Absentee Election Draws Voters

As of noon Thursday, April 17, some 27 ballots had been cast in absentee voting for the May 3 Democratic and Republican primaries.

Absentee voting will continue through April 29 in the county clerk's office, Aransas County Courthouse in Rockport, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. Saturday, May 3, for the regular election and will remain open until 7 p.m.

Mary Lueders, voter registration clerk in the office of County Clerk Ruby Hart, says there are some 6,406 registered voters in Aransas County and she anticipates "a good turnout" in the primary elections.

Polling place for all Republican voters in the regular May 3 election will be in the north lobby of the Aransas County Courthouse, says Harold Shirey, chairman of the county Republican party.

Democrat voters will cast their ballots at one of six polling stations, depending on the precinct in which they live.

Residents of Pct. 1A will vote at the polling place (owned by Aransas County) in Aransas Pass. In Pct. 1, the polling station will be the VFW Hall.

Democratic voters in Pct. 2 will cast their ballots at the Aransas County Courthouse; in Pct. 3 at Faith Baptist Church in Fulton; in Pct. 4 at the Fulton Elementary School in Fulton; and in Pct. 4A at the Lamar Fire Station.

Democrats and Republicans will cast ballots for presidential preferences, and for several national, state and county offices, including U.S. Representative from the 14th District, state railroad commissioner and county and precinct party chairmen.

In contested races in which no candidate receives a clear majority vote, the two candidates receiving the largest number of votes will face each other in Democratic and Republican run-off elections in June.

Commissioners Approve Amended Agreement

By Eddie Bradley

The Navigation District commissioners this week voted to approve the boat stall lease agreement as amended by Attorney Reese Rozzell following the last commission meeting. The scene was the regular workshop meeting on Tuesday, April 15.

The commissioners had a regular agenda for the meeting and carried on several pieces of business.

According to Rozzell, the basic difference in the amended lease is that the leasee will not be liable for damages or injuries to property or injury suffered by third parties having no connection with the leasee. Copies of the amendment will be sent by the district to leasees, as were the original agreements.

Board members heard from Rockport City Secretary Herman Johnson who requested that the district give $1,800 to help with costs of the ski-basin water safety program.

He said the estimated cost for the 1980 season was about $5,840, including a salary of $3,150 and other expenses such as uniforms, boat maintenance and repairs and signs to be placed at the basin.

Rockport's bank balance in this fund as of April 15 was $3,661.21.

There were several questions regarding the responsibility of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in this area. The district board members said they would write Austin and try to get them to help with the safety program in the basin.

Johnson said that an

March Bad Month For Business

Business in March, as reflected in the April sales tax returns, was bad for the Rockport area -- in fact, for the whole state of Texas, says State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

However, he added, the total year-to-date payments are up over last year's, so it's too early to say whether the decrease in monthly payments reflect a downward trend in taxable sales or simply seasonal adjustments.

Rockport's sales tax returns for the year through March 27 totalled $60,388.70 with the addition of the April check from Bullock's office.

This figure was 12 percent over the $53,453.36 received by the city for the same period in 1979.

But the April check itself was a low $5,496.56 -- a decrease of more than 60 percent from the sales tax revenues of $14,091.92 for March, 1979.

Other area cities showed drops of up to 50 percent or more in sales tax revenues for March, 1980, as compared to the same month a year ago.

Aransas Pass received a check for $9,477.58 for the month, compared to the $17,692.90 for the month last year. Ingleside's returns were down nearly $3000 from last year's $6,648.91.

The city of Fulton received its first sales tax rebate check this month from Bullock's office -- a total of $782.51.

Other area cities and their share of tax for March sales compared to the same period a year ago include:

Gregory -- $716.84, down from $1,015.97 last year.

Portland -- $8,871.99, down from $16,255.91 last year.

Refugio -- $5,613.02, down

Workshop Looks At Needs Of Area Elderly, Handicapped, Ill

A special workshop aimed at developing and strengthening area services for the severely handicapped, elderly and chronically ill is set for Saturday, May 17, in Corpus Christi.

Deadline for registration is May 1 for the workshop which will begin at 8 a.m. in the Corpus Christi State School Pavilion.

The one-day event will be open to handicapped and elderly individuals, the chronically ill, friends and families of such individuals and representatives of service agencies and programs who work with these individuals.

A primary purpose of the meeting will be to stimulate development of services and systems to provide alternatives to institutionalization for severely handicapped, elderly and chronically ill persons.

SMOKING MAY BE HAZARDOUS

Betty Subeck was walking in the lot next to her house at 127 Ocean Drive in Palm Harbor recently, when she decided to have a cigarette. After she lit the lighter, it dropped from her hand. Before she knew it, the grass was on fire and out of control. Fortunately the Rockport Fire Department arrived quickly and got things back to normal. The incident again points up the ease with which a fire can start and grow in dry, windy conditions.

Book Details Area History

A book on area history written by the grandson of the late Judge John H. Wood Jr. is one of the most detailed chronicles ever done on the area.

It covers settlement of the Coastal Bend from the early Indian tribes through the Spanish exploration, Anglo settlement and development of the area to 1935 when the manuscript was written.

And it's available to Aransas County residents at Rockport's Chamber of Commerce office, at a price of $9.98 per copy (the price includes sales tax).

The book, "Texas Coastal Bend: People and Places," was first published in 1971, and the copyright was subsequently transferred to Judge Wood -- who transferred it to the Chamber of Commerce.

The book was written by Alpha Kennedy Wood (1870-1956), a direct descendant of area pioneer Joseph F. Smith and wife of Will Welder Wood. He was a grandson of pioneer settler John H. Wood who, with Smith, laid out the northern half of Rockport.

A copy of Pridgen's letter -- presented to the County Commissioners' Court in its meeting Monday, April 14 -- to County Attorney Jim Anderson is reprinted below:

Dear Sir:
At this time, I would like to request, for your consideration, a leave of absence without pay from my duties as Criminal Investigator for your office effective April 1, 1980 to May 5, 1980. This is due to my decision in running for a political office.

The above request is based upon my need for the full

I will be available to assist you in matters urgent to the needs of law enforcement and the duties of the office of the County Attorney of Aransas County, Texas.

Your consideration and approval would be greatly appreciated.

Keeping Record Intact

Rockport's Rotary Club is making special arrangements so the perfect attendance record of member John H. Mitchell will stay perfect.

Mitchell, a member of the Rotary Club, has not missed a weekly meeting of the club in 40 years -- until recently when he was laid up with a kidney stone operation.

The Rotarians decided if Mitchell can't come to the meeting -- they'll take the meeting to him, so that's what they'll do on Tuesday, April 22.

On that day, the Rotarians will meet at noon at Mitchell's home, 2003 Glass Avenue.

And he'll still have a perfect attendance record...

CASTING HER VOTE

Mary T. Magill of 1005 North Doughty prepares to cast her vote in the absentee election for the May 3 Democratic and Republican primaries in Aransas County. Absentee balloting will continue through April 29 in the county clerk's office.

Austin At Wharf

LET ME JOIN YOU AT THE COFFEE SHOP. YOUR conversation is politics and I insert the not very original observation that all politicians are more or less crooked. Chances are you'll agree and if not you'll not give me much of an argument.

Actually you should be offended. I've made a very broad statement that includes "all politicians." Indeed you should be insulted. Didn't you help elect those people? On the other hand should I observe that we don't elect the best educated, best trained and experienced people to high office? That applies to all levels: village, town, city, county, state and national office.

But not always. There are still times when we elect men and women of genuine statesmanlike caliber -- or at least we have the chance. Now is a time when we have that opportunity. I shall give you two examples, in one instance a Republican and in the other a Democrat.

George Bush, GOP candidate for President, stands as an example of a man who has just about every qualification the elector should ask for. His stances represent the conservative moderation of the natively intelligent and educated man.

At age 56 he has the maturity requisite for the job. As a businessman he founded and built his offshore drilling company from the ground up.

In politics he has been a lifelong faithful in his party, served in the United States Senate, Ambassador to the United Nations, Special Envoy to China and served as director of the CIA during a highly critical period.

As a man of honor and integrity his record is impeccable. And to some it may be important that he is a World War II hero. For that I respect him but don't think it has anything to do with qualification as the next President.

So then, you may ask, why does he appear to trail so far behind Ronald Reagan in his bid for nomination?

I'll attempt a couple of answers. Bush is a thinking man, quiet in his approach to serious questions, not given to high-sounding phrases, histrionics. Yet were it possible for him to spend five minutes in every living room in the country, he would win the vote of all but the extremely hard-nosed right and left, and well -- those who don't think very hard.

Among other things I am saying that Bush is a one-to-one sort of man, a circumstance which I regret, one which I hope will not become tragic. This land can no more afford another four years of an irresolute Jimmy Carter than it can risk the short-sighted, shooting-from-the-hip Reagan style.

AND THERE IS ANOTHER MAN, BOB BARNES, Demo candidate for the U.S. Congress. Barnes has GOP opponents and three Demo opponents, two of whom can be dismissed, Joe Salam and Jason Luby. His real opposition will come from Bill Patman. I wish I could be as confident that George Bush will become the eventual GOP nominee for President as I am that Barnes will win his bid for the Congress in a certain runoff with Patman.

As to personal preference, I choose Barnes because he is more the statesman, while Patman is more the politician. Both are honorable men. In Washington I would see Barnes as serving his constituents but always first looking for the good of the nation. In fact, I see him becoming among the few in the Congress whose names become household words.

By contrast I fancy Patman as a Congressman who would be content to smilingly serve, and be essentially interested in serving the people who have elected him.

I was a resident of Nueces County when Bob Barnes was first elected to the commissioners court and knew him fairly intimately for a number of years. He was and remains a politician who isn't a politician. He was elected to the court at the same time now District Judge Noah Kennedy was elected county judge.

Prior to the Kennedy-Barnes era the Nueces County Courthouse was run on an amiable "good old country boy" style. For a while the new twosome shook things up with Barnes being often too straightforward and outspoken.

Well do I remember once saying to him, "Bob, I completely agree with all you're doing, all you say, but don't rock the boat so hard. I want to see you reelected."

He is a quiet man, seldom, perhaps never, raises his voice. No arm waving. Yet he possesses a droll sense of wit and humor that one might say is strictly his own. There is a lot of the "Honest Abe" in his demeanor.

By contrast, Patman is the more typical politician, more anxious to sense the sentiments of those with whom he meets and respond accordingly. Over the years he has at one time or another served virtually every county in the 14th District in Austin, and capably. More liberal than Barnes, his strength will come from outside Nueces County where he has IOUs out from past years.

For all of that, Aransas, Refugio and Victoria counties are essentially of a conservative bent. Because of past favors Patman may narrowly split the vote, but to win election in November he will have to win heavily in Lavaca, Jackson, Matagorda, Wharton and Colorado and cater like the very devil to bring out the liberal and ultra-liberal vote in the remaining counties. To do that he will have to move further to the left than his natural inclination.

THERE ARE THOSE WHO WILL PROTEST, BUT I feel that tribute should be paid defeated city councilman Jerry Shaw. For four years he served this community as a thoughtful and independent thinker, always with the best interests of Rockport in mind, now and in the future. In some respects he was a visionary, however always a practical one.

Shaw was the prime mover in instituting the paramedic service from which everyone so greatly benefits. Typically, in the course of establishing the service he himself became a qualified paramedic.

Shaw was the first member of the council to recognize that building a superport at Harbor Island would eventually destroy the way of life we enjoy in Rockport; also that it would be a vast waste of taxpayers dollars. Eventually he was supported in his stance by one other member of the council. However, a majority prevailed and the City of Rockport remains on record as endorsing the scheme.

No member of the council was a more thoughtful supporter of home rule government for the city than Jerry Shaw. The change from general rule and the advantages and his endorsement of a Rockport Sailing Club proposal to develop the so-called salt water swimming pool into a boat harbor were his downfall.

In the first instance, home rule would have resulted in government by and for the people of Rockport and eventually the saving of hundreds of dollars annually. In the last instance thousands of dollars are lost in taxes and revenue to the business community.

I am not acquainted with Shaw's successor, but people who know him describe him as an intelligent and capable man. If so I suspect that those who supported him for the sake of defeating Shaw will shortly be disillusioned. Meanwhile Rockport has lost a good and faithful servant.--ahab

"Low Down" Congressional Record

FROM THE

Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

Senator Jim Sasser (Tenn.) "...Fraud, abuse and waste in Government is costing the taxpayer billions of dollars. This was the thrust of testimony presented by the Comptroller General, Elmer Staats, in his testimony before the Legislative Branch Appropriations Subcommittee..."

"At that hearing, I suggested that a nationwide toll-free fraud hotline be installed at the General Accounting Office. With the strong support of the former ranking minority member of our subcommittee, the distinguished senior Senator from Pennsylvania (Mr.

Schweiker) and the full cooperation of Comptroller General Staats, the fraud hotline was installed at the General Accounting Office and became operational in January of 1979.

"The nationwide toll-free fraud hotline is 800-424-5454..." "U.S. News & World Report" carried an interview with Comptroller General Elmer Staats on GAO's efforts to curb fraud, abuse and waste in Government...I ask that the interview be printed in the Record..." (We include some excerpts): Q. Mr. Staats, the General Accounting Office has been called the "taxpayer's friend" because it uncovers fraud, abuse and waste in federal programs. How serious are these losses?

A. No one knows actually, but we do know it's in the billions. You have to look at it program by program. For example, about a billion dollars of the money loaned to students by the Veterans Administration and the Office of Education is overdue. Some of it will be repaid, but it gives you an idea of the magnitude of the overall problem.

Q. What about fraud and abuse among federal contractors and consultants?

A. Over half the federal budget is being spent by entities and other than the federal agencies; contractors, grant recipients and others. Universities, for example, have been critical of what they consider to be government interference in education.

Yet federal money flows to these campuses, so there has to be some degree of accountability.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT In cases of suspected fraud the "taxpayer's friend" is, listening.

V A News

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by Veteran's Administration counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q. When the new VA pension law was first enacted I was advised that it was not to my advantage to switch. Is it possible that it may be to my advantage now?

A. It's quite possible. The rates go up by the same percentage and on the same effective date as do social security rates. These rates were increased by 9.9 percent effective June 1, 1979, and will again be increased by as yet an unannounced percentage effective June 1, 1980.

and sell foods, including some fast food chains, are putting dietitians on their staff to attract the customer who is increasingly knowledgeable.

Listening to a discussion of good nutrition brings you to the conclusion that two common sense ideas will get you by in the absence of detailed study. These ideas are moderation and variety.

The dietitian warns that you must eat something from four food groups every day. These are bread and cereals, proteins, dairy products, and fruits and vegetables.

They warn against diets which cause you to avoid all bread or potatoes, or all carbohydrates. It is the amount of each you eat which has to be controlled if you are watching weight.

But only by eating variety can you get all the nutrients needed.

They warn against weight reduction diets which hold out the promise of fast weight loss. They say weight loss in a crash diet is usually gained back quite rapidly. So a sustained change of eating habits is necessary. They place the average loss at three pounds a week with a varied and moderate diet and exercise.

One way they say you can save money is to avoid the need for vitamins or food supplements through a well-balanced diet.

A vegetarian, they say, must have an even better understanding of nutrition than the average person to avoid malnutrition. What foods you eat is important, and also in what combination. Two different foods eaten individually may not provide the nutrition you need where the two in combination will.

To the dietitian, one of the most important things is for parents to help children develop good eating habits, because those habits will stay with them all their lives.

How a baby is fed has a lifelong influence on weight control. If a child is encouraged to enjoy a variety of nutritious foods, there are better long range odds for good health.

Nutrition has many factors other than the selection of foods. Among them are enjoying fresh foods, eating them while they are still fresh, freezing them properly and for not too long a time if we wish to keep them for later meal, and cooking them in ways that do not send the nutrients down the drain.

Drinking sufficient fluids is related.

Obviously, there are enough questions to be asked to keep the nutrition hotline busy every weekday afternoon.

The new cars, both 1980 Ford LTDs, are what are known as "police package", Craigmile said -- meaning they're built to hold up under the special demands made on them in patrol work. Some additional work needs to be done on them -- such as adding the lights, radios, security screens between front and back seats and the markings on the doors -- then both cars will be put into patrol service. Craigmile was hopeful that one of the cars could be ready for use by Friday, April 11. [Pilot Photo by Pat Blair]

Sandra Kay Collins, 18, of Rt. 1, Rockport, was ticketed for following too closely following an accident in the 1600 block of North Raht about 4:15 p.m. Wednesday, April 16.

Police reported John Thomas Longbotham, 20, of Aransas Pass was stopped for a red light at the intersection of Raht and Glass when his vehicle was struck in the rear by the car driven by Ms. Collins.

No ticket was issued following an accident in a parking lot in the 1000 block of Concho Street.

The accident occurred about 2:27 p.m. Wednesday

DIRECT DEPOSIT PLANS

What is a direct deposit: This is a pre-arranged deposit of a check to your account, direct from the company (or government agency) issuing the check, rather than mailing the check to you, and then you depositing it to your account. This plan will save many thousands of dollars in paper work, and the government is encouraging everybody to start "direct deposits" now.

Many larger companies are using this same plan for employee payrolls, saving much time and money.

Social Security Checks: Come to the main banking lobby to fill out the necessary forms. Using this "direct deposit service", you need no longer worry about mail delay, theft, or loss of your Social Security check. It's so safe. And so easy. You can "direct deposit" all these checks:

- Military payroll
- Civil service payroll
- Pension checks (private or government)
- Retirement checks
- Dividends
- VA checks
- Retired Military or Civil Service

Many other checks can qualify. Just ask and we'll find out for you and handle the necessary details.

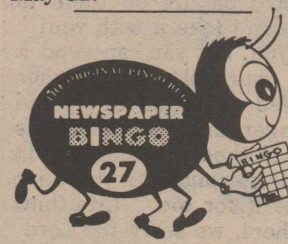

Direct Deposit of Allotments: Now, for those in any government service, military or otherwise, who are making allotments of a portion of their salary, this allotment can be made directly to an account of your designation.

"Blessed are they that mourn." [Matt. 5:4] Contradiction? No, any man who has no concern for his own sins and sins of others cannot see the goodness of God. [Romans 2:4] The Prodigal found himself in the hog-pen, but was able to see the goodness of his Father. "I will arise and go to my Father." [Luke 15:18] His mourning of his own sins brought a ring of sonship, shoes on his feet and a robe to cover his nakedness. [vs. 22] That is happiness for him and for us -- God guarantees it.

The Shepherd's Staff

By Charles Fake
First Baptist Church

"Never invest your money in anything that eats or needs repainting," said the late Billy Rose. Well, then, in what should you invest? Where should you put your money? With apologies to the banks, thrift institutions, brokers, collectors and others, I would like to suggest an outstanding investment.

Actually, it's not my suggestion at all; it comes from Jesus of Nazareth, the Son of the Living God: "Don't store up treasures here on earth where they can erode away or may be stolen. Store them in heaven where they will never lose their value, and are safe from thieves." (Matthew 6:19-20).

"But," you protest, "how can I take these green pieces of paper with Washington's picture on them to heaven? I've always heard, 'you can't take it with you!'"

True, you can't take it with you, but you can send it ahead. How? By using it to help your fellow man. Jesus also said, "I was hungry and you fed me; I was thirsty and you gave me water; I was a stranger and you invited me into your homes; naked and you clothed me; sick and in prison, and you visited me... (and) inasmuch as you have done it for these, you have done it for me." (Matthew 25:35-36, 40). When we serve others, we serve the Lord.

Nobody offers a better return on your investment. God promises a ten thousand percent increase! At least, that's the way I figure "a hundredfold" promised by Jesus (Matthew 19:29).

Help somebody today. You will be giving something away, but you will also be making one of the best investments of your life.

Oh, yes, I almost forgot: most of the interest is collectable in heaven. If you don't know how to get there, just follow the blood-stained road: Jesus (John 14:6).

Meredith Montague, left, and Terri Price have been playing in the Regional Tennis Championships at the HEB Tennis Center in Corpus this weekend. Terri and Nancy Crites recently won the district doubles championship to be eligible for the event, but then Nancy moved away. ## JV Closes Out Baseball Season

By Bob Crawford

Although the Rockport-Fulton JV did not win a lot of baseball games, they did gain some valuable experience in their short season.

Perhaps the highlights of the season were the come-from-behind victory over Refugio and the three-hit shutout over Tuloso-Midway pitched by Tim Redden. The Pirates had some narrow losses, including a couple of heartbreakers in extra innings.

By season's end, Adam Harden had emerged as the top hitter for the Pirates. In 33 times at bat Harden had managed to pick up 14 hits for a .424 batting average. Included in his hits was a shot that went the distance for a home run. Aaron Commander ranked second as a hitter with a .389 average, but two of his hits went out of the park.

Redden logged the most time on the mound for the Pirates.

Trailing Harden and Commander were Rudy Zavala (.300), Travis Jennings (.296), and Mac Schmidt (.231), followed by Jim Ponton, Redden, Robert Flores, Fred Mullins, Pat Nava and Roel Trevino.

Coach Sam Aldrich guided the Pirates for 1980.

By Eddie Bradley

Little League season is getting under way, and I am reminded of seasons past, not so very long ago. I managed a Pee Wee team here, but we didn't have Yankee Stadium to play in like they do now. We played in that big field on the highway near Rockport Elementary.

The fences were closer, but as the batter had to hit into the wind, not too many cleared the playing area. For some reason, we always had trouble with home plate. It just never would set right in the ground and most of the time looked like a great big Ruffles potato chip.

The first and third base lines got worn a little and looked like rain gutters. Play always started the first Friday after school was out for the summer.

League rules stated that every player had to play in every game. We usually had our share of errors, but everyone had a good time.

Only a few specific games stick out in my mind, and only one particular season. That year we lost our first few games by an average of about 15 runs. However, after our pitcher learned to face home instead of second base, we began to get better.

We won several games at the end of the season, and closed out the year by shutting out the champs, 2-0. I was really proud of those guys.

Mostly what I remember are incidents rather than games. Like the brand new pants that got ruined because of holding a kid and his bloody nose in my lap. (I explained to Linda that the alternative was to pull my pants off and get arrested for indecent exposure!) Then there was the time after we had been practicing at Rockport Elementary. One boys parents hadn't come for him and he and I were just waiting around.

I asked him where he lived and he pointed up the back road and said, "Just up there."

So I told him to hop in the car and I'd take him home. By the time we got to Copano Ridge I began to wonder if he was lost, I knew I was. "Just up there," he responded to my question.

Finally we reached the intersection with Highway 35. I looked at him pleadingly and he nodded toward the causeway. "Just up there," he said.

As it turned out, he did know where he lived. My only problem was that I hadn't understood that the phrase, "Just up there," meant any distance up to 20 miles!

My teams may not have been very good, but they were very loud. I like a lot of chatter and the boys responded well. With every pitch they would pound their gloves and join in unison with the old, "Hey, batter, batter, batter," until the ball was either hit or missed.

They sounded a lot like an invasion of the Killer Bees. During one game, just as our pitcher was about to let her fly, I noticed our center fielder was between short and third, heading for the dugout.

I called time and went out to meet him. He held out his fist and dropped a tooth into my palm. "What happened?" I asked.

"I was pounding my glove and hit myself in the mouth," he said, and trotted back to his position in the field.

Billy Martin doesn't know what baseball problems are.

(Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition) By Jean Glowka

Q. I just started taking birth control pills. My doctor told me to take extra vitamin B-6 and vitamin E in addition to my usual vitamin supplements. I didn't want to sound dumb so I didn't ask him why. But I'd really like to know, if you could tell me.

A. Sounds like you have a wise doctor! Oral contraceptives increase the need for B-6, thereby causing such deficiency symptoms as water retention, headaches,

Healthful Hints

hemorrhoids, and nausea. Vitamin E requirement is also increased by taking oral contraceptives. E deficiency in women using "the pill" can cause varicose veins, pulmonary embolisms and even strokes.

Q. Can the desire to drink (alcoholic beverages) be caused by a B vitamin deficiency? A friend told me that. Sounds far out to me!

A. No so far out. Experiments have shown that persons who drink excessively have multiple nutritional deficiencies, and that this in itself can cause a desire to drink.

Excessive drinkers who have been kept on superior diets containing above-average amounts of B vitamins, especially niacinamide, have often lost all desire for liquor. When alcoholic depression has been the main problem, 1,000 mgs. of niacinamide have been given at meals, bedtime and between meals with great success.

Much good research has been done in this area. B vitamin deficiency appears to unjust harassment,"? Is there a law, section 94, article 4-B that reads: "Unaccompanied females leave your home, day or night, at your own risk."

This week I tried to go to the Rockport Beach ... alone. I was not dressed (or undressed) suggestively; I was wearing a very modest two-piece swimsuit. I was not trying to attract any attention or provoke anyone. I was minding my own business, sitting in the sun, eating lunch and relaxing. I'm a very happily married person, and I don't think of myself as sexy or alluring ... and I certainly don't TRY to be.

The second I stepped out of the car, the honking and whistling started. I sat down, and the first carload of intruders drove up beside me. Other than wrapping my towel tighter around me, I didn't acknowledge their presence. I was embarrassed and insulted by their lewd comments, but I continued to ignore them. Finally, after what seemed to be an eternity, they left.

Minutes later, a truck drove up. I ignored it. Three cars drove up beside the truck, and I still ignored them. (What did they think? That I was playing hard to get or something?) When they began circling my car and honking their horns and shouting at me, the ignoring became a little more difficult. "We're only trying to be friendly," taunted one intruder.

Friendly!? I was so angry I could have punched him out! (There were about 12 of them and only one of me ... I was angry—not crazy.)

"Listen, I'm not trying to be unfriendly," I tried to explain. "But I only want to enjoy the beach, so please leave me alone." (I'm sure there are those who would say I was provoking them by even speaking to them.) Finally they left. And so did I.

I told everyone about the incident and as I suspected, too many of them asked what I had done to "provoke them". Obviously all I had to do to "provoke them" was be there!

If we smile and say hello to a man we don't know, we're provoking him. If we don't acknowledge his presence, we're unfriendly. If men only knew how difficult it's become for a woman who is by herself!

Wanting to be friendly is the last thing on a woman's mind when it's a threat to her safety to go to the grocery store, or walk to her car, or even sit on the beach and eat a sandwich alone.

On Easter morning, a woman at Albertson's trusted a "friendly" man to help her with a flat tire on her car. The result of that trust was tragic.

Rape victims are treated like criminals since it is believed by most men that the victim surely must have provoked the poor man to the point of no control. If I provoked those men at the beach, then no female from the ages of five to 99 is safe on the street.

An officer at the Rockport Police Department assured me that the beach area is patrolled regularly, but somehow I didn't feel very consoled. What would console me, however, is 'a Bayside did not receive sales tax revenues for the March sales period this year or in 1979, bringing total sales revenues for the city for 1980 to $1,509.30. Among area cities, only Port Aransas showed a slight sales tax increase for the period. The city received an April rebate check of $3574.65, compared to $3,382.74 for the same period in 1979.

officer, who is also a qualified paramedic, will be on duty and will be able to make arrests or issue citations for unsafe boating. He said the city plans to be more stringent on violators this season.

Following the discussion, the commissioners voted to give $1,800 to the ski-basin safety program.

In other action, the commissioners voted to allow leasees who have stalls in the harbors, to use the city docks rent free for 24 hours in order to work on their boats, before they would have to start paying the $30-a-day fee.

They also gave Harbor-master Bernie DeForest permission to work with visiting boats in transit, like sailboats on tour, etc., to provide temporary space for them.

Commissioner Jimmy Anders reported that all the boats that had been docking at the Fulton city docks were gone except for those of Jimmy Little and Charlotte Plummer.

Rozzelle said that it was his opinion that Little had a legal right to stay for the next year, since he had a signed lease for that area.

Plummer apparently has no lease, but has been paying for the space and has paid up through the end of May. Anders moved that the district or Plummer locate an alternate site for her boat by the end of May and that she be allowed to stay at the city dock until then at no charges in addition to what was already paid. The motion passed.

Regarding an easement agreement for placing dredged materials on a disposal site owned by Juanita Wagley, Rozzell stated that there is no written obligation to do anything further, but apparently there was some representation to her about further obligations.

He recommended that the board pursue the matter and pin down exactly what further actions she wants and expects the board to do in this matter.

In other actions, the commissioners voted to have DeForest contact County Commissioner J.M. Spiegel to see what improvements the county can help with in regards to doing work on the road and beach areas of the Fulton park.

The commissioners also granted a term extension on a lease of Don Douglas, moved to table consideration of a lease request north of Fulton Harbor until they hear further from the group making the request, rescheduled action on taking bids for cleaning the salt water pool and voted to renew a liability insurance policy.

The commissioners also permitted Mrs. Rosemary Wolbrecht to put a 60-foot trailer on a Cove Harbor lot for the purpose of making home repairs; the trailer has to be moved by September 1. Commissioner Hillis Dominguez reported that they were still going on the assumption that the CETA program will furnish three lifeguards, hopefully at no cost to the district.

In final actions, the commissioners agreed to let DeForest control the unloading of oysters at the Fulton city docks and instructed Commissioner Anders to work with a man who is interested in renting small sailboats from the Water Street area.

Safety Patrol Program To Get Underway On Memorial Weekend

Rockport's Water Safety Patrol — complete with new patrol boat — may be on duty by Memorial Weekend (the last Friday in May).

At least that's the aim of city officials as announced in last Monday's, April 14, city council meeting.

City Secretary Herman Johnson told council members the city "will try to have the safety patrol on duty" in time for that weekend.

This year, the city will have its own boat for the patrol—which includes the Ski Basin and channels of Harbor Oaks and Key Allegro.

The boat, donated by Rockport attorney S. Reese Rozzell, will be used jointly by the city and the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service.

In other action during Monday night's meeting, council members were told that the proposed location of the smaller of two soccer fields in Memorial Park could cause a problem next year. The fields were requested by the Aransas County Soccer League which appeared before the council in earlier meetings to ask for two soccer fields in the city's park — one regulation size and the other smaller, for use as a practice field and for play by younger children in the League.

Johnson told the council that the placement of the smaller field in the park is such that, if the city decides to enlarge the Little League field next year, it would overlap into the smaller soccer field.

Following a comment from Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. that "we're outgrowing our 27-acre municipal park," the council voted to proceed with proposed placement of the two soccer fields for this year.

The council voted to authorize Attorney C. Allen Lee to initiate condemnation procedure against four "dilapidated structures" located at 205, 204, 211 and 311 Gagon Street.

The council voted to designate the first week of May as "Clean Up Week" in the city.

Other items that drew approval from the council included:

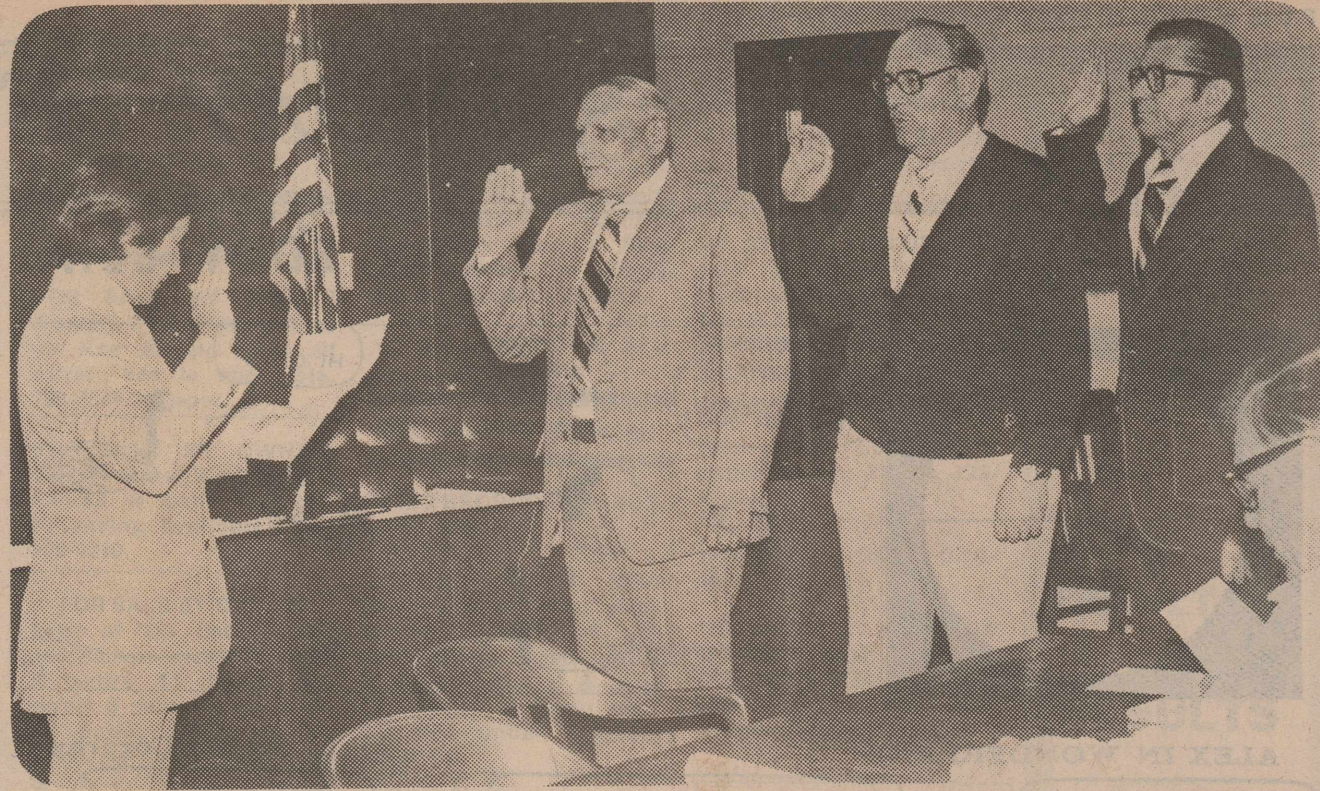

—Request by the Naval Air Station to sell tickets to the Navy Relief Festival.

—Request by the Ambassadors of Christ, Aransas Christian Fellowship, to present a program of music on May 31, July 12 and August 9 at the Bandshell on Rockport Beach.

—Changing of street light at Church and Concho Streets from 2500 lumen to 7000 lumen.

—Acceptance of water line to Spanish Wood Estates Subdivision, provided the developer raises valve boxes to meet city standards by May 1.

The council rejected a request that the city take over operations from Luau et al Sewer Committee, on the grounds that the city is not in financial condition for such a move at this time.

students on a tour, explaining banking procedures and regulations.

The students attending the educational outing were: Charlie DeLa Rosa, Holly Logan, Kelli Sue Livingston, David Force, Angela Reed, Courtney Messinger, Brittney Dick, Craig Holcom and Josh Greagrey.

Mrs. Margaret Harris, teacher, and Mrs. Robert Holcom accompanied the group. Mrs. Holcom's four-year-old daughter, Karen, also took the tour.

POSTER WINNERS

Richters Win Tourney

Consolation trophies were won by Robert and Nancy Richter in the Rockport Racquet Club's Spring Mixed Doubles tournament, when they defeated Elizabeth Bohn and Bill Hansen, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2 in the final match of that division Monday morning, April 14.

All other matches in the tournament were completed Saturday, but inclement weather delayed the consolation title match.

As reported earlier, in a Saturday match Chris and Carol Pope of Houston took the tournament championship from Ronnie and Patsy Tynes of Rockport, 6-2, 6-3.

Fishing Report

Palm Harbor Marina---The fishing has been fair, but because of the wind, it hasn't been as good as usual.

St. Charles Bay Marina---The fishing has been picking up, with some reds and trout being caught, mostly on frozen shrimp. Some of the catches have been 16 and 18 inches.

Sandollar Marina---The fishing's been good when the wind has been down. One fisherman caught his limit of good sized trout! The marina has plenty of live bait.

Key Allegro Marina---The fishing has been better this week, some trout have been caught on shrimp, and some on lures and tout.

Kleine's Rattlesnake Point Fishing Camp---The exceptionally low tide has made the fishing bad, but a few have been caught.

Causeway Pier---Trout fishing has been good, but because of the rough winds, drum fishing has been down. Most are being caught on artificials.

Stripers Doing Well In Texas

AUSTIN—The striped bass has been both helped and victimized by man in the United States.

The fish is thriving in inland lakes where at one time it was expected to perish, and apparently dying off in its native waters along the Eastern Seaboard.

In Texas and dozens of other states across the nation, stripers have been stocked successfully in freshwater lakes. Their natural life cycle involves living in salt water and swimming upstream into rivers to spawn.

Striped bass on the Atlantic Coast are in a state of crisis, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The USFWS and other federal and state agencies have launched a massive program to determine the causes of the striper's decline.

Once a major sport and commercial fish in the Northeast, stripers from Maine to North Carolina began declining in 1974 and hit a 21-year low by 1978, the agency said.

The suspected factors in the decline include industrial pollution, heavy fishing pressure and dams that obstruct migrating fish and cut off the flow of nutrients into the bays.

Striped bass are able to complete their life cycle entirely in freshwater lakes if sufficient river inflows allow spawning. This was discovered in the early 1950's when dams on the Santee-Cooper river systems in North Carolina trapped striper populations. The fish continued to reproduce in the reservoirs even though their traditional path to the Atlantic was closed.

In Texas, the introduction of striped bass has been a boon to fishing, as the species is relatively easy to spawn artificially in hatcheries. They also have reproduced naturally in streams feeding Lakes Whitney and Texoma, and biologists believe the same possibility exists for the future in Lakes Travis, Amistad, Falcon, Buchanan and Livingston.

Looking even further into the future, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists believe there is a possibility of a sea-run striper fishery in Texas similar to that of the Atlantic Coast.

At least five Texas river systems contain populations of maturing striped bass, and as they continue to move downstream they may eventually revert to their traditional anadromous heritage and become sea-run fish.

These include the Trinity, Sabine, Colorado, Guadalupe and Brazos. Also, the department has stocked stripers in San Antonio Bay, into which the Guadalupe and San Antonio Rivers flow.

Isolated catches of small stripers have been confirmed by the department available upon application to disabled veterans, and those age 65 and older.

April 30 is also the last day for owners of agricultural land to apply for taxation of the land at its productive rather than market value.

"More complete information regarding tax rendition and exemptions is available from tax office personnel," Mrs. Jones added.

If you have a question regarding any of these exemptions, please call the county Tax office at 729-6633.

Moore added that there may have been a naturally occurring sea-run striper population on the Texas Gulf Coast at one time, since commercial landing reports in the early 1900's indicated some catches of "rockfish."

Striped bass are called rockfish on the Atlantic Coast, but Moore pointed out that there is no way of determining if the Texas landings actually were striped bass.

Program For Diabetics

Steve Arnold, PhD, will present a program about behavior modification, as it pertains to diet at the monthly educational meeting of the Coastal Bend Chapter of the American Diabetes Association. His lecture, "Give Me That Piece of Chocolate Pie," will be Thursday, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the ADA auditorium, 3455 South Alameda, Corpus Christi. This presentation is free and open to the public.

Fulton Cemetery Dues

There will be no increase in dues for the Fulton Cemetery Association in 1980. No notices will be sent out, and all present and past dues should be paid by May 1.

P.E.O. To Meet

Chapter EO, P.E.O., will meet at 1 p.m. Tuesday, April 22, in the home of Mrs. Kenneth (Libby) Johnson, 802 Sandollar.

V.F.W. Meeting

VFW Post 3904 will hold a meeting for nomination and election of officers for 1980 and 1981 on Monday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Flower Show

The Rockport Home and Garden Club will hold their flower show in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church on Friday, April 25, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. No admission will be charged, and the public is invited.

School Pay Average

"This will put us on the high average side," said School Superintendent Joe Randow while comparing salaries in Aransas County with those of area school systems.

The system-wide raise of eight percent that the school trustees adopted at their last meeting will mean an annual salary for a beginning teacher of $11,442, including insurance.

This will raise the tax rate next year by six cents per $100 evaluation.

Asked about how the raise would affect the local system's ability to compete for personnel with other districts, Randow said that they were basically, "holding our own."

The girl was very rich and the young man was poor but honest. She liked him, but that was all, and he knew it. One night he had been a little more tender than usual. "You are very rich," he ventured. "Yes," she replied frankly. "I'm worth one million dollars." "Will you marry me?" he asked. "No." "I thought you wouldn't." "Then why did you ask me?" "Oh, just to see how a man feels when he loses one million dollars."

White rolls a 4-1. How should he move?

BLACK'S HOME TABLE

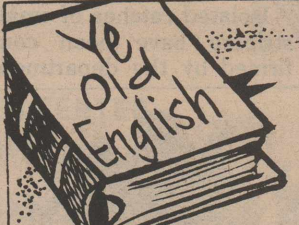

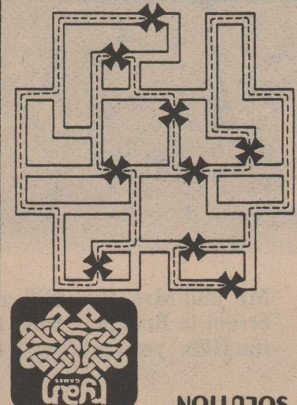

This opening roll can be made several ways. The most obvious move is to bring a man from black's 12 point to white's 8 point. This is a safe move, however, not very productive. Considering the importance of the 5 points (Golden points) a better move might be to move in black's inner table to the 5 point and 2 point respectively. This move is fine but very risky. White is vulnerable to doublets of 1-1, 3-3, 6-6, 4-4, and a significant number of other combinations. White should instead move into position to make his own 5 point by moving a man from his 6 point to his 5 point with a 1 and from black's 12 point to white's 9 point with a 4. The results of this move are not immediately visible but should black miss the blots, white's position is potentially very good.

Blair's Corner

By Pat Blair

Back in December of 1862, a herd of cattle foiled a Federal attack on what was then the thriving community of St. Mary's.

The story -- which you won't find in any conventional history books -- is recounted in "Texas Coastal Bend: People and Places," a book written by a lady named Alpha Kennedy

Wood back in 1935. Recently printed by the Rockport Chamber of Commerce -- and available at the Chamber office for $9.98 a copy -- the book is a gold mine of area history, events, the people who came... and stayed.

Events like the aborted attack on St. Mary's, a town founded at Black Point through the partnership of Joseph Smith and Major John H. Wood -- also the founders of Rockport.

Texas seceded from the Union, to join the Civil War on the side of the Confederate cause, on February 2, 1861. In the summer of that year, the federal blockading fleet appeared off Galveston and proclaimed a state of blockade along the entire Texas coast.

In February, 1862, the first units of the blockading squadron made their appearance in the waters of what was then Refugio County, and in the latter part of that month, federal troops began the raids on the coastal islands that drove their inhabitants onto the mainland.

Then came the move of federal troops inland... the Battle of Corpus Christi on August 16, 1862... a second battle for possession of that town on November 16... the movement in December of federal troops into Saluria... Indianola... Port Lavaca... And then the movement down the coast to Matagorda, St. Joseph's Island, Lamar -- and St. Mary's, directly in the path of the advancing gunboat fleet.

Only women, children, old men and wounded Confederate soldiers occupied St. Mary's, according to Mrs. Wood's account. Two federal warships sailed into port and captured the town without firing a shot.

The federal troops searched every house but did not molest the inhabitants. The only damage was apparently to two large warehouses and a wharf that were demolished.

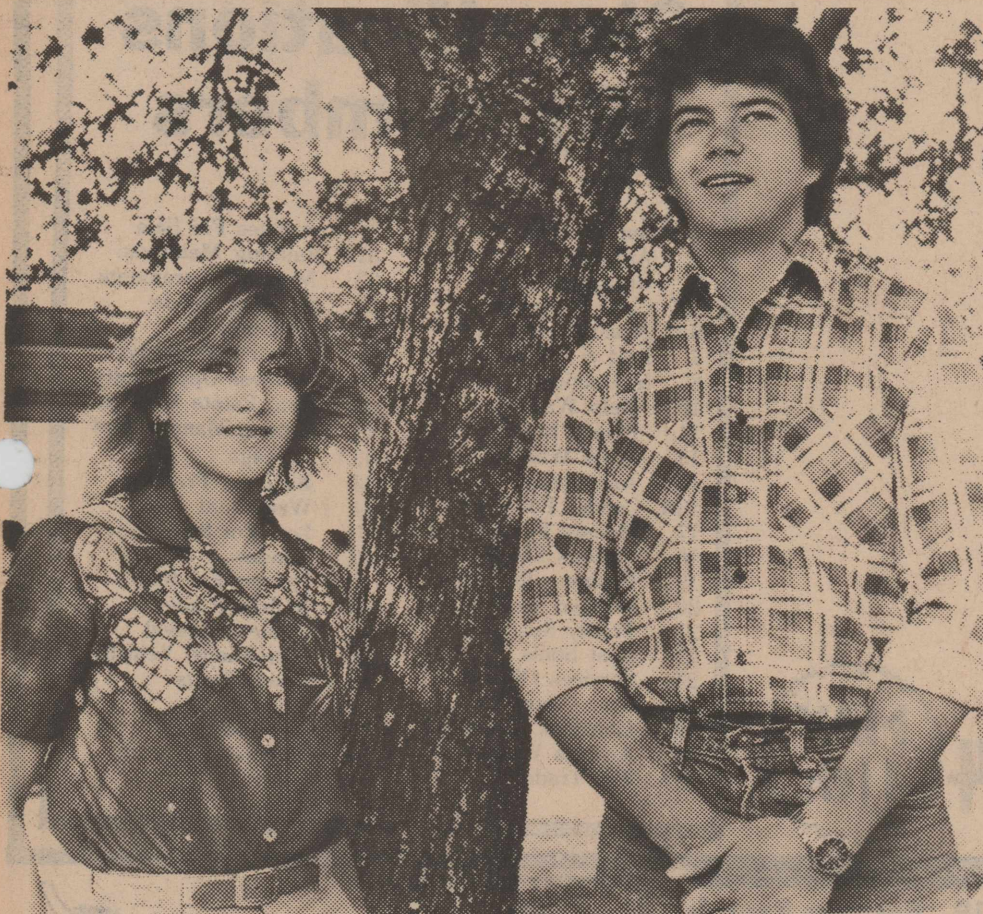

And then a detachment of blue-clad soldiers advanced toward the mansion, two miles to the south, that belonged to the family of Major John H. Wood.

The mansion was surrounded by palisades and a large herd of cattle milled about the enclosure.

But to the eyes of the advancing federal troops, those shapes took the form of a large force of Confederates. The Union force hurried back to St. Mary's and spread the alarm.

"Shortly thereafter," Mrs. Wood reported in her book, "the Federals left."

And the Confederate cattle never even fired a shot...

Taxpayers Can Extend Filing Deadlines -- If They Apply

Taxpayers who need more time to complete their Federal income tax returns may request an automatic two-month extension of time to file by filing a Form 4868 with the Internal Revenue Service.

Taxpayers who receive the extension must use the Form 1040 and must compute their own tax.

The IRS said the extension applies only to the time for filing the return and not to payment of the tax. Any tax due must be paid at the time the Form 4868 is filed.

Later, when the actual return is filed, the amount of tax previously paid with the Form 4868 should be entered on the appropriate line of Form 1040.

If the amount of tax paid with the Form 4868 does not cover the taxpayer's total liability, the taxpayer is required to pay interest on the remaining tax due.

In addition, if the unpaid tax is over 10 percent of the total tax bill, the law provides for levy of additional penalties on the taxpayer, the IRS said.

U.S. citizens outside the U.S. or Puerto Rico on the date of their tax deadlines can receive an automatic two-month extension of the filing deadline without filing Form 4868, the IRS said.

This provision applies both to taxpayers whose deadline is April 15 and to those who file returns on a fiscal year basis.

Taxpayers who qualify for this type of extension must attach a statement to their tax return when they file stating they were outside the U.S. or Puerto Rico on the date of their filing deadline.

Taxpayers who expect to qualify for exemption of (or deductions from) income earned abroad for special tax treatment can get an extension of time to file.

These taxpayers should use Form 2350, Application for Extension of Time to File U.S. Income Tax Return.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz
Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

Dear Dr. Lutz:
Can my cat have an allergy? My cat is 10 years old. When there is a wind shift and the wind blows out of the north, she has sneezing attacks. This has been going on for the past several years. However, I keep my cat in the house all the time--Patricia

Dear Patricia:
Yes, your cat can be allergic to air-borne pollen that is transported into our area by the wind. However, there are many things your cat can be allergic to besides pollen. Your veterinarian can alleviate the misery your cat is suffering with injections or oral medication.

Dear Dr. Lutz:
I have a 9 month old male Chihuahua. He likes to dig holes in the yard. Do you have any idea why he does this?--Sue

Dear Sue:
Many dogs like to dig holes in the earth. This can be a sign of boredom, and means your dog needs more exercise and more human contact.

Dogs will also dig shallow pits of earth as cool spots to lie in during the hot weather. However, if you provide adequate shade, this should make digging unnecessary.

Your veterinarian can perform surgery on the dog and remove the toenails from the two front paws. This will stop the digging, also.

Eyes And Answers

VISION AND DIABETES

Dear Dr. Pettey: My husband recently had a diabetic condition show up and treatment was begun. Within a short time his vision blurred; he got to where he saw better looking off without his glasses. The doctor says the treatment for and improvement of his diabetes caused the eye change but not to have his lenses changed for a while. Is that good advice?

It certainly is good advice! Until the diabetic problem is stabilized, his vision will most likely fluctuate, even from day to day. Lenses prescribed for him one day might be wrong a day or two later. He must wait until his physician tells him the diabetes is under control enough to ensure his eye functioning is stabilized.

Very important: He must be sure to tell his eye doctor about his recent diabetic care. Vision corrections for known diabetics may vary from those prescribed for the non-diabetics to allow for small focusing variations that may still exist.

Proper diabetic care can alter the sugar content of the eye lens similar to a person losing unneeded weight. If diabetes goes untreated many dangerous changes can take place in the eye; cataracts can even develop. Conversely, the eye doctor may keep close tabs on your husband's diabetes by regularly examining the insides of his eyes. He may see tiny changes in time to refer him back to his physician.

Eyes and Answers is a copyrighted public service feature of the Texas Optometric Association. Readers may address Dr. Pettey in care of this paper or the Texas Optometric Association, P.O. Box 4575, Austin, TX 78765.

ARE YOU ALIVE?

There is an "oughtness" about life that troubles the honest man. He senses he ought to be happier than he is, better than he is, wiser, more alive. He ought to be thinner, nicer, more peaceful, more controlled. And he even has occasional, late-at-night presentiments that he ought to consider his definable limits. It has been said that death stalks everything living and catches it, eventually.

Last week we cut a branch off a dogwood tree. It was a beautiful sight, seeing the carpet of freshly exploded blossoms lying on the grass. But when I walked by the branch two days later, the blossoms were ugly and brown-edged. They were dead — a vivid reminder why so many people today are the walking dead.

How can a man, created in the image of God, be truly alive when he is cut off from his Creator? Attend the church of your choice, and learn about God, who will not only put life into today and tomorrow, but forever.
