When the steel arrives it will probably take approximately twenty days to complete the project.

VRJC Extension Courses Are Discussed At Chamber Luncheon

Three representatives from Vernon Regional Junior College addressed the Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce Monday during the noon luncheon. Speakers were Dr. Loyd Hughes, Dean of Instruction at Vernon Junior College; Dr. Bobby Wright, Dean of Vocational Tech Education; and Bud Joyner, Registrar and Dean of Students.

Dr. Hughes opened with an introduction of programs in general offered at VRJC. He named the three things necessary to offer courses at other locations, such as those offered at night at Burk Burnett High School. The three criteria include a certain number of students that will be taking the course (usually fifteen), an instructor to teach at this extension place, and suitable facilities for the class.

He also described the difference between credit and non-credit courses. Credit courses are usually designed to be used as transfers to four-year colleges or other institutions. They are also useful as occupational preparation. Non-credit courses are those which are not in the catalogue, but can be organized into classes to aid interested persons.

Dr. Wright named several new courses being offered at VRJC and summarized each one. Several are law enforcement, cosmetology, broadcasting, and others. He said that some of the non-credit courses which have been offered were those such as gift wrapping, cake decorating, and welding.

Bud Joyner added that Oklahoma students pay the same tuition as students from Texas and that Air Force personnel can take extension courses through the tuition plan.

Presently there are thirty-five students attending night school at the Burk Burnett High School campus and most of the instructors are from the Burk Burnett area. This is the second year that Vernon Regional Junior College has been in operation.

BHS Debate Teams Win Two Each At UTA

Schroeder and Pemberton formed a team as did Jantzen and Bryan. Each team won two debates and lost two debates, defeating Waco High, Sulphur Springs, Rider, and Highland Park (Dallas).

Optimist Christmas Tree Sales Open

The eleventh annual Christmas tree sales lot has been opened by the Burk Burnett Optimist Club.

President Clyde Slusher announced today that the club has received most of the trees and this year's trees are the best they have ever received.

John Larson, Christmas Tree Committee Chairman, stated that they had Scotch Pine, Spruce and Fir trees at the same prices as last year. The increase in cost will be absorbed by the club without an increase in cost to the hundreds of loyal customers who have purchased their trees from the Optimists each year.

Flocked trees will be available again this year and will be located at the Optimist building on Morningside Drive.

The annual tree sales is the only fund raising activity of the Burk Burnett Optimist Club. All profits from the tree sales remain in Burk Burnett and are used to support youth activities in Burk Burnett. Over 1500 youths were contacted and supported in various club sponsored activities during Optimist year 72-73.

To The Citizens of Burk Burnett: During the month of November alone, this department has had reports of 12 incidents of malicious mischief; these range from painting on public and private property to egging automobiles and houses. These incidents must be stopped. These acts are criminal in nature, and are punishable by law.

A few persons are guilty of mischief, but it is the majority of the city's citizens who must pay for it; it is our tax money that must be used to repair or replace the things that are destroyed or vandalized.

Let this be a warning to those who are perpetrating this vandalism: If you are found out, you will be dealt with to the fullest extent of the law; if you know of anyone who is doing this kind of mischief, warn them that they will be liable for any and all damages if they are caught. Let us be proud of our city and stop defacing its buildings.

Acts of this kind are purely malicious in nature and will be dealt with as the crimes they are.

Impressions

Thoughts Of A Newsmen

Now is the time when many people do their Christmas shopping. Some shop as early as the January before Christmas, but most put it off until the last minute.

There is a story of three women who accidentally met downtown one morning in late November. All three were good friends, but each always tried to outdo the other. One lady was carrying an armload of brightly-wrapped packages and the other two were window shopping. When they met near the Informer/Star office, one of the window-shoppers said to the lady struggling with her packages, "Oh, I see you've been doing some early Christmas shopping. I did all my shopping during the summer, so I could avoid all the hectic rush before Christmas."

The other window-shopping lady then spoke up, "Well I did mine during January while all the after-Christmas bargains were in effect."

Not to be outdone, the lady with the packages proudly said, "These packages I'm carrying are for the Christmas of 1974."

BULLETIN--Word reached the Informer/Star office just before press time that Burk Burnett will have a very distinguished visitor December 15. Santa Claus will be downtown Saturday, Dec. 15 to pass out fruit and candy to boys and girls and to chat with many of them. Some 500 kids are expected to be on hand for the event. The exact time of the visit has not been determined.

Southside PTA To Meet Dec. 11

The Southside PTA will meet December 11 at 2:45 p.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, 1000 S. Berry, across the street from Southside School.

Mrs. Easter's fourth grade class will present the Christmas program and Burk Florist will donate a door prize. Everyone is invited to attend.

★ Chief Mize ★ Warns Against Gasoline Storage

Fire Chief Bill Mize warns citizens to be extra careful when trying to store gasoline. He said that due to the possible gasoline shortage, many people will probably try to buy extra gasoline and store it for emergencies. This could prove deadly if care is not taken.

The first thing to do if one must store gasoline, is to contact his insurance company and make sure that keeping extra gasoline will not change his fire insurance coverage. Next, he should be sure a safe container is used.

It is illegal to store gasoline in glass or plastic containers; good metal containers with spring lids to let vapor out are best.

When gasoline is kept in a car, it's like riding a bomb. The same goes for keeping gasoline in a house or garage. One tiny spark could ignite with the vapors to cause an explosion.

The safety way to keep extra gasoline is to get a 5-gallon approved can which says GASOLINE on the side. Make sure it is leak-proof and keep it out of doors.

If there are questions contact your insurance company for advice, and if there are any questions after that contact the fire marshal at City Hall.

Rifle & Pistol Club To Build Firing Range

The Red River & Pistol Club recently purchased a ten acre tract of land northwest of Burk Burnett upon which it plans to build a new and permanent firing range.

Constructed will be a rifle range from 100 to 300 yards, a pistol range and a trap for those who wish to do trap shooting. If space permits, an archery range might also be added.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN, Tex. - Gov. Dolph Briscoe called for a 55 mph speed limit, an hour-shorter school day, 68 degree heating thermostat settings, carpools, driving curtailment and elimination of night football.

The proposals were part of the governor's 90-day emergency program to conserve energy.

He said he hopes to cut gasoline consumption by 20 per cent through the speed reduction, carpooling and cutting down on non-essential trips.

The governor also hopes for a similar saving in fuel use for homes and offices through 68 degree winter temperatures (78 degrees for cooling), switching off all unnecessary lights and darkening displays and advertising signs after midnight.

He termed his program "a minimum response that all of us must take. We are asking only for the elimination of luxuries and frills."

While he "deliberately avoided" specific recommendations for industry, Briscoe made clear he will expect industry to "do its share, no less than the rest of us."

He asked the State Highway Commission to "consider the state-wide speed limit questions immediately and make a determination under its existing authority."

The commission scheduled a Tuesday meeting at Texas A&M University in College Station to consider the 55 mph proposal. Department of Public Safety Director Wilson E. Speir said the reduced limit will be difficult to enforce, but his men will "do their best."

Briscoe's plan calls for an end of the school day at 2:30 p.m. January-March, unless nationwide Daylight Saving Time is ordered. In that event, let-out time would be 3:30 p.m.

GAS SOURCE STUDIED - A University of Texas professor told Texas Water Quality Board that gas from decomposition of sewage can supply up to two-thirds of the power necessary to operate sewage plants.

Dean Ernest Gloyna recalled that sludge gas use is nothing new. The board agreed to spend $5,000 for a study to determine practicality of such usage now and to evaluate new techniques of producing sewer gas. Several U.S. projects are operating, but most advanced ones are in Europe (chiefly Germany).

Gloyna said decomposing sewage sludges produce gas which is 70 per cent methane and 30 per cent carbon dioxide. He said a city of 40,000 could recover enough gas from its sewage plants daily to replace 200 to 300 gallons of gasoline.

COTTON STALK DEADLINE EXTENDED IN EAST TEXAS - Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has extended the November 30 deadline for cotton stalk destruction in 45 East Texas counties with unharvested acreage.

The area covered is bounded by Hood, Panola, Newton and Burnet counties. Destruction of the stalks is aimed at destroying cotton insects. White noted heavy infestations of pink bollworms and boll weevils in Rio Grande Valley and Upper Coast fields.

White urged farmers to get their crops in as soon as possible and to place stalks under promptly.

DECEMBER HIGHWAY BIDS POSTPONED - A cloudy fuel supply situation forced postponement of the December highway bid lettings.

Bids were to have been opened December 5-6 on 33 projects. Contractors, according to State Highway Engineer Luther DeBerry, cannot get firm commitments on price or availability of fuel which affects their own ability to bid firm prices.

Projects scheduled for December bidding will be carried over on a priority basis, some to be placed on the January letting list, DeBerry said.

COURTS SPEAK - Constitutionality of the 1967 state provisional driver licensing law was upheld by the State Supreme Court.

The high court last week also: Ruled Gulf Holding Company cannot fence a public beach in Brazoria County.

Interpreted rare coin collections as "money," and ordered an insurance company to pay off on theft of such a collection as "loss of money and securities."

Held in case involving Justin and Tony Lama leather companies that non-competition agreements with former employees are valid. A Court of Civil Appeals ruling directed a Travis County mobile home owner to comply with deed restrictions in his area and move the facility, which the court classified as a "trailer."

AG OPINION - An audit report on a child care center for a governmental body is public information under the open records law. Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

The Board of Pardons and Paroles is not required to make public all information in its files about an inmate on the inmate's demand.

Juvenile delinquents can be assigned to state training schools of the Texas Youth Council on a coeducational basis.

An automatically-resigned justice of the peace may receive a salary for the period during which he was holding over awaiting appointment of his successor.

A police officer to be eligible for educational incentive payments must have completed college law enforcement courses comprising the "core curriculum" approved by the Higher Education Coordinating Board and Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education.

Texas Board of Medical Examiners may not refuse to admit to examination an alien, legally within the United States, but who has not filed a declaration of intention to become a citizen for any reason relating solely to his alienage, unless he is prohibited from taking the examination by federal law.

Retired state judges may legally be appointed to serve as administrative appellate officers, but those who accept and quality may no longer retain status as judicial officers.

Non residents of the state may not be admitted to a Texas state school for the mentally retarded. But status as a resident cannot be judged solely on residence for a year or more.

The State Board of Control may purchase liability insurance for officers and employees arising out of power lawn mower and edger operation around the capitol.

Junior college districts may not validly discriminate on tuition between out-of-district students who reside in another junior college district and those who do not live in such a district. They may charge tuition at out-of-district extension classes in amounts different from those charges for classes taught at in-district facilities.

APPOINTMENTS - W.D. Bedingfield of Corpus Christi was appointed by Gov. Briscoe to the Texas Structural Pest Control Board along with Leo Holder of Houston and Ralph S. Abel of Dallas.

Also named by Briscoe were Jack Lovette of Bowie to the board of directors of Red River Authority of Texas; Henry M. Rosenwald of Houston, Joseph E. Saar of Dallas and Mrs. Jessie Belle Newman of LaPorte, Texas Private Employment Agency Regulatory Board; and Rufus H. Duncan of Lufkin, Bob Bowman of Lufkin and Jack Flock of Tyler, board of directors of Neches River Conservation District.

House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. appointed Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake to the Council of State Government Southern Legislative Conference Committee executive committee. Daniel placed Rep. Bill Hillard of Fort Worth on the Council of State Governments Southern Legislative Conference committee on transportation.

Auto insurance companies have been asked to agree that carpooling plans are covered by all Texas standard auto insurance policies.

GAS

NUCLEAR

What TESCO is doing to provide the electricity you'll need:

We're diversifying the fuels we use to generate electricity.

It's necessary, but expensive.

Natural gas is the major fuel for our generating plants, with oil used on a standby basis. Both are in increasingly short supply.

To reduce our dependence on natural gas and oil, we began several years ago to diversify to lignite and nuclear fuels which are not used extensively for any other purpose than the generation of electricity. We now have one East Texas lignite coal plant in operation and two others under construction. But plants that can use lignite cost about twice as much to build as gas-fueled plants.

Because there is also a limit to available lignite supplies, a nuclear-fueled plant, which will cost more than three times as much as a gas-fueled plant, is scheduled to be in operation by 1980.

In the next five years Texas Electric must spend more than $700 million on new construction, as much as we have spent in the last 21 years combined. The only way we can finance these much higher costs and provide the electricity that our customers depend on is to obtain rate increases when they are needed. We have such a need now and plan to ask the cities and towns we serve to approve an increase in electric rates in early 1974.

We are working to supply the electricity you need, but it will have to cost more in the future.

When Christmas gift shopping, check out the new electric coffeemakers. Consumers may be surprised at the latest developments.

Many conventional electric percolators have been restyled to meet Underwriters' Laboratories (UL) requirements. These apply to all coffeemakers produced as of Dec. 1, 1972, and include those currently on the market.

According to UL requirements, a percolator cord must be no more than three feet long -- compared to six feet previously accepted. This is to reduce child-tangling accidents.

Also, the percolator lid must have a twist-top that locks and stays in place when coffee is poured--to reduce spilling accidents.

The base must be more stable. Even on a 15-degree inclined surface, the pot should remain upright. This also limits spillage accidents. When it does tip over, only 17 ounces of coffee should spill from the spout in a five-second interval.

In addition to these safety standards, consumers will find some new types of coffeemakers.

Stand-type drip coffeemakers--similar to those used in restaurants and other food institutions for years--recently were adapted for home use. Major parts of this appliance include a water reservoir--with an electric heater--and a section for ground coffee. Separate from these a carafe sits on an electrical warming unit at the stand's base.

During operation, water is heated in the reservoir and pumped up to drip over the ground coffee. The brewed coffee then drips into the carafe below, where it's kept warm.

Some consumers prefer the flavor of coffee made by the drip method to perked coffee. However, the automatic drip coffeemakers take up more space and cost considerably more than any percolators of similar capacity.

Several manufacturers feature at least one model of the stand-type drip coffeemaker--with capacities ranging from 1 to 10 cups.

A key factor in their popularity is fast brewing. One such coffeemaker makes two to eight cups of coffee at the rate of one cup every 90 seconds. Another is said to make each cup of coffee in less than 30 seconds.

Even so, immersible and fast-perking electric percolators are more popular, although they're not new.

However, when considering a fast-perking pot, make sure the home's wiring is adequate. These percolators have high wattage and will blow a fuse or trip a circuit breaker if used with another table appliance or refrigerator on the same amperage circuit.

A normal 15 ampere circuit will accept only 1660 watts. Anything over that overloads the circuit.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

COLLEGE STATION-- The red-meat situation isn't changing much, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

"Pork prices are steady and expected to remain at current levels for the next several months, with only a slight upward trend on some items," the consumer marketing information specialist, Texas A&M University System, said.

"Boston butt roasts, pork steaks, liver and semi-boneless hams deserve consideration. Other features include center, rib and loin-end chops. For less expensive chops, consider the quarter-loin."

"Beef prices also remain about the same, with very good buys on chuck cuts and ground beef. Scattered values are available on steaks and beef liver."

For customers trying to save money yet feed the family well, the specialist recommended the ground beef-soy protein combinations offered by some supermarkets.

"It's usually priced less than regular ground beef--and the soy protein attracts and holds the natural meat juices. Since these juices don't cook away in the pan, patties are tender, juicy and flavorful."

Milk also can extend meals, she continued.

"Two-thirds of a glass of milk furnishes the same amount of protein as an ounce of meat or poultry. Add it to a creamy soup, chowder or canned soup--for a hearty, welcomed meal."

"Fryer chickens remain a bargain in most markets."

With prices about the same as the past couple of weeks, Mrs. Clyatt termed eggs "worth the money when considering their high-quality protein."

"With the holidays coming up, now's the time to look for favorable prices."

Five short courses and a symposium will be combined in the first Texas A&M University Animal Agriculture Conference set for January 21-23 in the new Earl Rudder Conference Center. Conference sessions are expected to attract about 2,000 participants.

Livestock production short courses are being offered in beef and dairy cattle, horses, swine, and forages and pastures. Joint general sessions for all groups will feature some of the nation's outstanding leaders in animal agriculture. An added feature will be a Latin American Animal Agriculture Symposium for participants from throughout Latin America.

The horse production short course will include latest information on horse nutrition, feeding, breeding, and selection, health behavior and pasture management. B.F. Yeates will chair the session.

For dairymen, two important aspects of the dairy industry, nutrition and farm records, will be highlighted. Emphasis will be placed on production and storing of quality forages, on farm storage and various processing systems.

All interested producers are invited to participate in the Animal Agriculture Symposium in January at Texas A&M University.

It is a natural for animals to produce offspring. And this is where the responsibility of the owner comes in. It's easy to let pups and kittens multiply and then to dump them along the road somewhere with the mind-easing thought that "someone will find them and give them a good home."

But such is not the case. The average life span of domestic pets turned loose is about 1 year instead of 14 to 15 years if they are properly cared for.

Starvation, accidents, disease and various unfamiliar death traps kill off many abandoned dogs and cats that once lived in a town or city.

Taking excess animals out of town is not the solution. Most farms already have all the cats they need. And new ones dumped along the roads are looked upon as unwanted, stray animals to be disposed of.

Those animals that survive, often by eating their litter mates are of no use to anybody. They are suspicious predators living off the less wary wildlife.

Persons disposing of extra animals by turning them loose in the city or dumping them in the country are guilty of inflicting continuing cruelty on animals.

Dogs or cats should not be free to wander in or near a city. Unwanted pets should be taken to an animal shelter. Those animals not being used for breeding purposes should be "fixed" to prevent them from having young which might go homeless.

Two kinds of aphids usually infest small grains this time of year. They are the English Grain Aphid and Greenbug. Even with heavy infestation of the English Grain Aphid, seldom does it cause yield losses.

The Greenbug, an aphid, is approximately 1/16 inch long, and is light green. They can be identified by the dark green stripe down the back.

Greenbugs give birth to living young, and all offspring are females. Optimum temperature for greenbug reproduction and development is approximately 75 degrees F. Under optimum conditions, newly-born greenbugs begin reproduction in about 7 days. One female can produce about 80 offspring during a 25-day reproduction period. Greenbugs thus develop enormous populations in a short time.

Continuous temperatures of 20 degrees F or below for 7 days or longer often reduce populations by 90% or more.

FORESIGHT PREVENTS CRUELTY TO ANIMALS-- Before buying your child a dog or cat as a Christmas present, think about the city ordinance and damage done by pets running loose.

This year's situation looks a little brighter than the last few years.

"This year's walnut crop may be the largest on record, and the total pecan crop is expected to increase substantially, although prices aren't expected to show much change."

"Peanuts are quite plentiful and may find their way into all kinds of holiday fare."

"With fresh cranberries in peak supply, freeze some extra packages now--prices probably will increase at Christmas time," the specialist added.

Other produce items in good supply at the most economical prices include apples, oranges, grapefruit, bananas, tangerines and tangelos.

Also hard-shell squash, rutabagas, potatoes, celery, cabbage, carrots, head lettuce, dry yellow onions, broccoli, sweet potatoes, mustard, collard and turnip greens.

Ronald Welter Is Serving In Japan

IWAKUNI, JAPAN -- Navy Airman Apprentice Ronald E. Welter, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Welter of 317 Preston Street, Burkburnett, Texas, is serving with Patrol Squadron 46 at the Marine Corps Air Station here. During the first half of the six-month Western Pacific deployment, he has helped provide support for ocean surveillance and anti-submarine warfare training flights.

A former student of Burkburnett High School, he joined the Navy in August 1972.

The National Eagles are one of the two teams to win the Sportsman-ship Award from the Boys' Club Midget Football League in Burkburnett. Only eight are given out of fifty-eight teams in the entire League. The award is judged on the attitude of the players, cheerleaders, and the spectators at each game during the season.

Two Burk Midget Teams Get Sportsman-ship Award

Two Burkburnett Midget Football teams won sportsman-ship awards this year, the American Eagles and the National Eagles.

The Boys' Club of Wichita Falls awards one sportsman-ship trophy to the team and patches to the players in each division whose players, coaches and spectators demonstrate the best sportsman-ship.

Coaches, players and spectators are graded on their conduct by each game official and Boys' Club representative after each game. Each division is made up of seven teams.

Rotary Hears Educational TV Topic

Ray Farabee spoke to the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Burkburnett Rotary Club. Educational television was the topic of the meeting at the Community Center.

Farabee is a Wichita Falls attorney. He is president of Wichita Falls Educational Translator, Inc., a non-profit organization. The group was organized for the purpose of bringing educational television programming from Dallas to Wichita Falls and the surrounding area.

Now in operation using the call letters KIDZ-TV, area viewers receive the programs on UHF Channel 24 in this area. Farabee explained methods of tuning in the UHF station and outlined the type of equipment that is available to assist Burkburnett residents in getting the best quality picture.

An overview of the types of programs available was given along with information on the cost of the project.

Farabee is a member of the Southwest Rotary Club in Wichita Falls and a past president.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:
I want to assure our customers that employees of the Burk Burnett Post Office are moving Christmas mail with dispatch and that we fully expect to complete every delivery by Christmas Eve. The energy crisis may impose some added unforeseen burdens. Nonetheless, with broad public cooperation, we expect to make this the best mailing Christmas in recent memory.

To help us meet this goal, we are urging our customers to mail first class Christmas cards, letters and packages earlier than usual, by no later than December 8. Airmail letters and packages should be posted by December 15.

We are concerned with occasional fuel shortages for both inter and intracity mail transport. To date, trucks and trains, and most planes, are moving with our mail. But periodically shortages do occur. We are also aware that airlines may not add their usual complement of extra Christmas flights, flights which traditionally help carry the extravolume of Christmas mail.

I am bringing these facts to your attention with the hope that your newspaper will join with us in helping to encourage customers to mail their Christmas cards, letters and packages earlier.

So, please help the Postal Service bring Christmas a little earlier than usual -- mail earlier, by December 8, or December 15, if by airmail.

Question:
Will you have enough natural gas for your home this winter?

Answer:
Yes!

Let's lay this question to rest once and for all. Lone Star Gas Company has enough natural gas reserves under contract to adequately supply our residential, commercial and other higher priority customers for many winters. To be sure we have enough for these consumers, we will make some extensive curtailments of service to our large volume customers during extreme cold weather this winter. In fact, our contracts with large volume customers anticipate the need to curtail up to 100% of their needs during these cold periods. This allows us to assure service to residential, commercial and other higher priority customers.

We're taking major steps to make sure you have gas for the future. New gas we're buying costs more than four times the price we paid just a few years ago. This is an astonishing amount of money! But it's the price all of us must pay for a continuing supply of natural gas energy. This winter, and in the future, natural gas from Lone Star will continue to be your best method of home heating, water heating and cooking...just as it has been for more than 40 years. But we all must remember to help conserve this precious energy fuel.

Weekly Health Tip

from JOE GILLESPIE

A study at Harvard U. School of Public Health showed that among women with good-to-excellent prenatal diets, 95% of their babies were born without complications in good-to-excellent condition. Among women with poor prenatal diets, the results were reversed. Disorders, such as miscarriage, premature birth, and stillbirth were found related to faulty maternal diet. For prospective mothers, proper nutrition has a pre-eminent role in childbearing. It is the quality of the food - vitamins, protein and minerals - not the quantity that is important.

Article 859. INJURING OR DEFAACING PUBLIC BUILDING - Whoever shall willfully injure or deface any public building or the furniture therein shall be fined not less than five nor more than five hundred dollars. The word "deface" in this chapter shall be held to apply to writing, carving or scratching on the walls or plastering of furniture of said building, or staining the same with paint or any other article which will produce a discoloration of the same.

Persons found guilty of above offense will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. More than half a dozen signs painted on walls similar to the one shown were reported this week to Burk Burnett policemen. Some of the signs were printed in obscene language. The damage cost went well over the $100.00 mark and another act of turning on several fire hydrants in town as a joke cost the city taxpayers an undetermined large amount. This prank could have resulted in death if a fire emergency erupted and the supply of water wasn't enough.

I CAN'T HELP WONDERING ABOUT CHRISTMAS

—WHY did God choose one so young as Mary, a peasant girl, to bear His only Son?

—Why was she not permitted by prophecy to have been at home when her time came?

—Why was a corner of the backside of the world chosen to be the village of His birth?

—I wonder what the people in the inn would have thought if they had known what was taking place within a stone's throw of them?

—I wonder what I would have thought had I been there?

—I WONDER?

SHEPPARD AFB NOTES

The annual Christmas Party for the patients of ward nine of the Wichita Falls State Hospital, hosted by the Protestant Women of the Chapel (PWOC), was held at Chapel 2 annex, Sheppard AFB, at 7:00 p.m., Dec. 4.

A program of Christmas music was presented by a choral group, the Skylarks, of the Officer's Wives Club at Sheppard. Following the entertainment, refreshments were served.

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--Oil paintings, clay and steel sculpture, and other art forms will be on display in the Chapel 2 Annex, Dec. 2-8.

Sponsored by the Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance Company, the traveling art exhibit will be open for viewing from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The company supports the fine arts by purchasing original art pieces, mostly created by college students, and by a national traveling exhibit, encourage and inspire others in religious and secular art.

The exhibit will be open to the civilian as well as the military community and everyone is urged to attend.

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--The 3750th Student Group at Sheppard Air Force Base was recently reorganized to provide better command and control and better service for the students.

Student Group organization plans from three other technical training centers were studied before drawing up a plan for the 3750th Student Group. A plan based upon the others in use was drawn up to fit local requirements and submitted to headquarters, Air Training Command (ATC) for approval. ATC granted authorization to reorganize and the plan was implemented.

The advantages of the new organization concept include better supervision and less minor day-to-day paperwork for the group commander. This gives a more efficient, better managed organization to provide better "homes" for student airmen.

Prior to reorganization, the 16 student squadrons, supplemental military training course, and the group's training and standards evaluation people all reported to the group commander, Colonel David R. Eby.

Under the new plan there are three division chiefs reporting directly to Colonel Eby. Division "A" handles the daily supervision of eight student squadrons, the 3752, 53, 58, 61, 66, 76, 79, and 81. The deputy commander for division "A" is Lieutenant Colonel Joseph W. Navarre, formerly chief of the curriculum branch in the School of Applied Aerospace Sciences.

Division "B" contains the remaining student squadrons, the 3750th, 55, 57, 62, 63, 75, 76, and the 80th. Major Wernes B. Neuman, former commander of the 3775th Student Squadron heads up division "B".

The other nonsquadron functions in the group are organized under the Training Division (Division "C") led by Major Robert F. Walton, who previously commanded the 3776th Student Squadron.

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--Guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Texoma Society of Medical Microbiology will be Lieutenant Colonel (Doctor) Charles N. Mullican of Sheppard AFB.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m., Dec. 6, at the Wichita County Public Health Center, in Wichita Falls, Texas. Doctor Mullican, an internist at the School of Health Care Sciences (SHCS) at Sheppard will speak on infectious diseases.

The doctor is also project director for researching and developing computer assisted instruction in the physician assistant course at the school in conjunction with the University of Illinois advanced computer-based educational system called PLATO IV.

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--Captain Eugene Gonzales was recently named Sheppard Technical Training Center junior officer of the quarter in ceremonies in Wichita Falls, Texas.

The award was presented by Ed McDonald, chairman of the military affairs committee of the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Wichita Falls, Texas, at the club's regular luncheon, Nov. 26.

The Kiwanis Club presented a plaque to Captain Gonzales under a program sponsored by the Air Force Association, Wichita Falls Chapter 284, which was launched to recognize and salute various officers and airmen at Sheppard who win certain administrative awards.
