TEACHERS DEMAND EDUCATION AGAINST ALCOHOLIC LIQUOR

N. E. A. WANTS TO TEACH PERIL OF DOPE AND BOOZE

SCHOOL MEN LEAVING AS DALLAS CONVENTION CLOSES

ASK BETTER PAY

LESS POLITICS IN SCHOOL WORK IS ALSO DEMANDED

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Tex., Mar. 3.—Demands for education against narcotics and alcoholic liquors, for a federal department of education, for less politics in schools, better pay for teachers, elimination of propaganda in school courses, and a scientific study of school taxation, were made by the department of superintendence National Education association at the close of its 57th annual convention here today.

One Dissent Resolutions read by J. M. Gwin of San Francisco, newly elected president of the department, were adopted with but one dissenting vote. The only practical action of the convention in its entire six-day session came from George W. Wannamaker of St. Matthews, South Carolina, who opposed the federal department of education recommendation on the grounds that it would lead to federal domination of the schools.

Before a handful of delegates who were all that remained for the final action, Dr. Wannamaker declared that under a national education secretary "the autonomy of the American school system would be relegated to the rear."

Refuses Objection W. M. Davidson of Pittsburgh, chairman of the legislative committee, with authority to marshal all public school teachers in a campaign for the new education bill, refused Mr. Wannamaker's stand, declaring that under the proposed bill "there can never be centralization of educational power in Washington."

After hearing several hundred speeches and addresses on many phases of modern education and holding more than 200 meetings since the group and departmental gatherings started last Thursday, the delegates were leaving for their homes tonight.

Musical Event A musical event, which the meeting has been awaiting with eagerness, was presented tonight with a program by the national high school orchestra. The orchestra was composed of some of the best high school instrumentalists of the country, gathered here during the past week under direction of Joseph E. Maddy, supervisor of music at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Fate of 46 Seamen Adrift Is Unknown

NOFOLK, Va., March 3 (AP)—Nine vessels, buffeted by a fierce northeast gale and heavy seas yesterday, tonight were endeavoring to make their way to the coast, but the fate of the 46 seamen on two barges which broke adrift from the tug bath days between the island and Chinese League, Va., remained unknown while three other barges, each with crews of five men, also were drifting off the coast. The tug, from the steamer City of St. Louis of the Ocean Steamship company, bound north from Savannah with a passenger list of 18 persons, indicated that she was out of danger and was using her hand steering gear to continue her voyage. Last night the steamer was reported in a position off the Hatteras shoals with her power steering apparatus out of commission.

TAKES PARTING SHOT

Consent of Texas, As Congress Drives to Close, Remains As Lining of Mexican Embargo

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—With less than 24 hours of life remaining for the 58th congress, Representative Connally, democrat, Texas, who has vigorously opposed the administration's Mexican policy, took a parting shot at the state department by introducing a resolution to prohibit the lifting of the embargo on arms shipments into Mexico. It was referred to the house foreign affairs committee, where it will die with the congress tomorrow.

YEAR'S BUILDING $11,000 Building permits for March were yesterday raised to $6,000, and for the year to $181,950.

SENATE DEBATES ON BUS QUESTION

POLICY OF STATE TOWARD LINE CARS UNDECIDED AFTER DISCUSSION

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, March 3.—Debate on the policies the state should adopt in regulating bus companies occupied all of the time of the senate this afternoon and the question was undecided when the upper house finally adjourned for the night.

The question of indemnity insurance company to the bus companies and their patrons and the question of authority the railroad commission should be given in denying certificates to companies were the points upon which most of the debate hinged.

The first question was finally decided upon by the adoption of an amendment which would permit an injured patron to come into court in a suit in which the bus company and the insurance company were co-defendants.

Senator Bailey of Cuero, and Senator Woodward of Coleman, made the principal fight for this amendment, declaring that under the present law the injured patron would be forced to sue and obtain judgments against the bus company and the insurance company before collecting.

Mexican Ambassador Leaves Washington

TELLEZ LEAVES SUDDENLY; GOVERNMENT SAYS NOTHING

NO FORMALITIES

STATE DEPARTMENT MUM ON QUESTION OF RECALL

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Sudden departure of Ambassador Manuel C. Tellez for Mexico City tonight led to rumors that his recall had been requested by the state department.

The department refused to comment upon this report but it was learned from official sources that no such request had been submitted to the Mexico City government.

Slips Away The ambassador slipped off of Washington early tonight, and it was several hours before his departure became known. No embassy formalities apparently preceded his leaving, only his private secretary accompanying him to the train. The ambassador left his wife and two children here.

Embassy officials declined to discuss the departure of the ambassador or the persistent report he had been recalled. He went from New York where he plans to catch a steamer for a Mexican port.

Refuses Interviews During the day there was unusual activity at the Mexican embassy as the envoy prepared to leave Washington, and neither he nor the counselor, Senger Castro-Leal, would see newspapermen. Tellez has been ambassador here since February, 1925.

The attention of officials here is known to have been drawn recently to documents in connection with the American-Mexican diplomatic controversies which have been distributed or at least made available through embassy sources. There has also been evidence for several weeks of extraordinary precautions on the part of the Washington government to safeguard its confidential report dealing with the Mexican situation. Whether this latter aspect of the situation is involved in the note sent to the Mexican government and the reply received in Washington, presumably today, is not known.

MEXICO CITY, March 3 (AP)—The foreign office declared tonight that the report the Washington government had given solicitation that Manuel Tellez was no longer persona grata is unfounded. Under-Secretary Estrada said.

"Foreign office does not know the source of these reports which is considered without foundation. The foreign office has not received any such notification."

Babe's business arrangements came on thick and fast this post-ponement of the formal signing of his contract with the Yankees, under which he is to receive $210,000 for three seasons, became necessary. The event was put off to 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

DAUGHERTY-MILLER JURY DEADLOCKED

ONE JUROR HOLDING UP VERDICT IN CASE OF FORMER ATTORNEY GENERAL

(By Associated Press) FEDERAL COURT, NEW YORK, March 3.—A seemingly deadlocked jury that has the Daugherty-Miller case for fifty-seven hours tonight had not reported a verdict at 10:25 o'clock tonight. They returned to 10:55 o'clock after hearing several parts of the testimony relating to the whereabouts of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty on April 19, 1921.

Questions were asked about former Allen Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller's whereabouts on the same day.

All Together The testimony showed that Daugherty was in New York in President Harding's suite, James W. Smith, Daugherty's handy-man, also was in New York that day, as was Richard Merton and the late John T. King, republican national committeeman from Connecticut.

King's appointment had for that day, on which Smith was arrested, and a hotel account showed that Daugherty was in the Hotel Carlton hotel. A juror number nine opposed to the one holding up the verdict.

CHICAGO, March 3 (AP)—Three student nurses, all young, pretty and of the flapper type, today tearfully told of their parts in a mistake which resulted in the death yesterday at Columbus Memorial hospital of five newborn girl babies and the serious illness of two others one of which may not recover.

The nurses told Dr. Herman N. SHANGHAI GREETES BRITISH MARINES

1,000 ENGLISH SOLDIERS COME TO AID IN DEFENSE OF FOREIGNERS

(By The Associated Press) SHANGHAI, March 3.—Shanghai's international settlement today welcomed 1,000 royal marines from the British steamer Minnesota, who were landed to strengthen the forces which already have taken up positions for the defense of the district.

Meanwhile news was received that the Cantonese armies had executed several movements indicating that their next major effort would be a thrust toward the Nanking railway to forces from their bases, rather than a continuation of their direct advance from the south upon Shanghai.

While the general movements of the armed forces continued, agitators within the city were urging an attempt to break down the administration of the international settlement, such as took place at Hankow recently and were advocating a general strike. The belief that Russians were connected with the movement was expressed by the local authorities.

Secret Handbill Despite the efforts of the police to cope with the situation, handbills which appealed to the youth of Shanghai to join the Chinese Communist League of Youth were posted secretly. Other handbills called for a conference to elect a citizens' government, and for the disarming of the shattered forces of Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang, erstwhile defender of Shanghai.

FILIBUSTER ON REED COMMITTEE

HOLDS 36 HOURS

SHORT SESSION TO CONFIRM NOMINATIONS INTERVENES

STARTS AGAIN TODAY

TO ADJOURN AT NOON, AND SLUSH FUND IS STILL DEBATED

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—The senate recessed at 12:06 a. m. until 8:30, after being in session continuously for more than 37 hours.

Just before midnight it went into executive session to consider nominations and agreed to recess until 8:30 a. m. tomorrow at its conclusion. Shortly after the executive session got under way, a row developed over confirmation of the members of the new radio commission.

On meeting tomorrow the Reed resolution to continue the life of the campaign funds committee, which had been before the senate continuously since 11 a. m. yesterday will still be the unfinished business.

Just previously to going into executive session it refused by a vote of 47 to 38 to sidetrack the resolution of Senator Reed, democrat of Missouri, to continue the life of the campaign funds committee, which had been before the senate continuously since 11 a. m. yesterday will still be the unfinished business.

At noon tomorrow the tenure of the congress expires by constitutional limitation, and no meeting of the new senate and house is in prospect until next December. Repeated efforts today and tonight to break the deadlock and permit action on the appropriation and other pressing bills merely had the result of stiffening the lines of the contending forces and producing new threats to keep up the fight until the gavel falls at twelve o'clock tomorrow.

The house also sat until late, but worked feebly on various unfinished subjects. Several days ago it completed its legislative program except for a few last-minute adjustments.

Senator Reed of Missouri was the driving force behind the campaign funds resolution which would give the investigating committee of which he is chairman authority to continue its activities during the summer recess. The leader of the filibuster was Reed, of Pennsylvania, whose state had furnished one of the principal fields of inquiry for the committee. There were times when the two senators were themselves ready to suspend hostilities long enough to let some of the other bills through, but in each instance objection was raised from some other quarter.

Vare's and Smith's Credentials O. K.

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Credentials of William E. Vare, senator-elect from Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, senator-elect from Illinois were unexpectedly and unanimously approved today by the senate election committee.

Action was taken after the formal certificates of election from the state governors had been presented in the senate in the midst of a filibuster against a resolution to continue the life of the special committee which reported huge expenditures on behalf of both in their primary campaign last year.

Chairman Brand and other members of the election committee said approval of the credentials by the senate would have no bearing upon the efforts that will be made to bar Vare and Smith at the next session.

Norma Has a Reputation for Salads

Norma Talmadge
There is an old French saying that it requires love, passion and romance to make a good salad.
If that is true, it is no wonder that Norma Talmadge is well known in the screen celebrities' column in Hollywood for her ability as a "saladist."
Her reputation has been known to carry her through the making of many perfect salads. One of these for instance, is called ginger-celery salad, though few have been able to identify its strange flavor.
The Secret
Here is Miss Talmadge's recipe for it:
Dissolve 2 tablespoons of gelatin in 1/2 cup of cold water, and pour over 1/2 of boiling water. Strain and add 2 cups of sliced celery, 1 cup of sugar, the juice of 1 lemon and 1 orange, and 2 tablespoons of pineapple juice. Add 1 cup of berries, 1 cup of sliced cherries, and 1 cup of chopped blanched almonds.
Place in molds and chill. Serve in hours of lettuce with French dressing. Your guests will love it. Devour it promptly and never feel any remorse for having done so.

Of Interest to Women

(By the Associated Press)

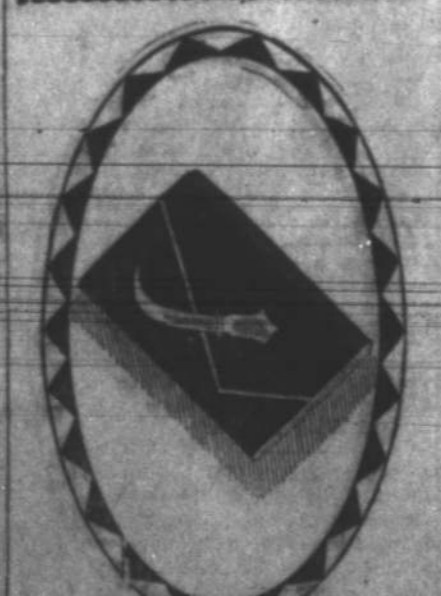

Texas Woman Heads Chamber of Commerce
CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas.—A long established precedent was broken in Corpus Christi when Mrs. Lorine Jones Sprouls, who believes that an individual "debt to a community can only be paid by public service," was elected president of the chamber of commerce. She was the unanimous choice of a board of directors composed of men. Her term of office is for a year and its bestowal was the greatest civic honor the city could confer upon a resident. A statement issued by the chamber of commerce said she "invaded man's last stronghold, but it is bound to be all right because she was elected by the men themselves and they are pleased and proud of their choice." Mrs. Sprouls, the daughter of W. W. Jones, pioneer cattleman of Southwest Texas, long has been active in club and civic work.

The Woman's Day

By Allene Summers

ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK has never puffed a cigaret in all her life! As announces the 45-year-old diva in answer to thousands of protests that followed publication of a recent ad which printed the Heink's picture and her signed endorsement of a certain cigaret, "I always smoke Blanks. They are kind to my throat, said she over her nose."

W. C. T. U.ers who have ever held up the Heink as a shining example of old-fashioned womanhood lifted their hands in holy horror. Younger women who did smoke, to the horror of their elders, gleefully exhibited the ad with a "there, you think she's such a paragon of all the womanly virtues! How do you like that?"

But the elders may settled down and the youngsters must get a new argument, for the Heink now says she wants the world to know that she does not smoke and that she just signed that endorsement for an old friend without reading it. And here's warning that after this the lovely Mrs. Heink will read before she signs!

Funny, this world. Overright the older generation which had been comforted and shielded to the very marrow by her gorgeous voice was ready to egg her when it believed that she smoked! And, as is usual with the world, the lesser thing drowned out the greater beautiful thing.

"GROW, LITTLE FAT GIRL!"
No fat girls need apply for rooms in the new $50,000 home for young women to be built in Toledo, O., according to terms of a strange will left by a millionaire of that city.

The home will be for "young women between the ages of 16 and 28, of small stature no fat women need apply, bright, ambitious, stylish, and good to look at," according to the wording of the will.

No clue is given as to the reason. Did a fat girl once do him wrong? Does he fear that the appetites of the feminine behemoths may work hob with the income, or does he, male wise, wish to contemplate eyes in his grave the hideous spectacle of a host of shifty footlings romping with fair and veer and elan and grace through the classic halls of his mansion?

"The jazz made me feel queer inside," said Floyd Hewitt, 16, who has confessed to looting to death a neighbor's young wife, then crashing in the skull of her baby boy. The woman's husband worked evenings. It was customary for the neighbor boy to go across the street each evening to listen to the radio. "Music gets me all stirred up," he had said before the fatal evening when it stirred him to a double murder.

And how the reformers and the howlers against jazz will utilize this story to the last scum! If the legislators would utilize it as well and provide more institutions for the morons that endanger every home, it would mesh a little more!

A smack o' salt...
Tang! Zest! Like a whiff of the sea. That's the salt on Brown's Saltine Flakes. It emphasizes their delicate wheat flavor as nothing else can.
Tenderly crisp they are—and oh so light and flaky. But they are able bodied biscuits too, full of vigorous food value. For pound they contain more calories than white bread.

AMERICAN FIRST

We hear much of America and Americans. Our nation is populated by a mixed group of people. There are people here from all nations, there are all colors and almost all tongues in the America of today, but are we all real Americans.

SHARKEY WINS ON TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT

REFEREE STOPS FIGHT IN TWELFTH AFTER VETERAN IRISHMAN HAS PUT UP GAME GIVE-AND-TAKE BATTLE

(By The Associated Press) MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, March 3.—Jack Sharkey, two-time heavyweight champion, won his twenty-third fight by a technical knockout over Mike McTigue in the twelfth of a fifteen round match.

Referee Kid McPherson stopped the fight with McTigue still on his feet, but not uttering a word from the mouth in a stream, it appeared that the veteran Irishman had been severely slashed in the jaw and he was in bad shape, staggered and with blood from the referee intervened.

Sharkey was leading by a decided margin on points when the unexpected finish came, but Mike had put up a game, give-and-take battle. The sailor used his big advantage in weight, 135 to 170, to pile up a lead on points.

Round One

Round Two

Round Three

Round Four

Mike was leading cleanly now and the Boston boy's confidence was a bit shaken. Sharkey riled into McTigue, hitting his left hook as he came in to take the Irishman on the ropes. Mike pulled a series of head on his above and they battled for minutes. The crowd booed Sharkey who he refused to shake hands. Sharkey jumped in and they smashed madly to head and body. They met to toe in the center of the ring. Mike was driving in to the attack now, picking the offensive for the first time, and blood oozed from Sharkey's left eye. The crowd roared when Mike saw, snatching his left easily in Sharkey's head while Jack bruised back. The Celt did not want to stop fighting at the bell.

Round Five

Round Six

The pace was slower now as they danced around and confined their efforts to popping lefts. Sharkey came in close to hit both hands in jarring hooks to the head, but Mike barred two lefts deep into Jack's body. Mike was looking steadily now, saving his strength against the better condition and being heavier of his powerful right. Sharkey quit boxing with a swinging attack that put Mike to the ropes, but Mike followed two snoring rights to the chin to offset Sharkey's body bombardment at the bell.

Round Seven

Sharkey tore out, both arms swinging and more snoring Mike over the ropes. Two lefts missed through Mike's guard, but that was all Mike let go with the right, the punch that knocked out DeWitt. It landed on Sharkey's chin and he did not even blink. Mike went back to boxing again. Sharkey didn't want that. He drove two lefts into Mike's chin on the ropes, and coming out stepped a heavy right to the chin. Mike's right eye was almost completely shut at the bell.

Round Eight

Mike was moving backward at a fast clip now, spreading a trail of anarchy in his eyes. Sharkey took them all, mostly on left eye, and cut more, just to tell his right hand to Mike's body occasionally. Mike suddenly took the offensive, crashing a right and left to Sharkey's head as they thrashed into the ropes. It was over in a second but Sharkey tried the boxing stand now. He couldn't jab Mike, and he was so much in the clinch that McTigue was not

Round Nine

Sharkey drove a pretty left hook through Mike's guard. They locked lefts and clubbed each other with rights half way around the ring. Sharkey's right and strength kept him consistently attacking. Mike was cautious to lose only. It was a jabbing match again, with little excitement as they boxed and showed their technical ability in the bell.

Round Ten

Sharkey jabbed and clinched. Mike jabbed and clinched. Then Sharkey did it all over again. Mike was backing into the ropes and he struck those who Sharkey tried to find a vulnerable spot. Mike was too crafty so they went back to jabbing. Sharkey crashed a right and left hook to the head and Mike boxed in dead earnest. Another right bounced off Mike's chin. A left hook almost pinned Mike, now groggy, on the ropes. The bell halted the skirmish.

Round Eleven

McTigue was weakening now and content to jab. Sharkey drove him in the ropes and hammered three clubbing lefts into Michael's face. McTigue broke clear, dizzy and blinky, but still boxing for all he was worth. Sharkey's left hook doubled Mike in again near the ropes when the Irishman tried to find Mike's head. Sharkey went back to battle at the referee's insistence however. Mike was stoned now and Sharkey's lefts reached his head frequently. They stood and jabbed at each other from swollen eyes and bloody lips after the bell should have sent them to rest.

Round Twelve

Sharkey drove a heavy left to McTigue's head and blood poured from his mouth. He was spitting mouthfuls of blood, reeling back from a steady hammering when the referee stepped in to stop the bout. The crowd was on its feet yelling for him to do it, convinced that McTigue was severely cut and in danger. First reports were that an artery had been cut to cause excessive bleeding. The fight was stopped two minutes, one second of the twelfth round.

Calles Gives Blow to Boycott Rumor

MEXICO CITY, March 3 (AP)—Sagacious circulated here of a Latin-American boycott against the products of the United States received a reverse today when President Calles issued a decree suspending the import duty on the next sixty thousand tons of wheat brought into Mexico. This amount represents the estimated short-crop of the Mexican wheat crop below domestic requirements. The language of the decree is interpreted as meaning that, falling in itself, Mexico must import foodstuffs which will come mostly from the United States.

Nothing Startling in Farm Situation

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3 (AP)—With the agriculture season getting under way early this year, department of agriculture economists "see nothing in the business situation which offers any outstanding signal so far as the 'farm of America' might be concerned." SPRING FOOTBALL TRAINING BEGINS FOR LUBBOCK HIGH-SCHOOL GRID ASPIRANTS; ABOUT FORTY ARE OUT

With more than forty husky and vigorous Westerner gridsters training under the Von Tungen and Prinka regime things look ray for the 'champs' of the local high school football team in their fall card with the strong clubs of the Panhandle. This is the first spring that football training has been given to the high school club. Coaches L. J. Von Tungen and Henry Prinka feel that since the home eleven had scheduled a hard game for the first part of their season's action that it would be best to train the recruits through the fundamentals of the game before the time for training in the fall came around.

Restrains Wife From Talking to Husband

RANSAN CITY, Kans., March 3 (AP)—A man doesn't have to listen to his wife's talk if he doesn't want to, Judge C. A. Miller of the Wyandotte county court ruled yesterday. The ruling came on the motion of William E. Carson, attorney for Mrs. Hulda O. Neumann, 24, for a modification of the restraining order recently obtained by her husband, Arthur L. Neumann, 38. The restraining order enjoined Mrs. Neumann from interfering or communicating or attempting to converse with him or having contact with him in any manner communicating with him upon the terms of his place of employment, the Santa Fe railroad, or elsewhere.

Five Tossers Have Seen Major Series In Both Big Loops

Since the inauguration of the world series, only five players have represented both leagues in the annual fall classic.

Up to the 1925 clash between Washington and Pittsburgh, only three players had so figured. That fall "Dutch" Reuther and "Stuffy" McInnis, representing the Athletics and having played in both leagues in the big event of the year.

Jimmy Archer was the first player to actively represent both leagues in the world series. He caught for Detroit in 1907 against the Cubs and later joined the Cubs to work in the 1910 series with the Athletics.

Jack Combs started for Connie Mack in 1916, winning three games. He defeated the Giants one game in 1917. In 1918, pitching for the Brooklyn Dodgers, he won a game from the Boston Red Sox with Carl Mays opposing him. Combs has the unique record of winning five world series games and losing none.

Frankie Mayer pitched for the Philadelphia Nationals in 1915 against the Boston Red Sox and later worked a few innings for the Chicago White Sox against Cincinnati in 1919.

"Stuffy" McInnis, who had represented the American League as a member of the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox, broke into the Pittsburgh lineup against Washington in 1925 and just about saved the series for the Pirates.

"Dutch" Reuther, who pitched for "Doc" Egan, caught the Chicago White Sox in 1919. He represented both Washington and New York of the American League in 1925 and 1926.

LIVELY SCRIMMAGE EXPECTED ON HUDDLE AND SHIFT FORMATION AS HOYLES OF FOOTBALL MEET TODAY

Fair Weather for Baseball Training

(By The Associated Press) AN ANNEAPOLIS, Md., March 3.—Fair weather came back today to Florida, where most of the major league squads are being groomed for the big push for pennants, and there was activity on every field. Managers, who had had to curtail or halt practice yesterday because of the unseasonable cold kept their athletes busy until late afternoon. Good weather also favored the Detroit Tigers' training activities at San Antonio, Texas, and the Chicago White Sox at Shreveport, La.

In Florida, Dave Bancroft decided that with most of his squad on hand, they should indulge in a little variety, so he divided the Braves into a couple of squads and sent them against each other. He will select a line up from the two sides to meet the Washington Senators Saturday in the first regularly played exhibition game of the season.

"Bucky" Harris, also did a little setting house in order for the entertainment of Boston by turning his pitchers loose full force with Muddy Ruel and Benny Tate taking their offerings. Fred Marchery, who works mostly in the relief role, signed his contract for the Griffs. The holdout atmosphere that was thick a week ago had purified today until merely a haze hung here and there, most noticeable over the quarters of the Cincinnati Reds where Hendrix has four absences.

Thirteen Band Boys Are Given Medals

As reward for their work in a concert sponsored by James W. Crowley, director of the high school band, 13 boys received medals yesterday at the close of the contest. They were: Howard Hunt, Emory Hollar, Harmon Jenkins, A. G. Stalnaker, Calver Hill, Manell Hall, Don Greder, Hamilton Jenkins, Walter Oliver, Weldon Scarborough, Horace Phelps and Audrey Provan. Each of the concert called for successful rendition of numbers of pieces which included the Washington Post march, The Stars and Stripes Forever, Cottage Grove march, and Panorama Overture. At the opening of the contest Crowley had planned to give only ten medals but three other boys were so close to the others that the thirteen medals were awarded.

HEFLIN ASSAILS GOVERNOR SMITH

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Governor Al Smith of New York as a possible democratic presidential candidate was assailed in the senate yesterday by a democrat, Heflin, of Alabama, and defended by a republican, Edges, of New Jersey.

Edges expressed the hope, however, that he would not be a candidate. Senator Edges said he did so "because I consider him one of the strongest if not the strongest democrats in the country today."

Senator Heflin who again attacked the Catholic church said it would be "extremely dangerous to make Smith, a Catholic, president with the Mexican situation as it is."

"Why, I could beat him myself," he declared.

Senator Heflin was taken to task by Senator King, democrat, Utah, for a denunciation of Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, whom Heflin called "an agent of the Roman pope."

"I cannot permit the charge to stand here," Senator King said in paying tribute to the ability of Sir Esme, "that the British ambassador has conspired at war or entered into any conspiracy derogatory to the best interests of his country of mine."

Thinks Tanlac Great Tonic

Mrs. J. P. King, almost crippled in left arm and right leg, gained 10 lbs. and felt much better in every way. Gives Tanlac credit for it.

"I had a worn-out, no-account feeling," said Mrs. King, of 2613 Junius Street, Dallas, Texas. "I was hardly able to drag myself around. At times I could not bend my left arm, owing to stiffness and pain. Nor could I straighten my left leg. My husband, knowing that Tanlac had helped me once before, brought home some more and urged me to take it.

"All the old aching sensation soon left me. My appetite picked up and my digestion improved. Daily spells which used to frighten me, stopped altogether. DAILY MARKET

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 3 (AP)—The cotton price came was gradually dragged down across today by the surplus of indifferent cables. Liquidation, hence selling favorable weather in the belt. The end of the day found it 3 to 7 points downstream.

The first downward swing came under the information of unfavorable cables, inducing liquidation and hedging selling despite Liverpool spot sales of 13,000 bales in the day. The movement was met by 6 bolls, however, which swept values to the highest point in the day with May selling at 14.23, July 14.09 and October 14.70, 3 to 4 points over the opening figures.

The steady downstream sweep, despite stiff padding and the lightening information of Houston report showing purchases as compared with last year, dragged May down to 14.41, July 14.32 and October to 14.61, 5 to 12 points below the high.

A rally in the last minutes of trading regained 3 to 10 points of the loss and the close was steady. Exports totaled $7,406,700.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—The cotton market was less active today, prices easing off under profit-taking by recent buyers and reports of slightly larger southern offerings. May declined to 14.34 or 15 points net lower, but on slightly more trade buying or covering in the last half hour, that delivery closed at 14.42. The general market closed steady at net decline of 1 to 4 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points on a report of covering by near month shorts or over-night buying orders from the trade, but Liverpool was lower than day and prices soon turned easier. Circulation of a few March notices seemed to ease the spot month position and bring in consolidation house liquidation. Trade forecasts bought March against sales of later months at a widening difference, and the March liquidation tapered off during mid day. At one time March seemed to be selling about 14 points under May, and the two months were about 5 points apart at the close.

More southern selling was reported here than recently, and there were rumors that spot cotton was coming out more freely, but nothing definite developed in that connection, and the bulk of the pressure was attributed to realizing or local selling for a reaction. After settling off to 14.24 for March and 14.41 for October, the market steadied in late trading on covering and a renewal of trade buying.

Private cables reported hedge selling and realizing in the Liverpool market. Exports today 37,355, making 1,387,419 on for this season. Port receipts $2,824. U. S. port stocks 2,762,434.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—Cottonseed oil was active and prices were bid higher than recently, and there were rumors that spot cotton was coming out more freely, but nothing definite developed in that connection, and the bulk of the pressure was attributed to realizing or local selling for a reaction. After settling off to 14.24 for March and 14.41 for October, the market steadied in late trading on covering and a renewal of trade buying.

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—Cotton goods were firm today. Advance of 1-3 of a cent to 1-4 of a cent 3 yard have been paid for contracts of sheetings and print cloths for delivery in April-May, following the rise in cotton and further sales. Printed goods were in good demand. Emotions have been freely for March shipment from California at advances. Local markets were firm. Wool goods were steady but quiet. Silks sold in moderate quantities for early shipments.

WOOL

KUYKENDALL CHEVROLET COMPANY 1501 Main Phone 10

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—The raw sugar market was unchanged today. Sales consisted of 41,000 bags of Cuban, loading next week, 10,000 bags of Puerto Rican and 13,000 bags of Philippines in 2007 all at 22c. The current month's option was steady, but distant raw sugar futures were easier under liquidation and commission house selling, continued liberal offerings in the spot market and the large Cuban production figures accounted for the ease, with final price 2 points higher on March and 1 to 2 lower on other deliveries. Approximate sales 20,000 tons. March closed 2.85, May 2.17, July 2.28, September 2.35, December 2.24, March 2.93.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 3 (AP)—Confronted by big Argentine shipments and by fine weather for the domestic crop, wheat today tended to ease. Closing quotations on wheat were easy, 1-3 cent to 3-8 cent net lower, corn 3-8 cent to 3-8 cent down, oats 1-4 cent to 1-2 cent off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7 cents.

Corn and oats were affected by some heavy weather in crop area.

Shipping demand here for corn failed to improve, and country offerings were larger. Provisions reflected weakness of hog values.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, March 3 (AP)—Hogs 37,000, slow, 10 to 15 lower; top 12.25; bulk 11.20 to 12.15; sows 10.50 to 10.75; pigs up to 12.20; estimated holdover 12,000.

Cattle 8,000, strong, steers 11.00 to 12.20, best yearlings 12.00; stockers and feeders 7.50 to 8.75; vealers 11.00 to 13.00.

Sheep 12,000, fat lambs weak to 25 lower; top 15.75; bulk 14.75 to 15.20; sheep steady; fat ewes 5.75 to 6.25; feeding and shearing lambs unchanged; bulk 14.00 to 14.50.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 3 (AP)—The live stock market today was a mixed affair. Steers were strong, cows and calves steady and yearlings slow, a drop of 10 cents to 15 cents occurred. In the hog trade sheep remained steady. The count was for 2,600 grown.

HEFLIN ASSAILS GOVERNOR SMITH

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Governor A. Smith of New York as a possible democratic presidential candidate was assailed in the senate yesterday by a democrat, Heflin, of Alabama, and defended by a republican, Edge, of New Jersey.

Both expressed the hope, however, that he would not be a candidate. Senator Edge said he did so because I consider him one of the strongest if not the strongest democrats in the country today.

Senator Heflin who again attacked the Catholic church said it would be "exceedingly dangerous to make Smith, a Catholic, president with the Mexican situation as it is."

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 3 (AP)-The cotton price canoe was gradually dragged down stream today by the currents of indifferent cables. Liquidation, hedge selling, favorable weather in the belt. The end of the day found it 3 to 7 points downstream.

The first downward swing came under the information of unfavorable cables, including liquidation and hedge selling despite Liverpool spot sales of 14,000 bales for the day. The movement was met by a rally, however, which swung values to the highest point upstream for the day with May selling at 14.55, July 14.64 and October 14.76, 3 to 4 points over the opening figures.

The steady downstream sweep, despite stiff padding and the lightning liquidation of futures report showing a decrease of 594,735 tons of fertilizer purchases as compared with last year, dragged May down to 14.41, July 14.52 and October to 14.61, 9 to 12 points below the highs.

A rally in the last minutes of trading regained 9 to 10 points of the loss and the close was steady. Exports totalled $7,400 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)-The cotton market was less active today, prices easing off under profit-taking by recent buyers and reports of slightly larger southern offerings. May declined to 15.34 or 15 points net lower, but on slightly more trade buying or covering in the last hour, that delivery closed at 14.42. The general market closed steady at net declines of 1 to 6 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 6 points on a renewal of covering by near month shorts, or over night buying orders from the trade, but Liverpool was lower than due and prices soon turned easier. Circulation of a few March notices seemed to ease the spot month position and bring in commission house liquidation. Trade interests bought March against sales of later months at a widening difference, and the March liquidation tapered off during mid day. At one time March seemed to be selling about 15 points under May, and the two months were about 9 points apart at the close.

More southern selling was reported here than elsewhere, and there were rumors that spot cotton was coming out more freely, but nothing definite developed in that connection, and the bulk of the pressure was attributed to realizing or local selling for a reaction.

After selling off to 14.24 for March and 14.81 for October the market steadied in late trading on covering and a renewal of trade buying.

Private cables reported hedge selling and realizing in the Liverpool market. Exports today 37,455, making 7,757, 818 so far this season. Port receipts 23,924. U. S. port stocks 2,762,434.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)-Cottonseed oil was active and prices lower today under commission house liquidation and selling by refining interests, promoted by the weakness in crude oil. Shifts covered on the decline. After showing losses of 7 to 17 points the market rallied and close 2 to 10 points below last night's final. Sales 29,100 barrels. Prime grade 8.00; prime summer yellow spot 8.65. March closed 8.70; May 8.88; July 8.87; September 8.97; October 8.87.

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)-Cotton goods were firm today. Advance of 1-5 of a cent to 1-4 of a cent a yard have been paid for contracts of sheetings and print cloths for delivery in April-May, following the rise in cotton and further sales. Printed goods were in good demand. Burings have sold freely for March shipment from Calcutta at Advances. Local markets were firm. Wool goods were steady but quiet. Hides sold in moderate quantities for early shipment.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Death strikes GARRETT FOLSON while bathing with a party at Ocean Town, N. J. At the Hotel Majusca, where they had been guests, an inquiry is begun, after a doctor, perfunctorily examining him on the beach, pronounces him dead.

Folson's companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON. It is established that Folson, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BARNABY, known as the copper king.

Folson's sister, ANASTASIA, is sent for in New York. Then the startling announcement is made that Folson had been stabbed to death in the water. ROSS, his valet, is questioned, but no light is shed on the mystery.

Anastasia Folson, eccentric and successful, takes command. An inquest is ordered and many attend. It is established that the death weapon was a pichao, an Oriental knife, and that it and its scabbard had been purchased on the boardwalk.

It is also brought out in the inquest that Folson's fortune is to be divided between his sister, Roger Neville and a nephew, DANIEL PELTON. Anastasia announces she will engage a private detective.

NO GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII
The coroner cleared at last, but as she of course, had a right to engage a private detective. If she chose, he made no response to her irritating speech.

"I would like to hear from those who were in conversation with Mr. Folson just before he went into the ocean," said Hubbard. "Mr. Neville, you were in his party?"

"Yes," Neville said, stepping forward. "We went in the water together."

"There were others with you?"

"Two ladies, Mrs. Barnaby and Mrs. Valdon."

"Yes. And tell me now, did you notice anything unusual about Mr. Folson's manner? Anything apprehensive?"

"Absolutely nothing of the sort. Mr. Folson was in the best of spirits and ready to enjoy his ocean dip with the best of us."

"You and he were business partners, I am told."

"That is correct, and was in the same business."

"What company was that, Mr. Neville?"

"The Royal Realty Company. But Mr. Folson was president, I am merely vice president."

"Are you real estate?"

"Yes, a Chicago concern. Now that Mr. Folson is dead, much of the business will devolve on me."

"Naturally. And you are one of Mr. Folson's heirs?"

"Yes, as Mrs. Folson stated."

"Now, Mr. Neville, will you recount as exactly as you can the circumstances of Mr. Folson's death? Tell the minutest details as you saw them."

"I was at some distance from our party, and whenever I endeavored to speak to them a wave came and either bowled me over or swept away all sound of my voice, so I gave up the attempt and merely swam around in the surf by myself."

"Then what was the first intimation you had of anything having happened to Mr. Folson?"

"Naturally I glanced toward our own crowd now and then, and as I looked I failed to see Folson. I thought nothing of that at the moment, as he was now and then left the rope, but I next saw one or two life guards come to the rope and then people got between us and I couldn't see what was going on. But then I saw the two guards carrying someone ashore and I recognized at once that it was Garrett Folson."

"You were near enough to see him then?"

"I didn't see his face, but I recognized his bathing suit, gray with black stripes, and I felt sure it was he. I went immediately to where the bodies of our party stood, holding the rope and they were almost overcome with fear that Mr. Folson had suffered a stroke or an attack of some sort. I advised them to go ashore at once, and suggested that we all go to our bath-houses and dress in order to be of any possible assistance to our friend."

"And that is what you did?"

"Yes. They agreed that was the best thing to do, and we were soon dressed and back to the hotel, where we heard the news of his death and inter of his murder."

"Thank you, Mr. Neville. Now, as his business associate and as co-official in his company, are you in charge of Mr. Folson's papers and letters that are down here with him?"

"Before Roger Neville could answer Miss Folson spoke up.

"Indeed he is not. I am in charge of my brother's effects, including his money, letters, papers and personal belongings."

"She sat upright and glowered at the coroner as if he had offered her a deadly insult."

"Oh, I beg pardon, I'm sure. Are you then the executor of Mr. Folson's estate?"

"No, his lawyer in Chicago is his executor. But as nearest of kin, I am in charge of his property, and I propose to remain so."

"You have his rooms at the hotel?"

"I have."

"Has anything been touched?"

"She gave him a glance that was almost pitying."

"Everything has been touched," she said. "Last night, before I slept, I went over every one of his letters and papers as well as all his clothes and personal property of all kinds."

"And you found no papers or letters that could in any way give any hint as to the possible identity of the assassin?"

"Again that look of utter scorn mixed with the menace one might show to a small child or an irresponsible mentally."

"Had there been any such? Anastasia Folson informed him, 'I should not now be here listening to this futile querying, but I should be after the suspect and getting him behind bars!'"

No, I found no letter or paper that gave the least hint of which way to look for his murderer. But that in no way deters me from continuing the search. I shall yet find the villain and shall see to it that justice is done."

"You will hold those papers and letters subject to the investigation of the police, madam. We will send our detectives to examine them shortly."

"You may, sir. No one will be more glad than I if you can find any more of a way to look for light on the matter."

"Mrs. Barnaby was the next witness called, and the Duchess, though trembling with nervousness and embarrassment, walked steadily up to the designated chair."

"There is no use in repeating testimony," Coroner Hubbard said, speaking gently, as he noticed her quivering lip and trembling hands. "Just tell me if you noticed anything about Mr. Folson's manner or speech that was unlike himself or betrayed fear or nervousness of any sort?"

"No, I did not," the Duchess replied, relieved at the easy question. "But I knew Mr. Folson only slightly, not so well as the other members of our little party. You see, he was a friend of the others. I only met him the night before—before last."

"You stood next to him in the ocean?"

"Not at the time he went under. I was next him but one then."

"Who was next him?"

"Mrs. Valdon."

"And on the other side?"

"I am told a Mr. Barron was. But I do not know Mr. Barron."

"That will do, Mrs. Barnaby. Mrs. Valdon next."

Carmelita came forward, looking so beautiful that many present gave an involuntary gasp of admiration. Though in no way over-dressed, her bright-colored beach cape, falling from her graceful shoulders, gave her the look of a Spanish princess. Indeed, the beach cape was made from a Spanish shawl, whose gorgeous embroidered flowers shone out lustreously from a black background.

"Mrs. Valdon, will you add anything you can do to the story of Mr. Folson's death in the ocean yesterday?"

"How can I add anything? I do not even know that he died in the ocean except by hearsay."

"While not exactly Gippant, Carmelita's manner was distinctly distinguished, and the coroner was a little at a loss how to treat her. But he felt it was best to give it to her straight," as he expressed it to himself, and he said, steadily, "Do not attempt to quibble. You know now how and when Mr. Folson met his death. Can you tell me anything in the way of detailed description of what you saw during his last moments?"

"No, I can't," said Carmelita, not partly, but with a look of sadness, as of one thinking back over a harrowing scene.

"Yet you stood next him?"
