Lee Pebworth Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Murdering Harve Bolin In Ranch Battle

(By The Associated Press)

PORTALES, N. M., Oct. 5. — A sentence of 99 years in the state penitentiary was given today to Lee Pebworth, 60, who was indicted by a grand jury for the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Harve Bolin of Plainview, Tex. He pleaded guilty this afternoon to a second degree murder charge.

Similar charges against Joe Jones, Pebworth's son-in-law, and Stanley Hedrick, also indicted for the slaying, were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Bolin was shot in a gun fight at the Pebworth ranch near here last August 20. With other Texas and New Mexico officers, he had gone to the ranch to arrest Pebworth who was indicted for robbery of a bank at Olton, Texas. A. C. Hunsaker and Jack Sullivan also were indicted on the bank robbery charge and were believed to have been in hiding at the ranch.

A group of men ran from the house as the officers approached and opened fire. Bolin was killed and R. L. Hollis, special deputy of Portales, was wounded.

Pebworth was wounded and later was captured after he fled in a car. Hedrick was with him but claimed Pebworth forced him to drive the machine. He said he had no part in the slaying. Jones also denied participating.

Sullivan was captured later in a gun fight with Sheriff Bob Crim of Lamb county, Texas, and other Texas and New Mexico officers at Mountainair, N. M. He was wounded and later was returned to Texas on the bank robbery charge. No trace has been found of Hunsaker.

Cotton Farmer Promised Relief Under Plans For Liberalizing Crop Loans

Burden Lifted With Plan; Accepted On Nine Cent Basis

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The Agriculture Department today announced a plan for liberalizing crop production loans in cotton states by accepting the staple as collateral on the basis of nine cents per pound on middling 7-8 inch.

Henry S. Clarke, director of the 1932 crop production loan office, said the action "will ease the burden of repayment of such loans and should result in improving the cotton market."

Some To Be Favored

Cotton will be accepted as collateral on loans of this year and on unpaid balances of loans made prior to 1932. In "certain areas" not specified in the announcement the department will allow nine and one-half cents per pound on middling 7-8 inch cotton. Differentials are to be prepared, Clarke said to provide premiums for staple longer than 7-8 inch and grades better than middling as well as discounts for short staple and lower grades.

Today's announcement followed the 75 per cent suspension of 1932 crop payments accorded wheat farmers a week ago. At that time Senator Smith (D., SC), demanded participation by the cotton and tobacco growers.

Deliver Cotton To Co-Op

Those who obtained crop loans for cotton production will be required by the department to deliver their cotton to the Cotton Cooperative association or to federal bonded warehouses.

In the latter case, the cotton must be insured and warehouse receipts delivered to field agents of the department or to the regional crop loan collection office. Receipts must be on sufficient cotton to collateralize the loan at nine cents per pound.

The borrower must sign an agreement reserving the right to sell the collateralized cotton at any time prior to March 1, 1933, and authorizing the secretary to sell it in his discretion at any time subsequent to that date.

When sold, the borrower would be credited with the sale proceeds. If the amount obtained is more than his loan, he would be refunded the balance; if insufficient to pay the loan and interest, the balance would remain as an obligation of the borrower.

Campaign Does Not Interfere With Preaching

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5.—The Rev. James R. Cox, nominee of the jobless party president, does not permit his campaigning to interfere with his regular job as pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

He arrived here tonight by airplane from Amarillo, Tex., en route to Pittsburgh.

"You see," Father Cox said, "I asked the bishop whether it would be allright to run for president and he said it would, provided I was back with my flock every Sunday morning."

Linthicum Is Death Victim

Dean Of Maryland Delegation In National House Claimed Wednesday After Operation And Brief Illness

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5.—Representative J. Charles Linthicum, dean of Maryland's delegation in the house, and nationally known figure in the anti-prohibition ranks, died here today after a brief illness.

The 65-year old legislator, who was chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, went to the hospital about 12 days ago to receive treatment for a carbuncle, and after an operation remained there for observation for a chronic ailment.

Beside having been co-author with Representative Beck of the first repeal measure to have reached a vote in the house since the prohibition statute was enacted, Linthicum headed the unofficial committee formed by the wet bloc in the house which planned the strategy of anti-prohibition members.

Of his many activities in that body, one which his Maryland constituents will long remember was his sponsorship of the measure which made Francis Scott Key's "Star Spangled Banner" the national anthem.

Army Fliers Will Visit Here Today

A flight of 17 army airplanes from Fort Sill, Okla., will begin arriving at Lubbock Municipal airport at about 8:30 o'clock this morning. Twenty men, including cadets of a graduating class, are expected.

Identity of the flight commander was not known here last night. It was understood that the fliers, from Kelly Field, San Antonio, were enroute to Fort Bliss, El Paso, via Fort Sill, Lubbock, and Carlsbad. Army attaches at Fort Sill have requested a report of weather conditions here at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

All ships at municipal airport were inspected and reported to be safe by R. W. Delaney, federal inspector, yesterday. Harry Peiser, local pilot, passed tests necessary for him to obtain a heavy aircraft pilot rating.

Bogus $100 Bills Are Discovered Here

Ralls Man Is Held In Jail; Others Sought

At Least 12 Spurious Notes Are Reported In Cities Of This Area; Five Are Found To Be In Lubbock

Woman Implicated

Federal Agents Attempting To Ferret Out Source; Man And Woman Held At Littlefield Are Later Released

FEDERAL and county officers Wednesday attempted to stem a tide of counterfeit $100 federal reserve notes on the South Plains, and last night one man was in Lubbock county jail charged with passing bogus money.

Several men and one woman have been reported as passing the cleverly copied $100 notes, and at least twelve of the bills have turned up in banks and in the cash registers of merchants. A. O. Bybee, Ralls, is charged in connection with passing one of the bills to Kuykendall Chevrolet company Monday night.

Woman Is In Gang

A smartly dressed woman late Tuesday bought a used car from Hub Motor company here, gave three $100 bills, took a check for $32.75 and a used Chrysler coupe, and has not been reported seen since. Hub Jones said the automobile highway license number was 544-901. The car was finished in gray.

Other bills have been discovered as follows:

Santa Fe station at Lubbock, one.
Santa Fe station at Lorenzo, one.
Citizens National bank, Lubbock, one.
First National bank, Lubbock, one.
Petersburg bank, one.
Ralls bank, one.
Sudan First National bank, one.
Littlefield bank, at Dickens, was attempted to cash one there.

Two Are Released

A man, who said he operated a cafe at Dickens, was held for a time at Littlefield after the bogus bill was discovered by the bank there, but it was reported here last night that both the man and his wife, who also had been arrested, had been released. The man said he gave change for the note at his restaurant.

The fake bill at the Citizens National bank was discovered Wednesday morning, Paul Hardwick, cashier, said. A check of the $100 bill was made after an alarm had been sounded about existence of the bogus notes. Hardwick described the spurious currency as an excellent forgery on one side. The forgery easily was discovered when the other side was examined.

Two Are Described

The first fake bill reported here was accepted at the Santa Fe station last Friday night, after two men had sought change at Western Union. Night Manager J. R. Shiro described the pair to officers, and said one was a Lubbock father. A man said to be slender and who was wearing trousers and boots, had the bill. After Shiro said he did not have change for $100 the Santa Fe was telephoned. A messenger boy carried the bill to the railway station, where change was made.

Bybee, who made conflicting statements, officers said, was said to have given the bogus note to J. O. Kuykendall as down payment on a Chevrolet automobile. The First National bank Tuesday morning discovered the bill was forged, and Bybee was

Lubbock Thugs Leave Note For Police After Taking Safe And Receive 16 Cents For Trouble

"Just Tell Those Fellows To Notify Me Next Time They Want In My Safe And I'll Open It For Them," States Lubbock Man; "Tell Them There's No Money In It"

LONNIE SANDERS' 1,000-pound safe was missing last night and Geo. Eubank, police identifications officer, still was chuckling because of a note for him by persons who burglarized Lonnie's Laundry at 1811 Nineteenth street Tuesday night.

Burglary of the laundry, discovered at about 5 o'clock Wednesday morning by L. T. Weed, engineer, netted the marauders only 16 pennies from the cash register, and the safe, containing only business papers.

"You tell those fellows," Sanders said last night, "to notify me the next time they want into my safe, and I will open it for them. I don't want them carting it off in one of my laundry trucks. And if they haven't opened it already, tell them there's no money in it."

The delivery car in which the safe was hauled away from the laundry office was found in the 1900-block of Twenty-First street, about two blocks away, with a flat tire on the right front wheel.

One of the first police officers to the robbery scene was Eubank. He was seeking finger prints. Instead he found that the burglars had used gloves and that a pencled note had been left for him.

The note was withheld from publication because of the implication of the four words it contained.

A rear door of the building had been pried open, it was revealed Wednesday morning. The safe was loaded into one of the laundry trucks housed inside the building and moved away.

McGuire Refuses To Discharge Redman Jury After Failure To Reach Verdict Late Wednesday

Fight To Halt Waters Of Rio Grande Is Continued

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 5 (AP)—The fight to prevent flood waters of the turbulent Rio Grande from causing serious damage in the lower valley continued furiously today as residents of the rich agricultural section rallied to the defense of their battered levees.

Willie Cortez, 22-year old laborer, was drowned in the floodway between Weslaco and Donna when caught in the swift current. He had been working with a crew of men reinforcing a weakened levee.

Further Deliberations To Be Taken Up Today; Daughter Of Defendant Is On Stand At Wednesday Session

(By Staff Correspondent)

TAHOKA, Oct. 5.—The jury which heard the case against Mrs. Ola Mae Redman charged with the death of Howard Chase in June 8, 1931, went to bed tonight without reaching a decision. At 3:20 o'clock this afternoon the jurors told Judge Gordon B. McGuire of 106th district court that they could not agree and asked to be discharged. The judge sent them back to the jury room for further deliberations.

Following the opening of court session this morning Judge McGuire reopened the case. Lillie Mae Redman, daughter of the accused woman testified of a trip she, her mother and sister made to Roswell late in November 1930. The elder Chase, she said when they stopped at Plains, Texas about 8 o'clock that night, gave them money to buy food and a blanket. They bought apples.

Nelson Opens Arguments

After Judge McGuire had charged the jury, County Attorney G. N. Nelson opened the arguments. He spoke of the "force" theory of the defense and of the self defense plea that Mrs. Redman's attorney had indicated.

N. C. Outlaw, defense counsel, spoke for an hour. He dwelt on the self defense plea and also the "unwritten law", although he did not mention it by name. He made a plea for acquittal on those grounds.

Tom L. Price, veteran district attorney, made the closing argument for the state, speaking about 20 minutes on the charge given the jury by the court.

Members of Jury

Members of the jury are: J. L. Poer, O'Donnell, farmer; Bob Chamber, Tahoka, land owner; Harvey Freeman, Tahoka, grocery clerk; J. Mack Noble, O'Donnell, business man; A. H. Hood, Grassland, farmer; H. W. Calloway, Draw, farmer; F. W. Holloway, Redwine, farmer; W. J. Benson, Dixie, farmer; Dred Hobdy, O'Donnell, business man; R. R. Janak, Tahoka, farmer; W. P. Howard, O'Donnell, cotton buyer, and D. J.

New Mexico Posse Is Prepared To Shoot It Out With Pair Of Gunmen After Robbery Of Springer Bank

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGER, N. M., Oct. 5.—Heavily armed possemen patrolled northeastern New Mexico tonight prepared to shoot it out with two gunmen who this afternoon kidnaped H. L. Boyd, cashier of the Citizen's State bank of Springer, and escaped with $5,000.

Boyd, who was thrown from the robber's car near Springer, gave officers a good description of the men. Trace of them was lost after they headed toward the Oklahoma boundary.

Followed Into Bank

The robbers followed Boyd into the bank as he returned from lunch and ordered him to open the vaults. Then they forced him to lie on the floor while they looted the place. They secured $3,000 in cash and $2,000 in securities but overlooked $5,510 in cash, Boyd said.

The cashier was forced into a car the men parked near the bank. They fled southeast toward Roy, N. M. Boyd was thrown from the car a mile from town. The car in which the men fled was found later a few miles from here. It was believed the men escaped in another machine.

Lamesa Is Given Federal Building

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Two hundred and twenty-seven cities and towns throughout the country today were allocated new postoffices under the building provisions of the Garner-Wagner relief law.

The new list, made up almost exclusively of buildings to cost less than $100,000, brought the total so far allotted to be spent for postoffices under that bill to $84,872,600, divided among 410 communities. Previously the secretary of the treasury and the postmaster general who made today's announcement, had allocated 41 buildings costing more than $300,000 each and 142 structures costing between $100,000 and $300,000.

The relief measure provided that where leases expire prior to July 1, 1934, the government must construct buildings. This class of project predominated in todays list. Each such is marked by an (X).

Chapin Declares Downward Trend Has Halted; Critical Phase Approaching

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Secretary Chapin said today that on the basis of Commerce Department figures, showing gains in some industries, it appeared the downward trend had been halted.

In a press conference, the secretary said commodity prices had improved, particularly in farm and food products lines, and that he found indications of strength or moderate improvement in several others. He said the gain in business from August to September was probably 3 to 4 per cent greater than the normal seasonal expectation.

The secretary observed that advances had been confined largely to consumer goods industries such as textiles, leather and food processing but that heavy industries still displayed a tendency to lag. He said construction was holding up in better volume than in the two previous years.

"We now are approaching the most critical phase of the present movie," he said, "the impetus derived from seasonal influences will be largely spent during the current month. It is important, therefore, that everyone make steady efforts to consolidate our gains so as to offset the adverse seasonal tendencies usually operating toward the end of the year and thus maintain the improved trend."

Ferguson Hope Of Victory In Suit Brighter

District Judge Declares His Court Has No Jurisdiction In Contest Suit Brought By Governor Sterling

Sterling Refuses To Comment On Action; Only Chance Now Lies With Higher Court On Reversal Of Decision

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 5.—Chances that the name of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson would be printed on the ballot in the general election as the Democratic candidate for governor brightened today, while the likelihood that Governor R. S. Sterling's name would appear in her stead dimmed perceptibly.

District Judge W. F. Robertson entered a ruling in which he held he did not have jurisdiction to act in a suit filed in his court by Governor Sterling contesting legality of the August 27 primary election, in which Mrs. Ferguson led him by about 4,000 votes and was declared the nominee by the state convention. Sterling sued to have the certificate of nomination set aside on allegations of fraud and illegality in the election and asked that he be declared the legal nominee.

Attorneys for Mr. Ferguson, however, admitted they "were not out of the woods." In their fight to have her name placed on the ballot.

Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, had taken no action tonight toward certifying Mrs. Ferguson to the county clerks, although the injunction granted by Judge Robertson last week restraining her from certifying the woman nominee fell with the ruling that the Travis county, dis-

Tidwell Trial Is Set Today

First Of Four Men Charged In Connection With O'Donnell Bank Robbery To Be Tried In 106th Court

(By Staff Correspondent)

TAHOKA, Oct. 5.—Bill Tidwell, alias J. M. Bradshaw, first of the four men charged by a Lynn county grand jury with the robbery of the First National bank at O'Donnell April 14, 1932, is to be tried in 106th district court here Thursday, October 6.

Tidwell has been in the Lubbock county jail up to several weeks ago when he was brought here shortly after his capture in the early summer. The other men indicted are "Shorty" Brown in jail in Oklahoma and Lee Pebworth, who was sentenced to 99 years in prison Wednesday on charge of murder at Portales.

"Shorty" Brown this week was found guilty at McAlester, Okla., of the robbery of a bank at Haileyville, Okla., last February. He was given a 20-year sentence on his plea of guilty, under the name of Lige Roy Brown.

Tidwell was identified here by Oklahoma officers as having completed a sentence at McAlester on a bank robbery charge, a short time before the Haileyville robbery February 10. He was indicted in that case as was Pebworth.

Bank Looted of $1,400

The robbery at O'Donnell occurred at noon on April 14. J. Mack Nobles, an O'Donnell business man was in the bank when masked men entered and robbed it of about $1,400. They got away, leaving a trail of small nails that punctured the tires of pursuing motor cars. Tidwell was arrested in New Mexico, brought to Texas and identified.

Tidwell first gave the name of

Hilton Denies He Threatened To Kill Brown

Woodrow Man Declares That He And His Wife Knew Walker Was One Of Men Who Tried To Hijack Brown

Attorneys Argue

"We Felt We Owed It To Mr. Brown To Say Who It Was," Witness Testifies; Others Heard On Stand

TWO eye-witnesses to the fatal shooting of F. V. "Feather Hat" Brown at Woodrow, May 30, knew that Hugh Walker was one of the three men who attempted to hijack the pioneer stock farmer but they were afraid to tell officers until more than thirty days later, T. B. Hilton, one of the witnesses, testified Wednesday afternoon in Walker's murder trial in 99th district court.

Mr. Hilton, at whose home Mr. Brown was killed, testified his wife told him that night that Walker was one of the men and that they both were afraid to tell until they had seen Walker in custody of officers on the occasion of the second grand jury investigating the slaying.

Rift Between Counsel

Walker is the third defendant tried for the Brown shooting, two other men, Jess Covington and B. L. "Barber John" Richardson having been assessed eight and twenty years respectively after trials. Richardson's sentence came after a plea of guilty.

Hilton's testimony regarding his and his wife's concealment of Walker's identity as one of the killers came a few minutes before a defense coup in cross examination of the witness had created a slight rift between counsel. Defense Attorney Ben Kucera, examining Mr. Hilton, had attempted to show that the witness had made a threat on Brown's life because of alleged relations between the slain man and Mrs. Hilton.

Objection Is Sustained

District Attorney Durwood Bradley strenuously objected to the court on the interrogation and was sustained. The jury was withdrawn and defense attorneys explained they were attempting to show a motive in Hilton's concealment of the killer's identity.

Isn't it a fact that before you identified these men, you were being suspected of doing the killing yourself?" Kucera had asked Mr. Hilton. Hilton replied that he had heard some talk of them (the Hiltons) being suspected.

"And isn't it a fact that about a year ago you came to a hotel here and found Mr. Brown there with Mrs. Hilton and you threatened to kill Him?" Kucera continued as the witness almost shouted a negative answer.

State Interrupts

"And weren't on present when Mr. Brown and Mrs. Hilton had a fight?" Kucera asked.

At this point the state interrupted and objected to admission of any of the testimony on the grounds that no premeditated had been set and that it had no bearing on the case.

"Are you accusing Mr. Hilton of committing this murder?" District Attorney Bradley asked.

Defense attorneys declined to

Lubbock Loot Found Cached Over Country

Vast Number Of Articles Are Located; Suspect Denies He Robbed Homes But Says He Acted Role Of "Fence"

Loot from at least five Lubbock homes has been found cached, sold, or pawned both in Texas and New Mexico by police who Tuesday night arrested two men and a woman in connection with burglaries last summer. The trio still was held in jail without charges last night.

Four trunks of loot have been found in Roswell, N. M., several guns, musical instruments, and clothing have been reported recovered in five different places in Amarillo, other pieces of loot are reported in Albuquerque, N. M., Willard, N. M., and in Hale Center. Chief of Police Wiley Metcalfe said.

Articles Identified

A portion of articles stolen from the homes of Austin Jones, 2116 Thirty-Fourth street; Luther Bynum, 1920 Fifteenth street; H. A. Watson, 3003 Nineteenth street; J. O. Kuykendall, 1710 Twenty-second street; and S. E. Arnold on Thirty-First street, have been identified already.

The houses were broken into while the occupants were vacationing last summer. Jones reported theft of a steamer trunk, three suitcases, a varnished box, a 12 gauge shotgun, a 22 rifle, a 32 pistol, a violin, and about $100 of linens and wearing apparel.

One May Be Released

One of the men now held probably will not be charged, but the man and woman probably will be charged with burglary today. The suspect claimed that he got the stuff from a man now held in jail in Albuquerque for automobile theft, the police chief said. The man held here told officers he served ten months of a year sentence for theft of chickens. The trunks, now in Roswell, N. M., were shipped there from Albuquerque, police said.

Police began the search for a woman in connection with the burglaries after tracks apparently made by a woman's shoe were found at burglary scenes. Officers said they believed a woman's judgment resulted in the choice of the best dresses and coats in wardrobes of the burglarized houses.

Four Arrested In Liquor Raid Here

Police last night confiscated more than two gallons of whisky and arrested three men and a woman in a raid on a residence in the 2200-block of Avenue H.

One of the quartet, who said he lived at the house, probably will be charged with liquor law violation today. The man, 36, was questioned recently in connection with alleged sales of beer, police said.

Two men and the woman, 18, were arrested in the raid by John Croft, Eugene (Red) Smith, L. R. Rampy, and Bill Mabry at 7 o'clock. A return trip a short time later resulted in the arrest of the third man.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

BEGINNING next Sunday, there is to be a national observance of Fire Prevention week and for seven days an extra effort will be made to disseminate information about the toll that fire takes in property damage and deaths and in ways to prevent so many destructive fires.

Early this week, a story was carried in this paper on the observance that will be carried out by the hundreds of parent-teacher associations in Texas. Mrs. J. M. Crain of Claude sent out that letter and in it she carried some facts that we all should read and remember. We might be a little more careful with fire and help in preventing its destructiveness.

This week is started on October 9 because that is the anniversary of the Chicago fire that occurred in 1871. It is a grim reminder of what little things can lead to great loss and of what our carelessness may cause.

"Human carelessness still causes a greater loss each year than was caused by the Chicago fire," Mrs. Crain writes and then she gives us some startling figures on fires. Some of these figures are going to be repeated here just as a further reminder of what carelessness means and to prompt you to make every week fire prevention week instead of only one in the year.

In 1932 approximately 10,000 persons, 6,000 of whom were women and children, were burned to death in the United States. In Texas 368 people were burned to death. The direct loss in property from fires in this country every year is about $500,000,000 and in Texas the direct loss last year was $18,000,000. The actuarial bureau of the National Board of Fire Underwriters reports a daily average of 1,021 dwelling house fires in 1931. The addition of uninsured houses and houses unreported would bring this total to 1,277, it is estimated.

School teachers of the country are supposed to include fire prevention programs in their courses next week. Parent-teacher societies will have many programs intended to train children in preventing fires and in reminding patrons to be more careful. Next week is a time when there will be a concerted effort to wake people to a realization of this unnecessary loss of life and property.

But all the admonitions in the world will not do any good unless they are put into practice.

The child may learn in school that it is dangerous to start a fire with kerosene or to leave lighted cigarets hanging over the edge of tables. But, this teaching isn't going to have much effect if his parents continue to dash coal oil on the fire to make it blaze in a hurry or if smoking cigarets continue to be left about his home. He soon forgets what he has been taught about fire hazards in trash piles, if rubbish continues to be left about his home.

Until more of us learn to observe the simple rules of fire prevention, we shall continue to have many fires. Carelessness in handling gasoline and kerosene, with electricity and electrical appliances and defective wiring will make more fires and cause more loss of life.

Women who know better will tamper with their electrical wiring or fail to have repairs made about the house. These are among the causes of fires. People who know better continue to clean their clothing in inflammable fluids near open fires.

Every year we carry a number of news stories about people who are burned to death or painfully burned because stoves have exploded and in many instances this could have been prevented by keeping the stove in condition or observing some of the simple rules of fire making.

Children and women burn because they get too close to open fires and their skirts suddenly burst into flames.

Winter is coming. It is a time when there are more fires. It is a time of added precautions. This coming week and every other week should be Fire Prevention week for every one of us. If each of us is more cautious it will mean a saving in lives, in suffering, in property and in peace of mind.

Parties Given For Societies

La Cenacienta, London, Lucky 13 And La Coudre Meet For Afternoon Spent In Sewing And Bridge Games

Club parties were of interest to a number of Lubbock women Wednesday afternoon. Bridge games and sewing were diversions for the affairs which were attended by club members and several special guests.

Mrs. W. P. Cawthon entertained for members of the London Bridge club at the F. R. Friend residence, 2005 Broadway.

Mrs. M. C. Butler made high score and high cut was made by Mrs. R. C. Harvey.

Sewing Enjoyed

Sewing was the diversion for a party attended by members of La Coudre at the home of Mrs. J. T. Howard, 1414 13th street. Mrs. W. A. Lyles presided for a business meeting.

Those attending were Mesdames Addie Spikes, Charles Burkett, A. E. Jones, Howard Kidwell, Lyles, W. E. Latham, L. R. Johnson.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Johnson.

Bridge games were played at the afternoon party given for La Cenacienta club by Mrs. A. W. Logan, 2108 27th street. This is a needle club.

Mrs. R. L. Clinkscales made high score and Mrs. George W. Brewer made high cut.

Others Present

Other guests were Mesdames Floyd Coffman, Aubrey Woodfin, Wilford Bates, Herbert Stubbs, C. D. McGehee, J. B. Morrisset, J. B. Logan and I. F. Kennedy.

Mrs. John T. Read was received as a new member into the Lucky 13 club Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. O. W. Ribble entertained in her home.

Mrs. N. Z. Stewart of Waco and Mrs. Bill Spikes were special guests. Others present were Mesdames Roy Furr, Sidney Oglesbee, A. K. O'Kelley, R. O. Short, E. F. Alford, Joe Telford, Robert Stewart, W. E. Lutz, Allan Hill and J. L. Murfee.

Mrs. V. O. Jennings, 2207 20th street, was hostess to L'Aiquillee club in her home.

Three guests sewed with members. They were Mesdames G. K. Taylor, G. M. Vaughn and E. C. Gardner.

Members attending were Mesdames T. L. Biggs, J. W. Phillips, William Von Wolff, T. W. Keys, Earl Ellison, Dee Puckett.

Today's Events

Mrs. Dick Abbott, 2001 Main street, is entertaining the Ace High Contract club at 3 o'clock in her home.

Mrs. I. F. Kennedy is entertaining the Thursday Bridge club at 3 p. m. in her home, 1119 19th street.

Mrs. Walter Tyler is entertaining Congenial club at 3 p. m.

The Tech Student council is having an evening reception honoring Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Knapp in the east rotunda of the college.

The Junior High School Parent-Teacher association is meeting at 8 p. m. at that school auditorium. George Dupree is to discuss "Citizenship of Junior High School Students." J. W. Day is to play a violin number.

The Lubbock Dancing club dance for this month is scheduled for 9 o'clock this evening at Hotel Lubbock. Hosts are to be Messrs. and Mesdames L. E. Davis, W. O. Daniels, C. E. Dean, Fred Caylor, George Carver, J. B. Acton, Ernest Conley and Paul Crouch.

The Senior department at Asbury Methodist church is to sponsor a benefit program at the educational building beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Club Dance Is Given Tuesday

Ross Edwards Entertains For Third Tuesday Club; Early Days On Range Featured In Costumes Worn

Picturesque appointments were a colorful feature at the cowboy dance given for the Third Tuesday Dancing club by Ross Edwards Tuesday evening at the Uptown Dance pajace.

There was a large crowd in attendance, many from out of town. Of these, the majority wore costumes of the range—big hats, bright shirts and bandanas, boots and spurs. Women wore riding skirts, shirts and hats.

A chuck wagon, camp fire, saddles and blankets brought into the hall carried out the spirit of the occasion.

A song that Mr. Edwards has written and set to music was sung by his sister, Mrs. J. H. Eubank. Several other special musical and dancing numbers were given during the evening.

Miss Claudine Moore of 2340 19th street has gone to Wichita, Kans., where she is to attend the University of Wichita this winter.

Here's That Different Mountain-Grown Coffee
That Husbands Rave About
A Rare and Richer Coffee Flavor From Tiny Mountain-Top Plantations Along The West Coast of CENTRAL America

Coffees Which Experts Concede Are Not Duplicated Anywhere Else in the World
NOT merely another "brand" of coffee. Not merely another "blend." But a rare and different flavor that's guaranteed to make any husband say, "Now, that's what I call real coffee!"
Because men especially appreciate the full, mellow body of these richer coffees from the West Coast of CENTRAL AMERICA. And that's why you find them served in so many noted hotels and clubs for men—and on luxurious transcontinental trains.
Grown high up in tiny mountain-top plantations, these rare coffees make ordinary kinds taste "thin" and "flat" by contrast, according to most men.
For a unique combination of clear mountain air, volcanic soil, and tropic rainfall gives them a flavor which experts concede is not duplicated anywhere else in the world. A rare, winey tang that nature has never imparted to any other coffee!
Difficult to Get
These mountain coffees are comparatively scarce—and difficult to get. For the total yearly crop represents but a fraction of the world's coffee supply.
As a result the average person rarely (if ever) tastes them. While not 1 woman in 50, say domestic science experts, has yet learned that they exist.
But Folger's is one coffee which brings this rare coffee flavor to you. Packed in key-opening, vacuum tins to preserve every vestige of unique mountain-freshness directly to your table.
In order that you may taste it without delay, note the unusual test we invite you to make below.
Try This Test
Just go to your grocer and get a pound of Folger's today. Drink it tomorrow morning.
The following morning serve the coffee you previously used. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.
If, for any reason, you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it?
NOTE: Folger's is particularly economical. Because of greater richness and body, you may use 1-5th less! Make the test today! 149

Matador Field In For Rough Treatment This Weekend

Westerners To Hold Spot On Big Grid Card

Sweetwater Mustangs Here For Home Season Opener Saturday After Matadors Take On The Kangaroos Friday Night

Matador Field will be a busy spot this weekend, what with two important football games lined up for successive nights.

On Friday night, which is just one night away, the Texas Tech Matadors clash with the Austin College Kangaroos, Texas conference title contenders.

Saturday night finds the lights turned on for a high school battle, the first of the 1932 season, in which Coach Weldon Chapman and Coach Burl Huffman will undertake to guide their Lubbock High school Westerners to a victory over the Sweetwater High school Mustangs.

Eyes To High School

The high school battle may claim the limelight of this week's football program, since the game is the first to be played by the 1932 Westerners at home. The opposition, too, promises to bring the cash customers to the field.

Sweetwater, winner of the District 3 championship last year and counted on to repeat this season, opened its 1932 card with a sensational 20 to 0 shutout over the Abilene High school Eagles, state champions. That victory lends importance to the Sweetwater Mustangs and brands them as dangerous foes for anybody on the schedule.

In tackling the Mustangs, the Westerners take on a tartar to begin a season which promises nothing in the way of championships for Lubbock citizens to boast, but a hard game at the start will prepare, in a measure, the locals for what is to follow.

Point To Amarillo

District 1 of the Texas Interscholastic league, stands prepared to send another powerful ball club into the state mixup this season. Last year it was Lubbock who won the district championship, the bi-district game and lost to Abilene in the state quarter-finals. This season it appears to be Amarillo. The Lubbock-Amarillo game is still a long way off, but the Westerners will be thinking about the Sandies from now on.

Announcement that Ney Sheridan, backfield threat of the Sweetwater outfit, had been ruled ineligible brought some comfort to the Westerner forces, but even with Sheridan out of the lineup the Mustangs can present a strong front. Possibilities that Sheridan may be reinstated in time to play with the Mustangs Saturday night are not altogether dim, as negotiations to that effect are now under way in the western half of the Oil Belt.

Tickets for the Lubbock-Sweetwater go are on sale at the Hilton and Lubbock hotel drug stores. Reserved seat ducats are going for 75 cents each, tax included. Student tickets, which may be purchased by high school students at the office of the principal, and which Texas Tech students may procure at the business office of the institution, will be priced at 25 cents.

Hilarious over the Mustang victory last week, Sweetwater fans have taken their football to heart and will support the team at Lubbock Saturday night. A special train bringing a large delegation of students and townspeople is due to arrive in Lubbock early Saturday.

It is difficult for local fandom to work up much enthusiasm over the college game prospects tomorrow night. After seeing the Matadors outbattle the Texas Aggies and S. M. U. Mustangs on succeeding Saturdays, the faithful is ready for more games of the same calibre. Austin College sends a team which has had trouble getting started, but which promises to give the Techsters a battle.

The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Much of historical significance attends the Austin College coach, Cecil Grigg. Grigg succeeded Pete Cawthon as head coach at the Kangaroo institution, bringing a reputation as a player and coach that has been the chief attraction on the ball club since Cawthon left Sherman. A former professional baseball and football player and a coach at one time of a leading professional football team, Grigg possesses coaching talents that compare with his playing talents.

If cold weather Monday and Tuesday lent pepper and enthusiasm to the gridsters in their daily workouts, yesterday's warm sunshine was even more conducive to spirited practice. The Matadors appeared to have a lot of fun galloping over the practice field at Tech while the Lubbock Westerners were just as enthusiastic, although a bit more seriously inclined, in their drill at Fair Park.

Gus Moreland Back Home To Play Charity Match Today

DALLAS, Oct. 5. (AP)—Gus Moreland, Texas, Trans-Mississippi and Western Amateur golf champion, and member of the United States Walker Cup team, will play his first match here tomorrow since his return from the Western and National tournaments. He will pair with David "Spec" Goldman, finalist in the Trans-Mississippi, against George Aulbach and Larry Nabholtz, Dallas, professional, in an exhibition charity match.

Tech Football On The 'Up And Up' Says Parker

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas Tech's 6 to 0 victory over Southern Methodist was absolutely no surprise to those who had seen both teams in action. Tech played a smashing game against Texas A. and M. only to lose, 7 to 0.

Coach Pete Cawthon has a redoubtable football team that promises to be even better at mid-season. There is no danger of Pete running shy of material. The freshman recruits at Texas Tech reads like a roster of all-state high school stars. They came from all sections of West Texas, and even from central and eastern parts of the state. They numbered 81 on the first day of official practice, but have been whittled to 37, some dropping out because of competition and others going to other schools where the football camps were smaller.

Abilene Players Enroll

Some of the stars remaining at Lubbock for next year's varsity include Gaines Davis and Sam Jones of Abilene, both members of last year's state championship team; Bert Williams and Mack Scoggins, members of the 1931 powerful Lubbock team; Brode Puckett of Spur and Roy Brandon of Cleburne. Almost every strong high school team in West Texas last year is represented on this year's Texas Tech "fish" squad.

It looks like football is on the up and up at Tech.

Sport followers generally are familiar with the story about the substitute baseball player who went to sleep on the bench, slipped off and injured himself. Here's a new wrinkle on a similar story, only this time, it was a football player.

It occurred last Saturday at the Dallas Sunset High school and Corsicana State Home game. Bill Bushman, Sunset coach, saw defeat for his aggregation because Corsicana was consistently gaining through one of the Sunset guard positions. Wishing to stop Corsicana, he called a husky Sunset warrior off the bench who had looked plenty powerful in practice and told him to go out there and stop the Corsicana rush.

Full of the old fighting vim and eager for a chance to show his coach the stuff he had in him, the lad hopped from the bench, made one leap toward the field and went down in a heap near the side-line. He struggled to rise but couldn't. Bushman (and was his face red) rushed to the reserve player, inquiring the trouble.

"Gee coach," replied the reserve player with tears streaming down his cheeks, "But I've pulled a knee ligament and can't stand up."

He was carried from the side-line, crippled before he could even reach the playing field. Bushman, coach that he is, still blushes when the incident is mentioned to him.

Carideo Divides Tiger Squad For Saturday Battles

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 5. (AP)—Coach Frank Carideo divided his Missouri football squad into two sections today, one to play Central College at Fayette Friday, and the other to battle Texas here Saturday.

Wayne Wright, Kansas City, fullback candidate, saw much service against the freshmen in scrimmage today and may press Ross and C. Houston for the first string berth. Hatfield at halfback and P. Yeckel at guard, practiced with the regulars, but gave way to Talent and Consoliver, to prevent possible reoccurrence of injuries.

Victory To Be Protested For Doubtful Play

Home Run In Ninth Sews Game Up After Players And Umps Argue 40 Minutes Over A Questionable Catch

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5. (AP)—Newark's Bears went into the lead in the Little World's Series by winning the fifth game today 12 to 9 but it took 40 minutes of argument and a ninth inning home run to do it. Minneapolis announced plans to file a protest.

Only 3,659 persons paid to see the International League champions go in front three games to two.

Harry Rice, centerfielder for Minneapolis, champions of the American Association, provided this point for debate in the first half of the ninth inning after two Newark batters were out. The score was tied 8 to 8. Johnny Neun, Newark first sacker, drove a short fly into Rice's field. The latter came in fast, hitting the ground at about the same time the ball finished describing its arc.

Whether Rice caught the ball remains to be decided by the stove league. After Completing his fall and rolling about, he arose with the ball in his hand. Umpire Johnston at third base ruled the ball had been caught, that Neun was out and that Saltzgaver, who had dashed home from third, had not scored.

Newark protested and Umpire Carroll at second base supported the contention that Rice had not caught the ball. The decision was reversed, then switched again, and then Umpire Bill Summers at home plate, called a conference of the arbiters. It was decided that the ball had not been caught before touching the ground.

Manager Donie Bush of the Millers and Rice were ordered from the field for too much talking. Bush said he would appeal to the advisory board.

With Saltzgaver's run accredited, Red Rolfe cracked out a home run over the right field fence, scoring Hargreaves and Neun, putting his team in the lead 12 to 8.

A Miller rally in the last of the ninth was cut to one run when the fourth Newark pitcher of the day, Johnny Murphy, bore down. Pete Jablonowski started for the Bears, lasting less than six innings. He was followed by big Jim Weaver, who was knocked out in a few minutes. Rufus Meadows, pitched less than two innings.

This quartet allowed 14 hits including a home run by Hauser, Miller first sacker. The Bears hit safely 17 times including circuit blows by Hill, Jensen and Rolfe. Jess Petty started for the Millers, followed by Ryan and Vongilder.

They Battle Matadors Friday Night

Planning to give the Texas Tech Matadors a game they'll remember, the above Austin College Kangaroos are devoting much time and energy this week in preparing for tomorrow night's battle on the Tech field. Jim Messick, upper left, is line captain of the Kangaroo team. He plays regularly at tackle, and is one of the most important factors of the Austin College team. Burnet Cox, upper right, a guard and letter man from last year's team, is another important threat. Lower left is Edwin Spencer, the fastest man on the team. He plays halfback. Frank McConnell, lower right, is a regular end, and a good one from all reports.

Gossip Names 3 Senator Players In Manager Talk

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP)—Three members of the Washington ball team were mentioned today in fandom's gossip over the successor to Walter Johnson as manager.

A number of those trying to read the mind of Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, seemed to feel that Joe Judge, veteran first baseman, was the favorite. Others talked of Sam Rice, outfielder and Joe Cronin, star shortstop. The name of Bucky Harris, now manager of the Detroit Tigers also was heard occasionally in the outpour of speculation.

Griffith, who announced last night that Johnson would not lead the team next season gave neither confirmation nor denial to the gossip.

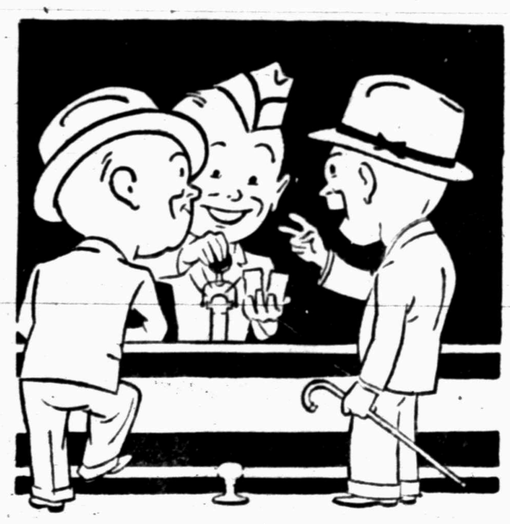

Veteran Lineup To Face SMU Mustangs In Saturday Game

HOUSTON, Oct. 5. (AP)—Six seniors and five juniors are expected to comprise the starting lineup for the Rice Owls in their first Southwest Conference game against the Southern Methodist University Mustangs. That no sophomore would be in there at the start was indicated today when Coach Jack Meagher supplanted "Ox" Hinman, big end, with Randy Strong.

The starting lineup expected to oppose the Mustangs: Adams, le; Myer, lt; Michelson, lg; Harris, center; Dickey, rg; Lauterbach, rt; strong, re; Glore, quarterback; Scott, lh; Thrasher, rh; Captain Driscoll, fullback.

Myer, Harris, Dickey, Strong, Thrasher and Driscoll are seniors, the others juniors.

Dan Richardson, 170-pound end from San Antonio, suffered an injury to his shoulder that may keep him from the game Saturday. His loss will hurt the Owls considerably.

Longhorns Off To Clash With Mizzou Tigers

Littlefield Takes 30 Players To Columbia To Face Frank Carideo's Gang In Opening Intersectional Combat

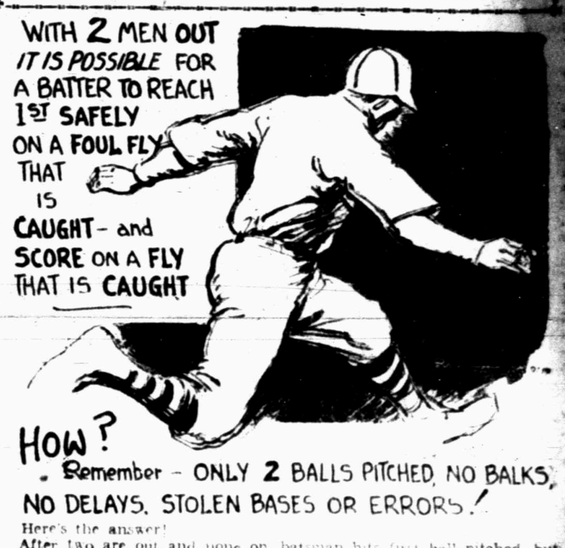

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—Coach Clyde Littlefield and thirty members of his University of Texas football squad will leave here Thursday noon for Columbia, Mo., where on Saturday the Longhorns will meet Missouri University in their first intersectional game of the season.

The steers wound up their practice session for the week here Wednesday, by engaging in a lively scrimmage, in which the "B" team ran Missouri plays against the varsity with little success.

Coach Littlefield, who severely reprimanded his charges for their listless and spiritless showing against the Centenary Gents here last week who defeated the Steers 13 to 6, is hopeful that the Missouri game will be the turning point for the better. His squad is in good physical condition and considering the Centenary reverse, is in fairly good spirits.

"Cheesie" Cook, who was switched to an end position at the start of the season will probably be back at his old guard post against Missouri, with Cliff Braly playing the other side. "Oochie" Earle and Dauss Bibby, or Ed Price are expected to start at ends with the rest of the line about the same as that which started against Centenary.

Believe It Or Not—It's Possible

Here's the answer!

After two are out and none on, batsman hits first ball pitched, but as he does so his swing is interfered with by catcher, causing him to hit a foul fly which is caught. However under Section 1 of Rule 47, the batsman is given first base because of this interference by the catcher.

The next batsman hits second ball pitched for long fly to outfield. The outfielder, realizing he cannot reach the ball fairly, makes a flying leap and catches the ball in his cap, (or tosses his glove at the ball deflecting it so as to make the catch possible). Under Section 6 of Rule 47, the batter is allowed three bases which enables the base-runner on first to score.

The number of fatal injuries to football players in 1931 was 40, the largest ever recorded.

Plan Now To Help

"WILL you give this unemployed man money, or a gun?" asks the most recent edition of the War Cry, official magazine of the Salvation Army, as it pictures on its outside cover a homeless, fundless man with his hat outstretched. The picture is a striking one which makes the average man stop and think.

The Morning Avalanche thinks the coming winter, in some respects, will be the worst in the history of the present depression.

As industry and commerce struggles for another footing just above the mire of almost hopeless economic conditions, the jobless man is bound to have his troubles.

But there won't be as many of the jobless as there was winter before last or last winter—which is going to make a great difference.

Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, is in charge of rehabilitation efforts in our country now and will be during the winter.

He knows while there will be fewer jobless than we have had, it will be a bigger task than ever to bolster the ranks of the contributors to charity and to keep our public funds ever ready to improve conditions. That is the big worry of him and his committee. Instead of worrying over giving the jobless man "money or a gun," he will worry about getting the money to tide the unfortunate and his family over the cold season.

We think the War Cry is a little too pessimistic.

We don't think we need fret so much over the possibilities of rioting as over the source of our charity and the money to make the wheels go 'round.

If every one of us realizes his debt to society and makes up his mind to again do his bit for a less fortunate man, we expect this winter to be better than last.

But if we don't—that's another story.

Plan now to give until it hurts; plan to do your part for the fellow who cannot help himself nor his family, either.

LURE OF THE UNKNOWN

Wanderlust is wonderlust. Lust for strange roads is lust for the unknown things to be seen along them and at their ends. Individuals of all ages and all generations have known it—have felt it dragging them from the beaten tracks to trails that lead into uncharted regions. Some never return. Some do, in rags, broken, worn, weary, with stories of monsters and evil things encountered and with scars to prove their adventures. A few return in fine raiment, enriched, with wondrous tales of good things found and with evidence that bears them out. Thus do the terrors and treasures of the unknown become evident.

Sometimes the lust gets into the feet and pulls its victims along strange paths toward wondrous places, new lands, unexplored wastes. Sometimes it gets into the mind and leads toward strange theories and after strange objectives, some of them real, some chimerical, some of them good, some bad. Sometimes the lure of the unknown draws toward strange political, moral, social, economic or metaphysical "isms"—some of which prove sound and safe, but most of them unsound and deadly dangerous. Sometimes it gets into youth and tempts it toward odd moral conceits and fancies—some harmless, some destructive. Many wanderers perish on their journeys along strange mental lines. Others return, sadder and wiser.

A large number of grown-up "ism" chasers are today wandering after strange notions. And many of the younger generation are in pursuit of strange fancies that may come true, hunting new pleasure by new paths in new haunts. May all return as hopeful and confident as they set forth.

To eliminate knaves, first eliminate fools. Can you blame the cat if you leave a fish on the table?

It is easy to believe in all miracles if you grant the first miracles of creation itself.

Man profits by faith when it is in himself.

Every savior must begin by being a heretic.

A law isn't much stronger than those who enforce it, either.

Anything you want and can't afford is a luxury.

Old age doesn't justify horse and buggy ideas and opinions.

Nebraska Is GOP Hope

(Charles P. Stewart, touring the middle west, investigates the political and economic situation in Nebraska.)

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 5.—The serious rebuff to the La Follette dynasty at the recent Wisconsin primaries lends itself to almost as many interpretations by leading politicians throughout the progressive mid-west as there are leading politicians to interpret it.

Functionaries of the Nebraska Republican state committee (I talked with a number of them at once and their comments fell too fast to assign with much accuracy to each speaker individually) construed it thus:

A period of stress, such as the present depression, usually breeds one of two political results—extreme radicalism or extreme conservatism. The last English election gave a conservative result. A very radical one had been expected; instead, a positively reactionary regime was voted into power. It is evident that Wisconsin has swung in the same direction and it is fair to presume that a like tendency will be manifested in Nebraska, Iowa and other states of a hitherto (at least off-and-on) radical complexion, next November. President Hoover certainly is safely conservative. Governor Roosevelt, whether or not personally a radical, is the radicals' "white hope" anyway.

The conclusion is obvious—

The Wisconsin barometer indicates Hoover weather.

AT NEBRASKA Democratic headquarters here was the story I heard:

The Wisconsin Democratic vote normally is about 125,000, which is not enough to make an appreciable dent on election day. Consequently the holding of Democratic nominating primaries has been hardly more than an empty formality hitherto. Most Democrats, in order to get as far away from Republicanism as possible, have thrown their support, both at primaries and at the polls, to the G. O. P. progressives.

This year the Badger State Jeffersonians sense every prospect of electing their entire ticket and naturally concentrated on their own primary. This so greatly weakened Gov. Philip F. La Follette and Senator John J. Blaine, who were seeking renominations as Republican progressives, without weakening the G. O. P. regular candidates—Walter J. Kohler, for governor, and John B. Chapple, for senator — that Kohler and Chapple won.

In support of this contention, it is pointed out that Kohler's victory over La Follette was by approaching 100,000 primary ballots—just about what the Democrats were in the habit of giving to the progressives.

NOW (to continue this line of reasoning)—

The disgruntled Republican progressives, rather than vote in November for the ultra-conservative Kohler and for the conservatively converted, though formerly rather radical Chapple, will plunk for the Democratic nominees—A. G. Schmedeman, for governor, and F. Ryan Duffy, for senator—and they will be elected by the Democratic-progressive Republican combination, in the same fashion that the La Follette dynasty previously was kept in office.

Or else—

If the G. O. P. progressives should run independently, they will split the G. O. P. strength and the Democrats will win anyhow.

* * *

OF COURSE all this cerebration, on both sides, is too speculative to be thoroughly convincing.

It is the best that either side can do, however.

There is a similar volume of calculation on the Iowa senatorial result, with Senator Smith W. Brookhart making an independent progressive Republican run for re-election, in opposition to Henry Field and Louis Murphy, the Republican and Democratic nominees, respectively.

The Republican view is that Brookhart will draw more heavily from Murphy than from Field. This is on the theory that the radicals, angered by the comparatively conservative Field's primary defeat of the radical Brookhart, are prepared to show their resentment by voting for Murphy, but will be glad to vote for Brookhart himself as an independent candidate.

But the Democrats say "no." Their views is that Murphy's chief strength is as a wet. Supposing such to be in fact the case, it is quite true that the bone-dry Brookhart will be more than unlikely to get any of that following away from the Democratic nominee, who also should be able to hold the Democratic vote.

NEBRASKA DEMOCRATS, speaking of their own state, claim everything in sight for their national tickets, with the re-election of Gov. Charles W. Bryan by a smaller majority.

Republicans do not go farther than to say they "hope" to win nationally and think they can do so on the governorship.

If farm discontent were as acute in Nebraska as in Iowa there could be no question of Democratic victory in the Cornhusker commonwealth, for it normally is by no means as strongly Republican as Iowa, the margin to be overcome is correspandingly narrow and the Republicans themselves admit that they will suffer losses.

But the Nebraska farmers, though in no good humor, are not so rampageous as Iowa's.

This is for the reason that Nebraska land is not as good as Iowa's. It never was possible to inflate it to the extent that Iowa land was inflated during the boom. Where Iowa's mounted to as high as $500 an acre, Nebraska's never got above $300. Hence Nebraskans were unable to borrow as much on it as were the Iowans, and their debts therefore are not so hopeless.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON.

A YOUNG FATHER AT 102:

John O'Brien, the nephew of an Oneida Indian chieftain, was born in Sheffield, Berkshire County, Mass., in 1752, and was sent to Europe to be educated as a physician. Returning here at the age of 22 years, he joined Washington's Revolutionary Army as an Assistant Surgeon and served until the close of the Revolutionary War. He was wounded three times. In 1812 he again took the field against the British, and commanded a company of sharpshooters. In 1853, when O'Brien was 101 years old, he was received into the House of Industry at Moyamensing, accompanied by his wife and the five youngest children. He was then the father of 31 children, all living. The age of his oldest son was 80 years, while his youngest was only 8 months.

My cartoon was drawn after an old daguerrotype, taken in 1854 when O'Brien, still active and vigorous, was 102 years old.

A MILKING RECORD:

Theo Rohrer, of Brawley, Calif., who is now 57 years old, has run up this remarkable record in 43 years of activity, during which he has followed his trade in France, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, and for the last 27 years in America. Altogether Mr. Rohrer has extracted 12,250,000 pounds of milk, from 788,400 cows. All the milking was done by hand, and Mr. Rohrer has kept an accurate record of his activities.

Youths Freed Of Crashing Charge

HOUSTON Oct. 5. (AP)—A complaint charging Emory Turner, 18 year old son of Corporation Court Judge Fred Turner, with "crashing" last Saturday's Rice Institute-Louisiana State university football game was dismissed this afternoon by Ben Frederick, who sat as judge in the court Judge Turner having disqualified himself.

Judge Turner aided Attorney Vernon Gagne in the defense.

The charge of "unlawful entry" was dismissed after G. D. Perkins, special officer for Rice Institute, testified he did not ask young Turner if he had a ticket to the football game and that he kept him in a barbed wire "bull pen" at the stadium for about two hours before sending him to the police station.

Acting Judge Frederick, in dismissing the case, ruled the boy had been sufficiently punished by being detained in the "bull pen." He also dismissed similar charges against two other youths who had not been brought to trial.

"This ought to be the end of that 'bull pen' anyway," said Judge Turner when the case was dismissed and he resumed his place on the bench.

Work On Highway 41 Will Start Soon; Surveys Ready

DALHART, Oct. 5. (AP)—Work will start soon on Highway 41, running north from Dalhart to Boie City, according to Arthur C. Johnson, of Dalhart, state legislator. Mr. Johnson, at the request of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce, went before the state highway commission asking that surveys and preliminary work on the road start at an early date. Oklahoma has designated its part of the highway and as soon as Texas receives official notification of this act, work will start, it is said.

Arguments In Hidalgo County Case Heard By Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—Arguments were heard today by the supreme court commission of appeals in a suit brought by three Democratic nominees in Hidalgo county to keep the names of candidates of the good government party off the ballot in the general election.

Two district judgeships and a post in the house of representatives were at stake.

The arguments were heard despite the action, taken several days ago, by Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum in certifying the names of the good government candidates to the county election officials.

Attorneys for the Democratic candidates said the good government nominees could be kept off the ballot despite Mrs. McCallum's certification if the supreme court decided the case in favor of the Democratic nominees.

Three Minute Relief From Periodical Pains

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a diffrent principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold. (adv.)

Those present were Mesdames H. O. Waters, L. P. Jefferies, W. D. Grimes, Lilla Ford, Fred W. Sparks, Alice Pool, Bullock, Atkins, J. I. Noah, G. V. Pardue, W. A. Stahl, R. O. Rogers, A. Dean, Pearl Carlisle, Mary McComb, Barclay, Shepherd, L. Doyle, M. Boazman, J. W. Baze, and E. E. Terrell.

Guests honored because this is their birthday month were Mesdames Barton, Bullock and Baze.

Walker Trial

were only trying to show the motive of the Hiltons in identifying the three men.

The court ruled it could not be admitted.

Identified Richardson

Previously Mr. Hilton had testified on cross examination that he had identified Richardson before the first grand jury and that his wife had told him Hugh Walker was one of the men there that night.

"Why didn't you tell the officers, Hugh Walker was one of the men?" was a defense query.

"We was afraid to," Hilton replied; "afraid we'd be killed."

"By Hugh Walker?" Kucera inquired.

"Yes, sir," Hilton answered.

He said his wife wanted to be positive he was the man there that night and she was, after she had seen Walker before the second grand jury.

"Why weren't you afraid of getting killed after the second grand jury?" Kucera asked.

"Owed It To Mr. Brown"

"Well, we decided we'd rather die than let it go," Hilton replied, "and we felt we owed it to Mr. Brown to say who it was."

Hilton said he did not identify Walker as being one of the trio and that he was certain Ross was not the man who put them in the house.

He had previously undergone rigid cross examination by Kucera regarding details of the shooting, locations of rooms in his home, the particulars of the attempted hi-jacking and other activities surrounding the actual commission of the crime.

The defendant conferred with his attorneys and his wife frequently during Hilton's cross examination. He paid close attention to testimony throughout.

Nine Others Appear

Hilton appeared on the stand Wednesday afternoon after nine other witnesses had testified for the state. Their testimony corroborated in part the story of G. A. Ross, chief prosecution witness, who testified Tuesday afternoon and yesterday morning.

Hilton under questioning by Special Prosecutor J. E. Vickers recalled the scene of the shooting and related how three men came walking up in the dark as he stood talking with Brown who sat in his car at the rear of the Hilton home. He told how a little dog barked at one of them and how he scolded the dog and told the man he would not bite. At this point, one of the men (calling him Richardson) put a gun on him and ordered him into the house, cursing him all the time.

He related the same story as told in the Covington trial, of how his little boy ran through the front door and caused the man to turn them (he and his brother, Joe) back out of the house and how when they got outside he saw Brown with his hands in the air.

Shooting Follows

Hilton testified Brown said, "Well, fellers what do you want?" and Richardson then turned the gun on Brown who attempted to wrest it from his hand and the shooting followed.

He said the shooting took place "about 9 o'clock".

Charles G. Moore, 713 27th street, was the first witness on the stand Wednesday afternoon. He testified to seeing two cars drive up and stop near his home and of seeing one man get out of one car and walk over to the other.

"He was hiding something," Young Moore, a Tech student, said but defense objected and the court instructed him not to give his opinions. Later in his testimony, Moore repeated the statement and the court had to instruct him again.

Testimony Is Similar

Moore's testimony was similar to witnesses H. L. Burgess and Mack Newton who appeared during the morning.

Alvie Vaughn, who said he lived a half mile west of Woodrow, testified he was at the home of a relative at 2107 Avenue O on the afternoon of May 30 and that he saw Jess Covington drive by in a car and that Covington waved at him.

W. E. Martin, farmer living 9 miles south of Lubbock, next testified he remembered seeing a new car, he thought a Chevrolet, pass his house late that afternoon. On cross examination, he testified the reason he remembered the car was he thought it was his landlord coming to see him.

Mrs. W. A. Montana then testified she was at the Vaughn home, 2107 Avenue O, that afternoon and also saw Covington and several other persons pass in a car.

See Car Pass Homes

Mrs. W. E. Martin and W. E. Smith both testified also to seeing a new car pass their homes that afternoon.

W. A. Burnett, who lives a mile east of Woodrow, said he was at the Hilton residence a little before sundown when a car with some men passed and one of them pointed toward Mr. Brown's car.

"Who told you to say they were pointing at Mr. Brown's car?" Schenck asked the witness who did not testify in the Covington trial.

"No one," Burnett replied.

D. W. Huckabee and his son, Clifton, were next witnesses in order.

Huckabee, a filling station and store operator at Woodrow, testified that he saw a car with lights out parked on the road just west of the Hilton home that night. He said someone was "hunkered over" in the front seat under the steering wheel as they (he and his son) passed in a car going home. Huckabee said it was "around 9 o'clock."

Boy Gives Testimony

The boy gave similar testimony, recalling having seen the car.

Climaxing cross examination Wednesday morning, Ross admitted that he had told Benjamin Kucera, defense attorney, last Sunday that he (Walker) had better start shooting if they (he and Walker) get out of this trouble.

"Didn't you tell Kucera to tell Hugh Walker that when you and Hugh got out of this trouble that he'd better start shooting the first time you saw each other because you were going to shoot?" Schenck asked.

"Yes, sir," Ross replied.

"And Hugh Walker hasn't done a thing to you, has he?"

"Has Done Everything"

"Hugh Walker has done everything to me," Ross replied.

"And you sent word that you'd kill him the first time you saw him after this?"

Ross said he had.

"But you had a reason for making that statement, didn't you, Mr. Ross?" District Attorney Durwood Bradley asked Ross on re-direct examination.

"Yes, I had heard those men in the corridors of the jail over there tell how Hugh was cussin' me and how he would tell Jess Covington, 'Jess, you kill him if you get out first and if I get out first, I'll kill him'," Ross replied.

Tells Of Fear

Ross had previously testified on cross examination that the reason he didn't get out of the car when it stopped at a lake near Shallowater was because he was afraid he would "get shot in the back".

All through the morning, Schenck snapped questions at the admitted fourth man in the slaying party who denied having any connection with the shooting except loaning Covington the gun, accompanying the men to the scene and sitting in a car a hundred yards away while the shooting took place.

Several times the court had to interrupt Schenck, declaring that "you and Mr. Ross, either, aren't trying to get along".

Car Route Sought

Schenck tried to gain definite answers on Ross' statements as to the route of the "death car" after it left Woodrow, the time it took to make certain distances and other details of the Becton man's story.

But his hammering away in rapid-fire order was in vain, for Ross sought to evade as much of the defense examination as possible.

Ross testified that statements he made to officers and the grand jury soon after his arrest were false.

"Well what about those New Mexico boys, you said you sold your gun to or traded it for a go-devil?" Schenck inquired.

"That Was A Fairy Story"

"That, oh, that was all a fairy story, judge," Ross answered.

He said he had been granted immunity from prosecution in this case after he had agreed to testify for the state.

"And since then you have moved to Hidalgo county?" a defense query stated.

"Well, I had been down there," he replied.

"And you were afraid to stay around here, weren't you?" Schenck snapped at him.

Wasn't Afraid

"Well, I wasn't afraid to stay around here," Ross answered, "but I went down to Hidalgo to keep from getting hurt and having to hurt somebody."

Later on in the defense examination, Schenck pointed his finger at Ross and nearly shouted:

"Isn't it a fact that you are the party who stood in the door and drove the Hiltons into the house? Isn't it a fact that you are the one who pointed the gun at Frank Brown and when he had the courage to resist you, you shot him and that's when you got blood on your sleeve?"

Ross quickly denied the interrogations, turning his face to the jury.

Tells Of Getting Gun

R. C. (Bob) McCaffree, who lived at 1818 Avenue G at the time of the killing, was the next witness. He testified he had a gun belonging to Ross as security for a loan and that Ross came to his house for it on the afternoon of May 30. He identified the gun exhibited in court as the one he let Ross have in exchange for a payment of 70 cents on the debt.

On cross examination, McCaffree said he had dealings with Ross "about once every two or three months" but was reticent when defense attempted to bring out that Ross had bought whisky from him. The court sustained his refusal to answer the queries.

Saw Walker At House

Val Tudor, local teamster, followed McCaffree on the stand and testified to seeing Hugh Walker sitting in a car in front of McCaffree's house and later seeing Ross come out of the house with the gun. He said he saw Jess Covington and "Barber John" Richardson pass the house in a car while they were there. Later he said he passed the pair on Avenue H driving north toward town.

On cross examination Tudor testified he "didn't get what he went for at McCaffree's."

Forest Kildewell, a brother-in-law of McCaffree, was the next on the stand. He testified to seeing Ross and Walker at the McCaffree home on that day and of Ross getting the gun and cartridges.

C. L. Franks, 1940 Avenue G, was the next witness. He testified he saw Covington and Richardson pass his house on that afternoon and that both waved at him. He said they were going north on Avenue G.

Saw Two Cars Stop

H. L. Burgess and Mack Newton, two neighbors in Morningside addition, each testified to seeing two cars stop about a block from their homes late in the afternoon and one man getting out of one car and going to the other. Later one of the cars came by their homes and both men said they recognized Hugh Walker sitting in the back seat. Burgess said he also recognized Jess Covington, driver of the car.

Ross testified Tuesday that when the two cars drove over to Morningside addition, Walker got out of his car and took the gun to Covington's car and got in and came back to town with Covington and Richardson.

State To Close

The state was expected to close its case sometime Thursday morning after which defense witnesses will start parading before the jury in an attempt to establish an alibi for Walker.

Walker, himself, might take the stand, it was indicated in court today but still no definite word was forthcoming from the defense on whether he would or not. Additional defense witnesses have been summoned, indicating that new testimony from that given in Covington's trial would be presented by the defense.

Employment Is Being Offered

Registration Of Unemployed Men Will Start Friday At 9 A. M.; Highway Work Now Being Scheduled

Registration of unemployed men wanting jobs on an emergency highway construction project in Lubbock county will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning at City hall, a Lubbock county highway committee appointed by Guy R. Johnston, district resident engineer for the state highway department, decided at a meeting Wednesday morning in the chamber of commerce. Clerical work will be done by the chamber.

By a federal regulation, the committee will compile a list of eligible applicants, the contractor will select his workmen from the list. Friday's registration will be for grading and drainage of state highway No. 24 east of Lubbock to Idalou.

Work Starts Monday

The contractor, Panhandle Construction company of Lubbock, will use about 30 men in two crews of 15 men each. Work will begin Monday. Laborers will not be permitted to work more than 30 hours a week. Minimum pay for common labor is 30 cents an hour.

Qualified war veterans with dependents and living in Lubbock county will be given preference; other qualified men living in Lubbock county will receive second choice.

Bond Of $4,000 Set

Bond of $4,000 was set by U. S. Commissioner Victor Lindsey for Bybee.

The note taken at the First National bank was brought in Tuesday morning by a customer, whose name was withheld. Vice President Walter S. Posey last night placed no blame on the bank customer who had the bill.

Conflicting stories of her residence were given by the woman who passed the spurious notes at Hub Motor company. She was said to have told different persons her home was in Dallas, Childress, Ralls, and Abernathy. Mr. Jones said she was about 35 years old and nicely dressed. The cashier said the woman took the bills from a roll of money, but it was not known whether any more of the false notes were in the roll.

A telephone net was spread Tuesday night, but to no avail.

Think Gang Involved

It was presumed last night that federal agents were attempting to ferret out the source of the bills. That a photo-engraving plant had made the plates from which the prints were taken was probable. Suddenness of appearance of the notes from Dickens to Lubbock and Lamb county led some to believe a "gang" was involved in distributing the bills.

Bybee, who described himself as a sewing machine salesman, is married. He was said to have lived at Ralls for more than one year.

The Santa Fe station agent at Lorenzo was reported to have obtained a bogus bill through the bank there. That the bank had had the note was not confirmed here last night. It was reliably reported that the Petersburg and Ralls bank held one bill each.

The First National bank of Sudan cashed a counterfeit $100 bill about 10 a. m. Tuesday, Lamb County Attorney J. E. Dryden said. Thirty minutes later the bill was discovered to be false, said Dryden.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Frazier and two children of Ponca City, Okla., are guests of Mrs. Frazier's sister, Mrs. Heard Jones, and family.

The Foraker water mill formerly owned by Senator Joseph Foraker of Ohio, still is being operated.

Appeal For Help Sounded By Army In Clothes Drive

The Lubbock Salvation Army corps last week gave 112 meals to hungry mouths and sheltered 146 tired bodies overnight, although handicapped by extremely limited building facilities, beds, and foodstuffs. Daily transients and other persons in need come to Salvation Army headquarters, 1404 Texas avenue. Telephone queries are received, asking whether the agency has an old coat, a pair of shoes, a hat.

Through the civic service committee of the Lubbock Boy Scout unit, sponsor of a food-apparel drive scheduled for Saturday for the Salvation Army, an appeal was repeated for persons willing to drive or otherwise lend their automobiles to notify City hall. The Salvation Army, of which Capt. W. T. Wilson is commander, is in immediate need of canned goods and food staples, clothing, cots, and sleeping accessories, he said. The automobiles are needed to transport Boy Scouts, who will collect bundles of donations and take the addresses of persons willing to donate cots. Donators are asked to put their bundles on their porches.

The Salvation Army, Wednesday, began listing of cotton growers needing pickers and unemployed persons wanting to pull bolls. Wednesday afternoon, six persons had been sent to a farmer who had asked for pickers. Jobless persons willing to pick cotton were invited to inform the Army headquarters. G. A. Dickerson has charge of the registration. He expressed hope farmers would respond to the Army's attempt to expedite meeting of growers and pickers.

Although an old clothes drive was conducted here recently, indications were that all persons desiring to give used apparel had not done so.

Club women are asked to assemble their donations in one, as a club contribution, to expedite collection of the bundles.

An opinion was expressed also that while a few women each would have perhaps only one or two small articles for donation, and would neglect to place them on porches for collection, that a club could assemble a sizeable bundle even though no individual member had much to give.

First Light Frost To Aid Rather Than Harm Cotton

The first light frost of the season early Wednesday morning will aid rather than harm the cotton crop. The mercury dropped to 33 at the state experiment farm and 31 at the municipal airport for low temperatures of the fall.

Describing the frost as not killing, Don L. Jones of the experiment farm said it would benefit cotton, the old opening and the young continuing to mature. Feed crops at the station were not damaged. Although leaves on the old cotton were killed and will fall off, Jones attributed that to angular leaf spot, prevalent in Lubbock county this year.

Only once previously in the history of weather records here has the mercury dropped to 33 degrees as early as Oct. 5, and that was Sept. 29, 1916. Temperatures rose yesterday with strong sunshine, and last night at 8 o'clock the mercury stood at 57 degrees at the airport. A two mile-an-hour wind was blowing from the west. Barometer reading was 26.66, about normal.

Negroes Stand Pat In Ruckus

Local Attorney Tells Blacks To Hold Positions; Police Report No Disturbances In Affected Areas

Negroes living between Sixteenth and Eighteenth streets on the west side of Avenue C, who Tuesday night were told to leave their homes before last night, had not moved late Wednesday, there had been no disturbance reported to police, and Chief of Police Wiley Metcalfe said he was not anticipating "any trouble there."

Max Coleman, a Lubbock lawyer, who owns most of the property in the area, said last night he believed the difficulty "has blown over." He blamed the demand of several white men on the negro residents as "a misunderstanding of the situation." Coleman, a former New Mexico peace officer, said he told the negroes to remain at their homes. He expressed himself as favoring segregation of negroes.

Several white men, represented by a spokesman, complained informally last Saturday that about 10 families of negroes lived west of Avenue C between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets. A city ordinance, passed as an emergency measure by City commission in April, 1923, declared negroes should not own property or reside in any part of Lubbock except that south of Sixteenth street and east of Avenue C, unless they were servants receiving quarters as compensation. The ordinance later was found to be unconstitutional.

In 1929, however, Coleman said this morning, the commission moved the line, bordering the negro district, from the center of Avenue C westward to the middle of the block so white and black residences would not front each other. The negro homes complained of have been there since 1929, and no complaint had been raised until now, the lawyer said. He said he had installed sewage connections and fixtures at several of the negro homes. The blacks bought or rented property in the extended area, after the commission's 1929 act, with the understanding they would not be molested, he said.

One of the places which negroes said were entered last night by white men, who had stopped in an automobile, is a negro eating house immediately across the street from the negro school, Seventeenth street and Avenue C.

Coleman said he did not favor encroachment by negroes, but did not believe it had occurred. Negroes said whites recently, prior to last night, had ordered them to vacate their homes.

Bullington Plans To Make Special Trip Back To City

Orville Bullington, Republican nominee for governor of Texas, will make a special trip to Lubbock within the next three weeks to make a special address here in the interest of his candidacy, he announced Wednesday morning by long distance telephone from Weatherford.

Bullington said that the improved condition of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Bullington, whose critical illness called him to her bedside suddenly Monday morning and made it necessary to cancel his speaking engagement here Tuesday night and 14 other engagements between here and Plainview, will allow him to resume his speaking itinerary Thursday morning. Starting at Anson he will visit Stamford, Albany, Baird, Putnam, Cisco, Eastland and Ranger. A special rally has been arranged at Ranger.

trict court did not have jurisdiction over the governor's contest suit.

Mrs. McCallum was officially served with notice of the district court's action tonight by Ocie Speer, one of Mrs. Ferguson's attorneys. Speer had called and asked her intentions and Mrs. McCallum replied she had not been informed officially as to what had occurred. Speer then obtained a copy of the court order and had it served.

The secretary of state said she would confer with her attorneys before determining her course, stating she would "not cross any bridges until she came to them." Mrs. McCallum said she told Speer she would study the district court's action tonight. She is an ardent opponent of Mrs. Ferguson and her husband, Ex-Governor James E. Ferguson, chief strategist for the Ferguson cause, and an appointee of Sterling.

Attorneys for Governor Sterling filed a motion for rehearing before Judge Robertson asking him to reverse his decison which was promptly overruled. A second motion, that the injunction restraining certification of Mrs. Ferguson as the nominee remain in force until the decision had been appealed and finally decided, also was overruled.

The governor then gave notice of immediate appeal to the court of civil appeals.

Judge Robertson held that since he did not have jurisdiction to start with he could not keep in force any injunction or order growing out of the suit.

Luther Nickels, attorney for the Fergusons, said they would rely on the supreme court for relief should Mrs. McCallum refuse to certify Mrs. Ferguson's name. There is pending in supreme court a motion by Mrs. Ferguson for leave to file a petition to mandamus Mrs. McCallum to certify her as the nominee.

Judge Robertson held that the district court was without jurisdiction to try an election contest involving the constitutional office of governor. His decision stated that the legislature in joint session, was the only agency that could decide a gubernatorial election contest.

from Kuykendall is believed to have been located in Amarillo, a rifle probably will be recovered in Willard, N. M., a green trunk containing clothing is believed to have been recovered on East Third street n Amarillo and a clarinet was said to have been sold on East Polk street in Amarillo.

The suspect, who is about 30 years old, denied the burglaries, but said he had been handling the loot, officers said. They quoted the suspect as saying he thought the articles "might be hot."

Tidwell Trial

J. M. Bradshaw, Sheriff B. L. Parker and County Attorney G. H. Nelson began an investigation and he was later identified under the name of Tidwell.

A special venire of 75 men has been called for the case Thursday morning, District Attorney T. L. Price indicated he might ask the death penalty in the case.

L. C. Heath, local attorney, was named by Judge Gordon B. McGuire to defend Tidwell, who was without counsel and unable to hire any one, he said.

Market Week Is Ended Wednesday

With 125 Lubbock merchants and their employes attending, the institute held in connection with a sixth semi-annual West Texas Wholesale Clothiers market was closed last night at Hotel Lubbock. The Dallas Chamber of Commerce directed the institute sponsored locally by the Lubbock Retail Merchants association.

"Turnover, the Pulse of Profits," and "Salesmanship, the Keystone in the Arch of Business" were discussed last night by H. W. Stanley, trade extension director of the Dallas Chamber. "Collections" was the subject of E. F. Anderson, manager of the Dallas Wholesale Merchants association.

John Halsey and Altus Sansom received two football tickets for having the best percentage of attendance from persons they were to have invited to the institute last night. They were members of the attendance committee.

The market week program also was concluded yesterday.

Redman Jury

Balch, Tahoka, farmer.

Throughout the trial Glen A. Redman, husband of the defendant, sat by his wife's side at counsel table and consulted with her and with N. C. Outlaw, his attorney. By their side were the twin children of the couple, Ray and Fay, boy and girl, about 11 years old.

Older Child Is Witness

At the night session the boy went to sleep on his mother's lap and was led out, but the girl remained awake. Both were interested in the proceedings.

The older child, Lillie Mae, who will be 13 years old her next birthday, was a witness for her mother. She sat erect in the big chair used as a witness chair, told her story in a straightforward manner and answered every question of attorneys.

RAW FURY

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Meissonier's famous painting (1855)... inspired by the savage passion held in check by Henry IV's stern edict against duels among the nobles of his court.

Copr. 1932 The American Tobacco Co.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

It's REAL COAT WEATHER

You need not now consider "putting it away" until "you need it". It's time to choose and WEAR an attractive new Fall coat, and how truly attractive they are this season. Our racks are now filled with varied types, all purchased to the most advantage both as regards styles and prices.

Featuring Most Attractive Coats At $49.85

One price in particular has been especially stressed in our showing this season—a price that is sufficient to obtain fine real furs, high grade woolens and excellent styling, yet still moderate—Here we stress both dress types and sport styles—coats with liberal fur trimmings—deep collars and fur trimmed cuffs—coats with new excellent body lines—coats youthful women will especially appreciate. Blacks, browns and varied sport shades are featured. We believe you will approve of this new feature at only—

Cotton Cotton Develops A Lower Range — Livestock Steer, Yearling Prices Slanting — Grain Values On Grain Plunge Downward

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5. (AP)—Cotton developed a lower range of prices today, mainly in sympathy with the sharp break in stocks but showed more or less resistance, scoring several good rallies. The close was steady at net declines for the day of 12 to 15 points.

Private cables stated there was general buying on adverse weather in the south, but there was also hedge selling and trade calling. Manchester cabled the cloth demand from India was quiet and that producers were losing ground.

Prices developed good resistance in the early afternoon and allied to 7.02 for December up 14 points from the lows, but later weakened again with a further slump in stocks and wheat. December closed at 6.97 or 13 points net lower for the day and March closed at 7.13 or 12 points net lower.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow to 7 penny points down.

Two private crop estimates appeared today one of 11,321,000 bales and the other 10,893,000. The average crop guess of members of the New York exchange is 10,985,000 bales.

Port receipts 31,589, for week 180,309, for season 1,656,299, last season 1,663,751. Exports 25,477, for week 163,334, for season 1,283,511, last season 843,351. Port stock 3,621,532, last year 3,575,016. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 88,115, last year 124,582. Spot sales at southern markets 39,595, last year 109,128.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (AP)—An early advance in cotton today was followed by reactions under liquidation combined with southern and local selling influenced by declines in wheat and stocks. December contracts closed at 6.99. The general market closed steady at net declines of 6 to 11 points.

The opening was 10 to 15 points higher in response to steady Liverpool cables, unfavorable features in the weather news and the trend toward reduced crop estimates.

Selling became active owing to the failure of bullish features to create a more aggressive demand and in sympathy with the weakness of other markets. March sold off to 7.07 and the more active positions showed net losses of about 16 to 19 points. Later on covering. The close was at rallies of some 5 to 10 points from the lowest.

Frosts were reported in the western belt, the official weather details showing minimum temperatures of 32 to 36 degrees at six stations in Northwest Texas and at eight points in Oklahoma.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling and general buying on the unfavorable weather reports from the south. Exports today 24,242 making 1,287,517 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,666,388.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5. (AP)—Beef steers and yearlings have shown a definite downward trend all week with values ranging unevenly weak to 25 lower on early consecutive sessions.

Chicago again scored up to 10.00 on strictly choice medium weight steers and a few other loads of comparable grade kind, around the circuit brought 9.50-9.75. Only a few loads in the run were eligible to sell upward to 9.00 while the general bulk of fed steers and yearlings including fed westerns sold in a spread of 5.25-8.00. Plain grade western grass steers were listed down to 5.00 or below. Stockers and feeders found a slow outlet on trade to week ends, most steers selling at 3.50-5.50. Kansas City reported a liberal string of choice Texas stock steers here at 6.40.

Hogs also have taken reduced valuations for the week, sales today being generally 10c lower to 15c lower with several point listing a very bearish trend on the close. Chicago secured a top of 4.15 for best butchers on early round.

Mostly steady values prevailed on lambs with the bulk of desirable fat kinds at 4.50-5.25 and occasional loads up to 5.30. A few consignments of feeding lambs cleared at 4.25-90.

Stocks Run Into Blustery Weather And Prices Drop In Lively Trade

BY JOHN L. COOLEY,
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (AP)—Stocks today ran into blustery weather that blew prices down 1 to 8 points in the liveliest trading of the past fortnight.

Weakness apparent at the opening was interrupted by brief intervals of dull steadiness, but prices resumed the decline after each respite and final quotations were virtually the lowest. Transactions totaled 2,951,760 shares.

A two-cent dip in wheat and smaller recessions in corn appeared to have hastened the decline, although probably the major markets reacted on each other. Farm implement issues weakened severely. Case showing a net loss of 8 1-4 points, but rails were also depressed and there was little to choose among leading utilities and industrials. Stop-loss orders, it seemed, had been plentifully sprinkled through the list, being touched off by the initial application of pressure.

Wall street also assumed that traders who had thought the market's move out of its recent rut was apt to be downward had increased commitments on the short side.

Although supporting levels looked rather thin, it was noted that the closing averages, 58.7, or 5.2 points net lower, were just above the September low, a mark which held for several days prior to the most recent recovery. Chart readers concluded that another "testing point" had been reached.

Net losses of 4 to 5 points in pivotal shares were numerous.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5 (AP)—Wheat continued in good demand on the Fort Worth cash grain market Wednesday while other offerings were fairly well taken.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, to Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing 56-58; barley No. 2 nominally 31-32; No. 3 nominal 31. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 62-63; No. 2 kaffir nominal 60-61.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn No. 2 mixed 38-39; No. 2 white 41-42; No. 2 yellow 40-41.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 22-23; No. 3 red 21-22.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 5. (AP)—Big outbursts of selling plunged grain values downward today, wheat to the bottom most level since August 3, with corn and oats reaching new low records.

Weakness of securities and of cotton before the grain markets opened had an unsettling effect, and for the most part grain traders regarded President Hoover's speech last night as not likely to have any immediate stimulating influence. Contributing to the impetus of downturns of cereal prices, was the fact that wheat at Winnipeg fell to all-time new bottom quotations. October contracts there dropping below 49 cents a bushel.

Wheat closed unsettled, 2 to 2 3-8 cents lower than yesterday's finish, corn 1 1-8 to 1 3-8 down, oats 3-4 off, and provisions showing losses of 5 to 27 cents.

Big Spring Trial Set For November

BIG SPRING, Oct. 5. (AP)—Trial of Laval Stevens on indictments charging assault with intent to murder and robbery, has been set for the November term of district court.

The defendant, who was picked up yesterday by Martin-Dies officers for investigation, was charged in connection with an attack on Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee Phillips of Pacoima, Calif., at a Big Spring tourist camp some time ago.

Stevens had been given a ride in the Phillips car and when they reached the tourist camp, he was allowed to occupy the same cabin, according to officers. After the Phillips had fallen asleep, they were severely injured by a man who struck them with a hand axe.

At present Stevens is at liberty under $4,000 bond posted by his grandfather, who lives in Taylor county, Texas.

The case had been set for trial at a recent term of court but was continued because complaining witnesses were unable to come from California.

These tiny tender leaves of "spicy" Turkish tobaccos

—and just enough of them!

Turkish tobacco sometimes runs hundreds of little leaves to the pound. In cigarettes it is used much as seasoning is in food, for flavor and better taste.

You know that seasoning has to be used right . . . just enough of it, not too much.

Chesterfield puts in just the right amount of Turkish tobacco—the best kinds—Xanthi, Cavalla, Smyrna and Samsoun. These are not merely blended, but cross-blended with ripe, mellow Domestic tobaccos.

Enough Turkish, not too much—that's one reason why Chesterfields taste better—why they have a delicacy of aroma you do not find in other cigarettes.
