Completion of the project is expected by the summer of 1969. When it goes into service, Rockport's existing water wells will be used for emergencies only.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

HemisFair begins in San Antonio this next April. Governor Connally estimates in excess of 15 million persons will visit Texas and the HemisFair from April through October.

He has prepared elaborate plans to divert this through traffic off the main Highways onto County roads and into those beauty spots that offer recreation and enjoyment.

Aransas County has spent in excess of $200,000 in an attempt to attract these visitors. Every single citizen of Rockport stands to profit from this activity, whatever his business.

There is one serious and could be deadly handicap to this program. Every visitor coming from San Antonio to Rockport would normally travel over Farm to Market Road 881 for some three miles and to the City of Rockport is little more than a garbage alley. It is a disgrace to Aransas County and to the State of Texas.

Aransas County officials are working desperately to drain the contaminated water from overflowing septic tanks that is now standing over the area adjacent to Highway 881. But the County cannot drain 881—only, and repeat only, can the State Highway Engineer do this. The County and City officials met with the State Highway Engineer regarding this program. The County had gone on record asking his help, as did the City. Now, during this meeting, the Engineer made this statement—"I will drain 881 if each body asks me in writing to do this work, BUT I strongly recommend against it."

He did not offer any alternate plan or suggestion, leaving open the implication that if he drained 881 it would flood Rockport. Every citizen of Aransas County and Rockport knows that a competent civil engineer can plan to the gallon the water he wants to flow in a ditch or through a culvert without flooding. At this time such a plan does not exist.

Every day that passes some visitor makes an adverse remark to me concerning the mess on 881. I appeal to each of you as citizens to call your County Judge and your Mayor and the County Commissioners and the City Councilmen to insist that a plan be expedited for improvement of this Highway before HemisFair begins, and that each of you by so doing may enjoy the fruits of re-visiting tourists and potential new citizens to this community.

Sincerely,
Col. McWesley Ledbetter

JOHN KINSEY

We credit The Kiplinger Washington Letter, an outstanding business publication, with the following optimistic information about Texas:

Texas has a lot going for it . . . things that will promote growth. Leadership. New industry. Fine roads, Climate. An itch to develop.

The state is attracting thousands of new residents each year. Especially true of retirement-minded midwesterners, but youngsters also. They see Texas attractions that are hard to come by in many states.

A frontier optimism. Open spaces. Newness. "Latin" flavor. But most of all a feeling in the air that ANYTHING is still possible.

Look how Texas is growing . . . faster than the 6% U.S. average. Now, 11 million people. By 1970, 12 million. And by 1980, 15 million. Our 5th largest state, in population. The rise may taper, but not much.

Houston, a prodigious surge . . . claims now to be the 6th in U. S.

Dallas - Fort Worth, brisk growth. Hard-pressed to find workers.

San Antonio-Austin, expanding. Same story in other places too.

And around the major cities, a new spin-off of suburban growth. One community blending with another to make up big new urban complexes, a type of expansion that's vividly seen in The Texas Triangle . . . our term for the area anchored by San Antonio, Houston and Dallas - Fort Worth.

Fact is, we think Texas will grow faster than some now predict. We base that on a look at the facts and on our feel of the situation. Also on the Bankers. Oil men. Economists. State officials.

Important thing is Texas enthusiasm . . . a willingness to take on such problems as an everyday job, plus a confidence in solving them.

Everywhere you go in Texas you feel a throb of vitality. Jets thunder into and out of Dallas' outgrown Love Field.

Cars eat every bit of the 70 m.p.h. daytime Interstate speed limit.

And there's the clatter of building at San Antonio's HemisFair, where as many as 15 million tourists are expected to show up this year. They'll prowl a 92-acre thicket of futuristic structures and exhibits, including the 622-foot Tower of the Americas, topped by a restaurant.

There are numerous places and events worth seeing in Texas. Houston Astrodomo. Gulf beaches. Chili feasts. Four national forests. President Johnson's ranch house near Stonewall, visible from the highway, Six Flags Over Texas.

Texas is heading into a tourist boom . . . some 20 million visitors a year spending about a billion dollars. For meals, admissions, hotels, motels, etc. Tourism only a recent promotion . . . many business opportunities in it.

NATURE TRAILS

By CONNIE HAGAR

Coastal Bend In January

Not a dull moment on this central coast. Something new of interest every week. Right now nothing is more beautiful than the winter flight of the black skimmers in front of Rockport Hotel. Hundreds rise, circle and then return to the shell ridge on which they rest, facing into the wind.

The ducks in huge flocks: Pintails, redheads, scaups, buffleheads, canvasbacks, red-breasted mergansers, just drive up Fulton Beach Road.

And herons, snowy egrets, little blues in both plumages, great blue herons, Louisiana herons, common egrets, rare reddish egrets feeding all along the shallow water.

Nearer the shoreline watch marbled godwits, eastern wilets, longbill curlews wielding their huge down-curved bill for small crustaceans. Dunlins, dowitchers, black billy plovers, snowy plover, the ubiquitous killdeer.

Then the ski basin has the wintering eared grebes, pied-billed grebes and always a thrill, the common loon, not common in the south.

When a nature lover awakens each day, the thought always comes, "What will I see today, where shall I start looking?" The pay-off this winter has been a rare old-squaw duck. The bird books say, "Duck of the arctic coasts; winters south to Great Lakes," and here it was in Little Bay, Rockport.

Just look, look, look, you never can see everything that comes to our coast at one looking. It's continued observation that pays us.

Mrs. Brymer Hosts Circle Meeting

Mrs. Owen Brymer was hostess when Circle 3, Women of the Church, met at the Presbyterian Church Monday evening, Feb. 12. Thirteen members were present and one visitor, Mrs. Dorothy Knolle.
The group was led in prayer by Mrs. Cecil H. Lang, Jr., followed by business meeting presided over by Mrs. Brymer, chairman.

It was also announced that the local Presbyterian young people will conduct the 11 o'clock worship services Sunday, Feb. 18, in observance of Assembly Youth Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Harrell read a meditation by Felicidad Catli of the Philippines as the Least Coin Offering was received. Mrs. Harold Dick moderated the Bible lesson on "The Holy Spirit and the Message of the Church." The monthly emphasis on "Christian Witness at Home and Abroad" was given by Mrs. Alex Scott.

The March meeting will be at the Dick home in Fulton with Mrs. James Jackson moderating the Bible lesson.
