no accurate statistics on how many nervous breakdowns occur in this country every year. But either a nervous breakdown or a threatened breakdown from a large part of the practice of most general practitioners and psychiatrists. When the external pressures of a person's work or his home life become so great that they are disabling, help is usually sought. Unfortunately, the victim rarely has the insight into what is happening to him to be able to give his doctor all the pertinent facts.

As a result, much time and money may be spent putting the victim through a battery of diagnostic tests to rule out organic disease. Organic disease should, of course, be ruled out. But this can be done more quickly if your doctor knows something about your personal life and especially your worries. These are often the hardest things for a person to bring himself to talk about, even to his doctor.

Because of the complexity of this situation, it is not possible to offer any pat formula for recovery. Some victims find it necessary to change their line of work. But a life of idleness is never the answer. Some find solace in religion and others are cured by taking up a hobby.

The main thing is to recast one's sense of values and to realize that money isn't everything. Without health, mere status symbols have no meaning. Prestige depends not on the task you are called on to perform but on how well you do it.

A long rest or a change of scene will have no lasting effect if you must return to the same frustrations. But a rest or a trip may help you to bring your everyday problems into sharper focus and to work out your own path of recovery.

Bush Shows New Political Ideas

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Just because you are a successful businessman does not mean you cannot be a successful politician, says George Bush. "I have had a successful life and I reject the suggestion of some of my opponents that you have to be a loser before you can be a winner," said Bush, 40-year-old Republican candidate for U.S. Senate.

The outspoken, good-looking politician has some other features new to Texas politics. His father is former U.S. Sen. Prescott S. Bush, Connecticut Republican. At 18, he was one of the youngest commissioned pilots in the Navy and won three air medals and a distinguished flying cross in World War II.

Successful Oilman
He qualified for the Phi Beta Kappa honor fraternity at Yale. He moved to Texas after graduating from Yale in 1948 and went into the oil business. Now his Zapata Off-Shore Co. has an estimated worth of $10 million and has drilled in eight countries.

"I don't have to run for political office," he told a recent women's coffee group. "I'm a successful business man. But I want to do something to make this nation better."

"I know about the free enterprise system from successful experience, not from lecturing to junior high school students and waving a flag."

His wife, Barbara, an attractive mother of four boys and a girl, is organized too. While he talks, she works on small needlepoint panels that eventually become "George Bush for U.S. Senate" purses to be presented to campaign ladies. So far she has made more than 75 such purses. She also has presided at numerous "Coffee with Barbara" meetings.

Called Liberal
Bush says he has been called "liberal" by some Republicans.

"I have a strong conservative attitude but I am not afraid of new ideas," he says.

Bush's platform offers a "freedom package" as a substitute for the Democratic administration's "poverty package." It calls for "dynamic foreign policy to guarantee and strengthen freedom; responsible fiscal policy to wipe out poverty, and reaffirmation of America's moral strength through the Simpson amendment, which clarifies the issue of prayer in public schools."

"Cataract, the clouding of the lens within the eye, is the greatest single cause of blindness in the country, and frequently afflicts older people", according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

"Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision with an annual, professional eye examination by a Doctor of Optometry," advises Dr. S. J. Rogers of Texas State Optical.

Northside Girls Club Has New Executive Director

By MARTHA B. STEIMEL
Come Friday morning the Northside Girls Club will have a new executive director — Mrs. Don Davis, 6701 Apache Trail.

Mrs. Davis is bubbling over with enthusiasm and ideas for the club's future activities and is, at the same time, impressed with the varied program already established.

The first big event under Mrs. Davis' direction will be the 30th anniversary celebration scheduled early in May. The Senior-Junior Forum, which has supported the club financially and given hours of volunteer service to its various phases, will play a vital part in the celebration.

Mrs. Davis will begin her new duties with just one day's vacation. She ended her job as office manager for the Salvation Army building fund Wednesday. Before working there, she was in the United Fund office and for four years served as executive secretary of the Family Clinic and marriage counseling service which has been discontinued.

Nearly all of Mrs. Davis' ac-

tivities have been service-oriented. She has taught a seventh grade Sunday School Class at Floral Heights Methodist Church for years. She was active in the missionary education program of the Woman's Society of Christian Service until she began full time work.

Her husband, now a builder, was Boy Scout field director here and Mrs. Davis absorbed much from his experience without realizing she would be using it herself some day.

She was graduated from Colorado State College in Greeley and also attended North Texas State University. She majored in elementary education.

Mrs. Davis is the mother of two children, Diana, 15, and Randy, 11. Sailing in summer and skiing in winter are hobbies the whole family enjoys.

She is looking forward to working with the staff and with the girls who belong to the club at 401 Madison.

"I have lots of plans. And of course I'm eager to meet all the girls," Mrs. Davis said. The first thing she'll do is meet with the staff of the club at 10 a.m. Friday.

"I do hope I can continue the standards already established," she commented.

COBBS RETURN FROM OKLAHOMA WEDDING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Glen Cobb, 1603 Hayes, have returned from a wedding trip to Lake Murray Lodge, Oklahoma, following their marriage Saturday evening.

The bride is the former Miss Helen Frank Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cox, 1806 Seventh. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Orvel Cobb of Quitaque.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mrs. Dane Ruthford, 1501 Taylor, aunt of the bride. Vows were read by the Rev. H. R. Frerking, pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church, before a background of candles and greenery flanked by baskets of white gladioli.

A string of pearls accented the bateau neckline of the bride's white linen dress. She carried rosebuds and carnations on a white Bible as she was escorted by her father.

Miss Gloria Lee attended the bride as maid of honor wearing a street length dress of aqua silk shantung and a white carnation corsage.

Reception assistants were Mmes. Raymond Grewe, aunt of the groom from Silverton; Clayton Robertson, aunt of the bride; and Miss Janice Cobb, sister of the groom from Quitaque.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Lawton High School, Lawton, Okla., where she was a member of the National Honor Society. She has worked as a medical secretary at Wichita General Hospital for three years.

Cobb is a 1960 graduate of Quitaque High School. He attended the University of Texas where he was a member of Phi Delta Chi fraternity and American International Club, and Midwestern University. He is now a student X-ray technician at Wichita General Hospital and will graduate in August.

Ki-Anns Have Salad Supper

A salad supper and election of officers were held Tuesday night when the University Ki-Anns met in the home of Mrs. A. T. Allison, 2007 Indian Heights.

Mrs. M. C. Porter was elected president. Other officers for the coming year are Mmes. Temple Driver and Darrell Keller, first and second vice presidents; Perry Goolsby, secretary; Charles Thomas, treasurer; and Gus Jolliff, parliamentarian. They will assume duties at the installation luncheon May 26.

In keeping with their project of helping sponsor the Southside Girls' Club, members brought packaged and staple foods for the girls to use in their monthly club dinners.

MRS. MELVIN GLEN COBB

Musicians Club President Entertains With Coffee

Mrs. James G. Oakley, president of the Wichita Falls Musicians' Club, entertained members of the executive board, officers and committee chairmen with a morning coffee Wednesday at her home, 1823 McGregor.

Spring flowers were arranged on the piano and desk. In the dining room, the table centerpiece was roses and iris in a low bowl flanked by silver candelabra holding white candles.

Mrs. D. Elwood Miles, the president-elect who will be installed with other officers May 7, presided at the silver service. Favors were small heart-shaped bottles of imported perfume.

Legion Auxiliary Initiates Three

Three new members, Mmes. Charles Box, Joseph Yondorf and Lester Kendall, were initiated into the Thomas Fowler American Legion Auxiliary Unit 169 at a covered dish dinner Tuesday at the home of Mrs. R. E. Grubbs, 2809 Featherston.

The special meeting was called to elect a nominating committee which will present a slate of officers at May meeting. The committee is Mmes. Frank Slaven, Bruce Jackson and Rita Jennings.

Miss Helen Jennings, 13th District sweetheart, was a special guest.

DR. GRISSOM IS GUEST SPEAKER FOR STUDY CLUB

Dr. Paul M. Grissom, chief of the division of Neuropsychiatry at Sheppard Air Force Base, was guest speaker for the 1935 Study Club Tuesday. Mrs. N. A. Burnside, 1609 Lucile, was hostess, for the luncheon meeting.

The speaker explained tension and anxiety. He said it starts in infancy and is shown by crying when uncomfortable or going to sleep when comfortable. He said if the future were completely controlled there would be no need for anxiety, but when there is no anxiety, nothing is accomplished.

Dr. Grissom explained the effects of tranquilizers and told how they can create situations of unhappiness.

Mrs. Mark Westbrook, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

The group made a contribution to the Mental Health Center. During the business session, conducted by the president, Mrs. Charles Owen, Mrs. John C. Davidson announced that the State Federation convention will be held in Houston May 3-5.

The luncheon table was centered with a bowl of pink peonies. Mrs. Burnside was assisted in serving by Mmes. L. L. Spillman, and Ruth Wilson. Guests were Mrs. Ross Speer and Mrs. Oran Key of Vernon. Fourteen members attended.

Following the luncheon, club members went to Wichita Falls State Hospital and entertained patients in the occupational therapy ward and served them refreshments.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. R. E. Lester, 1805 Victory, on May 12.

Beaux Art Club Sees Color Slides

The Beaux Art Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Louis Bloodworth, 2308 Clarinda, to see slides of Europe.

Mrs. Bloodworth, program chairman, showed pictures taken on her most recent trip to the Scandinavian countries, England and France to the 14 members present.

The next meeting will be May 6 at the Woman's Forum with Mrs. Roger Manar as hostess.

MRS. GUY P. HARWELL

MU STUDENTS ARE MARRIED IN BAPTIST CHURCH

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Patrick Harwell, 4218 Fairway, are at home following a wedding trip to Dallas. The couple was married Friday afternoon at West Side Baptist Church by the Rev. Aaron Backus, pastor.

The bride is the former Miss Margie Janetta Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farris Robertson of Frisco, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Don Dudley Sr. and the late F. H. Harwell.

The couple was attended by Miss Paula Clarkson of Midland and Jerry Cummings.

Mrs. Harwell was graduated from Frisco High School in 1963 where she was president of Future Home Makers of America, drill team captain, a member of the Beta Club and Miss Frisco.

She is a freshman at Midwestern University where she has been named homecoming princess, class favorite, Circle K sweetheart and representative to the Cotton Queen contest. She is majoring in electrical engineering and is employed as a secretary by Crouch and Parker.

The bridegroom was graduated from Kemper Military School in Boonville, Mo., attended Texas Western College and is now a junior at MU where he is majoring in accounting. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Hints from HELOISE

Linings Are Simplified

Dear Heloise: I have the simplest method of lining draperies that one could imagine — and I think others would like it, too.

Instead of lining the drapery itself and sewing in the lining, some people make two identical pieces, one lining and one outside drape. These are usually placed on two rods. My method even eliminates the second rod and the lining is easier to wash.

My lining is made straight (with old sheets) and in a separate piece, just like a shower curtain! I hem the sides, top and bottom of the material, then put small button holes across the top.

I use the buttonholes to slip over the drapery hooks on the inside of the drapery.

I sew small snaps at intervals along each side so the lining stays neatly in place.

This lining is much easier to wash and iron than attached linings are. The inside straight "sheet" may be sent to the laundry or done in your washing machine, and the drapery itself sent to the cleaners.

I have used this method on both ready-made drapes and those I have made myself with pleater tape. — Martha Taylor

You are a honey-pie to think of that one... I never thought to make a lining shower curtain-style.

If one wanted to, one could put two little button holes two inches apart and put them both through one drapery hook and thus make an imitation pleat! Real tricks, I'd say.—Heloise

Dear Heloise: The new expectant mother who wants to know what to buy and what she can do without for a new baby (and is on a tight budget) will be surprised what she can do without.

Baby furniture is a luxury! We bought secondhand youth furniture and refinished it. Any paint store can give you instructions on what kind of paint. Some paint is poisonous, and all babies reach the age when they will chew on the edge of the bed. Be sure to use NON-TOXIC paint.

Youth furniture can be used for years and years. Especially the over-sized combination youth and baby beds and the chests of drawers.

I would not buy a baby buggy. This can be used only a short time. We put our money in a good stroller and our son is now three and we still use it. Besides you can put your packages in it when you go shopping! — Mrs. R. C.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: When making doughnuts from the packaged biscuits I don't bother with cutting out the holes.

I just stick my finger through the biscuit, swing it around a couple of times and then drop it into the fryer — the biscuit, not the finger! — Midge Wilson

Dear Heloise: My children used to come in, one at a time, each day and ask "What are we having for dinner?"

By the time I had answered the same question about four times it was rather annoying. So I bought a slate at the dime store, hung it over the table, and now each day I write the dinner menu on it so they can look at it when they come in from school.

The slate is also useful for writing notes or messages for the children if I am going to be away when they come home. — Nancy

Volunteer 'Principal' Has Classes For Teen-Agers

(Fifth in a series on volunteer workers at the Wichita Falls State Hospital. The Hospital will hold open house through Friday.)

By MARTHA B. STEIMEL

Volunteer teaching at the Wichita Falls State Hospital is the biggest thing in Mrs. Joseph P. Walden's life, except her husband, an Air Force major, and their three sons.

"It is the most satisfying thing I've ever done," she says. She has been teaching two classes of teen-agers a week at the hospital for the past two years. She volunteered to teach because she had done similar service in California and Mississippi and found it so absorbing and fulfilling she was delighted to find she could be of help here.

Mrs. Walden serves as principal-without-portfolio of the staff of seven unpaid teachers. The others are Mmes. John Gavin, Alanson Brown, James Burpee, Roy Dickinson, Ray Rockwell and Elmer Parish.

Just now, Mrs. Walden is most enthusiastic about the library for the school.

"It's wonderful to be able to suggest to the students that they can go to the library and read or check out a book to take with them," she says. She adds quickly that more books are needed. "Fun" fiction, particularly, is needed, she says.

She also says she's a lazy person but she's the only person who thinks so.

Right this minute she's probably planning her next class at the hospital or thinking about the Sheppard Air Force Base Officers Wives Club or the Faith City Council of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, both of which she is serving as president. The whole Walden family raises prize-winning miniature pinschers at their home, 9 Hatcher.

Her ability to take an objective as well as a lovingly personal view of her three sons probably is an enormous asset to teaching teen-agers at the hospital. Her own boys are Larry, 17, Alan, 15 and Jamie, 11. She cocks an eyebrow and insists on certain standards of behavior from them.

She cocks the same eyebrow and in the same tone of voice lets her students at the hospital know what is expected of them. Her standards are tempered with a compassionate understanding of the students' limitations as well as their possibilities.

That's why the arithmetic lessons, English assignments, spelling words, and so on may vary in grade level from time to time. The classwork must be within the grasp of every student.

Mrs. Walden taught public school music in Orofino, Idaho, for one year — the only time she ever has been paid for teaching.

She gets a different sort of pay for the teaching she does now. It's called fulfillment, service or perhaps personal satisfaction.

(Friday: Chalmers Classes for patients.)

Dear Abby

It's In The Past!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when you finally found out what you had suspected deep down in your heart was true? My sister-in-law telephoned the other day to inform me that my husband had an affair about a year ago with a supposedly good friend of mine. She said she and her husband had known about it all along. Suddenly, a lot of things began to fit into place, such as cancelled checks made out to strange places, and several unexplained late evenings. Each time I confront my husband with the accusation, he denies it. I would gladly give him the benefit of the doubt, but there is no doubt. I can't raise four children alone. Do I just forgive and forget? — HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Yes. Obviously your husband wants to forget, too, but when you try to sweat a confession out of him, he can't. Forgive. Truly forgive. Only then will you be able to forget.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both in our mid-40's. We are neat dressers, and everyone compliments us on how "young" we look. Whenever we go out, my husband spots a "friend" at another table, and up he jumps, leaving me to sit alone anywhere from 15 minutes to half an hour. When I complain he gets mad and says he likes to talk to his friends. What's bugging him anyway? This has been going on for years.—LEFT SITTING

DEAR LEFT: If your table-hopping husband is running for office, grin and bear it. But if he's just a friendly-type guy who likes to talk to his "friends," tell him that you are his best friend and you didn't go out to sit alone.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 12 and my brother was 10, our father died. Our mother married again, and she stayed married to this man until she died. At the time of her death neither my brother nor I could afford to buy her a headstone. Now we have the money and want to buy her one, but here is the problem: We want our mother's FIRST HUSBAND'S name on the headstone instead of her second husband's. After she died, we never saw our stepfather again. Our family did not care especially for my mother's first husband (our real father), or her second husband, so they want us to put her MAIDEN name on the headstone. Since my brother and I are paying for it, we think we should be able to put what we want on it. What is your opinion? — WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: It will be YOUR headstone over YOUR mother's grave. Put on it what you will.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Luncheon Fetes Group
From Azalea Trail Tour

Mrs. H. E. Man was hostess for a luncheon Tuesday at her home, 1629 Christine, for 21 friends, most of whom were members of a recent Azalea Trail Festival tour to Charleston, S.C.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Laura Jean Moore, conductor of the tour, and Mrs. H. P. Ledford. Following the luncheon, the party went to the home of Mrs. Ledford, 2307 Farington, to see color slides taken on the trip by Mrs. Man and Mrs. Harriett Coppock.

Spring flowers decorated the patio where the luncheon was served.

Out-of-town luncheon guests were Mrs. J. L. Pridoux and Mrs. Chester Pridoux of Archer City, Mrs. Frank Pridoux of Graham, Mrs. W. G. Helling-houser of Breckenridge, Mrs. Coppock of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cox of Childress.

On their tour, the Wichita Falls and area women were joined in Midway, Ga., by former Wichitan, Mrs. W. W. Fraser, who went to Charleston and Savannah with them. In Savannah they were met by Mrs. Sam Gose, also of Wichita Falls, and a sister whom she was visiting there.

In Charleston the party was greeted by another former Wichitan, Miss Johnnie Wright, erstwhile secretary to Publisher and President Rhea Howard of The Times. Miss Wright is executive secretary to the Charleston Chamber of Commerce manager. The group was honored with a reception by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Barbara Keeney, who arranged the tour, was a special guest.

Co-hostess was Mrs. Bill Ooten.

Mrs. Robert Codner gave the treasurer's report, and the Girl of the Year was chosen by secret ballot. Name of the honoree will be revealed at the Founder's Day banquet Saturday.

Mrs. Codner dismissed the ten members present.

Attend Rebekah Dinner

Special guests among the 150 attending the Tuesday evening dinner of the Wichita Rebekah Lodge 236 in IOOF Hall were Mrs. Zelma McCallif, president of District 21; Miss Myrtle Russell, past president and secretary of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, and Mrs. Maude Scofield, treasurer of the International Association of the Patriarch Militant Auxiliary.

The guests were introduced by the Noble Grand, Mrs. Irene O'Mary, and given the honors of the Order.

Mrs. Mae Willis, president of the Past Noble Grands' Club of Wichita Rebekah Lodge, announced that group will meet May 21 in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Montgomery, 3314 Cumberland, 8 p.m.

Miss Russell announced that she will hold a conference of the Secretary, Clerk and Scribe Association Sunday at 2 p.m. in the YMCA. All members of the Order are invited.

Mrs. Joe D. Chaney was presented with a certificate of perfection of work by Miss Jimmie Blackwell, lodge deputy, who also presented the honor guests with gifts from the Lodge.

Tables were decorated with vari-colored spring flowers. Composing the dinner committee were Mmes. Maggie Leonard, Alice Wingard, Guy McNeely, Ida Mills, Ella Larimore, Kate Loudamy, Chaney, Isola Williams, and O'Mary and Miss Blackwell.

Guests, including 12 Rebekahs from Electra Rebekah Lodge 150, two from Golden Rule Rebekah Lodge 164 and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shockley of Fort Collins, Colo., were dismissed by Mrs. Oliver Pritz.

WE THE WOMEN

Every Couple Needs Change
Of Routine Occasionally

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Many wives do not comprehend the desire of their husbands to break away from routine and discipline once in a while and go off somewhere with "the boys."

Such wives complain about their husbands' hunting or fishing trips, when, in reality, they should be glad that their men can fulfill their need for freedom from routine in such a harmless fashion.

Other wives can't understand why a husband wants his wife to go away with him for a week-end occasionally, when the cost of such little trips would buy something substantial for the house. What they don't see is that a man may need to get away from home responsibilities, from work, and from the sameness of everyday routine far more than he needs new possessions.

Women, actually, need change just as much as men do. But they aren't as quick to recognize the need. They may feel that life is dull and boring and that they are going stale, without realizing that a pleasant break in routine would be well-worth the cost in time, money and effort.

So don't belittle that need in your husband for an occasional "plunge into freedom" and don't overlook it in yourself. Just because you are married there is no reason to assume that you and your husband never need a change of scenery and a chance to leave your responsibility behind now and then.

A plunge into freedom and novelty, for the wife as well as the husband, will help many a marriage from going stale.

FOR Women OF THE Times

"CONSTANT COMMENT" is the name given to a new special tea with orange and spice. Ruth Campbell Bigelow, feeling that something was missing from tea, added the orange and spice flavors. It has become famous all over the United States and the constant comment it created suggested its name.

Something New Added To Tea

The big swing these days is to a very special tea with orange and spice. You sip and discover these ingredients have been skillfully blended for a bright new taste in tea, the recipe for which actually dates back several centuries. But only for the past ten years has it been "pre-packaged" by a well-known manufacturer. Here's the story on "Constant Comment," the tea that literally named itself.

The lady responsible for its subtle blend was a "tea-taster" at heart. She felt something was missing from tea... something which if discovered would make tea an even more popular beverage. Ruth Campbell Bigelow recalled that in early American days, the special treat in the tea-cup was a slice of orange and carefully selected spices. These were added after the tea was brewed, but fortunately in those days there were servants at hand to attend to such niceties. However, Mrs. Bigelow wanted a convenience package for the modern homemaker, with the delicious orange and spice flavors already "packaged in."

She went to work in her kitchen, adding a bit of orange — dashes of spices — brewing tea, tasting, testing, again and again. In her search for the perfect blend, she served the tea to her family, friends — even idle passers-by — then asked for a name to give this unusual new tea; and as the experiments grew, so did the list of names.

However, on the great day of the unveiling, the tea which has since become famous all over the United States had to be served "nameless" to a large social gathering. But — imagine! — the constant comment it created actually suggested its name — "Constant Comment" Tea.

The wolf is almost extinct in the 48 contiguous states. It survives in appreciable numbers only in Alaska and parts of Canada.

EDUCATION FOR MATURE WOMEN IS CLUB TOPIC

A discussion of the increasingly important topic of continuing education for the mature woman was presented for the Business and Professional Women's Club at a dinner meeting Tuesday at the YWCA.

Mrs. Macon Boddy of Henrietta, a member of the late President Kennedy's Commission on the Status of Women, was the speaker. She was introduced by Miss Para Lee Blevins, chairman of the club's legislative committee.

Members of the WAF squadron at Sheppard Air Force Base were special guests. Capt. Barbara Williams, Lt. Susan Tasca and Capt. K. J. Kote from SAFB and Mrs. June Brakebill, also were guests.

Mrs. Eugenia Massie, Carrie Sherman, Joan Mezell, Charles Martin and Elcia Fitzgerald were committee members assisting Miss Blevins.

CLUB TO HONOR NEW PRESIDENT OF SANTA ROSA

Adelphian Club of Crowell will honor Mrs. W. Baxter Johnson, president-elect of Santa Rosa, District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, at a tea Friday from 3 to 5 p.m.

The tea will be held in the clubhouse at Crowell. Members of Federated clubs in Wichita Falls and this district are invited to attend.

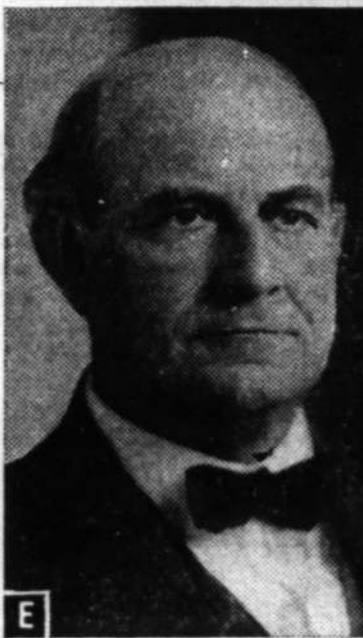

Mrs. Robert Kincaid is president of the Adelphian Club.

Auto Makers See A Record Year

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The automobile industry is dreaming of an eight-million car year in 1964.

Thinking in Detroit is that this dream might turn to reality.

This optimism is based on the booming sales pace that is running ahead of last year, when 7.7 million cars were sold in the United States.

Unless there should be a long strike this summer, it is virtually assured that the industry will ring up its third successive seven-million-plus year in 1964. That has never been done before. In the past, sales have fluctuated from one year to another.

Optimistic Outlook
One of the most optimistic statements to come out of Detroit is from George Russell, executive vice president of General Motors Corp.

"Based on the sales performance in the model year to date, and assuming that general business continues to be favorable, there is every reason to expect industry sales of some eight million 1964 passenger cars, including imports, and about 1.4 million trucks," Russell said.

Through last week the domestic industry had turned out 2,790,856 cars this year, a gain of 8.8 per cent over the 2,565,072 assembled in the like period a year ago.

Expectations were that April production would be the greatest in history for the month. Output was estimated at 785,000 units, up 13 per cent from the 691,079 cars built in April 1963.

Working Overtime
Nine of Ford's 16 assembly plants were on overtime. This heavy production pace may be at least partly due to apprehension that a crippling strike could develop when labor contracts expire this summer, none of the motor companies thought said so.

Sales for the middle 10 days of April set a record for the period. New car dealers delivered 232,250 cars in the April 11-20 period, an average of 27,906 in each of the eight selling days. This was up 2.5 per cent from a daily selling rate of 27,214 a year earlier, when 244,925 cars were delivered in nine selling days.

Big Inventory
The high level of production has resulted in building up an inventory of 1.2 million unsold cars, the biggest ever.

However, dealers appear unworried as sales continue to zoom. Some complain that they don't have an adequate selection on hand to meet customers' wants.

Although sales are brisk, many dealers are offering discounts ranging up to 10 per cent below list price in an attempt to move even more cars.

The biggest and most expensive models are reported in highest demand, with some shying away from compacts being noticed.

The bidding:
North East South West

Opening lead: Six of ♠

South's two no trump response draws objection on two counts. The rule stipulates that the responder must have all unbid suits stopped, and South lacks protection in diamonds. However, even with an honor in that suit, it would be proper in the present case to bid one heart. The opportunity to show a major suit at the one level should seldom be by-passed — else the prospect for uncovering a superior suit contract may be lost.

West opened the six of spades and declarer played low from the dummy. East's jack forced out the king. South saw that he could count nine tricks as soon as the ace of hearts was dislodged — two spades, four clubs, and three hearts. He decided to test out the club suit first by cashing the king and queen. When the ten appeared from West's hand on the second round, South was afraid that the suit would not split, so he continued with the jack to obviate a subsequent roadblock.

Declarer was now ready to work on the hearts. A small heart was led to the queen which held the trick. The ten of hearts was continued and West ducked again. He took the next round, however, and, in response to his partner's discard of the ten of diamonds, he switched to the six of that suit. East topped dummy's jack with the queen and shifted back to spades.

South shortly thereafter found himself securely locked up in the dummy with no way to reach his hand to cash the high heart. After taking the ace of spades and the ace of clubs, he was forced to capitulate, and the outcome was a one trick setback.

Declarer's carelessness was the result of faulty timing. He was correct in assuming that it might prove necessary to unblock the club suit. However, a ready entry to North's high club was always available in the heart suit where one of dummy's honors must develop into a winner by force. South should therefore retain the king of spades as access to the long heart in his hand.

It is suggested that declarer win the opening spade lead with dummy's ace. The king, queen, jack of clubs are cashed next and then a heart is led. Dummy is assured of a heart entry to take the long club while declarer retains the king of spades so that he can run his hearts.

Environment Hurts Students

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—When a child from the slums shows up for his first day in school he is already a year or two behind more fortunate children.

He may have never seen a magazine, or a book, or had a story read to him, or traveled more than a block or two from his squalid home. He has almost no vocabulary.

And, says a member of the Baltimore, Md., School Board, the longer such a child stays in school, the farther behind he falls.

William S. Stone told the National School Board Association, convening here, that Baltimore is tackling the problem with special programs for 4- and 5-year-old children from culturally deprived homes.

A basic goal, Stone said, is to develop the fundamental skills of reading, writing and arithmetic.

This requires the love and understanding the child seldom gets at home, and assurance "that people do care about him, his welfare, and his happiness."

The $330,000 project is being jointly financed by the Baltimore public schools and the Ford Foundation.

Stone said Children from culturally deprived homes not only fall behind in regular class work but by the time they reach the "fifth-grade their scores on mental tests are five to seven points below those they scored in second grade.

"There is evidence," he said, "that because of their limited cultural experience, low aspiration, and high mobility, these children experience fewer and fewer academic successes year by year as they reluctantly attend school until the legal leaving age."

Wallace Gets GOP Ballots

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, a Democrat, received 812 write-in votes in the Republican presidential preference ballot in Delaware County, scene of racial demonstrations last summer and this spring.

Most of the votes came from Chester and Folcroft, where there have been hundreds of arrests and many injured as civil rights demonstrations flared frequently into violence.

There were no presidential candidates listed on the ballot but it was permissible to write in any name. Republican and Democratic voters, however, could vote only on the ballot of the party in which they are registered.

Wallace, who advocates segregation, received 424 votes from Democrats in Delaware County, which adjoins industrial Philadelphia.

Gov. William W. Scranton won the GOP preference vote in the county with more than 12,000 votes.

Statewide, on the Democratic ballot, Wallace received 2,578 votes from 7,209 of 9,261 precincts. President Johnson got 148,475, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy 8,451.

Delaware County is a Republican district, while Democrats control Philadelphia. Both have big Negro populations.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, the ODRINEX plan. You must lose ugly fat or your money back. One of the basic problems of losing weight is your inability to stick to a planned diet. The ODRINEX plan contains a tiny tablet and is easily swallowed. When you take ODRINEX, you simply don't have the urge for extra portions because ODRINEX depresses your appetite and decreases your desire for food, thus making it easier and more comfortable for you to diet. Your weight must come down because as your own doctor will tell you, when you eat less, you weigh less. Get rid of excess fat and live longer. Of course ODRINEX can't do all the work for you alone. But if you really want to cut down on your eating, and lose weight ODRINEX can be a powerful helper. The ODRINEX plan costs $3.00 and is sold on this guarantee: If not satisfied for any reason just return the package to your druggist and get your full money back. No questions asked. The ODRINEX plan is sold with this guarantee by: Emmett Guller's Park Plaza Pharmacy — 1900 9th — Mail orders filled — add 2% sales tax.

THE WORRY CLINIC

No Crutches Are Needed

By GEORGE W. CRANE M.D.

CASE S-452: Hal B., aged 19, is taking a course in public speaking at college.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I always like to have a big stand or podium in front of me."

"For I feel almost undressed if I get up before the class without anything to hide behind."

"But I have noticed that some of our greatest orators, such as Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, will come forth to the front of the pulpit and just talk to the audience, without any podium or stand to shield them."

"Do you think this is good psychology?"

Yes, this is a superb yardstick for weeding out the indirect and monotonous clergymen, as well as other poor speakers.

In fact, if 25 per cent of our least effective clergymen were suddenly forced to stand out in full sight of their congregation, they'd immediately be far more direct and also maintain better eye-contact, or else collapse.

Poor speakers try to rely on psychological "crutches" such as stained glass windows, a robed choir, lighted candles and a solid lectern or speaker's stand.

Place such a clerical "cripple" in a movie theater for a Lenten address, and he is bereft.

But any talented speaker like Dr. Peale is perfectly at ease in the theater, for Dr. Peale talks directly to his audiences, using narrative cases (parables).

He will employ spot news stories from the current newspaper or refer to a comic strip character.

He always includes amusing and relevant examples he has personally encountered among the people he has met during the day or week.

For that "narrative" or "anecdotal" formula is the precise recipe that Christ employed to hold his audiences in rapt suspense all afternoon on the open hillside.

Place To Beat LBJ Is On Links

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says his recent trips to the golf course reflect a zest for walking. In fact, it appears that the golf bug has bitten him.

Almost any weekend, Johnson is apt to drive to the exclusive Burning Tree Club in suburban Maryland for a leisurely nine holes with friends and government associates.

The President is no hotshot on the links, which is only natural since he has played barely half a dozen times since his 1955 heart attack.

Friends say he shows lots of promise, however. One explained that Johnson "has superb reflexes and coordination, which is what it takes."

Faulty Form
The chief executive has been seen to hit long drives and reasonable accurate chip shots to the green. He sometimes falls on form, though, and one eyewitness reported that he brought his club down on the ball "like he was killing a rattlesnake."

Johnson seems to be a bit shy about hitting the ball when reporters and photographers are present. He sometimes avoids fairways where they await him. Householders bordering the Burning Tree acres get a better view and often line fences to wave at the golfing president. On at least one of his outings, the kitchen help vacated the clubhouse to watch him drive from the first tee.

Score A Secret
Johnson's score remains a secret but it is suspected that his game could not match that of the late President John F. Kennedy or former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Kennedy probably was the best White House golfer in recent years, often shooting in the high 70s. Eisenhower's recorded scores have been in the 80s.

Presidential assistant Jack Valenti, apparently inspired Johnson to return to the fairways this year. Valenti, who likes the game, remarked several months ago that he thought golf would be good exercise for Johnson.

The President has said several times he likes to get out on the course because it gives him an opportunity to walk around in the sunshine. Normally, he doesn't walk the whole distance. From time to time, he hops into an electric cart.

Johnson, a Burning Tree member since 1948, used to play occasional golf before his heart attack. He resumed the game — for one day — in 1960 when he played a round with Kennedy at Palm Beach, Fla.

Spaceship To Be Blasted Apart

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

HOUSTON (AP) — The U.S. will deliberately destroy a missile early next month high over White Sands Missile Range, N.M.

Information learned from the exploding missile could save astronauts' lives in future spaceship launchings.

Destroying the missile is part of the Little Joe II testing of the escape system for the Apollo moonship.

The explosion, 22,000 feet above the southern New Mexico desert, promises to be one of the most spectacular tests in the series.

Weighty Missile
The Little Joe II missile and the simulated Apollo spacecraft, which includes boilerplate models of the command and service modules, weigh more than 28 tons.

More than 2,000 miles away at Cape Kennedy, Fla., a 190-foot tall Apollo Saturn I vehicle will blast off about a week after the White Sands test.

The giant Saturn I and spacecraft will weigh more than 500 tons and have a thrust of approximately 1.5 million pounds of thrust from eight liquid propellant rocket engines.

Powerful Threat
The Little Joe II has more than 300,000 pounds of thrust from seven solid-fuel engines. The missile will lift the spacecraft four miles in slightly more than 30 seconds.

On a signal from the ground, prima-cord explosives will rip the casings from the missile's engines. Almost at the same instant, the Apollo command module, which will hold the three Apollo astronauts for their trip to the moon, will separate from the service module.

Milli-seconds later the motor on the escape tower will fire and carry the 4½ ton command module another 6,000 feet into the sky.

Explosive bolts will free the command module from the escape tower at 28,000 feet. A Drogue parachute will spring from the spacecraft, stabilizing it.

Parachutes Open
Seconds later, three 88-foot, red and white parachutes will open and carry the command module to the ground at a rate of 24 feet per second.

The test is to determine if the escape system works when the missile is flying at top speed and if the escape system has enough rocket power to lift the command module to safety from an exploding missile.

The modules are exact replicas of the command and service vehicles that will be used in this country's lunar mission later this decade. They will contain no instruments but will be of the approximate weight of the actual spacecraft.

The test is the third in the Little Joe II series. The first was of the missile itself, and the second was a pad abort test of the escape tower rockets firing to lift the command module to safety.

Both were successes, with the minor exception of the missile failing to act on a radio signal to destroy itself in the first test.

Tremors Shake
East Texas Area

HEMPHILL (AP) — Earth Tremors described as "completely astonishing" continue to rattle dishes and cause the jitters for residents of north Sabine County.

About 15 tremors have taken the area since last Thursday. "Why and how this happened and exactly what is occurring is anybody's guess," said Dr. J. C. DeBreaecker, a Rice University seismologist. "They are completely astonishing."

The shock waves apparently are confined to an area of deep east Texas. It is believed they will have no effect on the massive Toledo Bend Dam project.

Police Arrest 50 In Demonstration

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Police arrested 50 or more racial demonstrators in front of a segregated Nashville restaurant Wednesday, shortly after the firm obtained a temporary injunction to prevent demonstrators from interfering with business.

It was the third day this week of civil rights demonstrations, led by Negroes but including a few white men and women. Some of both races were arrested. Leaders say they are seeking a fully "open city."

Tempers flared and a few minor injuries were reported as policemen dragged demonstrators out of the street and loaded them into cars and patrol wagons. Automobile traffic was blocked briefly.

The arrests, more numerous than during the earlier demonstrations, came about two hours after Morrison's Cafeteria obtained the temporary injunction in Chancery Court. Judge Ned Lentz will set a date for hearings on a motion to make the order permanent.

The injunction petition named 10 individuals and two integration organizations, the Nashville Christian Leadership Council and the central committee of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Among the first persons arrested, when the demonstrators marched into the street in front of the cafeteria, were John Lewis and Lester McKinnie, Negro civil rights leaders. They were charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors by encouraging them to remain out of school and join the demonstrations.

Lewis is chairman of the national Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

The Rev. Andrew White, president of the Nashville Christian Leadership Council, also was arrested. The others included 25 juveniles. Several adults were charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Negro policeman Charles Hamilton was taken into custody after a scuffle with a white officer.

The line of marchers, followed by several policemen in cars and on motorcycles, moved along the sidewalks through part of the business section to the cafeteria. Police kept a few white hecklers, mostly non-spectators, away from the marchers.

Mayor Beverly Briley, who returned Tuesday night from a business trip to Washington, was in conference with his advisors much of the day.

"It is our desire to protect the rights of all citizens—regardless of their occupation, political belief, race or religion," Briley said in a statement. "The Police Department has been instructed to maintain law and order."

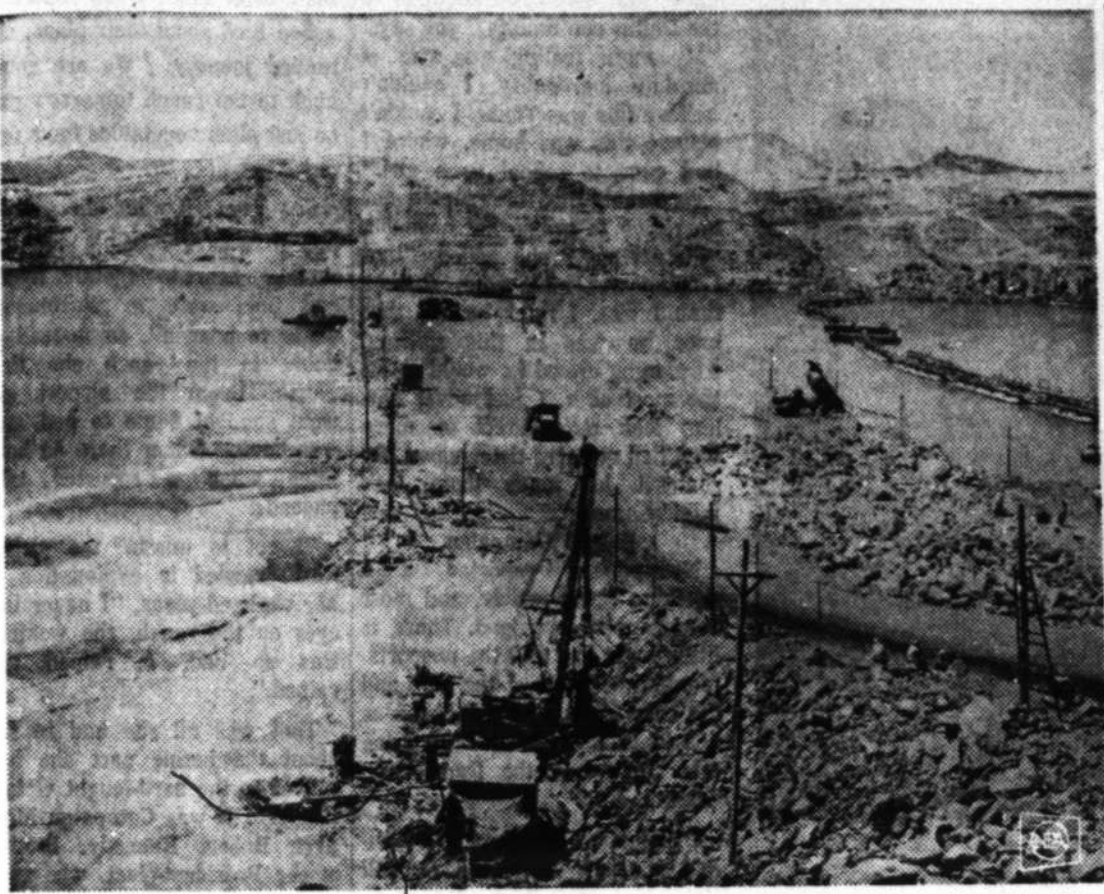

Terrell Crash Is Fatal To One

TERRELL (AP) — Robert Marshall Tull, 48, was killed when his pickup truck collided in a fiery crash Tuesday with a gravel truck.

When the pickup burst into flames, Clifford Turner of Temple crawled from the overturned gravel truck and pulled an unidentified woman from the flames. He was unable to rescue Tull.

The woman was taken to a Dallas hospital for treatment of third degree burns.

Morrison's, one of the few Nashville restaurants which maintain a policy of segregation, was closed when the demonstrators arrived on the scene.

College Students Aid Poverty Area

By BOB COOPER
HYDEN, Ky. (AP) — Like knights of old, college students sally forth each weekend to help the distressed mountain folk of eastern Kentucky.

Instead of armor, they wear sweat shirts and blue jeans. They carry hammers and nails, and bring, among other things, big sheets of wallboard.

The students call themselves the Appalachian Volunteers, a loosely knit group from 19 colleges who want to do their bit to help.

"We don't have any membership as such. No one carries any kind of membership card," Milton Ogle, director of the group, said.

Program Grows
But what began as a spark with four students three months ago has fanned into a flame involving more than 100 students working on six to eight projects every Saturday.

As a starter, the group decided to work on some of the 1,004 one-room schools in eastern Kentucky, many of them sorely in need of repair. They have organized recreation and health education at some of the schools.

"It's sort of a people-to-people program," Ogle said. The volunteers go only to communities where local residents will pitch in and help.

Given Grant
A $50,000 grant from the Federal Area Redevelopment Administration and donations from private individuals and firms finance the project. The grant is earmarked for salaries. Private donations buy materials.

The students receive only gasoline money and lunch. The decision on which schools will be worked upon, Ogle said, is made on the answers to these questions:

1. Will the school be eliminated through consolidation within one year? If so, no work.
2. Is the school genuinely in need of repair?
3. Is it reasonably close to the campus from which the volunteers will come.
4. Are the county school board and local residents willing to cooperate?

Try To Schedule
If the answers to the last three questions is yes, then the volunteers try to work it into their schedule.

The work the volunteers did at Rye Cove School, a tiny building in a desolate hollow near here, was typical. Last winter, the 21 students and their teacher, Jawandean Hoskins, shivered most of the time. There were cracks in the walls. The pot-bellied stove couldn't put out enough heat.

Volunteers, some local help, and a day of work put wall-board insulation on the walls and ceiling. A second project was a complete paint job.

"Oh, this is just wonderful," Mrs. Hoskins said. "It will be so fine next winter." "On some of these projects," Ogle said, "the local citizens take over before we're finished the spirit we're trying to generate."

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "This is the cruellest town in the world of talent. Hollywood's full of talented people, but hardly anyone will give them a chance to show what they can do."

Sidney Linden spoke from harsh experience. Thirty years ago he was a baritone with rare promise. A staff singer for CBS, his radio program followed that of a pop crooner. The difference between them was more than singing style; Linden earned $15 vs. Bing Crosby's $500.

The young baritone studied with great teachers who predicted a brilliant career. But success as a singer eluded him. Instead, he became a pen-making millionaire, and now is impresario of a concert hall designed to expose talent whom heartless Hollywood overlooks.

Big Business
Linden is president of the Lindy Pen Co., which he started as a one-man operation 19 years ago and which now enjoys a $12 million yearly volume.

The pen business and his other enterprises occupy only a part of his day. During most of every afternoon and evening he can be found at the Lindy Opera House, a one-time film theater at Wilshire and Labrea which he converted to a musical showcase for $160,000.

The opera house produces a healthy deficit, which bothers him not a whit.

"One of his greatest pleasures is the holding of auditions for new talent to be presented at the opera house. In this regard he stressed "new" and not necessarily "young."

Deserve Chance
Said he: "Most auditions place all the emphasis on young talent, and I think that is unfortunate. Producers think that anyone past the age of 34 is not suitable for singing jobs. But there are many singers in their late 30s and 40s who have magnificent voices and deserve a chance to be heard."

Linden sometimes sings a number, or two at the end of auditions, but that's the extent of his vocalizing nowadays. A neat-looking man with a mellow voice, he sometimes reflects on how his career might have turned if more people would have listened to him sing.

"But I didn't have that certain hardness that a singer needs to succeed," he commented.

Lacking the drive for self-promotion, Linden worked in movie labor crews and his brother's jewelry store in Santa Monica. After the war, he and a friend promoted a watch-band enterprise, then Linden went into ball-point pens with only fair success. When a batch of cartridges came out oversized, he devised a disposable pen which sold enormously.

FIRST LADY FROM TEXAS

'Lady Bird Carried Texas,' Robert Kennedy Declared

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
EDITOR'S NOTE: The Times continues today exclusive serialization of Ruth Montgomery's authoritative, revealing and objective study of the new First Lady, "Mrs. L.B.J."

Jacqueline Kennedy did not attend the 1960 Convention at which her husband won the Presidential nomination. She was pregnant and her doctors had forbidden it. The excitement of the 1956 Convention contest between John F. Kennedy and Estes Kefauver for the Vice Presidential nomination on the ticket had brought on a miscarriage.

Jackie and Lady Bird therefore had little more than a nodding acquaintance, when the Johnsons flew to Hyannis Port shortly after the Convention for the conference on campaign strategy. Both were Senatorial wives, but there was a seventeen-year difference in their ages.

Characteristically, Bird took the younger woman to her heart. While the party standard-bearers grouped in huddles with Robert Kennedy and the other members of the general staff, Mrs. Johnson exclaimed appreciatively over Jackie's art work and the scrapbooks of photographs by Jackie which the one-time "Inquiring Photographer" for a Washington newspaper had taken of family members.

After dinner, knowing that the men would want to continue to talk business and that Jackie should rest, Bird diplomatically excused herself for the night. She started upstairs to the guest room, but almost immediately Mrs. Kennedy was at her side, saying miserably: "I feel dreadful. This is the most important time of Jack's life, and I'm doing nothing to help him. What can I do?"

The seasoned political troupers cast a practiced eye around the colorful, chintzy living room of the summer cottage and at the sketches by Jackie which were framed and hung on the walls. Bird, too, had had a history of miscarriages, and it was with deep compassion that she replied: "Your house expresses you so well. Why not ask newspaper people to individually talk to you, and see if they themselves?"

Praised Mrs. Kennedy
A little later Lady Bird's eyes glowed as she herself praised to the press the young woman whose husband had defeated Lyndon for the Presidential nomination. "I was simply charmed. Her home shows love and attention. It has a cared-for air. She has talent and grace, and she is simply charming as a hostess. She would be a real asset in the White House."

The Democratic ticket, whose standard-bearers were less well known to the electorate than the Richard Nixon-Henry Cabot Lodge slate that was soon to be chosen by the Republican Convention, needed every vote that it could muster. Unfortunately, an extended session of Congress kept Senators Kennedy and Johnson on Capitol Hill, when their time for campaigning was already short. Moreover, the session was proving so unproductive for measures which the Democrats had championed in their platform that it was becoming an embarrassment.

When the session eventually dragged to a close on August 8th, there was not a moment to lose. With Jackie permanently restricted by her physicians for the duration of the campaign, Democratic strategists turned eagerly to Lady Bird as the party's answer to indefatigable Pat Nixon, a tried and proven Republican asset.

The Southern charmer was ready and willing to help. Throughout that frenetic fall, Bird smiled, drawled, and shook hands through thirty-five thousand miles of folksy whistle stops, feminine rallies, and TV appearances—Sun-up breakfasts and cold pancakes became daily fare for the quiet-voiced troupers, and "So glad you're all here" became her campaign trade mark. She spoke at hundreds of breakfasts, luncheons, tea parties, and press conferences, sometimes alone, but often with one or more of the "Kennedy ladies," as she called them, in tow. Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of the Presidential nominee, occasionally flew in, but Eunice Kennedy Shriver, Jean Kennedy Smith, and Ethel Kennedy were her usual campaign companions.

Rallies Were Popular
At a tremendous rally in Corpus Christi, Bird smilingly announced that Lyndon wanted the women "to do just five things" for him: "He wants you to write a card to all your kinfolks, have a coffee or tea party for your friends, phone ten people and ask each of them to phone ten more, write a letter to the editor of your newspaper, and drive a full car to the polls on November 18th."

The women were lapping up these unique rallies. The Southland had never seen anything to equal this glamorous petticoat brigade. The combination of Lady Bird's velvety drawl and the clipped Eastern accents of the chic Kennedy women was proving to be an irresistible lure, and women were turning out en masse. The Democrats had found a feminine persuader.

In late September, Lyndon was getting dressed to attend a meeting of Baptist clergymen in Houston, at which Presidential candidate Kennedy would dramatically meet the challenge of his Catholic religion, when Bird received a telephone call that her father was critically ill.

Bird returned to the bedroom and said nothing to her husband. Ever a stoic about her own suffering, she did not wish to disturb Lyndon just before such an important meeting. It was, in fact, Liz Carpenter, Bird's campaign press secretary, who quietly told him that she and Bird would have to fly to Marshall, Texas.

"Oh, has the time come?" he asked sorrowfully, knowing that his greatly admired father-in-law was nearing the end in the Marshall hospital. Only two weeks before, without telling Bird, he had ordered his campaign plane stopped there briefly, so that he could pay a visit to the salty old gentleman who had helped him win his bride.

Bird and Liz stayed for two days at Marshall, while doctors sought to prolong Mr. Taylor's life by amputating a gangrenous leg. His daughter remained at his bedside until the twelve-hour crisis had passed, and then went back to campaigning.

Father Rallied
Each evening she telephoned the doctor to check on her father's progress. By the time she reached Arizona, two weeks later, he was sinking rapidly, and she took time only to call Lyndon and their daughters before rushing back to the airport. Lynda and Luci met her in Dallas and they continued the flight to Marshall.

"This may be the last time you will get to see your grandfather," she told them. Although they were saddened by the suffering of the old man with whom they had spent many happy vacations, they were so overjoyed at the unexpected reunion with their mother that they poured out their news of dates, parties, and school activities in a jumble of words.

"Lady Bird sat there and glowed," Liz says. "I realized then how deeply she had been missing the joy of her children's chatter, while maintaining her rigid campaign schedule. This was the best occupational therapy that she could have had at such a time."

Once again the indomitable Tom Taylor rallied, and once more his valiant daughter returned to the campaign trail.

After a whistle-stopping trip across Tennessee, Bird made her headquarters in Washington for a few days while filling speaking engagements in nearby Virginia and Delaware. She was also arranging with the "Kennedy ladies" for a second swing through Texas, and calling the Marshall hospital each evening to talk with her father's nurse and doctor.

"Mr. Boss" again took a critical turn and the end was imminent, but Bird stoically told no one except a few intimate friends. She did not want the women who had worked so valiantly on behalf of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket to worry, just because she was so worried. Her only surviving brother, Antonio Taylor, was already en route from his home in Santa Fe to Marshall, and as soon as her engagements were completed, Bird and her long-time Texas friend, Mary Rather, flew to Marshall.

Father Died
In mid-afternoon of October twenty-second, Mary was poring over schedules when Bird came to the door. Tears overflowed as she said quietly: "My daddy has just died. Will you please try to locate Lyndon?"

She immediately regained her composure, and by the time her husband was on the other end of the wire, she was pleading with him not to come "until just in time for the funeral." To Mary she explained that "Lyndon suffers so at funerals."

Her urging was to no avail. "No, I want to be there with you," Lyndon said, and he came immediately, even as his two daughters were flying down from Washington.

Because "Mr. Boss" had married again shortly after Bird's own wedding, he was not buried beside her mother in the tenderly cared for little Confederate cemetery at Karnack; but it was big Tom Taylor who had inscribed on Minnie Pattillo Taylor's headstone: "Forgetful of self, she lived only for others." Bird remained with her brother, Tony, for only one more day after her husband and daughters departed in order to attend to family matters. Then, because she knew that Lyndon's cause required her help, she and Mary Rather flew to San Antonio at night to rejoin the ladies tea party brigade. There was now no time for tears.

A near tragedy in Greensboro, North Carolina, left her traveling companions with frazzled nerves, but not the indomitable Lady Bird. Landing in heavy fog, her campaign plane skidded beyond the airstrip into a neighboring field. By a seeming miracle, it did not overturn and burn. Unperturbed, the woman who once hated flying stepped out and began blithely shaking each of two thousand hands.

Praises Opposition
Back in Washington for a brief stopover, to repack her well-worn wardrobe, and give her teenage daughters "a little mothering," she received me for an exclusive interview. Over a cup of coffee on the screened verandah overlooking her small garden, I drew her out about her feminine rivals on the Republican ticket. Typically, the soft-spoken Southern woman could find nothing but good to say about them. Of her opposite number, Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, she bubbled: "I've had a simply delightful experience with the Lodges, even though I don't know them as well as I'd like to. When Lyndon addressed the United Nations in New York two years ago the Lodges were our hosts, and they couldn't have been more informal, friendly, and delightful. They're just top-notch!"

Of Patricia Nixon, who was vigorously campaigning with her Presidential aspirant husband on the opposition ticket, Bird said: "I think Pat does a very fine job. As a Senate wife, I appreciate her conscientious and devoted attention to being our presiding officer every Tuesday at the Senate Ladies' Red Cross unit."

She talked in equally disarming terms about her husband's probable role if the Kennedy-Johnson team should win in November. "I have a feeling that each man can set his own pattern to a sizable extent as vice president," she drawled. "Something tells me that if Lyndon is elected, he'll make his new job one of the busiest in the capital." Her words were to prove prophetic.

Bird professed to have lost all fears for her husband's health.

"Having lived through what he has these last few months," she remarked pensively, "I have no worries about his heart any more."

I asked about her own possible role as Second Lady, and she sipped coffee thoughtfully before replying: "Whoever becomes Second Lady will continue to be the same person she was before. If she liked to run a house and help her husband and children, she will keep right on doing the same, except that her husband's job will have expanded. He will set the pattern and she will fit into it." Bird, of course, had always fitted into Lyndon's pattern.

Recognized Problem
Lynda Bird, sixteen, and Luci Baines, thirteen, occasionally wandered in and out to consult their mother about clothes, dates, and schedules. She responded to their interruptions with saintly calm. I asked what effect she felt the spotlight of the vice-presidency might have on the girls, and she thoughtfully said: "I believe they're safe. This is a subject to which I've given a lot of thought, but it is a problem, because they want more of our attention and companionship than we've been able to give them in recent years. Lyndon and I are both saddened by that fact," Bird smilingly admitted that "we have the usual teenage problems, with the girls on the telephone all the time and never remembering to pick up their clothes, but, generally speaking, they're highly satisfactory girls."

Perhaps the high spot of Lady Bird's campaign came in mid-October, when she joined Lyndon for an LBJ Victory Special train trip through her mother's home state of Alabama. This was "kissin' kin" territory, and as the train pulled into Montgomery, she dashed onto the rear platform to greet her blood kin who had come to welcome her. At almost every whistle stop thereafter, Bird found long-lost "cousins" in the milling crowds.

Only two personal heartaches marred that historic campaign for Lady Bird. The first was her father's death. The other was a shocking mob scene that occurred in Dallas.

In the last week of the campaign, a group of "ugly Americans," carried away by partisan emotionalism, tried to bar the path of the Vice presidential nominee and his wife as they sought to enter the Adolphus Hotel for a rally. The streets were jammed to capacity with placard-waving opponents, and words like "traitor" and "yankee" caught their eye. Some of the signs accused Lyndon of selling out the South, and a few were aimed at Bird herself.

"It was a mighty noisy, articulate, and hate-filled segment of the Dallas community," she says. "My main feeling was one of absolute incredulity. I couldn't believe this was Texas. I couldn't believe this was home, where I had gone to school as a girl."

As usual, Bird interrupted her narrative to praise her husband. "I must say," she added, "that Lyndon was nine times stouter than I was. I think he felt that once he was in this spitting, screaming crowd he would make the most of it. I just never saw him look more erect or more dignified or more determined. By contrast he made them look mighty small."

Helped Campaign
Newspapers reported the shocking scene widely, and most Texans were outraged. There is little doubt but that the unsportsmanlike behavior of the mob and the calm dignity of the Johnsons helped to put the doubtful Lone Star State into the Democratic column.

On election eve, Bird and Lyndon checked in at the Driskill Hotel in Austin. It was the scene of their first date, but now they had other things on their minds. Ignoring her own weariness, Bird made the rounds with Lyndon to his several campaign headquarters to thank party workers for their service.

The next day, after voting in Johnson City, they returned to Austin to await the returns. Lady Bird and Lyndon sat up late into the night, surrounded by intimate friends from many previous campaigns. It was a close race, the closest Presidential contest in the history of America, but by four a.m. the Democrats apparently had won.

Television picked up the image of Pat Nixon weeping, and Bird's heart reached out to her. Knowing how deeply a devoted wife shares her husband's disappointments, Bird said aloud: "I wish I could say something to help her feel better."

The morning after the November eighth Presidential election, newsmen visited the Johnsons in their hotel suite. When reporters asked Bird about their plans, she replied jauntily: "We are going back to the ranch tomorrow and be just plain vegetables for a few days."

She meant it when she said it, but it was impossible for her mother: heart to vegetable. Lynda and Luci were in Washington eager to hear all, so instead of going to the ranch she flew North. From the airport she went straight home to bed, and was having dinner there an hour later when a reporter telephoned.

"I got to missin' the girls," Bird drawled in explanation of her changed plans. "I never laid eyes on the ranch, the weather was so bad. It rained and rained."

That was all she had to say about the heroic part she had played in the hard-fought victory that fall. It was Campaign Manager Robert Kennedy, brother of the President-elect, who gave her a well-deserved accolade: "Lady Bird carried Texas for us," he said.

Khrushchev May Dread New Confrontation Over Cuba

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Soviet Premier Khrushchev and his supporters, involved in a complex, many-sided debate over his policies, may be contemplating with dread the possibility that a new U. S.-Soviet confrontation over Cuba could bring Moscow an impossible choice.

The U. S.-Cuban quarrel over American surveillance flights comes at an awkward time for the Kremlin.

Bedeviled by unrelenting nagging from the Communist Chinese, the Soviet party is going to lengths to justify in the eyes of Communists at home and abroad not only its foreign policies but even its strictly domestic policies.

Reader Wonders

A spate of dialectical discussions in the Soviet press is accompanied by an odd obligation: A lively discussion about military affairs, leaving the reader wondering whether certain elements of the high military brass are unhappy about aspects of Khrushchev's program.

All this raises many intriguing questions:

Why has an elaborate defense of Soviet internal economic and Communist party policies been necessary in the Soviet press?

Are the world Communist split and the Chinese attacks beginning to erode some of the confidence of Khrushchev's supporters?

Why is so much being printed about the role of the Soviet Communist party and its control inside the armed forces?

Role Passed Over

Why did Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, the defense minister and a career military man, see fit in a recent article to make clear that Khrushchev during World War II was essentially a political officer?

Malinovsky wrote that "we military commanders" were encouraged by Khrushchev's work in "political administration" and staffs at the front, the political organs of units and party and Komsomol (Young Communist) organizations of units. "Was this to put Khrushchev in his place as a man whose basic experience was that of political commissar rather than military strategist?

Tribute Paid

The present political chief of the armed forces, a nonmilitary party man named A. A. Yepikhin, also had a recent article

GOP Morris Works Hard

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Robert Morris figures he has averaged meeting and talking to 500 persons a day since he began running for the U. S. Senate. "I've been in well over 100 counties making an average of six speeches a day," said the 49-year-old Republican candidate. "One day I made 11 speeches."

"And I haven't lost any weight. Someone is always offering me some peanuts or cookies. About the only exercise I get is walking up and down airplane ramps."

Robust Candidate

Morris is a robust, fast-talking candidate who says he is the only one with "the knowledge, the experience, and the will to win in November." He was the first president and current counsel of the Defenders of American Liberties, and once acted as attorney for former Army Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker. He was former chief counsel of the U. S. Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and former president of the University of Dallas.

However, fighting Communism has been and is his No. 1 aim in life.

"Robert Morris is one of the nation's leading authorities on the worldwide Communist conspiracy," says his campaign literature.

First Goal

"My first goal," he told The Associated Press, "is to awaken the American people that they are at the crossroads in 1964. We can either go down the path toward world policing and world law, or we can go on to a strengthened United States that would attract people all over the world. That is my prime reason for running."

"Second, is my own campaign for the Senate and the build up of the Republican Party in Texas."

Morris has seven devoted campaigners at his Dallas home—his wife, Joan, and five sons and one daughter, ranging in age from 10 to 2 years.

"My twins, Paul and Roger, age 8, went out with me on a campaign trip once but they weren't much help," Morris said. "They refused to shake hands with any girls."

in which he paid tribute to Khrushchev for creating a "new type" of armed forces.

Khrushchev, trying to build up the Soviet internal economy, insists on a policy of heavy reliance on nuclear-missile defenses. This suggests less emphasis on massive conventional forces, and it is known some generals have been unhappy about this policy.

The party press pays much attention these days to the notion of "one-man command" in the armed forces. At the same time it insists that the Communist party retain strict control. Is this to mollify officers who, once again, are balking at too much civilian interference?

Caribbean Clouds

All these questions are raised against the backdrop of new clouds over the Caribbean—possibly ominous clouds for Khrushchev.

"The Soviet government paper Izvestia, known to be a direct reflection of Khrushchev, carried a long protest Friday against the U. S. overflights. At first glance it might have seemed a bellicose protest."

But laced throughout Izvestia's discussion was a tone of pleading, as if an appeal to remember the Caribbean crisis of 1962, when the world trembled on the brink of war.

Izvestia spoke of a need for "reasonable, realistic" approaches to world affairs.

Unpleasant Possibility

Perhaps the Kremlin sees the unpleasant possibility that the Communist Cubans may shoot down American planes.

If that brought U. S. retaliation against Cuba, what would Moscow do then? Could Khrushchev afford a new "eyeball to eyeball" confrontation in a shadow of nuclear war?

If Khrushchev backed away from such a confrontation, would he not provide new ammunition for the Red Chinese? Last time his Communist world opponents pilloried him as a betrayer of their cause.

What would be the reaction of the Soviet military to a Kremlin backdown?

Court Voids Town Of Mayhill

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court upheld Wednesday lower court rulings nullifying the incorporation of the town of Mayhill, near Denton.

The high court ruled on the matter without a written opinion.

Incorporation of Mayhill was challenged by the city of Denton, which argued the town had more than two square miles of territory and less than 2,000 inhabitants which Denton lawyers said were needed for incorporation under state law.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

FENDER BENDERS: Scientists say there is a chance the earth may be struck with H-bomb-like force by one of a group of mysterious celestial objects—at any time ranging from tomorrow to millions of years from now.

The objects—eight in number and believed to be either asteroids or parts of comets—range in size from three-fifths of a mile to about four miles in diameter.

Dr. James R. Arnold of the University of California, San Diego, told a news conference at the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences Wednesday: "I would hope that if one collides with the earth, it would happen in a very remote place and that it also would occur during a period of relative calm in international relations—because it would look extremely like the explosion of a very large bomb."

Dr. Edward Anders of the University of Chicago touched off the discussion. He said the eight objects are tentatively called the "Apollo asteroids," and their orbits intersect the earth's orbital pathway.

As for the chance of an impact soon, Arnold said, "The automobile accident hazard is greater."

EVEN STEVEN: President Johnson sent to Congress Wednesday requests for increases and decreases in supplemental appropriations for the present fiscal year which balanced each other off at about $45 million.

Johnson asked an additional $30 million for the Veteran's Administration, an extra $12 million for the Agriculture Department's Stabilization and Conservation Service, and an additional $310,350 for the District of Columbia.

He asked a decrease of $45.4 million in supplemental requests for the Defense Department to meet pay increases for Army and Air Force personnel.

Press secretary George Reedy said the decrease was made possible by the recent payment of $45 million by four British Commonwealth nations for goods and services provided during the Korean War.

CRANE EGGS: Two whooping crane eggs have been hatched by bantam hens, but one baby whooper lived only 30 hours and the outlook for the other is in doubt.

The Interior Department, reporting this Wednesday, said the first hatching of the rare eggs occurred last Saturday and the baby bird died the following day.

The second egg was hatched Tuesday night, but the chick's right leg and hip joint apparently are malformed.

The Fish and Wildlife Service said the hatchlings occurred at the wildlife research substation at Lafayette, La. The experiment was undertaken because of the rarity of the whooping crane, America's tallest water bird.

Body Discovered

PORT LAVACA (AP) — The body of Jesus Nuncio, 38, of Houston was found floating Tuesday night in the downtown portion of Lavaca Bay. Police held a 24-year-old man for questioning and ordered an autopsy.

Nationalization Is Expected

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Speculation has arisen here that the government is planning to nationalize Mexico's telephone company.

Neither the government nor the company has commented.

The speculation broke into public Tuesday when a newspaper published a statement by the National Manufacturing Industry Chamber saying it believed the nationalization was imminent.

Later, the telephone workers union said it would favor the Nationalization.

Before the public speculation, one newspaper, Excelsior, had published a series of articles complaining of poor service by the company.

Another newspaper, Novedades, in a page-one commentary Wednesday suggested that although government intervention in fields of private enterprise is a highly controversial subject, the government might be justified in taking over telephone operations to improve service.

GROUND VIEW—When seen from the ground and viewed up close, the Saturn rocket, America's biggest to date, is an awesome sight. At left, Saturn is being placed in a gantry at Cape Kennedy. The gantry structure supports the rocket until blast-off and is pulled away during the final moments before launching. The first of three sections of the Saturn is shown here being lowered into position. At right is an impressive view of the eight rocket engines of the Saturn's first stage from below. When this sixth of the Saturn rockets is launched, these eight rockets will lift a model of the three-man Apollo space ship into orbit around the earth. On the Saturn is pinned the U.S. hopes of landing men on the moon.

Faubus Draws Four Opponents

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Republican Winthrop Rockefeller escaped opposition and Democratic Gov. Orval E. Faubus drew four opponents as Arkansas' primary election tickets closed Wednesday.

For the first time in this century, the main race for governor will be in the general election, rather than in the Democratic primary.

None of Faubus' opponents has sought a major office before. One is an ex-convict, one a college ROTC instructor, and two are businessmen.

Faubus is expected to win easily in the July 29 primary. Rockefeller is the brother of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The Faubus-Rockefeller race has been shaping up since 1960, when Rockefeller met a seven-year residency requirement. The election is the prime test of Rockefeller's efforts to build a two-party system in this state, which has not elected a Republican to a major office since Reconstruction.

By any account the political advantage is with Faubus, veteran of five gubernatorial campaigns and backed by an experienced political organization.

Rockefeller moved to Arkansas in 1953 to "seek a new life" and escape any reputation as a New York playboy. He quickly became a business, civic and cultural leader.

A year later Faubus, an obscure weekly newspaper editor who was born in an Ozark Mountain cabin, was elected governor.

Civilian Attack Denied By India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian foreign ministry today denied a Pakistani charge that Indian troops killed 300 Pakistani civilians in attacks across the Kashmir cease-fire line in March.

U.N. truce observer sources said the casualty figure was "a good deal higher than might be supported by facts."

The Pakistani government made the charge in a statement Wednesday.

Miners Are Rescued

Rockefeller Says Goldwater Fails To Back GOP Policy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater "certainly isn't a Republican" when measured by his support of GOP policy on several key issues, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Wednesday.

The question of whether Goldwater is a Republican by any standard, Rockefeller said, "is a very interesting one."

The New York governor's comments, in an interview, were further steps in his newly developed hard line against the Arizona senator in the contest for the Republican nomination for president.

Goldwater has declined to reply, saying that he intends to continue fighting the Democrats and not battle Republicans.

In a speech to a group of Republican businessmen, Rockefeller charged that Goldwater had espoused "irresponsible extremists and highly dangerous" stands on foreign policy, but now was making "preposterous efforts to delude the voters as to his past positions."

Rockefeller received a long, standing ovation from the audience of more than 600 when he finished. He was applauded several times during the speech.

In a question and answer period that followed, he was asked why he had been unable to draw support from national Republican leaders.

"You mean Republican chiefs?" he quipped. "Well, right now I'm looking for Indians."

Rockefeller said: "The shocking thing is that Sen. Goldwater, a candidate for the nomination for the presidency of the United States, does not seem to realize—or remember—positions he has taken on the vital issues affecting our security and the security and well-being of the free world."

Rockefeller was in the final day of a West Coast campaign swing in search of votes in the Oregon primary May 15 and the California primary June 2. He will begin on Thursday a two-day tour of West Virginia, where he is the only candidate in that state's GOP primary.

Rockefeller said that Goldwater was opposed to Republican policy on such issues as civil rights, aid to higher education and medical assistance for the needy aged.

"He certainly isn't a Republican in terms of the 1960 platform positions," Rockefeller said. "and now he would like to change the party's position on some of these fundamental issues."

Lodge Is Top Vote-Getter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Of the six Republican presidential primaries held this spring, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge has been the leading vote-getter in three. The other three winners were Sen. Barry Goldwater, of Arizona, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Rep. John Byrnes of Wisconsin.

The primaries varied from head-on clashes between avowed candidates, as in New Hampshire, to elections in which none of the candidates or potential GOP presidential nominees was on the ballot.

A summary of the top three vote-getters in each primary:

New Hampshire, March 10—Lodge, a write-in choice, led the field with Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, whose names were on the ballot, running second and third.

Wisconsin, April 7—Byrnes was the only candidate and write-in votes were not counted. Illinois, April 14—Goldwater defeated Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, his only rival on the ballot. Lodge placed third with write-ins.

New Jersey, April 21—No candidates on the ballot. Lodge was first, Goldwater second and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon third in a slim write-in vote.

Massachusetts, April 28—Lodge first, Goldwater second and Nixon third, all on write-in votes.

Jersey Ballot Favors Lodge

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Nearly complete returns of New Jersey's primary election April 21 showed Henry Cabot Lodge the favorite among voters who wrote in a presidential preference.

Republican voters gave Lodge 7,331 votes, to 4,788 for Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, and 4,480 for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

On the Democratic side, President Johnson polled 3,192 write-ins and was trailed by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama with 322 and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy with 301.

The returns were from 17 of 19 counties. In two other counties, the tabulation still was not complete on the long and complicated ballots.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania received 780 Republican votes and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had 634.

Wallace, finishing second to Johnson among Democratic voters, actually did better among Republicans. The Alabama governor was the choice of 373 Republicans in addition to the 322 Democrats who wrote in his name.

The results of the write-in do not bind New Jersey delegates to the national nominating conventions.

Wichita Falls Firm Gets Paving Job

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Highway Department tabulated bids Wednesday totaling $18,523,450 for construction projects on state highways and farm roads. That brought the two-day total of bid letting to $36,970,900.

Reedy Says New Rule In Effect

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House press office laid down a new rule Wednesday in the aftermath of President Johnson's pulling of dog ears: No reports on how the White House mail is running—on anything.

Press Secretary George Reedy had been asked to produce information on what the mail was turning up with respect to Johnson's hoisting his two beagle pups by the ears and letting them yelp—an action that brought protests from some dog experts and dog lovers.

Reedy said he would see what could be done about checking on the mail, then told newsmen later: "We are not going to characterize the mail, quantitatively, qualitatively, pro or con."

He said this applies to mail on any subject, except occasionally for specific communications related to official business.

Death Given Nine In Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A Syrian military court sentenced nine persons to death today for raiding police posts outside the northern city of Aleppo in March.

Twelve others were given prison terms ranging from two years to life for the attacks, which a government statement earlier said were staged by paid agents of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Gen. Amin Hafez, Syria's strong man, threatened the country's striking merchants with military trials and confiscation of their assets unless they open their shops immediately.

The bazaars of Damascus, Aleppo and Hama have been shuttered for eight days in protest against the Socialist policies of Hafez' Baath Socialist party regime.

Murder Trial Is Moved Again

LAGRANGE (AP)—The murder trial of Rudolph Coffey of Cocon, Fla., will be moved again, Dist. Judge J. Lee Dittert decided Wednesday.

Coffey's trial for murder in the fatal shooting Nov. 15 of Elgin Police Chief J. M. Mumford previously was moved here on a venue change from Bastrop.

When only nine jurors had been selected from 210 prospects since Monday's trial start, the judge decided the trial should be transferred.

Coffey also is accused of the shooting and critical wounding of state highway patrolman Tommy Mosley. Mosley and Mumford stopped Coffey and a 16-year-old girl for questioning as they rode in a car.

Baker Probe Given Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate gave its Rules Committee an additional month Wednesday to wind up its Bobby Baker investigation and file a report on findings and recommendations.

The committee's authority to spend funds voted previously for the probe would have expired at midnight Thursday. The resolution, approved without objection, extends this until May 31.

The committee said it has spent about $85,000 on its investigation of the financial affairs of Baker, resigned secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, and has about $20,000 left.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., told the Senate the extension resolution has been approved unanimously by the committee earlier in the day.

'Y' Breakfast Speaker Named

Harold V. Lucas, who recently returned from a YMCA world service assignment in Burma, will be keynote speaker at the Wichita Falls YMCA's World Service breakfast, May 20.

Henry Grace will be program chairman at the fund raising function and D. C. Norwood, World Service chairman, will preside.

Other members of the committee, meeting Wednesday to plan this year's Day of Dedication, are Rhea Howard, Robert Priddy, Dr. Joe Steed, A. P. Clark and Joe Cunningham.

Of the $4,000 world service goal set by the committee, $400 already has been raised by the sale of the Coyote Pack and the Rider Roundup, student directories published by the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y groups at Wichita Falls and Rider high schools.

The breakfast speaker began his YMCA career in 1919 when he joined the staff of the San Jose, Calif., YMCA. Beginning as a boy's work secretary, Lucas in 1925 moved to Hawaii, where he served 16 years, the last nine as general secretary of the Hawaii County YMCA.

Returning to the mainland in 1941, Lucas became general secretary of the Orange, Calif., YMCA and in 1943 became USO director for American troops in Brazil.

Lucas, while serving in Burma, was responsible for the establishment of five new YMCA's.

Little Joe Cartwright Set To Appear At Cache Rodeo

CACHE, Okla. — Little Joe Cartwright, star of tv's top-rated "Bonanza" series, will make a guest appearance Sunday afternoon at the West Cache Trading Post's fun-filled rodeo.

Show time is 2:30 p.m. for the rodeo, kicking off the Trading Post's summer series of rodeos.

Michael Landon, better known to his tv fans as "Little Joe," will be on hand to pass out autographed pictures to rodeo spectators.

The younger son of the Cartwright family is flying direct to Cache from his Ponderosa ranch in Hollywood for the one-day appearance. Landon is considered one of the up and coming actors in the film capital, where he shot to stardom several years ago in the popular Sunday evening tv show that has garnered top-rated awards.

Handsome Joe is following in the footsteps of his older "brother" Hoss (Dan Blocker), who attracted capacity crowds here last summer when he visited the popular West Cache Trading Post rodeo arena.

MEMO

To West Texas Friends and Neighbors

FROM:

El Paso County Friends of Jim Langdon

We are working to keep Jim C. Langdon as Railroad Commissioner, for several reasons. These reasons include:

1. Jim Langdon has the ability, training and integrity necessary in this unusually important office. He is a distinguished lawyer who was serving as Chief Justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals whose jurisdiction covered many West Texas counties when Governor Connally appointed him as Railroad Commissioner.

2. Jim Langdon, in a year's time, has proved himself to be a really outstanding member of the state agency that regulates oil and gas production; truck and railroad rates, and other vital industries.

3. Jim Langdon is well-known to many people in this appellate court district that includes Andrews, Brewster, Crane, Crockett, Culbertson, Ector, El Paso, Gaines, Glasscock, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Martin, Midland, Pecos, Presidio, Reagan, Reeves, Terrell, Upton, Ward and Winkler counties. In serving the people of this area, Jim Langdon has proved himself to be a man of ability, whose fairness and honesty is undisputable.

We urge all the people of this appellate court district to join us in supporting Jim Langdon and voting for him in the Democratic Primary May 2.

U.S. To Remain At Okinawa Regardless

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS
THURSDAY
EVENING April 26, 1964 Page 3B

By ROBERT EUNSON

NAKA, Okinawa (AP)—"We will remain here so long as threats and tensions continue to exist."

The threats referred to are from Communist China.

The tensions have gripped this part of the world 19 years.

Here happens to be Okinawa, a 67-mile-long island, believed to be Uncle Sam's most important nuclear weapons base in the Far East. It is 15 minutes, as the jets fly, from Red China.

The statement about remaining here was made by Lt. Gen. Paul W. Caraway, high commissioner to the Ryukyu Islands since 1961.

"We're here for national security and to fulfill our commitments to the free world," Caraway told The Associated Press. "We can only carry out that task if we are unimpeded."

Anything Possible

Asked about a suggestion that political control of the Ryukyus be returned to Japan with the United States still retaining its vast network of air and military bases, Caraway replied "anything is possible."

"Article Three of the Japanese peace treaty says the United States is given—and the Japanese agreed to it—any and all powers of administration, legislative and judicial, in the Ryukyu Islands. The United States can exercise these powers so long as it wishes," he said.

Asked if Okinawa actually might be written off in case of an all-out war because of its proximity to the Chinese mainland, Caraway snapped:

"This is an attitude that is developing in the United States, especially among Washington newsmen. We will remain here so long as threats and tensions continue to exist."

Safer In War

One school of thought among this island's 95,000 American inhabitants, including the 3rd Marine Division, is that Okinawa would be safer than the mainland since both the Communists and the United States would be blasting at each other's homeland in case of atomic war.

Okinawa is known as "the billion-dollar base," but that figure can't include all Uncle Sam has invested here. The whole island is one mighty base. Military and civilian roads, telephone systems, water and power networks are completely integrated.

Bases on Japan have been emasculated, so far as any true strength is concerned, because of left-wing opposition to nuclear weapons or the basing there of planes or vessels which transport them.

'Here To Protect'

"We are here to meet our security arrangements with our allies," Caraway declared. "We're here to protect the Western Pacific from aggression."

Caraway retires Aug. 1 and will be succeeded by Lt. Gen. Albert Watson II. The job is the nearest thing the United States has had to a governor-general in the Pacific since it gave up the Philippines. And that is the position some Americans in Okinawa want Caraway and his successor to have.

"We need an organic act by Congress which will put the Ryukyus in a commonwealth status, such as we have Puerto Rico, Guam, or used to have the Philippine Islands," says Howard McClellan, president of the American Chamber of Commerce on Okinawa.

Status Necessary
McClellan and other Americans here hold that a commonwealth status is necessary until such time as the islands revert to Japan.

"Sometimes it seems the United States Commerce Department is working for the Japanese," McClellan said, referring to an influx of Japanese goods. But Japanese businessmen complain they find it difficult to secure licenses to operate here.

"If there is any merit in a Japanese investment for the growth of economy, there is little chance of it being turned down," says Caraway. "I don't, however, encourage shysters and fly-by-night operators."

"There is no discrimination as far as imports are concerned. Of the $135 million to $140 million last year, 95 per cent was from Japan into the Ryukyuans markets. I'm not speaking of military purchases because we are bound by the gold-flow limitations."

Same Import Tax

The import tax on automobiles is 20 per cent for either Japanese or American makes. Shipping charges make American makes higher.

McClellan's group would like to see shipping charges absorbed in some way to give American products an even break with Japanese-manufactured goods brought into Okinawa.

On the other hand, Japanese businessmen complain about a license two American firms received to build a cement factory.

A foreign investment board granted the Ryukyu Cement Co. a license to construct a $8-million plant. Kaiser Industries of Oakland, Calif., owns 34 per cent of Ryukyu Cement and Goetz Bro. of San Francisco has 12 per cent.

The Japanese firm which lost out in Nihon Cement Co. The word is that the American-backed firm got the license because it is less than 50 per cent owned by outside money.

The foreign investment board consists of four Ryukyuan and three Americans. None is sympathetic to the Japanese, that country's representatives here say. An AP reporter talked to a dozen responsible Ryukyuan persons, young and old. Every one favored "reversion" to the status of a Japanese province—but stipulated "when the time comes."

It was granted that certain Ryukyuan had done better under the Americans than they would have under the Japanese. This minority would oppose reversion.

the war. And suppose Japan held on to the State of Washington, or California, in order to protect the free world from the Communists. How would the people of those states feel? Naturally they'd want to return to the United States as soon as possible. It's a matter of not wanting to lose our identity as Japanese."

The Pressbox By CHARLES WOLSTON Sports Editor

Houston Seeks Entry Into SWC

When Baylor, or who ever it might be, fires the shot heard 'round the Southwest Conference at the May 8-9 meeting at Texas Tech you can bet your last Dewey button the football fans are going to voice some opinions.

The opinions pro or con, of course, will be concerned with the University of Houston's bid for membership in the old and gallant SWC.

Baylor, has been deemed the most logical candidate to make the official bid to the league.

Houston has already drawn support from student newspapers at both Texas and Rice. Probably others have joined the campaign "for" Houston by now.

But where it counts, in the actual voting, Houston can probably count strongly on votes from Texas A&M and Baylor.

Silence has been the motto at Houston and one can't blame them for keeping the cards under the table at this stage of the game.

It seems very appropriate for Houston to make the bid at the home of Texas Tech, a school which fought for 30 years before it got SWC membership.

Tech Likely

By that reason alone, Tech would be a likely candidate to vote for Houston.

Houston deserves to be a full and active member in the Southwest Conference.

The benefits reaped by the Southwest Conference by including Houston are many indeed. The Cougars are in a position to make contributions both in prestige and in finances.

Houston has more potential than Texas Tech did at the time it was voted in.

Texas A&M has perhaps continued a competition series longer with Houston than any other school in the SWC.

The Aggies have found the series with the Cougars beneficial to both game competition and in gate receipts.

One of the heaviest arguments presented by the anti-Houston group of fans is that it would take the place of a big intersectional game.

Disappointing Crowd

Baylor has played such teams as Southern California before a very disappointing crowd. Had they played Houston in a conference game, some feel the crowd would easily have doubled the USC game crowd.

Houston is one of the largest universities in the nation with 17,500 students and is sitting right in the middle of one of the fastest and most progressive cities in the nation.

For the conference fathers to turn down Houston's bid would, in this opinion, be a tragic mistake.

Houston is a rich school, a large school and a progressive school.

What other qualifications are needed?

Just name them, Houston has 'em.

.45s Aid Dodgers Regain Win Form

HOUSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, once on the top of the heap that is the National League, seem determined to regain that height and they're stepping all over the Houston Colts to do it.

When the Dodgers go against the Colts tonight they'll be shooting for a series shutout against their hosts. They have taken four straight games, the last three from Houston.

The 7-2 win Wednesday night put Los Angeles in a seventh place tie with the Colts in the National League race. At one time the Dodgers were in the cellar—thanks to losing nine of their first 11 games.

five hit game against Houston Wednesday and rookie John Werhas knocked in three runs with two singles. Willhite struck out six and walked two. The Colts got their two runs when John Bateman homered with Mike White on first.

Although the Dodgers scored in the third, Colt pitcher Don Nottebart had a no-hitter going until the seventh, when Werhas singled to drive in Frank Howard. The Dodgers had scored their first run on a walk, a sacrifice and Jim Beauchamp's two-base error.

Nottebart was lifted in the seventh, after Dick Tracewski singled to score Ron Fairly.

But now they're on a winning streak — of sorts. Phil Ortega, the man who started them on the comeback trail by pitching the first win, against the Milwaukee Braves, will be taking the mound tonight. The Colts are sending Turk Farrell, 2-0, against him.

Rookie Nick Willhite pitched a

No One A Cinch In Champ's Golf

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer led off as the big name golfers in the $65,000 Tournament of Champions Thursday. But in the risky business of this game, nothing is certain and no one is a cinch.

Power-hitting Nicklaus won here a year ago and Palmer in 1962. And three weeks ago Palmer broke out of a lengthy slump to win the famed Masters for an unprecedented fourth time.

The pair are co-favorites. But in the 16 major tournaments played this year, there have been 16 different winners.

Counting the final three tournaments of 1963 the string stretches to 19, with as many different winners.

History

Such a series, according to PGA historian Doc Giffin, is unmatched in professional golf records.

Twenty-nine players were set to tee off today over the 7,073-yard, par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course. Weather forecasts called for sunny skies.

Among the other notable contenders were U. S. Open champion Julius Boros, British Open champion Bob Charles from New Zealand and Gary Player of South Africa.

Another solid challenger was Bill Casper Jr. He was a threat last year until forced out after nine holes in the final round by a hand injury. He was also second to Palmer here in 1962.

Casper viewed the present situation in this manner: "If I were a betting man, I would have to go with Nicklaus. But nearly every pro here has a chance to win it," Casper said.

Nicklaus shot a 66 in a final tuneup Wednesday. The round including a pair of eagle 3s, two 3-putt greens and one out-of-bounds shot that cost him two strokes.

Big Game

Palmer had a 69 and has indicated in his practice round that he is still on the big game which carried him to the Masters crown.

A year ago Nicklaus' 15-under-par 273, which started with a 64,

His physician said he will have to remain relatively inactive for about 10 days, the result of a blow on the heel Tuesday while he was working out with weights.

Long, 23, said 200 pounds of metal weights struck him when a pulley mechanism broke. "I was kneeling at the time, and the weights hit my heel like a sledge," he said.

Golden State Tries To Erase 'History'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—California, which in years past has seen many of its fine thoroughbreds eating dust—or mud—at the finish of the Kentucky Derby, is making a big move to monopolize the classic for 3-year-olds.

This year's short-priced favorite, Hill Rise, is from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, located near Madera, Calif. Two years ago Pope's Decidedly won the Derby. Last year Candy Spots, from the California stable of Rex Ellsworth, was the big favorite but finished third.

Hill Rise

Hill Rise, who won Tuesday's Derby Trial in a breeze, was expected to top a list of 13 definite starters named today to run in Saturday's $125,000-added 1 1/4 mile Derby. Two other colts were considered possibilities.

Those slated for sure to oppose Hill Rise are Northern Dancer, Quadrangle, Mr. Brick, the Scoundrel, Roman Brother, Dandy K., Mr. Moonlight, Wil Rad, Ishkoodah, Prince Davelle, Royal Shuck and Extra Swell.

The owners of Clem Pac and He's A Gem also were expected to put the $250 it took to pass through the entry box today and then decide later whether to start.

The race will be televised from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. CST. Derby is 3:30.

Hill Rise, with eight straight wins, will be out to add more prestige to West Coast racing and is expected to go off a much stronger favorite than Candy Spots.

California

Swaps, Decidedly and Morvich are the only California-breds in 90 years to win the historic race. But there is every indication that this average is going up fast.

Kentucky racing hardboots always have been skeptical of California horses. These diehards point to the failure in the Derby of such California-bred horses as Indian Broom in 1936, Terrang in 1956, Silky Sullivan in 1958, Four-and-twenty in 1961 and Candy Spots last year.

They called Swaps' victory over Nashua a fluke, but the facts of the past three years are pretty hard to ignore.

The weather remained a big factor in the first jewel of the Triple Crown. Rain fell much of Wednesday but did not seriously affect the track. The long-range forecasts call for a little more moisture before Derby Day.

Midland Driver Seeks Road Racing Crown

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP)—Battling for the United States road racing championship resumes on the Monterey Peninsula this weekend with the nation's top drivers competing for cash and points.

Racing over the 1.9-mile Laguna Seca course opens with preliminaries Friday and winds up with key 100 and 150-mile races on Sunday.

Jim Hall of Midland, Tex., currently leading the drivers' championship with 15 points, will drive a Chaparral. Also figuring in the 150-mile Drivers' Championship race are Skip Hudson, winner at Riverside, Calif., last Sunday, Dave MacDonald, Roger Penske, Bob Holbert and defending Laguna Seca champion Chuck Parsons.

The 100-mile manufacturers' point race for grand touring cars will have such team entries as Carroll Shelby's Ford-Cobras, the new 904 Porsche, Chevrolet's Corvette Sting Ray, a pair of Ford Cortinas from England and entries from Jaguar, MG and Triumph.

The Laguna Seca races are the fourth in the national series which so far has seen three different winners — MacDonald at Augusta, Ga., Hall at Pensacola, Fla., and Hudson at Riverside.

Points are awarded on a 9-6-4-3-2-1 basis with a driver's eight best outings counted for the year's standing. George Wintersteef of Villanova, Pa., is second with 10 points. Ed Hugus, Pittsburgh, MacDonald, Hudson, Charles Hayes of Chevy Chase, Md., and Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., each have nine points.

Shelby American, featuring the Cobras, heads the manufacturers' championship total with 27 points. Porsche has 18, Ford of England 10 and Chevrolet 7. Some 60 of the top cars and drivers will strive for the points plus $10,000 in the two races.

Money Does Talk—And How

"I will never turn pro!"
Three guesses on who said the above statement. Nope, nope and nope.

The answer is Jack Nicklaus when he was 'killin' 'em dead' on the amateur circuit and was being compared to the immortal Bobby Jones.

Pudgy Jack flatly stated that he would never turn pro. Of course, even if he did intend to, he had to say he didn't or it would ruin his amateur status. But it's odd because when he was interviewed, he gave the definite impression that he would never play golf for money.

He stated that the tour was too much of a grind. What he wanted, he asserted, was a job which would provide adequately for his family and where he could take off a few days of the month and play friendly golf.

Money Talks

Well, money has been known to do worse things than make someone turn pro. I always thought he was pretty dumb for not joining the tour after his great showings in pro tournaments.

Now he's accumulated enough money to retire right now if he wanted to, but I don't think he will. But, I do think he will retire from the tour earlier than most people think.

Why? Because he has stated

Break From PGA

There's talk that the touring pros may break away from the PGA.

Don't laugh because it's very possible. There is much unhappiness among the players at present and things may be changing soon.

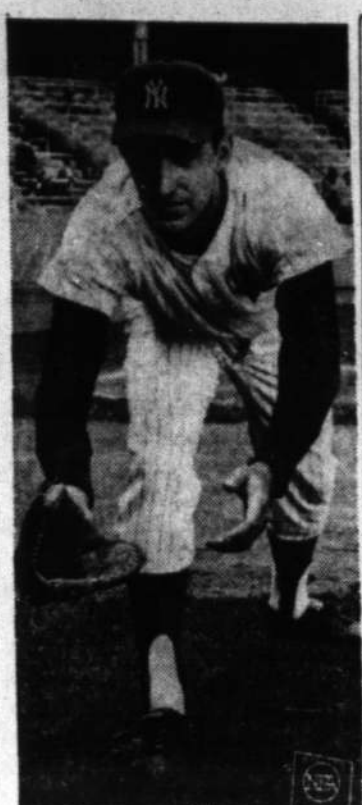

The tour may be divided into a major and minor circuit.

The major circuit may be headed by Mark McCormack. He's the guy who controls the finances and moves of 10 top touring pros, including Arnold Palmer, Nicklaus and Gary Player. Others include Bob Charles and Doug Sanders.

Some believe when McCormack gets 20 top players he'll break away.

But, it might be a good idea. It would at least give the rookie players a chance to win some money on the minor tour with the top 20 players in the major one.

JOE PEPITONE

Pepitone's Life Miserable After Hurting Hand

NEW YORK (AP)—His teammates on the New York Yankees call Joe Pepitone the eternal optimist.

Behind every cloud there's a silver lining for the slugging first baseman. Young and strong and extremely confident in his own ability, Joe regards playing ball a lark.

But it's been anything but fun this spring. Every game has been a chore. He hurt his hand a few days before the start of the season and it hasn't been right since. The bandage offers little protection.

He has difficulty gripping a bat. The pain often becomes excruciating when he connects solidly, which he has been able to do on rare occasions.

Consequently, his batting average is a microscopic .125.

"I've had to change my grip," he said today. "I just can't hold the bat properly. I apply a lot of wrist action to my swing but I can't do that now because of the pain."

"I don't know when it will get better. The injury is to the heel of the hand but the pain shoots all the way up my arm when I hit the ball solidly."

The proper prescription is rest. But Joe wants none of that. And Manager Yogi Berra is loathe to give it to him. Because of the team's bad start, Yogi says he needs Pepitone's bat in the line-up, hoping he snaps out of his slump.

"Maybe I should have kept him out of the line-up for a couple of days at the beginning," said Berra, "but nobody knew his hand was that bad. Joe never complains, you know. He hates to sit one out."

"He tells me his hand is getting better. And those days off we've had should help him. I'm not worried about him. I'll bet he snaps out of his slump real soon."

After Eight Years Rookie Proves He's Major League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Lee, who took an automobile ride to notoriety last season, is flying high these days with the Los Angeles Angels.

Lee, a rookie right-handed pitcher who jumped to the Angels from Class D competition, won his first major league game Wednesday night, hurling a one-hitter for seven innings as Los Angeles whipped Washington 5-1.

Only last Saturday night, Lee held Cleveland to four hits in 10 innings in a game the Indians eventually won 2-1 in 11.

Lee's automobile trip came during the tremendous year he had for Batavia of the New York-Pennsylvania League. Then the property of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Lee was called on to pitch in an exhibition game at Cleveland against the Indians.

He drove to the game, struck out 16 and rapped two doubles in a 7-1 victory, then drove back to Batavia.

He proceeded to finish the season with a 20-2 record and a 1.70 earned run average, the best marks in the league.

Actually the rise from Batavia to the Angels was not as meteoric as it might seem. The 26-year-old Iowa native spent so much time prepping for the majors he should have considered pushing for an old-age pension plan for the minor leagues.

Lee pitched in the minors for eight years, starting in 1956. His record in that time wasn't even good. Before Batavia, he won 38 games and lost 55.

But now, suddenly, after two starts and 21 innings with Los Angeles, he has compiled a 1.29 earned run average.

Lee's performance Wednesday night highlighted an American League schedule riddled by rain. Detroit nipped Kansas City 5-4 in 10 innings, and Baltimore downed Boston 4-2 in other games. Rain washed out Chicago at New York while wet grounds knocked out Cleveland at Minnesota.

at Minnesota.

Lee, making his second start, gave up only a single to Dick Phillips with one out in the fifth inning. He was removed from the game when he tired in the eighth after walking Hunt. While he was in, the Senators didn't move a man past first base. After he walked Hunt, though, Washington scored on singles by Don Lock and Ken Retzer off reliever Bob Duliba.

Joe Koppe tripled home two runs for the Angels in a three-run second inning. Tom Satriano and Bob Rodgers knocked in runs in the third.

Don Demeter's home run off

John Wyatt gave the Tigers their extra-inning triumph. Detroit had taken a 4-0 lead, but the Athletics roared back behind the hitting of Ed Charles.

$132,232.80 Waiting For Big Horse Player

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—It's only money, but everyone is wondering why the gentleman who won $132,232.80 in the Roosevelt Raceway twin double Tuesday night hasn't dropped around to collect the cash.

The purchaser of the ticket of the richest twin double payoff in history was first thought to be a woman. Wednesday the buyer was identified as a nervous, well-dressed man.

A check of the mutual machines at the track on Long Island disclosed that the pastebord was sold by George Hawkins. Hawkins, who works on the third floor mezzanine of the grandstand, recalled selling the ticket because the purchaser produced two $100 bills and bought 18 tickets for $10 each, receiving $20 change.

"I recall distinctly that the chap, who was about 35 and spoke and was dressed like a member of Princeton's class of 1955, combined the No. 5 horse in the seventh race with every horse in the sixth race at $10 each," Hawkins said. "Then he asked me to repeat it and when that was finished he bought extra $10 tickets on the 1-2 combinations."

"That made 18 tickets at $10. While I was punching out the tickets, the machine broke down and we had to have it repaired. During the wait the bettor was nervous as a cat."

Hawkins said the bettor appeared to be a novice at twin double betting, a system in which bettors who pick the winners of the sixth and seventh races and can turn in their winning tickets and choose the probable winners in the eighth and ninth races.

"I saw him in the mezzanine after the seventh race," Hawkins said, "and the man seemed distraught. I asked him if there was anything I could do to help him and he asked several questions. Then I helped him after he told me what he wanted to do in the last two races."

Hawkins said the man took five $2 tickets on the No. 1 horse in the eighth race, pairing them with the first five horses in the ninth race. He did the same with the No. 3 horse in the eighth. No. 1 won and the mystery bettor held one of the 21 tickets still alive. When Historic Value, No. 2 in the ninth race, won, that gave him the entire pool.

San Antonio Texas Leader

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Morgan made it a personal proposition Wednesday night and as a result San Antonio took the longest lead of the season in the Texas League.

The Bullets beat Tulsa 3-2 in 10 innings and Morgan batted in all of the San Antonio runs. He had a two-run homer in the eighth and his bases-loaded single in the 10th broke up the ball game.

San Antonio moved to a two-game lead over Tulsa and Albuquerque.

Albuquerque edged Austin 4-3 in 11 innings with Bill Berrier the Duke hero. He singled in the eleventh to drive in Hector Valle with the winning run.

El Paso took over fourth place with a 7-1 decision over the Fort Worth Cats. Rich Slomkowski pitched a seven-hitter and Moose Stubing supplied the margin early when he hit a three-run homer.

San Antonio got top pitching in its victory over Tulsa. Chris Zachary, seeking his third straight decision, worked a three-hitter for eight innings then left for a pinch-hitter. Reliever John Harms allowed two hits over two innings and got the decision.

Fort Worth goes to Albuquerque, Tulsa to Austin and San Antonio to El Paso tonight.

Favorites Move In Women's Golf

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Defending champion Judy Bell and her runner-up last year, Carol Sorenson, advanced Wednesday into the quarter-finals of the Trans-Mississippi Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Bell, of Colorado Springs, Colo., whipped another Coloradoan, Mrs. Emery A. Dorsey Jr. of Denver, 4 and 3.

Miss Sorenson, an Arizona State University student from Janesville, Wis., squeezed past Carla Jean Glasgow of Whittier, Calif., on the 21st hole.

In a battle of teen-agers, co-medalist Pat Reeves, 18, of Seattle, Wash., defeated 17-year-old Susan Lance of Woodland Hills, Calif., 2 and 1.

4-AAAA BRIEFS

Rider's Depth Key To Success

Rider High School coach Joe Bob Tyler has been working feverishly the past two weeks in preparing the Raiders for September's maiden voyage in District 4-AAAA.

Tyler feels his 44 players have learned and progressed through the opening days of the spring exercises, and the Rider veterans can count on help from some of the younger players.

When training started Tyler had approximately 15 boys he knew he could count on to give their best toward winning. With the exception of looking for a punter, left end, left tackle, right guard, defensive tackle and end, the Raiders had all veterans.

Depth is what the Raider boss was seeking. It looks as though spring training has paid off.

Backs Aplenty

QUARTERBACK: Roger Wallace has been throwing exceptionally well in practice and will guide the Raiders from the T-formation. Bub Deerinwater is the second quarterback. Sophomore Skip Mobley is also being groomed to throw the ball.

BLOCKING BACK: Wallace becomes the blocking back on the single wing. Steve Kistler and Keith Falatko are the other two players currently seeking the job.

WINGBACK: T. San Miguel, Rider's wingback last year and a speedy fellow, is getting competition from Falatko, who is also the blocking back and Kenny Hutson, reported as the fastest player on the Raider squad.

FULLBACK: Leading ground gainer last year, Bub Deerinwater, who plays some at quarterback on the T, is Rider's block buster.

Just a junior, Deerinwater will have ample opportunity to prove his 200 pounds. Another junior, James Vanderslice, 185 pounds, follows Deerinwater. Kistler (also plays a blocking back) is the third fullback.

TAILBACK: Leading scorer Gary Barrier is the proven tailback. Barrier has been tossing the ball with accuracy during practice sessions. Darrell Chappell, a newcomer, will be running at tailback along with Barrier.

Hander & Sheddy

CENTER: Dickie Hander and Ricky Sheddy are two players Tyler need have no worries about. Both were instrumental in Rider victories last season. Behind the two outstanding Raiders are Gerald Hodges and Billy Rhine.

RIGHT GUARD: Lightweight Ricky Thomas has the inside track thus far at right guard. Danny Gray and Danny Mullins are also Raiders with a future.

RIGHT TACKLE: Tommy Binek, destined to become a leading tackle in 4-AAAA will have Don Hobson, John Estes and Dennis Bramlett behind him. Hobson can't be overlooked as one of the Raiders' standouts last season.

RIGHT END: Danny Turner will have to fight for the right end spot along with Hank Anderson and Larry Collins. Billy Rust may see action here also.

These are essentially the boys Tyler will use on both offense and defense, with some minor changes. The Raider coach also points out that there are several more younger boys who may play a great deal of football.

Besides its a long way to September.

Tyler, who worked with the Coyotes before Rider was in operation, is still fearful of the type of team the Coyotes will put on the field. He points at Grand Prairie and Irving to be perhaps the strongest district opponents.

A pair of errors in the late innings cost Ricky Teakell a bid for a perfect game here Wednesday, but the crafty hurler maintained a no-hit shutout as Rider stopped Vernon, 4-0, to win its 4-AAAA opener.

The victory, third in five starts this season for the Raiders, shoved them into first place in the north zone league race. Vernon, now 2-2, drops to the cellar in the three-team chase. Burk Burnett has not yet played its opener.

Teakell's performance overshadowed a fine effort by Vernon pitcher Cliff Holliday who yielded seven hits, five of them Texas Leaguers that just barely managed to fall in for safeties. Jerry Matney was summoned in the last of the fifth when Rider scored its last two runs and he proceeded to retire the next four batters in an excellent relief stint.

Abilene Cooper has more balance but has no relay teams, thus will have to pick up its points in the individual events which count half of what the relays bring.

Cooper has the leading broad jumper in Ricky Smith and the No. 2 miler in Dale McDonald, who did the event in 4:27.4 in the regional meet. Cooper also has one of the best pole vaulters in Pinto Beene plus several minor point potentials.

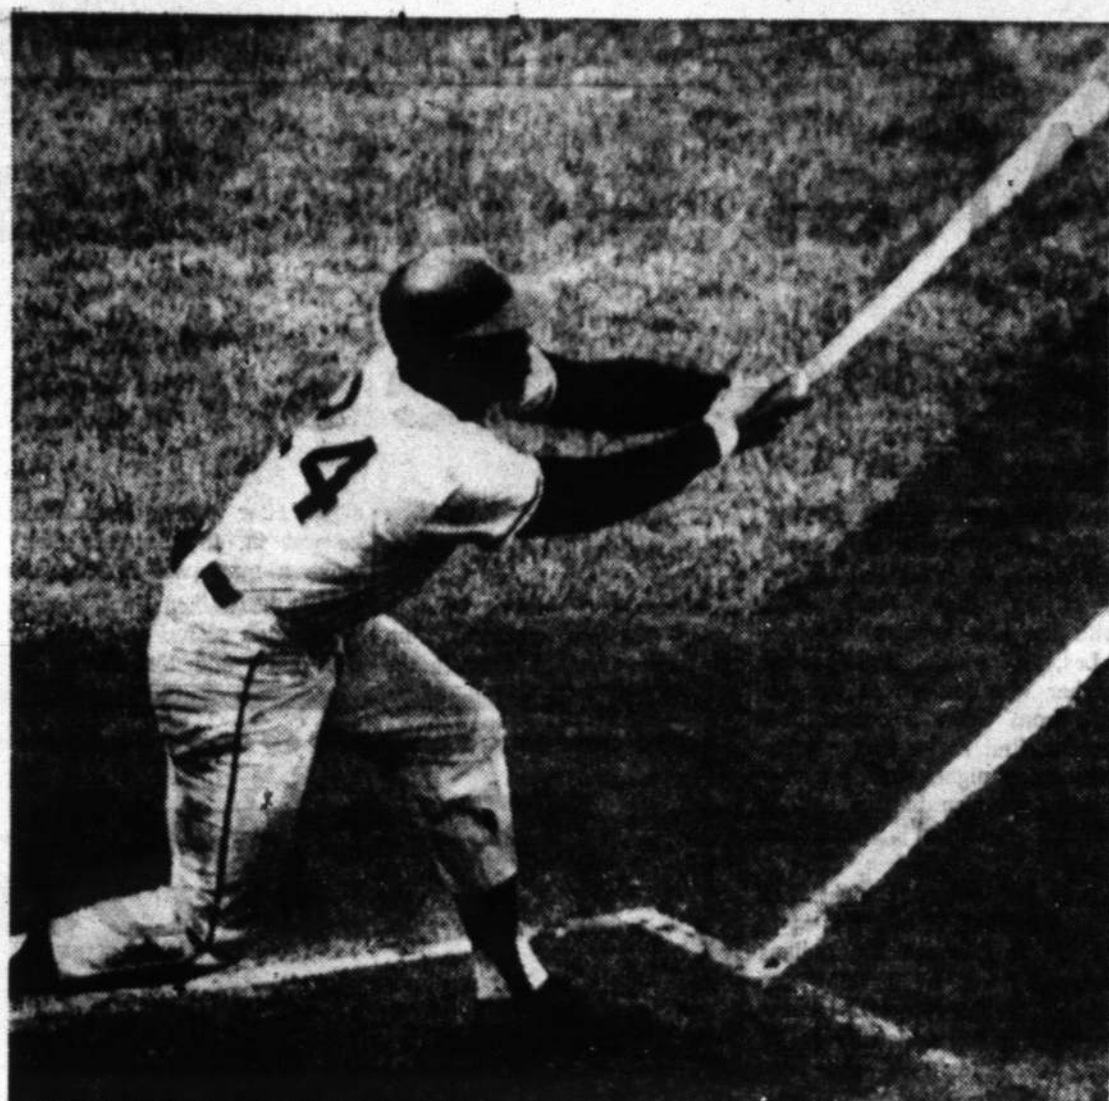

Highland Park, with its great sprinter George Aldridge, who should win both the 100 and 220, and Tom Raggio, the leading miler, may make it a four-way proposition.

A good bet to be high point man is Johnny Morris of Houston Jones, son of the University of Houston track coach, Morris could win the high hurdles, high jump and 180-yard low hurdles or place high enough in them to roll up about 26 points.

Defending state champion Amarillo Tascosa does not have enough strength left to compete for the title but should score about 20 points.

Mass Assault Starts Friday At Speedway

from the plant built in 1910 and not much resemblance between the new cars and speedsters of only a couple of years ago.

Original bricks have been buried under anti-skid asphalt, half of it new since last year. There is a new tunnel under the north end of the 2½-mile quadrangle and new stands hiking the seating capacity to 140,000.

The standard front-engine Offenhauser race cars, winners of the 500-mile Memorial Day race every year since 1946, will be challenged by 19 new rear-engine cars and a four-wheel-drive Ferguson with a supercharged Novi engine.

Samuell and South Oak Cliff of Dallas and Cooper of Abilene will fight it out for the championship and two state records — both of which might be expanded to national marks — are indicated in the Class AAAA division of schoolboy track.

Samuell appears to have the top point potential because of two fine relay teams. The Dallas school has done 3:15.9 in the mile relay — just seven-tenths of a second over the national record.

It also ran a 41.8 in the 440-yard relay in the regional meet. This was second best since South Oak Cliff did 41.6, which was only a tenth of a second over the national mark.

South Oak Cliff tied the state record while Samuel was two-tenths of a second better than the state mile relay record.

The relays count 20 points in the state meet at Austin next week. Samuel, thus, appears capable of at least 36 points. South Oak Cliff should make 32.

Abilene Cooper has more balance but has no relay teams, thus will have to pick up its points in the individual events which count half of what the relays bring.

Cooper has the leading broad jumper in Ricky Smith and the No. 2 miler in Dale McDonald, who did the event in 4:27.4 in the regional meet. Cooper also has one of the best pole vaulters in Pinto Beene plus several minor point potentials.

Defending state champion Amarillo Tascosa does not have enough strength left to compete for the title but should score about 20 points.

The cloud over the conventional roadsters was no bigger than a hand-Jack Brabham's—two years ago. The Australian, 1960 world road racing champion, quietly slipped into Indianapolis with a rear-engine Cooper-Climax. Giving away over 30 per cent in piston displacement but weighing about 500 pounds less than the Offys, the Cooper finished ninth.

Parnelli Jones, Torrance, Calif., was pushed to a record speed of 143.137 miles an hour by the flying Scot.

Jones is among drivers nominated for the 60 entries, which will be reduced to 33 starters in time trials May 16-17 and 23-24.

So are Clark and Brabham, along with other European Grand Prix veterans Dan Gurney, Costa Mesa, Calif.; Pedro Rodriguez, Mexico City; and Masten Gregory, an American living in Paris.

The field includes former winners Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, defending USAC national champion A. J. Foyt, Houston, and Troy Ruttman, Dearborn, Mich., in addition to Jones. Jim Rathman of Miami, another former winner, probably will get a ride although he was not named on the original entries.

Nine rookies who have not passed the speedway drivers' test in previous years will have to work up gradually to 135 miles an hour before trying high speed. They include last year's national midget car champion, Bob Wente of St. Louis.

The race will be on closed circuit television for the first time but there has been no indication that it will add substantially to the purse of around $500,000.

Bennett Leads At Speedrome

While drivers all down the lists battled for a fair share of the points at Red River Speedrome on Farm Road 369 last Saturday, Harold Bennett snared 14 points to regain the lead among the top 10 drivers.

Four of the top ten drivers garnered 59 points, with the rest of the accumulation falling to "comers." Robert Brown, who is 16th on the list, gained 16 points last week but failed to arrive in the top ten, while last week's leader, Dale Stokes, broke his transmission in the third heat and failed to add to his total.

Other non-gainers who had enough points to remain in the top ten included Larry Ashlock, Ronnie Sosebee, Cletus Sosebee, Bill Bennett and Jackie Ashlock.

Burt Pace picked up 12 points to jump from fifth place to second, while Joe Wilson picked up 12 points to move from tenth place to third.

Despite a wet track and heavy rains the night before fans boosted the pay to $2.51 a point, according to Claude Tanner, Wichita Falls racing promoter.

Tanner said more than 40 cars are expected for the Saturday races. Improved drainage is keeping the track in top condition despite heavy rains, he said.

Standings in the top ten at Red River Speedrome are:

Harold Bennett	59
Burt Pace	33
Joe Wilson	31
Dale Stokes	31
Larry Ashlock	28
Red Thompson	26
Ronnie Sosebee	24
Cletus Sosebee	24

Curve Ball Costs Brave No-Hitter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tony Cloninger said he had been throwing curve balls all night to Willie Stargell—so Willie probably wouldn't be looking for another one.

Stargell said Cloninger had been throwing him curve balls all night—so he was looking for another one.

Willie was right. Tony curved him, Willie rapped a single to right with two out in the seventh inning and ruined Cloninger's bid for a no-hitter.

But Cloninger, a 23-year-old right-hander who got a $100,000 bonus from the Milwaukee Braves and was expected to start paying dividends this year, went on to pitch a one-hitter and a 1-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

That evened Cloninger's record on the year at 1-1. The loss was to Houston's Ken Johnson, who later went on to pitch his no-hitter—also.

"I'd rather pitch a one-hitter and win," said Cloninger.

In other National League action, the Los Angeles Dodgers won their fourth straight game, 7-2 over Houston, the San Francisco Giants dumped the Chicago Cubs 4-0 and the St. Louis Cardinals edged the New York Mets 4-3 in 11 innings. The Philadelphia at Cincinnati game was rained out.

Victim of Cloninger's one-hitter was Bob Veale, who threw a six-hitter for the Pirates. Felipe Alou singled the only Milwaukee run across in the third.

Don Nottebart of Houston, who had a no-hitter last year, flirted with another one against the Dodgers—and it looked for a while as if he might duplicate Johnson's losing effort. Although he had not allowed a hit, Nottebart trailed 1-0 with two out in the seventh.

Patterson Says His Future Still Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson has a plan for the future. Contrary to the opinion of some people, he thinks his future still is ahead of him.

"If I beat Eddie Machen (July 5 at Stockholm) I am going to try to get Cassius Clay," the former world heavyweight champion said. "I feel I may get the chance. After that, if I am victorious, I want to fight Sonny Liston. Then I shall retire — provided I don't get knocked out in the first round."

"I would have retired after my second fight with Liston in Las Vegas if I had made a better showing. When I got knocked out in the first round again I had to remain in boxing."

Patterson and Machen were at a midtown restaurant Wednesday to sign contracts for their 12-round match at 45,000-seat Solna Stadium, a Stockholm football field. Edwin Ahlquist and Al Bolan, the copromoters, talked of a possible $450,000 sell-out. Bolan said he was negotiating with John Vrbha of Los Angeles, head of Fourth Network, to fly the films back from Stockholm for a 10 p.m. showing on U.S. television the same night, a Sunday.

Machen, making a comeback at 31, said he was guaranteed $50,000 plus 30 per cent of the ancillary rights. Patterson, 29, was vague and said he was working on a percentage of everything. It is believed Patterson is getting 40 per cent.

Naturally the conversation got around to Cassius. How did Patterson rate Clay?

"He is the heavyweight champion of the world," said Floyd. "I do think he is a good fighter. He has a tremendous amount of

Wichita Races Slated Friday

High powered racing is on tap Friday night at Wichita Speedway, located one-half mile south of the Archer City cutoff on the Jacksboro Highway, as 30 or more modified stock racers tangle in the regular weekly races.

A eight race card is on tap, with three heats, two semifinals, a trophy dash, consolation race and 25-lap feature totaling 117 laps of championship racing.

Cars from the North Texas Stock Car Association will be in competition. Several newer models are expected to be in the field. The newest car, a 1955 Chevy driven by Freddie Street, won the first heat last Saturday.

Last Saturday's races, run because of a rain-out on Friday, saw Bubs Fenner and Jimmy Shults dueling for high point honors. Fenner finally won the title with a 10 point advantage after winning the feature race for a total of 127 points. Shults finished third in the big 25-lap race.

Samuell and South Oak Cliff of Dallas and Cooper of Abilene will fight it out for the championship and two state records — both of which might be expanded to national marks — are indicated in the Class AAAA division of schoolboy track.

Samuell appears to have the top point potential because of two fine relay teams. The Dallas school has done 3:15.9 in the mile relay — just seven-tenths of a second over the national record.

It also ran a 41.8 in the 440-yard relay in the regional meet. This was second best since South Oak Cliff did 41.6, which was only a tenth of a second over the national mark.

South Oak Cliff tied the state record while Samuel was two-tenths of a second better than the state mile relay record.

The relays count 20 points in the state meet at Austin next week. Samuel, thus, appears capable of at least 36 points. South Oak Cliff should make 32.

Abilene Cooper has more balance but has no relay teams, thus will have to pick up its points in the individual events which count half of what the relays bring.

Cooper has the leading broad jumper in Ricky Smith and the No. 2 miler in Dale McDonald, who did the event in 4:27.4 in the regional meet. Cooper also has one of the best pole vaulters in Pinto Beene plus several minor point potentials.

Highland Park, with its great sprinter George Aldridge, who should win both the 100 and 220, and Tom Raggio, the leading miler, may make it a four-way proposition.

A good bet to be high point man is Johnny Morris of Houston Jones, son of the University of Houston track coach, Morris could win the high hurdles, high jump and 180-yard low hurdles or place high enough in them to roll up about 26 points.

Defending state champion Amarillo Tascosa does not have enough strength left to compete for the title but should score about 20 points.

Market Is Mixed In Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market cut some losses late this afternoon and displayed a mixed pattern. Trading was heavy.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6.0 million shares, compared with 6.2 million Wednesday.

Cotton Mart Goes Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton was higher today, paced by short covering in nearby May. That position is in the process of liquidation with trading there so sparse May 4.

Traders generally awaited some news regarding hearings by the Department of Agriculture as to who will be paid the subsidy to lower the mill cost of raw cotton beginning Aug. 1.

Late afternoon prices were 25 cents to 26 1/2 cents higher. May 34.15, July 31.35, October 28.75.

MRS. RAY KING

Kindergarten Director Named

Mrs. Ray King will be director of the kindergarten to begin in September at First Baptist Church, Ninth and Burnett.

Mrs. King received her B. A. degree from the University of Tennessee, with a major in elementary education and a minor in music. She has had several years' experience teaching in the public schools in Tennessee.

Since moving to Wichita Falls Mrs. King has directed both a beginner and primary choir at First Baptist, and has been superintendent of an elementary department for over six years. She has taught nursery and beginner work to workers in numerous churches throughout the district.

School hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and will run concurrently with the public schools, observing the same holidays.

Registrations are now being accepted for children who will be five years old before Nov. 1, 1964.

Marine

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (FHTNC)—Marine Lance Cpl. James R. Holder, son of Mrs. Peggy L. Holder of Seymour Rd., Wichita Falls, participated in a counter-guerrilla exercise March 23-April 1 at Camp Pendleton, Calif., with the First Marine Division's First Regiment based at Camp Pendleton.

His regiment was engaged in suppressing guerrilla activity by using organized military force. To inject realism into the exercise 220 marines simulated the role of guerrillas.

Visits Kenya

USS FRANK KNOX (FHTNC)—Bobby D. Moore, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Moore of 4616 Mistletoe, Wichita Falls, visited Mombasa, Kenya, April 20-23 while serving aboard the destroyer USS Frank Knox operating in the Western Pacific with the Seventh Fleet.

His unit is a part of the "Concord Squadron" which is making several "good will" visits to ports bordering on the Indian Ocean. He will visit the British Protectorate of Aden April 27-29.

The Seventh Fleet in the Far East is the world's largest operating naval force and patrols over half the earth's surface.

Children Hit By Automobile

A six-year-old Negro boy was reported in critical condition in Sheppard Air Force Base Hospital Thursday, suffering from a fractured skull received when he was knocked down by an automobile at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the 400 block of Rosewood.

A six-year-old Negro girl, knocked down in the same accident, received a fractured left femur, but was in satisfactory condition in the base hospital Thursday.

The boy, Tyrone Williams, is the son of Airman L.C. Lamar Williams, who is based at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. Williams was notified of the accident Wednesday, and was reported to be traveling to SFBF Thursday.

The girl, Pamela Green, is the daughter of Airman I.C. Neely Green, who is on overseas duty with the 301st Munitions Maintenance School.

The children were hit by a 1956 Pontiac driven by Mrs. Mary Mitchell Lewis, 415 Humphrey.

Adult Probation Collections Tallied

Collection of $3,721.27 in adult probation service fees was made during the first four months of 1964, according to Howard Large, department head.

Large said Thursday the department had collected more such fees in the first four months of this year than they had during the first six months of the program in 1963.

"We anticipate," Large said, "these collections of adult probation service fees will take care of two-thirds of the total service and therefore greatly cut the amount of cost to the community."

C-124s Begin Refueling Here

The first of 33 C-124 aircraft scheduled for refueling at Sheppard Technical Center in the early stage of Exercise Desert Strike landed at Sheppard at 1:45 a.m. Thursday and the planes were continuing to land at two-hour intervals during the day.

Base officials said Sheppard's role in this exercise, described as a minor one, is expected to be completed some time Saturday morning.

Sheppard serves only as a refueling stop and a place where minor repairs can be made.

Joint Exercise Desert Strike is a United States Strike Command Exercise being held in the Arizona-California area of the Mojave Desert. It has been designed to provide realistic combat training for the combat ready forces stationed in the United States.

A group of 125 men directed by Lt. Col. James Bentley, mission commander, from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., arrived at Sheppard earlier this week to conduct the refueling of the aircraft and minor repairs during this predeployment stage.

The group included 10 officers, 17 non-commissioned officers and 98 airmen.

A major objective of the exercise is to develop joint operation tactics and techniques so Army and Air Force units can develop as a team with all types of contingencies from a show of force to a general war.

The United States Strike Command with headquarters at MacDill AFB, Fla., is a unified force of combat ready units drawn from Continental Army Command and Tactical Air Command. It is a mobile, flexible highly trained combat ready force capable of rapid deployment to any part of the world.

The exercise itself is to be held May 17-30 on the Mojave Desert and the troops are coming from Fort Pope, N.C., and Fort Campbell, Ky.

Handicapped Get Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson told a meeting of the handicapped today that the nation's worst handicap is those who spread discord and breed distrust.

Addressing his Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, Johnson said, "our efforts to build a great society in this nation are being opposed by those who suffer a handicap not of the body or mind, but of the soul."

He said such people "see America in terms of regions or classes or races—not in terms of a people committed to great ends."

"They spread discord and breed distrust—tearing down instead of building up—dividing instead of uniting. All the while, they are the nation's worst handicap," he said.

Johnson said he was issuing new instructions to all agencies to show the nation what can be done to make fuller use of the abilities of handicapped Americans.

The President presented Jerry J. Walsh, an arthritis victim from Corona, Long Island, N.Y., with a plaque designating him Handicapped American of the Year.

Walsh is an educational consultant for the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

The 5 1/2-inch production string was landed at 5950 feet after hole was bottomed at 6010 feet.

Producer is five miles south of Bowie, C. Marlett survey A-539.

Hardeman Failure

Guest & Moller Oil Co. has abandoned at 4422 feet No. 1 A.G. Pechecek, Hardeman County wildcat six miles south of Chillicothe, section 74, block 16, H&C survey.

In Archer Field

Underwood Oil Co. Inc. potentialed three wells in the Archer County Regular Field, eight miles northeast of Olney, section 1384, TE&L survey.

No. BB-16 R. Campbell Estate pumped 32.39 barrels of 38 gravity crude per day from 32 perforations at 917-964 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 175-1. Hole was bottomed at 1015 feet. The 4 1/2-inch casing was cemented at 1007 feet.

No. BB-17 Campbell Estate had a daily pumping potential of oil from 32 perforations at 944-952 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 200-1. Underwood's No. BB-18 Campbell Estate pumped 33.66 barrels of crude per day from 38 perforations at 960-969 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 220-1. The 4 1/2-inch pipe was set one foot above bottom at 1000.

Pay in each well was fractured.

In the same field, Thomas O. Perry et al. filed No. 1 Parkey Estate, 10 miles north of Meagel, block 2, Dallas CSL survey A-113. During 24-hour test the well pumped 17 barrels of 38 gravity oil from open hole at 1402-63 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 100-1.

Caddo Discovery

Petrex Oil Corp. has plugged back an old Mississippian lime producer in the Archer County Regular Field and recompleted it as a Caddo lime discovery eight miles south - southwest of Wichita Falls.

During 24-hour test the well, No. 1-60 Petrex, flowed 396 barrels of 41 gravity oil, plus 25 per cent water, through 24-64-inch choke from 64 perforations at 5228-60 feet.

Casing pressure was 750 pounds. Tubing pressure was 150 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 1300-1. Pay was acidized with 9200 gallons.

The well was originally completed in June, 1961, from perforations at 5468-97 feet. Hole was plugged back to 5200 feet for recompletion to open the new pay.

Discovery is in lot 3, block 60, ATNCL survey.

New Pay In Montague

Socoyo Mobil Oil Co. Inc. deepened an old Montague County producer and recompleted it to open a new Viola lime pay seven miles northwest of Montague.

It is the No. 1 Hinds Clark which had a daily flow of 168 barrels of 43.5 gravity crude through 13-64-inch choke from 40 perforations at 6672-92 feet. Tubing pressure was 975 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 350-1. Pay was treated with 5000 gallons of acid.

FBI Checking 'That $50,000'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI is investigating published statements that Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., accepted $50,000 from financier Billie Sol Estes.

Yarborough, who requested the FBI inquiry, has termed the charge—issued by his opponent in Saturday's Texas primary—"an infamous lie."

Spokesmen for the Justice Department and the FBI refused to comment. But one department source acknowledged that the FBI has agreed to Yarborough's demand for a probe.

Yarborough is vying for the Democratic senatorial nomination with Texas broadcaster Gordon McLendon. In a statewide television program Saturday, McLendon introduced two men who said they had made sworn statements that they saw Estes give Yarborough an envelope containing $50,000 at Pecos, in 1960.

Yarborough said Monday he had asked the FBI to reopen the Estes case "because it is still in the federal courts and because such statements about Estes' money and assets have never been revealed during the voluminous investigation."

Estes has been convicted on state and federal fraud charges and his case is still in the appeals courts. He was arrested in 1962 after the collapse of his financial empire.

When Answering BOX NUMBER ADS Be Sure to USE BOTH LETTER and NUMBER

When writing in reply to Times and Record News classified advertisements, please use a "box" number, address or "box number" as signature instead of the advertiser's name. A "box" or "box number" is a sure way to use both LETTER and NUMBER in addressing your envelope and letter. (Example: "101-64," "51-41," The number alone is incomplete; letter must be used with number to identify the Times and Record News" to be sure reply is delivered properly.)

Chrome Hides Algerian Poverty

By RODNEY ANGTVE
ALGIERS (AP) — The shiny new cars jamming the streets of Algiers make it difficult to believe the country is struggling along on huge amounts of foreign aid.

The mass of new models contrasts sharply with the rundown, war-damaged cars of two years ago, owned mostly by European settlers.

The Europeans then were holding onto their money because of the uncertain future. Algerian Arabs and Berbers were saving, too. With independence, the Algerians' savings came out of mattresses and other hiding places for luxuries people had always wanted—such as automobiles.

Mostly French Government purchases and an influx of embassy vehicles help account for the new glitter. Most of the new cars are French models.

The battered and wrecked hulks left by the settlers were wheeled into vacant lots for the scavengers.

The chrome curtain still cannot screen the fact, however, that unemployment is chronically high, production is low, roughly one-fifth of the government's budget is supplied by France, and free American food is feeding one-fifth to one-third of the population.

"The economy is getting worse, if anything," said one diplomat, "but they do have some potential factors in their favor. It remains to be seen if they can take advantage of them."

The remaining private industry in the rapidly nationalizing country is down to half pre-independence production. The nationalized industries under worker-management committees are down 80 per cent.

In the countryside, millions are living hand-to-mouth off the land.

Not that the peasants have ever been well off—before the war about six million of them lived under conditions of unemployment or underemployment. The figure is much higher now, and more breadwinners than ever before are migrating to the cities or to France.

Unemployment High

The government puts the unemployment figure at two million out of a total population of 10 million.

Two bright spots are agriculture and Sahara petroleum. Algeria has nationalized several million acres of land, virtually all of that owned by Europeans. This is the best acreage and represents 70 per cent of production.

The Europeans grew nearly all the wine grapes and citrus fruit, money crops which require much skilled attention. It remains to be seen if the Algerian worker-management committees can keep production up.

The oil and gas resources of the Sahara are expected to yield $74 million toward the national budget of $960 million this year.

Accident Is Fatal

DALLAS (AP)—Patrick McAttee, 27, who had both Houston and Dallas addresses in his possession, died late Tuesday night when an automobile in which he was riding struck a parked car.

Terrorists Confess All

DAMASCUS Syria (AP)—Seventeen terrorists who attacked police posts near Syria's northern commercial capital of Aleppo "have admitted they were paid by the United Arab Republic to make the raid, the Syrian government said.

The 17—most of them retired noncommissioned officers of the Syrian army—stood trial Tuesday before a military court in Aleppo, the government information office reported.

The defendants, a statement said, told the court they had received about $3,000 as a first instalment payment to make the raid which took place in March.

The trial reports were another step in the breakdown of an Arab friendship and cooperation campaign arranged at a January summit conference, in Cairo, when Arab chiefs of state agreed to refrain from interfering in each other's affairs.

In the past week, however, Syria has charged Egypt and Iraq with trying to undermine the Baath Socialist regime in Damascus.

Pheasants are essentially seed eaters.

Top Program Is Ignored

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Beverly Hillbillies" may be the nation's most popular television show, but the Television Academy doesn't consider it a comedy achievement.

The cornball series failed to win a nomination for "outstanding program achievement in the field of comedy" in preliminary for the 16th annual Emmy awards.

Selected were "The Bill Dana Show," "The Dick Van Dyke Show," "Farmer's Daughter," "McHale's Navy" and "That Was The Week That Was."

The Hillbillies' crusty old granny, Irene Ryan, made the list for best performance by a series actress, however. She found herself in competition with youngster Patty Duke and veteran Shirley Booth, both Oscar winners, plus Inger Stevens and Mary Tyler Moore.

Tuesday's nominations brought a flood of names and shows in the 28 categories. The best series actor race found comedian Dick Van Dyke pitted against four dramatic actors: Richard Boone, Dean Jagger, David Janssen and George C. Scott.

The program of the year category showed a stress on national affairs. Nominated were NBC "American Revolution of '63," CBS "Blacklist" on the "Defenders" series, NBC "The Kremlin" ABC "The Making of the President 1960," and CBS "Town Meeting of the World."

Observers Believe Castro Now Aiming For Propaganda

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. strategists believe that Fidel Castro is aiming for maximum diplomatic propaganda mileage against U. S. surveillance planes rather than actually intending to shoot them down.

Postures of both Havana and Moscow are the basis for this assessment as Soviet troops leave Cuba, giving Prime Minister Castro potential control over 24 Russian-installed anti-aircraft missile bases.

U. S. authorities concede they could be wrong in this estimate. And if Castro does trigger a rocket and knock down a U. S. inspection plane, another Cuba crisis could erupt immediately.

For the United States has served notice that, in the absence of a Castro agreement for on-the-ground inspection, aerial reconnaissance must continue to guard against any sneak re-entry of Russian offensive weapons.

The Soviet government paper Izvestia has attacked the U. S. overflights and defended Cuba's right to use Russian-supplied weapons if needed to defend Cuba's "sovereignty and independence."

For most Washington observers, this is a position the Kremlin feels compelled to take in its public stance as friend and benefactor of the Castro regime.

As for Havana's plea to U. N. Secretary-General U Thant to try to stop the American flights, it was quickly noted in Washington that Cuba did not take the more serious diplomatic step of presenting the case to the U. N. Security Council.

600 Flights

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa wrote U Thant that American spy planes have flown over Cuba 600 times since the October 1962 crisis. He complained also of concentration of U. S. jet planes around Cuba and alleged trespassing by U. S. Marines at the big American naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.

But Roa was not specific about just what he wants Thant to do about this.

U. S. officials said that U Thant has not yet approached the U. S. government on the matter, although he may do so later.

Thant told a reporter at the United Nations in New York that he does not plan to do anything "for the moment" about Cuba.

No Worry

"I don't think there's cause for immediate worry," Thant said to a reporter. He would not elaborate.

These Havana tactics plus past Castro restraint in trying force against the United States and the general Soviet withdrawal since 1962 have led to speculation that Castro has less than military action in mind in the current maneuvering.

Wichita Falls Times

THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 30, 1964 Page 1C

The theory here is that Castro figures he has a cause which will win support for Cuba, both in diplomacy and public opinion, if he plays it right. That is because there is widespread aversion to the idea of foreign flights penetrating any country's air space without that country's assent.

Still Uncertain

It is speculated also that Havana and Moscow may be trying to blur the circumstances under which Russian forces are withdrawing. U. S. officials still do not know under just what terms the anti-aircraft rockets will remain in Cuba. Possibly, the Kremlin could still exercise some control over their use.

Castro may be afraid also of triggering the enormous U. S. combat power if he does try any action with his comparatively small force. While the U. S. government has not said officially how it would strike back if a U. S. plane were fired upon, one suggestion has been to bomb out the offending missile sites. Castro may fear he would lose even more.

Our Farmers At Work

One needs only to visit the farms and ranches of America to appreciate fully the superiority of the democratic, free enterprise system over communism. In the vast fields of rippling grain, of snowy cotton, in the fat cattle grazing the meadows, he will see an industry the Russians can envy but cannot emulate. With nearly three times the land area of the U.S. and 40 per cent more total acres of available cropland, Soviet agriculture lags far behind that of this country.

Russia's 7-year-plan begun in 1958 will result in an increase in food production of only 20 per cent instead of the promised 70 per cent. Yet Russia's population has increased an estimated 11 to 12 per cent in the same seven-year period. That means there is very little improvement in the diet of the average Russian.

In this country we have our troubles. Drought and government bungling cause headaches. But in spite of these hazards, the American farmer, with the freedoms of our form of government, can produce food in a way no enslaved people can.

You can see the truth of this by motoring into the country these spring days and watching our farmers at their work. Their efficiency constitutes America's true first line of defense.

For even in this age of astronauts and missiles, an army still travels on its stomach, and pushbutton warfare notwithstanding, armies are still needed to win wars.

Rigidity Of Income

It was not long after he assumed the governorship of Texas 15½ months ago that John Connally emphasized the rigidity that surrounds the disposal of income the state receives from all sources.

Money raised is siphoned off automatically under existing constitutional and statutory provisions to such an extent that neither the legislature nor the governor has any latitude of discretion.

Out of $3.1 billion available in the biennium ending Aug. 31, 1965, only 14 per cent or $434 million was estimated as offering some flexibility in the manner in which it might be expended. That figures out to be $217 million in each year of the biennium.

Not only is 86 cents out of every dollar of income the state receives pre-committed, this year, next year and in future years, there is also a proliferation of funds so that many millions of dollars can be tied up in reserved accounts while other funds are at the deficit level.

The situation is an outgrowth of an attempt to assure adequate funds for specific purposes, but the inflexibility of the system could be self-defeating. Should, for example, the cigarette tax revenues under the impact of the health scare sharply decline, there would not be sufficient money to finance the operations which depend upon the amount of the tobacco tax and there would be no way to call upon other funds having substantial but committed balances.

It is taking time for Gov. Connally's disclosure to soak in, but his second term would be counted successful if he is able just to make measurable progress on overhauling the fiscal system.

Beyond Immediate Hope

To read a report from the Office of Science and Technology, a bureau of the federal government, one would surmise the cost problem had been licked in converting highly saline sea water into a drinkable supply.

The document, technical in nature, points out in essence that huge nuclear reactor plants can distill the salt from sea water at a cost which compares favorably with that of obtaining good water from other sources.

A nuclear-powered plant with a daily capacity of 620 million gallons per day can produce water at a cost of 30 cents per thousand gallons and as a further product would also provide 1.4 million kilowatts of electricity daily at a cost of 2.4 mills per kilowatt hour.

The amount of water would serve a population between 40 and 50 times the size of Wichita Falls and the amount of electricity would meet the demands of a population of 2 million, some 20 times the size of this city.

What the report says in other portions, however, makes it questionable that a breakthrough has been achieved. An investment of $840 million would be required to construct a plant that produces 620 million gallons of water and 1.4 million kilowatts of electricity a day. The amortization of such a huge investment pushes up the over-all cost figures beyond immediate hope the world's oceans can be made potable at comparable expenditures for fresh water storage.

Improve On Soundness

The annual observance of Law Day May 1 was conceived with a twofold purpose, to contrast the government of the United States which is based upon law and the government of the U.S.S.R. which is based upon military might. Each May 1 thus finds the U.S. emphasizing law and order and the U.S.S.R. parading its military might.

Through the years the original appeal of Law Day has diminished, not because there is any less emphasis upon the basic framework of laws in our society but because repetition sometimes loses forcefulness. The theme merely gets threadbare.

While all Americans take pride in constitutional law with its stable guarantees for every individual, in legislative law enacted by duly-elected representatives of the people, and in the interpretation of law by our system of courts, they can at the same time admit that perfection is attained by degrees and not totally at any one moment in the life of our nation.

We as a people are still amending our constitutions, still enacting laws, still interpreting laws in an effort to improve what already is a basically sound structure of government in which not might but right is the determining factor. Progress did not stop when the American colonists framed and accepted the federal constitution. It did not end with the first session of Congress or flower into perfection with the organization of the 50th state.

Even though some concepts have been changed, no matter how imperceptibly, the lawfulness, the legal procedures, the check upon popular will when it comes against basic guarantees—each remains as an idealistic goal toward which there is always a striving but never fully attaining.

WASHINGTON IN SHORT

LBJ Sets The Stage

By VERNON LOUIVIERE

Times Washington Bureau

Meeting the nation's newspaper editors in the Rose Garden at the White House prompted President Johnson to unburden himself of some of the problems of being chief executive of the most powerful country in the world. He set the stage with this story: "We had a preacher back home who dropped his notes just as he was leaving his church one time, and his dog jumped at them and tore them up. When the preacher went in the pulpit, he apologized to his congregation and said, 'I am very sorry, today I have no sermon. I will just have to speak as the Lord directs. But I will try to do better next Sunday.'"

Hard To Bribe

Few people have a new Cadillac thrust upon them and fewer still would call the police if that happened. But not Mrs. Willard Wirtz, wife of the Secretary of Labor. She called the police the other day and said someone was trying to present her with an expensive gift, to wit, a new Cadillac. She reported a man had come to her door and said, "Here's your Cadillac and here are the keys." He left and sure enough there in front of the house was a gleaming new Cadillac. Police investigated and found the automobile actually belonged to a building contractor in the next block. The garage man had the wrong address.

The Road Gang

Frederick C. Belen, deputy postmaster general, has a complaint. He's tired of hearing stories about a "Middle of the Road Philosophy," about the economy being on the "Road to Expansion," about the world being on the "Road to Peace," about the Russians being on the "Road to Reason," and about the Senators and the Redskins being on the "Road to Recovery." And there are always the voices of doom who loudly proclaim that the whole American way of life is on the "Road to Ruin." "I believe it was Josh Billings who said that the road to ruin is always kept in good repair—because the ones who travel on it pay the expense of maintaining it," Belen pointed out. "If this is the case, I think the public merchants are going to have a steep hill to foot."

Security Risk?

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is well aware of how "derogatory information" turned up by investigators can affect State Department employees. Some years ago Rusk was asked by the department to serve as a consultant and was required to fill out a "security" blank. Among the questions was this one, "Has any member of your family ever tried to overthrow the government of the United States by force and violence?" Now Rusk, a native Georgian, had to answer "yes" to that one. Another question asked "who?" and Rusk replied "Both my grandfathers." Telling the story the other day he recalled, "Well, things went along until the interrogators came back and said, 'About your grandfathers?' and I said: 'I thought one of them was at Gettysburg.' 'I suppose,' Rusk went on, 'that three or four years from now it is entirely possible that this will be solemnly put down as 'degeneratory.'"

Good Idea

Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., received a letter from a lady in Albany who asked, "What's this slogan I saw in Washington, 'Get the Senators off the floor in '64'? Is the Senate shutting down?" It was plain the lady is no baseball fan. The slogans belong to rooters for the Washington Senators ball team who want their team to do better than last place this year. "But I must confess, when I first saw the slogan, I thought it meant there would be cots in the Senate chamber so that during this civil rights filibuster we wouldn't have to sleep on the floor," Keating explained.

Neighborliness To Fairgoers Is Rewarded

NEW YORK—To my delight, a book I've written, called "Earl Wilson's New York," has been selected as the "Bible" for out-of-town visitors because I claim that we've a neighborly city here that's breaking its back to make its guests happy. (My goodness, I can't ignore literary news like that, can I?)

The selection was made by Be My Guest, the American Express Hospitality Service, which is notifying its hundreds of thousands of cardholders. It was lucky for me when I dedicated the book:

"TO OUT-OF-TOWNERS"

Natives Spoiled

Only they can appreciate New York. The native, receiving the city as a gift at birth, remains forever a little spoiled.

Well, maybe I'm some kind of a nut, but I firmly believe that New York is just Rockford, Ohio, with skyscrapers. And that everybody from the two Bobs down (Bog Wagner and Bob Moses) is going to make sure the World's Fair mobs are treated right.

If it isn't too corny, Be My Guest and I are going to make some "Guestmanship" awards to everybody from cabbies to cops to waitresses to doormen.

First guestmanship award goes to that "Dog Bar" in front of Wallachs on 5th Ave. between 45th and 46th Sts. . . a little water fountain big enough for three small dogs to nose into . . . open day and night . . . and free.

Stop-Goldwater Forces Must Unite On Choice

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The political managers of all the rival Republican presidential candidates have been taking a new look at how things are going and—with the exception of the Goldwater men—they don't like what they are finding.

Their own canvass of delegate strength completely unhinges the main link in the stop-Goldwater strategy of the Lodge-Nixon-Scranton-Rockefeller forces.

For weeks they have been resting their hopes and their plans on the proposition that Sen. Goldwater, in part because of his poor showing in the opinion polls, could be stopped at the convention after the first ballot.

Chilling Realization

Suddenly and unanimously they come to the chilling (for them) realization that if they can't unite behind a single candidate and stop Goldwater before the convention, it may well be all over on the first ballot.

Here are the reasons: While Ambassador Lodge and Nixon have been continuing to show a steady rise in Republican voter support, Sen. Goldwater has been continuing to show a steady rise in Republican delegate support. It's the delegates who nominate.

The rival managers are now beginning to realize that Goldwater's delegate claims are not inflated one bit. They believe he already has in hand very near to 500 committed votes on the first ballot even without California. With California it would be 586. It takes only 60 more votes to win it.

Reality Accepted

These facts chill the stop-Goldwater people to the core. They now accept the grim reality that unless a coalition unites behind one candidate after the Oregon primary May 15 and before the California primary June 2, Goldwater is going to be too far ahead for anybody to overtake him.

This is the hard, professional assessment of the top political people in the Lodge, Nixon, Rockefeller and Scranton camps. They don't relish this assessment—but they now believe it.

But what are they going to do about it? Can a stop-Goldwater coalition be put together in time?

There is no certainty that it can.

Two Difficulties

The Republican leaders who would like a nominee other than Sen. Goldwater face two great difficulties in creating the necessary coalition. They are not united behind any alternative candidate and may find it impossible to unite behind anybody because each group in any such coalition is deeply committed to its own man. Lodge, Nixon, Rockefeller—none shows any inclination to put aside his own chances in any self-effacing move to stop Goldwater. Nor are Scranton's supporters prepared to adjourn their hopes for the Pennsylvania governor.

Potentially a stop-Goldwater coalition of decisive strength is attainable. It gets its principal impetus from the fact that virtually all national opinion polls show that most Republican voters prefer Lodge first, Nixon second, Rockefeller and Goldwater about even in third and fourth place.

Combined Vote

They show that the combined vote of rank-and-file Republicans for Lodge, Nixon, Rockefeller, Scranton and Romney is 82 per cent as against 14 per cent for Goldwater. The advocates of a stop-Goldwater coalition believe that the convention delegates who prefer Lodge, Nixon, Rockefeller, Romney or Scranton constitute a majority and could nominate one from among these five—if they could unite behind one of them in time.

If they could unite behind one candidate—that is the catch, that is the presently missing piece in any stop-Goldwater coalition. Without it, a stop-Goldwater coalition would fall apart before it could be put together.

All of this has one clear meaning: The united Goldwater forces in San Francisco may prevail over disunited stop-Goldwater forces.

A PROCLAMATION

By the President of the United States of America

WHEREAS the number of Americans aged sixty-five and over comprise a segment of our population which is growing at an accelerating rate as the miracles of modern medicine contribute to increased life expectancy; and

WHEREAS, since not everyone is blessed with the gift of long life, those who are so endowed should occupy a place of special honor among us; and

WHEREAS our country, although more blessed with abundance than any other, cannot afford to be wasteful of its resources if it is to achieve its fullest potential; and

WHEREAS the Federal Government is deeply and constantly concerned with the well-being of all its citizens; and

WHEREAS this Nation can and should offer leadership and assistance to the States, municipalities, and voluntary organizations in their efforts to extend special recognition to and make continuing maximum use of the skills of our senior citizens;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the month of May 1964 as Senior Citizens Month;

I urge all public and private organizations and all citizens to make the theme of this special month—Opportunities for Older Americans—become a living reality. Let us repay our older Americans for their sustained creative participation in our national and community life by providing them with a wide range of meaningful opportunities. Let us take all necessary steps to see that they have a real chance to enjoy health, love, and a life of dignity. Let us find ways to employ the skill and wisdom that so many of our older Americans possess and long to share. Let us make this month outstanding in our continuing effort to keep in the mainstream of our national life all those who have lived so long and contributed so generously.

I also invite the Governors of the States, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and appropriate officials in other areas subject to the jurisdiction of the United States to join in the observance of Senior Citizens Month.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this twenty-third day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-ninth.

PARTY DAINTIES

Spicy Hot Cinnamon Whirls Are Perfect Party Bread

Want new ideas for your next luncheon? These spicy little muffins and whirls are sure to make a hit. So good and so easy to prepare! They are a perfect accompaniment for fruit salad and extra good with coffee too!

Party Dainties

1 cup biscuit mix
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon cloves
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 egg, lightly beaten
1/4 cup milk

Combine all ingredients and beat just until dry ingredients are wet. Spoon into lightly greased tea or cupcake cups, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter, filling each about 2/3 full. Cover with Cinnamon Topping before baking, or after baking you may drizzle Glaze over top. Bake in 400 degrees F. oven 15 minutes. Makes 24 small muffins.

Cinnamon Topping: Mix together 1/4 cup brown sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Sprinkle over top of muffins before baking.

Glaze: Mix together 1 cup cup sifted powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 2 teaspoons water, few drops food color and 1 teaspoon pineapple, strawberry or raspberry extract. Drizzle over top of baked muffins.

COFFEE ANGEL IS PERFECT FOR A PARTY

What better proof of your devotion than your finest coffee and a beautiful Coffee Angel Cake? High, wide and handsome, the luscious dessert is composed of four airy layers, with coffee-marshmallow filling.

Coffee Angel is just right for four couples, an elegant sweet for after-dinner coffee. Make your coffee demitasse, served in your prettiest demitasse cups.

Coffee Angel

24 regular-size marshmallows
1/2 cup strong, hot coffee
1 cup whipping cream, divided
1 tablespoon chocolate syrup

Prepare cake mix as directed on package. Lightly grease 4 layer cake pans, 9" in diameter. Line bottoms of pans with waxed paper circles. Spread batter evenly in pans. Bake at 325 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched. Invert pans on cool racks. When thoroughly cool remove layers from pans. Peel off waxed paper. (If you prefer, buy a baker's angel food cake and cut crosswise into 4 layers.) Meanwhile, melt marshmallows in coffee over low heat, stirring often. Chill until partially set. Whip 1/2 cup cream; fold in. Spread between cake layers. Whip remaining cream; fold in chocolate syrup. Spread on top of cake. Garnish with chocolate curls, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

Cinnamon Whirls

1 1/4 cups biscuit mix
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 tablespoon sugar
1/3 cup milk
2 tablespoons honey
Cinnamon sugar

Blend together biscuit mix, 1 tablespoon of the butter, sugar and milk. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 6 to 8 times. Roll out into 16 x 18-inch rectangle. Combine remaining butter and honey; brush over surface of dough. Sprinkle generously with cinnamon sugar. Roll up as a jelly roll starting from long side. Cut into 1/4-inch pieces. Place on ungreased baking sheet, cut side down, and bake in 450 degrees F. oven 8 minutes. Makes a delicious accompaniment to serve with fruit salad, coffee or tea. Makes 32 whirls.

OLD FASHIONED DOUGHNUTS ARE SPICY, FRAGRANT

Spicy, fragrant, marvelous — that's these doughnuts.

Doughnuts

5 cups all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
5 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon mace
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/4 cups milk
1 tablespoon shortening, melted

Mix and sift flour, sugar, baking powder, spices and salt. Combine eggs, milk and melted shortening. Stir into dry ingredients until a very soft dough is formed. Chill until dough can be handled. Roll out 1/2-inch thick on well-floured surface. Cut with doughnut cutter. Heat shortening or vegetable oil, 2 inches deep, to 375 degrees.

Fry doughnuts a few at a time. As soon as they rise to the surface turn with long handled fork. (Do not pierce.) Turn often until golden and done. Remove with fork. Hold over kettle to let excess fat drip off. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes about 3 dozen.

Note: Keep the dough as soft as possible. If too much flour is used in rolling out, the doughnuts will be tough. If desired, recipe may be cut in half.

GROWN-UPS GET BIRTHDAY CAKE WORTH EATING

This cake is fine to use for a grownup birthday party.

Apricot Butter Cream Cake

Two 9-inch white cake layers

1/2 cup apricot preserves
2 tablespoons brandy
Vanilla Butter Cream
Slivered toasted blanched almonds

Put the two cake layers together with a filling of the apricot preserves mixed with the brandy. Frost top and sides with Vanilla Butter Cream. Press almonds over top and sides of frosting. Chill.

Vanilla Butter Cream: Stir together over low heat 1 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar, and 1/4 cup water until sugar dissolves. Cook without stirring to 240 degrees or soft ball stage. Gradually beat hot syrup into 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Cool. Beat 2/3 cup butter well with 2 teaspoons vanilla and 1 tablespoon brandy. Beat in thoroughly the egg-white mixture, a few tablespoons at a time.

New Dessert Is Springtime Fancy

Springtime Fancy

1 package (3 ounces) lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup cold water
1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 cup cultured sour cream
Sliced strawberries

Add boiling water to gelatin; stir until dissolved. Stir in cold water and lemon juice. Chill until mixture begins to set. Add sour cream; beat gently until combined. Turn into a 3-cup mold. Chill until set. Unmold. Serve with strawberries. Makes 6 servings.

Make Barbecue Butter To Perk Up Your Meats

We've said it before and we're saying it again: An interesting partner to an everyday meat or fish can do a lot for a meal.

So if you enjoy being known as an imaginative and enterprising cook, take stock of new ideas for go-alongs or invent your own. When you try or innovate new recipes, put those that live up to their promise in a permanent file so they'll be right at hand when you want to use them again. They may become specialties of your house.

Here's the latest go-along we've tried. Our tasters voted for it, and we give it a high rating because it's versatile and has professional-type texture and flavor.

Barbecue butter enhances baked ham, boneless pork shoulder butt, smoked tongue and corned beef; it's delicious with roast veal, lamb or beef. Fish—baked, broiled or fried—also benefits from this relish.

Barbecue Butter

1 can (1 pound, 14 ounces) fruit
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1/2 cup minced onion
1/4 cup dark brown sugar
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1 tablespoon chopped candied ginger
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon pickling spice and 1

Barbecue Butter

stick cinnamon tied in a bag. Drain fruit cocktail and reserve.

Mix syrup with remaining ingredients; simmer until thickened, stirring occasionally — 30 to 35 minutes. Sieve reserved fruit cocktail or whir in blender to consistency of applesauce; add to hot syrup mixture; simmer for 15 to 20 minutes. Remove spice bag. Serve warm or chilled with meat or fish. Makes about 3 cups. To store, turn into tightly covered jar and refrigerate.

Potato Dumplings Are Real Treat

When you are cooking potatoes, make some extra to use in this old-fashioned dish.

Potato Dumplings

1 cup cold mashed potatoes
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
3 slices bread, cubed

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Mix together the potatoes, eggs and salt. Sift together the flour and baking powder and add; beat well. In a heavy skillet, toast the bread slowly in the hot butter until brown and crisp; stir into mixture. Drop mixture, in 8 portions, into 6 cups boiling water mixed with 1 teaspoon salt. Cover. Boil over moderate heat for 15 minutes without lifting cover; drain. Cool; refrigerate. At serving time, slice and brown in hot butter.

THIS MEAT LOAF IS CREATED FOR SERVING CHILLED

This loaf, like the French pates, benefits from being cold.

Cold Country Meat

1 1/4 pounds ground chuck beef
1/2 pound bulk sausage
1/2 cup finely diced cooked ham
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 cup soft bread crumbs (2 thin slices with crusts)
2 to 3 tablespoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 large clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Mix together thoroughly all the ingredients. Pack into a loaf pan (8 by 4 by 3 inches) that has been rinsed with cold water; loosen sides; turn out into a baking pan (11 by 7 by 1 1/2 inches). Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour. Pour off any fat and liquid; after 10 minutes, turn out; cool; chill. Slice thin.

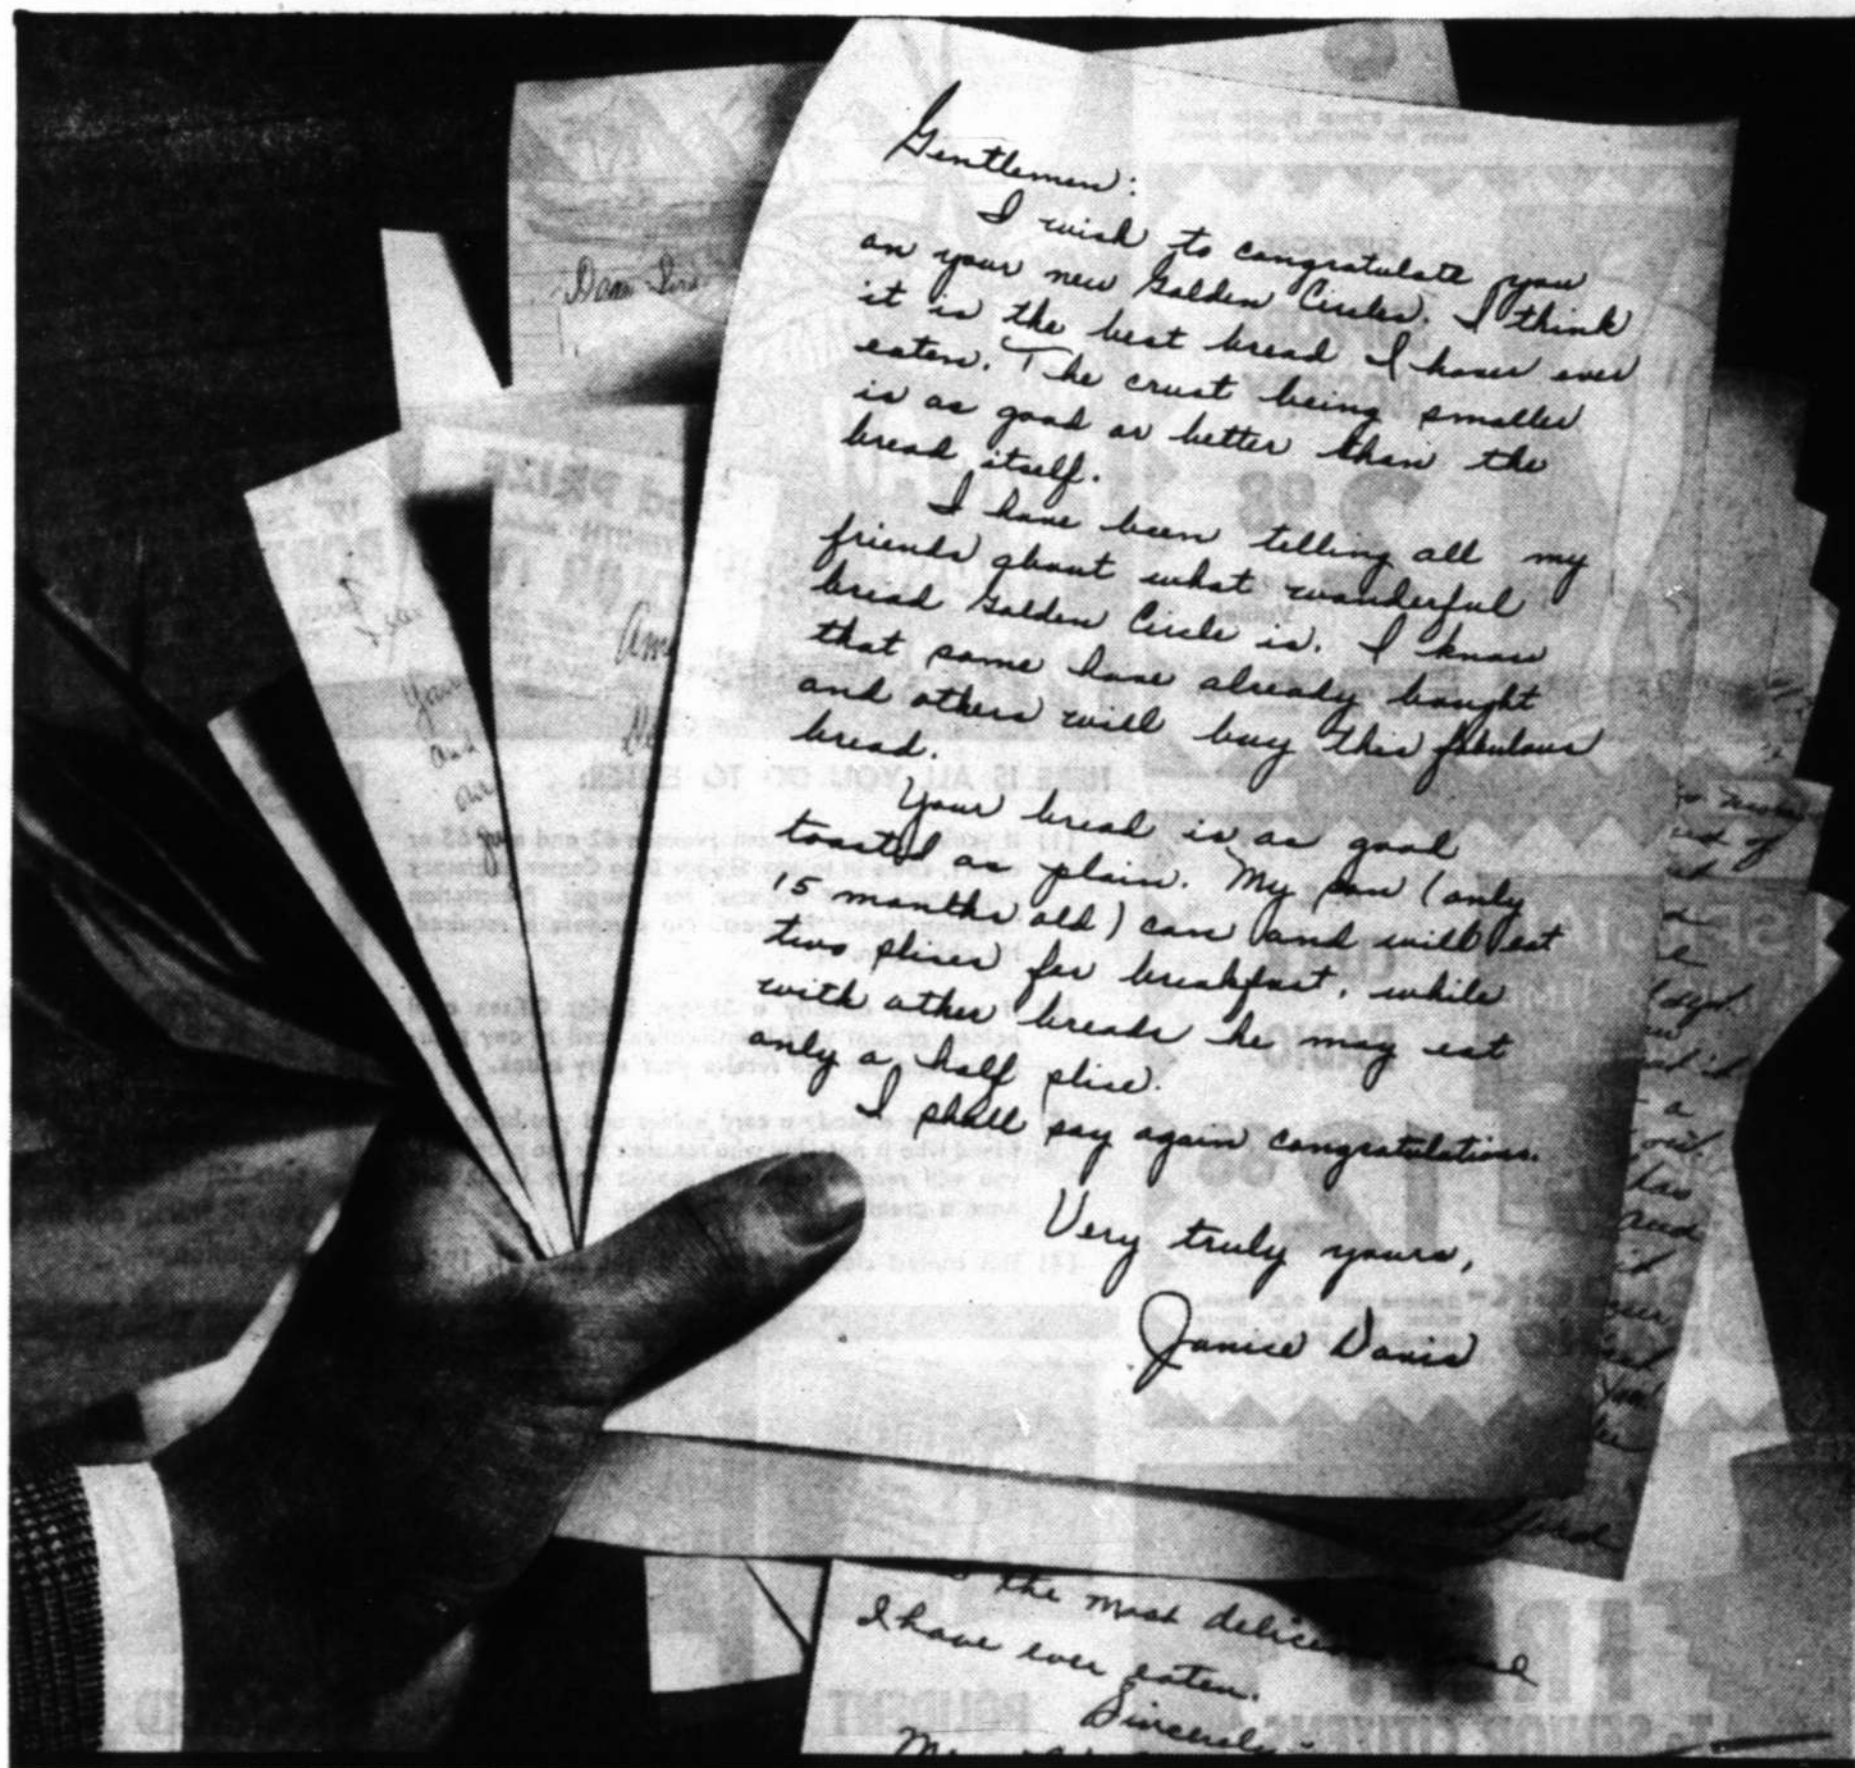

Glamorize Bread With Two Cheeses

This way of fixing bakery bread gives a meal a lift.

Two-Cheese Loaf

1/4 cup butter, soft
1/4 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
2 teaspoons paprika
2/3 cup (about 3 1/2 ounces) blue cheese, soft
1 loaf (15 inches) French bread

Mix together thoroughly the butter, Parmesan cheese, paprika and blue cheese. Slice bread into thick diagonal slices without cutting through bottom of loaf. Spread cheese mixture in cuts and over top. Wrap in foil; heat in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for about 10 minutes.

Who in the world would write a fan letter to a loaf of bread?

Frankly, we are amazed at all the wonderful letters we have received about our new Golden Circles Bread.

We knew Golden Circles was special. Actually, it is the richest white bread we have ever baked, but never in all our years of baking have we received so many warm and wonderful letters from women about a loaf of bread.

We knew when we made Golden Circles that it was not just another round bread—we planned it that way. We made it with more milk solids, more shortening, and more spring wheat flour. This gives it that honest-to-goodness flavor, the kind only rich ingredients can give, and the kind of texture that is tender but good.

We added pure cane sugar because this helps to make for tenderer crusts and better toast.

Next time you shop pick up a loaf of Golden Circles and see if you don't feel like writing us a letter about it.

Light As Breeze Dessert Is Versatile, Simple Too

A dessert light as a breeze, handsome enough to demand a special occasion, is this Strawberries and Cream Pie. It's an alluring choice to climax a banquet of majestic proportion yet capable of reigning alone at a simple coffee hour. Designed for the month of May, it will fit beautifully at a festive bridal shower.

Its graham cracker crust is the perfect beginning to a pie that will be especially favored during the warm summer months because it needs no baking. The filling is a combination of canned strawberry pie filling, strawberry-flavored gelatin and ice cream.

The pie filling and ice cream are blended into the gelatin and stirred until the ice cream melts.

Food coloring can be used if you are trying to match a very pink tablecloth or party accessories. Otherwise, you'll probably prefer the natural color of the filling. When the filling is slightly chilled, pour it into the crust and return to refrigerator.

This pie is a delight to eat with a delicate and rich flavor, and a texture pleasingly cool and smooth to the taste. Add the recipe to your files and try it soon. You'll be happy you did.

Strawberries and Cream Pie
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/3 cup sugar
2/3 cup melted butter
1 tablespoon water
1 3-ounce package strawberry flavored gelatin
3/4 cup hot water
1 No. 2 can (2 1/2 cups) strawberry pie filling

1 pint vanilla ice cream, cut into 6 chunks
Red food coloring (optional)

Combine cracker crumbs with sugar; mix in butter and water. Pat mixture into a 10-inch pie plate. To make an even layer of crumbs on bottom and sides; place a 9-inch pie plate on top of crumbs and press firmly. Remove 9-inch pie plate. Chill.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add strawberry pie filling and vanilla ice cream; stir until ice cream melts. Add food coloring. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Pour into crumb crust and chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and berries, if desired.

Yield: 1 10-inch pie

TRUE TEA LOAF

New Delightful Loaf Cake Is Perfect For Spring

Above all spring is a time of newness. Outdoors, new life is vibrant everywhere. There's a great urge (not always so pronounced among the males) to buy new fashions, redecorate the house, and to look for new recipes to bring to the family table. It's delightfully contagious and happens every spring — the search for something new.

Tea Cake Loaves can be made a day or two ahead and the cake will not only retain its fine flavor and pound-cake texture but it will also slice beautifully. Served with garnishes of nuts or accompanied by fresh fruits in season, Tea Cake Loaves are a new spring treat for the family or entertaining friends. (If appetites aren't too ravenous, set one aside for the freezer — this cake stores perfectly.)

Tea Cake Loaves
1 cup soft butter or margarine (1/2 pound)
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
6 egg yolks (1/2 cup)
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons instant tea
6 egg whites (3/4 cup)
1) Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. In large bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat butter or margarine until creamy, gradually beat in sugars until creamy. Then gradually add egg yolks and beat until very light and fluffy, about 7 minutes. Add lemon rind and vanilla extract.

2) In small bowl, sift together flour and baking powder. Gradually stir milk into instant tea.
3) At low speed, blend in flour-mixture alternately with tea-milk in three parts, starting and ending with flour.

4) Now in small bowl, beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; then carefully fold into batter. Turn into two greased 8 1/2" by 4 1/2" by 2 1/2" foil loaf pans and bake about one hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

5) Cool on rack in pans 10 minutes, then invert cakes on rack; remove pans and cool. Makes 2 loaves.

Angelfood Cake Is Always Good

Frankfurters Fit On Big Bun This Way

Coarsely chop cooked frankfurters and sweet mixed pickles; add mayonnaise, mustard and seasonings to taste. Spread on soft bun and add crisp lettuce. Peel and slice banana into dessert dish; top with chopped peanuts, and drained crushed pineapple, a squirt of cream or topping and a cherry.

Heat canned peaches in their own juice to which you've added a few spoonfuls of vinegar and a small quantity of pickling spices. Chill, drain and stick each peach half with two or three whole cloves before serving on lettuce.

Pimiento And Tart Top On Lunch Meat

When everyone is home for lunch on Saturday, or when you are trying to dream up something quick, yet out-of-the-ordinary for Sunday night supper, take a can of luncheon meat from your shelf and let your imagination go to work.

Slice the luncheon meat and give it a tart, tasty spread. Then over the top of each place two strips of red pimiento to yield a pretty touch.

Pimiento comes canned for handy use and will give a nice color and flavor note to many meat dishes. Try it with creamed meats and casseroles, suggests home economist Reba Staggs.

Luncheon Meat-Tart Topping
1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper

2 tablespoons salad dressing
1 tablespoon pickle relish
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 egg white
16 small strips of pimiento
Cut luncheon meat into 8 slices. Combine lemon juice, salt, pepper, salad dressing, pickle relish and parsley. Beat egg white and fold into mixture. Set regulator for broiling. Place luncheon meat on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top surface of the meat is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Turn, spread egg white mixture on meat slices. Place 2 strips of pimiento on each slice. Broil until topping is lightly browned, about 1 1/2 minutes. 4 servings.

Don't Remove Fell

When roasting a leg of lamb, do not remove the "fell." This thin, paper-like covering helps the roast hold its shape during cooking.

No Cover Needed

A tender roast should never be covered while cooking. When covered, it becomes a pot-roast.

Meat And Rice

Rice can escort meat to the table in a variety of combinations: broiled lamb chops surrounded by curried rice, pork chops with Spanish rice and a broiled ham slice accompanied by rice flavored with raisins. Ground beef and rice combine for many pleasing casseroles.

Try These Tricks You'll Be Glad

Toast raisin or plain cake slices under broiler; spread with jam and broil again until bubbling. Serve hot with whipped topping if desired.

For a good quick sauce, heat 1 cup beef broth with 2 tablespoons wine vinegar, 1 tablespoon sugar. Thicken with 1 to 2 teaspoons corn starch; stir in 1/4 cup raisins before serving.

Select and scrub tiny new potatoes, do not peel. Boil until tender in water to cover with 1/4 cup salt. Serve hot to be eaten jackets and all; the potato skins will be covered with salt crystals.

Grate crisp cabbage as for slaw. In heavy skillet, saute cabbage in a few tablespoons hot fat until limp, then add a small minced onion, salt and pepper. Cover and cook very slowly a few minutes longer, until tender.

MEAT AND RICE

Favorite Foods Teamed For Main Dish In A Hurry

Need a hearty and filling main dish in a hurry? This luncheon meat, bacon, rice, celery, soup and cheese casserole can be prepared and baked with a minimum of time and effort. Bits of bacon and tomatoes add extra interest and flavor. Add a salad or relishes, and you will have an attractive luncheon or family dinner readily available from staple items.

Budget-wise homemakers keep an extra supply of canned lunch-meat on hand to add interest and variety to their meals as well as for emergencies. Versatile canned luncheon meat can solve the meat problem around the clock. At breakfast, sliced and browned, it's a perfect companion for eggs, pancakes or waffles. For luncheons, simple suppers or evening treats, it's ideal in casseroles or used in preparing hot and hearty plain or fancy sandwiches.

Here's our recipe for hurry-up meat and rice casserole:

Luncheon Meat Casserole

1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat cut into 6 slices and each slice cut in half crosswise
6 slices bacon, diced
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, undrained
1 can (10 1/2 ounce) cream of celery soup
3 cups cooked rice
1 cup shredded pastrurized process American cheese
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
3 drops Tabasco sauce
Fry bacon until crisp; drain. Save 2 tablespoons drippings; add onion and saute until soft but not brown. Add tomatoes and soup and bring to simmering stage. Stir in rice, cheese, mustard, Tabasco sauce and 1/2 of the bacon. Pour into 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle remaining bacon over top. Stand luncheon meat slices upright in rice mixture around edge of casserole. Place in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until heated, 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

PEASANT BREAD IS A PROJECT FOR BREADMAKER

Here's a quick, pantry-shelf project for the breadmaker. Peasant Bread
3 1/2 cups warm water
3 packages active dry yeast
2 tablespoons salt
1/3 cup sugar
2/3 cup non-fat dry milk solids
1/3 cup salad oil
2 pound bag flour
Pour warm water over yeast in a large bowl, at least four - quart capacity; stir until yeast is dissolved. Add salt, sugar and dry milk powder; stir until dissolved. Add salad oil. Gradually beat in all flour until batter is smooth. Cover bowl loosely and place in a warm place free from drafts; let rise until doubled in bulk. Beat well and divide into five oiled round utility pans, each 6 by 2 inches. Let rise again until dough almost reaches tops of pans. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until loaves are golden brown and shrink slightly from pans, 40 to 45 minutes. Turn out of pans and cool on racks.

No Cooking Required For Lemon Pie

With the first blush of spring, our thoughts turn to light, airy desserts. Preferably, these should be easy to prepare and require no cooking, giving us more time to enjoy the first signs of spring.

This Lemon Angel Pie is a special dessert. A frothy combination of whipped cream and gelatine, it's filled and garnished with strawberry halves.

Bottled lemon juice, convenient and reliable, flavors this tasty dessert, giving it a spring tang that's certain to bring thoughts of a flower-filled summer.

Lemon Angel Pie

(Makes one 9-inch pie)
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) plain unflavored gelatine
1/4 cup cold water
1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
3/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups heavy cream, whipped
1 10-oz. package strawberry halves, thawed and well-drained

Soften gelatine in cold water. In a small saucepan combine bottled lemon juice and sugar; heat to boiling. Add softened gelatine; stir until dissolved.

Chill gelatine mixture over ice water, stirring occasionally until just syrupy; beat until foamy. Gradually fold gelatine mixture into whipped cream. Mixture should mound when dropped from a spoon; if necessary, chill over ice water.

Spoon enough cream mixture into pie shell to cover bottom; arrange strawberry halves over filling, reserving a few halves for garnish. Spoon remaining filling into pie shell; chill in refrigerator about 3 hours or until firm. Garnish with remaining strawberry halves.

Use Fruit Cocktail In Spring Salad

There's color to spare and most refreshing flavor in "Early Spring Fruit Mold," a gelatin salad resplendent with grapefruit sections and gay canned fruit cocktail.

Drain 1 can (1 pound, 1 ounce) fruit cocktail and 1 can (1 pound) grapefruit sections, saving syrups. Combine syrups and add water to make 2 1/4 cups liquid.

Soften 2 envelopes plain gelatin in 1/2 cup syrup mixture. Heat remaining syrup mixture to boiling; remove from heat. Add softened gelatin and 1/4 teaspoon salt; stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Stir in 1/2 cup lemon juice. Chill until mixture mounds on spoon.

Fold in fruit cocktail and grapefruit. Turn into 5-cup mold. Chill until firm.

Unmold on plate; garnish with salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise if desired. This makes 8 to 10 servings.

Defrosting Meat

Frozen meat may be thawed in the refrigerator, at room temperature or during cooking. The method used does not materially affect the flavor, tenderness or juiciness of the cooked meat.

LEMON ANGEL PIE

Informative Pointers About Popular Avocado

More than 80 per cent of the avocados grown commercially in the United States come from 7 Southern California counties. Most of the remainder come from Florida.

The name alligator pear is a misnomer and is rapidly becoming obsolete.

Calories, Nutritional Values
Calories — contrary to popular opinion, avocados are not extraordinarily high in calories. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a 4-inch avocado half-shell weighing 80 grams contains only 137 calories. This is not excessive considering the eating satisfaction and nutrition avocados provide — and the fact that 1200 calories per meal are allowed in many medically approved reducing diets.

Vitamins — avocados contain 11 health-giving vitamins: A (carotene), B1 (thiamine), B2 (riboflavin), B6 (pyridoxine), C (ascorbic acid), E, K, niacin, pantothenic acid, biotin, folic acid — an impressive total. Minerals — 14 basic minerals are present. Especially important are iron and copper, essential in building red blood.

Carbohydrates — are at a minimum. There is no starch, very little sugar. Protein — a small amount of protein is found in the fruit. Oil — Avocados contain emulsified, easily digested fruit oils which are largely unsaturated.

Varieties and seasons
California avocados are never harvested until they are mature. However, this does not mean they are eating-ripe. They are ready to eat only when they have softened. Let them soften at room temperature.

To determine whether an avocado is eating ripe, cradle it between the palms of your hands. If it yields to gentle pressure, it is ready. To test a summer avocado, use a little more pressure to compensate for the thicker skin. Or insert a toothpick into the stem end; it's eating-ripe if the pick glides in easily. To hasten ripening, wrap each avocado in several thicknesses of newspaper or foil and store in a warm place.

Eating-ripe avocados may be held in the refrigerator one to several days. Do not refrigerate firm fruit.

Serving Recommendations
A sprinkling of citrus juice helps preserve the color of cut avocados. To enjoy their full flavor, serve them at room temperature or warmed. Do not overheat. Use gentle heat, and for only a few minutes. Delectable are "hot-cold" entrees such as curried seafood or chicken in room-temperature avocado half-shells.

Carver's Suggestion

For the man in the house: Remember to allow a roast to set 15 to 20 minutes before carving. A sharp knife is a must. Be sure the roast is placed on a heated platter and that serving plates are preheated.

Snappy Fruit Glaze

Try this delicious snappy fruit glaze for your ham. Combine 1/2 cup apricot preserves, 1/2 cup pineapple preserves and 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish mustard. Spread over the meat 20 to 30 minutes before ham is done.

Mediterranean Vegetable Gaining Favor In America

In the lands of sun and sharp blue sea, where the sweet smells of salt and lemons, pine and laurel and olive oil combine in the still golden light... there grows the artichoke, one of the most ancient vegetables known to man. The Mediterranean, womb for so much we take for granted in our culture — architecture, language, religion, the drama, sculpture and philosophy — is the home of that fascinating edible thistle, the artichoke. Mentioned in pre-Biblical writings, the choice of storied Carthage and Rome, artichokes are fast becoming an American favorite. The mid-coastal area of California offers the perfect growing climate for them, the cool, relatively frost-free climate, the gentle, nurturing fogs that roll in from the Pacific, and the farmers — many are Italians who understand and love this vegetable.

While Queen Dido may have ordered artichokes served up to her Carthaginian court, it's doubtful that she enjoyed them as we can today. Many of the ancients ate the thistle leaves — and threw away the buds we treasure!

But the contemporary peoples of the Mediterranean really appreciate and know how to prepare artichokes. Why not take a hint from them, borrow a dish from the Greeks, the Italians, the French and add to your reputation as a cosmopolitan hostess?

From Greece, where the thistle foliage of artichokes seems to rise thickly in every garden plot, as common there as sunflowers in ours, we offer a Greek dinner — Artichokes with Avgolemono Sauce (an adaptation of the famous soup) and Souvlakia, a grilled (indoor or out) lamb dish where the skewers boast a delicious combination of meat, tomatoes, mushrooms and onions. The lamb is marinated first, then deliciously broiled. Try this as a change from steak or hamburgers at your next barbecue. It's just as tasty, indoors. This Greek dinner has all the characteristic national flavorings — lemons (they're outstanding in Greece), tomatoes (Crete is famous for them), and olive oil, the golden alchemy that probably was the Delphic Oracle's true secret!

The artichokes are cooked with pungent oregano, and fragrant garlic. Serve this dinner with a simple salad dressed with oil and lemon and top it off with the best fruit of the season — the Greeks prefer their red-fleshed, winey oranges — and tiny cups of strong black coffee.

Providence was a province of Rome until it was annexed by France in the Fifteenth Century. But before that it had been invaded by men from many lands — Etruscans, Greeks, Gauls, Carthaginians, Romans, Saracens, Celts and more. The great trade routes to Spain crossed it, the Popes made it their home. In the course of its full history, this sun-warmed region of southern France has absorbed the cuisines of many of its conquerors. Here, too, the liquid gold of the Mediterranean — olive oil and lemons combine with health-giving garlic to give these sturdy, gay people their life-loving nature. Artichokes Provençal combines the thistle and the vine — chokes and peas flavored with the delicate green of lettuce. Served with it is the characteristic sauce of Provence, Aioli Sauce, sure to become a staple of your saucery. You will find it delicious with fish and tasteful with any mélange of vegetables.

Next, a contribution from Italy — Roman Artichokes and Spaghetti A Verde, which sets the bland wheaty taste of spaghetti against the clean, green of a parsley- and - basil sauce made quickly and easily in the blender. Here's another sauce that's sure to become a permanent contribution to your collection. With a glass of red wine — who could want more?

Artichokes Parma could not have been made in any village in Italy — not in the time it will take you to prepare it. It is authentic and authentically American, thanks to this handy envelope of packaged Italian Salad Dressing mix.

Another main dish-in-one is Italian Veal - Stuffed Artichokes, where the artichoke becomes an individual casserole, an excellent way to make a small amount of meat go a long way.

For parties, artichokes become a conversation-making bowl when filled with a snappy Cheese Dip. Off comes a leaf, dip into the center, into your mouth. No chance of losing chips in the dip!

Greek Dinner (Makes 4 servings)

Marinade
2 pounds leg of shoulder of lamb, cut in 2-inch cubes
1/2 pound medium mushrooms
3 medium onions, sliced
4 medium artichokes
4 cloves garlic
Crushed oregano
Boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
3 medium tomatoes, quartered
Avgolemono Sauce
Pour marinade over lamb, mushrooms and onions in shallow dish. Cover and chill several

Artichokes with Cheese Dip (Makes 4 servings)
Prepare 4 artichokes as directed and chill
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
While artichokes are cooking, combine cream cheese, lemon juice, horseradish, Parmesan cheese and parsley flakes; beat until smooth. Serve chilled artichokes with cheese dip.

hours or overnight, mixing occasionally. Wash artichokes. Place a clove of garlic and dash oregano in center of each; place in 1-inch boiling water in deep saucepan large enough to hold artichokes snugly. Sprinkle each artichoke with 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cover and boil gently 20 to 45 minutes or until stems can be easily pierced with fork (add a little more water if needed). Cut off stems. Turn artichokes upside down to drain. Drain lamb and vegetables; reserve marinade. Skewer lamb and broil 4-inches from source of heat 5 to 7 minutes per side. Alternate mushrooms, onion and tomato on skewers; brush with marinade and broil 3 to 4 minutes per side. Serve lamb and vegetable kebabs with artichokes and avgolemono sauce.

Avgolemono Sauce (Makes about 2 cups)
Beat 3 eggs in top of double boiler; gradually blend in 1/4 cup lemon juice and 1 cup warm chicken stock or bouillon. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Beat until foamy. Remove from heat and serve hot with artichokes.

Artichokes Provençal (Makes 6 servings)
6 small or medium artichokes
Boiling water
2 tablespoons olive oil
Salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1-3 cup water
1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas
1 small head western iceberg lettuce, coarsely shredded
Aioli Sauce
Aioli Sauce (Makes about 1/2 cup): Blend together 2 egg yolks, 1/4 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 3 cloves crushed garlic and 4 teaspoons lemon juice in electric blender until smooth. Slowly add 1/2 cup olive oil and 3 tablespoons cold water, blending on low speed until thick. Chill in serving dish.

To prepare artichokes: Wash artichokes and stand upright in deep saucepan large enough to hold snugly. Add 1-inch boiling water and 2 tablespoons olive oil; sprinkle 1/4 teaspoon salt on each artichoke. Cover and boil gently 20 to 45 minutes or until stems can be pierced easily with a fork (add a little more boiling water if needed). Cut off stems. Turn artichokes upside down to drain. In same saucepan, combine 1/4 teaspoon salt, pepper, butter and water; bring to boil. Add peas; cover with lettuce, then artichokes. Cover and simmer 10 minutes or until peas are tender. Arrange artichokes on platter. Drain peas and lettuce; serve with artichokes and Aioli sauce, or stuff artichokes with peas and lettuce.

Roman Artichokes and Spaghetti A Verde (Makes 4 servings)
Prepare 4 small artichokes, quartered as directed
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon olive oil
8 ounces spaghetti, cooked according to package directions
1-3 cup melted butter or margarine
1/4 cup fresh parsley leaves
1-3 cup fresh basil leaves or 1 tablespoon dry basil
1 clove garlic
1/4 teaspoon salt

Artichokes with Cheese Dip (Makes 4 servings)
Prepare 4 artichokes as directed and chill
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons parsley
While artichokes are cooking, combine cream cheese, lemon juice, horseradish, Parmesan cheese and parsley flakes; beat until smooth. Serve chilled artichokes with cheese dip.

THE GLORY THAT WAS ROME... AT HOME!

A Roman favorite, Artichokes and Spaghetti A Verde, adds the green of parsley and basil to the pearly smoothness of spaghetti to make it truly a company dish. The columns at the side? Just gilt artichokes (from a spray-on can), run through a thin bamboo skewer (available in variety stores). The bottom artichoke is attached with a bit of putty or clay.

1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup olive oil
2-3 cup grated Parmesan cheese

While artichokes are cooking, add lemon juice and 1 tablespoon olive oil to the boiling water. Prepare spaghetti; toss with butter. Combine parsley, basil, seasonings and 1/4 cup oil in electric blender to make a smooth paste. Heat slowly about 1/2 minute. Stir in cheese. Serve over spaghetti with artichokes. Garnish with additional grated cheese, if desired.

To prepare artichokes: wash artichokes and cut in half. Remove chokes (thistle part). Place artichoke halves in 1-inch boiling water and add 1/4 teaspoon salt for each artichoke. Cover and boil gently 20 to 45 minutes or until stems can be pierced easily with fork (add a little more boiling water if needed). Drain.

Artichokes Parma (makes 4 servings)
4 artichokes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 envelope Italian salad dressing mix
1 tablespoon Parmesan salad dressing mix
1 cup dairy sour cream
Wash artichokes; trim stems to 1-inch; pull off tough outer leaves and snip off tips of remaining leaves. Place artichokes in 1-inch boiling water. Add lemon juice, salt and Italian salad dressing mix. Cover tightly and cook 20 to 45 minutes (depending upon size of artichokes) or until stems can be pierced easily with a fork. Immediately turn artichokes upside down to drain. Chill. Mix Parmesan salad dressing mix and sour cream. Chill at least 3 hours to blend flavors. Serve artichokes with this dressing.

OUR GREEK HERITAGE... on a plate, on a skewer.

Italian Style Pork Steaks Vary Meals

Pork is a favorite meat in most households, and roasts, chops and spareribs appear regularly on family menus. However, sometimes you will want to prepare pork in a new fashion, perhaps selecting a cut not served as frequently.

Pork steaks present one fine opportunity for variety. The steaks are generally in less demand and come from the shoulder section. They are available as blade steaks with the flat blade bone or as arm steaks with the small round arm bone.

A preparation idea that's new is to cook the meat in the Italian manner as Pork Steaks Italiano. The suggestion comes from Reba Staggs, meat cookery expert, and the steaks braise in a spicy tomato sauce. On top of each goes a green pepper ring and a slice of Mozzarella cheese. What a popular dish this is destined to be.

Pork Steaks Italiano
4 pork arm or blade steaks, cut 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick

2 tablespoon lard or drippings
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/4 teaspoon basil
1/4 cup water
1 cup (8 ounces) tomato sauce
4 slices Mozzarella cheese
4 green pepper rings, cut 1 inch thick

Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt, pepper, Italian seasoning and basil. Mix water and tomato sauce and add to meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly 30 minutes. Top each steak with a slice of Mozzarella cheese, then with a green pepper ring. Cover and continue cooking 30 minutes or until done, 4 servings.

Mix skim milk and beef broth or consommé half and half, serve hot or cold. Add just a sprinkle of seasoned pepper for special flavor.

Dixie Biscuits And Variations

2 cups sifted Enriched Flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup milk

Heat oven to very hot (450 degrees F.). Sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk gradually, mixing lightly until mixture is dampened. (If necessary, add a little more milk to make a soft dough.)

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead gently a few seconds. Roll to 1/2-inch thickness; cut with 2-inch floured biscuit cutter. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven (450 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 12 biscuits.

Buttermilk Biscuits
Add 1/4 teaspoon soda to dry ingredients. Substitute 1/4 cup buttermilk for milk.

Self-Rising Flour Biscuits
Substitute 2 cups sifted Self-Rising Flour for Enriched Flour, baking powder and salt.

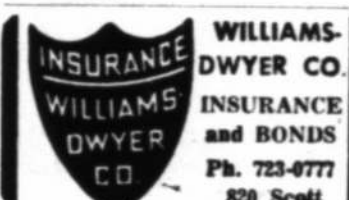

Every-Ready Snacks Made With Dates

California dates are good any time of day. Straight from the package, they're an ever-ready snack food loaded with quick energy supplied by natural fruit sugar. The versatility of these desert sweets as a recipe ingredient is demonstrated by this hors d'oeuvre recipe, Date-Cheese Quickies.

Date-Cheese Quickies

2/3 cup fresh California dates
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire
1/3 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1 cup crisp rice cereal

Snip dates along one side with scissors; flip out pits. Cut each date crosswise into thirds. Beat butter with cheese until well blended. Beat in Worcestershire, Tabasco, flour and paprika. Stir in rice cereal. Shape dough around each date piece to form about 30 balls (1/2 inch). Bake on well greased cookie sheet in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven 10 minutes. Serve hot. Makes about 30 appetizers.

A&P GUARANTEES THE eat AS WELL AS THE meat

This Can Well Mean Getting The Most For Your Meat Dollar!

The EAT in the MEAT means plenty to you because nearly every week 25% of your food money is spent for meat. Unless your family gets the EAT in the MEAT, what you spend isn't delivering what it's supposed to. That's why A&P guarantees every chop, roast, steak or any other "Super-Right" meat you buy. Either your family agrees they're getting the EAT in the MEAT or you get your money back. Fair enough?

The EAT in the MEAT starts with A&P's selections from the nation's top packers. Take pork as an example. "Super-Right" pork can only come from tender, young, grain-fed porkers. Heavy hogs just won't do — too wasteful! Unless every pound meets our unvarying standards — our buyers turn it down.

The EAT in the MEAT is further protected by the way we cut "Super-Right" pork loins — to give every customer full value. When you buy a half loin — no center meat is removed. In fact every "Super-Right" pork cut we sell has plenty of EAT in the MEAT. How about changing to "Super-Right" meats this week? You'll get what your family wants — and good, sound value, too.
