Texas House Approves Emergency School Aid

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas House today overwhelmingly approved an emergency $80 million appropriation to aid financially troubled school distrcts and a proposed constitutional amendment to permit pension increases for retired teachers and state employes.

The school aid bill passed 136-4 despite objections of Rep. David Finney, D-Fort Worth, who contended the measure perpetuated an inequitable school finance system.

The Senate, which passed an identical bill earlier, must now agree in the House version of the scool aid bill before it goes to the governor.

The amendment, to be submitted to Texas voters in a special election April 22, is needed to permit pension increases to up to 18 per cent proposed by Gov. Dolph Bris - coe.

The House also approved and sent to the governor an emergency $94,909 appropriation to West Texas State University for replacement of a building destroyed by fire on the Canyon campus.

Today's work agenda in the House was the longest of the session to date.

Four of the five items on today's House agenda were emergency proposals submitted by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, and the other was a constitutional amendment permitting higher expense allowances —and possibly more pay —for the legislators.

Two of the emergency items sailed through the Senate in only 10 minutes Wednesday.

Those two bills authorize up to $80 million in emergency aid to public school districts across the state, and $18 million to help bail out financially pinched junior colleges.

The public school funds will be allocated on the basis of average daily attendance in each district, and on the amount of local funds used in each district's operation and maintenance.
maintenance.

Districts which normally operate 90 per cent on state funds will get 90 per cent of a $40-per-pupil emergency allocation. Districts which operated entirely on local funds —known as budget balanced districts —will not benefit from the bill as it passed the Senate.

A House committee approved a proposed constitutional amendment Monday night raising per diem allowance for legislators while the legislature is meeting from $12 to $30.

That bill was viewed as a means to get the lawmakers' pay increased, even though the House committee refused to go along with suggestions to include a $15,000 a year salary in the measure.

Legislators now make $4,800 a year, get $12 a day per diem, and 10 cents a mile for trips between the capitol and their districts.

Both the compensation amendment and the amendment allowing the state to make higher contributions to teacher and state employe retirement funds had to clear the House today in order to be placed on the ballot for a special election April 22.

The Education Committee, which questioned Brockette more than an hour Wednesday, voted unanimously to approve his appointment to succeed commissioner, J.W. Edgar, who retired.

Brockette, appointed last year by the state Board of Education, answered questions about his views on education philosophy and school problems.

With Brockette's nomination, the Senate is schedled to vote today on 197 other appointments to state posts. Included are Gov. Dolph Briscoe's nomination of Joe D. Gunn of Madisonville to the Texas Employment Commission and reappointment of Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Bishop as Texas' National Guard adjutant general.

Briscoe's appointment of Ben F. McDonald Jr. of Corpus Christi to a $27,000 a year job as executive director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs had been tentatively slated for today, but will not be considered until next week.

Sen. Mike McKinnon, DCorpus Christi, chairman of the Senate Nominations Committee, said McDonald's confirmation vote was postponed to check out allegations made at a hearing Tuesday.

"I don't expect any problem with him," McKinnon said. "I just think we ought to make sure any allegations are checked out thoroughly before we approve of any nominations."

Paul G. Reyes, a former employer of the Community Affairs Department, accused McDonald Tuesday of mismanaging the agency's program of loal planning and management assistance. Reyes urged senators to require McDonald to account for a $185,000 fund he said should have been returned to participating cities and counties.

McDonald said the money was returned to accounts of local governments. He said the administration charges never should have been levied, and were part of the reason Reyes was fired.

Common Cause lobbyist John Hannah says the practice among lobby groups of paying legislators to make speeches could create conflicts of interest.

He asked Attorney General John Hill Wednesday to declare the practice illegal.

Rep. Don Henderson, R-Houston, introduced a bill Wednesday limiting lawmakers to $3,000 a year for such speeches, called honorariums, and no more than $300 for a single appearance.

"My proposal would eliminate any possibility that state legislators will inadvertently be led into a conflict of interest because of the economic support of a friendly, organized special interest group," Henderson said.

Hannah said honorariums should never be paid if a lobby group has matters pending before the legislature.

The issue arose when Sen. Bob Gammage, D-Houston, asked Hill earlier this week for a ruling on the legality of such payments.

Gammage and a number of other legislators were scheduled to speak —and get $100 honorariums —at a meeting of the Texas Osteopathic Association. The honorarium offer was withdrawn later by the lobby group on the advice of District Attorney Robert O. Smith.

"For any organization to be passing out $100 bills to legislators, under whatever pretext, while that organization has legislation pending has always been ethically questionable," Hannah said.

Americans Pay Off Debts At Record Rates

United Press International

American consumers, worried about possibly losing their jobs, are paying off their debts at a record rate.

The Federal Reserve Board said Wednesday consumer borrowing fell by a record $877 million in December.

"It's a typical recession response," said Richard Clay, an economist specializing in debt at Morgan Guaranty in New York.

"People are very concerned about the state of their personal finances and want to get monthly payments down in anticipation of a higher rate of unemployment and lower personal income."

The December decline in outstanding installment and non-installment credit followed a $402 million drop in November. It was the first time total consumer credit has fallen two straight months since May and June, 1958.

Overall the installment credit, which includes loans for automobiles, other consumer goods and home repairs, fell $814 million in December. Noninstallment credit, including single payment loans, charge accounts and service credit, was off $63 million for the month.

In a related move, Morgan Guaranty, the nation's fifth largest bank, cut its prime rate for business loans to 8¾ per cent from 9 per cent, giving it the lowest rate of any major bank in the nation.

The prime rate has not been at 8¾ since last March when the rate began its historic climb to a record 12 per cent by fall.

The lower prime rate —the interest banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers —reflects a sharp decline in business loans since the recession deepened.

The Federal Reserve Bank, the nation's money manager, has sought to drive down the prime rate by putting more money at cheaper rates into the commercial banking system.

The easier monetary policy is designed to give a moderate stimulus to the economy by making more money available for business expansion which, in turn, would create new jobs.

Prices on the stock market soared Wednesday in response to the Fed's lowering of interest rates for loans to member banks.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost 3.37 points Tuesday, gained 9.78 points to 717.85.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said President Ford expects rapid growth in the Gross National Product in 1976. But Treasury Secretary William Simon said too rapid a recovery from the recession could produce even worse inflation.

U.S. Citizenship For Gen. Lee?

SAN ANTONIO, Tx. (UPI) — A new drive has begun to restore citizenship to confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee.

A group of 12 students at Robert E. Lee High School said it was circulating a petition seeking restoration of United States citizenship that Lee lost when he led the Southern army during the Civil War.

Daid Kinder, spokesman for the group, said it hoped to get at least 10,000 signatures and appear before the city council seeking a resolution to that effect. Then the group will try to get a resolution from the Texas Legislature and try to get legislation introduced in Congress.

FOR STRATEGY TALKS

President Ford Gathers Top Economic Advisors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford summoned his top economic advisers to the White House for strategy talks today as his disputes with the heavily Democratic 94th Congress mounted.

Among the disputes were food stamps for the poor, military aid for Turkey and the first step in Ford's energy-economy program —a tariff on imported oil.

Among those conferring with Ford were Treasury Secretary William Simon, economic counselor William Seidman, chairman Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board and Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb.

Here is how the controversies stood:

—In the past two days, Congress has voted to block for the rest of this year Ford's order raising the amount the poor must pay to obtain food stamps. The order was part of Ford's effort to cut federal spending. The votes were 374-38 in the House and 76-88 in the Senate, more than enough to override a presidential veto. An aide said Ford is not likely fight the action.

—The House voted, 309-114, Wednesday to block for 90 days Ford's $3 a barrel fee on imported oil, the first step in his program to make the country less dependent on foreign oil. Ford aides are trying to marshal votes to preserve the import fee, first in the Senate and then if necessary in a veto fight.

—Ford Wednesday appealed to Congress to reconsider its action which blocked further military aid to Turkey from midnight Wednesday night until substantial progress is made in Cyprus peace negotiations. But Congress was unlikely to change its mind, and Ford said the administration "will comply fully with the law."

Missing Signal Gives Distress

Ice added to the confusion at the intersection of West Wilks and Hobart early today as cars lined up for traffic light changes.

Eastbound cars on Wilks attempting left turns were in a predicament since the left - turn signal was not only out of order, it was gone!

Alert drivers, according to an unofficial poll, usually sat through two series of light changes, before using the north - south traffic signal as a guide.

For those who may need the knowledge before city crews replace the signal, which was totally damaged when struck by a sliding truck Wednesday afternoon, left turns for east and west bound traffic are permissible just before the east and westbound straight ahead signal flashes.

Now, drivers, figure that one out!

Warmer Weather Seen For Panhandle Regions

A Canadian cold front continued to cause shivering in the area today, with the low in Pampa dipping to 6 degrees, but warmer weather, reaching into the middle 40s by Friday, is in the forecast.

High Thursday was a chilly 23 under leaden skies. Snow which began falling yesterday afternoon provided an additional .09 inch of moisture.

Fair skies returned to the area, allowing sunshine to begin a slow melting process on the snow and ice.

Minor accidents occurred because of the slick streets, but no major injuries or damages were reported. Roads were still slick at forenoon, but many motorists were out for work, business or shopping.

In UPI reports:

Gardeners who planted spring vegetables during balmy weather two weeks ago got a cold surprise Wednesday as frigid Canadin air spilled into texas, bringing freezing temperatures and snow.

The National Weather Service said Amarillo and Childress in the Panhandle and Wichita Falls in North Central Texas received up to one inch of snow. Traces of snow were reported in Dallas, Longview, Tyler, and Texarkana.

"Most of the stuff that they bought that weekend was stuff that could withstand the temperatures," said Mark Braley, 23, an employe of Wolfe Nursery in Dallas. "We told most people and most people were aware that the danger of having another frost was not past yet.

"Trees and so forth they were planting had no trouble and vegetables like onions," Braley said. "If they planted any tender vegetables all they had to do was cover them up with something."

Temperatures at dawn across Texas ranged from 8 degrees at Amarillo in the Panhandle to 62 at Brownsville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"Well, I doubt if they call off school," said Bob Cantrell of Bonham in East Texas. "It was dry snow and not very good for making snowballs. All it did was slow down the traffic."

Several minor traffic accidents were reported in Amarillo, where Laveta Rook works for Spinnin' Wheels, a motorcycle shop that also sells snowmobiles.

"There's not enough snow for snowmobiles because they need deep snow —if you don't have a foot or two of snow, you can't navigate on them," she said.

A spokeswoman for AAA Tractor Service of Amarillo, which advertises snow removal services, said she had not received many calls during the snow flurries.

"It's usually more than an inch when we get most of our calls," she said. "Mostly it's to clear driveways."

Travel was limited over much of North Central and Northwestern sections as the cold front coated highways and bridges with snow and ice.

The Texas Highway Department reported bridges and highways in eastern, western and Panhandle sections of the state were covered with ice but were expected to clear by tonight.

Clouds covered much of the state except for parts of central Texas and the Panhandle, where skies were clearing.

A ferocious East Coast snowstorm, reduced to an innocent light snowfall by early today, left South Boston apartment dwellers without power or heat and bottled up traffic from the southern Appalachians to Vermont.

Schools were closed Wednesday in Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

A 3,500-resident public housing project in South Boston went without heat or power throughout the storm. Heat was restored by late Wednesday but electricity was still out early today.

Rabin Urges Sadat For Peace Pledge

By United Press International

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat can make a serious move toward peace by pledging directly to Israel that Egypt and Syria will not start another Middle East war, according to Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

Rabin told 600 delegates at the World Jewish Congress in Jerusalem Wednesday night that Sadat should repeat to Israel the pledges he has made in speeches in Cairo and Paris.

"If it is true, it is a serious opening," Rabin said. "If he is saying so and fooling the world, it should be unmasked.

"If he would make a specific undertaking on this in an agreement with Israel it would be true progress toward peace."

Rabin also said Israel would stand by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's step-by-step Middle East negotiations and attend a reconvened Geneva peace conference only if the Kissinger approach did not pan out.

"We don't want to go there (Geneva) yet because we must know that we have tried everything we can," Rabin said. "If we do reach Geneva, we shall do so without straining U.S.-Israeli relations."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Sadat issued a joint communique Wednesday at the end of Gromyko's visit to Cairo calling for "immediate resumption" of the Geneva talks, which would give Moscow a major role in Middle East efforts.

Diplomats in Cairo, however, said Sadat still backed the peace efforts of Kissinger, who is due to visit Egypt, Israel and Syria next week.

The word "immediately" in the communique "does not mean tomorrow," one diplomat said. "It just means shortly, so there is no change in Egypt's position."

In another development, the Arab Defense Council voted at a special session in Cairo Wednesday night to give Lebanon a $28 million grant and military help to defend its southern region against possible Israeli attacks.

Israeli commandos crossed the border into Lebanon several times last month to raid suspected guerrilla bases.

Jury Call Slated

Grand jury for 31st District Court is scheduled to be impaneled Friday to hear criminal cases presented for indictment evidence.

Pampa City Police department officials said today 14 cases prepared by that office will be submitted for scrutiny by jurors.

WITH CORPORATE FUNDS

Bell Provided Shooting Lease

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. executive has told an attorney the company used a quarter of a million dollars in corporate funds for a "secret shooting lease" and Bell provided a plane to take corprate executives to the lodge, according to a newspaper report.

The San Antonio News said Wednesday details of the lease were revealed in a deposition attorney Pat Maloney took last weekend in St. Louis., Mo., from H.G. Schodde, former vice president and general manager in San Antonio who is now vice president in charge of personnel for Bell.

Maloney is the attorney representing two parties who filed a $29 million damage suit against Southwestern Bell. A hearing on the suit was scheduled for Friday, but District Judge Peter Michael Curry said Wednesday he is postponing the hearing until Monday.

In the latest report of alleged wrongdoing at the expense of telephone users, the San Antonio News said a "secret shooting lease near Uvalde for company big shots and friends through the 1968-69 hunting seasons" was paid for with corporate funds amounting to an estimated $250,000.

Schodde said in the sworn statement he paid leaseholder Wayne Hope $16,000 for two years and hired Mr. and Mrs. Newton A. Etter of Uvalde for $3,155, during the two hunting seasons to maintain a house on the lease.

Etter said all his dealings were with Schodde and as far as he knew Bell never entered the picture.

"It was a hunting lease and my job was feeding the stuff and my wife did the cooking," Etter said. "We weren't out there but about seven months before they gave up the lease. I don't know why they gave it up, I'd be afraid to say. I always wondered about it myself.

"They (Schodde and Don Shaffer, another Bell employe) paid me to take care of the deer and turkeys. We fed the deer and turkeys and such as that. Either I got a check from one or both of them, I think, I don't know. All I know is the boys paid me and it wasn't Bell to my knowledge. As far as I know Bell Telephone didn't have anything to do with it —of paying me or for the hunting lease either."

According to the newspaper, Schodde recaptured the money by padding expense vouchers, along with money he spent for furnishing the house, putting in hunting blinds, buying a house trailer, a jeep and a pickup truck.

"He acknowledged that Southwestern Bell's corporate plane, a $1.7 million jet of Australian manufacture, was used on many occasions to convey the Bell biggies to and from the shooting lease," the News said.

"Based on Schodde's memory, the jet seems to have made at least 26 trips in and out of St. Louis for that purpose at cost to Bell rate payers of well over $100,000 right there."

The newspaper said among executives making trips to the lease were ATT Prsident John Debutts, ATT vice presidents W.L. Lindholm and E.G. Greber, Southwestern Bell President and Board Chairman R.A. Goodson, Bell vice presidents Justin E. Hoy and R.R. Shockley and Bell lobbyist Bert Lloyd.

Maloney has asked Curry to set trial in the suit for March 24. But Bell attorneys are seeking a delay saying publicity unfavorable to the company published since the suit was filed should be allowed to die.

Bell attorneys also indicated they will file motions for a change of venue and to split the case into two suits.

James H. Ashley, a fired Bell executive from San Antonio, and the family of T.O. Gravitt, former vice president for Texas who who committed suicide, filed the suit Nov. 15.

Wofford Silent On Applications

City Manager Mack Wofford today held firm to his policy of no announcement about applicants for the job of Pampa police chief.

The city manager declined to release any information about yesterday's closed meeting of the City Commission at which the 11 applications already on file were reviewed.

All Wofford would say was what he had stated before — if further applications are received, they will be reviewed at subsequent meetings with city commissioners.

It was already known that of the 11 applications, nine were from out of town and two from members of the local department, according to Wofford.

Deadline for filing applications is Feb. 17.

Announcement of the selection of a police chief is expected soon thereafter.

Needed: Good Salesmen

One of the country's best known speakers whose talent is to motivate salesmen once remarked that nothing happens until someone sells something.

That is attributed to Arthur (Red) Motley, chairman of the board of Parade Magazine and a much - in - demand speaker who has addressed businessmen on many occasions.

Salesmanship is one of the great arts of the business world and a talent that is frequently misunderstood. A lot of jokes are told about salesmen such as suggesting one is such a good salesman he could sell ice cubes to an Eskimo.

The truth is that a good salesman does not try to sell something useless to a buyer. He seeks to show his customer that his product or service can be helpful and profitable to the buyer.

Obviously the statement by Motley that nothing happens until someone sells something sums up the essence of business. Something is needed, someone recognizes the need and provides. Someone first had to be sold on the idea that a need exists. Then someone had to be sold on the idea that the need could be satisfied. That starts the chain of productivity, the investment of capital, the employment of labor, etc.

Unfortunately business in many cases has failed to do a selling job on the need for its existence and on the value its freedom to operate has to the general public.

Considerable public relations activity exists to promote a particular brand of commodity, but not nearly enough selling is done on the commodity itself — private enterprise.

The advertising industry has placed great confidence in the idea of repetition. Over and over we are told that brand X toothpaste will make the teeth whiter, that a certain mouthwash makes one more socially acceptable or that one can get a smoother shave with this or that razor blade.

The idea is to keep the name before the buying public so frequently that the buyer is automatically tuned in to that special name when he's ready to plunk down his dollar.

What would be helpful to the preservation of the private enterprise system, it seems to us, would be the use of the repetition process to sell the virtues of private enterprise.

Some companies have begun to use this approach in a sort of defensive effort against the onslaught of political attacks upon the private enterprise sector.

Political government delights in attacking the private segment of the economy, seldom missing an opportunity to suggest that private enterprise cannot do the job. What makes this so damaging is that some spokesmen who fly the banner of private enterprise often mouth the foolishness of the politicians. They seem to have adopted the philosophy that they can't lick 'em so they'll join 'em.

That is extremely unfortunate and we suspect it is because there are not enough real salesmen at the top levels of private enterprise.

If they were real salesmen for the system, they would realize they are not trying to sell ice cubes to Eskimos, but are offering a product that will fill the needs of the public. They have something that will make life more profitable, more pleasant and more durable than anything the politicians can push.

Investing in Falsehood

Some individuals invest dollars in stocks, bonds, gold, silver, tools, skills and work.

Others have an investment in unemployment.

The information comes from former Governor Ronald Reagan of California.

Speaking at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Reagan said "In the bureaucracy of the Labor Department, a great many jobs are concerned with grants and programs that are only triggered by high unemployment."

The question for a Labor Department bureaucrat, therefore, is how to achieve the employment.

It's done by arithmetic.

"They come up with unemployment figures like a Nielsen rating." Reagan said. Government statisticians base their figures on the number of individuals temporarily out of work and those seeking part time jobs as well as the number of family wage earners who are unemployed.

"If we were to use the English system," he explained, "we've got less than one per cent unemployment. He said the English System includes only the primary wage earners who are out of work.

It seems strange that some persons obtain a paycheck by producing the appearance of unemployment. They invest time and energy for the sake of falsehood. Perhaps they are comfortable with themselves. That, too, must be an effort.

Hebert Loss Hurts All

Changes in institutions must go hand in hand with progress said Thomas Jefferson early in the life of our republic. The converse is that change simply to exhibit power for power's sake is the worst possible reason to change an existing order that is working well.

The dismissal of F. Edward Hebert as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee falls into the latter category, we believe. Rep. Hebert has an outstanding record of dedicated attention to the nation's security. He is a ranking expert on defense matters. And his leadership of the House Armed Services Committee always has been largely non - partisan.

The ouster of Rep. Hebert will cause the enemies of the United States of America to rejoice.

DUNAGIN'S PEOPLE

"WHAT A TERRIBLE TIME TO ANNOUNCE A TAX CUT. IT TAKES ALL THE FUN OUT OF THE SEASON."

Communist Waves

Portugal is now seeing what happens when the Communist Party is given the right to "participate" in a coalition government.

The Portuguese cabinet has just bowed to demands by the Communists that all workers in the country be required to belong to a single labor union — one which the Communists control. This is a clear betrayal of the promise made when the old dictatorship was overthrown last year that there would be free choice and diversity in economic and political institutions in the future.

Cabinet members trying to resist this patent surrender of labor to Communist domination have threatened to resign, but they face the fact that if they do, it will only be easier for the Communists to have their way.

The military junta which staged last April's coup also promised there would be no basic reforms in Portugal until a constitutional assembly had been elected and convened. Now Communist Party boss Alvaro Cunhal is arguing that the election scheduled for March should be postponed. The Communists are given no chance of winning. With control of Portugal's only labor union, the Communists could create conditions making it impossible for an election to be held — a familiar tactic.

It looks like the return to democracy in Portugal is not going to be easy — if it takes place at all.

EDUCATOR SAYS

Six-Year-Olds Should Vote

By MAX RAFFERTY

Normally, I would save this little nugget for my annual "Jackass of the Year" award ceremony, at which I bestow the gold "Maxie" upon the biggest blockhead in American education during the preceding 12 months. A reader, however, has just sent me a wire service clipping with a Boston dateline which rates a column all its very own.

It seems there's an educator named John Holt lecturing around the country who is telling all and sundry that children should be permitted to (a) vote in local, state and national elections, (b) work in regular trades and occupations, (c) drive their own cars and (d) conduct their own private sex lives.

I pause to assure you that this is not — repeat not — a put - on, a drollery or a funny by your kindly columnist. If this is a flimflam, it is all Holt's and, after reading his views with sincere if somewhat stupefied attention, I'm inclined to think he's really serious.

Listen to him: "To deny the vote to the young is unjust. They are likely to be more deeply affected than anyone else by the decisions the government makes."

Now, by "young" he means 6 years old. That's what I said, Dr. Spock: 6 years old. And yes, I know that even in your most bizarre outpourings, Doctor, you never went that far. There is, however, more.

The infantophile Holt proposes other "rights" for the emancipated toddler: the right to travel freely, the right to establish his home without his parents' permission, the right to receive from the state whatever minimal income it may guarantee to adults; the right to direct and manage his own education, the right to choose his own guardian, and simply oodles more, all equally idiotic.

When I first perused this fantasy, I said to myself: "This guy is pulling our collective leg. Either he's trying for instant limelight and a fast buck or he's attempting to fill a national need for belly laughs and pratfalls created by the regrettable passing of the Three Stooges."

But, no. It's not that simple. What we have here is a classic if tragic example of an educator who believed everything his education professors told him in college, and who swallowed hook, line and sinker every screwball theory put forth by his textbooks in behavioristic psychology. He is merely carrying organized and systematic fatuity to its logical conclusion.

Thus, the education establishment says, "The child's interests should determine the school's curriculum." Holt goes one step further and says, in effect, "The child's interests should determine everything."

Shibboleth No. 2: "No inhibitions should be permitted to interfere with the development of the child's creativity." Holt extends this to include sex, solo driving on freeways and deciding whose home Junior wants to live in.

And, of course, we've been preaching the welfare state in public school civics classes ever since F.D.R. invented it. Holt simply follows the main premise to its Alice - in - Wonderland completion, namely that the kids should get their weekly allowance from Big Brother in Washington instead of from dear old Dad.

I've been subconsciously afraid for years that some poor devil would stray over the brink and actually believe every word of what passes for educational philosophy in this country. Believing even a small part of this phantasmagorical folly is virtually guaranteed to make the eyes cross, the stomach turn and the brain spin like a helicopter rotor. Taking all of it seriously would be too much for the human organism to sustain without major rifts and fissures.

Alas and lackaday! It's finally happened.

Free Market Is Answer

With the assistance of an incentive from cash rebates, the automobile market is undergoing a revitalization that boosted sales by an average of 40 per cent in a 10 - day period, establishing an upward trend that is expected to continue.

This improving production is a clear - cut example of the way the free enterprise system can work. The result, in the long run, will be a stronger automobile industry and a better deal for people who buy cars.

The pickup in the automobile industry comes as welcome news to a nation tired to hearing that its citizens are increasingly turning to government to solve problems.

Answer to yesterday's puzzle.

Communist Waves

Portugal is now seeing what happens when the Communist Party is given the right to "participate" in a coalition government.

The Portuguese cabinet has just bowed to demands by the Communists that all workers in the country be required to belong to a single labor union — one which the Communists control. This is a clear betrayal of the promise made when the old dictatorship was overthrown last year that there would be free choice and diversity in economic and political institutions in the future.

Cabinet members trying to resist this patent surrender of labor to Communist domination have threatened to resign, but they face the fact that if they do, it will only be easier for the Communists to have their way.

The military junta which staged last April's coup also promised there would be no basic reforms in Portugal until a constitutional assembly had been elected and convened. Now Communist Party boss Alvaro Cunhal is arguing that the election scheduled for March should be postponed. The Communists are given no chance of winning. With control of Portugal's only labor union, the Communists could create conditions making it impossible for an election to be held — a familiar tactic.

It looks like the return to democracy in Portugal is not going to be easy — if it takes place at all.

CALHOUN RESIGNS

On Dec. 27, 1832, John C. Calhoun resigned as vice president because of disagreement with policies of President Andrew Jackson.

CONSERVATIVE ADVOCATE

'Tyranny of the Majority'

By WILLIAM RUSHER

The notion that, in this country, "the majority rules" is of course preposterous on its face. And a good thing, too. If there was one thing the Founding Fathers were plainly afraid of and took elaborate steps to prevent, it was the famed "tyranny of the majority." Clause after clause of the Constitution permits particular actions only after approval by majorities in both Houses of Congress and the consent of the president, or upon proposal by the president with the consent of two - thirds of the Senate, etc. The Constitution itself can be amended only by a vote of two - thirds of both houses of the legislatures of two - thirds of the states — and then, in either case, only if the amendment is subsequently ratified by the votes of majorities in both houses of the legislatures (or by majorities in state conventions) in three - fourths of the states.

The idea, obviously, is to make sure that an important action represents far more than the passing whim of a bare majority. It must, rather, pass muster in various disparate bodies over a substantial period of time, so that what ultimately happens will represent the settled will of a substantial majority.

Now, "the settled will of a substantial majority" is clearly something very different from "the passing whim of a bare majority." But it is also something very different from the particular bias of a stubborn minority — even though the latter may, and sometimes does, benefit from the operational arthritis so carefully built into the Constitution.

That, pretty plainly, is what is happening in this matter of school busing to promote racial integration. In the golden age of the Warren Court, when every day brought forth a noble chance, the regnant liberals on the high bench slammed through a decision that in effect wrote compulsory busing into the Constitution. Subsequent experience with such busing soon made it apparent that a very substantial majority of Americans indeed were against it, and in recent years it has become clear that this goes for black citizens as well as whites. Neither is saying that racial integration is a bad idea in and of itself. But both are insisting that there are other good ideas in the world too, and that one of them is neighborhood schools. And where the two ideas collide, most Americans of both races prefer neighborhood schools to busing for purposes of integration.

But meanwhile the Warren Court's interpretation of the Constitution remains the supreme law of the land, and lower courts (as in Boston) will accordingly order busing where necessary to achieve integration, in the teeth of the "neighborhood school" concept and whether a majority likes it or not.

The liberals, who like this state of affairs very well indeed, since it means that on this subject they get their way without anything approaching majority support, have prudently kept a low profile and murmured about busing only "where necessary" and "as a last resort," etc. But the reality is uglier — as in Boston, where several schools had to close early for the holidays to cool tensions after a white student was stabbed at South Boston High.

In a sense, this is exactly the sort of situation the Founding Fathers had in mind when they wrote all those cumbersome procedures into the Constitution to hobble majorities. Granted (they seem to be saying to us, across almost two centuries) that a majority of you — even a large majority — opposes compulsory busing. Are you sure you want to eliminate it altogether? Do you really feel strongly about it? If so, the Constitution can, after all, be amended.

The trouble is that the Warren Court was too agile an instrumentality of liberal social change to be countered effectively by the laborious process of Constitutional amendment. So students may go on getting stabbed a while longer, in Boston and elsewhere, before Americans can concert the determination and go through the motions required to undo one of liberalism's most tragic mistakes.

Ultimate In Optimism

A Michigan Democrat, concerned for the auto - oriented economy of his state, wants his House colleagues to act quickly on energy and economic legislation.

Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr. says he will call for a seven - day congressional work week to stimulate a "sense of urgency in the Congress" in the economic emergency.

We can sympathize with Riegle's frustrations, but we're afraid he's aiming too high.

In the waning days of the 93rd Congress there was an abortive effort to adopt measures to discourage members of the "Tuesday - Thursday Club," an unsubtle designation for the sizable group of lawmakers which stretches the weekend from Friday to Monday to keep district fences mended.

Rather than shooting for a seven - day week, Riegle should lower his sights. The American people would be cheered if he could persuade their representatives to put in a five - day week.

Or even a four - day week.

PANGS OF HUNGER

A world conference on hunger was held in Rome with 100 nations participating. The problem of food supply is pressing. The answers to the problem do not come easy. And so it was not surprising that no concrete decisions were made during the Rome conclave.

Food shortages figure in the international picture of a depressed economy, just as shortages in other areas do. Population expansion and goods production are in a critical state of imbalance. It is the opinion here that production is the key to world stability. Untold millions of acres of land go uncultivated in the nations of the world. Untold millions of hands are idle. It is time to turn the good earth to our advantage.

A give - away food program by the United States woud be cataclysmic to the economy of this nation now. Our surplus stocks already have been depleted, our grain sales to the Soviet Union have played havoc with the domestic market and the retail prices in our supermarkets continue to climb. In short, it is time for the United States to look to the feeding of its own mouths.

The U.S. is no longer the world's banker, it should not be the Santa Claus and it certainly should not assume the burdens of the nations that do not want to produce. Participation in international conferences, such as the one held in Rome, is a good idea but we must never undertake the unilateral underwriting of the world's economy and food problems again.

She's sweet sixteen and never has missed

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been invited to a wedding. My husband is unable to attend, so I am taking my 16-year-old cousin. She does not know the bride.

At the last four weddings this cousin attended, she caught the bride's bouquet. Maybe I should tell you that she is a very large and athletic girl who is fast on her feet.

I feel that because she is only 16, and she has already caught four bouquets, she should not make an all-out effort to catch this one.

Don't you think she should give the bride's friends and relatives a chance to catch the bouquet?

NO BOUQUETS FOR NORA

DEAR NO BOUQUETS: If you want to risk telling a "large, athletic girl who's fast on her feet" what to do, go ahead.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband's driving. Whenever another motorist breaks one of the highway courtesy rules and cuts in front of my husband, or passes him when another car is coming in the opposite direction, my husband has to get back at him. He'll pull up real close to him, or he'll immediately pass him to let him know that he is not going to let him get away with anything.

Sometimes he doesn't like the way a truck driver is driving, so he'll start playing games with him. I get scared half to death and beg him not to take such foolish chances, but he insists that he's going to "teach them a lesson."

We've had a few minor scrapes and several close calls, but nothing really serious yet. He argues that he is a safe driver, but to me, that's not safe. What's the matter with this 33-year-old baby? How can I make him realize that that kind of driving is not safe?

WORRIED IN OREGON

DEAR WORRIED: Part of my definition for maturity is . . . . "the ability to bear an injustice without wanting to get even." Your husband isn't mature. Just keep on nagging him to let the other guy have the road — unless he's trying to beat him to the cemetery, and take you with him.

DEAR ABBY: A reader whose job it was to deliver newspapers complained because he couldn't read the house numbers in the dark of the early morning.

As a member of the Great Falls, Va. Volunteer Fire Department, I share the concern over the lack of house numbers, but it's not to make deliveries. Our department must not only make fire calls; we also run ambulances to homes and highway accidents.

Probably less than one third of the homes in our area have numbers on their mail boxes. Practically none have numbers on their houses.

When someone is acutely ill or seriously injured, the time wasted looking for the right house number can make the difference between life and death.

Abby, will you please urge people to put their street numbers in visible places so all emergency, police, fire and ambulance calls can be answered as promptly as possible?

C.E. KENNEMER, D.D.S.

DEAR DR.K.: Why not take it up with your city council and make it mandatory? The squeaking wheel gets the grease. Open wider, Doctor.

Something Special For Your Valentine

Pampa, Texas 68th Year Thursday, Feb. 6, 1975 3

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

ON OCCASION you can forget your diet and enjoy a yummy dessert. Valentine's Day is such an occasion. Use it as an excuse to whip up something superspecial for the ones you love.

Chocolate is almost everybody's "flavorite." Here, it's swirled through peppermint-flavored marshmallow pie, a dessert guaranteed to make willpower weaken. But it's worth it:

LOSE UGLY FAT

Start losing weight today OR MONEY BACK. MONADEX is a tiny tablet that will help curb your desire for excess food. Eat less-weigh less. Contains no dangerous drugs and will not make you nervous. No strenuous exercise. Change your life . . . start today. MONADEX costs $3.00 for a 20 day supply and $5.00 for twice the amount. Lose ugly fat or your money will be refunded with no questions asked by: B & B Pharmacy — 120 E. Browning — Mail Orders Filled.

PEPPERMINT SWIRL PIE

- 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet real chocolate morsels
- 1/3 cup milk
- 2 1/2 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 measuring teaspoon salt
- 1/4 measuring teaspoon peppermint extract
- 1/8 measuring teaspoon red food coloring
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 1 9-inch baked pie shell

Combine over hot (not boiling) water, chocolate morsels and 1/3 cup milk; heat until morsels melt and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat; set aside.

Combine over hot (not boiling) water, miniature marshmallows, 1/2 cup milk, salt, peppermint extract and red food coloring; heat, stirring constantly, until marshmallows melt and mixture is smooth. Transfer to large bowl; chill in refrigerator until slightly thickened (45 to 60 minutes). Stir until smooth. Gently fold in whipped cream. Alternately pour into pie crust with chocolate mixture. Run knife through to marbleize. Chill in refrigerator until firm (about 2 hours).

Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

There's no fuss and bother in making this dessert, and it's one that's sure to be a favorite with banana lovers:

SPICED BAKED BANANAS

- 3 large firm bananas
- 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- Dash ground cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1/4 cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Peel bananas, cut in half crosswise and then into lengthwise halves. Dip in lemon juice; place in a shallow baking pan. Pour remaining lemon juice over bananas.

Combine sugar with spices, orange peel and juice. Pour over bananas. Dot with butter.

Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 F.) 20 minutes. Serve with ice cream.

Serves 6.

A whole stick rather than ground cinnamon is used to flavor this fruit dessert because the whole stick releases its delightful aroma during cooking, and it will not cloud the syrup for:

BELGIAN SPICED COFFEE STEWED PEARS

- 6 firm ripe pears
- 1 1/4 cups water
- 1 cup brewed strong coffee
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 1 small bay leaf
- 1 whole cinnamon stick
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice

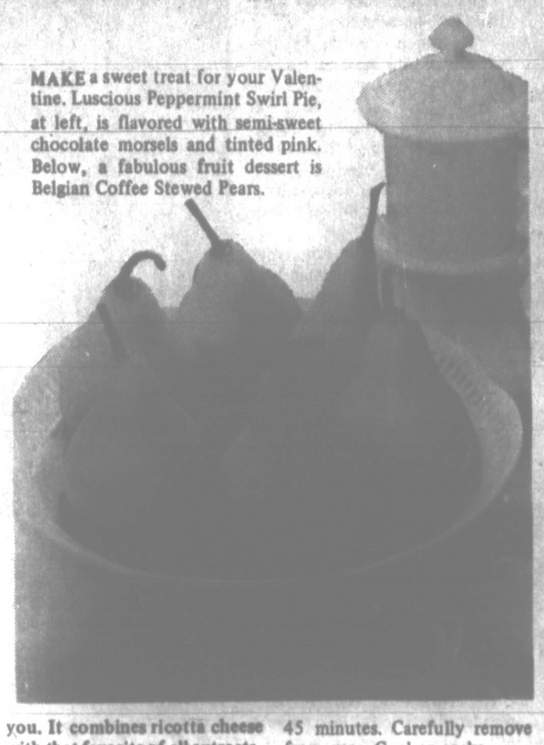

Peel pears leaving whole stems intact.

In a large saucepan, combine water, coffee, corn syrup, bay leaf and cinnamon stick. Bring to boiling point. Reduce heat; add pears. Cover; poach until tender, about 30 minutes. Remove pears to a bowl.

Cook liquid until reduced by one-half. Stir in vanilla extract and lemon juice. Pour syrup over pears. Chill.

Makes 6 portions.

If you like a dessert that's creamy and rich, this one's for you. It combines ricotta cheese with that favorite of all extracts, pure vanilla. Add sugar, raisins, lemon peel and a lightly beaten egg. And call it:

MAKE a sweet treat for your Valentine. Luscious Peppermint Swirl Pie, at left, is flavored with semi-sweet chocolate morsels and tinted pink. Below, a fabulous fruit dessert is Belgian Coffee Stewed Pears.

VANILLA CHEESE TARTS ITALIANO

- 1 package (10 ounces) pie crust mix
- 1 container (15 ounces) ricotta or dry cottage cheese
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1 tablespoon pure vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 egg, lightly beaten

Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions. On a lightly floured board roll out pastry 1/8-inch thick. Line twelve 2½-inch muffin cups with pastry. Reserve remaining pastry to decorate tops of tarts.

Combine cheese, sugar, raisins, vanilla extract, lemon peel and egg. Blend well. Pour into pastry shells.

Cut remaining pastry into strips, 1/2 inch wide; place crosswise over cheese mixture. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 F.) until firm, 40 to 45 minutes. Carefully remove from cups. Cool on racks.

Makes 12 tarts.

Consumer Market Report

COLLEGE STATION — A record crop of navel oranges is coming to market, according to a consumer marketing information specialist.

Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service termed navel oranges "most economical" this year.

"Grapefruit quality is excellent and prices attractive — expecially in the 15 - and 18 - pound bags," she added.

Other vegetables on this week's shopping list could be dry beans, dry peas, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, turnips, rutabagas, hard shell squash, onions and sweet potatoes. The Texas A&M University System specialist said.

"At fruit counters apples still offer a good buy, pricewise; and winter pears — the Anjou variety, which is green even when ripe, and sweet — are in ample supply with prices steady."

Other choices are bananas, grapes and strawberries.

"At pork counters, supplies are about the same as a week ago. Boston butt, quarter - loins cut into chops, and liver offer reasonable prices, while semi - boneless ham and frankfurters head the list of smoked items," Mrs. Clyatt said.

"Good beef values include both heavy and light beef. Feature cuts are chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, ground beef and beef liver.

"At egg counters, prices are steady — moderate to low for this time of year."

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Onions are quite plentiful with low price tags.

Look for firm, dry onions. Each should have a papery outer scale and be reasonably free from green sunburn spots and blemishes.

Bypass those with wet or soft necks, those with thick, hollow or woody neck centers, and those with fresh green sprouts.

Local Banker Appointed To Advisory Committee

Michael Doman, regional administrator of National Banks for the Eleventh National Bank Region, Dallas, announced today the appointment of Floyd Watson, president of Pampa's First National Bank, as one of five new members of the Regional Advisory Committee on Banking Policies and Practices.

Watson will serve a two - year term ending Dec. 31, 1976.

The four other new members are Charles Pistor, Republic National Bank, Dallas; Nat S. Rogers, First City National Bank, Houston; Gerald R. Marshall, First National Bank & Trust Co., Oklahoma City, and Ned Stuart, Shattuck National Bank, Shattuck, Okla.

Seven other members whose terms expire Dec. 31 this year include bank presidents from Brownsville, Bryan, El Paso, Seymour, Winnsboro in Texas and Okmulgee and Tulsa in Oklahoma.

The committee was established by James E. Smith, administrator of National Banks, in an effort to achieve a better awareness of emerging problems in the banking field and to provide a vehicle for continuing assessment of banking regulations and rulings.

The next meeting of the Regional Advisory Committee has been set for Brownsville Feb. 14, 15 and 16.

W.O. Roberson, president of First National Bank at Brownsville, is chairman of the board.

All officers of First National Bank in Pampa were re - elected following the recent annual meeting of stockholders.

The officers are:

Louise Bailey was elected an assistant cashier to replace Larry Upshaw, resigned.

Directors of the bank are E.J. Dunigan, Jr., E.L. Green Jr., Frank M. Carter, Floyd Watson and Charles B. Cook.

TO PSYCHIATRIST

Defendant's Statements Not Acceptable Evidence

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Under no conditions can statements about a crime made by a defendant to a court-appointed psychiatrist be used as evidence against the defendant, the state Court of Criminal Appeals said in overturning a murder conviction of a man sentenced to death.

The court reversed the February, 1972, conviction of Witmer Jean Ballard, sentenced to death for the murder of elderly Brewster County rancher Steven Currie, on the grounds testimony by a court - appointed psychiatrist which should have been stricken from the record was admitted.

A court-appointed psychiatrist testified at the trial Ballard was mentally competent, but also answered questions over defense objections concerning remarks Ballard made about the crime.

Prosecutors contended the additional testimony was only to dispute Ballard's contention he had not been near the ranch house where Currie was slain and had not heard of any robbery plans.

But the appellate court said that made no difference.

"Statements made by the accused during such an examination are not admissable for any purpose on the issue of guilt," said presiding Judge Truman Roberts in the court's opinion. "The use of such statements is flatly and absolutely prohibited and there are no exceptions."

The appellate court originally upheld Ballard's conviction but on a motion for rehearing decided to order a new trial in the case.

Ballard's death sentence had already been commuted to life in prison in August, 1972, because the state death penalty law was held unconstitutional.

Two alleged accomplices in the conspiracy to rob the Currie ranch testified Ballard was the only one of the five persons involved who entered the home the night Currie was killed by a shotgun blast.

Ballard said the two — including his common law wife —were lying and were trying to frame him for the murder.

The court also overturned the murder conviction of John Koller of Waco because prosecutors at his trial asked improper questions and made improper comments in an effort to get inadmissable evidence before the jury.

FOR 90 DAYS

House Votes To Block President's Barrel Fee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has voted to block for 90 days President Ford's $3 per barrel fee on imported oil, the first step in his plan to deal with the nation's energy problems.

The delaying legislation now goes to the Senate, which appears likely to agree with the House.

The Ford administration is campaigning for votes to try to restore the import fee in a veto showdown.

The House vote Wednesday was 309 to 114, 27 votes more than would be needed to override a presidential veto.

But White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford believes the vote shows he is making progress from an earlier even higher level of skepticism.

"The President is encouraged. He thinks he has come a long way by the size of the vote and will continue his talks with members of Congress," Nessen said.

The first $1 per barrel of the fee went into effect Saturday but could be revoked by Congress. The rest is scheduled in increments March 1 and April 1.

The administration says the fee will raise retail gasoline prices several cents a gallon and will probably add two percentage points to the rate of inflation, now about 12 per cent. Ford says all that is necessary to cut U.. fuel consumption.

Bell Insists Upon Need To Raise Phone Rates

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. insists it needs to raise the rates on long distance calls within Texas to meet "the ravages of inflation" and to finance expansion the company says is required by law.

Bell submitted its arguments on behalf of its plan to raise intrastate long distance rates to Attorney General John Hill who threatened to go to court to prevent the increase.

Hill ordered Bell to provide him with information by Friday justifying the proposed $45 million hike in intrastate rates. Intrastate long distance rates are not regulated by the state of Texas in any manner and Bell simply may announce the amount of its increases rather than asking for approval.

Hill hoped by threatening legal action he could force the phone company to hold a public hearing to explain its position and failing that to force disclosure in the state courts.

Bell has already asked for rate increases for local service and interstate calls.

"Recognizing that we must fight the ravages of inflation — the increased cost of our providing telephone service on every front —after considerable study dating back to early 1974, we determined we must seek revenues in the third area, intrastate long distance service," Bell told Hill.

"It will be necessary that we spend a record high $705 million (in 1975) in new construction and renewal and enlargement of our telephone plant to fulfill our service commitment," Bell documents said.

The Bell need for $705 million in 1975 construction funds followed expenditures of $667 million for the same purpose in 1974 and $550 million in 1973 for a three-year total of $1.9 billion.

"We don't have any choice about expansion," a Bell spokesman said. "We are required to expand by law to provide telephone service as necessary."

Bell said it will contact Hill about his public hearing request after he had time to study Wednesday's materials.

Bell said in the documents to Hill it has pending 10 local service rate increase requests worth $48 million before city governments in Texas and said it recently was granted rate increases of $28 million in Houston and $1.5 million in Beaumont-Port Arthur.

Parent firm AT&T filed application Jan. 3 for increased interstate rates with the Federal Communications Commission.

Correction

In the story in Wednesday's Pampa News concerning election of officers of the new Top O' Texas Democratic Club it was inadvertently stated Mrs. Ralph Thomas was elected corresponding secretary. Mrs. Ralph Palmer was elected to the post.

Battle Continuing Near Asmara

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — Government reinforcements fought their way through rebel ambushes high in the mountains south of Asmara today to reach the embattled provincial capital.

Military sources said a separate convoy of tanks and armored personnel carriers also arrived in the city, which is surrounded by guerrillas fighting to split the province of Eritrea off from the rest of Ethiopia.

The sources gave no indication of goverment casualties in the mountain fighting. The high, twisting mountain passes are ideal for ambushes and hit - and - run tactics.

The second convoy met no opposition but was held up for two days when guerrillas blew up a bridge leading to the city.

With both sides apparently readying themselves for a showdown battle, the U.S. embassy has decided to evacuate most of the 170 Americans left in the city, diplomatic sources said.

Residents said the city was quiet today, but gunfire was heard from the northern outskirts.

Army engineers restored some electricity and water by connecting the generators at the former American communications base at Kagnew to the city's water and power systems.

The rebels knocked out the city generating station when the rebels closed in on the city a week ago.

In addition to water and electricity problems, there was only enough food for a few days. The closed food stores have been looted by the army.

There was a fresh danger of disease breaking out in the city. Some refugees spoke of rats running around in the poorer quarters.

Diplomatic sources said most of the remaining Americans will be flown out on a previously arranged Italian airlift scheduled to bring 2,000 persons to Addis Ababa.

About 130 Americans, mainly women and children, were evacuated from Asmara Tuesday. But 170 others, missionaries, consular officials and government technicians, chose to stay on.

The U.S. consulate will remain open in Asmara for the moment, officials said. The consulate has enough food and water for another week although most of the city's 200,000 population is facing starvation in the next two or three days.

Diplomats, who visited the city during the battle, said the city's 19,000 defenders were in a precarious position because supply lines for such essentials as food and gasoline had been cut. Some food and other supplies were being airlifted in, they said.

The Woman's View

NEW YORK (UPI) — A dedicated group of actors and actresses is proving that stone walls do not a prison make when theater is offered inmates.

These performers go right into the correctional institutions and also enlist inmates as part of the cast of shows which once were on or off-Broadway or are new shows the playwrights offer for tryout.

They call themselves the Theater for the Forgotten and since the start in 1967, they have put on 58 plays and figure they've played to an audience of close to half a million.

They've appeared in New York City and state, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, and as far afield as Cranston, R.I.

Those involved in the project would like to see it become the prototype for use in correctional facilities in other cities and states. And they'd like to see citizens concerned with rehabilitation giving strong backing.

"I never will feel that the theater is the panacea," said Akila Couloumbis, an actor and co-director of the productions. "It is just one aspect of what should be done.

"We find the less freedom they have, the more their need to create.

"I'll never forget the first time we ever went into a prison. It was on Riker's Island (a New York City facility) and we found only one man who'd ever seen a play."

Currently, a nucleus of three is touring prisons with two one-act plays and in six weeks will have given 45 performances to an estimated 10,000.

The professional cast consists of LaVerne Turner, a Philadelphian who's been in repertory and according to Couloumbis "is one of the best improvisationists I've ever seen;" Richard Brown, a New Yorker, who's done off-Broadway and stock; and Michael Moody, of Portland, Maine, actor and playwright who has one of his works optioned for Broadway.

They will draw on prison volunteers to supplement the cast or to stagehand. But Couloumbis explained, "We stick to simple staging...in institutions you don't usually have elaborate facilities. The group is self-contained. It can even draw the curtain-if there is one."

Sharing co-direction is Beverly Rich: a Pittsburgh native who came to New York on a scholarship to the Neighborhood Playhouse and has done several summer stock tours.

Miss Rich in private life is the wife of Dudley Morris, who was on the staff of former Mayor John Lindsay and is on the board of directors of Theater for the Forgotten. The couple has one small child, another on the way.

Miss Rich's specialty is developing dramatic programs for juveniles and first offenders —preventive crime theater.

Couloumbis, a veteran of the Air Force and Korean duty, is married to an artist, they have two small children, and he drives a cab at night to help support the family.

Theater for the Forgotten itself is underwritten by the New York State Council on Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts and state and city agencies involved in correctional and rehabilitation work.

Prisoners volunteer their services with rare exceptions and the group itself operates economically. Its rehearsal facilities are given by the city—barren but sunny rooms above the live poultry and egg market.

The actors don't seem to mind. And Couloumbis said there are many rewards— "When for instance former inmates write and tell us that we helped them get over the hump."

Some have come out and gone into professional jobs on stage and in television series and television commercials.

The group clears its appearances with wardens or other officials and Couloumbis said, "Maybe they screen out some of the hardened criminals. But our only criterion is, 'Do you have time for rehearsals and performance?'"

"I'll tell you," said Miss Rich, "You're playing to an audience where you have to pull out all the stops.

"We've learned that when a play which has proved a success suddenly bombs, it's because something has happened in that particular group. Maybe they didn't get a visit. Or someone's parole was denied."

Virginia was "founded upon smoak," wrote an early settler. The leaf that creates it still is the state's major crop. Virginia's growers sold 138 million pounds of tobacco in 1973, National Geographic reports.

FASHIONETTES

By United Press International

Some of the new fashions for spring and summer are downright old-fashioned. Designer Donald Brooks, for one, revives blouse tops with the throat and cuffs snug-fitting and lace-trimmed. These are of crisp white voile or batiste fabric paired with the rustle of black or navy taffeta skirts for evening.

There's plenty of the boudoir look in late day and evening clothes in the new American collections. It shows in nude chiffons with black lace borders, handrolled rims, pale floral patterns on soft crepe de chine and voile, lace insertions, faggoting and quilted embroidery.

Clothes have a no-fuss look to them, but there's trim nonetheless. It shows as contrast double stitching, piping and faggoting and frills of lace or pleating. Lace jackets are important.

Spring glitter is subdued by being in muted tones or pastel tints and also by being just a sprinkle of beads or sequins rather than a solid blaze.

"Clothes communicate," says Joan Raines, a vice-president at her mother's firm, Adele Simpson. "They tell who she is, what she does, her taste, her flair."

Sunglass colors have moved away from the primary and into softer tones —lilacs, ambers, grays and beige-peach, reports the Fashion Eyewear Group of America.

Big for spring is the wrapped look to dresses. Some designers, such as pearl and Albert Nipon, cut the skirts so that the dress looks as if it has an apron front. Or, they reverse and feature a back-wrapped effect.

One way to wrap a skirt is to do the tulip silhouette. This is much like an apron tied in front but with the underlayer cut conventionally. Halston showed it in his new collection.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

One of the newfangled bids that has come into vogue during the past two decades is the "weak jump overcall." This bid shows a respectable six - card suit (not five and not seven) with virtually no strength outside of the suit bid. When correctly used, the weak jump overcall accomplishes two things: (1) it deprives the opposition of bidding space, and simultaneously (2) it conveys precise information to partner of the strength and limitation of the bidder's hand.

Much more often than not, the opponents of the pre - emptive bidder, know that he has a very weak hand, are goaded into unwarranted positive action — that is, they bid too much, feeling that they are being "robbed."

The latter situation developed in today's deal, which was played in a rubber - bridge game. North, spurred on by West's weak jump overcall, pushed on to a slam contract which was a very poor one. However, thanks to the gods of chance, it was fulfilled.

NORTH
♠ 5
♥ K 6 4
♦ A 8 7 3
♣ A K 8 4 2

WEST
♠ K Q 10 9 6 4
♥ J 9 2

♣ J 7 3

EAST
♠ J 8 7 3

♦ 9 5 2
♣ Q 10 9

SOUTH
♠ A 2
♥ Q 8 5 3
♦ K Q J 10 4
♣ 6 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♣	3 ♠
Pass	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	6 ♦	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠.

When the bidding reverted to North on the second round, he had little room for exploration. So he decided to gamble by bidding four notrump (Blackwood). When South announced the possession of one ace, North took a "shot" and bid the small slam.

After his ace of spades had won the opening lead, declarer realized that he was no favorite to fulfill the slam. With a sure heart loser staring him in the face, it became obvious that the success of his contract depended on establishing two additional winners in clubs, to discard thereon two hearts from the South hand.

So declarer cashed his king, queen, and jack of trumps, after which he led a club to dummy's ace. Then came the king of clubs, and this was followed by a third club lead, South ruffing. With the outstanding clubs divided 3 - 3 (a 36 per cent chance), the world became beautiful again.

He next ruffed his remaining spade with dummy's last trump, and he then discarded two of his hearts on the board's established clubs. His only loser was a heart to East's ace.

With respect to West's two - space overcall, all we can say is that the "operation was successful, but the patient died."

Walking in: The complete flat, no-heel shoe. Both Halston and Adolfo showed flats with their spring collections. Halston's were designed by Beth Levine, Adolfo's by david Evins.

White stages a big return for spring. Often it's in combination with color. Look for beige and white, black and white, navy and white.

'A GUT ISSUE'

Barbers, Cosmotelogists Fighting Over Hair Cut

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Barber shops and beauty salons had little in common until men's hair styles grew over the ears a few years back.

Now members of both sexes patronize both and the barbers claim they are being driven out of business. The battle has reached the Texas Legislature.

The House State Affairs Committee heard three hours of often acrimonious testimony Wednesday night between barbers and cosmetologists — operators of beauty salons — over a series of bills to allow the latter to cut hair without obtaining a barber's license from the state.

Charles Babb, an attorney representing the United Barbers of Texas, told the committee barbers must undergo 18 months of training and two years of apprenticeship until they are fully qualified. But cosmetologists need only 135 hours of haircut training in addition to professional training in styling, curling, setting, maincuring and shampooing.

"Barbers have no objection to cosmetoligists cutting hair if they meet the same qualifications," Babb said. "Barbers are in an economic battle to save their economic lives. The gut issue is hair cutting."

Joe Goldman, chairman of the State Cosmetology Commission, argued it is unrealistic to expect cosmetologists to complete an additional 18 months of training after they have completed extensive training in cosmetology.

"We have to have legislation to let the cosmetologists have the privilege of cutting hair — it's 50 per cent of their income," Goldman said.

Actually cosmetologists have been allowed to cut hair without the barbering license requirement since 1971, when a law was passed defining the profession and creating a state commission to regulate it.

But the law was declared unconstitutional by a federal court because of alleged sex discrimination —the law said cosmetologists cut womens' hair and barbers cut mens'.

State AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard, who said his wife is a 30-year veterancosmetologist and his barber is a good friend, recommended the committee find a compromise solution that draws a line between barbering and cosmetology, allowing the latter to cut hair only if it relates to their work as a cosmetologist.

He also suggested the issue is a battle between the Cosmetology Commission and state Barber Board, and the barbers, who number only about 17,000 compared to 65,000 cosmetologists in Texas, are the underdogs.

"The barber's lack of organization, the fact that few of them belong to substantial organizations, like the barber's union, compounds their problem in dealing with legislation like this," Hubbard said.

Rep. Tom Cartlidge, DHenrietta, questioned the need for either profession to undergo such lengthy training. He said one of his former barbers was unable to cut his hair when he began wearing it longer and suggested he go to a beauty salon —a statement that brought roars of laughter and applause from the largely pro-cosmetologist crowd at the hearing.

The State Affairs Committee sent all the bills to a subcommittee for further hearings and debate.

FRIDAY, FEB. 7

Your birthday today: You're riding well on your own resources—any limitations are mainly your own. This is the year for high achievement based on your persuasive talents and hard work. Organize in definite phases and plan far in advance. Relationships suffer from your preoccupation with career. Today's natives include many fine writers.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: If you believe you can get a project done in about three or four months, solicit support. Don't shop unless you're about ready to leave for good.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Interesting activities are accessible, but probably won't lead to improved earnings unless you figure out some basics.Be willing to experiment seriously.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Check on investments; make whatever corrections are necessary. It's not a good idea to break off working contacts; you may need them again in another context.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Take care of the chronic problems as you first clear off the odds and ends of the work week. Survey your household areas for unsafe conditions, then do something to remedy them.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Revise your budget; plan to travel less. You've got lots of work to do. Begin early and keep at it! Skip tedious routines where possible.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Don't repeat that juicy story, since it's neither true nor very helpful. Pastimes are satisfying safety valves, up to a point. Be a generous winner, a sporting loser and try again.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Arguments drift more toward your side of most questions. What you thought was confidential turns out to be well known to almost everybody. Take in a party or a show during the evening.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: If it doesn't work, get rid of it or trade it in for a new one. People are restless and don't have the patience to sort matters out. You gain nothing by rushing them into decisions.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Originality comes spontaneously to you. Try to channel your energy into profitable enterprises; make the distinction between a worthy and useless cause.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Check up on the condition and usefulness of anything mechanical or electrical. Excuse others' carelessness. Go early and avoid the rush.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Make peace if possible, but not halfway or half-heartedly. Today you can acquire something you've always wanted but don't really need. There may be no other chance for it!

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Cooperation comes readily if you follow traditions. Ask soon enough to be included. Settle small accounts and exchange stories.

Floyd Watson Returns From TBA Meeting

Floyd Watson, president of First National Bank, has just recently returned from Washington where he spent three days with Texas Bankers Association officials and directors in a series of conferences and meetings concerning the banking industry.

Watson is a member of the TBA board of directors, having been elected to the post last April for a two - yer term.

The Washington meetings began on Wednesday, Jan. 28 and ran through Jan. 30.

They included the opening breakfast with members of the Texas Congressional delegation, meetings on succeeding days with the staff of the American Bankers Association for briefings on legislation affecting state and national banks, board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, Texas Sen. John Tower, a member of the Senate Banking Committee for discussion of proposed banking legislation in the Senate; a meeting with the comptroller of the U.S. Treasury, and wound up on the final day at a luncheon hosted by the director of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Watson reported on his first day in Washington the State Department Bldg. was bombed and on the groups last day there tourists were being taken through the White House when a couple of hippie - type young men jumped out of line and poured red ink on an American Flag in the corridors.

"It was an interesting trip," Watson said.

Montoya Lawyers Seek Trial Delay

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Although attorneys for Rep. Greg Montoya, D-Elsa, insist they want to get the South Texas legislator's theft trial started quickly, they still plan to file a series of motions to delay the case and say there is "no national emergency that compels this case to be tried immediately."

A pretrial hearing in the case was scheduled for Wednesday, but had to be delayed because Montoya's attorneys failed to get their defense motions filed before the start of the session.

"I think you ought to comply with the law and file your motions ahead of time," District Judge Mace B. Thurman told the defense lawyers Wednesday.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, one of Montoya's three attorneys, said he mailed motions to the judge Monday challenging the right of the Travis County grand jury to indict Montoya for employing individuals in South Texas.

"If there was an offense committed it was committed somewhere else," Washington said.

Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, another one of Montoya's attorneys, said he plans to challenge the makeup of the grand jury that charged the South Texas legislator with theft. Garcia said he will file a motion by Friday questioning the legality of the manner in which the 12 grand jurors were selected.

Garcia declined to go into details, but the issue apparently will be whether members of the five-member committee appointed to select a grand jury can serve as grand jurors themselves.

Two members of the current Travis County grand jury served on the commission that named citizens to hear evidence in criminal cases and issue indictments.

Thurman ordered Montoya tried March 17 on the theft charges and scheduled a pretrial hearing in the case for Feb. 18.

Washington said Montoya and his attorneys still want to get the case tried as soon as possible. He said defense preparations have been slowed, however, by the press of legislative duties.

"You don't sacrifice justice in the name of expediency," Washington said.

"There's no national emergency that compels this case to be tried immediately," Garcia said.

Garcia filed one motion at Wednesday's session asking the judge to order three prosecution witnesses to give the defense attorneys signed statements about what information they gave the district attorney.

Montoya was charged Jan. 16 with stealing from the state by putting five individuals on his legislative payroll who never did any work for the state. The grand jury charged the five worked for Montoya personally.

Montoya, 58, is serving his third two-year term as a representative. His district includes Kenedy, Kleberg, Willacy and part of Hidalgo counties.

Soldiers Patrol Streets Of Lima After Rioting

LIMA (UPI) — Soldiers patrolled the streets of the capital today and fired machine-gun bursts at looters in the wake of a police strike that escalated to full scale rioting.

The left-wing military government of Peru imposed an overnight curfew and banned public gatherings of more than three persons.

The violence began before dawn Wednesday with a brief and bloody clash between army troops and striking policemen barricaded in a stationhouse.

It continued with student activists burning cars and then setting fire to buildings with Molotov cocktails and finally with large-scale looting of downtown stores and warehouses.

The violence was the worst since President Juan Velasco Alvarado seized power in a bloodless coup in 1968.

Hardly any policemen were seen on the streets all day, but army troops in tanks and armored cars swept through the downtown area, shooting heavy rifles, tear gas grenades and bursts of machine-gun fire to break up groups of rioters.

A Red Cross ambulance driver said that he saw five corpses and carried dozens of wounded.

A man monitoring the army and police radios said they talked of scores of deaths. No official casualty count was released. The government said only six persons were wounded in the army assault on the district police headquarters.

Mobs of protesters pelted the Sheraton Hotel, the U.S. Embassy and major downtown banks with rocks.

Thick plumes of smoke rose from the burning buildings of the newspapers El Correo and El Expreso, both taken over by the government six months ago, the prestigious Army Club and the national convention center.

A large office building and several stores also suffered heavy fire damage.

Thousands of citizens fled the downtown area, but office workers who could not get out watched from windows and rooftops as looters crashed into stores and passed out clothing, television sets, radios, toasters and jewelry.

The looters fled as the army's armored cars approached, then returned when the troops moved on to a new trouble spot.

The government said the "counter-revolutionary elements" opposed to its broad program of sweeping reforms had incited the police to strike Monday.

Speaker Of The House To Address Water, Inc.

AMARILLO — Rep. Bill Clayton, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, will address the luncheon session of the 8th annual Water, Inc., membership meeting in Amarillo Feb. 15. The annual get - together gets underway at 9 a.m. in the Sunburst Room, Quality Inn, I-40 East.

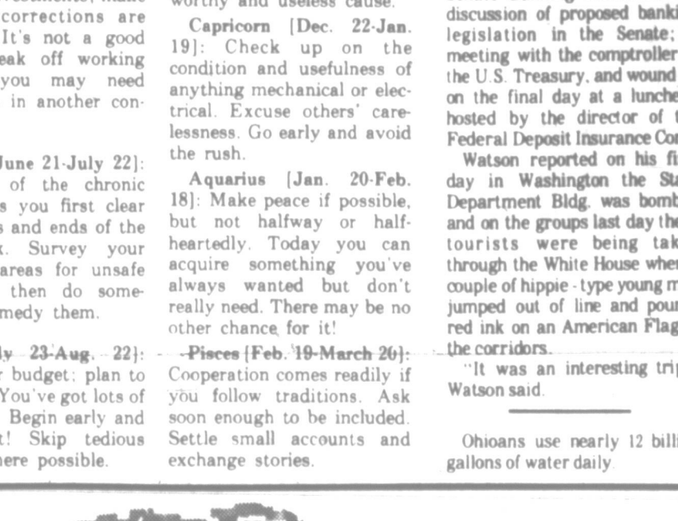

Clayton, a Springlake farmer who formerly served as executive director of Water, Inc., has become known as "Mr. Water" in the Texas Legislature. During his 12 years of service in the lower house, he has either authored or co - authored every piece of major water legislation that has been passed. By far the most exacting of this legislation was the water law recodification bill passed in 1973.

Other platform speakers at the area water promotion organization's annual meeting include U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower; State Senators Max Sherman of Amarillo and Kent Hance of Lubbock; Gen. James Rose, director of planning coordination, Office of the Governor; and Harry Burleigh, executive director, Texas Water Development Board.

Other activities in connection with the membership meeting include two meetings of the board of directors, one on Friday and the other immediately following the membership meeting. The latter is the board's annual session at which officers and members of the executive committee are named.

INCOME TAX

Taxes Paid May Add To Your Tax Savings

Did you know that the real estate taxes you paid on your home are deductible if you itemize your deductions? This information is included in this section of an 11-part series on helping you to prepare your federal income tax.

5th of 11

United Press International

Taxpayers should take a look at the taxes they pay before filing federal income tax returns, says Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

When added to other allowable deductions, taxes paid often make the difference in tax savings obtainable by itemizing deductions, rather than taking the standard deduction or using the Optional Tax Tables.

State and local taxes need not be connected with business or income-producing property to be deductible from adjusted gross income. The following nonbusiness state and local taxes are deductible when a taxpayer itemizes his deductions on separate Schedule A of Form 1040: real property taxes, personal property taxes, income taxes, general sales taxes and taxes on thesale of gasoline and other motor fuels.

Thus, the real estate taxes you paid on your personal residence are deductibe if you itemize your deductions. Also a bona fide cooperative housing tenant can deduct amounts paid (or accrued) by him to the corporation as his share of the real estate taxes paid or incurred by the corporation on its building and land. Each owner of a condominium unit can deduct real estate taxs which he paid on his apartment.

If you sold real estate in 1974 the real property tax is allocated, for purposes of deduction, to the buyer and seller in proportion to the number of days in the real estate tax year that eacy held the property.

Taxes generally are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed, CCH says. An exception is made in the case of state gasoline and retail sales taxes which may be deducted by the purchaser even though imposed by law on the seller or distributor —if they are separately stated and actually paid by the purchaser.

Sales taxes are imposed by 45 states and the District of Columbia and by numerous city and county governments. The state rates range from two-and-a-half per cent to six per cent for 1974. All 50 states and the District of Columbia impose a gasoline tax ranging from five cents to 10 cents per gallon. The taxpayer may use flat amounts allowed in optional state sales tax tables issued by the Treasury Department to deduct his sales tax. There are also flat amounts allowable for the gasoline tax deduction.

The federal tax on gasoline and special fuels (benzol, naphtha, etc.) used on a farm or on gasoline used for other nonhighway purposes is allowed as a credit against income tax, as is the tax on lubricating oil used for any purpose other than a highway vehicle. The credit is computed on Form 4136 and entered on line 63, page two of Form 1040.

Federal taxes which CCH lists as not being deductible include income, estate and gift taxes, old-age benefit contributions by eployes, railroad retirement tax on employes, the self-employment tax and excise taxes on personal goods.

Pioneer Increases Dividend

AMARILLO — The board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company at a meeting Tuesday in Amarillo increases the first quarterly dividend of 1975 to 30 cents per share.

This increase would indicate an annual rate of $1.20 per share, and compares to the previous annual rate of 96 cents per share. The dividend will be paid on March 5 to stockholders of record on Feb. 20, 1975.

In making the announcement of company earnings, K.B. "Tex" Watson, Pioneer president, said, "In spite of the fact that gas transmisiion and distribution income for the fourth quarter was less than in 1973 and also less than projections, additional improvements in the results of the subsidiaries allowed the total earnings to reach the level predicted."

He went on to say that operations other than gas transmission and distribution accounted for nearly 70 percent of the company's net income for 1974.

Pioneer's consolidated net income for 1974 was $19,316,171, which amounted to $2.50 per share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year. This compares with a consolidated net income of $12,397,028, and earnings per share of $1.67 in 1973.

Consolidated net income for the fourth quarter of 1974 was $4,511,478 or 61 cents per share, compared with $3,561,789 or 48 cents per share for the same period in 1973.

Watson repeated a recent announcement, indicating that the company had acquired more than 233 billion cubic feet of new natural gas reserves in 1974, which is well in excess of sales of the same period.

Watson said that the annual report for the company's operations for 1974 will be mailed to stockholders about March 15.

Today is Thursday, Feb. 6, the 37th day of 1975 with 328 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Mercury, Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.

Actresses Zsa Zsa Gabor and Mamie Van Doren were born on Feb. 6 —the former in 1923 and the latter in 1933.

On this day in history:

In 1778, Massachusetts ratified the U.S. Constitution.

In 1943, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was named commander of Allied Expeditionary Forces in North Africa. He later became World War II Supreme Allied Commander in Europe.

In 1957, Cassius Clay defeated Ernie Terrell to retain the heavyweight boxing crown.

In 1971, Apollo 14 began its trip home after a moon-landing mission.

A thought for the day: American historian Henry Brooks Adams said, "He too serves a certain purose who only stands and cheers."

Friday night in Borger it will be Float a Choat Night for Pampa fans.

Pampans are urged to bring large balloons filled with hot air — that's hot air, not helium or any other substitute — and release them during the playing of the Borger school song. On the balloons must be a drawing of Borger sports editor Ron Choat or a drawing of a man identified as Choat.

Before the game and, naturally, before release, the Ron Choat hot - air balloons must be brought to this sports editor for inspection. The best balloon will receive a month's subscription to the Borger News - Herald.

Judging will be based on the following:

1) Size — the bigger, the better.
2) Content — must be hot air, lots of it.
3) Color — pink or flesh with a red neck.
4) Originality.
5) Speed of flight — the faster the hot air blows out of the balloon's "mouth", the higher grade your "Ron Choat" will receive.

* * *

If Tascosa beats Caprock Friday, a Pampa win over Borger won't mean anything as far as the first half title goes. The Rebels will have already won the first half outright.

But Tascosa can't be considered an overwhelming favorite in its final contest of the first half, and that means the Pampa - Borger clash will be just what it's always been — a struggle for both teams.

When Tascosa beat Pampa by two points, 60 - 58, Dave Camfield's Rebels had trouble in their next outing before finally disposing of Amarillo High by one point. Now that Tascosa has beaten Borger, another letdown is possible against Caprock.

"I don't know how Tascosa is going to approach the Caprock game," said Pampa coach Robert McPherson, "but if they approach it like they did the Sandie game, they're going to get beat."

Caprock is also a better overall team than Amarillo High as was evident in the Longhorns' 97 - 67 win over Palo Duro Tuesday.

If it sounds like I'm laying out a hex, you're right.

* * *

But like McPherson says, "If you're going to win it (the district title), you've got to do it yourself. If we play like we did last night (Tuesday against the Sandies), we've got a chance. You can't rely on someone else to win it for you."

McPherson realizes, though, a little help never hurt anybody. He also knows a loss against Borger Friday will eliminate Pampa this half.

"Borger has a good ball club. It will be a typical Borger - Pampa ball game. They shoot the ball real well...they do a pretty good job on defense...they should've beat Tascosa last night (Tuesday)."

Johnny In Favor Of Shorter Tour, Likes ToC

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

Professional golf's reigning superstar believes the PGA's $8 million "golden" tour is too long.

The man who won more than $350,000 on the 1974 tour, 27-year-old Johnny Miller, points out that no other sport — professional or amateur — has a season running from January through November.

Miller talked about the tour, his chances of repeating last year's phenomenal performance and the places of family and religion in his life during an interview at Rancho La Costa, Calif., where he will defend his MONY Tournament of Champions title in April. The prestigious tournament in which all tour title winners compete was one of Miller's nine victories last year.

Miller says he considers the Tournament of Champions one of the top eight pro golf events of the year "because La Costa is a great course and the T of C has all the winners for a whole year competing against each other."

As for the PGA tour schedule, Miller suggests 30 tournaments a year in which all the top pros would compete each week. He believes most of the pros would be happier and the caliber of some tournaments would be raised as well.

Looking down the road to the new PGA tour, the blond Miller concedes smilingly that "I'm behind the 8-ball in a way."

What he meant was this: how are you going to better a record of nine tour victories against a field of the world's greatest golfers?

"I'm not worrying, even though I may not have as good a year as 1974," insists the San Francisco native who learned much of his golf at Brigham Young University.

"I'll just be patient and not rush things. Jerry Heard and a lot of the other young golfers are awfully good, and you can't beat the experience of Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Gary Player."

Yet Miller has a quiet confidence that he will have another good year. He likes the way he's hitting his shots and intends to "stick to my game plan."

"I have a lot to prove this year — that I can stay in there. I hope to get off to a good start because I'm a good front runner and not so great at coming from behind."

Yet last year Johnny was nine strokes off the pace after the first round of the Tournament of Champions, then won it by a stroke over Buddy Allin on the 72nd hole.

A touring pro only since 1969, Miller could pass the million-dollar mark in winnings this year with even less than a repeat performance of 1974. He had won $728,052 on the tour through last year. That leaves $274,048 to go.

Yet with all his winnings and a career which seems to stretch out before him for perhaps 20 more years, Miller says his family and religion are his first considerations, with golf "a distant third."

Johnny's wife, Linda, and their two young sons, John and Kelly, travel with him on the tour whenever it's possible.

On the subject of what might happen this year tour-wise, Miller has these observations:

The U.S. Open is always his chief goal, with the Masters perhaps second.

His chipping is the weakest link in his game. "If I had to rely on my chipping, I'd be selling hotdogs at the tournaments," he says.

Heard, Tom Kite, Hubert Green and Ben Crenshaw are probably the greatest young threats on the tour, while Nicklaus, Player and Trevino are always going to be leading or pressing the leaders. Tom Weiskopf has more talent than anybody, "but who knows what makes him tick?"

Lady Luck, Dame Fortune or whatever you want to call her has a hand in winning some tournaments, but over a 20-year career she doesn't really play much of a role.

And that goes for amateur golfers along with the pros.

Michigan State Shocks Irish

As far as Gus Ganakas is concerned, the worst is over for his Michigan State team.

The Spartans proved that Wednesday night as they held on to upset 16th-ranked Notre Dame, 76-73, in the unfriendly confines of South Bend, Ind.

Michigan State had its problems early in the year. All the black players quit when Ganakas decided to play a freshman against Indiana and he had to go with junior varsity players until the situation was resolved.

But that's all in the past now and Ganakas, whose team is now 13-5, is looking forward to a possible post-season tournament, especially after upending Notre Dame.

"We had our incident and we're really putting it all together now," Ganakas said. "We've gone unnoticed and we've had no television exposure at all...It was a vicious game out there tonight, a lot of pressure on both teams. Now we're thinking tournament. We are on the threshhold of national prominence."

Terry Furlow scored 20 points and Lindsay Hairston added 18 to pace Michigan State to the victory. Michigan State led most of the game, taking its biggest lead at 65-55 on Furlow's layup with seven minutes left.

The Spartans also had to overcome a brilliant 31-point performance by Adrian Dantley, playing with a goalie-type plastic mask on his face to protect an injury above his eyebrow.

In other games involving ranked teams Wednesday night, Nevada Las Vegas, tied for the No. 16 spot with Notre Dame, downed Seattle, 77-63, and No. 18 LaSalle manhandled little Drexel, 80-63.

Ricky Sobers led the way with 20 points and Nevada-Las Vegas ran off 13 straight points early in the second half to preserve its undefeated West Coast Athletic Conference record. The Rebels, who trailed by a point at halftime, shut out upset-minded Seattle for better than seven minutes in the second half to take control. Seattle star Frank Oleynick, averaging 27 points a game, was held to 15, his lowest output of the season.

Red-hot LaSalle hit 73 per cent of its second half shots to beat Drexel. Joe Bryant and Charlie Wise had 14 points each for LaSalle, which had five players in double figures. Doug Romanczuk had 22 for Drexel.

In other games, Massachusetts downed Boston College, 80-71, Rhode Island upset Manhattan, 89-83, Seton Hall beat Villanova, 99-91, Duke dumped Wake Forest, 75-68, South Carolina edged Pittsburgh, 64-62, Kansas State defeated Missouri, 91-84, Kansas crushed Nebraska, 72-44, Oklahoma nipped Iowa State, 91-89, Oral Roberts os outlasted Canisius, 100-93, Colorado whipped Oklahoma State, 83-62, San Francisco bombed Santa Clara, 98-78, and Santa Barbara topped Long Beach State, 75-71.

The highest recorded wind velocity in Texas was 145 mph at Matagorda, Sept. 11, 1961.

Football Finees Get Cash Back

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — More than 100 National Football League players who were fined $200 for dashing off the bench to join in fights on the field are going to get their money back — plus six per cent interest.

But the significance of the National Labor Relations Board ruling announced Wednesday was unclear, because it voided a rule established in 1971 and left untouched a 1972 rule which is identical.

An NLRB spokesman said the ruling, which was made in Washington Jan. 31, means the NFL Management Council of 26 teams must pay back about $25,000 to the 106 players fined from March 25, 1971, to Nov. 6, 1972. Its future impact on the league appears to be in question.

The NLRB action resulted from an NFL Players Association suit filed on Jan. 31, 1971, contending that the NFL and clubs should not fine players leaving the bench to enter fights without consulting with the Players Association and league clubs shouldn't install artificial turf without negotiating with the union.

The NLRB in Washington ruled in favor of the league on both counts but the Players Association appealed to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis. The appeals court agreed last September with the NLRB ruling about artificial turf but it sent the issue of bench fines back to the NLRB for another look.

This time, the NLRB ordered the league to rescind the bench fines rule, which was established in 1971 by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle after he consulted with the clubs. A main objection was that Rozelle made the rule in conjunction with the club owners. Later, on Nov. 6, 1972, Rozelle came out with the same bench rule on his own, saying he didn't confer with the clubs.

Miller Leading Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer is playing better and so are half a dozen others, but it's the same old story — they are all trying to catch Johnny Miller.

Miller, who took last week off to fish and rest, came back to the PGA Tour here Wednesday for the opening round of the 90-hole, $160,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic and immediately established himself as the man to beat with an eight-under-par 64.

"You can't deny he is playing very well," Palmer said of Miller. "He's making all the shots and that's why he is playing the way he is."

Palmer, who shot four sub-par rounds at Hawaii but lost out by two strokes to Gary Groh, opened here with a four-under-par 68, already four shots behind Miller.

Palmer is in a group of nine tied at 68 with young Tom Jenkins at 66.

Most of the best rounds were shot at Indian Wells, one of four courses they use in the Hope, including Miller, Jenkins and Palmer. Ken Venturi, Doug Sanders, Miller Barber and Alan Tapie also had 68s at Indian Wells while Mac McLendon and Jerry Heard shot 68 at Bermuda Dunes and Buddy Allin and Bruce Crampton shot 68 at Tamarisk.

The best round at La Quinta was a 69 by George Knudson, who was tied with nine others.

Pampa Mentor Guest Speaker At Cager Club

AMARILLO — Pampa basketball coach Robert McPherson was the guest speaker at the West Texas State Cager Club's weekly meeting, held at noon today in the Quality Inn here.

WTSU Coach Ron Ekker talked about Tuesday's 62 - 53 win over North Texas State.

Ekker also talked about the Buff's next two home opponents — St. Louis and Wichita State — which play in Amarillo Civic Center Saturday and Monday, respectively.

WITH NFL RULE

Gordon Claims Rozelle Unfair

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Former Chicago Bear Dick Gordon says disputes arising from the controversial Rozelle rule caused him to miss the entire 1972 National Football League exhibition season and the first four regular season games.

Gordon was the second witness to testify Wednesday in the Rozelle rule antitrust trial in Minneapolis U.S. District Court. The first witness to testify at the hearing was former All-Pro tight end John Mackey. Mackey's testimony centered around his role as president of the NFL Players Association in 1972.

Upon questioning by Edward Glennon, attorney for the players association, Gordon said he played out his option with the Bears in 1971 and then was unable to sign a "satisfactory contract" for 1972.

"They offered me only a $4,000 raise from $34,000 to $38,000," he said.

The 31-year-old Gordon, who is now retired, was a star wide receiver in 1970. He initiated the antitrust suit against the NFL, its club owners and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle after becoming a free agent May 1, 1972.

Buffs, 'Pokes To Run Friday

CANYON -- If that difference a day is supposed to make is of a positive nature, West Texas State head track coach Bob Kitchens is awaiting Friday night's indoor encounter with Oklahoma State like a four - year - old for Christmas.

Just 13 days ago, the Buffs were less than impressive in a meet at Lubbock Christian College — "We weren't in the best shape," Kitchens lamented — but that is likely to change in the dual meet with the Cowboys in WTSU's Activities Center Field events start at 6:45 p.m., and running events get underway at 7:30.

OSU brings a team deep in distance men for the WT home opener in track. Coach Ralph Tate's team has excellent talent with Bernard Rose in the mile and two mile, Colin Cumming and Trevor Viljeon in the 1,000 - yard run and mile, Bob Ringwell in the shot put and Richard Geske in the high jump.

Ironically, the shot put and mile were the only events WT won in the LCC Invitational. El Paso junior Charlie Haddad heaved the shot 52 - 8, which Floydada sophomore Jay Jones won the mile in 4:28.9, just nosing out teammate Joseph Tiony of Kenyan.

The Buffs are already assured of the points in the pole vault where Mike Walker, defending MVC indoor champion, and Odessa sophomore Tommy Humphries are the only entries.

"But by the same token," Kitchens said, "there is the same situation in the two mile. Our advantages in each event will probably offset each other."

Terry Penn and Ricky Labus each have turned in 7.5 practice clockings in the 60 - yard dash at Lubbock to match Oklahoma State's Leonard Thompson in the sprint.

"We're going to have to run well in the 60 through the 300 - yard dash," Kitchens predicts.

There the Buffs have Curtis Lindley and George Fuller, who went 21 - 0½ and 20 - 3¾, respectively, at Lubbock.

Celtics 'Slow' But Win

United Press International

Tom Heinsohn is a man gifted with some kind of special vision.

The coach of the Boston Celtics was verbose in his conviction that his team "didn't run at all" Wednesday night against the Milwaukee Bucks.

"We ran all our stuff the way we're supposed to but we forgot to run," Heinsohn said. "We played a very slow game."

"I don't know where he gets that," Bucks Coach Larry Costello said after his team had been beaten, 92-90. "I only wish we were that slow—or that we were as fast as his team is slow."

"We played a bad game and won," John Havlicek said. "We were inconsistent but we had some stretches and spurts that got us through."

The Celtics started out with an amazing stretch that saw them shoot 64 per cent from the floor in the first quarter as they built a 34-24 lead. The Bucks tied it in the second quarter before a Celtics' 14-4 spurt carried them to a 56-47 halftime edge.

The Bucks took an 84-81 lead in the last period but Boston ran off another spurt and had a 92-88 lead with 32 seconds left. The Bucks closed to 92-90 and had a chance but Bob Danridge's jumper at the buzzer trickled off the rim.

The Bucks' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led all scorers with 29 points and George Thompson added 19. Dave Cowens had 23 points and 10 assists for Boston and all four other starters finished in double figures. JoJo White had 18, Havlicek 15, Don Nelson 14 and Don Chaney 12.

In other games, Houston crushed New Orleans, 124-97, Kansas City-Omaha beat Portland, 90-82, Los Angeles nipped Philadelphia, 113-110, in double overtime, and Phoenix defeated Seattle, 107-102.

Rockets 124, Jazz 97:

Seven-foot Kevin Kunnert scored a career-high 24 points and also grabbed 16 rebounds in leading Houston over New Orleans. Louie Nelson led the Jazz with 18 points and newly acquired Henry Bibby added 15. Pete Maravich took just nine shots the entire game and finished with six points for the Jazz.

Kings 90, Trail Blazers 82:

Nate Archibald scored 36 points to pace KC-Omaha over Portland. Jimmy Walker added 17 points for the Kings while Geoff Petrie topped Portland with 20. Bill Walton managed just six points for Portland.

Lakers 113, 76ers 110:

Brian Winter's basket with 1:25 left put Los Angeles ahead to stay 112-110 in the second overtime period and the Lakers went on to score their 12th straight victory over over Philadelphia at the Spectrum. The regulation game ended tied at 93-93 and the first overtime at 104-104. Gail Goodrich and Lucius Allen had 27 points each for the Lakers and Winters added 22. Fred Carter led the 76ers with 33.

Suns 107, Sonics 102:

Dick Van Arsdale's career-high 46 points led Phoenix past Seattle, breaking the Sonics' five-game winning streak.

Boating Industry Taking Off For Rousing Start

By JACK WOLISTON

NEW YORK (UPI) — The boating industry got 1975 off to a rousing start at the recent National Boat Show that certainly belied the state of the economy.

If there is any great public worry over the recession and inflation, it wasn't evident at the nine-day show at the New York Coliseum. More than 336,000 visitors poured through the doors and ordered a record $63.3 million in marine products.

Total sales of boats and accessories at the 65th annual show compared with $54.4 million last year at the height of the fuel shortage and with $58.7 million in 1973, the previous record year.

"It appears the boating industry will have a good year despite the hard economic times," said Frank Scalpone, managing director of the show and executive vice president of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, which sponsors it.

"The sales dollar value reflects a five to seven per cent inflationary rise in prices, but that's not enough to dampen the solid 15 per cent average increase in sales experienced by exhibitors."

Most exhibitors who had approached this year's exhibit with feelings of concern because of the sagging economy expressed surprise at the turn of events.

"We came in here very apprehensive," said one, "but we're going out with a much brighter outlook for 1975, since this show traditionally sets the business mood for the industry for the year."

A good indication of how the economic barometer was moving came in the early hours when a 51-foot Morgan ketch was snapped up by an eager buyer for $157,000.

A total of 456 craft were on exhibition —10 more than last year —and the majority of them, 85.5 per cent, were of fiberglass construction, a continuing trend toward that material in the boat-building industry.

The largest single category of craft was the outboard runabout or utility, with 89 of them on display. Sailboats totaled 128, with 80 of them daysailers.

For the first time, the show had a concrete boat on display, a canoe. The only steel craft in the show was the U.S. Army Lark, a 35-foot amphibian, which the military service proudly displayed under a sign reading: "If you like boats, join the Army."

Television In Review

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newsmen rush to a crime, an editor shouts bulletin, and a TV anchorman catches a bite to eat while rewriting an overseas dispatch.

This is the daily game of journalism —the fast-paced wham, bam, battle of headlines, instant analysis, and short, punchy sentences. The results build thousands of stories in print and on the air.

But somewhere along the assembly line of news, says ABC's Harry Reasoner, editors and reporters lose something in the struggle:

"We don't have enough time to think," he said. "everybody does something as a primary duty, his day-to-day action, and nobody I know, at least at ABC or CBS, is qualified to say what is going to happen to the world three months from now."

Reasoner, co-anchorman for the ABC Evening News and the anchorman for "The Reasoner Report," was taking time out from his daily chores to discuss the business of news.

"I think that one of the biggest problems we have today —and it has been going on for the last couple of years —is that we have a lot more news from Washington. There is this contant feeling that everything that is done in Washington is so important. We have to do something about this to counteract it."

During Reasoner's years as a broadcaster, principally at ABC and CBS, he has sought to lift a pessimistic world by cloaking the pitfalls of life with a smile. There have been essays on women, chairs, and his favorite —the English language.

Although he sometimes has been accused of being too light, Reasoner is quick to defend his style. "I have a basic feeling that you don't have to be pretentious or pompous to present the news. I think gallows humor or wryness is just as much a part of humanity as heavy news."

Harry Reasoner probably began issuing comments about the state of the world about one minute after he was born fifty-years ago in Dakota City, Iowa.

Some years later, Reasoner attended Stanford and the University of Minnesota and spent World War II in the Army. He returned from the war and became drama critic for a Minneapolis paper, wrote radio news and finally became a local TV station's entire news staff.

In 1956, he joined CBS News and soon rose to become one of the network's mainstays on radio and television. Fourteen years later, he joined ABC as co-anchorman of the nightly network news with Howard K. Smith. Reasoner was named last year's Broadcaster of the Year by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, an honor he shared with Bill Moyers of PBS.

While some newsmen try to appear icy, or puckish or earnest, Harry Reasoner comes across as warm and witty. He's ABC's guy next door.

You don't need to pay anyone to help you get a statement of your earnings. Just ask any social security office for a "Request for Statement of Earnings" post card.

Fill in your name, address, date of birth, and social security number. Sign, stamp, and mail the card. Social Security will send you a statement of earnings credited to your record free of charge.

Earnings credited to the worker's social security number build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for workers and their families. The amount of monthly social security payments is based on the worker's average earnings over a period of years.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of th U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Pampa Social Security Office is at 1541 N. Hobart. The phone number is 669-3381 (area code 806).

Army Out To 'Strip' Birds

By MICHAEL J. CONLON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millions of blackbirds are roosting peacefully on U.S. Army property in Tennessee and Kentucky this winter, thanks largely to concerned conservationists.

But the birds still might suffer death by freezing if the Army gets its way.

For several years the blackbirds have been attracted to the straight lines of man-planted pine forests around Ft. Campbell, Ky., and the Milan, Tenn., ammunition depot.

The Army, claiming the swarming birds are a hazard to aviation and health, announced plans last fall to spray them with a detergent which, under the right cold weather conditions, would strip their feathers of protective oils and expose them to death byfreezing.

The Environmental Defense Fund challenged the Army on the ground it failed to file a statement estimating the environmental impact of killing so many blackbirds. Many other birds would be killed along with the blackbirds, the fund said, and the only sure way to control roosting is to cut down some of the trees.

The Army capitulated and filed an impact statement which the fund considered inadequate. But the Army has complied with the law and may well decide to go ahead with the spraying mission.

The environmentalists still could take the Army to court, but it was uncertain whether they could act quickly enough to save the birds.

WORLD OF MUSIC

Bacharach Gives Own Tunes Different Twist

By ROBIN WELLES
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — When Burt Bacharach performs his own music, it sounds quite different than the way you often hear it. The composer puts more tension into the melodic line, so that the song bends and stretches.

For instance, "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head" is usually done in a rollicking fashion with a lilt to it. But a Bacharach arrangement of the song will transform the carefree lilt into a tortuous twisting and turning. The effect is not bad — just different.

To hear how Bacharach regards his own music, you can tune into his "Greatest Hits" LP put out by A&M Records. All the songs you've hummed in recent years are there.

+ + +

Bobbi Humphrey's latest album, "Satin Doll" on the Blue Note label features a real, live black baby doll on the jacket, but don't be misled. There's nothing juvenile about this music — it's sophisticated jazz by a sophisticated lady who has made music with Roland Kirk, Cannonball Adderley, Herbie Mann and Stevie Wonder.

Bobbi sings and plays the flute with skill and style. She has a great backup crew and together they have assembled an innovative program including the title track, a vibrant outing of an old classic and "Fun House," combining funk with jazz to achieve an uptempo delight.

+ + +

Don Gibson fans can latch on to some of his hits of recent years with his "Just One Time" album released by RCA-Camden. For instance: "Headin' Down the Wrong Highway," "Somebody Loves You Darlin'," "Someday," "Ashes of Love" and "I Walk Alone."

+ + +

What a lineup: Dick Hyman, Roland Hanna, Marian McPartland and Hank Jones. They are the components of "The Jazz Piano Quartet" which does some fancy strutting on a new RCA album. The songs range from old standards "Lover Come Back to Me" and "How High the Moon" to Stevie Wonder's "You Are the Sunshine of My Life."

This is great piano — not all jazz, as you would expect, but a lot of classical overtones that evoke the impressionsim of Debussy. "Improvviso" is almost purely classical.

+ + +

Peggy Lee just goes on and on. Her latest album, "Let's Love" on the Atlantic label, is a loving collection of songs done in that warm, caressing Peggy Lee style. "Let's Love," "Always," "You Make Me Feel Brand New" and "Sometimes" are among the top cuts.

+ + +

SCANNING THE CLASSICS — RCA has released a magnificent package of piano concertos played by Arthur Rubinstein and various symphonies. All of the best concertos are there: Rachmaninoff's Second; Grieg's A-Minor; Beethoven's Emperor; Schumann's A-Minor; Tchaikovsky's B-Flat Minor; Mozart's Concerto No. 21 in C; Chopin's E-Minor; Liszt's No. 1 in E-Flat; Brahms' No. 2 in B-Flat; and Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini. Will Rubinstein go on forever? Music lovers hope so.

GOLD POWER

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — An ounce of gold buys about as much bread today as it did in 1560, says University of California Prof. Roy W. Jastram.

Jastram's study of the purchasing power of gold in England over the last four centuries shows the value of the metal has varied less than one per cent relative to other commodities.

Only periods of inflation and political instability have broken the pattern, said Jastram.

INDUSTRIAL THEFT

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Industrial Construction Magazine says industrial thieves, professional and intracompany, cost U.S. businesses more than $10 billion in goods and equipment last year. It says this kind of thievery is rising at a rate of about a billion dollars a year.

Social Security Q's & A's

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to Howard L. Weatherly Branch Manager, Social Security Administration, 1541 N. Hobart Street, Pampa, Texas 79065. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

By H.L. WEATHERLY

Q. I know several middle-age and younger people who are entitled to Medicare. I thought Medicare was only for people age 65 or older.

A. This was correct at one time. However, the law was changed in 1973 to include some disabled beneficiaries. Effective July 1973, Medicare entitlement can begin for a beneficiary who has been entitled to disability benefits for at least 24 consecutive months regardless of the age.

Q. Congress has provided Medicare coverage for people who suffer from Chronic Renal Disease (CRD). Is a person suffering from CRD automatically entitled to Medicare?

A. A person will be eligible to Medicare based on CRD only if he meets certain requirements.

He must be under age 65 throughout the first month in which all other requirements are met, and it is medically determined that the claimant has "permanent kidney failure," and the individual is insured either on his, his spouse's, or his parent's social security number.

Coverage begins the third month after the month a course of dialysis starts. However, if a kidney transplantation occurs, coverage will begin with the month of transplantation or even earlier if he was hospitalized in preparation for surgery.

This entitlement does not extend to members of the eligible individual's family, however; coverage applies only to the individual himself.

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas (UPI) — Richard Erb, general manager of Rockresorts' luxurious Caneel Bay lantation on St. John, has been elected president of the Virgin Islands Hotel Association.

Sonar Making Strides For Obstetrics

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Most parents cannot wait to photograph their newborn babies. Doctors now can take a picture of the infant before it is born.

This photographic process which has helped doctors make great strides in prenatal care is the same method used by the Navy for tracking submarines.

For medicine, it involves shooting sound waves into tissues and charting the echoes that bounce back. The procedure is painless and causes the mother discomfort only when a cold gel is applied to the abdomen to permit better conduction of sound beams.

"The echo," according to Dr. Rudy Sabbagha, chief of obstetric sonography at Magee Women's Hospital, "comes from the interfaces between tissues of different densities to form a picture."

The picture, called a B-scan, appears on an oscilloscope. And the differing echo strengths can be seen by the picture's varying line formations, with the head showing as a solid line.

Also visible in most sonar scan pictures are the placenta and amniotic fluid and a general outline of the fetus' trunk and limbs.

The use of diagnostic sonar in obstetrics and gynecology is relatively new. It is preferred over X-ray for use in obstetrics because the sound waves are not harmful to the fetus. Sonar also is used in some cancer diagnosis and by cardiologists to examine hearts.

A recent development in diagnostic sonar was gray scale imaging, which permits the images seen via standard sonar equipment to be clarified to the point where the fetal organs, such as brain, lungs and heart, can be identified.

The value of such a development is enormous. If an initial B-scan showed an enlarged head, for example, the gray scale could be used to look at the brain for signs of the disease hydrocephalus. And in the future, doctors hope limb deformities could be seen.

Magee, long in the forefront in natal and prenatal care, was one of the first U. S. hospitals to purchase gray scale equipment, and now the hospital is working to build an improved gray scale that would show the baby's sex. This would be helpful for diagnosing and treating genetic diseases, such as hemophilia, which is active only in males.

Presently diagnostic sonar is used on pregnant women to determine fetal age; fetal growth; fetal abnormalities, such as an ectopic pregnancy or placental bleeding; and fetal position—normal or breech. It also shows if a multiple birth is expected.

"A very big question in obstetrics," Dr. Sabbagha said, "is fetal age because a large percentage of women give the wrong date of their last menstrual period."

A primary indication of fetal age visible through the use of sonar is the biparietal diameter of the baby's head—the distance between the two parietal bones on either side of the head.

In addition to the routine monitoring of fetal age and development, sonar is particularly useful in helping determine the proper care of women with "high-risk" pregnancies, a group so large, Sabbagha said, that it has become a subspecialty of obstetrics.
