WASHINGTON, AP—President Kennedy's end will devote my best efforts to the passage of the civil rights legislation that I have promised to bring to the Congress next week. The President said in a broadcast to the nation last night.

The President outlined a broad legislative program for the next week. He said the program will be based on the country's moral obligation to the Negro people.

Wallace Not Likely To Go To Jail

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. AP—For the second time in his turbulent career, Gov. George Wallace may escape a jail term in his running battle with the federal government.

Whether his stand in the doorway of the now-integrated University of Alabama will bring a contempt of court citation is still in doubt.

But there were indications that the Justice Department will make no effort to prosecute Wallace for his conduct in the face of a non-interference injunction.

He addressed his remarks to three federal officers headed by Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach while the waiting students sat in automobiles nearby.

Foster Predicts Treaty Approval

Editor's Note—As U.S. disarmament director, William C. Foster predicts a safe passage in the Senate for a nuclear test ban treaty signed by the Soviet Union and the West.

Children Need Seat Belts For Summer Trip Safety

Vacation time is here, and the voice of the harried mother is heard throughout the land. What she is saying is probably something you've heard a total over 4000 deaths and one and a half million injuries. Included in that tragic total are 4,900 deaths and over 200,000 injuries to children under age 15.

Even 77 Johnny's backseat ejections don't end in bruises or worse, they are distracting to the driver, who has more than enough to think about as it is.

Worse yet, of course, is the ease with which children are thrown off balance by even the most minor accidents, by short stops, swerves and bumps on the road. The sides of cars being made of metal and abounding in glass and metal surfaces, hard edges and protruding knobs—the best solution is to keep Johnny, and all other occupants, firmly in their seats in case of a mishap.

parent or older child. Even better than a regular belt, for very young children, is the new type—actually a broad harness—that not only provides a larger area of support but also gives the child a reasonable amount of moving around room.

It may come as a surprise to you, but that squirming, restless young fellow will probably enjoy the wearing of a seat belt—if it's presented to him in the right way. One sensible approach is to accentuate the positive. Point out to him that astronauts, jet pilots and stunt flyers wear safety belts one kind or other. That should take care of any notion that seat belts are silly.

More important still is the example of the parents themselves. Mom and Dad should put on their belts as a matter of course, whenever they get into the car. Keep in mind that most traffic injuries happen on urban streets, while traveling below 40 miles an hour, and within a few miles of home.

The largest manned balloon ever constructed, measuring 192 feet in diameter, was built in 1935.

Seat Belts Advised

The most practical method, says the Institute of Life Insurance, is to install—and use—auto seat belts. That's the advice of leading safety authorities, including the National Safety Council, the American Medical Association, and the U. S. Public Health Service. Women's organizations, such as the General Federation of Women's Clubs also encourage use of seat belts.

Until a few years ago, auto seat belts were a rarity, except among certain occupational groups. For example, airplane pilots have long known the value of safety belts. Other confined users were highway patrol officers, sports car enthusiasts and F. B. I. men.

Their experience with seat belts—and scientific studies by Cornell University, government organizations and the highway authorities of several states—proved that auto seat belts did fulfill their promise. In thousands of cases, seat belt users walked away from serious accidents (including head-on collisions) or escaped with relatively minor bruises. In addition, it was shown that seat belts actually reduce travel fatigue and back strain.

Increasing Use In Family Cars

With this evidence in hand, the drive to get seat belts into family cars got under way. Some three and a half million cars now have them and there will probably be more than twice as many at the end of this year. One reason is that several states have passed laws obliging car manufacturers to include seat belts as standard equipment in new cars. Other states require the provision of seat belt attachment lugs, and it is expected that some type of seat belt legislation will be passed in the majority of states within the next year or two.

Including installation, most belts cost between $5 and $15 each, depending on quality and style. Getting into the front seat is a piece of cake, but for real safety there should be one for each occupant.

Older children can learn to use their seat belts with little trouble. The younger ones, of course, have to be belted in by a

Three Snyderites are assisting with Girl Scout Camp at Camp Boothe Oaks this summer.

The established camping season in the West Texas Girl Scout Council opened on the afternoon of June 9 as 40 campers checked in at Camp Boothe Oaks. The first session lasts from June 9 through June 20. Miss Fane Downs, District Adviser in the West Texas Girl Scout Council, will be Camp Director. This is her third year in this position.

The campers' activities at Boothe Oaks will include tent living, swimming, nature exploration, star gazing, cooking and sleeping out—plus archery for the older girls who are interested in this skill.

Campers in Girl Scout camps do not have a fixed daily schedule for program activities. They plan their own program with the help of the trained staff present at the site. Girl Scouts come to camp individually rather than in troops, and there is a permanent, trained camp staff to work with them through the entire camp season.

Camp Boothe Oaks is located on Farm Road 100, eight miles southwest of Sweetwater. The 1963 season will be the eleventh summer of established camping on this site. Camp Boothe Oaks meets the high standards of health, safety, staff, program, and facilities required by the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. Boothe Oaks is also a member of the American Camping Association. The staff of the camp is certified by the American Red Cross, so campers may earn Red Cross swimming ratings while they are at Boothe Oaks.

There will be five sessions at Boothe Oaks this summer. Each session accommodates 40 campers, and each session has had a full complement of campers since the last of May. Total established camp registration—including the advanced signing and planning units for the camp and the Trip Advisers—Miss Redwine, District Adviser, and Mrs. H. P. Redwine, District Adviser, are the staff of the camp.

Lucky 13 Pledges Do Services

Regular members of the Lucky 13 Sports Club recently elected new pledges for big sister.

The new pledges are Diana Boy, Lynn Holt, Nita Doughton, Melody White, Carol Ann Young, June Boren, Lesa Dowden, Betty Buchanan, Marie Gray, Connie Robinson and Elyse Thompson.

The pledges have begun their required pledge work. Each pledge must meet a requirement of 25 hours, community service by the first of August. The girls then become voting members following a peasant week and formal initiation.

President Makes Appeal In Face Of Threatened Crisis

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy faced with a racial crisis that threatens violence and lives, finally appealed in a nationwide broadcast for an end to discrimination against Negroes.

The indications were that he would finally do it a few hours after compelling the admittance of two Negroes to the University of Alabama over the completely empty resistance of Gov. George C. Wallace.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOSS

QUESTION: How can moss plants get water from the soil, when they live on tree trunks? ANSWER: Most plants live with their roots in the soil so that water and minerals may be brought up to help the leaves make plant food.

Some Negro leaders feel, however, that unless Congress passes a law permitting the government to file a suit in any case where a Negro's civil rights are denied, yet say whether they could do it on their own.

Restaurants Of Nation On Upgrade

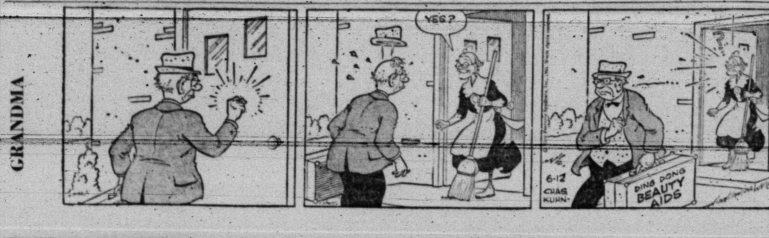

By HAL BOYLE TULSA Okla. (AP) — Country's restaurants "is of this 1 size. Today you're making life a pleasure for the weary, wayward traveler."

Remember when ketchup was the all-American food, because it was used from coast to coast to cover up culinary horrors? It was the ketchup that tasted the same everywhere—but it took a strong man to shake it out of the bottle.

There were only two national salads—egg salad or limp lettuce drowned in bacon grease. If you asked for anything but apple pie or rice pudding for dessert, you were put down as finicky—and a troublemaker.

There were only two national condiments—ketchup and mustard. In many a small town the only reliable places to eat were in a home or the local Elks Club.

All that is changed today. There has been a quiet revolution in American eating habits. "I never trust a man who isn't interested in good food," William Allen White once said.

Arnie Rested, Rarin' To Go

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
RYE, N.Y. (AP)—A thoroughly rested, relaxed but determined Arnie Palmer sets out Thursday to reestablish his shaky position as the No. 1 man in professional golf.

"I feel great," the all-time leading money winner from Latrobe, Pa., said today as he faced up to his first competition in more than a month. "Nothing really was the matter with my game. I was just mentally and physically tired."

"I'm eager to play again and I think that is a good sign. This was the first real vacation I have had in three years."

In the Thunderbird, a four-day, 72-hole prelude to next week's National Open at Brookline, Mass., the tough, muscled son of a Pennsylvania pro should learn whether he is finally snapping the back of a nagging slump.

The 113-man field lists all of his big name rivals for world golf honors, including 23-year-old Jack Nicklaus, South Africa's Gary Player and 50-year-old Ben Hogan, onetime undisputed king of the game in a fresh comeback gesture.

In the center of Palmer's sights, however, undoubtedly is Nicklaus, the pudgy newcomer who won the U.S. Open title last year in his first season as a pro and who repeated victories over Arnold Palmer in the Masters and the Tournament of Champions.

Palmer, now 33 and burdened with far-flung business enterprises which gross him more than a half million dollars a year, must score a victory over young Nicklaus soon or concede his place as top man of the tournament.

So the tournament this week and the Open next week at the Country Club in Brookline offer an extra special challenge for the larriper from Latrobe.

"That's a selfish attitude, I have no ill will or troubles," Palmer said. "I'm not thinking about putting back into golf some of the things he's taken out."

Palmer and Nicklaus are top favorites for the $25,000 first prize in the tournament over the Westchester Country Club course, but strong sentiment developed overnight for two other contenders.

They are Doug Finsterwald, who led Monday's qualifying for the Open, and 41-year-old Julius Boros, winner of the Buick Open last weekend in Grand Blanc, Mich.

"Both Finsterwald and Boros are playing very well," said Fred Corcoran, tournament director. "Both could be very tough."

Allen was recalled, walked Genette and forced in a run, then Abernathy got the last out. Grant is 4-6 and so is Roberts, who was bombed for three doubles and a triple in addition to the three homers.

The Twins blew three leads before finally nailing down their victory over the White Sox, with Bernie Allen's double in the ninth inning deciding it. Rich Rollins was hit by one of Hoyt Wilhelm's pitches, was sacrificed to second and rode in on Allen's hit. Jim Hall's pinch single sent in an insurance run. Wilhelm took his fifth loss in six decisions.

Bill Dailey won his first in relief, even though his string of scoreless innings ended at 19 when Dave Nicholson hit his 12th homer in the eighth. Zoilo Versalles collected four of Minnesota's 16 hits.

Radzatz limited the Tigers to three hits in 2-3 innings and extended his streak of shutout innings to 31 in a relief pitching duel with Terry Fox. The Red Sox finally got to Fox in the 15th when Malone homered after Chuck Schilling reached base on an error and Carl Yastrzemski walked. Stuart followed with another homer.

Radzatz, who replaced Wilbur Wood in the seventh, struck out 11—giving him 65 in 40 innings—lowered his earned run average to 0.92, and ran his record to 6-1. Fox, 3-3, allowed just two hits in seven innings before the explosion in the 15th.

Diego Segui, starting for the A's for the first time in seven weeks, threw a seven-hitter in beating the Angels. The Athletics routed Dean Chance in their four-run inning, sending 10 men to the plate. George Alston capped it with a pinch single that chased in two runners.

Segui earned his first victory after two defeats. Chance is 5-6.

There will be no league action tonight, with play set to resume Thursday.

Current leaders at the approximate halfway point in the various races include the Von Rueder Seed Farms Red Sox (5-1) in the Colt League, the Snyder Springs and Loan Burffs (4-0) in the Pony League, the Cubs (4-2) and White Sox (5-1) in the Little League, and the Giants (4-1) and White Sox (5-1) in the Farm Leagues.

AP SPORTLIGHT

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The first man to pole vault 16 feet pattered across the bare skating rink and soared through the damp midtown air.

"A new Lower Plaza record of 12 feet 6 inches," said the man at the microphone.

It was lunch hour at Radio City Tuesday and the people who had come out for air, they squinted almost suspiciously and then applauded, ice skaters, bands, choirs, they were used to. But pole vaulters? Hardly ever.

High on a ledge over 49th Street three idle workmen watched from a skyscraper. Up there, 13-6 didn't mean very much.

John Uelses, the first of the 16-footers, had missed at 10 feet before he learned the knack of the short approach and the unusual jumping surface. Hundreds watched from the top side and others peered in wonder through the wide picture windows at rink-side restaurants.

Gymnasts, tennis players, golfers, basketball players, track stars, and professional football players were in the crowd.

players took part in the hour-long sports gala, presented by Sports Illustrated in conjunction with the Greater New York Fund.

The football stars ran through a few plays while Tommy McDonald of the Philadelphia Eagles needed them.

"We'll try a pass play," said Tommy to Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts. "If you think accidentally you might be able to hit one of them just once."

"And here is how that fantastic back Alex Webster of the New York Giants rips the line. And here is Norm Snead, the Washington magician."

After the players ran off a complicated play with many fakes, Tommy stopped them. "Just a minute, Snead," he said. "You forgot the ball."

Then it was time for the basketball men and Delph Schayes of the Syracuse—now Philadelphia—club, Jack Twyman of Cincinnati, Tommy Heinsohn of Boston and Jerry Lucas, the ex-Ohio State star.

"Watch closely when you see Twyman pass," he said to Lucas. "If you join the Royals you may never see another one."

Four golfers lofted plastic golf balls into the crowd. Frank Gilford of the Giants kicked a football into the street.

Considering that the Olympic pole vault was won at 12-1 1/2 in 1924 and only 14-1 1/2 in 1956, that vault of 16-6 is one of the most spectacular feats in sports history.

Tail-Enders Of TL Enjoy 'Field Day'

By The Associated Press
After another night of fence-rattling games, the Texas League race was just as tight as ever Wednesday.

Tulsa, Albuquerque and Amarillo, all second division teams, were the winners.

Tulsa edged El Paso 4-3, Albuquerque decided Austin 5-2 and tail-ender Amarillo knocked off San Antonio 10-3.

Austin and El Paso are virtually tied for the lead with the Senators holding a 900 edge in the percentage. San Antonio is in the game back of the leaders.

Right-hander Roy Peterson posted his third straight relief victory with 4-2-3 innings of three-hit pitching and first baseman Ken Fruchter drove across five runs with a pair of homers and San Antonio.

Albuquerque shortstop Ralph Plumlee was hospitalized after colliding with rival hurler Jerry Hummetsch while trying to run out a bunt sacrifice in the game at Austin. The winning pitcher was Larry Staab who had a one-hit gem until the sixth. The Senators committed three errors in the fifth.

El Paso overcame a 3-0 Tulsa lead in the seventh and eighth, but the Oilers battled back ahead with a run in the bottom of the eighth. The Tom Kings' Cecil Handley opened the ninth with a double but died on third base.

Trophies to be awarded are being donated by Carl Herod Oil Company.

Matson Heave All-Time Best

Four new leaders appeared in the Texas track and field rankings after the United States Track and Field Federation championships at Houston last week.

Three set all-time Texas records—Randy Milton of Pampa High School with a 60 foot 6 inches toss of the 16-pound shot, Warren Bratford of Rice with a 16 foot 1 1/2 inches pole vault and Richard Romo of the Texas freshmen with a 4-05.6 mile, fastest ever run by a native Texan.

Pee Wee Leagues Open Play Monday

Rosters have been named and the stage set for play to begin Monday in the Pee Wee League here.

Composing the National League are the Oilers, Dodgers, and Canaries, while the American is made up of two teams—the Mets and the Cardinals. All teams will play each other, however, regardless of their respective league designations.

Bill Line is coordinator of the Pee Wee League program. American League workouts are to get underway today on the fields located on Seventeenth

FACTS ABOUT PLYMOUTH'S NEW WARRANTY*

DOES IT INCLUDE THE COST OF LABOR?	DOES IT COVER EXPENSIVE PARTS?	IS IT TRANSFERABLE WHEN YOU SELL THE CAR?	MUST YOU SPEND MORE FOR MAINTENANCE?
Yes. There is absolutely no charge for labor and parts. For the entire life of the warranty, should any defect in material or workmanship occur on the parts covered by the warranty, it will not cost you one cent to have it corrected.	Absolutely! It covers the major power train components—the engine block and its internal parts; the automatic transmission and its internal parts; the rear axle—parts that would cost plenty to replace or repair.	Yes. As long as the car has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth-Volant Certified Car Care schedules, the warranty can be passed on to the new owner. Think what that will mean to resale value of your car!	No. All that is required is the normal care that most car owners would usually give their car. Only one chassis lubrication is required for the entire life of the warranty. Other maintenance consists of inspections at reasonable intervals.

Your Authorized Plymouth-Volant Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair, without charge for required parts or labor, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts, transmission case and internal parts, including manual clutch, torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. Provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth-Volant Certified Car Care schedules.

Venezuela Battles Diehard Commies

By PAUL FINCH
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—South American communist leaders are warning Venezuela is hurtling toward an historic and probably violent election for the successor to President Romulo Betancourt.

Paul candidates already are campaigning at full tilt and a fifth will appear next month—the long-awaited choice of Betancourt's own big worker-peasant party, Democratic Action.

Diehards estimate only 400 of Venezuela's 40,000 Communists have been chosen as FALEN activists. Betancourt's successor must be as strong as he or it will yet be possible to overthrow Venezuelan democracy, say diplomats.

Betancourt is believed to be sounding out the army, the church and other influential groups for opinions on the candidate that should be picked at his party's convention next month.

Democratic Action claims more than a million peasants and workers plus several thousand government employees will be the decisive factor in the expected November turnout of 4 million.

Veteran politician Jovito Villalba, head of the Republican Democratic Union, claims to be the biggest threat against whatever party for the Democratic Action. He describes himself as non-Communist but not anti-Communist.

Three other major politicians are declared candidates and all urge a united front to beat the Democratic Action. The stumbling block to such a front so far is that each man wants to lead it.

Member cities of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will have to develop an insatiable thirst during the remainder of the summer if the district's estimated consumption is reached.

A series of showers in May knocked off demands of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder for water from last year. At the same time, the amount of water required by oilfield repressuring units declined by one-eighth, wiping out a gain for the previous four months of the year.

June rains have not indicated any immediate change in the pattern. During the weekend Odessa came up with about an inch in two showers.

During May, Odessa consumed 404,383.000 gallons of water, a decrease of 23.89 per cent from the same month a year ago. Big Spring took 205,377.000, a decline of 28.41 per cent, and Snyder drew 155,790.000 gallons, a drop of 28.32 per cent. The average for the three cities was down 24.64 per cent.

The five oil company groups required 213,377.000 gallons for their purposes, which was 12.80 less than for May of last year. Lion Oil was up 21.83 per cent, Texas Gulf, which uses a relatively small amount, was up 140.5 per cent, and Standard-Sinclair up 24.08 per cent.

Deliveries by the district during May amounted to 879,067.834, which was 22.08 per cent down from the 1,128,214.000 gallons in May of 1962. The total delivered to date by CHMWD was 3,637,963.960, or down 3.72 per cent.

District supplies are in excellent condition and the system is ready to meet any peak demand put upon it, said O. H. Ivey, assistant general manager.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—While two Negro students were enrolling under court order at the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, a white student enrolled at a Negro school here.

The white student, Robert Muckel, 29, a chemistry teacher from Ulica, Neb., signed up Tuesday for summer classes at Alabama A&M under a National Science Foundation grant.

Muckel is believed to be the first white student in the school's 48-year history.

Muckel said he did not want to be a Negro school until he had been until he applied for campus quarters for his family.

"I am no martyr," he said. "I came here just to continue my education."

Business Depends On Numbers Game

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service and the banks and the phone company are just Johnnies-come-lately to the numbers game.

Businessmen have been playing it for more than a century. And many still favor a number when choosing a name for a new product.

The numbers game has worked fine for many of them. The digits have become household words.

Customers have had little trouble remembering the numbers—every woman knows what you mean when you say Chanel No. 5. And some companies hold onto the number titles long after diversifying or expanding product lines.

Heinz 57 Varieties once was an accurate tally but now the company makes some 300 products, without changing its slogan.

Generations grew up quite at home with 20-Mile Team Borax, just as any youngster today can tell a Boeing 707 from a DC1.

But many depositors still aren't reconciled to losing their names and becoming numbers at the bank. The IRS last is heading all income tax payers into the same faceless category as it caters to the electronic computer. And the ATEI stoutly ignores all special names for length strings of digits that stand for paying customers.

Civil Rights Legislation May Be Slow

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's call for civil rights legislation swiftly received the backing of congressional leaders of both parties but they expect its progress to be slow and turbulent.

"I will devote my very best efforts" to seeking an effective program, said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois after Kennedy's address to the nation Tuesday night.

Dirksen said he recognized "that Congress has a responsibility in this field and there should be some action in this session."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, made it clear he does not expect any final action until late summer on any of the civil rights proposals the President promised to send to Congress next week.

Humphrey had told a news conference Tuesday that administration leaders will press for action on other segments of his program—some form of aid to education, long-delayed tax reduction bill, a youth employment measure and other legislation.

The civil rights legislation, Kennedy said in his address to the nation Tuesday night, will include measures to bar discrimination in stores, hotels, restaurants and theaters; allow the federal government to take a more active role in public school desegregation suits, and afford greater protection for Negroes' right to vote.

Forecasting a Southern filibuster, the Sen. said, against civil rights measures, Humphrey said the administration will have to get along as best it can without additional legal authority until attempts to ward off racial violence.

"This is going to be a warm summer," he completed.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said "The threat, I just heard tonight, that the Negroes will be in the streets if there is a filibuster—which there will be—will mean a lot of bloodshed."

Two White Men Are Shot As Maryland Race Riot Erupts

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—Two white men were shot and at least four other persons were injured when a race riot erupted in this small Eastern Shore community late Tuesday night.

A tense racial situation flared into violence when a crowd of about 100 whites followed an equal number of Negro demonstrators back into the Negro section.

The Negroes had just finished their second march on the town's courthouse and jail protesting the sentencing of a Negro boy and girl. The 15-year-olds, who had been arrested several times for participating in racial demonstrations, were adjured to be detained Monday and sent to training schools for an indeterminate period.

just as they reached the Negro shop. The men were treated at a hospital and released.

A general alarm fire in a grocery store operated by a white man finally was brought under control, although a mob of some 200 Negroes pelted firemen and state police with rocks, bricks and bottles before they were dispersed. A deputy sheriff fired his revolver into the air at the height of the disturbance, and helmeted state police wielding riot sticks and assisted by K-9 dogs broke up the crowd.

Buddhists Hike Pressure On Diem

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Buddhist demonstrations against the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem are expected to increase despite an appeal for calm by the embattled President.

Some of the Buddhist anger also is directed at the United States because American weapons, furnished for the war against Communist guerrillas, have been turned on Buddhists accusing the government of religious persecution.

Diem, a Roman Catholic, told the aroused South Vietnamese people Tuesday night he was "very sorry" about the torching of a 28-year-old Buddhist monk in downtown Saigon.

Faced with one of the gravest crises in his eight-year rule, the 42-year-old president promised resumption today of negotiations on Buddhist demands for more religious freedom and social reforms.

He blamed extremists for arousing public opinion against his government with false propaganda.

"I solemnly declare that the kind of Buddhism in this country, there is the constitution which means I myself," he said.

Registration Bill Signed By Governor

AUSTIN, AP—Gov. John Connally has signed two bills leaving an annual 25-cent voter registration fee and revising Texas election laws.

Both measures are by Sen. Tom Wright, Republican, Dallas.

The registration bill will go into effect only if voters approve Nov. 9 a proposed constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax.

Election law revisions were based mostly on non-controversial recommendations of a legislative citizen study committee. One major change provides that poll watchers will be from any precinct in a county.

The bills take effect in late August.

Science Wonders Unfold For 500

AUSTIN, AP—A fascinating vision of a world where the hydrogen bomb has been harnessed into a nuclear reactor and the fuel of atomic fission is an endless supply of fuel for an almost power plant was one of the shows of the science that was unfolded this week for 500 science-minded Texas high school students and teachers.

They completed today a three-day symposium at the University of Texas campus listening to and seeing many of the nation's outstanding scientists who described the latest developments in nuclear physics, nuclear fusion research, and atomic energy.

The occasion was the Third Texas Nuclear Science Symposium, co-sponsored by the University of Texas and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

One of the speakers, Dr. Martin Q. Schemm of the General Atomic Laboratory at San Diego, Calif., reported important progress in solving a problem that has baffled the world's scientists for 43 years in their efforts to tame the hydrogen bomb for peaceful purposes.

He described successful results of the first experiments with a new type "magnetic bottle" that holds strong promise of advancing the day when the energy source of the H-bomb and the sun and the stars will be harnessed for the production of electric power.

The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation has been engaged since 1957 in a jointly supported research program with General Dynamics General Atomic Division. The program is the world's largest privately financed research effort in the field of controlled nuclear fusion and is being directed by some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists at the General Atomic Laboratories at San Diego, Calif.

DR. EMMETT L. HUDSPETH, professor of physics at the University of Texas, explains one of the displays at the Texas Nuclear Science Symposium held this week at Austin. Listening to Dr. Hudspeth, one of the speakers on the symposium program, are Stuart Long and Bob Carroll, science students, and Bob Cole, science teacher at Snyder High School. They were guests of Texas Electric Service Company at the three-day meeting jointly sponsored by the University of Texas and the Texas Nuclear Energy Research Foundation, composed of 10 electric power companies operating in Texas.

House Votes Own Pool

WASHINGTON, AP—The House has taken the plunge and ordered a $100-million pool for its new Rayburn Office Building without knowing how much it will cost.

The action stirred a few protests.

"Why," asked Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, Tuesday as he tried to knock out the provision for the House pool, "can't members tuck their trunks or bikinis under their arms and go use the Senate pool?"

"Because the Senate rules say only senators can use it," replied Rep. Arthur Younger, R-Calif. "That's a segregated pool."

Gross said he was amazed.

"Let's see if the Kennedys can do something about it," he said. "I don't care which one."

The Kennedys will be spared the effort, because the House approved the pool, 302 to 26.

East Areas Cool, Dry

By The Associated Press

Fairly cool and dry air covered much of the eastern half of the nation today, breaking a spell of unseasonably warm weather in many northern areas.

Hot and humid weather continued in much of the Deep South and a warming trend was reported in most of the western half of the country.

Temperatures in the cool belt were 3 to 15 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier. Readings were mostly in the 40s and 50s in the northern half and in the 60s and 70s in the southern sections. Showers fell during the night from the lower Great Lakes eastward through the northern Atlantic states.

Guilty Verdict Is Returned By Jury

A verdict of guilty was returned by a jury Tuesday afternoon against R. C. Popson of Snyder who had been charged with illegal transportation of intoxicants in a dry area.

Judge Sterling Taylor, who presided over the county court trial, assessed a fine of $100 plus costs. Witnesses in the case were officer of the sheriff's department and the Texas Highway Patrol.

Also in county court earlier, Luther Tucker entered a not guilty plea changed on May 23 to a plea of guilty. Tucker was charged with illegal transportation. He was fined $100 plus costs of $26.35. The charge had been filed by the Texas Highway Patrol.

WASHINGTON TODAY

Substitute For Exemption Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington today, the House Ways and Means Committee, drafting a tax cut and revision bill, has rejected President Kennedy's proposal that a $300 credit against income tax be substituted for the present extra personal exemption and retirement income credit for persons over 65.

The Treasury estimated that the proposal, liberalizing tax treatment substantially for aged taxpayers in the low and middle income groups, would reduce government tax revenues $300 million annually.

The Treasury also proposed to amend income tax provisions to require the cost of research equipment as a current expense.

Slant Well Testimony Will Stand

TYLER (AP)—Defense lawyer John Glass Sr. failed in an effort to strike out testimony about a slant well Tuesday in the federal court trial of three men on oil charges.

The government then presented another witness to support its contention that the defendants produced oil illegally by angling a well underneath an adjoining Shell Oil Co. lease in East Texas.

On trial are E. B. Hearn Sr. of Houston, Daryl Gamber and E. B. Hearn Jr. of Longview and Associates Drilling Co. A 29-count indictment accuses them of transporting contraband oil between states and filing false production reports.

Glass was cross-examining Railroad Commission engineer James Smith, who testified the defendants have deviated as much as 30 degrees from vertical.

The defense lawyer asked if an instrument used in a survey, identified by Smith as a Totop, would detect an inclined hole in a well drilled in a corkscrew manner.

Smith said the instrument would not do this, nor would it indicate in which direction a well slanted.

Glass then moved to strike out the testimony and U.S. District Judge Joe Sheehy overruled him.

Walter Cooper, an employee of the Eastman Oil Well Survey Co., testified he conducted tests on the well last June. He said the method employed in these tests involved taking photographs inside the well which gave both degree and direction of any deviation.

Glass requested at the first trial that the jury be instructed that the testimony of Smith and Cooper was hearsay.

Grand Mother Faces Charge Of Murder

HOUSTON, AP—A grand mother, Mrs. Bette Oliver, was charged with murder Tuesday in the slaying Monday of Earl Thompson, 38, of Freeport. She is 70.

She was quoted by police as saying, "I only had my daughter's wedding, my daughter's marriage and my grandchildren's lives."

Thompson was found dead in his blood-spattered pickup truck Monday, shot in the back.

Mrs. Oliver told police she shot the man after meeting him to talk over his relations with her daughter. "I only had my daughter's interest at heart," she told police.

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Two Negro women enrolled in Texarkana College today, the first of their race to attend the school.

There were no incidents as Linda Tolbert and Albirda Brelley signed up for classes in the city-owned institution.

Church schools in Texarkana were integrated several years ago.

Residents said they "had no choice but to comply with court orders" ordering desegregation.

They said the Tolbert and Brelley women were "the first qualified Negroes to apply for enrollment since the federal court in 1956 ordered the college to admit qualified Negro applicants."

JFK Charts Civil Rights Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President John F. Kennedy's administration has charted a course for civil rights legislation that will be based on the public's opinion, the president said today.

The President outlined a broad legislative program he will propose to Congress next week. He said it will be based on the proposition that race has no place in American life or law.

"A great change is at hand. It is not only the Negro's right to sit at the lunch counter, but the obligation to make that revolution, that change, peaceful and constructive for all."

Kennedy appeared Tuesday evening on radio and television in a three-hour address to Americans of both North and South and hours after Alabama Gov. George Wallace bowed to federal pressure and stepped aside to let two Negro students register at the previously all-white University of Alabama.

"I hope that every American, regardless of where he lives, will join and reinforce his advance guard in this great and related endeavor," Kennedy said.

When Americans are sent to Viet Nam or West Berlin, we do not ask for whites only," he said. "It might be possible, therefore, for American students at any time to attend any public institution they select without having to be asked up by troops."

"Every American ought to have the right to be treated as one would wish to be treated, as one would wish his children to be treated. But this is not the case."

Kennedy declared that America faces a moral crisis as a country and as a people, and he will ask Congress to make a civil rights commitment "it has not fully made in this century."

The President said he will propose legislation that would:

1. Prohibit stores, hotels, restaurants and theaters from discriminating against Negroes.
2. Allow the federal government to take a more active part in court suits aimed at desegregating public schools.
3. Afford greater protection for Negroes' right to vote.

Acknowledging the new laws are not enough, Kennedy said, however, that in too many parts of the country wrongs are inflicted on Negroes because they have no remedies at law—and unless the Congress acts, their only remedy is in the streets.

In Congress, leaders of both parties promised to put their shoulders to the wheel.

"I recognize that Congress has a responsibility," Kennedy said. "It is time to act in the Congress, and there should be some action in this session on effective civil rights legislation. To

Wallace Not Likely To Go To Jail

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—For the second time in his turbulent career, Gov. George Wallace may escape a jail term in his running battle with the federal government.

Whether his stand in the doorway Tuesday at the now-integrated University of Alabama will bring a contempt of court citation remained to be seen.

But there were indications that the Justice Department will make no effort to prosecute Wallace for his conduct in the face of a non-interference injunction. He had been told by a federal judge to refrain from barring two Negro students from the university.

The government again invoking its sovereign power of the state against what he called the onrush of a march of an omnipotent central government, refused to judge from the path where the two Negroes later walked into the university.

But despite his defiant gesture, Wallace did not come face-to-face with the Negroes himself.

He addressed his remarks to three federal officers headed by Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach while the waiting students sat in automobiles nearby.

When Katzenbach returned five hours later with federalized National Guard troops, the governor again voiced a protest, then walked away.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: If I'm wrong, please tell me, and I'll keep quiet. Last year I attended several weddings, nine bridal showers, two 10-year wedding celebrations, one housewarming parties, and six baby showers. Please don't think I'm stingy, but I've been married 14 years, have had 5 babies and I never gave any sort of a party where a gift was expected. We moved into a new home, too, and have entertained for our wedding anniversaries, but we invited only our immediate family. Why can't people keep THEIR celebrations to themselves?

DEAR C.H.: Thank you. He's probably changed his name to "Wolfe" by now. And the woods are full of 'em.

DEAR ABBY: I don't suppose this will be news to the people of Texas, but when I read your column on "unusual surnames," I was reminded of the Texas governor whose name was HOGG. He named his two daughters URA HOGG and IMA HOGG.

Foster Predicts Treaty Approval

Editor's Note:—As U.S. disarmament director, William C. Foster predicts a safe sale in the Senate for any nuclear test ban treaty signed by the Soviet Union and the West.

He does not agree with those who predict that a treaty would provoke the most heated battle in the Senate since the proposal to join the League of Nations after World War I. Nor does he believe it would suffer the same dismal fate.

"It would be tough," Foster said in an interview, "but we could get a treaty through the Senate."

Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, will not take part in the U.S. British-Soviet nuclear test ban treaty negotiations in Moscow next month. From his office, he will back up the efforts of the

Union Chief Is Convicted

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Anthony "Tony Pro" Prozenzano, powerful leader of the New Jersey Teamsters, was found guilty of extorting $7,000 from a New York trucking firm.

The verdict against the chunky 40-year-old Prozenzano was delivered Tuesday night by a U.S. District Court jury of six men and six women. They received the case Monday.

Prozenzano faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Judge Robert Shaw said a sentencing date would be set after Prozenzano, who is at liberty in $100,000 bail, appears to his prosecutor Thursday.

Prozenzano, a close friend of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, also is an international vice president of the union.

Children Need Seat Belts For Summer Trip Safety

Vacation time is here, and the voice of the harried mother is heard throughout the land. What she is saying is probably something on the order of "Johnny, stop leaning out the car window and get back into your seat!"

Parents have good cause for concern. Motor vehicle accidents are taking an increasing toll. Last year they caused a total of over 40,000 deaths and one and a half million injuries. Included in that tragic total are 4,000 deaths and over 200,000 injuries to children under age 15.

Even if Johnny's backseat gyrations don't end in bruises or worse, they are distracting to the driver, who has more than enough to think about as it is.

Worse yet, of course, is the ease with which children are thrown off balance by even the most minor accidents, by sharp stops, swerves and bumps on the road. The interiors of cars being what they are—abounding in glass and metal surfaces, hard edges and protruding knobs—the best solution is to keep Johnny, and all other occupants, firmly in their seats in case of a mishap.

Seat Belts Advised

The most practical method, says the Institute of Life Insurance, is to install—and use—auto seat belts. That's the advice of leading safety authorities, including the National Safety Council, the American Medical Association, and the U. S. Public Health Service. Women's organizations such as the General Federation of Women's Clubs also encourage use of seat belts through safety programs in their member clubs across the country.

Until a few years ago, auto seat belts were a rarity, except among certain occupational groups. For example, airplane pilots have long known the value of safety belts. Other confirmed users were highway patrol officers, sports car enthusiasts and F. B. I. men.

Their experience with seat belts—and scientific studies by Cornell University, government organizations and the highway authorities of several states—proved that auto seat belts did fulfill their promise. In thousands of cases, seat belt users walked away from serious accidents (including head-on collisions) or escaped with relatively minor bruises. In addition, it was shown that seat belts actually reduce travel fatigue and back strain.

Increasing Use In Family Cars

With this evidence in hand, the drive to get seat belts into family cars got under way. Some three and a half million cars now have them, and there will probably be more than twice as many at the end of this year. One reason is that several states have passed laws obliging car manufacturers to include seat belts as standard equipment in many cars. Other states require the provision of seat belt attachment eyes, and it is expected that some type of seat belt legislation will be passed in the majority of states within the next year or two.

Including installation, most belts cost between $5 and $15 each, depending on quality and style. Getting belts for the front seat is a step in the right direction, but for real safety there should be one for each occupant.

Older children can learn to put on their seat belts with little trouble. The younger ones, of course, have to be helped in by a

Lucky 13 Pledges Do Services

Regular members of the Lucky 13 Sports Club recently elected new pledges for big sister.

The new pledges are Diana May, Lew Hall, Nina Proctor, Melody White, Carol Ann Young, June Bowen, Lesa Davidson, Betty Buchanan, Marie Gray, Connie Robinson and Elsie Thompson.

The pledges have begun their required pledge work. Each pledge must meet a requirement of 25 hours community service by the first of August. The girls then become voting members following a peasant vote and formal initiation.

There will be five sessions at Boothe Oaks this summer. Each session accommodates 30 campers, and each session has had a full complement of campers since the last of May. Past established camp registrations including the advanced camping unit were 120 girls and the Trip Camp for Seniors, Girl Scouts, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Redwine of Snyder.

Local Residents Assist With Girl Scout Camp

Three Snyderites are assisting with Girl Scout Camp at Camp Boothe Oaks this summer.

The established camping season in the West Texas Girl Scout Council opened on the afternoon of June 9 as 30 campers checked in at Camp Boothe Oaks. The first session lasts from June 9 through June 20. Miss Fane Downs, District Adviser in the West Texas Girl Scout Council, will be Camp Director. This is her first year in this position.

"The campers' activities at Boothe Oaks will include tenting, swimming, nature exploration, star gazing, cooking and sleeping out—plus archery for the older girls who are interested in this skill."

Campers in Girl Scout camps do not have a fixed daily schedule for program activities. They plan their own program with the help of the trained staff present at the site. Girl Scouts come to camp individually rather than in troops, and there is a permanent, trained camp staff to work with them through the entire camp season.

Camp Boothe Oaks is located on Farm Road 100, eight miles southwest of Sackettville. The 1963 season will be the eleventh anniversary of established camping on this site. Camp Boothe Oaks meets the high standards of health, safety, staff, program, and facilities required by the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. Boothe Oaks is also a member of the American Camping Association. The waterfront staff is certified by the American Red Cross, so campers may earn Red Cross swimming ratings while they are at Boothe Oaks.

Pre-camp training, which was attended by all staff members, was from June 3-7.

This training was given by Page Dinkins and Harriet Redwine, District Advisers. Miss Redwine is Camp Director, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Redwine of Snyder.

President Makes Appeal In Face Of Threatened Crisis

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, faced with a racial crisis that threatens violence and lives, finally appealed in a nationwide broadcast for an end to discrimination against Negroes.

He did five things in his talk Tuesday night—

1. He blamed all 50 states, not just the South where racial prejudice is most intense, for discrimination.

2. He made equal treatment for Negroes an urgent necessity by noting that violence and lives are threatened.

3. He urged all white Americans to examine their conscience and cooperate in ending discrimination.

4. By the broadcast he put the full weight of his office behind pleas to give Negroes the constitutional rights denied them.

5. He outlined steps he wants Congress to take in this direction by passing laws to overcome segregation.

That he make such a talk had been urged on Kennedy from various quarters for weeks as racial tensions increased and, in some places, burst into riots.

The indications were that he would.

He finally did it a few hours after compelling the admittance of two Negroes to the University of Alabama over the completely open resistance of Gov. George C. Wallace.

If Kennedy had made the same kind of talk earlier in his administration, some, if not most, of the present tensions might have been avoided although perhaps not unless he had followed the talk with action.

By the same token race relations in the United States now might have been far more advanced if President Dwight D. Eisenhower had made a similar plea just once in his eight years in office.

It is clear Kennedy felt compelled to talk now not because racial discrimination is any worse because of the crisis he mentioned.

This is because Negroes, realizing they can accomplish far more by collective action than alone, have begun to batter against racial barriers in demonstrations which, if frustrated, could become riots.

Just how much effect Kennedy's talk depends on three things:

1. How well he was able to stir the conscience of the nation, particularly the South where segregation is worst.

2. How thoroughly and forcefully he follows up by executive action in the field of civil rights and by pressuring Congress for civil rights laws.

3. How much Congress will go along with him—meaning just how much Republicans are willing to team up with Northern Democrats to overcome the opposition of Southern Democrats.

Kennedy made two points on the legislation he will lay before Congress.

—He wants a law giving Negroes the right to be served in public facilities, like hotels and restaurants. This seems to mean law forbidding proprietors of such facilities, if they are involved in interstate commerce at all, to decide on their own to refuse to serve Negroes. On May 21 the Supreme Court ruled no state or city law can force such a proprietor to discriminate. It didn't yet say whether they could do it on their own.

—He wants a law from Congress to authorize the federal government to step in more fully in lawsuits to end segregation in public education. As of now a Negro denied admittance to a segregated school in almost all areas must file his own suit. Few Negroes can afford such expense.

Some Negro leaders feel, however, that unless Congress passes a law permitting the government to file a suit in any case where a Negro's civil rights are denied—not just in selected fields—other measures are insufficient.

It seems pretty certain at this writing that Kennedy will not ask for such authority.

Also, despite reports to the contrary, he is not likely to ask for an FEPC—a Fair Employment Practices Commission—to prevent discrimination against Negroes at

Restaurants Of Nation On Upgrade

By HAL BOYLE

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Say you're a restaurateur. It's been a long day.

Today you're making life a pleasure for the weary, wayworn traveler.

Remember when it was said there were only three cities in the United States where a man could get a decent meal—New York, New Orleans and San Francisco?

Remember when—when—when was the all-American food, because it was used from coast to coast to cover up culinary horrors? It was the only thing that tasted, the same everywhere, but it took a strong man to shake it out of the bottle.

Only a generation ago the well-equipped motoring tourist needed a stomach pump as much as a tire pump. He didn't need to climb a mountain to find adventure. All he had to do was stop at a roadside Hide-a-Wee or Deep Drop Inn—and order the blue plate special.

A gastronomic map of America would have shown it to consist largely of vast desert where the natives took revenge on passing strangers by insisting that they partake of local grub.

Each region had developed its own way of ruining good material. In New England they boiled a piece of meat until it disintegrated. In the South they tossed it into a kettle of boiling lard until it gave up and sank. In the West and Southwest they fried it until you couldn't tell it from boot leather. In the Midwest they used all three methods.

The great camouflage material, besides the every ready ketchup bottle, was gravy. It flowed over the cook's errors in a thick, clabbered, impalpable—and indigestible—flood.

The greatest mystery in the land, aside from what happened to Justice Crater, was what went into restaurant hash and meat loaf. One thing rarely found—

There were only two national salads—soggy cole slaw or limp lettuce drowned in bacon grease. If you asked for anything but apple pie or rice pudding for dessert, you were put down as finicky—and a troublemaker.

In many a small town the only reliable places to eat were in a home or the local Elks' Club. Sometimes the only way the Rotarians survived was to throw away the limber lamb served at their weekly luncheons and concentrate on the mint julep.

All that is changed today. There has been a quiet revolution in American eating habits.

It never trust a man who isn't interested in good food, William Allen White once said.

If the culture of a country is measured by the quality of its food, America is on the upbeat in this respect. More and more of our people know what good food is; enjoy it, and demand it.

The "Greasy Joe" type of place, run by a guy in a dirty apron, is on the way out. In practically every community of any size across our broad land there are restaurants now where a man can belly-up to the fine, well-cooked, tasty morsels of enterprising chefs who are an ecstasy of the palate and a joy to the soul.

If a man uses ketchup it isn't because he has to—it's because he actually likes it.

How can you tell a good restaurateur? My test is tea. There is only one way to make good tea. With boiling water. If the waitress brings you tea lukewarm as a loan shark's handshake, get up and flee that place as if it had a hex on it.

Remember, the stomach you have will be your own.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOSS

QUESTION: How can moss plants get water from the soil, when they live on tree trunks?

ANSWER: Most plants live with their roots in the soil so that water and minerals may be brought up to help the leaves make plant food. A few, however, are able to live without roots touching the soil. These "air plants" condense moisture and certain food materials directly from the air and get needed minerals from the rocks and tree trunks they live on. Mosses and lichens are the most familiar air plants. The lichen is the most remarkable, because it can attach itself to absolutely bare rock. You can usually tell lichens by their light gray-green color and the way they grow like little circular mats. Mosses are tufts of rich green; when you look closely into them you will see many interesting leaf arrangements; many look like tiny trees. Mosses can get moisture from the air if they have to, but you will often find them in some crack or crevice where lichen has come first and decayed to make a bit of soil. As the moss decays, it also helps to make soil. The familiar "Spanish Moss," as well as many tropical orchids, can also absorb moisture while swinging in the air.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a magnifying glass and check up on the fascinating world of mosses and lichens. Notice they grow more on the north sides of trees where most of the wind strikes. The tiny caps above the moss plant in our illustration are "spore cases." From these the tiny spores, or seeds, drift out to be carried along by the wind.

Venezuela Battles Diehard Commies

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Still battling diehard Communist, Venezuela is hurtling toward an historic and probably violent election for the successor to President Romulo Betancourt.

Four candidates already are campaigning at full tilt and a fifth will appear next month—the long-awaited choice of Betancourt's own big worker-peasant party, Democratic Action.

No matter who wins the mere election itself would be a victory for democracy in this oil-rich but underdeveloped country.

Apparently weary of temporarily suspending constitutional guarantees to gain extra police powers, Betancourt last week asked Congress to pass an emergency law providing the first stiff sentences for terrorists who shoot policemen and burn down factories.

He has suspended the Communists as a party and banned them from the presidential and congressional elections, tentatively set for November. He has asked the Supreme Court to outlaw the party entirely.

Member-gifts of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will have to develop an insatiable thirst during the remainder of the summer if the district's estimated consumption is reached.

A series of showers in May knocked off demands of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder by one-fourth from last year. At the same time, the amount of water required by oilfield repressuring units declined by one-eighth, wiping out a gain for the previous four months of the year.

June rains have not indicated any immediate change in the pattern. During the weekend Odessa came up with about an inch in two showers.

During May, Odessa consumed 44,583,949 gallons of water, a decline of 21.89 per cent from the same month a year ago.

Diehard Communist elements estimate only 400 of Venezuela's 40,000 Communists have been chosen as FAIN activists. Betancourt's successor must be strong as he will yet be possible to overthrow Venezuelan democracy, say diplomats.

Betancourt is believed to be sounding out the army, the church and other influential groups for opinions on the candidate that should be picked at his party's convention next month.

Democratic Action claims more than a million peasants and workers plus several thousand government employees will be the decisive factor in the expected November turnout of 4 million.

Veteran politician Jovito Villalba, head of the Republican Democratic Union claims to be the big factor in the expected November turnout for the Democratic Action. He describes himself as non-Communist but not anti-Communist.

Three other major politicians are declared candidates and all are united front to beat the Democratic Action. The stumbling block to such a front so far is that each man wants to lead it.

Integration Both Ways

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—While two Negro students were enrolling under court order at the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, a white student enrolled at a Negro school here.

The white student, Robert Muckel, 29, a chemistry teacher from Clifton, Neb., signed up Tuesday for summer classes at Alabama A&M under a National Science Foundation grant.

Muckel is believed to be the first white student in the school's 68-year history.

Muckel said he did not know that A&M was a Negro school until he applied for campus quarters for his family.

"I am no martyr," he said. "I came here just to continue my education."

Business Depends On Numbers Game

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service and the banks and the phone company are just Johnnies come lately to the numbers game. Businessmen have been playing it for more than a century. And many still favor a number when choosing a name for a new product.

The numbers game has worked fine for many of them. The digits have become household words. Customers have had little trouble remembering the numbers—every woman knows what you mean when you say Clotel No. 8. And some companies hold onto the number titles long after diversifying or expanding product lines—Heinz 57 varieties once was an accurate tally but now the company makes some 300 products without changing its slogan.

Generations grew up quite at home with 20-Mule Team Brand just as any youngster today can tell a Boeing 707 from a DC-1. But many depositors still aren't reconciled to losing their names and becoming numbers as the bank. The IRS last is leading all income tax payers into the same faceless category as it caters to the electronic computer. And the AT&T stoutly ignores all protest against its dropping exchange names for lengthy strings of digits that stand for paying customers.

The origin of some of the number brand names goes far back in history as well as far from the market place. For example, we are told that in the 1820s a Mr. Brand was chief to Britain's King George IV. One day the potent monarch tasted a new sauce and, with a "Brand" that was before the "logie for A-OKAY." So when the chef set up a business for himself he called his concoction "Brand's A-1 Steak Sauce" as it still is known.

The five oil company groups required 213,337,934 gallons for their purposes, which was 12.90 less than for May of last year. Lower oil was up 21.63 per cent, Texas Gulf which uses a relatively small amount was up 140.5 per cent, and Standard - Sinclair up 24.06 per cent.

The board of directors of the Scary County Rodeo Association this week completed preliminary plans for its 22nd annual Scary County Rodeo, which is set for July 15-19.

Indications of prompt favorable action on a proposed merge of U.S. Highways 180 and 260 have been received by Bill Lee, U.S. 180 Association president.

The proposal was advanced here last month at a joint meeting of the U.S. 180 and U.S. 260 Associations.

Civil Rights Legislation May Be Slow

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's call for civil rights legislation swiftly received the backing of congressional leaders of both parties but they expressed the prospect to be slow and turbulent.

"I will devote my very best efforts to seeking an effective program," said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois after Kennedy's address to the nation Tuesday night.

Dirksen said he recognized that Congress has a responsibility in this field and that he should be some action in this session.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, made it clear he does not expect any final action until late summer on any of the civil rights proposals the President promised to send to Congress next week.

Humphrey had told a news conference Tuesday that administration leaders will press for action on other segments of his program—some form of aid to education, a long-range tax reduction bill, youth employment measure and other legislation.

Two White Men Are Shot As Maryland Race Riot Erupts

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—Two white men were shot and at least four other persons were injured when a race riot erupted in this small Eastern Shore community late Tuesday night.

A tense racial situation flared into violence when a crowd of about 100 whites followed an equal number of Negro demonstrators back into the Negro section.

The Negroes had just finished their second march on the town's courthouse and jail protesting the sentencing of a Negro boy who had been arrested several times for participating in racial demonstrations, were adjudged to be delinquent Monday and sent to state training schools for an indeterminate period.

In addition to demanding that all classes be declared integrated next September, the Negroes have been demonstrating for weeks for desegregation of the town's approximately 20 restaurants and for increased employment opportunity.

Science Wonders Unfold For 500

AUSTIN — A fascinating vision of a world where the hydrogen bomb has been harnessed into a peaceful energy source is the theme of the 500th anniversary of the birth of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation. The celebration is being held at the University of Texas at Austin.

DR. EMMETT L. HUDSPETH, professor of physics at the University of Texas, explains one of the displays at the Texas Nuclear Science Symposium held this week at Austin. Listening to Dr. Hudspeth, one of the speakers on the symposium program, are Stuart Long and Bob Carroll, science students, and Bob Cole, science teacher at Snyder High School. They were guests of Texas Electric Service Company at the three-day meeting jointly sponsored by the University of Texas and the Texas Nuclear Energy Research Foundation, composed of 10 electric power companies operating in Texas.

Buddhists Hike Pressure On Diem

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Buddhist demonstrations against the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem are expected to increase despite an appeal for calm by the embattled president. Some of the Buddhist anger also is directed at the United States because American weapons, furnished for the war against Communist guerrillas, have been turned on Buddhists according to the government of religious persecution. Diem, a Roman Catholic, told the aroused South Vietnamese people Tuesday night he was "very sorry" about the torching of a 73-year-old Buddhist monk in downtown Saigon. Faced with one of the gravest crises in his eight-year rule, the 62-year-old president promised resumption today of negotiations on Buddhist demands for more religious freedom and social reforms. He blamed extremists for arousing public opinion against his government with false propaganda. "I solemnly declare that behind Buddhism in this country, there is the constitution which means I myself," he said. About 80 per cent of South Viet-

Registration Bill Signed By Governor

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally has signed two bills fixing an annual $5 voter registration fee and revising Texas election laws. Both measures are by Sen. Tom Crigton of Mineral Wells. The bills are expected to take effect only if voters approve Nov. 5 a proposed constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax. Election law revisions were based mostly on non-controversial recommendations of a legislative citizen study committee. One major change provides that poll watchers be from any precinct in a county. The bills take effect in late August.

House Votes Own Pool

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has taken the plunge and voted to build a swimming pool for its own use. The action stirred a few protests. "Why?" asked Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, Tuesday as he tried to knock out the provision for the House pool. "Can't members take their trunks or bikinis under their arms and go to the Senate pool?" Because the Senate rules say only senators can use it, replied Rep. Arthur Young, R-Texas. That's a segregated pool, Gross said he was amazed. "Let's see if the Kennedys can do something about it," he said. "I don't care which one." The Kennedys will be spared the effort, because the House approved the pool, 192 to 28.

East Areas Cool, Dry

By The Associated Press
Fairly cool and dry air covered much of the eastern half of the nation today, bringing a spell of unseasonably warm weather in many northern areas. Hot and humid weather continued in much of the Deep South and a warming trend was reported in most of the western half of the country. Temperatures in the east fell were 5 to 15 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier. Readings were mostly in the 40s and 50s in the northern half and in the 60s and 70s in the southern sections. Guilty Verdict Is Returned By Jury

A verdict of guilty was returned by a jury Tuesday afternoon against R. C. Popson of Snyder who had been charged with illegal transportation of inebriants in a dry area. Judge Sterling Taylor, who presided over the county court trial, assessed a fine of $100 plus costs. Popson's attorney, J. W. Tucker, filed a writ of habeas corpus with the county court earlier. The case was set for trial on May 23 to a plea of guilty. Tucker was charged with illegal transportation. He was fined $100 plus costs of $36.33. The charge had been filed by the Texas Highway Patrol.

Substitute For Exemption Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the House today, a substitute for a tax exemption for research equipment as a current expense. Also rejected was a Kennedy proposal to allow business firms to deduct the cost of research equipment as a current expense. VICE PRESIDENT: A constitutional amendment to transfer the powers and duties of a disabled president to the vice president under conditions to be prescribed by Congress has the endorsement of the American Bar Association. Lewis F. Powell Jr., Richmond, Va., president-elect of the law group, endorsed the amendment Tuesday. He told a Senate subcommittee agreement like those between President Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and between former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his vice president, Richard M. Nixon, are "hardly an acceptable permanent solution."

Slant Well Testimony Will Stand

TYLER (AP)—Defense lawyer John Glass Sr. failed in an effort to strike out testimony about a slanted well Tuesday in the federal trial of three men on hot oil charges. The government then presented another witness to support its contention that the defendants produced oil illegally by drilling a well underneath an adjoining Shell Oil Co. lease in East Texas. On trial are E. B. Hearn Sr. of Houston, Daryl Guimier and E. B. Hearn Jr. of Longview and Associates Drilling Co. A 29-count indictment accuses them of transporting contraband oil between states and filing false production reports. Glass was cross-examining Hearn, court commissioner James Smith, who testified the defendants' 22 well on the L. Givens lease deviated as much as 34 degrees from vertical. The defense lawyer asked if an instrument used in a survey, identified by Smith as a Toleo, would detect an inclined hole in a well drilled in a coarseness manner. Smith said the instrument would not do this, nor would it indicate in what direction a well slanted. Glass then moved to strike out the testimony and U.S. District Judge Joe Steery overruled him. Walter Cooper, an employee of the Eastman Oil Well Survey Co., testified he conducted tests on the well last June. He said the method employed in these tests included taking photographs inside the well which gave both degree and direction of any deviation. U.S. District Judge at the trial nullified the testimony of the Toleo.

Grandmother Faces Charge Of Murder

HOUSTON (AP)—A grand jury charged Mrs. Ruby Oliver, 67, with murder Tuesday in the slaying Monday of Earl Thompson, 38, of Freeport. She was quoted by police as saying, "I didn't want to see him wreck my daughter's marriage and my grandchildren's lives." Thompson was found dead in his blood-spattered pickup truck Monday, shot in the back. Mrs. Oliver told police she shot the man after meeting him to talk over his relations with her daughter. "I only had my daughter's interest at heart," she told police.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Two Negroes—a girl and boy—went to their first classes at the University of Alabama today and white students extended friendly hands in an atmosphere of tranquility.

Three girls walked with Vivian Malone as she went from her dormitory to a classroom building. They chatted as they strolled.

And a white youth called James A. Hood "Jimmy" in advising him that he had taken the wrong turn along the tree-lined campus at one point.

Across from Comer Hall, where Miss Malone went to study business administration, a National Guardsman in green fatigue uniform stood nearby near three federal marshals.

The marshals had followed the 20-year-old Negro discreetly in a car from her dormitory, a matter Hood denied.

The high campus quadrangle was thronged with students hurrying to class.

A few newsmen were present. Hood, walking in his first class, started to take a wrong turn.

A student in a short-sleeved shirt saw him and called, "Hey, Jimmy, it's over this way."

around Alabama public schools cracked down, federalized National Guardsmen.

Miss Malone is studying business administration and Hood's major will be psychology.

A third Negro student, David McGilberry, plans to enroll Tuesday at the university's Huntsville center, 50 miles north of Tuscaloosa.

The breaching of the racial wall in Alabama, which had been the only state without token integration in public schools, provided a dramatic prelude to a demand by President Kennedy for abolition of color lines in the nation.

Kennedy said Tuesday night in a nationwide radio-television broadcast that he will seek to expedite legislation next week to eradicate racial barriers in private businesses serving the public.

This includes hotels, restaurants, theaters and retail stores.

"I shall ask the Congress to make a commitment—it has not done so in this country in 120 years—that there shall be no place in American life or law," the President said.

The 43-year-old governor grim and determined, stood off federal officials in the first meeting at the university.

He read a proclamation to Nicholas Katzenbach, deputy attorney general of the U. S., back to camera.

Wallace, who had earlier been told by the President to give up his defiance, replied: "I wish to make a statement."

But for the unincarnated federalization of the National Guard, I would be your commander in chief.

I know this is a bitter pill for you. For the youthful governor it 500 counts as his bitter defeat.

Wallace said again that Alabama citizens should refrain from violence.

He denounced the federal government's "trend to military dictatorship" and then almost angrily unhooked a microphone from around his neck, let it drop to the floor and left the doorway.

Applause, cheers and yells followed him as he rode away.

Bill Hiking Car Coverage Is Signed

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally signed into law today a bill covering motor vehicles to increase their auto liability insurance coverage.

The bill, by Rep. Don Fairchild of Cooper, raises the limit on liability insurance from $5,000 for death or injury to one person and $10,000 for more than one death or injury to $10,000 and $20,000.

Fairchild said the bill raises Texas requirements to those required by nearby states. It also reduces the motor-vehicle safety responsibility act.

Opponents, including Reps. John Allen of Langueva and James Cullen of Weatherford, said the measure will raise about $5 per year. The measure goes into effect August 1.

Connally also signed a measure raising up six new district courts in Texas. Two each in Dallas and Houston and one each in Orange and San Antonio.

Connally vetoed five measures and a resolution. One of the bills which provided that the state legislator be appointed by a majority of the Board of Insurance and that this appointment would be subject to the approval of the attorney general.

One bill dealing with mortality tables used by the Board of Insurance, disapproved a bill signed earlier.

Gov. Connally Takes Brains Over Bricks

By JERRY PILBARD
AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally said Tuesday night that he would spend $12.4 billion out of a record $3.1 billion state spending bill because bricks were given preference over brains.

The governor went to statewide television to declare that the legislature's appropriations bill for 1964-65, seriously short of the state's needs, was a "bricks over brains" bill.

At an afternoon news conference he brushed aside questions about a special legislative session, saying only that he will be watching education developments closely.

"If I determine there is a critical need for a special session, I'll have no hesitancy to do so," Connally said.

Connally said, "It is possible not to call one. I don't, but at the same time, I want to point out that I'll keep in touch with educators in the state to see how education is progressing, and to see if this program is in danger."

Rep. W. Henry of Public Affairs, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he guessed Connally would set a session in August.

Connally, picking out construction for hospitals and special schools, a proposed $3.6 million state building and other building items, vetoed a total of $12,430,924 from the spending bill passed by the legislature May 24.

He pressed the legislature for higher education and approved the legislature May 24.

Pointing to a chart, Connally said he asked $25 million for bricks and new constructions and the legislature jumped this to $32.6 million.

I submitted my budget in March and if I would have known the money was not going to be appropriated at least in part, where I wanted it, I would not have recommended the taxes I did.

No More Flights Set In Project Mercury

WASHINGTON (AP)—Space Chief James E. Webb announced today that there will be no additional Project Mercury orbital flights.

Instead, Webb said, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will move ahead with the program for the two-man Gemini spacecraft, which will practice the space-docking maneuvers that will be required later for Apollo flights to the moon.

Webb told the Senate Space Committee that the decision against another Mercury flight was reached this morning at a conference with Associate Director Robert Seamans Jr. and Deputy Administrator Hugh Dryden.

Project Mercury director and the seven original Mercury astronauts had urged that one more Mercury flight be attempted, this one of about 100 hours.

But Webb said plans and preparations for another Mercury flight would slow development of the Gemini program, the first flight in which two men would fly.

It will require the first team in the manned spaceflight program to do the work we must do in the Gemini program.

The 22-orbit flight of Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. last month completed the scheduled series of planned Mercury flights early in 1963.

Research and development chief Max Faget said one of the basic questions is how well a man can take weightlessness and then return to the normal gravity on earth.

Basic questions are: Is there a wasting of man's muscles and bones on the weightless condition when he does not have to work against the pull of gravity?

Faget would like to know because his engineers are concerned with the behavior of men in spacecraft conditions for long periods—even up to a year in a manned orbital space station.

Riots Erupt On Project In Harlem

NEW YORK (AP)—Demonstrators and police clashed today at the site of the new 800-bed Harlem Hospital. Three men, two of them Negroes, said they were injured.

About 150 demonstrators had assembled to protest what they called discrimination against Negroes in employment in the building trades.

A dozen pickets attempted to block the entrance to the site at Lenox Avenue and 126th Street and were pushed back by police with wooden barricades.

Herbert Hill, NAACP national labor secretary, said he had an appointment with acting Mayor Paul R. Sirrine at City Hall later today and would protest what he called "police brutality."

Hill and other spokesmen of the organizations demonstrating castigated the police for "failing to enforce the anti-discrimination law which they maintained is violated daily at construction sites in New York City."

Mississippi Negro Leader Shot; Search For Assassin

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Medgar Evers, one of the Negro leaders in the massive civil disobedience campaign against racial discrimination in Jackson, was shot to death in the driveway of his home early today.

Police launched a widespread search for his assassin. They said they had no definite leads.

Evers, 37, Mississippi field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, died at University Medical Center about 50 minutes after he was shot.

Chief of Detectives M. B. Pierce called the shooting "most infamously." He asked the FBI to assist in the investigation.

In New York, Roy T. Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, said the death of Evers demonstrated "again...the blind and murderous hatred which oppresses 50 million Mississippians in this dark land."

Report Macmillan's Cabinet Backs Profumo Case Action

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan held an emergency Cabinet meeting today and reportedly persuaded his shaken ministers to back his handling of the Profumo vice scandal.

None of the ministers would speak publicly about the meeting, but in fact, none of them looked very happy about it.

But the usually well-informed British Press Association said it was evident that the meeting had been a harmonious one and that there may well be a unanimity of view.

These facts leaked out.

The Cabinet received the report of an inquiry into whether resigned War Minister John Profumo violated security in his relations with model Christine Keeler who was having an affair at the same time with Soviet navy captain, Eugene Ivanov.
