Flood Danger Hangs Over Wide Section

(By The Associated Press)

A COLD, snowy storm cut short a brief taste of mild weather in the northern plains Thursday.

Elsewhere, the nation enjoyed sunny skies and seasonable weather for the most part, except for Oregon. There heavy rains flooded coastal low areas.

The Southwest had something of its normal balminess with the mercury near 70 at Phoenix, Ariz., and 65 at Los Angeles. Temperatures were near normal in the east, with New York reporting high 30's. Washington had a noontime of 45, and Miami 82 at midday.

New Blast Hits

The new storm drove into the blizzard-battered northern plains area from northwestern Canada, bringing cold wave conditions, strong winds and light snow.

The weather bureau predicted 10 below zero near the Canadian border of Montana and North Dakota by Friday morning. And winds of 35 to 45-mile velocity boded new trouble for drift-fighting forces in the Dakotas and northeastern Wyoming.

Fifth Army headquarters reported Thursday that its road-clearing operation made good progress, with difficulty only in southern Wyoming where winds continued to blow ground snow. Sunshine and temperature in the high 40s did much to settle surface snow over much of the area.

The mercury got up to 45 degrees at Cheyenne, Wyo., and 48 at Billings, Mont. Western Nebraska had some reports of 50 degrees.

To Move Into Midwest

But the colder weather and winds ended this respite. Forecasters said the new storm moving southeast would bring chill weather to the Midwest by Saturday morning. It was expected to move into the Ohio valley and lower lakes region behind light rain or snow Saturday.

In Washington, Thursday, the House Agriculture committee approved unanimously a $44,000,000 loan fund for farmers hard hit by the severe winter.

Some of the effects of sub-zero exposure and hunger upon cattle in the hard hit range areas were assessed by ranchers who reported that many surviving cows had to be destroyed because of frozen hooves and udders. Ranchers in the Pennington, S. D., area reported calves were being born dead.

Damaging Floods Feared

The Department of Agriculture warned that the heavy snows may create devastating floods in the Mississippi, Columbia and Rio Grande river valleys this spring. A spokesman in Washington said maybe it wouldn't happen—if melting follows an ideal pattern. But the department mapped plans to get stored grain out of possible flood spots, just in case.

But even though flood worries were growing, there were bright spots sighted in the after effects

Negotiations Again Fail

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17—Negotiations for settlement of Philadelphia's paralyzing transit strike were broken off tonight for a second successive time after failure of what was termed a "final effort" to end the walkout.

The negotiations were halted again when the CIO Transport Workers union turned down a seven cent an hour increase in wages offered by the Philadelphia Transportation company.

Travel Hard Hit

Eleven thousand transport workers on the city's bus, trolley, elevated and subway lines have remained off the job since last Friday, virtually paralyzing transportation in the third largest city in America.

Michael Quill, international president of the TWU, told newsmen when he left the emergency conference at city hall with top officials oft the Philadelphia transportation company th..t "no further meetings are scheduled."

Meanwhile, the situation was eased somewhat for the 3,200,000 daily riders when leaders of the AFL taxi cab drivers union ordered its 4,000 drivers to end the wildcat strike they started last Tuesday.

Company officials of the Yellow Cab company claimed tonight that their service is now "normal."

But the strike of 11,000 CIO subway, trolley and bus workers

GE Officials Rap Administration Labor Bill

Executive Power To Block Strikes Urged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Citing protection of atomic production, two General Electric Co. top officials today pleaded with Congress to keep specific authority on the books for the President to block "national emergency" strikes.

Charles E. Wilson, GE president, and L. R. Bulware, a GE vice president, also urged that the Taft-Hartley labor law's non-Communist affidavit provision be broadened. Bulware said:

"Not only as a private employer, but as a contractor for the Atomic Energy commission, we believe the labor law should require affidavits of both company and union officials that they do not belong to the Communist party, or to any party which plans, teaches or advocates the use of violence or force to overthrow the government of the United States."

GE Officials Testify

The law now requires only union officers to swear that they are not Communists before their unions can deal with the National Labor Relations board.

The two GE officials went before the Senate Labor committee to express their views on the administration's labor bill, and sharply criticized it. The bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law and replace it with a modified Wagner act.

Under the Taft-Hartley law the government can get 80-day injunctions to block national emergency strikes. The administration bill has no such provision.

It would set up instead a 30 day cooling off procedure under which the President would call upon disputants to stay on the job while emergency boards investigated and tried for settlement. President Truman says his inherent authority of office is enough to deal with such a strike.

Stronger Bill Suggested

Wilson told the committee:

"The present power of the President to protect the nation from strikes that threaten the national health and safety certainly must not be weakened." He suggested it might be strengthened.

Noting that General Electric operates "the great plutonium plant" for the Atomic Energy commission at Hanford, Wash., Wilson added:

"We naturally watched with concern during the atomic energy dispute at Oak Ridge (Tenn.) last year, in which the President felt that he needed all the teeth in the present law and used all six steps the act contemplates."

Wilson was vice chairman of

Export Controls Extension Voted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (INS)—The House voted today to extend for 28 months President Truman's authority to control exports. Penalties for violators are fines up to $10,000 and one year imprisonment.

The bill was approved by a vote of 259 to 102 after a Republican attempt to limit the extension to one year from the Feb. 28 expiration date was defeated.

The legislation is similar to that passed last week by the Senate and is the second of the President's emergency powers to be continued by Congress. It now goes to a Senate-House conference.

The first of the emergency powers was continuation for six months of the Chief Executive's authority to arrange voluntary allocations of scarce domestic materials.

The new controls, with strong enforcement features long sought by the administration, would be administered by the Commerce department, with the exception of agricultural commodities. These products fall under the Agriculture department.

Agricultural products are exempted from export controls provided that they are in surplus supply. The Senate adopted the same provisions.

Scientists Apply For Citizenship

EL PASO, Feb. 17. (AP)—Four German scientists working at Fort Bliss on guided missile research have begun their five-year waits for American citizenship, federal district court records revealed Thursday.

Two of the four applicants have infant children born in this country.

Declarations of intention to become citizens have been filed by Joachim Wilhelm Muehlner, Ernst August Steinhoff, Helmut Schlitt, and Wernor Kurt Gengelback.

Three Get First Papers

Muehlner's daughter, Gerlinde, was born at Fort Bliss Feb. 9, 1948. She has a five year old brother born in Germany. Steinhoff has a son born Dec. 10, 1948, at Fort Bliss.

All four of the scientists have been in this country since 1945, when they were brought in by the army to aid the U.S. in experimentations with V-2 bombs and other guided missiles at Bliss and White Sands proving ground.

Three of them, Muehlner, Steinhoff and Schlitt, have received their first papers. Gengelback Thursday was notified to appear in the office of J. N. Phillips, deputy U.S. district clerk, to complete his declaration of intention and receive his first papers.

Lawmaker Offers Bill To Drop 'Teachers' From WTSTC Name

AUSTIN, Feb. 17. (AP)—A bill to change the name of West Texas States Teachers college at Canyon, by eliminating the word "Teachers" from the title was introduced in the House today.

The bill's author is Rep. J. Blake Timmons of Amarillo.

The reason given for the name change is that "the present name of this liberal arts senior college is misleading in that it fails to reflect the true character of the institution."

U. S. Military Court Sentences Orient Express Waiter As Spy

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 17. — A U. S. military commission, officially ordered to be less secretive about is spy trials, sentenced a waiter on the Orient Express to 20 years at hard labor today.

By order of Maj. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the commission disclosed the conviction and sentence and identified the slender, brown-haired prisoner as Frontisek Klecka, 31.

Klecka is one of 20 persons rounded up by the Army last November on charges of being members of a Czechoslovak espionage ring. He claimed French citizenship, but said his wife lived in Czechoslovakia. The Orient Express is a crack international train that runs from Paris through such strategic cities as Strasbourg, Stuttgart, Munich, Salzburg, Vienna and Budapest.

Detailed Charges Hidden

Gen. Taylor, chief of staff of Army ground forces in Europe, issued the authorization for naming of defendants and announcement of the findings after Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the U. S. commander in Germany, ordered a probe of the commission's plan for absolute

U. S., Britain Discard Free Trieste Plan

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 17. —The United States and Britain announced in the United Nations today that Italian peace treaty provisions for a free territory of Trieste are no longer applicable without risking a Communist coup.

The official Anglo-American pronouncement of abandonment of the Italian treaty's statute for a free territory followed on the heels of a declaration by Russia approving appointment of a western candidate as governor for Trieste.

The selection and installation of a governor would have obligated the withdrawal within 90 days of Anglo-American troops from the Trieste region. Soviet delegate Yakov Malik, who had the Security Council summoned to deal again with the question, said that his government approved for the post Swiss Colonel Hermann Flueckiger, former minister to Moscow.

Long Delay Cited

Malik stressed that Britain offered Flueckiger as a candidate last year, when the big four were still deadlocked over such a selection.

Malik preceded his approval of Flueckiger with another sharp attack on the United States and Britain, charging both with violation of the Italian peace treaty and decisions of the Council of Foreign Ministers by seeking to restore Trieste to Italy.

U. S. Representative Warren R. Austin and Britain's Sir Terence Shone promptly countered the Soviet maneuver to embarrass them and shift all blame for the two-year deadlock to the shoulders of their governments by retorting that Russia refused to co-operate in seeking a solution.

The British delegate, substituting for Sir Alexander Cadogan, said decisively:

"During the long delay caused by Soviet obstructionism, the situation in Trieste has deteriorated to the point where the solution envisaged in the peace treaty is no

'Democratic' Constitution Is Drawn Up For Western Germany

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (INS)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay announced tonight that the parliamentary council at Bonn has completed a draft constitution—with "sound democratic principles"—for a federalized West German government.

Clay's announcement was made in a radio interview from Berlin over an American Broadcasting company hookup with the United States.

The American military governor declared the draft contains "guarantees for the rights of individuals" and added:

"I feel this is a most significant development. If this constitution is approved and ratified, it can, if the Germans are willing to abide by its principles, lead them back to the comity of nations."

Clay said there may be some revisions made in the draft by the American, British and French military governors "to insurance conformity" with decisions reached at a recent London conference.

Army Strategist Says Soviets Have Not Produced Atom Bomb

By JOHN BRUCKENBROD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—An army strategist declared today Russia still does not have the atom bomb or means of delivering it effectively.

Maj. Gen. C. F. Robinson, in "The Military Engineers," said:

"Any war in the immediate future will probably not entail sustained bombing attacks, atomic or otherwise, on the continental United States.

"The best intelligence indicates that our major potential enemy does not have an atomic bomb or means of deliverng such a bomb any better, if as good, as our own.

Production "Years Away"

"The best estimates indicate that it will be several years before that nation can produce them in quantity and develop the carriers to launch them from great distances."

Robinson was for some time an Army representative on the important National Security Resources board, which is charged with planning the mobilization of men and materiel for an emergency.

Truman Backs Pact Giving 'Proof' Of Joint Defense

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—President Truman emphatically affirmed today that he still wants a North Atlantic security treaty afforded "unmistakable proof" of the determination of member countries to "resist armed attack from any quarter."

The exact language which the State department wants in that pact probably will be laid before the Senate Foreign Relations committee by Secretary of State Acheson tomorrow afternoon, Committee Chairman Connally (D-Tex) told reporters tonight.

Then, if the committee approves the wording, Connally said the treaty proposal is expected to be submitted promptly to other nations with which the President has been trying to negotiate a security agreement.

Proof Of Aims Urged

The Chief Executive told a news conference that basic government policy toward the treaty now being negotiated with Canada and western European countries still stands as it was set forth in his inaugural address January 20.

It was in that speech that he called for "unmistakable proof" of determination to resist attack and declared:

"If we can make it sufficiently clear, in advance, that any armed attack affecting our national security would be met with overwhelming force, the armed attack might never occur."

The question of American policy arose at his conference today as a result of the Senate debate last Monday during which it was brought out that Senate leaders are against any treaty commitment which could "automatically" put this country into war.

Some senators also expressed strong objection to any "moral commitment" that the United States under the proposed treaty would fight if another of the member countries was attacked.

This debate served to dramatize

Science Takes First Step To Grow Pair Of Ears For Boy

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 17.—Medical science took the first step today to grow a pair of ears in the abdomen of eight-year-old Jimmy Meadors to repair an omission of nature.

The Hartstown, Pa., boy was born with eardrums and normal auditory canals, and can hear although he has no ear openings.

Doctors plan to take pieces of cartilage from Jimmy's ribs, fashion them into the shape of ears and plant them in his abdominal cavity to grow.

They designed a series of operations to be carried on over about two years preliminary to attaching the ears to the boy's head.

Today a first, minor operation of the series was performed at the children's hospital in Pittsburgh under the direction of Dr. S. M. Dupertuis.

Jimmy will remain in the hospital for two or three days and will return in about six months for the next step.

The operations are being sponsored by the Greenville Rotary club. The boy's father is employed in a Greenville steel car shop.

Foreign Spies Claimed To Have Made Progress In Efforts To Obtain Vital U. S. Atom Bomb Secrets

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Chief Investigator, House Un-American Activities Committee, 1938-1948; Edited by Bob Considine

RUSSIAN agents and their American aides began stealing U.S. atomic energy and A-bomb secrets as early as the end of 1942, two and a half years before the first bomb was tested at Alamogordo, N. M.

Despite the efforts of the F.B.I. and the security forces of the Manhattan Engineering District, the $2,000,000,000 American scientific and engineering project was subjected to a consistent assault by Red agents, at least one of whom appeared to have an immunity against arrest.

No one can estimate how much information was milked from the bomb project. But this we do know of the conspiracy:

It was a much greater effort by the Communists than their successful assault on the Canadian government's A-bomb secrets. The exposure of the Canadian spy ring, however, resulted in a tightening of that country's espionage laws and the conviction, among others, of a member of the Canadian Parliament.

No. 14

Our espionage laws remain the same, and the Justice department has shown little inclination to prosecute those whose names were revealed by the House committee. Yet we disclosed a great deal about this conspiracy, and the committee has every reason to believe that government files contain much more information.

The Communists gained more than plans. In 1944 the Soviet Purchasing commission was able to fly 1,300 pounds of uranium oxide and uranium nitrate out of this country. In 1945, before the Opposition To Tax Increase Building Up

By HAROLD W. WARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—President Truman advised the nation today not to get alarmed over the business outlook. He said that current price drops are only the leveling-off that everybody has been expecting.

At the same time, he served notice that he still wants Congress to boost taxes by $4,000,000,000.

Mr. Truman told a news conference that at his suggestion the House Ways and Means committee decided to take up plans for expanding the social security program before considering tax legislation. He said the reason for this was that the tax proposals were not drafted in detail yet, but he emphasized that his recommendation for the full amount of the tax still stands.

Increase Now Is Opposed

Many leading congressional and business leaders, however, oppose such an increase now. They contend any such action should be postponed until the 1949 economic prospects clarify.

The President spoke confidently of the business outlook while voicing the hope there will be no new price spirals.

Government employment experts meanwhile predicted that the big test of whether the country will follow the prosperity path or bog down on a depression detour will come in March or April.

That's when the major construction and manufacturing industries normally begin large-scale hiring after winter cutbacks.

If the number idle—now about 3,000,000—keeps growing then despite the seasonal job opportunities, the experts say that will pose a problem probably calling for government action to spur production.

Postponement Urged

But if the number of jobless workers drops in the spring, or even stands still, the government officials say that will prove pretty conclusively that the nation is

Lubbock Man Is Robbed Of $258

Police last night were following up a number of leads, none of which had proved fruitful, in attempting to establish the identity of a red-haired gunman in a red plaid mackinaw who robbed Bill Crawford of $258 in currency about 11 a. m. yesterday at Crawford's Electric company at 1501 Ave. J.

Crawford, about 58, of 3510 Ave. J, said he was alone in his shop when the man walked in and asked for a meter loop for a REA construction job.

Crawford told police and newsmen he and the man went into the back of the shop, where Crawford began collecting a meter socket and other material with which to shape the loop.

Comes Out With Pistol

"You've gone far enough—come on in here," the gunman was described as saying, reaching at the same instant for his hip and coming out with what appeared to Crawford as a blue-steel German luger pistol.

Crawford complied with a demand that he hand over his billfold. The bandit thumbed through it, taking the currency and discarding the billfold and a check that was in it.

He made no attempt to get a small amount of money in a cash drawer of the shop.

"Stay there and don't move—and don't talk. If you stick your head out, I'll shoot it off," Crawford quoted the man as saying.

Filipinos Flee Luzon Island As Volcano Belches Steam

VOLCANO ISLAND, Lake Taal, Luzon, Feb. 17. (AP)—More than 2,000 Filipinos have fled this island, but volcanologist Arturo Alcaraz says Taal volcano will not erupt for some time to come.

Steam from the crater set off the exodus of residents.

Taal erupted 38 years ago and killed 1,400.

A reporter went with Alcaraz on an inspection tour of the crater. They found that steam sizzled from the ground in spots when they punched sticks into it. But there was no discernible odor of sulphur or other gases.

An old Filipino objected to this probing. He told them in the Tagalog dialect that we would disturb "the one who looks over the volcano" and there would be an eruption.

An Englishman, questing for sulphur long ago, attempted to start a mine on Taal but an eruption destroyed his enterprise.

SEVEN-POINT PROGRAM OFFERED

Congress Urged To Take Post Office Agency Out Of Politics

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — The Hoover commission recommended today that the Post Office department be completely divorced from politics and put on a strict business basis.

In the fourth of a series of reports on its studies on reorganization of the government, the commission told Congress:

1. The postmaster general should be barred from heading national political committees, as has occurred several times in the past.

2. He should be given an experienced director of posts to serve as operating head of the department, while the postmaster general determines policies.

Decentralization Favored

3. The postal service should be decentralized into 15 regions, with regional directors and district superintendents.

4. Confirmation of postmasters by the Senate should be abolished, with those officials selected from career men on a merit basis. (Only today, President Truman sent up 700 postmaster nominations for the Senate's consideration.)

5. The administrative structure of the department should be simplified to give it more flexibility.

6. The postmaster general should be allowed to set the rates for registered mail, insured mail, COD's, money orders, postal cards and special delivery, to make each of those services self-supporting. Congress should continue to establish the rates on first, second, third and fourth class matter.

7. Payments to common carriers for transporting mail should not be used to hide a subsidy for aviation.

The commission said that recurring annual post office operating deficits have been caused for the most part by circumstances beyond the control of the department "and can be remedied only by strong and courageous action."

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Foreign Spies Credited With Making Progress In Efforts To Obtain Atom Bomb Secrets During War

first bomb was tested, the Russians asked for and received 25 pounds of low-grade uranium metal and also acquired an amount of "heavy water" suitable for use in an atomic pile.

The first 300 pounds of uranium oxide and nitrate was asked for in March, 1944, for the announced purpose of conducting steel-hardening and medical research work in the U.S.S.R. The request came at a time when the blanket of secrecy over the project was at its thickest.

The Soviet Commission was offered, instead, a number of uranium substitutes suitable for the experiments named. The offer was rejected. The Commission then bought 300 pounds of uranium products from a private firm in Colorado.

THE Manhattan Engineering District, custodians of the bomb secret, subsequently managed discreetly to persuade all U. S. firms dealing in such products to sell thereafter only to the Government. When the Russians asked for another 1,000 pounds they were given a "permit" to buy it here if they could. They promptly took the permit to Canada and bought it there, shipped it to a Montana airbase, whence it was flown directly to the U.S.S.R.

Key thief of the U. S. atomic plans was Arthur Alexandrovich Adams, a figure in the Russian Revolution of 1905. He arrived in the U. S. for his last tour of duty in 1938, using a visa he had obtained at an American consulate in Canada on the strength of a fradulent Canadian birth certificate.

False Statements Used

As the House Un-American Activities Committee report on his case eventually stated:

"Adams's admission to the United States for permanent residence was facilitated by the false statements of one Saumel Novick, who is presently the president of Electronics Corporation of America, and has been prominently connected with that company and with the ownership thereof, since its creation in 1942.

"During the war, Electronics Corporation of America performed secret Government contracts in the amount of some $6,000,000. For a time it was the only contractor engaged in producing certain highly secret items for use in radar installations."

Novick's company sponsored two well-known American left-wingers on the air during the war, Johannes Steele and William S. Gailmor, the latter a convicted auto thief who later served as a fund raiser for Henry Wallace's Presidential campaign.

OUR generally ignored Committee report of September, 1948, set forth the following:

At the end of 1942, near the time of the first successful operation of an atomic "pile"—at the University of Chicago—Soviet diplomatic forces actively joined in the search for A-bomb information leaks.

Vice Consul Peter Ivanov, of the U.S.S.R.'s consulate in San Francisco, approached one George Charles Eltenton and promised him a certain amount of money if he could arrange for a flow of such information on the West Coast.

Eltenton went to Haakon Chevalier, a well-known translator of European novelists and then a professor at the University of California, and explained that the Russians felt they were entitled to all A-bomb information, inasmuch as they were allies.

Chevalier subsequently approached Prof. J. Robert Oppenheimer, brilliant young head of the enormous scientific effort which produced the bomb and opened incredible vistas in atomic energy. Oppenheimer declined to cooperate.

Was Watched On Visit

Ivanov then began using a man who called himself Steve Nelson, an employee of The Daily Worker who had been a Communist Party candidate for the Pennsylvania State Legislature from Wilkes-Barre.

In March, 1943, Nelson was observed visiting a nuclear physicist then at work at the University of California's Radiation Laboratories.

Nelson promptly thereafter met with Ivanov and handed him certain documents. A few days later, the third secretary of the Russian Embassy in Washington—a man named Zubilin—arrived in San Francisco, met Nelson and gave him ten bills of unknown denomination.

THE House Committee has the name of the physicist who was a part of this plan. It submitted his record to the Justice Department, but no action was taken.

Continuing what seems to have been its fruitless inquiry into atomic espionage the Committee report stated that on July 1, 1944, Martin David Kamen, young Canadian-born scientist working for the Manhattan project, left the University of California and met Gregory Kheifets, another Soviet Vice Consul in San Francisco.

Accompanied by Vice Consul Gregory Kasperov, who was to succeed Kheifets shortly thereafter, they dined at a place named Bernstein's Fish Grotto. Their conversation was monitored by the F.B.I. According to a former MED scientist, Kamen "very definitely" gave classified information to Kheifets and Kasperov. Asked to resign from his atomic work, Kamen conceded that he had committed a gross indiscretion. He has been denied a passport to leave the U. S. on three occasions in the last two years.

Put In Key Work

The Committee in its report informed the proper prosecuting authorities that Adams' first known contact with an A-bomb authority was made with Clarence Hiskey, a University of Wisconsin scientist who had become interested in Communism through his wife, Marcia. Hiskey was assigned to atomic work in the fall of 1942 by Prof. Harold Urey and posted at Columbia University on work which produced the most desired process for separating highly fissionable uranium-235 from non-explosive uranium-238, the gaseous diffusion method.

A bit later, Hiskey was dispatched to the University of Chicago for metallurgical work. Of this work the Smyth Report states:

"The ultimate objective of the laboratory was to prepare plans for the large-scale production of plutonium and for its use in bombs."

Hiskey was being watched by security officers of the MED from the time he entered the project.

"FINALLY we were convinced that he was a subversive agent," the ranking security officer of the MED testified for our records. "The question then was what to do with him.

"We had had trouble when we tried to move one (suspect scientists). But someone, I think it was Colonel Lansdale, found in Hiskey's record that he had a second lieutenancy in college in the ROTC. Providentially, he had retained his commission. We had the Adjutant General call Hiskey, amidst a great furor that we were doing it deliberately. We transferred him to the Canol project (in Canada) where, in the Quartermaster Corps, he counted underwear until the project went out of business.

"Then he was transferred to an outfit in the South Pacific. He was promoted under ordinary steps from lieutenant to captain, with no interference from us, and finally came out of the Army as a captain."

On the day after Hiskey was called to active duty in the Army he met Arthur Adams in Chicago. The inference is irresistible, the Committee declared, that he told Adams the Soviet agent would have to develop a new contact within the metallurgical Laboratory.

A day later, Hiskey went to Cleveland to the hotel of John Hitchcock Chapin, young chemical engineer employed in the laboratory concerned. Then he took off for his new assignment. While there his luggage was searched and it was found to contain secret A-bomb information.

Hiskey has never been prosecuted, nor have any of the others named.

Shaw Takes Time To Edit Wisecrack List

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17. (INS) — Famed Irish playright George Bernard Shaw considers his time pretty valuable, but he took the trouble to answer a true-false test submitted to him by Cyril Clemens of Kirkwood, Mo.

Clemens sent Shaw a list of wisecracks and anecdotes attributed to him and requested the playwright to identify them as true or false.

Shaw carefully edited the manuscript and returned it to Clemens. Some items were marked correct, some were revised and some rejected.

Shaw endorsed his description of himself as a "hero of letters whose literary output ranks with Homer, Dante and Shakespeare."

Other commentaries Shaw acknowledged were:

"War breaks out when the interest on capital falls below two percent and peace comes when it rises to five per cent."

"Perhaps in another 1,000 years or so mankind may attend to moral and intellectual triumphs higher than those of kicking a ball out of a field."

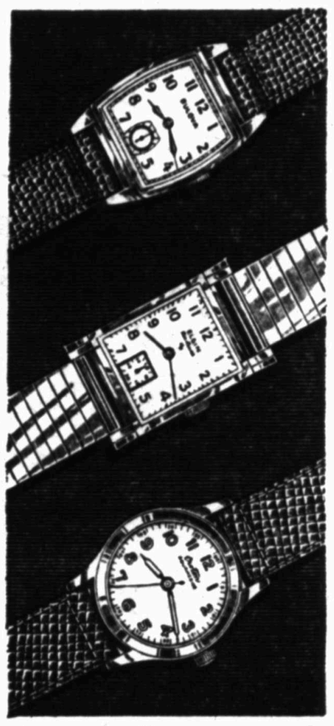

One item dealing with autographs carried this comment:

"My autograph is so treasured in the U.S.A. that Americans do not cash my cheques but frame them and hang them up; an excellent arrangement for both of us."

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THE secret of life is not to do what you like, but to like what you do.

ON AUDIENCES

HAD you thought that your response to an artist's efforts is reflected in his playing or his singing or whatever his talent is? If you like him and applaud, it cheers him and he is inspired to do his best. On the other hand, if you are bored and yawn, sit on your hands or show signs of wishing it was time for intermission, that, too, is felt and the artist is baffled and performs with constraint.

This information comes from Eugene List, American pianist who appeared on the Tech Artists course at Senior High school auditorium Wednesday night.

THE Woman's Angle met List Thursday morning as he was crossing the Hilton lobby to make plane reservations. He's as approachable as a public relations expert and as American as ham and eggs. This is especially pleasing to the writer who has met dozens of artists through the years, few of whom were as delightful to converse with as young List.

The pianist, who received world publicity when he was chosen to play at the Potsdam conference, considers himself a person who got a "fantastic break" but fortunately he was talented enough and had what it takes to follow through after the break came.

Speaking of the college audience, List said from the moment he stepped to the huge grand (which was shipped here from Dallas, incidentally) he felt warmth and understanding.

"An experience like Wednesday night is something to remember," he said. "I felt that I had to do my best because everyone was for me."

There are occasions when the listeners are so cold, one feels he must force his hands to play and his feelings sink lower and lower.

IN THE MAIL

FROM Mr. and Mrs. Murle C. Crider of Quitman, Ark., comes a letter of appreciation to the many Lubbockites and residents of nearby towns who showered their son, Ivan Fay, with cards, letters and gifts during the Christmas holidays. The seven-year-old is allowed to sit up two and one-half hours each day and is improving nicely.

The gift shower included over 200 cards and interesting letters, puzzles, dollar bills, homemade candy, books and other gifts. Some of the addresses were torn from the wrappings when the gifts were opened and it is to these people who cannot be answered personally the letter is meant, as well as to all the others the Criders write.

DEAR Miss Turner: I am going to Tech. I wonder if you could tell me a way to bleach the hairs on my upper lip as everyone is teasing me. I will look for the answer in the Woman's Angle.
A Reader.

DEAR Reader: A beauty parlor manager tells us that a solution of peroxide and white henna will lighten the hairs on your lip, without bleaching the skin beneath.

Parent-Teacher Units At Thursday Programs

Parent-Teacher association units honored past presidents, elected nominating committees and continued a series of "Home" programs at Thursday meetings. Other parts on the programs were given by pupils of the various schools.

PROGRAM HONORS PAST PRESIDENTS

Seven past presidents of the Dupre Parent-Teacher association were honored at a program given by the organization Thursday afternoon at the school.

Mrs. W. T. Milam, who served as the first president, from 1926-29, is mother of the incumbent president, Mrs. Frank Ohnemus.

Others honored were Mesdames George W. Dupree, 1929-30; C. C. Schmidt, 1933-34; C. W. Tatum, 1941-42; R. L. Hooten, 1945-46; Oscar Killian, 1946-47; Alfred Crosby, 1947-48.

The women were presented with corsages of white carnations by Mrs. Guy L. Trow, school principal.

BAPTIST PASTOR IS UNIT SPEAKER

Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church, spoke on "The Home—A Democratic Unit for World Peace" when he met with Central Ward P-TA Thursday afternoon. The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Lynn Milburn.

Third grade pupils of Miss Bonnie Campbell and Mrs. W. L. Metcalfe presented a play, "The Life of George Washington." Sixth graders sang "My Tribute," directed by Miss Marya Hooten.

One hundred two persons were present with attendance count going to the rooms of Misses Campbell and Hattie Herm.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP IS PRESENTED

Sanders P-TA, at a Thursday afternoon meeting, presented C. E. Buck, principal, a life membership in the organization. Rev. I. D. Walker, pastor of Parkdale Baptist church, spoke on the home as a foundation.

A Valentine program was given by third grade pupils of Mrs. Mellie Cox and Miss Lela Puryear.

FOUNDERS' DAY IS OBSERVED

Speakers at a Thursday meeting of Chris Harwell P-TA were Mrs. T. F. Wiesen who discussed "Founders' Day" and Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church, who spoke on "The Home — A Democratic Unit for World Peace."

Important historical events of the month featured a program part by third grade pupils of Mrs. Fay Woods.

A nominating committee composed of Mesdames J. G. Wilkerson, H. K. Hicks and George Long was elected.

Forty-five members and two guests attended.

SUBJECT OF TALK IS TRAINING FOR LIVING

"The Home—A Place to Train for Living" was topic of the talk presented by Dr. Mina Lamb of the Home Economics division of Tech for Roscoe Wilson P-TA Thursday. She listed four points for "making a house a home." They are: members should have a feeling of mutual respect, should share and cooperate in family work, fun and money, should develop abilities and should develop family solidarity.

Mrs. Aubra Cromer presided and Mrs. H. F. Godeke read a prayer to open the program.

Pupils of Miss Dimple Watson sang songs of the Southwest and presented a square dance, the Texas Star.

During a business session, members voted to sponsor a spring festival April 1 and a nominating committee composed of Mesdames G. A. Nystel, Newton Walton and Max Davis, was elected.

Club Makes Party Plans

A coffee for Homebuilders club was given in the home of Mrs. Herb Miller at 1911 Ave. N Thursday morning. Mrs. Bates Witt spoke on "Ways to Freshen and Brighten Our Homes."

Yearbooks were distributed to Mesdames Jack Ray, co-hostess, and George Birdwell, Callie Dean, Wayne Thrush, Witt, Miller, A. S. Westbrook and J. R. Hartsfield.

March 17, the club will have a forty-two party in the cafeteria of Lubbock National bank. Hostesses at the entertainment which will be given for husbands of members will be Mesdames T. A. McIlroy, Witt and Velma Morris.

Children need to have three to four glasses of milk every day; adults need two or more. Any milk not taken in liquid form may be consumer in other ways—in puddings, on cereals, in soups, in sherbets and so forth.

Buna Fay Donley Weds Mr. Tharp In Idalou Service

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Donley of Idalou are announcing the recent marriage of their daughter, Buna Fay, to William Donald Tharp of Clovis, N. M., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tharp, which was performed in Idalou by Rev. Joe Motsenbocker, pastor of the Idalou Baptist church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white suit with bronze accessories. She carried a white Bible. For something old, she wore her mother's wedding band; for something borrowed, she wore earrings belonging to Mrs. H. M. Lowe of Idalou; and for something new, she wore a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. B. E. Tarver, the bride's attendant, wore a pink suit with black accessories. Mr. Tarver served as best man.

Wedding music was provided by Georgie Faye Cockerell and May Jean and Kattie Truett.

Following a reception held in the Donley home, the couple left on a wedding trip to New and Old Mexico. They will be at home in Clovis, N. M.

It's Calendar Day!

Reporters are reminded that the Sunday Social calendar is compiled today and if announcements of next week's club meetings are to appear in it, the Society desk must be notified by 12 noon today. The meeting will be on the third Monday and fourth Tuesday through Saturday, or Feb. 21-26.

Deadline for Sunday Society pictures is 6 p. m. Thursday and deadline for Sunday Society stories is 12 noon Saturday.

Circle At Tea

In the home of Mrs. T. N. Mallard, 2304 Thirty-second, Thursday afternoon, a tea was given for the Training circle of First Presbyterian Women of the Church.

The tea table, at which Mrs. O. L. Fredricks and Doyle Justice presided, was laid with a lace cloth and centered with anemone and acacia, flanked by yellow tapers.

Special guests were Dr. and Mrs. Jack M. Lewis and others were Mesdames James H. Milam, Clinton Bussey, R. L. Hastings, Ray Red, Lewis Jones, James H. Penn, Atmar Atkinson, R. C. Douglas, jr., Phillip Johnson, Johnny Shelton, Clarence Mast, Frank Baker, Asher Thompson and Ralph Gray.

FAB contains a fabulous, new ingredient that washes white things whiter and colors brighter. Besides, there is no "graying" soap scum with FAB. Your whole wash looks fresher, more attractive!

FAB WASHES GRIMIEST WORK CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP!
FAB with Super-Wetting Action instantly penetrates materials and pushes dirt out! Grimiest overalls and children's play clothes get cleaner faster! No "graying" soap scum with FAB!

Yes, in hardest water, FAB washes the dirtiest clothes faster, cleaner, whiter and brighter than any soap ever made! Gets even grimiest overalls cleaner faster!

Super-Wetting Action... a New, Scientific Principle. When you wash, FAB with Super-Wetting Action penetrates materials faster and more thoroughly than soap... pushes dirt out!

New Ingredient... Another Fabulous Miracle, gets white wash whiter and colors brighter.

No Soap Scum... Even in Hardest Water! Even grimiest overalls get cleaner faster! Clothes get whiter!

FAB is up to Twice as Economical as Soap! Laboratory tests prove that, cup for cup, in hard water, FAB washes up to twice as much family wash as soap!

FABulous SUDS in hardest water!
The minute you put FAB into your tub or washer, you'll get all the rich, thick, dirt-bustin' SUDS you ever wanted, even in the hardest water!

What is Super-Wetting Action?

To see, roll cotton sewing thread into a ball. Drop it into a glass of water. It floats. Drop another ball of thread into a glass of water and FAB. It sinks at once. This shows how FAB with Super-Wetting Action penetrates materials faster.

Faster And Better for all family wash and dishes

Today's Town Talk

IN THESE sunny days of before-sandstorm weather, Lubbock women are budding out with the first touches of spring fashion, and will probably appear in the full bloom of cool cottons in time for the area's annual Easter spell. Frothy pastel collars are brightening winter suits and dresses, and an occassional straw cartwheel puts in its appeal for warmer weather at a luncheon or at church.

During the luncheon hour beginning today, spring fashions will be shown ever Tuesday and Friday at Hector's. Town and college models will be used.

James H. Roberts of 3116 Thirty-first, will leave by plane Saturday for Mexico City, where he will spend a few days visiting an uncle and his family.

From there he will fly to Guatemala on a business trip.

A pre-bridal shower honoring Miss Joan Jordan, bride-elect of Charles Allen Stroope, was given Wednesday afternoon in the O. W. Pair home near Lubbock with Mesdames Royce Gee, P. H. Benton, Charles Benton and Pair as hostesses.

Registered in the bride's book were 55 guests, and others sent gifts.

Mixing Drinks Won't Hurt, Book Reveals

Alcohol Is No Remedy For Snake Bites Or Exposure

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—If a snake bites you, don't reach for the whisky bottle.

A drink then actually can be harmful, not helpful. It also is bad to drink while you are exposed to the cold.

Mixing drinks won't make you more intoxicated. What counts is the amount of alcohol you drink. Switching drinks may make you feel sick, but this is due chiefly to the flavoring substances in the drinks.

Discussed In Book

These and other "facts and fictions" about alcohol are discussed in a new book, "The Problem Drinker," (Duell, Sloane & Pierce) by Joseph Hirsh, executive director of the Research Council on Problems of Alcohol, New York City.

They are among the questions asked more frequently by the public, Hirsh says, and the answers are based on the findings, opinions and experiences of exempt scientists:

Is alcohol a stimulant? No, it's a depressant and acts like an anesthetic.

Does it overcome physical fatigue? It overcomes the feeling of fatigue, temporarily. Actually, it slows down muscular output and mental reactions, especially when a person is tired.

Has Food-Like Qualities

Is alcohol fattening? It has food-like qualities and the body can use it in place of fats and carbohydrates. The energy from alcohol can't be stored. So your body may use it and store the fat from food.

Is alcohol "warming" during exposure to cold? Yes and no, says Hirsh. Even small amounts make blood vessels of the skin dilate, generating a sense of warmth. But this leads to a loss of body temperature.

On snake bite: Shock, heat exhaustion and snake bite all result in lowered blood pressur. Alcohol itslf lowers blood pressure and thus "is frequently dangerous and harmful if given in more than the smallest quanties in these conditions."

No Medical Evidence

As for diseases: There is no medical evidence to indicate that alcohol causes any diseases of the kidneys, or that it actually causes cirrhosis of the liver. It is in no way a cause of heart disease or high blood pressure.

Is alcohol a poison? "Alcohol is a food, a drug, and like anything else taken to excess—even water—a poison."

What effect does alcohol have on life expectancy? The late Dr. Raymond Pearl found "(1) That moderate drinking does not shorten life—nor, of course, does it prolong life; (2) That heavy drinkers die younger than moderate drinkers and abstainers."

Why do some people become more intoxicated than others? Because of differences in what they drink; how much and how fast; the kind and amount of food eaten while drinking; their state of health; past drinking habits, and body weight.

Can Be Accomplished

Can alcoholism be cured? "On the basis of present knowledge, a 'cure' can be accomplished only by breaking the cycle of compulsive drinking and by re-establishing the individual physically, mentally and socially. He cannot, however, becom a social drinker again. In this sense problem drinkers are recovered, not cured."

"Problem drinkers" are those who can't stop, Hirsh explains. It is estimated that there are about 750,000 of them in this country. Sixty million Americans drink alcoholic beverages, and some 3,750,000 drink to excess.

Problem drinkers, he stresses, are sick people, and chronic alcoholism is a public health problem, like any other disease, he writes. A few cities and states are starting to tackle it on that basis.

Young Girl Saves Five Sisters, Brothers From Flaming Home

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. (INS) — A 14-year-old girl today rescued her five younger brothers and sisters from their flaming home in a Chicago suburb and suffered serious burns for her heroism.

The heroine was Roberta Lee Mason, who was admitted to Cook county hospital after saving the other children from the flames which nearly destroyed the building near Des Plaines.

Only one of the rescued children, Leroy, 3, was injured.

New Member At Luncheon

Twenty-three members and one new member, Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, of Welcome Luncheon club attended a meeting at noon Thursday at Hilton hotel. Mrs. A. E. Sullivan presided.

An attendance contest was planned with Mrs. T. L. Sampson and Mrs. L. M. Fields as leaders of the two sides.

The club's next meeting will be March 17 at 12 noon at Hilton hotel.

Secretaries Have Dinner At Villa

Miss Maxine McMillan was hostess at a Valentine dinner given for Lubbock chapter, National Secretaries association, Tuesday night at the Italian Villa.

Appropriate decorations were arranged on the table at which places were laid for the following:

Misses Dorothy Bayley, Ruth Felps, Norah Lee Pierce, Inez Ross, Lillian Chapman, Billie Knutson, Bessie Baker, Georgina Conner, LaVada Paul, McMillan, and Mesdames Royce Durham and Brode Puckett.

Secretaries interested in joining the organization are asked to contact any member of the local chapter.

Montana Woman, Accused Of Poisoning Texan, On Trial

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Feb. 17 (AP) — Jurors were qualified here today for the trial of Mrs. Dannie Sue Hughett, 19, accused of killing a Texas soldier with poison.

Mrs. Hughett, mother of a two-year-old boy, is charged with murder in the death last Oct. 17 of Cpl. Robert M. Burt, 19, San Marcos, Tex., who was stationed here.

The state charges that the woman put poison in Burt's coffee.

More Women Being Attracted To Nursing Field, Survey Shows

Higher pay and opportunities to render needed service are two factors which are inducing more young women to turn to nursing careers, recent reports from over the country indicate.

Although no great increase in number of student nurses has been noted in Lubbock, 91 young women currently are embarked on the three-year training program that leads to a coveted "registered nurse" degree.

Lubbock has two schools of nursing—one at Lubbock Memorial hospital, the other at West Texas hospital.

Opportunities Are Greater

Miss Lillie L. Deimler, director of education at Lubbock Memorial hospital, says with conviction, "There is much more in the field of nursing today than in the past, partly because the public has become educated to the fact that nurses are helpful."

The hospital's school of nursing enrolled 29 students during 1948, about the same number in 1947. For 36 months these young women work hard and study hard, always with the goal of becoming a qualified nurse if they succeed.

The school was organized in 1918, with three students of the first class being transferred from the hospital at Post. The West Texas hospital school of nursing was organized four years later, in 1922.

How does a young woman become a nurse in 36 months? Miss Deimler and Mrs. K. E. Schulz, director of nurses at West Texas, both explain how classroom teaching and classroom experience are combined.

Curricula at both hospitals are similar, and their requirements are about the same. First of all, the applicant must be a high school graduate and meet strict physical and mental requirements. She must agree that if she marries during training, she will resign.

The first three weeks is called the "preclinical period," during which most of the student's time is spent in the classroom. At the end of the preclinical period a "capping ceremony" is conducted to award caps to students who have passed the preclinical courses.

Both Theory And Practice

During the remainder of the three years, the clinical period, the student is given both theory and practice in care of patients.

Classes are usually started in June and September, and the students are soon enrolled in Texas Technological college for a 24-hour course of studies. The course includes chemistry, anatomy and physiology, bacteriology, foods, psychology and sociology.

Her work at Tech finished, the nurse-in-training is then assigned to other classroom and "laboratory" courses in every phase of nursing. Her experience in actual floor work supplements theoretical instruction.

Before their course of training is completed, the student nurses are given affiliated training at John Sealy College of Nursing in Galveston, where they receive instruction in pediatric and psychiatric nursing.

The West Texas hospital school is affiliated with Parkland hospital at Dallas, and student nurses go there for pediatric training.

Coming back to Lubbock, they take senior work before they are graduated and become eligible to take the state examination to become a registered nurse.

Miss Deimler points out that nurses are in greater demand than ever before. Hospitals are employing general staff nurses in greater numbers, public organizations, dentists and doctors are seeking registered nurses and the government's veterans hospital program is providing jobs for many nurses.

It's not a costly course of study for a young woman. She provides her own uniforms and pays for books, and tuition. But her board and room and medical care are provided by the school and during the three-year course she is paid approximately $750, the cost of her supplies and uniforms.

And when she is graduated she is ready to step into any of a great variety of jobs that pay good salaries that range as high as $8,000 a year for exceptionally qualified nurses.

Airline Auxiliary Founds Loan Fund To Aid Graduate Nurses

DALLAS, Feb. 17. (INS) — A scholarship loan fund to help nurses has been established by the Women's Auxiliary of Braniff Airways.

The fund will be restricted to nursing in the pediatrics field, a Dallas spokesman said, because of Mrs. Jeanne Braniff Terrell's interest in children. The fund was estblished in her memory.

The loan is to be made without interest to a graduate registered nurse interested in advanced training. Upon completion of the course, the nurse will be required to pay back the loan to the pediatrics department of a local hospital.

Mrs. Ola McCleskey of Children's hospital is in charge of applications.

Officers Probe Report By Man Of Louisiana Killing

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 17 (U.P.)—Officers here talked today with Donald W. Schoonover, 28, of Vinton, Ia., who thinks he killed a man here in November of 1947.

No killing has thus far been discovered here at that time.

Schoonover first gave himself up to Modesto, Calif., authorities who reported his confession to police here. When no unsolved murder for that month was found in the records, he was released.

But Schoonover wasn't satisfied so he came back here on his own by bus, reporting to city police yesterday.

FLIERS TRAMP MESSAGE IN SNOW—Rescue planes spotted this light airplane after it was forced down in deep snow near Fairfield, Utah. The occupants had tramped the message: "OK NEED PROP" in the snow, upper right, to indicate they were unharmed but needed a new propeller. A truck from a nearby ranch also reached the men. New Mexico Reefs Will Be Explored

HOBBS, N. M., Feb. 17 (AP)—Scientific exploration of the ancient underground limestone formations or southeastern New Mexico and West Texas is planned this summer.

The geological treasure hunt is to be undertaken by the American Museum of Natural History and Columbia university. Dana P. Kelley of the museum staff said it will be financed by a grant from Humble Oil & Refining Co.

Limestone reefs to be studied through outcrops and drill cuttings include the famous Carlsbad caverns. Scientists hope to determine how they were formed, Kelley said. The work is to be directed by Dr. Norman D. Newell of the Columbia faculty.

The project is viewed as a particular interest to the petroleum industry because much of the nation's oil reserve lie in underground reservoirs of reef type limestone.

Two-Year Old Alabama Boy Found After All-Night Hunt

SYLACAUGA, Ala., Feb. 17 (INS) — A two-year-old boy, hunted since 3 p.m. yesterday by as many as 500 searchers in the rugged mountains behind his home, was found today asleep in tall grass with his two puppies standing guard.

Rickey Dunn Tankersley was hungry and cold after spending the night out in 35-degree weather. He was sent immediately to City hospital here, where he joined his mother. She was hospitalized in a hysterical condition at 10 p.m. last night.

The boy, clutching a crumbled leaf in one hand, was found by a party that included his father, L. C. Tankersley. He said the child was awakened but he only mumbled something about being cold and dropped off to sleep again.

DRIVE FIREMEN NUTS

WARSAW, Ind. (U.P.)—An unidentified woman made life confusing for the Warsaw fire department. She reported a fire at "the Hyde home." The firemen hurried to the Hyde home in Lakeside. No fire. They sped to the Hyde home in Little Eagle. Still no fire. They never did find a fire.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

10 pounds lost in 10 days

Mrs. M. C. Britton, 206 W. Wildwood, San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows: "I am a faithful user of Barcentrate. I had dieted for weeks without your product and needed so badly to lose 10 pounds, so I started using Barcentrate and my worry was over for I lost the 10 pounds in 10 days. I now weigh 135 pounds.

"I eat most anything I want and hold my same weight."

NO MORE PEP THAN A FENCE POST

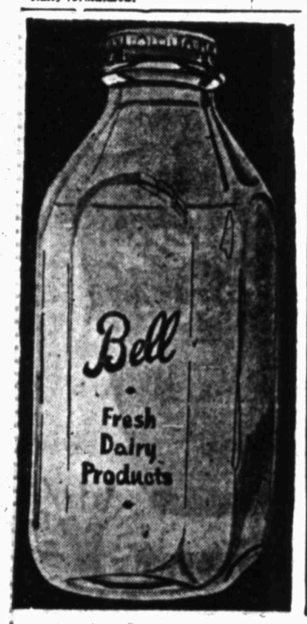

*That's one of the signs of a Borderline Anemia

Why are some people always tired, pale and "half-alive"—while others fairly bubble with pep and energy?

There can be lots of reasons, of course. But a pale face and a colorless, listless personality are often the result of weak faded red blood cells. If that's your trouble, you may have a Borderline Anemia—due to a ferro-nutritional deficiency of the blood. Medical studies show that up to 68% of women—many men and children—have this tiring blood condition.

Weariness and pallor have many causes—always consult your doctor regularly. But if you have this Borderline Anemia, remember: Ironized Yeast Tablets can help you reclaim your vitality and healthy good looks. They are specially formulated to help build up faded, shrunken and fagged-out blood cells. To feel better—to look better—to act alert and alive—try IRONIZED YEAST TABLETS!

Philippine Huk Leader, Branded Top Public Enemy, Takes To Hills

By RALPH TEATSORTH
United Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Feb. 17.—The Philippines' most publicized Communist leader, its public enemy No. 1 and most elusive fugitive, has lost his last legal claim to public office.

The case of the Hukbalahap supreme commander, Luis M. Taruc, is a tragi-comedy of errors. It is the story of a man who bravely resisted the Japanese invader, then slugged his way into politics after the war, fought two presidents and for a short time declared a truce with one of them.

When an electoral tribunal of the Philippine house of representatives finally got around last month to declaring Taruc's election to the house void, it simply added one more chapter to the strange record of the fiery wisp of a peasant chieftain who has been a hunted man all but three months of the last two and a half years.

Held Seat Briefly

The tribunal, by a vote of 6 to 3, declared vacant the congressional seat to which Taruc was elected on April 23, 1946, but which he held only briefly. Taruc was not allowed to take his seat in the house until June 25, 1948, during the short period of amnesty proclaimed by President Elpidio Quirino before he decided that no real peace with the Huks could be achieved.

Taruc made $6,600 on the deal. He got that amount in back pay when the house seated him. For a time he lived with his bodyguard in the president's private home.

Peace negotiations between the government and the Huks broke down in August, 1948, and Taruc scurried back to old haunts. The person who brings him in, dead or alive, can collect $15,000 reward.

Huks Denounced

The electoral tribunal's decision asserted that the Hukbalahap, as it stands today, is the military branch of the PKM, or national union of peasants. The PKM acts as the civil government of the combined organizations.

"The PKM has a national government and also provincial and local governments," the tribunal noted. "They collect taxes; they maintain a judiciary, prisons, indoctrination schools, and apparently perform all functions of the government.

"They have a flag of their own which carries the scythe and the hammer, and their national capitol is located in the municipality of Candaba, Pampanga, and is called Malacanan (after the government's White House.")

Revival services at North Side Assembly of God church, Madison Ave. and North Second, currently are being conducted at 7:30 o'clock nightly, according to announcement by the church pastor, Rev. Scott F. Mitchell. Services are being conducted by two young evangelists, Lois Bates and Mary Lois Williams. A musical program is a regular part of the nightly services. The public is invited to attend the services, Rev. Mitchell said Thursday.

Clarence H. Whiteside, owner of Whiteside's laundry, and Lewellyn Jones, in charge of maintenance at the laundry, are attending the convention of the National Laundrymen's and Dry Cleaners association in Philadelphia this week. En route home, Whiteside plans to make a business stop in Joliet, Ill., home of the American Institute of Laundering.

Sermon topic will be "The American Way of Life" at the Sabbath Eve service at Congregational Shaareth Israel at 8 o'clock tonight. Rabbi Julius Kerman will deliver the sermon. A memorial plaque will be dedicated to the late Sam Rosenthal, who died Jan. 24, 1948. According to the Jewish religious calendar, this week represents close of a year since his death.

Dean W. L. Stangel, head of the Agriculture division of Texas Tech, will judge the annual Deaf Smith county livestock show to be held in Hereford Saturday.

Dr. J. J. Willingham, head of the Dairy Manufacturing department at Texas Tech, has announced that he will be in Dallas from Feb. 27 through March 1 to attend the annual meeting of the Texas Dairy Products Institute.

'GOING DOWN'
Trans-Continental Jet Subway Seen

BUFFALO, N. Y. Feb. 17. (AP)—Subway trains in New York and other cities would be slow as a caterpillar in camparison with a jet job envisioned by a local authority on supersonics and superstratospherics.

Dr. Joseph F. Foa, a scientist associated with the Cornell aeronautical laboratory here, foresees a tube-type cross-country subway train which would move at speeds of better than 2,000 miles per hour.

In a speech, Dr. Foa expressed doubt that air transportation will exceed the speed of sound in the near future. He predicted, however, the use of jet propulsion in long distance subway trains "traveling at fantastic speeds with aerodynamics or magnetic suspension inside tubes connecting the major cities of the United States."

The scientist also predicted that jet propulsion, through the development of the gas turbine, will revolutionize the automobile engine industry.

"I am convinced that the gas turbine will eventually replace the reciprocating engine, even in the automobile," he declared.

He explained that such turbines have no cooling systems and no distributor and would therefore start easily in cold weather. He added that a gas turbine, with a gear shift, would have no engine vibrations.

Crime Prevention Talks Slated Here

National Crime Prevention Week, sponsored by the National Exchange Club and its more than 1200 local clubs scattered throughout the country, will be stressed by Lubbock attorney and law enforcement officers in a series of radio and public speeches during the remainder of this week.

Friday at 8:55 a. m., Roy Bass, local attorney and Sunday School teacher of the First Baptist Church, will speak to an assembly at J. T. Hutchinson Jr. High school.

Friday at 7 p. m., Buck McNeil, partner in the law firm of Burks and McNeil, will speak over radio Station KSEL. McNeil was, for a period of five years, an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is a Sunday School teacher at the First Baptist Church, and graduated from George Washington University and from Texas Tech.

John Lee Smith, Lieutenant Governor of Texas from 1942-1947, formerly State Senator from the 24th District, and a partner in the law firm of Boling, Smith, and Allen, will speak over KFYO Saturday at 6 p. m.

First speeches in the furtherance of crime prevention were made Thursday by Lloyd Croslin, District Attorney of the 72nd and 99th Judicial Districts, who spoke over KCBD, and by Buck McNeil who addressed a convocation of students at O. L. Slaton Jr. High school.

Funeral Services For Former Lubbock Woman Held In Austin

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (Special) — Funeral rites for Mrs. Lansing S. Thorne, former Lubbock resident who died here Wednesday after a long illness, were held at 4 p.m. today in St. David's Episcopal church of Austin.

Burial was in Memorial Park cemetery, Austin, under direction of Cook Funeral home.

Survivors include the husband; the father, Judge Ocie Speer, of Austin; three sons, Dr. Clifford Thorne of Austin, Dr. Lansing S. Thorne, jr., of Cincinnati, and Dr. Milner Thorne of Shreveport, La.; three sisters, Mrs. Floride Peterson, Mrs. Wright Subbs and Mrs. McCall Eilers, all of Austin; and a granddaughter.

WORMS HIGHLY PROFITABLE

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Abe Crosby, jr., amateur fisherman, expects to make $5,000 this year selling worms to fellow anglers. Sixteen-year-old Crosby, known locally as the boy earthworm king, hopes to sell 1,000,000 of his red wrigglers during 1949.

Peso Value Steadies After Skidding From Early Average

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 17. (AP)—The peso steadied today after sloping slightly yesterday from an average of 6.88 for the past seven months.

Until yesterday the peso was worth a fraction more than 14 cents, United States currency. Now it is worth approximately a fraction under 14 cents. Last July it was valued at almost 20 cents.

Gold which started the little panic Tuesday is off the market.

Banks offered 7.07 to 7.10 pesos for dollars today and sold them around 7.15. Yesterday the spread between buying and selling was 12 to 15 centavos. The Bank of Mexico and Mexicans seem to think more about gold than the plight of the peso. The peso, they suggest will improve shortly but they seek anxiously for some way to profit by a higher price for gold.

Missouri U. Student Leaders Urge Admittance Of Negroes

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 17. (AP)—Three student leaders from the University of Missouri today handed Gov. Forrest Smith a resolution calling for admittance of negroes to all state colleges.

The resolution was passed by the university student council last night after students had voted 4,156 to 1,847 for a change in Missouri laws.

The resolution said:

"We, the student council, propose to the state legislature that the laws of the state of Missouri be changed so as to allow qualified negro students to enroll at the University of Missouri and other state colleges."

The resolution was qualified so as to admit negroes only for courses where "equivalent instruction is not offered at Lincoln university."

Lincoln is the negro university located here.

New Mexico To Meet Raiders

Grove, Jackson Will Face Lobo Teams For Final Time In Crucial Tilt Here

Coach Polk Robison's Texas Tech basketball squad, still intent on winning the Border Conference court crown, will take the floor tonight at 8 against an improving, dangerous University of New Mexico team in a crucial game.

For two of the Red Raider players it will be finis in competition against boys from their home state, New Mexico. Center Don Grove and Guard Jiggs Jackson, both from Monument, N. M., will take the floor for the last time as opponents of New Mexico teams.

Grove has been a tower of strength to the Raiders this year. He does not appear to be a potent scorer, so ably does he handle his floor assignments. But Grove currently is the second highest scorer in the conference and has the third best average with 12.42 points per game. He is the only Raider in the first 20 among conference scorers.

Jackson has been a hot and cold set shot artist, but his play has sparked the Raiders on many occasions. He broke Rice's backbone almost singlehandedly with his long shots that sank through the nets without touching the rims. He can be counted on for three or four long shots that are good in each game.

New Mexico brings an improving team to Lubbock tonight. Coach Woody Clements nursed the Lobos over a bad period following exam and dead week and they have been rolling since then. They are led by Center Ned Wallace and Guard Larry Hess, co-captains. Wallace is third high scorer in the conference, but ranks second on point average with 12.54 per game.

The only other Lobo player to make the loop's first 20 is Ergeal Brown, a forward, who has an eight point per game mark. Brown is an ever-dangerous player.

Also to be seen tonight will be Dale Cooper, who lettered at Tech during the war. Cooper also comes from Monument and is expected to get into action against the Raiders.

Tech must win tonight to remain on the heels of Arizona. After this game, only two more remain, the Raiders entertaining WTSTC Wednesday night and going to Abilene for a game against Hardin-Simmons Feb. 28.

Playoff In District 4-A To Open Friday

LEVELLAND, Feb. 17. (Special) — Four District 4-A basketball teams collide here Friday and Saturday in a double elimination tournament to decide the conference winner.

Teams from Sundown and Sudan of the north half will engage in competition with Post and O'Donnell of the south half of the district.

Sudan opens the tournament Friday afternoon at 1:30, playing Post, with Sundown meeting O'Donnell in another tilt immediately following. Two more games will be played Friday night and one contest will be run off Saturday afternoon.

Final games in the tourney are set for Saturday night.

Charms will be given to first and second place quintets, gold ones for the winners, silver for the runners-up. In addition, each team in the tournament will receive a trophy.

An all-tournament team will be selected after the final game has been played. Each member selected to this team will be given a minature gold basketball.

New Deal To Get Softball Field

MONROE, Feb. 17. (Special)—Plans to equip a lighted football and softball field, complete with stands, were crystalized here tonight at a public meeting.

Grady Henly, appointed chairman of a nine-man steering committee, said that immediate efforts to raise funds for the proposed project would be made. Contributions will be welcome without solicitation, but interested members will make a canvas for contributions.

Four hundred interested residents, supporters of New Deal High school, turned out for the meeting here tonight, during which a pie-eating contest was held. Enthusiasm for the project was strong.

The drive will continue until all necessary funds have been raised and no construction will be started until the entire project has been underwritten.

Plan of the steering committee, approved by the local residents, is to have a lighted football field equipped with the best possible lighting. General Electric has submitted a plan whereby the lights can be used for softball also, without taking down any of the orbs.

Both the football field and the softball diamond would be located on school property. The softball diamond would be located next to the football field, but so placed that players would not be on the football playing surface.

Members of the steering committee, along with Henly, are Demp Webster, L. C. Crews, O. L. Brownblow, P. E. Crosnoe, Jim Bumpass, Bruce Gentry, Bill Snider and Sam Williams.

Brownfield Teams Win Pair Of Tilts From J. T. Hutchinson

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 17. (Special) — Brownfield Junior High school teams won a pair of games from the J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school of Lubbock here this afternoon.

The Brownfield eighth graders turned in a 25-16 victory to open the afternoon play and the ninth graders, in a South Plains Junior High school league game, won over Lubbock 71-28. Don Boyd was high scorer for Brownfield with 22 points and Billy Presley topped the Lubbock cagers.

BASEBALL LOOP TO MEET

LAREDO, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Rio Grande Valley baseball league will meet here Sunday afternoon at the Hamilton Hotel, president Bill Osley announced today. Members of the league, which opens the baseball race in April, are Laredo, Corpus Christi, Del Rio, Brownsville, McAllen and Donna.

Lamesa To Meet San Angelo For 3-AA Cage Title

LAMESA, Feb. 17, (Special) — Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes meet San Angelo's Bobcats Saturday night at 8 in the Sweetwater High school gym to decide the basketball championship of District 3-AA.

The game, originally scheduled for Friday night, was moved back a day.

Tickets will be sold only in Sweetwater on a first come, first served basis. A large group of followers from both Lamesa and San Angelo are expected to flood the city for the game.

The Golden Tornadoes wound up their season with a record of 10 victories against two defeats. In the final conference game, Lamesa assured itself of a playoff berth by handing Big Spring a 42-33 defeat.

San Angelo had an identical record for the District 3-AA regular season. The Bobcats wound up their schedule with a 45-40 licking Abilene.

Numbered among the San Angelo victories was a win over their Saturday night opponent. It was one of the two losses sustained by the Tornadoes.

Winner of Saturday night's game will clash with Bowie High school of El Paso, District 4-AA champion, for the Bi-District title. And the team winning that game will continue to the state tournament at Austin.

Court observers give the Golden Tornadoes a strong chance to get past San Angelo and then take Bowie in stride. The Tornadoes turned in an upset victory over Lubbock High school, playing cool, calculated basketball in doing it.

That victory seemed to give the Tornadoes an added spark and they rolled along in high gear the remainder of the way.

Childress Drops Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 17. (Special)—A smooth-working Childress High school five trimmed Wichita Falls' Coyotes 38-28 here tonight in the first game of a playoff to determine District 2-AA's entry in the state basketball eliminations.

The series switches to Childress Friday night and if a third game is necessary, it will be played at Childress also.

The Coyotes couldn't seem to get going, missing several set ups when a basket might have turned the tide. Charles L'Argent, Coyote forward, was top scorer for the tilt with 10 points.

Scoring for the Bobcats, who led throughout the entire game, was divided evenly, with R. D. Bradshaw high with eight points.

New Deal Advances In Frenship Tourney

WOLFFORTH, Feb. 17 (Special) —Four boys and four girls teams advanced to the quarter-final rounds in the Frenship Junior High school basketball tournament which opened here today.

In boys games, Meadow beat New Deal 26-8 to advance and Cooper eliminated Frenship with a 10-7 victory. Ropesville sent Idalou out of the tournament with an 18-8 defeat and Shallowater also advanced with a 17-12 victory over Roosevelt.

Four girls teams also went through the first round unscathed. New Deal, in the closest game of the day, edged past Shallowater 19-18, while Petersburg put Idalou out of the tournament by an identical score. Ropesville ousted Roosevelt with a 13-6 victory. And in the final girls game, Cooper dropped the final Frenship team by the wayside with a 15-9 triumph.

Friday night's games will send Cooper against Ropesville and Meadow against Shallowater in the boys division and New Deal against Ropesville and Cooper against Petersburg in the girls division.

Games Friday will begin at 7:30 p. m., with finals in both divisions scheduled for Saturday.

Lubbock And Pampa Meet In Finals At Canyon Saturday

By AL WILLIAMS
Avalanche Sports Writer

CANYON, Feb. 17.—The Pampa Harvesters fought an uphill battle against Amarillo Thursday night and won, 37-34, in the first game of the District 1-AA basketball blayoff at Burton gym.

The victory placed them in the finals against Lubbock at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Burton gym. The winner of that game will play the District 2-AA winner for a trip to the state meet in Austin.

Close Game Throughout

At no time in the game was there more than a six point difference in the score. That was late in the second quarter when Amarillo owned a 19-13 margin. The biggest margin in the entire last half was four points, and this was held once by the Sandies and once by Pampa.

Scoring was led by Pampa's Derral Davis, with 13 points on five field goals and three free tosses, and Bob Garner of Amarillo collected six baskets from the field for 12 markers. Jim Howard of the Harvesters made 11 points.

Amarillo had 16 personals called, and Pampa turned these into nine points while missing eight free throws. The Harvesters committed only seven fouls, and Amarillo made good on four charity shots, missing the basket twice.

Amarillo started out smoothly, but as the game grew older action was speeded up, and finally moved at full speed from one end of the court to the other. During the first half Amarillo controlled the rebounds, but Pampa took over the backboard work in the second half and turned the rebounds into a victory. Both teams used man for man defenses, and Amarillo kept pressing the ball handler all over the court. Most of the scoring shots were made in close one-handed push shots as the long ones failed to connect. Davis successfully employed his one-handed whirl from around the free-throw circle.

Pampa Rallies

The Harvesters came from behind in the third quarter of the evenly matched contest after trailing throughout the entire first half and then lost the lead as Gib Ford and Garner scored successive field goals in the last minute and 15 seconds of that period. Amarillo led going into the last frame, 27-23.

From that point Pampa's Jim Howard and Derral Davis put the Harvesters into a 31-27 lead with less than five minutes remaining in the ball game. Bill Franklin and Garner tied it up at 31-31 for Amarillo within 30 seconds, however, but Davis and Bill Bond sank free throws to give the Harvesters a momentary lead with two minutes and 45 seconds remaining. Ford tied the game at 33 all with two minutes and 10 seconds left, but Pampa scored four points while limiting the Sandies to one charity toss.

Amarillo led at the half, 19-15.

Levelland Moves Up In Tournament

RALLS, Feb. 17. (Special)—Levelland and Littrell basketball teams gained the second round in the Ralls Invitational tournament tonight, while Ralls upset the favored Primm Drug in a second round game.

Three second round games will be played here Friday night, with Blue Flame meeting Derricks at 7 p. m., Matador playing Lumber Bin at 8 p. m. and Littrell opposing Levelland at 9 to conclude the night's play.

Levelland had little trouble getting past Plainview tonight 37-23, with Bob Clodfelter taking scoring honors on 12 points. Calvin Garrett had eight points for the losers.

Littrells was held in check better by Plains Gas, but turned in a 36-29 victory. Dudley Stanley had 14 points for Littrell and Glenn Johnson topped the Gassers with 11.

Ralls' defeat of Primm Drug, 41-38, was the surprise of the tournament. Primm held a large halftime lead and continued in front through the early part of the final stanza. But Ralls finally made a spurt with three minutes left and clung to its narrow margin.

O. L. Slaton Tangles With Carroll Thompson Tonight

An underdog, O. L. Slaton Junior High school basketball team will meet the favored Carroll Thompson basketball team tonight at 8 in Chapman Fieldhouse.

A preliminary game at 7 p. m. will be played by seventh and eighth graders of the two schools.

Slaton's Redskins have lost only one game so far in the South Plains Junior High school basketball league, while the Thompson Cowboys are undefeated. Slaton's only loss was a one-point defeat by the Cowboys.

Paul Smith Accepts Position As Coach Of Cameron School

CAMERON, Feb. 17 (AP) — An announcement today said Paul Smith, coach of Masonic Home in Fort Worth, had accepted a two-year contract as head football coach and athletic director of the Aameron public schools.

Superintendent W. Haynes, in making the announcement, would not disclose salary terms. Smith replaces Leo Jackson, who resigned to become head coach at Greenville.

Cameron went to the second round in the Class A football race last year under Jacks on. Masonic Home lost out in regionals of the Class B competition.

BROWN TO GET TROPHY

WICHITA, Kans., Feb. 17 (INS)—The Sporting News, national sports publication, will give actor Joe E. Brown a trophy in recognition of his interest in promoting sandlot baseball. Officials said today the presentation will occur during the 15th annual National Baseball Congress tournament at Wichita Aug. 19.

Art Chapman, former coach of the defunct New York Americans, is managing the Buffalo Bisons in the American Hockey league.

Turnesa Takes Over Leadership In Houston Open

HOUSTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — Par was broken 36 times today as Jim Turnesa, Briar Cliff, N. Y., led 141 golfers in a mass attack on Pine Forest country club in the first round of the $10,000 Houston Open.

Turnesa shaved six strokes off the new 6510-yard course's par 72 to edge George Schoux, San Francisco, and John Palmer, Badin, N. C., by one shot for the first day's leadership.

Thirty-three other players finished below par and 13 others had par 72's.

Had Trouble On 13th

Turnesa, who set an all-time tournament scoring record last year when he finished third in the National Open, turned in seven one-under par holes for a 33-33—66. He was in trouble only on the thirteenth green when he missed a put to take a four, one over regulation.

Birdies were easy pickings today, but two-under-par holes were rare. Glen Teel, Jacksonville, Fla., turned the eagle trick, however, on the 185-yard eleventh with a hole-in-one. He finished with a 74.

Palmer, one of the top golfers of the young winter circuit, blew a chance to tie or pass Turnesa on the last two holes

He toured the first nine five under par and gained another stroke on the fifteenth. Troubles developed on the seventeenth and he had to take a bogie before finishing the final hole at par.

Palmer's approach shots and putting were near perfect on the front nine. He offered no excuses for his failure to continue his par-blasting on the back side but a light, cold rain began to fall as he teed off on the tenth green and continued the remainder of the afternoon.

Tied a stroke behind Palmer and Schoux at 68 were E. J. Harrison, Albuquerque, N. M., Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., Les Kennedy, Pawtuckett, R. I., and Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn.

Eight players were grouped at 69. They were Marty Furgol, Albuquerque, Fred Hawkins, Antioch, Ill., Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., Eric Monti, Santa Monica, Calif., Bob Toski, Northampton, Mass., Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, Herman Keiser, St. Andrews, Ill., and amateur Doug Ford, Larchmont, N. Y.

Spur, Abernathy Meet For 3-A Title

Abernathy Overturns Floydada, 50 To 27

ABERNATHY Feb. 17 (Special) Floydada High school was eliminated from the District 3-A conference playoff tournament here tonight when Abernathy's Antelopes humiliated them 50-27.

Spur and Abernathy meet here tomorrow night at 8 for the conference title, but no matter who wins or loses, both teams will go to the regional tournament.

Abernathy, which turned in its 19th victory of the year tonight, never was headed. The Antelopes jumped into a four-point lead at the end of the first period and continued the assault. Floydada never was able to threaten and the Antelopes coasted to victory.

Pace Was Even

The home team maintained an even pace throughout the game, scoring 13 points the first period, 12 the second, 12 the third and finishing with a burst of 13. The Whirlwinds were able to counter with only nine the first, four the second, five the third and nine again in the last canto.

Abernathy led at the half 25-13 and at the end of the third period 37-18.

Superiority at the free throw line, which handed the Whirlwinds a four-point victory over the Antelopes here earlier in the season, made no difference tonight. The visitors copped 11 of 10 attempts, while Abernathy converted 12 of 20. Floydada was held to eight field goals for the game.

Blackman Stars

Esten Blackman, the six foot, three and a half inch Antelope center, almost turned in victory by himself. The outstanding pivot man poured 20 points through the hoops and played a fine floor game. He also had support from Don Snodgrass, who had 11 tallies.

Finley, with 15 points, topped the Floydada scorers.

Abernathy previously had split with Floydada, losing at home and winning at Floydada. Against Spur, Abernathy had the same record. They beat the Bulldogs at Spur by 14 points, but lost at home by a single tally.

College Club, Lubbock Boys Club Split Pair Of Tussles

College Club and Lubbock Boys club teams split a brace of games yesterday afternoon at the Boys club, the College Club B winning 30-29, but the A team dropping a 38-20 tilt.

Lubbock's Seniors were led to victory on Jack McLarty's eight points, while Roy Butler had five points to top the losers. In the initial game, Goerge Rouse scored 10 points to pace the College Club B squad and Charles Rand had nine points for the Boys club Juniors.

Jimmy Rollier, 165-pound boxing champion at Syracuse University, is favored to defend his title successfully this season.

Martin Sparks Texas In Fight For Loop Title

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP) — Slater Martin, who wanted to be a boxer but wound up as the greatest basketball player his coach ever saw, leads the university of Texas in a last-ditch fight for the Southwest Conference championship.

Slater, the perpetual motion Longhorn guard, has flipped in 300 points in 20 games with his one-handed push shot. But that hasn't counted nearly so much as the points he kept the opposition from getting.

There were two reasons why Martin did not pursue a boxing career, something he was pretty good at until his mother stepped in and called a halt. The other reason was that Slater learned early he would have trouble with his eyes in the ring. There's nothing wrong with his optics—as Southwest Conference rivals will agree—but his protruding forehead made the eyebrow area very susceptible to blows that cut the skin and cause bleeding.

Otherwise he had the fundamental skills for boxing—lightning fast, nimble afoot, a quick starter, a quicker stopper and no peer at feinting.

His coach, Jack Gray, says Martin "has better coordination than any athlete I ever saw. Sure, he could have been great at boxing, or any other sport—football, baseball or golf."

Gray calls him "the best" and Gray, one of the all-time greats of Texas basketball, tutored such stars as bounding Bobby Moers and jumping John Hargis.

Wellman Wins Tourney Game

NEW HOME, Feb. 17. (Special) —Wellman and Ropesville High school basketball teams opened the New Home double round robin tournament here tonight with victories.

Wellman turned back Smyer 31-26 and Ropesville eked out a tight 29-28 victory over the host school.

The Roosevelt girls turned in a 33-25 victory over Meadow girls in an exhibition game during the night session.

Games Friday night will send New Home against Smyer and Wellman against Ropesville, with the New Home girls playing an exhibition game at 9:30 p. m. against Wellman.

The New Home-Ropesville game tonight was a story book thriller. New Home led all the way, but never by a big margin. The largest margin was five points midway through the third period, but most of the time the lead was only one or two points.

Finally, with three minutes to go, Ropes climaxed a long stern chase and went ahead.

RAADIK TO FIGHT OLSON

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (INS)—Anton Raadik, Estonian middleweight now fighting out of Chicago, today accepted a bid to fight Bob Olson, Hawaiian middleweight champion, in Honolulu March 13.

SECOND PLACE QUINTET IN CITY—Sanders Motor company produced the runner-up in the annual city basketball tournament, losing to the Levelland Refiners in a best two out of three games series. The above picture was taken just before they lost to Levelland 36-32 to conclude the championship play. Sanders is entered in the District 2, TAF tournament, which begins here Monday. Shown, left to right, front row, are Harvey Tubb, Sonny Fralin, Richard Holly and Skinny Taylor. Back row, left to right, Phil Ragland, Cal Steveson, J. C. Pierce, Bill Tibbetts, Bob Clodfelter, Bob Sanders, manager. Bobby Layne was the only player missing when picture was taken. (Staff Photo.)

Twelve Teams Have Submitted Entries

Texas Athletic Federation Cage Tourney Deadline Set For Today

Today is the final deadline for entries in the Texas Athletic Federation, District 2, basketball tournament to be held in Chapman Fieldhouse beginning Monday.

Curtis Barrett, tournament director, said that all entries should be turned in to him at Room 106 of the courthouse and also will be accepted at his home. Each entry must be accompanied by $25.

How many teams will enter the annual court tourney is not known, but only the first 32 teams to apply will be accepted. Twelve teams had submitted entries through yesterday, but many more were expected to get in under the deadline today.

Trophies will be presented to the first and second place teams, with the winning quintet receiving an all-expense trip to San Angelo. The state tournament will be held in that city in March and District 2 will have a representative.

Each member of the winning team will be given gold basketball charms and each member of the second place club will be given minature silver charms.

The outstanding player in the tournament will receive a trophy, as will the high point scorer. The team showing the best sportsmanship in the tournament also will receive an award.

Pairings To Be Made Yet

Length of the tournament is not known at the present time. After all teams intending to enter have signified that they will be here, tournament officials will draw pairings in an upper and lower bracket. Play will continue as long as necessary.

The tournament will be conducted under single elimination rules. One defeat and the losing team drops out of play, until only two teams are left. They will battle for the championship and the right to go to San Angelo.

Teams entered so far include Primm Drug of Brownfield, Levelland Refiners, Sanders Motor of Lubbock, Thomas Tinkers of Lubbock, Matador Independents, Derrick Service of Idalou, Blue Flame Gas, Plains Gassers of Shallowater, Sisco Grocery of Denver City, Hawkins Service of Lubbock, Texas Lumber Bin and Cloverlake Dairy.

Football Fixers Appeal Sentence

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (INS) — Two New Yorkers, sentenced to jail for trying to "fix" a championship professional football game, asked the Supreme court today to review their convictions.

Counsel for the defendants, Harvey Stemmer and David Krakower, argued they were convicted on "illegal" evidence obtained by tapping telephone wires.

Stemmer and Krakower were found guilty of trying to bribe Frank Filchock and Merle Hapes, 1946 backfield stars of the New York Giants, to "throw" the championship game with the Chicago Bears.

Chicago won, 14 to 3. Filchock and Hapes were banned from pro football for failure to report the bribe attempt. Filchock starred in the contest, in which Hapes did not play.

Stemmer and Krakower drew terms of five to 10 years each in prison, and their attorneys carried the case to the high bench after the New York court of appeals upheld the original verdict.

Texas Cities Ask Public Housing

DALLAS, Feb. 17 (AP) — Twenty Texas cities have asked for a total of 16,686 low rent public housing units which would get priority on the state's share of any federal funds Congress might vote to build houses.

B. F. Vinson, Fort Worth, head of the Public Housing administration southwestern field office, told the Dallas Morning News by telephone today he is receiving daily inquiries from other towns and cities about additional housing. He said, however, no new applications are being accepted now.

Major Cities File

Dallas housing officials have filed applications for 2,800 units; Houston for 3,300; San Antonio for 2,000, and Fort Worth for 926.

Vinson said none of the current applications would be considered on the basis of need until after congressional action on pending or proposed legislation.

"But these applications will get first consideration over any new ones," he said.

Other cities which have current applications with the public housing administration are:

Amarillo, 800 units; Beaumont, 700; Borger, 250; Bay City, 150; Brownsville, 200; Brownwood, 300; Corpus Christi, 1,000; Eagle Pass, 50; El Paso, 660; Lubbock, 350; Galveston, 1,400; McAllen, 300; Mercedes, 200; San Benito, 200; Texas City, 200; Wichita Falls, 500.

LUBBOCK APPLICATION FILED TWO YEARS AGO

Lubbock Housing authority officials last night recalled that Lubbock's application for additional low rent public housing units was made about two years ago, and was in the pool of applications made up for Congress last year.

The local application for federal funds for low rent public housing was for 350 units, variously including units for whites, negroes, and Mexicans, the number of units for each group being based on population estimates at the time the application was made up.

W. L. Bradshaw, secretary of the Lubbock Housing authority commission, said last night that it was his recollection that the Lubbock application was for between $1,500,000 and $1,800,000

The units for the various groups were to be located in their respective sections of the city. He said that the local Housing authority had recommended consideration for single dwelling units at the time the application was made up, but did not know if the recommendation would be considered at the present time, since building costs have risen in the interim.

Atlantic Pact

the central issue which has caught the State department in a two-way negotiation between such Senate leaders as Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Connally on one hand and on the other the representatives of the western European nations.

Acheson Statement Endorsed

Mr. Truman discussed the American policy toward the regional security system briefly. After a reporter had told him that as a result of discussions earlier this week there seemed to be some confusion about the American attitude toward the pact.

The President replied that his ideas had been very clearly expressed by Secretary of State Aceson yesterday after an interview with him.

Mr. Truman thus endorsed Acheson's statement reaffirming this country's basic purposes in negotiating such a treaty. Acheson also said the United Sttaes was not backing down from its original intentions. The President's comment made clear that this too was his position.

HST Denies Charge

Furthermore, Mr. Truman said that United States policy had been clearly set forth by resolutions adopted in the House and Senate last June and in his own inaugural message. He added that there was no confusion about the matter at all.

The House and Senate resolutions had simply stated that the United States should associate itself with other nations for the purpose of strengthening its own security through the exercise of the collective right of self defense under the United Nations charter.

On other foreign policy questions, Mr. Truman said:

1. There isn't a word of truth in the charge made by Senator Langer (R-ND) that Mr. Truman had dropped all pretense of trying to keep up bipartisan foreign policy.

Policy Toward Japan Fixed

2. United States policy toward Japan is fixed and it has not changed. He made this comment in connection with the controversy over whether some high official recently had said in Tokyo that American troops might be withdrawn from Japan in case of war. Army Secretary Royall, who was recently in Tokyo, has denied either that he said any such thing or that any plan exists for withdrawing troops.

3. The decision as to whether Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, who is now in Washington, will return to Moscow will have to be made by Smith himself, the President said. Mr. Truman said reports that Ralph Bunche, an American official at the United Nations, might be named to succeed Smith were news to him.

4. As to whether Ambassador James Bruce will return to Argentina, the President said he would know more about that after he had talked with Bruce. He added that Bruce has been trying to resign ever since he went to Buenos Aires (in July 1947).

Reds Lack A-Bomb

sen, assistant chief of naval operations, told a Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting that the Navy has devised a task force formation which would be virtually invulnerable to atom bomb attack.

Fleet Is Shifted

Under the plan, ships would be kept at least two miles apart. Momsen said:

"An atom bomb, even if accurately delivered, could sink no more than one ship."

Momsen, disclosing that the Navy has shifted 70 per cent of its fleet strength into the Atlantic, said anti-submarine warfare techniques may change until "the submarine itself may become the most effective destroyer of submarines."

The admiral said development of anti-submarine techniques have been given top priority in the Navy's defense planning.

Use Would Be Limited

Momsen scored contentions that a future war could be ended in 30 to 60 days by sending a fleet of American bombers carrying atomic bombs over enemy territory. Momsen said:

"I emphasize that national defense is a three-service job—no one service, weapon or type of warfare can win a future war alone, and certainly not in 30 to 60 days."

Robinson asserted that atom bombs will not be used plentifully in any foreseeable conflict, saying:

"The scarcity of its basic material (uranium) and the complexities of its manufacture limit its availability in any war in the foreseeable future, thus imposing on the strategic planner the necessity of using it only where the anticipated results will be the greatest in proportion to its cost."

Flood Danger

of the heavy snow siege. A Nebraska crop statistician said the snows were "just wonderful for pasture and range lands which badly needed" moisture. Lush hay crops were foreseen.

In the northern Rockies area, mild weather brought widespread snowslides which closed five major mines near Wallace, Ida., and isolated for the third time the mining town of Burke, Ida.

Eight homes were destroyed by one slide at Mace, Ida, where one man was injured slightly.

Farther west, in the Cascade mountains of eastern Washington, lower temperatures eased the slide danger, and progress was made toward opening snow-blocked Soqualmie and Stevens passes.

Rail traffic began to move through the range.

Heavy rains whipped by high wind put coastal streams over their banks in western Oregon. U. S. highway 101 along the coast, was under four feet of flood water at Kilchis river north of Tillamook.

The northwest's critical power shortage was given major relief by a boost to full 75,000 kilowatt generating capacity at Bonneville dam as the water flow increased.

Texas Tech Students Attend 'George Washington' Dinner

A "George Washington" dinner was held last night in Hilton hotel for Texas Tech students who take part in the Tech Bible chair. About 185 persons attended.

Carl Spain, Bible chair instructor at Tech, was master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Jim Baker, a Tech student.

At the dinner, plans were announced for a permanent home for the Bible chair, to be located at 2412 Main.

Horace Coffman, song director at the Broadway Church of Christ, sang, and Jimmy Poteet played steel guitar selections. The Plainsman quartet of the Lubbock chapter of the SPEBSQSA, Inc., and Bob Simpson, Tech student, also sang.

Law To Regulate Hospitals Urged

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP)—Representative A. Robin Henderson of Groesbeck today filed for introduction a bill he said would prevent monopolistic control of hospitals by "certain political doctors."

His proposal would make it unlawful for hospitals to refuse admittance to any licensed physician to practice in the hospitals. It would also make it illegal for hospitals to refuse a hospital patient the right to have a doctor of his own choice.

Claims "Closed Shop"

"Certain political doctors in this state have a closed shop worse than anything the CIO ever had," Henderson told a reporter.

"The people of Texas are being subjected to rank discrimination by certain medical associations and hospitals," he continued.

"I'm thinking of the osteopaths," Henderson explained. "They take the same exams as the regular doctors and before the same board—and yet some of our hospitals refuse to let osteopaths enter their doors.

"Some of the hospitals would welcome osteopaths but they're afraid of this minority of political doctors that have closed the door.

"And if my bill makes it all right for negro doctors to take care of their negro patients in hospitals, that's all right; many hospitals already admit negro doctors. Chiropractors—they aren't licensed and don't come under the provisions of this bill."

Provisions Outlined

Henderson called certain medical practices monopolies. His bill makes it unlawful for:

1. Two or more persons, licensed physicians or hospitals engaged in caring for the sick to agree to prevent any other licensed physician from visiting patients in the hospitals or performing operations.

2. Two or more physicians, hospital boards or their agents to agree to refuse to admit for practice any other licensed physician.

3. Any hospital to refuse patients the right to service from a doctor of their own choice.

4. Two or more physicians, pharmacists or hospitals to split fees or revenues or make what is known in the trade as cutbacks.

Anyone violating the above would be subject to a fine of $500 for each day of such violation and his license could be forfeited.

The bill excludes private hospitals operated by a physician for treatment of his own patients.

Waiter Sentenced

secrecy in two of the five trials scheduled.

The commission headed by Brig-Gen. John L. McKee, had imposed the news blackout on the ground it was necessary for American security.

McKee refused to specify Klecka's nationality, but an interpreter said Klecka spoke in Czech in protesting the conviction, declaring: "I am not guilty."

Detailed charges in the case, tried behind locked doors guarded by military policemen, were not disclosed.

Clay Dislikes Secrecy

The Army's public information service put out a statement that Klecka was sentenced "for espionage." A few minutes later, the announcement was corrected to delete the word "espionage" and substitue the words "violation of military government ordinance No. 8."

That ordinance covers "acts prejudicial to the security or mission of the U. S. forces," communication or information "which may be dangerous to the security or property of allied forces" or any other act "endangering the security of allied forces." Gen. McKee told newsmen this "could embrace espionage."

Gen. Clay said he still dislikes the secrecy surrounding the trial, but that in this case it is necessary to protect the witnesses against reprisals. The fifth trial also is to be secret. The other including trial of five persons starting Monday, will be open.

Export Controls

exports now are subject to controls. An American exporter wishing to ship these commodities must first obtain a government license. Commodities cannot be exported without licenses unless they are placed on a so-called "positive list."

Products now under export control include steel, copper, zinc, lead, tin, aluminum, meat, rice and some other foods, a few textiles, some building materials, a few grades of coal, petroleum, certain chemicals and drugs, fertilizers, railway freight cars and parts, and certain types of lumber.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) ranking minority member of the House Banking and Currency committee, which reported out the bill, said a one-year extension of the existing law was "advisable" in view of the unsettled international situation.

Negotiations Fail

went on in the face of a demand by Mayor Bernard Samuel for quick settlement of a 14-cent hourly wage difference.

President Charles Pirolli of the AFL union representing 3,500 Yellow Cab Co., drivers told the taximen at a mass meeting they must get their cabs operating before the company will resume negotiation on wages.

In Washington, President Truman told his news conference that the government has no jurisdiction to intervene in the transit strike. He said it is a matter for the state of Pennsylvania.

HST Not Alarmed

in for a period of general economic advancement.

Pending outcome of these forecasts, government officials have these other straws-in-the-wind to follow:

1. A majority of 17 economists representing private industry today warned Congress against approving the administration's request for higher taxes and wage-price allocation controls. They contended that such a move now would hamper business expansion, and that the lawmakers should postpone action until the 1949 economic picture is in better focus.

Wage Hikes Cited

One of the witnesses, A. D. H. Kaplan of the Brookings Institution, told the Senate-House Economic committee that the present slack in business activity is merely an economic "burp, not a bellyache." Continuing his nursery analogy, he added:

"I think the baby has been taking the bottle very fast since the war. You can't keep crowding milk into a baby—there is a time for letting the baby burp."

2. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce provided its members with statistical weapons for use in an expected battle over labor demands for a fourth round of wage increases. It issued a pamphlet saying that if all business profits were wiped out "prices could be cut for a short time by less than five per cent." It said also that government figures show that both hourly and weekly wages have gone up considerably more than the cost of living since 1939.

Should Know By April

The spring test date for determining which way the nation's fortunes are heading also figured in discussions before the joint Congressional Economic committee.

Theodore Schultz, a University of Chicago economist, told the lawmakers:

"You cannot decide now whether you will be dealing, in the next six months or nine months, with an inflationary economy or something else. By April you should know."

"A major question," Schultz said, is how Congress will deal with agriculture if we have a depression, with say 5,000,000 unemployed."

The drop in employment totals has been on the rise since October reaching a postwar peak of 2,700,000 in January, according to the census bureau.

Since then, however, there has been a levelling with 1,721,000 persons drawing unemployment compensation on February 5, and 347,670 others filing claims to get on the pay lists.

Trieste Coup Feared

longer practical."

Austin recounted the various efforts over the past two years to solve the deadlock on selecting a governor and recalled the notes sent a year ago to Russia by the U. S., Britain and France proposing that Trieste be returned to Italy.

Austin then struck hard at the crux of the situation by adding:

"It is generally known that police-state forms of government were extended by Yugoslavia to its zone with all the attributes of a totalitarian regime which make impossible unification with the United Kingdom-United States zone into an independent democratic territory along the lines prescribed by the peace treaty.

"Under these circumstances the setting up of an 'independent' territory would mean creating an area open to indirect aggression through the pattern well tested throughout eastern Europe and most recently in Czechoslovakia.

Russia Attacks Policy

"For this reason my government has come to the conclusion that the provision of the peace treaty with regard to the free territory of Trieste has become unworkable."

The Security Council adjourned without further decision after the French delegate joined Britain and the United States in declaring the Trieste situation changed to such an extent that a free territory is no longer feasible.

Guy De La Tournelle of France said that there was no reason to change the government's viewpoint, which favors the return of Trieste to Italy.

In his attack, Malik asserted that the British commander of the Anglo - American occupation troops, Major-General T. S. Airey, to make Trieste an Anglo-American capitalistic serfdom."

Malik claimed that the U. S. and United Kingdom were aiming to make Trieste an Angol-American military and naval base

The Soviet government had always considered inadmissible the attempt to revise the Italian peace treaty by way of "private, behind the scenes talks," Malik said.

Cong. Worley said tonight that all cities in the Panhandle had expressed interest in getting a share of the waters of the proposed dam. Worley said the dam would supply waters for both industrial and municipal use. Worley has a bill pending for authorization for the dam.

Both Amarillo and Lubbock city officials have shown interest in obtaining waters from the proposed project should it be constructed.

Gunman Sought

out a back door, so moved over to a window and watched the man, running, turn into an alley next Mark Halsey Drug store No. 3 and disappear.

The victim gave a rather complete description of the gunman. He said he was approximately 30 years old, about 6 feet tall, weighs about 160 pounds, had a tatoo on the outside right wrist, had red hair, had a scar of about an inch and a half on the right cheek and chin, wore dark glasses, and brown corduroy trousers and cap.

To newsmen, later, Crawford said the man spoke with what possibly might be identified as a southern accent, "and he must have been nervous. His hands shook, and I thought there was a quiver of his voice. It was apparent that he was in a hurry, which may explain his not attempting to get more money here."

Placed on Probation

Jim Coffman, 42, of Big Spring and Pyote, was placed under five-year probation after he had entered a plea of guilty of felony theft by bailee Thursday afternoon in the 99th district court of Judge G. V. Pardue.

The indictment charged theft of a truck Oct. 14 from W. M. Beasley, assistant District Attorney W. A. Salyars said.

A jury was waived, and Judge Pardue appointed Claude Craven of Slaton to represent the defendant.

Coffman was arrested Feb. 6 at Monahans, the sheriff's department said.

Loila Johnston, 28, charged with child desertion in a complaint filed in Lynn's court, was placed under $750 bond for his appearance before the next grand jury, officials said. He was arrested at Shallowater by the sheriff's department.

Judgments Signed

The following judgments were signed by County Judge Walter Davies: M. D. Mangus, 58, of Plainview, $75, court costs and revocation of driver's license six months on a charge of drunk driving, and a fine of $1 and court costs in each of the following cases charging check law violation: J. E. Mathis and J. C. White, 21, both of Lubbock, and G. L. Burnett of Levelland.

The sheriff's department said deputies had arrested Pier Loftis, 37, of Lorenzo, at Hurlwood under warrants charging aggravated assault and threat to take a human life. A woman was complaining witness, County Attorney Waggoner Carr and C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, said.

Two Monroe community business places were burglarized Wednesday night or Thursday morning, but loot was described by sheriff's deputies as "exceptionally light."

From West- Keeton Lumber company, a hammer, a hacksaw and perhaps a chisel were missing.

From Fortenberry gin, from $3 to $4 from a petty cash box was taken.

Vault Door "Jimmied"

A vault door in the gin office was "jimmied" but intruders failed to open it.

Deps. Sheriff Earl Horton and Raymond Land made an investigation. They said entrance to each place was through a window, glass of which was broken to allow working of latches.

An unknown amount of gasoline was reported stolen Wednesday night from an irrigation well site on the Dr. Arnett place at Lubbock route 5, the police were informed.

Equipment Was Stripped

The well equipment itself had been stripped a few days earlier, it also was reported. The loss included a starter, generator, carburetor, exhaust pipe, V-8 engine, gas line.

J. B. McCauley of 3207 Twenty-second, who made the complaint, said those who visited the well Wednesday night "cut a fence, and rolled barrels around." He said the gasoline was taken from a 550-gallon storage tank.

Police were informed that a radio, two hub caps and two chrome wheel bands, total value $78, had been stolen from the car of C. G. McKinzie of 1002 College View.

From the Snyder feed barn north of Lubbock came a report that two angora goats had been stolen.

Police said another stolen car the third in two days, had been reported recovered here. It, owned by H. C. Poindexter of 1004 Ave. K., was recovered two miles west of Idalou by a state highway patrolman. It was stolen Wednesday afternoon.

Dunlap's Department store reported to police that a man had stolen window curtains there and later attempted to sell them to a sales lady in the store for $31.80. A description of the man was given to police.

A burglary of a residence at 1620 Fifteenth was reported to police, but loss was slight. The intruder apparently broke a window to the house, entered and took a child's bank which was empty, and a woman's make-up kit, police said.

A prowler who was looking in a window at 910 Ave. X about midnight was captured by a neighbor, police were told, but escaped before arrival of the patrol car. The woman who called police, identified only as Mrs. Rayburn, had called the neighbor on the phone. A description of the man was given police.

UMW CLAIMS COALITION TO UPHOLD LABOR LAW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (INS)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers declared today that a Republican-southern Democrat coalition is ready and able to defeat Senate efforts to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor act.

The UMW said a secret poll taken by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) shows the coalition is strong enough to beat the administration's proposed Taft-Hartley substitute on the Senate floor.

Veto Is Foreseen

The union went on to say in an editorial in the Mine Workers Journal that the probable alternative—passage of a compromise bill retaining many features of the embattled T-H statute—would probably result in a presidential veto. UMW said:

"His (President Truman's) public statements and declared policies would force him to such action. The veto would not be sustained and the T-H law would remain law."

UMW urged as a solution the repeal of all labor legislation—T-H and the old Wagner act — after which "Congress, labor and industry can find a way to enact at least a skeletonized labor code which will preserve the freedom of workers . . . "

CHILD IS KILLED

EL PASO, Feb. 17. (AP)—James Kirksey, two year old son of Capt. and Mrs. Hubert S. Kirksey of William Beaumont general hospital here, was killed instantly this afternoon when run over by a school bus near his parents quarters on the post. Post officials described the accident as "unavoidable."

Miss Laurene Bussey, of 2010 Twenty-Third, who underwent major surgery Wednesday in St. Paul's hospital in Dallas, Thursday was "doing as well as can be expected," according to information received here by relatives and friends. Miss Bussey is a teacher in Lubbock Senior High school.

Sam C. Arnett, sr., prominent Lubbock rancher and retired banker, last night was reported in "very good condition" at St. Mary's hosital, where Thursday morning he underwent major surgery. A hospital attendant said he had a good day Thursday.

Mrs. L. B. Thornton of Slaton last night was reported "doing very well" in West Texas hospital after undergoing major surgery there Wednesday. She is the mother of Mrr. B. L. Taylor of 3316 Twenty-eighth.

Tech Engineering Faculty Attends Annual Dinner Party

Members of the faculty of the Engineering division at Texas Tech and their guests attended the annual Engineering faculty dinner party held Thursday night at Cactus Inn. Approximately 66 persons were present.

Following the dinner, an exhibition square dance was presented by several couples, among them Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Nystel, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baldridge, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mason.

Old-fashioned party games later were played by all persons attending.

R. L. Mason was chairman of the social events committee. Other Engineering faculty members on the committee were Miss Edna Houghton and M. J. Smith.

SHIP'S CREW RESCUED

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Feb. 17. (AP)—The crew of the burning tuna freezer ship Reina Del Mar, who abandoned ship, 450 miles south of here, today were rescued by a passing freighter, the Coast Guard reported. Twelve men were believed aboard the Reina Del Mar. The survivors are to be taken to Magdalena Bay. No reports of injury were received.

Petroleum Industry Hits Pay At Deep Levels Past Year

DALLAS, Feb. 17. (Special)—In 1948, for the first time, the oil industry discovered petroleum deeper than 14,000 feet, according to the fifth annual deep drilling survey of the Petroleum Engineer, international oil magazine.

Before the year was out production was found in five fields below this mark, three in Louisiana, one in Wyoming and one in California. This is the Barnsdall Oil company RSF 66-9 in the Newhall-Potrero field, Los Angeles county, which has the world's deepest producing sand.

Costs Are Reduced

At a cost of more than $65,000,000 the industry invaded the subterranean frontier of the earth, finding 14 new oil and gas pools below 12,000 feet during the year. These were in California, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming. The Texas wells are: Humble Oil and Refining company 1 South Mayes Unit Chambers county, and Slick Urschel Oil company 1 Alford, Benedum, Upton county.

The drill pierced the 12,000 foot mark 179 times in 1948 to make a total of 610 wells in this super-depth class.

The most amazing story that comes out of the worldwide survey is the fact that drilling costs on the average have been reduced from $363,000 per well in 1947 to $334,000 in 1948. This was accomplished in spite of the fact that costs of labor and equipment were increasing.

Two more wells were drilled deeper than 17,000 feet to make three wells at this great depth. One of these is the Superior Oil company's well, Caddo county, Oklahoma, which has the record depth at 17,823 feet. Another one is Denver Producing and Refining company's well in the same county, and the third is Standard of California's well in Ventura, Calif., which is the second deepest in the world.

The number of wells 12,000 feet or deeper in Texas is 106, California is second with 109 and Louisiana leads with 289 deep wells.

County Official Says Evidence Shows Pyramid Clubs Crumbling

The Pyramid clubs are falling apart of their own accord, a report from County Attorney Waggoner Carr indicated Thursday, and are about to die a natural death in Lubbock.

The scheme, "a clearly defined lottery," must suffer demise primarily because it will become top-heavy in membership, Carr was informed by sources who profess to know the scheme's organization. Approximately 32,000 persons would be members within a 15-day period ending Sunday — provided no one dropped out or failed to subscribe to the letter to requirements that he add two members—Carr was informed.

SHE'S NOT A "JOINER"

The Pyramid club is just another club to one Lubbock woman invited to join.

The woman answered the telephone and someone on the other end of the line invited her to join the Pyramid club.

"I'm sorry, but I have been in the hospital. I'm sure you have a nice club, but Im just not joining any clubs," the woman answered.

Some Drop Out

"Already, some have dropped out, after reading that the scheme is a lottery, and have demanded their money back," Carr said he had been informed.

The public's awakening to the fact that the scheme is illegal, together with the warning that those who participate are subject to prosecution, also was accredited in speculation that the organization is tottering.

Wild rumors of extraordinary returns to some individuals have swept the city—just as they have in other cities in many states.

Irregularities Reported

Evidences of irregularities in acceptance of money by some of those in the club also had been reported to Carr.

"I've heard from some sources that fictitious names have figured, that some members doubt if the money that has been paid to some of those higher up will continue to exchange hands. That would mean that there would be no continued payoff."

Carr did not discount the possibility that a court of inquiry may be called eventually to subpoena witnesses for sworn testimony, and to subpoena membership lists of the organization.

He said he and all he had talked with hoped the lottery would die of its own inertia.

Have To Prosecute

"If it does not, there is no alternative for this office. We would have to prosecute, after first determining by every factor available those who are in the thing. Naturally, we'd like most to know who started the scheme in the first place."

He said county court informations could be filed on basis of what was learned in such a court of inquiry, which as a fact-finding agency is somewhat similar to the workings of a grand jury.

"We're still gathering evidence," he said. "If, violations, as reported, continue, we'll be prepared to start calling in witnesses under process to get to the bottom of this thing."

The lottery article provides, in part, that if any person shall establish a lottery or dispose of any estate, real or personal, by a lottery, he shall be fined not less than $100 or more than $1,000.

The courts have held that any scheme for distribution of prizes by chance is a lottery.

They have held that it "matters not what name such scheme may be known, it comes within the prohibition of this article."

"One's guilt of establishing a lottery does not depend on advice received as to the innocent character of the device, nor on his own belief that it was not a violation of law," it also has been held.

Elements essential to constitute a lottery "are a prize in money or other things of value, its distribution by chance and payment, either directly or indirectly, of a valuable consideration for the chance to win the prize."

Princess Margaret Keeping Gossip Going Over Dates

LONDON, Feb. 17 (INS) — Princess Margaret Rose kept gossip alive over her possible romances today by making a weekend visit to the Scottish castle home of the Earl of Dalkeith, a friend since childhood.

Last weekend Britain's No. 1 glamor girl visited the home of a commoner, Tom Egerton.

Today she went to Drumlangrig castle in Thornhill, Dumfrieshire, to be the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch. The couple's only son is the tall, fair-haired 25-year-old earl, Walter Francis John Montague-Douglas Scott. The earl is heir to 500,000 acres of estates covering eight counties.

The earl has been a frequent escort of the princess at theaters and dances, particularly since Margaret spent a weekend last summer at the castle.

Margaret and the earl are scheduled to attend a charity ball at the Central hotel in Glasgow this weekend.

Price Of Milk For Tech's Dorms Is Cut One Cent

The price of milk for the dorms at Tech has been reduced about a cent a quart according to Dr. J. J. Willingham, head of the Dairy department at the college.

Willingham also said that the price for the retail routes that the department covers in the city would also come down around March 1. He said that the general outlook for milk and milk products was better at the college than it had been in months.

The change in price has not effected butter or ice cream as yet.

Abilene Youngsters Heartbroken After Pet Pony Vanishes

ABILENE, Feb. 17. (AP)—A shetland pony disappeared from a back yard here and with her went the dearest possession of a convalescent youngster and his younger brother.

Denver is her name. She is black and white and a real pony. All that is left is the memory of a nickering in the night, a few nibbled hay straws, some dainty hoofprints and the tear stains grooving the loss on the faces of the brothers.

Denver belonged to Doyle, 8, and Pat, 6, sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Knight.

Denny, as Denver was often called, had a special place in the Knight household.

Finds Empty Pen

Shortly after the Knights bought the pony, Doyle was stricken with rheumatic fever. For seven months the fever gripped him and he could not ride.

The Knights moved from Cisco to Abilene to be near Doyle's doctor.

Last November Doyle was able to get out of bed. He could ride Denny. That was his pastime.

Tuesday night Mrs. Knight heard Denver nicker. Wednesday morning when she went to feed the pony she found an empty pen.

Knight, in Corsicana, didn't know of the loss this morning. "I just don't have the courage to tell him," Mrs. Knight said.

Doyle and Pat, in their childish faith, know Denny will come back. Denny has to come back because there isn't money for another shetland.

Foreign Newspapers Sell Out As Buenos Aires Printers Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 17. (AP)—Foreign newspapers flown here sold out in a matter of minutes today as a printers strike kept Buenos Aires newspapers from publishing for the 10th day.

Newspapers from Montevideo, Uruguay, and Santiago, Chile, are arriving by plane. Newspapers here meanwhile have increased use of radio to broadcast news.

Little progress has been made in getting 60,000 printers back on their jobs. The strike, which began Feb. 1, has been declared illegal by the government. The men are seeking more pay than was called for in a contract signed by union leaders and employers.

The labor department has ordered an intervenor to take control of the union but he has not yet been named.

Tech Group Accepted By National Society

Texas Tech Industrial Engineering society, which has been operative since 1938, has been accepted for membership in the national organization, The American Institute of Industrial Engineers, it was announced here Thursday.

Prof. O. A. St. Clair, head of the Tech department of industrial engineering and engineering drawing, made the announcement after a letter had been received from the executive secretary of the national organization, which has headquarters at Ohio State. The letter informed that the affiliation became effective Feb. 8.

The institute is "comparatively new," said St. Clair, sponsor of the Tech society, and C. C. Perryman, professor of engineering drawing, who is co-sponsor. It includes the University of Pittsburgh, Columbia, University of Alabama, Syracuse, Ohio State, and Washington university at St. Louis, among the more widely known schools.

The Tech society has a membership of approximately 50 students. Prerequisite for membership is a major in industrial engineering.

Student officers are: John van Bebber, president; Truett Tyler, vice president, Milas Hubka, secretary; and J. W. Jackson, treasurer.

Spectators Cheer And Weep As Israel's President Takes Oath

By ERIC GOTTGETREU
Associated Press Staff Writer

JERUSALEM, Feb. 17 — Dr. Chaim Weizmann was inaugurated today as the first president of the young state of Israel in a ceremony filled with ancient Hebrew symbolism.

Thousands of spectators lining Jerusalem's streets cheered and wept for joy as they viewed the procession held for the 74-year-old scientist who has devoted a lifetime to the Zionist cause.

Weizmann took the oath in the Jewish agency building before the recently elected Israeli parliament. The 120-member parliament named him president last night on the first ballot after adopting a new constitution.

Foe Of Russia

He had been provisional president since last May, when the British surrendered their League of Nations mandate over Palestine and Israel proclaimed herself an independent nation. Weizmann is pro-western and outspokenly anti-Russian in his views.

As Weizmann entered the chamber for the ceremony today, the shofar (ceremonial ram's horn) was sounded. Joseph Surinzak, 63, speaker of the House, administered the oath in its Hebrew form.

Solemnly raising his right hand, the man who heads the first Jewish state in 2,000 years, said:

"I, Chaim Ben Ozer Weizmann, as president of the state, swear allegiance to the state of Israel and its laws."

"Chaim Ben Ozer" means Chaim, son of Ozer.

At the close of the ceremony, the speaker of the House exclaimed: "Yehi Hanassi!" (Long live the president).

The audience cheered and broke into Hatikvah, the Jewish national anthem of hope.

Weizmann and his wife, Mrs. Vera Weizmann, were congratulated by cabinet and parliament members. The president chatted for several minutes with one of the four Arab members of parliament.

The inauguration was conducted a short distance from Jerusalem's old walled city. The old city still is held by units of Trans-Jordan's Arab Legion as an aftermath of the fierce fighting that accompanied the birth of Israel. The Jews hold almost all of modern Jerusalem.

After the inauguration the president drove to the municipal building. There Mayor Daniel Austrer, acting on a unanimous vote by the municipal administration, presented him with the freedom of the city.

Weizmann was escorted to Jerusalem from his home in Rehovot by a delegation which included 12 members of parliament, representing symbolically the lost tribes of biblical Israel.

Weizmann, a past president of the world Zionist organization, was born Nov. 27, 1874 in Motlyi, near Pinsk. He went to England in 1904 as a lecturer in biological chemistry.

Weizmann's services to Britain as a chemist in World War I are said to have helped British officials decide on the Balfour declaration in 1917—a declaration in which Britain pledged to provide a national home for the Jews in Palestine.

SNOW COMES TO GEORGIA

DONALDSONVILLE, Ga. (U.P.)—Residents of this small southwest Georgia community flocked to doors and windows to stare in amazement at the first snow seen in the town for a half century. There was six inches of it—on top of an automobile trailer heading south out of one of the winter's worst storms.

Grateful Yank POW Repays Kindness Of Former Nazi Guard

MANCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 17 (U.P.)—A former German guard at a prison camp for captured American soldiers is eating well today through the gratitude of a GI whose life he once saved.

G. Louis Beliveau was captured by the Nazis at St. Vith in 1945. Wounded, he was put in a prisoner of war camp. He said he never could have survived on the meager rations without the generosity of one of his guards, Paul von Muller, who lives now in the Soviet-controlled sector of Germany.

Muller gave the American soldier extra food from his own rations. Once, for an Easter present, he gave Beliveau some hard-boiled eggs.

Beliveau has remembered. Every month he thanks his former enemy with a package of food.

"Muller was a guy with a heart: it would have meant death if he been caught," Beliveau said. "This is the least I can do for him now."

U. S. Envoy Claims Reds Placed Enormous Pressure On Cardinal

By JOHN E. LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Feb. 17 — U.S. Minister Selden Chapin arrived in Paris from Budapest tonight and declared "enormous pressure" was exerted on imprisoned Cardinal Mindszenty by his Hungarian Communist captors.

Chapin, whose recall was demanded by Hungary, was accompanied by his wife, and secretary Patricia McCarthy of Syracuse, N. Y. The group sails aboard the Queen Mary Saturday and Chapin will report immediately to the State department in Washington.

Bluntly Denies Charges

The minister said it was "impossible to describe" the change of Cardinal Mindszenty from a stalwart man to the weakened figure at his trial on treason charges.

Chapin was asked about charges that drugs were used on the Hungarian primate. He said such treatment was not absolutely necessary to obtain a purported confession and that "there are many other kinds of pressure." He did not elaborate.

The Hungarian government demanded the recall of Chapin after accusing him of encouraging the Cardinal to plot the overthrow of the Communist government. Chapin again denied these charges as "nonsense and pure fantasy."

Hungary On "Defensive"

Chapin, whose plane stopped briefly at Vienna, said Hungary's regime now is "on a psychological defensive" because of world protests against the treatment of the cardinal.

He said the strong denunciations by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson largely were responsible, adding:

"They (the Hungarian government) are wise enough to know that even when a man is completely innocent if you throw enough filth at him some of it will stick

"It was incredible."

Chapin said he first heard of Hungary's demand for his recall when informed by telephone Saturday by Kingsbury Smith, European general manager for International News Service whose headquarters are in Paris.

At that time he thought the Hungarian move was prompted by a wish to break diplomatic relations. A Hungarian spokesman denied later that Hungary had such an intention.

Chapin said tonight he does not believe Hungary is planning a diplomatic break but he added that "the slow process of isolation of all western embassies in Budapest is being accelerated."

The minister refused to comment when asked if he planned to return to Budapest. Instead he nodded significantly at his baggage, some 15 cases which others in the group said contained all the Chapins', personal effects. Household articles are to be removed later by truck.

Police Seek Vandals Who Tried To Kill Rice Institute Trees

HOUSTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — Police today sought vandals who attempted to destroy 57 beautiful liveoaks at Rice Institute.

N. S. Willison, superintendent of buildings and grounds at the institute, said the trees had been chipped with an ax and that some strong chemicals had been poured into the cut in the tree in an effort to kill the trees.

"I am at a loss to understand why anyone would go to this trouble to try to kill such beautiful trees," Willison said.

Women In Business World Would Pick Men For Bosses

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (INS)— Only one woman out of ten in the business world prefers another woman as a boss.

So says the current issue of the Woman's Home Companion on the basis of a survey. According to the magazine's findings:

Six out of ten women would choose a job bossed by a man. One would pick a woman boss and three would choose a boss on the basis of personality—not sex.

One woman interviewed summed up the feeling of those who prefer a man boss, saying:

"A man is a softy to a woman."

Tipsy Traveler Indignant; Arrested By 'Taxi' Driver

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 17 (U.P.)— A man charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct told Police Judge Frank Hale he couldn't understand why they were holding him.

The judge asked Corporation Counsel John O'Connell to explain.

"Well, your honor, this man staggered out of a tavern, climbed into the back seat of a car and said, "Taxi, take me to Fawcett Avenue'."

O'Connell continued, "The driver was the arresting officer, your honor, and the 'taxi' was a police prowl car."

Negro Pianist Files Suit For $50,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (INS)— Rep. Powell (D) N. Y., said today his pianist wife, Hazel Scott, has filed a $50,000 suit against a Pasco, Wash., restaurant couple who refused her a bowl of soup because she is a negro.

The congressman said the suit was entered under the civil rights law of the state of Washington against Mr. and Mrs. Harry Utz.

In addition, Powell announced, a second suit for $30,000 has been filed against the couple by Mrs. Eunice Wolfe, of White Plains, N. Y., Mrs. Powell's secretary.

Powell said the incident occurred on Lincoln's birthday when a bus to which Mrs. Powell had transferred from a snowbound train stopped at the Pasco restaurant owned by Utz. The congressman said his wife filed a protest at the Pasco police station and added:

"She was virtually ordered to get out despite the fact that she had witnesses, both white and negro, and explained to the policeman that she was the wife of U.S. Congressman Adam Powell."

The congressman declared that because of Utz' refusal to serve her, Mrs. Powell was unable to obtain any food for 27 hours until the bus reached Spokane, Wash.

Texas Highway Blocked After Gasoline Truck Rams Bridge

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Feb. 17 (AP) — Travel over highway 76 between Greenville and Sulphur Springs was blocked for several hours today after a big gasoline truck crashed into a concrete bridge near here and burned.

The truck was operated by Ray Smith Transport company of Dallas and carried 4,115 gallons of gasoline. It was enroute from Dallas to Atlanta, Texas.

The driver, Loyd R. Newman of Fort Worth, escaped without serious injuries.

Solons To Vote On Appointment

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP) — Senate opposition to the appointment of Paul H. Brown of Harlingen as state fire insurance commissioner was talked today, but his confirmation was expected.

Capitol corridor speculation was that Gov. Beauford H. Jester would not have submitted his nomination of Brown if he were not reasonably sure of Senate approval.

A vote of two-thirds of the members present is needed for confirmation of governor's appointees.

Nomination 'Tagged'

Brown's nomination already has been "tagged", Senator Gus Strauss of Halletsville, chairman of the Nominations committee, reported. This means a Senator has requested and will be granted a hearing on the nomination before action is taken.

A long list of appointments awaits committee study and Brown's name will come up in regular order unless the committee decides otherwise, Strauss said.

Brown is former secretary of state. He was campaign manager in both of Jester's races for governor.

If confirmed, he will succeed Marvin Hall. Hall has been fire insurance commissioner the past 12 years. Jester said he was not an applicant for reappointment

Road Commissioner Appointed

Appointment of R. J. Potts of Harlingen as a member of the State Highway commission and M. B. Morgan of Denison as labor commissioner also were submitted by Jester.

Brown would serve as fire insurance commissioner until Feb. 10, 1955, if confirmed. The job now pays $6,000 a year, but the Board of Control has recommended an increase to $7,200.

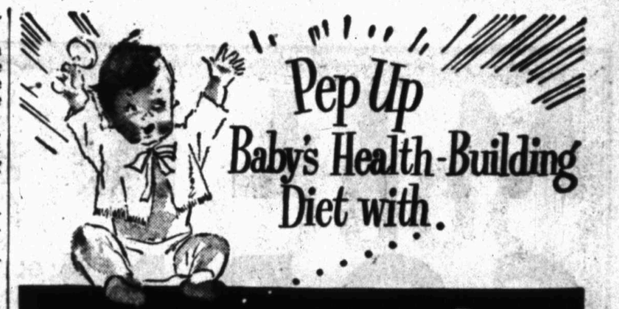

Hall lived in Brownsville when he was named to the insurance commission 12 years ago. He plans to enter the private practice of law.

"I take this opportunity publicly to thank Mr. Hall for his distinguished service to the State of Texas," Jester said.

There are more than 250 different applications of storage battery power today.

SIZE-WISE WHEN YOU BUY

Vacuum packing insures the freshness of coffee until the vacuum seal is opened. After that, air causes the coffee to begin losing freshness. Therefore, coffee should be purchased in a size of container that will be used within a week. About 40 cups of coffee beverage, rich in flavor and aroma, as well as strength, can be obtained from a pound of coffee . . . so

If only two or three cups are made daily in your home, it's WISE to buy the half-pound SIZE of Hills Bros. Coffee.

If you average about six cups of coffee daily in your home, it's WISE to buy the one-pound SIZE of Hills Bros. Coffee.

If larger amounts are made daily in your home, or you entertain often and use a great deal of coffee, it's ECONOMY-WISE to buy the two-pound SIZE of Hills Bros. Coffee.

Antarctic Weather Posts Give Aviation Data For Pacific Area

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 17. (AP)—Australia's two weather outposts on the edge of the Antarctic are furnishing practical aviation data for the Pacific area, getting their information from the frozen wastes where much of the weather is "made."

Reports are sent daily by radio. Don Lindblom, forecaster for Pan American Airways, reports he uses the material from Heard and Macquarie Islands regularly to provide forecasts for his air line's flights on the Sydney to San Francisco service.

The 24-year-old U. S. Navy-trained meterologist from Bemidji, Minn., said the value of the Australian observations from the ice fringe is more than academic or theoretical.

Other Posts Foreseen

Similarly, other observation posts which may be established there can make valuable contributions to daily forecasting. The French government has sent an expedition to Adelie Land in the Antarctic south of Australia, where a group of scientists will make weather observations as well as conduct other scientific exploration. They will be there a year.

Before the Heard and Macquarie Islands stations were established by the government in December, 1947, there was little data about the area south of Australia, Lindblom said.

"By using the data from Heard and Macquarie we might find that a high pressure area lying over the south of the Australian continent extends far south," Lindblom said. "That possibly could mean overcast skies and drizzle in Sydney from air sweeping up from polar areas."

Lindblom added that he used the observations from the two stations for route forecasts of winds and weather for the 1,800-mile stretch from Sydney to New Caledonia and Fiji across the Pacific. Weather stations at Fiji, Canton Island, Honolulu and San Francisco cover the rest of the route.

On "Polar Front"

Heard Island, "windiest place on earth," according to the team of Australian scientists isolated there, lies far south in the Indian Ocean, 2,400 miles southwest of Perth, which is on the southwestern corner of the Australian continent. Macquarie Island, 1,320 miles from Sydney, lies south of the east coast of Australia.

They are located in the region of the "polar front," Lindblom explained. Great cold masses from the poles clash with moist semi-tropical airs to form storm areas which move in a northeasterly direction to the south of Australia. Observations from Heard and Macquarie Islands indicate their approach and passing.

These storm centers or low pressure areas often bring storms with snow, heavy rain, high winds and rough seas to the southern stretches of Australia and New Zealand, closing airports, even disrupting communications and shipping, and agriculture.

Lindblom predicted that the region could become a world weather laboratory if other observations could be added to those now coming from the two Australian stations. "The region is ideal for theoretical studies because of its great water masses," Lindblom said. "Phenomena can be observed there without being disrupted by disturbances from land masses. They could prove or disprove all weather theory if enough accuracy is taken.

Poultry Raiser Says Guinea Chicken Is Match For Any Hawk

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 17. (INS)—Having trouble with hawks?

Just breed a few keets (baby guineas to the uninitiated) and give them some fighting room.

According to guinea breeder Sam Rayburn, San Antonio insurance executive, the queer-shaped chickens are "pretty brave."

"In daytime, at least, they'll take on almost anything that shows up," Rayburn says.

He has taken the unusual step of crossing pearl greys with white Africans to obtain more meat.

His tip on the meat situation—"whenever you see white feathers on a guinea, there's always white meat right underneath."

Cyanide Gas Proves Effective In Texas' Battle On Coyotes

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (INS)—Cyanide gas is rapidly proving to be the victor over the predatory coyote in Texas.

Manufactured under the name "humane coyote getter," the gun is actually a tiny steel cylinder which fires a .38 caliber shell loaded with the gas.

The gun is buried in the ground and can only be fired by a pull on the baiter trigger.

Guns Set On Trails

Generally they are set out in "runs" along trails and highways often for as far as 80 miles.

Many kinds of bait are used, but usually government trappers find that prairie dog meat cured underground has the best appeal for the coyote. The trapper makes his own bait, spreads it on the gun and trigger and leaves the rest of the job to the wind.

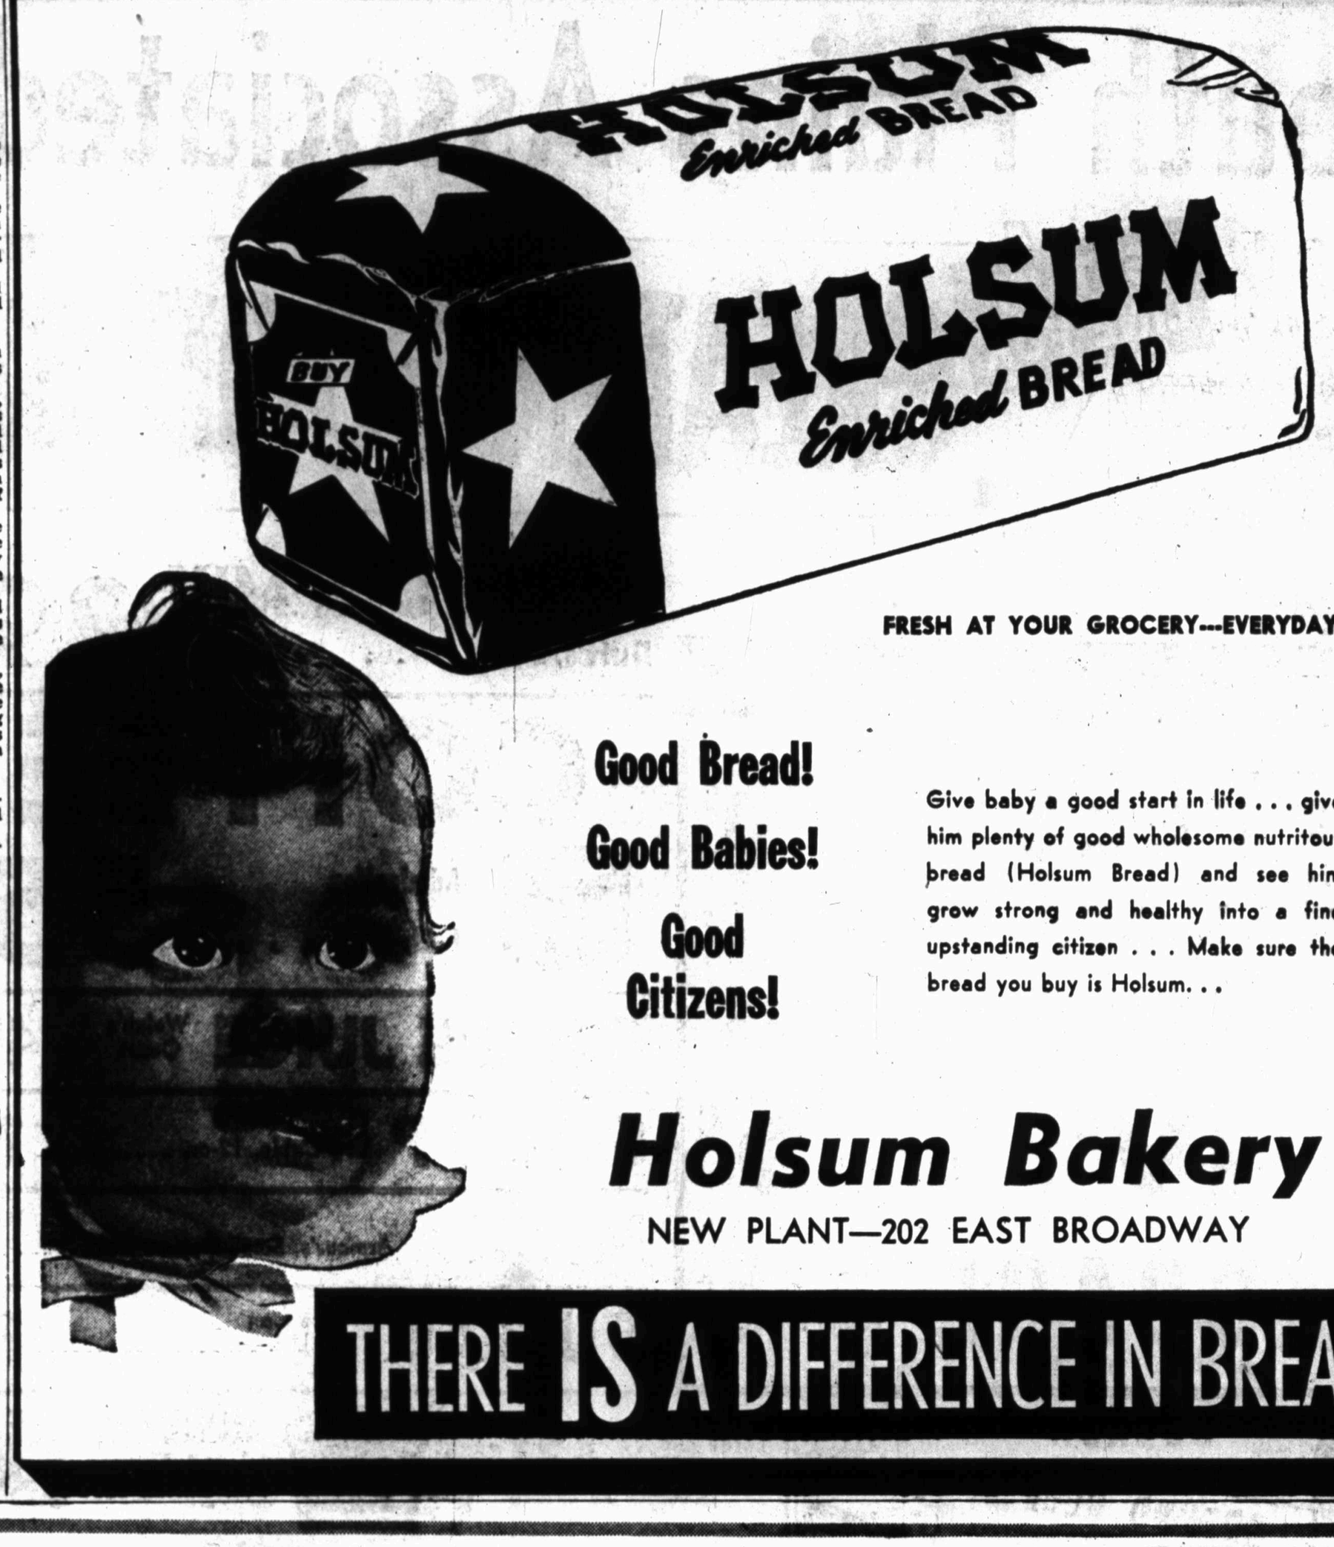

The trigger is tied with a piece of fur or wool thread with the bait. Old man coyote ordinarily can't resist taking a pull at the bait.

The gas paralyzes the blood stream at once, and the coyotes can only move a short distance before they die.

In one Texas county, Motley, more than 900 were killed the first year of such trapping, more than 600 the second, and, during last year 450 fell to the gas, thus showing the gun's effectiveness in disposing of the coyote.

A sign on a church at Wallasey, England, says: "Come in and have your faith lifted."

Why not eliminate prejudice and try Daricraft evaporated milk? Remember, it is nothing but pure wholesome whole milk from the finest of inspected dairy herds, with almost 60% of the natural water removed, and nothing but "sunshine" Vitamin D added . . . and delivered to you in a sealed, sterilized can.

MAKE THIS SIMPLE CREAM PITCHER TEST

Just fill your cream pitcher with chilled Daricraft. Use it in coffee, on cereals, fruits, and desserts. Its improved flavor is delicious. It is convenient, economical, and safe . . . and of such premium quality it whips beautifully in a jiffy when thoroughly chilled. Many doctors recommend Daricraft for infant feeding.

Commission Offers Bill To Set Up Youth Development Council

BY MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—An act designed "to develop our state's most precious resource, its children and youth," was introduced in the Senate today.

It is the bill creating a state youth development council to coordinate all the state's facilities in working with youth and to help all communities develop and strengthen its child services.

The bill is the product of 18 months of study by the Texas Training School Code commission authorized by the legislature two years ago. It was introduced by Senator R. L. Proffer of Justin.

Report Endorsed

The commission found that the state is making "mockery" of rehabilitation of children and recommended immediate creation of the youth development council. Gov. Beauford H. Jester endorsed the report as "forthright and challenging."

In his budget message today the governor said $350,000 in funds had been asked for the council in the next two years.

The most effective place to deal with juvenile delinquency, the bill reports, "is in the area of prevention which means a positive development program for all children and youth." The bill continues that "the state's correctional facilities are not adequate to develop in children the spiritual mental and physical resources necessary for complete citizenship responsibility."

The council would be composed of 16 members—six members who are influential citizens of their communities and interested in youth welfare, the heads of eight state offices which deal with youths and two members recommended by the first 14. The last two appointed members would devote all their time to the work of the council and be paid $7,000 each annually. The other 14 would receive $10 a day for 60 days each year.

The council would take over control of the state's three training schools—one for boys at Gatesville, for girls at Gainesville, and for negro girls at Brady. Delinquent children would be committed to the council rather than to one of the schools. The council then could order the child studied by psychiatrists or medical authorities and could study the life and behavior of the child before deciding disposition of the child.

The council also would: Carry on a continuing study of the needs of all children in the state, make studies and provide information to strengthen the family in meeting its responsibility for children and their youth.

Body Of Woman Found On Road Believed Dumped From Auto

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Feb. 17 (U.P.)—The battered body of a 26-year-old widow was found on a highway near the entrance to a state park today.

A coroner said she apparently had died of an attempted abortion. Police believed her body had been dumped from a car onto the highway and then deliberately run over, or hit by another car accidentally.

Police identified the victim through clothing and jewelry as Mrs. Roberta Danks, widow of an Army Air Force flight instructor who was killed in Texas in a post-war plane crash.

Coroner Theodore Makovsky said that an abortion was performed on Mrs. Danks shortly before her death.

"This definitely is murder," he said.

Police established that the victim was hit by a car and her body dragged 100 feet along the highway. But they said there was no blood on the highway, indicating she was killed elsewhere and dumped out of a car before she was run over.

She suffered a broken jaw, crushed chest and a wound on the temple. She was fully-clothed, except for her shoes which were found 40 feet from the body.

Reconversion Note: 'Shmoo' Car Enters Low-Price Field

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—Emory Sanfield, 32, is used to having policemen flag him over to the curb.

But not for speeding or reckless driving. Invariably the officer gives out with the same question:

"What in the world is that contraption you're driving?"

It's a "shmoo," which the railroad clerk and backyard mechanic fashioned from a one-cylinder motor scooter engine and a P-38 belly tank. The car is registered as a motorcycle.

Sanfield, who finished his jalopy in two months at a cost of $400, has taken several trips to San Francisco and averages 57 miles to a gallon of gas. The car has one reverse and two forward gears and cruises up to 45 miles an hour.

Soviet Press Shows Unusual Interest In Eisenhower's Recall

MOSCOW, Feb. 17. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's appointment as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff is receiving considerable attention from the Soviet press.

Most newspapers published a dispatch credited to a Washington correspondent of The London Observer, saying the appointment was connected with formation of an American general staff to deal with planning military aid to Europe.

It also is being asserted that Eisenhower will devote his attention to the Mediterranean area. A story from Athens was carried under the headline: "Coming arrival of Eisenhower in Greece."

While interest in Scandinavian developments remain high here, the press also is showing great interest in the Mediterranean and Middle East.

One commentator said the U.S. is seeking to get all the countries of the Middle East as well as Iran, Afghanistian, India and Pakistan into the proposed North Atlantic pact. Another commentator said efforts were in progress to reconcile Italy and other Mediterranean countries with Spain.

Another headline today said "American Plans For Trusteeship Over Tripolitania."

77-Year-Old Widow Starts On 20,000 Mile Tour Of World

WEST HARTFORD, Vt. (U.P.)—At 77, Mrs. Dora K. Handy has decided to see the world.

The widow, traveling alone, abruptly left her hilltop farm here for a 20,000-mile tour of Europe and Africa. She will cover much of the trip by plane.

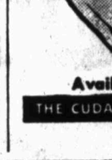

"Two wars have been fought since I traveled last and many changes have taken place in the world," Mrs. Handy said. "I plan to see as much as I can."

POLITICAL SITUATION NOW QUIET

Americans Finding Havana Still Tops For Tourist Entertainment

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Feb. 17—Norteamericanos are rediscovering Havana with such wild enthusiasm that Pan American world airways alone is now flying about 7,500 of them per week from Miami, only one hour away by PAA's handsome convairs.

The big barges like the British Mauretania and our America are putting in near ancient Morro Castle and spilling their American passengers into the story-laden streets of this ancient capital.

It is perhaps just as well that the planes and ships return before many days pass. It's easy for a bloke to get that old manana feeling in this land of blue water and whispering palms.

Political Outlook Quiet

Things political are peaceful and the Cuban sugar crop this year will be a lusty 5,000,000 tons. There is much talk of a greater Cuba of the future, but it is the present—with its vital, horn-blowing pace— and the past that interest the American tourist from above the border.

Havana is one of those timeless town... like Paris and London, yet to one who hasn't seen it since before the war the physical changes are marked.

There are scores of handsome new buildings, most of them designed by young Cuban architects, and some of them would not appear out of place on Constitution avenue in Washington or on Fifth avenue.

Young Goar Mestre's new 10-story radio center, housing the Cuban radio network, Circuito CMQ, would bring a blush to the cheek of radio officials in New York.

New Homes Modern

The new apartment houses are modern and swank beyond description, with great balconies and promenades to command views of the city and unforgettable harbor. The new homes on the way to the U.S. embassy and old Cuban yacht club make the stucco palaces of our movie stars in Beverly Hills seem cramped and flung-together.

There is still something about the Daiquiri down here that makes it taste better than at any other place in the world. The world's number one daiquiri bar remains La Florida, in the clamoring downtown section. Its proprietor, a very rich man by now, insists on tending bar to see that the potent potion is just right.

The perfect weather of Havana makes dining in the outdoors at night a great treat, but some of the more venerable indoor places, including the old marbled "Paris" next to the cathedral, recover a lot of nostalgic trade among the visitors.

The massive and beautiful Tropicana night club and the more intimate Sans Souci are having their best seasons in years.

Their top talent, as of old, comes from Spain. You will never hear English spoken, except by an occational master of ceremonies and then oddly, it is a jarring note in a land filled with a more melodious tongue.

Band Is Tops

There is a Spanish band of troubadours at Tropicana who are the most versatile musicians I've ever seen gathered into one unit. They make music that caresses the ear and warms the heart. Maybe it was the full moon shining down on them through the royal palms, but they seemed to me to be a thousand percent better than any U.S. or imported Cuban band I ever heard.

The wheels still whir and the bones gallop at the Casino at night. Tiny, crowded Cuban street-cars still clank along like runaway trains, and the normally amiable and gracious Cuban gets a glint in his eye and his hand itches for the horn button as soon as he gets behind the wheel of his shiny new American car. Habaneros strolling along the old prado, ignore him. Americans, at first, flee for their lives.

You are more than safe at the rowdier back-street rumba bistros late at night, but it is better to have a Cuban friend or a Spanish-speaking veteran pub-crawler along for comfort and counsel.

The big hotels, including the memorable Nacional, still managed by the stalwart Boston Irishman Jim Ennis, can route you around the ancient and modern wonders of the city and island and you won't get gypped.

"We'll get bigger every year as a tourist attraction," Ennis told us. "Cuba has something that no other country can offer—a wonderful old foreign capital that can be reached from the United States in an hour. I've been down here long enough to talk like a member of the chamber of commerce, so I want to add that Havana also has the best weather in the world. We get 350 days of sunshine out of every year. Beat that!"

Fort Worth Opens Campaign To Enforce Traffic Safety

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17 (U.P.)—Some 200 white-satin arm bands bearing black "under 30" inscriptions and provided by the Fort Worth safety council will be worn by Fort Worth policemen as a part of the traffic safety campaign for the town.

Meanwhile, Police Chief R. E. Dysart said there appeared to be "a definite trend now toward self-discipline by motorists." Motorists are beginning to drive under 30, and pedestrians have become more cautious, he said.

Too, there has been a steady increase in the number of tickets issued for moving traffic violations, Dysart said.

The campaign was started after Fort Worth experienced its worst January in traffic fatalities on record, with 10 deaths. To date, there have been 11 in the city.

The police chief added also that there was "a conspicuous absence" from motor vehicles in the city of the 6,000 "under 30" windshield stickers recently distributed.

Prisoner Escapes Jail After Fishing Keys From Drawer

BAIRD, Feb. 17. (AP)—Columbus Wright, a prisoner in the Callahan county jail here, escaped by "hook and crook" literally.

Sheriff Joe Pierce said Wright attached a hook to the end of a pole made from broom and mop handles. With this the prisoner, held on burglary charges, fished keys out of a drawer in an office adjoining the cell. He unlocked the doors today and walked away.

Wright had been transferred here from the Abilene jail.

Sweden Fears Norway Will Be 'Turkished' By Soviet Troops

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Swedes, fearing Norway may be put in a "Turkish position," have added a new phrase to the terminology of the cold war which aptly describes something that is happening to a large part of the world.

Swedish officials are reported to believe that if Norway signs the Atlantic pact Russia will not confine herself to mere diplomatic measures.

They believe Russian troops will be deployed in threatening positions, thus "Turkishing" Norway by forcing her to drain her economy by keepink large forces mobilized. This would make her more dependent on foreign aid, adding to the burden being carried by the United States and so creating another chain reaction in the cold war.

The Swedes fear such a demonstration against Norway might also involve them. "There is another possibility," one official says. "I prefer not to think about it. That is a Russian occupation of the Finnish Aaland archipeago, facing Stockholm. That would be a pistol at the heart of Sweden." And, presumably, Sweden would also be "Turkished."

The Swedes may be talking in an effort to persuade Norway that her best interests still lie in a Scandinavian defense pact instead of in the Atlantic pact. But the expressed fear also fits in with current reports of Russian military activity in Northern Germany and her renewed propaganda campaign against Finland, through which Red troops might wish to move.

Weakens Capitalist Economy

It also fits in with what has been happening on a broad scale for a long time.

Russia, by her expansionist pressure, forcing the expenditure of vast sums for both military and economic mobilization, is putting the world in the "Turkish position."

Whether this is done consciously —which seems likely—the effect, from Russia's standpoint, is to weaken the capitalist economy.

Two Are Killed When Bomb Explodes In Saigon Store

SAIGON, Indo-China, Feb. 17 (AP) — Two persons were killed today when a bomb exploded in a large store in the center of town. A guard attempting to dispose of the bomb was one of the victims.

Police blamed the explosion on Viet-Namese terrorists. The Viet-Namese want a free state in Indo-China.

Vets Asked To Submit Reports

West Texas veterans taking institutional on-farm training under the GI Bill must submit reports of their 1948 earnings to the Veterans Administration Regional Office here by March 1, in order to continue receiving subsistence allowances, Robert W. Sisson, VA regional manager, said Thursday.

Failure to submit the reports before the deadline may result in suspension of subsistence payments until such time as the reports reach VA.

The reports — covering income from productive labor only, for the calendar year 1948—will be used by VA as the basis for adjusting each veteran's subsistence for the current year, 1949.

Setup Is Explained

Under the law, subsistence allowance will be reduced if a veteran's monthly income from productive labor plus his subsistence allowance exceeds $210 a month if he has no dependents, $270 if he has one dependent, or $290 if he has more than one dependent.

The annual earnings report is based upon farm accounting records kept by the veteran farm-trainee as a part of his course of instruction.

In the case of a veteran operating a farm for himself under the training program, income from productive labor is computed by deducting from his yearly net farm income, (1) the interest on his capital investments and (2) an amount for unpaid family labor, and by adding an estimated value for family living furnished by the farm.

His net farm income is derived from the difference between inventories at the beginning and end of the year and from a detailed account of all receipts and expenditures in connection with his farm business.

Veteran-trainees received necessary VA Forms (Form No. 7-1922) early this year. As a part of their course of training they receive assistance from their instructors in closing their books for the past year, and in transferring data to the VA Form.

The VA regional manager said that on December 31, 1948, a total of 4,426 veterans in the West Texas VA Region were enrolled in institutional on-farm training courses under the GI Bill; of this number 729 were disabled veterans.

Tilden Is Sentenced On Morals Charge

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (INS)—William (Big Bill) Tilden pleaded guilty today to a morals charge involving a teen-age boy and was sentenced to a year in jail.

The sentence was ordered to run concurrently with a similar one given on Feb. 10 for Tilden's violation of probation on a former morals charge.

Juvenile Judge A. A. Scott in passing sentence on the 56-year-old tennis instructor, warned him: "Someday someone is going to take a shot at you for this sort of thing."

Theft Convinces Austin Girl That Her Lover No Longer Loves

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (INS) — Police didn't show much interest when an Austin girl walked into the station and wanted to charge her lover with "no longer loving her."

Their interest rose when she explained how her lover had let her know his affections were no longer warm.

The girl says she handed her boyfriend her purse to hold while she went across the street to make a purchase. When she returned $12 of her money was gone.

The thing that really made her mad, she says, is that when she got home she found that the "boy friend" had beat her to her room and stolen a cartoon of cigarettes.

Undesirable Mesquite May Be Doomed As Scientists Develop Powerful Machine

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 17.—The undesirable mesquite tree that is robbing the nation of many thousands of acres of crop or cattle raising land is facing a deadly blow from science.

The tree is being "pulled" from the face of the earth by a new device developed at the Southwest Research institute here and already hundreds of acres have been cleared, opening up new fields for crops and lands for cattle.

Pulls Trees In Two Yanks

The invention commonly is known as a "tree-upper." Attached to a tractor, it pulls up trees in two yanks. The roots and all come out and the necessity of dynamiting stumps is eliminated.

The invention was primarily designed to attack the mesquite tree, a "weed" tree that grows throughout the southwest and takes nourishment out of the earth. It will work, however, on most any type of tree up to 11 inches in diameter.

"The "puller uses hydraulic jacks with the compressed air being furnished by the tractor motor. Scientists here explained that most standard tractors are equipped to produce compressed air, and that the "puller" which weighs about 3,000 pounds, can be attached quickly.

At the bottom of each two hydraulic jacks there is a pair of clinchers. They clamp tightly around the trunk of the tree and the hydraulic lifts, which have a total combined lift capacity of 60,000 pounds, do the yanking upward. Usually two yanks are necessary. One lifts the tree about two feet, and the second takes it all the way out of the earth along with the roots.

The "puller" is one of about 40 inventions that the institute of inventive research, part of oil millionaire Tom Slick's program here, has investigated. In all about 4,000 inventions have been submitted to the institute.

The San Antonio scientists reported that the first model of the tree puller was completed in 1947 and that since that time had won successful tests. The institute is now in the process of marketing the device and at least four manufacturers are expected to put it into production soon.

It is a "little brother" to the bulldozer, the scientists here say, but has more advantage when it comes to clearing spaces of trees.

SOVIETS CLAIM AMERICAN WRITER IS SPY

High-Ranking Diplomat Believes Reds Ordered Ouster After Authoress Became 'Disillusioned'

By TOM AGOSTON
INS Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT, Feb. 17—A high-ranking Allied diplomatic official said today the Russians labeled American authoress Dr. Anna Louise Strong "a spy" and ordered her expelled from Russia when she became "disillusioned about the Soviet cause."

This official, who insisted on keeping his identity secret, spent several years in Moscow and made his comments to International News Service in Frankfurt.

Pact Claimed Violated

In ordering the expulsion last Monday of Dr. Strong, 64-year-old native of Friend, Neb., the Russians termed her a "notorious American intelligence agent."

The Russian foreign ministry in a reply to a U.S. note of Feb. 15 concerning the arrest of Dr. Strong repeated Thursday that she will be deported "within a few days." The ministry said she was arrested "for conducting espionage—subversive activity aimed against the U. S. S. R." No elaboration of the charge was given.

State department spokesman Michael J. McDermott charged in Washington that Russia, in refusing to allow American diplomats to interview Dr. Strong, has violated the 1933 agreement under which the United States recognized the Soviet regime. He said Russia ignored two requests by Foy D. Kohler, charge d'affaires in Moscow, to see the arrested American.

"Broke" with Kremlin

The arrest and expulsion order caused surprise among observers because the many articles and books penned by Dr. Strong have been considered friendly to Russia.

Only a few weeks ago the New York Daily Worker, Communist party organ, had nominated Mrs. Strong for a Pulitzer prize for "Fair" and "Objective" reporting of the Soviet scene.

The Allied diplomatic official said that the final break came when Dr. Strong—noted as an expert on Far Eastern affairs—was refused permission by the Russians to make a new visit to the troubled zones of China and Korea.

The official said:

"Dr. Strong's ouster was a direct result of her increasing differences with the Kremlin.

"Recently she became disillusioned about the Soviet cause and hence was considered no longer useful."

Husband Believed Dead

The diplomat said that Dr. Strong lived "entirely apart" from the western residential colonies in Moscow, occupying an apartment granted to her by Soviet officials.

He added that her expulsion is being made to serve a "useful propaganda purpose" and is another of the "annoyance" measures taken against western nationals.

This diplomat said the Russians are engaged in a thorough "housecleaning" to break up East-West relations wherever possible. He cited the case of two Russian-language teachers attached to the Allied diplomatic corps in Moscow who "disappeared in quick succession."

The official said that a number of other "western-oriented" linguists in Moscow "have been moved eastward."

He added that he believed that Dr. Strong's Russian husband was "liquidated" but was unable to give any details.

Her husband was Joel Shubin, a Russian agricultural expert whom she married in 1932. He died in 1942.

In discussing the general East-West situation the diplomat said the Soviet press is paying little attention to the Chinese civil war despite Chinese Communist gains.

As for the frequently reported anti-Communist uprisings in the Ukraine he considered these "most unlikely" because of the iron control exercised by Communist bosses over the nationalistic Ukrainians.

Asked if the Soviets are preparing for war the diplomat said:

"Yes, like everyone else.

"But the 'cold war' is paying off better for them on both a long and short-term basis."

Jewish Community Center Honors Jim McNamara For Friendly Work With Boys

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — This happened back in the early 1930's.

A dead-end kid named Bill (let's say) got himself fouled up in a minor robbery. First offense. The judge, who could have looked into the case more carefully, didn't. If he had, he would have found Bill was a good boy at heart; just misguided. A lad who had laced onto the wrong gang across the wrong track.

Another boy, who had soaked up a few lumps himself, saw the story about Bill in the papers. He looked him up in the reform school. Then he called on the judge. His Honor saw the light and yanked a couple of strings that wiped off the dirty marks beside Bill's name.

Is Athletic Director

Today, Bill is a $25,000 a year business man; a happy one. The "other boy" makes about one-third that, give or take a couple of hundred, but he's just as happy.

The "other boy" in the picture is Jim McNamara, a 230-pound, flat-nosed Irish-Catholic. He happens by chance—and design, too—to be director of athletics at the Jewish community center here.

Around the punching bags, on the basketball courts and at the swimming pool the boys call him "Father Goldberg." And with reverence.

Big Jim, now in his mid-40's, has been at the center for 23 years. As I said, he's been over the bumps himself. He was born in Somerville, Mass., the son of a cop. His father, Tom McNamara, is still alive and Jim says "he can still lick me."

Gives Kids Boost

Young Jim did so well in high school athletics—track, football, and basketball—that he was offered an athletic scholarship at Georgetown university here. They're still talking about Jim out there—for his prowess in football, as a pitcher in baseball and in boxing.

Jim McN. had a hard time making the grade, but he did. And he has a philosophy. It's something like that of the late Lou Gehrig, the great first baseman for the New York Yankees. And that's to give a booster to the kid who couldn't quite make it to first base.

Jim actually spends more time around the juvenile courts than he does in his own gymnasium.

Director of the center, Ed Rosenblum, has learned not to be surprised if he shows up in the middle of the afternoon with a non-paying guest of any nationality — Irish, Jewish, Russian, German or Italian.

In fact, two of the boxing teams Jim took to the National AAU were made up of 50 per cent Jewish boys and 50 per cent of several other nationalities.

He treated 'em all alike, though, and advised each in his patter from the ring apron to "give him a left to the kishkis"—which is Jewish for "let him have one in the tummy."

These boys, by the way, were among the 3,500 kids trained in athletics—pay if they can—at the Jewish center.

And so tonight, after 23 years, the center finally got around to recognizing Big Jim officially.

They gave him an honorary membership in B'Nai B'Rith—the sons of the covenant of the American-Jewish service organization.

That plus a plaque.

Plus a quiet, but sincere—"Thank you, Father Jim Goldberg."

Five Texans Nominated By HST To Post Office Posts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP) — President Truman sent some 700 postmaster nominations to the Senate today—among them five from Texas.

Nominations for Texas included Irvin L. Hergert, Perryton; John O. Bier, Plainview; Opal F. Roberson, Temple; Granville W. Elder, Houston and Thomas G. Sandel, Huntsville.

The White House said most of the nominations were of men previously named by Mr. Truman during the last session of the 80th Congress.

Senator Taylor Apologizes To Senate And Murphy For Remarks

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP) — Senator James Taylor of Kearns today personally apologized to the Senate and to war-decorated Audie Murphy.

"I want each member to know that I personally regret the remarks I made last Tuesday," Taylor told the Senate. "I certainly had no intention of reflecting on the gallant young man who was speaking."

A telegram was read which Taylor said he had sent to Murphy apologizing and explaining that the remark was "a mistake of the mind and not of the heart."

Taylor had objected to a Senate recess to hear Murphy address the House while Taylor's bill to revamp the state's educational system was under consideration. "I have seen men buried who deserved more medals than Audie Murphy ever got," he said at that time.

Armored Cars Used In Italian Rioting

ROME, Feb. 17. (AP)—Armored cars were used against 1,000 entrenched factory workers today to break up the worst disorders in Italy in the last six months.

The Ministry of Interior said 30 persons were wounded, some by gunfire, at Isola Liri, a town of 10,000 population 50 miles south of Rome. The rioting was described as the bloodiest since disorders set off by the attempt on the life of Communist Chief Palmiro Togliatti last July 14.

APATHY OF CITIZENS ASSAILED

Bradley Warns American People Risk Losing Fight On Stateism

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (INS)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, U. S. Army chief of staff, warned tonight that the American people risk losing the struggle against stateism by "default" unless they stop acting as "ten per cent citizens."

The World War Two combat leader asserted the mere possession of atomic bombs is not enough to insure victory in the contest between personal freedom and stateism.

Apathy Is Scored

Bradley, in a strongly worded article in the current issue of Collier's magazine, assailed what he termed "atrocious post-war apathy" and lack of individual responsibility in community and national welfare affairs.

The former head of the Veterans' administration, declared that what America needs is some "old-fashioned willingness to do the chores," adding:

"Our danger lies not so much in a fifth column whose enmity is avowed. If lies in a first column of well-meaning American citizens . . . who are 100 per cent Americans in their daily protestations and ten per cent citizens in their daily routine of neglect.

"We are engaged in a contest today over the integrity of the individual versus the integrity of the state. It is a contest as startlingly dramatic as the air lift into Berlin. It is a contest in which ideas are as important as the atom bomb."

Self Interest Assailed

Bradley scored "blind self-interest above country," over-dependence on Washington and what he described as "citizenship by the dollar sign," he said:

"Too many of us have accepted the dangerous illusion that we can buy off our responsibilities as citizens in payment of taxes or by private donations."

Bradley said the "greatest cause" for delinquency in citizenship can be traced to a "declining sense of responsibility in the home, the church, the school and the community in which we live."

He described the post-war generation as "plainly undisciplined, jealously aware of rights but not of responsibilities, mercenary and antagonistic to authority."

Bradley continued:

"The World War Two generation worships economic security above all else because in depression and in war they were victims of default by their parents.

"At a time when peoples throughout the world are being courted by an aggressive stateism that would have them abdicate their personal share in government and entrust their welfare to rule by clique, the American people must pit their faith in not less —but more—personal responsibility in the affairs of their community and nation.

"A Democracy such as ours cannot be defeated in this struggle, it can only lose by default."

Commercial Students Operate Store For Business Experience

PLYMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 17 (U.P.) —A student-operated general store that takes learning out of the classroom into everyday experience was opened recently at Plymouth High School.

Originated by Philip Tapply, an instructor in the commercial departments, the store's different departments are staffed by students in appropriate courses.

The business organization set up the store and decides on policy. Salesmanship students work behind the counter while bookkeeping students keep the records and prepare monthly statements.

Selling everything from shoes to soft drinks, it is organized as a corporation and financed by stock sold to the students.

"We try to stay away from book learning and make it a living experience," Tapply said. "People may feel this shop may take profits away from town businesses. Sure it will — probably $25 a year from each store. But it will come back to them — and then some — when these trained students go to work for them later on."

SPLINTS KEEP "BUTCH" WALKING—"Butch," a 4-month-old Fox Terrier, jumped from the arms of his master, Nathan Coldren, skidded on a rug and broke his two front legs. Virginia VFW Posts Use Nazi Flag To Protest Artist Program

BRISTOL, Tenn.-Va., Feb. 17 (U.P.)—The Bristol, Va., post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars flew a nazi swastika under an inverted American flag today protesting an appearance of Singer Kirsten Flagstad.

The singer was accused of being a Nazi sympathizer during the war.

The veterans called their flag-flying a "distress signal." A controversy over the concert has raged here for days.

It was reported that the flag display had been ordered down by U. S. Army headquarters at Richmond after the local Army recruiting station complained.

Official's Belief In Air Power Costs Magazine One Subscriber

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 17. (INS)—Bexar County District Attorney William Hensley is a man who believes in action.

[illegible]y's firm convictions is that sea power will be replaced by air power. He recently cancelled his subscription to a national magazine which published an article to the contrary.

Hensley said he wrote the letter immediately because he wouldn't be able to find the editor in a bombed-out city later.

Airpower, said Hensley, is the only real effective means for survival. "Twice in one generation," he said, "we have paid a tremendous price for the folly of not being prepared with modern weapons."

If you don't agree new Perk is the best soap you ever used, return the unused portion of the package to Armour and Company, 1355 W. 31st St., Chicago, and you'll receive double the price you paid, plus postage.

and here's proof beyond question

. . . scientific proof from 1,218 washing tests!

PROOF 1. PERK washes whites whiter . . . ends graying forever

Wash after wash tests gave these results on the Hunter Reflectometer: New Perk with Armocel washes whites from 31° to 46° whiter, keeps them WHITER than any other leading type of soap. Perk contains no bleach, you need no bleach, for Perk alone removes accumulated grayness; and Perk prevents future graying.

PROOF 2. PERK washes and keeps colors brighter with perfect safety

PROOF 3. PERK cuts washing time ½! Saves wear on clothes

Now—a 10-minute or even a 5-minute washer run with new Perk gets fabrics cleaner than a 20-minute run with other types of soap. Here's proof . . . Identically soiled fabrics were washed in the scientific Launderometer with new Perk and with three other well-known types of soap. New Perk actually removed more dirt . . . washed clothes cleaner in ¼ to ⅓ less time! That saves wear and tear on clothes!

PROOF 4. PERK saves you ⅓ on soap PERK saves you money

Identically soiled fabrics were washed to equal degrees of cleanliness with new Perk and three other leading types of soap. In each case it required ⅓ less of new Perk—than of the best of the other soaps to get clothes really clean.

Proof tells you why it pays to buy—PERK for clothes for dishes

"Start the Day on the South Plains"

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Friday, February 18, 1949

Santa Fe Slates Schedule Change

Santa Fe passenger schedule changes affecting the South Texas to California transcontinental service and the Lubbock to Dallas sleeper service were announced Thursday by H. C. Vincent, traffic manager, Amarillo. The new schedules will go into effect February 20.

For California passengers the Houston to Clovis trains have been changed to connect with the "Grand Canyon" at Clovis, affording improved, one-night service between South Plains and West Texas and the West Coast.

The Houston to Los Angeles chair car and sleeper, and a new sleeper plying between Houston and Oakland, will be added to the "Grand Canyon" at Clovis.

Service Improved

Under the new schedule, north and westbound, the train will leave Houston at 6:50 p. m. instead of 8:10 a. m. This will bring it through Sweetwater at 5:40 a. m. with early morning service to Snyder, Post, Slaton and Lubbock at 8:25 a. m. and into Clovis at 11:30 a. m. central time to connect with the "Grand Canyon."

South and eastbound the new train will leave Clovis at 4 p.m. Central Time, passing Lubbock at 6:25 p. m. and other South Plains communities in the early evening, and into Sweetwater at 9:15 p. m. Houston arrival is 8:05 a. m. the following morning.

These new schedules will afford Plains residents overnight sleeping car service each way between Houston and West Texas, as well as improved sleeping car service to California.

Schedules Speeded Up

On the Lubbock-Dallas service, operated via the T. & P east of Sweetwater, the Dallas-bound sleeper and through chair car will continue to leave Lubbock at 9 p.m. daily but will reach Sweetwater at 11:59 p.m. instead of 12:30 a.m.

Fort Worth arrival time has been advanced to 5:40 a.m. instead of 7:35 a. m. and Dallas will be reached at 7 a.m. instead of 8:45 a.m.

Lubbock-bound, the sleeper and chair car are scheduled for a thirty-minute advance in depar-

'Roosevelt Dinner' Slated At Waco

Texas Demo Meeting Protests Morrow

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Feb. 17.—A group of Central Texas Democrats today wired President Truman asking him to help in getting Wright Morrow of Houston removed as National Democratic committeeman from Texas.

They also wired Governor Beauford Jester, saying they hold him responsible for Morrow's continuing on the executive committee and asking Jester to help get Morrow removed and Byron Skelton of Temple recognized as national committeeman.

The action brought "no comment" from Jester and indifference from Morrow.

Jester at Austin said he had received a telegram from Waco protesting continuation of Morrow as national committeeman, but said he had "no comment" at this time.

Morrow said "I have no comment to make; it's just the same old story. I assume anybody what wants to can send a telegram."

Frank Fitzpatrick of Waco was named chairman of a steering committee for Democrats of the 11th congressional district and the 13th and 21st senatorial districts, represented at a luncheon here. D. Ray Adams of Temple was named vice chairman and Winston Liles of Temple, secretary.

Roosevelt Dinner Planned

The group decided to hold a Roosevelt dinner in Waco to raise money for the democratic party—terming it the first Roosevelt dinner ever held by party members in the United States.

The dinner here would precede regular party Jackson-Jefferson day dinners at Austin and elsewhere. U. S. Senator Lyndon Johnson will be invited to speak

The Waco dinner was described as not in competition to the other affairs, but preceding them, and raising funds for the same purpose.

Caso March, chairman of the district caucus, presided at today's meeting.

Morrow Denies Charges

The September state Democratic convention in Fort Worth voted to oust Morrow and replace him with Skelton. Similar action was taken by the State Executive committee of the party. Morrow has been accused of party disloyalty—an accusation he has denied.

The telegram to President Truman read:

"We respectfully request that you use your influence to have the National Democratic execu-

Texans Confer With Truman During Visit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (Special)—Myron Blalock, former Democratic national committeeman for Texas, Col. Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad commission, and J. S. Abercrombie, Houston oil operator, called on President Truman today and were cordially received.

They declined to say what they discussed. Speculations here dealt with the foreign imports of oil which are driving Texas oil off the market. Other speculation centered around the controversy over the Texas national committeeman's post—whether Wright Morrow of Houston is to keep that post or Byron Skelton of Temple is to succeed to it.

There has been speculation of late that Morrow might be upped to an ambassadorship.

Blalock said he was out of politics, even out of business and just dropped by to pay his respects to the President.

They also conferred with Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Testimony Starts In Paternity Suit Involving Met Opera Star

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP) — Mary Phillips, 28-year-old singer, testified today that Ferruccio Tagliavini, Metropolitan opera star, admitted to her he was the father of her small daughter and told her regarding the child:

"'This is mine. Don't worry I have a big heart. I'll take care of everything. My wife can't have any children and I'm glad that I have this baby.'"

O'Donnell Lions Receive Charter

O'DONNELL, Feb. 17. (Special)—The Charter Night banquet of the newly-organized O'Donnell Lions club was held here tonight in the O'Donnell hotel. Approximately 75 Lions club members and their guests attended.

Principal speaker for the affair was Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education at Texas Technological college, and Lions deputy district governor. His subject was "Responsibility of the Lions Club, and What the Club Stands For."

W. R. Rutherford, of Dumas, district Lions governor, presented the charter to the O'Donnell Lions club president, W. D. Conger.

Many Guests Attend

The banquet was opened with a sing-song. Arthur Golden, Church of Christ minister at O'Donnell, gave the invocation.

An introduction of guests followed, including Tracy Campbell, president of the Lamesa Lions club; and Jack A. Robinson, president of the Tahoka Lions club. A number of club members from both Lamesa and Tahoka also were present.

A duet was presented by Miss Hazel Swinney and Miss Trula Harris. They were accompanied at the piano by Miss Luola Dunn.

Greetings from the state Lions organization was brought by Marlowe Fisher of Austin, state secretary of Lions clubs.

The O'Donnell club was organized under the sponsorship of the Tahoka Lions club.

Almost $500,000 In Jewels Taken From Virginia Store

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 17. (INS)—Richmond police said today jewels stolen in the weekend robbery of the city's largest jewelry store have been evaluated at nearly a half million dollars.

The valuables were taken from the safe of the Schwarzschild Jewelry store. The theft was staged between 5:30 p. m. Feb. 12 and 8:30 a. m. Feb. 13.

Police Chief O. D. Garton said the exact retail evaluation of the articles was $481,195. He said most of the missing valuables were diamond rings and watches.

Police have not yet arrested any suspects.

Money Requests Exceed Income

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 — Gov. Beauford H. Jester today handed the 51st Legislature its toughest problem—how to trim state spending to fit income—admitting he could not solve it alone.

The Senate finally passed and sent to the House the central education agency bill and voted to press for quick action on other public school reorganization measures.

While those stood out as top developments in the session's busiest day thus far, there were these other actions of major interest:

Reburial Probe Ordered

1. The House ordered an investigation of the controversy over the reburial of Felix Longoria of Three Rivers, Latin American GI killed on Luzon.

2. Senators served notice that a battle is brewing over confirmation of Gov. Jester's appointment of Paul H. Brown of Harlingen as state fire insurance commissioner, but final okay was expected.

3. Opponents of the Gilmer-Aikin plan school bills announced they would fight the second of the series—the minimum foundation measure—when it comes up as priority business Tuesday.

4. A bill calling for sweeping changes in the state's system of dealing with juvenile delinquency and correction was offered in the Senate by R. L. Proffer of Justin.

5. Bills to reorganize the school system, establish a minimum foundation program and provide funds for the new education program were introduced in the House. They correspond to the Taylor bill passed by the Senate, and the other two Gilmer-Aikin plan bills pending there.

School Plan Okayed

6. Proffer introduced in the Senate a measure to revise the pay scale for county school superintendents to conform with recommendations of the Gilmer-Aikin committee.

7. Senator Jim Taylor of Kerens got on his feet in the Senate and apologized for a remark he made Tuesday protesting a time-out to listen Tuesday to war-hero Audie Murphy. He said he had no intention of reflecting "on the gallant young man." He sent the apology to Murphy and Murphy accepted it.

The Taylor bill giving the schools a new centralized supervision agency was sent to the House with a 16 to 8 vote. This was the bill that weathered an 11-hour filibuster principally on its provision to make the state school superintendent an appoint-

2,500 MAY ATTEND SESSION

Plans Underway For Meeting Of West Texas Teachers In City

As many as 2,500 school teachers, principals and superintendents are expected to attend the annual convention of the West Texas Teachers association to be held here March 17 and 18.

Final plans for the program are being formulated and will be ready for detailed announcement next week, said Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, president of the association.

"Attendance at last year's convention was between 2,000 and 2,200, and indications are that we will have even greater attendance this year," Dr. Jackson added.

A meeting of the house of delegates of the association is planned for 7 p. m. Thursday, March 17. It will be followed by general and special meetings in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium and classrooms all day Friday.

The total membership of the organization is now 2,740, in a 27-county area.

It is expected that all public schools in the 27-county area will be closed Friday, March 18, in order that teachers may attend the meeting.

Other officers of the association are W. A. Miller, superintendent of Odessa public schools, vice president; D. A. Edwards, Crosbyton, Crosby county superintendent, treasurer; Mrs. W. O. Low of Big Spring public schools, secretary; Floyd Honey, principal of Lubbock Senior High school, immediate past president.

State executive committeemen are J. W. Jones, superintendent of Denver City schools; Roy Boyd, Lubbock county school superintendent; and O. J. Laas, superintendent of Plainview public schools.

Senator Proposes Plan To Put Teeth In UN Council Orders

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me) proposed today to put teeth in UN Security Council orders by denying Marshall plan aid to any nation which disobeys them.

He asked the Senate Foreign Relations committee to make it an amendment to the Economic Cooperation Administration act. This is a measure authorizing $5,580,000,000 to carry the western European recovery program through June 30, 1950.

Scurry Well Makes Show

Preparations were being made to drill plug, and test and complete Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1-3 Brown, south outpost to the discovery for flowing production from the Canyon line to open the North Snyder field, in north-central Scurry county, 10 miles north of Snyder, and 1,980 feet from west and 1,880 feet from south lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey.

This development is bottomed at 6,825 feet, and was still in the pay when it stopped drilling.

The 7-inch casing had been cemented at 6,349 feet, the top of the pay, with 600 sacks.

That gives the well almost 500 feet of pay section, and no water has been encountered in the formation.

Drillstem Tests Run

All of the open hole had been investigated by drillstem tests, and each section showed good, flowing oil, natural. The well should be completed for a heavy flowing production.

Standard of Texas No. 2-2 Brown, one half mile east of the North Snyder field opener, and 680 feet from east and 1,880 feet from north lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey, took a drillstem test at 6,826-70 feet in the Canyon lime.

Gas showed at the top in six minutes and oil started flowing in 60 minutes. The well made 24 barrels of oil in one hour. Maximum surface flowing pressure was 70 pounds; open flowing bottom hole pressure was 1,400 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 30 minutes was 2,900 pounds.

Operator is to run Schlumberger survey, and will probably run casing and start completion activity in a few days.

This well, the third in the North Snyder area to find the Canyon lime production, has already logged a thick zone of saturation, and has shown an a number of drillstem tests that it will make a good well.

Drilling To Start

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 31 J. E. Parker is to be an extension effort for the West Parker-Devonian field, in Central-Southwest Andrews County.

The venture is located 660 feet from south and west lines of section 21, block A-54, psl survey, and 19 miles southwest of the town of Andrews.

It is to start drilling immediately, to 8,500 feet, to explore the Devonian.

Wildcat Planned

Hiawatha Oil and Gas company and M. E. Davis of San Antonio are to start drilling immediately on their No. 1 Bert Wallace as a 7,000-foot wildcat to explore the Ellenburger in Central Kent County.

The project will be 660 feet from north and west lines of section 57, block 98, H&TC survey. It is six miles southwest of Jayton, and five miles southeast of

Increase In Counterfeit Activity Blamed On Lack Of 'Easy Money'

By WILLIAM KERWIN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — The Secret Service warned today racketeers are passing more counterfeit money because the wartime and post-war "easy money" days are ended.

Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman issued the warning in a report to Treasury Secretary Snyder. The report said counterfeiting doubled in 1948.

Baughman declared that bigtime and small-time chiselers, alike, are turning their skills to passing bogus currency because of a "decline in the 'get-rich-quick' schemes of the war period."

Bogus Bills On Increase

Specifically, he reported that $190,133 worth of fake money was successfully passed last year, compared with $84,712 in 1947.

The service in 1948 captured $513,961 in counterfeit bills, most of which were seized before getting into circulation.

In 1947, agents picked up $2,854,047 worth of the currency, but $2,145,000 of this was fake money captured when a plant in Paris, France, was raided.

Baughman reported that 135 persons were arrested last year on counterfeiting charges. His report also said:

1. Forgeries of government checks and bonds created the major enforcement problem of the Secret Service. A total of 33,172 checks and 8,476 bonds were investigated.

2. Nearly 2,000 persons were arrested for check and bond forgeries and 1,823 were convicted.

3. Fines from criminal cases totaled $73,416.72. Jail sentences aggregated 2,102 years. A total of 46,553 criminal and non-criminal cases were closed during 1948.

Baughman noted that Europe still is a source for counterfeit American dollars. He said that of the total amount of currency seized last year, $199,062 came from abroad. He commented:

"Most of the bills were detected at banks in the United States and promptly surrendered to the Secret Service, although $60,089 in foreign-made notes was passed on to victims in this country."

The Secret Service chief named Joseph J. Perrello as a major counterfeiter in this country. He said Perrello had distributed 10 to 20 dollar bogus bills in New York, Chicago and other eastern cities. When he was apprehended in Chicago on Nov. 27 Perrello possessed $10,000 in fake ten dollar bills.

Imports Affect Texas Oil Supply Situation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (Special)—The Interior department told Senator Tom Connally today that there is now no shortage of oil on the domestic market. This factor was blamed by Interior department for the fact Texas has had to cut back her allowable. Interior said that it will take some time to adjust imports to the situation.

At the same time, Interior admitted there is a relationship between the Texas oil industry's acute problems of reduced allowables and the import volume.

Interior Secretary J. A. Krug pointed out that there is now no statutory authority for the federal government to limit oil imports.

"While it is of the highest importance that imports of foreign oil not be permitted to undermine the domestic petroleum industry, the policy question involved in their limitation can only be resolved by Congress," he said.

He suggested the route of the reciprocal trades program now before the Senate Finance committee."

PLANTS HAVE IT, TOO

LOS ANGELES, (U.P.) — Flora Murray Scott, University of California at Los Angeles botanist, has found that aging plants are victims of hardening of the arteries, just as humans are. She reports the aging of plant cells is accompanied by a varnishing and hardening of the cell wall which, in effect, turns the wall to cork.

Old Lottery Charge Jails Man As He Redeems Impounded Car

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17. (U.P.) —When Hip Keung Dong went to Oakland police to recover his auto, that had been towed away for illegal parking, he expected to pay a fine quietly and drive off. But Hip got more than he bargained for.

A sergeant recognized him at the station and Hip found himself jailed on an outstanding warrant charging three counts of operating a lottery.

Counsel Fails To Agree On Charges In Damage Action

Failure of counsel to agree upon a charge caused 72nd district Judge Dan Blair Thursday afternoon to dismiss a jury until 10 a. m. today in the $11,026 damages action of John Francis Brown and others against the City of Lubbock and others.

Evidence was concluded in the case late Thursday morning. Judge Blair at that time ordered the jury to return at 3:30 p. m.

The case is outgrowth of a collision of a truck hauling caliche for a city streets construction and a motor scooter ridden by the plaintiff, in 1947 in southwest Lubbock.

A 99th district jury panel was dismissed for the week after it was announced Thursday morning that counsel in the action of Wheelmaster Corp. against Lawrence F Hughey and others wished the case passed, informing the court the case may be settled.

Improved Voting Laws Get Boost

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 17—The House Elections committee today reported favorably on a proposition to overhaul state election statutes but only after lengthy argument over how much it would cost.

Everyone or the committee or appearing as witnesses agreed that something should be done about Texas election laws. Those who wanted it done as cheap as possible whittled down the suggested $17,000 appropriation to $10,000.

Want Laws Enforced

The committee also voted approval of a bill which would stop state officers, elected or appointed, from running for other political posts whose terms begin before the candidate's present term expires.

The election law revamping, as introduced by Rep. Tom Whiteside of Tyler, would set up a three-man commission to make "a complete revision and recodification" of statutes governing general, special and primary elections.

"Our Democratic way of life is threatened if the system of electing our officers is not protected," Whiteside said. "The people of Texas want election laws they can believe in. They want laws that can be enforced."

Final Report Sought

Grady Chandler, chairman of the governor's special committee to study election laws, said Whiteside's bill had the approval of his group. He said the group would meet tomorrow and hoped to be able to make a final report to Gov. Jester. He said the group would have about 17 or 18 specific suggestions to correct "emergency matters."

Weldon Hart, an assistant to the governor, assured the House committee that all the work done on the special elections study would be turned over to the legislature and the three-man commission, should one be established.

J. C. Davis of the attorney general's office said he believed the bill was one of the most important measures before the legislature. "Our election laws need to be rewritten from "A" to "Z" and the sooner the better," he said.

Rep. Paul Wilson of Geneva spoke against the bill.

"I agree that our election laws should be rewritten but I don't think it should be done this way," he said. Wilson suggested a joint legislative committee to work with other state officers "and not throw away all this money."

"Suppose your commission waits until the next legislature to report. There may be a lot of new faces in the legislature and they don't like the report. Then where will your money be?," he asked. "If you don't believe that could happen, just watch the vote in the House on the Gilmer-Aikin bills."

Discussion Of Heart Disease Is Given Before Kiwanis Club

Dr. Bill Gordon, Lubbock physician, discussed heart disease in a talk which featured Thursday's program at the weekly Kiwanis club luncheon in Hotel Lubbock.

The speaker urged participation in the financial campaign now under way by the American Heart association, saying the funds will be used not only in service to people afflicted with the disease, but in research through which more would be learned about the nation's No. 1 killer.

Dr. Gordon said 625,000 people die annually in the United States from heart disease, that 50 per cent of all deaths of people over 40 years of age are from that cause, and that 90 per cent of heart disease deaths are due to three heart or circulatory troubles.

Diseases Listed

These three he listed as rheumatic heart, primarily a child's disease; hypertension (high blood pressure), largely a malady of people of middle age; and arterio sclerosis (hardening of the arteries), largely among people of advanced age.

Science and the medical profession do not know the cause of these diseases, there is no definite preventive, and there is no cure, the speaker said, in urging continuing research.

He said tests at one of the nation's major clinics have shown that use of tobacco has a definite relation to heart disease, that "there is no question that oversmoking is harmful; that coffee in moderation is not harmful, but that more than two or three cups (each of one and a half grains of caffein) daily is excessive.

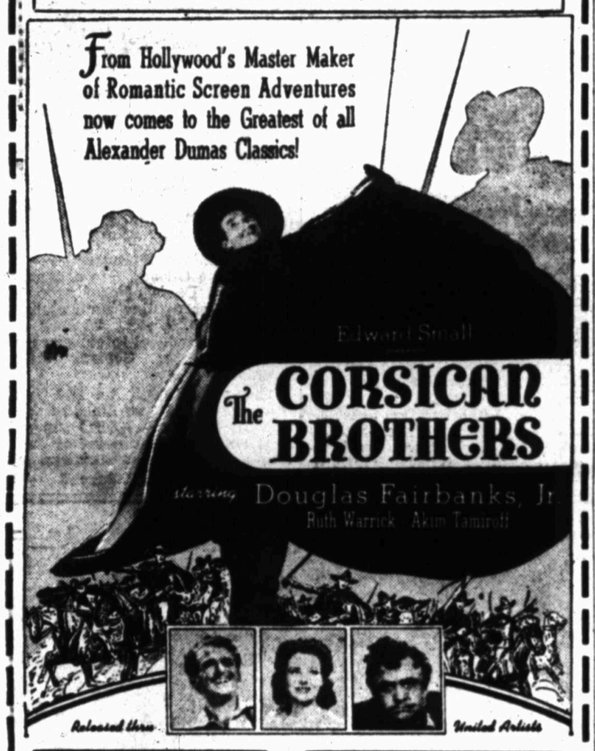

The speaker said that over-exercising and over-eating, particularly by people over 35 to 40 years of age, is definitely harmful and contributory to heart disease.

He said the normal heart pumps about two gallons of blood a minute in a person at rest or relaxed; that the flow doubles with exercise such as climbing stairs, etc.; and that the heart of an athlete on a track or field pumps up to 40 gallons of blood a minute.

Two new members were introduced. They were Samuel E. Sayers, and Frank Lee. Club President Fred Sparks was in the chair, with invocation by John C. Reynolds.

Margaret Truman Celebrates 25th Birthday In New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (U.P.)—Margaret Truman celebrated her 25th birthday quietly with her mother today under the watchful eye of the Secret service.

This was believed to be the first time in the life of the President's blonde daughter that she has spent the anniversary away from her father.

The reason for the celebration is Margaret's musical career. She is studying here for a forthcoming concert singing tour.

LEGISLATIVE PAY

A Safeguard, Too!

INDICATIONS are that a constitutional amendment providing for increases in the compensation of legislators will be submitted to a vote of the people by the session now in progress in Austin.

The future indications are that it will be approved, if the salaries proposed are within reason. Texans realize that financial sacrifice must be suffered by any legislator at the present rate of compensation. This rate is $10 per day for the first 120 days of a regular session; for a rarely held special session; and $5 per day thereafter. Many able people cannot afford to serve in the Legislature at that wage.

Several proposals to put senators and representatives on annual salaries are pending. Figures mentioned have ranged from $3,000 to $7,500 a year. If the legislators hit upon a conservatively reasonable amount, Texans are pretty sure to approve it.

But many Texans would like to vote at the same time on a related amendment by Sen. Grady Hazelwood, of Amarillo, making it an impeachable offense for a legislator to accept any reward for introducing, supporting or opposing any measure. Belief is general that some legislators have collected plenty on the side for their efforts and influence.

If so, it should be stopped. But legislators also are entitled to fair pay. Without it, Texans cannot expect people of ability and high integrity to be available for legislative service.

Good, Senator!

SEN. CLINTON ANDERSON, of New Mexico, is due a salute from everyone interested in the production of cotton west of the Mississippi river for having discovered and exposed a tricky amendment to the proposed 1950 Cotton Acreage Control bill now pending in the U. S. Senate.

The amendment, proposed by wily Rep. Steve Pace, of Georgia, seems harmless enough from causal reading. It's real purpose escaped the attention of the House of Representatives, where it was approved.

Then Senator Anderson dug through the obscuring and confusing wordage to reveal just what this amendment would do. Its effect, clearly apparent when pointed out, would be to use the planting of 1942 rather than 1948 as a base year for 1950 acreage allotments.

That would mean that the "Old South," including Georgia, could plant Even more cotton than during the last several years because their acreage has been declining steadily since 1942. Areas like the South Plains, where acreage has been increasing steadily, would face cuts far out of proportion to the older cotton regions. Under the Pace amendment, the older areas could increase their plantings, as compared with 1948, so much as to nullify completely the purposes of acreage controls. They might plant so much cotton they could wreck prices because of the surplus they might produce.

Senator Anderson apparently has discovered the snare in the amendment in time to prevent harm being done. Or, if the Pace bill should be included in the control bill enacted, it will be with full fore-knowledge by those responsible for its dangerously and unfairly discriminatory provisions.

Beware Of Romance

By ROBERTA COURTLAND

XXIX

SHE SAW the moment she stepped into the living room, that she was a bit early. Carter was there, slightly pompous, very scrubbed and pink in his white Tuxedo. But Susan was not in sight.

Carter turned to greet her, a cocktail shaker in his hands, and once more Merry saw that clear, thin edge of dislike in his eyes, though his voice was quite hearty.

"Oh, there you are, my dear," he said pleasantly. "Just in time for a cocktail."

"Thanks, no."

Carter paused, the cocktail shaker held carefully.

"Oh, you didn't acquire the cocktail habit during your visit to the wicked city?"

"It's just that I never cared for liquor," Merry answered him pleasantly. "And it seemed silly to acquire a habit if I had to force a liking for it."

"Very commendable of you, my dear, very commendable," said Carter, dryly, and poured himself one.

He sipped for a moment, and then he turned to Merry with a suddenly brisk air.

"By the way, we won't talk business tonight, but something has come up that I think you will be glad to know. I have a most excellent offer for the Marshallville place. The papers are ready for your signature."

Merry stiffened and her eyes went wide.

"The Marshallville place? But that's mine!" she protested, more sharply than she had meant to speak.

"I SAID for your signature." Carter pointed out, and now he was not quite so hearty nor so pleasant. "Your mother has placed all her business affairs as well as yours in my hands."

"But why should she? I mean Dad had everything arranged, soundly invested, with a good assured income."

"Your mother felt that I was in a better position to know changing conditions, and that it would be safer to have investments that paid a slightly smaller income but were less risky."

"But Dad's an excellent business man and quite competent to handle everything."

"There is no point in discussing the matter. You are a child and you cannot be expected to understand."

"I'll be 18 in a few months and legally of age," Merry flashed at him, no longer able to control her rising anger. "And the house at Marshallville is definitely not for sale."

"Your mother has given me power of attorney, as your guardian. The offer is an excellent one."

"But I don't want to sell."

"You surely have no intention of going back there."

"I have every intention of keeping it as my home."

The whole idea is completely ridiculous. You, a young girl, alone in that big old place—"

"Aunt Jane will come and live with me, and it is my home," she pointed out swiftly.

Susan had entered the room without Merry seeing her and now she broke in curtly, "What is all this? Merry, of course you are not going back to Marshallville. It's much better to sell the house now while prices are high."

Merry turned swiftly, her voice shaking.

"Dad said the place was mine, Mother, when he paid for this one for you," she reminded her mother, her voice held as low as her mounting anger would permit. "Aunt Jane and I could be very comfortable there, and very happy."

Susan drew herself up.

"Happy there, where everybody knows about what your father did to us? You have so little pride you would be willing to go back there? Do you want to start people talking again? What would they say if you left your mother's home to go and live by yourself?"

"I wouldn't be by myself. Aunt Jane—"

"It's ridiculous. I won't listen. I won't discuss it any more," said Susan faintly, and made a fumbling gesture toward her heart. Carter moved swiftly and steadied her to a chair in which she all but collapsed.

"Do you want to kill her?" He turned furiously on Merry. "You know what her heart is like. I'm disgusted with you."

MERRY held her breath for a moment and counted 10 over and over again. And then she caught the slight gleam of Susan's eyes between her closed lids, and felt a little sickness in her own heart. Susan was, as Aunt Jane would have said, putting on an act. Susan would get her own way by pretending her illness was dangerous; she would bend Merry to her will by working on Merry's love. But almost before the thought became clear in Merry's mind she was bitterly ashamed of it, and contrition swept over her.

"I'm sorry, mother. I didn't mean to pick a fight. Let's wait and talk it over later, shall we? We're all tired and nervous now."

As Merry offered the olive branch, she saw the faint triumphant smile that touched Carter's mouth, and Susan straightened feebly, smiled at her, held out her hand and said, "That's my dear sweet child."

As they went into dinner, Merry's heart seethed with helpless anger against Carter. But she made herself act gay and cheerful during the meal, and afterwards helped her mother to bed.

She lay wide awake in her own room until well after midnight. And when at last she dropped off to sleep, her mind was made up and she wasn't frightened.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

NO DOUBT all of you read every word of the stories that reported the wedding of Tyrone Power and Linda Christian in Rome.

How could you have missed it? Wasn't it, as the Rome newspaper called it, the "Wedding of the Century?"

Didn't it prove that the bobby-soxers of Italy can be just as silly as the bobby-soxers of New York, Fort Worth, Philadelphia and Hollywood.

BRANDEIS

Didn't the press agents and photographers work overtime?

Well, why not?

Why not have a little whoopee among all that misery in Europe?

Why not let two nice people have their short fling in the limelight, their little taste of fame and glory?

But here is another story of fame and glory.

May it never happen to Linda and Tyrone.

May they never share the fate of Frankie Bailey, once the toast of Broadway, once just as popular, just as famous as those two newlyweds are today.

And strange to say, this little story I am going to tell you now was reported in the same paper that gave columns to the Power-Christian wedding. As a matter of fact, it appeared right alongside the picture showing the two happy young folks cutting their wedding cake.

But it was only a little bit of a story, with a little bit of a one-column head that said "Frankie Bailey Sent to Sanatorium at 89."

Under it a subhead "Ex-Broadway Star Declared Mentally Degenerating."

At the end of the last century everybody knew Frankie Bailey. "She was once the darling of Broadway, the star of Weber & Fields Revues and the dream girl of thousands," said the little newspaper story, datelined from Hollywood. "The girl with the million dollar legs," they called her.

SHE SUFFERED a stroke on January 19 while alone in her shabby rented room. They took her to the psychiatric ward of the General Hospital.

She was lame, broke and nearly blind and her mind was failing.

The few friends who still remembered her tried to arrange to have her taken to a private sanatorium, but the charge of $120 a month and Miss Bailey's income, from old age and actors' funds pensions, totals only $108.

The court hearing lasted two minutes.

Photographers wanted to take Frankie's picture.

She refused.

"I don't have my false teeth," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyrone Power are now on their honeymoon trip through Italy and Switzerland.

Bon voyage!

ON NEW PROGRAM

States Follow HST

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Democratic governors in several key states—Dever of Massachusetts, Bowles of Connecticut, Lausche of Ohio, Stevenson of Illinois and Williams of Michigan—are copying President Truman's "fair deal" program in almost exact detail.

The governors of these states, most of whom are prospective candidates for the 1952 presidential nomination, apparently believe that the political promises and philosophy which returned Mr. Truman to the White House last fall will win for them if they are lucky enough to be nominated for his job.

TUCKER

Regardless of the reason for their slavish imitation of the "fair deal," they have advanced measures for state aid to public health, education, housing and for an expansion of their social welfare works. They have also advocated liberal labor laws and wage increases along the line set forth by President Truman in his various messages to Congress.

In short, they have plumped for what has come to be known as "the insurance state." To support this system, they have asked for increased income, corporation and sales taxes.

Republican leaders at Washington say that they welcome this statewide extension of the Truman program. They believe that the heavy tax burden required to finance these various subsidy measures will eventually prove too heavy for the voters to bear, and that they will produce an unfavorable reaction at the polls.

TAB: G.O.P. strategists, in preparation for the 1950 Congressional elections, are keeping tab on the score of national and state taxes. If all the government plans advanced at Washington and by President Truman's regional imitators become law, the Republicans estimate that the national, state and local tax bill will amount to about seventy billion dollars, or about one-third of the national income.

In other words, every individual will spend one out of three days working for Uncle Sam and his state subsidies. Naturally, the G.O.P. politicians figure that the increasing tax take will be a winning issue in 1950 and possibly in 1952.

COALITION: Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg's announcement that he will not run again at the expiration of his present term was no surprise to his colleagues and friends on Capitol Hill.

He informed them long ago that he had "had enough." His statement also takes him out of the 1952 Presidential race, making the Republican's task of choosing a candidate that much easier.

The retirement of the Administration's Republican collaborator on foreign policy will not mean any break, however. Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin is ranking Republican, next to "Van," and should he be re-elected in 1950, he will carry out the so-called "coalition policy."

Butshould Mr. Wiley lose out two years hence, and should the G.O.P. regain control of the Senate, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee will be an avowed internationalist.

He will be Senator H. Alexander Smith of Princeton, N. J., who is almost as internationally minded as the former President of Princeton and the United States—Woodrow Wilson.

PARITY: The Aiken-Hope bill, which provides for a sliding parity scale of sixty to ninety per cent on major farm crops, will probably be repealed at the present session of Congress with a measure continuing the current ninety per cent support.

When the Aiken-Hope Act, which becomes effective next year, was passed, the prices of cattle, hogs, corn, wheat and other farm products were extremely high.

They began to drop a few weeks before election, and their decline hurt Governor Dewey in the agricultural areas. His weakness in normally Pepublican territory was chiefly responsible for his defeat.

Since the election, however, prices for the farmers' output have taken a tailspin; they are from twenty to forty per cent lower than they were on November 2. As a result, it is expected that both House and Senate will vote to keep the present parity figure.

In fact, farm experts contend that lowering the government support amount will not lead to decreased production and a smaller subsidy payment. With declining prices, it is argued, producers will plant and grow more in order to compensate for a smaller unit return by larger volume.

GESTURE: President Truman's increased, post-election confidence was never evidenced so spectacularly as in his willingness to permit his close crony and military aide, Major General Harry Vaughan, to accept a decoration from President Peron, the Argentine dictator.

Before November 2, he would not have dared to make such a friendly gesture to the politician who heads the anti-American bloc in South America.

LABOR: "How does labor, meaning the union leaders, like the Administration's substitute for the Taft-Hartley Act?", asks R.F., of Haverhill, Mass., and several other readers.

Answer: It will be difficult to answer that query until the final measure is written. But the labor leaders who supported President Truman have to go through the motions of liking it, although they take issue with his and Attorney General Clark's contention that the Chief Executive now has the power to terminate crippling strikes in key industries. They never thought that he would think that one up, in view of their turnout for him last November.

The general impression at the Capital is that Senator Taft is correct when he says that Congress will simply change the name to Thomas-Lesinski Act, and that the major provisions of the original legislation will be preserved.

The problem of the up and coming young man of the household is to get him up and going.

It seems the bigger standing army Uncle Sam has the less he will have to stand from Uncle Joe.

Some people wouldn't be happy in Utopia. There wouldn't be anything to hold an indignation meeting about.

A democracy is a land where it costs $200,000 to try a man for treason. A dictator nation is where they shoot him without a trial.

Blessed are the poor. Their names never get on a sucker list.

Next to the children, the hardest thing to try to control is prices.

Believe It Or Not - - By Robert Ripley

ORGANIZATION CHANGES NAME

Action Against Klan Is Urged

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—On the list of so-called subversive organizations compiled and maintained by the Justice department is the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., the well-known hooded order.

The organization no longer exists under that name. It was disbanded as such in 1944 when it faced an income-tax delinquency case by the Internal Revenue bureau, which thereupon dropped the case. But the Ku Klux Klan still lives under the different title of Association of Georgia Klans, and still rides on its missions of terrorism and intimidation under the banner of "white supremacy," as press reports from the South show. Its continued existence and spread are matters of common knowledge in the South.

STOKES

These developments aroused the interest of the American Veterans committee because of its concern about civil liberties and the protection of minorities in the South and prompted action by national headquarters here.

Would Resume Case

A few weeks ago Gilbert Harrison, AVC national chairman, wrote to Attorney General Clark and urged that the Association of Georgia Klans be put on the subversive list. He called attention to the continued existence of the Klan under another name and submitted documentary evidence gathered by Lester Percells, of the Atlanta, Ga., chapter, a member of AVC's national planning committee.

At the same time he wrote to Secretary of Treasury Snyder, enclosing the evidence submitted to the attorney general, and asked that the Internal Revenue bureau reopen against the Association of Georgia Klans the tax case it had brought—and dropped—against the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc.

No action has come from either department.

In his letter to the attorney general, Mr. Harrison referred to a directive by the Civil Service commission's loyalty review board to loyalty boards of all federal agencies to "confine their consideration and assessment of derogatory information to organizations on the attorney general's list."

Since the Association of Georgia Klans, the new name under which the Klan operates, is not on the list, the AVC chairman pointed out that "the government has no way of keeping out of its employ members of the Association of Georgia Klans." The attorney general's list is used as a guide in federal employment.

Complimenting the Justice department on "the manner in which it has handled threats to our Democracy from the totalitarian of both the right and the left," Mr. Harrison said "we think the department has shown a regard for civil liberties not always shown in other quarters."

Acts of Violence Noted

"We trust, however," he added, "that the department in its necessary concern over Communists does not forget that we face a real danger from the extreme right."

How true this is in the case of the Klan, by whatever name, is revealed in the catalogue of depredations submitted by Mr. Percells. They include burning of crosses at several places in Georgia to frighten negroes and keep them away from the polls; flogging of both whites and negroes for alleged infringement of a self-ordained Klan code of morals; intimidation to prevent negroes from joining labor unions; burning of a cross before the home of Dr. Guy H. Wells, president of Georgia State College for Women, which Dr. Wells attributed to the fact that negro presidents and delegates attended a meeting with white educators at a Georgia educators' conference.

Evidence shows that the Klan has made little pretense even to put on a new front.

Dr. Samuel Green of Atlanta, Grand Dragon of Georgia of the previous Ku Klux Klan, is also Grand Dragon of the Association of Georgia Klans, and the same hierarchy of officers still functions—grand titans, furies, cyclops, hydras, kleagles, nighthawks, terrors, and other juvenile titles. Under its new name, the order uses the old application blanks, the same insignia and regalia, the same books, and in connection with one of its ceremonials on Stone mountain outside of Atlanta, last July, Dr Green passed out the word that any member of the old organization could become "reinstated" in its successor at half price—five dollars instead of ten.

TRUST ISSUE OKAYED

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Due to the shortage of newsprint for the past several years The Avalanche-Journal has been unable to add many new classifications to the Want-Ads.

EFFECTIVE NOW

we are instituting a complete new set of classifications, which we believe, after you become accustomed to them, you will find much better than the ones which have been in use for many years.

A COMPLETE LIST

has been placed in column 1 of the first Classified page to aid you in finding the particular classification you desire to read.

EXTRA SPECIAL FARM
We sold the 320 acres we advertised last week but have another dandy 320 acres, it has 265 acres of pretty wheat that all goes to purchaser. This farm is also in the cotton belt, only 2 miles from the State highway and near a good small town. The improvements are fair, the price is only $70 per acre on this. Better hurry, it won't last long at this price.

Solon Urges MacArthur Recall To Explain Policy In Far East

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (INS)—The Senate Armed Services committee was urged to invite Gen. Douglas MacArthur to Washington to explain American defense policy in the Far East.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) made his request in a letter to Sen. Tydings (D-Md), chairman of the committee.

The move came as it was reported reliably that Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, retired Marine corps commandant, is being considered as a mission chief for any projected military aid program to China.

Policies In Doubt

These sources said that MacArthur, commanding occupied Japan, would not take on a China assignment in addition to his present duties.

Knowland told Tydings that "recent press dispatches have cast some doubt on our Pacific military policy and the demand that will soon be made on the Congress for military assistance to western Europe."

Knowland was believed to be referring to reports that Army Secretary Royall indicated on a recent visit to Tokyo that the U.S. is considering abandonment of Japan as a Far East defense bastion.

President Truman at his news conference today said U.S. policy toward Japan has not changed and no change is contemplated.

Royall on his return to the United States flatly denied he had made such a statement.

Invitation Urged

Knowland said:

"I believe that it is vital that members of the Armed Services committee be fully informed on all phases of the entire global situation.

"For that reason I strongly urge that the Senate Armed Services committee extend an invitation to Gen. Douglas MacArthur to return to the United States to present his views of the situation existing in the Far East and its effect upon the national defense of the United States and its territories."

An administration spokesman said, meanwhile, that no decision has yet been made on further military assistance to China, but that "if" such a program is sent to Congress, its acceptance will largely depend on the selection of an able administrator.

Schedule Change

ture time from Dallas, to 9:15 p.m. instead of 9:45 p.m. It will leave Fort Worth at 10:30 p.m. daily instead of 11 p.m.

Sweetwater departure time, westbound, has been advanced to 4:30 a.m. instead of 5:15 a.m. with an earlier arrival at Lubbock of 7:30 a.m.

The motor car run from Wichita, Kans., to Sweetwater will be extended to San Angelo, and schedule rearranged to connect at Sweetwater with the new South Texas-California service.

Train 96 from Lubbock to Amarillo has been advanced to an earlier departure time to connect with an earlier eastbound "Grand Canyon" at Amarillo, and will leave Lubbock at 2:30 p.m. daily instead of 2:45 p.m., arriving Amarillo at 5:15 p.m. instead of 5:45 p.m. The "Grand Canyon" will leave Amarillo 30 minutes earlier than presently, at 5:45 p.m. instead of 6:15 p.m., although there will be no change in Chicago or Kansas City arrival time.

Spending Problem

ive office. Announcement in the House that the Senate had approved the bill set off a chorus of catcalls, indicating more trouble ahead.

Opposes New Taxes

On the income-spending issue, this is the essence of what Jester had to say to the legislature:

He has requests for funds that exceed estimated income by $49 million.

He is still "essentially a no-new-tax-man."

When there is not enough money to meet needs, spending must be trimmed or more money raised.

The legislature must use its best judgment in scaling down requests for more money.

No new taxes should be levied until a thorough study is made of the present tax structure to see if there aren't some loopholes that can be plugged and more money raised by such plugging.

Estimated income for the next two years exceeds present spending by $175 million or 122.5 per cent, "and the people of Texas may well feel that such an increase is enough over a two-year period."

Many Matters Pressing

The state has failed in many ways in caring for its afflicted, its handicapped, its prison inmates, its youth, in providing good country roads, and in other services.

No one, no matter how conservative on spending, could look with him at these pressing needs "and not know deep in his heart these things are unworthy of Texas."

The requests for funds before him total $367 million and the comptroller says there will be $318 million available for spending from the general fund.

Many of the requests growing out of the state's present sound financial condition are sound and defensible and should not be criticized.

It would be the "height of arbitrary action" for him to trim these requests to fit income, then ask the legislature to endorse his decisions.

It must study the requests, weigh all the factors including the possibility of obtaining more income from the present tax levies, then decide what to do.

Whether or not Jester was leaving the door open for possible endorsement of a new tax measure if all else fails is a question that had many lawmakers wondering, in the face of his re-assertion that he is still a "no-new-tax man."

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Cotton futures fluctuated over a range of about $1 a bale in light dealings today, with prices easily influenced by a few orders either way. Nearby March evening-up and switching to later months, anticipating first notice day next Wednesday, accounted for a good deal of the trading.

In early dealings old crop deliveries reach small gains on mill buying and short covering, but rallying tendencies were reversed by New Orleans and local selling. Poor demand for cotton goods, reports of further mill curtailment, and dullness in the export market contributed to the lower market.

Cotton futures continued to fluctuate nervously in late dealings with all months lower.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—A renewal of selling pressure in soybeans created an easy undertone in all commodities on the board of trade today. Soybeans fell several cents at times in a nervous trade.

Grains held fairly steady most of the session, but started to slip toward the close in line with the soybean downturn. Even corn which had been firm early on receipt of only 46 cars of cash corn here, fell around a cent in the late trade.

Wheat closed 1 to 1 ⅛ lower, May $2.15 ¾-⅝, corn was ¾ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.29 ⅜-½, oats were ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, May 68 ⅜-½, rye was ¾-2 ¼ lower, May $1.28 ¼, soybeans were 1 to 2 ¾ lower, March $2.29 ¾-2.30 ½, and lard was 8 to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $12.67.

Wall Street

STOCKS STAGE RALLY

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Buying interest in stocks sharpened today and the market moved ahead for the snappiest overall advance in six weeks.

Individual issues were marked up fractions to a top of around 2 points. Most additions, though, were a point or less.

Buying was most aggressive during the morning. Demand faded for a while and the day's best gains were chipped away in most cases. Support broadened somewhat during the last hour.

Volume picked up to 960,000 shares, tops for a week, and compared with a meager 700,000 shares yesterday. Bullish forces in Wall Street consider an expansion in trade during a rising market to be a favorable omen.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .5 of one point to 63.2, the largest forward move since Jan. 7. The gain put the averages at the highest point it has reached since Feb. 5. Of the 984 issues which changed hands, 618 advanced and 169 declined.

Today's improvement accented a trend that has been in motion all this week. Last week, though the general level of prices slipped to the lowest since March 18 last year.

Douglas Aircraft put on a show of its own, closing with a gain of 5⅛ at 57½.

He is not only obnoxious to the Democrats of Texas but was removed as national executive committeeman by the State Democratic convention at Fort Worth. We do not recognize him as our representative on the national committee."

Jester Is Blamed

The telegram to Jester read: "The people of Texas feel that you are responsible for the fact that the national executive committee has not carried out the mandate of the State Democratic convention by removing Wright Morrow from office. We urge you to use your influence to have the national executive committee immediately recognize Byron Skelton as national committeeman from Texas."

Speakers at the meeting here charged that Morrow, after he had been named committeeman, supported Dixiecrat nominees for office; that he supported Republicans in 1940, and was with the Texas Regulars opposed to Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944.

Fisher Alsup of Temple declared that Morrow was "fired by the Democratic convention in Fort Worth," and said Morrow doesn't legally hold office. Alsup asserted that the Democratic convention is the sovereign power in the party.

Tighter Horsemeat Law Gets Approval

AUSTIN, Feb. 17 (AP) — A bill to put teeth in the enforcement of a ban against sale of horsemeat for human consumption was approved by the House Public Health committee today.

A similar bill earlier today was passed by the Senate committee on criminal jurisprudence.

Assistant City Attorney Bennett Lay of Houston told the House group: "Houston got all the publicity on horsemeat but we have reason to believe the rest of the state is getting horsemeat."

The House bill, by Jeff Woodruff of Pasadena, carries a maximum fine of $1,000 or two year jail sentence upon conviction of selling horsemeat for human consumption.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Abernathy Consolidated County Line Independent School District, at the office of Fred Miller, Superintendent of Schools, Abernathy, Texas, until 8:00 p. m. CST, on Monday, March 7, 1949, for the construction of an Auditorium Remodeling, to be erected at Abernathy, Texas, at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Any bid received after closing time will be returned unopened.

Copies of plans and specifications and other proposed contract documents are on file in the office of James Atcheson, Architect, 204 Sanford Building, 1009½ Texas Avenue Lubbock, Texas, and are open for public inspection.

Plans and specifications may be examined without charge in the office of the Architect and may be procured from the Architect upon a deposit of $25.00 as a guarantee of the safe return of the plans and specifications. The full amount of this deposit will be returned to each bidder immediately upon the return of the plans and specifications in good condition. No refund of contract documents and plans returned later than ten (10) days after the award of the contract will be obligatory. Additional sets of plans and specifications may be procured from the above upon a deposit of $25.00 each as a guarantee of their safe return within ten (10) days from date of opening bids, in which event $10.00 (amount of deposit less actual cost of reproduction) of the deposit will be returned.

No refund will be made if the Bidder fails to submit a proposal.

The wage scale shall be in accordance with the Schedule approved by the Board of Trustees and is fully set out in the specifications.

The character and amount of security to be furnished by each Bidder are stated in the above mentioned documents.

No bids may be withdrawn prior to thirty (30) days after the date of receiving bids.

The owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive informalities.
