AMERICANS DIE TODAY AT HANDS OF BANDITS UNLESS ELEVENTH HOUR PLEA WINS

Beautiful Bride of Millionaire Mex Tourist Freed

ALL AWAITING DEATH

Yank Captives Plead For Action in Late Messages

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
International News Correspondent

SHANGHAI, May 21.—All China is anxiously awaiting developments Tuesday when it is feared the Suchow train bandits will make good their threat to kill one American and one British prisoner because of the failure of the Chinese to withdraw the national troops from the bandit country.

American and British organizations are bombarding Washington and London with urgent appeals for armed intervention. The American chamber of commerce here has wired United States Minister Schurman at Peking urging direct negotiations with the bandits and if that fails employment of foreign troops to bring about the quick rescue of the foreign captives.

Bride Frantic

Senora Veres, beautiful bride of Manuel Veres, millionaire Mexican tourist, forced to leave her husband's side at the bandit camp because of illness, arrived here today and was rushed to a hospital.

She is nearly frantic because she firmly believes her husband will be killed if the prisoners are not quickly released.

She described her experiences in the bandit camp as a "ghastly nightmare."

Chevalier Musso, foremost Italian citizen in China, forwarded a letter to friends here today urging that negotiations be taken up direct with the bandits by the foreign powers ignoring the Peking government.

"Immediate steps must be taken or we will be killed," his message declared. "I await death calmly. Wire my family in Italy."

Messages came today also from American captives pleading for help from Washington.

Grave fears were entertained today in the foreign colony of the situation developing into a revolution. A bolshevistic communication signed "self governed army for the establishment of country" is being widely circulated and it has been learned that among the leaders of the bandits are returned Chinese students, indicating that there is no lack of intelligence behind the brigand movement.

INDIANS BILL U. S. FOR RENT

"This Is Our Country; Let Us Run It"

Associated Press Dispatch

MONTREAL, May 21. — A call was sent out to all Indians of the six nations throughout the American continent to send delegates to a conference for the consideration of measures to defend what Chief Demonic Two Axe described as the "inalienable right of the Indians to mind their own business without outside interference."

The principal question for discussion at the conference, which is to be held at Onodagh reservation, New York, June 1, 2 and 3, will be concerning moneys which the Indians claim is owed them by the United States government.

Chief Dominic Two Axe of the Caughnawaga reservation, explained that by former treaties the American government was obliged to pay to the Indians in New York state certain sums annually for the use of the land they had taken from the Indians. These had fallen into arrears and a lot of money was due.

The American authorities, he said, were trying to give them this money in the form of schools and hospitals. "But that was no good.

"We don't want your schools and your hospitals," he said. "We don't want you butting in on our business at all. We want our inalienable right to mind our own business and to be left alone to do it. This is our country. Let the white man pay his rent to his Indian landlords, mind his own business and leave the landlord alone. If we want schools and hospitals we will build them and run them ourselves. White men cannot teach what we Indians want to learn anyhow."

CATHOLIC AND KLAN DISCUSSED

Presbyterians Take Up Issue In Meeting At Montreat

Associated Press Dispatch

MONTREAT, N. C., May 21.—Decision to remain in the Federal Council of Churches of Christ of America, paying $750 of the organization's expenses, but stressing the doctrine of remaining out of political matters, and consideration of changes in the book of church order were the chief developments of today's sessions of the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church.

Criticism of what was termed interference of the Catholic church in state affairs, mention of the ku klux klan, and charges that the council in Washington is maintaining a lobby in behalf of protestant churches interested in the enactment and enforcement of civil laws figured in the heated debate.

"The only safety to protestantism in America," declsured Dr. E. W. McCorkle, of West Virginia, "is to have an organization in Washington act as a buffer against the great and unscrupulous power of Roman Catholicism," adding that the council also holds in its hands, "the salvation of protestant churches in Europe." In reply to this contention, J. D. Sawtelle of Waco, Texas, who headed the minority committeemen, asserted the council is co-operating with the Catholics and is in the "clutches of Catholicism." In urging withdrawal, William Fairley, El Paso, stated the Catholic church has always interfered with governmental affairs and that if the Southern Presbyterian church remained in the council it would be using the "same tools we objected to the Catholics using."

Although the ku klux klan, is fighting the Catholics, he continued, adding that he hoped, "God blesses them in their fight," he said he did not want the church "hodge-podging with the ku klux klan."

Dr. W. H. Wood, Winchester, Va., R. H. Hall, Longview, Texas, S. J. McMurray, Gainesville, Texas, and Dr. R. C. Reed, Columbia, S. C., were the others speaking in favor of withdrawal.

Keeping Pace In The Chess Match

Between Houston And Wichita Falls

The local chess club is sitting easy, and all smiles. At last that group of Wichita boomers, those self-sacrificing patriots who make up the Wichita chess club, have been genuinely recognized. Knocking around night after night with profound chess moves locked up in their systems and repeatedly bumping into "Say, this place is going to shut up for the night; how much longer are you guys going to figure on that move?" That noble set of boosters who in their chess game with Houston have caused Wichita Falls to be heralded far and wide, and commented on in the sporting columns of metropolitan newspapers all over this country, have at last been signally honored and recognized at home by a local philanthropist.

The local philanthropist, R. L. Yates, when approached on the subject, modestly declined to take any credit to himself. It nevertheless remains a fact, however, that Mr. Yates, who is a chess fan, has not only tendered the local chess players a home, but will fit up a special room for them free of charge in his ice-creamery, which he is now erecting at Tenth and Travis streets. The structure will be of brick and concrete throughout, and on this account the usual hilarity and tumult that accompanies a chess game will not disturb the neighbors or nearby church services.

Emil Herman, the artist, is chairman of the committee that will plan the decorations to harmonize the color effects, which will be King Tut style, the Oriental subdued tints being further enhanced and softened by a dash of lavender; the ensemble being calculated to soothe the nerves and otherwise disseminate an Oriental, dopy atmosphere. Mr. Yates is understood to have stated that he would spare no expense in fitting up the chess room, and that if the present generation is alive when the game with Houston is finished, they will realize his farsightedness in furnishing a home for the club at this time.

The thought of Mary's dad makes her realize what she is doing—and the wedding bells ring and it's springtime.

FOR GIRLS WHO LIKE TO EAT—AND OTHERS TOO—

To eat—or not to eat! It's woman's greatest problem. It's a temptation that a woman can resist everything else but! Pretty little Colleen Moore had a time of it—if she kept her place in the butterfly dance on the right wire in Bruni's vaudeville act she must give up good things to eat—too much advoirdupois would break the glistening wire.

Tony Moreno as Bruni plays opposite this newly arrived star who has been making such success with her recent productions, and finds a way out for the little Italian beauty—which is straight into his arms. "Look Your Best" closes today at the Strand.

GLORIA HERSELF IN A GLORIOUSL YDARING ONE—

"My American Wife."

Nothing was too daring for her at the ultra-society dinner, the only American girl among the very cream of Latin-American aristocracy, she laughingly rose to her feet and while the crowd waited expectantly she ran to the doors in the center of the great diningroom, and led in—Rivadavic—her race horse!

Flower bedecked, glossy and beautifully groomed he stood accepting with perfect grace the tumultous applause. Tony Moreno challenged her eyes for one moment and finding nothing there but "I dare you," he swung her to the beautiful animal's back where she danced with the glowing beauty that only Gloria Swanson possesses. The management has brought this picture back for a return engagement closing Tuesday, at the Majestic, after its very successful run a few months ago.

"RUSTLE OF SILK" ATTRACKS, AS USUAL—

Betty Compson is adorable as the wistful little romantic English girl in "The Rustle of Silk" at the Olympic who falls, oh so deeply in love with a newspaper picture of a famous young doctor. She later becomes ladies' maid to his wife and continues to worship from afar, but never lets him suspect it.

He is wounded one day while hunting and she is the first to rush to him while his frivolous wife loiters with her many admirers. Her little face is so sweet and appealing as she pathetically tells him how she has always worshipped him.

The arrival of his wife ushers in one of the most beautiful and dramatic scenes since "Forever." The sets and lighting effects are gorgeous, Anna Q. Nilsson the wife, in some stunning gowns, an elaborate scene of her Russian Chauve Souris party, and the oil paintings that come to life, make it a picture that you will tell the gang about.

chamber of commerce convention and that request be made that all organizations refrain from anything that might divide interest or mislead people as to the purpose and field of the West Texas chamber of commerce."

People are flocking from all parts of West Texas, by air, rail and on wheels. The streets are crowded and the town is wide open for the convention. Governor Neff is expected to address the delegates Tuesday morning. Special arrangements are being made. Brownwood, Mineral Wells and Vernon are makong the strongest fight for the 1924 convention.

OFFICIAL EMBLEM IS PRESENTED

Associated Press Dispatch

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 21.—Presentation of an emblem, designed by W. E. Blanton of this city, chairman of the pageant committee, and its adoption as the official emblem or trade mark of the West Texas chamber of commerce, concluded the initial meeting of the executive board of the organization today at the fifth annual convention of the chamber.

Rectangular in shape, the emblem shows a setting sun on a field of red and blue.

Many Delegations Parade

Among delegations parading today were those from Plainview, Amarillo, Quanah, Roscoe, Brady, Brownfield, Cisco, Carlsbad, N. M.; Colorado, Crosbyton, Eastland, Fort Stockson, Lamesa, Lorenzo, Mineral Wells, Ralls, Breckenridge, Spur, Stamford, Brownwood and others.

The oil field regions of West Texas were well represented. Cisco sent a delegation by automobiles. Breckenridge and Ranger and other towns of the oil belt came by automobiles.

Nine Bands Lead Parade

A parade, joined in by about 3,500 visitors riding in automobiles and led by nine brass bands, featured the opening here today of the fifth annual meeting of the West Texas chamber of commerce. Special trains continued to arrive and it is expected fully 10,000 visitors will have arrived by tomorrow.

Ballinger sent its sponsor for the historical pageant, Miss Lola Eubanks, in a decorated airplane.

MINERAL WELLS GETS HORSE ON BROWNWOOD

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 21.—Parades of West Texas cities, delegations and numerous band concerts marked the opening day of the fifth annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce today. Demonstrations in the morning by Brownwood and Mineral Wells parties were staged in the interest of securing the 1924 convention.

The Brownwood delegation, headed by the Fourteenth infantry band, Texas national guard, leaving a special train of seven cars, swung through the business section. Miss Ruby Latham of Brownwood rode astride a proverbial "Old Gray Mare."

She wore a purple riding habit, and hat, graced by a large white plume. The band, known as the "Old Gray Mare Band," and "The Governor's Own," struck up 'The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used to Be."

The Mineral Wells delgation consulted hastily, and soon a big wooden horse was lugged from the dusty corner of a San Angelo saddlery and put on squeaking rollers down the main business section. Astride the wooden charger sat Raymond Robinson, 9-year-old member of the Junior Rotary band of Mineral Wells brought holding on behind him was little Miss Sarah Ann Powell, daughter of P. C. Powell of Beaumont. The Junior Rotary band of Mineral Wells brought up the rear.

"Guess that's a horse on Brownwood," yelled one of the Mineral Wells group."

MANY MATTERS BEFORE COUNCIL

Bids Opened for City Hall Job; Permit for Grocery Granted

Minor matters taken up by the city council at its meeting Monday night included the following:

Permit granted to F. M. Tidwell for establishment of grocery store at 2515 Grant.

Exchange with John O'Neil of 60-foot strip of land offsetting Garfield avenue in place of the street itself. The present street will be closed and becomes the private property of Mr. O'Neil while a new street, less winding than the old, is to be opened up on the property given by Mr. O'Neil to the city.

Called for bids for complete audit of all city books.

Street department ordered to take such action as necessary to clear up drainage conditions at Monroe street and Avenue E.

Bids for improvement of city hall opened but no other action taken.

Authorized extension of water lines, 300 feet on Burnett street between Twenty-first and Fern. The line will serve three more customers.

Sewer line to new Curlee-Chauncey additions west of town discussed.

New danger signs on Henrietta road, an offer for installation of which was made by the White Sign company, discussed and passed for future action.

Electric score board erection by Fred Ebonack on Indiana avenue between Eighth and Ninth discussed. No action taken.

School Board Adjusts Salaries

The school board held a meeting last night in Secretary W. W. Brown's office for the purpose of adjusting salaries and issuing contracts for the coming year. All of the salaries were approved and the contracts will be mailed to all the prospective instructors Tuesday. R. W. Butler and wife were elected as members of the school staff at the Bowie school, the former to act as principal and the latter as instructor. Mr. Butler and wife are from out of town.

A leave of absence was granted Hugh Porter, high school principal, for the summer in order that he might teach in the Denton state normal. Mr. Porter will not be here next year but he has an annual contract which does not expire until this fall, therefore necessitating his asking the board before he could resume work elsewhere.

A Treasure Trove of Humor From His Newly Discovered Newspaper Writings.

A HELPING HAND

A Houston young man has been paying devoted attention for a long time to one of the fairest maidens on Prairie avenue. He was quite slow about declaring himself, and one night she hinted that her parents were beginning to object to her receiving his attentions.

It is human nature for a man to want anything all the harder when he finds that it is difficult to obtain, so the young man made up his mind in a flash that that was the only girl in the world for him. He proceed, was snapped up, and she left her head coyly against three 10-cent cigars in his vest pocket.

Becoming truly alarmed about obtaining his treasure, now that he scented obstacles in the way, he suggested an immediate elopement. The girl hesitated for a long time, but finally consented, and the next night was set for the deed. About 12 o'clock, when everything was still, the young man stood with anxiously beating heart beneath his loved one's window.

He had provided a carriage, which was waiting around the corner, and a rope ladder down which she climbed with sundry little mouse-like squeaks and squeals. At last she descended in safety, and the young man clasped her in his arms.

"At last, dearest," he said, "you are mine at last. Come quickly, and we will fly from the power of your heartless parents. Good heavens! What is that?"

He saw something in fluttering white, bearing a heavy burden, coming around the corner of the house.

"Don't be afraid, George," said his loved one, calmly. "It's only papa bringing down my trunk."

THE OLD FARM

Just now when the whitening blossoms flare,
On the apple trees, and the growing grass
Creeps forth, and a balm is in the air;
With my lighted pipe and well-filled glass
Of the old farm I am dreaming,
And softly smiling, seeming
To see the bright sun beaming
Upon the old home farm,
And when I think how we milked the cows,
And hauled the hay from the meadows low,
And walked the furrows behind the plows,
And chopped the cotton to make it grow,
I'd much rather be here dreaming,
And smiling, only seeming
To see that hot sun beaming
Upon the old home farm.

New Constitution For Texas Seems Inevitable, Dawson Tells Kiwanis

A new constitution for Texas is coming as surely as anything, Arch Dawson, local attorney, told members of the Kiwanis club Monday at their regular weekly luncheon at the Kemp. He spoke in some detail on the need of a new state constitution and outlined some of the steps whereby it would be arrived at.

The speaker declared that the present constitution had been amended so often it was just a patch work, like the old time school houses that had additions put on here, wings attached there, the roof repaired and the floors reinforced. In this manner, he said, it was too cumbersome and complicated to serve efficiently.

Mr. Dawson said that it might be two years, it might be five or ten before the constitutional convention was called, but that it would be called sooner or later without fail.

Musical entertainment at the luncheon was provided by Mrs. F. R. Collard, Mrs. Jerry Schafer and Miss Vivian Raley. Mrs. Collard playing the piano accompaniments to Mrs. Schafer's pleasing vocal numbers and Miss Raley's well rendered violin solos.

J. T. Yeargin won the attendance prize and B. F. Johnson handed out silent boosts in the form of cigars.

Carpenters to Strike

International News Dispatch

CHICAGO, May 21.—Unless Chicago contractors and builders accede to demands of workmen and establish a $1.25 hourly rate for carpenters after June 1, a nation wide strike of the 400,000 union carpenters is likely. Harry Jensen, president of the carpenters' district council here, declared today.

New Hoodlum Needed To Care For Cop Calls

Wichita Falls may have another police patrol in the near future, if Police Commissioner J. T. Young succeeds in a move he started at the city council meeting Monday night.

The commissioner told his colleagues that under present conditions it was next to impossible for his officers to cope with some of the bumbastic individuals requiring the ministrations of a cop, and that a new hoodlum would assist greatly in clarifying the situation.

He stated that a patrol would cost about $1,100, and asked the council for permission to make the necessary purchase. The matter was held over for future consideration, but the other commissioners raised no objection.

The police department at one time boasted a high-powered Black Maria, but it has long since passed on to its reward, and drunks have been forced to ride in the lowly Fords provided by the police.

COUNCIL NAMES BUILDING HEADS

Committee Will Draw Up Set of Laws For City

A building code committee to draft a complete set of rules to govern building construction in the city was appointed by the city council Monday night on recommendations of Mayor Collier. The men named on the committee are J. A. Richolt, A. H. Britain, George M. Dwyer, Julian Montgomery, Jerry Schafer and John H. Taylor. Their names were submitted by the mayor and accepted unanimously.

With this out of the way, work will start at once on the long and difficult task of drafting a code. It was indicated last night that all the men named are willing and anxious to begin their work.

Efforts have been made here for several years to start work on a building code, but up until this time little progress has been made.

Cloudburst Strikes Cornish, Colorado

International News Dispatch

DENVER, May 21.—A cloudburst struck Cornish, Colo., in Weld county, northeast of Greeley, today, according to advices to the Union Pacific railroad offices here, inundating Cornish, washing out 1,500 yards of Union Pacific railroad tracks and flooding many miles of farm lands in the vicinity.

The cloudburst followed a 24-hour downpour of rain, and turned Coal creek, normally a shallow stream, into a raging river.

COUNCIL PUTS O. K. ON PAVING

Projects for Seven Blocks Introduced to City Officials

Paving matters, in which were included several petitions for new projects, the acceptance of some completed stretches, and hearings on stretches already under contemplation occupied most of the city council's time Monday night.

Two new projects were introduced during the night's session, one for four blocks of paving on Pearl street and the other for three blocks on Polk. The first stretch is to run for three blocks between Brook and Clark and will be an extension of the paving already laid from Pearl west. The Polk street stretch is between Tenth street and Avenue H, four blocks in all. Bids were called for on both projects.

On recommendation of the city engineer, the Austin street paving between Eleventh and Twelfth, just completed by the West Texas Construction company, was accepted by the commissioners.

The contract for the Thirteenth street and Huff avenue paving was awarded to T. A. Wilson for $14,202. His bid was about $2,000 lower than that of the only other contractor company bidding.

Traction Company Gets Franchise To Extend Tracks

An ordinance granting to the Wichita Falls Traction company a franchise to extend its tracks in Scotland addition was passed on its first reading by the city council Monday night. It must be passed on two other readings and will then become effective.

The extension runs for about 1,500 feet on North Tenth street and is an extension of the new line just recently built across the river by the traction company.

The rails are already down and service has been started, the company having agreed to the work several weeks ago. Granting of the franchise is merely a formality, the last aspects of which require time for final disposition.

A · CAR · WORTHY · OF · ITS · NAME

This Advertisement Is Addressed To——

Automobile Dealers, Salesmen, Financiers and others interested in securing a most desirable automobile franchise.

Rickenbacker Motor Company is now ready to appoint a Distributor in this territory.

We have had many applicants but those who could measure up to our requirements were not available—and those who were available we did not want.

There are still some from whom we have not heard.

This is an invitation to any such to get in touch with our Sales Department.

Rickenbacker is now the most desirable sales franchise in the automobile field.

Because the car "sells itself."

Distributors of long and extensive experience, tell us it is the easiest car they have ever sold. Ten minutes at the wheel is a revelation in luxurious riding even to the most seasoned motorist.

And—our Distributors also tell us—this Rickenbacker Six is the simplest and cheapest car to service they have ever handled.

That is because it embodies the most advanced engineering principles—is the only actual post-war car, in basic design from the ground up—and is built right by men of the highest standing and longest experience in this industry.

It is not too much to say that every buyer in this (medium price) class, covets a car, with the "Hat in the Ring" on the radiator.

That famous insignia has become a synonym of quality, performance, fuel economy—and low upkeep.

And there's a pride of Ownership in the possession of a Rickenbacker Six that is obtainable in few, if any other cars—regardless of price.

We have a code of business and a standard of quality that is, we are told, exceptional. We believe the same code, the same high standard of business ethics, is necessary in the merchandising and servicing of this product.

We have not assigned this territory, up to this time, because we maintain that "No representation is better than misrepresentation."

The right man, the right concern, will make money and friends. Will build up a clientele and a future for him and for us.

The wrong sort will achieve neither money nor friends—for himself nor for us.

Ours is a five year contract.

So it behooves us to scrutinize carefully each applicant before closing with any.

For we consider that changes in the dealer-organization are as serious as changes in the personnel at the factory. And there, we have made no important change since the inception of the business.

Automobile experience is not essential.

While we expect, and hope, to hear from some of the leading automobile concerns of this city, still we will not confine our consideration to these alone.

For it is a pity, but it is a fact, that too many old-timer autodealers have acquired slip-shod methods and are addicted to business practices that are unsound.

If you have had experience in the merchandising of any product on a clean-cut, modern, business basis, you are well equipped to handle this Rickenbacker line.

Some of our most successful distributors comprise a combination about as follows:—

A young man of good character and standing in his community; energetic and a successful salesman; backed by some older head, with sufficient capital to organize and finance the enterprise on a scale commensurate with the dignity and magnitude of the parent company—and to take full advantage of the opportunity that the demand for the product affords.

At that, the requirements call not so much for capital as for character.

To any such we will give not only careful consideration, but from the fullness of a sales experience covering the past twenty years, will lend you aid and suggestions that will ensure success.

Write fully—in strict confidence of course.

Tell us all about yourself, and we will be equally frank with you.

First, however, ask your banker to write his correspondent in Detroit—any bank in this city—and get a confidential report for you on the financial stability of this concern and the standing—financial, personal and social—of the men who comprise the Rickenbacker Motor Company.

Satisfied on that point, you have only to satisfy us that you can measure up to the Rickenbacker standard, to secure this franchise.

RICKENBACKER MOTOR COMPANY
DETROIT, MICHIGAN

P. S. First evidence we will have of your fitness to properly represent this Company and product in your territory will be the celerity with which you respond. Experience in other points tells us that there will be several responses to this frank advertisement.

We suggest that you wire your entry in this classic. Better still, catch the next train for Detroit. Inspect our product and plants and methods, meet the men who make Rickenbackers, investigate all phases of this proposition—on the ground.

UNCLE SAM'S WARDS

Attorneys for the Sioux Indians have brought suit against the federal government for $700,000,000 for violation of treaty rights. There are 25,000 Indian claimants or plaintiffs and they charge that 8,000,000 acres of rich gold and timber property have been illegally taken. All this land is what is known as the Black Hills country where Custer and his riders died in their saddes in 1876. Should he win, Poor Lo will be known as Rich Lo. Money makes the world go round.

BRAINY UNCLE JOE

This is the message of Uncle Joe Cannon to the American people: "Have faith in the government of your fathers. Show your faith by works to support that government. Have faith that right will prevail." Uncle Joe is 87 but he is as level-headed as he was when he was 37. Any American who is without faith in the government of the fathers has had an imperfect education and he is a stranger to logic or history.

STONE AGE COMING

According to the Chicago Tribune the present stand of saw timber in the Great Lakes is about 50,000,000 cubic feet or scarcely enough to supply the United States for two years. The original timber area in the Lake states was 104,000,000 acres as against 67,000,000 at present. Some day America is going back to the stone age for rock and cement will be the building materials.

And yet there are men who say that opportunity is dead in America. He started as a mill employee and became the owner of seven great mills. Is that opportunity or intelligent effort?

Now the pros are demanding that congress enact a law to include the Phillipines in the operations of the Volstead act and also that the Volstead law should be so amended that the Panama canal zone would come under its provisions. Senator Morris Sheppard is ready for the issue.

There are between 40,000 and 50,000 child laborers in Massachusetts. Textile factories employ about 40 per cent of the working children under 13 years with 30 per cent more in other factories. These figures were gathered by agents of the society to a national child labor law. Perhaps if these children did not work, they would not eat.

According to foreign cablegrams, financial London is inclined to think American security prices and American commodity markets have both passed, at least, for the time being, their high point. Financial London hopes so at least. John Bull cannot understand why the sudden tide of prosperity made its appearance in America, while everything was at a standstill in England.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover urges American women to study politics and to take active part in civic affairs. There are millions of American men who could study politics, study economics and take active parts in civic affairs but they are not going to do it. NO-MAN'S-HAND

By Hugh MacNair Kahler

[Corcoran refuses to leave town, in spite of the threatened danger, and Larsen infers that he has some money-getting scheme that makes him want to stay. Rackham, patrolled, explains he plans no vengeance of violence against Corcoran, but hopes to get back a sum equivalent to that stolen.

"The Justice Syndicate" is an organization existing for the purpose of seeing that criminal investigations rightly determine the guilt or innocence of accused persons instead of the relative abilities of the lawyer for the state and the lawyer for the defense. One of its members is Charlotte Grey, who has taken up the case of

Bobby Rackham, just paroled, after serving three years of a term in prison on ..is confession that he had embezzled $8,000 from the firm he worked for. Miss Grey, however, ascertains that

Phil Corcoran, a dissolute young man, admired by Rackham, had induced Bobby to take the money with the understanding that he was to lend it to Corcoran, who would return it before the firm would discover its loss. However, Corcoran failed to return it, and Rackham assumed all the guilt, mentioning Phil's part in it only to his sweetheart, from whom Charlotte learned the facts.

Alfred Bleeker, a wealthy, somewhat miserly and pompous man, has taken a great interest in Corcoran. He overhears a telephone message and sees a note, each of which convey a threat of death to Phil. He tells these incidents to Olaf Larsen, chief of detectives. Larsen ascertains that Corcoran's business and dealings and affairs of the heart have made him a great many enemies, a number of whom could be considered to menace his existence. Rackham assures Larsen (who, by the way, is another member of the "justice syndicate") that the vengeance he contemplates will not be a violent one. Nevertheless Larsen reiterates a warning to Bleeker that Corcoran should leave town. Corcoran has refused to leave, hinting at a business deal which will bring him in considerable money. Bleeker summons Larsen to his house one night, and while they are discussing the case, a shot is heard and they find Corcoran dead in the library, shot through the mouth, as, apparently, he had leaned over a smoking tabouret to light a cigar. Larsen finds Rackham concealed under a settee in the library, Rackham denies any guilt, saying he had been summoned there by Corcoran who had given him $1,000 in part payment on the embezzled sum.

Carol Bleeker, young and beautiful wife of Alfred, is seen leaving the library immediately after the shot. Her coldness and calmness, and Larsen's inability to find the pistol which Bobby, if guilty, must have used, leads the officer to ponder over the possibility that Mrs. Bleeker, herself, had killed Phil. She, however, scornfully suggests that Larsen's men look in the fireplace of the library, and there they find the pistol. It seems almost conclusive evidence against Rackham.

The Liar's Gesture.

Rackham suddenly found his voice. "She did it! She did it herself!" he declared. "She knew the gun was there because she'd thrown it there! She's putting it on me—"

"Don't be a blackguard as well as a fool, Rackham," said Larsen. His own early suspicions rose to shame him now. "Take him along."

Larsen turned to the woman. I have to offer you my apologies and my thanks," he said.

She looked at him steadily for a moment. "I'm not sure that I deserve either." And she turned and left him to wonder over that parting word.

Larsen found Charlotte and Enfield, the third member of the "syndicate" together and told them of the events.

"I thought you'd know better than that, Olaf," Charlotte cried. "After our talk with Bobby I counted on you to have some ordinary discrimination"

Larsen patiently, knowing that the farther her enthusiasm carried her the easier it would be for him to persuade her that she was over hasty in her conclusions.

"My dear Charlotte, I absolutely agree with you," he said at length. "The only trouble was that Bobby was there, hiding! He admits that there was no one else in the room! He stood where, is his story's true, he couldn't help seeing the murderer—and yet he admits that he didn't see anybody. It's simply a physical impossibility that he didn't do it! I was as anxious as you are to find him innocent, but it just couldn't be done on his own story."

"Which proves that his story's probably true, if you can reason at all," she retorted. "If he were lying, wouldn't he have said that he had been standing somewhere else? Wouldn't he have invented hearing a door open—steps—something suspicious at least? Even a half-wit would have done that much!"

"But his story can't be true; that's the trouble. It contradicts the plain facts—"

"Oh, facts again! How do you know which are facts and which are only good imitations"

The word struck a queerly reminiscent chord.

Imitations! Nearly everything in Bleeker's library was just that. It came to Olaf Larsen that perhaps he had been deceived by counterfeit facts, after detecting counterfeit books, synthetic stone, artificially antique and Oriental rugs from this side of the ocean.

"But, hang it, Charlotte—you weren't there, and I was! I saw—"

"Well, tell me just what you saw! Give me the unimportant facts, as you call 'em. I can imagine important ones."

He told the story again simply, aided by a question or two from the girl. She looked thoughtful.

"Well, I think the woman did it, on your version." Charlotte declared. "She sounds like the right type to do a thing like that, she had the chance, and it was she who knew where the gun was hidden! Those facts certainly look better than yours, Olaf."

"They would, except for one thing," he admitted. "There were powder burns on Corcoran's face. The gun couldn't have been more than a foot or so from his face when it was fired. Now, on Rackham's own story he was between Corcoran and the door. He was counting the money when the shot was fired, but nobody could have passed around him, killed Corcoran, and got back to the door without his knowing it. The thing's absurd. So if you're right, Rackham is deliberately taking suspicion to shield the woman, and that's hardly thinkable."

"It's more thinkable than your theory, at any rate," she retorted. "Rackham's the sort of idiot to do such an absurd thing. He stole for Corcoran, didn't he? Well, a sweet-hearted fool who'd do that would do the other thing too! That's my working theory, anyway, till I find something better."

Enfield spoke calmly: "There's nothing to be gained by getting excited, Charlotte. Olaf knows the facts, and we don't. We'll get the story from Rackham in the morning, and perhaps he'll tell us more than he told Olaf. Anyway we're in the dark."

"We're not going to stay there," she declared. "That boy's been persecuted enough. I'm going to see this through if it—"

"I'll say this, Charlotte. There won't be any question of anything more serious than manslaughter." Larsen spoke quickly. "I believe he didn't come there to do any killing."

"It's going to be a question of acquittal," she said indignantly. I know he didn't do it. 'I believe that frozen woman did it! And I'll know about that after I've seen her."

She paused a moment, visibly struck by a new idea.

"Where did Corcoran get a thousand dollars?" she demanded. "Did you look into that?"

"No, we didn't." Larsen was annoyed. For the third time that evening he had overlooked a point. "There's a real mystery for you, then. And it's apt to have a bearing on the other, you'll find. Who gave him that thousand, and why? Answer me that, and I'll tell you who killed him."

"Something in it," admitted Larsen. Charlotte, you're hot-headed and a born partisan, but you have your redeeming qualities, sure enough. We'll look into that money business. It's marked and under seal at headquarters. 10 new hundreds. Probably we can trace the numbers."

Charlotte reflected. "I'll tell you more after I've had a look at your ice queen," she said. "The minute I see her I'll know."

"She pulled a queer line on me just at the end," admitted Larsen. "I said I had to offer my thanks and apologies, and she said that she wasn't sure that she deserved either. I don't get what that means."

"I do." Charlotte's eyes were wide and joyous. "She didn't kill him herself, but she knows who did, and it isn't Rackham! That's plain as print, unless she's ever so much deeper than I think."

"You'll have me dizzy if you change sides any more to-night," said Larsen. "I'm going home and get some sleep. I need it."

He walked to his apartments, thinking in a circle. If Rackham was innocent the woman must be guilty, and Rackham intentionally shielding her.

An yet neither conclusion satisfied him. He could not believe that Corol Bleeker had emotion enough in her to kill; he could not believe that Rackham would deliberately risk his neck, forfeit his parole, defer his wedding, perhaps forever, for a strange woman, a woman as incapable, Larsen thought, of inspiring emotion as of feeling it.

No, either Rackham was guilty or there was no reason in the affair at all. He fell asleep on this conclusion.

The inquest developed nothing new. The powder burns on the face, the course of the bullet, which the surgeon's probe traced as slightly upward so that the shot must have been fired from the level of the floor unless it had been fired very close indeed—these circumstances considered in relation to Rackham's repeated story, were sufficient to justify the coroner's jury in its finding.

But the testimony served to enlighten Olaf Larsen on one of his lesser questions.

On the stand, both Alfred Bleeker and his wife were both questioned about Corcoran's possession of a thousand dollars—a circumstance which clearly attracted the coroner's curiosity. And each denied any knowledge of the source of that mysterious possession.

But Carol Bleeker denied it only after a barely perceptible pause, and, as she spoke, Larsen saw the fingers of her left hand contract a little—the gesture he had learned to associate with lies and liars.

She knew nothing, perhaps—but she suspected.

The revolver, under examination, gave no light. It was not numbered; there was no identifying mark, and its appearance had been affected, of course, by an hour or two in a hot wood fire

Larsen was interested, however, at the presence of only one cartridge in the cylinder. The weapon had been loaded for one shot, and only one

The coroner made rather a point of this, plainly arguing that it indicated the presence of a premeditated intent to kill. A man does not set out on a murder with only one cartridge in his gun, he seemed to think.

Larsen agreed with him, with a mental reservation based on a long experience with criminal absentmindedness. The one sure thing about a murderer, he often declared, was that nothing whatever was sure about him.

He was interested, too, in the attitude of the Bleekers. The woman, beautifully dressed, was as cool and controlled as she had been the previous night. She seemed unaware of the presence of the others, except for the slightest of a bow in response to Larsen's greeting. She might have been alone in the room with the coroner for all the sign she gave to the contrary.

Alfred Bleeker was obviously crushed under the unwelcome publicity. His strut had vanished overnight; the agressive self-importance of his mustaches had gone with it; their ends actually drooped, giving him a look of pathetic melancholy.

He saw Enfield and Charlotte Gray in the inquest room, but they avoided each other, as they always did in public, and he judged the girl's emotions only by the changing expressions he could follow in her face.

Larsen was not surprised by the verdict charging Harry Rackham with the killing. Any other would have been directly contrary to the evidence.

And his reason reasserting itself, Larsen shook off his doubts. Of course Rackham had done it. There was no other tenable theory!

In Charlotte Gray's office, he sounded her later. "Did you find out anything?"

"Not much that I didn't know in advance," said Miss Gray. "Rackham didn't do it, of course. Anybody could see that just by looking at him. Any woman, I meant that Mrs. Bleeker knows it as well as I do—better than I do. She could tell us who did it, if she wanted to."

IRRIGATION

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Is the Farmer Treated Unjustly by the Railroads in the Matter of Freight Rates?

We cannot answer this question in detail but there are certain phases of the controversy between the railroads and the farmer that can be touched upon.

If it were not for the railroads there would be no irrigation project here at Wichita Falls, there probably would not be any Wichita Falls, and in fact it is not likely there would be any United States as we know it now.

Until the coming of the railroad all cities of any size were located either on the sea coast or on navigable rivers. Cities were not built in the interior of a country and farming was carried on only to limited extent except around the cities. The interior of a country until the coming of the hrailroads was either a wilderness or given over to stock raising.

The recent hard times have hit the farmers but the railroads have been having hard times for years. The federal and state governments are doing everything possible to assist farming and farmers, but it would be difficult to see where any of the recent government or state activities have helped the railroads.

Any time a railroad is constructed through a new country land values advance rapidly. In the west the railroads worked hand in hand with the irrigation development and had it not been for the assistance of the railroads there could not have been any such irrigation development as there is today.

The railroads are generally very much interested in the farmers welfare. Most of them maintain argricultural agents whose duties are to advance the interests of the farmer wherever possible.

The railroads, like the farmer, have most of their property in plain sight where the tax assessor can get at it and it is probable that on this account they pay more than their share of the taxes. It is sure that the farmers do.

There are many things that the farmer can do more profitably than to fight the railroads.

We do not mean to imply that the railroads are perfect by any means or that they always treat the farmer fairly, but they have their troubles.

Court Puts $1,500 Penalty On Firm For Its Frivolity

Associated Press Dispatch

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Penalty of $1,500 was imposed by the supreme court upon the Wagner Electric company for what the court held was a deliberate effort to delay by appeals the payment of a judgment against it by the courts of Missouri in a case brought by Lamar Lyndon, the sheriff of St. Louis.

The case arose out of efforts by Lyndon to recover from the Wagner company royalties claimed on a patent. The supreme court denounced the action of the Wagner company in appealing the case to the federal courts, and characterized the objections presented as frivolous.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 21.—"Wall street conditions are intolerable, and it would be ruinious to other investors if I did not give you the limit of punishment under the law," said General Sessions Judge Mancuso today, in imposing on William J. Dunn, 30, Babylon, L. I., a prison term of two and a half to five years.

Dunn was convicted by a jury of grand larceny in the second degree for taking $425 from Jerome L. Welcher of New York for the purpose of buying bonds, and keeping it.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

TOO MANY CLOSE-UPS

What might otherwise be at least an interesting motion picture play is often spoiled by close-ups, those concessions to the star's vanity that the director seems obliged to make.

When the motion picture play begins to be worthy of its possibilities, the close-up will be eliminated.

The face of the handsomest actor or actress is not as important as the play itself, nor does it ever successfully portray the emotions it is meant to portray.

Apparently players require an audience to look at if they are to make their faces expressive. At all events the close-up fails to serve any purpose except to blot out the prospective, which is exactly the part that close-ups play in real life.

Most of us suffer because things that we ought to see in their proper proportions get too close to use.

Our own emotions are close-ups which sadly interfere with intelligent thought.

Anger, fear, hate—even love—all get in the way of our vision, so that we do not see clearly our relations to life.

Little troubles, little pleasures, loom big when they come too close. And because they are magnified thus, we attach undue importance to them, and allow them for a time to fill our thoughts, which had better be engaged on wider activities.

Far be it from the writer to disparage of tender passion, or to minimize its importance in life.

Yet many a young man has lost the position which alone would have enabled him to marry, because the close-ups of the maiden in question continually obtruded itself between himself and the work he ought to be doing.

And many a silly girl has been unable to see the good qualities in fine, upstanding, hard-working chaps, on account of the close-up of some cinema actor—probably already married three or four times and out of her reach at any event.

People who keep their perspectives are the clearest thinkers and the best observers.

Let the world get the close-up habit, as the movie industry has it, and it will suffer exactly as the cinema industry has suffered.

Mr. Wordsworth, the poet, was expressing his thought in very defective fashion when he wrote: "The world is too much with us!"

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE

TAURUS

Three good aspects alternate with three of adverse nature, making this a "mixed" day, tending to varying or conflicting emotions or attitudes. Aim to be moderate in all things, look for the best side of things and avoid depression or destructive thoughts.

Children born today will be extraordinarily fortunate. They will only have to try to do great things in order to accomplish them.

Taureans are governed by either Will or Desire; the former exalts the character and gives powerful and wonderful types to the world; the latter lowers it and furnishes many of the earth's derelicts and unfortunates.

If today is your birthday you were born on a very fortunate day, for you are the higher type Taurean. You are patient faithful, generous, gentle and loving. You have a strong will and great ability of organization.

There is the love of country in your nature and this points to success in dealing with things that appertain to the land. There is a considerable portion of general tyrannical, for it will lead to misfortune.

You are fond of the good things of the earth and particularly those of a culinary nature and you will probably be quite stout in later life unless you take better care of your diet. It is important to warn you against over-eating for the sake of your personal appearance, and, on the other hand, it may lead to serious intestinal and stomach trouble. You are also subject to sore throats and colds in general.

You are also fond of society, especially society of the oppostie sex, to whose entertainment you could easily devote the greater portion of your lifetime. It is difficult to imagine you as leading any sort of happy unmarried life. It is really essential to your nature to be married so that you might have the constant companionship of your mate. You are the type who must talk everything over no matter how trifling or how important a matter it may be. You will make an ideal husband or wife.

Well known people born on this date are: Emil Perliner, inventor; Rose H. Lathrop, author and philantropist (daughter of Nathaniel Hawthorne); George W. Tryon, conchologist.

Millions depend on S.S.S. to purify their Blood

SINCE the days of the Cherokee Indians, man has relied upon nature to produce certain barks and herbs to purify the blood. Today, the manufacturers of S. S. S. gather thousands of tons of these certain barks and herbs annually and prepare in concentrated form, scientifically proportioned, that great blood purifier, called S. S. S. This is why S. S. S., since 1826, has been such a great success. It has meant to millions of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. S. S. S. builds blood power. It builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting power. And fighting power destroys impurities! It always wins! It fights pimples, it fights skin eruptions, it fights rheumatism, it builds nerve-power—thinking power. These are the reasons which have made S. S. S. today the greatest blood-cleanser, body-builder and success builder.

Mr. James Chatenpk, Camp Sherman School, Chillicothe, Ohio, writes: "I feel like a new man after taking S. S. S. It gave me a better appetite and cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads."

Try it yourself. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical. Get a bottle today!

Silk Cape Comes In With Summer

By ELOISE.

Silk capes are arriving on the scene now for wear in midsummer. They are not all black this year but tans, browns, grays and all cocoa shades are popular and then a green or a gray blue is shown for very dress-up wear. Here is a lovely model for the June bride. It is made of cocoa colored crepe and colored in platinum fox fur. It is trimmed with graduated bands of silk braid embroidery in self color.

Capes like this will be quite fashionable for both afternoon and evening wear and every June bride will want to show in her trousseau. Even on a warm evening one can stand a cape when it is as becoming as this one and on cool evenings it will be a necessity. The hat may be omitted for evening and afternoon wear one may choose a large picture hat to match one's gown or a small poke shape to match the cape.

Woman Urges Uncle Sam To Help Workmen Build Homes

International News Dispatch

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Urging better homes as a means of saving baby lives, Mrs. Edith Elmer Wood, New Jersey housing expert, today appealed to the government to utilize postal savings deposits in making building loans to American workmen.

Speaking before thousands of delegates to the national conference of social work, Mrs. Wood declared the American infant mortality rate could be sharply reduced if American workmen were "taken out of shabby, depressing, hand-me-down homes." Housing conditions in this country, she added, are "30 years behind western and central Europe."

"It is a lasting shame that working people must live in frazed-out houses" Mrs. Wood said, "when the government through slight financial aid could grant the joys and benefits of new homes to tens of thousands of families who cannot hope for them.

Mrs. Wood urged the government to place housing on the same basis as public utilities by using postal savings in making direct loans to workmen who desire to build their own homes.

"It is their own money—their own savings" she added. "The government pays them 2 percent on it and deposits the money in banks which pay 2½ percent interest. Then the banks lend it out at 6 and 8 percent. Instead, the government should lend it back to its own citizens at the same low interest rate it pays.

"It should give them 25 years to repay the principal, as they do now in Belgium or 36 years, as they do now in New Zealand. It is not by accident that New Zealand, with one-tenth of its population owning their own homes through government loans, has the lowest infant mortality rate in the world. It is hardly more than half of ours and America could show the same saving of baby lives if she housed her workmen in clean, modern homes."

"I don't Know What I Should Have Done If It Hadn't Been For Stella Vitae"

"I was in such a terrible condition when I began taking Stella Vitae that I don't know what I should have done without this wonderful treatment," said Mrs. Theo. Harris, of 1012 Rice street, Houston, Texas. "I had suffered for a long time from irregular periods and was constantly in misery from which it looked like I never could get free. My head would ache fit to split for days at a time and those griping pains all about my stomach would nearly drive me distracted. My lower limbs would ache and I would feel so weak I couldn't stand, my nerves would go all to pieces so the least little thing would excite me and set me to shaking and trembling like I had the palsy.

"It seems to me I have taken about everything there is on the druggist's shelves trying to get something that would ease my pains and straighten me out, but all in vain. Finally I got hold of Stella Vitae, through hearing it talked about so much, and I felt so much better that I knew I had found what I needed at last. I have kept it up and now feel like a new person. My periods are regular and those awful pains are gone. I recommend Stella Vitae with all my heart and wish I could get every suffering woman just to try it."

Bears Bump Spudders in Opener, 10 to 6

VISITORS GATHER EARLY LEAD AND SALMS FAIL TO CATCH UP; FIVE HOME RUNS SMACKED OUT

Babe Ruth Pitches Fine Ball in Last Four Rounds But Is Too Late to Save Day—Cotter Gets Two of Quintette of Circuit Drives

By "DINK" ADDINGTON.

Bob Coleman's Santone Bears clawed Feigert and Darrough for an early lead yesterday afternoon, and although the men of Salm stayed in the chase to the end, they were unable to catch up, and the visitors took their fourth straight game of the season from the Spudders, 10 to 6. A fenceward wind helped along in the slugging, no less than five homers being parked outside the pen.

Cotter, who gathered two of the round trip rides, plastered one of them over the right wall near the scoreboard. It was not helped by the wind and was a solid crack. The other four biffs went over the left wall.

With None On

All three of the Spudder homers came without a man on base, showing what kind of unlucky stars the locals were camping under. Two of the clouts came in the eighth, Tanner getting one and Leo "Hervey" the other.

Feigert started the game and appeared to be unnerved by two homers, which were wafted over the fence in the first round. Darrough relieved him, but could not stop the steam roller and the Bears continued to hit one which did not help him any.

One of the bright spots of the game, if there be such for a home club when it loses, was the work of Babe Ruth, who finished the game on the hill. Babe allowed but one hit in the last four innings and worked a very nice change of pace which had the Bears handcuffed.

Gross Hits One

Gross blew up the works in the first round when he lifted one over the left fence. Boone singled off Feigert's glove and was forced by Galloway. Simon butted in with further trouble when he smote another onion over the barrier, scoring Galloway in front.

Booe walked to open the third and took third on Gross's double past Tanner. Boone was out on a nice play by White, both runners holding their sacks, but scoring on Galloway's knock through the box for a base. Darrough was shoved into the scene and Galloway was trapped between second and third when Simon rolled to Berger. Meyers was busted by a pitched ball, but was forced by Todt.

Galloway socked a triple to center at the beginning of the fifth and scored on a wild pitch. Simon walked and Meyers got a hit to deep short. Graveyard Phil Todt drew another pass loading the bases and Simon scored on Coleman's sacrifice fly to Bescher. Couchman grounded out, but Booe caught one inside and golfed it to right for three sacks, counting Meyers and Todt.

Spudders Begin

The Spudders began to break in in the fifth with a pair of chalkers. Berger got his second single to right and Bischoff slapped one through the infield to left. Ruth swung for Darrough and skied to right, but Berger scored on Bescher's single. White came through with another of the one-base variety and Bischoff scored. Tanner sent Meyers deep to center for his long fly.

In the sixth Cotter got his first blinker over the fence. Tanner opened the eighth with a shot over the boards in left, and Elliott was called out on strikes. Whiteman grounded out and Cotter almost put a hole in the scoreboard with a solid smash which just missed the counting space and breezed over.

Boones' double, the only hit off Ruth, started the ninth and he moved up on an infield out and scored on Simon's sacrifice fly. The Spudders bagged another one in the ninth, but the rally was too short. Ruth singled and went to second on Bescher's out. White got his fourth hit of the game, Ruth taking third. Ruth scored while Simon was pegging out Tanner, and Todt and Couchman took care of Elliott.

Couchman pitched a smart game for the Bears and allowed only three hits in the first four innings. With his big lead he was never in any great danger and his control was beyond reproach.

CATS CONTINUE TO KICK BALL

FORT WORTH, May 21.—Errors again caused the downfall of the Cats today, the Buffs taking the first game of the series 8 to 5. With the game hopelessly lost, the locals staged a rally in the eighth that brought three runs across and was only stopped when Johnny Monroe made a wonderful leaping one-handed catch of hump-backed liner from Calvo's bat with two out and two men on base. Pate was hit hard, but Johns and Ross, who followed and allowed three runs, were the victims of bad support. Score:

Memphis Woman High In Tourney

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 21.—Mrs. David Gaut of Memphis, Tenn., western champion, was medalist in the qualifying round of the Southern Women's Golf association's championship tourney, which began today over Rivercrest course. Mrs. Gaut's 86 was nine strokes under her nearest competitor.

High scores were largely accounted for by a stiff wind and fast greens. Dozier Lowndes, titalist, was off her game, and turned in a card of 99—but even this was among the low 10.

No upsets occurred, though possibly a few handicap players failed to qualify. Only 12 was required to land in the first 32.

Mrs. George Thompson Jr., of Fort Worth, playing with Mrs. Gaut, played a consistent game, her tee shots comparing very favorably with those of the western champion. Mrs. Thompson's finest golf was shown in a beautiful birdie three on No. 11, which was particularly brilliant because the hole is near the starting tee and a big gallery was watching the pair come down by the club house.

Mrs. Lowndes, titalist, admitted after her round, that the fences "had her goat."

"I was playing fine golf when I left Atlanta," she said, "but when I saw that fence I blew up. Its' been bothering me ever since."

Mrs. Wyatt Henderson of Rivercrest, Texas champion, was away to three snappy sevens, but recovered in time to land safely in the first flight.

Memphis golfers showed good form and easily showed the class of any other city entries.

Ray Beats Watson

Associated Press Dispatch

MANHATTAN, Kan., May 21.—Joie Ray, Illinois Athletic club, defeated Ray Watson of the same club and former collegiate mile champion, in a special mile race here late today at the second annual Missouri valley interscholastic meet. Pools of water on the track made the race a muddy affair. The time was five minutes and four seconds.

IT WAS BOOE AT BAT AND IT WAS NO ROUGH TALK

Joe Becker, Coast league umpire, who used to call 'em in the old Wisconsin-Illinois league, is responsible for this story of Everett Booe, outfielder of the San Antonio Bears, who are playing here:

In a close game in the northern circuit, the manager of one of the clubs found it ripe time to send in a pinch hitter. The task fell to Booe.

Becker, who was umpiring the game, saw the new hitter coming in, and asked the manager his name, that he might announce it to the stands.

"Who's the hitter?" Becker asked the manager.

"Booe," replied his nibs.

"Boob, yourself, you ham and egger," came back Becker, "and you're out of the park if you don't give me a civil answer to a civil question."

The umps waxed warm and hot under the collar, until somebody bobbed up with an explanation to the effect that Everett Booe was batting for so and so. For once a manager was right and there was no come-back.

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT

By "DINK" ADDINGTON

Oftimes a bad start augers a good finish.

Three home runs and 'nary a soul on the sacks!

Such luck as that,
Is hard to bear;
It makes men rave,
And tear their hair.

It ought to!

The Spudders had 20 assists, which is a few more than usual.

The return home seemed to suit one Alfredo White very nicely. He handled 11 chances cleanly in the field and got four hits in five tries. Some of his chances weren't the easiest in the world.

Berger, Cotter and Tanner also seemed to like the sort of soup Couchman was serving.

Manager Salm predicted before the game that there would be five home runs. A certain young man in our city couldn't believe it, and there's a certain young man who must buy cigars.

He heard the skipper say it,
He thought it was a joke;
But now the young man's money,
Is going up in smoke.

Second Baseman Suller of the Bears was left at home with an injured ankle. Never mind, Mr. Coleman, you've brought enough with you.

If Babe Ruth can pitch nine innings like the four he hurled yesterday, it wouldn't be surprising to see him take his regular turn, now that pitching is the biggest worry with the club. Babe wasn't trying to throw them by yesterday, and his change of pace was righto.

Oh, for the life of a manager,
Who has nothing at all to do;
But sit and think and wonder,
If the pitching's coming through.

Some are wild as wildfire,
Worse than mountain goats;
Others choke from cotton,
That comes up in their throats.

Others cross the catchers,
They fail to get the signs;
Others do a lot of things,
That ought to draw 'em fines.

Others cannot field their post,
They throw the games away;
Others do not want to work,
But every seventh day.

And all the manager has to do,
Is try to stand the gaff;
Of course there's nothing to worry of
If he hasn't a pitching staff.

PRESIDENT HARVEY DEPARTS IN SEARCH OF NEW TALENT

Spudder Prexy Headed For St. Louis and Chicago

In an effort to strengthen the Spudders and put them on top of the Texas league scramble, President R. O. Harvey left last night for major league points where he will endeavor to secure some new playing material for Salm's crew.

"I am going after ball players," Harvey said and he did not confine his remark to pitchers but it is presupposed that flippers will be his main object for the rest of the club can travel if it gets consistent pitching. President Harvey is headed for Chicago and St. Louis and if he does not get what he wants there he will probably go on.

Hopes to Have News

"I hope to have some good news for the fans within a few days," were Harvey's parting words.

Early in the season the Spudder prexy said that if he did not have a winning ball club on the field at the time, he would secure another. The club is not out of the race by any means now, but the running is very close and some clubs are bound to crack sooner or later.

The Spudders must be prepared to stay in there and from present indications, the pitching staff needs bolstering if they are to come through. Some of the present staff is unable to get going and Manager Salm has been forced to use several each day in an effort to cop. If Harvey can grab something on his trip, there is no reason why the club can't forge ahead.

COYOTE COACHES WILL ATTEND SCHOOL

Jones to Famous Illinois School With Henderson At Texas

Coaches Jim Jones and Brooks Henderson, two mentors who are to guide the destinies of athletics in the Wichita Falls high school next year will both attend coaching schools this summer.

Coach Jones left last Friday for Dallas and from there he will go to Mississippi where he will spend a few days and from there he will go to Illinois, learning the latest methods in football coaching. Under the direction of Coach Jones, the Coyote football team went high in the state meet and were only defeated by Cleburne who in turn went right into the state finals. In basketball, the Coyotes defeated every team in this district and were only defeated after they had made a good showing at the state meet in Austin. Under Coach Jones' supervision, Wichita Falls took first place in the interscholastic state meet in Austin and Leo Baldwin was the high point man of the meet by virtue of taking three first places at the meet.

Under Coach Henderson's directions, the Coyote baseball team defeated every team in this part of the state and were only put out of the state race by the strong Amarillo team.

Coach Henderson plans to study baseball under Billy Disch at the University of Texas this summer. Henderson, under the coaching of Disch won a conference title for the University of Texas by his wonderful pitching in the deciding game between A. & M. and Texas university in 1917.

Rip Wheeler Is Due Back Today

Rip Wheeler, departed son of the Spudder pitching staff who flivvered off to his old Kentucky home when the Spudders started out on their last road trip, is due to arrive in town and join the club this morning.

Rip had won four games and lost one before his departure and such pitching is just what is needed. Just how Rip will be penalized for his absence is an unknown matter. His case is in the hands of the baseball "commish," and his fate rests with them. Perhaps they may take a little of Rip's stipend and perhaps not. It's up to the old commission.

STOCKS AGAIN SHOOT DOWN

Twenty Leading Industrials Forced to Low Levels After Selling

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 21.—Persistent selling by professional short interests brought about heavy forced liquidation in today's active stock market, the averages for 20 barometric railroad and 20 industrial stocks being forced to new low levels for the year. The industrial average showed a net loss of nearly two points on the day and the railroad average about half that amount.

A large volume of today's liquidation is reported to have come from discouraged and tired holders of stocks purchased at high prices weeks or months ago. Cumulative evidence of a slackening in basic lines of business with a resultant decrease in orders for future delivery and a relaxation of commodity prices has had an unfavorable effect on sentiment.

Announcement of a cut from $1.50 to $1 in the semi-annual dividend of the Pacific Oil company came after the market closed and was not expected because of the conditions known to prevail in the industry. Over-production of California crude oil has been the principal depressing influence on the prices of oil shares. Pacific Oil closed 5-8 lower at 36 5-8, after having sold as high as 38 during the day.

Continued weakness of United States Steel common, which touched a new low at 95 1-4 and then rallies to 95½, where it was off 1¼ on this day had a general unsettling effect on the rest of the list.

California Petroleum was the only outstanding active stock to move against the current trend, selling as high as 100 and closing at 96½ for a net gain of ¾ point.

Foreign exchange business was extremely quiet because of the Whitsuntide holidays abroad, demand sterling being unchanged at $4.63 1-8 and French francs rallying slightly to 6.67½ cents.

Withdrawal of $81,000,000 by the federal government from local banks resulted in a somewhat stiffer rate for call money, which opened at 4½ percent, advanced to 5, and thence to 5½, where it closed. Time money was still on a 5 percent basis.

SUGAR MARKET

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 21.—The raw sugar market was firm and bidders were asking 6½ cents for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to $3.25 for centrifugal. Business, however, was light and the only sales reported were 20,000 bags of Cubas to an outport refiner at 6.50 f. o. b. Cuba, equal to slightly below 6½ cents, cost and freight. The raw sugar futures closed: July 6.39; September 5.45; December 5.96; March 4.77.

The market for refined sugar was unchanged at 9.50 to 9.90 for fine granulated. Refined futures nominal.

COTTON SCORES SLIGHT GAIN

July Sells Up to 25.88 or 45 Points Net Higher

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, May 21.—An early advance in today's cotton market seemed largely the result of covering by old crop shorts. July sold up to 25.88c or 45 points net higher, and into new high ground for the recovery of about 2½c per pound from recent low levels.

The strength of this position pulled the new crop up several points, but after the more urgent demand for July had been supplied, prices eased off, owing to reports of continued weakness in the stock market and better weather prospects. July sold down to 25.53, or about 35 points from the best, and closed at 25.64, with the general market closing steady at a net advance of 21 points to a decline of eight points, new crop positions being generally 7 to 8 points lower. There was scattered Southern selling, which caused some irregularity right after the call, but the tone soon turned firmer, partly on expectations that the July contracts would move upward to a spot parity as soon as trading in May contracts was over. Old crop months sold 24 to 45 points net higher on this advance, with May touching 27.27c. The market was nervous and unsettled during the afternoon, partly due to rumors that a prominent Southwestern firm estimated the condition of the Texas crop at 75 per cent, compared with 61 per cent at the end of May last year, and 71 per cent two years ago.

Port receipts today were 4,935 bales. United States port stocks, 410,618 bales. Exports today, 4,607 bales, making 4,376,739 so far this season.

FORT WORTH, May 21.—Market prices for cattle took a more favorable turn today. Steers sold slowly, but the opening was around 10c to 15c higher, and on cows there was an advance of about 65c. Heifers and yearlings remained unchanged, and bull values were steady. Calves were slow at a decline of 25c to 50c. Receipts were estimated at 6,500 head of cattle and 2,000 calves.

Despite the fact that hog prices were 10c to 15c lower, the market was fairly active and a run of 1,800 head went over the scales at a seasonable hour. The top was $7.40, packers buying at that price. Bulk sales ranged from $7.10 to $7.25. Pigs gained 25c, several sales being made at $6.50.

Sheep prices were trimmed to the extent of 10c to 15c, the top on good wethers being $7.25. Receipts reached 10,000 head, but of that number 6,000 were on through billing.

WHEAT SCORES SLIGHT ADVANCE

Corn and Oats Move Along With Provisions To Higher Price

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, May 21.—Influenced chiefly by unfavorable crop reports and by announcement of a big decrease in the United States visible supply, the wheat market scored something of an advance in price today. Closing quotations were unsettled at 3-8c to 2-4c net gain, July $1.16 1-4 to $1.16 3-4, and September $1.14 5-8 to $1.14 3-4. Corn finished at a range varying from 1-4c down to 18c to 1-4c advance, oats at 1-8c off to a shade up, and provisions unchanged to 5c higher.

Reports at hand indicated a wider area of wheat crop impairment in the Southwest than had heretofore been generally believed probable. Rallies to the highest prices of the day in the wheat market took place after it was known that the domestic visible supply showed a falling off of 4,197,000 bushels.

Corn and oats were mainly governed by the action of wheat values.

Buying on the part of smaller packers gave firmness to the provision market after a decline due to lower quotations on hogs.

Sunshine Extension, Announced In Record News Saturday, Swabs 700

The Sunshine State Oil and Refining company's No. 1 test on the Parrish tract in Archer county, brought in Friday afternoon as an extension of a mile and a half to the Texhoma-Gose field, is being swabbed, making 700 barrels daily. The well, as reported in The Record News of Saturday, made more than 500 barrels the first day and since that time has been swabbing at the rate of 700.

After touching the sand at 1,571 feet the sand was drilled less than 18 inches, making the unusual production. Although prospects of a larger well when deepened are bright, the well will be standardized at the present depth.

Leases offsetting the well are being sold at prices as high as $2,000 an acre, and excitement is high. Wells will be drilled in the vicinity at once.

The Sunshine State's No. 10 well, which is an offset to No. 5, which is a 50-barrel producer, is on top of a rich sand in the Freeman-Hampton pool and will be completed within the next few days with prospects of a good well.

GRIBIN-STACY LOCATE.

Gribin and Stacy have made location for No. 2 well to be drilled at once on section 5 of the S. A. and M. G. survey on the Burnett lands in Wichita county. The well will be spudded in at once.

TO SPUD IN NO. 3.

No. 3 well on the Winters-Sides tract in Wichita county will be spudded in this week by the Wichita-Bark Drilling company. It will be a shallow well in the pool which has many shallow producers.

THREE WELLS PLUGGED.

The Sun Oil company has plugged and abandoned well No. 1 on the B lease in section 1 of the S. P. R. R. survey of the Ferguson tract in Archer county.

W. C. Reeves has abandoned and plugged No. 1 on the Stanley land, block 818, Evans tract in Wichita county.

The Sun Oil company has plugged No. 1 on section 13 of the R. C. S. L. survey, on the Avis tract in Wichita county.

MISS YOUNG PLAYS CORDELIA

But not the Cordelia of Shakespeare. Oh, no, the clean "Cordelia, the Magnificent," in the screen version of Lucy Scott's novel which has just finished running in a serial form in the Saturday Evening Post.

THIS WAY IS BEST

By CLARE DILLON HOLT

ROMANCE.

A romance clings unto my cake.
You think I mean it's sugar coat.
While your conclusion's no mistake
For piquant rims quite well I know
Intriguing charm on cakes bestow,
Yet something more do I denote.
It is the little strand of hair
Imbedded in the icing there.
I'll drop this hair upon the floor,
I've found these foreign bits before.

OPTIMISM.

And yet, I'll weave a bright romance.
Gold ringlets clingingly caress
And aureole the countenance
Of a slim little princess girl
Who brushing back a wayward curl
Let loose this single errant tress.
With eyes as blue as heaven above
This trim dream girl's just made for love.
I'll eat my cake with added zest.
To take the thing this way is best.

LIFE.

This life like cake is sustenance,
A mannon in a candy rim.
And if within it's sweet romance
A straying strand of hair is found,
The soul must either run aground
Or else rebound up to the brim
A super-optimist. Thus life
Sums up as joy or biter strife,
According to the specs you wear
When viewing such stray strands of hair.

18 Cases Tried In City Court

Following a busy week-end for the police force, 18 cases were brought up in the city court Monday morning, the charges ranging from disturbing the peace and drunkenness to traffic violation. Fines of $5 and $10 were assessed in the cases that came to trial, three of the cases being transferred to the county and federal courts.

A fine of $10 was imposed on a negro woman for disturbing the peace after she had plead guilty to the charge. In the process of the trial it developed that the woman also was accused of the theft of property valued at $50. The case was transferred to the county, where a charge of theft was filed against the woman.

A young man charged with the possession of whisky was turned over to the federal authorities. A charge of aggravated assault also was transferred to the county.

WAURIKA SEES ITS EXPENDITURE

Statement Shows Just How $50,000 Bond Issue Was Spent

Special Dispatch to Record News

WAURIKA, May 21.— A complete financial statement of all expenditures for the water and sewer extension, which was made under the recent bond issue of $50,000 was printed in last week's issue of the Waurika News Democrat.

Every taxpayer was thus given an opportunity to see to what use the bond money was put. G. A. Nelson acted as city clerk during that time, and was very efficient in keeping the records.

The county treasurer of Jefferson county will publish a statement next week, of the personal tax renditions of the county, and the public in general will know who is helping to support county government. The article will be aimed at the tax dodger exclusively.

REVIVAL AT GRAHAM ENDS

Church Filled for Last Of Series; Five Added By Revival

Special Dispatch to Record News

GRAHAM, May 21.—The revival which has been going on at the First Presbyterian church for the past two weeks, came to a close last night with the church building filled to overflowing.

The churches of the city turned out their services by courtesy. Several were turned away as was the case last Sunday evening. Good crowds have been hearing Dr. A. F. Cunningham of Austin, Texas, who has been doing the preaching.

Dr. Cunningham is a Scotchman, coming over to America a few years ago. He speaks with a Scotch burr and his sermons were straight to the point, the preacher not attempting to fill in with stories and anecdotes.

On the last night, Dr. Cunningham's sermon, "From Earth to Heaven," was dedicated to his mother, long since departed.

Five additions to the church resulted from the revival.

Dedicate W. O. W. Graves

In accordance with their annual custom, the local camp of the Woodmen of the World observed decoration for their departed members at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The assembly met at the hall, where they formed in line for the parade to the cemetery. Led by the Graham high school band, they proceeded to the cemetery, where the W. O. W. ritualistic ceremony was gone through. A score of little girls, bearing flowers, lent color and beauty to the occasion.

DENY IMMUNITY TO OIL HEADS

General Lee Men Claim They Gave Evidence To Trade Board

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, May 21.—Pleas of Charles Sherwin and H. H. Schwars, officials of the General Lee Oil company, that they receive immunity from prosecution in the pending mail fraud cases in federal court here, were overruled by Judge Bledsoe today.

The defendants contended for immunity on the grounds that they had furnished evidence to the federal trade commission, and this testimony rendered them immune from further prosecution.

Immunity was not mentioned by the defendants when they furnished the information to the federal trade commission, Judge Bledsoe pointed out. He held that notice they expected immunity should have been given when the testimony was presented the commission.

A number of defendants in the Frederick A. Cook and Reveire cases entered pleas of not guilty, and the Cook case was set for trial on September 3. Reveire case was set for October 1. The General Lee case is scheduled for trial next Monday.

Defendants in the Cook case who pleaded not guilty were O. L. Ray, Sam L. Hesse, J. S. Rooks, Edward J. Bowen, George J. DeMontrand, H. O. Stephens. Those who pleaded not guilty in the Reveire case were Porter Dukes, John C. Verser, Sam L. Hess, W. F. Crowley.

Injuries to Mrs. Hamrick Basis; Second Trial In Progress

Testimony will be resumed today in the damage suit of C. V. Hamrick and others vs. the Fort Worth & Denver railroad, trial of which was started Monday before Judge P. A. Martin of the Eighty-ninth district court. This is the second time the case has been tried, $20,000 damages being awarded in the first.

A new trial was granted by the court on grounds of misconduct of the jury.

It is alleged that the wife of the plaintiff was severely injured last October, when she was struck by a truck at the union station. The truck, it is alleged, was bumped by an engine of the defendant company.

VAUDEVILLE TRUST EXISTS, COURT SAYS

International News Dispatch

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Opponents of the alleged "vaudeville trust" in the United States won their first victory in the United States supreme court today.

The supreme court decided, inferentially, that there exists reasonable grounds for believing a vaudeville monopoly does exist, and it ordered the suit brought by Max Hart, a New York producer, to be restored to the docket in New York federal district court for trial on its merits.

LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports

What is the correct way to go after a fly in the outfield?

Answered by
ED ROUSH

Famous outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, a leading hitter in the National league, with a 1922 average of 351.

In going back after fly balls which have been knocked over your head, turn back to the ball and, looking over either shoulder, run back towards the spot where you think it is going to land. Get there ahead of the ball so as to have some time to turn around and steady yourself for the catch and the throw. It is awkward and wrong to run backward in chasing a ball hit over your head.

Man On Trial After 11-Year-Old Girl Gives Birth to Baby; Death Asked

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 21.—With state's attorneys contending for the death sentence, the trial of Willie La Rue, charged with being the father of 11-year-old Mary Cavender's son, opened here in the twenty-eighth criminal district court here today. The case was given to the jury shortly after 7 o'clock tonight and the jury had not returned a decision at midnight.

La Rue pleaded guilty to the charge, and asked for suspended sentence. The case was brought here on a change of venue from Kleburg county in order to obtain a speedy trial.

Mary Cavender, the girl-mother was the only witness placed on the stand by the state. The girl re-iterated her statement that she was but 11 years old, although the defense contended that she was about 12½ years old. When asked as to the parentage of her child, little Miss Cavender replied: "It's Willie and my child." The girl refers to the baby as her "live doll."

La Rue, placed on the witness stand, said that his parents had taken the girl into their home because they wanted a companion while he was away at work. The witness said that the first time he had had improper relations with the little girl was when she had come to his room. The girl testified that he had taken her from the house and had had improper relations with her several times.

Mrs. LeGrande La Rue, the mother of the defendant, testified she had asked the girl if she thought that she was to become a mother, and that the had denied it.

The young mother testified that the child's birth was cesarian. The birth occurred in San Antonio several months ago.

NO ACTION ON DENVER SHOPS

Insurance Must First Be Adjusted, Heads Say Here

No definite action on the question of moving the Childress shops of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad to this city will be taken until the insurance on the old shops, burned last week, is finally settled. Following this, the question of a new site will be discussed.

This information was given out Monday by officials of the Denver line conferring here on the question. A series of conferences were held during the day, but no decisions of a definite nature arrived at, it was reported.

Those attending the conferences included F. E. Clarity, vice president and general manager of the Denver; J. H. Barwise Jr., general attorney; M. A. Strainer, maintenance of way engineer; W. C. Logan, general auditor, and S. H. Bacon, engineer.

Townsend Debates Road Construction With F. G. Swanson

The University club luncheon program today is to have the final decision on whether the state shall control, maintain, and construct the state highways or whether they shall be constructed as heretofore by each of the counties as to their pro rata, etc.

The proposed amendment to be voted upon July 28, 1923, will be debated by Senator W. J. Townsend, asserting the state should manage the state highways, and Attorney F. G. Swanson, upholding the negative and the lack of courtesy as well as law to compel either Clay or other counties to build roads or right of state to build them, before they are wanted locally.

The club urges all members to be present and invites any citizens, men or women interested in the good roads program to attend the luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. dining hall at noon.

Mrs. Stella Ham Sues for $10,000 After Injuries

Mrs. Stella Ham, joined pro forma by her husband, has filed suit in district court here against Ed and Adolph Michna, asking $10,000 for damages alleged to have been suffered March 1, last, when she was injured by an automobile driven by the defendants.

In the pleadings it is set forth that the plaintiff, on or about March 1, was in the 1200 block Monroe street, seeking to prevent a small child of a friend from running into the path of passing automobiles in the street. While engaged in this, it is alleged, the defendant's automobile struck her, throwing her to the ground and inflicting serious physical injuries.

Amarillo Trade Trip Postponed

Word was received here Monday that the scheduled visit of Amarillo business men on their spring trade trip had been postponed from June 19 to June 26.

In a letter sent to the chamber of commerce it was pointed out that the Panhandle Banker's association convention in Amarillo and other important meetings at the same time made it advisable to delay the trade excursion. The special train will arrive here at 4 o'clock on the morning of June 26 and leave the same morning. It is to come here from Elk City.

Kiwanians Not to Send Delegate to Atlanta

No official delegate to the national Kiwanis convention at Atlanta next week will be sent by the local organization Monday, although it was announced that at least one Kiwanian and possibly others who would be in the vicinity of Atlanta on the convention dates would attend.

The club is already laying plans and conserving resources to send an imposing delegation to the 1924 convention that will probably go to Denver.

MRS. HINCKLEY NERVOUS WRECK

Tells How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Memphis, Tenn.—"Two years ago I was completely run-down and my nerves were a wreck. I could not sweep a room without resting. I could not do my work except a little at a time, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. One day some one threw your little book on to my porch, and in it I read several testimonials of women who had been like myself. I went right out and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of that bottle I knew it was helping me. I took six bottles, and then in about three months I took two more. Now I am in perfect health. I do all of my own work and could do more. I can truly say that I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave me my health."—Mrs. O. J. HINCKLEY, 316 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. This book contains valuable information.

Number Expected to Reach 200; Classes Will Begin Today

More than 160 pupils, the largest number in the history of the summer sessions in Wichita Falls registered for the summer school at the high school building Monday morning. This number is expected to be increased to more than 200 pupils. Regular school begins Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, according to A. K. Presson, principal.

Work is being offered for those who wish to make up lost studies, for those who wish to gain time for graduation at the end of the summer session. The courses offered will cover every course of all four years of high school, English, history and mathematics and also both low and high sixth and seventh grade work in English, history and artithmetic. A student in the high school may take two courses and a student in the grades may take three subjects.

The summer term will be of nine weeks, the school hours being arranged so that classes and study periods come in the morning.

Mr. Presson said that registration may take place any time this week but urges pupils to register as soon as possible. As an added feature, exemptions will be given this summer and absences will count against exemptions beginning Tuesday morning. More than three absences will deprive a pupil of an exemption and two tardies count as an absence.

The faculty of the summer session is A. K. Presson, principal, C. E. Dunheim, I. C. Presson, J. T. Rundell, Paul Morgan, and R. O. Jonas, all of whom have been connected with the public school system in Wichita Falls for several years.

COUNTY TO SUE FOR EXCESS FEE

Legal Action for Recovery Ordered Against Former Clerk Harris

Suits for $4,028.56 will be filed soon against W. T. Harris, former county clerk, for the return of excess fees alleged to be due the county, according to an order issued Monday by the county commissioners court. W. F. Weeks, local attorney, has been retained by the county to conduct the case.

County Auditor E. P. Walsh has been at work checking up reports of former county officials for several years back and it is on the strength of his findings that action is to be taken. According to his reports, the amount said to be due the county by Mr. Harris represents fees collected by him and that should have been turned into the county treasury.

It was indicated Monday that Mr. Walsh was now checking over other reports of former county officials.

27 High School Students, Including Two Girls, Get Letter Sweaters

Twenty-seven sweaters will be ordered some time this week for students in the high school who made either track, baseball, basketball or tennis teams during the past year. Those students who made a place on two or three of the teams will receive only one sweater.

Contrary to all customs the colors of the baseball sweaters will be different from those of preceding years. Instead of selecting black and red, the coaches have decided to order white sweaters with large W's. The following men will receive sweaters for making the baseball team: Roberts, captain, Ross, Harris, Gladwell, Kallman, Gordon, Morgan, Walker, Basham, Jenkins, Baldwin, Skeen and Sullins.

West will receive a sweater for his work on the track team and Leo Baldwin would also receive one if he had not received his sweater on the baseball nine.

Tyson, Coffey, captain, Ray, Powell, McCrachney, Crites, Cameron, Beck and Deems, Gordon and Baldwin also made the basketball squad but due to the fact that they received one from the baseball nine they were denied a second one.

Jewell Williams, Marjorie Bright Clifton Haynes, and William Powers will receive sweaters for their work in tennis. The two young ladies will have the distinction of being the first two of the gentle sex to earn sweaters in the Wichita Falls high school.

Of the men who received sweaters, Baldwin is a four-letter man, the first in the history of the school. Tyson is a three-letter man, and Coffey, McCheckney, Cameron, Gordon, Deems, and West are two-letter men.
