Charges of driving while intoxicated posed this week as the major complaints filed for trial in county court.

Charged were Autie P. Wishart who entered a guilty plea and was fined $100, cost of court and three days in jail.

Freddie Endsley entered a guilty plea to DWI charges and was fined $100, cost of court and given a three day jail term.

Winona Bee Taylor, charged also with DWI, entered a guilty plea and was fined $100, cost of court and given three days in jail.

County Attorney Frank Ginzle said the 0.15 of alcohol needed to prove intoxication was not present in a blood test taken after Smith was arrested.

Ginzle said the charges were changed to aggravated assault with a motor vehicle because a passenger and bus driver were injured when he ran into the back of the bus after he went to sleep.

The accident happened in the west part of the county, according to Ginzle.

District Attorney Eldon Mahon has filed charges against two men believed to be linked with a robbery of Walker Motor Company, Lorraine, in the summer of 1955.

Charges were filed in justice of peace court and will go before the Grand Jury for examination, he said.

He withheld names of the men named in the charges pending further investigation.

Charged with transporting liquor in a dry area was Archie Lee Jones. Jones entered a guilty plea and was fined $100 and cost of court.

Vernon W. Smith, who was charged recently with driving while intoxicated has been freed from the charge and arraigned for aggravated assault with a motor vehicle, according to the criminal file docket.

REMEMBERS GUNFIGHT

Uncle Jimmie Turns Back Pages of Time

You can step into Jimmie Sherwin's room, 707 Elm, and its like-poking your head inside the mythical time machine and going back 75 years for buffalo hunts, gunfights and tales of the early Texas Rangers.

"Uncle Jimmie," as he is better known, although his real name is James Douglas Sherylin, celebrated his 84th birthday April 27. He has been in Colorado City 75 years and is probably the oldest county pioneer.

He came here April 7, 1882 from Southern Minnesota where his father went into the banking business.

Then, Uncle Jimmie was at the wide-eyed age of eight and still recalls that Colorado City consisted of only two streets—Main and Second.

That was when the cowboys still roamed the range into town and covered wagons were as familiar as parking meters and slide-walks.

"I've seen horses tied to hitching racks so thick up and down the streets that the only place to cross was at the end of the block," he recounts.

Teaches Misonary—For the past 40 years Uncle Jimmie has devoted much time to teaching Blue Lodge Masonry, which consists of three degrees—apprentice, fellowcraft and masters.

He estimates that during the 40 years he has taught more than 1000 degrees, and at an altar 83 still teaches two or three students each day.

Sherwin himself holds nearly every degree offered by the Masons.

He has the Scottish Rite, which is made up of 32 degrees and the York Rite composed of 12.

Uncle Jimmie has two large scrap books, filled with newspaper clippings that pertain to practically every significant milestone in the history of Colorado City.

As he thumbs through the many pages with running commentary, characters come to life like the Indian fighting and buffalo hunting Moore brothers, J.

Court Favors Dossey, $2500 Judgment Given

A $2500 judgment was granted to R. R. Dossey and minor plaintiff Danny Ray Dossey in a District court civil suit Friday, according to the district clerk's docket.

The suit grew out of an accident March 16, 1956 in which Danny Ray Dossey's legs were broken after he darted from behind a ticket booth near Wolf stadium and was struck by a truck.

Driven by Ronald Servies, the truck belonged to the Colorado City Independent School District and both parties were named in the suit that originally asked for $5000.

Servies was driving a group of boys to Wolf stadium when the accident happened and was unable to avoid hitting Dossey after he jumped from behind the booth.

FOR TEXAS IN '56

Eldon Mahon Named As Top Prosecutor

Eldon Mahon, District Attorney of Mitchell County, was named as one of the four outstanding prosecutors in Texas in 1956.

The presentation was made at the Annual Texas Law Enforcement Foundation Awards Banquet for Outstanding Sheriffs and Prosecutors. The banquet was held in conjunction with the Attorney General's Conference.

Eldon Mahon, who has been District Attorney of Mitchell County since 1948, was cited for his outstanding record of convictions, his protection of accused persons who are not guilty, his persistence in gathering evidence, and his thoroughness in investigation.

Also mentioned during the presentation was the extent to which Mahon is sought as a speaker in conferences of law enforcement groups. At last month's Southwest Homicide Investigators Seminar Mahon summed up the conference with the lecture on "Has Murder Been Established?"

Mahon has secured 14 convictions for murder while holding his present office.

Texas Law Enforcement Foundation is a non-profit educational corporation chartered in July, 1955 to enlist support of citizens on behalf of law enforcement.

A few of its activities are operation of the CRIME MOBILE, scientific crime detection exhibit touring Texas, publication of a monthly news bulletin for law enforcement officials, establishment of specialized training courses in criminology, and maintenance of a college scholarship fund for children of law enforcement personnel killed in line of duty.

WHEN PASTURES POOR

Creep Feeding Used To Develop Breeders

Creep feeding lambs, says J.A. Gray, extension animal husbandman, is the practice of supplying young lambs with concentrated feed while they are nursing and is used to develop lambs as future breeding animals or to fatten them for market.

The practice is often used, he adds, when pastures are poor and ewes thin. The supplementary feed helps to lighten the strain on the ewes and sets the lambs in maintaining or improving their condition. Too, the lambs fatten more rapidly, and usually bring a better price at market time. The practice may not pay, says the specialist, when ewes and lambs are on good lush pasture such as oats, wheat, or grass and clover.

Lists Benefits

Gray lists several advantages for creep feeding. Ewes remain in better condition; it adds weight and improves the finish of lambs, often permitting earlier marketing; lambs tend to be more uniform in size and finish; shrinkage is less at weaning time and when shipped direct to market; aids in developing future breeding stock; creep fed lambs are easier to start on full feed and the feeding period is shorter and creep feeding offers a market for home-grown feeds.

On the disadvantage side, Gray points out that extra labor and equipment is needed; that the spread in price may not justify using the practice; that large pastures with more than one watering place may require more than one creep for satisfactory results and it may be difficult to get older lambs started on feed especially when the pasture is good.

Gray Offers

In the new publication, L-322, Creep Feeding Lambs, Gray offers suggestions on building the creep, on locating it and on feeds which may be used. He also has suggestions for starting the lambs on feeds.

Copies of the publication may be obtained from local county agents or from The Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Combinations of stilbestrol and antibiotics in yearling steer rations gave higher, more economical gains and heavier carcasses on extended feeding trials than either stilbestrol or antibiotics alone, report Experiment Station Animal Husbandmen.

Gains Noted

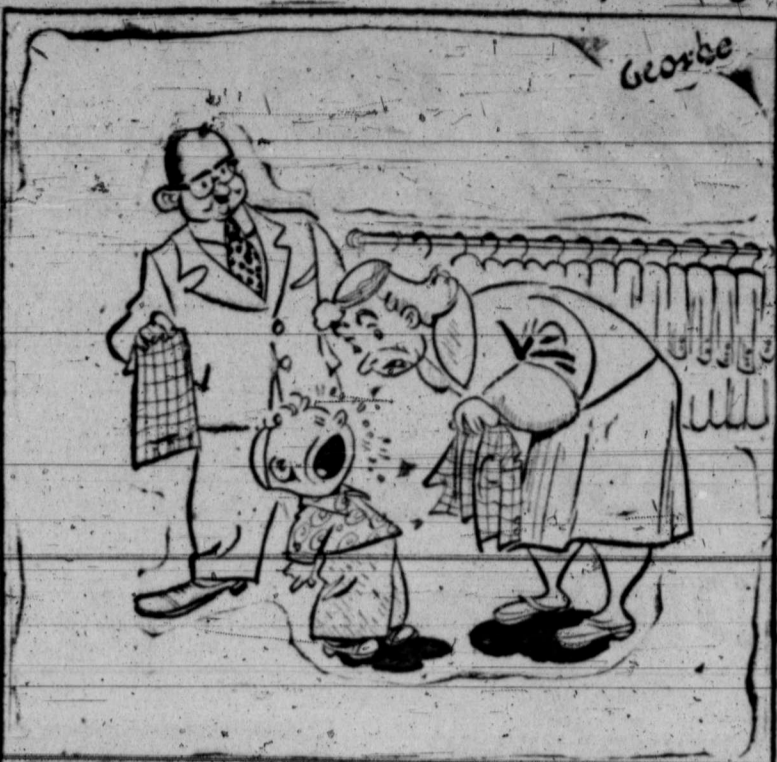

Only slightly higher gains, however, were noted in a 96-day feeding trial when cattle were fed dual combinations of stilbestrol and terramycin, aureomycin or Iotycin. It was only in a 140-day test that specialists detected a decided advantage for the antibiotic additives.

Here steers responded with 29 extra pounds at market over those fed stilbestrol alone and they averaged 94 pounds more than a control group receiving neither form of supplement. Carcass weights of the combination-fed steers were generally more satisfactory than those from animals fed single additives.

Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Iceland comprise the Scandinavian countries.

BIBLE COMMENT

World Should Take Cue From Habakkuk

Even prophets had their moments of depression. At times their words come like trumpet calls from a mountain top. But at other times, they were as souls in the darkness of the night, full of lamentation and crying for the dawn.

Habakkuk appears to us in this depressed mood. He comes before us with a burden. It is a burden of a world of violence from which God seems to have departed. It is the sort of world out of which some modern prophet in Czechoslovakia or Hungary might have uttered a cry of doubt or despair. He is appalled at the evil he sees around him, at the injustice, the strife and cruelty and the disregard of law and judgment.

He sees the power of the Chaldeans, which he describes in vivid, swift-moving phrases. He says they bring punishment upon Israel for their sins. But he reflects that these hosts of violence are even more sinful. It is too shallow and unsatisfactory a view to think of them as executing God's judgment.

In his bewilderment and doubt Habakkuk cries out for God: "Art Thou not from everlasting, O Lord, my God, mine Holy One?" But Habakkuk does not only cry. He does what every man assailed with doubt ought to do. He puts himself in the way of finding an answer.

NATURAL GAS ACCOUNTS FOR 93 PER CENT

State Mineral Production Increases To Estimated Four Billion in 1956

Texas mineral production increased in value again in 1956, reaching an estimated $4.3 billion, according to an advance report prepared by the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology and the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

As in 1955 petroleum, natural gas and natural gas liquids accounted for about 93 per cent of the production and other minerals about 7 per cent.

Texas Remains

Texas remained the nation's major producer of petroleum, natural gas, natural gas liquids, helium, bromine, sulphur and magnesium chloride used for metal. The state also produced significant tonnages of iron ore, clay, gypsum, cement, salt and stone.

Of the state's 254 counties, 230 reported mineral production, and for the second year the value of production exceeded $4 billion. Thirty mineral materials were produced.

Foremost among new industries in Texas in 1956, were oil refining, chemical, petrochemical, rubber and fabricated metals.

Plants Built

New plants or expansions of existing plants were established in the helium, petroleum, magnesium, steel, cement, clay, gypsum and sulphur industries, all of which deal with Texas raw materials. Certain industries handling out-of-state raw materials also expanded including the aluminum, barite, feldspar and flourspar industries.

Among construction materials, cement, clays, gypsum, lime and stone reached record levels of output as a result of the rising trend in industrial, commercial and public works construction projects. Only sand and gravel showed a slight decrease.

The Exposition includes a vast range of entertainment. Highlight is the Power Show Friday (May 3) from 6 to 10 p. m. Fascinating wonders of science and engineering are explained in amusing and educational exhibits.

Other activities for the visitors include guided campus tours; career counseling by faculty members; debate contests, art exhibits and a chamber music concert by University students; a baseball game between the University of Texas and Baylor University; a triangular track meet between Texas, Texas A&M College and Rice Institute; swimming for the high school girls in the Women's Gymnasium pool and a coffee hour for the contestants in the student union building.

Meeting Set

The League's annual breakfast and state meeting of delegates will be held at 7:30 a. m. Saturday in the Driskill Hotel. High school students participating in the University Interscholastic League state meet slide rule contest, May 3 will be eligible for a $200 University of Texas engineering scholarship provided they rank in the upper 25 per cent of their high school class.

Applicants for the scholarship must compete in a 200-word essay contest on why he or she wants to study engineering at the University of Texas. The essay contest will be held Saturday (May 4) at 1 p. m. in Experimental Science Building 115.

Cotton Leads

Throughout Texas' history, cotton has been the state's leading cash crop and a dominant factor in the state's economy. A University of Texas graduate history student reminded the Texas State Historical Association during its 61st annual meeting here.

Raymond Elliott White, a graduate of Goliad High School and Southwest Texas State Teachers College, presented a paper on "Cotton Ginning in Texas to 1861."

"The earliest inhabitants of Texas, the Indians, cultivated and used cotton," he pointed out. "The Spanish missionaries also cultivated it in small quantities, and when the first Anglo-American immigrants came to Texas in the 1820's, cotton seed was one of the items they brought with them."

Gins Needed

"For cotton cultivation to be profitable the settlers needed gins to separate the lint from the seed," White continued, "so the cotton gin was in Texas almost as early as the first settler. John Cartwright and John Sprowl in East Texas and Jared E. Grace in Austin's colony all erected cotton gins around 1825." Texas had three gin-making concerns in 1850, and by 1860 there were four establishments doing a $28,000 business, White reported.

Two teams of horses or a yoke of oxen powered the earliest gins, as well as the crude wooden screw presses outside the gin house, he noted. Gin hands carried the lint cotton to the press in baskets and packed it into 400 or 500 pound bales covered with hemp or cotton lap-bagging and tied with ropes.

ALVIN BYRD

Alvin Byrd is one of those Col-Tex Company employees whose job, for the most part, keeps him outside Colorado City. He is district gauger for the company's pipe line department at Westbrook Station. Home for him and his family is the Col-Tex Pipe Line Camp, six miles northwest of Westbrook.

Byrd, 53, is another Col-Tex "senior" with more than 30 years of continuous service with the company. All that service has been with the pipe line department, beginning as a line walker Dec. 8, 1926. Even before that first full-time job, in 1926, he had worked for various contractors in Westbrook Field and on part-time basis for Col-Tex. In fact, his employment with contractors in Westbrook Field began in 1921 and Byrd was working in the field when its Permian Basin discovery well was brought into production.

The Col-Tex "senior" is a native of Tarrant County. However, his family moved to Taylor County when he was three and, in 1914, moved to Baylor County before arriving in Mitchell County in 1919.

Byrd and the former Lela Jackson were married Aug. 18, 1923. They have three children—Mrs. Charles Candler, whose husband is a clerk with El Paso Natural Gas near Rankin; Leon Byrd, a sophomore petroleum engineer student at Texas Tech, and Dale Byrd, sixth grade pupil at Westbrook. They also are proud of three grandchildren—Judy, Steve and Joyce Candler.

The pipeliner is a steward of Bailey's Chapel First Methodist Church. And like so many Col-Tex employees, Byrd makes a hobby of fishing and bird hunting with his pointer dog.

Personally Yours

By LENA BAUMANN
Record Women's Editor

There's no place like home. At least that saying proved true for Mrs. H. B. Broadus who has returned home after an extended visit with her daughter in Bakersville, Cal.

Mrs. Broadus arrived home last week following an eight month stay with Mary Broadus, who is executive director of Camp Fire work in Kern County.

While there Mrs. Broadus enjoyed visiting friends and relatives in Los Angeles.

"But it has certainly been nice to get home and see all my friends here," she said.

A group of local club women will be in Waco next week for the annual meeting of Texas Federation of Women's Club which will be celebrating its 60th anniversary.

Included in local residents planning to make the trip are Mrs. C. P. Gary of the Self Culture Club, Mrs. E. H. Winn of the Hesperian Club, Mrs. H. B. Broadus of the 1921 Study Club and alternate delegate for the Mitchell County Federation, and Mrs. H. Jene Steankley of the 1949 Study Club and delegate for the local federation.

"Congratulations" to Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Spivy of Nocona on the birth of twin sons who were born Monday.

The babies were named Brent Floyd, who weighed five pounds and three ounces, and Norman Robert, who weighed six pounds and four ounces.

The Spivys also have two daughters, Sherry and Elizabeth. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Loefler of Junction, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd J. Spivy of 1121 Locust Street.

Twin sons were also born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Warner of Lakewood, Cal., March 25.

The babies have been named Kenneth Slate and Karl Johnston. The Warners have two other sons, Brian and Robin. Mrs. Warner will be remembered here as Dorothy Hagler.

Simplicity and beauty are probably the two things that make the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Doss at Ninth and Elm Streets so livable and interesting.

The entry hall with its quarry tile floor and soft blue green walls opens into the living room and bedroom wing.

Living room walls of delicate blue green texture are matched with floor-length draw curtains.

Shower Fetes Recent Bride In Reid Home

A bridal shower in the home of Mrs. J. D. Reid recently honored Mrs. Lynn Rich, the former Mary Louise Jones.

Hostesses for the occasion were Miss Joan Reid and Miss Sandra DeLaney.

Mrs. H. F. Tinsley, the bride's aunt, greeted guests at the door and introduced the receiving line which included Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Willis A. Jones, the honoree's mother; Mrs. C. R. Rich, the bridegroom's mother; and Mrs. William Greenfield, sister of the bridegroom.

Miss Sue Rich, the groom's sister, registered guests. Punch and cake were served by Miss Ann Rich, another sister of the groom; Miss Reid and Miss DeLaney.

The honoree's grandmothers, Mrs. A. C. Melton and Mrs. Ed S. Jones, displayed gifts.

Pink and yellow roses decorated entertaining rooms.

Complimentary furnishings include a custom made sofa of charcoal spotted velvet, chairs of dusty rose velvet and blue green brocotele and a love seat which repeats all colors of the room.

Dining room is finished with the same carpeting, draperies and wall finish as the living room. French furniture is accented by an antique gold mirror and a regal crystal chandelier.

Walls of the family room are of birch random width natural finish paneling. Draperies are made of an early American antique satin. A feature of the room is the inside open windows into the breakfast room, which can be shuttered for privacy or opened for space and light.

Vinyl tile covers floors of the family room, hall to the double garage, utility room, kitchen and one bathroom.

Colors of brown, tone, green, sand and bronze prevail in the kitchen with its birch cabinets and the adjoining utility room. Unlike most kitchens, the room has no outside windows. Large double windows in the utility room, a breakfast area and open shutter windows to the family room keep one from feeling closed in.

Utility room windows are covered by draw curtains of soft green cotton print.

One guest bedroom is authentic Victorian. Walls of dusty cloud pink are complimented by matching antique satin draw curtains and carpet. The marble top dresser is antique from the Doss family.

The second guest bedroom features eighteenth century styling. Matching walls and carpet are of rose beige. Bed spread is rose beige chormsun silk, accented by pillows which match the draperies.

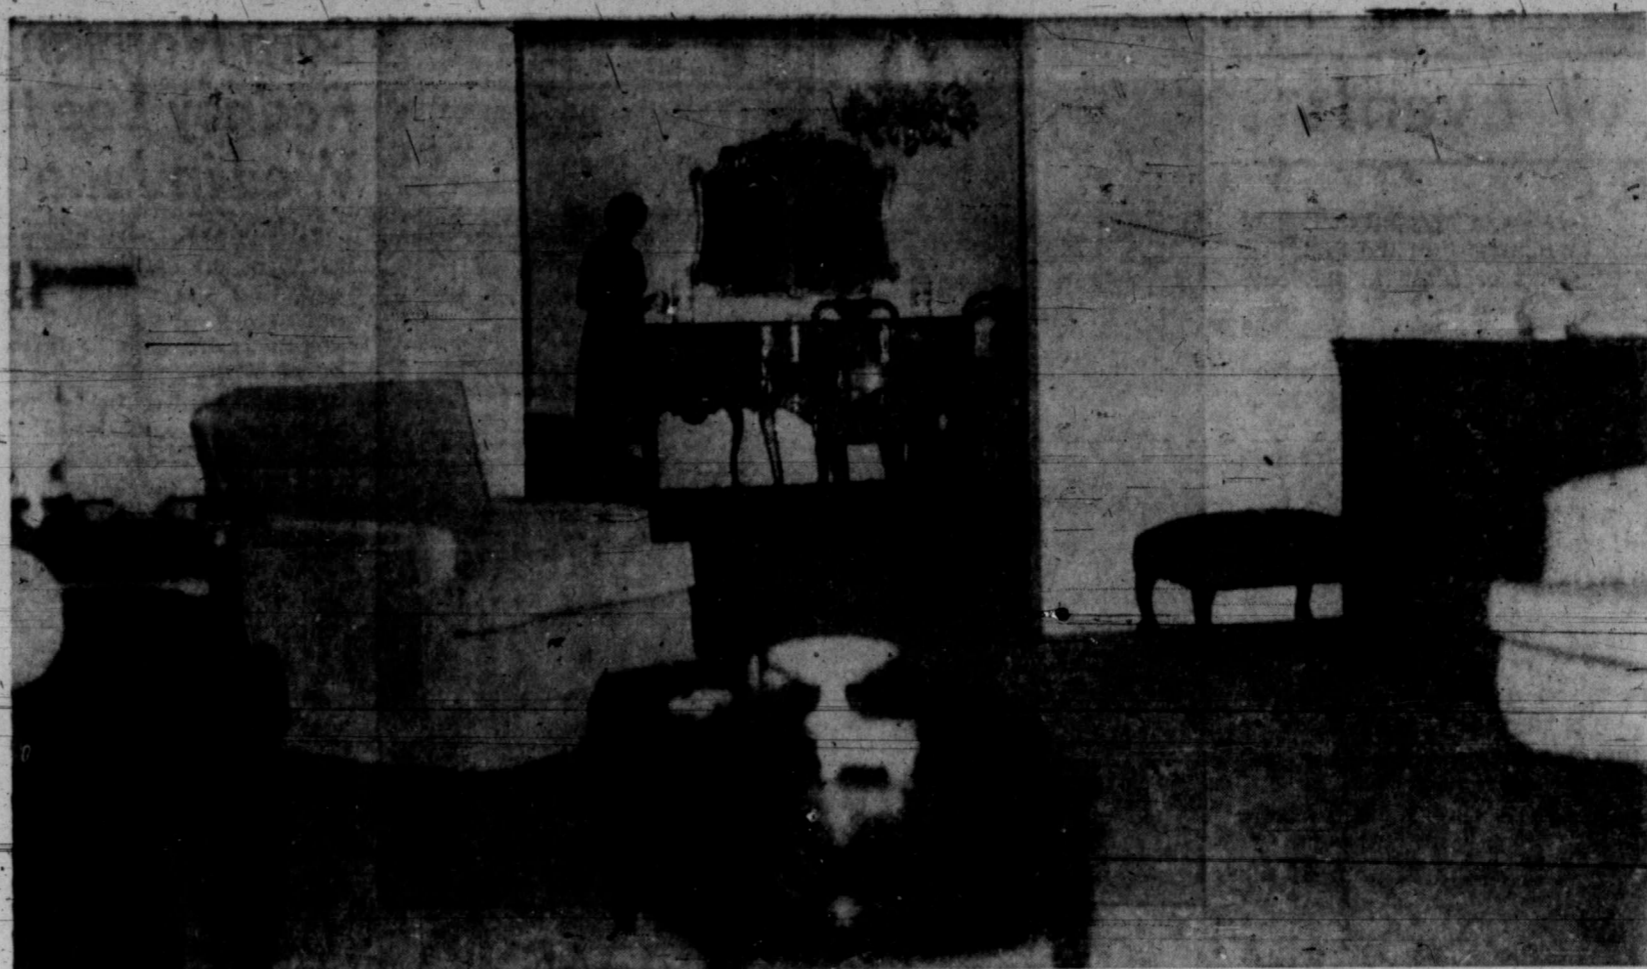

The master bedroom, done in soft blue green, features eighteenth century furniture. Two family chairs are upholstered in antique white brocade. The bedspread is a pink quilted polished cotton with a dust ruffle like the silk draperies.

Adjoining the bedroom is a private bath, complete with a carpeted dressing room, built-in vanity and walk-in closets. White silk cafe curtains hang over windows in the dressing room area.

Guest bathroom is finished with pink tile and fixtures. Cafe curtains with brass rods match the shower curtain. A pink quilted cushion tops a brass dressing table stool.

In the hall between the family room and double garage are walk-in closets and an oatmeal tile bath.

Inter-communication outlets are found in five places in the home—the three bedrooms, break-
