Big Bird Theory Disputed

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A University of Texas paleontologist says he is convinced the Texas Pterodactyl actually flew, despite the contrary opinion of some aerodynamics experts who have told him the creature's 51-foot wingspan was too long.

"The wings had to be for something," Dr. Wann Langston, director of the school's Vertebrate Paleontology Laboratory, said Thursday.

Langston presided over the opening of an exhibit of the creature's 64-million-year-old fossilized bones at the Texas Memorial Museum.

A model of the pterodactyl, a light frame covered with black cloth, hung from the ceiling of the museum's main room.

The Texas Pterodactyl is the largest winged creature ever discovered. The previous record was a pterodactyl with a 26-foot wingspan.

Langston said he believes the pterodactyl was an awkward quadruped on the ground, "kind of like a bat." It walked on the middle joint of the wings.

The fossilized bones were found in the southwestern part of the Big Bend National Park in 1971 by Douglas A. Lawson, then a graduate student working under Langston.

Lawson, now at the University of California at Berkeley, has speculated the creature's long neck, up to 20 feet from shoulder to the tip of the beak, was used to probe the carcasses of dead dinosaurs.

The basis for this speculation, Langston said, is Langston's discovery in 1973 of a dinosaur's bones only 100 yards from where the pterodactyl was found.

That discovery has not been publicized, Langston said. He called the creature an Alamosaur, which he said looked like a brontosaur, the largest land animal that ever lived. The Alamosaur may have been 60 feet long, he said.

About 40 per cent of the bones of the Alamosaur have been recovered, he said, and they are being studied in his laboratory.

The bones come from the area from the middle of the neck to the beginning of the tail but do not include shoulder blades or the lower legs. The chest bones are among those recovered, and they are the only Alamosaur chest bones ever discovered, he said.

One thigh bone is six feet long and 20 inches in diameter, he said.

Langston also exhibited a large burlap and plaster block containing the "complete crumped wing" and other bones from a pterodactyl slightly less than half the size of the giant that Lawson found. These bones were discovered by another student who he said facetiously "didn't have enough to do" and came across them while exploring on his lunch hour.

Langston said he hopes Lawson can return in time to help remove those bones within the next couple of months.

He and Lawson work in the field about one month each year, Lanstron said. It is unlikely that anyone but a scientist could find their digs in Big Bend, he said, because "we cover our tracks very well."

Lawson will write 'the definitive work" on the Texas Pterodactyl, he said.

Today is Friday, July 25, the 206th day of 1975. There are 159 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1963, the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain signed a treaty prohibiting nuclear testing in the atmosphere, in space and under water.

On this date:

In 1799, Napoleon Bonaparte defeated the Turks in a battle in Egypt.

In 1878, the first Chinese diplomatic mission to the United States arrived in Washington.

Ten years ago: Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York removed himself from consideration for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1968.

Five years ago: South Vietnamese troops were attacking Communist forces in southeastern Cambodia.

One year ago: President Richard Nixon, speaking before a group of businessmen in Los Angeles, appealed to the American people to spend less money, as part of a program to curb inflation.

The first runnerup was Donna Gray, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Gray, Jr. of Snyder. A 1973 graduate of Snyder High School, she was graduated from Western Texas College in December of 1974 and received an Associate of Arts Degree. Donna is a junior at Howard Payne University and is majoring in Behavioral Science. She is interested in singing, reading and is actively involved in church work.

Jerry Neill, minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Snyder, served as master of ceremonies. He was introduced by Marlin Terrell, Farm Bureau agent. State Securities Tightens Standards

DALLAS (AP)—State Securities Commissioner Roy Mouer has clamped down on firms based in Texas which sell interests in oil and gas ventures to out-of-state investors, the Dallas Morning News reports.

A memo to enforcement agents of the State Securities Board spells out new strict standards for regulation of those firms who fall under a certain federal securities regulation known as "Schedule D." It applies to oil and gas drilling ventures costing up to $250,000 per well. This regulation is reportedly less stringent than other regulations, and does not require background or a financial statement of the firms involved.

The News has run a series of articles dealing with the Schedule D regulation, saying it has permitted unscrupulous firms to take investors for millions of dollars each year. Most of the Schedule D firms selling interests in junk well ventures at highly inflated prices are based in Dallas, the newspaper said.

Mouer's memo stated that "promoters feel they have a safe harbor from which to perpetrate their fraud and the address in Texas seems to lend some credibility to their spiel," the News said.

"Home grown promoters and out-of-state promoters are moving into Dallas and Houston and setting up boiler rooms from which they flood the country with solicitation to invest in oil and gas exploration ventures.

"Most of these promoters carefully avoid selling to Texas residents. The securities commissioners of other states are perplexed and so far have been able to do no more than issue cease and desist orders, in ineffective measure," the memo said according to the News.

Ford Offers Congress Energy Compromise

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford offered Congress an energy compromise today that his chief energy adviser said "seemed to us to meet all the objections raised" against the plan Congress previously rejected.

Administration experts said they expected his proposal would result in a six-cent-a-gallon increase in petroleum prices, including gasoline, by 1978.

Ford proposed to gradually phase out price controls over a 39-month period and an $11.50 per barrel price ceiling on all domestically produced oil.

Ford said that, although this represents a rollback on all current uncontrolled oil prices, the $11.50 ceiling would gradually be increased by five cents per month over the length of the program which runs through Nov. 30, 1978.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb told reporters the administration new decontrol plan "seemed to us to meet all the objections raised" against the proposal rejected by Congress last week. Ford had vetoed the congressional energy plan.

House Speaker Carl Albert said President Ford's compromise energy plan will be acted on quickly by the House — and that it "might have a chance."

Ford called his plan "a critical first step in reversing our growing dependence on foreign oil."

He said it should be combined with a windfall profits taxes on oil companies and rebates of energy taxes to the American people. But he did not spell out details of such a program in a statement concerning the compromise he was sending to Congress today.

Zarb said the cost of all oil would rise to about $13.45 a barrel at the end of the 39-month period.

On windfall profits, he said the details of that will be worked out with the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance committees. He said there is "no question but legislation of that variety can be written and passed."

Zarb said that the $2 a barrel import tariff on imported oil would remain in effect.

He said that the President wants Congress to face the "hard questions" now and Ford is prepared to veto a three-month extension of the price control act if Congress does not agree to this compromise.

When asked if this was Ford's final offer, Press Secretary Ron Nessen said, "It certainly is."

"This nation desperately needs cooperation, not confrontation on the critical energy issue," Ford said in urging Congress to accept his compromise, "so that we can get on with the solution of this most pressing problem."

Administration experts said the President's new compromise plan would increase the average price of petroleum products, including gasoline, by about five to six cents a gallon by 1978. His original plan would have raised prices by about seven cents a gallon by 1977, the White House had estimated.

The administration explained in a fact sheet that Ford wants Congress to enact his original proposals for a windfall profits tax with appropriate plowback provisions to encourage producers to seek new sources of oil. He also urged extension of the allocation act, with some modifications, to cover the now proposed 39-month decontrol period.

The additional time would permit Congress to adopt a new price control measure without fear of letting controls lapse.

AS PRECAUTION

Crew Confined To Sick Bay

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The three Apollo astronauts detected a mysterious gas that caused one of them to pass out briefly after their return to earth and they remained under precautionary observation in sick bay on this ship today.

The astronauts also reported the gas caused a "burning and irritation in the eyes."

Doctors said a preliminary examination of astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton "does not show any apparent medical problems" and the sick bay confinement was called a precautionary measure.

The space agency reported today that the gas filtered into the Apollo cabin at 23,000 feet Thursday as the spaceship was returning from a nine-day space mission, during which the astronauts linked up with two Russian cosmonauts.

Doctors reported today that Brand had passed out for a few moments after the splashdown 330 miles west of Hawaii. But they said he quickly recovered when Stafford and Slayton gave him an oxygen mask. They also donned masks until the rescue crews reached them.

A NASA transcript of a conversation between frogmen and the astronauts after the touchdown shows Brand replying "I'm fine," when asked how he felt.

Moments later, Slayton is recorded as saying "Get the — — hatch open."

"I think we passed out for about a minute there," commander Stafford reported. But doctors on the ship said that only Brand had passed out.

At first, NASA experts on the New Orleans thought that the gas in the cabin was nitrogen tetroxide, a potentially harmful substance that serves as the oxidizer in the fuel system for the Apollo steering jets.

An extensive check today uncovered no leaks in the jet system. Dr. Donald E. Stullken, NASA recovery team leader, said it was more likely the gas was the result of the explosive detonation of either small stabilizing parachutes or of a metal cover that protected the Apollo during the heat of reentry.

Explosives broke these pieces of hardware free about the time the spaceship began to repressurize by sucking in fresh outer air at about 24,000 feet.

Stullken said an aerodynamic disturbance might have allowed some of the combustion byproducts, gas and smoke, to enter the cabin through the fresh air intake.

Stullken said the suspicion that the gas might have been nitrogen tetroxide was the major reason for ordering the astronauts into sick bay.

Flat 14 Year Old Needs Developement Plan— And Padding

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 14-year-old girl. My problem is that I am flat, and most boys go for built-up chicks. I know you are going to say, "Wear padded bras," but where will that get me?

I eat everything that is good for me. Fresh fruit, and vegetables, and milk, but it all goes to my stomach, thighs and butt.

I am always cut down because I'm flat. I have to wear children's clothes because I have a 30 AA bust and my hips are 31½. I am 5' 1" and weigh 95 pounds.

I see stuff advertised in magazines, but I haven't sent for any because, in the first place, I don't see how creams can put inches on your bust, and, in the second, my Mom opens all the mail. She would kill me if she knew I was even thinking about anything like that.

Please be a friend and put your answer in the paper. There must be at least a million girls with my problem.

FLAT

DEAR FLAT: You are a very wise girl to wonder how creams could put inches on you. They can't. Be patient. And I AM going to tell you to wear a padded bra. At least you will look better in clothes.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law runs her house without any schedule or system. She is 31 and so is her husband. Their children are 2 and 4.

They eat when they're hungry and go to sleep when they're tired.

I told them nicely that they should get on some kind of schedule, but they paid no attention to me. I also sent them a book on basic child care and nutrition, but I haven't seen any signs of their having read it.

She puts off the housekeeping chores that almost every homemaker does routinely. She just plays with the children and dresses them like dolls, forgetting that balanced meals and a set routine are important to good health.

Please tell me what to do. My nerves get shot every time I go over there and see what is going on.

MOTHER-IN-LAW

DEAR MOTHER-IN-LAW: Be kind to yourself, and don't go over there so often if it upsets you. If your son isn't aware that his wife needs straightening out, let it go. You've done all you can.

DEAR ABBY: About the woman who was "fuming" because her teenage daughter had her ears pierced while she was away for the weekend, knowing that she wouldn't have approved:

I am the proud father of two cleancut-looking BOYS, ages 17 and 18. Each one wears a round gold ring through his left pierced ear.

This doesn't bother me. I view it as a sign of the times, and the possible revival of the days when it was customary for males to wear earrings.

JOHN IN PONTIAC, MICH.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Approval Seen On Voting Act

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A measure extending the Voting Rights Act for seven years and expanding its coverage appears headed for House approval and President Ford's signature before the present law expires Aug. 6.

The Senate voted 77 to 12 Thursday night to extend the act, which is widely regarded as bringing dramatic increases in black voting and the election of black officials in the South since its enactment in 1965.

The extension bill also expands legal protection to the voting rights of language-minority groups, including Alaskan natives, Americans of Spanish heritage, American Indians and Asian-Americans.

The Senate acted after amending a House-passed bill to extend key provisions of the law for seven years instead of 10 years as approved by the House.

However, Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., a chief House sponsor of the bill, say they will recommend House acceptance of the Senate amendments, thus avoiding a parliamentary wrangle between both chambers and speeding the bill to the President's desk.

Ford has indicated he will sign the bill, despite the Senate's rejection earlier this week of his recommendation that the extension apply to all 50 states rather than focus on Southern states.

Areas with a population of 5 per cent or more of the ethnic groups and where voter registration or turnout was less than 50 per cent in the 1972 presidential election would be covered.

This would extend coverage to the entire state of Texas and to parts of Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, New Mexico, Oklahoma, New York, South Dakota and Utah.

In addition to having to provide bilingual ballots and election materials, these areas would be subject, like Southern areas presently covered, to preclearance of election law changes by either the U.S. attorney general or the federal court here, and to the use of federal registrars and election observers.

The present law already covers Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and most of North Carolina, as well as scattered counties and towns elsewhere.

Before approving the measure, the Senate turned back a series of amendments that would have removed restrictions on Southern states.

Voting against final passage of the bill were Sens. James B. Allen, D-Ala.; Harry F. Byrd Jr., Ind.-Va.; Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo.; Jesse Helms, R-N.C.; Paul Laxalt, R-Nev.; John L. McClellan, D-Ark.; William L. Scott, R-Va.; John J. Sparkman, D-Ala.; John C. Stennis, D-Miss.; Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.; Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; and John G. Tower, R-Tex.

Quebec Tornado Kills 3

ST. BONAVENTURE, Que. (AP) — "The air was full of debris. Trees were falling everywhere."

Etienne Labonte spoke of the tornado that ripped a five-mile trail of destruction through this small farming community Thursday evening, killing a woman and her twin infant daughters and wrecking the town's main street.

Quebec Provincial Police said in addition to those killed, about 45 residents of this 2,500-population town 50 miles northeast of Montreal were hospitalized.

Late Thursday evening, authorities reported that 14 persons had died in the storm. But later they said the count had been based on erroneous information.

Some 100 buildings, including the local church, rectory, water tower and school, were destroyed or heavily damaged, along with numerous houses and barns. Scores of farm animals were killed, and trees, power lines and telephone wires were strewn across the countryside.

A police spokesman said damage was "too vast to estimate," and the local priest, the Rev. Theophile Cote, said "the whole town will have to be rebuilt."

"The tornado picked up trees around my house and some went in one direction, some went another," said Jean-Paul Bonin, who runs a farm two miles south of the town.

Bonin said his son's home, just 200 yards away, was wrecked, along with outlying farm buildings. The house was empty at the time.

He said his house was just slightly damaged, but that some neighboring houses "were flattened."

Telespore Delorme, who lives about four miles from the town, said he received "only the tail end of the tornado, but my neighbor's cows are nearly all dead."

Two tornadoes hit Quebec province last month, injuring several persons and causing a total of some $2 million in damage.

Get second opinion on hysterectomy

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My doctor says I have fibroids and wants to do a hysterectomy. I do not want to have this done if it can be avoided. What is your opinion? I am 32 and have two children.

DEAR READER—A lot of women with fibroids do not need an operation, but no set rule can be made, and the decision to operate or not has to be individualized.

Fibroid tumors are benign (not malignant or cancerous) growths of the muscular wall of the uterus. Usually there are several small tumors encroaching on each other to form a mass in the uterus. No one knows what causes them, but they are present in about 40 per cent of women over 50 years of age.

The tumors get their start during the childbearing years when the ovaries are most active and the most estrogen is produced. During a pregnancy the ovaries and placenta form much more estrogen, and the fibroid tumors tend to grow more rapidly. They also can be stimulated to grow from estrogen given as a medicine by pill or shot.

After the menopause, when the amount of estrogen formation is limited, the fibroid growth tends to slow down.

Many fibroids cause no symptoms at all. This depends a lot on their location and size, and this has a lot to do with the decision on whether to operate or not. The small ones that cause no symptoms can usually be left alone, particularly in a young woman like yourself, until after the menopause.

Some fibroids get quite large, weighing as much as 10 or 15 pounds, and those over 30 pounds are not unknown. These large ones can cause pressure on the bladder and bowel causing both bowel and bladder symptoms.

Even smaller ones located just under the lining of the uterus can cause a significant increase in bleeding during the menses. This increased bleeding, if marked, is one indication for surgery. Some fibroids can interfere with getting pregnant, and others lead to habitual abortion.

Unless your fibroids are large and causing pressure symptoms, are causing excessive bleeding, or interfering with pregnancy, it is probably safe to let them alone.

You can have fibroid tumors removed without having the uterus removed. This is sometimes done when the fibroids interfere with pregnancy. Studies show that about 40 per cent of women who have the fibroids removed but leave the uterus in place are able to have subsequent successful pregnancies.

If a woman has other problems that may also suggest the desirability of a hysterectomy, then surgery is in order.

Bleeding from uncomplicated fibroids is just an increase in menstrual bleeding, which can be quite large. Bleeding between periods should suggest some other problem and warrants immediate examination for its cause.

Since you are reluctant to have the operation, unless you have the symptoms I mentioned, I would suggest a consultation with another doctor before agreeing to having the surgery.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. For information on anemias send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the Health Letter, number 43, Understanding the Anemias.

County Court Pleas Heard

Several pleas were entered in county court Thursday.

Hunter William Swann and Samuel G. Barrientez both pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. Swann received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months. Barrientez received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 3-day jail term. Swann was arrested July 10 by Highway Patrolmen. Barrientez was arrested July 16 by City Police.

John Brent Tarlton, Jr. and Warren Ray Floyd both pleaded innocent to charges of driving while intoxicated. Two cases were filed on Floyd, one on July 17 and the other July 6. In all three cases, pre-trial hearing was set for Aug. 7 with a jury trial slated for Sept. 9. Tarleton was arrested July 21 by City Police. Floyd was arrested July 17 and July 6 by City Police.

Roy Villanueva, Jr. pleaded guilty to illegal possession of marijuana following his arrest July 19 by City Police. Probation was revoked on Villanueva in another case, and he will have to serve a 30-day jail term for a DWI offense that occurred June 7.

Warning System Passes Test

Snyder residents had an opportunity to observe the effectiveness of the city's flood warning system last Sunday, according to city officials. The heavy rainfall which occurred during the early morning and later in the day contributed to the first significant flow in Deep Creek since the flood warning system was implemented, two years ago.

The warning system allows city officials to estimate the depth of flow in Deep Creek from rainfall information gathered by the monitoring stations Northwest of Snyder. This prediction is made six hours in advance of the flood crest and gives ample time to warn residents of any imminent danger.

During last Sunday's rainfall reports were received of six inches of rainfall in the Dermott area and two inches in and around Fluvanna, as of 11 a.m. Using this information, the City Engineer, Jim Dower calculated that Snyder would receive six to eight feet of water in Deep Creek at the gauging point across from the Central Fire Station on Ave. T in Snyder by 5 p.m.

This predicted flow did not present a threat; however information from the Weather Service indicated the possibility of additional heavy rainfall throughout the afternoon. Based on this information, a flood warning was issued until 4 p.m. Fortunately the rainfall later that afternoon was not sufficient in the watershed area to increase the runoff, and at 4 p.m. the flood warning was allowed to expire.

It is interesting to note that by 5 p.m. Snyder had recorded 4½ feet of water and 6 p.m. a crest of six feet was recorded. This corresponds very closely to the prediction and in general city officials were very pleased with the system's operation and the cooperation received from everyone involved.

Snyder residents may contact the Police Station, Department of Civil Defense, during these warnings for specific information on flooding conditions.

The flash flood warning system is a joint program of the City of Snyder and the National Weather Service.

Texas Welfare Cuts Threatened

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — New responsibilities without new money will cause welfare programs in Texas to be severely curtailed, says State Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell.

Hundreds of state welfare workers will lose their jobs, Vowell told the three-man welfare board Thursday.

Vowell said he did not blame the new zero-base budgeting policy, but he suggested it may have been a mistake to ask for money for 30 programs instead of consolidating them into 10.

Congress and the legislature have mandated new responsibilities without providing new money, Vowell said.

For example, the department is required to investigate every case of child abuse reported in the state, he said, but the legislature appropriated no money for this.

He promised the legislature in January 1973 he could give Texas one of the nation's best programs, with fewer cheaters, if lawmakers would give him money to hire more workers to determine eligibility, he said. The legislature gave him more money, he said, and today only 2.5 per cent of those on welfare rolls in Texas are ineligible, compared with a national average of 9.3 per cent.

But this year's appropriation bill makes it "likely" that 300 eligibility workers will have to be fired, he said.

All three members of the board criticized the legislature's failure to allow them to transfer funds from programs that are not working to productive programs.

Garrett Morris of Fort Worth said the legislature gave the board more money than it asked for in some programs and not enough in others, but the funds cannot be transferred.

Vowell said one of the best new programs, called Alternate Care, allows elderly people to spend more of their final days in the security of their own homes at less cost to the state. But inadequate funding permits the board to keep this program going only at its current level.

"This means thousands of our senior citizens will have to enter nursing homes or other institutions prematurely," he said.

Vowell said legislators think "agencies always ask for more than they need." In his prepared text, Vowell followed this with the statement, "I wish to advise you that human services in Texas are going to suffer," but he changed the last portion of the sentence as he spoke it to "welfare programs in Texas are going to be less efficient than they have been in the past."

Morris said, "I think we're going to be in some real trouble."

Parr Is Jailed

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Archer Parr, who lost an appeal of his federal perjury conviction Thursday, was lodged in the Bexar County jail only a few hours later pending a new hearing on his appeal bond.

Parr, ousted as Duval County judge and facing a state disbarment hearing, was arrested by Texas Rangers on a bench warrant from U.S. District Court Judge D.W. Suttle shortly before 3 p.m. Thursday.

Parr's lawyer, James Gillespie, met with him at the jail and later told reporters Parr was disappointed at the appeals court decision, but showed "no bitterness" about being arrested.

Gillespie said, "We plan to continue the appeals and asking for a re-hearing and then even appeal to the Supreme Court."

The lawyer said, "This is the first time in my 20 years of law practice that I have seen a person arrested without a mandate from the appeals court."

Gillespie explained that a person out of jail on bond during any appeal is not sent to jail until all appeals end or a mandate is issued by the appeals court.

Two Injured In Collision

Two local women sustained minor injuries in a two-vehicle collision in the 2400 block of Twenty-fifth Street at 5:25 p.m. yesterday.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle for treatment of minor injuries were Nancy Bogle Brumit, 19, 126 Milburn, and Shirley E. Heasler, 18, 4502 Garwood.

Police said Mrs. Brumit was driving a 1969 Model Gran Prix that was involved in a collision with a 1972 Model Mack truck-tractor driven by Allan Jones, P.O. Box 1002, Snyder. The truck was towing a 1975 Model Vulcan Lowbed Trailer owned by Grimmett Brothers of Snyder.

BLONDE TONES—Beautiful Hair, softly colored in blonde tones, has been proportionately styled here for width, without bigness, and curl, without frizz, by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. This style is designed to complement Fall-Winter's "slinky siren" and casual evening looks in fashion. The important back message is created through tapering, contouring and textured perming. This style must have a perfectly textured perm to support the geometric design.

ROMANTIC LOOK—This Beautiful Hair styling by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association features well-conditioned hair, hanging free and flowing gently to chin length. The hair story here is a welcome addition to Fall-Winter's casual and romantic fashion looks. The length is variable and always adaptable to the individual. Styling variations contain side and back detailing. NHCA's Fall-Winter emphasis on "back interest" in hairstyling is evidenced in this classic expression of romance.

WOMANLY INDEPENDENCE—Womanly independence is expressed in this styling through touchable, face-framing curls, designed for Fall-Winter by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. Romantic curls may softly frame the face to accentuate Fall-Winter's romantic fashions or be brushed away from the face to reveal a "nothing-to hide" look of beauty that befits Fall-Winter's "slinky siren" fashions. A flattering halo is created through a close-fitting crown area, with emphasis on the total form created around the head.

ORIENTAL EXPRESSION—The fashion world's Fall-Winter emphasis on the Orient calls for this very special Oriental expression in hairstyling by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. Full, straight bangs are the key. The sides may be worn straight or curled to fit different fashion moods. Width can be added easily with fashionable upward moving curls on the sides. More curls in the back or smoothly directed styling to the full back area offer possibilities for other fashion statements.

Hairfashions Projected For Fall-Winter

Smaller hairstyles designed to accentuate leaner fashion apparel looks are projected for Fall-Winter 1975-76 by the 64,000 member National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

The hairstyle width, needed in recent seasons to balance the big fashion looks, is decreasing. However, there is no one dominant hairstyle, just as there is no one fashion mood, explains Louise Cotter of Detroit, Mich., Styles Director for the 64,000 member association of American hairdressers.

"While hairstyles change with fashion apparel, the moods of softness, luxury and quality continue. Beauty hair is healthy, free-moving and touchable," says Ms. Cotter.

For Fall-Winter, the Association forecasts hairfashion interest in the back of the head, where there will be more volume, often in upward design movement.

Precision haircuts and textured perms are important ingredients in four new Fall-Winter hairstyles projected by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

These styles and their variations offer ideas and ways to complete the total fashion picture for Fall-Winter. Stylists throughout the country are reviewing these styles for their own interpretations.

Descriptions of the four Fall-Winter hairfashions follow:

Mid-Length Oriental Styling

The fashion world's Fall-Winter emphasis on the Orient calls for this very special Oriental expression in hairstyling by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

Full, straight bangs are the key in this Beautiful Hair styling. The sides may be worn straight or curled to fit different fashion moods.

The nape area is pre-permed to provide extra back volume interest and artistically cut to slightly hug the neck in a modified bob.

Capturing the mystery of the Far East, this hairstyle recognizes the major importance of Oriental-influenced fashion for Fall-Winter, while allowing for versatile styling to fit other current fashion moods.

Width can be added easily with fashionable upward-moving curls on the sides. More curls in the back or smoothly directed styling to the full back area offer possibilities for other fashion statements.

Mid-Length Classical Styling

There's a definite return to glamorous, soft hair that is arranged, but never stiffly coiffed. This Beautiful Hair styling by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association features well-conditioned hair, hanging free and flowing gently to chin length.

The hair story here is a welcome addition to Fall-Winter's casual and romantic fashion looks. The length is variable and always adaptable to the individual.

Fall-Winter's fashion look is leaner than it was in Spring-Summer 1975. This calls for a relatively "small head" with hair that can be easily moved to proportionately balance different total looks.

Styling variations contain side and back detailing. Hair hugs the head gently and flares into soft end-curls.

NHCA's Fall-Winter emphasis on "back interest" in hairstyling is evidenced in this classic expression of romance.

Short Sculptured Styling

Beautiful Hair, softly colored in blonde tones, has been proportionately styled here for wideth, without bigness, and curl, without frizz, by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. This style is designed to complement Fall-Winter's "slinky siren" and casual evening looks in fashion.

The styling is sculptured into a precision haircut to seductively enhance the natural shape of the head and flatter the individual who wears it.

The full bangs blend into a flowing length that slightly caresses the cheek.

The important back message is created through tapering, contouring the textured perming. This style must have a perfectly textured perm to support the geometric design.

The nape area is first permed, then sculptured to the fitted design, to create a chameleon-like styling that lends itself to a variety of changes. It is equally appealing when worn straight or curled to fit the fashion mood or occasion.

Short Curly Styling

Womanly independence is expressed in this Beautiful Hair styling through touchable, face-framing curls designed for Fall-Winter by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

Romantic curls may softly frame the face to accentuate Fall-Winter's romantic fashions or be brushed away frm the face to reveal a "nothing-to-hide" look of beauty that befits Fall-Winter's "slinky siren" fashions.

A flattering halo is created through a close-fitting crown area, with emphasis on the total form created around the head.

The precision cut style allows curls to move and swing freely. The styling is cut creatively into the hair and reinforced by a new style-support perm.

Length of this style may vary for individual adaptability, but must reflect the mood of a "small head" to complement Fall-Winter's leaner looks in fashion.

4-H'ers Attend Electric Camp

Seven 4-H Club members from Scurry County will return Friday, July 25, from a five-day trip to New Mexico's Camp Scott Able near Cloudcroft for training in leadership and electrical projects, accompanied by Extension Agent Billy E. Roach.

This year's delegation from Scurry County include Kim Layne, Cathy Hess, Becky Costillo, Mary Garza, Alan Pollard, Max Drum and Johnny Reed.

They made the trip by charter bus.

The event provides leadership training and teaches 4-H members, leaders and county Extension agents how to conduct 4-H electrical projects and method demonstrations, and how to prepare 4-H records.

Recreational and citizenship training also are an important part of the camp.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

A set of four unusual postage designs — featuring more writing than illustration space — has been introduced by Australia in dedication to "scientific development." The new series highlights fields of scientific achievements which have special relevance to Australia.

Each stamp shows a graphic symbolism with a lengthy explanation of the subject. The 11 cents is for Atomic Absorption Spectrophotometry, 24 c Radio Astronomy, 33 c Immunology and 48 c Oceanography.

If one can read the writing on a small stamp, he would know something about the achievement. For example, on the stamp devoted to Atomic Absorption Spectrophotometry, the inscription reveals "Atomic Absorption Spectrophotometry depends on the absorption of light by atoms to determine the amounts of an element present in any substance. This modern analytical technique of world importance was devised in Australia."

Sounds important, but it's tough on the eye.

Ever hear of the Pelican Postique?

The Pelican Postique is the traveling postal and philatelic center based in New Orleans which will be visiting stamp shows, conventions, fairs and other events to provide people with postal material in that area.

A specially postmarked and cacheted envelope is available for collectors. The three-color cachet features the Louisiana state bird, the brown pelican, in flight over an outline map of the state. Also featured are the Postal Service Seal and the postique service mark.

Requests for cacheted envelopes should be sent to: Postmaster, U.S. Post Office, New Orleans, La. 70113. The remittance is 35 cents each, or three for $1. A larger envelope should be enclosed for return of the cacheted envelopes. Orders will be filled as long as the supply of cacheted envelopes allows.

The Netherlands Antilles has issued a special set of three stamps dedicated to the industrial production of salt in Bonaire. Besides being famous as a flamingo sanctuary, Bonaire has acquired a good reputation because of its salt which dates back to the 16th century. The designs depict hexagonal frames enclosing motifs based on the salt industry. Each bears the emblem of the salt industry in Bonaire, according to the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

Scott's Standard Postage Stamp Catalog, Volume I, 1976 edition is now available for collectors. It has 28,920 price changes within its 670 pages. In addition it shows 1,787 new issues released during the past year by the U.S., the U.N. and the British Commonwealth nations.

A new feature, "For the Record," lists stamps of uncertain philatelic status. Previously this item was issued as a separate publication. Also added to this edition is a philatelic market place of advertisers found in the back of the book.

The price for Volume I is $13 at your local dealer. Volume II — Continental Europe, its colonies, nations of Africa, Asia, Latin America (A through I) — is scheduled for release in August. Volume III (second section) — Continental Europe, its colonies, nations of Africa, Asia, Latin America (J through Z) — will be released in November.

Create Own Beach Coverups

By Joanne Schreiber

Take one of Dad's T-shirts, add masking tape and spray paint, and you have the newest teen-age beachwear concoction.

This is a quick, easy, cheap and fun solution to the beach coverup problem. Designs and colors can be worked out to match bathing suits, provide instant indentification or provoke conversation.

The technique is simple:

Fix shirt snugly around a piece of wood, a stool or other hard surface. Put a piece of cardboard inside the shirt so the paint won't soak through.

Tape back the sleeves and body of the shirt so only the area to be sprayed is exposed.

Use masking tape or cloth tape to make your design. Use different tape widths for variety. Cut out rounded shapes from the wider tape. Press tape tightly in place and be sure all edges are smoothed down before spraying.

Spray-paint shirt lightly, with an even side-to-side motion. Don't get shirt too wet. Allow paint to dry thoroughly before removing tape.

There's no limit to the kinds of decorative effects you can achieve with tape, spray paint and of imagination, according to designes for Krylon spray paint.

Spray paint in a well-ventilated area and don't smoke while painting. Spread newspapers to catch any overspray. Temperature of the can and the object to be sprayed should be 70 to 80 degrees. Read directions thoroughly before spraying.

After you run out of T-shirts, your teen-agers can spray-paint old towels and sneakers. This is a great way to stretch the life of worn and faded items, since the paint won't stiffen the material and stays on through laundering.

Burt Reynolds Testifies In Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Burt Reynolds has testified in a burglary-assault trial that a rifle and two watches were stolen from his home during his absence.

Reynolds appeared as a witness Wednesday, the third day of testimony in the trial of Vaughn Greenwood, 32.

Greenwood is accused of ransacking the actor's home Feb. 1 and of attacking two of Reynolds' neighbors with a hatchet. Shown a pair of blue patent leather shoes, Reynolds said they were his.

Then he explained, "They were a gift from a fan. I kept them because they were so ugly."

Storm Halts Open Play

ILE BIZARD, Que. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus didn't wait for the storm to hit.

"Everybody in our group had hit their second shots to the green and we all had it about 20 feet from the hole," Nicklaus said. "We could see the clouds building up and hear the thunder in the distance.

"We just tapped in those little putts," he said, smiling, "just in the interest of speed, and sought shelter. They hadn't called play at that time but it was coming and it could have lightning in it and we just didn't want to get hit."

So Nicklaus, who went six-under-par through 12 holes with his "little tap-in" of 20 feet, was one of the first off the golf course Thursday when a violent thunderstorm held up, for 3 hours and 2 minutes, first-round play in the $200,080 Canadian Open Golf Tournament.

Playing conditions changed when the lengthy, violent thunderstorm finally abated and Nicklaus could return to the course. He lost one stroke to par over his six remaining holes but still finished with a course-record, five-under-par 65 and tied close friend Tom Weiskopf for the first round lead in this national championship.

After the long weather delay—Nicklaus sought shelter in a private residence adjoining the 6,628-yard Royal Montreal Golf Club course for the 3 hours and 2 minutes of delay—play was resumed at 7 p.m. EDT and finally halted by darkness at 8:45 p.m. Fourteen players, including British Open champion Tom Watson were stranded and were scheduled to complete their rounds early today.

Six players, including South African Gary Player, were tied for third at 67, three-under-par and two off the pace.

Player was tied for third with John Schlee, Bob E. Smith, Gary McCullough and Pat Fitzsimons.

Arnold Palmer, also caught by the storm, had it four under par—just one off the lead—through 16 holes then made double bogey five after missing the green and blading a chip on his 17th hole. He finished with a 68.

Johnny Miller matched par 70. Defending champion Bobby Nichols and Lee Trevino had 71s. U.S. Open champ Lou Graham shot a 73.

Nude Athlete Shot By Policewoman

CHESAPEAKE, Va. (AP)—David Vaughn, starting center for the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, was arrested for indecent exposure in Virginia Beach the day before he was shot by a rookie policewoman.

Vaughn was in satisfactory condition Thursday night at Norfolk General Hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen, officials said.

An auxiliary policeman arrested Vaughn, wearing only a T-shirt, Tuesday afternoon outside his home, Virginia Beach police records show.

Leroy Freeman, Vaughn's neighbor, said he arrested the 6-foot-11 center after seeing him walk around outside his house naked from the waist down.

Vaughn, 22, would say only "God is naked too" when asked about his lack of clothing, the deputies said.

Vaughn was arrested Wednesday evening on charges including attempted murder of a policeman, hit and run, petty larceny and failing to stop for police after a chase that ended in the shooting incident, police said.

Squires' trainer Bob Travaglini, a close friend and the only person to visit Vaughn Thursday, said Vaughn was not the type to go off on wild sprees.

Jack Ankerson, Squires general manager, agreed with Travaglini and made the following formal statement:

The shooting incident stemmed from Vaughn's allegedly driving away from a service station without paying $14 for filling his gas tank.

While Vaughn was struggling with officers trying to arrest him, authorities said a shot was fired by Patrolwoman Debra Campbell.

Willie Wood Is Prime Candidate For Bell Job

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers, once the kingpins of the National Football League, dominate the pro football scene again...but not with the Pack.

Willie Wood, a former All-Pro safety with the Packers when the Green Bay team captured the first two Super Bowls, is expected to become pro football's first black head coach since Fritz Pollard led several teams in the early 1920s when the NFL was an infant.

Wood is "the prime candidate" to succeed Ron Waller, who resigned Wednesday as head coach of the World Football League's Philadelphia Bell. Wood joined the Bell this year as Waller's defensive coordinator. When Waller resigned, he recommended Wood be named his replacement.

Gale Gillingham, Wood's teammate on the Packers, announced his retirement Thursday. The 31-year-old offensive guard was a four-time All-Pro selection during his nine-year NFL career.

A Green Bay spokesman said lineman Malcolm Snider, a seven-year veteran, had informed the team he is also retiring to attend medical school, although the Packers had not received an official document stating his intentions.

Another former Packer, tight end Marv Fleming, still hasn't shown up at the Washington Redskins' training camp. Fleming, who has appeared in five Super Bowls—two with Green Bay and three with the Miami Dolphins—was traded to the Redskins by Miami for the NFL negotiating rights to running back Charley Harraway.

Also missing from the Redskins' camp is running back Duane Thomas, a free agent since May 1. Allen said he had nothing to add to team President Edward Bennett Williams' remarks that Thomas, as of now, is out of the Redskins plans.

Philadelphia Eagles' Coach Mike McCormack admits he would like to have Ted "Mad Stork" Hendricks, but he's afraid of what he might have to give up for the former Packer All-Pro linebacker.

The 6-foot-7, 220-pound Hendricks is a free agent, having played out his option with Green Bay.

That means Hendricks is free to sign with any NFL club willing to pay his price. Eagles' owner Leonard Tose says meeting the salary demand would not be a problem, but McCormack says any club signing Hendricks will be required to give the Packers what Green Bay Coach-General Manager Bart Starr deems "equal compensation."

New England Patriots' defensive back Jack Mildren and former Buffalo Bills' linebacker Dave Washington have also called it quits.

Mildren will become a full-time vice president of a Florida oil firm. Washington was traded Monday by the Bills to the San Francisco 49ers. But he said Thursday that he will not report to his new team.

Washington, now a Buffalo resident, said his wife Dianne is expecting their third child in September and there are complications.

The Pittsburgh Steelers released rookie offensive tackle Marvin Crenshaw—a sixth-round draft choice—after contract negotiations broke down. The former Nebraska star is now considered a free agent.

Texas Aggie Footballers Have Aggressive Spirit

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Texas A&M's All-American linebacker Ed Simonini says a brawl during spring training between the No. 1 offense and the No. 1 defense is a prime reason to pick the Aggies to take the Southwest Conference football title this fall.

"It was almost a fullscale war," Simonini said Thursday while in Dallas on a promotion tour for the National Collegiate Athletic Association. "Coach (Emory) Bellard had to come out of the stands to break it up."

Why was the fistfighting so significant?

"Well, it was the first time since I've been at A&M that the offense had really fought back against our defense," Simonini said. "We had always sort of dominated them. If they are ready to fight us now, that means they are ready to take on anybody in the country."

Texas A&M's defense was ranked second nationally behind Notre Dame in 1974 but the Aggie offense fell short of potential and cost them in an 8-3 season, including an upset at the hands of Texas the day after Thanksgiving.

Tom Wilson, who was the offensive coordinator for Jim Carlen at Texas Tech, has whipped the Aggie offense into a super-charged unit, says Simonini.

"They blocked better than I can remember, held onto the ball and the I formation gives them enough variety to keep a defense from stacking up against the Wishbone," says Simonini. "David Shipman looked good at quarterback. You can't tackle him by the jersey. He's bigger than I am and can move."

Asked if Coach Bellard was particularly pleased about the No. 1 offense challenging the defense with fists, Simonini said "I think the coach was smiling in the back of his mind. He was happy to see it. Of course, he didn't tell us that."

Simonini said there was no animosity between the offense and defense off the field.

"Everything is fine on our team," he said. "Our offense was just keyed too low going into the Texas game. They were psyched out by the Longhorns. They were a good offense early in the season but they just lost it somewhere down the line."

Simonini estimated that morale on A&M's offense picked up anywhere from 20 to 80 per cent because of Wilson.

"Wilson has it all," Simonini said. "There's a different atmosphere under him. Heck, I even go in his office to talk to him and he's an offensive coach."

Simonini said the Aggies were so fired up that "We'll probably have 95 per cent of our team on campus working out on their own by the first of August. That's when I'll be there."

Simonini was on tour with Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett, Notre Dame's Ken MacAfee, UCLA's John Sciarra and Alabama's Alan Pizzitola selling college football across the country.

Laffit Pincay has failed in his two attempts to win the Belmont Stakes. He was fourth this year with Diabolo and fifth and last with Sham in the 1973 test against super horse Secretariat.

Herzog To Pilot KC

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Whitey Herzog set out today to try to put the Kansas City Royals back in pennant contention after taking over the managerial reins from the fired Jack McKeon Thursday.

The Royals fired McKeon for what General Manager Joe Burke described as McKeon's inability to relate to his players.

Herzog, 43, third-base coach for the California Angels since 1974, will get his feet wet with the Royals tonight in a twinight doubleheader with the Texas Rangers, a club which fired him from his only previous job as manager less than two years ago.

Burke announced the firing of McKeon and the hiring of Herzog at a news conference shortly after noon Thursday. Terms of Herzog's contract, extending through the 1976 season, were not revealed.

Herzog's first move was to bring back Charley Lau, the club's hitting coach who was demoted to a minor league post late last season. The demotion of Lau, requested by McKeon, was extremely unpopular with many of the Kansas City players, some of whom vowed they did not want to continue playing for the Royals. Herzog said the present coaching staff would be retained.

Herzog, who said he "couldn't be happier," did not seem overly concerned about the fact the Royals are in second place in the American League West and trail the Oakland A's by 10½ games.

"There's not much difference between the Royals and the A's," Herzog saig. "We're not out of this yet ... we're still in the race. Oakland hasn't had a real losing streak yet."

Herzog's home is only about four miles from Royals Stadium. He said he "always thought about managing the Royals ... or the New York Mets. That was my goal."

Burke said he notified McKeon, 44, he was being relieved about 3 a.m. Thursday while the club was en route to Kansas City from Milwaukee.

Aluminum Bats Are Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission warned today that more than five million aluminum baseball and softball bats sold nationwide during the last seven years may be dangerous if their rubber grips are loose.

One death and at least two serious injuries have been associated with the problem, the agency said.

Consumers were urged to check the rubber grips on aluminum bats immediatelyand not to use them if the grips are loose, worn, torn or deteriorated.

In such event, the aluminum bat could come loose from the grip or the knob at the end of the grip could tear off when the bat is swung, the commission said.

The death and injuries all reportedly involved youngsters who were struck on the head when the bats and grips separated.

The commission said Eaton Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio, was one bat-grip manufacturer involved. Seven bat manufacturers who have used rubber grips are Alcoa Sports Products, Co., Santa Fe Springs, Calif.; Easton Aluminum Co. Van Nuys, Calif.; Hillerich & Bradsby, Louisville, Ky.; Reynolds Metals Co., Richmond, Va.,; Wilson Sporting Goods Co., River Grove, Ill.; Lannom Manufacturing Co., Tullahoma, Tenn.; and Airlite Aluminum Corp., Kearney, N.J.

HERE SUNDAY—Paul Anderson, "The World's Strongest Man," chats with Karen Valentine, famous TV star. Paul will be here for the First Baptist Church service at 7 p.m. Sunday in Towle Park.

World's Strongest Man Here Sunday

Paul Anderson, the "World's Strongest Man," will appear in Towle Park at 7 p.m. Sunday under the sponsorship of the First Baptist Church.

He was born in Tocca, Georgia, October 17, 1932. After graduating from high school, he attended Furman University, on one of many football scholarship offers. It was there that Paul became interested in weight lifting and was able to lift more weight than anyone in the history of the college, and after a few weeks of training, was breaking world records, that had stood for over 30 years.

With these first efforts, a weightlifting career was launched that took Paul Anderson to national, world and Olympic titles. He has toured the world as a good will ambassador for our State Department and lifted in command performances forheads of state. The Russian people were so impressed with his world record breaking tour of their country in 1955, that they called him a wonder of nature.

Paul has participated very successfully in several sports, including football, weightlifting, boxing and wrestling. He has lifted more weight in one single attempt than anyone in the history of the world, 6,270 lbs in the back lift. Some of his other activities include movie and television appearances.

Throughout his career, Paul has had a great goal, to help unfortunate young people develop into good citizens. After much thought and investigation, he found the best way to serve these future citizens was to establish a foster home for teenagers.

Today the Paul Anderson Youth Homes, Inc. are a reality and are located at Vidalia, Georgia and Dallas, Texas. The Homes endeavor to develop good citizens through spiritual guidance, education, and physical fitness.

Paul travels constantly, and probably speaks to more young people in person than any other man in the United States. He actually speaks and performs over 500 times each year. He feels that with attitudes today being like they are concerning many of the basic principles of our land, he must use his influence to talk with our youth concerning christianity, patriotism, and the values and fascinations of our free enterprise system. He serves on the national board of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and other such organizations that are dedicated to an uplifting of our teenagers through a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

Recently, the Olympic Games were broadcast on National television and naturally the weight lifting events were shown. Many have asked if Paul Anderson, being the "World's Strongest Man", could lift more than the winner of the super heavy weight class, and if so why was he not there to compete. Yes, Paul Anderson can lift more than the winner of the Munich Olympic Games, but unfortunately his efforts in supporting the Paul Anderson Youth Home makes him a professional under our American amateur athletic rules, so he can no longer lift in amateur competition.

Energy Costs Up 30% Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price Americans paid for electricity jumped 30 per cent last year due primarily to higher fuel costs, according to a report from the Environmental Protection Agency.

The EPA authorized the study to determine how much of an effect antipollution measures were having on electricity costs, and reported these only accounted for 5 per cent of the increase.

However, EPA Administrator Russell E. Train noted that "increases attributable to environmental regulations may increase over the next five years as the utilities phase in capital expenditures for pollution control."

The report, released Thursday, said that "1974 saw an unprecedented increase in the cost of electricity." It estimated that total revenues of the electric industry totaled $40 billion during the year, an increase of $9 billion over 1973.

Thus, for the average American, the price of one kilowatt hour of electricity rose from 1.97 cents to 2.57 cents, the study said.

The report said that on average electricity rates increased 23 per cent for residential customers and 33 per cent for commercial and industrial users of elecricity to make the average 30 per cent.

"Consumers along both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts were the most seriously affected by the higher rates, the report said. And "New England and the Middle Atlantic regions, which historically have had the highest electric rates, also had the highest rates of increase during the last year".

The report said fuel prices accounted for 60 per cent of the higher electricity costs. Nonfuel electricity costs increased only 16.8 per cent during the year, with the largest factor in this category the rising interest rates on borrowed money, the report said.

Fuel-switching from high sulfur to low sulfur coal and oil, and coal-to-oil and coal-to-gas conversions of generating plants accounted for only 2.5 per cent of the higher costs, the report said. In addition, the report estimated that about 8 per cent of utilities' capital expenditures were attributable to environmental factors.

The report was prepared for EPA by the independent research firm of Temple, Barker and Sloane, Inc.

Hill Exempts Probe Records

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Hill has ruled that records of internal investigations of alleged police misconduct are exempt from disclosure under the Texas Open Records Act.

Hill issued opinions Thursday to El Paso City Atty. John C. Ross and Col. Wilson Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Ross said he had a request for investigation reports prepared by the city police department's Internal Affairs Division concerning incidents of alleged police misconduct.

Speir's request arose from a complaint against a highway patrolman who made a traffic arrest. The complaining party requested a "full and complete report of the investigation and the punishment assessed."

In both instances, Hill said investigation records were exempt from disclosure because they involved an unwarranted invasion of the privacy of individual personnel records.

But, he said, the Open Records Act requires the DPS to reveal to the citizen the disciplinary action, if any, taken against the patrolman.

Graham Opens Belgian Crusade

BRUSSELS (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham has opened his Belgian Crusade with a warm-up meeting attended by about 3,000 young Europeans.

The first meeting was held Thursday, with the formal opening of the crusade tonight at the Heysel Sports Stadium. It has a capacity of 65,000.

The crusade, called "Eurofest 75," will last 10 days and is expected to draw 10,000 persons.

NEW FEATURE—One of the new features of the Baptist Student Center is the kitchen, equipped with many modern facilities to use in such functions as luncheons and banquets, and on a limited basis, for student's use. Dedication ceremony is set for 2 p.m. Sunday, July 27. The public is invited.

ON Vacation

This is the time when many people are heading for the beach, the mountains, searching for a change–a vacation. For most, this also means a vacation from church. It doesn't have to. Wherever you go there is probably a church of your choice nearby. There you will be met with warmth and fellowship.

Don't take a vacation from church–visit the church of your choice this Sunday.
