POLLARD SAYS COURTS CANT SUSTAIN PLAN

ATTORNEY GENERAL, IN RULING, ANSWERS THE PLEDGE QUESTION

AUSTIN, Mar. 9.—The State Democratic Executive committee went outside its power in adopting a recent resolution binding democrats to the party pledge, and the action will not be legally effective, Attorney General Claude Pollard ruled Thursday in an opinion to Murrel Buckner, chairman of the Dallas County Democratic Executive committee.

The purpose of the existing law empowering the executive committee to prescribe qualifications of party members was to supplant the former law expressly barring negro voting, and which was held unconstitutional by the United States Supreme court. Mr. Pollard said he continued:

"The previous laws of which the present one under consideration is the outgrowth, did not relate to or attempt to regulate the action of precinct or county conventions in selecting delegates to a national convention but dealt with the qualifications only of voters within the party in those elections at which state, county and district officers were nominated, that is to say elections confined to the boundaries of the state."

"When national affairs are to be disposed of, a quite different situation is presented. Under such regulations as that we are considering, a voter would be denied the full and free participation in the nomination of candidates of his party for national officers by reason of discriminatory regulation of the state executive committee of his own state."

"I think the legislature did not intend to confer any such powers upon the executive committee. The members of the party in other states may or may not be subjected to the same test as is imposed on the voters in Texas, who are in every other way qualified to participate in the national affairs of the party, would be discriminated against."

"The ruling could not be used to deprive any democrat otherwise qualified an equal participation in the affairs of his party with every other democrat." Mr. Pollard said. "There is no authority in the state executive committee to prescribe any test or qualifications which might be enforced outside of the state."

SENATE GROUP CONTINUES ITS COTTON PROBE

HEFLIN TELLS PALMER, WITNESS, COTTON IN RUSE IS 'ROTTEN'

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—The fight of any citizen to call for review of the government cotton classifications "in the public interest," was asserted to a Senate sub-committee today by Arthur W. Hefflin, of the Department of Agriculture, when inquiry into the extent to which a 200,000 bale contraction in New York may have been used "to bludgeon the cotton market," was resumed.

"It was not a matter of regulation, but of 'rule,'" Palmer told Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, who is associated with the Senate committee in the cotton inquiry.

"The New York cotton is alleged to have been repeatedly tendered in New York to affect prices adversely but never to have been taken up."

"I believe that cotton has been classified as well as human skill can do it," he said. "It's rotten cotton," Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, declared. "We have some of it here, and it's rotten."

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dear Marye and I have had a real battle of the century. All because he tried to teach me to drive the car. It's simply unbelievable how mean a man can be at a time like that. I never knew he had such a vocabulary as he used on me simply because I couldn't start. I decided on Alan, because if there's anyone who ought to have patience with you it's your own deuce. Well, I learned a thing or two, but not about driving.

Why is it, I wonder, that men are rude to their wives and say things they wouldn't think of saying to other women. I don't mean when they're quarreling, but even when affairs are normal. I'm sure I could have taught Alan to drive, if the case had been reversed, without spraining a blood vessel.

He took the attitude that I'd been doing a lot of back-seat driving and ought to be able to drive as well as he. I know I'll learn faster because I know what to do, but it does take some practice.

And when we got home we found one of our neighbors trying to bring her bus to life and Alan jumped out and ran over to help her, and I could almost see the sugar in the words he used.

Lovingly,
MARYE

DESPITE INCLEMENT WEATHER, TEXAS LEAGUE BASEBALL CLUBS KEEP GOING IN PREPARATION FOR COMING SEASON

Despite the advent of inclement weather, which forced curtailment of training Wednesday at Fort Worth and Beaumont and postponement at Dallas, preparations among Texas league teams for the 1928 season are progressing with increasing momentum.

Capitalizing the apparent excellent physical condition of his athletes, Manager Carl Williams, at Wichita Falls, has prescribed two workouts daily for the Spudders, Texas and Dixie champions.

At Waco, Manager Del Pratt is concentrating on getting his hurlers into shape, but insisting it is necessary to caution them against overwork at this stage.

Although somewhat at a loss to understand why Pete Arratti, catcher, has not shown up, Manager Gibson of the San Antonio Bears, who are training at Fredericksburg, is beginning to drive his men for a game with a Fredericksburg team Saturday.

Remnants of impending cuts in the roster of the Houston Burfs have been allayed by President Fred Ankerman's statement that no one, in all probability, will be turned loose before late next week.

With only one player, Andy Anderson, having failed to sign a contract, 38 pastimers are toiling daily at Shreveport, striving to get into shape for their first exhibition game of the season with the Chicago White Sox Friday.

HOPI INDIAN STUMBLES TO SIDELINES; OLD ENTRANT SECOND

(By The Associated Press)

BARSTOW, Calif., Mar. 8.—The band of marathoners blazing a trail across the continent turned its back upon civilization today to plunge deeper into Mojave desert and to add another stretch to that already conquered in their marathon to the eastern coast.

To a tiny water hole the advance of the more than 150 foot racers was printed today. The survivors of the next lap will camp tonight at Mojave Wells, which lies 31 miles from here.

Ten miles out from Barstow the pavement ends. Graveled roadway, soft in spots, meets the foot that time on. It is, in general, a rocky route, dropped steadily down toward sea level.

Most noted of the missing were Willie Kolehmainen and Gunnar Nielsen, Finnish speedsters, who gave up the struggle on yesterday's 36-mile desert grind.

Then at a late hour was added the name of Nicholas Guamaawala, member of the Hopi Indian tribe of Arizona, who, having spent most of his life in desert country, was expected to increase his third day lead over the rest of the pack.

INTEREST PICKS UP IN COUNTRY CLUB'S TOURNEY

Interest in the spring Country club golf tournament has picked up somewhat and with the prospects of good weather until the elimination rounds many more qualifying rounds will be played before the time limit is up, which is Friday evening.

J. O. Smith, veteran golf ace of the club tournaments, scored a 94 on eight holes, while George Benson counted a total of 130 strokes in his qualification round.

Numerous other entries in the initial journey of the 1928 season have set to play their qualifying rounds.

Finals for the meet will be held Saturday afternoon starting at two o'clock.

Hindu Lass Winner Of Long Horse Race

CANNES, France, Mar. 8.—A sixteen year old Hindu girl, Mademoiselle Gaiarty, who carried a tortoise with her as a mascot, won the Paris-Cannes 550 mile horse race today.

Of the five women who set out from Paris on February 22 to ride half way across France only four finished.

Madame Marie Feraud, a noted amateur horsewoman, issued the original challenge. The race, sponsored by newspapers, called for consecutive daily rides of at least thirty miles without changing mounts.

Cheese rinds, when carefully scraped, can be used to flavor soups and sauces.

Shipp and Campbell are the only Texas entries left in the running. There were several others at the start but they dropped out.

Proposed Merger Drops From Sight

YOUNGSTOWN, O. Mar. 8.—The proposed merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Inland Steel company negotiated recently has been called off, it was announced here today by James A. Campbell, president of Sheet and Tube.

The laconic statement by Mr. Campbell said merely that the parties to the merger had been unable to agree.

RETAILERS LOOK FOR FINE CROWD AT ANNUAL MEET

The annual meeting of the Lubbock Retail Merchants Association will be held Friday evening with Guy H. Hulse, secretary and educational director of the National Retail Credit Association as the principal speaker.

ONE IN TEN
Neglecting a little wound, cut or abrasion of the flesh may in rare cases out of 10 cause no great suffering or inconvenience, but it is the one case in 10 that causes blood poisoning, lockjaw or a chronic festering sore.

Lubbock association will call every retail merchant association secretary on the South Plains to urge that a good delegation attend the meeting.

Frank Frisch And Bottomley Stars

AVON PARK, Fla., Mar. 8 (AP)—Back here today to play host to the Washington Senators, the St. Louis Cardinals viewed yesterday's victory over the Red Sox with satisfaction. The 8 to 1 score was laid largely to the work of Frankie Frisch and "Sunny" Jim Bottomley who were loudly applauded when they walked onto the Bradenton field.

Ty Cobb Works Out With McGrawmen

AUGUSTA, Ga., Mar. 8 (AP)—The Giants have a new playmate, Ty Cobb, and the Georgia Peach likes the gang so well that he has asked Connie Mack to let him stay and not join the Philadelphia Athletics until they come here for a game on March 18. Quite to the surprise of everyone, for only last week the veteran outfielder refused the privileges of the Giants' field and clubhouse, Cobb strolled onto the field at the close of yesterday after-training and took a light work-out himself.

Tigers Out After Stolen Hassocks

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 8 (AP)—Detroit led both major leagues in the number of bases stolen last year and manager George Moriarty predicts the team will repeat this season.

Senators Ready To Meet Cards

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 8 (AP)—As eager as a bunch of school kids about to choose up sides on the first spring day, the Washington Senators traveled to Avon park today to engage the St. Louis Cardinals in their first exhibition game of the training season.

Slattery Wonders About Regulars

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 8 (AP)—Jack Slattery, manager of the Braves, is beginning to wonder which of the two squads which daily battle in practice session is the regular outfit and which the Yarnigan. For the fourth time in five encounters the juniors held the veterans winless yesterday. The latest debacle saw the varsity shut out 1 to 0. None of the Braves seems to have reached true batting stride and that includes Rogers Hornsby, the league's foremost batter. Another factor has been the fine pitching of the youngsters.

Work In Store At Red Sox Camp

BRADENTON, Fla., Mar. 8 (AP)—A lot of hard work is scheduled for the Boston Red Sox. Any member of Bill Carrigan's outfit who had imagined that the team was about ready to hit mid-season pace suffered severe disillusionment yesterday after the St. Louis Cardinals defeated them 8 to 1. Carrigan is planning to pay particular attention to his pitchers.

Schalk Plans To Return To Duty

SHREVEPORT, La., Mar. 8 (AP)—Manager Ray Schalk, veteran Chicago White Sox catcher, plans a comeback season behind the bat this season. Last season Schalk caught only 16 games because of an injured finger. The member is healed now and Schalk believes he is still good enough to beat the large number of anxious rookies for the backstop job.

Cub Regulars Are Even With Rookies

AVALON, Catalina Island, Calif., Mar. 8 (AP)—The regulars have evened accounts with the scrubs at the Chicago Cubs training camp.

After losing the first intra-camp game to the second team, the regulars pounded four pitchers for a 4 to 0 win yesterday. Ed Holley, Louisville recruit, was treated roughly in the one inning he pitched, the regulars scoring three runs on as many hits and two passes. The regular hurlers, Jones, Grampp and Hansell, displayed good form, although all were occasionally wild.

DETROIT, Mar. 8 (AP)—The Ford Motor company is not experimenting on the development of a plane in which Miss Mabel Boll, "Queen of Diamonds," might fly to Paris, it was stated today at the office of William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford company.

Miss Boll, in company with Charles A. Levine, visited the Stout Aircraft company, subsidiary of the Ford organization, several weeks ago, officials said, adding that she was told at that time that the Ford company would not build a plane for a transatlantic flight. "We told Levine and Miss Boll that such a flight was not feasible," said one Ford official. "We told them we saw no reason for trying such a flight, since it already had been done. We did not refuse

IS IT FAIR?

A resolution was passed by the Parent-Teacher's council petitioning the city commission to create a board of censorship for motion pictures shown at Lubbock theatres. The Lindsey Theatre Enterprises have always favored clean pictures, and have exhibited only pictures approved by the National Board of Censorship.

The Palace and Lindsey Theatres do not believe that the citizens of Lubbock want any handful of people who might be selected on such a board, to bar the showing of pictures and to cut out part of the films, which might not meet with their approval. Generally, there is some difference of opinion regarding every picture, whether it was good, bad, excellent or mediocre. Therefore it would not be a simple matter to select a board capable of passing judgment on what the public shall see or not see.

Only pictures shown all over the state, are selected for presentation to Palace and Lindsey patrons. Every picture shown by Lindsey Theatre Enterprises in Lubbock has FIRST been censored by the National Board, and second censorship has been exercised by the Dallas Board of Censors.

The Motion Picture Industry now maintains what is called the "Hay's Organization"—under the supervision of Will H. Hays. It is the duty and only duty of that organization to keep the pictures clean and moral without losing the entertaining and art features of the industry.

A Lubbock censorship will necessitate a pre-showing—an additional expense to us which we cannot and should not be expected to pay. As a business enterprise this additional expense would be passed on, of course, to the buyers of our commodity — entertainment — or else it would be of business-necessity that we secure pictures of less cost to show at present prices.

Too, should a picture, contracted for weeks in advance by us, fail to meet the "whim" of the local censor board—although passing the Hay's Organization, the National Board and the Dallas Board—then we would, of course, be entirely without pictures for at least one day.

We are fully appreciative of the good work being done by the Parent-Teachers Association and they have always, and always will, receive hearty co-operation from us. But we are very positive that they have failed to take into consideration how far-reaching the local Board of Censorship would be. We know they are sincere in their efforts—but like many, it appears they have failed to measure fully the effects of such a move.

The Lindsey Theatre Enterprises, operating the Lindsey and Palace Theatres, are proud of their present connections in the industry; believe that our source of supply for motion pictures is the best in the world, and believe that our thousands of patrons in Lubbock and in all sections of the Plains have and should have the privilege of seeing those Great programs which are shown in the better Theatres throughout the country.

As life-long citizens and tax payers of Lubbock we call upon our friends and patrons to use their influence in having a full investigation of the merits of a local Board of Censorship, before any action is taken.

We believe the record of our Enterprises and our support of the worthy organizations of this city give us the right to ask and expect serious and studied consideration of this issue.

PARTY PLEDGE

the state and any test within the state different from those of other states would be an encroachment upon the rights of the Texas democrats to participate equally with the democrats of other states in the nominations of the party.

By the resolution, adopted at its February 23 meeting here, the executive committee attempted to require that all participants in the democratic precinct, county and state conventions, subscribe by resolution to the democratic pledge.

Referring to the amended law under which the committee purported to act, the attorney general said that it is evident that the power intended to be conferred upon the state executive committee was to prescribe only the qualifications of voters authorized to participate in the primary elections held for the purpose of nominating state, county and district officers, and by its terms could not be construed as authorizing the passage of the resolution involved.

"The power given is to prescribe the qualifications of those who vote or otherwise participate in the activities of the party and no power is granted to prescribe an additional test for those who are qualified voters."

THE JAZZ SINGER

Novelized by Arline De Haas
Taken from the scenario 'The Jazz Singer' starring Al Jolson.
Copyright, 1927, By Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS
Because Jackie, son of Cantor Rabinowitz, prefers jazz to synagogue music, he leaves home. Ten years elapse. Jackie, now Jack Robin, becomes a musical comedy singer. The Cantor, discovering his son's profession,...

Mr. Yudelsohn—Mr. Yudelsohn, the son, Jackie? Is all right, not? Her voice rose in her eagerness and excitement.
"Yeh, I found Jackie," Yudelsohn answered sorrowfully, "but he says I should explain he can't come tonight."

"Sure, I explained him," Yudelsohn nodded, but he says what he acts tonight in a show what costs two hundred thousand dollars, and his boss won't let him go.
"Yeh, yeh, yeh," Mrs. Rabinowitz moaned, sinking into a chair. "He can't come—Jackie can't come. Did she tried to gather her wits about her and understand this strange situation. For a brief moment she thought it possible that Jackie might not have understood."

"The two sat and stared disconsolately at each other. Mrs. Rabinowitz was trying to turn the matter over in her dazed mind. She was certain that she must do something. If Jackie would only come she knew that the Cantor would rally to some extent. His illness was not purely physical—it was mental; it was the worry, the heart ache, the blow that he had received when he found that his own son was singing jazz songs in the theater. If the Cantor could only hear his boy's voice in the synagogue! She attempted vainly to plan some solution—some way out. But she could only moan and wipe the tears from her already reddened eyes."

Yudelsohn felt that he had rather got himself into a precarious position. Hadn't he been the one to urge the committee to accept Jackie as cantor for the coming year? He had made many promises of Jackie's progress as a singer in the synagogue. He had said that all he had to do was find Jackie and the boy would come willingly—gladly. And now all his plans had failed. He had to face the committee with no singer for that night, and every moment ticking of the clock brought sundown and the services nearer. If Levy sang—Yudelsohn shuddered at the thought.

Mrs. Rabinowitz got up and moved slowly toward the Cantor's room. She didn't trust him. She felt that the most she could do was to minister with her own hands. Yudelsohn still swayed back and forth in his chair, but his meditations were interrupted by a neighbor woman who came out of the kitchen, a broom in her hands. On seeing Yudelsohn there she immediately broke out into a stream of Yiddish, asking whether the Cantor were better. Yudelsohn tried to affect a facetious manner to hide his grief.

"Am I a doctor or a riddle guesser you should ask me such questions, Mrs. Rabinowitz," he replied in English. "I am worrying now who sings 'Kol Nidre' when Yom Kippur begins."
He turned as he heard the bed room door open and jumped up anxiously as the nurse appeared, a medicine bottle and spoon in her hand.

"The Cantor, is he better?" Yudelsohn spoke anxiously.
"I'm afraid not," the nurse shook her head. "There seems to be very little change. I'm waiting for the doctor now." Her startled skirts swished out into the kitchen, where she was quickly followed by Mrs. Rubin.
Yudelsohn returned to his chair, and rocked back and forth slowly. But once more he was interrupted. Clarence opened the door quietly and tiptoed into the room.

"Did you find Jackie?" he asked in a loud whisper. "Is he going to sing tonight?"
"Sure, I found him," Yudelsohn said apathetically. "But he ain't going to sing—he can't come. He sings by the theater tonight."
"Will, I'm having trouble with the choir. I think you'd better come over and see about it." Clarence paced the room nervously.
"Loafers!" Yudelsohn ejaculated. "What's the matter now. The committee votes, don't they?"
"I know, but you promised that you'd bring Jackie down there, and the choir doesn't think he'll come. And if he doesn't they don't want to sing—they didn't like the idea in the first place and now they're all fighting among themselves."
"Yeh, they don't want they should sing!" Yudelsohn rose quickly and pushed his hat down further on his head.

"Well, they say that if Jackie doesn't come Levy'll sing, and he doesn't know any of the Cantor's tunes, and even if he did his voice is not good enough, and that he'd be better off singing alone than spoiling the services with a choir."

"Humi! Yeh, they're right," Yudelsohn agreed. "What can I do? The members are paying a special assessment five dollars for the Day of Atonement singing. If Levy sings they'll want we should give them the money back."
"Yeh, have you talked to my cousin, Avram Lipski? Clarence suggested. "He just came from Russia last week and he's living down here."

Yudelsohn's face brightened at the thought. Why didn't you speak from this before? Avram Lipski I know—at least a voice he's got. I should speak from him yet. Come on, Clarence, first we go by the synagogue and explain them low-lifers Levy shouldn't sing. Then we find your cousin."

He took the young man by the arm and hurried him to the door. In the Cantor's room Mrs. Rabinowitz was busy straightening the pillows and now and then smoothing the forehead of her husband. "The Cantor lay pale and emaciated, in a semi-stupor. Once in a while he opened his eyes and glanced vacuously about the room, but he closed them again soon, as though the effort were too much for his feeble strength. After a while he opened his eyes, this time a little more brightly, and his wife came to come closer to him. She sat down on the chair beside the bed and took his hand."

"Sara," he whispered weakly—so low that Mrs. Rabinowitz had to lean forward to catch his words. "Yeh, yeh, yeh," Mrs. Rabinowitz patted his hand soothingly. "I can't sing tonight, Sara," he looked up pathetically. "I can't sing tonight. For the first time in forty-five years I can't sing tonight in the synagogue." He closed his eyes, exhausted by his exertion.

"Nu, nu, Yosele, you shouldn't think for such things. The doctor says you should just rest. And next Yom Kippur you should sing gooder as ever, Gott ut helfen," she soothed.
The Cantor shook his head feebly. "It makes for the first time in five generations a Rabinowitz does not sing on the Day of Atonement." A tear stole down his withered cheek, and Mrs. Rabinowitz wiped it away softly. He lay quiet for a few minutes. Nothing disturbed the silence, save the ticking of the clock. The Cantor slowly moved his hand until it rested on that of his wife. "Sara," he mumbled. "I been dreaming Jackie come back to sing 'Kol Nidre.' Oh, such a dream!" He paused. "Maybe God would forgive me, if he comes tonight and sings."

The mention of Jackie's name made Mrs. Rabinowitz start nervously. Suddenly she had an idea. Suppose she, herself, should go to the theater and try to bring Jackie back. She looked down at the Cantor to see whether he were going back to sleep.

—will there be too much censorship?

The motion pictures shown in Lubbock and these theatres, must pass three rigid censorships before they reach here. These boards of censorship are composed of those who are most vitally interested in the success of the industry, and who by reason of this fact STRIVE AT ALL TIMES TO ELIMINATE ANY AND EVERY OBJECTIONABLE FEATURE, before the presentation.

will it not tend to make the theatre owner too careful in his selection of the films he presents, so that ALL THE ENTERTAINMENT IS REMOVED FROM THEM, and deprive you of the privilege of seeing the best of films, such as are shown in other cities?

YOU are the one most vitally interested as to whether this proposed regulation is made a city ordinance. YOUR PLEASURE and YOUR ENTERTAINMENT, the kind of clean, wholesome amusement to which you have become accustomed, IS AT STAKE. YOUR OPINION AS A CITIZEN COUNTS, and your influence, for the good of clean amusements will determine the passing or the rejection of this proposed ordinance for local moving picture censorship, and after all, is not the public at large best qualified to censor the films, by patronizing those they wish to see and refusing to pay their good money for those which are offensive?

Before you consider this ordinance I would like to ask the Honorable Mayor, City Council, and the P.-T. A. to visit my two shows and judge for themselves whether or not evil exists in the films shown in my two theatres and whether or not more evil exists in other modes of pleasure and amusement.

Why should there be a fourth board of censorship, such as that now being proposed? Is it not probable that through some passing fancy which might be open to much argumentation, that you might be deprived of an evening's amusement to which you are entitled—an evening that would be spent in clean, wholesome amusement? And must it not also follow that if such were to happen and the theatre owner were to be forced through this fourth board of censorship to be refused a showing (having already contracted for the film and paid for it) will not that cost appear somewhere in the business relations between the theatre patron and the owner? And, too,

DEMOCRATS OUT OF DEBT FIRST TIME SINCE 1924, TEXAN REPORTS; HOOVER FACES FIRST BIG DECISION FOR GOP

(By The Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, March 8.—Democratic party finances were out of red ink today for the first time since the presidential campaign of 1924 and approximately $250,000 was in sight with which to begin initial combat with the Republicans for honors in the November elections.

Announcement to this effect by the Democratic National committee coincided with word that Secretary Hoover contemplated making a decision today whether he would enter the Indiana primaries against Senator Watson, and with a nationwide call by the southeastern convention of the Anti-Saloon League for defeat of all candidates who oppose or remain silent on dry law enforcement.

Report Made By Jones
 The Democratic financial report made to Chairman Glen Shaver by Jessie H. Jones, the national committee's financial director, showed contributions and pledges totaling $504,500, enough to wipe out the entire indebtedness incurred during the last campaign and leave perhaps a quarter of a million dollars for use in the next.

Of the total contributed and pledged, $300,000 comes from the citizens of Houston to meet expenses of the June convention there and $50,000 apiece was donated by Thomas F. Ryan, of New York, and Mr. Jones, who figured prominently in the fight to land the Democratic convention for his home city.

The Republican political spotlight today switched to a little office on the seventh floor of the commerce department. Herbert Hoover, its head, had until midnight to make up his mind whether to enter the Indiana primary lists to contest for that state's 22 delegates to the Kansas City convention.

Hoover Is Doubtful
 Supporters of the secretary, who has been reluctant to enter Indiana unless there was evident enough strength to warrant it, were busy in the northern counties of the state yesterday obtaining signatures to petitions to forward here.

Closing their convention last night at St. Petersburg, Fla., the Southeastern Prohibition convention of the Anti-Saloon League adopted resolutions declaring that if the dry forces of the nation speak "unitedly, promptly and positively, they can prevent the nomination of such men as Butler, Longworth, Wadsworth, Ritchie, Smith and Reed."

The convention called for the nomination by both parties of candidates who, by their utterances, acts and records, are thoroughly

HUSBAND SHOT WIFE IS HELD

FORMER GRID STAR IS SERIOUSLY HURT BY RESTRAINED MATE

(By The Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—William C. Gloth, commonwealth's attorney for Arlington county, Virginia, and former noted football player at the University of Virginia, was in a serious condition at a hospital here today with a bullet wound in the chest.

Mrs. Marjorie Gloth, his divorced wife, was out on $10,000 bond awaiting a hearing in the Arlington county police court.

Police say she shot Gloth from whom she obtained a limited divorce several years ago, late last night as he stood talking to Mrs. Della Snyder, her mother, on the porch of the former wife's home in nearby Clarendon, Va., and within an hour after he returned from Richmond on business.

He Faces Charge
 "Gloth and a girl who gave her name as Miss Edith Scudder, were arrested here about a month ago in the latter's apartment and charged with a statutory offense. The case is yet to be tried."

Emery Hesser, Clarendon attorney, who drove Gloth to the home of his former wife last night at Gloth's request, witnessed the shooting, and afterwards told police the prosecutor informed him: "I don't want anything done to my wife because of my child. She had no cause to shoot me."

Gloth referred to his 14-year-old son, William Charles Gloth, now in the custody of the mother.

Many Survive Him
 He is survived by his widow, a son, Freddie Bennett, a Tech student-five daughters, Miss Mary Bennett, Snyder; Miss Frances Bennett, Lorraine; Mrs. J. E. Price, Lubbock; Mrs. V. O. Rollins, Snyder; and Mrs. W. M. Davidson, Camp Springs and a sister, Mrs. R. W. Ferguson, Eastland.

The body will be sent to Snyder by the Rix undertakers today. Funeral services will be held in Camp Springs tomorrow and interment will follow in the Camp Springs cemetery.

Rev. Bennett served for 25 years.

"I Enjoy Lucky Strikes" Says John Golden, Noted Theatrical Producer

"When concentrating on the intricate work of a new production, a good smoke is both relaxation and a pleasure. I enjoy Lucky Strikes. They do not irritate the throat and their flavor is unsurpassed."

John Golden

The Cream of the Tobacco Crop

"Few people, except leaf tobacco men, realize that LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes are made from the choice of the sweetest, ripest tobaccos grown. I wish every smoker might see these tobaccos—they would then readily understand why LUCKY STRIKES are so mild and mellow."

W.B. Leftwich
