Rotary Club to Host Dist. Governor Rigdon Edwards at Meeting Tues.

Rigdon Edwards

The Rotary Club of Muleshoe will be host to Rigdon Edwards, Governor of the 183rd District of Rotary International on Tuesday, Sept. 5. He is making his annual official visit to each of the 40 Rotary Clubs in part of West Texas and all of the Panhandle. Mr. Edwards will address the club and confer with President E. O. Baker, Secretary Clyde Holt, and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Mr. Edwards is wholesale distributor for the Magnolia Petroleum Company in the Sweetwater area, having been a Magnolia employee for 24 years. He grew up at Hamlin and Anson, received his B. A. Degree from McMurry College, Abilene, and is now on the Advisory Board of McMurry. He is on the Official Board of the First Methodist Church; A 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason and Shriner; is on the directorate of the Citizens Investment Company and the Sweetwater Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n.; a Past Director of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, and at present is Vice-president of the Petroleum Marketers of Texas.

In 1940 "Rig' Edwards was made a member of the Sweetwater Rotary Club and has been continuously active in that club except for a period during World War II that he served as a flight instructor in the Air Force. He was president of the Sweetwater Club in 1949-50. He was elected District Governor of Rotary International for the 1955-56 fiscal year at Rotary's Golden Anniversary Convention in Chicago last June.

He is one of 238 District Governors supervising the activities of some 8,811 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of over 419,000 business and professional executives in 92 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

Wherever Rotary Clubs are located, President Baker asserted in discussing the Governor's visit, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Muleshoe because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among all the people of the world.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and in strength. During the past fiscal year, 467 new Rotary Clubs were organized in more than 50 countries of North, South and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa, and the Islands of the Pacific.

A talent show will be the last event staged at the fair grounds in Friona this year. On Saturday, September 10, instrumental, vocals, string bands, and other entertaining acts will congregate from all sections of Parmer County for a grand finale to the three day fair.

Fair directors asked Farm Bureau Directors to be responsible for their talent show and Bureau President Kaltwasser appointed J. T. Jones, director from Bovina, and Raymond Euler, Service Representative, to be responsible for the show. Indications are that there will be entries galore. Prizes for winners, provided by the Fair Association, will be as follows: 1st, $25; 2nd, $15; and 3rd, $10.

Those desiring to compete in the talent show should contact one of the following community chairmen: Mrs. M. A. Snyder, Farwell; Mrs. O. J. Beene, Friona; Mrs. Leon Grissom, Oklahoma Lane; Mrs. C. V. Potts, Rhea; Mrs. A. G. Thorn, Lazbuddie; Mrs. Dick Rockey, Black; Mrs. Aubrey Ellison, Bovina; or Mrs. R .E. Snead, Hub. All that is required is your name and the kind of act to be presented. Those failing to reach community chairmen may call 3521, Friona.

Probably the only restriction on entries will eliminate professional acts for competition, though they will be welcome to perform.

The stage will be a semi-trailer, equipped with lights and a public address system.

Cotton Council Man To Address Local Farmers

Many cotton farmers and ginners in Bailey County will be interested in hearing John T. Gregg when he comes to Muleshoe Tuesday night, Sept. 6, and meets with the Bailey County Farm Bureau.

Mr. Gregg is the West Texas Representative of National Cotton Council of America, an organization founded in 1939 when King cotton was languishing on his throne and a new star, called synthetics, had risen in the firmament of fabrics to challenge his reign.

The Cotton Council was founded to combat the false claims of this would be usurper and return king cotton to his place of prestige and assure the cotton farmer that there would still be a market for his product.

Anyone who heard Mr. Gregg outline the work, the battles and the achievements of the Cotton Council, realize that it has meant millions of dollars to the cotton farmer in the hot battle with synthetics.

Because of these achievements, the Bailey County Farm Bureau is happy to assist and sponsor the efforts of the cotton Council in Bailey County and they hope that as many cotton farmers in Bailey County as possible will attend the meeting at 8PM Sept. 6, in the Farm Bureau office. IT'S DEVELOPING RAPIDLY

Muleshoe Airport Hums And Facilities Expand

A few months ago M. D. (Morgan) Locker took over the local airport and in no time at all a new service was being offered to the people of Muleshoe and the surrounding West Plains area. The aim of the Muleshoe Flying Service from the start has been to offer complete aerial service, no matter what the nature of the work might be.

Growth has been slow, but steady. First the need of aerial dusting and spraying of insectisides by local farmers was met. Next several young men in this area were offered a chance to get their start in aviation through student instruction at the airport here.

BOUNDLESS ENERGY and an ambition to do a good job activate young Morgan Locker, shown here leaning against the propeller of one of his planes at Muleshoe Airport. Read on this page about the plans he has for this needed facility and service. (Journal Photo).

Recently Locker joined forces with Mack Hard, a man with a vast background of aviation experience. The Service's hangars have been extended, the runways are in top shape, planes are available for any type of work the crew might be called on to do.

Now a new altogether different type of service is ready to be offered. Beginning on December 1, The Muleshoe Flying Service will be able to fly vacationers to Guaymas, Sonora, Mexico, for a completely pre-arranged vacation on the Gulf of California.

Parties making the trip will leave the local airport early in the morning and fly to Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, where breakfast will be served, and all papers will be made ready for the stay in Mexico.

From there the group will fly non-stop to Guaymas, where they will be met by a guide in a late model automobile, for ground transportation. Comfortable, modern quarters on the beautiful Cortez Beach will await the vacationers.

2 Day Cruise Included

Highlighting the many activities awaiting the group during their stay in Guaymas, will be a two day cruise in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico, aboard a modern cabin cruiser. Some of the best fishing in the world awaits the party in these waters. Fish to be caught include, Tuna, swordfish, sailfish, yellowtail, shark, and a wide variety of smaller fishes are taken in quantity.

Equipment will be available for all water sports, such as skiing, surf-board riding, under water spear fishing, diving, and swimming. Also the party will enjoy bull fights, Mexican baseball, boxing, cock fights, stage shows, and the very very best of food during the trip.

Fine oysters and shrimp are taken commercially and marketed throughout the country. Those who enjoy these foods will find a special treat awaits them.

Hunting will also be on the list of activities, because a short distance from Guaymas abounds; deer, wild hog, mountain lion, mountain sheep, bear, quail, and water fowl.

Standard trips from Muleshoe to Guaymas are planned to last seven days, however, vacations will be tailored to individual parties. The service will begin on December 1, and continue through January, February, and March.

Morgan Locker, the man who has built and made possible all these aerial facilities for Muleshoe, is a local boy who has, through his work and war experience, gained the know-how it takes to keep such an organization as the Muleshoe Flying Service running smoothly.

He has lived in Bailey County since 1924. However, after graduating from Bula high school Locker was away from Texas for a period of time. He went to an aircraft school in California and was employed later by the North American Aviation Company.

Locker's first job with the company was the final assembly of the first forty B-29 bombers to go to England during World War II.

Soon he was transfered from California to the company's plant in Dallas; and being a true Texan he was ready to make the change. After a while he left his aviation work to join the Air Force.

During the war he served with the Fifth Air Force in New Guinea and the Paleu Islands, and later in the Philippines and Japan. Locker was among the first to see Hiroshima from the air, after the dropping of the A-Bomb on the Japanese city.

After the war Morgan returned to Muleshoe and the farm he had bought previous to going into the service. He was married to Frieda Martin of Clovis, N. Mex., in November of 1947.

Morgan has farmed here until this year when he and Hard began their work with the Flying Service here. The Locker's have three children, Gail, six; Don, three; and Karen seventeen months. Morgan is looking forward to building a business and service here that will help put Muleshoe another step ahead in the ranking of West Texas cities.

Muleshoe Folks Made A Big Hit In Big D Event Honoring Wilcy Moore

Dallas folks ought to know a lot about Muleshoe for they certainly had the opportunity during the visit of the high school band and many adults there last Thursday night to honor Wilcy Moore, a Muleshoe boy who is starring on the Dallas Texas league team.

Band members and sponsors rode to Dallas on an air conditioned bus chartered for the purpose. They ate their lunches at a Seymour roadside park, and checked in to Hotel Dallas in late afternoon. After dinner they went to the baseball park for the ceremonies.

The band formed a diamond on the field and presented the twirlers. Featured twirler was Ann Gholson, who gave the fire baton act.

They then formed a gaint baseball bat and ball, and the bat moved up and struck the ball. Next they formed an "M" which was for Muleshoe ,Moore, and Memories, this part of the program being dedicated to Kay Lenderson, who was ill in Parkland Hospital. Wilcy had a real good night at bat, brought in several runs, and when he came to the plate the band gave him a fanfare. Gil Lamb announced the show and presented a gift to Wilcy.

Norvil Howell, band director, said a large crowd was present and seemed thoroughly to enjoy the Muleshoe program and visit. The entire group went to the midway on the Fair grounds and enjoyed the various rides.

The band members visited with Mr. and Mrs. Lenderson and were told that Kay knew they were there. She was a member of the Band. They offered a prayer in the Lenderson apartment for Kay.

Adults in the immediate band party included Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Stephens, Mrs. Bill Millen, Mrs. R. L. Roubinek, Mrs. J. T. Shofner, Mr. and Mrs. Verney Towns, Alex Wilkins, Lee Pool, Gil Lamb, Mrs. Gray, Mr. Howell. Several other Muleshoe people were there including members of the Moore family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Casey, and some whose names were not available to the paper.

Everyone felt the trip was very much worth while, gave the town and area some good publicity, and furnished the youngsters a nice outing.

Mr. Howell said no untoward event marred the trip, with the exception that three men, quartered in a room with Lee Pool were unable to sleep because of Lee's snoring. Mr. Howell said this, not the Journal.

Agriculturist Plans Visit Here

J. K. Adams, County Agent, received a letter this week from J. Roy Quimby, Superintendent of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Chillicothe, stating that he would visit Bailey County on either Wednesday, Thursday or Friday of this week.

Mr. Adams said that the Chillicothe Experiment Station probably had done more toward the actual development of a practical method of producing hybrid grain seed, than any other experiment station in Texas. Mr. Quimby will visit the Walter B. Little farm in this county, where grain planted from seed raised at the experiment station is being raised.

Mr. Adams reports that a few boll worm eggs are appearing on leaves in the county, but not in sufficient number to justify poisoning at this time.

Darlene Black and Kenneth Henry Wed In Church Ceremony

In an impressive afternoon ceremony read Sunday, August 28, at 4:00 o'clock in the First Baptist Church, Miss Darlene Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Black became the bride of Mr. Kenneth Henry, son of Mr. and Clyde Henry.

Rev. E. K. Shepherd read the double - ring ceremony as vows were exchanged before an archway of greenery flanked by candelabra and baskets of white gladiolus and chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length, original gown which she designed and made herself. The gown, made of white Chantilly lace and tulle over satin, was designed with a scalloped lace neckline with an insertion of tulle, and long sleeves, which ended in points over her hands. The skirt, fashioned with scalloped lace over ruffle of tulle flared out from a basque waist.

Her fingertip length veil of silk illusion fell from a tiera of rinestones and pearls.

In keeping with the tradition, the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother and her wedding dress was something new. For something borrowed she wore a strand of pearls belonging to her aunt, a blue garter, and for luck, a penny in her shoe.

Marlene Martin, twin sister of the bride, attended her as matron of honor. Her dress of Pink nylon lace over taffeta, was designed with a basque waiste fesigned with a basque waist fethe front to the waist and a Peter Pan colar.

Her tiara was made of pink nylon mesh and flowers.

Bridesmaids, Sue Actkinson Mona Mitchell, Marie Houston, and Donna Shaw, wore gowns and tiaras of blue fashioned after that of the matron of honor.

Ernest Martin, brother-in-law of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Eugene Shaw, Bobby Black, Buddie Black and Robert Richards. The groomsmen also served as ushers.

Dan and Rhea Jo Smith, cousins of the bride, were ringbearers.

Shirley Henry, sister of the bridegroom sang "Always", and "Because". She was accompained at the organ by Miss Mona Wilhite, who also furnished the traditional wedding marches.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents

Laid with a white lace cloth over pink, the serving table was centered with an arrangement of pink roses. Guests were registered by Miss Jean Gammon. Darla Myers and Elizabeth Farley presided at the serving table.

For traveling the bride chose a tan tweed suit and brown accessories. Following a wedding trip to points of interest in Texas and New Mexico, the couple will make their home in the Lazbuddie Community, where he is engaged in farming.

The bridegroom is a 1954 graduate of Muleshoe High school, and the bride is a 1955 graduate of Muleshoe High School.

Farm Bureau Continues Its Fight On Bindweed Menace In Bailey County

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS OF SODIUM CHLORATE! That is the amount of that chemical distributed by the Bailey County Farm Bureau since ordering the first experimental truck load in May of this year. The Farm Bureau had no desire or intention of distributing that much Chlorate. It was only intended to promote some experimental work in the control of bindweed, that noxious plant that has become a cancerous scourge slowly creeping along the bar pits and across the fertile farms of Bailey County.

Many Farm Bureau members whose farms had fallen prey to or were threatened by it, sounded the alarm and a call for concerted action against this creeping menace.

Control methods were still in the experimental stage and very expensive. To promote this experimental work and lower the expense, the Bailey County Farm Bureau sent a truck to Mississippi to get a load of sodium Chlorate, a dangerously inflamable chemical but one of the most effective against bindweed. This was distributed at cost to farmers who wished to experiment with it in the control of bindweed and johnson grass.

This work which was begun as an experiment, touched off a chain reaction. Soon farmers from all over the county were coming in and asking for chlorate, and the local Farm Bureau which is designed for promotion instead of distribution, found itself with a distribution job that has already rocketed to 1000,000 lbs. with the control season only at its peak.

Some farmers living in areas where the bindweed infestation is still confined to scattering bar pit areas ,are formulating plans for a voluntary local control group to eradicate the threat of bindweed on the road ways in their area.

All of this leaves the directors of the Farm Bureau faced with the problem of providing control materials to the farmers of this area at prices that are economically feasible. To control bindweed this requires the lowest possible cost.

This will be one of the problems faced by the directors when they meet Tuesday night, Sept. 6, at 8 p.m. in the Farm Bureau office. They ask all who are interested in the bindweed control program to meet with them and help lay the foundation for a co-ordinated long range assault on this creeping cancer of the soil.

TO THE PEOPLE OF BAILEY COUNTY:

As provided for by the constitutional amendment adopted last November, The Bailey County Commissioners Court has ordered that a special election be held to determine whether or not there shall be added an Assessor-Collector of taxes to the list of authorized county officials. By this is meant an election to determine whether the people want to separate the sehriff's office from the Tax Assessor-Collector's office.

These offices along with the County and District Clerk, County Judge and Ex-officio School Superintendent will automatically separate if and when the county reaches 10,000 in population.

The constitutional amendment however, makes it possible for the office of sheriff, Tax Assessor-Collector to be separated in counties with less than 10,000 population if the people by popular vote express a desire to have it done.

Having been requested to do so and feeling that the people would appreciate an opportunity to express themselves on it, the Commissioners Court has ordered an election to be held for that purpose on September 19 and respectfully urge everyone to come out and vote on that day.

The election will be held in eight voting boxes in the county: Muleshoe, West Camp, Mays, Baileyboro, Three Way, Bula, Circleback, and the Absentee box in the county and district clerks office in the county courthouse. Those desiring to vote absentee can do so through September 15. Only property tax-paying voters are eligible to vote. This means that in order to be eligible to vote a person must have rendered property, either real estate or personal, for tax purposes for the year 1955. This is an important question. The Commissioners Court urges everyone to inform themselves on it, study it carefully, and then vote their convictions.

Sincerely,
GLEN WILLIAMS
County Judge

Texas To Produce 3,900,000 Bales

The Texas cotton crop has been estimated at 3,900,000 bales which is only 1% below the 1954 yield on approximately 1,000,000 acres less than was harvested last year. The indicated per acre yield based on August 1 conditions is 278 pounds of the highest yield since 1886. This unusually high yield reflects improved soil moisture and the use of practices designed to produce high yields from sharply reduced acreage together with considerable amounts of fertilizer.

Harvest of grain sorghums is nearing completion in southern and south central counties of Texas and has moved well into the Low Rolling Plains and across North Texas. In the High Plains counties irrigated sorghums are making excellent growth, but much of the dry land acreage is critically short of moisture with the plants curling and in some cases burning severely. Peanut harvest in south Texas counties continue with a considerable part of the late crop needing additional moisture. Harvest of rice is underway on the Gulf Coast with good to excellent yields reported.

Potatoes in the Panhandle Plains area are producing excellent yields but are being dug under adverse marketing conditions. In many cases it is doubtful if the entire crop will be dug. Digging of carrots on the early planted part of the acreage in the Hereford vicinity is getting underway, and lettuce in the area planted for fall harvest is making good progress.

While a few farmers are planting wheat, most of the wheat in the Panhandle High Plains is seriously deficient in both surface and subsoil moisture needed to get wheat off to a good start.

SMITH FAMILY THANKS FRIENDS FOR KINDNESSES

The Journal has received the following letter which we feel is addressed to all neighbors and friends:

High Acres, Route 1
Friona, Texas.

Dear Mr. Editor:

We wish to express our sincere gratitude for the beautiful floral memorial.

Will you let us use this same opportunity to notify all our friends that God's rich grace for the hour is still bearing us up. Through the knowledge of God's great purpose in man, and through the sustaining mercy of His love, it has not been as awful as one would think.

We have yet to make a physical adjustments, but because our children have been educated for just such a time, God has enenabled us to make the spiritual adjustment very rapidly. There is a salvation in education. We are subjects of time and reap what we sow in this phase of life. There is a cause for every effect.

The grain of wheat does not enter into life's most glorious state until it has been planted in the earth.

Since you are each destined for similar days, may your Eternal Father be as tenderly present in those heart-searching hours with you as He has been with us.

The fourteen loving years of experience we enjoyed with our son is highlighted by the pecious hours in dovotions here at home.

Your fervent prayers and the lovely memorials cushioned greatly for us Sigman's change from the physical to the spiritual.

Which spiritual is as resonable and as radio-active as television. We invite each of you, if coming by this way at three o'clock on Sunday afternoons, to stop in and join in our devotions to the living God.

We will, the Lord willing, have present our pastor, who lives in Lubbock, or one equally able to lead in the service.

Thank you, friends, and may dear Lord bless you.

Man's real spiritual status as a son of God, not subject to sin and disease, will be emphasized at Christain Science Services Sunday in the Leson-Sermon entitled "Man".

The account will be read from the King James Version of the Bible of Christ Jesus' healing of the man "which had the withered hand," including the following passage (Luke 6:10): "And looking around about upon them all, he said unto the man, stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following selection will be among those read (317:17-20): "The understanding of his spiritual individuality makes man more real, more formidable in truth, and enables him to conquer sin, disease, and death."

The Golden Text is from Romans (8:14): "As many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God."

Muleshoe's population within the city limits has been estimated at 3,600, Mayor W. T. Bovell said this morning.

The Chamber of Commerce has previously estimated the population here at 4100, counting parts of the city that are not within the limits. They had requested the council to make an official estimate, so that the highway Department could change the highway signs showing population.

Mayor W. T. Bovell said the council used the factors of 3.6 and estimated water meters at 1000 to arrive at the 3600 figure.

Decorator's Notebook

by Alicia Joyce

Nothing offers quite as much fashion, function and satisfaction to a well-organized homemaker as the new corner bed units which have been created for use in either a living or sleeping area. In a guest-den or a small studio apartment, these units have a 'round-the-clock function.

Designed to be part of an entire living grouping. They include a "built-in" storage corner piece, which in addition to holding pillows and other bedding, fills in the corner very attractively. It has an expansive surface which may be decoratively treated with an attractive reading lamp, and otherwise accessorized with knick knacks to make a comfortable loungy, reading nook.

The storage unit is easily accessible from the top and without disarraying the corner setting. This one is accented with cane which is an extremely popular furniture fashion note this year. Other matching pieces here, are a coffee table, which may have either a marble or plastic surface, and a lounge chair, which may be covered with a fabric of your choice.

Osborn Complimented

In a letter to Bill Millen, president, Gene Leach, Waco, FB legislative director, had this to say about Jesse M. Osborn, representative in the Legislature for this district:

I would like personally to congratuate you for the actions of your very capable and conscientious representative, Jesse Osborn, who did a very commendable job during this session of the state Legislature.

Many pieces of legislation were passed that will be of great benefit to agriculture in the future. We were able to pass these bills only because of the cooperation rendered by legislators such as Mr. Osborn.

Jesse worked very hard in preventing the passage of the 3c valorem tax water development bill and also did much to reduce the proposed 2c state gasoline tax to 1c.

There has never been a time in history when the farmer has been confronted with as many problems as he is today — problems that are brought about by other organized groups of people and individuals that are constantly trying to write policies dealing with agriculture — policies that are for the purpose of furthering selfish desires in certain businesses and individual groups at the expense of the farmer.

We as farm people must work hard to develop good, sound, unselfish policies that benefit all segments of agriculture, as well as the entire economy. We have as many meetings as possible in each county, with as many farmers attending as possible, keping in mind at all times that if we as farmers don't develop our own policies, there are other groups or individuals that will write policies that in most instances wil be harmful rather than beneficial to us as farm people.

HE'S ON 25 BOARDS!

Too Many Board Meetings Burden Texas Officials

By JOHN BEN SHEPPERD
Texas Attorney General

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of four articles written by Texas' Attorney General on the problem of the present State board system in Texas. Other articles will follow in later issues.)

One of the most vexing problems of modern Texas government is the present system of state boards.

These boards are like the story of Topsy, who just grewed and grewed. At the present time some state officials serve on so many boards that proper administration is almost impossible.

This problem is so important to the citizens and taxpayers of this State that I have done a great deal of research to determine possible answers to it.

You might say that I am one who speaks from bitter experience, for as your Attorney General I have served on twenty-five of these boards, and I have had a first-hand view of the inefficiency of the system.

Those men who will be elected Attorney General in the future should not be harrassed and hamstrung with this impossible number of sideline duties.

In The Old Days

When the State Constitution was written in 1875, a state official was not busy by today's standards. He could take care of his duties, attend a couple of board meetings a week, and still have ample time to go fishing on the Colorado. So the Legislature put the State's constitutional officers on various boards as "ex-officio" members.

One of the most important reasons for making the state officials members of Boards was a fact that they lived in Austin. In those days of slow transportation a man could not leave his farm or his store for weeks and travel down here to serve on a board.

The only railroad coming into Austin was from Hempstead, 50 miles north of Houston. Almost all of the 1,566 miles of track in the state were running north and south in East Texas. In order to get to Brownsville, you had to take the stage from Waco to Comanche, and go on by hack. Or you could go by horse in 10 days from Austin and save the $10.00 stage fare.

The men who travelled to the Constitutional convention travelled an average of 386 miles, round trip, mostly by horse. The trip from El Paso, Texarkana, or Amarillo, on horseback took from one to twe weeks.

News By Wire

Now a citizen can fly from his home town, attend a board meeting, and be back home for supper. In 1875 Austin had a telegraph communication only with New Orleans and Galveston, and not a permanent newspaper correspondent in town. Now we have 40 correspondents in the capitol to cover all the activities of state government and almost instant communication with any part of the United States.

We don't have to look any further to see why the Legislature started putting these same officials on boards. They have continued to use them to man new boards through the years, thus avoiding possible criticism for adding new "bureaucrats" to the payroll.

During the past 50 years the rate of addition of these extra board duties has speeded up to twice what it was in the 54 years from 1875 to 1930. The seven constitutional officers — Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Comptroller, Treasurer, and Land Commissioner — are now required by law to fill 38 seats on 27 separate boards and commissions of the state government, not including about two dozen inactive boards that still exist in theory.

Few Men — Many Boards

The Governor serves on 9 boards; the Land Commissioner, eight; the Comptroller, seven; State Treasurer, five; and the Lieutenant Governor, four.

The Attorney General carries the heaviest load. He serves on 24 boards, many of which are active enough to require considerable time. He often feels the need of 24 hands and two dozen eyes to keep up with them. He was placed on most of them for no better reason than to provide the boards with handy legal advice, which is fundamentally a bad idea.

Board membership places the Attorney General in the unseemly position of a man witnessing his own contract. He is often called upon for an official opinion on the legality of a policy which he as a board member helped to establish. Other states have recognized this conflict and refused to place their Attorney General in such a dual role. In fact, in recent years almost all the states have shown a tendency to stop placing their legal officer on state boards. Texas is unmatched in the number of ex-officio responsibilities placed on the Attorney General. He has more than any other state, 6 times as many as the average.

177 boards and commissions of Texas government determine state policies and secure the Attorney General's legal opinions (which are purely advisory) without his presence on the Board, so his service as an ex-officio board member hardly seems necessary and is in most cases unwise.

Office Duties Expand

The primary duties of constitutional officers have been so expanded with the development of state government through the years that none of them now have the time which should be devoted to State Boards.

The constitutional and statutory duties of the Attorney General, outside of board membership, fill hundreds of pages in the law books. He is charged with the approval of all bonds issued by the state or any lesser unit of government and these have run to over 375 million already this year. He must examine the characters of the thousands of corporations in the State and inquire into anti-trust violations.

He must advise the Governor and all other state officials, agencies, boards or commissions on their legal problems. With 2,000 lawsuits a year to prosecute or defend in the state or federal courts and the preparation of over 1500 opinions a year, his job can hardly be called part-time employment.

Thirteen Heads

All of the constitutional officers make a giant effort to squeeze attendance at 38 boards into their busy schedules. But this is defeating the real purpose of having a board. Boards should be composed of men able to give time, calm consideration and expert advice to the administrators of the program. Show me the man who can qualify as an expert in banking, investment, taxes, leasing, elections and vote frauds, retirement programs, rehabilitation o fthe blind, cancer and pellagra control, county financing and taxation, interstate cooperation, land purchasing for game conservation, collection of unpaid judgements, legislative redistricting, election law revision, and building construction, and I will show you a man who will have not only 24 eyes, but 13 heads.

Public confidence in officials is based in the final analysis on their efficient and honest service. However, you can't produce good government by weighing down your public servants. The only man who does his job better with lead weights on his feet is a deep sea diver.

(Another article on this subject will appear soon.)

Owner Must Assume Responsibility For Mechanical Safety Of Vehicle

Today's driving conditions on Texas' crowded highways make it imperative that the State's automobile owners assume greater responsibility for the mechanical safety of their vehicles.

This view was expresed today by G. C. Morris, executive director of the Highway Safety Council of Texas, in a statement announcing that the non-profit, statewide Council is undertaking an educational program to encourage motorists to "Get a Safety Check, Too" each time their automobiles are serviced.

"An oil change and grease job are important to the life of any car", Morris said, "but a thorough check of the key safety points on the automobile may be far more important to the life of the driver and the other occupants.

"Our survey indicate that a regular 1,000 mile lubrication check-up has become a habit with most automobile owners who are aware of the value of their car", re reported. "Antomotive Servicemen estimate, however, that not one in ten drivers ever ask for a check on the safety of brakes, lights, steering mechanism, wheels, or other such key factors in safe driving.

"The standard practice", he said, "seems to be to wait for trouble to develop and then hope that it does not cause a fatal or crippling crash before it can be corrected".

Morris said that the three-year old Texas inspection law had improved the general standard of mechanical safety for vehicles operating on Texas highways, but that the requirements for this annual inspection do not include some key safety elements.

"On modern day automobiles and other vehicles, the steering mechanism deserves far more frequent and careful attention than it deserves", he said as one illustration. "More than five major accidents each week are caused by steering failures and this does not include innumerable accidents in which the cause cannot be determined".

The Texas inspection law no longer requires inspection of the steering mechanism, Morris noted.

Seek Voluntary Inspection

Morris said that the Highway Safety Council members hope to make regular voluntary safety inspections a regular habit among automobile owners when they leave their vehicles for servicing at garages.

"No amount of alertness, caution, or training can help a driver prevent an accident when his automobile fails for mechanical reasons while traveling at highway speeds", Morris said. "Mechanical failures must be prevented before the Driver gets on the highway".

Hints On Machine Cotton Harvesting

The grade of mechanically harvested cotton can be improved or lowered by the practices used during the harvesting process says Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

If strippers are used, Elliott advises producers to get the latest information from the local county agent on defoliation. He also suggests that weeds and especially Johnson grass be cleared from the fields before stripping is commenced. Spot oiling is suggested for this job.

When harvesting is begun, don't strip when the cotton is wet. Most gins, he adds, are equipped to do a good job if the cotton is brought to them in proper conditions. One of the more important of these conditions is dryness.

He suggests the use of blowers on the strippers and wire or slatted sides for the trailers. Make the trailers large enough so tramping will not be necessary,, he advises. Growers have told him it costs from $5 to $15 a bale to tramp cotton on a trailer. This will soon pay for extra trailers.

When spindle type pickers are used, he again advises seeing the county agent for defoliation information. Pick the cottton only when it is dry and be sure the machine is kept clean. Don't tramp the cotton for trash is ground into the lint and lower grades will result.

In case of custom harvesting, he suggests that a small piece of blackboard be placed on the side of the trailer. It will carry the number of the trailer; the producers name; weight loaded; notation, machine picked and pounds needed to make the desired weight bale and finally the name of picker operator. This information is valuable to the ginner as well as the producer.

For those who must put cotton on the ground and load later are advised that plans for a tractor loader (No. 378) are available from the local county agent. Finally, says Elliott, don't overlook any practice which will save or make money, the cost-price squeeze which is growing even tighter on the agricultural producer can best be met with more efficient operation.

HERE and THERE

By JAMES TODD

Bennett Cerf, who writes a column for King Features Syndicate, tells of a young woman who works in the office of a top radio-television executive. She was overheard to say with some degree of impatience, "My boss has a split personality, and I loathe 'em both".

In a study of employer-employee relations expressions of this nature are heard frequently both by fellow employees and outsiders. Personnel directors and counselors also listen to them as they attempt to relieve a situation that becomes troublesome in the organization.

Surveys show that about 80% of employees are discharged because of inability to get along with fellow workers and their immediate supervisor rather than because of inability to do the work that is expected of them. The White Motor Company has on the wall of the office of each of their executives this motto in large letters, "Men Are Judged To A Large Degree By Their Ability To Work With Other men".

Every survey shows the boss is the biggest factor in keeping workers happy and efficient. What is fully expected of the employee by the employer is an important factor to be fully understood and gone into from all angles.

Mrs. Smythe-Brown was making final arrangements for an elaborate reception, and gave her Irish maid full and complete last minute detailed instructions. "Now Bridgit, for the first thirty minutes after six o'clock I want you to stand at the drawing room door and call guests' names as they arrive".

Bridgit's face lightened up and she enthusiastically replied: "Shore and begory, ma'am, I've been wantin' to do that to some of 'em ivver since I been here".

The common causes for inability to get along on the part of both employer and employee are factors far removed from the daily routine of the day's work. The list is headed by family troubles and financial worries. It seems difficult for both employer and employee to leave these and other personal problems outside the door of the office, the store, or the shop.

Dr. Wm. S. Sadler and his wife, Dr. Lena K. Sadler, famous physicians and surgeons of Chicago, collaborated in writing a very helpful book, "The Quest For Happiness". The second of seven essentials to happiness they place next to good physical and mental health "congenial work — agreeable employment". They urge if you do not now have it get busy and find it.

The good workman's prayer his been given as this: "Now I get me up to work; I pray the Lord I shall not shirk. And if I die before the night I hope my work turns out all right".

SAND HILLS PHILOSOPHER SAYS:

Touring Farmers Went A Mighty Long Way To Get Out Of Work

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses work this week, a matter he has only a theoretical knowledge of.

Dear editar:

A bunch of farmers was sitting around out here the other day and the topic of discussion was this:

"J. A."

For more than a month now a group of Russian farmers, or at least that's what they're called, I think they're mostly experts who have dodged the necessity of farming, have been touring the United States to study agriculture, and at the same time a group of American farmers have been touring Russia for the same purpose.

Now what this group out here wanted to know is: Who's been looking after these visiting farmer's farms while they've been away over a month? Who's been feeding the cows? Who's been looking after the harvesting? Who fed the dog? Who cut the grass around the house?

They contended they didn't see how a bonifide farmer could leave his farm for a month at this time of the year. Maybe in the winter time, but now, they couldn't see it.

Well, I'll tell you. It's possible. I never have left my farm out here for a month at a time, have no desire to, but that hasn't kept me from letting the grass around the house go un-cut for that long. Lots of winters, I've gon a month without feeding my cows, on account of there wasn't any feed on the place.

A man doesn't have to go all the way to Russia to escape a month's work. I've stayed right here at home and done it lots of times.

Moreover, one of the American farmers visiting Russia got back last week after traveling 10,000 miles and reported he hadn't learned a thing worth using on his farm. It seems to me that's a lot of traveling just to get out of a month's work on your farm.

And as for the Russians visiting over here, I don't know what they learned, but whatever it was, all it will amount to is more work for the Russian farmers, not for the visiting experts.

Travel is a fine thing if you like it, but I've never found it necessary to travel 10,000 miles to learn nothing and neglect my own farm. It's easier and more fun to stay at home and do it in the shade.

Yours faithfully,

Misunderstood Rights

Some of the witnesses at the house Un-American Activities Committee's current hearings invoked the Fifth Amemendment and also challenged the Committee's right to investigate possible subversion among show people. . .

It is clear enough to most people that the purpose of the Fifth Amendment is to protect a man from the prosecution that might follow if he testified gainst himself. What is less well understood is that the purpose is not protection against loss of prestige. Those who deplore the economic or social consequences an individual sometimes suffers after using the Fifteh Amendment fail to make this distinction.

Those who, on the other hand, seek to weaken the Fifth Amendment because it has become a special province of suspected Communist are also dealing in irrelevancies. Its use or misuse by a general unpopular group does not diminish its validity as a legal safeguard for all.

The Congressional right to investigate is also a legal right, in the sense that it derives from the Congressional lawmaking function. The question immediately arises, What has Communism, in te theatre, or in unions or in education, got to do with the making of laws.

The answer is not that Congress will likely pass a law dealing specifically with Communism in the theatre as a result of a committee inquiry. It is, rather, that for Congress to be able to pass sensible laws regarding the Communist conspiracy in this country, it is well for Congress to take, as far as possible the measure of that conspiracy in all its manifestations.

The connection between investigation and legislation envokes little protest in other matters of federal interest. There are few outcries that Congress is over-stepping its bounds when it looks into business mergers or farm prices or, for that matter organized crime. If it is granted that the Government has a right to protect itself from subversion, then the right of Congress to investigate Communism cannot logically be limited.

This is not to say that all such investigations are especially significant-the present one seems minor league so far. It is not to say that they are always undertaken for disinterested reasons or always conducted as they should be. . .

But it is to say that these complaints are immaterial to the Congressional right to investigate Communism, just as a disagreeable employment of the Fifth Amendment. To blur the essentail simplicity of these intertwined rights is to create needless confusion, and possibly worse.—Wall Street Journal.

An interesting program was enjoyed throughout the meeting. The next session will be held in Lubbock in August, 1956.

Supt. Kirk Spoke At Rotary Meet

—Supt. Jerry Kirk of Muleshoe schools, speaking before the Rotary Club Tuesday noon, told his listeners about the problems arising in many schol districts as a result of the recent desegregation decision of the U. S. Supreme Court.

He said districts will be expected to have their plans to desegregate in operation by 1956. In this district no special problems will be encountered and apparently there will be no mixing of four colored children graduating from grade school last year, three have moved out of the district and the fourth has signified that she will not attend school.

Mr. Kirk said the general opinion is that desegregation should go slowly, so that any problems incident there to may ironed out without difficulty. The speaker was introduced by Myron Pool, program chairman.

The club is prepapring for the official visit next Monday an dTuesday, Sept. 4 and 5, of Rigdon Edwards, Sweetwater, district governor of the 183rd Rotary district.

WILLIAMS FAMILY VISITS URANIUM SITTING HOUSE

J. W. Williams and daughter, Fay, and son, Johnnie Williams and wife and their two children visited relatives in Comanche and Dublin over the week end, his mother, Mrs. Lillie Swonner and brother, Alford Williams of Dublin, and sister, Mrs. C. H. Odom of Comanche.

They also visited the Jessie Reese "Uranium Sitting House", that is in the spotlight in Comanche County just now.

They also went fishing and swimming in his brother-in-law's uranium earth tank, caught several small fish. The big ones weren't biting. They all reported having a nice time on the C. H. Odom ranch, which has a good showing of that good stuff called uranium.

John Ruskin said, "The history of the world is not the record of great wars and conquests but the history of its households." He was reminding us of certain unforgetable homes on side streets.

He was reminding us of Mark's mother who lent her upper room, where Pentecost begain shaking all history into new patterns; of Prisicilla, Aquila, Lydia, whose hospitality to Paul helped him write whole pages for Christendom; of the concern of Claudia and her household over factions divided their chuch in Corinth.

PARMER COUNTY

Farm Bureau News

By RAYMOND EULER

We want to urge you, once again, to come in and make application for approval with the United States Department of Labor for use of Mexican Nationals. Several have been in since the deadline of September 10th has been publicized, but we are sure there are many more who have some intention of using these workers, who may not be aware of the necessity of making application right now. Please don't be caught napping.

Mrs. Glenda Rickerd, our office secretary, returned last Thursday from the secretary's training School in Waco. She reports that it was an interesting and helpful project, and that she feels better qualified to serve Farm Bureau Members since she attended. Seventy three county office secretaries attended.

It's funny how much attention a bearded man attracts these days. They draw more stares than a bearded lady did just a few years ago. The reason is that one is just about as rare as the other, except preceeding some celebration like a County Fair or something, when bearded men come to the front with natural born whiskers. Actually, we wonder if some of the ladies are not amazed to learn that a man's whiskers could exceed the five o'clock shadow stage, from the looks on their faces sometimes.

Some of you have noticed the announced regarding subsity payments of 50c per sack for potatoes, beginning September 1st. This money for relief of hard hit potato producers comes from tariff funds, legally known as Section 32 funds, not from your tax receipts. Farm Bureau supported this procedure and urged its inclusion in the USDA program.

American Farm Bureau's stand on increases in minimum wage laws, etc., as follows: "We are opposed to any increase in the minimun wage at this time and any effort to establish a statutory minimun wage." Congress did, however, increase the minimum wage to $1.00 per hour, which action has already resulted in hikes in steel prices. The prevention of passage of legislation that would extend this minimum to areas presently partiellly exempt is our greatest task when Congress reconvenes. Increased cost of farm machinery is already resulting, and having to pay a minimum of $1 per hour to every employee, regardless of his ability and willingness to work would be too much to bear.

If you want to enter the talent show contest at the Fair September 10th, call your community chairman, or 3521, the Farm Bureau number.

Collegiate Combo Cause Commotion

Did you ever wonder how a hit tune is born? The four collegians pictured above have just recorded a tuneful new song entitled "Ease That Squeeze." The four musicians, known as the Rhythm Aces, got their inspiration when they missed a radio audition because of a traffic jam. Their song catapulted them into the glamour of nationwide publicity.

Dove Shooting Season To Open In Area Sept. 1

Reports indicate that the mourning dove season—first phase of the fall wildlife harvest—will be favorable, according to the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commision.

He said a field survey of the north zone, which opens for mourning doves on September 1, shows that there is a good supply of birds and that food and water conditions are fair to good.

The north zone season runs from noon on September 1 to sunset on October 15. The south zone season is from noon on October 15 until sun set November 28.

Changes this year include a five day extension to a forty-five day season and a two weeks delay in the south zone opener.

Bag limits and shooting hours, and other basic regulations, are the same, said the Executive Secretary. Shooting will be confined to afternoon hours only and the limits are ten per day and ten in possession.

The north zone area comprises about three-fourths of Texas, comprising as it does all the territory running diagonally across the state on a rough line from Maverick county on the Mexican border to Sabine on the Louisiana border.

In this design, water pressure provides a watertight seal and positive lock automatically—at both high and low pressures. No tools are required. And there are no yokes, latches or gadgets to break or wear out.

"My ELECTRIC FOOD FREEZER gives me substantial savings plus top quality!"

says MRS. HERB GRIFFITHS
1500 AVENUE F
MULESHOE, TEXAS

"But, that's not all! I save time because I can buy foods in larger quantities eliminating 'those little trips' to the grocery store," Mrs. Griffiths adds.

Many homemakers, through personal experience, are firmly convinced that a food freezer pays for itself through reduced food bills as Mrs. Griffiths suggests.

You too can save money and time and get the big plus of top food quality when you own an electric food freezer. Why wait? See your Reddy Kilowatt dealer, now!

"We purchase meats for our family of four in large quantities, and the freezer saves us money at the same time that it lets us enjoy top quality cuts of meat."

"Our son, Prentice, who is now three, was stricken with polio in 1953, and for several months was on a diet which included lots of lean meat. Our food freezer really came in handy during that time."

"My husband, Herb, and I enjoy outdoor cooking during the summer months, and our freezer is just right for keeping the cuts of meat we enjoy." We almost always use something from our freezer in entertaining friends, and I avoid any last-minute rush before the guests arrive."

"The children enjoy the frozen desserts and between meal snacks which our freezer keeps ready for them at a moment's notice."

A freezer fits into pleasant living — as you can see from Mrs. Griffiths' enjoyment of hers. Why not make meal planning a pleasure at your home. A food freezer will help
