Glenn Ford Is Tough Cowboy

"The Redhead and the Cowboy," starring Glenn Ford and Rhonda Fleming, comes Friday and Saturday to the Ranger Theatre, telling the story of espionage and bloodshed in the New Mexico Territory during the closing days of the Civil War.

Glenn Ford appears in the role of a wandering cowboy who is inadvertently catapulted into a series of adventures involving a far-flung Confederate espionage ring that is undermining the Union war effort. Although innocent, he is accused of a series of brutal murders, and in the attempt to clear himself he becomes romantically and melodramatically involved with a beautiful and mysterious redhead, played by Rhonda Fleming. He is joined by Edmond O'Brien, a quick-witted, fast-shooting special agent, and their escapades with the girl who holds the clue to this siege of treachery and violence are brought to a stirring climax when they thwart a desperate attack on a Union gold train.

Hero Hailed

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — A young Vietnamese soldier gave his life to write what newspapers here hailed as a "magnificent page of glory" for the Vietnamese army. Sergeant Le Sung of the Vo Thanh regiment commanded a small post in Central Vietnam at the time it was attacked by an "important Communist-led Vietminh formation" on July 22. Heavily outnumbered, the sergeant and his men fought valiantly far into the night until they ran out of ammunition. He then ordered his men to abandon the post to prevent their certain death. He alone covered their retreat. The Vietminh killed him as they pushed into the post.

Negro Boy's Thrift Finds Alabama Hotel

Newsfeatures
MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Because a Negro boy started saving nickels half a century ago, the Cradle of the Confederacy now has its first modern, high-class Negro hotel.

Responsible for it is 58-year-old M. F. (Dinty) Moore, son of a tenant farmer for whom the Hotel Ben Moore is named. Moore, who learned carpentersas, Tuesday. . . . Royce Rodgers was the guest of Arthur Strickler, Jr., and attended the picnic at Lake Larabee at which the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Turpin honored the boys of the Turpin baseball team last Friday evening.

Mrs. Emmitt Nichols, Bill and Elta Mae were in Perryton Friday having some work done on their car.

ing and construction work hard way, did a good part of labor himself on the 30-room fireproof structure.

"I had to," he explained, never could have afforded to had to contract for it. I was debt a little for it as it was.

The new hotel man started thrifty habits while helping father farm at nearby Snowflake, Ala. He tells it this way:

"My daddy gave me my 15 cents when I was 8. I invested a dime for a pocket to keep the nickel in. But I never broke after that. I got some of the nickels I began saving then built this hotel."

When Moore was 27, he ran over him on a construction job and broke his back. He recovered and decided to truck farming. He made a killing at it by 1912, then out and bought a cafe.

As a restaurant owner, he discovered that his cafe often had "no decent place to sleep." There were good boarding houses but hotels for Negroes.

That helped convince him into the hotel business.

Didn't Bother Her Neither Does Traffic

OLIVE KING DIXON

MRS. KING

Day traffic holds no terror for Mrs. Sena Walstad of Roberts county, as she drives her car to town. Why? Back when Mrs. King was a young woman, while her father's cattle out on the range she came across a bear, which she roped and shot. Finally she got so big and became such a big game show that she came to the country. So she isn't afraid of mere traffic problems.

King has passed her 80th birthday, but she drives her own car. She has her own vegetable garden and grows her own cooking, looks like a young woman in which she has 56 years. Her husband, Archie King, died June 9, 1942, the first death in the family.

Walstad was born Jan. 2, 1872, on the Spangler Ranch. That was the year after her mother and four older brothers and sisters came to America from Norway to join husband and father, who had come to this country in 1869. The Spanglers raised Durham cattle.

Christopher Jacob and Marian Walstad and their children left Iowa in 1878, headed for Kansas. Mrs. King recalls that her father had only 98 cents in his pocket when they arrived at what is now Medicine Bend, Kan. He had a wagon and five head of horses, 10 beef cattle and several milk cows. There were all kinds of prairie chickens, quail and cottontail rabbits along the way, and they were the chief sources of food. Also, the creeks were full of fish.

The Walstads were the first family to settle in Barber county, Kan. But soon settlers arrived and Mr. Walstad was able to get work near where Antelope Flats now stands.

The Texas Panhandle was the next stop for the Walstad family. They arrived on Wolf Creek in Ochiltree County, April 3, 1886. Later they moved to the "Flats" or plains area, where Mr. Walstad built a comfortable home out of cedar pickets out of what was later called Picket Ranch Canyon. The house was covered with sod cut from the prairie.

By this time, Sena was a young woman and she not only helped around the house but assisted her father in his farm and ranch work.

The greatest problem at this time was water, Mrs. King recalls. The nearest well and windmill was 7 miles away, and for several years the Walstads hauled water from the well. Once Mr. Walstad started to dig a well by hand and go down about 40 feet before he decided the task was too great and gave up the task.

Sena's father plowed land and planted corn, maize and other crops. Ochiltree county had not been organized at that time and there was no post office nearer than Mobeetie.

Sena Walstad met Archie King in 1888. He was a native of Virginia, who was working on the CC-Bar ranch, with headquarters on Wolf Creek in Ochiltree county. W. J. Wood was ranch manager and when the county was organized, he was elected county judge.

Equity Mill Is Now Operating

The Equity feed mill, which has been shut down for several weeks while new machinery was installed, is now back in production, reports manager Aldon Bell.

The capacity of the Equity mill has been doubled for cake production and increased production of poultry, dairy and hog feed has been made with the new equipment.

The equipment was installed by the Chalmers and Borton Co. of Hutchinson, Kansas.

Smith Breaks Legs In Fall

Levi Smith, local carpenter, is in the Sanford Hospital recovering from an accident at the new Fellowship Baptist church Friday afternoon. Smith, who was working on the roof of the new church, fell to the ground and broke both legs, just above the ankle.

He was taken to the hospital immediately after the accident and is reported to be making a satisfactory recovery.

Mrs. Fred Huebner and daughter Marilyn of Denver are guests in the Cecil Tevis home, 1406 S. Eton. Mrs. Huebner will enter Sanford Hospital Wednesday when she will undergo surgery and be hospitalized for eight days. Mrs. Huebner and Marilyn plan to be in Perryton three weeks.

Italians In Belgian Mines

BRUSSELS (AP)—Fifty-one thousand out of the 100,000 coal-miners working in Belgium's pits are Italians, according to the Belgian minister of labor.

The total figure for foreign labor in Belgian coal mines is 72,081. Next in order are the 8,287 Poles, 3,036 Dutch, 2,092 Germans, 1,356 French, 1,320 Ukrainians and 1,092 North Africans.

MISS CANADIAN—Miss Joyce Curnutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orla Curnutt, will represent Canadian in the Wheatheart contest here Friday night. Miss Curnutt won the city beauty contest at Canadian recently. A 1952 graduate of Canadian high school, she was drum majorette for the Wildcat band.

Record History In Speech of Oil Workers

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—A University of Texas English professor is recording Texas oil history in the voices of the men and women who made it.

Using a tape recorder, Dr. Mody C. Boatright and his co-workers are trying to gather a complete history of the industry. The project is being paid for by a grant from Mrs. Walter Sharp of Houston, wife of a prominent Texas oilman.

The work is expected to rewrite many chapters of the state's oil history, Dr. Boatright says.

For example, tradition says the Spindletop Field, discovered near Beaumont in 1901, was Texas' first producing field. But information gathered at Petrolia indicates the Clay County Discovery—made by a farmer drilling for water—may have been ahead of Spindletop by a few days or even weeks.

Through the use of the tape recorder, Dr. Boatright hopes to capture more vividly than ever before the beginning of the oil industry.

"We feel that many will talk freer and with more memory for details than if they were writing," he says.

Boatright started the project this summer in the Eastland-Stephens County area. He and his co-director, Miss Winnie Allen, University archivist, see no early end to the project.

Boatright now has 45 one-hour tapes. "The surface is not yet scratched," he says. "We hope to make it possible for students of the next generation to have access to these oral sources of the history of this generation." The oral statements will be backed by documents such as public records, newspaper files, written memoirs, letters and journals. The records will be filed in the University of Texas archives.

WINTER-TIME FUEL
IF
You have ample storage and keep it filled during the summer

HERE ARE THE FACTS—
About Gas Supply

There is no shortage of butane-propane. There never has been a shortage. There will be no shortage in the foreseeable future. Butane and propane are among the most plentiful products in our national petroleum reserves.

However, every winter many users go without fuel. This is ONLY BECAUSE OF TOO SMALL STORAGE TANKS.

Your butane dealer knows the amount of gas you use summer and winter. He has the right answer for your needs. He will give you fuel—not promises!

Your tank may have been right when it was installed, for your family may have outgrown its original gas needs. To be safe you should KNOW just what size tank you need to fill these needs.

CANADIAN RIVER DAM: The need of an ample water supply in the Panhandle of Texas has been established beyond any reasonable doubt. Any argument to the contrary would have little force in view of the drought from which we have suffered. This need has long been recognized by those who are familiar with all of the facts. It is good that some questioned the feasibility of such a project and required all necessary facts in justification of it. This procedure eliminates the possibility of a "pork barrel project." Certainly the Panhandle of Texas is not interested in a "pork barrel project," and I do not believe the people of West Texas would even think of tolerating such.

Although the progress has appeared slow on this project, it has been substantial. The bill is originally passed with an authorization for the construction of the project when funds were available. At the passage of this authorization commitments were made to the effect that appropriations would not be sought until the emergency was over. These commitments were made to senators who were objecting to the passage of the legislation and whose objections would have killed the measure and required the introduction of a new bill and the loss of all progress that had been made up to that date.

Efforts are now being made to satisfy these senators that the project is necessary and seeking release from these commitments. All necessary legislation in addition to the original authorization has been passed save and except the appropriation for the actual construction of the dam. As most of you know, preliminary survey work has been going on this summer and much detail work has been accomplished. Our efforts here will continue and we hope to obtain some definite action in the next Congress.

PALOMINO SHETLAND—Gold Nugget of Holly, a yearling palomino shetland pony, is given the once-over by Jimmy Penner, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Penner. The shetland will be seen at the North Plains Fair horse show Thursday night.

SUGAR COOKIES—Dixie McGarraugh, 4-H Club member and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McGarraugh, mixes up a pan of sugar cookies, one of the exhibits she will show at the North Plains Fair. Dixie won the county 4-H baking contest last year.

THE CATTLE FEED SITUATION: The tragic disaster that has hit the cattle people is going to do great damage to our section. The Department of Agriculture advises me that there is no grain available for feed purposes for the reason that there is no oats or sorghum stored in Texas by the Government. This certainly came as a surprise to me in view of the tremendous amount of feed raised in Texas. The Department advises that the facilities for storage are being used for wheat, which is of course too high for the farmer, rancher or feeder to use. The nearest available grain is corn stored in Kansas, which must be sold at 105 per cent of the support price, plus carrying charge. This means that the price would be several cents more than the same corn could be purchased on the open market. There is only one source of relief for the cattle people insofar as the Federal Government is concerned, and that is Public Law No. 875, having to do with the President's Emergency Fund. In order for these funds to be used a request must be made of the President by the Governor of the state desiring such relief. If the request of the Governor is honored by the President and the particular area designated as a "disaster area," the funds from this source are earmarked for use in relief of such situation.

TAXES: It is encouraging to note that many seeking public office or re-election are speaking favorably of the possibility of some tax relief. There was much ado in the last Congress about the various cuts in appropriations. The President now acknowledges that by reason of this economy wave, progress has been made toward a balance budget. It is my considered opinion that a continuation of this economy wave, plus the closing of tax loopholes will result in a surplus in the 1953-54 fiscal year, and there is still a possibility that the 1952-53 fiscal year will not result in a deficit.

If such is the case, we can of course get tax relief sooner than expected. I am glad to see the trend downward in government spending and hope that the speed of this trend will increase in the next Congress. The cuts made by the last Congress have proven that there are many services that the people can do without and not be missed. There are some services that can be abolished without undue interference to the public. If these can bring about early tax relief, certainly they should be abolished.

We appreciate the work of Sharon Blair, Delores Leatherman, and Donnie Doshier who served as a committee to make arrangements for the entertainment of these boys.

Power Blow-up Old Idea

Herb Finch and Laddie Adams left Sunday afternoon for Guyton, where they began another revival that evening in the Trinity Baptist Mission. Next week they plan to hold a meeting at Boise City, after which they will return to Oklahoma Baptist University for further study.

DROUGHT DOESN'T FRET THESE GRASS-FED STEERS—In spite of the drought which has hit Texas farmers, these Santa Gertrudis strain cattle, grazing just five miles north of Dallas, are weight at a rate of a pound a day. And their only feed is grass. They're part of an experiment of 70 at Texas Research Foundation, obtained last fall from the King Ranch where they were 10 to 12 yearlings. The animals now average 1,248 pounds. Warm season grasses and legumes in future are King Ranch bluestem, side oats grama, Blackwell switch grass, Dallas grass, Madrid sweet clover.

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — If Chinese engineers had their way four years ago, Allied planes never would have had to destroy the great Yalu power plan recently.

A former official of the Manchurian electric system says the engineers wanted to blow up the whole Yalu power dam system when Chinese Communists were overrunning Manchuria. He says the engineers' recommendations were forwarded to Nanking but no reply ever came from the government.

The Nationalists say the Russians stripped two of the three power plants on the Yalu, leaving only the plant at Suifu, the one destroyed by Allied bombers.

VANCOUVER, Canada GP — A driving instructor here suggested that "dumber persons" make better drivers. "Once the dumb student grasps the mechanics of driving he remembers them," he said. "It's the brainy ones that give us the trouble."

First County Agent Noted In Fair Field

The first county agent of Ochiltree county, C. J. Hutchinson, who served here in 1924-25-26, made an outstanding record with the Louisiana Agricultural Extension Service after leaving Perryton. The 1950 catalogue of the Louisiana State University Livestock Show was dedicated to the late "Jeff" Hutchinson, who died on June 30, 1949.

The dedication message follows: "In every large organization there usually is one member who goes quietly, but efficiently about his work. He gets things done without a great deal of fuss and flurry. He fits so well into the cogs of the organization machine that he is taken for granted. It is only when this person leaves the organization that his coworkers realize just how great a contribution has been made by the departed one.

"Such a man was C. J.—Jeff" to everyone — Hutchinson who died at his post of duty, June 30, 1949. Although his doctor and friends had urged him to slow down, Jeff was too busy to think of himself.

"In every parish in the state there are monuments to Jeff—the thousands of acres of terraced fields which he helped survey; the better farm houses and barns which he designed; the 4-H Club camps which he not only designed, but also helped build. As we look back now to evaluate just what our coworker meant to us, we are amazed at his accomplishments.

"Few people realize that Jeff designed and supervised the erection of the huge addition to the livestock show barns on the L. S. U. campus. At the same time, he designed and supervised the erection of show barns at Delhi, New Orleans and Alexandria.

"In 1934, when the acreage reduction campaigns were underway, it was Hutch who conceived the idea of using aerial maps to facilitate the work. Louisiana was first to try it and later it was adopted by the entire country. As a result, the government saved millions of dollars and months of valuable time in the great undertaking.

"Jeff was born at Verda, in Grant Parish, and received his early education there. He received his B.A. degree from Louisiana State University in 1916 and his M.S. in 1936. Before joining the Agricultural Extension Service of Louisiana, Jeff served as county agent in Perryton, Texas. He also made an outstanding record in World War I as one of the Chief Engineers stationed at Coblenz, Germany, during the occupation.

"Our departed coworker is survived by his widow, the former Cora Thomas, and three sons, Arliss, Kay and Don.

"We who have worked with Jeff for so many years, join with the thousands of boys and girls, men and women of Louisiana, in dedicating this 15th annual program to Charles Jefferson Hutchinson, loyal friend, conscientious worker and gentleman unafraid."

Ezra's Farm Is Feature of Kid Carnival

The Lone Star Shows, owned by S. B. Rhodes of Amarillo, is being featured at the North Plains Fair, and has set up between the Memorial Building and Livestock Building at the fair grounds. The carnival, designed for youngsters, features several rides and other attractions.

With the carnival is a tiny animated farm, valued at $10,000 and displayed at hundreds of county and state fairs in Missouri, Kansas, Illinois and Texas during the past 15 years.

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Thomas of Joplin, Mo., "Uncle Ezra's Farm" is only six by nine feet but has an assortment of animals, people and equipment, all of which are hand carved and move in realistic manner. The farm is complete to a pond containing fish and a pair of skunks in the yard. Little pigs feed from a sow, a cow's tail swishes back and forth as she is milked and ducks and geese drink from a trough.

Beef did not become important in the American diet until after the Civil War, says the National Geographic Society.

Rodent Control Specialist Visits Here September 1

Russell Pancoast, rodent control specialist of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, will be in Ochiltree county around September 1 to start a program of prairie dog poisoning.

Pancoast has ended two months work in Lipscomb county and plans to come to Ochiltree county as soon as he finishes in the neighboring county.

Farmers and ranchers desiring his assistance are asked to contact county agent Delbert Timmons to make arrangements for a schedule of visits by the specialist. The farmer or rancher pays for the cost of the poison, while the services of Pancoast are free.

Timmons said that there are many prairie dog towns in the county which are increasing rapidly and that the rat infestation around farms is on the increase. A request for Pancoast's services was made several months ago.

Preacher Builds Church And Congregation, Too

Newsfeatures
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—A hosiery mill worker-turned Church of God preacher—has become something of a 20th century Johnny Applesseed who plants churches.

When John D. Smith heard the call to preach seven years ago, he had no church and no congregation. With 10 friends who formed his original flock, he set out to build his own church.

Friends in Construction Business
 Some of the friends had connections in the construction business. They were invaluable in the building of a stone structure which was named the Alton Park (Chattanooga) Church of God.

Smith, who had never before laid a stone, was on the job every day as a laborer.

The new preacher's sermons and a spirit attracted followers rapidly. But when the congregation had grown to 331 members, three years ago, Smith set out for new fields. He chose the nearby East Ridge district where he had been born.

Smith borrowed money to buy a lot. A short time later he was offered a $900 profit for the property. He sold it and bought several lots.

days on the foundation of his church.

He had never laid a brick but one of his new followers gave him lessons. Soon he was working late into the night. Youngsters of the neighborhood dropped by to watch and Smith persuaded them to mix mortar and carry bricks.

The church was completed recently, three years after it was started, Smith says. "If the church has 50,000 bricks in it, I guess I laid 45,000."

Building Worth $75,000
 Members of the congregation, now grown to 254, estimate the value of the building at $75,000. Smith, who doesn't count his own labor, says the cost to his followers will be $35,000.

The congregation had expected Smith to settle down after building a church in the place of his boyhood. A few days ago, however, they were surprised by an announcement:

Their preacher is leaving to build up a church near Decatur, Ala.

Started Preaching in Tent
 Again without a congregation, he erected a tent and held Sunday meetings, working week-

Vacuum Powers Bagpipes

PALMERTON, Ont. (AP)—When Ivan Birk plays the bagpipes, a vacuum cleaner provides the windpower.

The 36-year-old bulldozer operator got the idea after he used the cleaner to blow his player piano.

He recently was invited to join a pipe band.

"I soon discovered that it was too much for me to read the music and wiggle my fingers and keep the thing blown up all at the same time. So I hitched up the vacuum cleaner.

"That took the blowing job off my mind and left me free to concentrate on the other two. The result is that I can now play 'The Barren Rocks of Aden' by heart and the opening notes of the 'Bonnets of Bonnie Dundee.'

Baseball Whiz Prefers School To Bonus Money

(P) Newsfeatures MARDELA, Md.—It's a rare boy these days who won't forget about a college education when the major leagues dangle bonus money about his head.

Such is Harlan Hutchings. Big league talk failed to tempt Hutchings after he pitched three no-hit, no-run games for Mar-de-la High. It only served to embarrass the 16-year-old junior who is 6 feet 4.

"Me sign a professional contract?" he asks. "Shucks no! My ambition has always been to attend college. Duke University has always been the dream."

Hutchings is sincerely modest. Mention the big leagues and the replies "I have my doubts of ever being that good. I don't like all this fuss about those no-hitters. I really think a pitcher has to have the lucky breaks to pitch a no-hitter."

HARLAN HUTCHINGS Has Ambitions

U. S. Swain Best

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Travel note for you girls who are taking the grand tour of Europe this summer: have the answer ready because the Continental swains will pop the question.

Two West Hartford girls, Mildred Ann Cohen and Rhoda Marcus, turned down 10 proposals of marriage. The proposals were in six languages, but somehow the girls got the "pitch." Sometimes it was by signs and gestures—one tried thumping his manly chest.

GI Railroader Goes Behind Iron Curtain

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

(P) Newsfeatures FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The portly man handed his travel orders to the major and asked anxiously: "There won't be any shooting, will there?"

Maj. Charles Woerple smiled and motioned the man aboard the Berliner, waiting on the track for the highball toward the Iron Curtain.

"Nothing to worry about," he said. "It's just another train ride."

As the man swung aboard, Woerple's smile broadened to a grin. "We get 'em like that sometimes," he said. "They think a trip to Berlin is like traveling through the jaws of death."

Unusual Train

Maj. Woerple runs one of the most unusual trains in the world. Its passengers must have orders written in Russian to ride it under American protection through the East German countryside.

Maj. Woerple is a pretty old hand at traveling himself. He went through World War II in the Silver Star, Bronze Star, and a couple of Purple Hearts in the South Pacific. Later he came to Europe and became rail transport officer. Now he's deputy chief of the rail transport section here, and sees that military trains are run by the book.

The Berliner gives him his oddest job.

Since it traverses 100 miles of the Russian Zone of Germany, the Russians take a proprietary interest in it. They keep a close check on the passenger lists.

Americans Check Too

The Americans keep their own close check, too. From the time the Berliner leaves either end of its run, the train is sealed. Two military policemen, a baggage guard, and a train commander keep things under control.

Military personnel, their dependents, high commission employees and some tourists with good connections, can obtain orders to ride the Berliner.

The Berliner's big stop is at Helmstedt—Marienbuern, where the Russian Zone begins. There the train commander drops off with an interpreter and hands over a copy of the passenger list to a stolid Russian officer.

Lt. Donald D. Smith of Lakotah, N. D., is one train commander who can give and take with the Russians. At Helmstedt the Comets often move at high speeds, faster when they are closer to the sun, slower when they are farther away.

Jockey Sensation of '48 Can't Get a Winner Now

AP Newsfeatures

STANTON, Del. — A has been at the age of 20? That seems to be Clarence Picou.

Four years ago, the kid from Beaumont, Texas, was the riding sensation of the horse-racing tracks. He rode 280 winners worth $545,730 in purses and was second only to the veteran Johnny Longden for most firsts.

Picou hit his peak at Bowie's fall meeting, riding triples three straight days and four winners on another eight-race program—all in one week. Before that he had been leading rider at Narragansett, Suffolk and Lincoln in New England.

In 1949, Sonny Whitney bought his contract for $40,000. Picou's future gleamed. But evidently he was only a shooting star.

He rarely got to the winner's circle after that. Up until the middle of June this year at Delaware Park he didn't get home first once although riding eight or ten times a week. Naturally his mounts aren't the best because of his prolonged slump.

"I know myself that I'm better rider than I was in 1948 when I rode a couple of winners almost every day," he says. "I've learned a lot in the last three years. The only trouble is I don't have the chance to show it."

He intends to keep trying although "I get very discouraged at times. I know it's strictly a

Elder Barber Still Knows About Heads

That advance, he believes, has contributed immeasurably to the nation's health—not only through sanitary shop standards but even more by encouraging habits of personal neatness.

SIMPLE SAW HORSE, sturdy, easy to carry around, can be quickly assembled or knocked down. good," he says. Patrick approves of the virtual disappearance of men's beards, which he used to trim by the hundreds monthly when he was a young barber in Nashville, Tenn., and Dallas, Texas.

He also considers women's invasion of barbershops as all to the good. They bettered their own appearance (and health), he opines, while putting an end to the "rough stuff" in shop conversation and manners.

Patrick, born at Tishomingo, Miss., ran away from home to avoid following in the professional footsteps of his country doctor father. He figured traveling miles to patients in all kinds of weather was too hard a life.

He doesn't regret his choice of barbering.

During most of his career, he operated his own shops, until he sold out at La Jolla, Calif., in 1947 and tried to retire. He didn't care for the inactivity and took up his profession again at the private San Diego club shop, where he now puts in full daily stints at keeping up the appearances (and health) of club members.

He is proud of his razor stroke, starting at the heel of the blade and sweeping to the tip on the down motion. It takes a steady hand.

Italy Top Film-Maker

ROME (AP) — Italian film producers are busy keeping Italy in the No. 1 spot as the most active film-producing country in Europe.

The latest survey shows 35 films either in production or being edited. Production schedules for next month call for another 10 films to go before the cameras.

Education for Shoplifting

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — Police booked a woman they said was teaching her 12-year-old daughter the fine art of shoplifting.

Capt. Vernon Shifflet said mother would stuff a shopping bag full of unpaid for merchandise then hand it to her little girl to carry from the store. The girl admitted she and mother were a team.

U. S. production of plywood increased about 10 percent to 1,977,000,000 (b) sq ft in 1949.

Rowboat Leads Big Liner to Dock

By SAUL PETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—For all her 83,000 tons, for all the 200,000 horsepower of her giant steam turbines, there is a moment in the docking of the Queen Elizabeth when it seems that the world's biggest ship is being pulled into port by a rowboat.

It is one of New York's funniest sights and occurs every time a big ship docks. In a world gone crazy over bigness, it is also reassuring, somehow, to watch a sardine leading a whale by a thread.

The tableau is particularly striking when the 1,031-foot Elizabeth is met by two men in a 15-foot, 500-pound rowboat.

Rowboat Races to Ship
Just as the huge liner, nudged by tugs, begins to turn into the pier, the men in the rowboat race out from the dock to her bow.

There, tossing around within three feet of the mountainous, steel-plated hull while the Queen is still moving in, they catch a heaving line from the deck 60 feet above.

The heaving line, which leads to a hawser, is then rowed quickly back to the pier. It is the first of the Queen's lines which reach the dock. Because of the ship's great height, the line can't simply be dropped onto the wharf. It has to be picked up before the ship comes alongside the pier.

LIKE A SARDINE towing a whale, the rowboat leads the big Queen Elizabeth to dock by catching the first line tossed to haul the hawser ashore.

the Cunard pier. Oskar rows. Bill navigates and handles the line.

Job Takes Experience
"That little job, even though it takes only a few minutes," said Gordon, "requires a lot of experience. It has to be timed perfectly to the ship's movements and the tide."

"We have to watch the backwash of the tugs or we'll get tossed around. We have to get back as quickly as possible with the line or the ship, as it moves in, will crush our rowboat against the dock."

Gordon's worst experience occurred just recently. Coming near the starboard bow of the Queen Mary, their tiny boat suddenly was bounced against the huge hull. A tugboat on the port side of the liner was pulling water under the keel.

Both Gordon and Moe were doused with water from one of the Mary's scuppers.

"The worst thing," said Moe, "was it seemed like everyone on the pier and deck of the ship were laughing at us."

Several years ago, before Gordon and Moe's time, the two men assigned to the rowboat had a real close one. Somehow, because of strong currents and heavy wind, they found themselves caught between the Queen Elizabeth and the pier. As the ship moved menacingly closer to the dock, the men saved themselves only by rowing into an opening in the pilings under the dock.

"Sure, I know we may look a little silly out in that small boat next to the big one," said Gordon "but I like the job. It gives me a feeling of being important."

If ice is subjected to great pressure it can be made heavier than water.

Examination Of School Children Urged by Fall

AUSTIN, Texas—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges the parents of all children who will respond to the school bell for the first time in September to be sure the child is physically ready for school duties.

"First and foremost is the need for vaccination against smallpox. Parents should see that children are vaccinated before they are one year of age; however, if not done previously, at school age vaccination becomes absolutely necessary," Dr. Cox said. "If your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately for his own protection and that of others."

Immunization against diphtheria is also highly important. Dr. Cox declares. This disease which causes serious illness and deaths among young children can be prevented with toxoid. The child who has never been protected should be given this safeguard against a dreaded killing disease. Even though he may have been immunized as a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend an additional dose of toxoid to strengthen immunity before entrance into school.

"In addition, before you send your child to school you are urged to take him to your family physician and dentist for a thorough examination," Dr. Cox adds. "You will want to know that he is in good physical condition and can compete with the other children on equal terms. If the check up reveals any weakness or defects they should be corrected at once. Don't let your child start his school life with any avoidable handicap."

Riding Is His Business

By BILL KING

Newsfeatures

BOSTON — Despite his 110 pounds, which fellow jockeys consider a bit on the superfluous side, Harold (Red) Keene appears destined to achieve his ambition of becoming the first New Englander to gain the turf's top riding honors.

Going into the last four days of the Suffolk Downs' 60-day meeting, the 31-year-old Keene from nearby Lowell had 142 winners for the 1952 season, a comfortable margin on his closest rivals.

From the day he rode his first winner—Anna Mullen at Suffolk Downs on Aug. 6, 1945—Keene has brought home 1,231 winners for purses totaling $2,696,501 through the 1951 season.

Best in 1946

Keene's best season to date was 1946, during which he gained third national honors with 208 winners and $483,682 in purses. He has had but one disappointing year, 1947. It was marred by frequent spills, the last one a serious mishap.

On Christmas Day in 1947 at New Orleans, Keene was seriously injured when his mount fell on him. He was unconscious for 48 hours with a blood clot on the brain and one side of his face ripped wide open. One of his nurses during his long convalescence was Esther Dickinson of New Orleans, whom he later married.

Despite his long layoff, Keene managed to boot home 168 winners during 1948 and he has been improving ever since.

"I do have a bit of a battle to hold my weight at 110," Keene admits. "And I refuse to ride any lower."

Owners and trainers, however, rate Keene's skill in its proper worth when lighter jockeys apply for mounts. As a result, Keene always has all the daily engagements he desires while competing on the four-track New England circuit.

Father of a 2-year-old daughter, Bonnie Lee, and expecting another child in August, Keene has returned to his Lowell birthplace, where he has erected a ranch house as his permanent home. As a result, he can commute daily to Suffolk Downs, New Hampshire's Rockingham Park and Rhode Island's Narragansett Park and Lincoln Downs.

No Place Like Home

"I've spent a lot of time riding in the Midwest but from now on I'll stay near home, except for some winter riding in Florida or New Orleans, says Keene.

Keene's most recent spill was on Prince Chaikie at Suffolk Downs. He cancelled the last two engagements on that day's card, took the following day off and then returned to action, despite a gash over his left eye that required six stitches.

"It was unavoidable and all in

He blames two American importations, pin-ball machines and commercial radio. "Nowadays," he says, "they don't bother to read, but just tune in for a day's work," Keene explained when a friend lauded him for returning to action so speedily. "Riding is my business and I want to stay in business."

Fisherman's Car Dunked

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A father and son who went fishing ended up by fishing their car out of Clearwater Lake at Perryton, Mo.

The empty car rolled into the lake after its brakes gave out. And it came in handy that J. Howard's son, Harold, is a St. Coast Guardsman. With combination of a chain, a truck and a motorboat, he finally dragged the car out.

Communist Killings Reported

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP)—Ali Beg, a Kazak leader who fought Communism in Chinese Turkestan for 15 years, claims that since 1936 more than eight million Muslims have been killed by Communists in Chinese Sinkiang.

Since communist occupation of Sinkiang large bands of Kazaks—anti-communist residents of Sinkiang—have fought their way across Tibet and into Kashmir, where the Kashmiri government has given them refuge.

The fur traffic was an important factor in settling North America.

Not that I wouldn't have liked to have seen some pretty faces on the field instead of the homely mugs now playing. Yogi Berra, with or without mash, is bad enough.

But I certainly wouldn't want to look at a gorgeous blonde whose legs would be covered by baggy trousers and heavy sweat socks, or a pretty brunette chewing tobacco, or a petite redhead carrying three or four heavy bats over her shoulder while some husky young men watched innocently.

On the other hand, attendance might suffer. If a woman came out of the dugout waving a menacing bat it might remind some men in the stands of their wives. Said stands might be emptied in 10 seconds flat.

Baseball games are consuming more time every year. But with gals on the teams, the games would take twice as long. There might have to be a pause between innings for application of new lipstick and makeups plus a hair-combing session and time out to see if stockings seams were straight.

Why it might even lead to a cosmetic concession at all ball parks. I can just hear the hawkers yelling: "Get your peanuts, popcorn, hot dogs, hair pins, nylon, powder puffs and girdles!"

A woman judge, yes. A woman cabinet member or even a woman President, yes. But a woman baseball player—definitely NO!

Wyoming Wants Texas Hunters To Kill Antelope

AUSTIN—Wyoming needs outside help to reduce an over-population of prong-horned antelope reports Lester Bagley, Wyoming Game and Fish Commissioner, in a letter to the Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Bagley writes that Wyoming is faced with the problem of reducing its antelope herd by approximately 40,000 head, and adds: "We are soliciting your cooperation in sending as many of your (Texas) hunters as you can to hunt antelope in Wyoming."

The Wyoming request coincided with the Texas Game and Fish Commission's decision to close the season on Texas antelope this year because of severe herd losses from drought.

The Wyoming season varies in different areas. The earliest opening is September 3; latest closing date is October 14. The season limit is one antelope in all except the Northeastern Area where two may be taken with two permits. Out-of-state permits cost $25 each. Further information may be secured by writing the Wyoming Game and Fish Commission, Box 335, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

If the letter is to serve as an application for a permit, the $25 fee should be enclosed. The applicant also should give his age, physical description and designate the area in which he wishes to hunt. Permits are issued only for one of the 16 specified areas. Season dates in most areas are either September 3-15, Sept. 15-22, or September 3 to October 3. However, the season in the big Northeastern Area, where permits for two antelopes may be secured, is from September 20 to October 14.

Deer also may be taken in the Northeastern Area where the sea-

Texas Hoopster Is Hot Shot

WICHITA FALLS, Tex.—Some two years ago, a tall, gangling young fellow showed up at a sideshow of an East Texas county fair. He popped a basketball through a hoop two dozen times and walked off with an armload of dolls. His girl friend was with him.

Oneal Weaver has been plunking basketballs through the hoop a long time. He scored 1200 points one year in high school and now, after three seasons of college basketball, can point to 2,054 points—which is an average of 684 per season.

Weaver went to Tyler Junior College upon finishing high school at Little Martins Mills. His first season at Tyler found his scoring 910 points. His second saw him rolling up 687.

Then he came to Midwestern University here. This season, in leading Midwestern to a tie for the Gulf Coast Conference championship and a season record of 20 victories and six defeats, Weaver tossed in 457 points.

That was a low for him but the competition was tougher. At that however, he was one of the leading scorers of the Southwest.

The most points Weaver ever got in one night was 38, but he has often gone over the 30 mark. Weaver has two more years at Midwestern unless the service gets him. He may be called into the Army next summer.

National Pastime Saved; Men Sigh With Relief!

By SYD KRONISH
Newsfeatures Sports Writer

NEW YORK—It's a darn good thing, fellas, that women have been ruled out of organized baseball. Just think of the radical changes that might have occurred to disrupt our national pastime.

With a few distaffers on each club, the uniforms would be a crazy quilt. Imagine any two women agreeing to wear the same clothing! And using the same gloves!

Hats would be changed with each switch in costume and nobody would be able to tell the players—even with a score card. And when a manager asked one of his female performers why she didn't slide into second on the last play of the inning, she might retort with: "What, and ruin my new slacks?"

An influx of women might have necessitated a complete alteration of baseball diction or perhaps a cleansing of dugout verbiage. Some of the players wouldn't know how to speak!

Such revered terms as "pinch hit," "intentional pass" and "squeeze play" would receive double interpretations.

Just think, men, if women were permitted in baseball the days of the "stage door Johnnie" might return.

But what of the calibre of play on the field? Supposing a team had a female shortstop-second base combination. Would this duo be so engrossed in conversation that they might not notice a ball hit past them for a hit? Perish the thought.

However, I'm very glad that women have been barred from baseball.

All Master Robert did recently was press a couple of gadgets and the family car jumped over a curbing and smacked a fence. The two gadgets were the ignition and the starter. The car was damaged a bit but Bobby wasn't.

Wicks of the Trade Will Produce Quality Eggs

COLLEGE STATION—The egg is a valuable product. It can stand rough treatment nor does it lose its high quality and flavor when laid if proper care is given.

The use of management practices in the laying house by the owner, says F. Z. Bean, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will increase income from eggs on the farm.

Clean eggs. The hens' part of the job but to the flock owner to the surroundings that surround the egg production post, there must be plenty of space—a nest for each hen; keep the nests clean; use clean absorbent material in the nests, such as straw, shavings, or clean sawdust. Keep the laying house clean and dry. There is plenty of space if the hens are on the ground, says the specialist. Don't play in a mudhole. Track mud into the nest holes. These are trouble spots.

Wash eggs at least three times and preferably five times with clean water. Then wash with a solution of one part of bleach to ten parts of water. Wash as soon as possible; case after the animal heat is over and always place the egg down in the cooler to go to market twice per week. Use cooling facilities as available.

available on the farm. If eggs are held on the farm, the holding temperature should be kept below 68 degrees F., says the specialist.

The importance of humidity in the egg holding room is reflected in the fact that only 31 per cent of the top grade eggs will be maintained when the humidity is allowed to drop below 75 per cent and the temperature to rise above 65 degrees F. The failure of egg producers and handlers to pre-cool egg cases, casing eggs before the animal heat is removed and marketing eggs less than twice per week greatly affects the percentage of high quality eggs marketed, says the specialist and thus reduces the economic return to both producers and handlers.

Here is another item that is often overlooked. It does make a difference whether the big or little end of the egg is placed down in the case. Research shows that only 73 out of 206 improperly packed eggs graded 'A' or better when the eggs rode to town on the big end; while 164 graded 'A' or better out of 200 when packed and transported with the large end up.

Beanblossom says egg producers are doing something about getting quality eggs to market in the summertime and cites figures from the areas in which grading programs are operating to prove that it pays to produce and market quality eggs. Right now he says, producers are averaging better than five cents per dozen more for their eggs where they are graded. He urges producers to participate in a quality egg program because it's a sure way to increase the returns from the poultry flock.

If eggs must be cleaned, don't wash them. Use an abrasive such as emery cloth or a buffer. Rub only the soiled spot. Doing the little things that are often overlooked in giving the egg proper environment, says Beanblossom, is good management and a sure way to improve egg quality and income.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Officer Bill Krueger wishes the Police Department would change the signs on his official car.

Help Children Develop Their Personalities

COLLEGE STATION—All parents want their children to develop into healthy personalities. Eloise Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, explains that personality is the term used to describe the whole person, the way he reacts to outside influences and the way he thinks, feels and behaves.

The specialist points out that this personality or whole person, is made up of an inherited basic structure plus the effects of training, knowledge, experiences and information plus family and community relationships and experiences.

The first factor in a healthy personality is the inherited basic structure. Physical, emotional and nervous systems and patterns can be changed very little. The big job is to realize this and help children to accept this fact. Lead them to live with themselves so they can grow into healthy personalities.

Much can be done about the second factor in building personalities. Mrs. Johnson suggests that children be given wide opportunities in the home, school, church and community to get sound practical training, experience, knowledge and understanding for the real tasks of living. This leads into the third factor, relationship with others. This two-way relationship is first experienced in the home. Family members continue to be the most important group which influences personality.

Preserved Foods Help Stretch Family Dollars

COLLEGE STATION — Two hundred seven thousand, five hundred fifty eight families were assisted in 1951 with food preservation problems, according to the annual report of the foods and nutrition specialists, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

This was the result of training and assistance given county home demonstration agents and local leaders.

In all, 2,431,937 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meats were canned and 24,423,409 pounds of food were frozen in accordance with practices recommended by the specialists. There were 331,440 quarts of food made into pickles and relishes.

The work in food preservation was always accompanied with plans for storage, food budgets, meal preparation and service. The report states that the preserved products were stored in 5,496 ventilated pantries, 32,680 home freezers and 36,470 frozen food lockers; that 55,786 families followed the Texas Food Standard in planning meals and improving diets and 129,351 families were assisted with food preparation and improved table service.

The specialists state that anyone may contact the local county home demonstration agent for specific information on food preservation methods. The bulletins B-194, HOME CANNING OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES and B-175, FROZEN FOODS, are free for the asking. Surplus foods preserved now, the specialists say, will stretch the food budget dollars this coming winter.

Andresito Garcia Quesada has not yet turned 5 and he can't read or write, but his chess playing is known throughout the country.

He's the son of a local barber who taught the boy to play chess six months ago. "In seven days he learned everything I know. Since then Andresito has consistently beaten me," the barber says.

Little black-eyed Andresito has defeated the top players of this city. The boy says he hopes to become world champion some day.

Pond Weeds Are Detriment to Farm Fish Ponds

COLLEGE STATION — There are a lot of ponds and tanks—more than 150,000—on Texas farms and ranches that could be utilized for producing fish. Many of these tanks have been stocked with fish but where good fish pond management practices haven't been followed trouble is often caused by heavy growths of pond weeds. According to R. E. Callender, specialist in wildlife conservation for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, these growths can be controlled. He points out that pond owners should remember that pond weeds under control are beneficial. They provide excellent habitat for water insects and tiny crustaceans which are valuable fish food. They also provide hiding places for the smaller fishes and he suggests that such growths not be completely eradicated from the fish ponds.

Generally, he says, pond weeds are of two types, submersed and emergent. The mosses make up the first group and the second is composed of plants which are rooted and grow from the shallow bottoms usually around the edges of the pond. They grow principally above water and include lotus, lily pads, cattails, bulrushes and other similar plants.

In ponds or tanks where moss growth is not excessive, Callender says, a good fertilizing program will aid in controlling moss. Fertilizer increases the growth of plankton in the water and this causes a murking which is often heavy enough to prevent sunlight from penetrating the water. Without sunlight, the mosses make little growth and often die. Therefore, says the specialist, a fertilizing program is a two-in-one deal—improves the food supply for fish and slows down underwater moss growth.

Callender recommends the use of sodium arsenite for controlling the excessive growths of moss in ponds. Best results have been obtained when the chemical was used during the months of April, May and June or before the moss takes over for the year. One gallon of the four pound strength sodium arsenite should be used to each 20 to 30,000 cubic feet of pond water. Mix the chemical with an equal amount of pond water and apply it to the surface of the pond with a compressed air type sprayer.

The chemical is poisonous and livestock should be excluded from the pond area for at least two weeks, says Callender. Care should be exercised when the spray is being mixed and sprayed and if the chemical gets on the skin, it should be washed off immediately, warns the specialist.

The chemical works rather rapidly and should the oxygen supply in the water become depleted, due to the decaying vegetation, Callender says, rapid stirring of the pond with outboard motors will help correct the situation.

For control of the emergent plants, he recommends cutting or pulling. He adds that research work is now being done on the use of chemicals such as 2,4-D and ammate sprays.

Callender urges pond or tank owners who plan to start a pond weed control program to contact their local county agent for complete details on how best to do the job.

Legumes Have Beneficial Effect On Soil, Long Range Studies Point Out

According to the agronomists of the Texas A. and M. College System and Soil Conservation Service, legumes, when properly fertilized and inoculated, have very beneficial effects upon the soils where they are grown. One of the most important effects is the influence legumes have on improving soil structure or soil condition. The agronomists point out that this refers to the way small particles are held together in the soil. The soil structure should be crumbly or granular so as to allow for deep root and water penetration and air circulation within the soil. In some soils the particles 'run together' to such an extent that little or no water or air can get into them. Planting deep rooted legumes, such as sweet clover and alfalfa on such soils, will materially improve this condition. The use of legumes like vetch, winter peas, annual yellow sweet clover, and crimson clover add materially to the organic matter and nitrogen content of soils, but do not necessarily open sub-soils, say the agronomists.

Some soils have a poor-plant-soil moisture relationship. That is, they have heavy dense sub-soils at a shallow depth. These sub-soils restrict the movement of air, water and plant roots which also limits the activity of life in the soil. Growing of deep rooted legumes or grasses will punch these heavy sub-soils full of holes and cause better movement of air, water and plant roots through the soil.

Soil life, say the agronomists, is made up of small animals and plants such as earth worms, bacteria and fungi. These organisms are a lot like plants for they, too, must have good, air and water to grow. Their food comes from legumes and other plant residue that is plowed under, as well as from the roots of these plants. Since air is a necessity, these small organisms are much more active at greater depths in soils that have been punched full of holes by deep rooted legumes. Growing deep rooted legumes, such as sweet clover, not only improves the soil home for the small organisms, but also increases the water penetration as well as the water holding capacity and aeration of the soil. All are needed to maintain and increase the productivity of cropland soils.

Legumes, especially when plowed under as a green manure crop increase the organic matter in soil. This organic matter helps hold together the small soil particles and improves the soil structure by making it granular. Soils high in organic matter have better air circulation and air space and will absorb and hold water that is needed by the plants and soil life. Growing deep rooted legumes, point out the agronomists, puts the organic matter from decaying roots deep in the soil and thus improves the soil condition or structure.

The agronomists urge farmers to make plans now for their fall legume planting. Soil samples should be taken from the fields where the legumes are to be planted and sent to the Soils Laboratory at College Station for analysis. The analysis will supply information on what kind and the amounts of fertilizers needed to make legume growing more successful in the various soil type areas of the State.

Whales Yield Perfume Ingredient

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Huntington Beach lifeguards Robert Isenor and Fred Swartz sighted a sick-looking whale recently and ran for two large garbage cans.

The next day they filled the cans with a floating mass they hoped was ambergris found in the ocean near the Santa Ana river mouth.

Ambergris, a secretion from whales, is used as an ingredient in the perfume industry, the lifeguards said. It is believed to command a high price.

Displaced Farmers Available

WASHINGTON (AP)—American farmers with labor problems can find a solution in the skilled European farmers now coming into this country from countries under the Communist yoke.

Rigidly tested by U. S. agricultural experts on their practical farming experience, the displaced farmers are mostly of German origin who were thrown off their farms by Communists. They are willing to start at the bottom as American farm workers. The more than 1,000 DP farming families are dairymen, poultrymen, cattlemen, wheat and corn farmers, truck farmers and hog raisers, for the most part.

A displaced farmer may obtain more information by writing to the Displaced Persons Commission, Washington 25, D. C., or to their state Displaced Persons Commission.

Quality Chicks Found Best In Getting Profits

The first cost may be higher for top quality chicks, but the profits usually will be greater. Chick quality, says W. J. Moore, poultry husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is measured in terms of low mortality, efficient use of feed, rapid growth, fast and complete feathering and uniform size. Then adds Moore, buy chicks that are bred to do the job that you want done—either to make meat or to produce eggs.

High death losses among baby chicks can quickly wipe out any chance for profits. Buying from hatcheries that participate in the National Poultry Improvement Plan, points out the specialist, is good insurance. Cooperating hatcherymen and poultry breeders under the plan must meet prescribed standards in their operations that include testing for pullorum and good flock sanitation. Thus, buyers are assured of getting quality chicks.

Losses among the older birds are even more expensive than chick losses. The death of a two pound bird means the loss of time and labor as well as about six pounds of feed and the original cost of the chick. The use of strict sanitation practices and vaccination against diseases that are known to exist in the area will help prevent these latter

Same All Over

SINGAPORE (AP)—This British crown colony city, like much of the rest of the world, has a housing shortage.

So when the Singapore Improvement Trust announced it would receive applications for new houses, a crowd of 8,000 stormed its offices. Police had to be called to control throngs clamoring to get application forms.

Producers should keep in mind these points, emphasizes the specialist, when buying chicks. Buy for quality and from hatcheries that carry on a good pullorum eradication and sanitation program and buy chicks bred specifically for either meat or egg production whichever fits your needs. Chicks with this kind of a background when given proper care will usually return a nice profit to the producer, says Moore.

Study Shows Cost of Wells On High Plains

It costs between $4,000 and $5,000 to develop and equip a new irrigation well on the High Plains of Texas, according to a study just published by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

These averages are based on installation and operation costs reported during 1947, 1948 and 1949 in a study of a yearly average of 176 wells in Lubbock, Hockley, Hale, Floyd and Swisher counties. Present costs may be somewhat higher than during the period of the study.

Installation costs included the drilling, casing and spillway for the well, which averaged $1,272. Purchase and operating costs are given for four types of power units used to pump irrigation wells. These were electric engines, small and large automobile engines and industrial engines. Respective initial costs during the period of this study were $720, $485, $782 and $1,320.

An average of 126 acre-feet of water was pumped per well each year of the study. The cost per acre-foot varied with the type of power used and whether the unit was operated with electricity, butane, gasoline or natural gas. Price ranges are shown for each kind of fuel.

The study, reported in Bulletin 745, briefs the historical development of irrigation from wells on the Texas High Plains. About 1,860,000 acres of Plains land were irrigated in 1950 from about 14,000 wells. Most of this development has taken place since 1934, with the greatest expansion since 1945. Well drilling continued at a rapid rate during 1951.

Cooperating in the study were the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology of the Texas Station and the Bureau of S. Department of Agriculture, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Copies of Bulletin 745 may be obtained from the Publications Office, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station, Texas.

Growing Pigs Need Care In Summer

COLLEGE STATION—Neglecting the pig crop now can cause trouble this fall. Growing pigs need attention during the hot summer months if they are to be ready for the early fall market, says E. M. Regenbrecht, swine husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Plenty of shade, water and a balanced diet are musts for growing pigs in the summer time. But because of the rush of farm work and shortage of labor, the pigs are often not provided with even the essentials for proper growth. If shade is not available in the hog pasture in the form of trees, then it should be provided. A brush arbor type structure, provided it is large enough, is entirely satisfactory, says Regenbrecht or an upright frame covered with a thick layer of hay makes a good shade.

Regenbrecht recommends running the pigs on a legume pasture if possible. If legumes are not available, he likes sudan.

Chinese Farms Collectivized

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists so far have set up 45 collective farms as a possible first step toward collectivization of the highly-individualistic farmers of China.

There are 10 of the farms in Manchuria containing 200,000 acres. The rest of the state farms are scattered throughout China proper.

Pigs on good pasture are not likely to become infested with worms and will be healthy. Protein requirements, too, can be cut in half by using pasture.

The easiest and surest way to have water in the hog lot at all times is with an automatic watering system. Pigs need much more water during the summer months and unless plenty of good clean and preferably cool water is available at all times, they will not do good.

The use of self-feeders will save time, feed and labor and will insure that the pigs get their feed when they need it. The feeders can be filled during slack times or between other farm jobs. Growing pigs also need a supplement along with the grain. This can be fed free-choice or mixed with the grain as can minerals if needed.

"All my life I've wanted to own a Buick"

POWER STEERING
on the Roadmaster and Super

Power Steering now available on Super as well as Roadmaster—optional at extra cost.

It seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about—plan for—and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel just a little bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this:
If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.
You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflo Drive®—the extra room and comfort and style that have put Buick popularity right up at the top of the list, next to the "low-priced three."

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do:
Come in—pick the one of your choice—and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step right away—today?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Drouth Has Short and Long Time Effect On Agriculture

COLLEGE STATION—Serious drouth conditions have both a short and long time effect upon agriculture. The immediate result is limited crop and livestock production while the long time effect may result in shifts of farm population and agricultural production.

During years of poor production, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, farm operators cannot keep their normal quota of labor and too, tenant families may decide to leave the farm to seek employment in industrial centers. Farm owners may be forced to seek employment off the farm in order to meet current expenses. The long time effect of crop failure is likely to be speeding up of the shift to urban centers, says the specialist.

This is happening while the total population of the nation climbs about 7,000 persons per day. Thus the demand for food and fiber climbs with the increase in population and at the same time, fewer families are left on the farms and ranches of the nation to produce these needed demands. Bates says more machinery and labor saving practices must be used by operators to offset the declining farm labor force. This condition requires that farm operators more carefully plan their operations in order to get the maximum returns from their own and hired labor.

to provide their chickens this very important item. There isn't any guessing about the failure because it has been observed by many flock owners in Texas. Water is generally a pretty cheap item on the farm but when it is not provided in sufficient quantities, chickens just don't do well.

He asks every poultryman to take another look at the "poultry" he is raising. See the things that are wrong. Study the flock as never before and chances are the changes made will insure greater profits from the flock.

Chickens not only like their water fresh and cool but they want it handy too. If the fountain is more than 10 feet away from the chicken, it may go thirsty rather than make the trip. Check the location of foundations as well as the total supply of water and add fountains if they are needed.

It is sometimes necessary to give medicine to the flock in the drinking water but warns there's a danger in doing it.

Some drugs just don't taste good to chickens and turkeys and they quit drinking. Watch the birds carefully when medication is used in the water, and if they quit drinking, better find another way to give the medicine for unless they drink lots of water, there'll be few eggs or little meat produced.

The word "priest" is a contracted form of "presbyter."

Plenty Water Necessary for Chicken Health

Canned Fruit Is Economical Diet Supplement

For a good diet, the Texas Food Standard calls for two servings of fruit daily for each member of the family. Jimmie Neil Harris, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service points out that fruits are generally popular and those canned now will help reduce the cost of living later.

Almost every homemaker has the equipment to can fruit. Miss Harris says water bath canners may be purchased but any big clean kettle with a rack and tight fitting lid will do if it is deep enough to hold the caps or jars upright. Also there must be room to permit the water to boil one or two inches over the top of the containers.

The specialist gives these general steps for canning fruit in the water bath. Before beginning the canning proper, wash containers in hot soapy water, rinse well; select only fresh, sound, well ripened fruit and prepare according to the type; make syrup according to personal preference as thin, medium or heavy.

One quart of syrup usually covers one quart of fruit. To prevent discoloration use ascorbic acid, citric acid, lemon juice, vinegar or commercial solutions.

The next step is to pack the prepared raw fruit in containers and add hot syrup. Then place the containers on a rack in the water bath for steaming. Allow hot water to come 2 inches below the top of the containers. Place the lid on the water bath and start to count steaming time when the water begins to boil. The length of time required for steaming depends on the kind of fruit and size of containers. At the end of the steaming time, press the fruit down, work out air bubbles, clean sealing surfaces and close according to the type of container being used.

The closed container of hot food is returned to the water bath. Add boiling water to cover the containers 1 to 2 inches. Re-press the lid on the water bath and count processing time as soon as the water begins to boil. At the end of processing time, remove the containers and plunge the cans into cold water. Place jars upright, out of a draft and far enough apart to allow quick cooling.

Pastures Should Be Managed Like Any Other Cash Crop

COLLEGE STATION — Pastures and meadows are a cash crop and should be used as such. E. M. Trew, associate agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, points out that many Texas pastures are not giving maximum production because they are mishandled.

He says farmers cannot expect high yields of beef or milk from land that is low in organic matter or minerals. The first step in building a pasture is to determine what factors are limiting its production of forage. Poor forage production can be caused by many things, but physical condition, mineral deficiencies and organic matter content of the soil are major considerations.

Trew points out that many soil production and management problems are directly or indirectly related to organic matter. Poor physical condition of soils is usually caused by a lack of organic matter. The establishment and maintenance of a plentiful supply of organic matter in the soil is important for maximum production. Once perennial grasses or legumes are established on a piece of land, the decomposition of the roots of these plants increases the organic matter which improves infiltration of water, reduces losses from erosion and furnishes food for bacteria. The bacteria in turn will break down the organic matter into nitrogen and minerals for the use of succeeding plants.

Another factor to be considered in building the pasture is the nitrogen content of the soil. A soil low in organic matter is low in nitrogen and a soil with sufficient organic matter may also be deficient in nitrogen. Trew cites as an example a Titus County demonstration. In the fall of 1950, a bermuda grass pasture was renovated, manured and 500 pounds of 0-14-7 commercial fertilizer applied. The following July ammonium nitrate was applied at rates of 150 and 300 pounds per acre. The check plot received no nitrogen and produced 1,440 pounds of hay per acre. The plot receiving the 150 pounds per acre application produced 3,280 pounds of hay and the 300 pound application resulted in a hay yield of 4,840 pounds. The cost for fertilizer was $6.40 and $12.75 respectively for the two applications.

The increased yield within the month produced hay at less than $7.00 per ton. The response from nitrogen was rapid and in addition to an increased yield, the protein content of the hay was higher.

By using all possible soil improving practices, Texas farmers may increase the production from both their row crop land and pastures. Continuous row cropping will deplete the organic matter in the soil, but by rotating row crops and pastures, organic matter may be maintained at a profitable level, Trew says.

School Curriculum Criticized

He was somewhat critical of the general over-emphasis on music and the emotional release provided by it. Drawing and painting are a more constructive form of self-expression, he said.

IN THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

Some days when we get up and back from sitting in front of fans, the idea of circulating plenty of air through a house without any direct blasts seems attractive.

One way to accomplish this is by dealing with circulating warm air in the house to use diffusers.

Large bunches of concentric ducts inside another, which are seen in restaurant ceilings and other public places, are spreading the rush of air by high pressure ducts in all the directions a fan can spread on the ceiling. The result is no draft. Although the full velocity of air is from an outlet, it is so that you can light a cigarette with no difficulty. Still, in a room is continuously circulated.

One gets a convincing demonstration of these gadgets by a high velocity air duct into two outlets: one grilles, as with a register, the other capped with a stand in front of the opening and it will knock off. Stand in front of the duct and you scarcely feel a draft. This was demonstrated some years ago when the first diffusers were exhibited at the Architects Samples Corporation in New York. Nowadays the diffusers are even adjustable.

The advantages of diffusers are of especial interest right now for various reasons:

1. This is the season when prudent householders who need new heating plants have such systems installed before they are caught short by cold weather.
2. Small pipe heating systems, circulating hotter air at higher velocities, are becoming more and more popular. The House and Home edition of the Magazine of Building finds manufacturers expecting these 3 1/2 and 4-inch heating ducts to be the accepted standard within five years.
3. The development of air-cooling for the average house is making provision for cooled air desirable for when, as and if you want to add it. Air ducts pave the way.
4. The circulation of air in a room from the center of a ceiling is much more agreeable than pouring it in along the floor, or spilling it out from the walls.

The functioning of ceiling diffusers is explained most understandably by H. A. Baker of the W. B. Connor Engineering Corp. of Danbury, Conn. Baker says: "A regular forced warm air furnace is used as the heating element. Where the ordinary system has a large horizontal main duct in the cellar with branches fanning out to the floors or baseboards of the rooms above, this furnace 'bonnet' goes straight up through the house to the attic and is concealed in a closet.

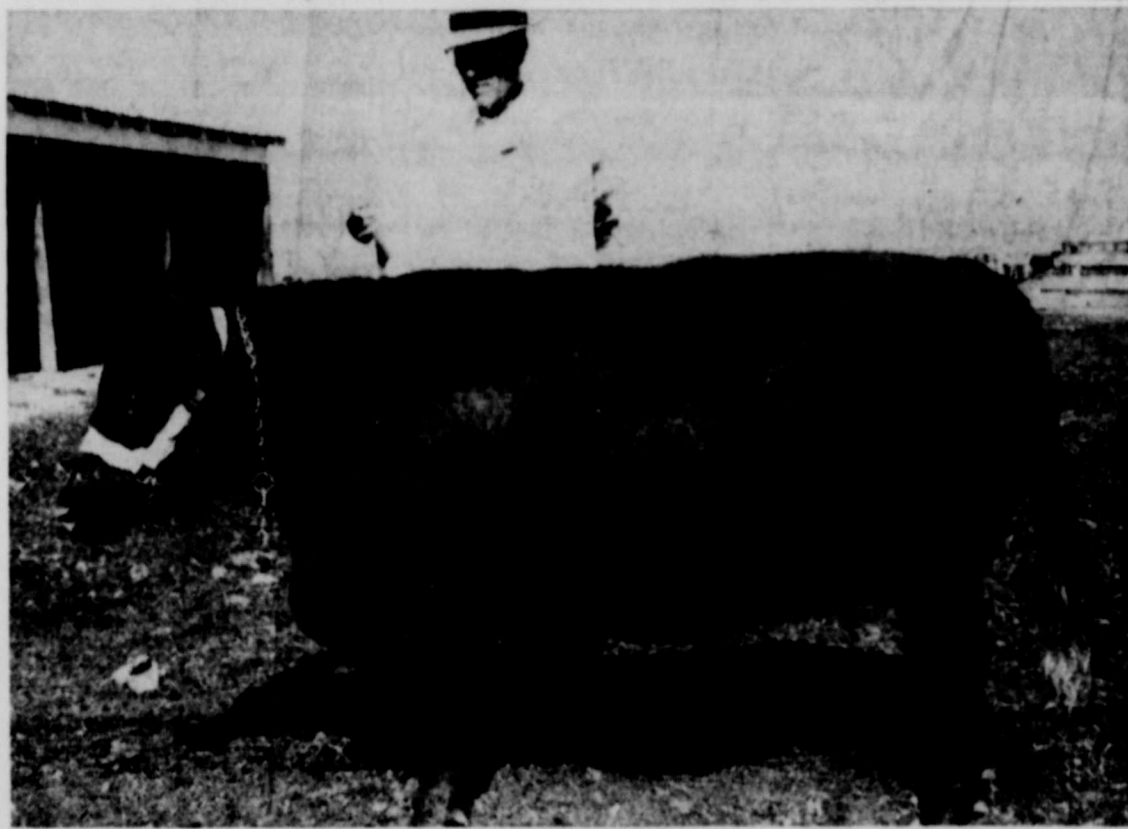

"Branch ducts are then laid across or under the attic floor and down to the diffusers in the center of each room's ceiling. Intake grilles return cooler air to the furnace from points in the baseboards below windows. These pull down, or siphon, the air.

"This action produces a constant, yet gentle and imperceptible, air motion throughout the entire house. Uniform temperature results."

The incoming air in this system is discharged from the diffuser in an umbrella-pattern. It entrains, as the engineers call it, about 4 1/2 times as much room air which acts as a brake as it is dragged along, slowing down the movement. Because of this mixing there is no draft, even with very low ceilings.

First Negro In Texas Loop Proves Popular

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

(P) Newsfeatures
DALLAS, Texas—One of the greatest drawing cards in Texas League history is Dave Hoskins. Hoskins is a Negro—the first of his race to play in the Texas League. He was brought in this year by Dick Burnett, owner of the Dallas club, who said since Dallas of the National Football League was going to use Negroes he thought professional baseball also had the same right.

Moreover, he said he figured it would help his attendance. It most certainly has.

The tall Negro pitcher has started 15 games at the halfway mark of the league race. Those games drew 94,125 fans—an average of 6,275.

The Dallas club in 36 home dates drew 136,707—an average of 3,792. But Hoskins's average, pitching in Dallas, was 5,891. In other words, he not only was drawing more than 2,000 better than any other Dallas pitcher at home but was drawing even better, pitching away from home. Four games away from home drew 29,319—an average of 7,329.

The Negro fans really come out when Hoskins pitches and the white fans do, too.

Hoskins is popular with both races. He's indeed popular with Burnett who has seen the Negro win 11 games. Dallas was leading the race at the halfway point by better than two games. Hoskins is also a good hitter

Treasure Hunt Upsets Town

PRESCOTT, Ark.—A "treasure trove" of $84 has been found much to the relief of town fathers.

The money was hidden by radio station KXAR as a publicity stunt. Since that day about a month and a half ago, the town has been topsy-turvy. People had searched in the town clock and the Prescott high school football stadium among other places. At one point, high school officials had to pad lock the stadium to keep the field from being almost completely denuded of grass.

When the treasure was found in the city park by Mrs. Gus McCaskill, station manager L. B. Tooley said more than 500 persons were milling around the area.

and a deer on the base paths. Burnett figures without Hoskins he would be way down in attendance.

The Dallas owner has realized probably $50,000 from Hoskins already. In other words, Dave has earned his salary many times in half the season.

Hoskins has worked five Sundays and on four dates when there were double-headers. But he draws big crowds pitching on week-days. He worked one Monday at Shreveport and there were 7,130. On a Friday he pitched in 7,946 at Dallas. Neither was a double-header.

Hoskins' biggest crowd has been 11,004 at Houston on a Sunday.

Girls Paint Garage Murals

LAKELAND, Calif. (P)—Two 17-year-old high school girls found some left-over house paint and turned it into life-sized Hawaiian murals on their garage.

Both girls, Jeanette Wallace and Pat Brehm, are art students and their handiwork has received numerous compliments.

In fact, says Pat, a neighbor has hired them to do murals on three sides of his patio.

A big advantage in ceiling outlets is that wall space is left free for furniture placement. The diffuser can be painted to match the ceiling, or it can form an ornamental collar for a chandelier in a dining room. In oversize living rooms you can locate diffusers on quarter centers.

The Connor organization has been installing diffusers in commercial buildings for many years.

Napoleon III Letter Found

BOLOGNA, Italy (P)—The document for which France has been looking for the past 80 years has been discovered in the archives of a count here.

The document is the signed letter with which Napoleon III, last emperor of France, surrendered at Sedan to Wilhelm I of Germany. The document disappeared from the German court between 1872 and 1875.

The letter says: "Mister my brother, as I was unable to die in the midst of my troops, I have only to hand my sword in the hands of Your Majesty. I am, of Your Majesty, the good brother —Napoleon."

The document belongs to the two sons of the late attorney Francesco Galli, Gallo Quinto and Gallo Quarto.

It is estimated that fire destroys over 460 million cubic feet of timber in the United States every year.

Frog Love-Making Studied

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Among other things, a 10-year study of frogs has added a new word to the language of love-making. It's "nudging." That, according to Dr. N. Bayard Green, Marshall College zoologist, is how the Upland Chorus frog procreates. Many of the males, he found, are chaste, but not by choice. He said they just don't get a tumble from the females, who do the courting on their own. And that croak may simply fail to attract her when boy frog meets girl frog. She always gets her man anyway because there are more "hims" than "hers." During his long studies Green observed some 6,000 frogs. For that he got a doctor's degree this summer at Ohio State University. It pays to use classified ads.

'Reaching My Prime Now' Says Third Baseman Kell

By FRANK ECK (AP) Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—George Kell was finding it rough regaining his batting form when we last saw him. That was back on May 1 in Yankee Stadium when he was with the Tigers and hitting .261 in the first 12 games. Everybody knows third baseman Kell is not that kind of a hitter. He is fifth in total hits among the American League's active batters with more than 1,300 safeties. Something was wrong. "I'm off on my timing," said Kell. "I'm going to start hitting that ball back to the pitcher just to get my bat and swing back in the groove." That's just what Kell did when he was traded by Detroit to the Boston Red Sox on June 2. He left the Motor City batting .297 in 40 games. First game in a Red Sox uniform he accounted for five runs with a home run and a double. The next day he made two more hits. He hit in his first 10 games with the Sox before he was stopped. At the 60-game mark Kell was hitting .325 and pressing Cleveland's Al Rosen and Boston's Dom DiMaggio for the lead. There's a good chance that Kell will lead the league in hitting. He has before. In 1949 he hit .343, beating Ted Williams by a fraction of a point. Kell has hit better than .304 his last six years so you can see Red Sox manager Lou Boudreau knew what he was doing when he demanded Kell in the nine-player deal with Detroit. "It was the biggest mistake I ever made in baseball when I traded George Kell to Detroit for Barney McCosky," Connie Mack often has said. That was back in 1946 and the native of Swifton, Ark., has hit in the upper strata ever since, leading the league in hits the last two seasons. Kell broke in with the Athletics in 1943. This is his 10th year in the league. He spent four years in the minors, topping his Class A career with a .396 at

GEORGE KELL Gets The Hits

Lancaster, Pa., in 1943. His average that year was baseball's highest. "After 10 years it's tough to get much better," says Kell. "But I think I'm reaching my prime right now. I figure I should be good for at least three to five more years." Had the experts known in the spring that the Red Sox were to get Kell, Tom Yawkey's club would have been picked for the sixth straight spring to win the pennant. They've won it only once during that time, but with Kell in the lineup the Red Sox are the darkhorse team in the American League. Only injuries prevented him from making the All-Star game five straight years. He missed in 1948 when he suffered a fractured wrist in May. He also suffered a fractured jaw in August of the same year when he got in the way of a Joe DiMaggio drive. Not only has the 29-year-old Kell taken over the No. 4 batting slot for the Red Sox, but it wouldn't be surprising to see him become the league's most valuable player.

Good Time Likes the Front

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—It will take an exceptionally good horse to beat Good Time. Once this 6-year-old trotter gets on top he is unbeatable. In winning the recent U. S. Harness Writers' Trophy race at Roosevelt Raceway, Good Time forged to the front around the first turn and had little trouble leading all the way three times around the popular half-mile oval. It was the ninth straight time this season Bill Cane's Good Time Stable champion went to the front and was there first at the finish.

Good Time, now the biggest money winner in trotting history, has pocketed $261,985.96 with the winning of the Writers' race. Trainer-Driver Frank Ervin has done a remarkable job with Good Time since the trotter lost his first four outings this year. Only three other horses have won more than $200,000 during their sulky careers. They are Goldsmith Maid, Proximity and Pronto Don. Only the latter is still racing.

When you pick a Tractor... be sure you can always get parts

Any tractor is a big investment. You have every right to expect years of profitable performance from such an investment. In this connection one of the first things to think about is—"Will I always be able to get parts?"

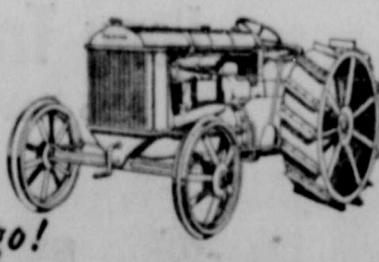

The Ford Motor Company manufactures the Ford Tractor. What greater assurance could you have of being able to get parts—anytime, anywhere. Not only is this important to you as long as you have the tractor, but it is also something the buyer thinks about seriously when you go to sell or trade in your used Ford Tractor. This is only one of the many reasons why a used Ford Tractor commands a high resale price.

THE SIGN FOR SERVICE

that can't be beat! We are pretty proud of this service sign. We do our best to live up to those seven letters S-E-R-V-I-C-E. We spend time and money training our mechanics. But we feel this is worthwhile to us because it's worthwhile to our customers. We try to keep an adequate stock of genuine parts on hand at all times... and to stock up on parts ahead of the busy seasons so we have what you need in emergencies. We cordially invite you to look over our service setup.

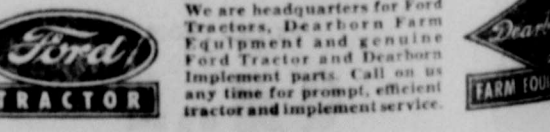

You can even get parts for Fordson tractors built 37 years ago!

HERE'S AN Idea WORTH TALKING OVER ... can farming be made more profitable?

We're not promising the moon, but we'd like to see if we can help you make more money, or save work. We do know that on a good many farms we've been able to make recommendations that worked out profitably. At least, it's an idea worth talking over. We are making farm visits all the time and hope to reach you soon. However, we invite you not to wait but drop in anytime. You'll find that we are really interested in discussing your problems and helping all we can. We do know that the future of the farmer depends greatly on the efficiency of all farm operations. We know something about this subject. That's why we think it will pay you, as well as us, to "get better acquainted."

LET US OVERHAUL YOUR TRACTOR Between now and spring have us put your Ford Tractor in first class condition, while we have more time and can give it special attention. You can depend on our Ford Tractor trained mechanics and genuine Ford Tractor parts. Avoid delays for repairs in your rush season. Phone... we'll pick up your tractor.

GOD'S LIVING LETTERS

For his creations in plant life, Luther Burbank came to be one of the ten most famous men on earth. He began as a boy with the production of a new and vastly improved potato. In the garden he found a potato seed-ball, a rarely encountered phenomenon. He planted its twenty seeds and from their vines came one "so vastly better that it was practically a new vegetable."

This original Burbank potato is the parent of practically all the improved varieties now being planted. It has been estimated that the increased yield because of this improvement has added more than a billion dollars to the wealth of the world.

"Luther Burbank's Plant Contributions" is the title of a bulletin published by the University of California. One hundred and ten pages of fine print are filled with a list and brief descriptions of his creations. He introduced more than two hundred varieties of fruits: apples, blackberries, raspberries, strawberries, fruiting cacti, cherries, figs, grapes, nectarines, peaches, pears, plums, plumcots, prunes, quinces, almonds, chestnuts, walnuts. In California alone there are two million plum trees which came from his stock. His fruits, vegetables and flowers are now being grown in literally every corner of the earth.

Luther Burbank was born in 1849 and died in 1926. In 1877 he moved from Massachusetts to Santa Rosa, California, where he resided to the end of his life. His first big success came when he filled a hurry-up order for twenty thousand prune trees by planting thirty thousand almond stones, because of swift growth. Six months later he placed French prune buds on the almond seedling stock. His long period of creative work was confined to a four-acre nursery and a sixteen-acre farm. Through an understanding of nature's laws and by faithful cooperation, Luther Burbank became a veritable creator of new plant life.

Proof of God's love for His children is seen in the fact that He sent His well-loved Son to show mankind the practical way to obtain freedom from sin, sickness and death. "Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read this Sunday in Christian Science churches, and the theme of the Christ-mission is discussed.

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians (4:6), "God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ."

Something of the hope that was brought to a confused world with Jesus' coming is indicated in this prophecy from Isaiah (9:2): "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined."

That saving, redeeming light is as powerful today as it was in Jesus' time, according to these words from the Christian Science textbook, included in the Lesson-Sermon: "The advent of Jesus of Nazareth marked the first century of the Christian era, but the Christ is without beginning of years or end of days. Throughout all generations both before and after the Christian era, the Christ as the spiritual idea,—the reflection of God,—has come with some measure of power and grace to all prepared to receive Christ. Truth, the divine image, idea, or Christ was, is, and ever will be inseparable from the divine Principle, God" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 333).

Hitters Getting All the Breaks?

CP Newsfeatures
HOUSTON, Tex. — Allen Russell, president of the Houston club of the Texas League, thinks something must be done to bring hitting back to baseball.

The pitchers, he says, have so much the best of it throughout the game that baseball is dying for the lack of the fan-making, customer drawing excitement that goes with the home run and the fat score.

He is particularly aware of it because his club is a sad last in a league notably without skill or power at the plate.

What to do? Russell would move the pitching rubber back a mere 6 inches. "You'll see all the difference that's needed," he declares.

It would put a horrendous dent in all curve ball pitching if, in fact, it didn't kill it until a new crop of pitchers could be produced. It also would put a damper on the burn in the fast ball.

He says football and the military service are largely responsible for the absence of the good hitters who used to roam the diamond.

"Hitting requires a strong body, whereas pitching requires only a strong arm," he says. "Football is claiming most of the strong-bodied boys of athletic inclination as soon as they show up in high school."

"It has been demonstrated repeatedly in recent years that young hitters are damaged, if not ruined, by two or more years of military service. Few of them touch a bat during those many months. Calisthenics develop a different set of muscles."

Family Bunches Birthdays

MANSFIELD, O. (AP)—When the middle of May rolls around each year the Tryon family has to buy five birthday cakes.

The recent arrival of Deborah Sue Tryon marks the fifth birthday in four days. She was born May 18. The next day is the birthday of Bobby, 9, followed by the birthdays of the twin girls, Marlene and Charlene, 10, and Barbara, 20.

Deborah Sue is 40-year-old Mrs. Tryon's 16th child.

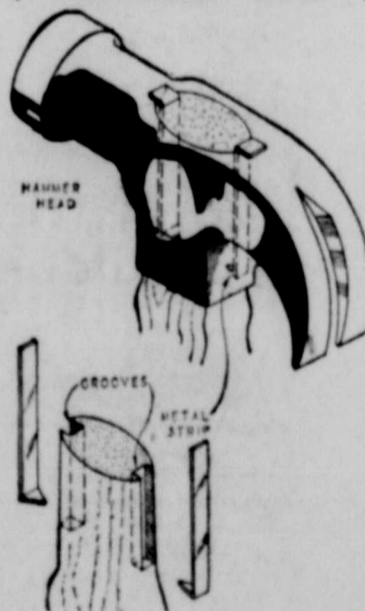

Weather conditions in some sections of the state will permit normal harvesting of the silage crop. Burleson says to get the most feed nutrients per acre from the silage crop, corn should be harvested when it is just past the roasting ear stage; sorghums in the soft dough stage; sudan and other grasses just before they bloom and legumes in the early bloom stage.

Regardless of the condition of the crop at harvest time, Burleson says pack, pack and then pack some more when the silo is being filled. The greatest single cause of spoilage or waste, he says, is not enough packing at filling time.

As a final recommendation on preventing waste, the specialist suggests that a box-type trough, on runners, and with a V-slot through which the cows feed be used for feeding silage and hay. Information on this type trough may be obtained from the local county agricultural agent, says Burleson.

Walkie-Lookie TV

NEW YORK (AP)—The political conventions at Chicago this summer are expected to afford a job for a new television device. It's a "walkie-lookie," next step up from the walkie-talkie.

Weighing only 46 pounds it is compact enough for one man to carry around and operate, much as he would an ordinary camera. The pictures being taken would be fed into the regular TV channels for relay.

Use of this gadget on the convention floor would enable the camera to get into spots impracticable for the larger and more cumbersome units.

Fowl 'Shots' Speeded Up

VANCOUVER, Canada (AP)—Mass vaccination of poultry flocks against pulmonary disease will be available here shortly, replacing the present tedious bird-by-bird procedure. Dr. J. Bankier, provincial pathologist, said the fowl could be "sprayed" with the vaccine at the rate of 10,000 per hour.

Toast-- Don't Roast In the Sun

By BETTY CLARKE
Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

The big summer broil is under way. From coast to coast feminine pulchritude is exposed to the sun for better—or worse. And many times it is for worse. If you've ever had a bad sunburn, you need not be reminded of that big fry. Painful experience can make us aware of the effects of too much sunshine for many years. Sometimes we become so fearful of the sun's rays, however, that we dodge the sun even on the way to market.

It is possible to corral the beneficial rays of the sun by common sense. The first rule is to time your exposure to the sun. The second precaution is to use a good suntan oil which should protect you from the sun's drying effects, a contributing cause of wrinkles and irregular pigmentation.

If your goal is to tan, and you are fair-skinned, you will not be able to accomplish a honey hue overnight. Most girls expect miracles from suntan lotions. As one complained: "I bought a suntan lotion because I always redden and blister. The first day I rubbed it on one arm as a sort of test. I burned all over except my arm—it was perfectly white. I expected to be tanned by the lotion, but found it was a waste of money."

That is a silly letter. The girl found a lotion which prevented a painful sunburn, permitting her to absorb healthful sun rays, perhaps, and she wasn't satisfied. Her suntan lotion—obviously a good one—would have protected her and afforded a gradual tan. But people who burn easily cannot tan overnight. Most times they are lucky to tan at all.

A good suntan lotion which screens out burning rays can help you if used faithfully. But tanning depends on the skin of the individual, and there will be many different reactions from the use of the same lotion.

Be sure your lotion is a good one. Consult your physician but don't be a guinea pig and trust to a lotion about which you know nothing. There are many good suntan lotions available—one has been approved by the committee on cosmetics of the American Medical Association.

Hybrid Corn Acreage Gains On Texas Farms

Texas corn producers like to plant corn hybrids. Their popularity is reflected in figures only recently released by the Office of Crop Estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. For 1952, they say that 1,655,000 acres or 71 per cent of all corn in Texas was planted to hybrids. This compares with 15 per cent in 1945 and less than one per cent in 1941, the year Texas hybrids first became available.

Primary reasons for the widespread use of corn hybrids, says E. A. Miller, agronomist for the Texas Extension Service, have been numerous and successful demonstrations supervised by local county agents and the publicity relating to the demonstrations. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, through breeding, research and testing, has provided seed stock of adapted hybrids that have outyielded the best native varieties. The newer yellow hybrids, Texas 24, 26, 28 and 30 and the white hybrid Texas 11W have produced yields that averaged 30 per cent and in some cases 50 per cent more than the best native varieties.

Here is what the 30 per cent yield increase will mean to Texas corn producers in 1952. Despite unfavorable weather, Miller says the increase should amount to about five bushels per acre or a total of 8,275,000 bushels. Based on the present price of corn, this means Texas corn producers have earned for themselves about $14,000,000 extra for growing the better yielding hybrids. Miller adds this amounts to a 700 per cent profit on the investment for hybrid seed or a return of about $7.00 for each dollar spent for seed.

For the United States as a whole, Miller continues, 84.4 per cent of all the corn planted in 1952 is hybrids. In the corn belt states, practically 100 per cent of the total corn acreage is planted to corn hybrids.

Miller believes that Texas producers will continue to replace the open pollinated varieties of corn with hybrids because they now know that the extra bushels produced by the hybrids can be had at no increase in production costs except for planting seed and this is a small item on a per acre basis.

New and better hybrids continue to be the goal for corn breeders of the Experiment Station and only recently announcement was made that farmers in 1953 will be able to secure planting seed of Texas 13W, a new high yielding white hybrid. The story of corn hybrids and their economic importance to the life of America, concludes Miller, is just another example of what research work in the land-grant colleges means to American agriculture.

Business Good

NEW YORK (AP)—Business was at a relatively high level throughout New York State in May, except for "depressed" industries such as apparel, shoes, and small metal trades which continue to be soft.

A survey by the State Employment Service of 5,100 firms employing 250,000 workers indicates they foresee a 3 per cent increase in jobs by August. More than 700 of the business firms with defense contracts predict a 6 per cent expansion in employment.

The construction industry, also considered a soft area, may improve because of eased material curbs resulting from the defense stretch-out. Construction jobs rose in March for the first time in eight months to 94,800, or 4 per cent above totals of the previous month.

Designed to handle ALL SOIL CONDITIONS easily, Noble Cultivator attachments can be supplied for any soil condition. No cultivator without attachments can suit all conditions. Even where a plow will not penetrate, as for other harvest work in certain dry baked soils, the Noble straight blade attachment will usually penetrate and work satisfactorily.

For weeding and second stroke summerfallow work the weeder blade is readily interchangeable, going on the same frog as the regular shovel blade. This weeder assures a better weed kill than the ordinary blade and should be used wherever the ground is sufficiently loose that it will penetrate. It clears through, penetrates and withstands rocks where the ordinary rod weeder will not.

The Model M shown above is very popular for use with Noble squadron hitches, from two to seven in a unit, for large power.

His Gun Collection Could Make Big Noise

By James F. Tomlinson

Newsfeatures
HARDIN, Mont.—A boy who trapped coyotes so he could get his first gun has grown up—and so has his gun collection, now totaling 150 pistols, 150 rifles and a dozen shotguns.
Like most boys, Fred Welter's big ambition was to own a gun. To get money, he took to trapping coyotes out in the lonely Big Horn River country near here, where Custer stood against the Sioux.
Fred soon stacked up enough pelts to buy his first rifle—a .22-caliber Remington. But one gun didn't satisfy Fred and, in time he surrounded himself with hundreds.

Guns Have a History
A look at Fred's collection is a look at the old West, for many of his guns have a history. Fred has a 44-caliber pistol with an extra hold on the trigger guard. It was once owned by one of the Younger brothers who rode with Jesse James' gang.
Another gun—a Colt Peace-maker of 1872—was found at Leaf Rock Ranch where Fred grew up. Fred has several old cap and ball pistols, including some used in the '49 gold rush.
A 44 Colt Frontier has also found its way into Fred's arsenal. It's the same type Billy the Kid and Dutch Cassidy used in old days of the shooting West.

Toy-Size Guns
In contrast to the big pistols of the fresh-air outlaws are the little toy-size vest-pocket models once carried by barroom cards sharps. Fred has two gamblers' guns—a little 6-inch Colt 22 and a Colt 41 derringer, just over 4 inches long.

Fred also has the first Lady Smith gun, a .30-caliber pistol rumored to have been the property of Calamity Jane. Wild Bill Hickok was once the owner of Fred's 1860 .32-caliber gun.
The oldest gun in the collection is a 56-caliber Japanese pistol made in 1500. This ancient weapon was fired by wrapping a piece of flexible punk around the grip, threading it through the trigger and into the powder pan.
Fred still shoots an English Tower flint lock pistol, even though it's 191 years old.

Has Strange Specimen
The "pepperbox" or "peppercot" guns are among the strangest in Fred's collection. They have from four to six barrels which revolve as the gun fires. One is a six-barreled .30-caliber Belgian "pepperbox" made in 1800, another a Remington .30 caliber Derringer rimfire with four barrels.
Fred is proudest, perhaps, of his Winchester rifles. He has every model from 1866 to date. He also owns every model of Sharp's rifle.
His big collection takes a lot of care—oiling and polishing. But Fred spends a lot of time thinking how he can get more guns.
Right now he's looking for something a little bigger—a Civil war cannon.

Santa Fe, New Mexico was called "The Royal City of the Holy Faith of St. Francis" by the Spaniards who first settled in it.
The necklace is believed to be the oldest form of jewelry.

RARE SIGHT—This shoulder-high field of sweet corn is a rare sight in Ochiltree county this summer, but this field is on irrigated land of Roger Pearson south of Waka. Shown with the corn is Brownie Cagle and it is estimated that the corn will make 50 bushels per acre.

Kroll Hits His Goal

CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Kroll, golfer from New Hartford, N. Y., is making ends meet, thank you. Kroll last spring said "a pro golfer would have to win between $10,000 and $12,000 on tour to make it worth while." Kroll recently passed the $10,000 mark in earnings for the year when he finished ninth to gain $400 in the Canadian Open.

Kroll is the fourth male golfer to pass that figure this year. The others have been Cary Middlecoff, the leader, Jack Burke, Jr., and Lloyd Mangrum.

Most plants which grow in meadow land are European imports. The clovers were brought here deliberately, but daisies, buttercups, thistles and others moved over by themselves.

CONLEY HEREFORDS—This registered Hereford cow and bull will be shown at the North Plains Fair by Gary Conley. Gary has a herd of Wheatheart Herefords which he started several years ago.

Minerals and Vitamins Needed For Good Hogs

Swine producers who feed their animals on rations deficient in minerals and vitamins can expect trouble. This warning comes from E. M. Regenbrecht, swine husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The trouble, he adds, will show up in the form of stunted pigs and in severe cases death losses will occur.

One of the most common of these deficiency diseases in hogs is leg weakness, down in the back, paralysis of the rear parts of rickets. There is a common misunderstanding among many hog raisers that these troubles are caused by kidney worms. This, according to Regenbrecht, is not the case and the trouble can be prevented by proper feeding.

It is a sound management practice to keep a good mineral mixture before hogs of all ages, he says. The cost of minerals is small because hogs eat only a limited amount. The specialist suggests the following as a good mineral mixture. Two pounds of limestone or oyster shell flour; two pounds of bone meal; one pound of iodized salt and one-tenth pound of iron sulphate. If limestone or oyster shell flour cannot be obtained, then use four pounds of bone meal.

He says about two pounds of this mixture should be fed with every 100 pounds of feed. This mineral supplement can be mixed with the feed or fed in a separate mineral box where hogs have access to it at all times.

Vitamin A is the one vitamin that is most often lacking in the hog ration, says Regenbrecht. This vitamin has never been successfully stabilized in stored feed and even though it has been added to the feed, feeders cannot be sure that it is in the feed in sufficient quantities. Good, green, succulent pastures are the best source of this vitamin and Regenbrecht points out that every hog producer should make every possible effort to have year-round grazing for his hog herd. Too, he adds, good pastures can save about 50 per cent of the protein supplement and also considerable grain.

Of course, he adds, vitamins other than vitamin A are needed in the ration. These are supplied if a complete ration is being fed and if the ration materials are high in quality.

Hogs need comfortable surroundings if they are to do well during the hot summer months, and Regenbrecht says that in addition to good feed and pasture, they need plenty of clean, cool water and a ventilated shade. A concrete hog wallow will soon pay for itself in the summer time. Hogs must be kept in top condition if they are to give profitable gains. The care during the summer months determine whether or not pigs go to market at a high price early in the fall before the marketing season begins.

Hunters in Arkansas Now Getting a Break

By ROY BOSSON

Newsfeatures

LITTLE ROCK — In Arkansas they are building lakes just for fishing and blocking off huge sections of land just for hunting.

The result is that Arkansas sportsmen, who until seven years ago saw their best hunting and fishing grounds disappearing to private clubs, now have a growing territory which is drawing sportsmen from all over the country.

Two outstanding developments in this "new deal" for the ordinary citizen who cannot afford membership in a private club are the 6,700-acre Lake Conway and the 40,000-acre Bayou Meto public shooting and game refuge.

These two, plus three other vast public shooting areas and numerous smaller public fishing lakes are a direct result of a 1945 uprising of Arkansas sportsmen. The uprising resulted in a Constitutional amendment completely divorcing the State Game and Fish Commission from politics.

Prior to that period every time there was a change in the state administration there was a complete turnover in personnel in the state game department. Old Wardens were fired, new ones hired, and sportsmen were getting little for their licenses.

License Fees Misused

Once the state legislature even took money paid by sportsmen for licenses and used it to pay their own salaries. With the 1945 amendment this was changed. All license money ($1.50 for an Arkansas resident, now goes for game and fish purposes.

Completion of Lake Conway just outside Little Rock, opening of the huge Bayou Meto shooting area, and the opening of an elaborate $1,000,000 state game and fish building in the past two years are evidence of what can be done with the sportsman's $1.50. The license fee is the lone revenue which the commission receives.

Lake Conway is unique because it was built strictly for fishing—with no flood control, power units, or lake home development areas in mind.

A 1,200-foot long, earth-filled dam 16 feet high was built across Palarm Creek and a concrete spillway and steel flood-gate installed.

Little of the timber in the heavily forested basin was cut and the lake now is a veritable forest in water with an average depth of seven to 13 feet. Underbrush was left where it was so that fish would have plenty of cover.

All timber except the stately cypress and Tupelo gum eventually will die out, leaving a ghost forest in the water, but anxious Arkansas fishermen already have cut boat lanes through the tree tops so they can reach their favorite spots.

Lake Well Stocked

The lake has been stocked with black bass, crappie, bream and catfish. The entire shoreline for 50 feet back of the water's edge is owned by the commission and must be kept open to the public.

In addition, the commission has set aside numerous recreational and picnic areas and public landing places. Motorboats on the lake are restricted to five horsepower.

When private hunting clubs were buying good duck hunting spots and rice farmers saw a chance to sell the right to hunt on their lands, the commission stepped in to help the week-end hunter.

The commission set aside a 40,000-acre tract in south Arkansas country on the Bayou Meto. Although it is in the heart of the Mississippi flyway and ideally situated for duck hunting, the Bayou Meto also mgt all requirements for a multi-purpose project. It was suitable for fur-bearers, deer, turkey and squirrel in addition to quail and migratory wildfowl.

During peak migrations there are more than one million wild ducks in the area. A 10,000-acre refuge has been set up there to keep a plentiful supply of ducks on hand.

The commission has built low dams to assure plenty of water in the cypress and pin-oak flats of the shooting area. Numerous access roads are being constructed into the wilderness for the nimrod's convenience. Before the roads were built hunters had to use Army ducks, tractors and half-tracks to get to the interior.

Recently, on insistence of Game and Fish secretary T. A. McAmis, the commission purchased the 7,000-acre Big Lake public shooting area in Mississippi county alongside a federal game refuge. It is also on the Mississippi flyway.

Land Is Dirt Cheap

The land at Big Lake was purchased for about $5 an acre and that at Bayou Meto for about $7 an acre.

Near Big Lake the commission also has purchased a 9,942-acre tract on the Black River as a public hunting area. Another section of similar size was bought in central Arkansas.

Adjoining Lake Conway near Little Rock the commission also controls 4,205 acres of ground formerly owned by Camp Joe T. Robinson on which it hopes to eventually establish public shooting and recreation.

It also has constructed Horsehead Lake near Clarksville, and owns and controls Crystal Lake near Lake Village, Old Town Lake in Little River county, and another lake in Benton county.

All of these are kept well stocked and open to the public. All of this has been bought and paid for since 1945.

That's probably why Arkansas sells more hunting and fishing licenses than it does poll taxes—which this year total more than $14,000,000.

Roads have been built leading to the swampy Bayou Meto public shooting ground in Arkansas. When hunting season opens automobiles line the roads near jumping off places.

Nuns Fight Drug Addiction

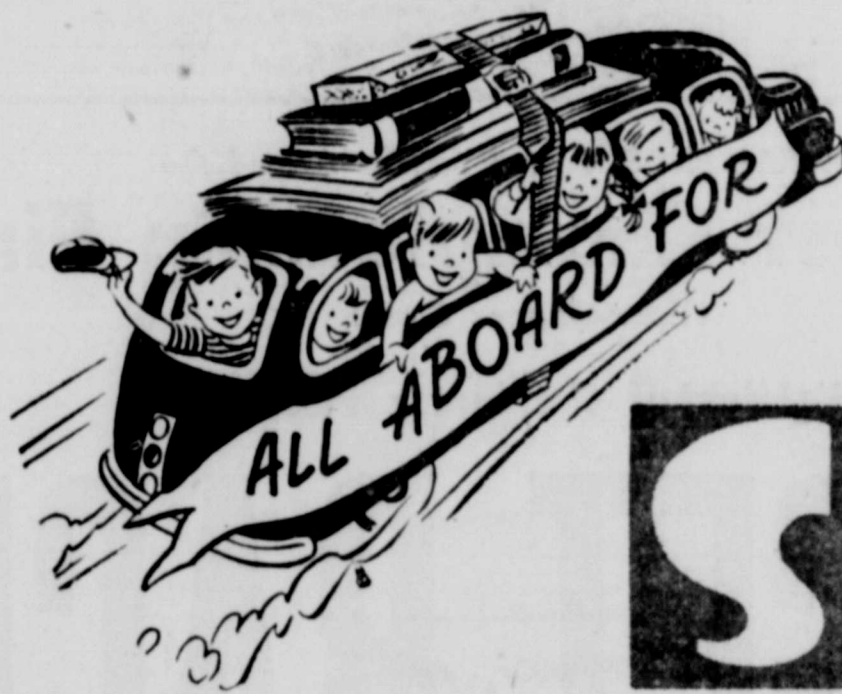

WASSENBERG, Germany (AP) — A quiet, small hospital run by Catholic nuns in the remote forests of Northwest Germany is one of the main centers in the fight against drug addiction.

The hospital is the only asylum for women drug and alcohol addicts in Germany. Twelve hundred women and girls have been under treatment here during the last few years.

West German health officials are full of praise for the asylum and its management. "With some 50,000 drug addicts and three times as many alcoholics running loose in West Germany the little nuns of Wassenberg have done everything they could to help us fight the dope wave," an official pointed out.

Alcoholism and drug addiction have increased greatly in West Germany in recent years. A large proportion of all alcohol and drug addicts are youths and women.

Pretty Girl Engineer Knows Her Slide Rule

(P) Newsfeatures
PITTSBURGH—Pretty Sara Ann Lance is the first woman to receive a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Civil Engineering from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Sally's career came naturally. Her father was an engineer and Sally was raised on a diet of columns, trusses and beams. Unlike most girls Sally found "tinker toys" and "erector sets" under her Christmas tree rather than baby dolls and carriages. By the time she finished high school and was ready for college there was no doubt in her mind what course she wanted to pursue.

Sally began her studies at Purdue University—her father's Alma Mater. In her junior year, she transferred to Carnegie Tech after completing general engineering at Purdue, including foundry, welding and surveying. "At times it was a bit rough" reminisces the 23-year-old blonde but it was a lot of fun too." She explains:

"The men in my classes were ever ready to lend a helping hand when I found a foundry mold too heavy and obligingly poured a bucket of water over my head when a spark from gas welding flew into my hair."

Sally believes engineering is a man's profession only because few women have ever attempted it.

"But there's nothing to engineering that a woman can't do if she has the proper qualifications," remarks Sally.

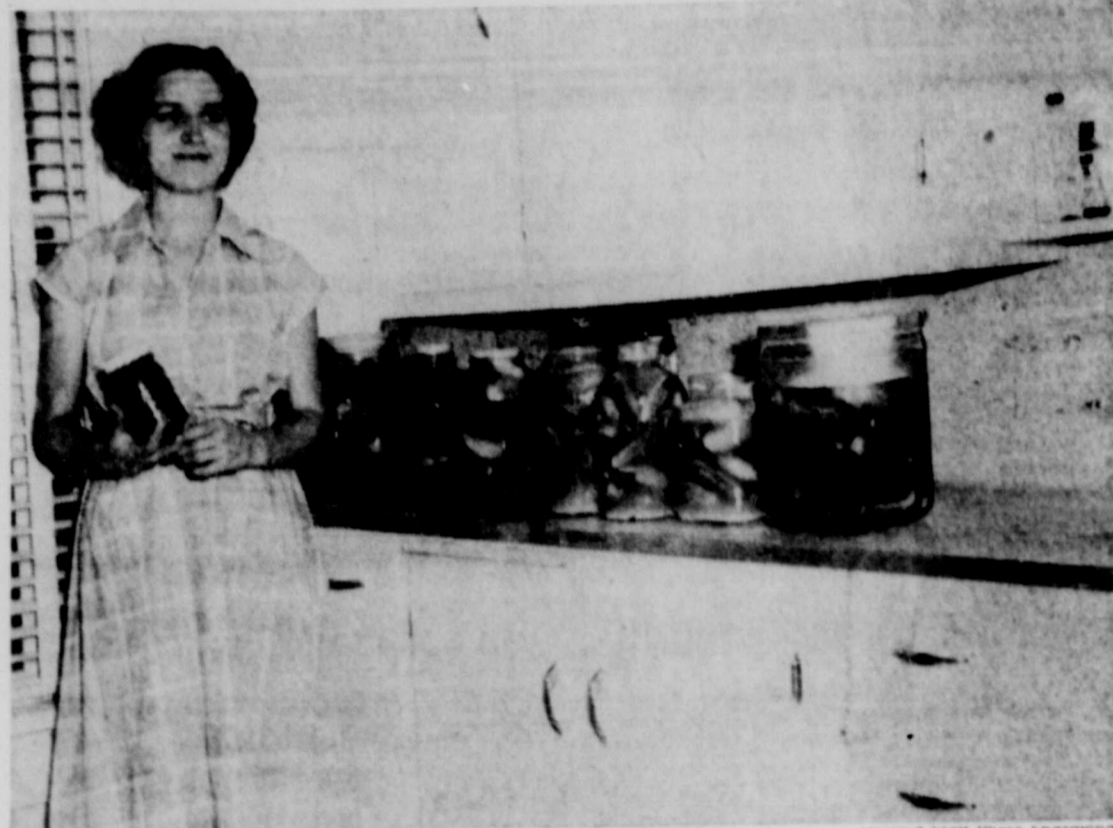

What are the qualifications? According to Sally, she must: Like mathematics, physics, sciences and have an active and inquisitive mind.

Be analytical in her consideration of a problem and logical in her reasoning toward the solution of that problem. She can't play hunches or jump to conclusions.

Seek facts, recognize the facts when she finds them, and use only facts in the solution of the problem at hand.

Be attractive, for no woman is ever respected by either men or women unless she keeps herself attractive.

Sally graduated from Tech two years ago and is employed by the Pittsburg firm of Peth and Reed, Consulting Civil Engineers

Fresh Produce Makes Pints of Frozen Food

It is a time and money saver to know approximately the amount of fresh vegetables or fruits it takes to package a pint for the food freezer, says Louise Mason, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

When the homemaker lines up her work, dependable information of this kind enables her to know how many containers she should have, how much syrup for fruit to make and how much freezer space the new food will need.

Miss Mason says the following table is based on research in the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics. There is bound to be some variation because yield depends partly on quality and maturity of the food, the way it is cut or trimmed and the style of pack.

For 1 pint of frozen food, there is needed approximately:

- Beans, corn (in husks) and peas. . . 2 to 2½ pounds.
- All greens, peaches and plums . . . 1 to 1½ pounds.
- Cantaloupes and pears. . . 1 to 1½ pounds.
- Broccoli . . . 1 pound.
- Beans, snap . . . 2/3 to 1 pound.
- Sweet potatoes . . . 2/3 pound.

Cement was well known to the ancients and widely used, but its secret was lost in the Middle Ages and was not rediscovered until the 18th Century.

Appearance Doesn't Count

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia's Court of Appeals recently held a Moultrie, Ga. man could recover $1,000 from an automobile dealer because a car the latter sold as a 1949 model actually was a 1948 model.

The dealer's defense: the physical appearance of the 1948 and 1949 models of the car (Hudson) varied so little that he was unable to tell them apart and honestly believed he was selling a 1949 model.

The average Argentine eats about 267 pounds of meat a year and the average Australian or New Zealander 245 pounds as against about 148 pounds for the average American.

Dairy Cows Need Forage In Dry Weather

The hot, dry weather has upset hay and silage plans on many dairy farms, and dairymen will lose efficiency in production if they fail to supply these basic feeds. According to Richard E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, every effort should be made to obtain one or two tons for each cow in the herd.

He reports that, Texas A. & M. College dairymen got good results from feeding a silo of immature Atlas sorghum which was ensiled last summer before it had headed. Although no preservative was added, the silage proved to be of excellent quality and cows pushed aside good leafy alfalfa hay in the feed troughs to get it.

This appears to be conclusive evidence that there is little to gain by allowing sorghums to make seed before ensiling except

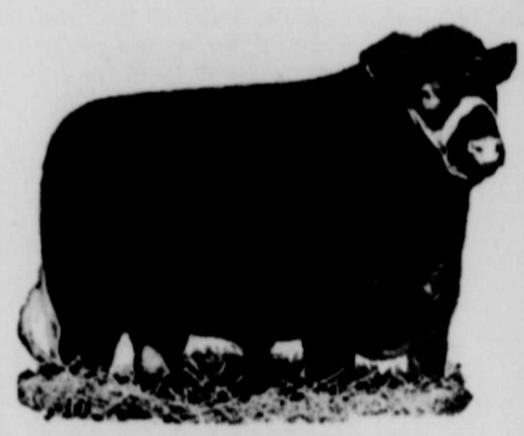

Low Rubber Price

SINGAPORE (AP)—The main rubber price is likely to remain at its present low level pending completion of United States stockpiling, in the opinion of Dr. W. E. Coker, president of the Malay-American Plantations. The present price averages 10 cents a pound.

Rubber producers in this part of the world will now have to operate carefully and economically in order to pull through the period of low prices, he said.

Water should never be used to get increased tonnage of grain. When drought conditions reach the sorghum crop to burn the crop should be ensiled promptly. Much better silage is obtained by using green material without water than is obtained by silaging dry material and adding water.

Epic Story of Early California Days Related

The epic story of California's fight to freedom, waged from the Rockies to the sea, is told in "California Conquest," which comes Friday and Saturday to the Ellis Theatre.

Cornell Wilde and Teresa Wright are co-starred in the picture.

The new movie opens with old California, ruled from Mexico by remote control, greedily eyed by four big powers. Wilde, the star of "The Greatest Show on Earth," portrays a young Californian Don who is a leader in the movement to take the territory into the U. S. Other elements in California conspire, however, with the Russians, to prevent this. They employ Bedoya, a bandit, to terrorize the countryside. When Bedoya loots an American gunsmith of his rifles and ammunition, killing the man in the operation, Wilde is convinced something is brewing and joins the outlaw to get information. With him goes Miss Wright, daughter of the dead gunsmith, seeking revenge.

The bond between them is strengthened when they fall in love, but they have little time to enjoy their new-found feeling. Their real identities are discovered by Bedoya, who is killed by Miss Wright and then events rush headlong to the final showdown battle between Russian soldiers and the Spanish rancheros with California the prize.

In the U. S. a green buoy marks a sunken wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCoy and Judy of Dallas were guests of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson and family, last Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Anna F. Wilson and grandson Bobby Wilson left August 22 for a short visit with relatives at St. Joseph, Mo.

'Skirts Ahoy' Tells Story Of Wave Life

"Skirts Ahoy," a breezy, salty and refreshing tale of Wave life, stars Esther Williams in a role as form fitting as her Wave uniform. The picture comes to the Ranger Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The story is about three girls who join the Navy either to get or to forget a man, with Joan Evans and Vivian Blaine as Esther's torch-bearing buddies.

Miss Williams plays Whitney Young, the Long Island society girl who ditches her prospective bridegroom at the altar, fits into the life of the Waves like a duck to water, falls head-over-heels in love with a Navy doctor who doesn't like predatory girls, then puts up a stiff fight to win and hold him.

There are a number of musical numbers in the picture and Esther gets a chance to display her skill in a couple of swimming sequences.

Power and Neal Star In Story Of U. S. Agent

"Diplomatic Courier," a drama of international intrigue starring Tyrone Power, Patricia Neal and Stephen McNally, comes Sunday and Monday to the Ellis Theatre. Set against the background of Iron Curtain border countries in Europe, the film hails the work of the State Department's "hot message" boys who operate under the cloak of anonymity as they travel the dangerous routes that lead into the capitals of every country on earth.

Tyrone Power is cast as one of the heroic couriers, assigned to meet an American agent in Salzburg and return with information vital to the defense of Western Europe. His path, however, is blocked by a Russian spy ring and a thrilling chase ensues through Bucharest, Salzburg, and Trieste.

Exotic Patricia Neal, the star of "The Day The Earth Stood Still," returns as the woman of mystery who brings danger to Power's doorstep. Stephen McNally plays the Army Intelligence Chief whose mission is to get Power to safety at all costs.

Let's Go to the Fair

The first annual North Plains Fair opens Thursday morning and people of this area will see what interest there is in agriculture exhibits. This is the first fair in Perryton in nearly 30 years, but that doesn't mean there are not fine crops and livestock to exhibit.

Nearly every county in an agricultural area needs to advertise itself to the world and increase interest in local activities by displaying the farm products of the area. About half of the Texas counties have annual fairs or hold some sort of agricultural exhibition in connection with their celebration or festival.

The North Plains area has established a wide reputation for its wheat crop and fine cattle. These will be on display. But there are hundreds of other exhibits in agriculture, foods, handwork, etc., which play an important part in the life of the farmers and the town residents.

We believe these exhibits will be interesting to all, and there will likely be some good crowds at the Veterans Memorial Building and the new livestock building during the three days.

As far as entertainment goes, there is something for everyone during the fair—in fact this is the most packed entertainment schedule ever put on in Perryton.

If you like to be entertained, or if you like to learn something about agriculture, the North Plains Fair is the place for you.

From the SIDELINE with HAROLD HUDSON

This fair edition of the Herald contains more local pictures than any other special edition ever published, and represents a lot of work on the part of a number of people. We are especially indebted to county agent Delbert Timmons, who hauled us many miles to farms in this area, to get pictures of the various exhibits to be at the fair.

Timmons logged over 400 miles taking us around to farms, and we appreciate the help. Hood Willis and Mrs. Mary Watson Jones also spent some time in helping us get pictures for this fair edition. Of course, we were bound to miss some of the people we had in mind on these picture-taking trips. After all, this is a big county, and when you drive 15 or 20 miles and find the person is gone from home, chances are you can't make it back around on a second trip.

The North Plains Fair represents a lot of work and we hope it is worth it. Enthusiasm is high among the people who will have exhibits to show and the interest in picking up here in town. We realize that the date of the fair is going to be a handicap, with the Liberal fair and the Woodward rodeo to compete against on the same days. When the date for the fair was set, the board was informed that Liberal would hold their fair the first week in September, but it turned out their fair was the last of August.

The county fair grounds are in excellent shape for the visit this week. The rodeo arena is being repainted, volunteers are hauling dirt to level out the ground around the new livestock building, the fences are being moved to provide different parking areas, a new road south of the Memorial Building is being made to help the traffic situation, and the new covered grandstand at the baseball field has been completed.

J. D. Maberry brought us some home-grown tomatoes this week and frankly, until we bit into these luscious things, we had forgotten what a real tomato tasted like. These things you get at the stores—the kind that are picked green, embalmed and shipped thousands of miles—have about as much flavor as a dirty sock and require a hack-saw to get inside them.

We keep reading in other papers about the shipment of ladybugs to farm fields to help combat insects, and each time they hail this as something brand new. Now everyone around here knows that Bill Lance had the first ladybugs shipped into this country, to eat greenbugs, and he didn't copy the idea from anyone. He saw a story in a magazine about this fellow Quick in Arizona, and got the idea of ladybugs for our wheat fields from that. These other guys are merely capturing Bill Lance's thunder.

Back to the subject of the fair—there's one man who has done a lot to help publicize the fair this year, and has helped in the same way on the Perryton celebration for the past five or six years. It's John Sammons at the Coca-Cola Co., who has distributed about 250 window cards for the fair this year, putting them in filling stations, cafes and drug stores in a five county area. This represents no little chore on the part of the Coca-Cola drivers and this help is certainly appreciated by the Jaycees and fair association.

We want to clear up some questions on the fair program. Several people have asked why there are different attractions at the same hour, and here's the reason. At the Perryton celebrations, there have always been a lot of people milling around downtown during the rodeo performances, and there have been requests for something for those who don't enjoy rodeos. So the program has been arranged so that people will have a choice of attractions.

The Wheatheart contest was put at the school auditorium this year because there were many complaints in the past about peo-

Wolf Creek Philosopher

Doesn't Savvy Flying Saucers

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher has fallen victim of the summer craze, his letter this week reveals.)

Dear editor:
 I was out here the other night lookin for flyin saucers, after readin in the Herald where there were some around in this vicinity, and there's one thing I've noticed about the things, there are more of em in the summer time when it's convenient to be outside sittin in your yard lookin skyward, I guess for the same reason there are more sick people in hospitals than hotels. Also more people see em over Washington than anywhere else, on account of a guilt complex, I suppose.

I'd been lookin for some time but hadn't seen anything worth even a paragraph in a newspaper when my wife spoke up and said she wanted the front gate fixed, along with the leak in sink, the hole in the roof, the floor on the back porch, the wall paper in the livin room, the steps to the front porch, the screen door to the kitchen, the window panes on the north side of the house, the stuck door in the hall, and a few other things which trailed off in a flow of words like the tail streak of a comet.

I do not like to have my scientific studies interrupted by such matters, but I took my eyes off the sky, left the saucers to the Associated Press, and explained to her it is not sound business to undertake any modernization, improvement of financial ventures until after the election.

Naturally things are in a state of flux and uncertainty, awaitin the outcome of the election in November, and it don't behoove nobody to take any important steps until the economic roads for the next four years are well defined. Big business follows this pattern frequently. Personally, I do not intend to fix my saggin gate after the election either, or the sink or the back porch or the roof or anything else anybody can think of, but if you can't use an election to postphone naggin on the topic, you ain't usin your head.

ple who didn't dance having to pay for the dance in order to see the Wheatheart contest. This way, the non-dancers can see the contest in the auditorium and the dancers can go to the dance the next night. Whether this is a good idea or not, we don't know, but anyway it is being given a test.

The reason there isn't a regular carnival in town this year is that they haul out about ten times as much money as they should, through these gyp side attractions, and the committee secured a carnival with rides for the youngsters without the gambling games that foist off chalk dolls and cheap blankets to the suckers.

There is no free barbecue because it cost around $3,500 to put on and after last year's desperate experience in scraping up the dough, there was no one quite willing to go out and solicit this kind of money for the feed.

Still, the fair program stacks up favorably with the celebration programs of the past. We believe you'll enjoy it.

Veterans Forum

Q I am a World War II veteran, and I just received notice from VA that my GI term insurance policy will expire soon. Must I take some action before that date—either to renew or convert—or will I have a grace period afterwards, to do something about it?

A That expiration date is a Wilson, attended the Boiling Springs picnic, to keep from missing her too much.

Say this community is getting good at having big occasions during the month of August. Everyone read of the big event of Miss Elvena Morris' wedding to Mr. Bill Cox at the Leon Morris home. Guess it was one to really be whistled about. Then Sunday the 24th marked the happy occasion for two other families, one the Lloyd Brown family gained a new daughter when their son Barr married Miss Mary Bailey of Turpin, at Arnett, Okla. The details have not been turned in as yet, but am sure they will be in for next week. The other occasion was the celebration of the Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pyle at the Anthony Community Center. According to Mrs. Pyle, she was not nearly so nervous as she had been on the big day 50 years before. These newlyweds could probably find out some good things to profit by if they would have a chat with these folks who have made a go of it for such a long time. May get them off for a chat myself some time. You know 50 years is a long time to live with one, should I say Person.

The Davis men are still hauling hay from Colo.

final date, and there is no grace period. If you want to continue your insurance, you must send VA your application for renewal or conversion, along with the proper premium for the new policy.

Q I am a World War I veteran, and I've just passed my 63th birthday. Am I entitled to a VA pension based on my age alone? I've never been sick, and I'm not disabled—but I do need the money.

A You would not be entitled to a VA pension based on age alone. Pensions are paid to veterans who are permanently and totally disabled for reasons not connected with their service, and whose yearly incomes fall below certain levels. However, age is considered in establishing eligibility in relation to employability and the degree of disability.

Q I recently was discharged from the WAC and would like to take a full-time course in school under the Korean GI Bill. I am married, and my husband has a full-time job. We have no children. Would I be entitled to the $135-a-month allowance paid to a veteran with one dependent?

A No. Under the law, a woman veteran would be entitled to the $135-a-month rate only if her husband were "in fact" dependent on her.

Q Before I reentered service over a year ago after having served in World War II, I bought a home with a GI loan, which was guaranteed for $7,500, the top amount. Under the Korean GI Bill, will I be entitled to another GI loan, based on my service after Korea?

A No. Since you have used up all your entitlement under the World War II GI Bill, you will not be eligible for another GI loan under the new law.

News From ANTHONY

By Mrs. Carl Carter
The Anthony Rural Progress had their August meeting in the grove at Carl Carter's place. The men were in charge of the entertainment and refreshments so they had a weiner roast and picnic supper for all the families. Everyone surely seemed to enjoy themselves. They not only had fun with games of horse shoes for both the ladies and men but everyone caught up on their visiting for the summer. Seems we have been busy and have done little calling all summer, so had to catch up on the visiting. As there was nothing important to come up, the business was dispensed with until the Sept. meeting, when the ladies have the program of the month.

Those attending the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ratzlaff and Duane, Glen Myers and family, J. L. Bobbitt and family, Floyd Myers, Adison Vandeburg and family, Elmer Husted, Lem VanDeburgh and family, Ralph Bobbitt and family, Carl Carter and family, Billy Wilson and granddaughter, Loyd Brown and Barr, Fred Janzen and Norma, Jim Wallace, and Mrs. Hoffman, and Mr. Lou Smith. We also had the new family of our group, Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy, who have moved on the Sonny Williams place.
Several of the community ladies went to help Mrs. Lester Pyle dress her chickens for the deep-freeze last week. Mrs. Pyle served a very delicious meal at noon to Mrs. Carl Carter and Clea, Mrs. Vern Davis and children, Mrs. Glen Myers and children, Mrs. Ralph Bobbitt and Mrs. J. L. Bobbitt.
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Myers took

Mr. and Mrs. Adleman of Bookers to Amarillo last week and returned by the way of Boys' Ranch. They enjoyed the visit of the Ranch.
Mr. and Mrs. Lem VanDeburgh called in the Ralph Bobbitt home on Thursday evening. They enjoyed ice cream.
Mr. Ralph Bobbitt and J. L. Bobbitt and Mac McCormick have been helping Jim Wallace put up a new windmill tower.
Mr. and Mrs. Don Rice of Crescent, Okla. have been hauling watermelons out here and visiting in the Jim Wallace home. Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Wallace are sisters. Sure had good melons, as I had the good fortune of helping to eat some.
Mrs. Nellie Bobbitt has been helping Mrs. Lester Pyle paint at her house.
Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jerome and family of Perry, Okla. called in the Ralph and J. L. Bobbitt homes on their way for a vacation trip to Colo.
Mr. and Mrs. Joel Fogleman and little George visited in the Floyd Myers home last Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheppard and Mrs. Dave Sherman and daughter Jaxine of Bentonville, Ark. and Mrs. Alta Ford of Okemee, Okla. enjoyed a visit in the Bobbitt homes last week.
Clea Carter and Kay Myers went on the 4-H picnic at Boiling Springs last Tuesday and came back on Wednesday. They had a study of bugs they caught, and learned some new tricks with textile painting pencils.

Mrs. Floyd Myers took her car and Mrs. R. C. Pyle, Mrs. Ralph Bobbitt, and Mrs. Carl Carter to the picnic of the Farm Women at Boiling Springs on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The ladies made table and pin-up lamps, as a project as well as had a good time playing games, and eating good food without having to cook it. They also shopped in Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wilson find themselves a little lonesome since their granddaughter Jaxine, who had been visiting them all summer had to catch the plane at Garden City to go back to her home in Oregon. Mrs. Wilson just kept the two grandsons while their mother Mrs. Wayne

Newspaper Staff Gets Reindoctrination

HONG KONG (AP)—The Communist part newspaper Ta Kung Pao in Chungking, wartime capital of China, seems to have strayed from the party line with dire results for the stragglers.

A dispatch from Chungking says 90 per cent of the staff has been sent off to "reform school" for reindoctrination, and the circulation manager was marched off to Peoples Court.

The dispatch said an office boy got the circulation manager's job and a couple of typesetters moved up to editorial positions.

Pirates Get Iron

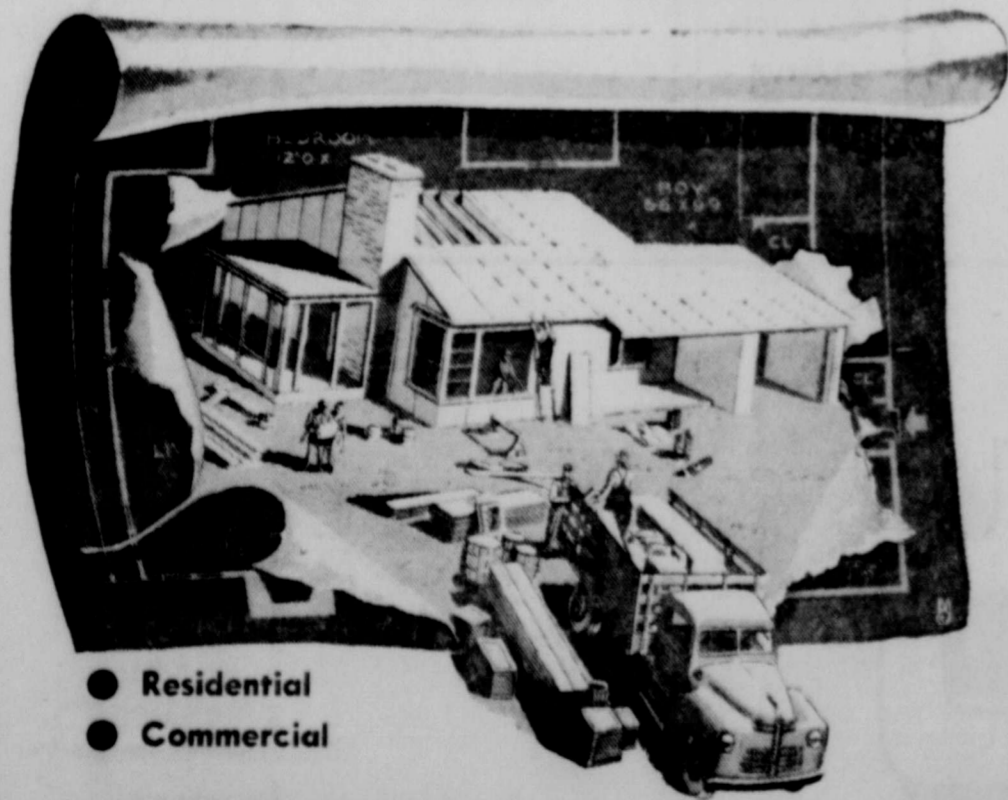

MANILA (AP)—Scrap iron pirates are looting the naval graveyards of ships sunk off the Philippines in World War II. Senator Carlos P. Garcia wants the government to investigate. He says the government is losing money it hoped to realize from the sale of the hulls.

The pirates are reported particularly active off the coasts of the east central islands of Samar and Leyte, where some of the bitterest naval engagements of the war were fought.

An estimated 500 Japanese ships lie at various depths in Philippine waters. It is believed that from 500,000 to 700,000 tons of scrap can be salvaged from the sunken ships.

Darwin's "Origin of the Species" sold out on its first day of publication.
