Flooding Continues

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The surging Pearl River continues to pour over its banks, forcing new evacuations downstream from water-logged Jackson, where authorities say some flooded areas may not dry out for a week or more.

And in Alabama, Civil Defense officials worried whether people will leave their homes in time to escape anticipated record flood crests expected to threaten the west-central section of the state.

Buddy Stuckey, assistant civil defense director for south Mississippi's Marion County, said 2,000 persons fled their homes Tuesday.

New Execution Date

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A new execution date of April 27 has been set for condemned killer John Louis Evans III, who now is cooperating in legal efforts to block his electrocution.

The state Supreme Court on Tuesday ordered Evans put to death on that date in the electric chair for the January 1977 slaying of Mobile pawn shop owner Edward Nassar.

The action came one day after Attorney General Charles Graddick asked that a new date be set.

COUNCILMEN TAKE OFFICE--Snyder City Councilmen elected on April 7 took the oath of office in brief ceremonies Tuesday at city hall. $104,000 To Marvin's Ex

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Michelle Triola Marvin was awarded $104,000 today in her lawsuit against actor Lee Marvin.

Superior Court Judge Arthur Marshall said the award was intended "for rehabilitation purposes so that she may have the economic means to re-educate herself and to learn new, employable skills."

The judge said he was concerned that Miss Marvin be able to "return from her status as companion of a motion picture star to a separate, independent but perhaps more prosaic existence."

The award was considerably less than the $1.8 million that Miss Marvin, 46, sought as compensation for the six years she lived as homemaker, companion and cook to the 55-year-old tough-guy actor.

Marvin's attorney, A. David Kagon, called the ruling a "total victory" for the actor. Marvin said: "I think it's sensational ... We won on all counts..."

Miss Marvin said: "I'm very happy that I won something. I'm proud to have paved the way for people in relationships such as mine."

In his 33-page decision, the judge found that the actor and the former showgirl had neither an express nor implied contract to share property. However, the judge cited a California Supreme Court decision that allows a judge to find "additional equitable remedies" to protect the rights of unmarried people living together.

He said he based his decision on the fact that Marvin's income during the affair with Miss Marvin exceeded $1 million and that Miss Marvin - who filed the suit seven years ago - was forced to go on unemployment to support herself when they separated. He said the amount of the award was linked to the maximum she earned while a singer - $1,000 a week over a two year period. Miss Marvin had sought an estimated half of the fortune Marvin made during their relationship.

The judge made it clear that his decision does not mean that all unmarried persons living together are automatically entitled to the property and earnings of a non-marital partner. He said that would be tantamount to restoring common-law marriage, which does not exist in California.

We can readily appreciate a complaint revealed recently by Richard J. Mahoney, executive vice president of Monsanto Co. It presents another vivid example of what happens when government regulations are allowed to escalate unchecked. Perhaps the time has come for us to regulate the regulators.

But back to Mahoney's story, which he related at the Springfield, Mass., Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Over a 10-year period, Monsanto had developed a new recyclable soft drink bottle. The company spent millions on the project, said Mahoney, and at one point held a scientific symposium in Hartford, Conn., and invited opponents as well as advocates to come and give their views. Both the Food and Drug Administration and the Environmental Protection Agency called the plastic bottle the most environmentally desirable method of packaging soft drinks. Consumers loved it. It was light and didn't break. Coca Cola used it in test markets and sales soared.

So, Monsanto went to market with the bottle three years ago. But two years ago last February, FDA abruptly rescinded its earlier approval---not because anyone could prove that the bottle was unsafe. Mahoney says that even the most highly sensitive analytical techniques were unable to detect any chemical migration of the plastic from the bottle into the contents under the intended conditions of use.

But FDA said that, if filled with acetic acid and stored in an oven for six months at 120 degrees, infinitesimal amounts of one of the plastic components, called acrylonitrile, "might" migrate into the beverage.

"Never mind that such test conditions would have made the bottle look like a deflated football, and, of course unsalable in the supermarket," says Mahoney. FDA's highest estimate as to potential lifetime consumption of the acrylonitrile (AN) by a fictional consumer who might somehow be fed all his liquid intake from containers made from that substance was less than one-fifth of a teaspoonful.

Nevertheless, Monsanto had to write off nearly $40 million worth of equipment and facilities, eliminate nearly 1,000 jobs and shut down three plants.

The company is going to take the case to court. It will be interesting to watch.

We ran into a similar situation recently while hunting for a new supply of our favorite dandelion eradicator---Weed B-Gone, a product of Chevron. R. C. Eoff at Snyder Nursery sadly informed us that it had been ordered off the shelves because one of the ingredients was considered dangerous. We know it was dangerous to dandelions and it was about the only really effective herbicide that we had found that would kill the dandelions without damaging the lawn grass.

Still A Lively Issue...

Pairing Proposal Has Some Backing

A proposal to "pair" Snyder's elementary schools picked up its first appreciable support among patrons last night as the school board and administration continued their series of public meetings to discuss the issue.

Last night's meeting was held at Central Elementary School and questions and comments were mostly from patrons of the Central and East Elementary zones, which would be paired if the proposal should be approved.

Generally, most of those from the Central zone who participated actively in the discussion indicated that they favored the pairing plan, while most of those from the East zone who participated expressed opposition. Several indicated that they had no strong opinions either way.

A crowd estimated at around 200, which included a number who sat in on a similar session Monday night at North Elementary School, was on hand. Many of the questions and opinions expressed were virtually the same as those heard the night before at North Elementary.

However, lengthy discussions developed concerning grouping of pupils on the basis of ability, which is a point envisioned by the administration as one of the strengths that would be available under pairing, and ethnic considerations were injected into the pulic discussion for the first time.

Some of the questions:

How would pairing affect bus schedules?

How would you group the pupils?

Why can't East be paired with Stanfield instead of Central?

Why can't Central be paired with Stanfield or West instead of East?

Why can't you save money by cutting down at the secondary level instead of the elementary level?

Wouldn't pairing dilute

Reports Made To Chamber Directors

Routine committee reports were heard by the board of directors of the Snyder Chamber of commerce when it met in its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Chamber manager Bill Warner reported that some 620 letters plus four petitions supporting the location of a new industry in Snyder have been received at the chamber office.

Warner added that he had been in contact with the prospect and that it is expected that an industrial team delegation from Snyder will be invited to visit the prospect before the end of the month.

Warner said that he would again make contact with the prospect this week in an attempt to firm up a date for the visit.

Milton Stephens gave a report on the agri-business committee and said the group is planning a survey of local farmers and ranchers in order to determine the type of services and information needed from the ag-busi-

Earthquakes Topic Of Lecture Here

Waverly Person, a geophysicist with the National Earthquake Information Service of the U.S. Geological Survey, will speak at 7 o'clock tonight in the Science Lecture Hall at Western Texas College.

The public is invited to hear Person's lecture without admission charge.

Person will outline the studies being made of earthquakes and the ways in which this information is being used in the anticipation of predicting future earthquakes and for other purposes as well.

The earthquake Snyder experienced last June was recorded at 5.3 on the open-ended Richter Scale, Person said. By comparison, the San Francisco earthquake, which occurred on April 18, 1906, registered 8.3 and is counted as a major earthquake.

percentage of what?

Business leaders were quick to answer when federal "inflation fighters" condemned industry for large percentage increases in profits. Administration officials had a field day as they bandied percentage figures without equating them with any base for logical comparison.

To quote an increased percentage without stating the previous amount of profit or percent of net profit used to figure the increase, is to quote a meaningless figure.

One company might have nearly a thousand percent increase in profit and yet its net profit could be way below average for industry. Another might have only a five percent profit increase and be over the national average for all business.

Without knowing the exact amount of profit or the percent of net profit, there is no base by which anyone can figure what a percentage increase entails.

Officials who project such "percentage increase" figures can most certainly mislead the public. For many a reader will take that figure as the net profit percentage for the business concerned.

When official Washington let loose its blast against business, one percentage increase figure mentioned was 126 percent. It was not long until we heard a staff associate say, "I wonder what company it was that made a profit of 126 percent." Of course, that statement was pretty far out since if a company made 126 percent it would have to have made 26 percent more than all it had taken in. It could not achieve that even if it had no costs of any kind in doing business.

Within all the furor which was started and abetted by the administration was one other factor which was a gross injustice to business generally. Without bothering to check, officials equated the higher percentage of profit figures to "price raises" and even went so far as to use the term "catastrophe" in relation to holding the line on prices.

There was no connection established between the "increased profit percentages" and prices of products. An assumption was made that guidelines were jumped before any analysis was made. At any rate, the whole silly business was just another chapter in the continuing saga of diverting attention away from the real cause of inflation: printing press money added to the economy with nothing to back it up.

We like the way the Wall Street Journal summed up the latest blast on profits: "If profits were really so great, the stock market would be booming, the economy would be rapidly accumulating capital and productivity growth would be rising rather than falling. The mismeasurement of profits causes real enough economic problems without being employed for political demogogy, a responsible government would take greater pains to put profits in their proper perspective."

Inflation has been and is a tremendous disruptive factor in every area of our economy. One of many adverse side-effects is that usual accounting methods fail to register inflation's effect on depreciation, replacement of facilities and inventories. This has caused the overpayment of taxes because of overstatement of profits.

According to the Journal, "The incompatibility of traditional accounting practices with inflation raised the 1977 effective tax rate on real capital income to 66 percent, far above the statutory 48 percent rate. Since inflation was greater in 1978 so was the overpayment of taxes, due to the overstatement of profits."

For the average American investor in this nation's industry, inflation is running away ahead of his dividends (profit). Whether he invests for dividends or for interest he is on the losing end. It may be just a little difficult for our great leaders to convince him that he is the recipient of bloated profits.

JUSTAMINUTE (jus-ta-min-it), compl. sentence. (a) Unit of time used by children spanning 60 seconds to infinity. (b) Verb prolonging chore or whatever is being done at the moment. Slang: "Get off my case and do it yourself!"

The word isn't in any unabridged dictionary, but it is known to every parent who ever asked their children to do anything.

"When are you going to do the dishes?"

"Justaminute."

"Did you do your homework?"

"Justaminute."

"Are you going to get off that phone?"

"Justaminute."

Children learned a long time ago how effective a tool "Justaminute" can be. By simply uttering the word, they discovered that the table could get set while they were on the phone. The groceries could be unloaded from the car while they were in the bathroom. Their bed could get made while they were playing ball.

Some parents have learned to live with Justaminute. There is a feeling that if you can't break the code, you might just as well give in.

I belong to the death-by-nagging school whose disciples stand around and whine, "Your minute is up!" "You said that ten minutes ago" or "I'm waiting!"

Of course it didn't shave one second off that magical Justaminute.

But my new word did. I founded a word called, "I'LLSEE" (aisle-see) compl. sentence. (a) Giving indication that some consideration will be given to a request, (b) Prolonging a decision on something of importance to someone else. Slang: "It'll never happen."

I'llsee confounded and frustrated children just as much as Justaminute confounded me.

"Can I go to Peg's party?"

"I'llsee."

"Will you have time to shrink these jeans before I wear them?"

"I'llsee."

We've played the game for years. The other night, I told my son to take out the garbage. He jumped up and said, "Yes. Can I have the car tonight?"

I said, "Yes."

Imagine. Our first adverb in 20 years.

my turn

by jo ann nunley

The bluebonnets are in full bloom in many yards around town. The bluebonnet, the state flower, is a wild prairie flower belonging to the pea family. It gets its name from the shape of its blossoms clustered around the top portion of the 8 to 12-inch stem

With this year's crop spilling out of flower beds and covering lawns, next year's crop, weather providing, should be a splendid one. Especially so if we take the time to share seeds with our neighbors and friends. Their flowering season ends before mowing of the lawns begins which adds beauty to the brown colored lawns in the process of turning green.

As pretty as the bluebonnet is, personally I would have to cast my vote for the rose for the state flower. The rose, one of the most beautiful of all flowers, is a symbol of fragrance and loveliness.

There are some 2,000 species, but the most familiar to us are the ones we sometimes use to convey a message. In Victorian times, the rose had a role in the courtships from the first blush to the altar. The tradition is regaining favor with today's romantics.

Everyone loves a beautiful rose. But "being in the know" is helpful when contemplating sending roses to that special someone.

An AP writer gives us these facts about roses, according to the Rose Information Bureau.

Red roses say "I love you," and also stand for respect and courage.

White roses have several meanings: "You're heavenly," reverence and humility, innocence and purity, "I'm worthy of you," and secrecy and silence.

Red and white roses together, or white roses with red edges, signify unity.

Pink roses in general symbolize grace and gentility. For more subtle shades of meaning, choose deep pink to stand for gratitude and appreciation. Light pink conveys admiration or sympathy.

Yellow roses usually stand for joy and gladness, but can also say "try to care."

Coral or orange roses denote enthusiasm and desire.

A deep burgundy rose means beauty.

Red and yellow blends stand for jovial and happy feelings.

Pale colors convey sociability and friendship.

Rosebuds symbolize beauty, youth and heart innocent of love, or: "You are young and beautiful." Red rosebuds mean "pure and lovely" and white rosebuds signify girlhood or "to young to love." The moss rosebud stands for confessions of love.

A single rose stands for simplicity. In full bloom it means "I love you still," and a bouquet means gratitude.

Two roses wired together to form a single stem signal an engagement or coming marriage.

A full-bloom rose placed over two buds forms a combination that signifies secrecy.

A crown made of roses signifies reward of virtue.

In general, leaves are a symbol of hope.

From these many different kinds of roses, each hue has a special meaning. Next time you receive a rose or roses, read from the "rose talk" the message meant for you. You may even be lucky enough to have a whole sentence message from a bouquet.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Carter, confronting his twin nemeses of energy and inflation, has in effect adopted the old Pogo line: "We have met the enemy and he is us."

That is hardly a message of cheer and comfort, and White House political advisers are acutely aware of the fate traditionally reserved for the bearer of bad news. Yet despite the risks, Carter has opted for bluntness.

By every available measure of public opinion, most Americans still perceive the energy crisis as a figment of the oil companies' imagination - a sinister plot to manipulate supplies and drive up prices.

No so, the president says. The crisis "is real," and it consists of a dangerous dependence on foreign oil that has been brought about by our own excesses and wastefulness. There is no quick cure, and the medicine prescribed for eventual amelioration is bitter indeed: "Each one of us will have to use less oil and pay more for it."

There is no point sugarcoating the pill. The only way this nation can "use less oil" is to accept, however grudgingly, a decline in our present standard of living - a proposition which runs directly counter to every impulse of the American character.

To "use less oil" means to drive smaller cars less often at slower speeds. It means colder homes and public buildings in winter, hotter ones in summer. It means, in short, some real discomfort.

And for all of this, we will have to pay more - a lot more - and do so indefinitely. There is no light at the end of the tunnel, no halcyon day ahead when energy will again be cheap and plentiful.

Which means, of course, that steadily rising fuel prices which have contributed so heavily to the overall surge in inflation will continue to drive up the cost of living. If inflation is going to be curbed in the months ahead, the restraint will have to come from something other than energy prices.

For most consumers, soaring food prices are the most evident and aggravating element of the current inflation. Yet here again, the Carter administration offers little hope of immediate improvement and places at least part of the blame for the problem directly on us - and our eating habits.

Alfred Kahn, Carter's inflation czar, last week told a House hearing that most of "this recent terribly painful increase in food prices has been the result of competitive market forces, interference with which could only make matters worse."

Beef prices are soaring because demand far outstrips supply. Fruit and vegetable prices have gone up because bad weather limited supplies. And consumers themselves, by dining out more often and eating more and more pre-packaged "convenience" food, are driving up costs.

The surest way to curb inflation, Kahn clearly suggested, is to change our habits. Buy ham, not hamburger. Brown bag it at lunch instead of eating at the neighborhood fast food joint. Make our own stew instead of buying the already-prepared kind.

The message, in other words, is much the same as Carter's stern energy prescription. The government didn't cause the inflation in food prices, and the government cannot cure it. Time and good weather will ameliorate the supply problem to some extent, but the rest is largely up to us.

On both energy policy and inflation, Carter is under tremendous pressure to act in some flashy and dramatic fashion. "Don't just stand there - do something!" is the public clamor.

But the president has no magic wand. And what he is saying to all of us, no matter how unwelcome his message, is: "Do something yourselves!"

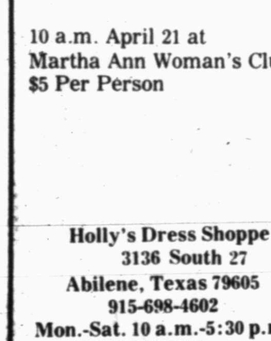
Reunion Planned

A family reunion for the Wells and Pagin families is scheduled to begin Sunday at noon in the Union Community Center. A covered dish dinner will be served.



Program Presented On Legends Of Easter Season

David Robertson, pastor of First United Methodist Church, entertained members of the Altrurian Club Friday with stranger than fiction facts about the ancient symbols and customs surrounding the Easter season.

"On Shrove Tuesday, the day before Lent begins, there were football games in England and Scotland and wild boisterous games on the city streets. This custom still lives in our Mardi Gras," he began.

"Pancake day originated in 1445 in Olney, England, where legend has it that a woman was baking pancakes when the church bell rang. She grabbed her griddle and ran with it to the church, as she continued baking pancakes. From the city pump to the market square women wearing dresses, aprons, scarves, and hats must flip pancakes three times during the race. The winner gets the Vicar's blessing, the Vicar gets a kiss, and the bell ringer gets the pancakes. This custom was celebrated in Liberal, Kansas, as late as 1950. The pancakes were made to use all of the milk, fat and eggs that could not be used during Lent.

"Ash Wednesday gets its name from the ashes left by burning the palm leaves of Palm Sunday. The priest would put his finger in the ashes, make a cross on a man's forehead and say, 'Remember, Oh man, thou art dust and unto dust shalt thou return.'

"Maundy Thursday, the day of the Last Supper, Good Friday, the day of the crucifixtion and Easter Sunday, the day of the ressurection, were the other holy days discussed. The Easter Sunrise Service came to us from Moravia. Strangely enough, celebration of these holidays did not begin until four hundred years after Christ.

"The eating of hot cross buns is one of the oldest Easter customs. They imitate the Passover bread eaten by Jesus. On one occasion in London 50,000 people converged on Old Chelsea Bun House and bought 150,000 of these "one-a-penny, two-a-penny" delicacies. These were thought to contain many virtues. If kept for a year they would bring good luck. "They served as a charm against shipwreck and if hung over the fireplace all bread baked afterwards would be perfect."

Mrs. C.C. Miller presided over the business meeting where it was decided to raise money for the club's budget by individual contributions.

Mrs. R.L. Gray and Mrs. Travis Rhoades were hostesses for the meeting and served refreshments to the members and their guest, Rev. Robertson.

Prefers Quiet

CINCINNATI (AP)-Like many other female students who reside on campus at Edgecliff College, 64-year-old Cathy Nally lives in Sullivan Hall. Her room, however, is on a floor occupied mostly by offices.

Mrs. Nally decided last summer to go back to school. Her husband had died four years ago. After that, she concluded that "something was missing" from their home near Toledo, where she and her husband had lived for 30 years and raised 11 children.

Edwin Kantar runs an article on defense in each month's ACBL bulletin. Today's hand is from February and shows North and South at a rather poor six notrump. They get there because North's two-club opening bid which showed 22 or 23 points was the minimum of 22 and South's three-no-trump response which showed a balanced 10-12 was the minimum 10.

On the other hand if the hand were actually played the chances are that expert South would make it.

South wins the heart in dummy and plays a spade. At this point if East is careless he will play the four-spot. South will stick in the 10. Later on South will run off the hearts, cash the ace of spades and the diamonds. On the last diamond East will be squeezed in clubs and spades.

Eddy points out that East can break up the squeeze by playing a spade honor at trick two.

Look the whole hand over carefully. That spade play becomes an easy one. South is known to have the queen of hearts from the opening lead. He needs both aces to come to at least 10 points. If he also holds the spade queen, East is a gone gosling. Thus East should play a spade honor and break up that squeeze.

Coffee Honors Staff

The Sweetwater-Nolan County Child Welfare Board hosted a coffee honoring volunteers who will serve with child welfare staff in Sweetwater, Snyder, and Colorado City. The volunteers are the second group trained through a special project sponsored by the Department of Human Resources. The coffee was on Wednesday, April 11 in the home of Mrs. Dave Ridley.

The project incorporates two department programs, volunteer services and social services, by utilizing trained volunteers to augment the efforts of staff in the protection of children from abuse, neglect and death. The need for the project is intensified by increasing caseloads and limited tax funds. The volunteers have been trained to support the efforts of the caseworkers by serving as guidance resources to parents in cases of child neglect. Project directors are Ron Plentl, supervisor of the child welfare unit serving Nolan, Mitchell and Scurry counties, and Woodie Tredennick, psychological consultant.

Ms. Tredennick's services were retained to provide volunteer training and ongoing consultation to the project.

New are volunteers serving on the project include Ann Gregory, Ginny Rivera, and Debbie Sue Haggerton of Colorado City, Melinda Merrit of Snyder. Also honored were tenured volunteers, Mary Kerbow and Kathy Dickson of Sweetwater.

Department staff attending the coffee to honor the volunteers included Plentl, Pam Johnson, Colorado City, Corrine Arnold, Snyder and Susan Miller, Sweetwater. Gordon Musick of Snyder also attended the training with the volunteers.

Special guests attending were Mayor Jere Lawrence, Judge Donald Menn, and DHR's Regional Volunteer Coordinator, Mary Frances Warren. Anyone interested in volunteer opportunities with the department may contact Ron Plentl at 235-5485 or Mary Frances Warren, Regional Volunteer Coordinator in Abilene at 915-698-3650.

Economy Slows

WASHINGTON (AP)—G. William Miller, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, says the economy is already slowing down nicely, although inflation will continue to plague consumers for several more months at least.

"We'll have bad news on prices pretty much for the whole first half of the year," Miller said in an interview. Consumer prices increased 1.2 percent in February.

Libel Law Ruling Big Defeat For Reporters

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, voting 6 to 3 ruled today that public figures suing for libel may inquire into a journalist's "state of mind" and the editorial process behind the allegedly libelous statement.

Handing the news media a major legal defeat, the justices ruled that reporters and editors enjoy no constitutional protection from having to answer such questions in libel cases.

"We have concluded that the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals misconstrued the First and 14th amendments and accordingly reverse its judgment," Justice Byron R. White wrote for the court.

The decision is a big victory for former Army Lt. Col. Anthony Herbert, who is suing CBS and others in a $44.7 million libel action.

The decision means lawyers for Herbert will be able to ask at least some of the questions they previously were barred from asking in pre-trial proceedings.

"According an absolute privilege to the editorial process of media defendant in a libel case is not required, authorized or presaged by our prior cases," White wrote.

He said that to give journalists such an absolute privilege "would substantially enhance the burden of proving actual malice, contrary to the expectations of past libel rulings."

Under a landmark 1964 Supreme Court decision, public officials and public figures who sue for libel must prove "actual malice"—knowledge that a statement was false or reckless disregard for whether it was false.

If questions probing into the editorial process are allowed - such as "Why did you use this quote instead of another" or "Didn't you and your editors suspect that your source was lying" - actual malice might be easier to prove in future libel suits.

The test case decided today stemmed from Herbert's 1973 lawsuits against CBS, the network's "60 Minutes" news magazine program, correspondent Mike Wallace, producer Barry Lando and the Atlantic Monthly.

Herbert, who was stripped of a battalion command, gained national prominence in 1971 when he formally charged his superior officers with covering up war crimes in South Vietnam.

Lando's investigation of Herbert's experiences led to a Feb. 4, 1973, segment on "60 Minutes" called "The Selling of Colonel Herbert."

Credit Insurance Bill Gets Tentative Okay

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)- Senators have tentatively approved a credit insurance bill touted as a money-saver during emergencies and criticized as a "special interest" piece of legislation.

Sen. Carl Parker's bill advanced Tuesday on a 24-7 vote, but another vote is needed to send the measure to the House.

The bill's main supporter has been Montgomery Ward Enterprises, which proposed new legislation after State Insurance officials said current laws did not permit the package-type policy the company wanted to offer.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, said the bill would provide coverage "most consumers do not want nor need...its only purpose is to fuel the flames of inflation."

He dramatized Montgomery Ward's support of the bill by displaying one of the store's catalogs on his desk.

Doggett indicated the only reason he was not filibustering the bill because Parker had aided him the past two weeks in protesting what Doggett said were anti-consumer bills.

Parker's bill would permit stores to sell one policy to cover all debt risks, including the loss of income as a result of illness, dismissal or a strike.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, has a high concentration of refinery workers in his southeast Texas district.

In addition, the catch-all policy could include credit life insurance and cover damage or loss of the property or a customer's credit card.

Doggett complained that a customer would have to pay for all the coverage even if he or she wanted only one type, such as credit life.

"It will add to the cost of purchases," said Doggett.

The cost of the insurance would be 50 cents per $100 per month and would be calculated on the basis of declining balance.

Parker said the insurance would be optional with each customer, but Doggett suggested store clerks would present the insurance as a regular practice that each customer needed. He said the state insurance staff felt the sale of such policies would violate anti-trust laws.

Parker denied the bill was part of any 'scheme" to force customers to buy credit insurance. He noted State Insurance Commissioner E.J. Voorhis Jr. had testified the bill was consistent with the public interest.

"The bill is for people who want to protect their credit rating and pay their bills on time," said Parker. He said such a proposal could be especially important in Jefferson County, where "strikes are a fact of life."

In a loud exchange with Parker, Sen. Bill Patman, D-Ganado, claimed the bill was a "true special interest bill for Montgomery Ward and not your people back home."

"It's as accurate to say you're speaking for deadbeats as it is to say I'm speaking for Montgomery Ward," responded Parker.

A spokesman for Montgomery Ward was the main proponent of the bill in committee. Doggett released copies of a state insurance board memorandum showing that Montgomery Ward had been seeking authority to issue such policies since 1977.

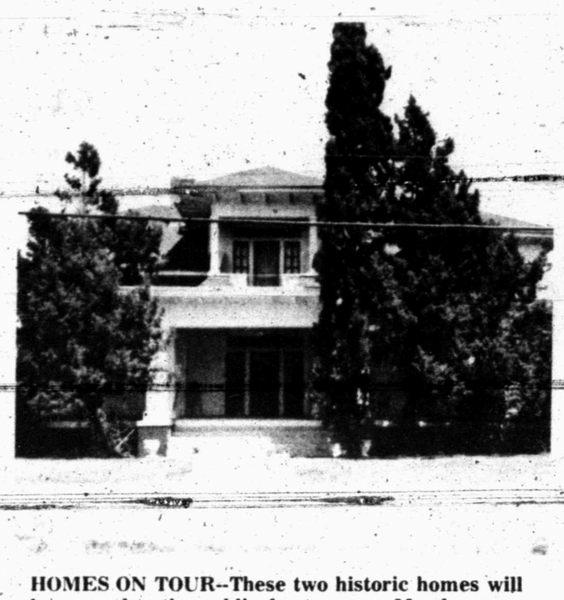
"This is an unfortunate piece of legislation in an unfortunate legislative session," said Doggett.

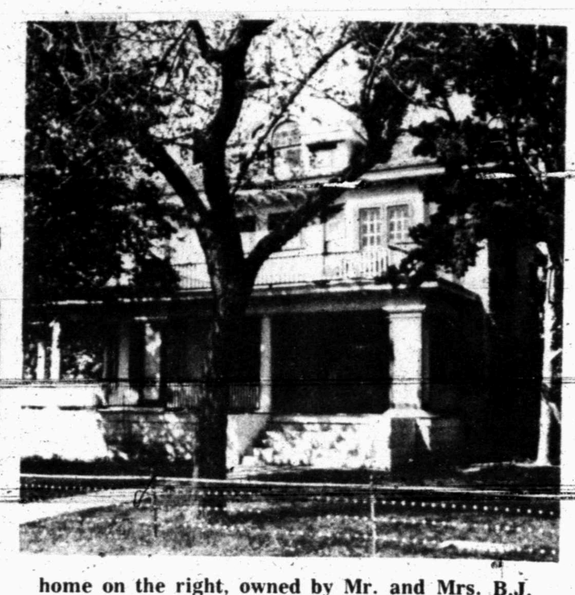
The House defeated two bills in an afternoon-long floor session Tuesday, including one it had tentatively approved Thursday.

It tabled, 73-60, a bill abolishing the Texas Amusement Machine Commission and giving its job of taxing and regulating the pinball and juke box industry to Comptroller Bob Bullock.

The bill had advanced on a voice vote last Thursday after sponsors easily defeated an attempt to table it.

A letter from Col. Wilson Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, saying the commission had stabilized the once crime-ridden industry, evidently turned the tide against the bill.





HOMES ON TOUR--These two historic homes will be opened to the public for tours on Monday as a highlight of Scurry County History Appreciation Week. Shown on the left is the home at 2311 30th Street, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sellars. The home on the right, owned by Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Bartels, is located at 2306 32nd Street. Two other stops are planned on the tour, scheduled from 4-7 p.m.

History Appreciation Week To Spotlight Local Heritage

Local heritage will be stressed throughout next week in History Appreciation Week sponsored by the Scurry County Historical Commission.

A reception in the Scurry County Museum from 1-5 Sunday afternoon will open the observance, John Portis, chairman of the Week, said. Monday will feature a brown bag lunch and program in the museum at noon and tours of four historic buildings from 4-7 p.m.

On Tuesday, tours of historic markers are scheduled for some classes at Snyder High School and sixth grade choir students will present "Six Flags Over Texas" at 7:30 p.m. in the Snyder High School auditorium.

Portis will conduct special tours for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts on Wednesday afternoon. Programs at the Senior Center are planned on Thursday and Friday.

Tickets for the Monday tour are priced at $1 each and may be purchased at the museum, Glover's, Snyder Drug, Hugh Boren & Son Insurance Agency, or the Gallery of Music. Maps are also to be available for those who need directions to the locations.

The two homes on the Monday tour are landmarks in Old West Snyder. The Bartels home, the older of the two, was built in 1908 by E.W. Clark, a rancher. A photograph made soon after the completion of the house shows that there were no other buildings in the area at that time. The exterior of the house has remained unchanged, although the windmill and carriage house are no longer standing.

Inside, the house has large rooms with 12-foot ceilings. On the first floor are an entrance hall, parlor, dining room and kitchen. Five bedrooms and a large sitting room occupy the second floor.

The Sellars home was built in 1912 and purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Sellars in 1968. Its previous owners included the late Dr. A.O. Scarborough, who owned and operated Snyder's first hospital, and the late Dr. Charles Cockrell .

This house has undergone some changes during the years but many of the elegant fittings remain. These include stained glass windows and walnut woodwork. There are four fireplaces in the home, each with a different design on the fronting.

Other stops on the tour Monday will be the old Scurry County jail at 2707 College Avenue, vacated recently when the new jail was opened, and a dugout on the Sonny Harrell ranch. The tour will not be guided, so that persons making the tour may arrange their own starting times, but there will be members of the Historical Commission or others at each site to greet visitors.

Commissioner Brown Pumping For Gasohol

AUSTIN (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown donned a service station uniform at an Austin self-serve filling station Tuesday to promote gasohol - a mixture of unleaded gasoline and alcohol.

But Governor Bill Clements' limousine had to wait in line while Brown pumped one gallon of the special fuel into Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong's motorcycle.

The free samples and a Capitol rally supporting bills legalizing the manufacture of alcohol for motor fuel were part of "Gasohol Day" Tuesday.

Brown told a small rally of farmers that the only opposition to the proposed legislation had come from liquor interests.

David Senter, a Burleson farmer representing the American Agriculture Movement, said, "We don't want to drink it. We just want to burn it."

The Texas Agriculture Department, Texas Oil Marketers Association and two private firms sponsored the test project.

Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, a co-sponsor of the proposed legislation, said Texas would become the 11th state to have full gasohol service should the bills pass this session. The pending bills exempt gasohol from state gasoline taxes until the new mixture - 10 percent alcohol to 90 percent gasoline - becomes competitive as a vehicle fuel.

Sen. Bob Price, R-Pampa, said the gasohol bills also include $20 million for pilot gasohol manufacturing projects and $20 million in state grants for other firms that enter the gasohol business.

A proposed gasohol plant, to be built by the Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers Association and Midwest Solvents Inc., already has been guaranteed a $15 million federal loan, Kubiak said. The plant could produce 15 million gallons of alcohol annually for the production of 150 million gallons of gasohol.

After the rally, an experimental automobile which burns 100 percent pure alcohol was demonstrated by representatives of Texas A&M University. Dr. W.B. Harris, a chemical engineering professor, said the alcohol-to-gasoline ratio could be gradually increased so vehicles eventually run on almost-pure methanol.

Coverage Waiver Asked By Farabee

AUSTIN--30th District State Sen. Ray Farabee announced today that he has contacted the state board of insurance concerning a waiver of the time limits on coverage for household goods while being moved from damaged residence to a safe place by victims of last week's toronadoes.

Depending on the type of policy, coverage on personal property is usually limited to either 5 or 30 days from removal unless it is moved to another residence.

Many people do not have another residence to move their property to and must store it wherever they can.

"It is my understanding that the state board of insurance will ask the insurance companies to waive those time limits in favor of 180-day coverage. We except a bulletin to be issued from the board to the company today. Such a waiver would allow tornado victims time to find a safe place to store belongings or find a new residence" Farabee said.

Sen. Farabee introduced SB 1257 which would allow the state comptroller to grant an extension on filing state tax returns for victims of natural disasters and to provide assistance to those victims in reconstructing their tax records.

In addition, Sen. Farabee is working with the Dept. of Human Resources to provide funds from within their budgets for disaster relief. He also met Monday with Commissioner Raymond Bynum of the Texas Education Agency concerning provisions for relieving the economic impact of the distroyed property tax base in the area.

"I am heartened and gratified by the tremendous response from people from throughout the state of Texas who have made generous contributions through this office to the victims of the disaster," Farabee concluded.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Most common complaint

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Will you please help me? I've been told by a very good doctor that I have migraine headaches. They are very painful and long lasting. I cannot stand and I get very dizzy and ill. I have to stay in bed for a day or more at a time. I'm not on any medication except aspirin now and then. I'm in my mid-30s and keep house. I have one child, 7 years old, and am a professional person working 40 hours a week. These headaches are ruining my life. My doctor does not say much except to relax and live a quiet life.

DEAR READER — I'll have to depend on your statement that you do have migraine headaches. The typical migraine is associated with the headaches along the side of the head and often involving the eye. They can either be on one or both sides of the head. Often there are preceding symptoms that warn a person one is starting. Being sick at your stomach and having digestive complaints are a common part of the problem.

They can be mild or severe. The location of the pain may vary enormously. That's why a doctor has to listen very carefully to the history and the course of events before he can decide definitely that a headache belongs to the migraine group.

Migraine headaches are usually associated with changes in circulation to the brain and head region — sometimes from overdistension of arteries and apparently, in some instances, because of excessive constriction of the arteries preceding the headache.

The changes in artery size is the basis for the use of ergotamine tartrate. This medication acts on the arteries and is often specific for relieving the headache at its onset. For this reason it is sometimes used to establish a diagnosis of migraine headache.

Aspirin does work in some mild cases and at the very onset coffee will sometimes relieve the headache. There are a number of other medicines that have been used successfully in treating migraine headaches in recent years. Some of these can only be used temporarily but can be used even to prevent the occurence of headaches.

If you continue to have problems, may I suggest that you ask your doctor to refer you to a neurologist. After evaluation of your case he may decide that you should use one of the newer medicines either to prevent headaches or to control those that occur.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-9, Headache: Man's Most Common Complaint. It will give you a general appreciation of the problems of headaches and what causes them as well as some specific information on migraine headaches. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Relaxation is important in preventing migraine headaches. It's important for people who have these problems to understand what causes them in terms of their regular life style. Usually the people that have migraine headaches are perfectionists. They work extra hard at trying to please. They set standards too high for themselves and they pay the price with a headache. Learning to understand your own emotional dynamics sometimes helps you avoid these kinds of pitfalls.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're prone to be very indecisive today, and could put off something important until another time. It'll be a mistake.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Impatience could be your undoing today. You'll have to be especially careful when handling mechanical tools, or you could damage something.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Watch your social image today. Unintentionally, you could be too indifferent and/or too self-gratifying, which won't go over well with your friends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It won't become you if you try to be coy today, but of even more importance, you won't get what you're going after.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your aims may not be in accord with those of your pals today. You'll have to be especially careful in any group endeavor, or pay the consequences.

Legislators Challenged To Eat On $2.14 A Day

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Starting today, the governor and legislators have a challenge to eat on $2.14 for each day the 1980-81 budget is debated.

"That's going to be interesting to find out how they react," Phil Strickland of the Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission said Tuesday.

Strickland told a news conference that legislators should be able to eat on twice what the state pays children on welfare.

Texas pays an average of $32.58 monthly to each child in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, he said.

"We urge this Legislature to do nothing less than raise the AFDC grant to $41.47, the amount we determined 10 years ago as necessary to meet the minimum need," he added.

The House scheduled debate today on a budget that would cut the monthly allowance to $32. Strickland said the small decrease would remove 12,758 familes from the program by 1981 because a complicated federal formula would be affected.

Joining Strickland were representatives of the Texas Conference of Churches, Texas Catholic Conference, Texas United Community Services, Texas AFL-CIO, Texas Association of Social Workers, Child Care '76, League of Women Voters, Texas Impact and Levi Strauss clothing manufacturer.

The groups also mailed a letter to Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, asking him to live on $2.14 a day.

Approximately 220,000 Texas children receive AFDC grants. Family income must be below the poverty level for eligibility. An able-bodied male cannot live in the household.

Yantis Resigns

AUSTIN (AP)—Hugh Yantis, controversial head of the state Natural Resources Council and former chief of the State Board of Insurance and the Water Quality Board, has resigned.

Gov. Bill Clements accepted the resignation Monday and wrote Yantis a letter commending him for his state service.

Yantis told Clements in a letter dated April 13 that he had enjoyed working with Clements but he felt it was time to resign so that the governor could choose his own appointee for the Natural Resources Council.

Yantis had no comment to reporters about the resignation.

A spokesman for Clements, Mit Spears, said there had been some thought given to merging a number of agencies, including the Natural Resources Council, into a combined resources office.

Texas ranks 48th in the amount given to welfare children. Only Mississippi and South Carolina pay less, he said.

Strickland said the coalition wants $87.3 million in state funds added to the 1980-81 budget for AFDC grants. That amount would be matched by $91.8 million in federal money. He wants to add the funds in a floor amendment to the House Appropriations Committee budget.

"We have to be politically realistic," Strickland said. "Given the atmosphere of this session, we felt that supporting the request from the Department of Human Resources would be probably all we could accomplish in this session."

Lamesa Chalks First District Win

Tigers Taken In Ninth Inning, 7-6

LAMESA—Scratch one for the Lamesa Tornados. They overcame a 5-0 deficit to win in extra innings here yesterday, kept Snyder from clutching an early round-one title, and proved they'll be a laugher for no opponent.

"Oh yeah, they made some changes that have really helped them out," commented Snyder Coach Albert Lewis. "You know they pounded Brownfield pretty good Saturday. They just made a few errors (that cost them the game). They'll be a definate factor in the second round."

With Lamesa pulling out a 7-6 victory in nine innings here Snyder will have to wait until Friday to try for that round-one title again. The Tigers are currently 4-1 in loop play, while Brownfield is 2-2 and Lamesa is 1-4. Brownfield will meet Snyder at Moffett Field on Friday, and play Lamesa Saturday as round one concludes.

Coach Lewis' Cats jumped out to a 2-0 lead on a Bryan Vincent single, a Richard Crayton double and a Mitch Mackey single in the first inning.

Mackey put them up 3-0 in the third stanza with a blistering home run, and after Toby Neves singled moments later, Sammy Willis drove in a fourth run with a double.

Scott Crenwelge slapped a single to lead off the fifth inning. Pinch runner John Igo then made it to second on a passed ball and scored on an error charged to the Tor first baseman.

The Tigers held on to their 5-0 lead until the bottom fell out in the sixth inning. Armondo Morales drew a walk, Whitley reached first on an error and Goolsby was awarded a free trip when umpires called catcher interference (tipping bat with glove) on Neves. Lozoda then brought the runners in with a deep single before the inning went dry.

The Tors knotted the totals in the seventh inning however. Price got on base on a blooper past third baseman Willis and Rodriquez followed that with a single to advance the runner.

A passed ball sent the troops to second and third bags before Roberts slammed a ball towards third base. Willis picked it up but threw wild to first base and Price and Rodriquez scored. First sacker Crenwelge then tried to pick off Roberts coming around, but his throw was also wild and Lamesa came up with a tying run; 5-5.

Lara was next up, but pitcher Tony Degrate fanned him - Degrate's fifth strike out victim - for the first out. Cheatum then hit a single and stole second base to put the potential winning run at second base, and Coach Lewis came up with a pitching change - Mark Davis for Degrate.

Morales hit a shot to Willis who threw to first for the second out and Neves retired the side when Cheatum tried to steal home.

Neither team scored another run until the ninth inning, though Snyder did secure two on base in the eighth.

At the top of the ninth, Mackey singled and Davis bunted down the third base line to put two on. A wild throw brought Mackey home for the go-ahead run, 6-5.

But Lamesa came right back at the Tigers. Price slapped a single and a teammate Rodriquez drew a walk. Both advanced on a passed ball to put runners at second and third base before Roberts drive Price home for the tying run on a groundout to shortstop Richard Crayton. Lara then put the game away for the Tors with a single into left field which scored Rodriquez.

Morales was the game's winning pitcher, while Davis was charged with the loss. Davis pitched 2 1-3rd innings, gave up hits and notched one strike out. Degrate was on the mound for 6 1-3rd innings, fanned five and allowed five hits.

In other news surrounding the game, Snyder pitcher-infielder Sid Everton is not expected back in the lineup for a week or more. The senior right hander reportedly cut his pitching hand Sunday. Everton was to have started on the mound against Lamesa.

Mackey, 5-2, will start against Brownfield on Friday.

Bengals Driving For Loop Crown At Brownfield

BROWNFIELD—If Snyder ever needed a good day at the golf course, Saturday would be the one to choose. The SHS Tigers come into District 3-3A's final 18-hole tournament four strokes behind leader Lamesa I, and five in front of third place Brownfield I.

A district championship is the prize sought here - that, and a trip to the regional tournament for Coach Mackey Green's boys.

District medalist honors are in the making, too, with Snyder's Lance McMillan leading the pack with a slim one-stroke lead. Teammate Randy Chambers is three back and in third place.

Snyder led going into the third district meet two weeks ago but finished fifth in that tourney and thus fell to second in the overall standings. The jumble helped Lamesa I move up to the top with 982 points (strokes), followed by Snyder, 986; Brownfield I, 991; and a quintet of teams all with 1,000 or more, presumably out of the running for loop honors.

The top (low) two teams and top two individuals qualify for the regional tournament. In affect, Snyder must stay below Brownfield to finish in second place and gain a bid.

A five-stroke victory over Lamesa - providing host Brownfield is held off also - would give Snyder High School its fifth district championship of the season; a feat unparalleled in Tiger history. Snyder has already chalked a bi-district title in football, a state championship in volleyball, and district crowns in boys basketball and boys track.

Saturday's 18-holer kicks off at 9 a.m. here. Manning the two Tiger teams will be Chambers, McMillan, Randy and Mike Wolf, Kip Wadleigh, Joe Lee, Barry Blackmon, Mike Winner, Greg Hinton, Clint Potts and Steve Neeley. Several may play as individuals.

WTC Hosts Loop Final

Western Texas College's Westerners, behind in the Western Junior College Conference race for what seems to be the first time in ages, have a chance to get out of that position here Saturday.

The Westerners, under the direction of Coach Bob O'Day, won the WJCC in 1978, 77 and 76. Previously they had taken third in 1975, second in 73 and 74 and sixth in 1972, their first year.

With 22 points, WTC will go into Saturday's 18-hole tournament at the college course tied with Midland, and one point behind New Mexico Junior College and Odessa College. New Mexico Military Institute and Frank Phillips are far back with 8 and 7 points respectively.

To grab a co-championship, the Westerners need to finish in front of Midland, NMJC and Odessa. Should the tournanment results fall in that order (WTC first and Midland second), the local golfers would win the conference with 28 points, followed by Midland and NMJC with 27 each and Odessa with 26.

Meanwhile, Odessa and NMJC will be worrying about each other as well as WTC and Midland. A second place finish for either team guarantees a co-championship, but only if the other team does not win the meet.

Bell Bangs Texas To Seventh Win

CLEVELAND (AP)—It may startle some Cleveland Indians fans, but Buddy Bell is hitting cleanup for the Texas Rangers.

The third baseman, who never had more than 64 runs batted in during seven seasons with the Indians, already has become a big RBI man for the Rangers.

The handsome blond, hitting fourth in the potent Texas lineup, drove in three runs Tuesday to help the Rangers keep their amazing mastery over the Indians with a 6-3 triumph.

That raised Bell's RBI total to eight, gave Texas a big boost toward its seventh victory in eight games this season and sent the Indians reeling to their 13th straight defeat at the hands of the Rangers.

In fact, Cleveland, 2-7 going into today's game with Texas, has not beaten the Rangers since April 17, 1978 when Rick Waits shut them out 6-0.

It was Waits, 1-2, the Rangers picked on for their first four runs Tuesday. After dueling Texas starter Ferguson Jenkins, 3-0, to a 1-1 deadlock through five innings, Waits gave up three runs in the sixth.

Bump Wills and rookie Bill Sample reached base on infield hits and moved up a base on a sacrifice bunt. Bell, who also had a run-scoring double, then broke the tie with the first of two sacrifice flies.

A walk and a singles by John Ellis and Jim Sundberg capped the rally and chased Waits.

Yeager Drills LA Past Houston, 10-6

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Steve Yeager, hitless for the season entering Tuesday night's game, was so thrilled with his eighth-inning homer that broke a 6-6 tie that he nearly missed tagging first base.

The home run was the critical blow in Los Angeles' 10-6 victory over Houston, only the Dodgers' second win in their last eight games.

"I don't know if I tagged the bag or not,' said the Los Angeles catcher, "but I wanted to make sure. So I went back and tagged it again.

"That would have been something. To hit a home run and miss the bag."

Yeager, as well as the rest of the Dodgers, have been mired in a prolonged slump but ended it with an 11-hit attack against five Houston pitchers.

Steve Garvey, who had only one hit in his previous 15 at-bats, slugged two home runs and drove in three runs. Ron Cey, hitless in 19 at-bats, singled and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly. And Dusty Baker, with just one RBI in his first 12 games, homered and singled.

"It's great to see us come back and get some hitting," said Jerry Reuss, 1-0, who emerged with the win after relieving starting pitcher Andy Messersmith.

Pump Jack Planned Here April 28-29

The annual Pump-Jack Tournament will be held April 28-29 at Snyder Country Club.

A field of 60 teams will make up the affair, which includes a commemorative entry gift, dinner dance on Saturday and prizes.

A driving contest will be held at 6 p.m. on the 27th and close to the pin prizes on No. 9 will be held each day of the tournament. Winner will receive a vacation for two to Las Vegas.

Gervin Not Stopped; But Philadelphia Is

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham was looking in Tuesday night's playoff game for somebody - anybody - to slow down San Antonio's high-scoring George Gervin. He's still looking.

Gervin, who has won back-to-back National Basketball Association scoring titles, got 29 points Tuesday night against a variety of defenders - including a 6-9 forward desparately turned defensive guard - as the Spurs edged the 76ers 121-120.

The 6-7 Gervin hit 31 points Sunday over 6-1 Henry Bibby when San Antonio won the first game of the best-of-seven, Eastern Conference semi-final series. The series now moves to Philadelphia for two games.

"Gervin came through in the clutch again," Cunningham shrugged helplessly.

With 6-6 All-star guard Doug Collins out with ankle problems, Cunningham opened with Bobby Jones, a renowned defensive specialist, guarding Gervin. The 76ers sometimes had to use a one-guard offense to accomodate that arrangement.

Local FCA Events Are Planned Here

The annual spring banquet of the local Fellowship of Christian Athletes will be held 7:30 p.m. Saturday at The Shack.

A limited number of tickets to area residents are available at a cost of $5 for the meal and program.

Alvin Dark, former professional baseball player and manager, will be the main speaker for the banquet. Texas Tech University quarterback Ron Reves and another Red Raider athlete, Jeff McKinney, will also speak.

The banquet is a part of National FCA Week and is one of the local events planned. Sunday, a group of men and women athletes from Texas Tech will attend. Bible study and worship services at various churches in Snyder. Any church wishing to have an athlete share in one of their services should contact Roy Carter at 573-8528.

The FCA activities will conclude Sunday with Dog Patch Activities at 2:30 p.m., led by the Tech athletes and held at Snyder High School.

New Attempts At NBC Disappointing

NEW YORK (AP)-NBC lifted the curtain on another batch of new programs, and the result was consistent with the network's earlier attempts at ratings success - disappointing.

Two shows introduced by NBC during the week ending April 15, "Whodunnit" and "Highcliffe Manor," were among the week's least-watched, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. show.

NBC, in fact, had four of the five programs at the bottom of the ratings - the second chapter in its "Wheels" repeat in 63rd place, followed by No. 64 "Cliffhangers," No. 65 "Who dunnit" and No. 66 "Highcliffe Manor," all from NBC, and ABC's "Friends," No. 67.

"Supertrain," NBC's ultra-expensive mystery-adventure series, rolling again after several weeks in the station for repairs, was a likewise disappointing entry, 61st in the ratings.

ABC swept the network's competition for the 14th week in a row, scoring with the Academy Awards show and a variety special featuring Cheryl Ladd. Nearly two-thirds of the prime-time audience the night of April 9 saw the Oscars program, the week's most-watched show.

The "Cheryl Ladd Special" finished a distant second, and CBS' rerun of "It's the Easter Beagle, Charlie Brown" was third.

The Academy Awards show had 63 percent of the audience and a rating of 34.6. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with TV, 34.6 percent saw at least part of the program.

ABC, with seven of Nielsen's Top 10 for the week, compiled a rating of 19.5, with CBS second at 18.2 and NBC third at 14.5.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 19.5 percent of the homes in the country were tuned to ABC.

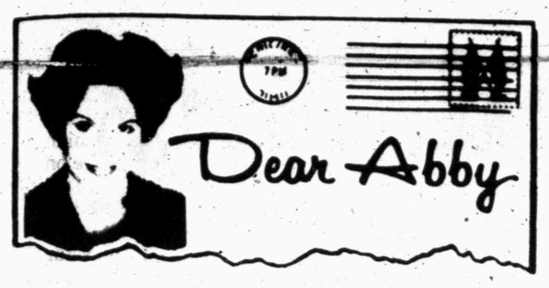
Three of ABC's top programs for the week, No. 4 "Three's Company," No. 5 "Charlie's Angels," and No. 8 "Laverne and Shirley," were reruns of previous episodes. "60 Minutes," meanwhile, continued to score for CBS, finishing sixth.

New shows on CBS enjoyed almost the opposite fate of NBC's recent entries. "Dukes of Hazzard" was 22nd, "White Shadow" No. 25, "Dear Detective" No. 27 and "Stockard Channing in Just Friends," No. 30.

Here are the week's Top 10 programs:

"51st Annual Academy Awards," with a rating of 34.6 representing 25.8 million homes, and "Cheryl Ladd Special," 28 or 20.1 million, both ABC; "It's the Easter Beagle, Charlie Brown," 25.1 or 18.7 million, CBS; "Three's Company," 24.9 or 18.6 million, and "Charlie's Angels," 24.5 of 18.3 million, both ABC; "60 Minutes," 24 or 17.9 million, CBS; "Mork and Mindy," 23.9 or 17.4 million, and "Laverne and Shirley," 23.4 or 17.4 million, both ABC; "All in the Family," 22.3 or 16.6 million, CBS, and "Angie," 22.1 or 16.5 million, ABC.

The next 10 shows: "Happy Days" and "Love Boat," both ABC; "One Day at a Time" and "Alice," both CBS; Movie "The Billion Dollar Threat," ABC; "Kenny Rogers Special," "Kaz," and "Bugs Bunny Easter Special," all CBS; "Taxi," ABC, and "Chips," NBC.



Can She Crack A Sports Nut?

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Amy, is engaged to a fellow who is a sports nut. Jerry follows baseball, basketball, football, hockey—any sport. He's an authority. He knows the names and numbers of all the players, how much they earn, who was traded for whom, etc. Jerry would sit and watch TV replays and live games all day if he could. And when he's not watching sports, he's reading about it or talking about it. I worry that after they're married he'll make a poor husband and worse father because all he seems to live for is sports. I've tried to warn Amy, but she doesn't listen.

Amy doesn't enjoy sports as much as Jerry, but goes along with it just to please him.

Jerry is a nice enough fellow otherwise, but being sports crazy, what would you say their chances are for a successful marriage?

AMY'S POP

DEAR POP: Who knows? In spite of Jerry's preoccupation with sports and Amy's lack of enthusiasm for it, they could have a great marriage. You sound like a well-intentioned father who's running interference for his little girl who might well be able to call her own signals. Back off, Dad.

DEAR ABBY: My father's English is so poor it's embarrassing. He says, "He don't," "They was," "There ain't no," etc.

Although I'm only 14, I think it is never too late for a person to learn, and my father could learn if he wanted to. He's 35 and was born in this country, but sometimes he talks like a foreigner.

Sometimes I correct him in front of people because if I waited and corrected him later, he'd claim he never said what I said he said, and then we'd have a fight.

Don't you think adults should take criticism with a smile and appreciate it even though it's from a 14-year-old?

LENNY IN THE BRONX

DEAR LENNY: It's humiliating to be corrected in the presence of others. Your intentions may be good, but your timing is bad.

DEAR ABBY: I wish to say a few words in defense of newspaper carriers who distribute Christmas cards. Some people seem to think the cards are a hint for a tip.

I have three children who have had paper routes for several years. At first, they put the paper on the porch of every subscriber, but found that fewer than 10 percent tipped for the extra service, so now they porch only the elderly and the tippers.

GREELEY, COLO.

DEAR GREELEY: Most newspapers ask their carrier boys to "porch" delivered papers as a matter of course, not as "extra service." To expect tips for such routine service is out of line.

Wedding bells in your future? Whether your lifestyle is bridal gown or blue jeans, Abby lays it all out for you in her booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

We would like to express our deep appreciation for the many kind things so many people did for us when we lost our dear mother. So much good food, lovely flowers, kind words and deeds too numerous to mention. Our special thanks goes to the ones who cared for her at Snyder Oaks, the wonderful nurses on Medical Two at Cogdell Hospital and to Dr. Jones. May God richly bless each of you is our prayer.

In Rhodesia...

Large Turnout, Little Violence In Election

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)- Officials predicted another big turnout of voters today on the second day of the Rhodesian election. More than 20 percent of the nation's black and white adults went to the polls on the first day and only a few guerrilla attacks were reported.

In the first eight hours of the five-day polling to elect Rhodesia's first Parliament with a black majority, more than 568,000 of the 2.8 million black voters and 100,000 whites cast ballots Tuesday.

Even optimists among white election officials were surprised by the black voters' response. "It's startling," said one.

The turnout in northeast Rhodesia far exceeded the national average, although the region is heavily infiltrated by Robert Mugabe's guerrillas based in neighboring Mozambique.

Nearly 50 percent of those eligible voted in Mukumbura, a fortified town close to the border.

Dressed in their Sunday best, hundreds of villagers lined up for hours on a dusty road under a broiling sun to take part in their first universal-suffrage election.

In the tobacco farm district of Centenary, site of the first guerrilla attack on a white farm in December 1972, truckloads of workers marked their ballots despite a rash of guerrilla attacks in the district two nights before in which four black workers were killed and five were wounded.

Bob Schonken, a local police spokesman, said he expected the violence to escalate as the election continues. But he said the vow of guerrilla leaders Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo to disrupt the elections "so far was obviously unsuccessful."

"Our people still came to vote today," one young white farmer told reporters who toured three centers in the northeast. 'They, like us, are tired of war. They, like us, hope a new government will bring peace and international recognition."

One young man from the Shona tribe said he was voting "to end the war."

The tidal glacier Columbia, near the port of Valdez in Alaska, is 3,800 feet thick in some places and so big that Washington, D.C., would fit on its comfortably, says the National Geographic.

Truck Mishap Is Reported

A truck jackknifing was investigated Tuesday morning by troopers of the Department of Public Safety.

The jackknifed truck was a 1970 International driven by Wayne Lee Hickson of Sweetwater, troopers said. A second vehicle, also involved in the mishap but which was not damaged, was a 1977 White truck driven by James Basil King of Abilene.

The mishap occurred about eight-tenths of a mile north of Snyder on U.S. Highway 84 at 7:45 a.m.

AWOL Soldiers Cost $1.1 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)-Absences without leave, the most prevalent crime in the nation's armed forces, cost the government an estimated $1.1 billion between 1973 and 1977, a new report says.

Pairing Proposal

the neighborhood school concept?

Why can't we get federal aid to pay some teacher salaries?

Supt. Bill J. Hood said that the only federal program in which Snyder Schools are now involved is the school food program. He said federal funds are not available for teacher salaries, except in cases where programs are being added. At present, he said, there is some feeling that Snyder Schools now have enough programs, or even too many.

Questions concerning grouping of pupils recurred over and over, with Dr. Thomas Scannicchio, assistant superintendent for instruction, Jack Gorman, assistant superintendent for administration and personnel, and Hood all responding at one time or another. They said that with four and five sections at each grade level instead of two or three as the situation now exists, there would be opportunities for more groups at each level. Students having difficulty with one subject---math, for example--could be grouped with others having a similar problem, hopefully under a teacher especially interested in teaching math. The same pupils at the same time might be in a group with highest achievers in other subjects and they would have opportunity to move upward in their problem subject as they advanced.

Several statements were heard from the audience pointing out the desirability of achieving a better racial balance at Central Elementary. At present, Central has the largest minority enrollment in the system.

Statements calling for no change and those in favor of the pairing proposal both evoked considerable applause from the audience.

Board members and administrators again emphasized that they would make no decision on the proposal until the series of public meetings is concluded and the proposal likely will be included on the agenda for the regular meeting of the board on May 8.

The third and final meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at West Elementary. The pairing proposal would link West with Stanfield Elementary, and patrons of those two attendance zones will have opportunity to express their opinions and ask questions at the Thursday night session.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Hill

Funeral service was set for 3 p.m. today at the First United Methodist Church in Snyder for Mrs. Margie Hill, 74, who died at 5 p.m. Tuesday in Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City.

The Rev. Wayland Dowden of Rule and the Rev. Doug Steinberg, pastor of Union United Methodist Church were to officiate. Burial was to be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Veale Funeral Home.

A native of Tuscola, Mrs. Hill was married in 1921 at Ovalo to Raymond Hill, who preceded her in death on Jan. 19, 1978. She had lived here 40 years.

Surviving are a son, James Ray Hill of Snyder; a sister, Faye Howell of Ballinger; a brother, Clem Hodges of Midland; eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were to be Thane Mebane, Newell Mebane, C.R. Fleming, Murray Jackson, Roscie Williams and Sam Fleming.

ness community.

Howard Limmer also made a report on behalf of the retail committee. He said the committee had recently sponsored a successful hot check seminar and that a merchants hot line is being organized to help deter hot check writers.

Limmer also said the committee is considering providing merchants with posters to place in windand have that data readers stating a uniform policy on identification and check cashing in Snyder.

Warner said the AJRA committee also had met and plans are underway for the rodeo which will be held Aug. 7-11.

Warner said the first training session for the industrial team is set for April 26. Purpose of the team is to collect data and have that data readily available for industrial prospects.

At the end of the meeting, Chamber President Dalton Walton called an executive session to discuss personnel, but no action was taken.

Legion Post Collects More Storm Aid

Three truckloads of Scurry County aid were gathered and transported by the Layne-Kite American Legion Post of Snyder and the Ira Lions Club last Saturday to the tornado victims in Wichita Falls.

In addition to that aid, said local American Legion Post Commander Dave Haywood, 1½ more truckloads of items have been gathered and will be transported to Vernon later this week, weather permitting.

Trust funds have also been set up at both Snyder National Bank and West Texas State Bank for tornado victims. Contributions will be taken until the end of April, Haywood indicated.

In making the first run to Wichita Falls, Haywood noted the help being offered to victims by churches.

"The churhces," he said, "are putting out sandwiches and food and feeding the people, and they need money contributions, pretty bad."
