Negro Student Snipers Kill Rookie Patrolman

Police Jail 488 Pupils

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—White-helmeted police, firing as they ran, stormed a men's dormitory at Texas Southern University today and halted student snipers who created a no man's land on campus. A rookie patrolman was killed and two officers and a student wounded.

Police took 488 men students to jail and worked to discover which had fired the shot which killed Lewis R. Kuba, 25, who graduated from police academy a month ago. Kuba was shot between the eyes in the first assault wave against the dormitory which sheltered the snipers' nest.

FIRE BOMBS

Four hours and 3,000 police rounds after the first peppering of gunfire and the explosion of four crudely made fire bombs, officers secured the dormitory. They smashed down doors in their search for weapons and suspects and found one pistol, one shotgun and one rifle.

Houston Mayor Louie Welch met this morning with police, the district attorney and officials of the predominantly Negro school, where the administration ordered classes as usual.

Welch said he believes that there is a complete breakdown between the administration of Texas Southern and the student body of more than 7,000.

'ANARCHY'

"When that happens, you have anarchy, and that's what we had last night," the mayor said.

It began about 10:15 p.m. CDT last night when patrolman Robert Blaylock, 25, and his partner joined two criminal intelligence officers in surveillance duty at a rally on campus. Some 125 students were gathered to hear a talk by a student recruiting others for a candlelight demonstration at a city dump which Negroes living in the area want closed.

During the speechmaking, someone hurled a watermelon at his police car, Blaylock said. When the officers got out, all of the students melted away, except one, Douglas Wayne Waller, 21, who proved to be wearing a .22-caliber revolver in a shoulder holster.

ROCKS, BOTTLES

Blaylock summoned another police car, which took Waller to jail. The patrol continued, and as the car cruised past the U-shaped system of men's dormitories, it was struck by rocks and bottles.

The street was dark because lights had been knocked out in earlier demonstrations, so the officers parked their car with its headlights shining at the dormitory.

The policemen crouched behind their car. Blaylock said he saw a muzzle poking out of a second-floor window of the dorm. He heard a shot and discovered that he was wounded in the thigh.

MORE UNITS

Blaylock and his companions returned about 15 rounds. His companions radioed for an ambulance and Blaylock walked a block to meet it.

By this time the patrol bureau had summoned all available units to the scene to halt traffic into the campus. At midnight, 30 units stood by—motorcycles and patrol cars carrying some 100 officers with riot control equipment.

The four Molotov cocktails were tossed during the first half hour of the police buildup. Students stayed inside their dormitories and those returning from dates congregated at the intersection where the police force was growing to its final total of 600. A token force of officers stayed close to the dormitory the shots had come from.

Police sealed the campus and pulled their main force back to an intersection a block from the students' range of fire while F. D. Kirkpatrick, a leader of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee chapter on campus, sought to negotiate a truce.

TAR FIRE

The effort to start talks failed. Men from the dormitory began erecting a barricade of corrugated tubing, appropriated from a campus construction job. It blocked Wheeler Avenue, the major through campus street.

When the students set fire to barrels of tar, Police Chief Herman Short, acting on Welch's instructions, shouted to his men, "Get everything you've got and let's get this damned mess cleaned up."

The first assault force numbered about 100 and started its action with a burst of shots into the air which echoed through the quiet neighborhood and sent up wails and shouts from the women's dormitory.

SHOT IN FOREHEAD

Moving into darkness the men crept past the women's dorm and onto the terrace of the student union building, between the women's and men's housing units. It was there that a shot caught Kuba in the forehead.

A second force of 30 Negro sheriff's deputies followed. Exchanges of fire continued until 3:05 a.m., when Short declared the situation under control.

GUNFIRE KILLS NEGRO

Fort Worth Patrolman Beaten In Near Riot

FORT WORTH (AP) — Police broke up what they described as a near riot after gunfire killed a Negro man, wounded a woman with him and narrowly missed a policeman early today.

Patrolman A. J. Tiroff said the melee occurred outside a night club on Fort Worth's West Side after he answered a burglar alarm and found it false.

After the shooting more than 150 Negroes gathered and shouted threats at Tiroff and his reinforcements, summoned by radio after he was knocked unconscious and revived.

FOUR JAILED

Fifty policemen dispersed the crowd in about 20 minutes. They arrested three men and a woman, all Negroes.

Officers identified the dead man as Earl Horacil Gratts, 26, of Fort Worth.

The wounded woman, Alma Jean Richardson, 25, was shot in the chest.

A bruised and cut Tiroff related these details:

He checked inside a liquor store where the burglar alarm went off and emerged to find a Negro woman firing a pistol into the air across the street.

At his command to drop the weapon, she laughed and ran. Tiroff overtook the woman and she dropped the gun. At that point Gratts and another woman charged the officer.

FIRED AT FACE

Gratts fired twice at the patrolman's face, barely missing him. Then Gratts seized Tiroff from behind and tried to wrestle him to the ground.

As Gratts' arms slipped to about the officer's waist, Tiroff's pistol discharged. Gratts was killed and the woman was wounded.

KNOCKED OUT

Tiroff nevertheless was hurled to the ground and knocked unconscious. He revived after a few moments to find the other woman sitting on his stomach and beating him.

The policeman kicked free, ran to his car and radioed for help.

Negroes from the night club and up and down the street gathered around Tiroff and his reinforcements and shouted threats. The officers formed a semicircle in the street to stand them off.

One woman grabbed a club and tried to hit a patrolman. Other Negroes restrained her, and the disturbance gradually subsided.

SENATE REDISTRICTING PLAN

Howard Back In 19th, George Mahon's District

Howard County would be returned to Congressman George Mahon's 19th Texas congressional district, under a re-districting measure passed Tuesday by the Texas Senate.

The House in Austin has yet to act on the measure, and final new district lines for congressmen would not be set until both units of the Legislature have agreed.

SINCE 1935

If the Senate action were to stand up, this county would be going back to the district of which it had been a unit since the 19th was carved out in 1935. Mahon has been the 19th representative continuously since that year.

Last year, under redistricting ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court under its "one man, one vote" decree, the Legislature moved Howard into Rep. Omar Burleson's 17th district, and he currently is serving as Howard County's representative in Congress.

A federal court, however, ruled that the Legislature last year did not define districts to meet the Supreme Court standards, and action had to be taken again at this session.

A general shifting of West Texas counties under the new formula, as announced in press dispatches, moved Howard back into the 19th district, and put Borden and Scurry counties in Burleson's 17th.

The 17th district, one of those which was underpopulated by the Supreme Court formula, has been so broadened that Burleson (under the Senate plan) would wind up with 34 counties stretching from Spur to Fredericksburg, 270 airline miles.

The newly constituted 19th district would have 15 counties. They are Bailey, Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, Andrews Martin, Howard, Midland, Dawson.

KEEP MIDLAND

Mahon would keep Midland County in his district, and Ector County would remain in Rep. O. C. Fisher's 21st district.

Fisher's district was changed considerably, with a group of central Texas counties moved into the 17th, and a portion of north Bexar County put into the 21st. Sterling and Glasscock, which had been put into the 17th, were moved into the 21st.

Bond Issue

Stanton Voters Give Approval To Water Plans

Stanton voters gave heavy endorsement Tuesday to the plans that will insure an adequate water supply for the city in the future.

Voters were asked to approve bond issues of $350,000 for water supply lines and a water treatment plant, and approval of a contract to purchase water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Revenue Bonds Okayed

Proposition 1, which passeed 159-24, provides for issuing $250,000 in general revenue bonds bearing interest of five per cent or less and maturing in 25 years.

Proposition 2, approved by a vote of 152-33, provides for issuing $100,000 in tax bonds, to mature in 20 years bearing interest of no more than five per cent.

Proposition 3, okayed 169-21, authorized the purchase of CRMWD water. The directors of CRMWD had previously approved this contract, provided it was also given voter support.

Levy Tax, Set Up Fund

The tax bond proposition also authorizes the city to levy a tax sufficient to pay off the bonds and creates a sinking fund to redeem the bonds at maturity.

T. W. Haynie was election judge and polls were set up in the Methodist Church basement.

Perennial Heartache

GLENDORA, Calif. (AP)—William B. Spangler is a man with perennial heartache.

The chest pains come from a bullet lodged in his heart for almost 15 years. Now Spangler has discovered it because an X-ray was taken.

"I almost jumped out of my chair," he told a friend.

Spangler started having chest pains about four or five years ago. A recent series of tests by a heart specialist, Dr. Richard L. Rohde, confirmed that a slug was indeed lodged in Spangler's heart.

Heart Bounces Bullet

Each time is heart beats the bullet bounces up and down two inches.

Since leaving the bullet in Spangler's heart could eventually cause the slug to enter his lungs or tear through the heart muscle and cause death, it must come out through surgery May 23.

"I dread having open heart surgery," Spangler said, "but by explaining everything to me with great confidence in themselves, the doctors have really helped me face up to it."

Very Optimistic

Spangler, a 30-year-old electronics worker, is married and has two children. His family has accepted the impending surgery and is very optimistic, Spangler said.

Doctors give the operation a 98 per cent chance of success. Once the bullet is out, they say he should be completely recovered within six to eight weeks.

Today he remembered the incident when the bullet was fired.

Squirrel Hunting

It was Dec. 2, 1952, in Stillwell, Okla. Spangler, then 15, was squirrel hunting with a brother and two friends.

The youths' dog treed two squirrels, Spangler said, so he and his friend started chopping down the tree. When Spangler went to get the rifle he had leaned against a rock, he picked it up by the barrel with fingertips. The gun went off and a bullet tore into his collarbone.

He was hospitalized for three days, but doctors could find no bullet and assumed it had ricocheted off the collarbone.

It ricocheted—right into his subclavian artery, then into the vena cavav artery, and finally into the right ventricle of his heart.

Unaware of the danger, Spangler won four letters in high school playing baseball and basketball. He even played a full season with his company's softball team last year.

Armed Forces Alert

CAIRO (AP) — Syria and the United Arab Republic placed their armed forces in a state of full alert today to counter what the Arabs say is an imminent Israeli military threat.

Foreign Minister Mahmound Riad received the Soviet Union's ambassador in Cairo Tuesday night to discuss "the situation resulting from mass Israeli troop concentrations on Syria's border," the semi-official Middle East News Agency said.

U.S. Planes Plaster Two SAM Targets

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces unleashed their 140 mm rockets tonight in the battle against U.S. Marines below the demilitarized zone. The big Soviet-made projectiles exploded at Gio Linh, an artillery post two miles south of the DMZ.

No details of the attack were immediately available.

Fresh fighting was reported in the area of Con Thien, seven miles west of Gio Linh, menaced by elements of three North Vietnamese regiments, perhaps 3,500 men. There are 5,000 U.S. Marines in the hotspot sector, though all were not actively engaged at Con Thien.

American warplanes Tuesday night raided two surface-to-air (SAM) missile sites the North Vietnamese were setting up within the DMZ.

The U.S. Command said the antiaircraft missile sites which Marine jets bombed were located almost exactly on the 17th Parallel dividing North and South Vietnam and about eight miles in from the coast.

There was no immediate report of damage, and a headquarters spokesman did not say whether any of the big Soviet-built missiles were on the sites.

SHARP FIGHTING

These were the first SAM sites reported inside the demilitarized zone. Newsmen last weekend saw a Skyhawk jet downed by one of the "flying telephone poles" in the area, but the missile was believed to have been launched from another site — which was subsequently raided — just north of the zone.

SAM sites along the 17th Parallel could menace the high-flying U.S. B52s which regularly raid areas of Quang Tri Province just below the demilitarized zone.

A military spokesman said intensified Communist mortar, artillery and rocket fire continued along the line today, punctuated by occasional sharp ground fighting.

FORCE FLUSHED

The battle began when a Marine company supported by tanks ran into about 150 Communists in a complex of tunnels and bunkers about a mile from the Marine camp. More Marines were called up, and the Reds kept up a fighting retreat for four hours before breaking off.

While the battle raged, Red gunners poured 61 rounds of mortar, artillery and rocket shells on the Con Thien camp.

There was also some sharp fighting about 27 miles northwest of Saigon Tuesday when a Special Forces team operating with Vietnamee irregulars flushed a guerrilla force which broke and ran under artillery fire.

PURSUIT

Within minutes, soldiers of the U.S. 25th Division aboard "Eagle Flight" helicopters popped down in the area and again flushed the guerrillas. Pursuit continued throughout the day with the Reds losing at least 14 known killed.

Paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Brigade supporting the Marines' southern flank in Quang Ngai Province killed 13 North Vietnamese regulars near Duc Pho. Six of the paratroopers were wounded.

123 MISSIONS

Despite spotty weather, American airmen flew 123 missions over North Vietnam Tuesday. One raid reached about 30 miles northwest of Hanoi, up the Red River supply line from Red China, but many of the strikes were against suspected SAM sites in the area just north of the demilitarized zone.

U.S. Air Force Phantoms also went after some of the big Communist guns attacking the Marines, and pilots reported destruction of two and damage to a third. The guns were in North Vietnam in positions 11 and 16 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

Hiroshima Films Still Suppressed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has suppressed for nearly 22 years confiscated Japanese films showing ghastly after-effects of the 1945 atomic bombing of Hiroshima, U.S. officials revealed today.

The Japanese government has asked at least twice that restrictions on the film be lifted, but the U.S. government has refused on grounds it might damage U.S.-Japanese relations, said the informants.

Called in Japan "The Film of Illusion" because it wasn't supposed to exist, the film was taken by Tokyo University scientists rushed to Hiroshima soon after the bombing, the sources said.

CONFISCATED

The officials, who declined identification, said the Japanese scientists still were at work filming in the devastated city when U.S. officials arrived in Hiroshima and confiscated the film.

But the American authorities determined to finish the documentary and used the same Japanese professional cameramen who had taken the initial footage.

For many years, officials said, U.S. policy flatly opposed any distribution of the documentary because it showed in stark and gruesome detail blast effects and the bomb's impact in a densely populated area.

DOOR OPEN

But some authorities reportedly now favor letting Japan decide what if any restrictions should be imposed on the film's showing.

This appeared to leave the door open for reconsideration if Japan should renew its request for the documentary.

Hiroshima was the target of the first atomic bomb ever dropped on an enemy—on Aug. 6, 1945. The bomb obliterated three-fifths of the city of 343,000 population.

The U.S. government has estimated the bomb's death toll at between 70,000 and 80,000 people. It set the bomb's mortality rate per square mile at 15,000 people, with 32,000 wounded per square mile.

NEVER DISPLAYED

There was one report, not denied, that a total of 30,000 feet of film was taken by Nippon Eigasha movie company cameramen. Some 11,000 feet of this was taken under the original Japanese auspices and the remaining 19,000 feet—never displayed—was taken under U.S. auspices.

Several copies of the Hiroshima film exist, according to U.S. sources. One copy is in Japan but a hold has been placed over the portion filmed after U.S. scientists entered the project.

U.S. authorities have contended there also is a hold on the first 11,000 feet of the film. Something of a dispute arose with Japanese authorities over this issue and it still is regarded as sensitive, the sources said.

Car Stall Kills Killeen Woman

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Trinidad Castro Scott, 25, of Killeen, Tex., was killed Tuesday night when her car stalled in an intersection southeast of El Centro on U.S. 86 and was hit by another car.

Authorities said a car driven by Arlene Munson, 65, of El Centro hit Mrs. Scott's car and drove it into a lamp post.

Wilson Shuns 'Velvet Veto'

LONDON (AP) — British newspapers today backed Prime Minister Harold Wilson's reported resolve to press ahead with his bid for Common Market membership despite President Charles de Gaulle's new brushoff.

There was no official comment on De Gaulle's new rebuff at his news conference Tuesday. But high officials said they were not particularly surprised and that Wilson was determined to go ahead with his campaign to get Britain into the European Economic Community.

COLD WAR

London newspapers termed De Gaulle's statement "le brushoff," "a velvet veto" and the start of a new kind of cold war in Europe.

The French leader did not repeat his outright veto in 1963 of the first British application. But he outlined what he called "formidable obstacles" standing in the way of quick British entry into the six-nation European trading group.

Mine Injures Cpl. Vigar

Lance Cpl. Larry W. Vigar, USMC, who enlisted under the Marine Corps "buddy program" Feb. 3, 1965 with Cpl. Gene Vaughn, 20, killed on May 2 in Vietnam, has met with bad luck in the same area where his friend perished.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Vigar, 1612 Avion, were notified this morning that their 22-year-old son was badly wounded Monday when the vehicle in which he was riding detonated an enemy land mine. His injury occurred in the Quang Tri sector, where his friend Vaughn was slain just 13 days earlier.

According to the information provided his parents, Cpl. Vigar's injuries are expected to respond to treatment. His back and legs were hurt in the explosion.

Vigar, who has lived here since 1953, graduated from the Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College. He is an only child.

He and Vaughn, close friends, entered the service together, but illness put Vigar in the hospital. Vaughn completed training and was shipped to Vietnam months ahead of Vigar, who landed in Vietnam April 1.

Additional details were promised Mr. and Mrs. Vigar in a telegram due to arrive this evening.

East Texas Oil Auction Staged

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP)—Permian Corp. was the apparent high bidder Tuesday for 80,000 barrels of confiscated East Texas oil that have been in storage for more than 30 years, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said.

The corporation paid $180,000 for the oil. Martin said the state received approximately $90,000 from the sale.

The Texas Railroad Commission declared the oil contraband because it was produced in violation of commission rules. Judgment in a 1940 suit was recently granted in favor of the state by the 126th District Court in Travis County, Martin said.

Senate Gives Approval To Local Airport Bill

Sen. David Ratliff told The Herald that the Texas Senate today has completed action on a bill permitting the creation of a Howard County Airport Authority, and the measure would go to the governor.

The House already has approved the bill.

The legislation is permissive, in that it provides for the creation of the Airport Authority in event the voters of Howard County approve same in a special election.

If this were done, the authority would be given taxing and administrative powers, and operate as a separate entity (much like the Junior College District) in providing for the expansion, improvement and future operation of the airport.

The authority route has been favored by public and civic leaders here as the most feasible one to assure the county a modern airport of sufficient size and with adequate facilities to accommodate commercial planes of the future.

Sen. Ratliff said the Senate also passed a bill authorizing the creation of a special hospital district for part of Mitchell County, including Colorado City. It also passed a similar bill for a Garza County hospital district.

Teachers Recognized For Long Service In System

The pros paid tributes to the "old pros" at the traditional spring banquet of the Big Spring unit of the Texas State Teachers Association Tuesday evening at Cosden Country Club.

Pins and special recognition went to 41 with tenure ranging from 10 to 25 years, but special accolades went to Mrs. H. H. (Ruth) Rutherford, who is retiring after 40 years in the profession. Mrs. Thelma Kloven, retiring TSTA president, paid a tribute to S. M. (Sam) Anderson, superintendent, who also is president of the state association.

New officers were introduced for both the TSTA unit and for the Classroom Teachers Association, and past president pins went to Mrs. Kloven and to Mrs. Ola Mae Robertson, CTA president. Members paused to pay their respects to Miss Clara A. Bryson, Forrest Gambill and Mrs. Letha Green, retired faculty members, and Mrs. Sue Shockey and Mrs. Mary Vaughn, active faculty members, who died during the current school year.

Mrs. Rutherford, who has served as principal of several elementary schools, including her present charge of Kentwood, was praised by Biff Dawes, Marcy principal.

"She was not afraid to get involved in the needs of people —people in trouble. She got involved with children as persons because she saw unrealized possibilities."

Always, he said, she was an encourager, urging others on with 'I know you can do it. . .' And she was a battler, so much so that once the administration facetiously designated her "official hell raiser" to break some bottleneck.

New officers of the TSTA unit will be Don Green, president (and who presided over the program); Mrs. Charles Phillips, Wendell Huddleston, vice presidents; Mrs. Naomi Graham, secretary; George Archer, treasurer. New officers of the CTA are Mrs. Martin Landers, president; Bailey Clements, Mrs. Bill Irwin, Joe Dawes, vice presidents; Mrs. E. Y. Buckner, secretary; Mrs. Doris Peters, treasurer.

Guests included Joe A. Moss, president of the board, who expressed a word of appreciation to the teachers, Jack Alexander and Roy Watkins, board members, and Mrs. Glenn Griswold, president of the P-TA city council. Entertainment was furnished by the BSHS a cappella choir under direction of Mel Ivey, and by Don Turner, Runnels band director who did a ballad-patter routine with guitar accompaniment.

Moss and Anderson presented 10-year pins to Fern Alexander, Sally Baber, Tommye Blewett, Rex Browning, Mildred Buchanan, Dan Bustamante, Pat Drake, Gypsy Gulley, Oakey Hagood, Bill Irwin, Doris Knocke, Edith McBride, Agnes Mitchell, Ann Ratliff, Neva Springfield, Opal Tanner, M. D. Whitley, Dorothy Yater; also Jo Carlile, Felipe Munoz, Jose Munoz, D. J. Kinard, Ivan B. Riggan, Henry L. Wright of the auxiliary staff.

Fifteen - year pins to Harold Bentley, Mary Elizabeth Cathey, Mary Christensen, Vernay Cook, Donald Crockett, Edna Goodman, Leola Hale, Dan Lewis, Jennie McEvers; 20-year pins to Elva Cantrell and Allene Hamilton; 25-year pins to Dan Conley, Thelma Kloven, Hazel Lawrence and (Mrs.) Jim Anderson.

Anderson Gives Pay Hike Report

Chances are that the matter of teachers pay will go to a conference committee, S. M. (Sam) Anderson, president of Texas State Teachers Association, told the annual meeting of the Big Spring unit of TSTA Tuesday evening.

The Senate has passed a bill which would mean about $550 per annum more for teachers, he reported, and the House appropriations bill would be less. There is a move to get the Senate to go along with the House version, said Anderson, but a number of senators have indicated they will block this. Anderson thought that the best chances are that teachers will come out of $500 to $575 per annum base increase if the present thinking of no additional tax this year is followed.

He said that retired teachers have received an additional $1.50 per month for each year of service and that the retirement ceiling has been raised.

Dispatchers Are Employed

Two new radio dispatchers have joined the Big Spring Police Department, Chief Jay Banks announced today. They are Margaret Wood and Michael P. Kelly.

Mrs. Tommie Rogers, who had been a dispatcher in the department since December, 1964, resigned effective Monday, in order to move back to Kermit, where her mother is ill.

Chief Banks commended her work with the department, stating she was one of the best radio operators the department has had. "She has given confidence to the men through her efficient work and attitude," he said. A departmental party was held in her honor Monday.

Kelly, a 19-year-old high school student, plans to attend the junior college after graduation. His work shift will be arranged so he may attend classes, Banks said.

Margaret Wood had previous experience with the Snyder police as a dispatcher from 1959 to July, 1966. She moved here from Midland to accept the post.

Bike Rider Hurt In Car Collision

Five minor accidents were reported to police Tuesday.

Martha P. Batchelor, 1209 S. Monticello, and Steve Vasquez, riding a bicycle, were in collision in the 1100 block of South Monticello. Steve was taken to Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital by private car, treated for minor injuries and released.

A driverless truck, owned by the Borden Company, Midland, ran into Grantham's Jewelry Store in the 400 block of Main. Jesse Ladd Blewett, 1201 Mesa, and Nellie Mullins Wright, 1305 Mulberry, ran together at Eighth and Nolan. Velma Morris, 1411 Wood, and Donna Bohannon, 613 Linda Lane, collided at Rosemont and Wood. Inocencia R. Pena, Spring Lake, and Frank Vincent Collier, 910 Runnels, were in collision at Fourth and Gregg.

California officers arrived by air today to take custody of Royce Bernard Richardson, 31, and Mrs. Marie B. Vroman Richardson, 19. The pair had been arrested here by city police and held for California. They were later removed from the city jail to the county jail and waived extradition. They were wanted in Sacramento for felony check charges.

Three New Tax Bills Advance

AUSTIN (AP) — The House Tax Committee sent to subcommittee Tuesday three statewide money raising bills aimed at tapping new tax sources.

"The more we take care of this regular session, the less we will have to take care of in the 1968 special session the governor says he will call," said Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, author of a House teachers pay raise plan.

Hinson said either one of his two bills would solve all current money problems involving the appropriations bill and teachers' pay raises. One measure would gather in $16 million a year from a 5 per cent admissions tax on most forms of entertainment and the other would place such services as laundry, barber, beauty shop, parking and auto repair under the 2 per cent sales tax for an annual income of $15 million.

NY Times To Launch 'Swinger'?

NEW YORK (AP) — Women's Wear Daily reported today that a "qualified New York Times source in Paris" said the newspaper is preparing to launch "a swinging New York afternoon paper" in cooperation with the Washington Post.

Such a move would follow the Times' decision to merge its International Edition with the Paris Herald Tribune, owned jointly by the Post and Whitney Communications, Inc.

Women's Wear Daily reported that a high source in the New York Newspaper Guild said he understood that staff members of the Times International Edition have been told they can return to New York "for work on some sort of new afternoon edition."

The afternoon paper, according to Women's Wear Daily, would draw on the international bureaus of both the Times and Post and feature their editorials and columns.

The report, quoting an unnamed Times executive, said that management is divided on the format the new afternoon paper would take.

Times officials have been meeting with unions since Monday in an attempt to get the afternoon edition moving as soon as possible, Women's Wear Daily said.

The question of the Times entry into the afternoon field was brought about after the recent closing of the World Journal Tribune, which left only the New York Post as an afternoon paper of general circulation in the city.

Optimists Elect New Officers

Election of new officers was held at the meeting of the Hi-Noon Optimist Club at the Downtown Tearoom Wednesday.

New officers are Robert Knight, president; Don Reynolds and Bill Tune, vice presidents; Barzie Fletcher, secretary-treasurer; and John T. Ferguson, Verlin Knous, and Jack Price, two year directors.

The directors elected last year with still one year to serve are Chuck Condray, Louis Heinze, and Connie Wade.

An installation banquet is scheduled May 25.

Police Check Theft Reports

Two thefts were reported to police Tuesday.

Dorothy Trantham, Garden City, reported a battery had been taken from her car while it was parked on the lot of Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital. Mrs. Bill Owens, 1818 Benton, reported the theft of a bicycle.

A Devotional For The Day

Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and he shall sustain thee. (Psalm 55:22)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the challenges that come to us and the strength that comes from Thee to meet them. Teach us to rely upon Thy presence in the midst of strife and submit to the guidance of the Holy Spirit. We pray in the name of the Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Politics In A Public Business

Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien's proposal to convert the Post Office Department into a nonprofit government corporation has focused attention on that underfinanced service. A blue - ribbon commission appointed by President Johnson is investigating the proposal.

Members of Congress and the public generally should recognize from the beginning that the postal service has no problems which Congress could not solve promptly. The service was never designed to pay its way. But it could be converted almost overnight into a break - even operation, or even a very profitable operation if Congress is prepared to take the proper steps.

Every class of postal service could operate at a profit if postal rates were raised sufficiently. Today, only first - class mail appears to be paying its own way. By doubling or tripling other rates, those classes could also be made self-supporting.

What we are dealing with here is not a practical problem, though. Congress has seen to that. Instead we are continually facing a political problem. Congressmen do not want to lose their free franking privileges, nor do they want to raise rates sufficiently to make the postal service pay its own way.

Throughout the years the same charade is enacted. The department estimates its costs and asks Congress to appropriate that sum. Instead Congress grants a lesser sum, following it later with a supplementary appropriation to make up the deficit. Members of Congress have consistently refused to invest an estimated $4 to $5 billion to install mechanical equipment which would speed up mail handling, sorting and delivery. They have contented themselves with limited appropriations for experimentation in the field of modernizing the service.

O'Brien is perhaps the last thing removed from a babe in the political woods. He is in fact one of the shrewdest politicians on the scene, presiding over the most political organization within the executive department. He must be perfectly aware that Congress is so set in its ways that it will not permit the Post Office Department to escape its thralldom.

The best guess is that O'Brien, despairing of improving his department through the normal means of communicating with committee chairmen, has sounded a trumpet note that will awaken the people to the crisis. If the people become sufficiently aroused they will bring pressure on their representatives in Congress to undertake the reforms which can so easily solve the problem of the Post Office Department.

Snakes Alive!

It seems like everyone has a snake story. Just bring up the time when a brush with a rattler or some other serpent turned your blood cold, and someone will have a tale to match.

I HAVE HAD several brushes with these crawling creatures with the result that I belong to the tribe that believes a good snake is a dead snake. That's not so, for the bull snake is a friend of man — so they say. Ever since I leaned over the feed slot in the barn to check on my setting bantam hen and found instead an egg-stuffed bull snake, I haven't lingered to check identities of a snake.

HOWEVER, sometime it is so apparent that checking is superfulous. Once I became absorbed in hunting for arrowheads along a cow trail and crawled along on my all-fours. Instinctively, I looked up — and into the beady eye pits of a Diamondback. Before he could wiggle his rattles a second time, I had established a new world's record for both high and backwards broad jumps.

OWEN IVIE tells how he and the late Col. E. V. Spence and a cowboy on the Spade ranch were searching out a spot that appeared on a topographic map to be a likely location for a dam. After considerable tramping, they found it and were ready to return to their car. To avoid a half-mile hike, they decided to go up the side of a bluff overlooking the river.

DESPITE ITS steepness, the slope had a lot of grass in it, and the three were all uneasy as they picked their way. Suddenly violent hissing pierced the air, and all of them — as one man — scaled such a small rock protrusion that it made purely academic that old debate about how many angels can stand on the head of a pin. Frantically, they tried to spot their adversary — and then there it was. A nest of baby buzzards in a hole in the craig.

DOWN AT Robert Lee, A. B. Shepherd tells how he was helping stake out a line in some tall grass one day when something snagged his trouser leg. Thinking it was a twig, he tried a couple of times to kick it off without bothering to look. When he did glance down, there was a little rattler with its fangs caught in his pants. After half a dozen inspired, wild jumps, the snake was flailed free.

Lamar Akard had one to go with that. He was with a crew working in a knee high grass in snake country. Sure enough, when he put down his foot, there was a wiggle and something that sounded like a rattle. Up he went, but every time he came down, he came down on the snake. After about the fourth jump he began to get traction. By that time he realized he was on a bull snake, but having his momentum up, he went on and used it.

WHILE ROSS Boykin was trying gingerly to deal a mortal blow to a rattler his wife had spotted, Louise slipped behind him with a forked stick and planted it in his heel. Nothing like him has ever come off the Cape Kennedy launching pads.

Employment Is Stabilizer

The laments of the automobile industry, that bellwether of the American economy, might lead one to suppose that we are sliding into a recession. Though the economic pace has slackened here and there, the dominant indications are that no recession is in prospect.

The past year has been one of the most prosperous in history. The comment of the Wall Street Journal is noteworthy: "The nation can't get very far into a recession as long as today's super-full employment continues." This gets close to the nub of the whole question.

Seventy - four million Americans have jobs today. That is two million more than a year ago; five million more than in 1962. Unemployment stands at a low 3.6 per cent of the labor force as compared to 7.1 per cent in 1961. High employment means that the average worker has healthy buying power.

High employment is due to various factors. One of the most important, obviously, is the Vietnamese war. The number of young men in military service is significant in this connection. Even more so is the large number of jobs created to support the war effort. But there are other reasons, notably the fact that more women are working today than ever before. Moreover, employment will grow if home building picks up as expected. All in all, it appears that if trends in employment and consumer spending continue there is small likelihood of a recession.

Reds Not Dealing With White House Softy

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is going to be a hard year to remember, unless something happens before the end of it.

The war has been pretty much like last year's war: it has got steadily worse slowly. And Congress has been busy dawdling instead of doing. It's been talking.

President Johnson has been photographed shaking hands, or talking to the press, or walking to a plane. But he has said extraordinarily little for a President in wartime, particularly with the war being criticized so much.

AND THERE hasn't been one truly colorful or distracting character in government or politics.

There has been no one to compare with the attention a Barry Goldwater or a Sen. Joseph McCarthy got, in fervor or hostility. And eye-catchers liked President John F. Kennedy or Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have been long gone.

TRUE, Sen. Robert Kennedy has kept himself in the public mind on skis, or shooting the rapids or criticizing the war but he has quieted down a bit and polls show his public appeal has diminished.

Two Republican governors, California's Ronald Reagan and Michigan's George Romney have been sashaying around but the attention they've received so far has probably been more curiosity about what makes them tick than anything else.

THE DAYS of presidential-congressional uproar went out with President Harry S. Truman. Johnson never did business that way anyway. His technique is head-to-head talks pushing and compromise.

But this year there's little evidence he did much of that or anything with Congress which has been foot-dragging like many Congresses of the past when they didn't have a president on their back every minute.

JOHNSON himself has been an almost baffling figure through it all. Another president might feel it necessary to give the nation repeated pep talks or explanations. But he has pretty well avoided both, staying almost silent.

Yet, this Silent Sam attitude of Johnson's is a very tough one. While saying little, he has steadily built up the American action and participation in the war.

Just because of this, it would seem, the Communist side by this time should, and probably does, realize it is not dealing with a softy in the White House.

Kennedy And Gore In Good Company

WASHINGTON — Sen. John Williams (R., Del.) has ruined a rainy day for me, but that's all right. I was sort of planning to stay home next time the weather turned bad, and do one of those columns which kicks the best senator of the session.

But Williams is so manifestly the stand-out performer of the upper chamber that you might as well try to grab your readers' attention by putting in a good word for the Twelve Disciples as to keep on saying what a bargain the American people have in Williams.

THERE IS, however, one quality about him that hasn't been written and is still newsy. This nonpareil of a legislator has a way of making the trusty old proverbs come true. When you hear this upright man giving one of his fact - laden, morality - loaded speeches on the floor, you may not be able to follow its content, but its meaning is clear: "Honesty is the best policy," is the unspoken text.

ANOTHER proverb which Williams proves is the one that says a man is judged by the company he keeps. This came out very well in the Senate's six-week hassle to repeal the $60 million subsidy which has been voted last year to lucky winners of Presidential nominations. Two Senators who visibly profited by their association with Williams in this debate were Albert Gore and Bob Kennedy. From the press gallery it was very plain that they owed a lot to finding themselves on the same side with Williams for a change.

GORE SPOKE well and frequently on the subject. He demolished the pietistic arguments of Russell Long who kept saying that only rich men could afford to run for national office, and that taxpayers' money was needed to drive out the filthy lucre of private contributions. Gore rebutted that no amount of funds would ever satisfy political campaigners, and that they'd merely be getting public dollars in addition to private dollars. He persisted so doggedly, for so many days, that at last he came out the winner over the greedy politicos who pretended to believe that this raw grab was really an electoral reform.

THEN THERE was Bob Kennedy. He also joined up with Williams, and thereby made a turning point in his Senate career. It's a fact that Bob Kennedy has been a loner ever since his raucous and expensive campaign that unseated the well-regarded Kenneth Keating in New York State. Kennedy is not a team-player. He always had a clique of fellow-Senators, but the feeling is that he had purchased their favors one way or another. He has never been accepted as a congenial member of the club.

BUT TO THE astonishment and gratification of many, Kennedy was flung by the logic of the debate into the company of John Williams. For once, Bob was riding on the purest of motives.

Give the credit to John Williams, I say, for an extracurricular good deed. He'd taken a position to which Gore and Kennedy could repair. They were better men for it, and the national economy of political manpower has been temporarily enriched.

Copying Industry Booms

NEW YORK (AP) — The replacement of the line at the water cooler with the line at the office copying machine is a tribute to the growing sophistication of American technology.

This technology now is creating brand-new industries and establishing new methods in old ones. It is tumbling out new products in such volume, in fact, that newer products endanger the sale of new products.

AND, BASED on recent experience, the pace of the new technology may even become swifter. A survey by McGraw-Hill indicates that $16.6 billion will be spent by American business this year on research and development, up $1.1 billion from 1966.

Behind this growth are two huge demands: the demand of the U.S. government for solutions to national problems, defense especially; the recognition by industry that new products are the big moneymakers.

THE RESULTING cornucopia of new products is symbolized by the office copier, which has now become part of an $800-million-a-year industry, several times larger than in 1960.

The dry copier probably goes back to the 1840s, when blueprint machines were in use. Photostat machines were developed at the turn of the century, and in another 20 years processes using chemically treated papers were invented.

IT WAS close to another 20 years, however, before Chester Carlson developed a machine that has led to the modern electrostatic copier. And it took another 20 years, until 1960, before a simple, push-button machine based on this principle was marketed.

Then the flood began. One company after another entered the business as copying became a simple procedure. Something more than 10 billion copies are now made each year, many of them to serve needs that weren't even recognized until the means were made available.

STILL, WE are told by those in the industry, this is nowhere near the fulfillment of copying's destiny. For the most part this enormous volume is still the result of an almost casual desire to make one or two copies.

This casual desire soon may become a need for copies in volume. Research is even more intense now, for the goal is to tie the office copier to other business machines so as to construct brand-new systems of office procedure.

BEYOND THAT goal is still another. Since information is proliferating, the act of copying is seen as merely the first stage in processes, still to be developed, involving recording, storing, transmitting and retrieving of information almost instantly.

This is only one instance of the big payout from research and development. Many well-known companies did not exist two decades ago. Now highly profitable from research and development — and highly glamorous to stock traders — they are the result of long efforts at (1) basic research, (2), applied research and (3) developmental research.

In the copying industry the basic research was the search for a new copying process; the applied research, in how to use this product in a commercial way; and the development, in perfecting and marketing the product.

Charlie Company Break

By JOHN LENGEL

CHU LAI, Vietnam (AP) —It was another day of "the walk in the sun," a day where nobody shoots at you, nothing much happens, and Charlie Company got what it considers a break: rain.

THE THUNDERHEADS masked the searing sun. A cool breeze fanned the dry paddies. Rain came down in sheets. No one covered up. They just soaked it up.

Charlie Company of the 1st Battalion, 14th Infantry, is a unit of the 3rd Brigade, U.S. 25th Division, an outfit that has put together a full year of continuous combat operations.

THE BRIGADE keeps moving. Except for its clerks and supply personnel, who take up a corner of the 4th Division's base camp in the highlands, 3rd Brigade men eat, clean up and fight on the fly.

Charlie Company's idea of a good time is guarding some remote landing zone while the other companies sweep the surrounding jungle.

CHARLIE got two days for Christmas at the 4th Division camp, then back to the field and the highland jungles where it had been for nearly eight months. It was two days for New Year's at the same camp.

Then the battalion was trucked to coastal Binh Dinh in central Vietnam for Operation Thayer II—fighting and more walking—and Operation Pershing.

"WE'VE BEEN to a shower point four times since then," says the company commander, Capt. Robert G. Eklund of Osceola, Neb. "Streams are a big favorite with us."

April 19, the battalion was lifted to Chu Lai in the northern 1st Corps military sector. Charlie Company went right into the field.

Officers do paperwork in foxholes. Replacements get acquainted in the field.

THE MEN scribble letters during a break, write "Free" on the envelopes and hand them to one of Eklund's radio operators who gets the mail to a helicopter crewman.

New boots, fatigues and socks are requested by radio.

A man back after six weeks in a hospital in Japan is asked by the sergeant: "Hey, did you get my china?"

"No, they didn't have your pattern."

The sergeant, a veteran of 18 years, laments, "my wife will kill me."

Hal Boyle who usually writes this column is ill.

Billy Graham

How can I teach my children to pray when I have to refuse teaching Sunday School and other church work because I can't pray in public? G.H.

While public prayers are often appropriate, Jesus taught the value of secret prayer. "But thou when thou prayest enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." Matt. 6:6.

Just because you are not able to pray in public doesn't mean that you can't teach your children to pray. It is very possible that your sincere, secret prayers may be heard by the Lord more clearly than many audible prayers.

Some people have a fear of speaking in public, and God understands this incapacity to express yourself audibly. Perhaps that is one of the reasons He encouraged secret prayer — so everyone, even those who have a fear of expressing themselves before others, could participate in the greatest exercise in the world — prayer.

Why Lung Surgery? The T.B. Germ Is Different!

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: A dear friend has been in the hospital for tuberculosis for six months. Now he has had three tests showing negative, has gained 25 pounds and feels good.

Now they are talking about an operation on the lungs. Could you tell us something about this kind of surgery and just what they do? Would he regain his health? — MRS. R.B.

Tuberculosis is a different kind of malefactor. Many germs cause acute illness, but afterward the patient is immune to that disease, sometimes temporarily, sometimes for life.

Tuberculosis, however, does not confer such immunity. After the disease is arrested, there is still the possibility that it can be contracted again.

Or — and this is one of the things we have learned to guard against — the disease may be controlled yet not totally cured.

No germs are found in the sputum. The patient is in no danger of giving the disease to anyone else. Yet some of the germs may still lie dormant, encased in the scar tissue which has formed in the lung because of the disease.

That is why a patient, even though discharged from a hospital, is instructed to report back periodically for several years, to make sure that the tuberculosis does not become active again.

Therefore in some cases the scarred part of the lung is removed surgically, thus reducing the risk of a relapse — of some trapped germs setting up a new infection.

The basis for deciding when surgery should be employed is too technical to go into here. Enough lung tissue must be left so as to provide sufficient breathing area, or "vital capacity."

It is, of course, delicate surgery, but the last several decades the principles and techniques have been developed to a point at which it is undertaken with confidence.

Your friend will require time to recover from the surgery, as he would from any major operation, but unless the surgery is required for some reason other than appears on the face of your letter, this should assure him of better health.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had diabetes 31 years. Recently I had a heart attack and was put on a low-salt diet in addition to following my diabetes diet. It is difficult when all the canned vegetables have "salt added." —J.B.

You can obtain canned goods which do not have salt added at most grocery stores, and an inquiry or two should solve your problem quickly.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Time For U.N. To Act

WASHINGTON — The time has come — in the opinion of many people in official circles here — to do some plain speaking on the failure of U Thant, Secretary - General of the United Nations, to face up to his responsibilities as an impartial executive of that organization and to cease being a partisan of the Soviet Union, Red China and the anti-American segment of Southeast Asia.

PEACE negotiations in the Vietnam war might long ago have been begun if the Secretary-General had not given the impression that he sides with those who are convinced the United States will accept terms of virtual surrender.

The American government thus far has treated with politeness and courtesy U Thant's criticisms. Ambassador Goldberg has engaged for several months now in a polite and tactful dialogue rebutting the unfounded statements and inferences that have come publicly from the Secretary-General.

IF EVER there was a mission of peace-making marked out for the United Nations to pursue, it is in attaining the "clarification" called for by Ambassador Goldberg. But the Secretary - General can hardly accomplish this alone. It is his primary obligation to help arrange for meetings of the Security Council or the General Assembly so that, when all the facts have been presented, the United Nations members themselves may decide what steps shall be taken under the charter.

IT IS FREQUENTLY argued that, since the Soviet Union has the power of veto in the Security Council, there is not much use going before that body. But the charter makes clear that the viewpoint of any nation or group of nations can be presented to the Security Council and, in effect, before the entire world. Then, if a veto is exercised, the case may be submitted to the General Assembly, which can itself authorize a peace-keeping operation and assume full responsibility for the ordering of an armistice.

WHEN THE U.N. stipulates conditions of a cease-fire, there is little risk for either side in an acceptance, since a palpable violation of the armistice would tend to line up world opinion against the party guilty of bad faith.

While the results of the Korean peace negotiation, for instance, were not entirely satisfactory to either side, nevertheless a means of ending a prolonged war was provided in 1953. Actually, no peace treaty has ever been signed since, and occasionally the armistice agreement has been violated. The net effect, however, has been to stop the fighting.

A NUMBER of the members of the General Assembly have leaned toward the Communists on the Vietnam issue, but certainly the time would seem to be ripe now to test the courage and peace-keeping philosophy of the majority of the United Nations. Many Americans and Europeans as well have, indeed, long wondered why, in an emergency, the U.N. does not give closer attention to the high principles of its own charter. For this document says explicitly that the General Assembly "may recommend measures for the peaceful adjustment of any situation, regardless of origin, which it deems likely to impair the general welfare or friendly relations among nations."

WHAT OTHERS SAY

From his barroom in Bimini, Adam Clayton Powell has launched what he hopes will be a third force in American politics.

From behind his wife's skirts in what sounds like the Fortress of Montgomery, George Wallace has made his defiant bid.

They are different, yet they are the same. It is at once a grotesque comedy and a grim and dangerous tragedy.

LBJ's Determination Wins Over 15 Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's determination to see the war through in Vietnam gets backing today from 15 senators critical of his policies.

Without moderating their dissent, 13 Democrats and 2 Republicans planned to make public a declaration aimed at North Vietnam's leaders saying they are steadfastly opposed to any American withdrawal until there is an honorable settlement of the war.

As a notice to Ho Chi Minh that he cannot count on criticism, demonstrations and protests to weaken U.S. resolve to secure South Vietnam against aggression, the move was welcomed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

DELICATE SITUATION

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, chief sponsor of the declaration, said in an interview that "because the situation is so delicate," he submitted the statement to Rusk in advance.

He said Rusk felt a statement of this nature by the President's critics might have more chance of being accepted as truth by Hanoi than all of the declarations by the administration and its supporters that there will be no American pullout.

The declaration carries the signatures of such vigorous senatorial critics of Johnson's war course as J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee; George S. McGovern, D-S.D., Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

GOP DISSENTERS

Republicans who signed are Sens. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon. The sponsors failed, however, to enlist some other GOP dissenters to Johnson's conduct of the war.

Church made it clear the signers believe the war has reached a critical point, where the failure of Hanoi to respond to negotiation has hardened Johnson's determination to escalate the U.S. military effort.

They believe any substantial expansion of the fighting and bombing will make it more likely that Communist China will intervene. If that happens, they feel the Soviet Union also will become involved, thus ushering in World War III.

ONE-DAY TRUCE

With that in mind, Clark urged Johnson in a Senate speech Tuesday to order an indefinite American cease-fire beyond the one-day truce scheduled for Buddha's birthday, May 23.

The Pennsylvania senator suggested suspending the bombing of North Vietnam and ordering U.S. troops not to fire unless fired upon.

He said these moves should be accompanied by efforts to enlist U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain in an attempt to get Hanoi to the negotiating table.

ENCOURAGEMENT

There was no indication, however, that Johnson would be willing to undertake any such cease-fire.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he had received some encouragement from White House officials for his proposal that the United States take the Vietnam question to the United Nations Security Council. He did not elaborate.

At the United Nations, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg agreed with Mansfield that the United Nations has a responsibility to seek peace in Vietnam. He said the United States would welcome Security Council consideration of the conflict.

Artists Pick Officer Slate

Officers for the 1967-68 club year were elected Tuesday evening by members of the Big Spring Art Association, meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartley. Reinstated are Mrs. John Zimmerman, president; Mrs. Hartley, treasurer; and Mrs. Bill Unger, reporter. New officers are Mrs. Paul Bruns, first vice president; Mrs. Sam Anderson, second vice president; and Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw, secretary.

Don Duncan, art instructor at Runnels Junior High and Howard County Junior College, gave a demonstration on the approach to water color painting. He explained the kinds of washes which have been used traditionally for years, and the newest method of wet-in-wet for softer, subtler edges.

He pointed out that no other media is used in the same manner, and that the water colorist must know what he wants to do before he sets a brush to paper and exactly how to control his media — something that comes only through practice.

The group voted to buy $100 more art books for the Howard County Public Library with monies received through the "Flea Market" art sale last fall and the TFAA regional exhibition last month.

A new member, Mrs. Bales Blair, was introduced. Lt. Blair was a guest.

Revival Begins

The Rev. J. C. Lewis, Midland, will conduct a revival at the Goliad Assembly of God Church beginning tonight and continuing through Sunday, according to the pastors, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ragan. All are invited. Services will be at 7:30 o'clock nightly.

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of ♡ West did not make matters easy for North and South by jamming up the auction with his preemptive jump overcall in hearts. However, his bid did not prevent the opposition from reaching their normal contract of five diamonds, and in the final analysis, it alerted the declarer to uncovering an abnormal line of play.

West opened the king of hearts. Altho the dummy came down with a singleton, West persisted with the ace and North ruffed with the eight of diamonds as declarer followed suit with the queen.

Trumps were cleared up with two pulls. The ace and king of spades were cashed, followed by a spade ruff. When West's queen appeared on the third round, it established South's ten as the master card in the suit. The closed hand was reentered with a trump and one of North's clubs was discarded on the ten of spades.

It was now time to play the club suit. The normal procedure would be to lead a small card and finesse the ten in dummy, playing West for the jack. South had reached the conclusion, however, that West had already shown up with all the high cards he possessed. He decided, therefore, to play East for both missing club honors, in which case a somewhat unorthodox course was indicated.

A small club was led from the closed hand, however, after West followed with the five, declarer put up the king from dummy. East was in with the ace, but he found himself to be endplayed on the return. A heart shift would present his opponent with a ruff and discard, so East led back the nine of clubs. South played the eight and when West followed with the six, North's ten of clubs took the fulfilling trick.

Hannum Divorced In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alex Hannum, who coached the Philadelphia 76ers to the National Basketball Association championship last month, has been divorced by his wife, Dorothy.

Hannum agreed Tuesday to pay his wife $425 monthly alimony, plus $225 a month for support of their children, Katherine, 9, and Susan, 17.

Mrs. Hannum said in her Superior Court suit to end their 24-year marriage that Hannum was cold and indifferent and away from home most of the time.

Research, Promotion Urged To Improve Cotton Outlook

"We've got the best fiber in the world — without question— but we've been outdistanced on research and promotion."

But Don Johnson, Lubbock, executive vice president of the Plains Cotton Growers Association, told a combined service club meeting here Tuesday that cotton is due to make some giant strides toward catching up in this field. Johnson was the featured speaker in observance of National Cotton Week.

The outlook for cotton is not rosy, but it is better than it has been. Johnson had faith that cotton will continue to be a vital part of the Plains economy.

Some of the hopeful signs he saw on the horizon were: reduction of the carry-over from 17 million to 12 million bales; increased exports; increase of domestic consumption from 9.2 to 9.6 million bales; improved attitude of growers toward the kind of cotton which needs to be grown; potential return to greater acreage; stepped up research; more aggressive promotion of cotton products.

Few industries make the impact that cotton does on this area, he declared. Howard County alone has grossed on an average over $5 million annually for the last nine years. The PCG area has averaged $151 million a year.

Cotton has had some mighty rough times, he admitted, adding that it has been beset by everything "from boll weevils to bureaucrats . . . and one is about as bad as the other."

Now the outlook is better on both counts, "but we've spent 30 years getting government into cotton, and we can't expect to get it out in two or three years."

The industry is going to change — it has to, he said. Growers went to a cotton which could be stripped, but this meant shorter staples which have become a glut on the market. No longer can the government loan be considered a refuge for unmarketable cotton. Producers are facing up by breeding longer staples which can be mechanically harvested. Cotton researchers have come up with a glandless seed which makes a meal which now may be made into digestible human food products.

Johnson was introduced by Jimmy Taylor, who pointed out that cotton was still the third most important industry in this county. Next to losing the air base or Cosden, a collapse of the cotton trade would be the worst thing that could happen economically here, he noted.

Rotarians were hosts for the meeting in the Settles Ballroom with Dick Ream in charge.

Byerley Ordered To State Prison

Marshall E. Byerley III, whose probated three-year penitentiary sentence was set aside last week by Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, was on his way to the state penitentiary today.

Byerley was found guilty in August, 1965 of writing felony worthless checks and was also ruled to be a repeater offender. He was given a three year sentence with probation, it being stipulatd that the probation carried with it the requirement he make restitution to the persons who had cashed the checks.

Wayne Burns, acting on information provided by John Dibrell, probation officer, informed Judge Caton the man had not made restitution as instructed. The court ordered his probation set aside and that he be taken to the state prison to serve the three years.

Showers Dot Ohio Valley

By The Associated Press

Showers sprinkled areas in the lower Ohio Valley today, but generally clear and pleasant weather prevailed in most other parts of the nation.

A heat wave continued in the Pacific Coast states where temperatures reached above 100 degrees in Southern California Tuesday. Readings in the 90s were reported northward to southern Oregon, with 80 degrees at the Canadian border.

Los Angeles sweltered in 102 heat and the nation's top mark was 107 at Palm Springs, Calif. The 94 at Santa Marie was a record high mark for May 16. San Francisco reported 84.

Coolest weather early today was from the Great Lakes region to New England, with temperatures ranging from the 20s to the 40s.

Plead Guilty

John F. Sulser, charged with DWI, entered a guilty plea in Howard County Court Tuesday. Judge Lee Porter sentenced him to pay a fine of $100, costs in the case, and serve a three months probated jail sentence.

Jack C. Hansom, charged with writing worthless checks, was fined $25 and costs when he entered a guilty plea in the same court.

Cartoonist Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Carey Orr, 77, political cartoonist for the Chicago Tribune for 46 years who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1961, died Tuesday. Orr had worked for the Chicago Examiner in 1912 and for the Nashville Tennessean from 1912 to 1917 when he joined the Tribune. Orr, who retired in 1963, was born in Ada, Ohio.

Third Jury Being Qualified

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, was qualifying a jury to try a damage suit today. This will be the third time this week that a jury has been qualified, but if the case goes to trial, it will be the first to actually be laid before the jurors for decision.

Earlier, two other cases were started, moved through earlier phases of jury selection and even, in one instance, the presentation of testimony, only to terminate when litigants decided to withdraw from the court.

Today's suit is styled Edna Putz vs. James Lester Gray and Mrs. Gray. It stems from a mishap of July 19, 1966, at Fourth and Douglass.

Retired Judge Dies

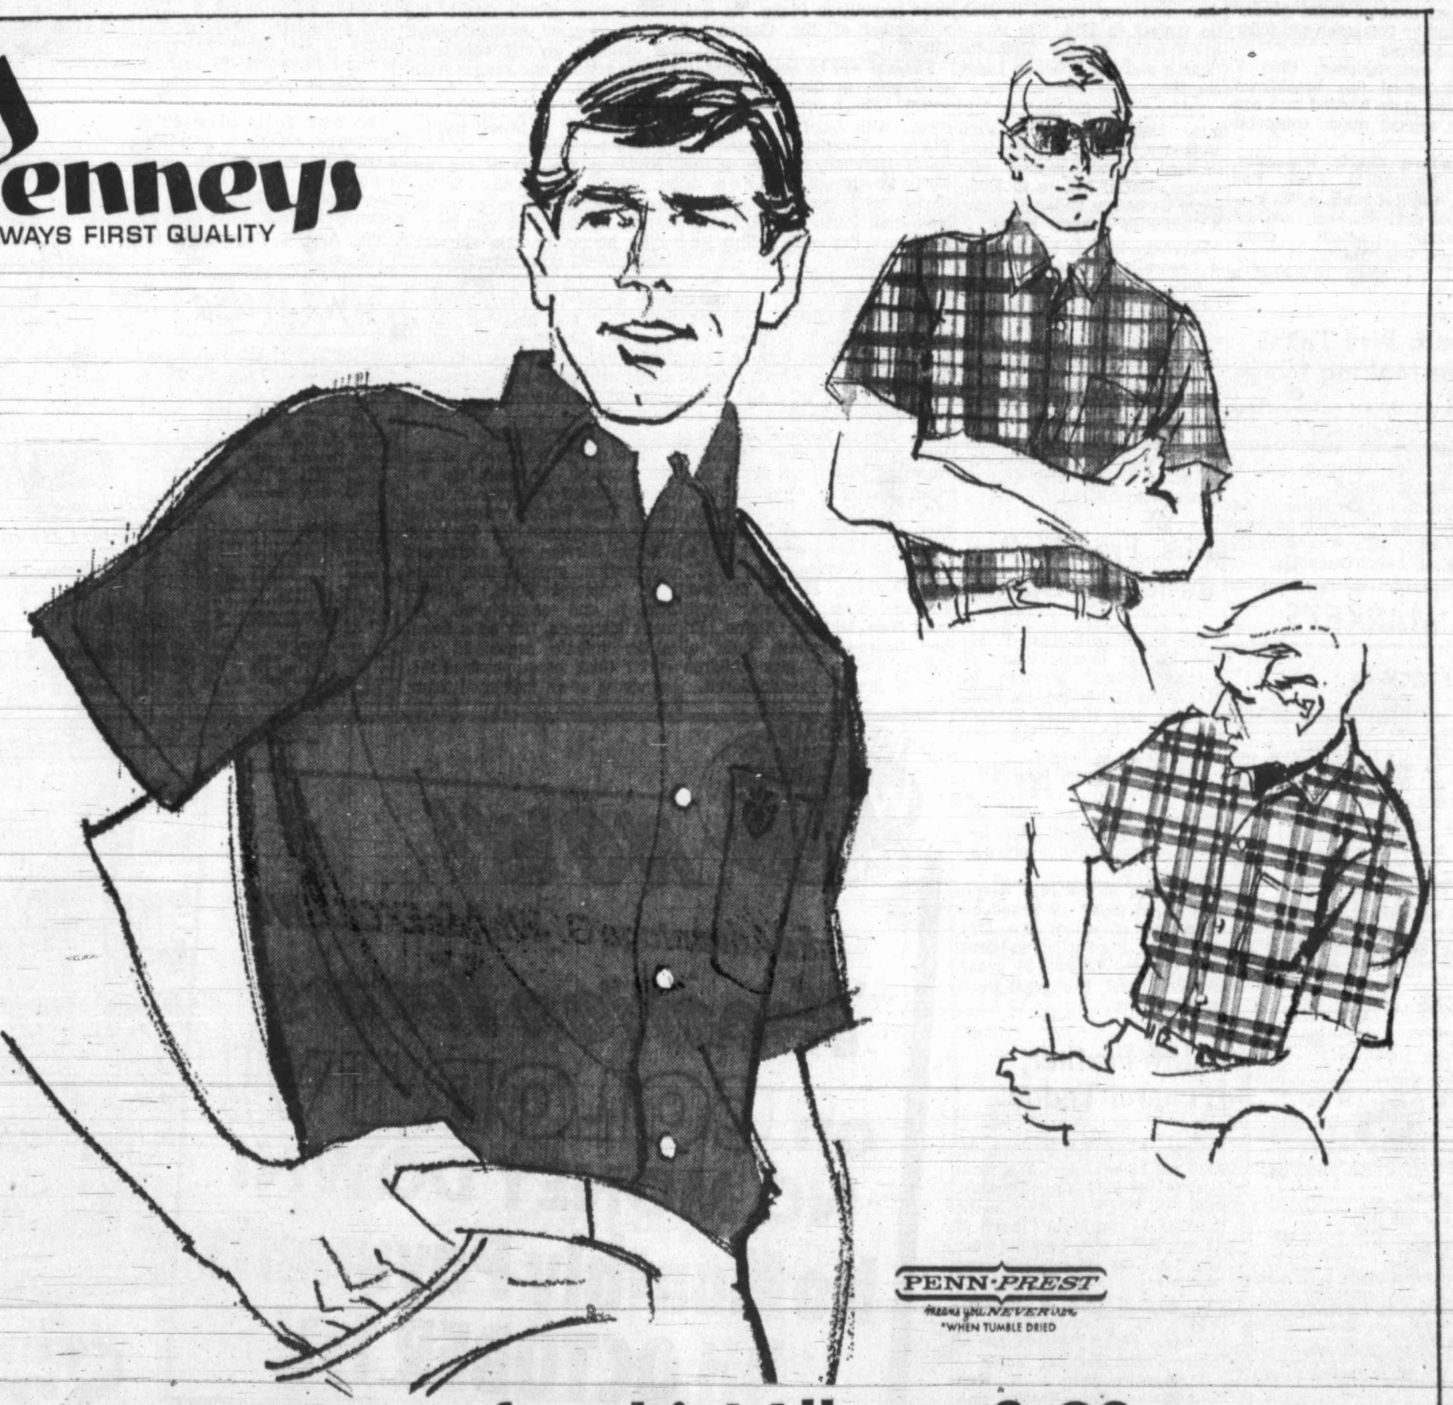

CINCINNATI (AP) — Judge John H. Druffel, 81, who presided over many nationally known cases as U.S. District Court judge for 27 years, died Tuesday. Judge Druffel retired in 1964.

Pentagon Boots 10,000 From Nuclear Positions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under a strict, almost puritanical program to guard against human nuclear control errors, the Pentagon has removed since 1962 more than 10,000 persons classed as unreliable from jobs involving atomic weapons.

The Air Force, with thousands of men assigned to Strategic Air Command bombers, Minuteman missile silos and the vast defense complex for keeping them ready, has reassigned more than 9,500 men.

The fledgling Defense Atomic Support Agency, created in 1959 to help lay out the services' nuclear warfare needs, has removed more than 200 from hypersensitive posts.

TENSION

These figures were provided by the Pentagon in response to questions prompted by a Soviet general's observation that Soviet troops show signs of increased tension and confusion around nuclear arms.

To a certain extent U.S. servicemen and defense civilians are afflicted with similar stresses.

Even the Army and Navy, not nearly so immersed as the Air Force in the business of thermonuclear war, have reassigned 300 men classed as unreliable in dealing with strategic bombs and missiles.

CLEARANCE

According to a count provided to The Associated Press, the Air Force has 26,500 officers and 85,000 enlisted men in nuclear-type positions requiring human reliability clearance.

The Defense Atomic Support Agency has about 2,100 dealing with atomic arms. Sources say the Army and Navy have about 40,000 jobs associated with guarding, moving, handling, loading or delivery of atomic weapons.

With great numbers of potential fingers on the trigger, the Pentagon in 1962 launched a human reliability program to cull out "individuals who display indications of excessive worry, anxiety or apprehensions" concerning their jobs.

Although U.S. intercontinental ballistic missile strength is peaking out at a planned 1,000 land-based and 656 submarine-borne missiles, the whole area of human reliability may receive new scrutiny with possible deployment of antimissiles.

POOR ATTITUDES

If the United States decides to deploy its Nike X system of thermonuclear-tipped interceptor missiles, there will be a whole new network of missile batteries requiring hundreds of top security personnel to man and support them.

Practically all the 10,000-plus individuals removed from nuclear slots between 1962 and 1966 have been reassigned to other jobs. Some may have been forced out of the service, although the Pentagon will give no numbers nor say how many punitive actions may have been taken.

Basic reasons for the removals, the Pentagon says, include adverse actions on duty, reprimands or admonishments, excessive drinking, negligence, scrapes with the law, heavy indebtedness, marital problems and poor attitude or lack of motivation toward duty with nuclear weapons.

Community Must Sell Itself To Attract New Industries

There is no magic wand for getting industry, but there are some consistent factors which weigh heavily in chances of attracting new factories.

Harry W. Clark, Austin, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, led a panel of experts in pinpointing these factors at the Big Spring Economic Development Clinic conducted by the state agency here Wednesday.

NO ILLUSIONS

There should be no illusions about the intensive competitiveness of landing industries, Clark declared. There are only about 1,500 a year which might be classed as good prospects and the chances of any one community getting one ranges from 10-1 to 700-1.

What a community must do, insisted Clark, is to sell itself—its own personality.

Right at the top of the list he ranked community betterment, adding that in many instances the final decision on location hinges on this element. Communities must research and analyze their assets; they must know about financing, particularly land and buildings; they must be able to provide sites; they must have leadership that will be willing to spend a dollar today in the hope of getting two back.

ELEMENTS

Some of the elements in using research on candidate industries listed by Oscar E. Castillon, Fort Worth, manager of area development for Texas Electric Service, are alertness, cooperation, organization, planning, implementation, follow-through and enthusiasm. In many instances, this boils down to the "magic ingredient of work." Castillon emphasized the soundness of an industrial team approach.

Various sources of finance for industries were listed by Don R. Raburn, industrial development consultant for the Texas Industrial Commission. Usually firms want to use borrowed money for new capital expenditures, and many times they are looking for package deals. Raburn listed mortgage bankers, investment builders, local banks, savings and loan associations, the Small Business Administration, investment bankers and even loans from the prospects as potential sources. He also gave some guidelines for communities to use in evaluating prospects, warning that failure to be listed in some standard reporting services is not always reason to drop a prospect.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce always is available to lend its resources to local communities on industrial and other problems, but only if the communities ask, said Jake Street, Abilene, member of the WTCC staff.

No industry offers so much potential with so little investment as the tourist trade, declared Sam Godfrey, San Antonio, visitor director for HemisFair '68. There is an unparalleled boom in travel going on, and it's going to get bigger. The sad part for most Texas communities is that they are unaware or apathetic about it.

Some 50 Big Spring business and civic leaders were participating in the program. Clark spoke again to the group at the Settles Hotel at noon on importance of leadership. The conference at First Federal Savings and Loan Association community room was to conclude this afternoon.

Laos Gains Stability?

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Has political stability been achieved in Laos, the land of the coup and the ambitious general?

An American diplomat pondered this question and finally said: "I would say so, yes, if you consider all that has gone on before."

That may sound like a cautious reply but it is almost wildly optimistic in view of Laos' long-time penchant for switching government.

Another diplomatic source observed: "I'm not saying there aren't people who wouldn't try to overthrow Souvanna—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma—if they thought they had a sound alternative. But the feeling right now is that there simply is no one else of his stature to offer."

Souvanna heads a coalition nationalist-neutralist government. He is a neutralist and his deputy is a right-wing nationalist.

The third faction in Laotian politics, the Pathet Lao, represents Communist interests. It is trying by force to overthrow Laos' constitutional parliamentary monarchy, and is not in the present government at Cabinet level.

Establishment of a tripartite government came about in 1962 when 14 nations signed a pact at Geneva.

Laos would seem to be living proof that such combinations don't work if one of the parties is Communist.

A few months after the Geneva accords, the Pathet Lao, assisted by the North Vietnamese, began trying to render impotent the neutralist forces who composed most of Souvanna's military strength.

Dear Abby

Well, That's Show Biz!

DEAR ABBY: My daughter went to New York to try out for a part in a Broadway musical. She is a very beautiful and talented girl. She is a little on the heavy side right now, but the part called for a girl who weighed at least 200 pounds and could dance. Well, my daughter weighed 220 pounds and she is a wonderful dancer.

When she got there she was told she was too THIN? She spent her own money for the trip and was terribly disappointed. Inasmuch as she met the qualifications, can't she sue for the cost of the trip?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Anyone can sue for anything he wishes. But whether he can collect is something else. Too bad she didn't get the job, but I'm sure it was worth a lot to a 220 pound girl to be told she was "too thin" for something.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am fast losing my faith in my friends. I have just gone through an operation that has altered my facial expression. Part of my face is permanently paralyzed.

The operation was easy to endure compared to the pain I have suffered from the remarks of some of my friends.

One woman said, "Now you will know how the rest of us plain Janes feel. Welcome to the club."

Another said, "It will be harder for you than the average woman to adjust to being homely. That's one of the penalties of having had good looks and suddenly losing them."

Abby, I have never been vain about my looks, knowing that real beauty comes from within.

I am horrified at these so-called condolences in the name of friendship. HURT

DEAR HURT: If those who have made the remarks you quoted are your "friends," I would say that you would be much happier without their friendship

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I think you were a little too rough on the husband who told his wife not to invite any of her widow friends to their dinner parties because he hated to chauffeur them home afterwards.

My wife has several widow friends, and I prefer that she entertain them during her free afternoons as I don't like to chauffeur them home after playing host to them all evening.

I have read in your column that one should not judge another until he has walked two weeks in his shoes. I advise you not to judge another until you have driven 20 widows home in his "free taxi." Sign me . . .

NO CHAUFFEUR

DEAR NO: Sorry, but I don't think I was "rough" enough. In every marriage, eventually one must walk alone. If it's the man, his burden is lighter because a man is welcome everywhere—alone. If it's a woman, well, that's a different story.

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very peculiar and unusual day and evening in which you would be wise to be ready to accept any course that fits into your general scheme of things. Refuse to become upset by conditions of a dramatic or startling nature that in no way please you. A time when a calm and impersonal approach to everything is wise.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Get your labors performed in such a way that all will be less difficult for you in the future, but you have to be patient with irate coworkers. Be more concerned with friends who are having difficulties. Be generous.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be sure to back loyally those persons you admire, since you are given many an opportunity to do so today. Your charming smile can do much to make others feel better. Best day to get your bills paid, also.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) The situation is pretty touchy at home so be sure you act in a most diplomatic way. Try to be more understanding and do what will be truly helpful. Get that important business matter handled early.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A problem is not solved at all by doing nothing about it, so be objective, intelligent and all is fine. Make sure that reports are checked for mistakes. Make this a productive day and evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want to have a greater abundance and there is no better time than now to plan for such. Be more amenable to study. Your budgeting should be better planned, also, so that you do not spend more than you take in.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are in the mood to get what you want at almost any cost, but you had better be diplomatic if you want to get real results. State your aims in social matters. Don't let others labor under false illusions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you get right down to all those small duties ahead of you, you find that a considerable amount of success is possible as a consequence. Be efficient. Don't rely on expert who is altogether too busy with other things.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Comrades can be most helpful if you make it a point to cooperate with them in their ambitions as well. Although you may not care to go out socially very much, favors come via that channel. Be eager to see rather unusual friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you listen to what good friends have to say, you can do much to put your finest talents across with a bang. Get out and make your contacts. However, do nothing that downgrades your reputation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Doing whatever requires an entirely different attitude, system is ideal at this time. Don't be conventional to the extreme. Some new pal can give you data you need. Show appreciation for assistance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Rely on your good judgment instead of intuition which is apt to be somewhat faulty at this time. Devotion to mate is fine, but don't just follow orders blindly. There could be real danger in this.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Contacting associates for whatever you have in mind is OK, but be sure you maintain discussions on a very high level. Avoid any severance of connections. Don't be circuitous or critical of others in the outside world.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow . . . he, or she, will be one of those very fascinating young ones who wants order and neatness about at all times although he, or she, may act in a most unexpected way with others. Be sure you give training in ethics and the spiritual early so that your progeny will not be misguided. The field of research would be ideal here.

Poll Discloses Americans Want 'Total Victory'

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time more people want "total victory" in Vietnam than want a supervised withdrawal by both sides, according to a sampling of public opinion by the Louis Harris Poll.

The public opinion poll published Tuesday also showed continued widespread support for the administration's conduct of the war and a growing conviction it will last a long time.

Those asking for a military victory totaled 45 per cent while 41 per cent of those polled asked for withdrawals under United Nations supervision. In February total victory was favored by 43 per cent and last November by 31 per cent.

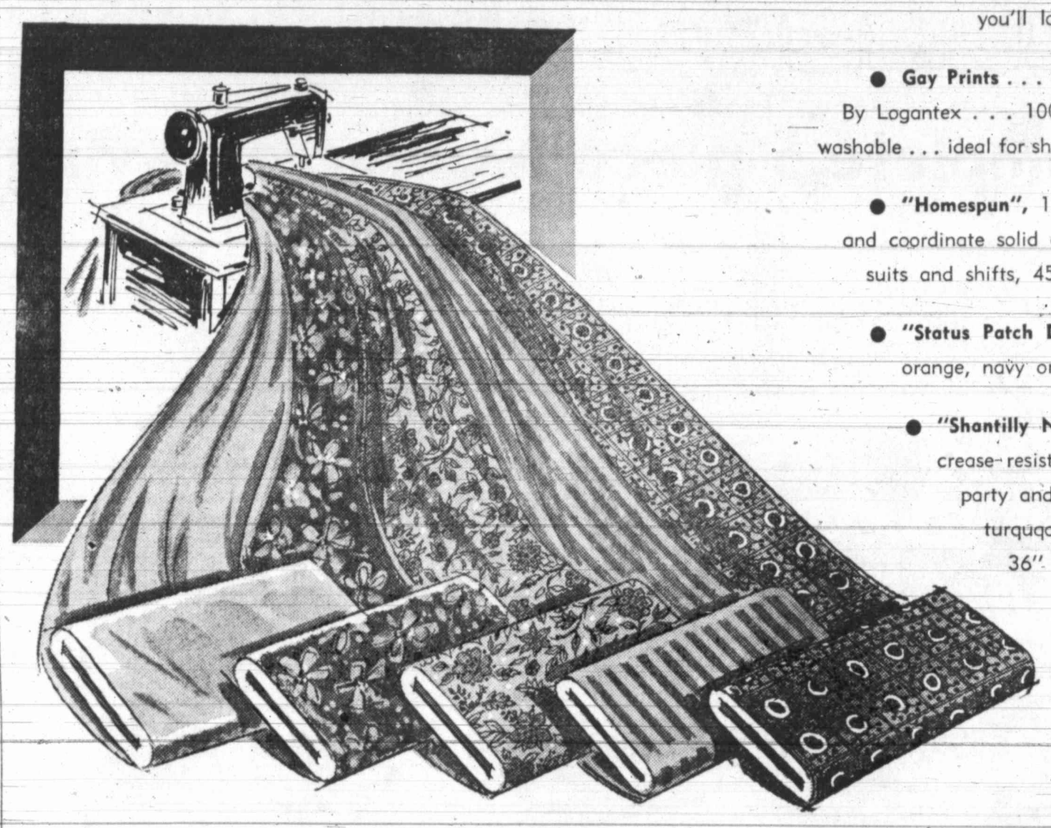

The poll found 72 per cent of those queried supported President Johnson's policies, up two points since February, but five points lower than last November.

The belief that Vietnam will be a long war increased from 71 per cent in February to 81 per cent now, the poll said.

The number who feel the bombing of North Vietnam will help end the war dropped from 61 per cent in February to 55 per cent now. Twelve per cent said they thought the bombing was delaying an end to the war, up four points since February.

Watts Self Help Plan Salves Sores

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twice a week, 30 Negro high school seniors from Watts gather in a laboratory at the University of California at Los Angeles to work on a $1-million business.

It could keep them busy the rest of their lives.

The teenagers have joined a UCLA engineering class in a unique self help project quietly hailed as the first to capture the Watts area's imagination since the summer rioting of 1965.

A scale model of their dream — a 7½-acre community amusement center — is taking shape in the laboratory.

The youngsters, working with the student engineers, have designed and planned the center. They will help build and operate it; will even be stockholders.

SCARS VANISH

Called the Watts Amusement Center, Inc., the project was inspired by Dr. Morris Asimow, UCLA engineering professor who feels pragmatic capitalism can bring economic independence and dignity to depressed areas more effectively than sympathy and handouts.

Few physical scars remain in Watts as reminders of the bloody rioting of August, 1965. With government help, the neighborhood business centers have been rebuilt. Damaged homes have been repaired and painted. A beautification committee donated 1,000 trees.

But most civil rights leaders complain the government largesse did little to remove the racial resentment and hurt.

SHAREHOLDERS

Asimow, 61, wants to deal with this. He has been able to turn sharecroppers into shareholders in the backward reaches of New Guinea and Brazil and sees no reason why it cannot be done in Watts.

"Anywhere there is a town there are merchants," he says, "and that means local capital. The idea is to make visible the opportunities for investment and provide the technical know-how."

Each year, Asimow gives his senior students a practical introduction to the workaday world of engineering by assigning them the job of planning homes, factories and other building projects.

On one of his forays into Latin America, his students helped plan and design six factories for Brazil.

SUMMER GRANT

It was while casting about for such class homework last year that Asimow decided to build something lasting for Watts. He had recently gained a summer grant for one of his top graduate students, Fred Slaughter, a lifelong resident of Watts and former captain of the UCLA basketball team.

Slaughter, 25, did much of the groundwork on the project before leaving to work for a law degree at Columbia University in New York.

They met with various business and youth groups in the Negro community to discuss possible enterprises.

Guy Miller, one of the nation's top Negro sculptors, was among the youth leaders contacted. He is a director of one of the 18 teen posts in Watts set up through the Office of Economic Opportunity after the 1965 riots.

"We described our program to him and it caught," said Asimow.

UNREST

Miller, 57, had criticized previous efforts to salve the sores of racial unrest in Watts.

Now Miller had a ready store of youthful talent and enthusiasm at his Studio 103 teen post, so-called because his programs mostly dwelt on art, drama and photography.

Teenagers from four high schools set up committees to conceive a project for Asimow and his student engineers.

They came up with an automotive wonderland, bristling with midget car race tracks and drag strips, a build-it-yourself gocart shop and including a swimming pool, canopied dance pavilion, skating rink and hot dog stands.

Said Miller: "The amusement center is the first project brought into Watts from the outer community to be warmly received.

JOBS

Talks are under way with a railroad to buy the necessary land. Asimow hopes supplies and materials will be donated.

"If we get 50 or 60 businessmen to clear their warehouses of unneeded materials," he says, "that alone will put it over."

To raise money, shares in the corporation will be sold throughout southeast Los Angeles. Loans will be floated through commercial banks and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

And Asimow has hopes of getting a $200,000 grant from the federal government, should Congress approve the $75 million President Johnson wants funneled into the nation's big cities to provide jobs for teenagers this summer.

GHETTO BARRIERS

He figures 300 teenagers and young adults will be kept busy during the construction phase and that it will take a force of 250 to operate the center once it's built.

"This is no hit or miss proposition," he said. "It will provide continuous employment without continuous funding."

The center, he feels, also will attract a large number of persons who otherwise might never visit Watts.

"The barriers of the ghetto may be breached by this inward flow of people," he says, "as well as by an outward flow of those seeking to escape their environment."

A veteran of 15 years of industrial experience as a metallurgist and business executive, Asimow doesn't minimize the problems ahead. But he is confident ground can be broken this summer.

More Britons Visiting U.S.

LONDON (AP)—Despite Britain's travel restrictions and credit squeeze, more Britons are visiting the United States than ever before.

"During the first quarter of this year, vacation and business traffic to the U.S. increased 4.6 per cent," says Beverley Miller, regional director of the U.S. government's travel service.

"If we can maintain the present pace—and I see no reason why we shouldn't—we're going to break for the first time the 200,000 mark for British visitors to the U.S."

TRAVEL SPLURGE

Last year's total was 196,819.

The American Embassy is busy with applications for visas. For three months this year, the increase is 11 per cent.

Under restrictions a Briton can take abroad no more than 50 pounds in travelers' checks or foreign currencies. He also can carry 15 pounds in what the treasury calls "loose cash," making a total of $182.

What then is behind the travel splurge?

Expo 67, the world fair at Montreal, has a lot to do with it, for many Britons visiting Expo also visit American cities.

There's another factor that might be called "Buddies from Britain."

FEAR

During World War II, the United States came to Britain's aid with Bundles for Britain, an unselfish donation of bundles of food and clothing for this hard-pressed nation.

Today thousands of Americans throw open their homes to relatives and friends from the United Kingdom.

A spokesman from the U.S. Travel Service says "This means that visitors hardly need to eat into their allowances."

Even more Britons would go to the United States except for two things, in the view of a publisher who averages four business trips there a year.

"A lot of Britons I know are afraid of New York," says Peter Wolfe. "I mean they've heard all sorts of stories about violence, and they're actually afraid to walk the streets of New York."

Master Painter Hopper Expires

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward Hopper, whose brooding, shadowed canvases of American life brought him a place among the century's master painters, died Monday in his Greenwich Village studio. He was 84.

The painter's wife, who announced his death Tuesday night, said he had been ill in recent weeks. She indicated he would be buried near his birthplace in Nyack, N.Y.

Hopper, a raw-boned man of 6 feet 5 inches with a steady, contemplative look, was called a master of light. He projected the emptiness of a big city street or the silence of grass and dunes with a not quite definable sense of mystery.

His realistic paintings showed a vision of America—gas stations, run-down Victorian houses, storefronts, an all-night cafe—that critics saw as a bridge from the beginning of the century to the current pop art explosion.

Hopper described his own aim in painting as "the most exact transcription possible of my most intimate impressions of nature."

TEXANS AT WAR

Earns Three Purple Hearts

By The Associated Press

Cpl. Patrick R. Burke, 20-year-old Houston Marine who earned three Purple Hearts in one day, considers himself lucky.

"I made it off the hill alive, and I'm all in one piece," the Texan at War said as his right hand hung limp and without feeling at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Corpus Christi where he is recuperating.

PLENTY OF ACTION

"That's what bugs me—a guy lying there with his legs blown off, not believing it, or begging you to put them back on."

Burke spent 13 months in Vietnam and saw plenty of action, but the roughest was an eight-hour battle March 16 on a hill near Khe Sahn in the northwest corner of South Vietnam when he was wounded three times.

Twelve were reported killed and 52 wounded during the battle, but to Burke it seemed worse.

'CHEWED US UP'

His platoon, from B Company, 1st Battalion, 9th Marines, went to the aid of another one caught in heavy mortar and small arms fire near the Cambodian border.

His platoon began preparing a helicopter landing zone when mortar fire erupted.

"They chewed us up, and the small arms fire kept us pinned down," Burke said.

The young Marine was wounded early in the fight when mortar shrapnel hit him in the back and right leg, but he kept fighting. Later a rifle bullet tore into his right arm, but Burke didn't quit.

"If you could hold a rifle and shoot, you were on the lines or trying to patch up the others," he said.

Case Settled Without Jury

For the second time this week, a case scheduled for jury trial fell apart at the seams before the jury had a chance to consider its merits.

Tuesday afternoon, after both the plaintiff and defendant had completed their testimony in the damage suit brought by Jack Vaughan and others against Clarence Albert Cox, the court took a brief recess to prepare the charge. During the recess the litigants mutually agreed to settle the case on their own.

Judge Ralph Caton, presiding in 118th District Court, excused the jurors from further consideration of the case and instructed them and the other members of the panel to be back today.

Monday, a suit on a note which had been started, was suddenly withdrawn from jury consideration by the principals and both requested it be placed on the non-jury docket.

Mayor Elliott Roosevelt Begins Runoff Campaign

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mayor Elliott Roosevelt—who bills himself as "one of the most politically conscious men of our times"—began a runoff campaign for re-election today against a 37-year-old lawyer.

Roosevelt was forced into the runoff election Tuesday by Jay Dermer, who began his own campaign by calling Roosevelt "a wild man."

Roosevelt, second son of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, replied that Dermer was a "disgrace."

The runoff election will be June 6 and winners will be sworn in the next day.

Roosevelt kept his hopes for a second term alive by defeating former Mayor Melvin Richard, who had charged among other things in a bitter campaign that Roosevelt was soft on Arabs, a serious charge in the Jewish communities of Miami Beach.

Roosevelt explained that he had entertained in his home a Moroccan delegation at the request of the State Department but would not have done the same for King Saud.

Roosevelt, 56, a writer and Colorado rancher before coming to Miami Beach, ran an old-fashioned campaign with sound trucks and hand shaking in the supermarkets.

Many of the shoppers there are retired people, very conscious that Elliott is the son of the man who brought the Social Security that is their sole support.

Dermer said, "The Roosevelt name is no longer magic. A new breed of politician is coming to Miami Beach."

Roosevelt got 7,422 votes, about 40.7 per cent of the ballots cast. Dermer got 5,598. The third man, Richard, got 4,891.

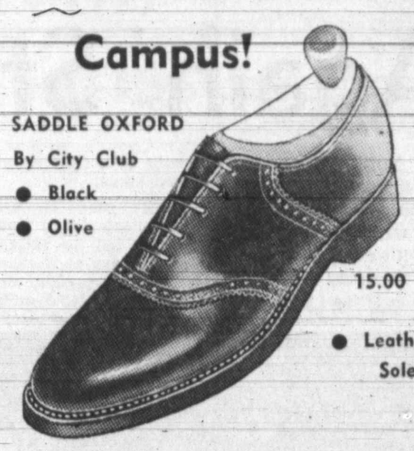

Tuesday also was the day that excerpts of the new book, "I Love a Roosevelt," were released. The author is Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, the former Patricia Peabody Whitehead and Elliott's fifth wife.

In an article taken from the book the last days of Eleanor Roosevelt are described. The book said Eleanor realized she had a fatal illness and tried to die rather than linger as an invalid.

Fake Picasso Sales Charged

NEW YORK (AP) — A Park Avenue art dealer was indicted Tuesday on charges of peddling $165,800 worth of fake Picasso, Chagall and Matisse paintings.

The dealer, David Stein, 31, a British subject, was accused of fraud and counterfeiting in the sale of 41 paintings to 12 purchasers. He was said to have produced the fakes himself.

Artists Pablo Picasso and Marc Chagall played an active part in an investigation that spanned the Atlantic.

Photographs of the works attributed to Picasso were sent to the artist in Europe and he labeled them in French, true or false. Chagall consulted with the Manhattan distrirct attorney's office when he was here last fall for the opening of the Metropolitan Opera.

The original complaint to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office came from Irving Yamet, a customer of Stein's. The defendant operated a gallery here and another in Palm Beach, Fla.

The investigation leading to Stein's indictment apparently had no connection with a probe currently under way into the apparent faking of 44 modern masterpieces in a $1.36 million collection of Texas oilman Algur H. Meadows.

Louisiana Bans Urban Renewal

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana is still the only state that refuses to allow its cities to accept federal money to redevelop downtown areas.

The ban on urban renewal was reinforced this week when local option measures for Shreveport and New Orleans went down to overwhelming defeat before the House Affairs Committee.

Ceramics Group Meets Thursday

The West Texas Ceramic Association will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the parlor of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College, according to the president, Mrs. Robert Fuller. Anyone interested in ceramics is invited.

A demonstration of a special modeling clay technique will be given by Mrs. Glenn Cootes. Her method has been featured in a nationally distributed magazine for the last two years.

The regular business session will follow the demonstration, Mrs. Fuller said.

Science And You

Nature's Welding Machine

By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

Just being in space may be enough to weld metals together.

It's been known for some time that you can make two metal surfaces stick tightly together if you've first made them very, very clean by keeping them in a vacuum while going through all sorts of tricks to clean off the last remnants of gas on their surfaces. No heat is required, just put two pieces of such very clean metal together and wait long enough — they will actually weld themselves into one unit.

This is called "cold welding."

Until recently, it's been a little more than a scientific curiosity except to people worried about solid materials from a theoretical physics point of view.

But nowadays the situation has changed, simply because out in space we have the world's biggest or, should I say, the universe's biggest vacuum system. We now want to do all sorts of complicated things in that big vacuum in the sky. We want complex machines to function properly for very long periods of time. Repair work in space is tough—you just can't go up to a bulky spacecraft and kick a sticking switch loose!

It's in this context that people have become more interested recently in cold welding. The vacuum of space could, over a long period of time, especially when combined with the radiation and intense light present in space, create very, very clean metal surfaces indeed.

Now if two such surfaces, which ordinarily have to slide over one another, happen to stick together because of their extraordinary cleanliness, you can see that all kinds of trouble might develop. Fearing such problems, scientists have been making many tests and calculations as to just how serious the cold welding problem in space is.

Tests recently conducted in a simulated space vacuum corresponding to what would exist about 500 miles above the earth have shown that very clean metal parts can be welded together just by being held in contact for a matter of three to five minutes. On the other hand, with proper and careful design, it seems that we can avoid cold welding of parts that are supposed to move freely over one another in space. Lubricants and correct choice of materials will probably handle the problem.

Then, too, engineers point out that the cold welding process could be a very beautiful way of assembling things in orbit. The beneficial aspects of cold welding might actually outweigh the detrimental ones.

After all, wouldn't it be helpful to be able to fabricate a big space structure by merely cleaning the parts and holding them together with clamps for a while? This would certainly be a lot simpler than having to take a welding torch out into space which would demand all the power and other fussing around that welding here on earth requires.

Cold welding is a small detail typical of the thousands we must understand before we really come up with the best and most economical ways to build big structures in space. You can be certain that as we enter the 1970's engineering tests on this and many other phenomena will be made. Sooner or later we will have a whole technology for spacecraft machinists and designers. We'll need it all when we send the technicians out there in spacesuits to set about building, say, a 50-man orbiting space station — 1980 style.

Torres Loses, Fans Again Stage Riot

NEW YORK (AP) — Puerto Rican fighters will be barred from main events at Madison Square Garden for a cooling-off period, it was learned today following the second riot within 10 weeks and the third in 21 months at a fight show in the famed arena.

Bottles, pieces of chairs and other missiles were tossed into the ring and the ringside sections Tuesday night shortly after light-heavyweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria was awarded a split decision over Puerto Rican-born Jose Torres in a very close return, 15-round title bout.

Eleven persons suffered cuts and were treated at nearby hospitals, police reported. None of the victims was reported seriously hurt. No arrests were reported.

The other two riots involved fights featuring Puerto Rican-born Frankie Narvaez, a New York lightweight who lost both times.

In the first, Narvaez dropped a split decision in a close fight with Flash Elorde of the Philippines on Aug. 4, 1965. In the second, on March 10, 1967, Panama's Ismael Laguna decisively whipped Narvaez and was awarded a unanimous decision by whopping margins.

As a result of the third riot, a proposed title fight between lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz, a Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, and Laguna may not be held in New York or may be put off for some time. The fight had been considered a sure sellout.

A Garden source, who asked not to be identified, said, "We can't go with that or any main event with a Puerto Rican for some time after this one."

Tiger had dethroned the 2-1 favored Torres on a decisive and unanimous decision at the Garden last Dec. 16 before a crowd of 13,654 that paid $100,488. There were no disorders at that fight.

In the return bout, Torres, with an advantage in age, weight, height and reach, was favored again, this time by narrower 8-5 odds. It drew a crowd of 12,674 and $104,459, and grossed $60,000 more from national television.

Referee Harold Valan and judge Johnny Dran each voted for Tiger by 8-7 margins in rounds. Judge Joe Eppy had it 8-7 for Torres. The Associated Press also had it 8-7 for Torres.

A ringside poll showed an 8-7 edge for Torres with most of the writers having scores with similar razor-thin margins.

A late surge by the 31-year-old Torres excited his followers and probably touched off the riot. Well behind on all scorecards, he staggered the 37-year-old Nigerian with sweeping left and right to the jaw in the 12th round and captured the last four rounds on all scorecards.

PREDICTED KAYO

Torres had predicted a knockout victory. He went after his lighter — 173 pounds to 167 — and shorter rival from the opening bell and they fought a fierce battle for three rounds.

Hawks Batter Jets, 13-6

The Hawks hammered out a 13-6 victory over the Jets in American Little League play here Tuesday night. The Hawks are now 6-1 while the Jets are 2-5.

The teams enjoyed four-run surges in the first inning and the Jets led, 6-4, going into the fourth, when the Hawks broke the calm with another four-run outbreak. They then salted away the verdict with a five-run fifth.

Rick Huckabee achieved the hill win. He was one of three Hawk pitchers to see action. Together, they surrendered only five hits.

Brent Youngblood clubbed a one-on home run for the Hawks and catcher Alan Hill smashed three safeties for the winners.

Fain Sherrill collected two of the losers' hits.

Coody Covets Titles But He Does Allright

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The line between winning and losing golf tournaments, said Texan Charles Coody, is a fine one. He should know.

At 29, the slender ex-collegian is slamming out a good living on the professional circuit—excellent by many standards.

But his tournament victories, in nearly four years on the tour, can be totaled on one finger. That was the Dallas Open in 1964.

"It's not something that is eating me up, but everybody likes to win," he said between putts while warming up for the $115,000 Colonial National Invitation Thursday.

"Of course, $12,000 can soothe a lot of sorrow," he said, referring to the runner-up prize at many of the stops along the pro circuit. A $6,500 pro-amateur today precedes the National Invitation which carries a first prize of $23,000 and the runner-up gets $13,500.

The Professional Golfers' Association tour offers nearly $5 million as a lure to the world's greatest golfers, and Coody has been drawing down what he considers a fair share each year.

He snapped up one of his top paychecks a couple of weeks ago, tying Ben Hogan for third place at the Champions International in Houston. He pocketed $7,200.

A week after the Houston tournament, Coody flew out of New Orleans more than $1,000 richer. While you cannot knock prosperity, and a $4,000 a week job, there is still the unsettling absence of outright victory.

"Winning is psychological," Coody said, ramming in four straight 20-foot practice putts. "I believe I can win, so that's not what is holding me back."

The Dallas title proved this, he said.

Coody said tournament victories represent a combination of things. He mentioned luck, skill, psychology and experience.

"In many cases the guy who hits the ball the best does not win," he said. "I've had some good tournaments—Orlando, Houston, Doral."

Nowhere was the element of luck better reflected, he added, than at Houston, where, on the next to last hole, a lady spectator's foot prevented an approach shot from landing in a water hazard.

"If the ball had gone in the hazard, the best I could have made would have been a bogey," he said. "And I would have been in no frame of mind to birdie 18, which I did."

Ace Glove Man Helps Atlanta With Mace

By The Associated Press

The Atlanta Braves are running short on strong arms, but their best glove is helping make up the difference—with his bat.

Clete Boyer, the Braves' slick-fielding third baseman, belted a two-run double and bases-empty homer in Tuesday night's 6-3 victory over the New York Mets.

The home run was the fourth this season for Boyer, who was acquired in a winter trade with the New York Yankees, and the 100th of his career. He has driven in 13 runs for the Braves, helping sluggers Hank Aaron, Joe Torre & Co. compensate for the loss of two injured pitching standouts.

Tony Cloninger, the club's right-handed ace, was placed on the disabled list Tuesday because of blurred vision in his left eye. Ken Johnson, a veteran right-hander, has been sidelined with a virus ailment.

Catcher Torre, tied with Aaron for the National League home run lead at eight apiece, joined the casualty list with a banged-up right index finger. Torre, however, was pressed into service in the fourth inning Tuesday night when his replacement, Gene Oliver, got thrown out of the game for protesting a call.

Reliever Jay Ritchie, who also entered the game in the fourth, made Boyer's timely hitting stand up by retiring all 16 batters he faced to earn his first NL victory.

"That homer leaves me only 400 behind Mickey Mantle," Boyer quipped after the Braves' victory lifted them over the .500 mark at 15-14. "And he's 35 years old; I'm only 30."

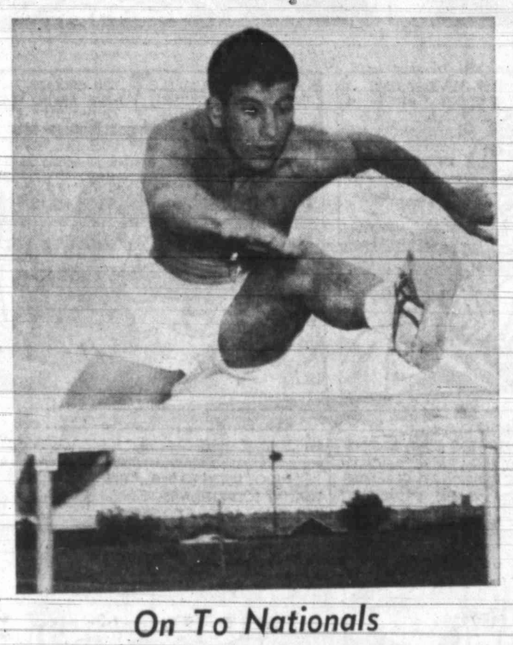

Elsewhere, league-leading Cincinnati downed Pittsburgh 6-3, St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 4-3, San Francisco beat Chicago 3-1 and Los Angeles whipped Houston 6-1.

Boyer's two-run double in the fifth snapped a 3-3 tie at Atlanta and the ex-Yankee glove wizard homered in the eighth. The two hits raised his batting average to .250 in 25 games.

Ritchie, who compiled a 2-4 American League record at Boston before joining the Braves last year, bailed starter Wade Blasingame out of a fourth-inning jam and stymied the Mets the rest of the way.

The Reds scored three runs without a hit in the second inning on the way to their fourth straight victory. Mel Queen struck out nine and blanked the Pirates until the ninth while boosting his pitching mark to 5-1.

Pittsburgh starter Woody Fryman left the game with arm trouble after walking the bases full with two out in the second. Reliever Steve Blass wild-pitched a run home then struck out Tommy Harper—only to have the pitch get by catcher Jesse Gonder. Gonder picked up the ball and heaved it wildly past first base as two more runs scored.

On To Nationals

When the HCJC Jayhawks pop up in Garden City, Kans., this weekend for the National Junior College Track and Field Meet, coach L. L. (Red) Lewis will be depending on hurdler Claude Couch (above) to pick up points for the locals. Couch has been caught in 14.6 seconds in the high hurdles and 55.1 in the 440-yard intermediates. Yacht Club Set To Start Races

The Lake Thomas Yacht Club starts its club championship series with two races Sunday at the lake.

In order to qualify for the championship, an entry must compete in at least 10 of the 12 races planned during the season.

The club now has 42 members, most of whom are residents of Midland.

Jim Campanis Tryout Lasts 17 Seasons

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's about time rookie catcher Jimmy Campanis made the Los Angeles Dodgers' ball club. He's been working out with the team for 17 years.

This is true because Jimmy, now 23, worked out with the Dodgers when he was about six and the club was still in Brooklyn.

Years passed, the Dodgers moved to Los Angeles and all the time the efficient club scouts kept an eye on the youngster.

"Do you think we can sign him?" This from E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, vice president and general manager, in a conference with his No. 1 scout.

"Well, I'm very close to the boy's mother," said Al Campanis, director of scouting, who happens to be Jimmy's father.

Young Campanis made an auspicious debut in a regular season game. He pumped out a double in his first time at bat to start a rally as a pinch-hitter and scored the winning run in the 13th inning here April 24 against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lions Remain Undefeated

Other teams chasing the Lions in National Little League play find they have an increasingly tough job on their hands.

The front - runners picked up their seventh straight victory at the expense of the Braves Tuesday night, winning by a score of 21-3.

The Lions coasted in after picking up six runs in each of the first two innings.

Alan Davis and Paul Douglas divided time on the pitcher's rubber for the Lions, with the latter getting credit for the win. Together they rationed out only two hits to the Braves. Those came off the bats of Eddie Wilson and James Beard.

Randy Jones clubbed a home run and scored four times for the Lions while Terry Pate and Mark Earhart each had three hits. Jones' round tripper was his second of the year.

Catfish On Beam, Kansas City Wins

By The Associated Press

George Toma is helping Catfish Hunter into a hole so Hunter can help the Kansas City Athletes out of one.

Toma, the Athletics' head groundskeeper, sees to it that Hunter has no trouble digging a hole in front of the pitching rubber to step into. The right-hander complained the dirt at Minnesota was like cement May 11 when he lost 8-0 to the Twins.

But Tuesday night in Kansas City, the dirt was just like dirt and Hunter dug in to bring his record to 4-3 with a three-hit, seven-strikeout, 4-0 victory over California. Three of his victories have been at home.

The triumph was the A's fifth straight since Hunter's "concrete" experience and moved them to within 4½ games of the American League-leading Chicago White Sox.

Third-place Kansas City now is 15-14—its best start since 1963 when the A's were 18-14 and in second place the morning of May 16. They finished eighth that year and didn't get any higher until last season when they struggled to seventh.

In other AL games Tuesday night, Dean Chance and Minnesota stopped the White Sox winning string at 10 with a 1-0 victory, the New York Yankees edged Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings, Washington nipped Detroit 5-4 and Baltimore beat Boston 8-5.

Ector's Eagles Defeat Pecos

ODESSA—Odessa Ector captured the District 2-AAAA baseball championship here Tuesday by defeating Pecos, 10-2, in a playoff game.

Richard Ramirez picked up his 15th victory without a defeat for the Eagles. Ector is now 17-7 on the year and 9-1 in district.

Ector will now face Dumas of District 1-AAA in bi - district competition. Dumas clinched the championship Tuesday by defeating Canyon in both ends of a double header, 10-0, 3-2.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Baylor's Clyde Hart wants two of HCJC's finer track performers, sprinter Jimmy Jasper and pole vaulter Joe Tighe, to enroll at his school next fall and, in return, may get one of Texas' finest schoolboy sprinters to matriculate at the local college.

Hart reasons Jasper and Tighe will be of immediate help to the Bears in their quest of a Southwest Conference championship.

Tighe would be going home, in a sense, since he attended a Waco high school along with HCJC's Linder twins, Barry and Larry. Jasper, of course, is a Dallas product.

Gene Mayfield, football coach at Odessa Permian, says his greatest problem this fall will be a lack of depth.

Mayfield called off a recent period of body contact for his performers, explaining:

"We just don't have enough people to hold the type scrimmage we really have to have at this time."

The Panthers may be relatively few in numbers but there's tremendous talent among the players Mayfield does have, and he would be the first to admit it.

He hasn't been playing first string but Big Spring's Yogi Anderson is a member of that Cisco College baseball team which met Odessa College in that playoff toward the National JC crown last weekend in Odessa.

Yogi, who plays both football and baseball at Cisco, backs up Gene Merrill behind the plate in the spring sport. Cisco won 14 of its first 22 games and finished 7-1 within its own league.

When Hack Spivey was playing golf with a party at the Muny course recently, he topped a drive and turned to a companion to ask:

"Are you supposed to run those things out?"

The drive did take on the appearance of a well-paced bunt.

Baseball bookkeeping is an art which, regrettably, not all volunteers can do well. Some scorers who put marks on charts find they cannot even interpret their own symbols when they go back to prove their figures.

Most of the city's scorekeepers could take lessons from Tommy Walker, who sits in judgment of all the scoring plays in the City Softball League.

Tommy not only can distinguish between a hit and error but knows when to credit a player with a sacrifice, a run-batted-in and a fielder's choice.

Walker always writes legibly, something that means so much when a person is trying to interpret something someone else has inscribed.

Coach Truman Nix of Colorado City has submitted a plan for a summer recreation program which apparently is going to be given the green light.

The plan calling for programs in track, tennis, archery, basketball, tumbling, weight training and girls' volleyball is going to cost the schools over there $1,250 and will offer employment to two men.

The recreational program starts June 12 and extends through July 21.

There has long been need for such an endeavor here.

Summer track will be heavily emphasized under the Colorado City plan.

Mike Wants To Play, Says Father Of Exiled Oriole

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Epstein described his son, Mike, today as a boy who "wants to play baseball as much as he wants to eat and as much as he wants to keep his left arm and his right arm."

But, the elder Epstein added, Mike will not play baseball at Rochester, where the Baltimore Orioles want him to go for a second straight year.

"We know Mike's not going back to Rochester," Jack said of his 24-year-old son who was placed on the suspended list Tuesday for failing to report to the International League team.

"We can't see any reason for him to go back. I don't know what would be accomplished by it. He was the minor league player of the year last year. What else can he do? He could only be hurt. He could just ruin an image that has been built up over a couple of years.

"Mike wants to play baseball. He works hard at playing, and he wants to achieve something. He wants to play baseball as much as he wants to eat and as much as he wants to keep his left arm and his right arm. But they're denying him his position.

"It's unfortunate that there's no place for him with the Orioles. We know they don't need two first baseman. Boog Powell is great.

"But if they can't use him, baseball in general should make a place for him—if they think he's good enough. If they don't, it's better learning it now than in a year or two years.

'Monkey Law' Thrown Out

NASHVILLE, Tes. (AP) — The legislature has thrown out Tennessee's "monkey law" after 42 years of often bitter controversy over the teaching of evolution in public schools.

Gov. Buford Ellington is now expected to sign the bill, passed by the Senate Tuesday after earlier passage by the House. A young biology teacher who challenged the law in federal court says his suit will be withdrawn.

The Senate, avoiding more lengthy debate on the anti-evolution bill, passed it 20-13 and sent it to the governor just 24 hours after Gary Scott, 24, filed his federal court suit to strike down the law.

The law prohibited the teaching in public schools of any theory on the biological evolution of man, and the only man ever convicted under the statute, John L. Scopes of Shreveport, La., said he was "very happy" about the repeal.

Work Day Slated By Knott Residents

KNOTT — There will be a work day Thursday starting at 9 a.m. in the community center.

The men plan to make improvements at the boys ball field, including construction of two restrooms. The women will give the concession stand a thorough reconditioning for the season. Couples are asked to bring a covered dish and have luncheon at the center.

In the recent contest in the district for community improvements, Knott rated second in Division I, and plans are being made for next year's competition.

Civitans To Hear Safety Talk

Dave Carmichael, district claims manager for Texas Employers' Insurance Company of Midland, will be guest speaker for the Friday noon meeting of the Big Spring Civitan Club, to be held in the Downtown Tearoom.

Carmichael will discuss "Traffic Safety" on behalf of Gov. John Connally's traffic safety program and Texans for Traffic Safety, a statewide organization of associations and business and professional people interested in reducing traffic fatalities, injuries and accidents.

Olen Graves, club vice president, is in charge of the program.

Equalization Hearings Begin

COAHOMA — The board of equalization for the Coahoma school district was hearing representatives of oil and utility companies today and will have the hearing on general property values on May 22.

The hearing will start at 8 a.m. and continue to 12 noon at the Coahoma City Hall. Members of the board are Earl Hull, Jim Hodnett and H. C. Wallin with Donald Lay as the alternate.

Couple Making Home Here After Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lee Williford Jr. are at home at 507 Johnson following their marriage May 6 in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lee Williford Sr., 1606 Main.

The bride is the former Miss Annette Elaine Mauldin. She is the daughter of Mrs. B. G. Dossey of Victoria, and P. W. Mauldin, 1209 Douglas.

The Rev. Cal Sims, pastor of the Birdwell Lane Baptist Church, performed the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street-length dress of white silk chiffon, designed with rounded neckline and long fitted sleeves. The bodice was overlaid with Chantilly lace, and her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl encrusted tiara. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses atop a white Bible with satin streamers.

MRS. H. L. WILLIFORD

Mrs. Eddie Rogers served as matron of honor and chose a dress of blue silk with white accessories. Tip Miller was best man.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of apricot and yellow daisies. The cake was topped with yellow roses and a miniature bridal couple. Silver and crystal appointments completed the setting.

The bridegroom is employed by Newsom's Food Center.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

So many of us young mothers have found that bathing our babies in the kitchen sink is far easier than the bathinette.

However, since the bathinette is made out of plastic and the baby is less likely to slip, perhaps it has its safety features.

To combine safety with convenience, I bought a thin piece of foam rubber and put it in the bottom of my kitchen sink.

HELOISE

Now when I put my baby in the sink for her bath, she does not slip.

I thought this should be passed along to other mothers. . . . New Mother

* * *

Yes, it should, and thank you from the bottom of our hearts. And, pat that little doll for me the next time you bathe her. Wish I could. . . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I go to work everyday, and find it hard to fold a large washing after work when I'm tired.

So I put up all my folding TV tables. I fold the laundry off one and separate it on different trays for the bathroom, bedroom, kitchen, etc. My basket is nearby to hold ironing that is to be done.

Now when I'm finished, everything for a certain room is on one tray. I carry the tray and all to each room. Saves the usual stooping over . . . . Alma Savage

LETTER OF LOVE:

Dear Heloise:

My suggestion is for the wife who packs her husband's lunch.

Take an extra minute once in a while to write him a little note and pack it with the lunch. It doesn't have to be elaborate, just a simple "I love you" on a scrap of paper will make him feel like a king.

Whether you have been married seven months or seven years, this little message of love will not go unnoticed. . . . Young Bride

* * *

Dear Folks:

Those little plastic stools (which cost less than $2) for the bathroom and kitchen are wonderful.

They can be spray painted any color. I used a little piece of leftover carpet, cut it to fit the top of the stool and glued it on.

This scrap of carpet happened to match my rug. Now it looks lovely. Not only does it keep the scratches off the stool, but the dust doesn't show! . . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

I am 12 years old and have found another use for your "good old" nylon net!

When cooling a cake on a rack, I learned when the cake is removed it has big creases across the top. (The cake also sticks to the rack.)

I place one or two thicknesses of nylon net on the rack before I ever put the cake on it. This not only decreases the creases, you don't have to wash the rack. (And the cake won't stick, either.) . . . Lani Challburg

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

If it weren't for the fact that MEL IVEY is going to continue work toward his doctorate it would be even harder to have him move from here and take his wonderful talent of directing choral music. His a cappella group from Big Spring High School made the TSTA meeting happy with their medley from "Oklahoma!" and a spiritual. We'll miss Mel, but we still have most of the singers and there will be more coming on . . . we hope they get as good a director.

A planeload of people returned to Midland Tuesday night from a three-day excursion to Florida. Included in the group was at least three Big Spring couples, MR. and MRS. GARLAND SANDERS, JUDGE and MRS. WALTON MORRISON and MR. and MRS. L. B. EDWARDS. The flight was to Ft. Myers and from there the tourists went to Cape Coral. The three-day trip was sponsored by the Gulf American Corp.

After having been in the midst of the Saturday afternoon traffic jumble between Second and Third Streets I have an antipathy for head-in parking or the addition of any more clover leafs (or whatever they are called) on our downtown Main Street. Of course, I realize that the block is meant for mostly foot traffic, but the fact remains that automobiles do find their way in, and when a number get in it's hard to get out . . . at least for one woman driver I know . . . really well.

It was a long trip for a short time but DON HEATH, who is a student at Illinois State University at Bloomington, Ill., came here for a quick visit on Mother's Day with his parents, MR. and MRS. HERB HEATH, who live at 609 Colgate.

One of the prettiest flowers I saw Sunday was the red orchid worn by MRS. CORENE SHORTES which was a gift from one of her sons . . . Speaking of sons, the HANK McDANIELS reared four sons but when Sunday came all the sons were busy elsewhere and the parents were out to lunch with a daughter-in-law and a granddaughter . . . The G. F. PAINTERS had their family together when their son and his family, MR. and MRS. DWIGHT PAINTER and their children, David and Tra, came over from Abilene for the day and were joined by the daughter and her family, MR. and MRS. BILLY PLEW and their children, Roger, Gary, Tammy and Timothy.

Methodists Hear Program On Teens

Mrs. E. A. Guinn brought the program, "Living with Teenagers and Loving It," at the Tuesday meeting of Lalla Baird Circle of Wesley Methodist Church. Mrs. Jerry Allen, 610 Bucknell, was hostess. Mrs. Alton King worded the opening prayer. Refreshments were served to 11 members and one guest, Mrs. Woody Morgan. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Guinn, 3616 Dixon.

Mrs. Teresa Bauch, director at the center, has announced that the number of children being served there has nearly doubled in recent months. The center is accepting donations of used toys, games and play equipment, and anyone wishing to give such items may deliver them to the center at 1308 W. 5th. Those wishing items to be picked up may call Mrs. Sims at AM 3-6788, or Mrs. Riherd at AM 7-6169.

Mrs. Sims announced that the state assembly for the West Texas District will be held here in February. Also, Mrs. Neil Norred was appointed as the group's representative to the volunteer council at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Dixon assisted the hostess in serving refreshments, and the next meeting was planned for Nov. 3 when World Community Day will be observed at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mothers Honored At Scouting Tea

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace-trimmed cloth and centered with a white floral arrangement in a green vase. Milk glass and silver appointments were used.

Girl Scout and Brownie members sang songs and performed a dance. Thirty-six attended, including 12 mothers.

A Hawaiian luau was held in conjunction with the program in the home of Mrs. Rodney Hallmark, with Mrs. Roe Fulgham as cohostess.

Mrs. Smith presented a history of music from the first tom-toms to our modern folk songs. She described music as "the art of expressing our thoughts and emotions through sound."

Guests were presented Hawaiian leis at the door. Entertaining rooms were decorated with sea shells, fish nets and pineapple, and serving pieces were of monkey pod wood.

Mrs. Kent Cearley, a transfer member from Roswell, N. M., was introduced. Mrs. Bill Childers was presented with an electric can opener for her work with the recent volley ball tournament.

Refreshments were served to 11. The next meeting will be a hobo party, May 27, in the home of Mrs. Jim Pruitt, 403 Dallas.
