Health Care At Last Set For Final OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The old age health insurance bill is finally ready, except for putting agreements into formal language, for a fast final whirl through Congress.

Along with the new health plan go a 7 per cent increase in present Social Security benefits and other liberalizing changes in the existing program.

FIRST STOP
Because it's a revenue measure, the House is the first stop for the compromise completed Wednesday by a conference committee of the Senate and House.

That stop, Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said, will be made Tuesday. Then it's over to the Senate and finally President Johnson for his signature.

A "CINCH"
Approval all along the line is considered a cinch.

The rest of this week, congressional aides and Welfare Department and Social Security Administration staff members will put into legislative language the decisions reached by the conferees.

The bill has three main provisions:

SS EXPANSION
Expansion of the 30-year-old Social Security system to provide hospitalization, nursing home care, home nursing services and out-patient diagnostic services for all Americans over 65.

A voluntary supplementary federal program of insurance to cover major doctor bills, some dental surgeon services and some other health costs of older Americans. They would pay premiums of $3 a month, matched by federal funds.

A 7 per cent increase, retroactive to last Jan. 1, in all cash benefits under the current old age, survivors and disability insurance program.

PROGRESSIVE HIKES
With this broadest expansion of the Social Security system since its inception come progressive increases in Social Security taxes.

A worker earning at least $6,600 next year will pay $277.20 and his employer a like amount.

Getting Ready To Pour Concrete

J. D. Jones Construction Co. of Big Spring, who holds the contract for enlarging and remodeling the field house at Memorial Stadium, has men building forms to pour the first concrete at the site. The enlargement and remodeling is being done jointly by Howard County Junior College and Big Spring School District.

Bought Malts At His Store, Owner Says

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An Austin drug store operator told police today that two missing University of Texas coeds bought sandwiches and malts Wednesday at his soda fountain.

John Thompson, manager of Alamo Drug in downtown Austin, said he was positive in his identification of the two attractive sorority sisters, Susan Rigsby and Shirley Ann Stark, both 21 and from Dallas.

"GOOD TIP"
Police called Thompson's report a "real good tip" as the search for the two young women, missing since Sunday, continued.

A few drops of blood were found on the front passenger seat of the yellow sports car in which the girls drove to Austin, officers said. "But it wasn't enough to indicate any real violence in the car, and that's a good sign," Detective Ross Peckham said. Texas state police said the blood came from a human being.

CAR FOUND
The dust-covered car was found last night, gas tank empty, on a street about 10 blocks from an apartment where Miss Rigsby planned to live while attending summer classes at the university.

Austin Detective Bert Gerling, a longtime forgery investigator, said the handwriting on a mysterious note found in the car matched Miss Rigsby's. Thompson, the drugstore manager, said the girls he identified as the two coeds bought three grilled cheese sandwiches, three malted milks to go and two magazines. He said the girls appeared to be in a hurry.

WALKED NORTH
The drugstore manager said he last saw the girls rapidly walking north on a downtown street.

Police said the undercarriage of the girls' car had weeds caught in it, apparently from being driven over rough country. A handwritten note was found on the floor of the car, officers said, but they said they did not know if it was connected with the disappearance. The note read, "The signal. Let phone ring once. Then hang up, then call back and let phone ring long time. Call station-to-station." Texas Ranger Clint Peoples said it was feared the young women had met harm.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. war planes flew closer today to the Red Chinese border than ever before on an air strike over North Viet Nam.

Republicans Ask Court Reject Redistricting Bill

HOUSTON (AP)—Nine Republicans from six counties have challenged the congressional redistricting plan enacted by the 1965 Texas Legislature.

In a petition filed late Wednesday, the nine asked that a special three-judge federal court refuse to accept the bill and that the court redraw districts in "a fair, impartial and scientific manner."

This same court had given the lawmakers until Aug. 2 to re-report the state's congressional districts on a population only basis.

NOT LINKED
Secretary of State Crawford Martin said the original court decision provided that no further parties would be allowed to intervene. The Republicans filing the latest petition were not involved in the previous case.

Five other Republicans filed the original suit that led to an Oct. 19, 1963, ruling that the state's 23 congressional districts were unconstitutional and to an order that Texas nominate and elect its congressmen on an at-large basis until the legislature revised the statutes.

The original petitioners are residents of Houston and have indicated they will not challenge the new bill since it gives Harris County a third congressman.

Gridder Firm With Denial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 40-minute cross-examination of fullback Jim Brown Thursday failed to change his testimony that he never struck or had sex relations with Brenda Ayres, the 18-year-old girl who has accused him of assault and battery.

Assistant City Prosecutor Albert Corsi reviewed in cross-examination the 23 minutes of defense testimony Brown gave at the end of Wednesday afternoon's session of the trial, now in its ninth day in Municipal Court.

Miss Ayres has accused the Cleveland Browns star of slapping her in a motel room the night of June 19 and having sexual relations with her. When he pleaded innocent, Brown asked for a jury trial.

A U.S. military spokesman said. Three Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs bombed a highway bridge only 41 miles from the Chinese frontier, the spokesman said.

RED GUNFIRE
The pilots reported heavy Communist groundfire, but the spokesman said all planes returned safely.

In raids last week, U.S. bombers hit targets 43 miles from Communist China.

In the only other raid on North Viet Nam reported today, eight F4 Starfighters destroyed 20 buildings and damaged numerous others at the Dong Cao. Then barracks 60 miles inside Communist territory, the spokesman said.

AIR ACTION
He also reported heavy air action against the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam and scattered clashes on the ground.

The Viet Cong kept up pressure on troops of the U.S. 1st Division Wednesday night for the fourth consecutive night. American casualties again were reported light and the infiltrators were repulsed.

Beginning about 9 p.m. guerrillas fired mortars and small arms at 1st Division positions east of the big Bien Hoa air base 12 miles north of Saigon.

AUGUST HEARING
It asked an Aug. 2 hearing or as soon thereafter as possible before the special court composed of U.S. Circuit Judge John Brown and U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham and James Noel.

The complaint said the bill "ignores the United States Constitution's plain objective of making equal representation for equal numbers of peoples the fundamental goal of the House of Representatives, and violates Article 1, Sec. 2, of the Constitution because it does not conform to the 'one man, one vote' principle."

A portion of Dallas County containing 64,026 people in 16 electorates and portions of eight others, demonstrably Republican in character, has been scooped out and placed in a district containing 18 predominantly rural counties which range to the Oklahoma border on the north, to the Texas Panhandle on the northeast, and across the Caprock to within 50 miles of Lubbock and 125 miles of the New Mexico border on the west.

"But while meandering over the length and breadth of the state of Texas, Dist. 6 and 13 take in only portions of Dallas County a few miles across, thus efficiently depriving a carefully calculated number of Dallas residents of an effective congressional representation."

Martin, a defendant in the suit, said Judge Brown will have to set aside the original court order before the nine can intervene.

Antipoverty Bill Passage Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House appeared determined today to pass the administration's $1.9-billion antipoverty bill today despite continuing Republican efforts to trim it.

The big Democratic majority showed impressive strength Wednesday in turning back one major GOP onslaught and Republican leaders had only faint hope that others would succeed.

DOUBLE FUNDS
The bill would continue a variety of education, Job Corps and other programs and double the authorization of funds.

Republicans are pushing hardest for an amendment that would again allow governors to veto antipoverty projects in their states. The House bill would give the federal antipoverty director authority to override such a veto.

On the first big test Wednesday, Democrats shouted down a proposal by Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., to give the states final say as to whether a community antipoverty project should be approved.

LOCAL ROLES
Under the existing program enacted last year, local community action groups deal directly with the federal Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) in getting plans approved and funded.

Also rejected by voice vote were amendments to require elections, wherever possible, for membership in community action planning boards, and to keep churches and other religious groups out of community action programs.

Reunion Plans Shaping Up

Wood has been stacked, safety fences built around the barbecue pits, tables are being cleaned up and placed, and general preparations made for the Howard-Glanscock Counties Old Settlers Reunion Friday.

Registration will begin about 8:30 a.m. Friday, with several tables set up to handle a large number in a hurry.

An amplifier system will be installed for announcements, introductions of old timers, special guests and for short speeches.

The program for the day, as outlined by president Jess Slaughter, will be:

Introductions by emcee, Don Brooks, from 10 to 11 a.m.; principal address by W. C. (Supe) Blankenship, from 11 to 11:15 a.m., followed by special music by the Lewis McKee family;

From 11:25 to 11:35, recognition of the old settler coming from the greatest distance, then more music by the McKees.

The Rev. Billy Rudd, of East Fourth Street Baptist Church, will give a memorial service from 11:40 to 12 noon, and then the invocation.

Barbecue, beans, pickles, son-of-a-gun stew, coffee and iced tea will be served, to the accompaniment of music by Texas Shorty and Sam Roberts' band from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

The old fiddlers of the area will gather at the pavilion for a contest from 2 to 2:30 p.m.

Those wanting to dance in the afternoon will have an opportunity between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. with Texas Shorty furnishing the music.

The group will adjourn at 4:30 p.m., and the public is invited to attend a dance beginning at 8 p.m. A special square dance exhibition will be put on at 10 p.m. with E. S. Hubbard Jr., and his club, putting on the show.

Quake 'Prophecy' Scares California

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Civil Defense officials here said they were kept on edge Wednesday by an apparently false earthquake "prophecy."

The prediction was circulated in a letter from J. Douglas Stewart of Athens, Ohio, a graduate student in photography at Ohio University, according to Francis A. Farley, city Civil Defense director.

"It was something you couldn't ignore entirely," Farley said. "Quietly, so that no one would be observant of it, we had city fire equipment parked on the ramps of fire stations as a precautionary measure."

Farley said other precautions were taken that "didn't hurt anybody."

Stewart listed his sources for the prophecy as Mrs. Jean Dixon of Washington, D.C., who is credited with predicting numerous occurrences, and Mrs.

Grace Conrad of Bayside, Calif., Farley said.

However, Mrs. Dixon denied she had predicted a disaster for the West Coast.

"I said there would be some tremors in July, but they'd be nothing to worry about," she said.

Mrs. Dixon also said Stewart "has never contacted me." There were no reports of earthquakes anywhere in Southern California Wednesday.

Presidio Gets Only Rainfall Measurable

By The Associated Press
Presidio in the Big Bend of West Texas usually is the hottest spot in the state. To this was added another distinction Wednesday—it had the only rain heavy enough to measure.

The day's top temperature at Presidio was 103 degrees. As for the rainfall, it amounted to a skimpy .03 inch.

There also were a few showers dotting northern areas of the state late in the day but none of consequence. The rest of Texas was cooked a bit crispier under mostly clear skies.

Puzzle of Wednesday, July 21, Solved

East Texas' Development Of Rivers Seen Unmatched

By TOM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

River development on an unprecedented scale is under way in East Texas, promising to transform the region into a recreational paradise with a virtually unlimited economic potential.

(Fourth in Series).

Six massive projects alone—all within 140 miles of Houston—are either under construction or proposed at a cost of some $300 million. Among these is the $60 million Toledo Bend complex on the Sabine River. It will impound the largest man-made lake in the South with an average surface area of 283 square miles. Toledo Bend itself would be a strong developmental inducement for East Texas.

TWO OTHERS

But to grasp the magnitude of the region's river development, it is necessary also to consider that two other dams less than 75 miles west of Toledo Bend each will impound reservoirs larger than Lake Texoma, the largest lake in Texas for many years.

These would be Sam Rayburn on the Angelina River and Rockland on the Neches, to cost $61 million and $46 million respectively.

Also proposed are Lake Livingston ($50 million) on the Trinity River, Millican Dam ($65 million) on the Navasota River and Wallisville Lake ($10 million), also on the Trinity.

Existing large dams in East Texas (east of the 40-inch annual rainfall line) are Texarkana Dam ($35 million) on the Sulphur River, Ferrells Bridge Dam (Lake O' The Pines) ($16 million) on Cypress Creek and Dam "B" ($9 million) on the Neches.

The 40-inch rainfall line runs just about north and south 100 to 150 miles west of the Louisiana border. Dallas lies west of it, Houston to the east.

RAIN ABUNDANT
So plentiful is rainfall in deep East Texas that Beaumont and Port Arthur receive more than 50 inches in an average year, and Orange more than 55.

This extremely heavy rainfall means that more dams can impound more water than in a similar area in drier portions of the state.

For example, Sanford Dam on the Canadian River in the Panhandle (less than 20 inches of rainfall a year) utilizes a huge drainage area of 20,000 square miles to fill its average storage capacity of 220,000 acre-feet (one acre-foot is 325,851 gallons).

Toledo Bend, on the other hand, drains an area about a third of that size (7,200 square miles) to fill a reservoir five times as large (4,500,000 acre-feet).

JOINT PROJECT

Most of the larger river projects under construction or proposed in East Texas are under the direction of the Corps of Engineers, But Toledo Bend is a non-federal joint undertaking by Texas and Louisiana.

The lack of federal participation brought this comment from Rep. T. A. Thompson, D-La., at groundbreaking in 1961:

"This proves that when the federal government doesn't give a dam, the people do."

Toledo Bend is being financed

Wife Sues Astronaut

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The wife of Dr. Duane E. Graveline, one of the six new scientist-astronauts, has filed a suit for divorce charging her husband as "a man of violent and ungovernable outbursts of temper."

Mrs. Carole Jane Graveline was granted a temporary court order this week forbidding him to visit or disturb her.

The Gravelines, who have four daughters, make their home in San Antonio. He was selected as a scientist-astronaut June 29 and reportedly is now undergoing pilot training at Williams Air Force Base, Arizona.

In her petition filed here Mrs. Graveline said she "will suffer physical bodily injury and may even lose her life" unless her husband is restrained.

A show cause hearing on the temporary order was set for July 30 in 37th District Court here.

Mrs. Graveline asks custody of their daughters, Jill 13, Joan and Jean 12, and Jane 10, and reasonable sums of alimony. She listed community property as a home at 705 Windrockchere, furniture, two 1964 model automobiles and stocks valued at $7,000.

School Board At Austin Ups Tax

AUSTIN (AP) — The Austin School Board approved a 7-cent property tax increase this week to boost teacher salaries.

The 6-1 vote by the board moved the school tax up to $1.28 per $100 valuation.

The average teacher pay increase will be $511 per year.

'Wacky Mom' Roles Sort Of Natural?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ever wonder how Rosalind Russell can play those wacky mothers — or "Auntie Mame's" — so convincingly?

She gets her training at home. At the moment, Roz is playing the wackiest mother in movie history. She's the mom of "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mama's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad."

She plays the mother of Bobby Morse, keeps him locked in his room and feeds him the same meal every day — a hamburger well-done with catsup, a glass of milk and a maraschino cherry for dessert. She also takes her dead husband along with her in a coffin wherever she goes.

JUST AS WACKY
Life at home with son Lance Brinson is not so macabre but just as wacky.

Lance is proud of his mother's fame and that of his father, too, producer Freddy Brinson. But Lance wants to make it on his own — with no help from his parents. This has led to some hilarious situations. Once when Lance was attending Hotchkiss School in Connecticut, Roz was invited up for mother's day. She got strict orders not to come as a movie star because Lance had told no one about his famous mother.

"So," recalls Roz, "I borrowed a tweed suit from my sister and a big floppy hat. For shoes, I wore those big clodhopper walking shoes. I was the most unglamorous looking mother there. But Lance was pleased."

BEST DRESSED
It took real acting on Roz' part because she often is picked on best-dressed lists.

After Hotchkiss, Lance, on his own, got a job as a copy boy on the Los Angeles Times and worked himself up to reporter — and a good one.

That really posed the problems for Roz.

"If Lance were sent out on a movie story, I had to ignore him. I had my orders and I obeyed."

"It often got very embarrassing, especially if I were talking to Hedda Hopper who also writes for the Times."

Lance always gave his mother

the signal: "Don't tell her who I am." "There I would be, proud of my son but unable to introduce him."

Roz can tell the stories now because Lance is finishing his education at the University of Southern California and is confident that he can make good without his parents' help.

"When he finishes college, he'll be back as a reporter. That's the only thing he has ever wanted to be."

Meanwhile, Lance acknowledges his mother, the movie star, in public.

'Talking Sign' Road Alert Safety System Under Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soft music came over the car radio as the sedan headed across a Potomac River bridge.

Suddenly the music cut off and a woman's crisp voice commanded:

"Yield right of way; proceed with caution. Yield right of way!"

The car continued on towards the Pentagon with the radio turned off. Suddenly it turned on automatically, and the voice of the women-from-nowhere crackled:

"Next exit, right lane! Next exit, right lane!"

Gremlins along the Potomac? No — just the test of an experimental "radio road alert system" developed by the Ford Motor Co. and the Philco Co.

It's a safety plan designed to warn the automobile driver — through his car radio — of high-way situations and impending dangers.

The warnings aren't broadcast from a radio station.

They're stored in prerecorded form on a magnetic tape in an electronic memory unit inside the automobile. The appropriate warning is triggered into vocal form over the car radio by a coded signal from special radio transmitters that can be placed on roadsides or carried in police or other emergency vehicles.

The system is designed to warn drivers of such hazards as bridge washouts, roadblocks, multiple car pileups, icy road conditions, changes in speed limits and other traffic situations.

Saying the setup could provide a nationwide network of "talking signs," Ford officials told newsmen at the demonstration Wednesday.

"The Ford system would supplement cautionary highway signs which are difficult to see in bad weather and, because of their size and the speed of traffic, are restricted to terse messages that are sometimes misunderstood."

"They contended that drivers' eyes already are overworked — due to such situations as 'being confronted with 10 or more highway and traffic events per second' — so it would be a good idea to put the driver's ears to work."

The "memory unit" can store 4 or more messages covering virtually all possible traffic conditions — including an alert that you're driving the wrong way on a one-way highway.

Low-power roadside and mobile transmitters have a range of up to 2,000 feet.

Chile Road Study Financing Set Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The World Bank has agreed to help finance a study designed to prepare a five-year highway improvement program in Chile.

Beef-Eating Argentines Go For Barbecue, Not 'Burgers

BUENOS AIRES. Argentina beef ribs: 4½ pounds of flank steak and-or roast a kid, called chivito. The gaucha or cowboy started this preoccupation with reducing the supply of cattle as rapidly as it might be cooked and eaten. It hasn't slowed down too much in a century or more.

When 10 Argentine couples gathered at the old quinta for an asado — a barbecue at the weekend house in the country — the menu is something like this: Four and one-half pounds of beef: a little more than two pounds of matambre, which is a strip of meat cut off the ribs and rolled; three pounds of sweetbreads; three cow kidneys with fat; two pounds of chitlings or intestines; two pounds of blood pudding; and 20 sausages made of beef, pork and seasoning.

ADD SIRLOIN

If the group is a bit hungry, the cook may throw in some

Of course, in the early days things were a bit more simple. The gauchos stopped on the pampa, and killed off the nearest cow.

With a bit of time and refinement, Argentine natives used iron standards or spits to hang their meat around the rim of a fire. Nearby was a kettle of water heated up for the bitter tea called yerba mate — pronounced ma-tay — which is sipped from a gourd-like container.

When the cook was ready, the gauchos pulled their daggers, pushed them in and out of the ground to clean the blades, sharpened them a bit with honing on the rope sole of their shoes, and whacked off a slice of meat.

CLOSE SHAVE

One end went into the mouth. The dagger sliced it off close to but, with luck, not including the tip of the nose.

After wine grapes were imported and grown, the gaucha became one of the most enthusiastic drinkers of them all — 22.9

gallons per capita — washing down his beef with big drafts of the grape.

The Argentine wouldn't be caught putting something on the meat while it is cooking but fancy sauces adorn the meat after it is served.

For a Creole sauce they put together four large green peppers, a medium onion, a big tomato, salt, oil, vinegar, white and red pepper and mustard. Part of the secret is not to allow any prospective guest see the ingredients. Otherwise they lose their nerve.

Argentines reduced their beef intake in 1964 — down to 132 pounds per capita. In 1963, each Argentine statistically ate 189.4 pounds. It was 243.10 pounds in 1956.

First Woman Sails Alone To Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — With the applause of old salts ringing in her ears, petite Sharon Sites rested today after her gale-raked, 40-day sail from California to Hawaii. She became the first woman to sail the 2,300 miles alone.

In a snug harbor Wednesday night from her courageous trans-Pacific odyssey — done without a radio or fuel for her 25-foot sloop Sea Sharp — the 34-year-old Los Angeles widow counted two casualties:

Her right wrist was broken last weekend in a way she was "too embarrassed" to say, and her pet turtle died 12 days out of Los Angeles.

The blonde dental secretary — a sailing beginner — undertook the voyage alone for the same reason men climb mountains: It was a challenge, she told newsmen before she was taken to a hospital for treatment of her wrist.

On shore at Keahi Marina a few miles from downtown Honolulu, Mrs. Sites told of "Six days of 65 mile an hour winds," her most frightening experience.

"I had to latch everything down, hang on for dear life, and pray," she said.

"Maybe it was foolish," the exhausted woman said, groggy with drugs she had taken to kill the pain of the fracture. "Some-

I didn't do it as a stunt."

Her voyage, which began June 12, ended Wednesday afternoon 25 miles north of Honolulu when the sport fishing boat Catherine S. spotted her sloop and radioed the Coast Guard. The cutter Cape Corwin took the brown-and-white sloop in tow. In port at last, Mrs. Sites, had swiftly changed into white slacks and a black-and-white sweater, was welcomed with applause.

The doughty sailor, who has only six months of sailing experience, vowed she would never attempt such a feat again, and she added she wouldn't advise anyone — man or woman — to do it alone.

"She's the greatest," bubbled an excited Al Adams of Los Angeles, Mrs. Sites' sailing instructor who boarded the $9,000 Sea Sharp as it was being towed to harbor.

Job Corps Center Hires Lawyers For Boy Suspects

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Five lawyers have been retained by the Gary Job Corps Center at San Marcos to defend five job corpsmen charged in the shooting of two Air Force enlisted men.

A job corps official said under rules of the program, counsel may be provided for the boys when they are in trouble with the law.

"It is a peculiar situation where the government pays for the hospitalization of the two innocent airmen who were shot, and pays for the defense of the suspects," said Dist. Atty. James Barlow.

He didn't necessarily disagree with the policy, Barlow said, but was "just a little surprised

"I've never heard of them (the federal government) doing that before."

Barlow noted that most of the job corpsmen probably could not hire lawyers on their own and if the government did not provide counsel, the court would.

HIRE COUNSEL

Dr. Oscar Baker, director of the Gary Job Corps Center, explained that the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington authorized him "to hire counsel for any enrollee in jail and charged with a crime."

"We want to protect a boy's rights," he said. "But once one is convicted, he is treated like any other criminal, plus being dropped from the program."

This is not the first time Gary, open since March 3, has hired legal counsel for an enrollee.

"Two boys were absent without leave from here and charged in Houston with car theft," Baker said. "We provided legal counsel for them, but they were later convicted and we terminated them from the Job Corps."

The five corpsmen, all Negroes from Chicago, were jailed after two Lackland Air Force Base airmen were wounded during an alleged sidewalk robbery attempt July 17 in downtown San Antonio. Two were charged with assault to murder, three with conspiracy to commit robbery.

The airmen are Robin Pettengill, 19, of San Bernardino, Calif., and Frank Marsello Jr., 18, of Elizabeth, N.J.

Doctors say Pettengill may be blinded permanently.

Marsello, who identified the five job corpsmen by photos, is reported in satisfactory condition.

HABEAS CORPUS

The hearing on an application for writs of habeas corpus for Jerry Hester, 19, William Cross, 19, and David Barton, 17, all charged with conspiracy to commit murder, was set for today.

A hearing for James Neely, 18, and Claudell Hughes, 17, charged with assault to murder, is scheduled July 26.

Baker, further explaining the rules for handling cases of job corpsmen in trouble, said the center will not provide bond for any charged with felony crimes.

"However, should a boy be charged with a misdemeanor and his bond is, say, $25, we may put it up for him, rather than let him sit in jail two or three weeks," the director said.

"We feel we can do more for him here than they can in jail."

In extreme cases, the center will pay a small fine, Baker said, "but the fine is then charged against the enrollee's termination pay."

Each job corpsman gets $80 a month while at the camp—$30 for spending money and $50 for his savings account.

Beer Auction Set To Satisfy Judgment

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — An auction Monday is to satisfy an $8,348 judgment won by an advertising firm against a Bismarck brewery. On the block will be 3,500 cases of beer.

Loaded Case Cleared Up

LONDON (AP) — The case of the loaded undies ended Wednesday with hefty fines for a smuggling, battling midwife.

It started when customs officers noticed an unusual bulge beneath the skirt of the midwife, Henriette Peace MacLachlan, as she returned from a vacation in Switzerland.

CARRYING LIQUOR

They took her to a private room where Miss MacLachlan produced bottles of brandy and whisky from beneath her skirt and a watch from her brassiere.

The customs men still were not satisfied. They demanded a search. The woman refused. The men called in a magistrate who ordered a search, by force if necessary.

"All right, then," said Miss MacLachlan, "I will resist."

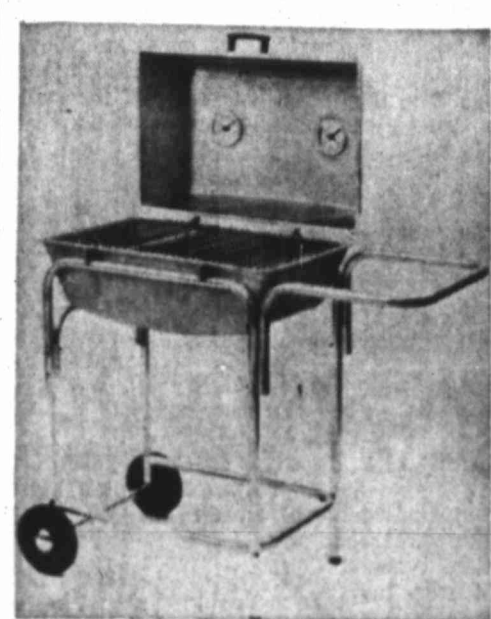

The men withdrew. Two girls from the airport staff were ordered to make the search. For several minutes bumps and shouts could be heard from the search room.

BRUISED, DEFEATED

The airport girls retired bruised and defeated. Miss MacLachlan emerged unsearched.

Before two policewomen skilled in judo arrived Miss MacLachlan decided to submit. The airport girls frisked her without resistance and produced a second wristwatch, from inside her girdle.

Missile Silo Bids Received By Uncle Sam
WASHINGTON (AP) — Saranac, N.Y., wants to pay the government two dollars for two multimillion dollar missile silos. The government says no soap.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Earl Norwood of Billings, Mont., would be willing to invest $26,110 for a silo in Idaho — one of 117 recently offered for sale by the General Services Administration.

Most of the other 52 bids announced Wednesday ranged from $2,500 to $7,500 for each silo, including real estate and improvements.

The 160-foot deep, concrete-lined, air-conditioned silos once housed the Atlas E, Atlas F and Titan I missiles for national defense. The Defense Department recently declared them obsolete.

Thomas Quinn, attorney for Saranac, a village of 2,650 in upstate New York, says he was serious when he offered a dollar apiece for the silos at the nearby Plattsburgh Air Force Base.

Quinn said the village, if it wins a bid, would convert the silos into a bomb shelter and water storage facility.

Thicket Cleared Away

Children formerly attending Kate Morrison Elementary School and assigned to Lakeview Elementary in the next school year, can use this path to cross the railroad tracks. Near the Lakeview area swimming pool, the crossing is approached through an alley, which city crews are presently clearing of brush. The thicket on both sides of the railroad tracks was partially cleared by the city Wednesday.

Cafeteria Considered For Lakeview School

Several possibilities for cafeteria service at Lakeview School are being considered, school officials pointed out today.

Long-range bond planning calls for cafeterias both at Lakeview and Bauer schools, Supt. Sam Anderson said, although the specific time at which these can be constructed is not yet certain.

Anderson said he is looking to the operation of a lunchroom facility at Lakeview this coming year. A large home economy area is available and no longer needed for that purpose.

He said there is a possibility that this can be used for such service. Anderson pointed out that any cafeteria operation must meet specific standards set by the federal government and the school board has not yet been approached with this as a specific proposal.

A major problem emphasized by the protest committee which appeared before the school board Tuesday night was the inability of many families, whose children would be going to Lakeview, to pay for cafeteria lunches.

Anderson said a possibility existed through new programs, such as that which is providing aid for lunches in the present Head Start program, of obtaining federal funds for feeding children. While these would not feed everyone attending the school, Anderson said possibly the funds may be obtained for feeding those who are in need and can qualify.

Some persons connected with the city administration and interested in the improvement of the Lakeview area have suggested the possibility of joint city-school construction of a separate building at Lakeview, Anderson said, to be used both as a school cafeteria and a community building.

The schools and city have prepared a joint program for development of the campus area at Lakeview as a park area, with picnic facilities, playground equipment and fencing.

Accord Reached On 1 Issue In Building Strike

FORT WORTH (AP)—Collective bargaining by contractors and laborers in Dallas' two-week-old construction strike began Wednesday.

Early agreement was reported on the key issue of contractor recognition of the laborers' union.

The International Hod Carriers, Building and Construction Laborers' Union Local 859 had filed a complaint alleging the Dallas County Construction Employers Association refused to bargain.

The association contended the local had not given proof it legally represents the 2,000 laborers employed by the contractors.

Word that the talks had started came from Frank Malone, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board. He would not say where the sessions were being held.

A damage suit asking $49,000 has been filed in 118th District Court. The defendant in the case is Marvin M. Miller and the plaintiffs are C. J. Nix and Mrs. Rose Nix. They are suing on behalf of Ronnie Eugene Walker, son of Mrs. Nix, who is a minor.

The petition alleges that the child was struck by a car operated by the defendant Jan. 11, and suffered serious injuries. They ask that they be compensated in the amount of $49,000.

Hassle Develops Over Rhee Rites

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A controversy developed today over funeral services in Korea for former President Syngman Rhee as the body was en route from Honolulu to Seoul.

NANCY BRUNSON

Nancy Brunson Loses Battle Against Cancer

Nancy Ann Brunson, 16, of 808 W. 7th, died at 1:35 a.m. today in a local hospital. She had been ill and put up a brave fight against cancer for about two years. She was a student of Big Spring public schools. She was born Oct. 20, 1948 in Big Spring.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Darrell Robinson, pastor of Berea Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Survivors are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Brunson; a sister, Mrs. Carolyn Sue Lamb; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Brunson; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Viola Burchett, all of Big Spring; two nieces, one nephew and several aunts and uncles.

Palbearers will be Omar L. Jones, Elvis Caudill, Luther Coleman, John Pitts, Ulysses Hall, and Bill Harkrider.

they would refuse the "people's funeral" planned by the government and sponsor private services unless the government agreed to a state funeral. A people's funeral ranks below a state funeral.

WIDOW PROTESTS

A government subcommittee had planned to hold the people's funeral on Tuesday, but Rhee's widow cabled that she preferred it be held Sunday.

The subcommittee met with government and civic leaders to discuss the funeral date, then adjourned without a decision.

Rhee, once called the "Tiger of Korea," was eulogized in services in Honolulu Wednesday night as a Christian and a patriot whose life "will inspire men everywhere."

Explanation On Viet Nam Plans Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders called on President Johnson today to tell Congress and the American people why the crisis in Viet Nam may necessitate the callup of Reserves, extended enlistments and increased draft calls.

"We do not shrink from doing what the situation calls for, but we ought to be told and the American people ought to be alerted," Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the Senate minority leader, told a news conference.

"If this situation is deteriorating, we should be told precisely how grave it is, and precisely what our experts think should be done."

Selective Stocks Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued mixed and dull early this afternoon but there was some selective improvement.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .3 at 319.0 with industrials off .7, rails off .3 and utilities up .4.

EARS COCKED

Wall Street's ears were cocked for news from Washington—possibly concerning big decisions regarding the Viet Nam conflict. But no news came and the market languished in uncertainty.

As the hours went by, however, traders and investors began to nibble cautiously at some leading issues, with the result that all of the Big Three motors showed slight gains, airlines were edging higher and there was some life shown by assorted chemicals, office equipments and electronics.

stock index, gained .04 at 84.11 at noon.

McKesson & Robbins put on a steadier performance, holding a consistent gain and trading on a block of 50,000 shares at 42 1/2, a gain of a point. Glen Alden was reported to be negotiating for resale of McKesson stock it bought under a tender offer.

Prices improved slightly in slow trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading.

Art Show Set Saturday

An art show with some 60 pieces, including oils, watercolors, tempera, pastels, ink drawings and sculpture, is planned from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

The show is open to the public with no admission charge and will be in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The summer art classes of Big Spring High School are presenting the show. Mary Jean Byrd is the teacher for the classes.

The art pieces will be priced for sale.

Students participating in the art program are Marshall Cockrell, Nancy Haralson, Barbie Hine, Ava Nell Jenks, Nancy Lewis, Cheryl Normand, Dianne Smith, Vicki Smith and Flynn Wright.

Lynn Green To Attend Carr's Youth Conference

LYNN ANNE GREEN

Howard County will have but one delegate at the Third Annual Attorney General's Youth Conference in Austin Aug. 20-22.

She is Lynn Anne Green, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie E. Green, 801 W. 15th.

Miss Green has been appointed by Attorney General Waggoner Carr to serve on the entertainment staff of the 1965 Youth Conference. She will be a member of the Youth Conference Choir which is to perform at the General Assembly meetings during the three-day conference.

Royce Boyer will be the conductor. He is the director of the University of Texas Longhorn Singers.

Miss Green is a soprano in the Sacred Heart of Mary Church choir here. She is an honor student in the schools.

Howard County could have had as many as eight delegates to the conference, but according to Joe Moss, local attorney, only Miss Green will be able to attend.

Carr has these conferences attended by selected youngsters from all over the state and from the boys and girls seeks to get suggestions as to the best ways for handling juvenile delinquency problems. He believes that the boys and girls are in a good position to provide accurate information on the causes and cures of the problems which touch on their generation.

Sherman Adams College Teacher

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Sherman Adams, onetime Dwight D. Eisenhower, will teach a course in American political history next year at Dartmouth College.

Adams, now living in retirement, will lecture on the period of the Eisenhower administration (1953-1961), a spokesman for the college said today.

Five Nabbed In $39,000 Baltimore Store Robbery

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police have found $27,000 in cash and three pistols in the apartment where three men and two women were arrested as suspects in the $39,000 robbery of a department store.

The search was conducted Wednesday after the three men had been charged by Baltimore county police with the holdup and with kidnapping Conrad O. McClung, his wife and two children.

McClung is assistant manager of the store, a Hutzler's branch in suburban Towson. He and his family were held hostage overnight before the Monday morning robbery. They were forced by the bandits to go to the store, where McClung turned over the money.

The three, each charged on four counts of kidnapping, one of assault with a deadly weapon and one of robbery, were named in the charges as John P. Roberts, 41, of Columbus, Ohio; David R. Williams, 26, of Westlaco, Tex.; and Larry J. MacDonald, 27, of Roseville, Calif.

The two women, aged 22 and 23, were not charged Wednesday. Police said they were searching for a possible third female suspect.

Three Wrecks Investigated

Police reported three minor accidents Wednesday. Little damage was sustained by the cars involved, and no one was injured.

A car driven by Lee Dudley Stovall, Abilene, was damaged on the left door when it was in collision with a truck driven by Joe Jefferson Crews, 800 Galveston, Wednesday afternoon. The truck was not damaged.

A collision involving a parked car and a car driven by Steven Charles Bartley, Midland, resulted in damage to the right door of the parked car and light damage to the Bartley car Wednesday afternoon. The parked car was owned by Dorothy B. Greenfield, Rt. 1, Box 228 E.

Light damage to two cars resulted from an accident in the parking lot of the Gregg Street Safeway store Wednesday. The collision was between a car driven by Mary Louise Boren, 504 Westover, and a car driven by Leora Wilson Lamar, 710 Cherry.

Overhang Hearing Set For Aug. 5

There will be a public hearing Aug. 5 before the zoning board of adjustment in the commissioner's room in City Hall at 4 p.m., according to J. D. Elliott, board chairman.

The hearing will be on a request for variance by Don Newsum, owner of a building on Lots 1 and 2, Block 8, College Heights Addition (1900 Gregg). He wants to build an addition to the building with a roof overhang that will exceed the permitted overhang over a side yard.

Take it for a test drive.
See if you pass.

The real test in a Volkswagen is to see if you know what driving really is. If you think you're driving in other cars, then what you do in a VW is something else.

Most cars give you all the lively moving sensation of sitting on your living room couch. But the VW isn't sprung like other cars. Its 4-wheel torsion bar suspension (the kind they have in racers) gives you the feel of the road. You always know what's going on because you know what your car's going on.

And you know what's coming, because you'll see more road than you ever saw before. (Our sloping hood doesn't cut off your view.)

When you twist the steering wheel a little, you can feel the front wheels turn a little. So you know the car's doing just what you told it to. (Doesn't that sound satisfying?)

We can tell you that the VW parks shorter than other cars, and maneuvers more easily.

But we can't tell you how it feels to drive one.

So take the test.

Maybe you can tell us.

War Scrambles Plans On Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The Viet Nam war hangs over the stock market. It also beclouds the prospects for another tax cut. It threatens to swell the defense budget again. It makes uncertain the plans of many young Americans, either of draft age or in Reserve or National Guard units — and the immediate future of their families.

Stock traders get skittish when the news out of Viet Nam looks really bad, as distinguished from just bad as usual. And when the traders take to the sidelines and cut their risks, prices of many stocks fall, however temporarily. War scrambles the plans of business concerns as well as of individuals.

TAX CUT
Hopes of another federal tax cut in 1966 have been riding high. The very uncertainties right now in the business outlook for next year made a tax cut seem more likely. The idea was that a tax cut would be the tool the administration would use to pep up personal incomes and thus consumer buying, and hence industrial activity.

But if the Viet Nam war takes a much larger assignment of U.S. troops and money, the defense budget will rise next year. And increased federal spending also is regarded as a pep pill for the economy. This might be all that the administration considered necessary to keep the economy growing.

That government planners already were looking to either tax cuts or increased spending of one sort or another as necessary to achieve the growth goals is indicated by Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, in testimony before members of the joint House-Senate Economic Committee.

4 PER CENT
The council would like to see the economy grow at a rate of 4 per cent a year between now and 1970. He says that to achieve this the government would probably have to continue taxing and spending policies that would result in still more federal budget deficits.

If the economy grows by 4 per cent each year, federal tax revenues will rise because the growth will produce still higher personal incomes and still higher corporate earnings from which the Treasury will collect income taxes.

But Ackley thinks it doubtful that much, if any, of these increased federal revenues can be used to reduce the steadily growing federal debt. He says that to use them for that purpose would discourage economic growth — and thus lower the personal and corporate incomes on which the Treasury could levy its taxes.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass Pass 2 ♥
4 ♠ Dbl. Pass Pass
Pass

A well calculated, but nonetheless inspired, lead brought about a stunning upset of South's four spade contract. Despite his partner's overall call in hearts, West avoided opening that suit, which would have presented the declarer with his tenth trick.

Altho the South holding is perhaps a point shy of the technical requirements for a demand opening, we would not be inclined to look down our noses at a game-forcing bid. North did not quite have the values to keep one spade open; however, East kept the issue alive by overcalling with two hearts.

South now experienced a change of heart and, not wishing to leave anything further to chance, he leaped directly to four spades. Altho North had denied having as much as six points, there was still the possibility that he might hold some unrecognized value that would prove useful. West doubled four spades and the bidding subsided.

West reasoned that he had a good chance to score three tricks on defense — one spade and perhaps two diamonds, and partner could surely be counted on for one trick to warrant his reopening bid at the two level. It was also reasonable to assume, however, that declarer was not too far off the mark when he was willing to contract for ten tricks with a partner who had admitted insolvency during the auction.

With the issue in doubt, West was inclined to pursue a neutral course on defense and, not wishing to make any play that might assist his opponent, he decided to open the queen of spades. This proved to be an effective choice.

South won the trick with the king and exited with the jack of diamonds. West put up the queen and then cashed the ace. With the appearance of four hearts in the dummy, it became apparent that South was probably void since East rated to have a five card suit for his overall. With two diamond tricks safely in, West was not concerned about giving the declarer a sluff for, if East could score one trick in clubs, the ultimate defeat of the contract was assured.

West exited with a heart and the ace was played from dummy as South discarded a club. At this point, he could have nullified his opponent's brilliant defense by taking a first round finesse of the jack of clubs. Declarer did not have the benefit of "a peek," however, and he made the more normal play of the top honors in the suit in an attempt to drop the queen. When neither clubs nor spades divided favorably, he was obliged to concede defeat.

National Testing Issue Debated By Educators

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I'll lay odds of 2 to 1," a state superintendent of schools said today, "we'll have national testing within five years, and the start of a national curriculum dictated by Washington within 10 years."

"Don't take the bet," said another prominent educator. "The tests are being drawn up now."

MAIN QUESTION
Both men declined to be quoted by name. Both, however, have been closely involved in the most controversial issue before the conference: Should there be a "national assessment of educational progress?"

This would involve a program of tests of elementary and high school pupils to see how good education is throughout the country and how areas and communities compare.

Here are the arguments used for and against it:

Pro — The American taxpayer is spending billions of dollars a year on the public elementary and secondary schools, and he has a right to know what he is getting for his money.

We can't identify and cure our educational ills unless we know exactly where we stand.

National assessment, or testing, might jar some lax communities and states into increasing their commitment to education.

NATIONAL STANDARDS
Con — National testing will lead inevitably to national standards and to eventual dictatorship from Washington on what should be taught in the classroom and how.

National standards will lead to uniformity, and stifle creativity and experimentation. The schools, and the teachers, will be forced to "teach for the test."

All the information that's needed is available right now from the many nationwide tests being used, such as National Merit Scholarship examinations and "college boards."

U.S. Monument Hearing Slated
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Interior subcommittee hearing is scheduled to begin July 26 on a bill by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., to establish the Alibates Quarries National Monument.

The area is 35 miles northeast of Amarillo, Tex. Indians mined stone there for prehistoric weapons.

Nixon Eyeing 1968 Race?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon appears to be building a broad base for a potential bid for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination in his political travels around the country.

Nixon dropped in on Republican congressional leaders this week to chat with them about party affairs, including the lean condition of its coffers, and such matters as the GOP position on Viet Nam.

Barry Goldwater, the 1964 presidential nominee, finds the former vice president acceptable as a candidate. Most party liberals, with the possible exception of Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., wouldn't object to Nixon.

India Villages, Cities Hit By Foreign Exchange Crisis

RASOI, India (AP) — Indira Singh swears he and other farmers here in the Punjab could increase crop yields 50 per cent to help feed India if only they had fertilizer.

In New Delhi, Raj Gupta, 34, housewife, would like to spiff up a bit when her husband comes home from the office. But she has neither lipstick nor rouge.

Thus village and city feel the worst foreign exchange crisis in the 18 years of independent India's economically shaky history.

and Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri warns his people to prepare for "greater discipline and hardship."

Mrs. Gupta and other young Indian women are being told they must wait longer than they feared for better times.

ECONOMY ENDANGERED
The steady drop in reserves threatens the entire planned economy of democratic-socialist India.

India cannot feed itself, and plans for increasing food production depend upon fertilizers.

But there is little money to buy fertilizer. Infant industries will strangle unless they have raw materials but goods from abroad, especially nonferrous metals and rubber, are scarce.

GOES IN CIRCLE
Some industries are potential earners of foreign exchange, but if they can't import, they can't export — and so goes the circle.

Anxiously watching all this are nations that have poured billions into India since 1948 in history's greatest effort to aid a developing country.

The U.S. aid bill alone totals $6.1 billion and is climbing. Wheat shipments average 600,000 tons a month.

RELAX CONTROLS
Generally, Western experts suggest the Indians liberalize a buy fertilizer.

Generally, Western experts suggest the Indians liberalize a

Socialist obsession with planning and relax tight controls on every aspect of the economy. Let traditional market forces loose, the experts urge, and scale down grandiose schemes that clearly are beyond India's means.

Generally, the advice is resented and rejected. If anything, the government in recent months has hardened its attempts to control the economy. It is increasing its dedication to a mixture of socialism and severely restricted capitalism.

Beginning Of A Big Job

Two big bulldozers, owned by W. D. Caldwell, began the huge task of moving dirt and clearing brush on the high school campus in preparation for the $3½ million construction job soon to start. J. W. Cooper of Odessa, contractor for the school building, has moved in three small buildings for field offices, and has engineers on the ground to lay out grades for site development.

Golf Course Area Clean-Up Asked

The parks and recreation board received a petition asking a clean-up of the west golf course area, detailed three projects for priority in city parks: recreational development, and voted to recommend lighting of the new archery range, during a city hall session Wednesday.

The petition was signed by 48 residents and asked that the land east of Parkway Drive, west of the golf course and city park, be cleaned and turned into a park area, with picnic and play facilities. Joe B. Matthews presented the petition.

The board voted to recommend a clean-up and to pass the petition on to the city commission, also recommending that the proposed park development be considered with the board's master plan.

The priority projects for parks development were specified as the swimming pool in City Park, improvement of Prairie Playhouse, and improvement of the amphitheatre. Three members of the board agreed to begin individual studies of needs of each project. W. D. Brough, Parks Superintendent, Johnnie Johansen will study the pools, Jack Watkins, the playhouse, and Don Newsom, the amphitheatre.

Watkins discussed the playhouse building in City Park, observing that the theatre part of the building had been improperly wired and could not be used for the public due to safety hazards. He suggested that it could be improved for use as a practice area for the Civic Theatre, as it has been used previously, and that the front portion of the building be developed into a party and meeting room for public use. He said the front was well-suited for this purpose, with a large fireplace.

A new filter system was considered the major need for the swimming pool. The amphitheatre has been discussed with possible fencing, improvement of the stage area and other needs. The board members are to study the needs for each project, reporting back to the full board, with cost estimates to be prepared later.

Lighting for the new archery range, located at the 1800 block of Gregg Street, was considered, with no specific type of lighting selected. City Electrician Roy Rogan has recommended a 1,000-watt mercury vapor lamp, to cost a total of about $233. Members also discussed possible use of the area south of the targets for a badminton range or other facilities, to utilize the full area. The range is located in the Gregg Street detention dam.

In other action, the board voted to recommend the city obtain a written agreement with the school board on improvement of the Lakeview School property. The city and schools have planned a joint development and cost-sharing program.

Reports were received also on use of the tourist overnight park. Watkins said service station attendants had directed travelers to the area and that a number of campers were using the facility. The park was constructed at the east entrance to City Park.

A representative of the Big Spring Model Airplane Flying Club, Red Williams, appeared before the board to ask that a landing strip be graded off above the south bluff at Moss Creek Lake. The board suggested that either the city or county could do the work when maintenance equipment was in the Moss Creek area.

Comedian Now Playing Corpse

By JAMES BACON

AP photo - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jonathan Winters loves moviemaking so much he's even playing a corpse in his latest film.

Winters is the dad of "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad, Mother's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' so Sad."

During much of the picture he is hauled around in a coffin or else falling out of the closet at inopportune times.

But when Rosalind Russell, who plays mom, shows some home movies, Jonathan gets a chance to play live.

"FOR ME"

"These flicks are for me," says the comedian.

Winters, who can make a fortune in concerts, gave up between $250,000 and $500,000 a year to concentrate on movies and television.

"All my problems of the past — and I had a few — were due to my being on the road. I don't care what anyone says, no one can be a good husband and father when he's gone most of the time." Director Richard Quine, who's making the film, believes Winters will enjoy the same success in movies as the late W. C. Fields.

"Already there's a Winters cult among moviegoers just as there was for Fields," says Quine.

AD LIBS

Some of Winters' best humor doesn't get on the screen. He keeps the set in laughter with his ad lib remarks.

Some of his stuff is far out — with a touch of mayhem in it. His wife tells about a typical Winters gag when he gets on an old elevator with a crowd.

"Do you hear that, maud?" he says, peering up to the ceiling of the elevator. "I can always tell when the first threads of the cable are starting to break. There's a small p-p-p sound. By George, I warned the building superintendent about this."

Then he steps out, shaking his head sadly, leaving a carload of worried passengers.

Laotian Premier Urges New International Talks

LONDON (AP) — Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos urged Prime Minister Harold Wilson today to help arrange new international talks on Indochina to negotiate for peace in Viet Nam.

The neutralist Laotian leader, here on a two-day official visit, met with Wilson and other British ministers.

NATIONS PERILED

Diplomats reported Souvanna stressed that so long as the Viet Nam war goes on the security of nearby Laos and Cambodia will remain in jeopardy. Informants said Souvanna, noting the failure of all efforts to date to bring about a Viet Nam peace parley, suggested the British and Soviet co-chairmen reconvene the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina. This dealt with Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos in separate settlements.

BRITONS DOUBTFUL

Wilson and Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart were sympathetic to Souvanna's suggestion but were doubtful whether it would prove to be effective, the sources said. The British ministers evidently were mindful of the firm position the Russians so far have taken in regard to the Viet Nam crisis—that any peace moves are up to the chief contenders—the Americans, the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam and the Saigon and Hanoi governments.

Miss Universe Semifinalists Total Fifteen

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —

Fifteen beauty queens, with more confidence in cosmetics, gowns and hairdressers than old-fashioned good luck charms, are semifinalists for the crown of Miss Universe.

The 15, chosen Wednesday night from the representatives of 56 countries, include Miss U.S.A. and Miss Greece, whose predecessor now holds the title. Among them are eight blondes and freckled, red-haired Miss Israel. The winner will be crowned Saturday night.

COMIC, SOLDIER

"I'd like to jump up and down and scream!" said Miss Israel, Alisa Panfil Sadeh. She ruffled her hair, threw her arms into the air and noted: "We're beautiful." She's a comic in the pageant, a soldier at home.

Alisa threw away two luck charms given her as "no good."

Denmark's Jeanette Christensen, 18, last week, wore a silver medal from a friend around her neck, but said, "I don't think it helped me win."

Holland's Anna Schuit said she doesn't "believe in any kind of good luck charm. Silly things. But I must say I wasn't a bit optimistic."

SEMIFINALS NEAR

Anna drove to a special hairdresser to have her blonde hair toned and set for the semifinals. She's shopping for a new evening gown as well.

Miss Philippines, Louise Vail Aurelio, 18-year-old softball star, forgot to shake her lucky bamboo sticks. "Too busy with the hair," she said.

Finland's Virpi Meittinen had only tomato soup for dinner, same reason: "Too busy with hair." On Virpi's wrist is a ring on a bracelet, "from a man in Finland."

Cong Swarm Like Ant Hill, Sarge Says

By RONALD I. DEUTSCH

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — "It was like seeing ants on an ant hill," said Sgt. Edward Chamberlain as he lay in his hospital bed.

The slender, blond 25-year-old from Watertown, N.Y., was describing the Viet Cong guerrillas who on Tuesday swarmed over the walls of the Vietnamese special forces camp at Bu Dop, 80 miles north of Saigon.

Chamberlain, one of six American Army advisers in the camp, was wounded in the right arm. The other five Americans were either killed or wounded and casualties among the 300 Vietnamese troops were described as heavy.

"We fired all night long," said Chamberlain. "The Lord must have been with me that night." Chamberlain was on guard in the mess hall when the Communists opened the attack with mortars. He said the guerrillas were already in the camp by the time he got to a bunker.

Buried cable:
$10,000,000 in new life insurance for your telephone
this year

Put telephone wires underground and you've put them in a safe place. Safe from wind, rain, hot weather, cold weather, stormy weather. Safer from the slow death of ordinary weathering. Safer from man-caused damage, too. All around safer from the kinds of trouble which most often affect the talkability, hearability and dependability of your phone service.

That's why this year Southwestern Bell is spending $10 million burying hundreds of additional miles of telephone cable underground. In effect, buying life insurance for your telephone service.

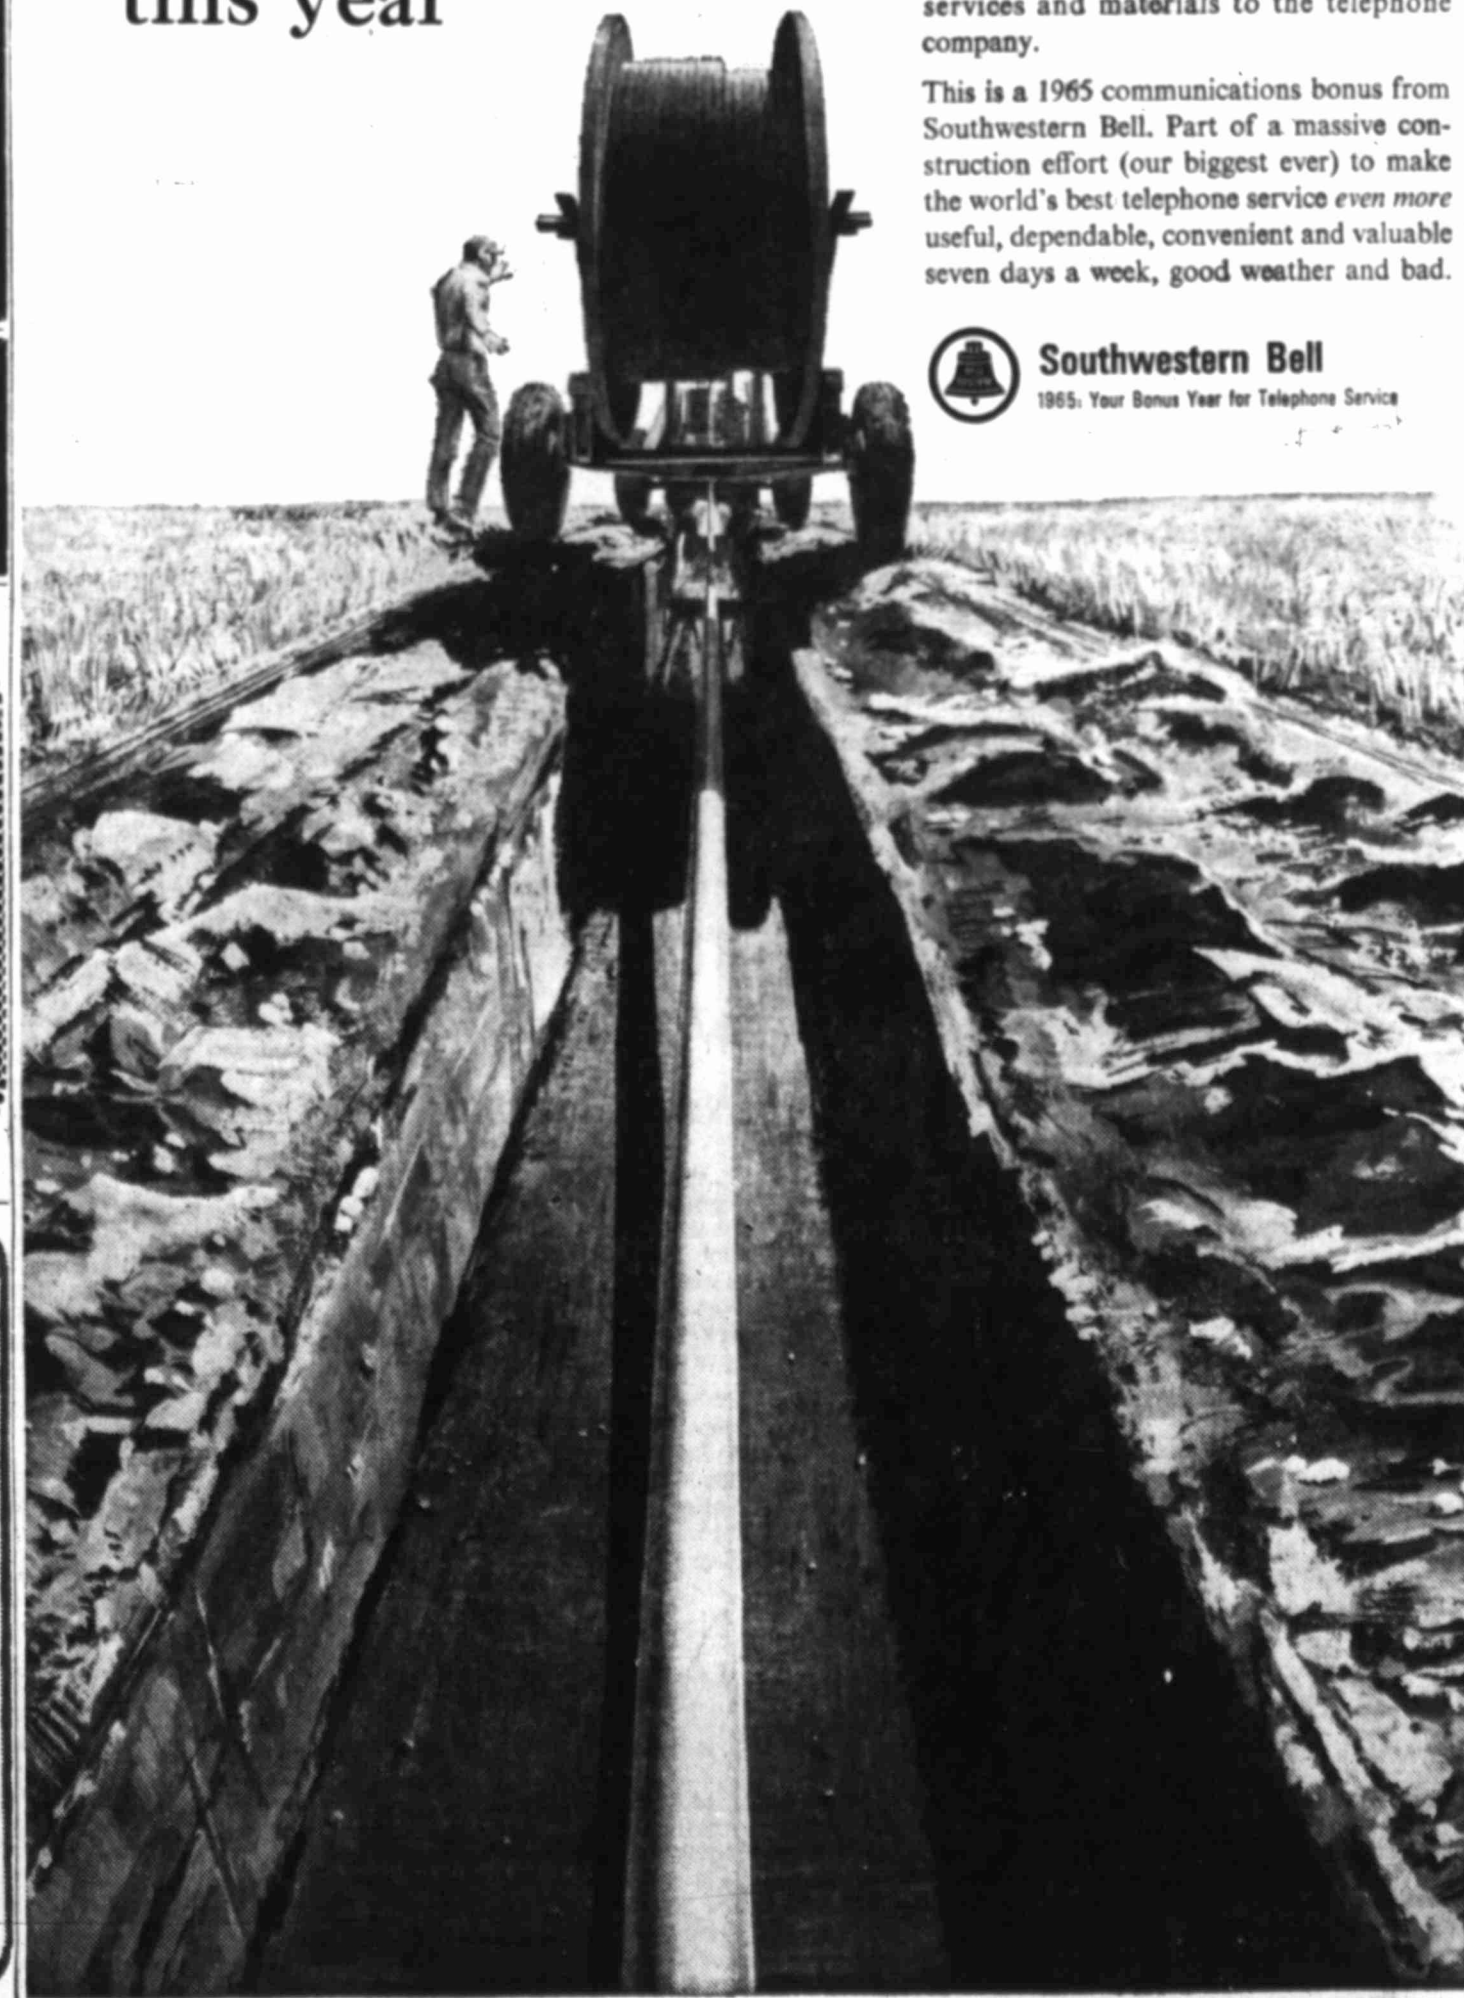

There's another tangible benefit, too. Because of this buried cable construction program, new jobs will be created. Some in the telephone business (which already has 52,179 persons on the payroll), but most important, an estimated 500 new jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

This is a 1965 communications bonus from Southwestern Bell. Part of a massive construction effort (our biggest ever) to make the world's best telephone service even more useful, dependable, convenient and valuable seven days a week, good weather and bad.

Susan Bean Honored At Pre-Nuptial Party

A blue and white carnations corsage was presented to Miss Susan Patricia Bean, honoree at a lingerie shower held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Jo Bright, 1504 Johnson.

Miss Bean, bride-elect of Lt. Emmett J. Baker Jr., was attired in a three-piece costume of navy blue and white with which she wore white accessories. Her mother, Mrs. Luther Bean, was given a similar corsage to wear with her aqua blue knit sheath dress.

Hostesses for the pre-nuptial affair were Mrs. Bright, Mrs. W. W. Lansing, Mrs. Mary Ragsdale and Mrs. Oliver Cofer. Their gift to Miss Bean was blue nylon lingerie.

Refreshments were served from a round table in the dining room where a white fringed cloth was centered with an arrangement of white candles in a branched crystal holder. The tapers were entwined with pale blue and white flowers and tied with white satin streamers with a large bow at the base. The bride-elect's chosen colors of blue and white were also carried out with blue napkins inscribed with the couple's names. An arrangement of blue carnations and white daisies was used on the living room coffee table.

The white frosted cake was inscribed with the engaged couple's names and decorated with blue roses and white confection wedding bells.

Mrs. Lansing and Mrs. Cofer presided at the crystal punch service, and cake was served by Mrs. Bright and Mrs. Ragsdale. Miss Barbara Clark registered guests in the bridal book.

Miss Bean and Lt. Baker plan to be married July 30 in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church.

Show Everyone The Real You

Among the new style personalities to make the scene next fall are, from left, an eggshell wool skimmer dress by Marie McCarthy for Larry Aldrich; a gray flannel daytime dress with leopard-lined lapel neckline by Gaston Berthelet for the New York House of Christian Dior; slinky orange matte jersey dinner dress by Rudi Gernreich; taupe twill coat lined with baskerville fur over matching fur skirt by Donald Brooks; pink coral chiffon party dress with crocheted frog belt by Hannah Troy.

What's Your Fashion Type For Fall? —Here's Style For Every Woman

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—If Eve hadn't sinned—

—a huge, complex fashion industry would not have been born.

—designers would not have semi-annual nervous breakdowns dreaming up new ideas for women's apparel.

—fashion writers would not pack off twice yearly to this city to describe them.

—women would not then re-examine their wardrobes for signs of obsolescence.

—husbands would not then fretfully dole out money for fresh styles which wives consider in tune with the times and in character with her expanding personality.

But we have it on good authority that Eve did.

Thus more than 200 style reporters from various communications media across the country previewed the designs of approximately 100 fashion houses during two separate, consecutive programs.

The first, called the American Designer Series (July 7-10), was arranged by Eleanor Lambert. The second is the New York Couture Group's traditional twice yearly press week (July 11-16).

When both programs were over a fashion writer's notebook looked something like this:

OVER-ALL TRENDS

Costumes shaped to skim or caress the figure, seldom hug it. Bias-cuts still in vogue, shifts in. So is the princess line. But the smock line is really IT this year.

Slim skirts rare. Refined dirndls (slightly gathered skirt) and whirling skirts rival last season's pleats popularity.

Nude throats passe. Necklines now so high turtleneck considered daring. Designers Rudi Gernreich, Jacques Tiffau cover heads with hoods, eyes with masks.

Jackets all lengths—hip, finger, and tunic. Short-cropped belted jacket popular over pleated skirts. Shoulders slim except in Ben Zuckerman suits where often padded.

Fabrics soft. For day, smooth wools and jersey; for dress, floating chiffons, cut-velvets, fluid crepes. Feather and fur trims.

Gray fall color favorite. Giant checks still good in wools. Paisleys, floral velvets and chambray mosaics in both bright and muted hues wrap up party clothes, although black always in picture.

NEW THEMES

Luis Esteves makes moon-

clothes with helmet hats and sequined jump suits. Adele Simpson goes Western with cowboy hats, shirts, ranger jackets, poncho belts, and laced boots. Jacques Tiffau makes stark, simple clothes which are primitive, erotic; Rudi Gernreich's collection strictly from ruidah with capes and collars cut high to cover heads, eyes.

Summation: Something for every type of woman.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Clear Cubes Make Drinks Sparkle

Dear folks:

A member of a large refrigeration products manufacturing company, has come to our rescue, regarding the question of freezing clear ice cubes.

Following is his answer:

Clear ice cubes can be made only by eliminating all the minerals and air from the water as it is being frozen. It is practically impossible to make crystal clear ice in an ice tray in a domestic refrigerator because the water is not moving but is entrapped in a tray.

"Clear ice is made by moving the water into or across a freezing surface. Pure water will freeze the fastest, and impurities in water will freeze only at a much lower temperature. At the same time, moving water will tend to eliminate air from being frozen with the water.

"Trying to freeze hot water, cold water, boiled water and even distilled water will not give you clear cubes in an ice cube tray because air trapped in the water will tend to make the cubes cloudy.

"Water that is not distilled will contain mineral in some quantity; some water having an excess amount of mineral and foreign matter and some having very slight amounts. This foreign matter frozen into water will make ice cloudy. When tray ice cubes are melted you will readily find a quantity of this sediment in the bottom of the glass."

Very truly yours, Robert D. Kubaja

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:

Hope this will help some busy Mom.

Is baby tired of the playpen, longing for wide open spaces? Does two or three-year-old have a fit because little brother is into her toys?

Put the older child in the playpen with her toys when baby is on the floor.

I tried it today. First peace and quiet around here for weeks! Mrs. Roger Anderson.

Dear Heloise:

I purchased a man's revolving tie rack and fastened it on the wall next to my dresser.

I put all of my neckties, etc., on it and simply turn the bar to select my jewelry.

This leaves my jewel box free for earrings and pins, prevents neckties from tangling, and is very attractive. Elizabeth Laney.

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint we use on all of our family camping trips: I roll each change of clothing (shorts, shirts, socks, underwear, etc.), together and wrap them in a strip of plastic, then staple.

When ready to go to the shower, each one just grabs a roll of his clothing. No fuss, no lost clothes, or searching for them. What is especially nice is that the clothes will stay dry in those wet shower stalls. Mrs. R. Cooper.

(Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Drills Practiced By Ladies' Unit

Drills were practiced at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Ladies Society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineermen. Seventeen members met at the Odd Fellows Hall with Mrs. C. L. Kirkland presiding.

During the business session, the chapter was draped for the late Mrs. Elizabeth J. Smith, and a new password was given.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ethel Van Pelt and Mrs. C. L. Millican. Mrs. M. E. Anderson closed the meeting with a prayer.

DEAR ABBY

Too Much Pressure

DEAR ABBY: A "Heartbro"-year-old girl next door arises at 5 a.m. and arranges her hair until 7 o'clock. Oh, her hair didn't attend half his classes, and finally flunked out. "Where have we failed?" she asks. "You, maybe she should ask herself, as a parent. To whom is a college education important?" Just because it is important to the parents, does that mean it must be important to their son? It's time for parents to accept their youngsters for what they are. No wonder the boy didn't go to half his classes. He hated school. It was his life, and his parents shouldn't have tried to live it for him.

I once heard of a youngster, attending college, who wasn't as brilliant as his college-educated parents. One day they came home and found their good-looking son with a bullet hole in his head. Beside him was a suicide note which read: "I couldn't stand for you and Dad to see my grades."

BATON ROUGE READER

DEAR READER: Excessive pressure for "good grades" when applied to emotionally unstable youngsters is dangerous and uncalled for. Normal, healthy people learn to face and deal with failure from the time they're old enough to compete. This problem calls for particulars, not generalizations.

DEAR ABBY: Our son married a girl from a small town near here and they live in a house which is just adequate for their needs. When her parents come to town, they stay with her grandmother (her mother's mother), who has a widowed sister living with her. They visit frequently and stay about a week each time. My question: When my daughter-in-law's parents are visiting and I invite them for dinner, must I invite the grandmother and her widowed sister, too? Both "Grandma" and the sister are very hard-of-hearing and never wear their hearing aids, and it is anything but pleasant to be in their company when they are yelling at each other. I thank you.

WONDERING: Out of courtesy, and for the sake of family harmony, invite "Grandma" and her sister at least once during the guests' stay. But it isn't necessary to include them every time. Especially since your daughter-in-law's parents visit frequently.

DEAR ABBY: I must take exception to your comments that "parents should worry less about their children's hair styles—as long as they're neat and clean—and worry more about what's UNDER the scalp."

A 12-year-old girl with a grown-up hair-do looks 20. Cosmetics and this new trend of heavy eye make-up, plus a tight skirt and nylon, complete the picture. A 12-year-old girl who looks 20 cannot cope with the situations she invites. The 12-

Fire Sweeps Whole Block

FORT WORTH (AP) — Damage was estimated at $500,000 this week when a four-alarm fire swept a city block in South-east Fort Worth.

More than 100 men from local units and six suburban fire companies fought the blaze, which destroyed a rubber plant and two adjoining buildings.

A second fire across town on the city's north side leveled a sheet metal grain warehouse. It broke out as firemen fought the four-alarm.

'Documentary' Shines With A Hard Glow

By JOHN H. SECONDARI
For Cynthia Lowry

NEW YORK (AP) — There is one aspect of television which, during the last five years, has exploded into a growth and an importance never before dreamed of.

It is the "documentary." One puts the word in quotes because it is really a catch-all for a quantity of productions which cannot otherwise be labeled.

For instance, a "documentary" can be a deep analysis of some aspect of the news; or it can be a travelogue; or an examination of history. There even have been re-creations of historical events using actors on the screen which have been called documentaries, although the use of the term here is hard to justify.

TRUE EVENTS
A documentary is a film which deals with a true event without resorting to the use of fictional figures. It can be an examination of a political issue or a crisis, past or present. It can be a memoir, as the Winston Churchill series was and the FDR series is.

It can be an assessment of a historical epoch, personality or event, as the programs in ABC-TV's "Saga of Western Man" series.

It can utilize live people acting as themselves, without rehearsal and speaking their own words. Or it can deal with inanimate objects. One thing it must have: The truth of authenticity.

CREATES IMPACT
It is amazing how this truth of authenticity seeps through film and creates an impact. In a medium largely devoted to the more or less astounding fictional experience of more or less astounding fictional people in a world not quite like our own, the documentary shines with the hard brightness of today's newspaper. This must be the reason why the audience response to documentaries is increasing every year, if not every month.

This response is as yet nowhere near to that of entertainment programs, but it is noteworthy; and there is an ever greater interest among sponsors — actual and potential — in the documentary product. It is doubtful that this sort of film will flood the market, as each one requires months of preparation and vast amounts of cash. There is every probability, on the other hand, that the documentary will increase in quantity as surely as in quality.

Hunt For Nazi Bodies Halted

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin police have stopped digging up a shipping company's yard in which they had been tipped they might find the body of Hitler's long missing aide, Martin Bormann.

West German Prosecutor Joachim Richter said there was no trace of two bodies a former mailman claimed were buried there.

There have been persistent reports that Bormann was killed trying to flee Berlin in final days of World War II. Other reports said he escaped to South America.

the opinion that the television audience is of low mentality. It is a fact that television is generally made up of programs that the majority of the audience prefers, but it also attempts to satisfy other tastes by offering variety.

Documentaries are now a vital part of this variety. Although until fairly recently they were a relative rarity, their increasing popularity reflects the audience's appreciation of quality programming which combines an artistic approach with the presentation of true events.

Seven Block Paving Begins

Paving on North San Antonio began this week, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works. The street is to be paved on a seven-block stretch from Fifth to Twelfth.

City employees also began hauling caliche to the City Cemetery Monday, Lillard said. The caliche will form the basis for all-weather surfacing of the cemetery roads. The hauling should be finished Tuesday, he indicated.

Resident's Missouri Trip Turns Into Narrow Escape

O. G. Burns of 607th E. 18th Street wrote a letter to D. E. Leonard recently, prefacing his remarks with "wish I was there."

No one doubted his sincerity after reading of his trials and tribulations.

Burns' trip to Smithville, Mo., where he ventured to visit relatives and friends, coincided with the great floods which have been occurring in that area.

Burns wrote that he was forced to spend one night on the second floor of the house where he was staying in order to escape the rising river, which reached its highest crest in history before day broke the following day.

Burns' car was washed away and he didn't know where it could be found at the time he wrote the letter.

A boat finally arrived to pick up people stranded along the way, but came close to depositing its occupants into the waters before it finally reached safety.

Burns said houses washed

Chicken Feathers Could Be Costly

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Chicken feathers could cost the City of Mobile about $40,000.

City officials said indigestible feathers are being dumped into sewer lines by a poultry company, putting the sewer plant's four digestors in danger of clogging up. Should the feathers clog the plant's digestors, the cost for cleaning them out would be about $10,000 each, an official estimated.

down the river before slamming into bridges.

"That has been the nearest I have been to meeting my maker," Burns commented.

Burns' party wound up in the hospital, along with other residents of the area, from where he wrote the letter to Big Spring. At the time, the flood victims were being fed with the help of the Red Cross.

Burns said it was hard to convey his feelings when the water was coursing through the lower floor of a building, expecting the structure to collapse at any moment.

At the time he was composing the letter, he said he was so nervous as the result of his ordeal he could hardly write.

In order to get to the boat that carried them to safety, Burns and other members of his party had to wade in surging water waist deep.

Report Urges Slums Just Be Improved

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A U.N. report on housing says some slums benefit their inhabitants and should be improved instead of torn down.

It complains that the dwindling size of houses and apartments is helping break up the three-generation household and separates old people from children and grandchildren.

An anonymous consultant wrote the report for a committee of the U.N. Social Commission. While aimed mainly at developing countries, it says its subject is of worldwide concern and important "in Moscow, Delhi, Lima and Chicago."

"The clearance of slums, including squatter towns," it declares, "should be kept to the minimum during the next few years. Few cities can afford to demolish any residential structure until the housing supply and number of new jobs are increased. But the improvement of slums, especially the improvement of sanitary conditions, should be greatly accelerated."

The report lists four benefits that slum dwellers derive from the very fact that they live in slums: lack of legal and social controls; the low rents or low housing costs; proximity to the heart of the city where job opportunities are concentrated; and the traditional security that exists where persons live in natural groups of extended family, tribe, nationality, religion or caste.

Harriman's Trip Given Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The vacation—with diplomatic overtones—that roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman is taking has been stretched to include several Allied capitals.

Harriman has been talking informally with Soviet leaders in Moscow. The State Department announced he will leave there probably before the end of this week and go to Brussels, Bonn, London and Rome.

New Diocese Bishop Collects Rare Books

By The Associated Press

The Most Rev. Adolph Marx, named Wednesday by Pope Paul VI as first bishop of the new Roman Catholic diocese at Brownsville, Tex., is a rare book collector who studies the canon law as a hobby.

Bishop Marx spoke no English when he came to the United States from Cologne, Germany, in 1934 at the age of 19. His family had been connected with the 700-year-old Cathedral for generations. His father was major domo of the famous church.

Auxiliary bishop of the Corpus Christi diocese since 1956, Bishop Marx has been in charge of church affairs there since the death earlier this year of Bishop M. S. Garriga.

AT CORPUS Christi was the Most Rev. Thomas J. Drury, bishop of the San Angelo diocese since its creation in 1961 by Pope John XXIII.

A native Irishman, Bishop Drury was born in County Sligo 57 years ago. He was ordained at Sacred Heart Cathedral, Amarillo, in 1935, and later was first editor of the West Texas Register, a church newspaper for the region.

Archbishop Robert Lucey of San Antonio, then prelate at Amarillo, conducted the ordination.

UNTIL 1945 Bishop Drury was pastor at Sacred Heart until 1945, when he served the first of two periods as a chaplain with the U.S. Air Force. The second was from 1950 to 1955.

He was pastor of the Church of Christ the King at Lubbock until named San Angelo bishop. Bishop Drury attended college at St. Benedict's in Atchison, Kan., and studied for the priesthood at Kenrick Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

Bishop Marx was encouraged to study in the United States by the Most Rev. E. B. Ledvina, former Corpus Christi bishop, when he visited Cologne. Five years later he left Germany.

NOW 50 He is now 50 years old. He studied at St. Mary's Seminary, La Porte, Tex., in 1940 and was the last secular priest to be ordained at the old St. Patrick's Cathedral in Corpus Christi.

Bishop Marx earned his licentiate at Catholic University in Washington in 1934, and took his doctorate at the same school a year later.

He was named assistant pastor at Our Lady of Refuge, Refugio, Tex., in 1944, and took the post of diocesan chancellor at Corpus Christi in 1948.

HONORED BY POPE The late Pope Pius XII honored Bishop Marx in 1948 and 1950, as a papal chamberlain and domestic prelate.

He had been vicar capitular at Corpus Christi since the death in February of Bishop Garriga.

Bishop Marx is widely known throughout South Texas. His book collection numbers over 1,000 volumes, and many are considered quite rare.

Church spokesman at San Angelo said Bishop Drury was known as an advocate of church reform. He read the first English mass (instead of the traditional Latin) in the diocese in November 1964.

VA Officers Meet Friday

About 30 veterans service officers from a 53-county area of West Texas are to be at the Veterans Administration Hospital Friday for the sixth annual meeting.

Registration for the officers is to begin at 9 a.m. in the hospital lobby. Mayor Pro Tem John Stanley is to welcome the group to Big Spring, and Dr. H. C. Ernsing, hospital chief of staff, is to discuss changes and future plans for hospital improvements.

Ray Todd, acting manager of the VA regional office at Lubbock, is to talk on the consolidation of the Lubbock and Waco offices. Bruce Glover, chief of medical administrative service at Amarillo VA hospital, and Bill Hammack, assistant chief at the hospital here, will discuss changes in the area served by the Big Spring and Amarillo facilities.

A luncheon is planned in the staff dining room. Sessions will also include community nursing home care, Harold Lyles, chief of social work services here, and VA nursing home care units, C. E. McDonnell, chief of medical administrative service. A report on the recent 15th anniversary will be given by Donald Van Meter, hospital director.

The afternoon program will include a panel discussion, with Dr. Charles Miller Jr., McDonnell, Glover and Hammack.

Discussions concerning various hospital procedures and techniques will be conducted by hospital staff members, with information concerning admission procedures, care of patients, discharge procedures and other items.

Atom Program For 4-Hers

Assistant County Agent Don Brandenberger presented a film, entitled "God of the Atom," to 35 4-H Club members, adult leaders and parents in the regular monthly meeting of the Big Spring 4-H Club in the county courtroom Tuesday night.

The film explained some of the basic fundamentals about atomic energy and showed some of the power and destruction caused by the improper use of atomic energy. Booklets on Civil Defense were distributed. Ronnie Anderson presided at the meeting. Refreshments were served in the courthouse basement following the meeting.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Grandparents living with you? They may enjoy milk in a hot creamy vegetable soup better than as a cold beverage.

Parboil green peppers before stuffing, then bake them in a moderate oven. Cover the stuffing with buttered crumbs.

Count on using one medium onion for each serving when you are French-frying onion rings.

Cook cauliflowerets just until tender-crisp; drain and marinate in French dressing. Serve with greens as a salad.

Your small fry will appreciate that raw carrot salad if it's sprinkled with shredded coconut.

For weight-watchers: A half cup of shredded raw cabbage contains only 12 calories. Use a low-calorie salad dressing on this!

Small whole cooked carrots look pretty around a meat or fish dish. Cook the carrots in a small amount of boiling salted water for about 15 minutes to have tender-crisp.

Cook bacon at a low temperature so the fat remains white. Such bacon drippings are flavor-some used on cooked vegetables.

If you peel tomatoes by dipping in boiling water for about half a minute, be sure to plunge them into cold water right after the hot dip.

Want that lettuce salad to taste extra good? Add toothpick-size strips of cheese and toss with dressing, then sprinkle crumbled crisply cooked bacon over the top.

The easy way to clean an electric blender is to add a little water and detergent to the container and blend, then rinse a couple of times and drain.

Ever add mixed spices to the water in which you are cooking lobster tails? Good flavor, this way, when the lobster meat is to be used for salad.

New Version For Caramel Dessert

Our latest version of a favorite quickly made dessert. The combination of butterscotch and coffee adds up to caramel flavor!

CARAMEL CUSTARD FRANCES

1 pkg. (4 servings size) butterscotch pudding
1 tsp. instant coffee powder
1 can (6 ozs.) evaporated milk, undiluted
Milk (from a bottle or carton)
1 tsp. vanilla
Whipped cream
In a saucepan, stir together the butterscotch pudding and instant coffee powder. Pour the undiluted evaporated milk into a pint measure; add enough milk to make 2 cups, gradually stir the milk mixture into the pudding mixture keeping smooth. Cook according to package directions. Stir in the vanilla.
Turn into sherbet glasses; cover tightly; cool; refrigerate and chill. Makes 4 servings.

Good Chocolate Flavor Helps Teenage Parties

Here's a real beau-catcher for girls who have no more patience with the knitting of Argyle socks. His and "Hers" sodas can become a steady thing, particularly when you make them chocolate flavor. There's something about a home-made chocolate soda that's apt to bring a fellow back. And think of all the avoiding. By the time your nearest rival has her Argyles finished, you're ahead by quite a few sodas.

Quick chocolate-flavored mix makes your soda strategy a snap. It's got the real chocolate flavor beaus go for (just ask your father). It blends instantly with the other ingredients so you're sure of success before you start. And it's easy on the budget, if Mom clamps down on your allowance. It's unlikely she will, though. Every "hep-gal" knows the value of a well-timed chocolate soda. And those who don't, well, they have to knit socks.

Use a huge glass for "His," a large one for "Hers." Into the larger glass, put a large scoop of chocolate ice cream, half a banana, sliced, a spoonful of peanut butter, a large scoop of vanilla ice cream and maraschino cherries.

Into smaller glass, put a small scoop of vanilla ice cream, half a banana, sliced, a small scoop of orange or pineapple sherbet and 2 maraschino cherries.

Blend together 1/2 cup quick chocolate-flavored mix and 2 tablespoons milk; pour about two-thirds of the mixture into "His" glass and the remaining third into "Hers." Fill glasses with chilled carbonated water.

Yields one "His" serving and one "Hers" serving.

MRS. DON STEVENS

Mrs. Stevens Notes Taste Differences

BY JO ANN PHINIZY
"Except in the matter of liking hamburgers, they're almost complete opposites," said Mrs. Don Stevens, 1811 Settles. She was speaking of her brown-eyed, three-year-old twins, Vance and Valerie.

"In fact," she continued, "a hamburger is the one thing that none of the three children has ever refused." No. 3 child is pace-setter and "big brother," Brad. He is 6 1/2 years old and is delighted with his first summer vacation from College Heights Elementary School.

The fifth member of the Stevens clan is Don Stevens, a football coach and history teacher at Goliad Junior High School. For him, the perfect meal always includes a bottle of hot sauce.

In a household of such diversified tastes, Mrs. Stevens has solved the dilemma by having plenty of everything, and by using a central platform of meat and potatoes on which to build meals.

"That way," she explained, "everyone can eat as much as they want and there is a minimum of 'unfavorite food' squabbling."

In the care of a brace of look-alikes, Mrs. Stevens assures the world that, "What one does not think of, the other one will." Since all three children seem to out-busy the busiest of bumble bees, her outside activities are currently confined to monthly bridge games, and "late at night" reading.

BUFFET PARTIES

On the occasion when Mrs. Stevens captures her mother, Mrs. Walker Bailey, 608 Edwards Blvd., as a "built-in" baby sitter, she and her husband have informal buffet style "pot luck" dinners. "Small groups of friends," she said. "The purpose is to visit, eat and maybe play a little bridge."

Picnics in the park provide another source of family activities. On those escapades, Mrs. Stevens gathers together a flock of sandwiches, cold drinks and brownie cookies, and heads for the neighborhood set of swings and seesaws.

The single family doings, that hold the constant interest of all the Stevens clan is fishing. En masse they take jaunts to Lake Thomas or Possum Kingdom. While Stevens is in pursuit of the wily catfish, Mrs. Stevens is monitoring children as they enjoy as much swimming as the day will allow.

If the fishing expedition has been successful, then it's back to the nearest and deepest frying pan. Just in case all fishing efforts have been exhausted, with something less than complete fanfare, Mrs. Stevens counters with a substitute supply of pre-cooked foods.

PINTO BEANS

On normal cooking days, Mrs. Stevens' method is to prepare in advance. She often brews up a batch of pinto beans for quick grazing purposes. Her summertime spare moments are spent freezing fruits and vegetables from her father-in-law's irrigated farm, located near the Elbow community.

In sharing some of her favorite recipes, Mrs. Stevens says that her family, including the twins, agree on the Texas Hash, and that it makes an ideal quick casserole. The Sauerkraut Salad she recommends as a relish that almost rhymes with cornbread and meat loaf.

TEXAS HASH

2 large onions
1 large green pepper
3 tbsps. fat
1 lb. ground beef
1 can tomatoes
1/2 cup uncooked rice or two cups uncooked noodles
1 tsp. chili powder
2 tps. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
Slice onions and chop pepper.

Saute until tender in melted fat. Add ground beef, and fry until mixture falls apart. Mix in remaining ingredients. Pour into greased two-quart baking dish. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Remove cover, and bake 15 minutes.

SAUERKRAUT SALAD

1 large can sauerkraut
1 large bell pepper
1 large can pimentos
1 cup sugar
Cut or chop sauerkraut, pepper and pimentos. Mix well with sugar. (Can add celery and/or onions.) Chill and serve.

STRAWBERRY CAKE

1 box white cake mix
1 box strawberry gelatin
1 box frozen strawberries
1/2 cup cooking oil
1/2 cup water
3 level tbsps. flour
4 eggs
Mix cake mix, dry gelatin, flour and cooking oil. Beat two minutes. Add water while beating. Add eggs (one at a time). Add 1/2 the strawberries and all the juice. Bake in two 9-inch pans at 350 degrees about 30 minutes. Do not overcook.

STRAWBERRY ICING

1 stick margarine
1 box confectioners sugar
1 tsp. lemon juice
Soften, but do not melt margarine. Beat well. Add sugar gradually, and beat until smooth. Pour in remaining strawberries from cake. Add lemon juice and mix well. When serving, top with whipped cream and whole strawberry.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 cup water
1/2 cup shortening
1 stick margarine
4 tbsps. cocoa
1/2 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. vanilla
Sift together flour and sugar. Boil water, and add shortening, margarine and cocoa. Mix with flour and sugar. Mix vanilla and soda in buttermilk. Pour into first mixture, add eggs, and beat well. Bake in greased sheet pan for 20 minutes at 375 degrees.

CHOCOLATE ICING

2 1/2 cups sugar
3/4 cup milk
1/2 tbsps. white corn syrup
3 tbsps. cocoa
1 stick margarine
1 tsp. vanilla
Combine first five ingredients. Boil to soft-ball test stage. Beat until cool and thick. Add vanilla and mix.

Turkey Day Can Be Anytime

Remember when turkey was commonly eaten only twice a year — at Thanksgiving and Christmas?

How times have changed. Now turkey is a popular meal the year around. And it's high protein content and adaptability has made turkey a special summer treat.

In fact, one out of every four turkeys consumed in the United States is eaten during the summer. What's the reason?

For one thing, the turkey, improved over the years, is literally a new bird, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It comes both smaller and larger than its ancestors, causing it to fit different-sized groups. It is also meatier and more tender, plumper and more compact and has a larger proportion of breast meat.

Too, it's marketed in new, convenient forms — ready-to-cook, whole or in parts, either freshly drawn or frozen. Turkey is also available in ready-to-eat forms — precooked and frozen; canned; smoked.

The smaller turkeys are just right for the barbecue spit, the favorite summer cooking spot for many families. Or a larger bird can be disjointed, and the pieces barbecued over the coals.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service provides both grading and inspection services for turkey and other poultry. Inspection of birds assures you of wholesomeness, and is required by law for poultry marketed in interstate commerce.

Grading is voluntary. It indicates the quality of the bird you are buying.

Keep turkey in mind for delicious summer eating. From appetizers to main course, turkey's the perfect choice.

Test Pork Chops

To test whether pork chops are cooked sufficiently, make small cuts next to the bone and into the thickest part of the meat. If the meat shows no pink, the meat is cooked through.

EASY-DO SHAKES Make 'em with all flavors

Children Like Chilled Drinks

Summer fun works up senior-sized thirst in juniors and teens with countless forays made to the refrigerator for cold drinks. This is a big burden on the budget and on mother's patience, especially if a large supply of soft drinks has to be kept on hand. Here's a happy solution for all concerned, and it's nutritious and thrifty to boot!

With milk in the refrigerator, ice cream in the freezer and pure fruit-good preserves in the cupboard, the thirsty horde has the makings for the smoothest, coolest thirst-quenchers this side of the snows at Mount Everest.

Flavor combinations for these quick milk shakes are limitless; consider the wonderful variety of refreshing fruit preserves that can be used with different flavors of ice cream to create concoctions dear to anyone young at heart. All but the very small fry can mix them up themselves, using an electric blender or rotary beater.

Rich in the inimitable true taste of strawberries, Pink Panther is bound to become a favorite among these easy-do drinks. Let the young set work out their own variations on the theme, using this recipe for the basic proportions.

PINK PANTHER

1 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup strawberry preserves

4-6 scoops vanilla ice cream
Place ingredients in blender. Mix until blended. Or place in bowl and beat with rotary beater until blended and smooth. Makes three to four servings.

Favorites Found On Kitchen Shelf

A variation of our favorite chutney to make before some of summer's fresh fruits are plentiful.

PANTRYSELF CHUTNEY

2 cans (each 1 lb., 14 ozs.) fruit cocktail
1 cup dried onion
1-3 cup dried currants, rinsed
1/4 cup silversided candied ginger
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 1/4 cups distilled white vinegar
1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
1/2 tsp. each salt, nutmeg and cloves

Drain syrup from fruit cocktail into a kettle; add remaining ingredients; bring to a boil; over low heat, boil for 30 minutes. Add drained fruit cocktail; stir over medium heat, stirring often. Boil for another 20 to 30 minutes. Makes a little over 1 1/2 pints; pack at once in sterilized wide-mouth 1/2-pint jars and seal. Store several weeks at least so flavors will blend before using.

A Devotional For The Day

Fear God, and give glory to him. (Revelation 14:7)
PRAYER: Our Father, help us to understand the heart of the gospel. Use us to proclaim the good news to every nation, tribe, tongue, and people. To Thee be the glory! In Thy Son's name we pray. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Interstate Highway Progress

What President Eisenhower once called "the greatest public works program in history" is halfway to completion. This is the 41,000-mile interstate highway system, begun in 1956 and scheduled for completion by 1972. More than 20,000 miles of the superhighway network now is open to traffic and construction is under way on another 6,000 miles.

To mark the halfway point, a two-day national highway conference has just been held in Washington. Sponsor of the conference is the Associated General Contractors of America, representing 7,600 general contractors — half of them roadbuilders.

As the contractors review their performance record to date they have reason for general satisfaction. Early scandals involving shoddy roadbuilding, corruption and mismanagement seem to have been cleared up in most states. Any motorist traveling across the country will testify that the completed portions are a joy to ride and greatly cut travel time.

One continuing problem has to do with financing. President Eisenhower though the system would cost $41 billion to complete. But the Bureau of Public Roads now estimates that the system will cost $46.8 billion. To cover a threatened $3.1 billion deficit in the special trust fund, President Johnson has asked for road-user tax increases on trucks and a five-month extension on the collection of all trust-fund taxes beyond the Oct. 1, 1972, cut-off date.

The cost certainly is worth it in time saved, reduced operating expenses, convenience and safety. Gratiatingly, Texas is leading the states in participating effort. And in Texas, our own highway district is just about at the top of the heap in percentage of completion.

Guadalupe Park Deserving

Texas is most immediately concerned (along with New Mexico) but we believe there is full national interest in the establishment of a national park in the Guadalupe Mountain area.

There is in that part of the state, from every account, some of the finest natural beauty to be encountered. There is, of course, Guadalupe Peak, but along with it other mountains, verdant canyons, lush meadows, some historic spots, and still an abundance of wild game.

The Guadalupe area can match many another national park for tourist attraction and pleasure of visitors, vacationers and sportsmen.

To be entirely selfish about it, Texas could gain a great tourist asset. The linking of such attractions as the Carlsbad Caverns, the Guadalupe area, and the Big Bend grandeur means that travelers could spend virtually their whole vacation time in this part of the state.

Texas interests almost without exception have given strong support to this park, including the state's congressional delegation. The price does not seem prohibitive, since over 5,000 acres would be contributed, and another 71,000 plus acres would be offered for about a million and a half dollars.

The story of the Guadalupe Park has just been told to Senate and House committees. Final approval, of course, is some distance away. But if the Texas and New Mexico interests can get at least preliminary approval, there would be ground for optimism.

This is a worthy project — certainly very good for the states involved — but good for the whole national park program.

David Lawrence Higher Spending Offsets Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON — It has often been said that "figures don't lie." The most spectacular figures today are those which show that the cutting of federal taxes has supposedly been a "success." But at the same time the change in tax policy has not wiped out the Treasury deficits because government spending has actually increased.

If it weren't for the enlargement of federal expenditures, the current budget, even with the tax cut of the last two years, would show a surplus. So, while the theory that a cut in taxes improves business and augments revenue receipts has been proved, the other side of the story is that, no matter how much taxes are reduced, there isn't going to be any budget surplus unless government spending is held down.

A SUBSTANTIAL rise in federal income, despite the tax cuts, has just occurred. Thus, in the fiscal year which ended on June 30, the $8.5 billion in revenue which was presumed to have been lost to the Treasury due to the change in the tax rates was actually made up in its entirety by the expansion of business. There was, in addition, an increase of $3.4 billion from the same stimulus. So the total added income from taxes amounted to $11.9 billion in Treasury receipts. Now, if the federal government had only reduced its spending considerably, there would have been a surplus in 1965.

THE DEFICIT, however, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965, was $3.5 billion, compared to $8.2 billion in 1964. While this represented something of an improvement, official estimates for 1966 show that the deficit will be further increased next year to $4.3 billion.

The story told by all these figures is that cuts in taxes do improve business and not only offset the revenues theoretically lost when the tax rates were diminished but also provide an increased amount of tax receipts for the Treasury due to the stimulus given business.

THE REALISTIC problem, on the other hand, is that this improvement fails to achieve the major goal because the federal government continues to spend and spend and pile up more deficits. An accumulated deficit of $22.3 billion is at present officially estimated for the four fiscal years ending June 30 next.

The theorists who are behind the doctrine that tax cuts will improve business now are saying that budget surpluses will hurt business. As long as this doctrine prevails, it means that the government will continue to cut taxes and will accumulate more and more deficits. This can only bring an era of inflation of prices and wages, a decline in the purchasing power of the wage-earner's income, and perhaps a devaluation of the dollar in terms of gold.

ANOTHER FALLACY in the reasoning of the advocates of deficit spending is that they do not take into account the maladjustments which are caused by many of the government's expenditures. For these do not provide new facilities for the creation of more income sources but merely serve as bonuses in particular years, as happened in the 1930's. The only way to provide a continuous flow of increasing revenues from taxes, even if the rates are reduced, is to stimulate the private sector of the economy.

WHILE THERE may be plenty of cheers because the tax cuts are stimulating the flow of more revenue into the Federal Treasury, there doesn't seem to be enough public concern about the spending side of the government's fiscal operation. Also, there hasn't begun to be heard as yet an effective rebuttal to the theorists who believe that budget surpluses are dangerous, whereas deficits are supposed to be constructive. It looks as if that rebuttal will come only when the depreciation has started in and the deficits have reached a point where the integrity of the dollar itself is threatened.

HITTING THE SOFT SHOULDER

James Marlow Viet Nam Reports Now On Dark Side

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ups and downs of an endless journey.

That could be the name for a story about the trips American officials have made to Viet Nam in recent years and their reports on how the war looked.

Those reports varied from bright and optimistic to sober and gloomy. Right now they're in their sober, if not gloomy, period.

May 1964 — He said the war was going to be a "long, hard war."

While American aid was slowly increased, the United States seemed to dawdle along, not wanting to get too directly involved until the guerrillas last February attacked a U.S. air base in South Viet Nam.

Then Johnson ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam targets, a project which has been going on ever since. It was a vital military decision.

THE PUZZLING thing is why the administration had to wait for an air base to be attacked before deciding bombing was necessary to break the back of the guerrillas.

Hal Boyle Happy To Be Back In U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — America, I love you.

It's a wonderful feeling to be back home after nearly three months of reporting the war in South Viet Nam.

You want to turn handsprings in the street, kiss every pretty girl you meet, lap up every malted milk in town. But the most glorious thing of all is the wonderful taste of fresh water that you don't have to boil before drinking.

I GUESS THAT, aside from the presence of his loved ones, the thing a fellow unconsciously misses most in Viet Nam is the flavor of safe, honest water, drunk straight from the faucet. It's a pleasure to hold up a glass of it and just look at it.

Another thing that hits you when you return to America are the store windows. You feel like a kid in a candy store. There usually isn't much worthwhile to spend your money on in a war zone, and you build up a mad desire to buy something — anything.

San Francisco is one of the best cities of the world for window shopping. After an hour of it — thank heaven the fine shops have all closed at that hour — I entered a drugstore and after staring at all the displays finally made a purchase. I bought a pocket comb, an item I could have bought at a hundred street stands in Saigon.

AN ODD thing was that crossing an American street gave me a feeling of nervous uncertainty. There is nothing more chaotic than traffic in the Far East, but there aren't as many big cars over there, and they don't come at you so quickly.

It's great to be back in a country that has a change of climate and never runs out of ice cubes, but there are a few things about Viet Nam I'll never forget.

Such as:

The handless beggar in Saigon who held up both arms and said bitterly, "You don't like me." The persistence of street money changers who follow you for blocks. Fearfully tasting your first Vietnamese meal, and finding you liked it. The welcome shining in children's faces, and the half-masked hate of the outsider occasionally showing in the faces of their parents.

The hidden tension among Americans after a terroristic bombing. Riding in a truck at dusk under the peaceful flame trees in Da Nang. Watching air-dropped flares falling at midnight like man-made stars. Waking in darkness and wondering if distant explosions were theirs or ours.

To Your Good Health Increase In Eyeball Pressure A Sign Of Glaucoma

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Can dilation of the eyes (for examination by an ophthalmologist) cause damage? Why do doctors prefer not to dilate after the age of 35 or 40 or so? — MRS. E. F.

Dilation of the pupils enables the doctor to determine the condition of the eyes more effectively.

However, if glaucoma is starting, or present, it is not advisable to dilate. And, of course, glaucoma is not likely to occur until the 40's or thereabouts.

Medication to contract the pupil of the eye is often part of the treatment for glaucoma.

If the pressure of the eyeballs is measured first, and it is normal, there is no objection to dilating the pupil. An increase in pressure is the classic sign of glaucoma.

Dear Doctor: Does coffee affect hardening of the arteries? My former doctor told me not to drink coffee, cola or carbonated beverages. He moved away. My present doctor says he doesn't think they will hurt me. — L. M. S.

None of these drinks would have any particular effect on arterial hardening. However, caffeine (whether in coffee or cola) can quicken heart rate, cause nervousness and sometimes "extra" heart beats.

If you had high blood pressure or suffered from tensions, I can understand your former doctor's point; if your present doctor, having examined you recently, says there's no need to prohibit caffeine, then I see no reason why you should not be able to use such beverages in moderation. The test would be whether they disturb your heart beat or create nervous tension.

Dear Dr. Molner: About a month ago there was a rapid enlargement of the joint of my leg toe, a so-called bunion. There were pains for about two weeks and then what appears to be permanent enlargement. I would appreciate information on cause and cure. — MRS. C. K.

Why a "so-called bunion?" Perhaps it is one, but I recommend that you have it examined by a physician and be sure.

A bunion is an enlarged bursa of a deformed joint in the big toe. As fluid accumulates in the bursa, it becomes acutely painful. As the acute irritation subsides, so usually does the pain, even though the enlargement persists.

Cause of a bunion is footwear which forces the toe into a cramped, abnormal position. Treatment (as with bursitis in any joint) is based, first of all, on removing pressure from the joint. The longer-term treatment, afterward, depends basically on footwear which permits the toe to assume a normal position.

Various types of special shoes have been used to coax the toe back. In some instances surgery is required.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Neighborhood Play Parks Needed

Driving down most streets of our city most any afternoon after the sun begins casting a few shadows, the motorist is compelled to drive a bit slower to avoid the youngsters playing in or near the streets. Some blocks have a large number of small children straying into the roadway, others have a ball game in progress on the pavement, and cyclists and skaters make use of the handy play area. Obviously, this is dangerous.

THIS POINTS out the need in our city for small, neighborhood park areas. True, the city has some fine parks, large and with plenty of running space for large crowds. These are well developed and well maintained. They definitely fill a need.

But there is also a need for a small play area in many neighborhoods, close enough to home so mothers can keep an eye on the youngsters. In our block, there is a vacant lot that would make a fine playground and would serve a large area. If it were cleaned off, perhaps some grass planted, maybe a few playground implements installed, I bet the youngsters would play there instead of the streets.

OTHER BLOCKS of the city could also benefit from such a plan. It is unfortunate that our subdivision ordinance did not make such a playground area mandatory in the new subdivisions that blossomed throughout the city in the past several years. The cost of these play areas could then have been charged to the homes benefiting from them.

The costs of such a project now might be high, but certainly not prohibitive. Particularly, when considering the fact that a child's life may hang in the balance. After all, it stands to reason that as long as youngsters are playing in the streets, and cars are sharing the same space, the stage is set for a tragedy. We have been fortunate so far, and hopefully can maintain our record.

THE FAMILY front yard is rarely the habitue of most youngsters, for it is under the control of a water sprinkler and fertilizer treatment. High back yard fences are not conducive to fraternizing among the younger set. So as things stand, the street is about all that's left in most neighborhoods. Unfortunately, this is all we have provided for them.

Holmes Alexander All He Wants Is Rivers

WASHINGTON — "Mr. Secretary, you say you don't have any trouble keeping your hands off tobacco and liquor, or off other people's women and money," resumed Dr. Clarence W. Couchmaster to the lean, outdoorsy-looking dignitary on the psychiatrist's couch. "But when it comes to a river..."

"That's my weakness," declared the distinguished member of the Presidential cabinet. "The sight of a purring stream arouses the bureaucratic beast in me."

"You want to grab it?"

"YES, I AM like an Arabian sheik at the sight of a shepherd's veiled daughter. I must have her for my harem at the Department of Interior. Recently I grabbed the Green River of Wyoming for my Wild Rivers System. It raised a becuwa howl from Governor Hansen, Senator Simpson and most of the good people out there. Now I've gone and done the same thing — only worse — in South Carolina. The governor, both Senators, all the Congressmen and half the southern press are yelling for my official blood."

"TELL ME about South Carolina," said Dr. Couchmaster, who knew a great deal concerning the insatiable appetites which rage in men of bureaucracy. "What river in that state excites your riparian passions, Mr. Uddall?"

"The Keowee River," said the Secretary, breathing hard as he pronounced the luscious name. "It is not an interstate waterway and not subject to Congressional regulation. But any private company that wants to build a dam there must get a license from the Federal Power Commission. I can't abide the thought of private industry making an investment in even the most modest of river valleys."

"THAT IS WHY you intervened before the commission to prevent the Duke Power Company from building a $700 million hydro-steam plant?"

"I couldn't help myself," explained the patient. "The sight of moving water, unpossessed by the Interior Department, sets me wild. I realize that the Duke firm is a highly responsible institution. Undoubtedly, every new dollar the Duke people put into these counties of the Piedmont area (which is part of poverty-hit Appalachia) will create three more dollars of investment. The finished plant will supply electricity to home and factory. It will yield $24 million a year in federal taxes, plus another $20 million in state and local taxes. And yet..."

"Yes, Mr. Secretary?"

"AND YET — I want that little river. I must have it for my domain. You see, the rivers of America are the key to the American commonwealth. Nobody can call me a Socialist. All I want to control is conservation and beautification, the irrigation ditches and the flood gates, the wilderness and the sand dunes. Nobody can call me a Monopolist. All I want is a hand on the switch of the federal dams with their enormous generating capacity. I want control of the cross-continent transmission lines so that no industrial wheel will turn unless the Interior Department says so. Nobody can call me greedy. All I ask for is rivers."

Art Buchwald Home's The Best Place, After All

WASHINGTON — This is the time of year when people who don't plan to go away on vacations are in a tough spot to explain why. The obvious reason, though no one will admit it, is that you don't have the money.

So in order to get off the hook you have to think up reasons why you're not going some place. A group of people, all stuck at home, can play the game for hours. This is how it went at our house last week.

"WE'RE NOT GOING to Norway this year. We hear it's quite foggy in the fjords," one lady said.

"I don't blame you," a man said. "We gave up our plans to go to Monte Carlo. What with Rainier and Onassis feuding, we didn't want to get in the middle of it."

A woman said, "Milton and I lost all desire to go to Spoleto, so it was either Southampton or staying at home, and we decided to stay at home."

Her husband added, "Southampton isn't what it used to be."

"WHAT WAS IT like before?" somebody asked.

The husband replied, "I don't know, I've never been there."

One of our other guests said, "That is why we don't like to go away in the summertime, either. Every place seems to have changed. Even Newport is all jazzed up."

"I'd rather go to Newport in October when nobody is there."

"Wouldn't we all," his wife said.

"We would probably have gone to Spain," a guest said, "if it hadn't been for the children."

HIS WIFE agreed, "We couldn't stand the thought of taking them to a bullfight."

"So we sent them off to their grandmother's, and now the two of us can spend the summer alone together in our own house."

"How lucky you are," a friend said. "We had planned to go down the rapids together in Oregon, but Bobby advised us not to."

"Bobby who?"

"Bobby Godowski, a friend of ours who lives in Chicago."

"What's he know about rapids in Oregon?"

"THAT'S WHAT my kids keep asking me."

There was an embarrassed silence, saved by a lady who said, "Do you know why we're not going away this summer?"

"No."

"Because the jets go too fast. You no more than get on the plane and you have to get off it. Fred says there's no percentage in that."

It gave us all something to think about.

"MY SISTER went to Greece this year," a friend said. "She wanted us to go, but Benjamin has a thing about Greece."

"Arthur has a thing about Italy."

"Phil has a thing about Germany."

"I guess you either have a thing about a place or you don't," a judge said.

Stills Still

CHICAGO (AP) — Bootleg liquor still is a problem for U. S. agents.

More than 7,800 individuals were arrested for violations of federal liquor laws during fiscal 1964, says Commerce Clearing House.

The government seized 4,748 distilleries and 6,837 stills in a drive which netted $2.4 million worth of property affected by such liquor.

Although seizures of distilleries, stills, mash and property taken in raids were up from the previous years, the number of individuals arrested was down.

Violations in 14 southern states accounted for more than 90 per cent of the distilleries seized and 85 per cent of the arrests.

In most cases, the 416 moonshiners convicted received long prison sentences.

Goes Wet

UNST, Shetland Islands, Scotland (AP)—This most northerly island off Britain has at last—after 44 years of prohibition—gone wet, and you can get a drink again.

The island went dry under Scottish licensing laws by which whole cities, towns and districts can be made liquor-free by popular vote. It went wet the same way.

We were packed out on the first night," said the Springfield hotel barman. "Everybody on the island seemed to be there. Everyone had a grand time and behaved himself. There was a drink on the house for the customers. It went down very well."

Billy Graham

Why did God give man emotion and mind? Wouldn't it have been better if He had created us like the universe with no free will?

—E. A.

I cannot answer for God, and I do not know why He created us with a free will. Perhaps He made us in "his own image and likeness" because He wanted someone to love Him, and to fellowship with. Missionaries living in a foreign land in the midst of people of another culture, another color, and other customs, find great comfort in their children who are like them in every respect. Perhaps man was created like God, so God could enjoy man, and so that man could enjoy God. I am quite sure that man is likely God's greatest source of joy. The universe is under law, but men who obey and serve God do so by choice. When man fulfills his primary function which is to love God and enjoy Him, then and only then is he what he was created to be.

At the same time, when men are disobedient, they probably cause God more concern than any of His other creatures. The Bible speaks reverently of this concern. "Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness have I loved thee." In spite of our waywardness, His eyes, like the eyes of the prodigal's father, look longingly for the return of the erring one to the Father's house.

Hot Day's Casserole Uses Cheese Ravioli

Once again it's summer. The garden needs digging. The house needs cleaning and meals need to be quick and easy. A hearty casserole of cheese ravioli, canned and chef seasoned, bordering a center of ham, mushrooms and peas is family satisfying. It's a one-dish-meal with the built-in convenience of baking in and serving from the same dish.

With this casserole, serve a crisp salad of greens, tomato wedges, and green onions, some garlic buttered bread, and fresh strawberries to complete a menu for a decidedly delicious dinner.

Eggs Add Emblems

Have eggs been chosen as the unofficial national breakfast emblem because, when fried sunny-side up, they look like the rising sun?

Probably not entirely. It's more likely that eggs are so popular in the morning because they provide invaluable nutrition that keeps the human body humming with efficiency during the day ahead. Still, the aesthetic values of the sunshine-bright yolk in the center of a pure white background adds morning appeal that enhances any breakfast.

In fact, picturesque eggs can be used in hundreds of ways to add color and contrast to any table — breakfast, snack, lunch or dinner. And now, when eggs are so plentiful and economical, the Consumer and Marketing Service suggests using even more than the traditional "egg a day."

Try Calico Omelet as a breakfast brightener. Sauté minced green pepper and diced or sliced pimiento in melted butter. Combine 4 eggs, 1/4 cup water and seasonings. (That's all). Pour mixture into pan, and cook over low heat. As mixture sets along side of pan, lift carefully with spatula and allow uncooked portion to flow to bottom. Tilt skillet as necessary to achieve uniform cooking. When eggs are set with surface slightly moist, the omelet may be served. Or, the heat may be increased slightly for a golden browning. Or, the pan may be placed under the broiler just enough to brown the top of the omelet. It's done in a jiffy. Serve hot.

That just one example. Check your cookbook for other ideas — try recipes that you've never used — to make the abundance of eggs work for you, as you seek to brighten each day for your family.

Introduce Treats

Introduce your child to fresh fruit, raw carrots, cauliflower and other raw vegetable chunks as treats when he's tiny and he'll grow up preferring them to the non-nutritious "goo" so many children fill up on. He'll also grow up having healthier teeth and gums.

Use Ice Cream To Transform Leftover Cake

Yesterday's cake can be today's ice cream treat, with a little ingenuity and a variety of ice creams in your freezer.

You can utilize portions of slightly dry cake by cutting and arranging it into 2 or 3 layers, spreading softened nutty ice cream between layers and over the top.

Then serve with a chocolate sauce, a fresh fruit sauce or a whipped cream topknot.

Nibblers Get Aid

Are you a nibbler? Test yourself with a bowl of mixed nuts. See how quickly they disappear!

Nibbling of mixed nuts has become so popular in recent years that the industry asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture to develop standards to assist in the marketing of this delicacy.

Standards for grades of mixed nuts in the shell have just been issued by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, based on suggestions from the industry. They become effective August 1, 1965.

What do these USDA grade standards mean to you?

They will help you in selective buying of mixed nuts when the USDA grade appears on individual packages. However, not all mixed nuts are graded because this is a voluntary service which the government performs for those who wish to pay for it.

There are three grades for in-shell mixed nuts: U.S. Extra Fancy, U.S. Fancy and U.S. Commercial or U.S. Select.

The highest two grades require the same minimum internal quality, but the top grade—U.S. Extra Fancy—requires larger size nuts than does the U.S. Fancy grade.

U.S. Commercial or U.S. Select nuts may be of lower quality and smaller size than the highest two grades.

These USDA grades make sure you don't buy a mixture overpopulated with one particular nut.

U.S. Program Pledge Made For Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — Out of all the background papers, formal speeches, panel discussions and comments that made up the White House Conference on Education, one agreed opinion stood forth clearly today:

There is much that remains to be done in education, and the federal government must continue and expand its efforts to help.

MAKES PLEDGE

President Johnson officially closed the two-day conference Wednesday when he told the 799 invited participants their discussions would be used "as the basis for the evolution of new programs, actions and legislative proposals — wherever such proposals are appropriate."

The conference touched on every aspect of education, from the tiniest tots to graduate students seeking their Ph.D.'s.

The areas of greatest concern were school desegregation, dropouts, the decline of the big city schools, and preschool programs for deprived children of the urban slums.

FEDERAL AID

In all these areas, and in others, the federal government was asked to step up its efforts and its financial expenditures to get things moving.

Johnson told the conference participants — leaders in education, business, labor and government — "your concern and mine is how we can remedy the serious defects of our present system, and how we can equip it to meet the new challenges which are already engulfing our nation and our world."

He drew a lengthy round of applause when he declared, "We are busy catching up with past failures, and we do not intend to fall behind again."

FPC Favors Cut In Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission has approved conditionally a natural gas rate reduction filed by Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. of Houston.

If the company accepts the conditions announced Wednesday, there will be an immediate $3.5 million annual rate reduction. Future reductions could total as much as $6.2 million annually.

16 STATES

Texas Eastern serves utility customers in 16 states from Texas to New York.

The approval was conditioned on imposing a flow-through, or passing-along, obligation on refunds and rate reductions.

The commission said the two possible future reductions are contingent on the outcome of pending litigation over an FPC opinion issued Feb. 3, 1964, in the Alabama-Tennessee Natural Gas Co. case.

FIGURING COSTS

That opinion provided for passing along savings from liberalized depreciation for income tax purposes, and allowed no return on previously accrued tax reserves in figuring costs of service.

If courts affirm the FPC stand, Texas Eastern agrees to a $2 million decrease to reflect the elimination of deferred tax balances from its rate base.

Also, unless Texas Eastern ended its present use of liberalized tax depreciation, it would have to reduce its rates by an estimated $4.2 million a year more.

More Youths To Get Federal Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government will hire more young people this summer than had been planned, the White House says.

The goal of jobs for needy young people 16 to 21 was set at 25,000. Press secretary Bill D. Moyers now reports 26,090 were employed by the government as of June 20 and the total may go over 30,000.

Drink Tests For Drivers Get OK

LONDON (AP) — Britain has decided to introduce drink tests for drivers. Transport Minister Tom Fraser said Wednesday that the law should be in operation early next year.

Lebanon Will Form Cabinet

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Charles Helou today asked former Premier Rashid Karami to form a new cabinet and Karami began consultations with political leaders. Premier Hussein Omrani resigned unexpectedly Tuesday.

War In Viet 'May Continue For 10 Years'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says it is "anticipated on our side" that the war in Viet Nam may continue for 10 years — while the Communist side talks of 20.

Top level White House talks resume today, with military emphasis, on what the Montana senator called "an ordeal of indefinite duration and increasing sacrifice which will persist until the problem can be resolved at the conference table."

Mansfield spoke in the Senate Wednesday night at the end of a long day during which the highest officials of government reviewed the word Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara brought back at dawn from Viet Nam. The White House said no announcement on these deliberations will be made until after the strategy talks are concluded.

MORE TROOPS
 But it was plain from the little McNamara did say publicly that he is urging the dispatch of many more U.S. troops to the embattled Asian country. The Viet Cong strength of 165,000, swollen by the infiltration of regular troops from North Viet Nam, compares with South Viet Nam government forces of about 500,000, he said, and that is a "totally unacceptable ratio" for guerrilla war.

There was unofficial talk of sending 100,000 more U.S. troops to boost the 75,000 already there.

LEADERS CONFER
 The White House talks Wednesday included contributions by the heads of the State Department, Central Intelligence Agency, U.S. Information Agency and other nonmilitary officials.

Senators Agree To Inspect Proposed U.S. Park Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, promised a Texas-New Mexico delegation Wednesday that his Senate Interior subcommittee will conduct an inspection of the proposed Guadalupe Mountains National Park in Texas.

Headed by Sens. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Joseph A. Montoya, D-N.M., the delegation appeared before the subcommittee in support of a bill to authorize establishment of the park. In general the group repeated testimony given Tuesday before a House Interior subcommittee.

After hearing the testimony, Moss said his subcommittee will have a session later to hear officials of the Interior Department and the Park Service on the detailed plans for development of the area if it is made into a national park.

SEE AREA
 "This subcommittee," he told the delegation, has a practice of going to see these areas personally, so we will be there on the grounds sometime after Congress adjourns. We will see the canyon, the peaks, look it all over.

"We are addicted to the beauties of the West and we believe in preserving our heritage. Your testimony has been very persuasive that this is an area which should be preserved. This sounds as if it is a different and unusual area, of great beauty and that it should be preserved."

"LOOK FORWARD"
 Sens. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, and Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said they look forward to an inspection of the area.

"You have a sympathetic subcommittee," Jordan told the group.

The proposal is for establishment of a 76,302-acre national park in the Texas section of the Guadalupe Mountains. The park would be near the Carlsbad, N.M., National Park.

Under the proposal the government would acquire about 71,000 acres of privately owned land for about $1.5 million. The bulk of the area is owned by J. C. Hunter Jr., who has retained it in its natural state.

Sen. Yarborough told the subcommittee that Texas and New Mexico are unanimous in supporting the proposal, that he knows of no opposition to it.

Montoya said it is important this segment of American wilderness and added that it would increase the tourist industry of both New Mexico and Texas.

"SCENIC GEM"
 Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex., called the area "one of the gems of Western scenery."
