

Giant Junk Pile

Padre Port Wracked

PORT ISABEL (AP)—Devastation: Utter. That was one awed description of South Padre Island brought back by the first man to see it after Hurricane Beulah passed.

This fishing village jutting into the Gulf of Mexico could bear the description equally well.

Padre Island is a finger-wide strip of sand that parallels the coast from Brownsville to Corpus Christi. South Padre is—or was—loaded with popular resorts, beach homes and boat piers.

Most Buildings Destroyed

South Padre and Port Isabel took the first and hardest blows of Beulah when she slammed ashore early Wednesday with 160-mile-an-hour winds.

Lt. Col. Bob Forche of the Harlingen Civil Air Patrol flew low over South Padre Thursday and said "it looked like somebody dropped a bomb."

Forche estimated that 85 per cent of Port Isabel's buildings and homes were destroyed. The Department of Public Safety later confirmed his estimate.

Blow Might End Fable

But Harlingen newsman Bob McDonald of KGBT-TV, who made a tour of South Padre by boat and jeep, said the destruction was not so total the resort could not make a comeback. McDonald said Padre withstood the blow well enough to end "the fable that a good storm, or hurricane such as Beulah, would wash the island or cause-way away."

There appeared to be no undamaged buildings left in this little town of 5,000.

The $750,000 Port Isabel High School is mostly a pile of junk.

Beulah's mighty winds tore loose one-foot-by-three-foot beams and drove them deep into the ground.

'He Cost Me $75'

But on a blackboard remained a math examination—one it's unlikely the pupils ever will complete.

Thirteen boats, ranging from 20-foot runabouts to 40-foot cruisers, were blown far onto the beach. Other boat hulls could be seen under water.

Concrete-block businesses were leveled, their merchandise strewn about the streets.

But a few Port Isabel residents rode out the storm.

One of them is Jesus Garcia, 50, who stayed in his pink frame house with his two goats, a rooster, two cats and a German shepherd dog.

"I had to stay here with my dog," Garcia said. "He cost me $75."

Teen Prof Hired

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Stanford University has made the youngest professorial appointment in its history, an 18-year-old youth with a liking for Beethoven and tennis—and a strong conviction that American education needs changes.

Prof. Harvey M. Friedman has been appointed to teach mathematical logic at a salary of $10,000 a year. He has the rank of assistant professor.

Friedman, who went to Highland Park, Ill., high school entered Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the fall of 1964 and earned his doctorate Aug. 31, has some definite ideas of today's education.

Age Doesn't Bother 'Brain'

At a news conference, Friedman expressed the belief that America's education is too regimented.

"Students should have more control of their social relations," said Friedman who had the "usual dates and dances" in school. "They should be allowed to do whatever they want under the law," he continued.

"The university's concern should be whether they can meet the academic standards and pass the required examinations."

"And the curriculum itself, in a general way, should be a concern of the students. The university's right to expel should be on academic standards alone," he said.

Friedman, who will be 19 Saturday is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Friedman of Highland Park. His father is a businessman.

He says it doesn't bother him that some of the students in his course of recursion theory in mathematical logic will be six to seven years older than he is.

Band Program Set

The Big Spring High School band will feature "Oldies but Goodies" in its half-time presentation during the Big Spring-Snyder football tilt at Snyder tonight.

The band will continue to perform its spirited and intricate marching patterns, and playing such music as "Lover's Fanfare," "Grandioso," theme from "Dr. Zhivago," "Swanee," "Goodnight Ladies," "Me and My Shadow," and "Texas Fight."

In addition, the feature twirlers will be showing off their new uniforms.

Rio Grande Valley Isolated

Thousands Plead For Food, Serum

By GARTH JONES

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—The military struggled today to rescue thousands of victims of Hurricane Beulah, supply food to refugees and carry reptile serum. The Weather Bureau said damage will "approximate a billion dollars."

Three Rivers, a town of 2,000, was ordered completely evacuated.

Main efforts centered around Robstown, Sinton, Petrus and Three Rivers, north and west of Corpus Christi. The heavily populated Lower Rio Grande Valley, as Indiana.

Torrential downpours pounded vast portions of northern Mexico across the Rio Grande from this devastated section.

Decaying Terror Moving

Beulah's decaying terror moved into an area between Laredo, Tex., and Monterrey, Mexico.

Beulah, now down to a disappearing tropical storm, had claimed six lives earlier in Texas—four in tornadoes and two persons drowned. It killed 24 others, making the total 30 of the 160 m.p.h. they once hit. "The storm still remains a strong rain producer," official observers said, predicting furms moisture accumulations topping 20 inches in some localities.

Heavy thundershowers extended northward past Austin in Central Texas, tapering into scattered showers in the north edge of the state.

The monstrous problem left by the hurricane came from rains of almost 30 inches in one place and severe rains everywhere in its path.

All highways south of San Antonio were impassable, the State Highway Department reported. State police said the perimeter of the isolated area ran from Matagorda, 130 miles northeast of Corpus Christi, and then in a great arc to San Antonio and Laredo.

Snakebite Kits Needed

Ed Schroeder, assistant disaster director of Nueces County's (Corpus Christi) Red Cross, said officials in Sinton and Victoria pleaded for food and for snakebite kits because so many poisonous reptiles had fled to high ground along with people.

Capt. Marvin Francis, operations officer for a National Guard battalion, said, "That's right. Our drivers tell us snakes are everywhere. But so far we have had no reports of anyone being bitten."

Francis said his sources in the National Guard said Three Rivers was aiming at 100 per cent evacuation.

Capt. Francis and Red Cross sources said Sinton and Victoria officials asked for food and diapers. Corpus Christi residents sent these materials, along with snakebite kits, in a high-wheeled military vehicle which might be able to travel flooded highways.

The National Guard sent two 5-ton trucks to Sinton to help in evacuation. The guardsmen worked all night and the drivers were relieved at dawn and Capt. Francis said the evacuation situation appeared under control.

Sinton officials called for enough food for 1,500 refugees for a day and a half, and Schroeder said this indicated the crisis would last at least that long.

Red Cross trucks got through to Robstown and its 1,500 evacuees Thursday night with sugar and cereal. A milk truck reached there today.

Trucks Sent In

Capt. Francis said two large trucks were sent to Falfurrias to help evacuate residents of two parts of town where water was two feet deep. The officer was trying to retrieve his trucks because of flooding threats to Calallen on the Nueces River just north of Corpus Christi.

Fifty National Guard trucks were sent from Gatesville to Victoria Wednesday en route to the Lower Rio Grande Valley but many stopped to help Victoria residents. At 8 a.m., the Guadalupe River at Victoria was at 30.02 feet and expected to go to 31 feet. Flood stage is 21 feet, but levees protect much of the city.

The San Antonio Fire Department estimated 10,000 refugees there, mostly those forced from their homes by roaring creeks. Refugees from the lower valley swelled the total. Valley residents cannot return home because of flooded highways.

The town of Pettus, population 350, was completely evacuated because of rain-caused high water but the situation eased today. Water was between 6 and 9 feet in the streets.

Sheriff's officers at Beeville said Navy helicopters from Chase Field at Beeville were evacuating Three Rivers residents. Roads in the vicinity of Pettus were covered with 3 to 4 feet of water.

Refugees Pack Courthouse

The three-story Beeville courthouse was packed with refugees, who spilled over into the junior high school, high school and a Roman Catholic church. There was no food or water problem there.

"We've got a 46-foot flood crest coming down and we've got to get everybody out all the way down the river to Nueces Bay," sheriff's dispatcher Clarence Hermes said at Three Rivers.

A rain gauge in Victoria showed 29 inches. The official Weather Bureau reading there was 18.5 inches and the rain continued.

At Beeville, 40 miles east of Three Rivers, raging Ploesta Creek already had sent water gushing 30 feet deep through the middle of town, routing about 1,000 families and splitting the community.

A ham radio operator reported seven feet of water covered parts of Pettus, in the same area north of Corpus Christi. Most of the community's 350 residents scrambled to higher ground, but state police said four or five were missing hours later.

Patients were moved from a hospital at the small town of Kenedy to a rest home atop a high hill.

National Guard and Navy vehicles pushed through seas of muddy water during the night and this morning for rescues at these and other scenes of major flooding, also including Sinton and Falfurrias.

Worst In History

The Weather Bureau in Corpus Christi said flooding along the Nueces River was the worst in history. It predicted crests on this and other South Texas streams as much as 21 feet above flood stage.

En route to Nueces Bay, the Nueces River feeds into Lake Corpus Christi, which is bordered by numerous homes. The swollen river was not considered a serious threat to the city of Corpus Christi proper.

Ambulance driver Louis L. Dickinson, 46, of Beeville said rains measuring up to 23 inches sent usually dry Ploesta Creek on the rampage in his home town, inhabited by about 15,000 persons.

Cuban Reb Chief Reportedly With Guerrillas In Bolivia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western Hemisphere ministers opened a conference on the Castro-Communist threat today with a report that Ernesto (Che) Guevara, long missing from Cuba, is with guerrillas in the Bolivian jungles.

Bolivian Foreign Minister Walter Guevara Arze said he would produce for the foreign affairs chiefs photos and other captured documents indicating that Guevara, one-time top aide to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, is helping the insurrection in mountainous Bolivia.

The documents are also being shown in Bolivia by President Rene Barrientos, it was reported here.

LONG ABSENT

The three-day high-level meeting of the 21 Organization of American States members was called by Venezuela, a long-time prime target of Castro's revolutionary exports. Venezuela had a nine-point proposal for tightening the OAS quarantine against Cuba.

Che Guevara was last seen publicly in Cuba about two and one half years ago. And for a time was thought to have been killed. But Castro has mentioned him occasionally, indicated he still is alive.

SOLIDARITY

U.S. strategists hope the session will demonstrate hemispheric solidarity against Castro's exports of subversion and boost already adopted OAS policies.

They doubt the OAS will vote for any dramatic new action

Egyptians Lob Shells

JERUSALEM (AP)—Egyptian troops lobbed several mortar shells at Israeli forces across the Suez Canal six miles south of Port Said today. An Israeli army spokesman said. He declined to say whether the Israelis returned the fire.

It was the third straight day of firing across the canal and the second straight day since the departure of Soviet warships from the Mediterranean port Wednesday that an incident occurred in the northern sector of the waterway.

The army spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties in today's shooting.

Official sources said Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, chief United Nations cease-fire supervisor, interrupted a vacation for a trip to Cairo to discuss the outbreaks at the canal, where units of both sides have been dug in since the six-day Middle East war in June.

Egyptian officials said Thursday they had asked the United Nations to send Bull to Cairo because of Israeli "acts of aggression against civilians" along the cease-fire line.

such as an economic blockade or a hemisphere-wide boycott of non-Communist countries trading with Cuba.

Venezuela's proposals include OAS denunciation of Cuban "persistent acts of aggression," a renewed appeal to Western countries to curb their trade with Cuba, a call on Moscow and Peking to quit encouraging Havana's subversion, and tighter policing measures among the OAS states to prevent entry of persons, arms, funds and propaganda from Cuba.

One idea considered in preliminary discussions — to send a team of three Latin American foreign ministers to European capitals to seek curbs on Cuban trade—has been dropped on grounds their pleas would have little effect. Non-Communist trade with Cuba has dropped from $1.6 billion in 1958, the last year before Castro's takeover, to around $350 million annually the last two years.

OAS measures adopted since 1960 include Cuba's ouster from the hemispheric organization, condemnation of it for aggression, suspension of diplomatic relations, trade and shipping, appeals to nations to restrict their Cuban trade and shipping, and cooperation to control travel, funds, and propaganda from Havana.

Gromyko Delivers Stinging Answer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko charged today that the United States is trying to delude the world by peace talk while launching military action which at any moment "can draw new states" into the Vietnam conflict.

In a major policy speech before the U.N. General Assembly, Gromyko delivered a stinging reply to Thursday's address by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg who sought to get a commitment that Hanoi would enter peace talks if the United States halted its bombing of North Vietnam.

SOAP BUBBLE

Gromyko asserted that Goldberg's speech contained nothing new and said it was clear the United States had no intention of getting out of Vietnam.

He said that everytime the United States depicts itself as taking a peace initiative it turns out "to be a soap bubble intended either for domestic or for external consumption."

"Every state which really seeks to promote an end to the war against the Vietnamese people," he said, "should be clearly aware that peace may be brought about in Vietnam solely as a result of the withdrawal of the aggressors."

AID PLEDGE

Gromyko said nothing about the prospect of a bombing halt opening the way for negotiations. Instead, he called for condemnation of the United States by all U.N. speakers and pledged continued Soviet support to North Vietnam.

"As regards the Soviet Union, together with other socialist countries," he said, "it renders and will go on rendering the fraternal people of Vietnam increasing support and diverse assistance necessary to repel aggression against civilians" along the cease-fire line.

was the largest since World War II, he said:

"It's danger lies not only in the scale of hostilities but also in that at any moment the fighting can overrun new areas and draw new states into its orbit."

DANGER

"It is quite in vain that Washington is trying to delude people by making all kinds of tranquilizing statements. To act in this way means telling an untruth and turning a blind eye on the real danger lying in wait for the world at large in connection with the war in Vietnam."

The Soviet foreign minister ranged over the whole field of foreign affairs, including the Middle East problem, European security, colonialism and disarmament.

On the Middle East, he repeated Soviet demands that Israel withdraw its military forces from Arab territory occupied during the June war, that the Arab countries must be reimbursed for damages and that Israel give up the Old City of Jerusalem.

AGGRESSION

"Israel," he said, "must comply with the United Nations' decision on Jerusalem, otherwise the Security Council will have to take decisions on sanctions against Israel. The Soviet Union will be ready to participate in the implementation of that decision."

Gromyko reiterated Soviet charges that the United States bore a major responsibility for what he called Israel's aggression by encouraging the policy of conquest.

He declared that all countries in the Middle East be guaranteed peace and security, but he said it was impossible to move in this direction without first freeing "Arab lands from the forces of the Israeli aggressors."

3 NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♠ Altho South's holding does not quite meet the book

requirements for a three no

trump bid, many players chose that call when today's hand was dealt in a recent tournament.

Observe that South has only

24 high card points, counting one extra for all four aces.

The six card suit does provide a measure of compensation, however.

The opening lead by West was usually the fourth best spade and East's jack disjodged declarer's king. South had four top tricks in spades, hearts, and diamonds, he observed that with a three-no trump bid, he could establish five more tricks by playing the ace, king, and another club.

Inasmuch as there was no

quick entry to dummy for a finesse, and the odds were at least two-to-one in favor of the expected break, declarer proceeded to cash his high clubs. When West showed out on the second round, South's plan went on the rocks. East was in on the third round of clubs to clear the spade suit,

and when he regained the lead with the queen of clubs

he returned a spade and West

cash three more tricks.

Only one declarer succeeded in taking nine tricks—

and this was the result of an unorthodox line of play. The opening lead was a spade won by South with the king. Instead of going after clubs immediately, however, this player led a small diamond

from his hand.

By establishing a delayed

entry to dummy South assured himself of an opportunity to take a club finesse. He appears to be trading two-to-one odds for a mere 50-50

chance, however, there was one additional factor to be considered. If West has the missing king of diamonds, he may be reluctant to release that card prematurely. Observe that by ducking one round of diamonds, West can shut declarer out of cashing

North's long card in the suit.

Altho West could not read his opponent's plan of campaign, he decided against a waiting game. He rose with the king of diamonds at trick

two and returned a spade to clear South's remaining stopper. The latter proceeded to cash three diamond tricks

after which a club was led from dummy. Declarer finessed the jack and altho

the suit did not divide evenly,

he was able to run for cover with nine tricks—three clubs,

three diamonds, one heart,

and two spades.

Altho declarer's reasoning

may appear a bit specious to some, nevertheless he was the only player to score a profit on the deal with the North-South holding.

Gets Probation

Jean Elliott, charged with burglary, was placed on two-

Caton of 118th District Court in woman entered a plea of guilty.

She had been indicted by the

Many Believe Adam Powell Will Resign

NEW YORK (AP)—It has been five months since Adam

Clayton Powell won overwhelming re-election to a House seat

he has never tried to claim. But Harlem residents seem willing to wait for their self-exiled political leader to straighten out his affairs and return to Congress.

Stirrings of a small summer revolt against the 22-year

congressional veteran have died out. Harlem leaders do not see his support dwindling. And an

AP survey showed that the community reacted with resigned patience when Powell visited

Washington, D.C., to testify before a grand jury last week, but did not come to Harlem.

TOP PROSPECTS

A spokesman for Manhattan

Borough President Percy Sutton, a Negro Democrat mentioned as a top prospect for

Powell's seat if the Congressman eventually resigns, as many believe he will, commented that "We feel any time Powell comes back to Harlem he would draw wide support. People still support him on the basis of what he did years ago."

During street corner interviews in Harlem last week most persons who said they had voted for the debonair Baptist minister in years past indicated they would do so again. Nearly half added that while they didn't think Powell had as much support now as he had at the last election, one appearance might remedy the situation.

NO POWER

"He should come back here if he wants to re-establish himself here, but I think people will wait," said Mindell Brown man behind the counter of a hot dog stand on Lenox Avenue.

"He doesn't have any power,"

said Alphonso Cordova. "Coming here wouldn't help us until he straightens things out in Washington. If he didn't come here, I'm sure he had his reasons."

Rusk's Daughter Marries

Rusk's Daughter, Negro Honeymoon

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The blonde daughter of Secretary of State Dean Rusk is honeymooning today with her husband, an Army Reserve lieutenant who is a Negro.

The Georgia-born Rusk gave his daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, 18, in marriage Thursday to Guy Gibson Smith, 22, in a formal Stanford University chapel wedding that had been prepared in great secrecy.

FEAR — The secretary's brother-in-law, Jack Foisie, said Rusk had been "fearful that demonstrations might mar" the occasion. But the quiet ceremony, attended by parents of both the bride and groom and about 16 other relatives and close friends, was performed in traditional fashion without an incident of any sort.

Rusk arrived in the bay area Wednesday afternoon for the announced purpose of visiting Foisie, home on sick leave from his assignment as a news correspondent in Vietnam.

'VERY HAPPY' — The wedding license was obtained in similar secrecy, after office hours, from Alfred De-vancens, assistant court clerk, who said he was called to a private home in Menlo Park. He said State Department officials requested the special arrangement "in the interest of security."

Asked for comment leaving the chapel, Rusk said he was "very happy."

The father of the groom, Clarence L. Smith of Washington, D.C., called the couple "two young people in love."

He is chief analyst with the Army correction program in the office of the provost marshal-general.

RESIGN OFFER

The New York Times said in a story from Washington that Rusk was prepared to resign if the interracial marriage was deemed politically embarrassing by the Johnson Administration.

Such offers are traditional when high officials serving at the pleasure of a president fear a development has that potential.

NO OBJECTION

The Times said Johnson apparently regarded it as a formal courtesy and gave it no serious consideration.

The Rusk, the Times said, first learned some months ago that their only daughter intended to marry Smith. The newspaper reported that David Rusk, the bride's older brother, said his parents had, to his knowledge, raised no objection to the marriage.

The bride and groom were driven away in a limousine, their honeymoon destination undisclosed.

Romney Hints Early Start In Presidential Campaign

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Michigan's Gov. George Romney has hinted strongly that he may make an early start in the Republican presidential derby with an announcement of his candidacy, perhaps next month.

Such an early start in the ring—with the Republican convention still 11 months off—would be unusual.

NIXON CHALLENGE

Presumably the aim would be to rally Republican liberals and moderates around one candidate—Romney—to face any challenge from Richard M. Nixon or perhaps California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Before winging into Reagan country here late Thursday, Romney acknowledged his supporters had been seeking prime television time for a "report to the people."

'FLEXIBLE' TIMING

Romney observed that the report would not necessarily be limited to his findings on the current tour of American cities—thus raising the likelihood that he would announce his candidacy.

However, Romney said he had not made up his mind on any "special announcement."

Minor Wrecks

Two minor accidents were reported to city police Thursday. Eltha B. Whisenand, 33, 909 Eleventh Place, and Dewey Stewart, 808 NW 4th, were in collision at Third and State. Opal Hull Stull, 1720 Purdue, and Anna Reese Moss, Box 223, were involved in an accident at 501 Westover.

Romney told newsmen accompanying him that the timing was "flexible" and he did not know whether the television time had been booked. However, the governor expected to make the report within a reasonably short time after the tour ends Sept. 30.

EXPOSURE

A Chicago Sun-Times dispatch from Milwaukee said television networks were reluctant to make the prime time available because of the rating battles over the new shows. In Detroit, a spokesman for the McCann Erickson advertising firm said the agency had been trying to buy television time on behalf of Romney, but that no definite commitments had been made.

Romney began the extended 17-city trip Sept. 19. Its aim, he said, was "nonpolitical"—to find solutions to the violent troubles of the cities.

But the trip's itinerary also gave him exposure in the big-vote cities and a chance to show concern over city and Negro problems.

Parade Opens Mitchell Fair

COLORADO CITY (SC)—The annual Mitchell County Fair opened here Thursday with a colorful parade leading off festivities.

The parade, featuring the marching bands of Colorado City and Lorraine, moved from the city's east hill to the court-house. Included were new automobiles, farm machinery and a float by the Looney Home Demonstration Club.

All exhibition booths were opened, as was the carnival, at the fair grounds on the western slopes of town.

Friday morning the Old Settlers Reunion was held at the Civic House with Johnny Moore, Sweetwater attorney, and Judge Austin McClellan, as speakers. The Colorado City Museum, located in the old American Legion building, was opened and was to be kept open throughout the day.

Saturday the Western Riding Club will sponsor its annual horse show at the fair grounds starting at 9 a.m. Then at 2 p.m. the Kiwanis Club will stage its Kids Day parade. In the evening the Western Riding Club will stage the traditional Mitchell County ropers contest at the riding club arena.

Tech Students Test College Housing Rule

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A group of Texas Tech students sued college officials Wednesday in a test suit of a school rule requiring on-campus residency of students. Nearly every state college in Texas has a similar rule.

A hearing on the suit was set for today.

The 34 students listed as plaintiffs in the suit asked that Texas Tech and its officials be enjoined from preventing their enrollment because they do not live on campus.

In addition, the 34 asked that they be permitted to remain at Tech as students after enrollment until a final ruling is handed down. The students live in a private apartment house complex here.

HEALTH ANGLE
Their suit contested Tech's "parietal" provision — college rule — first adopted by Tech officials in 1946 and amended in the 1960s which requires Tech students, with certain exceptions, to live on campus.

The college has given special permission for off-campus residency to students whose parents live here or close enough for commuting; married students; and students whose health or employment would be impaired by living on campus. Other students have been allowed to live off campus because of shortages in on-campus dormitory space.

The suit was filed in 72nd District Court Wednesday.

FIRST TEST
Attorney Kenneth Bowlin, representing the students, said the plaintiffs are all unmarried male students who have acquired off-campus housing for the fall semester, but who were denied admission to Tech until they complied with the on-campus rule.

Bowlin said he knew of no precedence for the suit.

"I believe this is the first suit in Texas covering this type of thing," Bowlin said.

The suit names as defendants Dr. Grover Murray, Tech president; Roy Furr, chairman of the board of regents; James A. Watkins, director of undergraduate admissions; Floyd Boze, registrar; Lou Jones, dean of men; Dennis Watkins, assistant dean of men, and Guy Moore, director of housing.

Dave Hoxworth, the principal plaintiff, is joined by 33 other students in the suit.

The students claim they have met all requirements for enrollment except that for on-campus housing and that the rule is "invalid, unconstitutional, and therefore not enforceable, null and void." They say it would deprive them of the opportunity "granted them by the Constitution to secure an education."

Auto Dealer Workshop Set

An area workshop, sponsored by the Texas Automobile Dealers Association, will be held at the Johnson House in Lubbock Oct. 4, and is expected to attract franchised new car dealers, finance company officials, bankers and their key personnel from throughout the Plains Area.

Frank Miskell, commissioner of Texas Consumer Credit Code, Austin, will be one of the featured speakers. The Consumer Credit Code passed by the 60th Texas Legislature affects automobile installment sales beginning Jan. 1, 1968. Commissioner Miskell and members of his staff will brief the automobile dealers on the procedures and requirements of the new Consumer Credit Code.

Also to be discussed will be the latest information on wage and hour regulations. Automobile dealers were brought under the wage and hour law on Feb. 1, 1967, and will be required to make an additional change on Feb. 1, 1968, by decreasing the hours worked and increasing the minimum wage.

Attending will be L. M. McAdoo, McAdoo Chevrolet Co., Seagraves, TADA regional vice president; and TADA district rectors R. P. Montgomery, Montgomery Motor Co., Lubbock; Shirley Hubbard, Hubbard Olds-Cadillac, Odessa; and H. E. Nail, Maggard-Nail Motor Co., Plainview.

Among TADA area directors expected to attend is Bill Pollard, Pollard Chevrolet Co., Big Spring; B. J. Vaughn, Vaughn Chevrolet Co., Lamesa; and Claude Nowlin, Alsop - Nowlin Chevrolet Co., Stanton.

Scout Council Filling Longtime Staff Vacancies

Three new field executives were introduced at the quarterly meeting of the Buffalo Trail Boy Scout council executive board meeting in Midland Thursday evening. Three more are due on the field within the next week, filling the staff vacancies for the first time in almost a year.

Earl McKeehan, council executive, said that the council would barely finish in the black this year, but only because of the staff shortages and because the board voted Thursday evening to transfer an unencumbered $7,000 from the sundry account. Had the council been able to have a complete staff during the year, it would have been $20,000 in the hole, McKeehan observed. This, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, Big Spring, who presided over the meeting, was a clear warning that the council must increase its level of financial support.

The partial staff condition is reflected in a loss of 39 units and 272 boys over a year ago, said McKeehan. However, he expects the Scout Night recruitment Tuesday in all council cities to overcome the boy loss.

Independent finance campaigns are being organized in council points which do not have community chests, said Charles Caliga, campaign chairman and assistant finance chairman.

Highlights of a new Cubbing program were outlined by Bob Glew, Dallas, deputy Region IX executive. New boys in the Webelos rank may earn any or all of 15 skill awards. There will be no Lion rank.

New executives introduced were Leon Miller, Big Spring; Tommy Cone, Midland; and Bill Tevington, Odessa. Due within a week are Paul Dunlap, Midland; Charles Amata, Snyder; and Leon Hale, Midland. Hale will succeed John Fannin, Odessa, who transferred to Lawton, Okla. Attending from Big Spring were Dr. Hunt, R. L. Cranford, Joe Pickle, Jack Guiley, Dick Ream and S. M. Smith.

OIL REPORT

Garza Wildcat Tests Glorieta

A Garza County wildcat will be re-entered by Harter & Langford of Dallas to test the Glorieta pay section at 3,500 feet.

No. 1 Post-Montgomery Estate is 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of section 7-4, K. Aycock survey, seven miles northeast of Post. It was plugged and abandoned at 8,855 feet in 1948 by Union Oil of Calif. as No. 1-A M. P. Davies.

Continental Oil of Midland has amended the location of No. 73-A W. R. Settles in the Howard - Glasscock (Yates and Queen) field of Glasscock County. Drilling to 2,050 feet with rotary tool, it spots 1,960 feet from the south and 840 feet from the west lines of section 158-29, W&NW survey, three miles south of Forsan.

Decision Due In Condemnation

A decision was due this afternoon from a jury of view commission at Robert Lee on the condemnation of 4,014 acres of land by the Colorado River Municipal Water District for part of its new lake basin.

Testimony in the suit brought against Helen Wilcockson, et al, was concluded at 2:20 p.m. Thursday. Dr. Frank Consulman and Darrell Smith, Abilene geologists, testified to the damages they said would be incurred to the land and the underlying minerals by reason of the lake submerging the acreage.

The commission was taken later on a tour of the lands affected. The hearing began Monday and the district concluded its testimony at noon Wednesday.

The inquiry stems from a charge published May 26 by Life magazine, which accused Long of misusing his power as a Senate subcommittee chairman to help attorneys defending Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

Long denied in a Senate speech that he misused a Senate inquiry into wiretapping and invasions of privacy to help the Hoffa defense.

Life said Long received $48,000 in 1963 and 1964 from Morris A. Shenker, St. Louis attorney who represented Hoffa in an appeal from a jury-tampering conviction.

LEGAL FEES
Long acknowledged the payments from Shenker, but said they were legal fees which did not involve the Teamsters directly or indirectly. He said they were for client referrals and legal work done jointly with the St. Louis lawyer.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-DeL., sought the ethics committee inquiry.

"We've had a good deal of research work done," said committee chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., the chairman. "We just haven't finished our investigation. We're reviewing the whole matter."

One man involved in the inquiry said it is proving more difficult than the investigation which led the committee to recommend, and the Senate to adopt, a resolution censuring Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

In that case, the source said, the committee had a ready-made starting point in some 70 columns by Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson leveling misconduct charges against Dodd.

Dr. Zinn To Attend Meet

Dr. Houston J. Zinn, chief of surgical service of the VA hospital, will attend the 53rd annual clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons to be held in Chicago, Oct. 2-6.

Every phase of surgery will be considered during the five-day meeting which will be attended by 13,000.

Incoming president is Dr. Reed M. Nesbit of Ann Arbor, Mich. Other speakers will be Professor Roderick Alfred Gregory, Liverpool, England; Dr. James K. Stack, Chicago; Senator Lister Hill, Alabama; and Dr. Paul S. Russell, Boston.

Connally To View Hurricane Damage

MALLEN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally arrived here at 11:32 a.m. today and immediately left by helicopter to survey Hurricane Beulah's damage to Padre Island.

Connally's arrival with a group of key state officials was reported in Austin by the state's emergency operating center.

The governor's flight by private airplane from Austin took nearly 2 1/2 hours. He left Austin about 9:10 a.m.

WARN
Connally said he had no plans to try to take in anything else but the Valley. Some 40,000 square miles of Texas suffered a disastrous blow from Beulah's floods, winds and tornadoes.

"It is too much to hope that we can go anywhere else at this time," he told a news conference.

Connally said, "Beyond any question, damages to all kinds of property—public and private—are going to run far in excess of what we originally anticipated."

He would not say whether he believed Beulah's devastation

Sinton Reported Badly Flooded

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Joe Steward said here today that efforts to contact her sister and niece in Sinton had been unsuccessful. Communications were out to Sinton, and the Texas Department of Public Safety informed her that water was four feet deep at the courthouse square. Her sister, Mrs. Beulah Pegues, is a guest in a rest home at Sinton. Mrs. Taft Morrow is her niece who resides there.

Sen. Tower Wants New War Policy

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Thursday night he no longer backs the administration's stand on Vietnam and instead wants "a new policy to shorten the war."

Cancellation of air service because of Hurricane Beulah's after effects forced Tower to express his views by telephone from Corpus Christi, where he inspected storm damage.

His speech was made to the Dallas Council on World Affairs. "I must clearly state that I cannot be satisfied with the administration's present conduct of the war," the Texas Republican said. "The administration has committed us to an open-ended, no-win, long-war policy."

Tower added that while he previously supported the goals for Southeast Asia enunciated by President Johnson, he now was dissatisfied with the conduct of the war.

To shorten the conflict he called for speedy application of "unrelenting military pressure on the enemy, bombing all targets of military significance and closing the port of Haiphong."

Dear Abby

Not The Marrying Kind

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a guy who can't seem to make up his mind whether he wants to get married.

We have had four blood tests (you can't get married in this state without one) and every time we go to get married he changes his mind and we put it off. I am 22 and he is 21, but I don't think he's ready to settle down yet.

We both work, so money isn't the problem.

We have gone together off and on since high school, so we know each other pretty well. He says he loves me and I know I love him. Have you any advice for me?

NEEDING ADVICE
DEAR ABBY: Yes. Give your blood to the Red Cross and find another guy. He's not ready.

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago I wrote you a letter, telling about my miserable homelife. I said my mother was a tramp and my father would get drunk and beat me for no reason at all. Then I told you that I turned to my boy friend for the love I needed and he got me pregnant, and I was considering suicide. I gave you my name and address begging you to hurry your answer.

Well, I just received the most wonderful letter from you, Abby. You gave me some good advice, with hope and encouragement for the future. And you sent me the name of a home for unwed mothers nearby where I could go for help. Then you closed with "Good luck, Dear, and God bless you."

Well, Abby, my letter was a bunch of made up lies. I have a good homelife and I don't even have a steady boy friend. I surely am not pregnant.

I feel so sorry for what I did. Please forgive me. I promise never to do a thing like that again.

ASHAMED
DEAR ABBY: I can usually spot a phony letter, but when a girl is "in trouble" I take no chances and answer accordingly. (Some of the wildest situations are "real.") You're forgiven, but if you have the urge to do any more "Creative writing," please spare me.

DEAR ABBY: Every where you turn you hear about sex, which is the most overrated thing in the world, if you ask me.

I have been married for 24 years with practically no sex. He doesn't bother me and I don't bother him.

I was considered quite a doll in my day, and I haven't changed much. Blonde, 5 ft. 5, weight 115. Yes, we have children. Three of them. (And I had a job talking my husband into it.) I have a full length mink coat, a leopard jacket and a mink stole. My husband is a professional man, well liked and handsome. Looks sexy, but looks can fool you.

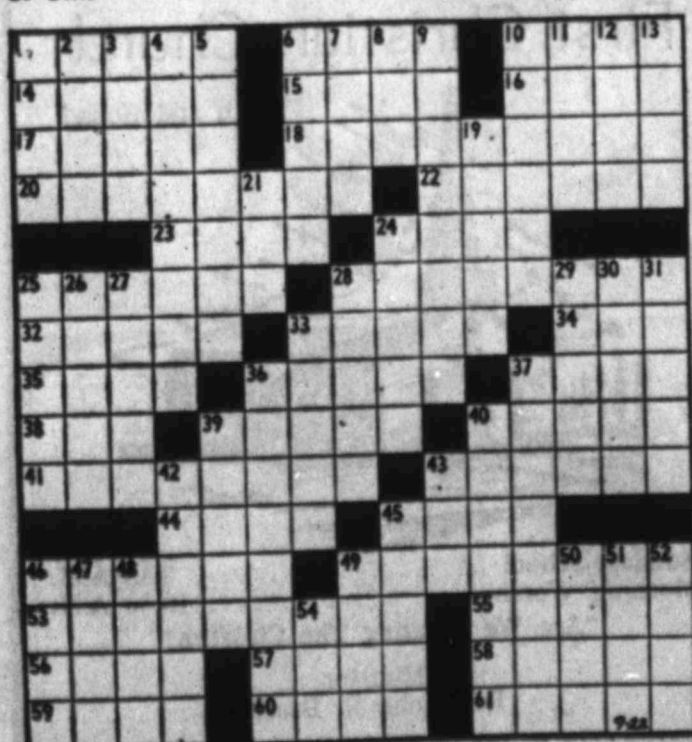

I play a good game of bridge and consistently break 90 in golf. I keep busy, and enjoy life and if I'm neurotic, frustrated or heading for a nervous breakdown I haven't seen any signs of it yet. Nobody knows what I'm missing but me. SATISFIED

United Fund Help Asked

Kiwanians Thursday were urged to support the United Fund campaign in Big Spring and were asked to volunteer to "work" five cards as a concrete proof of their approval of the program.

Dick Ream, general drive chairman, was a guest and introduced Doyle Maxwell, who is with the Employee Division of the drive.

Maxwell, with Texas Electric Service Co., has prepared a presentation relative to the United Fund campaign which the drive officials regard as outstanding. As a result, they have asked him to present it before each of the civic clubs of town.

Employing a covered wage picture on a huge screen as his theme, Maxwell stressed the importance of the fund and the agencies which it finances.

A number of Kiwanians were absent from the Thursday meeting. They are in Tulsa attending the Oklahoma-Texas Convention of Kiwanis International.

Science Teacher Struck, Killed

SILSBEE, Tex. (AP) — A high school science teacher at Silsbee, Vernon L. Dugar, was struck by a car and killed Thursday on US 69. He was hit as he walked to a service station to get help on repairing a flat tire on his car.

Newsy Letter Sent To Viet Soldier

MIDDLETOWN, Mo. (AP) — Pfc. Anthony Heim of Middletown has a newsy letter headed his way in Vietnam—about 200 feet of it.

Relatives, friends and neighbors got together to write the letter on a roll of office machine paper.

Heim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Heim.

U.S. Warplanes Attempt To Seal Off Chief Port

SAIGON (AP) — Raiding Navy warplanes severed the last undamaged bridge out of the Red port of Haiphong and possibly shot down a MIG fighter attempting to defend the city, the U.S. Command said today.

The Navy said the MIG disappeared in the clouds after being hit.

Red gunners shot down one Navy Crusader jet in the Haiphong area, headquarters said. Radio Hanoi claimed seven American planes were downed in the raids Thursday.

AIR BATTLE
While the air battle raged over North Vietnam's heartland, Communist gunners kept up thunderous barrages along the Demilitarized Zone, aiming about 1,000 shells at the Marine bastions at Con Thien and Gio Linh in the past 24 hours. Seven Marines were killed and 135 wounded. Also wounded was Associated Press photographer Henri Huet.

The heavy air raids on Haiphong were intended to keep the war supplies flowing into the key North Vietnamese port from ever reaching those gunners and other Communist troops fighting in the South. The idea is to close roads and rails leading out of the port, resulting in a massive pileup of supplies in the city.

SOVIET FEAR
Missions from the carrier Coral Sea were the fourth this month inside Haiphong, but as in the past the port and docking facilities themselves were spared because of the fear of endangering Soviet bloc shipping and risking a widening of the war.

Returning pilots said their 500- and 2,000-pound bombs dropped a span of the 658-foot Kien highway bridge, leading southwest on the only route out of Haiphong which had not been badly pummeled by U.S. raiders. The bridge is 1.7 miles from the city's center.

Skyhawk jets also made their fourth attack since Sept. 11 on the Haiphong railroad-highway bridge one mile west of the city's center.

Above them, four Communist MIG17s ran into two supersonic Navy Phantom jets protecting the raiders. In a brief, swirling dogfight, one of the Phantoms scored "possible damage" on one of the MIGs.

Nearby, Red ground fire brought down an RF8 Crusader jet and the pilot was listed as missing. It was the 680th announced combat loss in the North.

American pilots flew 115 missions over North Vietnam Thursday, striking missile sites, bridges, supply targets and rail lines from the Hanoi-Haiphong area down to the scarred area of the Demilitarized Zone where Marine pilots were concentrating on Red gun positions. In addition, high-altitude B52s twice hit the DMZ area with saturation bombing raids on suspected Red strongholds.

ARTILLERY DUELS
The roar of gunfire and bombing along the DMZ has become almost continuous as the war of attrition there mounts daily. In addition to naval gunfire support from destroyers offshore, Marine and Army gunners are throwing out 6,000 shells daily in preplanned barrages and firing more each time the Red gunners open up.

With an estimated 35,000 men available in the DMZ area, the North Vietnamese could be attempting to soften up the Marines for some major thrust. It seemed likely, however, that they were simply trying to inflict as many casualties as possible—the pattern of part artillery duels along the border. Sharp but scattered fighting was reported elsewhere in South Vietnam.

RAILS STRESSED
As background for the intensified raids on Haiphong, Lt. Gen.

William W. Mommyer, commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force in Vietnam, indicated that disruption of North Vietnamese rail lines down from Red China prompted the Reds to place greater reliance on water shipping to their major port.

Mommyer told a news conference Tuesday that the Air Force has put heavy stress on the northeast rail line, carrying supplies from Red China to Hanoi.

In Saigon, the national police held former Economics Minister Au Truong Thanh today after invading his home and later handcuffing him on a downtown Saigon street.

HANDCUFFED
Thanh, a former member of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's Cabinet, tried to form a peace ticket to run in the Sept. 3 presidential election. His ticket was eliminated by the National Assembly, which charged that Thanh was "pro-Communist and neutralist."

About 70 armed policemen surrounded his house Thursday night. Then, on his way to report to the national police director Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, Thanh tried to stop at his Saigon office. Police handcuffed him and shoved him into a jeep.

Loan said Thanh was being questioned about his application for his family to visit the United States and about the alleged statements of a captured Viet Cong agent linking Thanh with the Communists.

Pay Raises Are Granted

The two top men in the road and bridge department of the county and three other employees of the department — all at the county barn — have been given pay raises by the Howard County commissioners Court. The hikes were made effective Sept. 1.

Billy Paul Thomas, road supervisor, was given $25 a month increase which brings his new pay to $580 per month.

Bob Wheeler, purchasing agent, was given a $50 a month raise to bring his pay to $495 per month.

Three other men given raises were Wayne Wallace, $10 per month ($390); W. B. Averitt, $15 a month ($429); and B. C. Dodson, $5 a month ($400).

Car Owners Should Pay Scrap Costs?

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Residents of this southwestern Washington city on the Columbia River have voted not to change the name of their town. Backers of the ballot measure wanted to change the name to Fort Vancouver to avoid confusion with Vancouver, B.C.

Stabbed To Death

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Hazel Herbert Fletcher Jr., 24, a soldier assigned to Co. D, 10th Engineering Bn., Ft. Hood, was stabbed to death early Thursday in front of a Waco residence. Officers took another 24-year-old man into custody in connection with the slaying.

Texas Baptists Asked To Help California Crusade

Texas Baptists are being asked to join "the most intensive evangelistic campaign ever conducted by any denomination on a statewide basis."

The event next year is the Southern Baptist Encounter Crusade in California.

Its goal is to reach more than two million persons who do not consider themselves a part of organized religion.

California Baptist leaders say frankly they're up against tremendous odds. The denomination, founded in the state 27 years ago, has only 1,000 churches and 225,000 members. Yet they're committed to "encounter" a sizable portion of the state's 20,000,000 residents. "That's why we've come to Texas for help," said Dr. K. Owen White, metropolitan mission co-ordinator for Southern Baptists in Greater Los Angeles.

In Dallas conferring with leaders of the state convention's evangelism division, he said he hopes to recruit more than 1,000 "volunteer" preachers and song leaders from Texas.

Dr. White, former pastor of the First Baptist Church in Houston, said he considers the Texas evangelism division "the strongest anywhere."

The state has the manpower and "warm missionary hearts," he said, to spark new interest in religion in his state.

The church executive hopes to set up a "sister" relationship between associations in Texas and in California. For example, he is proposing the Baptist Association in Dallas work with the Baptist Association in Los Angeles.

The association here would supply evangelists and laymen to lead in the major crusade April 21 through May 4. Other Texas associations would send evangelists to California's other 27 associations.

Dr. White estimated two-thirds of California's residents do not go to any church. He said Californians usually are "indifferent" to evangelistic efforts.

He hopes to attract some who normally are suspicious of churches by the out-of-door crusades. These crusades will be followed by a week of services (900 to 900 meetings) in individual churches.

A special reprint of the Book of John from the American Bible Society's "Good News for the Modern Man" — the New Testament translation written in modern English — has been ordered.

In fact, Dr. White was just getting over the report that 20 freight car loads of the booklet are being shipped by a Dallas printer.

Dr. C. Wade Freeman, director of the Texas evangelism division, said that although his department is not handling the assignment of evangelists for the crusade, he is confident Texas associations will give enthusiastic support to the California crusades.

He noted emphasis will be on "the witness of individuals rather than a nationally known evangelist such as Billy Graham." This provision, he feels, will clarify the point that "people like you and me can be Christians."

Dr. White will be visiting Texas associations through October.

Corps Planning Revival Service

Lt. Bart Deggs, commander, has announced revival services by the Salvation Army Corps which will begin Sept. 28 and close Oct. 8, 7 p.m. daily at the Salvation Army Citadel, 600 W. 4th.

Brig. Robert Ball, divisional evangelist, will be in charge of services. Brig. and Mrs. Ball, Dallas, will also be in charge of the special music for the revival. The public is invited.

Losses Settled

NEW YORK (AP) — The Methodist Church will get a total of $3,251,605 in settlement for property losses and damage to its mission facilities in China from 1937 to 1945, the U.S. Foreign Claims Settlement Commission has ruled in Washington, D.C., a church official disclosed here.

English Baptists

CHICAGO (AP) — A Baptist church in Bedfordshire, England, is now a member of the Chicago Baptist Association in Illinois. Church officials here said the Sharpened Southern Baptist Church in Bedfordshire is the first church in England to become a part of the Illinois association of the Southern Baptist Convention in the United States.

Aussie Missions

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A statistical survey shows a sharp increase in the number of Australian missionaries serving overseas. The number rose 1,656 between 1959 and 1965 to a total of 4,416.

Slight Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The Lutheran Church in America now has 3,279,036 members, an increase of 13,381 in the past year.

REV. GEORGE GARDNER

Nazarenes Set Revival

The Church of the Nazarene has scheduled a revival beginning Monday and continuing through Oct. 1. Service time is 7:30 each evening, excepting Sunday when the service will begin at 7 p.m.

Each service will include singing, special music, and a gospel message.

The evangelist is Rev. George Gardner, an elder in the Church of the Nazarene and a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College.

In 1937, upon after his graduation, Rev. Gardner began his ministry as an evangelist and after 11 years accepted a church in Phoenix, Ariz., as pastor. Later he moved to California, where he continued his pastoral work until 1966, when he entered full-time evangelism.

Rev. D. M. Duke is pastor.

ADVERSITY FAILS TO SLOW PAUL IN PROCLAIMING GOSPEL

After Paul and 275 others aboard his ship were cast up on Malta without loss of life, the natives proved friendly. Paul was instrumental in healing the "chief man" and many others, so he and others were loaded with provisions when they departed, thus insuring passage to Rome.

Once there, although still a captive, Paul set an example of boldness and tenacity in his ministry by keeping on with his preaching. This is the basis for the Sunday uniform lessons based on Acts 28:17-31 with 23-31 as the focal passage. Whatever his circumstance, Paul was constant witness. He first summoned the leading Jews, many of whom came to hear him. Likely he was chained to a Roman soldier to make sure he would not escape (for he was in a private dwelling), but Paul proclaimed with confidence. "Some believed . . . and some believed not." Those who preach and otherwise witness today should bear this in mind.

Paul used the words of Isaiah, (69), the identical passage quoted by Jesus in Matt. 13:14, 15, calling upon them to hear and reminding that Isaiah, in the presence of God, had felt cut off only to hear "thine iniquity is taken away and thy sin purged." Paul presented Jesus as that same bridge.

His listeners evidently disagreed on Paul's message and "had great reasoning among themselves." Well, none ever reasoned his way into the kingdom of God; rather it is an act of faith. Paul indicates that the Holy Spirit has a leading hand in this.

At any rate, two things resulted. As he had in Pisidian Antioch and Corinth, Paul turned to the larger field of the Gentiles; and he turned to writing, for which we are blessed with the prison letters of Philemon, Colossians, Ephesians, and Philippians.

MASSIVE FLOODING

City-By-City Damages

By The Associated Press

The aftermath of Hurricane Beulah's destructive winds was torrential rains which produced massive flooding in an area roughly from Laredo to San Antonio, then eastward to the Gulf of Mexico and south to the Rio Grande.

Here is a city-by-city report on some of the situations:

Victoria: An unofficial 29 inches of rain has sent the Guadalupe River to an unexpected height of 31 feet—10 feet above flood stage. The near coastal city was isolated by highway. Some residents of the south part of the city left their homes.

Cuero: This city upstream from Victoria on the Guadalupe River was virtually sealed off by floodwaters. Stretches of roadway and bridge were washed out. Approximately 400 to 600 refugees were being housed in the school.

Falluris: Flood waters crept into this far South Texas city after 17.75 inches of rain was officially recorded.

Port Isabel: This coastal town, which caught the full fury of the hurricane, suffered 85 per cent loss of buildings. All schools were destroyed or are too damaged to use. There is no water, telephone service or sewer pumps. The gas system was working. The National Guard was expected to furnish a portable water plant and medical facilities. Residents will not be permitted to return until debris is cleared and utilities are restored, the Red Cross said.

South Padre Island: Facilities were reported 80 per cent destroyed. Of 116 house trailers, only four were not demolished. All motels have extensive wind and water damage.

North Padre Island: Officials said pavement on the causeway from Corpus Christi was in good shape and would be opened to traffic as soon as the tides return to normal. About 100 feet remained of the 1400-foot Bob Hall Fishing Pier that extended into the gulf.

Port Aransas: The 38 persons who stayed behind in this island community reported everything in fine shape. From 85 to 100 boats hauled to higher ground were generally undamaged.

Burnet: A tornado that struck Wednesday night caused at least half a million dollars damage to houses, commercial buildings and vehicles, Mayor J. B. McDuff said.

Corpus Christi: City officials turned today to a new threat, that of a mammoth flood crest coming down the Nueces River. The river cuts through the northwest part of Corpus Christi. All roads leading from the city were under two to four feet of water. All city streets were flooded as more than 10 inches of rain fell and more was falling.

Alice: Flooding continues after hurricane winds blew down power lines and collapsed the roof on an automobile dealer's showroom, damaging cars.

Rio Hondo: Food, water, power and sewer service were problems for this Lower Rio Grande Valley town. Two grocery stores were among the business places destroyed. Fifty per cent of the town's buildings were damaged.

Kingsville: About 18 commercial businesses were damaged or destroyed, the mayor said. The Texas A&I College football game in Kingsville Saturday night was canceled.

Dragon Gal Captured?

SAIGON (AP) — Police indicated today a woman arrested in connection with the shooting of a Nationalist Chinese intelligence officer may be the Dragon Lady who has been gunning down people from the back of a motorcycle.

The National police director, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, said Miss Phung Ngoc Anh, a 24-year-old Vietnamese of Chinese descent was arrested carrying a .45-caliber pistol which ballistics tests show was used to kill five persons, including two Americans. Loan said the woman admitted three of the shootings.

The Dragon Lady has been variously described as having long hair and short hair and wearing a red scarf and a blue scarf. Loan said a search of Miss Anh's apartment turned up a red and a blue scarf and two wigs.

The Dragon Lady shot most of her victims from the back seat of a motorcycle driven by a male accomplice.

The shooting of the Nationalist Chinese intelligence officer, Col. Charles T. Chung, occurred last Wednesday shortly after a terrorist bomb demolished the Chinese embassy in downtown Saigon.

Chung, who is still hospitalized, was shot in the back and thigh as he entered his home in Cholon. Miss Anh was captured at the scene.

Scout Fund Drive Planned

STANTON (Sp) — Kenneth Funk of Midland, Scout executive for the Chaparral district, and David Workman, Stanton scoutmaster, were speakers at the meeting of the majors and captains for the Boy Scouts county fund drive.

Plans were made for an advance drive breakfast to be held Oct. 10 at 7 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church. Committee in charge is Cecil Bridges, O. B. Bryan, F. O. Rhodes, Stanley Wheeler, Jim McCoy and Horace Blocker.

Majors and captains attending the meeting were Bill Terry, Bill Vaughn, D. M. Costlow, R. C. Vest, Sam Houston, Tom Ed Angel, Jim Wheeler, Jimmy Stallings, Bob Mize and Richard Payne.

ued its rise and floodwater was in at least 25 buildings.

San Patricio County: Hurricane and flood losses in this county just north of Corpus Christi may run as high as $5 million. Upward of 6,000 refugees were taken care of in the county.

Lower Rio Grande Valley: State officials advised residents of McAllen, Raymondville, Mission, Edinburg, Pharr, Harlingen and Los Fresnos to stay away until further notice. In Edinburg, 4,000 to 5,000 persons were in evacuation shelters. Flooding brought on by 15-inch rains turned the valley into lakes. Utilities were out in many areas and damage was widespread.

Falluris: Flood waters crept into this far South Texas city after 17.75 inches of rain was officially recorded and more was falling. Many places of business and churches were flooded. An estimated 40 per cent of the residents were moved out in an evacuation that started Tuesday before the hurricane hit the state. Every road leading from the city was closed.

Pettus: A ham radio operator reported that water was seven feet deep in parts of this community north of Corpus Christi. More than 100 persons took refuge on high ground in the town. The Texas Department of Public Safety said four or five persons were unaccounted for. An appeal for food, blankets and clothing was issued.

Beeville: The city manager of this town north of Corpus Christi said the entire community was under water at one time but floodwaters were subsiding from most residential areas. An estimated 1,500 to 2,000 persons were being housed in schools and at the courthouse.

Laredo: An unofficial five inches of rain and winds of 40 miles an hour struck Laredo, the farthest west city in Texas to feel the effects of the hurricane. Police said some lowland flooding took place on the east side of the city and a few persons left their homes. Telephone and power lines were knocked down but were mostly restored.

San Antonio: Creeks in this historic South Texas city jumped from their banks after more than five inches of rain fell in just over 24 hours. Hundreds of families were evacuated, many of them wading through waist deep water to safer places. A flood control basin, which usually is dry, has 15 feet of water in it.

Kenedy: Twenty-four blocks of the northeast part of town were evacuated, a ham radio operator reported, and 643 persons were given shelter in the high school. The report said 437 of the evacuees were from other parts of South Texas.

Arrested

Danny Escobedo, whose conviction for murder was reversed in a historic U.S. Supreme Court decision, was arrested today and accused of violating federal narcotics laws.

'Mr. Seaway' Dies

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — John C. Beukema, 79, referred to as "Mr. Seaway" because of his successful 40-year fight for a deep-water route from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes, died Thursday. Beukema spearheaded a drive for federal approval of a St. Lawrence Seaway and when the waterway was opened eight years ago, he rode the first ship through the channel.

Escobedo Facing Narcotic Charge

CHICAGO (AP) — Danny Escobedo, whose conviction for murder was reversed in a historic U.S. Supreme Court decision, was arrested today and accused of violating federal narcotics laws.

Escobedo was charged with violations of the narcotic and marijuana laws. Authorities declined to be more specific about the charges. He was arrested while driving his car on a city street, police said.

LEGAL LANDMARK

Escobedo, 29, has been arrested on various charges since the U.S. Supreme Court reversed his 1960 conviction of murdering his brother-in-law.

The 1964 decision, considered a legal landmark, held that an accused person must be advised of his constitutional rights to legal counsel before he can be questioned by police.

Escobedo lives on Chicago's South Side.

Kennel Club Given Reports

The Big Spring Kennel Club met Thursday evening in the Community Room of First Federal Savings and Loan Association and reports of the successful AKC-sanctioned A-C-A match held Sunday, Sept. 17, were given.

Mrs. R. O. Linn was elected president, and Mrs. Bill W. Tubb, vice president. R. O. Linn submitted his resignation as president, due to a transfer. He was presented with a plaque of appreciation.

The program, given by Mrs. Tubb, covered the essentials of giving a licensed point dog show and the need for a more thorough knowledge of AKC rules.

Nineteen members and four guests, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Walton, Mrs. E. A. Williams and Jerold Wilson, attended the meeting.

Battery Bandit Strikes Again

Another car minus the benefit of a battery was reported to detectives Thursday as the battery bandit continues adding to his collection. Howard Atkinson, Ponderosa Apartments, told officers a battery was taken from his car Wednesday night.

A radiator was reported taken from the shop of Roy Moran, 911 W. 3rd. This morning a rifle and jumper cables were missing from the car of Lynn L. Howard, 605 Linda.

A Devotional For The Day

In all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. (Romans 8:37, RSV)
PRAYER: Dear Father, help us to live victoriously by submitting ourselves to the transforming authority of Jesus. Grant us power to overcome sorrow, pain, and defeat, and to live in the spirit of the Master, in whose name we pray. Amen.

Barely At The Edge

One of the most intriguing space experiments to date was the orbital flight of Biosatellite II. Findings as to how weightlessness affected its cargo of plant and animal materials were interesting enough in themselves. But even more the imagination was captured by the venture as a forerunner of wondrous things to come.

The number and variety of space projects since that first little Sputnik hurtled beyond the atmosphere attest that great strides have been taken.

Yet the fact is that despite this dramatic progress, man has barely passed beyond the verge of the space age. These early attempts to learn how living organisms adjust to conditions "out there" emphasize how little is yet known about what lies beyond our home planet. Man with relationship to the limitless void, is like that unknown who stood gazing out to sea before he launched the first frail craft upon its mysterious waters.

Dulling Population Explosion

The United States government's commitment to the task of helping the world avert a disastrous population explosion took a kind of quantum jump not long ago. For the first time, it extended aid abroad for the actual purchase of contraceptives. The forthcoming gift to India for this purpose marks a most significant departure in our country's approach to this momentous problem.

Two projects are involved in this undertaking. Under one of them, birth control pills are to be supplied for a test program among 100,000 women over a year and a half. The rest of the money will be spent on providing contraceptive devices at extremely low cost for commercial distribution throughout India.

The latter project comprises an immediate, wide-scale attack on the problem of excessive population growth in India. The test program with the pills has a longer-range goal in mind. It is intended to develop the most effective means of adopting this method to India's needs. Once the study is completed, the Indian government is expected to carry on, distributing locally manufactured pills.

In announcing these projects, administrator William S. Gaud of the Agency for International Development also said the United States would put up $2.5 million for the International Planned Parenthood Federation's work of developing birth control programs in underdeveloped countries. Similar grants have been made before; AID has forwarded family planning programs in 26 countries over the past few years. That must be continued. But it is of special significance, as a recognition of this world problem's rising urgency, that the United States has now started the new course of making contraceptives available where they are needed.

Indictment Of Workers' Paradise

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In a strained sense, Moscow, USSR, is no longer the underprivileged city it was. Tass, the Soviet news agency, picked up a recent column of mine for Pravda, and I have been interviewed over the phone by a Washington correspondent of Pravda, Sergei Vichnevskii, a distinction I appreciate in view of the circumstances.

IN THE column that shook the Kremlin, more or less, I revealed an informal arrangement among some of us anti-Communist conservatives to launch a counter-celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution, the 50th anniversary of which falls this year, Nov. 7, 1967. I advocated that the anniversary be used to call wide attention to the tyranny, the slaughter, the spiritual repression and the economic failure which has marked the Soviet Union's survival.

Correspondent Vichnevskii, at my suggestion, also telephoned the Freedom Studies Center in Boston, Va., where the idea of a counter-celebration had birth. Dr. Brutus Coste of the Center told the Pravda reporter that seminars will continue to deal with the Russian anniversary, and that "the spirit in which we intend to observe the occasion" is best represented in a book forthcoming on Sept. 29.

THAT BOOK is "Workers' Paradise Lost: Fifty Years of Soviet Communism" by Eugene Lyons, long a historian of Sovietland where he worked as a newsman for six years. We are not likely to find as readable, as knowledgeable, as devastating an anti-Communist history of communism as this 387-page volume. Lyons makes no pretense of objectivity, for this is a document of both general indictment and bills of particulars against the monstrous apparatus which has been a criminal at large for a full half century. The gruesome facts carry their own condemnation, and he marshals them not only to tell the story but to dispel the myths which Soviet propagandists, stooges and dupes have put forward by way of defense.

LYONS' GENERAL charge against the USSR is that it has conducted an awesome conspiracy against the human race. And he finds that the devices of a police state have been used not so much to establish a social order, as to perpetuate it. The Soviet state has been a dynasty, like that of a royal house, if one ever before existed without the counteracting forces of church, nobility, intelligence and middle class.

Lyons occasionally develops little-known facts about the prostrate Russian people, to whom he dedicates his book as "the first and worst victims of communism." I did not know, for instance, that the land area comprising the USSR has had a population shrinkage, and that "demographers see evidence of tens of millions of lives destroyed." In Lyons' context the willingness to seek "freedom through defeat" suggests that even a Communist police state is not invulnerable and everlasting.

REGRETTABLY, LYONS touches too lightly on one subject which he knows as well as any American. He refers only glancingly to those American intellectuals who, willfully or ignorantly, have been apologists for Soviet communism.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The American people are rapidly destroying their lakes. This is the dismal finding of the House Committee on Government Operations, which has been delving into water pollution and ways of dealing with it.

Untreated sewage from towns and cities, industrial wastes and pollution from boats have combined with agricultural runoff and accelerated siltation to work this appalling devastation. It is no little problem confined to a few lakes in congested areas. The Committee asserts that 100,000 lakes in the United States are now "suffering from man-made pollution." Lakes are particularly vulnerable to these reckless assaults because their relatively quiet waters, which make them so pleasing to all mankind, have less capacity for ridding themselves of wastes than do running streams.

The Committee pleads for amendment of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act so as to provide for special research and demonstration programs aimed at preventing the entry into lake waters of excessive nutrients which set the deterioration cycle into motion. Undoubtedly the problem is complex. But it is a problem that must be solved. The thought of turning 100,000 lakes into cesspools is so repulsive that further toleration of the conditions responsible for it should be regarded as unthinkable.

Asks Red Viet To Change Its Grammar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is asking North Vietnam to change its grammar by using "would" instead of "could" to get peace talks started.

But when the two sides get on the subject of peace talks, and how to start them, it's like dropping a rock into a well. There's a clunk sound. More rocks, more clunks. They all sound the same, without end.

ARTHUR J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made a speech there Thursday on what's needed to get negotiations going. It was really the same speech he made there a year ago except that this one was a little fancier.

Just a year ago today he said this country was prepared to stop bombing the North and cut down on all its military activity "the moment we are assured privately or otherwise" that the North would cut down on its war effort, too.

Thursday Goldberg pointed out that in the past Hanoi had said negotiations "could" occur if the U.S. bombing stopped. But "could" is a vague word and Goldberg asked the North to be more positive.

HE ASKED Hanoi to say it "would" talk peace if the United States stopped its bombing. This might seem the United States had backed down a bit, that it had dropped a previous condition it wanted met if the bombing was stopped. That is, Hanoi must match an end to U.S. bombing by de-escalating its end of the war.

But not quite, Goldberg laid down the same condition this time, too, but in language that was a little more scrambled and therefore sounded softer.

Thursday he asked if North Vietnam thought an end to the bombing would or could lead to "meaningful negotiations or discussions under circumstances which would not disadvantage either side?"

WHAT DOES that mean in plain English? Simply this: The Johnson Administration has repeatedly said in the past that if it stopped the bombing the North must also reduce its war effort.

So nothing has changed much, just the language.

The Communists in the past answered the American terms by saying flatly, without promising to do less war-making, there could be no peace talks until American bombing stopped.

New York Can Get You Down

NEW YORK (AP)—On coming from the sticks to the big city:

Where the teachers play hooky instead of the kids.

Where the tables and chairs in the sidewalk cafe are chained to the wall to prevent the patrons and passers-by from walking off with them.

Where the air can get thick and yellow and where everything costs too much.

MY IMMIGRANT forefathers strove mightily to leave this place. But I come back.

There's no place in Manhattan for the middle class, they say. Go to Queens, they advise. Only the rich and the poor can live in Manhattan.

Mother-in-law lives 20 miles out and hasn't visited the city in 15 years. "Wouldn't go there on a bet," she says.

But I believe there's a place for us.

ALL MY life I've been fed the adventure and romance of life in the city, where everything happens first, where they never roll up the sidewalks, where all the exciting people live. But now they tell me it's impossible to live here.

The policeman on the street says: "You looking for an apartment in this neighborhood? Don't do it. They raise dogs around here, not kids."

The neighborhood I choose, they tell me later is the junkie capital of the world.

My car is broken into three times the first week. For their trouble, they get one beat-up baby stroller.

APARTMENT hunting, my wife kept asking: "Is the neighborhood safe?" The standard answer, spoken almost with the pride of someone living up to a reputation: "No place in New York is safe."

How to develop that tough, alienated character that helps the New Yorker survive? How to say no to the old lady who asks you to carry her heavy bundle up the subway stairs and then sticks you with carrying it five blocks? How to turn your back on the blind and crippled Negro beggar, son of the city, who moves haltingly through the swaying and screaming subway car seeking coins for his paper cup?

HOW TO intimidate the apartment building superintendent who won't come to fix your broken doorknob, your pilot light, your dripping faucet?

The city can get you down. They told me back in the sticks it would be like this. To top it off, a wise New York billy goat at the Central Park Zoo butted me in the rear.

And yet, we have not surrendered the myth. We have found a comfortable apartment with a view, thoughtfully rent-controlled by the city, situated a block from a romantic Chinese restaurant that never closes.

THE OTHER day, brooding over a $5 ticket for a lousy few minutes overtime at the meter, I watched from the apartment window a late summer thunderstorm move in low across the Hudson River. The great buildings of downtown Manhattan were blotted out in its dark cloud. The rain hammered violently at the window, accompanying my lowdown mood.

Orfel Important Notice To Spellers

An intriguing new approach to per- carious spelling is assumed in an imaginative little bulletin, "A Handbook for Terrible Spellers," or "The backwards Dictionary," a commendable enterprise of Innovation Press, of New York City, with Joseph Jordan as compiler and editor.

MR. JORDAN has arranged several hundred often misspelled words in alphabetical order according to their frequent misspelling, with the correct spelling following, to enable terrible spellers to find them the way they believe they are spelled.

The author is strictly a maximum enemy of stupid spelling and has confidence his efforts can probably educate many terrible spellers.

This may be over-optimism. Irregardless, the product is decidedly laughable, and conveniently shaped to fit into pocketbook or briefcase.

Mr. Jordan is a sophisticated tamata and in our opinion offers many gorgeous exhibits before a final heart-felt overoiv.

BOB "BUDDY" Rogers, one of the Big Spring Herald's brilliant backshop big-wigs (well he prints brilliant copy, doesn't he?) reports:

His nine-year-old daughter, Robbi, asked: "Daddy, why do they name hurricanes after girls?"

"Because girls are so mean, I guess," replied dad.

"No," the fourth-grader said. "Well, why?" Buddy bit.

"Did you ever hear of a hima- cane?"

THIS IS ZIP Code Week and my thought for the day is:

Always step back for a postman. For if neither rain, nor snow, nor sleet, nor dark of night is going to stop him, you sure as heck ain't either.

A. J. Vaughn, 606 Scurry, strikes again. He writes:

"A boxer who talked his manager into arranging a bout with a fighter who outclassed him was beaten badly—a clear case of jumping to conclusions."

IF THAT leaves you limp, you might try a few minutes of thought on a problem A. J. poses:

"What are your theories about the recline of the British vampire?"

I don't know—just tired, I guess.

That torrential rain, abetted by crisp sunshine later, has waved a magic wand over Big Spring and its trees, shrubs and flowers.

And isn't it too bad man has to work for a living in weather like this?

I HAVE A line which strikes me as profound but I still can't think of a lead-in, so let me leave you with a Saturday slogan:

Let sleeping bags lie. —WALT FINLEY

McNamara's Historic Speech

WASHINGTON — What may prove to be the most significant event of the year 1967 in world history is the ensuing effect of an official revelation just made which measures American and Soviet nuclear strength today and in the future. The comparison is contained in a carefully prepared speech delivered by Secretary of Defense McNamara on Monday in San Francisco to the editors and publishers of the United Press International. It may well affect negotiations in Geneva on general limitation of thermonuclear armaments.

THE LEADERS of the Soviet Union will examine the address minutely, and so will the rulers of Red China. When they have digested its contents, they will realize that the United States does not intend to fall behind in the nuclear-arms race and that, while it is willing to apply limitations on further development, these can never be agreed upon and applied unless there is mutual trust and a readiness to allow constant inspection.

Mr. McNamara's positive statements about the capability of the United States and the Soviet Union to destroy each other are terrifying, particularly the observation that "if man is to have a future at all, it will have to be a future overshadowed with the permanent possibility of thermonuclear holocaust."

THE DEFENSE secretary, in explaining our "assured destruction capability," made it clear that the United States "must be able to absorb the total weight of nuclear attack on our country" and retaliate so effectively as to destroy the aggressor. He said deterrence of nuclear aggression means "the certainty of suicide to the aggressor — not merely to his military forces, but to his society as a whole."

Mr. McNamara defined "first-strike capability" as the substantial elimination of a retaliatory strike by the nation that is attacked. He declared:

"THE UNITED STATES cannot—and will not—ever permit itself to get into the position in which another nation, or combination of nations, would possess such a first-strike capability, which could be effectively used against it."

"Now, we are not in that position today — and there is no foreseeable danger of our ever getting into that position."

The secretary of defense emphasized that the Soviet Union does not possess a "first-strike capability" against the United States and is not likely to acquire it "in the foreseeable future." The reason he gave for this is that the United States intends to remain fully alert and "will never permit our own assured destruction capability to be at a point where a Soviet first-strike capability is even remotely feasible."

BUT, AT THE same time, Mr. McNamara conceded that the United States does not possess a "first-strike capability" against the Soviet Union either. He declared that, once war starts, it will mean a devastating retaliation which no nation would wish to risk.

Lately there has been much talk about the failure of the United States to build an anti-ballistic-missile system to counter Russia's advance in that field. Mr. McNamara is willing to accede partially to the demands of those members of Congress and military men who have been arguing for such a system. But the secretary prefers to speak of it as a defense against Red China. He insists that the United States "must maintain substantial conventional forces," too, to protect its interests in other parts of the world.

UNQUESTIONABLY, the President read the McNamara speech before-hand, and so did his advisers. The decision to make it presumably was based on the theory that it is better to bring all the facts out into the open now so that, as Mr. McNamara phrased it, the United States could "come to a realistic and reasonably riskless agreement with the Soviet Union, which would effectively prevent such an arms race."

Mr. McNamara declared that he doesn't mind seeing the government spend whatever money is necessary for the anti-ballistic-missile system, if a "significant improvement in our security" could be assured. He believes, however, that the Soviets will react "to offset the advantage we would hope to gain."

Now About That Antimissile System

WASHINGTON—It now appears the United States is going to build an antimissile missile system. For the "thin" size system it's going to cost $3.5 to $5 billion; the "thick" one, which the military is opting for, will cost $30 billion.

When the news broke, my friend Cruxman called me and said, "Why do we have to spend $5 billion to build an antimissile missile system?"

"BECAUSE, Cruxman," I said, "the Russians are building one and we have to have everything the Russians have."

"How do we know they're building one?" Cruxman demanded.

"Because they said they were building one," I replied, trying to be patient.

"Yeah, well how come if we don't believe the Russians on anything else we believe them when they say they are building an antisystem ballistic missile?"

"You mean an antimissile missile system, Cruxman, you've got to understand that we would rather not spend the money, but we're being forced into it."

ALL RIGHT. What about this? Suppose we announce we're building a system missile antimissile, or whatever the hell you call it, and we stick up a bunch of old curtain rods and obsolete TV antennas and say, "This is our defense. Boris, so don't go shooting any of your ICBMs toward North America."

"It's a good idea, Cruxman, but you forget one thing—the credibility gap. It's all right to lie to our own people, but we can't very well lie to the Soviet Union."

"YEAH, WELL let's just suppose," he said, "that they announced they were building their antimissile system missile just so we would go ahead and spend $10 to $30 billion on ours."

"Now suppose, after we get it built, the Russians say, 'Ha, ha, you've wasted all that money because we don't have an antimissile missile system. As a matter of fact, not only don't we have such a defense, but we've discovered our anti-aircraft barrage balloons don't even blow up so good.' Wouldn't that make us the laughing stock of the Western world?"

"BY THE TIME they build a defense system there won't be a major city left standing in the United States."

"Why is that?"

"Because the cost of making the major cities livable comes to exactly the same price it costs to build a bunch of Nikes around them."

"Cruxman, we can't afford to let the Russians bomb our slums out of existence."

"DO ME ONE favor," Cruxman begged. "Ask them over in the Pentagon, just for fun, if they'd stick up some curtain rods and old TV antennas over Omaha and see how the Soviet Union reacts. I'll lay you 5 to 1 they start putting up curtain rods and old TV antennas over Leningrad."

"All right," I promised, "but I don't think I'll have any luck. Once the Defense Department thinks it can get its hands on $30 billion, it's kind of hard to make them let go."

A LOVELIER YOU

'Facial' Keeps Hands Young And Smooth

By MARY SUE MILLER

Much as a facial picks up the face—firms, tones and smooths—this treatment picks up the hands. It should be included in your weekly manicure, when the hand complexion is in any way ailing or aging. Otherwise, to assure party—pretty hands for festive winter occasions, use the treatment monthly.

The procedure is as follows: After brush—scrubbing and drying your hands, soak them in a shallow bowl of warmed skin oil or tube lanolin. Work the oil well into the cuticles and knuckles. Continue soaking for 10 minutes and then remove the excess oil with cleansing tissue.

Next, soak the hands in a lemon toner for five minutes. To prepare the toner, strain the juice of half a lemon into a quart of warm water. After soaking, rinse, dry and apply hand lotion.

For maturing hands there is

Rebekahs Have Initiation Service

Mrs. Jones Lamar conducted an initiation service Tuesday evening for Mrs. Robert A. Smart Jr. when the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge met in the IOOF Hall. Initiated into the Snyder Rebekah Lodge No. 294 were Mrs. Peter Bos and Mrs. Raymond Grimmer.

Mrs. Alton Allen, noble grand president, and refreshments were served. Hostesses were Mrs. Ted Brown, Mrs. L. S. Bonner, Mrs. Ethel Simmons, Mrs. Peggy Grant, Mrs. Odell Buchanan and Mrs. Juanita Brookshire.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m., Tuesday in the lodge hall.

an additional step. Between the oil and lemon soaks, apply a thin film of facial mask—a packaged variety that is used on the face—or a homemade preparation. To concoct the mask yourself, whip up a paste of white of egg and uncooked oatmeal; apply to hands and let dry.

Whether you use a commercially prepared or a homemade mask, make doubly sure to swab away the oil before making application, and to remove the mask before the lemon soak. You will find these treatments pleasant to take and very effective for the taking.

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for "Lovelier Hands," a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Awareness Stressed With BSP Program

Mrs. Herb Doering spoke on "The Printed Word in Your Life" and "The Art of Living" at the Tuesday meeting of the Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The group met in the home of Mrs. Roe Fulgham in Sand Springs.

Mrs. Doering displayed several rare, old editions of books including a book of poems, and following the program members were asked to name persons that they had known who they felt had excelled in the "art of living."

Plans were discussed for the area convention to be held Oct.

12-14 in San Angelo. Mrs. Don Cunningham presided and announced a hillbilly costume party for rusees on Sept. 26 in the home of Mrs. Clarence Hayes. A spaghetti supper will be held Sept. 30 honoring rusees and husbands in the home of Mrs. Toby Cunningham, Gail Route.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth over an underlay of yellow. An arrangement of yellow dahlias, flanked by white tapers in crystal holders, centered the table. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Ten attended.

Credit Club Members Hear Speech Program

Mrs. Lloyd Wooten spoke on "Speaking Of A Challenge—Oral Communications" at the Thursday meeting of the Big Spring Credit Woman's Club in the Hotel Settles.

Mrs. Wooten said that attendance in speech classes throughout the nation has risen from three to ten times in the past few years, and that all persons must live, love, work, play and sell through speech.

Mrs. Wooten further pointed out that speech entails more than the spoken word. She said that posture, body movements, facial expressions and attitude are all important in conveying ideas or in communicating with others.

Mrs. Noel Hull presided and announced the proposed officer's slate. Those nominated were Mrs. R. L. Nail, president; Mrs. George Weeks, vice-president; Mrs. W. E. Moren, secretary; Mrs. C. W. Mahoney, treasurer; and Mrs. Hull, Mrs. Ivanelle Marr and Mrs. Alvin Smith, directors.

The group presented $25 to the Bible fund, and Mrs. George Weeks received the capsule prize. Thirteen attended. The next meeting will be Oct. 5, and installation of officers will be held Oct. 14.

HD Club Group In Fort Worth For THDA Meet

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. N. E. Holloway, Texas Home Demonstration Association chairman for Martin County, assisted with registration at the state HD Club meeting Tuesday and Wednesday in Fort Worth. Others going from this area were Mrs. O. D. Green and Mrs. Stanley Barnes.

Mrs. Mildred Elland, HD agent, announced the need for leaders and workers in 4-H Clubs in Martin County at the HD Council meeting Tuesday in the Cap Rock auditorium. Mrs. Horace Tubb presided. Achievement Day has been set for Oct. 19 in Stanton; Oct. 6 in Midland; Oct. 13, Odessa; and Oct. 15, Big Spring. Twelve attended.

Mrs. Marshall Yates of Lamesa was a Tuesday guest of her sister, Mrs. Dan Saunders. Mrs. C. S. Bevers Jr. visited recently with her parents who are residing in a convalescent home in Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Carwile of Gorman are visiting his sister, Mrs. Martha Russell. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Burnam Jr. of Iraan recently visited his grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Burnam.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Graves of Littlefield are guests of Mrs. I. T. Graves and Mrs. A. L. Ree. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mims have returned from a vacation trip. Mrs. Margaret Moffett has returned from a vacation.

Family Reunion Held In Snyder

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The annual reunion of descendants and relatives of the late C. R. Martin was held Sunday in Towle Park in Snyder.

Attending from Colorado City were Mrs. Geneva Martin, Mrs. C. B. Martin and the families of Hubert Feaster, Ronnie Lightfoot, Elmer Martin and J. D. Green.

Coming from Lorraine were Mrs. Lillian Martin, Mrs. Mae Martin and the family of George Martin. The Ken Deatherage family attended from Abilene, and the Jim Farris were from Hermleigh. Residents of Snyder who attended were the families of E. G. Bruno, Earl Lund and Leon Bruno.

Other relatives were R. V. Martin, Winford Martin and the Truett Bruno family, all of Roscoe. Mrs. Cecil Collins, Bell, Calif.; Mrs. Roland Bruno and children of Odessa and Mrs. Lloyd Murrell and son of Sterling City. Those from Petersburg, Tex., were the Wilford Borens, the Bud Moons, the Alva Borens and the Bill Borens, and others were the Earl Lightfoots of Lubbock and the Kenny Lightfoots of Littlefield.

Coahomans Attend Area Convention

Several Coahoma women were in attendance for the Area Two Young Homemakers convention Saturday in Seminole. They were Mrs. Billy Spears, Coahoma chapter president; Mrs. Harold Harrington, area parliamentarian; Mrs. Johnny Justiss, advisor; Mrs. Randall Reid and Mrs. Donnie Reid, voting delegates; and Alice Denning, 17, the chapter's "Little Sister."

A book review, style show and makeup demonstration were given prior to the business meeting. At the awards banquet in the high school cafeteria, Miss Denning was named "Little Sister" for the area and won a scholarship. She will compete in the state finals in January at Austin. A senior at Coahoma High School, she is president of the Future Homemakers of America, and secretary for the National Honor Society and Student Council. Also, she is editor for the school paper, a cheerleader and member of the basketball team.

The chapter has scheduled a style show and membership tea from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., Saturday, in the Coahoma High School activity room.

Society Of BLF&E Names Delegate

Mrs. Walter Schattel was named delegate to the state convention to be held this weekend in Austin at the Wednesday meeting of the Ladies Society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. E. A. Williams served as pianist during the undraping of the charter for the late Mrs. Frances Mills. Mrs. J. M. Millican presided and Mrs. M. E. Anderson worded the prayer. Refreshments were served to the 15 attending by Mrs. C. L. Kirkland and Mrs. Anderson.

Baptist WMS Probes Missions

Mrs. Mary Brown brought the mission study from the book, "The Holy Spirit," at the Tuesday meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society at Stadium Baptist Church. Prayers were worded by Mrs. Cora Lee Shaffer and Mrs. H. I. Cox.

Guest Of Parents

Clifford Engle of Houston has been a guest in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Engle, Route Two.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Water Cleans Lint From Mens' Shirts

Dear Heloise:

I have learned an easy way to get every bit of that lint and dust out of my husband's shirt pockets before I wash them.

Before they go into the washer, I take them to the bathtub and put the pockets under the tap and turn on the cold water faucet STRONG!

The force of the water cleans the pockets of every iota of lint and dust. . . M.D.

This could be done in your kitchen sink, gals, or even the wash basin for that matter. But we do thank M.D. with all of our hearts for telling us how to get that awful little problem settled. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: If you buy onions, etc., in a red or yellow plastic sack, do save the sack.

I use them the same way I use nylon net for dishcloths. Just put your dish cloth inside and scrub away. Oh, how nice for pots and pans! Also, I have covered many worn and torn sponges with plastic onion and vegetable bags, and they give a most satisfactory result. . . Reader

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise:

A suggestion which we have adopted in our house is a crying room. This is for kiddies who have "tantrums" and such. Now when my children cry or are bad, they are automatically retired to their rooms, and believe me, this saves a lot of wear and tear on my nerves. Mothers will be surprised what new and happy little children they become when they come out to play again.

Of course, they know that when they are willing to be good and immediately stop crying, they may come out again.

It makes for less tantrums in our house, because they think when the door is closed, no one hears them. . . Mrs. Dennis Giardinio

Dear Heloise: You know those old hot pads we all use on our tables? Well, I had an old one and was just about to throw it away or put it under my wastebasket where it rusts on the floor. Then I got to thinking. Why not tear off a piece of foil and cover the pad so it would look nice under the wastebasket. I dragged out all of my other pads, covered them and put them back on my table.

I still had the problem of the rust marks caused by the wastebasket. So I folded up newspapers and covered them with foil and put the foil pad under the wastebasket. Then I got to thinking again. Wouldn't these be useful, inexpensive gifts for Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts to make? . . . Devotee

Dear Heloise: I cut off the tops of large plastic bleach bottles and use the bottoms for storing children's things. I label them with a marking pencil, and also make drawings, to show what they contain. One is in the bathroom with small boats and toys for bathtub playing; dart guns and game parts in others are easily stored on a shelf in the children's bedroom.

They can be decorated in so many ways to please the children, and if they are old enough, they like to do it themselves (all but the cutting).

Funny faces are cute drawn on the sides. . . Dorris

Dear Heloise: After I peel a cucumber I scrape them lengthwise with the prongs of a sharp fork and then slice them.

They are quite nice this way and are ever so decorative on your table. . . Mrs. E.M.O.

Dear Heloise: After reading about the use of vinegar for removing water stains in glass coffee pots, I decided to try your method on my enamel pots and pans. After boiling a few spoonfuls of white vinegar and enough water to cover the stains (about three minutes), my pans look like new-fallen snow. . . Mrs. David Williams

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer the bottoms for storing children's things. I label them with a marking pencil, and also make drawings, to show what they

31,000 PRIZES TO BE GIVEN AWAY NATIONALLY

A HEARTY

Thanks

From Shroyer Motor Co.

We extend our warmest thanks to the crowd of Big Springers, that turned out to help make our New '68 Oldsmobile showing so successful.

This was one of the largest turnouts
we've had in all our 37 years in business here in Big Spring.

In case we didn't get to greet you personally, we're sorry, and would like to extend an invitation now, for you to drop back by as soon as possible.
