First US Serviceman Is Killed By Lebanon Fire

IN HANDS OF REBELS

With unpleasent suddenness the nation of Iraq has been thrust to the forefront of the news. While the true situation of the pro--Nasser revolt in the presently sealed-off country is unclear, the magnitude of Iraq's possible loss to the West is shown by Newsmap above. With an area some what larger than California and a population of nearly five million, Iraq occupies a geographical and political keystone position in the Middle East. Rich in vital oil resources, particularly in the regions around Kirkuk and Mosul, only an easily severed railroad and pipeline binds it to the West. One branch of the pipeline runs through Syria, part of the Egyptian dominated United Arab Republic. The other leads through Jordan, recently federated with Iraq. Also threatened is the British oil center of Kuwait on the Arabian Peninsula.

PROMPTLY TOO

Khrushchev Would Give Conference Proposal Action

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The State Department said today that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's proposal for a summit conference on the Middle East will be given "prompt consideration" when it is officially received.

As of 6:30 p.m. est, the department had not received the text of Khrushchev's letter.

The department also said the United States was willing to withdraw its troops from Lebanon if the Soviet Union would permit the United Nations to take effective action to maintain the independence of that small Arab nation.

Spiked U. S. Move

But it pointedly noted that a Soviet veto in the U. N. Security Council spiked a U. S. move to strengthen U.S. forces in Lebanon.

The department also took issue with Khrushchev's contention that the U. S. had committed "aggression" in Lebanon and the British likewise in Jordan.

The statement declared:

"There can, of course, be no question of aggression when a freely chosen government which feels itself in danger asks for help from a friendly nation.

"The issue before the world is whether or not two small nations can maintain their independence as against the indirect aggression to which they are being subjected.

"It is hard to believe that the Soviet Union feels that an independent Lebanon and an independent Jordan would be in any way a menace or a danger to the Soviet Union or to world peace."

In challenging the Soviet U. N. veto, the department pointed out that the Security Council will meet again Monday to deal with the crisis.

Asks Soviet Cooperation

"We hope that the Soviet Union will then cooperate with the other members of the Security Council to assure the independence and integrity of Lebanon," the department said.

"This would make possible the early withdrawal of United States forces from Lebanon which are there merely to preserve Lebanese independence until there can be adequate United Nations action."

Navy Pilot Dies In Flaming Crash

By LARRY COLLINS
United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The United States completed its ground force build-up here Saturday as the Lebanese front flared suddenly into a hot war with a Marine-loaded transport plane winged by snipers and a U.S. Navy fighter pilot dead in a flaming crash.

The pilot was the first U.S. fighting man to die in the Lebanese operation. His plane went down in an area 10 miles east of Beirut where rebel fighters had been firing.

Nearby villagers said the fighter, believed to be a propeller-driven Grumman F6E Hellcat, appeared to be on fire before hitting a tree and smashing into a steep hillside. But they said they did not believe it had been hit by rifle fire.

A taxi driver returning from the mountainous scene of the crash claimed the plane had been shot down by the rebels, but the claim was discounted here. The pilot died instantly. Reporters at the scene said the wreckage was too scattered for immediate identification of the plane's type.

Stage Protest Parades

Rebel snipers hit the four-engine Marine Corps transport as it glided low for a landing here Saturday morning. They put two bullets into the R5D plane (Douglas DC4). One of them narrowly missed the navigator. The transport was loaded with Marines from Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Tension has been appreciably rising here for the last two days. The long dormant rebels Saturday attacked Lebanese government headquarters in downtown Beirut.

First one contingent invaded the American Presbyterian Mission School. Then the insurgents opened up a rifle and grenade assault on the government headquarters across the street. For half an hour they swapped fire with Lebanese troops. Machine-guns were brought into action. Rebel forces had been quiet in that area since the Marines landed Tuesday.

The sudden heat-up of the situation was coincident with the completion of an airlift from Turkey bringing in 1,700 U.S. Army paratroopers to join the Marines already strung out on an 11-mile defense line. The American combined force here now totals about 9,000 men—the size of the Lebanese army itself.

Quiet prevailed in Jordan, where 2,000 British paratroopers found little to combat except the blazing sun, and in Baghdad, Iraq, where an army-rebel coup set off the new Mideast crisis last Monday.

But in Communist China and Soviet Russia there were reports that popular emotion was running high against the Anglo-American intervention in Lebanon and Jordan. Millions of Chinese paraded in protest demonstrations in major cities. In Moscow, press and radio reported country wide mass meetings of protest. These included rallies among Russian troops now on massive maneuvers just north of Turkey and Iran.

German intelligence reports in Hamburg said the massed Russian troops and armor on the Turkish

Hussein Asks For US Troops In Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)— King Hussein said Saturday night that he had asked for American troops in Jordan and that "I expect them to arrive."

Hussein spoke of his desire for American troops to supplement the 2,000 British paratroopers already airlifted to his tiny desert kingdom during a news conference in the banquet hall of his Basman Palace on one of the seven hills of Amman.

He made it plain that he expected the United States to honor his request.

The King refused to elaborate on his statement.

He declined to say whether the Americans would be supply troops or combat units.

The U. S. Embassy in Amman confirmed the request has been made but said there was no word yet from Washington on the possibility of sending troops to Jordan.

FIRE THE FURNACES!

The Cabot Ordnance here has suddenly become of importance to Cabot Shops, Inc., with operations in Pampa. These cooling furnaces face the prospect of being fired up when the official word arrives from the Awards Committee, in St. Louis, Mo., on a $2,498,742 contract. The contract will be awarded by the St. Louis Ordnance District of the Army, according to a telegram received from Walter Rogers in Washington, D. C. The contract calls for 1,800 tube forgings and presumably for 60-75 new employees to make them.

SOME 60 MAY BE EMPLOYED

Almost 2½ Million Contract May Be Awarded Cabot

The St. Louis Ordnance District has awarded a $2,498,742 contract to Cabot Shops Inc. that will provide work for 60-75 new employees in Pampa, according to a telegram received late Friday afternoon from Walter Rogers, representative of the 18th Congressional District. Cabot plans to reactivate its Ordnance Plant immediately on official notification, Reno Stinson, director of Industrial Relations, said today.

The contract would reactivate the Cabot Ordance works, in mothballs since Mar., 1956. Active during the War, the Ordnance resumed operation in Jan., 1951 only to shut down five years later.

Rogers said in his telegram that Cabot would be able to hire 60-75 new employees to turn out the 1,800 tube forgings required by the contract.

Stinson said that the Awards Board would probably not meet until Monday in St. Louis.

The Army contract will call for 900 Model 41 90 mm. tube forgings and 900 Model 36, 90 mm. tube forgings.

Texan Is Freed

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —Among ahe nine U.S. soldiers held captive in Communist Germany since June 7 and released Saturday was M-Sgt. Carrol T. Ruffin, 36, of Howe, Tex., in Grayson County.

DEMOCRATS FACING BALLOTS SATURDAY

Texas politicians geared yesterday for the final week's "big push" in Saturday's Democratic primary when an estimated 1,250,000 Texans will go to the polls.

The vote estimate was made by Robert Johnson, director of the Texas Election bureau.

In Gray County the race will be strongest for the offices of State representative, County Judge and District Judge. John F. Campbell of Pampa, has tackled Grainger McIlhany as representative for the 87th Legislative District. County Judge Bruce Parker seeks the judgeship of the 31st Judicial District, now held by Louis M. Goodrich of Shamrock. City Judge W. J. "Bill" Craig, Pampa, is up for the County Judgeship against J. H. Saunders and C. E. Cary.

Voters will have their choice of G. H. "Skinner" Kyle, Dean Monday, L. T. "Tom" Claterbaugh and the incumbent G. L. "Nat" Lunsford as commissioner of Precinct 2. They will also choose among the incumbent O. L. Tibbets, B. J. Shaw, Boyd Meador, Truitt Johnson and John Dwyer in the race for Precinct 4 commissioner.

Justices of the peace will have their day Saturday. W. R. Combs, holding that office in Precinct 1, stands against W. V. Hix, Bob Harper and Mrs. Gladys Pafford. Cliff H. Day and Joe H. Green are opponents in Precinct 4.

E. O. Northcutt, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Seventh Supreme Judicial District, faces no opposition at the polls. Nor does Walter Rogers, representative of the 18th Congressional District. The same can be said of District Clerk Helen Sprinkle, County Clerk, Charles Thut, County Treasurer Ola Gregory and County School Superintendent B. R. Nuckols.

Campbell wound up a two weeks' campaign in Wellington and Shamrock yesterday. He plans to conclude his campaign in Pampa. On one occasion he faced his opponent, McIlhany, on the McLean Lions Club program.

Last week Campbell spoke to the Shamrock Boosters Club. His campaign has taken him to Allison, Dobson, Quail, Briscoe, Samnorwood, Dozier, Lela, Mobeetie and Lefors as well as Wheeler, Shamrock and McLean.

In his campaign for the District judgeship, Judge Parker reaches a new section of the District each day. By Saturday he expects to have covered the 31st Judicial District. Nothing beats hard work, Parker believes.

A win in the Democratic primary is tantamount to being elected but for candidates who fail to get a majority a run off election will be held Aug. 23. This may be the case in the contests, which involve three or more candidates.

With the Primary only a week away, County leaders are preparing to fulfill their part of the election. Printed ballots are stacked in the Gray County Clerk's office awaiting distribution to the polling places. In Pampa voting booths will be in use.

Absentee balloting will close

Ike Sends Message To US Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower cautioned U.S. fighting men in the Middle East Saturday to be on guard against "deliberate attempts" to provoke them into incidents that would give cause for anti-American propaganda.

In a personal message broadcast to troops in the crisis-ridden area, the President also told the servicemen they would be withdrawn "as soon as the independence and integrity of Lebanon are secure."

He warned them they face "a trying time" but that their performance of duty "is the greatest contribution you make to the peace of the world—the saving of freedom of a small and friendly country."

"While on this duty," he said, "you may be assailed by propaganda whipped up by skillful and ambitious men. There may be deliberate attempts to involve you as units—or individually—in incidents which will be greatly exaggerated by these propagandists to suit their own purposes.

"Through it all, just remember you are representing the United States of America—that you are true to her ideals in helping a people to keep their freedom.

NO DEAL MADE

Nine Army Men Out Of Bondage

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —The East German Communists Saturday released nine U.S. Army men held for six weeks in a vain attempt to blackmail the United States into recognizing the East German regime. All were suntanned and appeared in good health.

The nine men, eight officers and one enlisted man, were seized by the East Germans June 7 when their helicopter strayed over the East-West border during a thunderstorm and came down at Karl Marx Stadt, a town 25 miles inside the Soviet frontier. All aboard were from the 3rd Armored Division stationed in Frankfurt. Nothing was said about return of the helicopter.

The American Red Cross and the East German Red Cross arranged the release under an agreement signed Thursday. The agreement said "the American side" agreed to pay the room and board bill for the men. It came to $1,746.

Families Overjoyed

The families of eight of the men were overjoyed. Mrs. Ruth Athanason, wife of Capt. Frank A. Athanason of Greenville, S.C., wept on the phone when told her husband was being freed.

"I must bake Frank an apple pie, it's his favorite," she said, "but I don't know if I can cook at all."

Mrs. Alta Kemper, wife of Maj. George Kemper of Escondido, Calif., said she was going to bake her husband a cherry pie.

Mrs. Susan Westbrook, wife of 1st Lt. Thomas J. Westbrook of Macon, Ga., said she had faith her husband would come home. She said it had been a long wait.

The wives of Maj. James R. Zeller of Mount Joy, Pa., and M.Sgt. Carol Rufin, of Howe, Tex., agreed.

The families of Capt. Ian A. Brister of Wyncote, Pa., Capt. Paul E. Jones of Cleveland, Ohio, and Chief Warrant Officer Leroy J. Malone of Rice, Kansas, were waiting at homes in Germany for their husbands. The family of the ninth man, 1st Lt. Mike Ellis, live in Columbus, Ga.

The nine men seemed cheerful. All were rushed immediately to a hospital for a physical examination.

They were to go home to their wives as soon as possible.

NOT SERIOUSLY

Goldfine Boy Razors Self

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)— H. Maxwell Goldfine, son of heavy spending Bernard Goldfine and a witness for his father in the Washington hearings, slashed himself between 80 and 100 times with a razor early Saturday after a near all-night party.

The younger Goldfine, who had suffered an "emotional upset," was taken to Memorial Hospital spurting blood from his wounds but was not in serious condition, attendants said.

A doctor said Goldfine and his wife checked in the motel at Dilido Beach Friday afternoon and "apparently entertained most of the night.

It was learned the younger Goldfine had been under the care of a Boston psychiatrist.

Doctors said the Washington hearings, which portrayed the elder Goldfine as a man of lavish generosity toward government personages, including Presidential Aide Sherman Adams, apparently had nothing to do with his son's apparent suicide attempt.

However, the younger man, whom Bernard Goldfine referred to as "my son, Horace," had testified before the House committee on legislative oversight last July 9.

The elder Goldfine referred many questions about his companies to his son. The son admitted Goldfine mills had committed some violations of the law on labeling wool content of textile products.

Goldfine was taken from a motel room to Memorial Hospital where attendants said he had lost a lot of blood but was in good condition. They said all the self-inflicted wounds were superficial and none required stitching.

A policeman found Goldfine attired only in blood-spattered shorts at a motel on Dilido Beach where he and his wife checked in Friday.

The officer, Patrolman Donald G. Elie, a personal friend of Goldfine, said Goldfine declined to give a reason for his action.

But Dr. Gordon Aldrich, who examined him, said Goldfine "suffered an emotional upset.

"He and his wife apparently had been entertaining much of the night," the physician said.

PAMPA HAS RAINY SATURDAY EVENING

A steady rain began falling in Pampa about 8 p.m. yesterday and at 10 p.m. the rain gauge atop the Pampa Daily News building measured .16 of an inch of moisture.

The Top o' Texas forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with late afternoon and evening thundershowers. The low tonight is expected to be 70 and the high Monday 98.

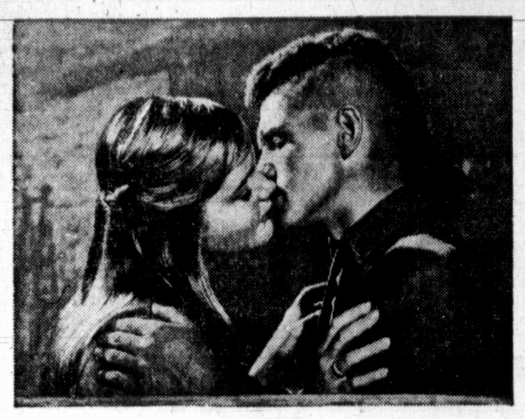

Scattered thunderstorms, riding along the southern tip of a belt of severe weather that covered a great deal of the midwest, moved into the Panhandle, South Plains and extreme West Texas late Saturday.

Activity from the storms was expected to continue until early Sunday, then develop again Sunday afternoon and night.

Only one recording station reported any rain, however. El Paso received .07 of an inch.

Little change in temperatures was expected except for local cooling in the shower activity, and the heat Saturday reached as high as 109 degrees at Presidio.

The lowest maximum temperature recorded in the state Saturday was an 86 degree reading at El Paso. Minimums ranged between 66 at Dalhart and 81 at Galveston.

There's Gold In Them Thar Hills And Cheyenne's After It

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— Somber-faced Clint Walker, star of TV's "Cheyenne" horse opera, has put a burr under Warner Brothers saddle with the announcement that he is quitting the show to hunt gold in them thar hills.

A stolid buckeroo with a penchant for independence, Walker says, "An actor isn't a plowhorse that the studio buys at auction, I got rights.

"I'm selling my home here and heading for the wild country around the Feather River in northern California. There's gold up there and I aim to dig it out. I've made several trips already and found enough gold to get the fever."

How does a video cowboy dig for gold?

Big (6-foot, 5-inch) Clint eschews the time - honored pan, sluice box and pickax in favor of an aqua-lung, face mask and swimming flippers.

"There's plenty of gold at the bottom of the rivers," he avows. "Oldtimers tell me 90 per cent of it hasn't been taken out. A man just has to know where to find it—and the country's so rugged you can't use big, heavy equipment. You have to skin-dive for it."

Walker's refusal to continue as the hero in "Cheyenne" is based on his assertion that the studio is pushing him around.

"Look at Hugh O'Brian and Jim Arness," Clint pointed out. "They're making all kinds of outside deals for public appearances, endorsements and even making records. The studio won't let me do anything.

"I told them if they didn't let me do those things, or at least let me work in a feature movie I wouldn't do any more 'Cheyennes'.

"Then they told me if I didn't make 'Cheyennes' I wouldn't do anything. So I'm not doing anything. I like acting, but I don't want to limit myself to 'a TV series. Sooner or later everybody wants out of a series because an actor can only go so far.

"I want to grow as a performer for my own self-satisfaction."

Life Changes Little In Iraq's Capitol

By JACK SAUL
United Press International

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI)—Hardly an outward sign remained today to show that Iraq was a country in which the regime had been violently changed overnight.

Five days after the sudden coup by army rebels overthrew the pro-Western monarchy and killed King Feisal and strong man Premier Nuri Es Said, the capital was bustling with the normal hurly burly of life.

Only a few tanks and soldiers at strategic corners of the city indicated that in Baghdad the army was in command.

All the signs were that the republican regime set up by revolutionary Premier Brigadier Abdel Kerim Kassem was in control throughout the country.

In Baghdad, government departments have been in business since Tuesday, barely 24 hours after the dawn swoop of the army rebel leaders.

Shops and offices, including those of foreign firms, were operating normally. Taxis were running through the streets, public services such as electricity were never interrupted and trains and telephone services were working normally.

Government authorities today took newsmen to a military camp outside Baghdad to see Fadl Jamali, former foreign minister and chief U.N. delegate whom Henry Cabot Lodge, head of the U.S. delegation to United Nations reported to be murdered.

Jamali appeared in good shape. He was well groomed and wore his trousers, shirt and spectacles as usual.

Government forces found Jamali hiding out on a chicken farm belonging to one of his relatives, outside Baghdad.

They reported he was dressed in native Arab garb and was in possession of a small fortune in dollars, pounds sterling and Turkish lira.

The reports quoted Jamali as saying when he was captured:

"Let me alone. I am your brother. I too, am a nationalist."

Government versions said there were only three incidents of resistance to the revolution:

—King Feisal and Crown Prince Abdul Illah ordered Rihab palace guards to fire on the rebels. The king, the crown prince and a number of palace guards were killed.

—Gen. Rafik Aref, brother of the former army chief of staff, issued troops ammunition to fight the rebels but the troops used it only to shoot him dead.

—Maj. Gen. Omar Aly, officer commanding the Fourth Division, ordered his men to move against the rebels, but instead of doing so they placed the general in custody.

Underlings, Have More Heart Attacks!

CHICAGO (UPI) — A scientific study has debunked the belief that executives pay for their success by being highly susceptible to heart and blood vessel ailments.

In fact, just the opposite is true, according to the doctors. It is the underlings bossed around by the executives who are most prone to hyptertension and arteriosclerosis.

The results of a study of more than 2,000 persons over a five-year period were reported in the current Journal of the American Medical Assn.

The survey was conducted by Drs. Richard E. Lee of Cornell University medical college and Ralph E. Schneider of the New York University college of medicine.

The doctors kept a check on the physical conditions of 1,171 executives whose jobs ranged from chairman of the board to auditor. They also studied 1,203 non-executives, including 563 women, whose jobs ranged from stenographer to supervisor.

They found that 12.1 per cent of the bosses had high blood pressure, but 15 per cent of the non-executives aged under 40 also were afflicted with the ailment.

Hardening of the arteries occurred among 7.8 per cent of the executives and in 15.3 per cent of the less successful.

Executives also had fewer heart attacks, 3.7 per cent to 5.1 per cent for the lesser workers.

The doctors suppested that bosses just might be healtheir persons.

There are between 2,500 and 5,000 languages and dialects in the world, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

DEMOCRATS

Tuesday in the County Clerk's office. At least 67 individuals, who will be out of the County Saturday, have done their absentee voting. The office has mailed out a minimum of 29 absentee ballots.

According to the County Clerk's report, 7,320 persons have paid their poll tax. Pampa has 6,062 qualified voters; Lefors, 389; Laketon, 58; Grandview, 122; Hopkins, 49; Alanreed, 77, and McLean, 640.

The returns will not be final until 2 a.m. or later Sunday, Bob Baker, Gray County Democratic Secretary, predicts.

Voters in Precinct 2 will go to the polls in Phillips Camp, the Pampa IOOF Hall, and Baker, Horace Mann, and Woodrow Wilson Schools.

The vote estimate was forecast by Robert Johnson, director of the Texas Election Bureau.

In addition to the nomination of state and local officials, Texas voters also will take part Saturday in precinct conventions, leading to county and state Democratic conventions. The precinct conventions feature a battle between conservative- moderate forces led by Gov. Price Daniel and the liberal-labor "Democrats of Texas" (DOT) led by Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph of Houston.

Reports on Spending

U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, campaigning for a full six-year term, disclosed in a report to the Secretary of State's office in Austin he has spent $67,923 thus far, received $63,430 in contributions, and owes $13,106.

His opponent, William A. Blakley, reported Friday a total of $168,281 in expenditures, and $177,931 in contributions.

Yarborough campaigned Saturday in Harris and Galveston counties, leading an 80-car "politics on wheels, friendship caravan" through Houston, Baytown, Deer Park, Pasadena, League City and Texas City.

He stressed the need for "full employment in a growing and expanding Texas, and for prosperity for all the people, not only prosperity for capital and prosperity for labor, but prosperity for the farmers, too."

Blakley spent the day at Dallas preparing for the wind-up week of campaigning, and announced he will appear next week each day on television, in tours through Central Texas, the Gulf coast and Rio Grande Valley.

Gains Backing

His headquarters announced endorsement of Blakley by Bishop Hiram A. Boaz, 92, former president of Southern Methodist University.

In the governor's race, former governor and U. S. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel campaigned in a helicopter and said "beginning Saturday we are in the air and on the air, and the other side might just as well get ready for a shock when they finish counting the votes next week."

"The people of Texas have got blood in their eyes and they intend to make Texas price-less," O'Daniel said. He campaigned Saturday at Kountze, Silsbee, Bessmay, Deweyville, Orange and Port Arthur, and was scheduled to go on a community center handshaking tour Monday in the Houston area.

Daniel campaigned in Central Texas Saturday after attending the Governor's Day review of the 112th Cavalry of the Texas National Guard at North Fort Hood. The governor visited Killeen, Temple and Georgetown.

Issues Appeal

Daniel, seeking re-election to a second term, urged Texans to attend their Democratic precinct conventions next Saturday.

"Your governor does not want control of the Democratic party. I want you, the majority of Democrats of this state, to have control of your party. I do not want to see it run by the DOT minority faction or any other minority group," Daniel said.

Daniel is opposed by O'Daniel, State Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio and Joe A. Irwin of Dallas.

Monday, Daniel will campaign at Dallas, going Tuesday to Fort Worth and to Shiner for a convention of Texans of Czech descent, flying to Lufkin for a night rally. He will be in East Texas Wednesday and Thursday.

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, seeking re-election to a fifth term, finished a week of campaigning in the Gulf coast area and said he will tour West Texas next week.

Launch Vote Harvest

He is opposed by Waco attorney George Nokes, a former state senator.

A "vote harvest" by Bastrop County Judge Tom Griffin, opposing Agriculture Commissioner John White's bid for a fifth term, took form with Griffin at the controls of a farm tractor in Austin. He drove through the downtown area and shopping centers, and said similar tractors would be used next week in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, El Paso and San Antonio.

White also is opposed by State Rep. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio.

Yarborough's schedule for next week was not available.

Blakley announced he will appear on television Monday at Bryan, and Tuesday will tour Cameron, Belton, Temple and Killeen, making a state-wide TV speech that night at Waco.

Wednesday, Blakley will go to Beaumont and Port Arthur, making local TV appearances, and will make an area telecast that night at Houston. Thursday, he will be in Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande Valley, and Friday night will close his campaign with a state-wide TV speech from Fort Worth.

United Press International correspondent Daniel F. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the embassy has reports that some Russian MIG fighters with Soviet pilots have arrived in Damascus. However, the reports were not from official sources, and the embassy doubted their authenticity.

Capital Normal

UPI correspondent Jack Saul reported from Baghdad, Iraq, that five days after the revolt the capitol was bustling with normal Oriental life. There were only a few tanks and soldiers at strategic corners.

All signs, Saul said, were that the regime set up by revolutionary Premier Brig. Abdel Kerim Kassem was in control throughout the country.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan left for a country week end. He was reported to be confident that the crisis would not turn suddenly into an East-West conflict.

In Cairo, diplomats speculated that President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria probably went to Russia to ask Soviet leaders about their intentions in the Mideast and to find out how far they would go to back him.

US Hosts Over 21,000 Ag Visitors

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 21,000 foreign agricultural visitors have come to the United States in the last 10 years to take a look at our agriculture and to study in colleges and laboratories.

Among them have been students, farmers, technicians, educators, businessmen, and government officials. While this number is small in relation to the millions of farmers throughout the world, what the visitors have seen and learned some day may change the pattern of agriculture around the globe.

Cannon C. Hearne, director of the Foreign Training Division of the Foreign Agricultural Service, reports that it is impossible to determine just where the impetus in changing agricultural patterns comes from.

"But we do know," he said, "that America's farms, its agricultural colleges, laboratories, and research stations have left vivid impressions.

"We know that our tillage techniques, our farm machinery, and our rural society itself may have started wheels in motion.

Hearne said there are new R-P clubs in southern Sumatra, 5-K youth groups in the Celebes, and young farmers clubs in Ceylon, which came about because local agricultural leaders studied the 4-H club organization in the United States.

The Danes started farm building and work simplification studies after touring the Midwest. Austrians, trained in the United States, are starting control of bovine tuberculosis. A Turkish official, who studied marketing methods in Oklahoma, has introduced new standards of quality and packing in Turkey's egg industry.

U. S. Investing Heavily

In 1957, American agriculture opened its doors to more than 2,000 foreign visitors from 90 nations. The largest numbers came from Japan, Brazil, Turkey, Spain, Indonesia, the Philippines, and Yugoslavia.

Hearne noted that the United States is investing heavily in helping other nations help themselves in agricultural development. The United States, he said, gains much, because the exchange is not one-sided.

World's first general bacteriology college course was given at the University of Illinois in 1877.

FEEDING TIME

Shown above feeding her "singing birds" is Mrs. H. C. Wilkie, 1325 Ripley who has about 150 "Singing birds" and parakeets. Besides raising birds Mrs. Wilkie does some water coloring. She has many plates she has painted pictures on and many portraits she has painted. (News Photo)

"PRETTY BABY" IS MIKE COCKATEEL

By "RED" CROSS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Birds may be Mrs. H. C. Wilkie's business but with the loving tenderness with which she treats them, you know they are more like her children.

Mrs. Wilkie is a graying, motherly type of woman. Fondly handling one of her house pets, a cockateel called "Mike," who crawled up and down a miniature ladder and bent his head, so as to let you know he wanted it patted, Mrs. Wilkie recalled how she first became interested in raising birds.

"I began collecting birds in 1940 when I suffered a partial paralysis. Starting with a pair bought from a neighbor, I sold my whole collection about a year later, and bought my first pair of registered birds."

"What wonderful comfort they were during my illness," Mrs. Wilkie said. "At the time I had no idea I would raise them commercially."

Since that time she has people coming from all over the United States not only to buy, but see her collection. "Oftentimes I have to express birds to New York State, and some of my darlings make the trip to the west coast."

Housed in three large bird houses, one of which is a part of the Wilkie residence, is a growing menagerie, complete with some 100 canaries, and over 200 parakeets. The whole affair is reminiscent of the bird house in a large city zoo, emblazoned with the wide range of color for which parakeets are so well known.

"People seem to think I have quite a knack with birds. For some reason whenever someone has bought birds from me they feel no one else can take care of them. So occasionally I have quite a few of my former "children" boarding with me while their "parents" are on vacation," Mrs. Wilkie proudly said.

"Mike" by this time was seriously enjoying his acrobatics on the "high bar" and he looked like quite the hearty and adventurous little tyke. Twice the size of his brother, the parakeets, he lacks nerve when it comes to the tender emoting of his fellow housepet, "Pete," the living room parakeet. "Pete" raced toward him one morning here recently, affectionately saying, "Pretty baby, I love you," And you know what Mike did," Mrs. Wilkie beamed, "he took off in mad flight." "No doubt it was to save his bachelorhood."

Mrs. Wilkie was born in Texas a native of Eastland, but reared an Oklahoman at Mountain View. She arrived on the local scene with her husband H. C. Wilkie.

Training the parakeets need not be difficult. It is actually a matter of repitition, and records can be used," Mrs. Wilkie said. "Teach them something short at first, but what is most important is that you be playful with them. It certainly makes parakeets better pupils."

"I don't suggest you start with 'Darling, I love you'," but on second thought it is short, so why not," Mrs. Wilkie laughed.

Seven-Foot Gorilla Is Killed By Cops

ANTWERP, Belgium (UPI) — A seven-foot gorilla escaped from a zoo Saturday and panicked the city for 2½ hours before being shot dead o a housetop.

"Kobus," who has the strength of five men broke out of his cage while being fed.

He climbed a tree in the zoo and from there sprang over the wall. After shambling along a street and terrorizing early morning shoppers he clambered up the front of a house.

From there he worked his way along a row of rooftops while police and firemen cordoned off the area and evacuated the houses.

The ape became frightened apparently and started smashing roof tiles and chimney pots. Zoo officials decided he was too dangerous to try to capture alive and reluctantly ordered him shot by police who had climbed up to nearby rooftops.

Kobus toppled off the roof after taking six heavy bullets in the chest. His body smashed two window verandas on the way down before coming to rest on a third.

Says Who It's A Gal's World, Huh!

LOWELL, Mass. (UPI) — The 30-year-old secret of James E. Mitchell was out Saturday, written by a medical examiner on a death report.

When World War II ended in 1918 the troops came home and resumed their peacetime jobs. Work was hard to get, and became harder when the depression came.

But James E. Mitchell found work. Dressed in men's heavy clothing, Mitchell went to work as a truck driver. Mitchell didn't particularly like driving a truck but it was work and there was the family to think of.

Later Mitchell, tired of driving a truck, took a better paying job in a mill. Never Marrying, Mitchell continued to work, finding jobs easier to get as the years went by.

The medical examiner went to St. Joseph's hospital to make his routine check on the death of James E. Mitchell.

The report was issued Friday. It noted death was due to a heart attack and officially identified the victim as 'Mary Agnes Mitchell, known as James E. Mitchell."

Mary Agnes Mitchell was buried in men's clothing.

Middle-East Situation Puts Cloud Over Last Week's News

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Last week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Middle Eastern situation erupted last week in one of the gravest international crises since the end of World War II.

It started with a revolt in pro-western Iraq by subversive army elements friendly to president Gamal Abdel Naser of the United Arab Republic, who aspires to the mastery of the Arab world.

In a dramatic series of consequent events, the United States landed Marines in Lebanon at the request of the Lebanese government . . . Soviet Rusia demanded that the United States withdraw at once and threatened, if it did not, to "take the necessary measures" . . . United States paratroopers landed in Turkey, adjacent to Lebanon . . . British paratroopers landed in Jordan on the appeal of King Hussein, who had united his country with Iraq as the Arab federation . . . Russia announced military maneuvers, land, sea and air, adjacent to Iran and Turkey.

Revolt Was Sudden

The Iraqi revolt broke with startling suddenness on Monday. It shocked allied governments, which realized at once that it might mean disaster to their entire Middle Eastern situation.

It was known that the revolt was brief, bloody and successful. Later, day by day, the details leaked out, including the murder of 23-year-old King Feisal, his uncle Crown Prince Abdul Ilah and Premier Sami Es-Solh, one of the foremost statesmen of the Middle East.

President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon, fearing that his government might face the fate of Iraq, appealed to the United States, Great Britain and France for immediate military help.

President Eisenhower, after day-long conferences with administration and congressional leaders, called for an emergency meeting of the United Nations Security Council.

Marines To Rescue

On Tuesday, United States Marines landed, in a perfectly-executed amphibious operation from units of the 6th Fleet, on the beaches of Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

They occupied the airport and other key positions under the eyes of the friendly public and made friends with admiring children.

The U.S. Security Council met. United States Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. asked that the U.N. send a police force to Lebanon to preserve its independence, replacing the American troops.

Russian delegate Arkady A. Sobolev demanded that the U.N. order the United States forces to get out forthwith.

Soviet Response

On Wednesday, the Soviet government reacted. It delivered to United States Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., a blisteringly angry statement.

It called on the United States to withdraw from Lebanon at once.

Otherwise, the statement said, Rusia "reserves the right to take the necessary measures dictated by the interests of peace and security."

Paratroopers Next

On Thursday, the news came that United States paratroopers flown from European bases had landed at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization air base at Adana, in Southern Turkey, during the night.

A few hours later, British paratroops landed in force in Jordan.

Russia announced its military maneuvers, and Soviet troops were observed moving close to the frontier of Iran.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Lebanese Premier Sami Solh, commenting in an interview on the landing of American Marines in his country:

"Once Lebanon and Iraq have been liberated, Nasser's influence will be destroyed throughout the Arab world. The Arabs will see the light and will realize that the champion of the freeworld—the United States — is ready to defend small nations and protect their independence."

NEW YORK — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, speaking in the United Nations on the Mideast situation:

"There is in the Middle East a common purpose to take over everywhere all at once. It is masterminded from one source. . .You can read all about it in Cairo. . . We face the brutal fact of assassination by men in plain clothes rather than by men in uniforms. History will hold us responsible. Will we condone subversion in plain clothes? If we do, the U.N. will break up."

NEW YORK — British Ambassador Sir Pierson Dixon, discussing a charge by Russian Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan decided to send troops to Jordan after Parliament had adjourned:

"He suggested that the British prime minister managed to deceive the British Parliament. What an extraordinary suggestion!"

WASHINGTON — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), commenting on a copyright dispatch by Frank H. Bartholomew, president of United Press International, which reported that the Iraqi coup and many other Red-inspired plots wear a "Born in Bern" label:

"Bern is a natural haven for intelligence agents because of contacts which radiate in all directions from perennially neutral Switzerland."

WASHINGTON — Bernard Goldfine, in a statement following his final appearance before House influence investigators:

"I have nothing to hide. The hearings proved I did no wrong. Of course I did not answer questions which pried into my personal and business life. Who would?"

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Oscar Meinhardt, director of the 1958 Miss Universe pageant, praising Miss Costa Rica — Eugenia Maria Valverde — who revealed to officials she was under the contest age limit of 18. She first heard of the age rules following her arrival in the U.S.:

"She's one of the most honest girls I ever met, and a credit to her country."

Godson Of Hitler To Be Ordained

United Press International

INNSBURCK, Austria (UPI) — Martin Bormann, Jr., son of one of the top leaders of the anti-church Nazi regime, will be ordained a Roman Catholic priest here next week.

Bormann, 28, whose father was the chief of Hitler's Chancellory in Berlin, joined the "missionaries of the Sacred Heart of Jesus" in 1951. The Rev. Bruno Wechner, suffragan bishop of Feldkirch, will ordain Bormann a Catholic priest in the Jesuit church in Innsbruck on July 26.

The elder Bormann one of the closest collaborators of Adolf Hitler, has been reported missing since the defeat of Nazi Germany in 1945. He was sentenced to death in absentia by the War Crime Tribunal in Nurnberg in 1946.

Young Bormann, eldest of seven children, was a godson of Hitler. A student in an "order castle" reserved for a Nazi elite, he later found a new home with a Catholic peasent family in a remote valley in the Austrian Alps after the German defeat.

Martin joined the Catholic Church in the Maria Kirchental Place of Pilgramage in 1947. There he also met missionaries of the Sacred Heart of Jesus for the first time.

BILL BLAKLEY

LAWYER • RANCHER • BUSINESSMAN
Candidate for
UNITED STATES SENATOR

The story of Bill Blakley is the story of Texas . . . the story of how a great State rewards the initiative, the faith, and the unlimited vision of a man who is willing to work hard. Born on the plains, he was a cowhand at the age of 14. Coming home from World War I he got a job as a bank clerk . . . studied at night to become a certified public accountant . . . and then trained himself for law. Today he is one of the nation's most successful businessmen . . . a farmer and rancher of the first rank . . . and a distinguished lawyer whose pioneer spirit of independence finds close kinship in the spirit of the State and the people he now seeks to serve.

BILL BLAKLEY BELIEVES THAT:

"The right to work — and the right to educate your children — without restraint, regulation or interference — from government, or private associations and organizations — must be re-established, protected and maintained — if this Nation is to continue to be the land of the free."

"The time has come when the people must regain control of the functions of government."

"Neither labor — nor capital — nor any private association or organization — should dictate the destiny of the American people."

"Bill Blakley has made an outstanding success of his own business affairs, and is the man in whom we can have the greatest confidence during these world-wide crucial times. This is no year for political ballyhoo."

TRC Raises Oil Producing Days To 11

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission has boosted the state's oil allowable for August 327,338 barrels per day, raising permissive production to 2,977,211 barrels daily.

The commission raised the number of producing days for August to 11, an increase of two days over the current level, in the face of optimistic estimates by oilmen of current inventories and demand.

Action came at a state-wide oil proration hearing, marking the second straight upturn, after Texas dipped to the all-time low of eight producing days, smallest in the state's history.

Both the state-wide and East Texas level were placed at 11 days.

Special field allowables included Headlee Devonian and Dora Roberts Devonian, six days each; Howard Glasscock, 20 days, and Dye Mound South Bend Conglomerate, 10 days.

Most major oilmen appearing at the hour-long hearing expressed belief the August allowable should be increased to either 10 or 11 days. R. E. Carraway, speaking for Standard Oil Co. of Texas, requested the highest figure of 13 days, along with F. G. Swanson of Tyler, representing the East Texas Oil and Gas Assn.

Fire Insurance Is Difficulty

(Special to The News)

PERRYTON — The Ochiltree County Commissioners have indicated that they will purchase the American Legion Hall in Perryton provided certain difficulties can be overcome.

Harold Hudson, trustee of the Legion, presented the proposal at the regular meeting of the commissioners this week, stating that the Legion would sell the building for $500 to the county, provided the building was moved and the lot cleared. The building, which was the first Ochiltree County Courthouse, was purchased by the Legion post when the new courthouse was built in 1928.

The chief difficulty that arose is the problem of moving the building. Under fire insurance regulations, this frame building cannot zone without all other buildings suffering from a penalty in fire insurance. The commissioners had indicated they would move the building to a site near the courthouse.

County Judge H. R. Slaughter asked if the Legion post would sell the lots, and brought up the possibility of trading lots with the Legion Post.

County Attorney Jack M. Allen was instructed to contact the State Fire Insurance Commission to see if the building could be moved without penalty.

Also present at the meeting were five members of the Perryton Library Board — A. P. Spicer, Mrs. W. B. LaMaster, Mrs. F. B. Sumpter, Mrs. Jack Allen and F. B. Sumpter. These board members told the commissioners that more space should be provided at once for the library and they inquired into County plans for putting the library in the Legion building if the purchase were made. This question was left unanswered because the purchase is still uncertain.

Sub Station Will Rise In Oil Fields

PERRYTON — Construction will begin in late September on a 1500 KVA sub-station for the North Plains Electric Cooperative, two miles east and two miles south of Waka in the center of the Waka and Farnsworth oil fields.

Cummins Supply of Amarillo was the successful bidder on the construction when bids were opened for the station including the structure, transformers, regulators and oil circuit breakers.

The sub-station will replace a temporary 450 KVA station two miles north of the new site that was originally built to carry some of the irrigation pumping load.

To be built of steel, the new structure will be equipped with coltage regulators to maintain an even voltage under all loads. New automatic oil circuit reclosers will be installed on all circuits leading from the station and a new switch will be cut into the 69000 volt transmission line at this point to improve service during ice storms or tornados.

RAYMOND FIELDS PULLS A LONG BOW

By WALLACE TRUESDELL
Pampa News Staff Writer

Too many hunters "confuse the word 'hunt' with 'kill'," Says Raymond Fields. And that is why Fields hunts with a bow. But at the end of the hunt, an arrow is just as lethal as a bullet. In the past five years, Fields has built some 200 bows.

Fields, who lives at 701 N. Dwight, does not have a gun in the house. He became acquainted with the bow 7 years ago when he read a magazine article about a woman who had killed a deer with an arrow. His immediate thought was "how sporting that would be." Fields looked around until he found a man in Kellerville, Joe Bruten, who knew the bow. Then he sold all his guns.

"I got more game with a bow than I ever did with a gun," he says, "because I have hunted more with a bow."

From his experience with bows, Fields can say that the modern, curved bow is not as efficient a hunting weapon as the straight, long bow. On the other hand, the curved bow is a must for match shooting.

Fields is a member of the Top o' Texas Bowmen, a group that goes in for everything. One of their pastimes is archery golf. "You approach the green and shoot the ball," says Fields. The ball rests on a stake 10 inches above the ground.

According to Fields, Pampa has from 30 to 40 archers. He would be glad to cue anyone on the way of archery. "If equipment is not matched, the very best archer cannot do any good," he observes. "The arrow must be matched to the bow. All arrows must be identical."

Many individuals become disgusted with archery, Fields' believes, because they pick up their equipment helter skelter. Then they feel that archery is something they can never become proficient at.

Not so when a heavy drinker took up the bow. "He became so taken with archery," says Fields, "that he gave up drinking."

Fields builds his bows from rock maple and fiberglas. Using a form, he glues the fiberglas back and face to the maple core. There are two laminations of wood and two of fiberlas. Gields says they must match within 3000th of an inch.

He finds that Port Arthur Cedar makes the best shafts. But Fields doesn't have to make very many. "I don't see any sense in a man losing a bunch of arrows," he says.

But hunting is Fields' true love. "Lots of people like to think an Indian could kill a deer running at a hundred yards." he says. "That's not the way they did it. They slipped up on them."

And that is where the fun comes in. As far as Fields is concerned all the sport is in the stalking. When he goes bird hunting, he takes a dog along. But he doesn't see much sport in having a dog tree an animal so that he can walk up and blast it.

The bow's greatest limitation is its' greatest asset. "No man can say how accurate he is with a bow over a distance of 60 yards. A bow should not be shot over 60 yards," he emphasizes. It is that difficult to take pot shots with a bow. Fields gets almost lyrical when he speaks of outsmarting animals and getting them in their own territory.

Ex-Convict Admits To Gunning Boss

BIG SPRING, Tex. (UPI)— Ralph L. Gilbert, 21, an ex-convict from San Angelo, has been charged with murdering the wealthy 85-year-old rancher for whom he worked.

Howard County Sheriff Miller Harris said Gilbert admitted blowing Clayton Stewart's face away with a high-powered rifle Thursday and then dumping the body in Stewart's car. It wasn't found until Friday.

Gilbert signed a statement admitting he murdered Stewart, whose large ranch accommodates a number of cattle and several oil wells. He said he was going to sell as many of the rancher's cattle as he could.

Deputies said Gilbert had been out of prison for only a "few weeks."

He was arrested in San Angelo with Stewart's billfold in his pocket.

John Perkins, a 40-year-old Negro an dthe other only employee of Stewart, said Gilbert came to him Friday and told him their boss had said to sell some cattle. They sold four and Gilbert went back to the ranch for more.

Perkins became suspicious and called authorities, who found Stewart's body slumped in his car and wrapped in blankets in a clump of cedars near his ranch house.

Pick Proof Lock!

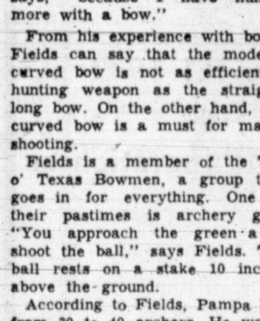

CHICAGO (UPI)—Burglars had best brace themselves — a "pick-proof lock" may be unveiled at the Associated Locksmiths of America meeting which began here Saturday.

Air Force Sgt. Howard Spiegler, Fairborn, Ohio, has notified the organization he will bring the device to the two-day convention.

Another device to be shown is labeled an "anti-pick lock" because in an attempt to pick it a pin is dropped which jams the mechanism. Its inventor, Salvator Schillizy of New York, said the device will not only frustrate the tamperer but give evidence of an attempt to open it.

Don't Cover Fem Curves Says Designer

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Let's have American-designed clothes for the American woman and a laissez-faire policy toward my Frenchman who conceals curves, says designer Oleg Cassini.

Cassini takes several digs at Parisian designers and those in the United States who copy any of their "ridiculous" fashions. He is opposed to any design which obliterates "feminine allure by camouflaging it under the guise of a balloon," a reference to one popular silhouette from abroad.

"Anything that takes away from the contours of the body must be condemned as a short-lived fad," said the designer in a recorded talk for use with the opening of his fall collection. Cassini is one of 30 designer members of the Couture Group of the New York Dress Institute previewing new fashions for visiting reporters this week.

"I feel there is as much talent here as abroad," said Casini, whose own special knack is in clothes with both elegance and earthy appeal.

"Very few French designers can design for their own trade so they are trying to impress the American market," he added.

"What I didn't like about the French designs was: The body of the woman was not in evidence, and styles were inspired by time past ... like copying the design of an old car when a new car is being created ..."

Many of Cassini's daytime dresses follow the general trend to a high waistline, and gently mould the body to the hem. He introduced the "angelique" silhouette in daytime costumes — a jacket flared like a cutaway, topping a simple dress. The designer likes opulence of fabric for evening—turquoise lace over jewelled satin, for instance. Or black chiffon over a flower-patterned black and white organza, and black chantilly lace over nude crepe.

Ike Wants Immediate Action On Statehood For Hawaii

By GEORGE J. MARDER
United Press Internatpional

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Refusal of the Democratic-controlled Congress to confer statehood on Hawaii this session is bringing on a island territory and in this coun- political tug-of-war both in the island territory and in this country.

Congressional Democratic leaders have plainly indicated that Hawaiian statehood won't come up for action this year despite prodding by President Eisenhower.

The President pointedly declared that Hawaii should be brought into the Union, particularly since Alaska won long-coveted statehood last month. Otherwise it would be "rank discrimination," he said.

Congressional observers frankly admit they can't pinpoint the reason why Hawaii has been given the brush-off. They recall that statehood bills for both Alaska and linked in the past. Ten years ago, Hawaii have always been closely linked in the past. Ten years ago, Hawaiian statehood won House approval but Alaska never got out of committee in either the house or Senate.

Politics has always been a backstage factor in the statehood situation and it's still behind the scenes in the Hawaiian stalemate.

Assign Political Motive

Washington observers assigned a political motive to the Hawaiian statehood ballyhood drive that arose in the wake of the Alaskan victory.

They said it was a quickie operation cooked up by the administration with the Interior Department spearheading it.

Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii, appointed by President Eisenhower, naturally is a Republican, but the territorial legislature is now Democratic, and so is Hawaii's non-voting delegate to Congress, John A. Burns.

Forty years of Republican domination in Hawaii was broken in 1954 with election of a Democratic-controlled Legislature. The territory will vote this fall, with the full House and one-half of its Senate on the political firing line.

With those political blue-chips at stake, it was natural Republican strategy to try to put the blame on Democrats for failure to get Hawaii admitted to statehood with Alaska.

Their hopes given new life by the congressional and president's aproval of Alaska as the 49th state, a Hawaii statehood "task force" is in Washington hoping to persuade a reluctant Congress to stitch a 50th star on the flag before the year is out. The group is headed by Hawaiian Governor William Quinn, left, and Statehood Commission Chairman Lorrin P. Thurston, right. House and Senate leaders, however, have indicated that statehood for Hawaii is unlikely to be passed this session.

The administration brought to Washington Gov. Quinn and two Republican associates to start the 11th hour new drive for statehood.

They'll go home without action but with political ammunition to use in the territory's elections. On the national scale, the statehood issue has political overtones.

Southerners Fought Alaska

Southerners fought Alaska statehood and will fight Hawaii's admission because they fear the four additional senators which would result would ally themselves with Northern and Western liberals. This would weaken the balance-of-power influence Southers exert in the Senate.

The issue of Communism also comes to life when the Hawaiian question comes up.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), held hearings in Hawaii and piled up volumes of testimony allegedly showing that Harry Bridges' International Longshoreman Workers' Union and affiliates have a stranglehold on the territory's political and economic life.

Hawaii spokesmen, from Governor Quinn down, have labelled the charges nonsense. Nevertheless, fear of having Hawaii statehood debate run smack into the Eastland reports is believed part of the explanation why no action will come this year.

A House committee is expected to go to Hawaii before the next congressional session to accumulate information countering the Eastland report charges.

Another reason for the Hawaiian delay is that Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, refused to allow the debates on measures he isn't rea- Senate to waste time in long debates on measures he isn't reasonably certain will become law. He insists the House act first on Hawaii.

FORT DODGE, Iowa (UPI) — Jack Rule of Waterloo won the Iowa amateur golf tournament here Saturday with a 1-up "sudden death" victory over Bud McCardell of Newton on the 38th hole. McCardell just missed tying the hole when his putt rimmed the cup.

Canada Knocks Way Ike Protected

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secret Service agents will continue their customary tight precautions in guarding President Eisenhower when he is in other countries despite foreign criticism and resentment. The most recent such foreign reaction to activities of the White House Secret Service detail was expressed by some Canadian newspapers and officials during the President's good will trip to Ottawa last week.

The Canadian criticism brought one minor concession from the White House. James J. Rowley, head of the White House SS detail, left off his holstered pistol when he accompanied the President to the House of Commons chamber for the chief executive's speech before the Canadian Parliament. But otherwise, the agents were armed and followed the same dures they do when the President elaborate precautionary procedures they do when the President is visiting in a U.S. city.

And they will continue to do so on any other foreign trips the President makes, White House sources said. These sources said the Secret Service couldn't do otherwise because it had been made responsible by Congress for the President's safety. The efficiency of the SS procedures have been proved by the fact that no assassination attempt against a president has been successful since the Secret Service was given the job of protecting him at the turn of the century, they said.

Much of the Canadian criticism was founded on rumors, the White House sources said. For example, they noted some Canadian newspapers had carried a report that the White House had been denied a request to put a telephone in the dining room of the Canadian governor-general's official residence with an armed SS agent staying by it. The White House sources said the request had been for two telephones — one downstairs (but not in the dining rom) and one in the President's living quarters at the residence. The governor-genral's answer was "of course."

Girl Scouts Go Along On Scout Trip

(Special to The News)

SKELLYTOWN — Boy Scout Troop 9 returned Sunday from a field trip to Colorado. They were gone eight days, camping at the Felton Watkins' ranch on Squaw Point, 17 miles from Dove Creek, Colo. On the trip in and out, they wre guests in the Scout Hut, Framington, N.M. Scoutmaster Fred Wall assisted by Haywood McBee.

Some of the activities were a visit to Mesa Verde National Park House and Balcony House. On Wednesday, they observed a forest fire, from a safe distance.

The group dug in the ruins of Indian cliff houses on the ranch, some of the interesting articles they dug up were a yucca rope, covered with turkey feathers, a handful of shelled corn, a reed snare, a stone ax and two moccasins, each one made in a different style. They took the things they found to the museum in Mesa Verde and had them identified as being used from 1500 to 1700.

Scouts making the trip were Larry Carter, James Head, Roy Armstrong, Kenneth McBee, David Herd, Dennis West, Larry Marlar and Explorer Scouts Joe Downs and Billie Cook.

Mrs. Fred Wall and Mrs. Bennie Duncan took two Girl Scouts, Shirley Keach and Ann Duncan, who are qualifying for the Girl Scout round up in Denver next summer. Thier camp was situated one-half mile from the Boy Scout camp. Mrs. McBee, Don McBee and Freddy Wall, went along on the trip and visited Mrs. McBee's sister, Mrs. Felton Watkins, at the ranch.

Asia May Be Bitter Over US Landings

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
UPI Foreign Analyst

The middle eastern crisis seems sure to start a serious wave of "anti-imperialist" feeling in the newly freed countries of Asia and Africa.

The "neutralist" India and Indonesia, in Tunisia and Morocco, and in many other countries denunciation of the American troop landings in Lebanon is likely to be bitter.

Correspondingly, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic is likely to be hailed as a hero who is a leader in the great surge of nationalism in one-time colonial countries.

Soviet Russia, which is loud in support of nationalist movements —except, of course, in the Soviet Union—is likely to profit considerably.

Nationalist Spirit Spreads

And ironically, the United States, which for years has supported the nationalist movement even against its own allies, will be the chief target for criticism.

President Eisenhower acted in an emergency at the specific and urgent request of the government of Lebanon, the most loyally pro-Western of the Arab countries. But this fact is most likely to be taken into account by critics.

This spirit has swept Asia and Africa and is spreading to British and Netheerlands possessions in the western hemisphere.

Nationalism was strong in a few of the countries before World War II—in Korea, then a possession of Japan, and in India, for example.

Nasser Emerges

It was nationalist spirit that started the rebellions in Indochina and Indonesia and Algeria.

Nationalist spirit compelled France to give up Syria and Lebanon. Nationalist spirit led to the overthrow of King Farouk of Egypt and to the emergence of Nasser as the biggest Arab leader.

It is nationalism that has caused the formation of the so-called Asian-African bloc of countries in which "neutralism" and "anti-imperialism" are so often mentioned.

It is interesting to note that while Russia loses no opportunity to promote nationalist spirit all over he world, it is the world's leading anti-nationalist country within its own confines.

POLAND OUSTS ISRAELITE

Bill Blakley's Views

Bill Blakley, the non-Walter Reuther candidate for the U. S. Senate, visited Pampa a couple of weeks ago and warned us of the threats to our liberty which the federal government poses. Since his visit was brief and his remarks were necessarily of a condensed nature, we would like to offer a few quotations from some of Blakley's formal addresses which we think pretty well sum up his political philosophy. Read these over and see how they square with your view of the points he discusses.

Says Blakley:

"It is the essence of power under the totalitarian state that the people must be made dependent upon the central government for the most simple and compassionate needs . . .

"Our constitution does not specify that the rights of minorities shall be protected on the basis of groups or affiliations of any kind. Such protections that are provided apply to the individual. Thus, when the individual elects to worship as he pleases or exercise any of his inalienable rights, he is protected as an individual, not as a member of a group. The individual is supreme to the group, and that is both the strength of the individual and the strength of the nation. Whenever and wherever groups become more important than individuals, it is inevitable that right and just are determined not by eternal standards, but by the concentration of power in the hands of the few over the freedoms of the many. Thus, equity is controlled by the counting of heads . . .

"Individual responsibility, which is the source of our strength as a nation and as a people, is reduced in the exact ratio to which centralization of authority is increased. This is a rule of life which cannot be changed. It was never intended that man should transfer his decency to a government. Rather, it was intended that government should make it possible for men and women to be decent with each other . . .

"The underlying objective of government is the protection and preservation of the rights and freedoms of its citizens in a society of free men such as we have, it was never conceived to be the purpose of government to support the people, but rather that the people should support the government . . .

"We must choose between the individual or the state, a free society or regimentation . . .

"I do not believe that we can buy the respect of other countries any more than you can buy the respect of your next door neighbor. He is going to respect you because of what you are, how you live and what you believe. It is the same with people around the world. I do not believe we can continue much longer on the course we are now traveling, here or abroad.

"I think we are going to have to get back to the original concepts of government as they were established by the founders of this nation when they wrote the Constitution of the United States. Their purpose was to organize a society of free men, to provide an arrangement whereby the rights of individuals would be respected, maintained and protected.

"This they did and, for the first time in the recorded history of mankind, a system was devised in which men could live in freedom, in dignity and in decency with each other as well as with other nations."

So states Brother Blakley.

It seems to us that there is a clear choice in this race: Blakley or Walter Reuther.

It shouldn't task most Texans unduly to decide which of those two they prefer!

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Church Federation Of Los Angeles On Employer-Employe Relations

Some reader left me a copy of a pamphlet concerning employer-employe relations issued by the Church Federation of Los Angeles, 3330 West Adams Blvd., Los Angeles, California. I was very much interested in reading what they had to say.

Some people condemn church preachers from discussing economic and political questions. It seems to me that to bar discussions on economic and political questions by preachers and church members would be shortsighted since all political and economic questions in the final analysis reduce themselves to a question of justice and injustice, right and wrong, ethics and morals.

The question, however, is whether it is wise for the officers of the church or the preachers of a community to attempt to speak for their congregation or their community on subjects on which they have had no actual experience. Especially is this ture when they do not know enough about the subject to be able to answer questions about without contradicting themselves. Undoubtedly preachers have had no actual experience in creating material wealth, and it seems a little presumptious for them to preach from the pulpit or even issue pamphlets on subjects on which they have had no practical experience.

One of the things that impressed me in reading this pamphlet was that they never once mentioned the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence as a guide or a yardstick or a standard by which to determine right from wrong, justice from injustice, goodwill from ill will. Instead of using these eternal moral laws, they quoted at length from the Executive Board of the Division of Christian Life and Work, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. which deals with the subject.

And these executives at the head of these organizations are certainly making it very difficult for the ministers who use the Commandments and the Golden Rule and the "Love thy neighbor as thyself" Commandment as a guide to determine right from wrong to defend the position taken by these national church leaders.

The actual preachers have a very difficult time explaining the various members of their church what is right and wrong when they are obliged to use the pronouncements of the officials of the group organizations in place of the ethics and the love of man for each other and his God.

Now I want to quote and comment on some of the statements made in this folder, as quoted from the National Council of Churches of Christ in America:

"...The right of individuals to have a maximum freedom of choice in selection of types and conditions of work is basic but not absolute..."

It would seem that that means that there are no absolute principles of human relations; that you can covet your neighbor's property, your neighbor's life, and disobey the Decalogue and the Golden Rule because these great, eternal, moral laws are not absolute. And evidently the originators of the above statement do not believe there are any absolutes because they never mention them. Evidently they believe the "finest minds" are now establishing a new code of human relations to take the place of the Decalogue and the Golden Rule.

Then article continues:

... It must be noted that other freedoms are also involved in connection with this problem. Not only do we evidence Christian concern for those who do not wish to join a union, but also for those who do wish to join and maintain a union. And we are concerned for the freedom of the union or of the employer who may wish to sign a union security contract."

They never tell what the aims of the union are. They undoubtedly do not even know that the aim of every labor union is a complete monopoly over the lives of all workers. All labor unions aim to take away from an individual his right to plan his own life, to be owner of himself and no one else.

Would these advocates of the closed shop contend that the employer had a moral right, and should have a legal right, to join together to keep other men from competing with them and underselling them on what they were producing?

The Sherman Anti-Trust Law, of course, is a man-made law, but even this civil law recognizes that it is immoral and against public interest for any group of men to interfere with another man's inalienable right to life liberty and the persuit of happiness. And certainly the Coveting Commandment and the Stealing Commandment and the Golden Rule also make it immoral, unjust and unethical for any group, whether it be employers or workers, to combine with the idea of taking from another his inalienable rights.

Taking The Fifth—

Robert Allen Reports:

HAC Forcefully Puts Self Into Rocket Field

WASHINGTON — The potent House Appropriations Committee is forcefully injecting itself into the confusingly controversial and immensely expensive field of missiles, rockets and satellites.

The Committee has decided to take a close and critical look at these pushbutton weapons on which the three armed services are spending billions of dollars.

Particularly under scrutiny are — the rival Army and Air Force intermediate range ballistic missiles, the JUPITER and THOR; and the Navy's tempeamental VANGUARD, whose last two attempts to orbit 20 inch satellites were distressing misfires.

Preparations are underway for another launching in a few days.

To conduct its significant inquiry, the Appropriations Committee has set up a special panel of leading scientists and engineers. Headed by Dr. William A. Wildhack, noted physicist of the National Bureau of Standards, this blueribbon group includes:

Dr. C. C. Furnas, head of Buffalo University and former Assistant Defense Secretary in charge of Research and Development; K. T. Keller, former auto executive and one-time Pentagon director of guided missiles; General Leslie Simon, former chief of Army Ordance; Dr. Harry Goode, Michigan University; Dr. R. D. Huntoon, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Julian West, Bell Laboratories.

The two initiators of this potentially far-reaching study are Representatives Clarence Cannon (D., Mo.), chairman of the full Committee, and George Mahon (D., Tec.), head of the Subcommittee on the $40 billion military budget.

At their demand, Defense Secretary Neil McElroy has made a suite of Pentagon offices available to Dr. Wildhack and his associates, and directed that they have full access to all officials and others connected with the missile, rocket and satellite programs.

The scientists and engineers will submit their findings to the Committe by December, shortly before President Eisenhower sends his nect budget to the new Congress that convenes in January.

WHAT THEY'RE AFTER—Overall purpose of this backstage probe is to assist the House's purse-ruling Committee to determine policy regarding further huge spending for missiles and satellites.

For that primary objective, Dr. Wildhack's group has been asked to report specifically on the following:

What's wrong with the disappointing VANGUARD, and should this satellite project be continued or abandoned?

Which IRBM is more reliable and effective, the Army's JUPITER or the Air Force's Thor; and should one or both be continued or dropped?

Which of the 40-odd other Army Navy and Air Force missiles and rockets should be continued, speeded up, or eliminated?

The Navy still has on hand an even dozen VANGUARD missiles, plus six of the 20 inch, 21 pound instrumented satellites. The Najvy wants to continue this project of the International Geophysical Year, which ends December 31.

But both Pentagon and Committee authorities have doubts about that, and one of the first functions of the blue-ribbon panel is to study this matter.

Its next most important job is the long-standing JUPITER-THOR rivalry.

Representatives Cannon and Mahon have been informed that Secretary McElroy favors the THOR. According to inside word the two Committee leaders have received, McElroy has allotted only enough funds to complete 60 JUPITERs.

No limitation has been put on production of the THOR.

Army authorities view this private decision with gravest concern. They believe it portends the end of the JUPITER, despite the fact this missile orbited the first U.S. satellite into space and has had more successful tests than the THOR.

The House Committee wants to get at the bottom of McElroy's unannounced action; what's behind it, and whether it's sound.

WHO'S GETTING WHAT—Next witness in that little-noticed investigation of huge profits in the sale of government-owned farm head of the International Cooperation Administration, which administers the multi-billion dollar foreign aid program.

Representative L. H. Fountain (D., N.C.), chairman of the House Government Operations Subcommittee conducting this dynamite-loaded probe, has summoned Smith for extensive quizzing on the operations of a small group of individuals and firms who have made millions buying farm surpluses from the Commodity Credit Corporation and selling them at a higher price to the ICA.

In some instances, Fountain has ascertained, profits as high as 50 percent have been made in these backstage transactions.

Smith is to be questioned as to why ICA is permitting such deals. Also their extent. On the basis of preliminary information, Fountain estimates that $1 billion is involved in these CCC-ICA transactions.

PRICES AND EMPLOYMENT
(Economic Intelligence)

". . . It is not the duty of government to make the maintenance of employment the be-all and end-all of policy, regardless of what happens to the value of money. It is their duty rather to maintain conditions which will make a high level of employment compatible with a stable value of money. They should not say we guarantee employment whatever demands are made in respect of wage-rates; they should say rather we will try to maintain such a volume of expenditures as, given an income level rising with productivity, will maintain a high level of employment. If they do this, then, in a free society at any rate, it is for trade unionists and all the rest of us to decide how we react as regards the prices we put on our own particular products." Lionel Robbins in Lloyds Review, April 1958.

(There is still such a thing as elasticity of demand.)

CONFISCATION
(California Commentator)

While most of us are not inclined to shed tears for the poor millionaires who must pay Uncle Sam most of their income, the fact remains that taxation often becomes virtual confiscation. Here's a case in point: Mrs. Antionette D. Lapham, mother of San Francisco's former mayor, left an estate of nearly $40 million when she passed on in 1956. Recently the state and federal tax men finished figuring out how much was due them. What would your guess be—that they took one-third of the estate, or one-half? No, they took nearly three-fourths, or more than $28 million. Of course, the heirs won't have to ask their friends for aid to avoid starvation. But the problem of raising $28 million in cash to satisfy tax claims could be nearly disastrous. It's one thing for property to be appraised at a certain figure but it's quite another to get that amount of cash for it. Uncle Sam not only takes most of our money while we live but grabs what's left when we die.

Even If It's Only A Closet; Claim It!

By HENRY McLEMORE

If I were asked to give one piece of advice to a young man about to be married, this would be it: claim one part of your home for your very own, in which you can do as you please, store what you like, and to which you can forbid entrance if you wish.

A man's home is his wife's castle, to be sure, but he should have a part of it, and not to is to display a regrettable lack of spirit. Wives will challenge this off-limits area, but a strong man will go right ahead and ignore this opposition.

I did. In our house there is one spot where Mary dare not intrude. She did her best to keep it open to the public, but I would not yield. This secret place is the small, upper left-hand drawer of my bureau. It was all I could salvage from the whole house.

This castle - within - a - castle isn't any larger than a shoe box, but it preys on Mary's mind more than the rest of the house put together. It drives her crazy, and has ever since I started stuffing things in it.

She never sees me opening it without saying, "What is it you have in there that we can't share?" or, "That mysterious drawer of yours is a funny way to run a partnership."

She wouldn't have believed me had I told her that I didn't know what was in there myself, which was the truth. When it became so packed that its stuffing was spilling over, I decided to have a grand opening.

I asked Mary to attend. She couldn't have been more excited. I amazed her further by saying she could open it herself and do her own rooting around.

Never was a wife more letdown.

The first "secret" document she pulled out was a page from the April 9, 1958 issue of the Christian Science Monitor, and the only possible item of interest for us in July was a recipe for German potato pancakes.

Next came a can of brown shoe polish and dauber, and after that a key for Room 972 in some hotel in Buffalo, three nail files, three-month-old letters from Loehr Rigby an ad for telephones in pastel shades, a reminder to thank Mrs. M. B. Novak for some green stamps she sent me, a worn dog collar, a Spanish - English vest-pocket dictionary, a pair of dice, a dozen or more matchbook covers with illegible messages scrawled on them, two inkless ballpoint pens, and a plastic spoon and plate.

"I didn't happen to marry one of the Collier brothers, did I?" Mary asked.

But she couldn't believe there wasn't something in the drawer I didn't want her to see, so she kept digging.

This time her excavations brought forth a small American flag, a can of black shoe polish, caked as hard as a rock, two stubs of tickets for a long ago Italian lottery, the key to the music box for which we have been seraching for months, an article (why?) on trout fly tying, a 1956 pro football schedule, portions of a limp Saltine cracker, the menu from Oskar Davidson's in Copenhagen, a Greyhound bus schedule, an empty bottle of cough syrup, an invitation to the opening of the Hilton Hotel in Montreal, and three red and melted vitamin capsules.

When Mary reached the bottom all she had to say was, "I can understand now why you didn't want anyone to look in the drawer. It's safe from now on."

DO YOUNGSTERS WANT TO SERVE?

Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, recently declared, according to the Associated Press, that today's youngsters "no longer have any desire to be of service to people." I wonder.

An associate of mine lives next door to a 19-year-old boy who, after having served a year in the Naval Reserve, enlisted in the Navy about six months ago. Home on leave after having taken part in this year's Eniwetok nuclear bomb tests, he was saying the other day how disappointed he was to find, in San Diego, Hawaii, and elsewhere, that civilians look down on sailors rather than look up to them. He conceded that the language and conduct of some sailors tend to justify this attitude.

But this boy had joined the the Navy with the idea that he would thus be serving his country and he was intensely proud to wear the uniform. Now he is not sure whether it is an honor or a stigma.

And there must be thousands of other American boys who have had much the same experience in one or another branch of the armed services.

Judging from those I know, I believe that many of today's youngsters — probably most of them — do have a strong desire to be of service and to make their lives count for something. No doubt, some of the more thoughtful of these, after being in the armed services a while, begin to wonder whether or not they were mistaken when they so proudly donned their uniforms which they considered to be ample proof that they were honorable and upright servants of their country.

Who is to blame for this situation? Certainly not these embarrassed young men.

A small scamp, freshly bedecked in white T-shirt and faded bluejeans, and standing about knee-high to a fungo bat, swaggered up one recent afternoon, poked a tiny finger into our ribs and without timidity in his squeeky voice, piped, "Hey mister, how come you're a sportswriter, huh, how come?

Sit you down lad, we said, offering the bright-eyed youngster our sway-backed chair, and clearing off a spot on the desk to sit.

Resting our chin on a doubled fist, like we were posing for that statue, The Thinker, we asked our youthful prober, if he was pointing towards covering sports for his livelihood.

He was a shrewd one, for his age. "First you tell me what it's like, and why you're in the racket, then maybe I'll answer your question.

Well boy, that's fair enuff I suppose, we allowed, taking our best soap-box stand.

A Sportswriter Is . . .

We'll start by telling you what a sportswriter is and then the things he wants out of life. The boy nodded, not saying a word.

Well son, we began, A sportswriter is cussedness with a typewriter, and curiosity with tie askew, when he wears one . . . He's what English teachers delight in picking to pieces. . . The nice man next door when he takes Johnny to a ball game . . .A guy who gets Christmas cards from people who have sons in college . . . A man whose work of today, is accused of being garbage, which it will hold tomorrow . . . Brotherhood with a bottle.

A Sportswriter Is:

Grouchiness, coffee, deadlines and overset . . . An expert until proved otherwise, which he most always is . . . A wrong-nag Charlie at the race - track . . . a stupid someone who doesn't know that Corneliuse Califlower KO'd Pete Pug at 0:53 of the seventh in a consolation match of the 1903 Golden Gloves . . . A fellow who has a wife and three kids and a mother, and at least you can't hate him for that . . . Pestilence in a locker room.

A Sportswriter Is:

A man whose bread is space and water is the ingenuity to fill it . . . What schoolboys dig, and others would like to dig a place for . . . A soft touch for a soft story . . . Someone the Western Union girls say hello to only on Saturday . . . That section of humanity for which press boxes were erected . . . Delightful disorganization . . . Sometimes tension and sometimes torture and sometimes told to get out . . . A man with no enemies when the biggest game of the year comes around . . . Someone who can hurt you but doesn't want to . . . And someone whose school tax is just as high as yours!

And He Affects . . .

Any of this getting over to you boy?

"You ain't told me yet what a sportswriter wants out of life," our visitor exclaimed, looking a hole through us with his deep blue-eyes.

Son, he affects sports shirts, sports jackets, sports overcoats and sports shoes . . . He would like to affect a sports car but he can only afford the sports cap.

He usually has had little sports experience on the playing field . . . In high school and college, he was the official scorer, the water boy, the equipment man, the team manager . . . When anyone asks him if he played football while in college, he says: "I was too light."

He's a frustrated foreign correspondent (who is a frustrated sportswriter) . . . if he marries and he usually does to pick up a reader — his wife generally knows nothing about sports and couldn't care less . . . If he has any kids, they must be in the mold of champions he has admired.

He's proud of his profession and points to the giants in his business . . . The reason that he admires all the "late" sportswriters is that he will never admit anyone alive is better than he is.

He is quick to defend and slow to offend . . . He can count on the fingers of one hand the number of athletes who have ever thanked him for a story, but if he had a dime for every guy who threatened him when he wrote a critical story, he'd be too rich to write sports.

He lives in a beautiful world where it's always game time and yesterday's tragedies fade like the ripples on a lake . . . He's the eternal juvenile who would not trade places with a king.

OK, So Twist Yer Pipes!

So that about sums it up, boy. Whatta ya say, sound like a good life?

"But you still ain't told me why YOU are writing sports," my polite little friend whined as he began to squirm with boyish impatience.

Well son, we whispered, covering our mouth with our hand to keep anybody from reading our lips it's that little hollow space that develops down in the stomach about three or four times a day.

But it's really a good life, don't ya think. Huh!

Hard-Hitting Rebels Put .376 Average On Line Today, 2:30

If Stinnett's Rattlers, who invade Harvester Park for a 2:30 p.m. tilt here today, caught an inside glimpse of Pampa's American Legion Rebels season record book, chances are they'd quietly slip off their spiked shoes, turn on heel, and beat it for home.

For looking at the Rebels' batting statistics is like looking at the license plates of the last guy standing in line on the last day the tags are sold.

As a team, Pampa has an astronomical .376 mark — thanks to no less than a dozen players topping the .300 level.

Stinnett already knows the prolificness of Rebel bats. Pampa ran the Rattlers through a four-and-a-half frame 19-1 slaughterhouse back on July 9. The game was halted when pinch-runner Buddy Rawls was trapped off second and knocked down in a run-down, fracturing his right collar-bone in two places.

It may have been a blessing in disguise, Rawl's injury that is. The game had already gotten out of hand with four Rebels nicked with pitched balls, and first-sacker Larry Stroud spiked on the right heel at first base. And too the Stinnett law enforcers had to break up a fist-fight between two irate fans, behind the Rattler dugout.

Southpaw Kippy Williams fired a no-hitter at the Rattlers in the abbreviated tilt and Coach Deck Woldt is expected to send his veteran lefty to the hill again today in an attempt to tame the Stinnett crew a second time.

The 2:30 clash might well be Pampa's last home appearance this season.

They have a Tuesday night tilt tentatively booked at Amarillo Air Base against the Amjets and also have a Wednesday night tilt set in Borger, where they opened their season with a 13-6 triumph.

The Rebels own a 4-1 mark for the season and hope to play 3-5 games this week.

Woldt has hopes of playing district champion Hansen Post of Amarillo next Sunday afternoon and if that cannot be arranged he may take his outfit to Mangum, Okla., for a Saturday night game and Sunday double-header to close out the year.

Leftfielder Bobby Stephens currently paces Rebel hitting with a lusty .556 average. However, not far behind are clean-up hitting rightfielder, DeWayne Glover and outfielder-catcher, Terry Haralson, with identical .529 marks. Both have rapped out nine hits in 17 official at-bats.

Larry Stroud, power hitter of the club with seven of his nine hits going for extra-bases, four homers and a dozen RBI's included, is sixth with a .409 clip and Gary Wills and Harry Price are seventh with .375 averages.

Williams with a 2-0 pitching record and 12 strikeouts in eight and two-thirds innings of work is tops among the mound staff while Taylor has a 1-0 mark and Keith Yager is 1-1 with 20 whiffs in 11 and one-third frames on the hill.

Rawls worked six stanzas in relief before his injury without figuring in a decision.

Of the 20 players listed on the Rebel roster, 19 will return to form the nucleus of the 1959 Pampa High baseball crew. Only Price, a Lefors High student, won't be available for Woldt when he starts whipping together his Harvester diamond delegation next spring.

Yogi Not Only Guy Yakking At Hitters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Yogi Berra isn't the only catcher who talks a batter to death.

Burly Hank Foiles of the Pittsburgh Pirates also keeps up a running fire of conversation and predictions which he thinks have been especially effective against the Giants' Willie Mays and the Cubs' Walt Moryn.

Mays will step in to hit and Foiles will say, "Hi, big shot. Is your trapeze still out in center field? . . . .now the next pitch will be right down the pipe. . . well, didn't I tell you?"

Foiles hastens to point out that he only is subjecting Mays to a good-natured ribbing but naming the pitch has an unsettling effect to more than one batter.

"Mays usually just kids me back," Foiles says. "But when a catcher names the pitch correctly, that can throw a guy off. Because there always will be that element of doubt that I might be lying. And sometimes I am.

"Talking with a batter on other topics, such as a pretty girl or a new car, also has its advantages," Foiles continued. "It may serve to take his mind off his hitting for just an instant—and that's all you need."

Foiles recalls that he began naming the pitches for Willie two years ago.

"I started out by giving him the straight dope on every ball during a double header one day and he went one for 10. But that one hit was a home run," Foiles said.

Moryn had been hitting Pirate pitching hard this year until Foiles, at the suggestion of pitcher Bob Friend, began telling the Cub outfielder what was coming.

"He went oh-for-four when I first tried it so I guess I'll continue the policy for a while," big Foiles rumbled.

LANE LOOKING TO SALT BROWN AWAY IN TITLE BRAWL

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International

HOUSTON (UPI) — If talking means anything, there'll be a sure knockout this Wednesday night when Michigan's southpaw Kenny Lane meets champion Joe Brown for the world's lightweight title.

The nationally - televised 15-round event unfolds at 8 p. m. cst in Houston's air conditioned coliseum. It will settle a rhubarb that began two years ago shortly after Brown dethroned Wallace (Bud) Smith.

Lane, a stout lefty from Muskegon, Mich., moved his training camp to Houston from New Orleans last Wednesday and, resumed a barrage of predictions that the champion wouldn't last the route, mainly because of his age.

Brown is 32, but that doesn't seem to bother him and he, too, thinks the fight will end in a knockout—with Lane on the floor.

The champion said he expects to finish Lane "maybe even faster than I did Ralph Dupas." He floored Dupas in the eighth two months ago in his last title defense.

"I've never had any trouble with southpaws," Brown said at his nearby Camp Holden training site. "In fact, I've knocked out every southpaw I've met."

But the 26-year-old challenger, who calls Brown "an old man," says Joe should tire after the 10th round. Lane has never been on the deck and said he doesn't think Brown can put him there.

Lane and co - managers Jack Kearns and Pete Petroskey tried a surprise maneuver on arrival in Houston this week by dramatically announcing that "Lane's no southpaw."

Brown Unworried

"He's a switch hitter, like Mickey Mantle," said Kearns. "He hits equally as well with either hand."

If this had any effect on Brown's camp, it was invisible. The wiry champion continued hard workouts daily against three tough southpaws whose styles closely match that of Lane.

Joe seemed to be pouring on more steam as the fight drew closer. On Wednesday he knocked out one of his sparring partners with a whistling left hook — the same punch that began Dupas' downfall.

The challenger, who plunges into workouts at Roxy's gym with the enthusiasm of a bull and snorts like one when he goes into the ring, has been sparring with Ray Riojas and Kenney Bruce of Boston.

After one session with Lane, Riojas predicted that Brown would get him "in eight or nine rounds."

"Lane is stronger than Joe, but Joe punches stronger. Nobody hits like Joe," Riojas said.

The challenger ran 200 miles and worked 110 rounds before moving into Houston. Both camps will keep the work fires going until the day before the bout.

Kempa Has Chance For Title Tie

Kempa Humble, double - header winners over Motor Inn, 11-5 and 17-1, Friday night, has its work cut out this week if they hope to climb into a first place Industrial League tie with KP Lodge.

KP got brilliant one-hit hurling out of Delbert Daniels Friday night to white-wash Lefors, 4-0, and cinch a title tie. It was Daniels' 17th win of the season against only three setbacks and gave the Lodgers a regular season finish of 20-4.

Kempa stands 17-4 and can zip into a first place deadlock by whipping Motor Inn in another twin-bill Monday night and taking a final victory from Lefors Tuesday night.

Phillips went on a hit spree and hammered out seven homers Friday night to ruin Panhandle Packing's last chance at cracking the win column this season. They licked the Packers, 20-1.

In Kempa's twin win Friday night, Hoot Gipson swatted a pair of homers, while team-mates Buddy Sharp and Joe Fortin also found the range for round-trippers. Fortin's was his 14th of the year.

The lone hit off Daniels in his 4-0 pitching triumph over Lefors was a line-single by Cates in the fourth frame. Roy Pool laced out a single and double in three official trips.

Slammin Sam In Lead For Fourth PGA Championship

SAMMY SNEAD
...hill-billy slammer

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

HAVERTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — Slammin' Sammy Snead, battling 30 mile an hour winds and bumpy greens, breezed to a three under par 34-33—67 Saturday for a 207 which gave him the third round lead in his quest for a fourth P.G.A. golf championship.

The smiling slammer from the Virginia hills, at 46 shooting agelessly for his 101st tournament triumph, stalked over the rolling hills and hollows at Llanerch Country Club with a shot-making display which drew repeated cheers from a gallery of 13,000-sun-beaten fans.

He was one shot in back of Ohio's Dow Finsterwald and the Louisiana Marine, Jay Hebert, both now playing out of Florida, when he went out over the 6,710-yard layout. Tied with him, one stroke off the lead, were poker faced Boros and big Billy Casper.

But none of them could match the pace of the hill-billy belter as he moved into a "catch-me" position for Sunday's fourth and final round.

Casper, from Apple Valley, Calif., gave it a mighty try. But big Bill couldn't hole a six footer for a birdie on the final hole and had to settle for a 36-32—68 and a 208 which left him one shot behind Snead and one shot ahead of Finsterwald.

Finsetrwald had a 36-34—70 for 209. Then there was a gap of two shots to Jackie Burke, the 1956 winner, with a 36-33—69 for 211. One more shot away at 212 came a tough twosome: Doug Nord with a 35-35—70 and Jay Hebert with a 73.

Playing "loose and easy" and speaking frequently to the gallery, Snead went one under the card on the front nine — and then turned on the heat coming home.

It was a shaky start, as he three-putted the first hole, the last time from three feet, for a bogey. But Sam got it right back on the second with a 30-foot birdie putt. He rammed in a 25 - footer for another birdie on the sixth and an 18-footer for another bird on the eighth.

Sam Shookup

But that stuttering putter shook old Sam up again on the ninth as he three-putted for anoher bogey, missing the second time from two feet. Still, he was out in a one under par 34.

Starting back, he banged in an eight footer to birdie the 10th and a 35-footer for another birdie on the 11th. Sam clicked off four straight pars before he rammed his second to the carpet on the 515-yard par five 160th and ran it home in two for another birdie. He three-putted the 17th, however, for another bogey and then on the 18th failed to drop a seven-footer. But his closing par gave him that fine 67.

Floyd Hits With Power

CHICAGO (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said today he's punching with "more power" and he will be ready for a successful title defense against Roy Harris next month.

Patterson took advantage of the period between trains on his trip west for a 30 - minute workout at the CYO gym and went through all the training routine except boxing.

"I don't have any preferred weight for this fight," he said, "but I'll probably go about 187. I think I've been getting stronger and growing without putting on any weight so I feel like I'm punching with more power, but you'll have to ask my opponents about that."

Manager Cus D'Amato said Patterson would determine his own weight for the fight by the "way he feels." It might be 182 or 190 or anywhere in between.

D'Amato said he expected the fight would draw about $300,000 at the gate and he had no idea what the returns would be from guaranteed $210,000.

guaranteed $210,000.

Patterson will receive 5 per cent of the net gate and 60 per cent of the theater TV receipts and from his total must pay the challenger a guaranteed $100,000.

Out Of The Past

Whatever Happened To HANK LUISETTI

was little more than a local hero when he came East with Stanford in 1936 to play Long Island U. at Madison Square Garden. But in that one game, before a tremendous house and a goggle - eyed press row, he made the one handed shot a permanent part of baskerball, copied by collegians and pros alike. From 1936-38, he set a Stanford record of 612 points for three varsity seasons. There after he played AAU ball until 1944 when he was forced to retire but as one of the all time All-Americans his name was preserved as the man who started the one-hand trend.

Orioles 3, Tribe 2

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Dick Williams' base-loaded double with two out in the eighth inning Saturday night gave Baltimore a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians and moved the Orioles into third place.

Cleveland rookie righthander Gary Bell had pitched perfect ball from the fourth inning on and held a 2-1 lead going into the eighth. But with one out, he walked Bob Boyd and after getting Gene Woodling to foul out gave up a single to Bob Nieman.

Gus Triandos walked to load the bases and Oriole manager Paul Richards sent in pinch runners Jim Busby for Nieman and Lenny Green for Triandos. Williams then lifted a blooper into center on which Woody Held barely missed a diving catch. Boyd and Busby scored to put the Orioles ahead.

Knuckleballer Hal Brown, who went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth allowed four of the Indian's five hits, walked only one and struck out nine to win his fourth game without a defeat. Billy Loes pitched the ninth, and gave up a one-out single to Russ Nixon, then got Earl Averill to fly out and fanned pinch hitter Gary Geiger.

MAKES RECORD CATCH

CUTTYHUNK, Mass. (UPI) — Mrs. William P. Rosen of Branford, Conn., set a new women's world record by catching a 60-pound striped bass with rod and reel. Her fish broke the previous record set June 7, 1955, when Mrs. H. J. Sarnoski landed a 56-pounder.

WOODWORK — Boston Red Soxer, Jackie Jensen, left and Bob Cerv of the Kansas City A's cross sticks in hopes of bringing luck to their bid for American League batting honors. Both, however, will have to pump up their hitting to catch red-hot Pete Runnels, the Boston Red Sox handyman from Lufkin, Texas, who is leading the American League hitting with a .334 average, not counting a 2 for 5 performance Saturday.

Wiffie-Ruthie Hold 4-Ball Links Lead

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (UPI) — Freckled Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., and her pert partner Ruthie Jessen of Seattle, Wash., fired their third straight sub-par round Saturday to hang onto a three-stroke lead in the $7,500 Homestead Women's Four - Ball Golf Tournament.

They toured the rolling Cascades course in one-under women's par 73 for a three-quarter total of 215 in the 72-hole best-ball tourney.

Just back of the leaders were defending champions Marilynn Smith of Wichita, Kans., and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, who teamed for a third-round 72 and a 218 total.

In striking dsitance with 219 were the duos of Wanda Sanches of Baton Rouge, La., and Peggy Kirk Bell of Southern Pines, N.C.; and Jackie Pung of San Francisco and Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis.

The day's lowest round was posted by 1955 champs Betty Jamison of San Antonio, Tex., and Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., who blazed around the 6,396-yard greenery in five-under 69, the tourney's lowest score thus far. They stood at 220, five strokes back of the pace setters.

No T-Birds In Southern 500

DARLINGTON, S. C., (UPI)— There will be no Ford Thunderbirds in the $60,000 Southern 500-mile stock car classic at Darlington Raceway Labor Day.

Darlington officials were so infications outlined in NASCAR's formed by telegram Saturday from Bill France, president of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing in Daytona Beach, Fla.

France's statement was, "Thunderbirds and Corvetts are listed as sports cars in NASCAR's sanction 1958 rule book, which was written prior to Ford's announcement of the four-passenger Thunderbird.

GIANTS RETAIN LEAD, 5-4

Giants 5, Bucs 4

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ray Jablonski put the Giants back in business with a three-run pinch-hit homer Saturday, then they went on to defeat the Pirates, 5-4, and retain their half-game lead over Milwaukee.

Jablonski's fourbagger, his 10th of the season, came in the fourth inning and hoisted San Francisco back into a 4-4 tie with Pittsburgh. Daryl Spencer then hit a sacrifice fly off losing pitcher Bob Porterfield in the fifth inning for the clincher.

Ramon Monzant turned a sharp relief job for the Giants, who now have won five straight and eight of their last nine games. The frail looking Venezuelan held the Pirates to one single while blanking them during the four innings he worked.

Johnny Antonelli pitched the final inning and set the side down in order to cement Monzant's sixth victory.

A's 6 Yanks 4

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Tuttle's three-run homer in the 12th inning gave the Kansas City Athletics a 6-4 victory over the New York Yankees Saturday and dealt ace reliever Ryne Duren his first defeat since June 14.

Southpaw Bud Daley, Kansas City's third pitcher, started the winning rally when he doubled with one out in the 12th. Mike Baxes followed with a walk and Tuttle then unloaded his fifth homer of the season into the lower right field seats.

Daley, who entered the game in the ninth, was credited with his second victory although he needed relief help from Ralph Terry in the bottom of the 12th when the Yanks put together three singles for their final run.

Cards 1, Reds 0

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Ken Boyer's 10th-inning home run broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Larry Jackson and Alex Kellner Saturday and ended a seven-game St. Louis Cardinals losing streak with a 1-0 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Boyer, who hit Kellner's first pitch of the inning for his 19th homer, was the second Cardinal runner allowed past first base by the 33-year-old refugee from the American League.

It was Kellner's first start for the Redlegs and his first National League loss against one relief win since coming from the athletics a month ago.

Chisox 7, Sens 6

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Turk Lown came in and struck out Ed Fitz Gerald with the potential winning run on base Saturday to help the Chicago White Sox score a 7 - 6 victory over the Washington Senators.

The Senators were trailing, 7-5, when Jim Lemon hit is 17th homer of the year off Gerry Staley. Staley retired the next two batters and then gave up a pinch single to Clint Courtney and a walk to Roy Sievers. Lown took over and had a 3 - 1 count on Fitz Gerald, who fouled off the next pitch and then fanned.

Al Smith hit his seventh homer for Chicago and Eddie Yost his fourth for Washington.

Billy Goodman got four-for-five to boost his average to .333. He has hit safely in his last seven games and in 18 of his last 21. Before this splurge, in which he has batted .448, Goodman was hitting a mere .252.

Bosox 7, Tigers 6

BOSTON (UPI) — Ted Williams smsahed a tremedous two - run homer, his 15th of the season, in the 12th inning Saturday to give the Red Sox a 7.6 victory over the Detroit Tigers and extend Boston's winning streak to six games.

The 39 - year - old Williams tagged Tiger reliefer Hank Aguirre's first pitch to him after Jimmy Piersall led off the frame by singling and advancing to second on a sacrifice. The ball carried a good 450 feet into the right field grandstand.

The Tigers, who lost their fourth in a row, had gone ahead in the top of the 12th on Billy Martin's double off the left field wall to score Harvey Kuenn. Boston sent the game into extra innings by rallying for two runs in the last of the ninth on Sammy White's homer, a hit batsman and singles by Gene Stephens and Pete Runnels.

Reds Play US Anthem, Get Beat

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Russian military band played the Star Spangled Banner in Moscow Saturday and then the University of Washington eight-oared crew glided out on the Khimi Reservoir and trounced its Soviet hosts in a 2,000-meter race.

Despite international tension between the two nations over the Mid-East situation, an estimated 4,000 Russians warmly applauded the lanky Americans as they crossed the finish line one and one-half lengths ahead of the Trud Club of Leningrad.

Among the spectators were U.S. Ambassador Llewellen Thompson and his wife.

They watched coach Al Ulbrickson's Washington crew complete the race over choppy waters in six minutes, 18.6 seconds.

The Trud Club was timed in 6:24.2 while another Soviet crew, the Army Club of Moscow, finished third in 6:28.8.

The Leningrad oarsmen handed Washington its first defeat of the year in the Henley Regatta in England earlier this month, so Saturday's return meeting provided the Yanks with sweet revenge.

SILKY MAY MISS RACE

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — A cough and slight fever appeared likely today to keep Silky Sullivan from entering the $100,000 added Westerner at Hollywood Park Jury 19. Trainer Reggie Cornell called Silky a "doubtful starter" in the Westerner, although the horse hasn't been declared out of the race as yet.

Braves 3, Cubs 2

CHICAGO (UPI)—Veteran Andy Pafko made a spectacular catch of Bobby Thomson's ninth-inning drive against the left field wall Saturday and gave right-hander Joey Jay and the Milwaukee Braves a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

A crowd of 37,918, the second full house in two days, saw the 37-year-old Pafko, who came in as ninth-inning substitute for Joe Addock, save the game for Jay and even the three-game series with the Cubs at one game each.

Jay, who yielded only four hits until the ninth. Was tapped for a single after two outs in the Cubs' final frame by Sammy Taylor. Thomson then lined his shot to left field.

Jay, winning his fifth game in eight decisions, got the only scoring help he needed in the first inning. A double by Mel Roach and Frank Torre's single, accounted for the Braves' first run, and Hank Aaron belted his 20th homerun of the season for two more. The runs came off starter Moe Drabowski, who absorbed his fifth straight setback by the Braves this season.

Three LFL Clubs Tack Up Victories

Rex Rose scored 15 runs on 11 hits to down Tom Rose 15-11. Tom Rose had 20 hits.

Larry Wainscofe had a perfect day at the plate for Rex Rose with a triple, double and two singles in four at bats. Jim McCartney banged out at triple and three singles for Tom Rose.

In a makeup game played Thursday Rex Rose breezed past Miller Hood 7-2. Rickey Guffey was the winning pitcher and George Robbin the loser. Larry Leonard had four singles in five times at bat for Rex Rose.

Radcliff Supply Company knocked off first place Motor Inn 11-9 with two runs coming home in the bottom of the sixth inning to break a 9-9 tie. Ronald Goodwin slammed a two out one on homer to win the game for Radcliff.

Thompson was the winning pitcher and Mike Edwards took the loss for Motor Inn.

Radcliff had 11 runs on nine hits and Motor Inn scored nine runs on only six hits.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

To the average person, news of a bumper quail crop wouldn't register much enthusiasm, but to the veterans of the hunt, bits of news relating to the increase in the bird populaion will be highly esteemed.

This bit of news or, put in another way, this casual remark about what the quail situation might be this fall is passed on to the bird hunters. State Game Warden Weldon Fromme, Matador, said yesterday that he counted exactly 27 coveys of birds in a 15 mile foray east of Matador.

Mr. Fromme also said that he noticed several pairs of quail along the same route. "About 16 or 17 of the coveys were blues while the rest were bobs." Fromme also a sidtah said that a majority of the coveys appeared very much like they were reaching the mature state.

Quail reach the adult appearance in six weeks. Observing 27 coveys of birds along a 15-mile ranch road is a whale of a lot of birds in anybody's part of the country. I haven't seen 27 coveys of birds in a single day in many years.

Water Dogs Costly

Another bit of interesting news collected from Mr. Fromme was about some of the water dog catchers in that part of the country. From what I gathered, there are a few fellows around Matador who have struck it rich in this profession.

Seems as though they seine some of the high, shallow lakes and catch barrels full of this Plains creature, transport them to New Mexico, Arizona, and even to California and peddle them for a fancy price. Rumor is that these Texas water dogs retail at $.15 each to the fishermen.

Mr. Fromme also said that the usual method of transportation is to fill a barrel half full of water dogs, then add water until the barrel is full, and in so doing the reptiles could be hauled for days and they would still be lively and in good condition when the pickup truck arrived at some of the western lakes.

Peach Growing Secrets

Arkansas, Georgia and some of the other southern states are noted for their delicious peaches, but not so the Texas Panhandle. Probably one year out of ten there is a peach crop in this area, but usually, this fruit will bloom out during some of our warm early spring days when the temperature is high and then the next day or so the crop will be completely killed by a hard freeze.

Haskell Hall, energectic Liquor Control Board Inspector, recently mentioned the secret of how to successfully grow this choice fruit. Mr. Hall said that his father, a native Dallam County farmer and rancher, has done very well with his particular method.

The method is simply this: Dig a hole about two feet deep around the tree and about four feet in diameter, and the fill the hole with water in the early spring just before a hard freeze.

The cold weather will freeze the water into a solid cake of ice. Before the weather warms up there should be hay, grass, or cottonseed hulls stacked around the fruit tree and upon the ice to form a sort of insulation so that ice will not melt until summer is really at hand.

The ice will retard the tree so that it will not bloom out until the danger of cool weather has passed, thus assuring a full crop of peaches.

There is but one reason why each home owner can't have all of the choice cherries he desires. Lack of initiative. Cherries are adapted to a colder climate and will thrive throughout this part of Texas.

Four years out of five they will produce. The tree is also excellent for shade.

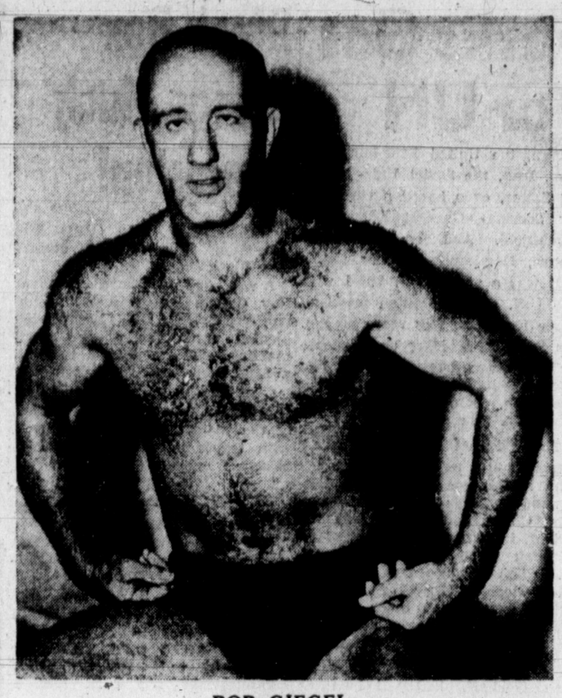

Swamps On High Plains!

Bone Lake, a mile or so east of Dumas, is usually bone dry but today there were three young ladies equipped with motorboat and water skis performing a few monkey shines as the cars passed by on Highway 15. John Easily, Sheriff of Moore County said there were three boats on the lake yesterday and that the fellows were "really skiing up a storm."

Heavy rains fell last week in this area and filled many of the "buffalo waller" lakes. Ross Turner, Sheriff of Sherman County, said that they received 2.7 inches of rain in Stratford and that to the south rainfall measured up to 4 inches.

To drive through this so-called desert would make a stranger think of the swamplands in the South, especially when lakes would be observed in the middle of maize fields. If the water lasts until winter we should have good duck and goose shooting, considering the thousands of sections of maize and hegira stubble that will be so handy for these migratory fowl.

If the rains do continue, the whole top part of Texas will turn out to be a jungle of tall weeds and grass and also a perfect haven for not only upland game birds such as quail and pheasants but a selected area for mallards, pintails, red-heads, canvas-backs and many other species of ducks.

BOB GIEGEL
. . . wrestles Ricky

Star-Studded Card Set Here Monday

Some relatively new faces will appear on the local mat scene Monday night at the Top o' Texas Sportsman Club with only the Great Zorro and rugged Ricky Romero returning from wrestlers who have fought here the past couple of months.

Zorro meets a formidable foe in the main event. He's matched against Dory Funk, a grappler who struggles to no end to post victories, and he has a string of ring conquests a hundred miles long to prove it.

Funk and Zorro will be matched in a best two of three falls hour-time limit affiar.

In the semi-final event two brawny Negro fem fighters will match holds in a 45-minute two-of-three fall match. Babs Wingo will oppose Betty White in the first Pampa fem fight in the past several months.

Another mean - man, who asks no quarter and certainly never gives any, Bob Geigel, locks horns with Ricky Romero in the 8:30 p.m. opening event.

The opener, usually ending in a draw due to a 15-minute time limit has been kicked up to 20-minutes and it wouldn't be too much of a surprise to see the abbreviated scrap turn out to be the night's most ferocious match.

Geigel knows every trick in the book and some that aren't down in black-and-white too. And Romero is fast developing into one the area's better wrestlers, picking up new holds each week as he slams it out in the opening or semi-final matches.

Government's Mortgage Purchases Are Successful

By EDWARD COWAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government's anti-recession mortgage purchase program is thumping along at an average weekly commitment rate of 35 million dollars and is considered a resounding success.

Officials of the Federal National Mortgage Association (Fanny May), which administers the program, say it has:

—Helped home buyers get mortgage loans, sometimes at a small cut in interest rates.

—Encouraged some builders to shift production to lower price models—a boon to low-income and elderly buyers.

—Occasionally been responsible for price cuts with no change in the house itself.

Commitments In Millions

Since it was started in April to spur construction of new houses and create jobs, the program has rung up mortgage purchase commitments in 42 states totaling $457,837,000 on 38,589 mortgages.

Congress voted a billion dollars for the program with the restriction that it be spent only for a mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) or guaranteed by the Veterans Administration (VA). In addition, the mortgage may not exceed $13,500 and must be purchased at par, less specified fees.

Fanny May officials believe that builders and lenders have made some concessions to meet these eligibility requirements. Enticed by the prospect of a government purchase guarantee, some lenders have been willing to make small cuts in interest rates to meet the FHA maximum of 5¼ per cent. On a $13,500 mortgage the difference between 5½ and 5¼ per cent over 25 years is a saving to the home owner of two dollars on each month's payment and more than $600 over the life of the mortgage.

Officials also claim that builders have shifted to cheaper models to get under the $13,500 ceiling. Still a third reported result has been a paring of discounts. When discounts run large, builders sometimes try to make up the difference by boosting the house price.

Lenders Have Choice

The program has been particularly attractive because a Fanny May commitment binds the agency to buy but does not oblige the lender to sell. Hence, lenders have the freedom to sell to the government or in the private market or to keep the mortgage.

The most interesting question asked about the program is whether it has induced extra building or whether it has only caused a shift from conventional to government financing. Fanny May President J. Stanley Baughman believes the program has stimulated additional construction, but he declined to estimate how much.

He said the government's readiness to buy eligible mortgages at par has bolstered builders confidence and thereby the number of swellings they are putting up.

Of the 42 states in which Fanny May has signed commitments, Texas leads with 6,217 mortgages amounting to nearly 70 million dollars. In second place is Michigan with nearly 50 million dollars. Then come California, Florida and Colorado.

How many of the commitments lenders will decide to ask the government to make good on remains to be seen. But with lenders paying a commitment fee of three-fourths of 1 per cent and an equal purchase fee when the deal is closed, Fanny May stands to make on the venture, counting even the cost of borrowing from the treasury.

Too Well Dressed!

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—James Edward Ashley, 19, of Houston, Tex., was attired in rare style for a short time.

But his ill-fitting double-breasted vests were soon recognized and he was jailed for stealing 14 suits and vests from the home of prominent attorney J. Edward Fleishell.

3 TV Networks Got Together For UN

Television In Review
By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)— The three television networks acted as one Tuesday night.

They turned over nearly all their costly viewing time to coverage of the United Nations Security Council, meeting in New York to discuss resolutions on the Middle East crisis.

CBS cut off "The Verdict is Yours" at 8:45 p.m. e.d.t., and all of "Playhouse 90." NBC scuttled part of "Dragnet," and all of "People's Choice," "Buckskin," and "The Price is Right." ABC started a bit late, at 9 p.m. e.d.t., by drumping Andy Williams' "Showcase," "Navy Log" and "Confession."

Only CBS managed to squeeze in some commercials.

After the U.N. Council adjourned at 10:27 p.m. e.d.t., CBS returned to programming with a film short on Louis Pasteur; ABC with the scheduled, "Falcon" and NBC with "Music Bingo." Appropriately, one of the contestants on this quiz was a U.N. employe. How come he wasn't at the shop?

Viewers of the dramatic U.N. proceedings, besides hearing speakers from France, Sweden, Japan, the United Kingdom, Jordan, Iraq, the Soviet Union, United States, even heard a rare talk by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. And as a special bonus, Dag smiled a few times.

It was a good show, but I wish the U.N. camera, which feeds all three networks, was more mobile. Its habit of freezing on a speaker's face was frustrating. I'd like to see the faces of the others in the room, including the audience, while the talk goes on.

The Channel Swim: "Peter Gunn," billed as an adult mystery film series, goes before the Hollywood cameras next week. Starring Craig Stevens and Lola Albright, it will be seen on NBC-TV Monday nights, starting Sept. 22 . . . "Emmy" award winner Reginald Rose, author of "Twelve Angry Men" and other notable TV scripts, has been signed to write a "Playhouse 90" drama for next season by CBS-TV . . .

Don Herbert, better known as NBC-TV's "Mr. Wizard," is writing a new science book for children to be published by Doubleday . . . Jack Paar is the prime mover in a campaign to chop 30 minutes from his NBC-TV show, now on for 105 minutes.

Black Box Brings Much Confusion!

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI)—The Galveston City Council doesn't like black boxes.

A week ago last Thursday, Mayor Roy Clough had Galveston Tribune reporter Joel Kirkpatrick ejected from the City Council meeting after he showed up with a tape recorder.

Last Thursday, Jack Sayre, a long-time personal and political foe of the mayor, showed up with a with toggle switches on the outside.

Grabs Box

Sayre sat down and started tinkering with the switches.

Orders Removal

The city attorney reminded the mayor that Rourke was an officer.

Clough ordered Rourke to remove Sayre, but before the ruffled police commissioner could take action Sayre walked to the door.

Souvenir Snipper Mutilates Money

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Uncle Sam has forgiven a Memphis banker who cut a corner and almost got himself in trouble.

A Federal Reserve Bank employe, going through a stack of currency, came upon a $1,000 bill with the corner snipped off. An investigation began.

The banker, questioned about the bill, admitted that he whacked off the corner bearing the bill's denomination, intending to keep it as a souvenir.

Secret Service agents considered charging the embarrassed official with mutilating money.

Bases Alerted

MANILA (UPI) — American Naval and Air Force bases in the Philippines have been placed on full alert, it was reported Saturday.

Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia called a special session of the National Security Council to discuss the Middle East situation.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Clothing salesman Marshall A. Fishbein, 47, had a burglar alarm installed on his new auto, but it apparently failed on its initial test.

Fishbein reported to police Friday night that his car and $900 worth of clothing were stolen.

Crispus Attucks led the anti-British demonstration which resulted in the Boston Massacre on March 5, 1770.

Demo Backers Of Nixon Are Worried

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Political developments in California and New York worry political undertow:

Nixon - for - President boosters. The vice president is far in front of the pack for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination. He could be hurt, however, if Democrat Pat Brown beats Republican William F. Knowland for governor of California in November, which is what party professionals believe is likely to happen. The remarkable vigor and achievements so far of Nelson A. Rockefeller's campaign for the Republican gubernatorial in New York also is bad news for Nixon. As governor of New York, Rockefeller would control the state's 1960 nominating convention delegation. It is assumed that he might oppose Nixon.

Republican conservatives in Congress are unhappy. They are talking about making a new statement of party policy in an effort to force the Eisenhower administration away from what they regard as its New Deal-Fair Deal tendencies. Some congressional Republicans who helped obtain the 1952 Republican nomination for General Eisenhower now wish they hadn't. They will tell you frankly that they were for Eisenhower in 1952 because they thought he could win, not because of his political principles, with which they were unfamiliar.

Many Republicans worry out loud about the rising tide of labor influence and money in U.S. politics; wish they could get some help from the Justice Department and the White House to curb the union leaders. Their big, bad wolf: Walter P. Reuther.

Best current news for Republicans is the word from Pennsylvania. The well-informed believe now that they can elect Republican Arthur Toy McGonigle to the governorship. His Democratic opponent is Pittsburgh's Mayor David L. Lawrence. Pulse feelers believe the Republicans may lose one seat in the national House of Representatives. In contrast to what seems about to be in New York state, modern Republicanism was licked by the regulars in Pennsylvania's nominating primary last May. Harold E. Stassen bucked the party organization in a losing bid for the gubernatorial nomination.

Old news but still good for the Republicans is that farm prices continue at better levels. The Agriculture Department reported this week that during the first six months of 1958 net farm income was 22 per cent higher than in the same months of 1957. It was an unforeseen farm revolt which gave Harry S. Truman his surprise presidential election in 1948 at the expense of Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The liberal-conservative split in the Democratic Party is bigger and angier than the conservative-modern Republican division. Republicans get few dividends from such Democratic difficulties in congressional election years. It could be different in 1960 when one or more southern states may again break away from the Democratic presidential nominee to support their own. Another southern bolt to a Republican presidential ticket is not likely soon.

Plainview Youth Shot To Death In Burglary Try

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (UPI)— A 19-year-old Plainview youth, fleeing the scene of an attempted burglary, was shot and killed early Saturday by Patrolman Eldon Wallace.

Police Chief H. P. Pelphrey said Wallace wasn't attempting to hit the victim, identified as Ramon Carrior Jr., 18, but two bullets struck the youth as he fled from a drug store with a companion.

The companion escaped. Pelphrey said police were called by the owner of the Camp Pharmacy when he heard glass break. The owner, Bert Camp, rooms above the store.

When the patrolman arrived, the youths fled together, then one took a different direction. The one the patrolman pursued was the one who was shot and killed.

WE WERE CONSIDERING, the other day, how fast the summer season rolled by....do you realize that it is nearly August, and that there is, for all practical purposes, just one teensy little month before school begins again???.... and last summer, we swear, would never end it seemed ...well, that is the way time flies... we haven't had much summer; real, hot summer this year so far....hope that doesn't mean that "summer" heat will go on and on into what should be fall in September and October.

AFTER THAT LITTLE bit of nothing, in the way of a comment on the weather, guess we can get down to business....at least we are no longer staring at a completely blank, white page... which is encouraging....people are coming and going... Brian and Blanche Thorley returned from a wonderful trip to Santa Fe, including the opera....heard that they had a marvelous time....wonder if they may not have run into Bob and Mary Norton, who were also in Santa Fe the same weekend ... certainly it is within the "realm of possibility," to quote a cliche' .... the Dick Crews are on their vacation .... to Kentucky and Tennessee .... hope it is not too hot there .... the Dr. Carl Langs were on a vacation in Colorado a week or so .... they reported that the weather was quite warm there for Colorado, and told friends that the climate here in Pampa was just as nice .... we heard, roundabout, that the M. K. Griffiths were flying to Hawaii for a vacation trip, they've had guests from Denver, too .... Mrs. H. M. Wilkinson and Craig and Susan .... the Wyatt Lemons are relaxing after a trip to Florida .. .. they were saddened, however by the loss of their dog on their return .... so goes Pampa ....in the summer fun and games, and trips and flips.

JUNEAU some facts about Alaska? .... our new state is one-fifth the size of the whole U.S. .... it could swallow up England, France, Norway, and Sweden, with 25,000 miles to spare .. square miles, we mean .... one point is less than 60 miles from Russia .... it has a coastline of 33,904 miles .... Mt. McKinley in Alaska is the highest point on the North American continent .... we were surprised to read that the winters are mild .... no kidding it says right here, see? .... but the catch is that it is the South Central Region .... but girls, let me tell you this .... Alaska is full of men .... get this, MEN .... and they are all young .... average age is 23! What 'er you waitin' for?

MORE AND MORE .... water safety program will end this coming week .... has been a long, worthwhile program .... but beset by seemingly cold temperatures which have made for shivering swimmers .... Mary Hills is helping out this time .... as are Marion George and Jean Jones .... incidentally, speaking of Marion George, heard that her son, Barry, is the proud possessor of a brand-new bicycle for his sixth birthday .... happy to see an evening Kiwanis club off to a good start .... and of other men's activities, bowling is taking some interest and time .... winter leagues for our two alleys are being organized ... there was a meeting a few days ago .... some of the perennial bowlers who were there were Stanley Brake .... Red Watson .... Ray Stephenson .. .. Jesse Smart .... Joe Wells .... Cletus Mitchell .... and, of course, Gil Burgund and Bob Hoeckendorf, managers of the alleys .... looks like a booming season should be forecast .... John Koontz was there, also .... mustn't forget him .... a pretty good addition to any team.

LET'S BREAK up the party a little .... no sense in going on and on without a break in the type .... we are idly wondering if our cold Panhandle winds won't sweep down through the huge north-south-oriented passageway in the new Junior High school .... looks as if that might become a fine wind-tunnel some cold blustery day .... rush season for the social clubs is about done with .... parties, parties, parties .... Marilyn Fite, Jo Ann Jones .... Marcia Miller .... Carol Tripplehorn .... Mary Sanford .... were real "dreams" in their formals at the candlelight ceremony held by the Sub Deb club .... and we heard all the members saying that they really have a marvelous bunch of new pledges this year .... heard also that after the party, about four o'clock in the morning, members were really surprised by a come-as-you-are party breakfast at the Harnly ranch .... Sara Lou hostessing .... seems everybody was so surprised, they really DID come-as-they-were! .... and the Mad Hatter's party held by Las Cresas was really clever .. we thought.... Carol Rankin was given a really lovely bridal shower .... blue and white are the colors ,and we thought it was lovely, with silver and blue and white .... even the mints were blue and white bell-shapes .... Carol is marrying Jim Lawley in August, you know .... another shower we heard about was given for Etta Frances Haney in the home of Mrs. John Hessey ... one of the nicest touches was an ice wedding ring floating in the crystal punch bowl .... saw Catherine Taylor looking cool and collected on a terrifically hot day recently .... how does she do it?

ORCHIDS to some more Pampans .... to Shirley (Mrs. Myles) Morgan, and to Marcella (Mrs. O. Ray) Hudson .... for winning in a writing contest .... also for Helene Huff a winner .... to get the details .... Marcella won first place for a short story, "Storm Warning" .... and Shirley won with a television play .... the contest was for amateur and professional writers, sponsored by the Friends of the Library in Amarillo .... Helene won with an article .... we think it is grand .... Marcella has been writing for ages, and doing some hard work .... we couldn't be more pleased about the honor .... likewise for Shirley Morgan .... she used to be a newspaper woman, you know .... goodness, Pampa is getting to be the writin'est place you ever saw.

DO YOU THINK it is time I ran down a little, or not .... by the by, we missed one journey in our telling of who is going or has gone where .... John and Marjorie Schwind went fishing up in Colorado a week or so ago .... seems John is a real fiend when it comes to fishing .... always fishes on vacation .... wonder if the young son will follow in daddy's footsteps .... Pearl Spaugh's backyard was the reunion spot recently, when Marion Richling and her family were visiting from Connecticut .... Marion was music supervisor in the Pampa schools years ago .... friends got together who had not seen each other for years .... among them, another former Pampan .... Katherin Lamaster Judice, of Perryton.

Now is a good time for sunworshipers to get in shape. For women, this means working on winter - roughened elbows and perhaps, giving the back some gentle care. Backless fashions are more flattering if the back displayed is as pretty as possible. For a clearer skin and healthy glow, use a back brush when bathing.

The season of light, bright cottons and filmy materials calls for true femininity. Encourage this by using sachets in closets holding summer garments. Also, use floral scents in drawers for lingerie to enhance the light summer feeling.

MATURE PARENT

For all practical purposes, her mother was still a part of her—a kind of third, stronger arm and leg she could use to retrieve a fallen toy, manage the mysteries of buttons, refill a glass of milk.

So at meals when her mother held a spoonful of prune pulp to her mouth saying coaxingly, "Eat this for Mommy," she'd obey, still sure that she and her mother wanted the same thing.

But after she learned to walk, experience soon taught her that she and her mother differed about many things, from crossing streets to tearing magazines.

So one day when they's differed violently about her wish to explore a packet of pins, she refused to eat her chopped meat for Mommy. She was delighted to note this resistance reduced Mommy to the same state of helplessness she's felt when the pins were removed.

After that, whenever she wanted to make Mommy feel helpless, she did it by resisting food.

It is always a mistake, I think, to identify a child's intake of food as a favor to us.

It's silly indenitfication, because he eats for himself, not for us. All it does is to encourage him to use eating as in instrument of war whenever he's mad at us. It's a very effective one, as he's the person with the control of his mouth. When he's once discovered a shut mouth can be a weapon of resistance to us, we've got a feeding problem on our hands.

As a matter of face, the phrase, "Do this for Mommy" is generally a pretty romantic one.

As Melinda eats for herself, so she takes medicine for herself, learns the use of buttons and bathroom for herself, goes to school for herself. This is the fact—and we pay for falsifying it with sentimental appeals to pefrorm these self-serving actions for us. By associating them in children's minds with devotion to us, we invite them to reject the actions whenever they feel like denying us devotion.

Parents who use the phrase "Do this for Mommy" are people who haven't accepted the truth that children often want to do nothing whatever for Mommy.

Miss Weatherred Honored At Party

A bridal shower, given on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. L. A. Morrison, 1425 Williston complimented Miss Janet Weatherred, bride - elect of John V. Thompson, whose marriage will be an event of July 26. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Dorothy Cox, Mrs. Stanley Stein and Mrs. J. D. Compton.

Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. L. A. Weatherred, bride elect's mother, were in the receiving line. Guests were registered by Mrs. Carl Sexton. The honoree and her mother were presented with corsages of white split carnations tied with orange ribbon.

To carry out Miss Weatherred's chosen colors, the table was covered with a champagne linen cloth over orange, which showed through the flower cut-outs. Orange daisies were arranged in a crystal bowl as the centerpiece; white napkins imprinted in orange with "Janet and John" completed the table appointments of crystal and silver.

Approximately 30 guests attended.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You recently had a letter from a woman who complained that her husband picked up a strange woman on the street because she was carrying a lot of bundles. He gave her a ride home and this started an affair between her husband and the lady with the bundles. You said, "A gentleman does not pick up a lady, bundles or no bundles" and, furthermore, "A lady does not accept a ride with a stranger." I disagree with you. A true gentleman would not pass a woman on the street and allow her to carry a load of bundles when he could assist her. Just because the women accepted the ride does not mean she was no lady.

A GENTLEMAN

Dear Gentleman: Obviously you are mistaken. The bundles were incidental. Every day men pass women who are carrying bundles and it never occurs to them to pick them up. This woman evidently had more than just bundles, or else they were pretty neatly stacked. "Gentlemen" don't offer rides to strange women and 'ladies" don't accept, if approached.

DEAR ABBY: My best girlfriend likes to break people up for the thrill of it. She never wants the guys after she gets them. She started to chase my boy friend to make her own boyfriend jealous, and without even half-trying, she got my boyfriend interested in her. He calls her up first and if she's busy he calls me. She is only playing him for a sucker but I love him very much. How can I get her to lay off?

HURT

Dear Hurt: Your problem is your BOYFRIEND not your GIRLFRIEND (this is a friend?) If he is using you as second fiddle — better find yourself another string section.

DEAR ABBY: About 22 years ago there was a man who used to go around giving piano lessons. As far as anybody knew he was not married but he was quite a Romeo. He fathered four illegitimate children within a radius of twenty miles for certain, and Heaven only knows how many more, elsewhere. My sister was one of the girls he got into trouble so I know what I am talking about. My niece (the illegitimate one but she doesn't know it) is going with a boy who, I am sure, is her half-brother, and they are getting serious? And who is to tell them?

WORRIED

Dear Worried: The facts should be carefully checked, and if what you say is true, the MOTHERS of the children should break the news.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self - addressed, stamped envelope.

OLD FAVORITES—NEW SETTING

There has never been a time when the homemaker had such a varied choice of styles as rght now. That is the reason we beleve, that today's homes show more good taste and dscrmnaton, more individuality and greater originality than ever before.

It's an undisputed fact that every home should be furnished and decorated in the style that satisfies and pleases it's occupants best. With the current trend toward subtle elegance, more and more homeplanners are leaning toward Traditional, and the furniture designs of Chippendale, Robert Adam, Hepplewhite and Sheraton are appearing everywhere. These master craftsmen and designers were famous for the texture of the woods they used and the exquisite carving detail.

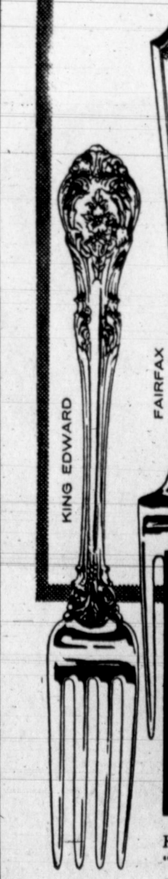

Today's Traditional rooms, however, differ from those of the past . . . largely in the matter of arrangement and color schemes. We now use color more lavishly, and tend to use less sterotyped room arrangements.

The spacious livinb room sketched above is Traditional in style, Contemporary in spirit. Walls and carpet are identical in color—a subtle shade of citron. This has been brightened by the colorful print of the sofa covers. Note that the colorful print appears again on the padded window valances. Draperies repeat the tone of the walls and carpet. Furniture has been scaled to fit in with the large room.

The style of decor and furniture that best expresses You is the style you should have in your home. Our trained decorators will talk over your room styling with you, give you suggestions and advice on combining styles whenever you can come in.

Pampa News Women's Editor

So, you've been elected publicity chairman!

Well, if you're rather new at the game, the first question you'll ask is, "How do I get news about my club into the newspapers?" And you'll raise a skeptical eyebrow when the president of your group answers, "Just give the news to the newspapers."

Well, the president has given you a good definition of your job, but like any other job, there's a right way and a wrong way to do it. We hope the following tips will help you be the best publicity chairman your group has ever had.

First of all, what is a newspaper? A newspaper is a business, and like any other business, under our system of free enterprise, it is operated to produce a profit.

And the people who work on a newspaper are no different from those who staff any other business, with the exception that they are more pressed for time than the majority. Most of them are engaged in writing, editing, and printing in a few hours enough material to fill a good-sized novel. Keeping in mind the daily pressures under which newspaper people must work will make your job much easier.

They deserve your respect, but not necesarily your awe; they will appreciate your brevity, but not your curtness. Because it is a profession where people on the outside often seem to think they know better how to do the job than those on the inside, newspaper people will appreciate your gaining an understanding of how they work and of the standards they must meet.

When you hand a news story to an editor, it is appreciated. The Pampa Daily News Women's Activities desk depends entirely upon publicity chairmen for its club news outlets. That's very nice, you say, but will all of my stories be used?

Well, let's see what happens to your story when you hand it to the editor. First, it will be read with a strict regard to whether it will be of interest to other readers.

If, for example, the national president of your organization is coming to town to talk to your organization, it would be safe to say that the story will be printed.

On the other hand, if you report that Mrs. Jones has been appointed second assistant secretary of your Committee on the Perpetuation of Contract Bridge on Wednesday Afternoons, don't be disappointed, if it doesn't get into the paper.

Chances are that your story will fall somewhere in the middle of these extremes and we'll assume that the editor decides it has enough news value to start it on its way to print. If poorly written, it will be held up while it is rewritten according to newspaper style. It is at this stage that another article of equal importance, submitted at the same time may see print, well before yours, because it was well-written, easily processed and could be submitted to the type-setter first.

Your copy, as the story is called, in the rewritten version will then be checked for grammar, spelling and excess wordage; then a headline will be written for it.

If your copy is especially late in being handed in, it runs the risk at any one of these stages of being rejected to make room in the paper for a more timely meeting or event. When this happens, you story may be "killed" and forgotten, or it may be "held" and appear in another edition of the paper.

There are still other reasons why your story may be not be used. We'll talk about them later on. (TOMORROW: "Be A Copy Cat")

Autumn Formals Are High-Waisted

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — The Empress Josephine never had it so good (when she drifted around mooning at Napoleon) as you'll have it this fall in your new evening gowns.

For tired eyes weary of staring at the sack, the new evening dresses with the high - waisted look and the drifty or belled skirts are welcome relief.

This high-waisted, or Directoire, look takes expert seaming and draping in order to look well. The prettiest versions are those which are not overly exaggerated.

Keeping pace with the high-waisted look is the trapeze silhouette, done for evening in satin and brocade and in glowing colors, from rose red to gold and even golden brown.

One look that all designers seem to sponsor in common for fall is that of the short evening gown with its own matched coat. Nearly all houses that do evening dresses have these coats and many of them in truly magnificent fabrics with elegant linings. The designers feel that this gives a woman an ensemble look that is, in its way, unique and stunning.

TEACHERS PLAY HOOKEY

TOKYO (UPI)—Tokyo's board of education today punished 30,339 teachers who played hookey for a day nearly three months ago to protest an efficiency rating system. Most of the teachers—30,057—received only letters of admonition for staying away from their classes, but 76 drew six-month suspensions, 41 had their salaries cut and 165 were officially reprimanded.

INSURANCE COST RISES

LONDON (UPI)— British insurance underwriters have boosted the "war risk" premium for ships using Iraqi ports sevenfold—from 10 cents te 70 cents per $280. Iraq, which is in the throes of a rebellion, has a short coastline along the Persian Gulf and is a major oil producer.

Comfort is important for a person's general outlook. And on especially hot day calls for plenty of comfort. Women who think they are cooler because they wear fewer layers of clothing actually contribute to their own warmth. Directoire, Trapeze, Modified Chemise Are Three Fall, Daytime Silhouettes

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — The three fall dress silhouettes that count for daytime next fall are the Directoire, the trapeze and the modified chemise.

Of all the many funny things said about the chemise for autumn, one of the funniest is that the chemise will now have more fit. When a chemise has more fit, it ceases to be a chemise and becomes either a sheath or Directoire, which is a dress that has the very high bosomline often coupled with a slim skirt.

The Directoire silhouette may have this same bosomline paired with full, flared or gracefully pleated skirt. The high-bosomed line is achieved by a wrapped cummerbund, by set-in banding or occasionally by a wide belt.

Skirt lengths for daytime dresses are shorter in all collections. They look prettiest in the short length when the skirt is either flared or pleated. When a skirt is very short and narrow, too, it takes on an awkward look.

The blouson silhouette goes quietly on into fall, looking chic and ladylike. Coupled with a sheath skirt and given a wide or stand-away collar, it's seen in some form in the collections of many top designers. It's at its best in lightweight black wool and but looks fresh and pretty in red, blue or gold.

Violet and purple, red blue, green and gold make the collections glow with color. In some collections, the color of the dress was carried out completely through tinted hosiery and shoes dyed to match. With the shorter skirts, this creates a well-put-together, head-to-toe look that's almost a necessity.

First fabrics for fall run to the brilliant wool jerseys, printed corduroys and jerseys, tone-on-tone tweeds, loopy mohairs and chiffon flannels. There is an emphasis on the lighter weight, softer woolens, since they're thought to be the most wearable in our climate and in our well-heated apartments and homes.

Some of these fabrics get surprise touches, as when white mink makes the cuffs for a gray woold jersey daytime dress or when printed corduroy is combined with gleaming silk. And in the dress-with-jacket combinations, chiffon often teams up with wool. It's used both for dress top and jacket lining.

Full-Skirted Dress Best For Summer

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Come summer, a good many of us will give all versions of the chemise the old heave - ho and don grace-at the neckline. Both top and skirt

There's a sound reason for this. The full - skirted, sleeveless summer dress, whether one or two-piece, is just about the coolest thing a girl can wear. It allows the air to circulate about her and gives her the benefit of any nearby breeze.

Most girls like their full-skirted dresses in the clear, soft yellows, pinks and blues that are the true colors of summer. And most appreciate a style that's simple enough so that it can be done up with ease. After all, few girls care to spend the best part of the summer slaving over a hot ironing board.

We show here two versions of the full - skirted summer dress, both by Cindy Collins and both budget - priced. The two - piece dress (left) is cut without collar and with tiny buttons and a bow atthe neckline. Both top and skirt are in woven cotton.

Blouse and skirt (right) with one - piece look are in pink striped pleats is belted for a trim look. ed with white. Skirt with unpress-

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

We all know that swimming and sunning can play havoc with our skin and hair, and care must be taken if we don't want to spend the summer with peeling, blotchy faces and straw-like heads.

There are many gals who spend the hot summer months wilting in the heat, unable to enjoy a day at the beach because the sun spells trouble for them.

None of us, no matter how easily we think we tan, should spend too much time in the sun without using a protective lotion that will screen out the harmful rays. And we should use common sense. Nobody ever got a tan in one day. Start with about 15 minutes in the sun the first time, and increase the time a little each day. At the end of a week, you'll have the base for a good tan.

For most of us, this is easy to accomplish if we go about it wisely. But there have always been the unfortunate few who feel they must forego that smart, healthy summer look.

They blister in the sun, and are allergic to sun lotions — a pretty discouraging combination of facts.

These gals will be glad to know that they can now obtain a hypo-allergenic sun lotion claimed by its makers to protect against burning and to ward off blistering, reddening rays. It comes in a handy squeeze bottle and is designed preimarily for sensitive skin.

Your lips, too, take a beating in the sun if they're not protected. And dry, cracking lips are painful enough to spoil anyone's fun. It's best to take along a protective lip pomade when you go to the beach. After hours in the sun, you'll be glad you thought of it.

How many times have you groaned about the condition of your hair after a session of swimming and sunning? Salt water and sun can remove the luster from your hair and give it a dried-out appearance. You can prevent that by using a lanolin-base hair conditioner. There is one that's handy for the beach because it comes in a spray container and won't spill. It's not a spray net, but is claimed to help curl formation and wave control, while adding a soft gloss to dry, problem hair.

Summertime is a difficult season to cope with if you can't enjoy summer sports. But if we're practical rather than over-enthusiastic about the sun, most of us should be able to have our share of summer fun.

COOK'S NOOK

Meat In Aspic Is Cool Main Course Summer Dish

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Meat — either specially cooked or left over — is the base for main course summertime aspic dishes.

They can be made in the cooler earlier hours of the day, then served without worry for the summer night dinner.

JELLIED VEAL LOAF

One 3-pound boned veal rump, 4 cups water, 1 onion, sliced, 1 celery stalk and leaves, 2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate, 1 tablespon salt, ½ teaspoon dried basil, 3 bay leaves, ¼ teaspoon peppercorns, 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice, 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 3 tablespoons finely chopped parsley.

Put veal in saucepan with tight-fitting cover. Add water, onion, celery, monosodium glutamate, salt, basil, bay leaves, peppercorns and pickling spice. Cover, bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 2 hours. Remove veal; chill. Strain broth; chill; skim off solidified fat. Reserve 1 cup broth. Measure remaining broth. Boil to reduce to 3 cups, if necessary. Soften gelatin in reserved cold broth. Add to the hot broth; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chil until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. While mixture is chilling, cut veal into julienne strips. Fold veal and chopped parsley into chilled gelatin mixture. Turn into 9x4x 2½-inch loaf pan. Chill until firm. Serve with Caper Sauce.

CAPER SAUCE

Hot Feet Makes For Hot Temper

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Hot and humid weather is trying to all of us. It drains the energy and turns the disposition from sweet to sour.

And more than anything, your feet feel the weather. They can't be air-conditioned all the time, and by the end of a soggy day, they feel hot and squashy.

Because burning feet can make you feel tired all over, it's wise to do something about them. One of the best ways to soothe them is with a foot bath to which you add a handful of salts similar to those used at famous spas. After a 15-minute soak, use a lava stone on roughened parts of your feet.

The third foot-saver is a medicated balm, an instantly cooling menthol-camphor cream with a non-greasy base. All three foot helps come in a brand new kit.

So there's really no need to put up with the distress of complaining feet. The smart gal will treat them just as she would her hands—even more so, because they take a far heavier beating. And foot care will pay off, not only health-wise, but beauty-wise, too.

Children Can Help, Too!

"The picnic was lots of fun, but oh what a time we had with the children!" is the way many parents sum up their feeling after a family outing. Keeping the youngsters out of difficulty can be a tiring task at a time when relaxation and enjoyment should be the first order of the day.

How can you plan a pleasurable picnic for the adults and keep the kids happy at the same time? Perhaps the best and simplest way is to give them a real part in the planning of the picnic, and to let them help in carrying out those plans.

Picnic Preparations

Preparation for the picnic should start well before the day of the outing, and the youngsters can be a great help in this. Let Junior check the family equipment to see that the 2-gallon jug, ice chest, insulated bag, etc., are still around and ready. Many a picnic has gotten off to a bad start because someone forgot that Aunt Nellie borrowed the picnic cooler last Labor Day and never returned it.

Next, Junior can check-up on Mom. Has she prepared the barbecue necessities: portable grill, charcoal lighter, chop meat, hamburger, spray-on barbecue sauce, paper plates and matches.

Once at the picnic grounds, youngsters should be given an opportunity to assist in the final preparation and serving of the food. Giving them responsibility is a good way to turn childish enthusiasm into useful channels.

Other Helpful Tasks

As for the boys, they enjoy being young woodsmen, tending the fire and cooking the meat, just like Indians, or cowboys on the trail. With supervision, they can have a great deal of fun at such tasks, and a few precautions will prevent danger. See that a supply of water is always near the fire and make sure that the youngsters understand the harm that fire can do.

Even barbecuing, once a strictly adult art, is now something the youngsters can help with. Equipped with a new aerosol can which sprays barbecue sauce directly on the meat from a safe distance, they can be master chefs as well as keepers of the fire or waitresses.

Pint-sized cowboys will get a bang out of their own brands. Turn an old piece of wood about a foot square into a plaque for his bunkhouse. Paint his own brand or copy those of famous cattle ranches of the wood. When dry, shellac the plaque to preserve the design and also bring out the wood's beauty.

"Prepare-Ahead-Of-Time" Foods For Summer Eating Take Over Limelight

It's summertime — a time that's loved by all. "Prepare-ahead-of-time" foods fashioned for summer eating take over the limelight. Prepare salads and relishes; put them in the refrigerator, and at the first hint of hungry appetites the foods are ready for the table.

Green Bean Relish and Easy Easy Green Bean Salad are at their best when prepared early and stored in the refrigerator for chilling.

GREEN BEAN RELISH
1 can (8 oz.) French Style Sliced Green Beans
1-3 cup onions, thinly slivered
¼ cup salad oil
1 Tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon pimiento, finely diced
2 tablespoons Dill Pkcles, chopped.

Drain Beans. Add onions, Combine all other ingredients, blend well and add to first two ingredients, mixing well. Chill several hours before serving. Especially good with cold cuts and cold, sliced roast pork or roast beef. Makes one cupful relish.

Accompany the Green Bean Relish or Salad with big delicious Ripe Olives, both Dill and Sweet Pickles, chunks and slices of various cheeses and cool refreshing iced tea. Added interest: garnish tea with maraschino cherries and chunks of Pineapple alternated on colored toothpicks.

EASY GREEN BEAN SALAD
1 can (1 ob.) French Style Sliced Green Beans
1-3 cup French Dressing
2 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons onion, diced
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup mayonnaise
FOR GARNISH:
1 can (3 oz.) sardines
2 fresh tomatoes

Drain Beans and place in a mixing bowl; add French Dressing. Chop eggs fine; mix in onion, salt and mayonnaise. Add to Beans and toss lightly.

Line a salad bowl with salad greens. Spoon Bean mixture in center of greens. Garnish with tomato slices and sardines. Chill and serve. Makes four servings.

Foundation makeup will show up in wrinkles and blemishes if applied carelessly. When applying makeup always smooth the skin so these areas are properly filled. A soft brush may be used to whisk away excessive amounts. It also is good to brush powder from the hairline.

Something Can Be Done About Any Beauty Problem

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Understanding your own kind of beauty takes a real intelligence. It also takes the kind of resilient spirit which rebels against the idea of copying the looks of the current reigning movie queen.

Probably the best way to gain a notion of one's true looks is to remove all make-up and survey one's face in a good, strong light. Note your bone structure, hairline, skin (good or bad?) natural eyebrow arch and lipline.

This will tell you most of what you need to know if you are honest and impartial. It will also tell you that something must be done about concealing a poor hairline (with a new hairdo), using a touch of rouge high up on the cheekbones and near the temples for a lovely glow or resolving to revamp your diet in order to improve a poor complexion.

The truth is that something can be done about almost any beauty problem if we are willing to face the fact that the problem is ours.

The sun, sea and surf provide health and beauty available. Years ago, when Victorian doctors sent their patients to take sea air, it was because they knew how beneficial it was. It's relacing, soothing, good for the eyes and the inner spirit, too. And while you're doing yourself general good, you're also acquiring a healthy tan.

"There are 5 in our family," says Mrs. Henry, "and they come and go, so you can see that our frozen foods are necessary to make quick meals. We bought our freezer to save work and to save money. We've had it now for over a year and a half. The freezer has our blessing on both counts — it does save work and it does save money. It's wonderful for making use of extra food. That's why I'll cook more than we'll eat at one sitting — I freeze the 'extra' food for later use — you can freeze it and know that the original tasty flavor will remain."

Jones Upset Over 'Nude' For Movie

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Carolyn Jones exploded in disbelief, then outrage, Saturday when she learned a movie company has in its possession an oil painting which shows her as a "reclining nude."

"I'm shocked," the talented redhead said when she learned the Mirisch Co. plans to use the four-foot likeness in the movie in which she co-stars with Alan Ladd, "The Man in the Net."

Miss Jones and her writer-husband, Aaron Spelling, intend to take a look at the painting Monday.

"There was never mention of any nude when they contacted me to take the part," the outspoken actress said.

A Mirisch spokesman said the company commissioned artist Harold M. Kramer to paint the nude along with a standard portrait of Miss Jones and an abstract oil showing several children at play.

"Carolyn has never posed as a nude," Spelling said, "and she certainly is not going to let them use this kind of a painting."

New Red Carpet!

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans may soon have enough red carpets to lead visiting dignitaries up Canal Street.

Since a United Press International story reported the city's 40-foot welcome mat was worn thin by the feet of celebrities, offers have come for a new 30-foot carpet from a local rug company and a 50-foot carpet from a Pennsylvania firm.

Independent Oil Men Win Verdict

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Drives by Senate and House anti-monopoly forces to put over a pre-merger notice bill this year are at a dead end.

This is a victory of sorts for independent oil producers who have lost no opportunity to denounce the legislation on grounds it would make big companies bigger and squeeze out small, defenseless firms.

The measure was sponsored originally two years ago by Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.), of the House Judiciary Committee. It passed the House but died in the Senate. Celler re-introduced it last year and Sen. Joseph P. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, sponsored a companion bill.

On Shelf for Year

The legislation would require advance notice to the Department of Justice of any merger involving combined assets of $10 million or more. The merger would have to be delayed for 60 days while the department's anti-trust division decided whether it was monopolistic and, if so, try to block it in the courts.

Celler's bill has been on a House Rules Committee shelf for a year. It can't reach the floor unless the "traffic cop" group headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) clears it. Smith, for reasons unexplained, has cold-shouldered Celler's requests for action. But it was reported he was angry because Celler opposed a state's rights bill to prevent federal laws from superseding state laws.

May be Killed

The O'Mahoney bill has been approved by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee. Spokesmen said it is on the full committee's agenda "awaiting action." This would be futile, however, unless there were prospects of final action in the House.

In any event, all pending legislation dies automatically when Congress adjourns sine die. This is expected about Aug. 15. Hence, the legislation would have to be revived again next year if its sponsors feel they still want to buck the tide.

Business organizations, large and small, torpedoed the measure at Senate and House committee hearings. Among them was the Independent Petroleum Association of America. It argued that while it would not apply to sale or acquisition of an oil lease or property worth less than two million dollars, such holdings would be accepted if the owner held only a small interest in property worth more than $2 million.

Farm Bill For This Year Unlikely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading House Democratic farm spokesman warned Saturday there is "no better than a 50-50 chance" Congress will pass major farm legislation this year for such crops as cotton, rice, and corn.

Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.), ranking Democratic member of the House Agriculture Committee, added in an interview that an administration - backed farm bill awaiting senate action was a "low price" measure.

Prospects that Congress will agree to a bill that would be acceptable to the administration are "not as good now as they were on January 1," Poage added.

Ellis Is Made Rear-Admiral

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A promotion to rear admiral has been announced for one of the top officers serving aboard the 60,000-ton aircraft carrier Saratoga now anchored off revolt-torn Lebanon.

He is Capt. William E. Ellis, of Burlington, N.C., who is chief of staff to Read Adm. G. W. Anderson, commander of Carrier Division Six with headquarters aboard the Saratoga.

Ellis was one of 30 captains chosen by a Navy selection board and approved by President Eisenhower for promotion to the temporary rank of rear admiral.

Bernard A. Clarey, Oskaloosa, Iowa; John B. Coldwell, Pawnee City, Neb.; Ralph C. Johnson, Galesburg, Ill.; Lewis J. Kirn, Milwaukee, Wis.; George H. Miller, Hammond, Ind., and Emmet O'Beirne, Elgin, Ill.

REFRESHING as a summer breeze is this jellied veal loaf, served with caper sauce. It's perfect as a light evening meal.

COOK'S NOOK

Meat In Aspic Is Cool Main Course Summer Dish

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Meat — either specially cooked or left over — is the base for main course summertime aspic dishes.

They can be made in the cooler earlier hours of the day, then served without worry for the summer night dinner.

JELLIED VEAL LOAF
(8 servings)

One 3-pound boned veal rump, 4 cups water, 1 onion, sliced, 1 celery stalk and leaves, 2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate, 1 tablespon salt, ½ teaspoon dried basil, 3 bay leaves, ¼ teaspoon peppercorns, 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice, 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 3 tablespoons finely chopped parsley.

Put veal in saucepan with tight-fitting cover. Add water, onion, celery, monosodium glutamate, salt, basil, bay leaves, peppercorns and pickling spice. Cover, bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 2 hours. Remove veal; chill. Strain broth; chill; skim off solidified fat. Reserve 1 cup broth. Measure remaining broth. Boil to reduce to 3 cups, if necessary. Soften gelatin in reserved cold broth. Add to the hot broth; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chil until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. While mixture is chilling, cut veal into julienne strips. Fold veal and chopped parsley into chilled gelatin mixture. Turn into 9x4x 2½-inch loaf pan. Chill until firm. Serve with Caper Sauce.

CAPER SAUCE

Hot Feet Makes For Hot Temper

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Hot and humid weather is trying to all of us. It drains the energy and turns the disposition from sweet to sour.

And more than anything, your feet feel the weather. They can't be air-conditioned all the time, and by the end of a soggy day, they feel hot and squashy.

Because burning feet can make you feel tired all over, it's wise to do something about them. One of the best ways to soothe them is with a foot bath to which you add a handful of salts similar to those used at famous spas. After a 15-minute soak, use a lava stone on roughened parts of your feet.

The third foot-saver is a medicated balm, an instantly cooling menthol-camphor cream with a non-greasy base. All three foot helps come in a brand new kit.

So there's really no need to put up with the distress of complaining feet. The smart gal will treat them just as she would her hands—even more so, because they take a far heavier beating. And foot care will pay off, not only healt-wise, but beauty-wise, too.

Children Can Help, Too!

"The picnic was lots of fun, but oh what a time we had with the children!" is the way many parents sum up their feeling after a family outing. Keeping the youngsters out of difficulty can be a tiring task at a time when relaxation and enjoyment should be the first order of the day.

How can you plan a pleasurable picnic for the adults and keep the kids happy at the same time? Perhaps the best and simplest way is to give them a real part in the planning of the picnic, and to let them help in carrying out those plans.

Picnic Preparations

Preparation for the picnic should start well before the day of the outing, and the youngsters can be a great help in this. Let Junior check the family equipment to see that the 2-gallon jug, ice chest, insulated bag, etc., are still around and ready. Many a picnic has gotten off to a bad start because someone forgot that Aunt Nellie borrowed the picnic cooler last Labor Day and never returned it.

Next, Junior can check-up on Mom. Has she prepared the barbecue necessities: portable grill, charcoal lighter, chop meat, hamburger, spray-on barbecue sauce, paper plates and matches.

Once at the picnic grounds, youngsters should be given an opportunity to assist in the final preparation and serving of the food. Giving them responsibility is a good way to turn childish enthusiasm into useful channels.

Other Helpful Tasks

As for the boys, they enjoy being young woodsmen, tending the fire and cooking the meat, just like Indians, or cowboys on the trail. With supervision, they can have a great deal of fun at such tasks, and a few precautions will prevent danger. See that a supply of water is always near the fire and make sure that the youngsters understand the harm that fire can do.

Even barbecuing, once a strictly adult art, is now something the youngsters can help with. Equipped with a new aerosol can which sprays barbecue sauce directly on the meat from a safe distance, they can be master chefs as well as keepers of the fire or waitresses.

Pint-sized cowboys will get a bang out of their own brands. Turn an old piece of wood about a foot square into a plaque for his bunkhouse. Paint his own brand or copy those of famous cattle ranches of the wood. When dry, shellac the plaque to preserve the design and also bring out the wood's beauty.

"Prepare-Ahead-Of-Time" Foods For Summer Eating Take Over Limelight

It's summertime — a time that's loved by all. "Prepare-ahead-of-time" foods fashioned for summer eating take over the limelight. Prepare salads and relishes; put them in the refrigerator, and at the first hint of hungry appetites the foods are ready for the table.

Green Bean Relish and Easy Easy Green Bean Salad are at their best when prepared early and stored in the refrigerator for chilling.

GREEN BEAN RELISH
1 can (8 oz.) French Style Sliced Green Beans
1-3 cup onions, thinly slivered
¼ cup salad oil
1 Tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon pimiento, finely diced
2 tablespoons Dill Pkcles, chopped

Drain Beans. Add onions, Combine all other ingredients, blend well and add to first two ingredients, mixing well. Chill several hours before serving. Especially good with cold cuts and cold, sliced roast pork or roast beef. Makes one cupful relish.

Garnish the Green Bean Relish with its good flavor companion, Ripe Olives — so attractive too. Accompany the Green Bean Relish or Salad with big delicious Ripe Olives, both Dill and Sweet Pickles, chunks and slices of various cheeses and cool refreshing iced tea. Added interest: garnish tea with maraschino cherries and chunks of Pineapple alternated on colored toothpicks.

EASY GREEN BEAN SALAD
1 can (1 ob.) French Style Sliced Green Beans
1-3 cup French Dressing
2 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons onion, diced
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup mayonnaise
FOR GARNISH:
1 can (3 oz.) sardines
2 fresh tomatoes

Drain Beans and place in a mixing bowl; add French Dressing. Chop eggs fine; mix in onion, salt and mayonnaise. Add to Beans and toss lightly.

Line a salad bowl with salad greens. Spoon Bean mixture in center of greens. Garnish with tomato slices and sardines. Chill and serve. Makes four servings.

Foundation makeup will show up in wrinkles and blemishes if applied carelessly. When applying makeup always smooth the skin so these areas are properly filled. A soft brush may be used to whisk away excessive amounts. It also is good to brush powder from the hairline.

Something Can Be Done About Any Beauty Problem

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Understanding your own kind of beauty takes a real intelligence. It also takes the kind of resilient spirit which rebels against the idea of copying the looks of the current reigning movie queen.

Probably the best way to gain a notion of one's true looks is to remove all make-up and survey one's face in a good, strong light. Note your bone structure, hairline, skin (good or bad?) natural eyebrow arch and lipline.

This will tell you most of what you need to know if you are honest and impartial. It will also tell you that something must be done about concealing a poor hairline (with a new hairdo), using a touch of rouge high up on the cheekbones and near the temples for a lovely glow or resolving to revamp your diet in order to improve a poor complexion.

The truth is that something can be done about almost any beauty problem if we are willing to face the fact that the problem is ours.

The sun, sea and surf provide health and beauty available. Years ago, when Victorian doctors sent their patients to take sea air, it was because they knew how beneficial it was. It's relacing, soothing, good for the eyes and the inner spirit, too. And while you're doing yourself general good, you're also acquiring a healthy tan.

"There are 5 in our family," says Mrs. Henry, "and they come and go, so you can see that our frozen foods are necessary to make quick meals. We bought our freezer to save work and to save money. We've had it now for over a year and a half. The freezer has our blessing on both counts — it does save work and it does save money. It's wonderful for making use of extra food. That's why I'll cook more than we'll eat at one sitting — I freeze the 'extra' food for later use — you can freeze it and know that the original tasty flavor will remain."

Independent Oil Men Win Verdict

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Drives by Senate and House anti-monopoly forces to put over a pre-merger notice bill this year are at a dead end.

This is a victory of sorts for independent oil producers who have lost no opportunity to denounce the legislation on grounds it would make big companies bigger and squeeze out small, defenseless firms.

The measure was sponsored originally two years ago by Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.), of the House Judiciary Committee. It passed the House but died in the Senate. Celler re-introduced it last year and Sen. Joseph P. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, sponsored a companion bill.

On Shelf for Year

The legislation would require advance notice to the Department of Justice of any merger involving combined assets of $10 million or more. The merger would have to be delayed for 60 days while the department's anti- trust division decided whether it was monopolistic and, if so, try to block it in the courts.

Celler's bill has been on a House Rules Committee shelf for a year. It can't reach the floor unless the "traffic cop" group headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) clears it. Smith, for reasons unexplained, has cold-shouldered Celler's requests for action. But it was reported he was angry because Celler opposed a state's rights bill to prevent federal laws from superseding state laws.

May be Killed

The O'Mahoney bill has been approved by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee. Spokesmen said it is on the full committee's agenda "awaiting action." This would be futile, however, unless there were prospects of final action in the House.

In any event, all pending legislation dies automatically when Congress adjourns sine die. This is expected about Aug. 15. Hence, the legislation would have to be revived again next year if its sponsors feel they still want to buck the tide.

Business organizations, large and small, torpedoed the measure at Senate and House committee hearings. Among them was the Independent Petroleum Association of America. It argued that while it would not apply to sale or acquisition of an oil lease or property worth less than two million dollars, such holdings would be accepted if the owner held only a small interest in property worth more than $2 million.

Ellis Is Made Rear-Admiral

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A promotion to rear admiral has been announced for one of the top officers serving aboard the 60,000-ton aircraft carrier Saratoga now anchored off revolt-torn Lebanon.

He is Capt. William E. Ellis, of Burlington, N.C., who is chief of staff to Read Adm. G. W. Anderson, commander of Carrier Division Six with headquarters aboard the Saratoga.

Ellis was one of 30 captains chosen by a Navy selection board and approved by President Eisenhower for promotion to the temporary rank of rear admiral.

Jones Upset Over 'Nude' For Movie

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Carolyn Jones exploded in disbelief, then outrage, Saturday when she learned a movie company has in its possession an oil painting which shows her as a "reclining nude."

"I'm shocked," the talented redhead said when she learned the Mirisch Co. plans to use the four-foot likeness in the movie in which she co-stars with Alan Ladd, "The Man in the Net."

Miss Jones and her writer-husband, Aaron Spelling, intend to take a look at the painting Monday.

"There was never mention of any nude when they contacted me to take the part," the outspoken actress said.

A Mirisch spokesman said the company commissioned artist Harold M. Kramer to paint the nude along with a standard portrait of Miss Jones and an abstract oil showing several children at play.

"Carolyn has never posed as a nude," Spelling said, "and she certainly is not going to let them use this kind of a painting."

New Red Carpet!

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — New Orleans may soon have enough red carpets to lead visiting dignitaries up Canal Street.

Since a United Press International story reported the city's 40-foot welcome mat was worn thin by the feet of celebrities, offers have come for a new 30-foot carpet from a local rug company and a 50-foot carpet from a Pennsylvania firm.

Farm Bill For This Year Unlikely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading House Democratic farm spokesman warned Saturday there is "no better than a 50-50 chance" Congress will pass major farm legislation this year for such crops as cotton, rice, and corn.

Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.), ranking Democratic member of the House Agriculture Committee, added in an interview that an administration - backed farm bill awaiting senate action was a "low price" measure.

Prospects that Congress will agree to a bill that would be acceptable to the administration are "not as good now as they were on January 1," Poage added.

17-Car Train Halted By Earthslides

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — A 17-car passenger train, the Missouri Pacific "Southerner", was halted by three earth slides Saturday near Riverside, Mo., about 30 miles south of here.

Mo-Pac officials said 186 passengers were stranded since 2:00 a.m. when the rain-loosened earth cascaded over the tracks.

No injuries were reported, and all passengers were cheerful and well supplied with food from the train's diner, a Mo-Pac spokesman said.

While the train stood blocked, another slide poured down against the mail car and one coach, with the dirt reaching just about to the cars' roof.

As workmen tried to free the stalled train, a third slide jammed the tracks behind the string of cars.

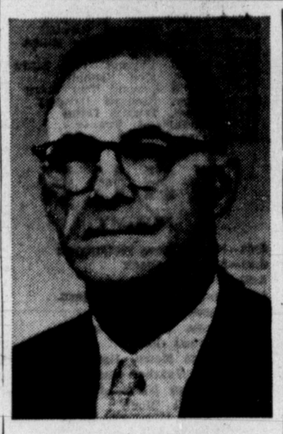

Two wreckers were on the scene, and MoPac officials said the train probably would be freed in the afternoon.

The company tried to get the passengers out by bus, but the vehicles could not get within three miles of the scene.

"The Southerner" runs from St. Louis, down through Arkansas, and into Texas. It splits off into three sections on reaching Texas, going to Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston.

He was made District Superintendent of the Odessa District in July, 1941. McCorkle was transferred to Pampa as District Superintendent of the Panhandle area on June 1, 1942. His actual date of retirement will be July 28 of this year.

The McCorkles plan to make Abilene their headquarters while touring the United States.

Tiny Two-Way Radio Developed

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—A tiny, two-way radio that can be slipped into a pocket or clipped on a belt to make its wearer a "walking radio station" has been made publice by the Radio Corporation of America.

The company envisions the radio's use particularly by policemen, firemen and construction workers, according to Theodore 0. Smith, executive vice president of RCA's industrial electronic products.

The newly - developed radio, called the Personalfone, consists of a 10-ounce transistorized receiver and a 28-ounce transmitter. It is described as having a two-mile range in communication with moving units or farther with fixed stations.

Gray County Ranges Are Looking Good

Ranges in the Gray County Soil Conservation District are beginning to look very good. Rains have fallen all during the first six months of this year. The grasses are now beginning to seed.

The short grasses such as Buffalo and Blue grama already have a seed head. The mid-grasses such a Sidoates grama and Little bluestem are beginning to make a seed head.

The tall grasses, such as Sand bluestem and Switch grass, are putting out seed heads on some of the better ranges.

Ranchers wishing to improve their ranges need to take inventory of their grasses now. After the drouth years many ranges were getting short. Some ranges improved a lot last year. This year appears to be a better year for improvement.

Most ranges need some deferred grazing to get the improvement needed. Grasses need to be rested during the growing season to improve the vigor of the forage stand and to insure seed production.

A grass plant needs to grow some foliage with which to manufacture food for growth and storage. A plant that does not have the foliage above ground does not have a good root system underground.

Falling Ping Pong Balls Will Herald August Dollar Days

(Special to The News)

PERRYTON — Merchandise certificates encased in ping pong balls, will be dropping from the sky around Perryton some time during the last week in July.

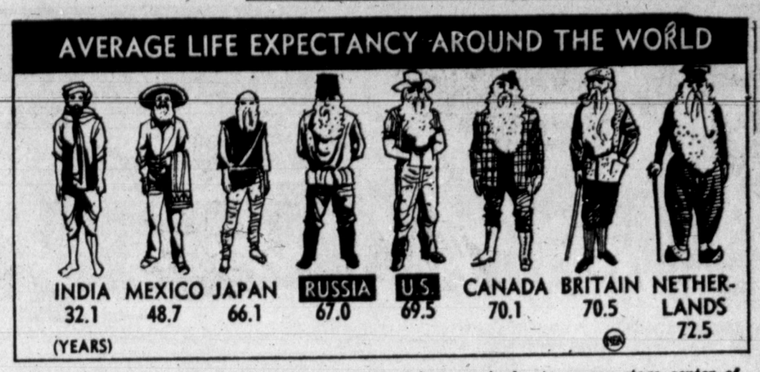

The dropping will be a special feature of the August Dollar Days, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, August 1 and 2.

Each of the white balls will have a $2 merchandise certificate redeemable at one of the Perryton stores. All the balls released would have a certificate inside. No blanks are to be dropped.

The certificates are redeemable without any cash purchase. They can also be applied to the purchase of an item costing more than two dollars. Each person will be limited to one certificate. One age to use the certificate.

Some 800 to 1,000 of the balls and certificates will be rained down on all towns in the Perryton trade area, as well as Perryton itself. Plans are to release them from an airplane two or three days before the scheduled dollar days.

Each of the balls will be cut open, a certificate inserted and the ball resealed with colored tape. The bright, colored tape should make the balls easier to spot.

THE LONGEVITY RACE—While the military and economic fronts occupy stage center of the Cold War, another "battle" is quietly taking place—one in which the only losers are death and disease. This is the continuing fight to increase man's life span. Newschart above shows samplings of expectancies around the world, based either on statistics from the United Nations or from the countries themselves. They range from India on the bottom to the Netherlands on top. Noteworthy is the Soviet Union, which has increased life expectancy at birth from 40 years in 1913 to 67 in 1956, not far below that of the United States. Most startling gain has been in Puerto Rico, where in a decade and a half, average life span has leaped from 46 to 68.3. In all, seven nations are ahead of the United States. The four not shown are Sweden, Norway, Israel and New Zealand.

Jobless Pay Up First July Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government says the number of jobless Americans drawing unemployment benefits rose in the week ended July 5—the first time the total had gone up since early April.

Labor Department figures released late Friday showed 37,200 persons were added to the jobless compensation rolls in that week, bringing the total to 2,588,900.

A year ago, the total was 1,300,400.

However, the department said new benefit claims in the week ended July 12 dropped by 71,000 to a total of 396,000 after an increase in the preceding week.

Some 44 million workers are covered by jobless insurance, mainly in such "hard-core" industries as manufacturing, mining and construction. However, the benefits are not available to farmers, domestic servants and state and local government employes.

Confessor To Take Lie Test

AUSTIN (UPI)— The State Board of Pardons and Paroles has agreed to allow a lie detector test for a convict who "confessed" to a crime for which Jimmy N. Shaver is scheduled to die July 25.

Sen. Jerrard Secrest of Temple, Shaver's attorney, suggested that Donald Summers, who confessed to the murder of a child for which Shaver was convicted, be brought to Austin for a polygraph test. Summers made the confession while in jail at San Antonio last Feb. 25.

Summers is now in Huntsville prison serving a term for robbery.

Bexar County Dist. Atty. Hubert Green agreed to Secrest's request, but criticized him for a statement in which Secrest said the state had made only a "superficial" investigation of the "confession" before branding it false.

Pardons and Paroles Board Chairman Jack Ross said Summers would be brought here for the test only if he were willing to take it. He has previously refused to take the test, but Secrest said Summers told him last week he would take the test.

The term "engineer" originally was applied to any person who produced military weapons of defenses.

LAMAS PERSECUTED

CALCUTTA (UPI)—The Chinese Communists have refused exit permits to Tibetan lamas who have been trying to flee to India in large numbers. The lamas reportedly face a new wave of persecution in eastern Tibet where they monasteries have been seized by the Communists and their traditional rights and privileges withdrawn.

It would take 33 days for an airplane to fly to the moon at the speed of 300 miles per hour.

THE COMFORTS OF HOME—Camping out can be almost as comfortable as home with the aid of this recently introduced camper's outfit. Five minutes of a easy handling converts a compact, aluminum case into a camper's tent, complete with table chairs, cots, stove with bottled gas—even a kitchen sink with running water. The carrying case, top photo, rides only ten inches above a special rack, which can be fitted to any kind of automobile. To set up housekeeping, the camper pulls the case, which rolls off its tracks and down to the ground to stand upright, serving as one side of the tent. Then the camper opens a door to find a rubber tent with telescoped supports, plus the other equipment. When the tent is set up, bottom photo, on the telescoping poles, it gives campers an 8 x 13 room, 8 feet high, with screened windows. The tent is made of rot and mildew-proof Fiberthin. Entire outfit retails at $695.

Jordan Warns Against Bogus Bills Here

Gray County Sheriff, Rufe Jordan, said yesterday that he had received a telegram from the Sears and Robuck Company of Dallas stating that they have notified their store here to the effect that several conterfeit $20 bills have been passed in the Dallas store.

Sheriff Jordan said that the bogus $20 bills have been passed at Sear's stores all over the nation and the person or persons passing them might work their way to Pampa.

Jordan gave this description of the bill; "It is made payable from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the series number is 1950. The check letter is M and the face plates on the bills are number 43. The Bill looks good and clear and like the original."

The description of the suspect is a white male, 38-40 years old, dark hair and dark eyes, 5'10 with a heavy build. He reportedly dresses nicely.

"If anyone gets one of these bills or sees this man please call an officer of the law," Jordan said.

PRMA Given State License

The State of Texas has granted the Pampa Retail Merchants Association the license necessary for the operation of a collection agency, W. L. Veale, manager, announced Friday. Veale is now working for affiliations with the 2,800 other agencies throughout the United States.

"We will accept an account in Pampa from anyone who is a legitimate professional or business person," said Veale, "member of the Association or not." He asks interested parties to call the Association office, MO 4-3240, for further information, regarding collection procedures.

For a week in August, Veale will attend the Credit Collection Institute of the Southeastern Region, meeting at the Universiy of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and the Carolinas will have credit managers at the meeting, as well as states not in the region.

"Each region has an institute once a year," says Veale. "Texas will have theirs in February." Veale is going to the Southeastern Region because its' Institute will be the first for which he will qualify.

All institutes are held in colleges and universities with faculty members and experienced credit managers teaching the courses. "There's a lot of seminar work," says Veale. "It's a night and day program. We go there to work."

Veale's institute work will represent the first year of a four year course. Since every region offers the same course of instruction, Veale will be able to attend the following institutes in any region and not lose any hours.

1 Card of Thanks 1

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead,—he is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land.
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there
And you-Oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and glad return,
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same I say:
He is not dead,—he is just away!

Perry Richardson

Thank you is an inadequate expression for the appreciation we feel for the kindness, thoughtfulness and assistance we received during the recent illness and death of our son, brother, grandson and nephew, Perry Richardson; but our gratitude goes to Dr. R. M. Hampton, Dr. Charles Ashby, the specialist from Amarillo, the nurses in attendance, the many, many friend who assisted and gave blood; to all of the many wonderful friends, who brought food and sent flowers; to Rev. O. M. Butler for his counseling and consolation and beautiful service; to Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home and the Pallbearers, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Richardson, Tommy and Betty, Grandmother H. M. Norris, and Uncle H. S. Richardson.

Middle East Q&A; It's Spelled Out In Oil

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — Here are some of the immediate questions facing the U.S. on the crisis in the Middle East — and answers obtained from qualified authorities:

Q. What do we want from the Middle East?

A. Oil. The U.S. and the free world consume 18½ million barrels of oil each day.

Q. But what about nuclear energy, solar energy—new fuels that science promises?

A. Even at our present rate of scientific advance, our oil needs are increasing daily. Within seven years we will need 28½ million barrels of oil each day.

Q. Don't we have enough oil under U.S. ground to supply our needs?

A. Probably not. It has cost more and more each year to find new oil reserves. And the cost of squeezing oil from shale is very high. If we depend solely on U.S oil reserves, the price of our fuel will rise and we will jeopardize our defenses by runing dry.

Q. How much oil do we have?

A. Expert opinion varies. But there is general agreement that proven reserves in the U.S. are about a 12-year supply.

Q. What is the Middle Eastern supply of oil?

A. With much of this barren, treeless, alien land still uncharted, geologists have already estimated that the Middle East holds two-thirds of the earth's oil.

Q. Can't we look to Venezuela or Canada for new oil?

A. Yes. And we are. But the cost of finding it is high and meanwhile we know that under the tiny country of Kuwait — about the size of Connecticut — lies twice the entire amount of oil in the U.S. And under a small section of Saudi Arabia that has been charted there is an equal reserve.

Q. But isn't is costly to import oil?

A. Not Middle Eastern oil. Where U.S. oil costs well over a dollar per barrel to produce, a barrel from Kuwait, for example, cost nine cents.

Q. Because labor is cheaper in the Middle East?

A. No. Oil production is not like auto production: labor is a small part of it. Cost of oil is built on availability. And where the average U.S. well pumps about 13 barrels per day, a Middle Eastern well pumps about 5,000 barrels per day.

Q. Does Western Europe have any oil?

A. Hardly any. France and England, for example, import well over 80 per cent of their oil needs from the Middle East.

Q. Does Russia Want Middle Eastern oil?

A. Our experts say no. Russia has enough oil of her own to supply her needs.

Q. But isn't she wooing Col. Nasser?

A. Yes. But not for the rights to use Arab-controlled oil. If Russia succeeds in helping Nasser drive the West out of the Middle East, Russia would then be faced with the tremendous burden of paying Nasser the royalties his people would lose. Saudi Arabia, for example, gets $1,000,000 per day in raoyalties for her oil.

Q. Does Nasser's United Arab Republic need the oil under its earth?

A. No. The cradle of civilization is only now beginning to awaken after a thousand years' sleep. This is an agrarian land and most of its machinery is used in either tilling the soil or producing oil.

Q. Well then, if Russia doesn't need this oil and the Arabs can't use it, that leaves only the free, industrialized nations.

A. Right. And, Nasser knows it. Listen to an excerpt from his autobiography:

"There remains (a) third source (of strength for us): oil, a sinew of material civilization without which all its machines would cease to function. . .The center of oil production has shifted from the United States to the Arab area where the wells are still virgin. . . Have I made clear how great the importance of this element of strength is?"

Q. Then he must deal with the free world?

A. Yes. But as he takes over more and more of Middle East, he holds the terms in his own hands. The Suez Canal, for example, floats out 60 per cent of Middle Eastern oil. Now he threatens to take Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq and Saudi Arbaia — the land through which the rest of the oil moves by pipeline.

Q. Is there any way to deal with Nasser short of war?

A. This is the problem that faces the Western World.

Perryton Celebration Will Take Place Of Annual Fair

(Special to The News)

PERRYTON — At a meeting of the North Plains Fair Association and representatives of other civic groups this week plans were formulated for holding the Perryton Celebration on Aug. 22-23 this year.

The North Plains Fair, which had been held annually from 1952, will not be held this year and the annual observance of Perryton's birthday will return to the custom of a Perryton Celebration.

As planned at the present time one of the highlights of the celebration will be a free barbecue, to be staged at noon on Saturday, August 23. It will take several thousand dollars to buy the food and a committee will meet soon to make plans for the fund drive.

Gayle Ferguson will head the barbecue committee. Others are Ed Garland, Don Ellis, Miles Edwards, Harold Hudson, D. W. Hart, Walter LaMaster, Harold Simpson, Bill Wison, Alton Witt, Shorty McClung, T. R. Shirley, W. H. Lance, Audie Conley, Lawrence Ellzey, L. D. Stinson, Gene Akers, W. H. Lackey, Louis Bryan, C. E. Haar, and Tom Slack.

Another new part of the entertainment program will be horse racing, with present plans calling for quarter horse racing, down a straightaway track with the finish line in front of the grandstand in the rodeo arena. D. W. Hart, J. W. Paynt and Hamilton Murphy have been named to the race committee.

A dance is planned for Friday night, with the rest of the entertainment program set for Saturday.

Question Will Be On Ballot

(Special to The News)

PERRYTON — The jobs of County sheriff and tax assessor-collector will be separated if county residents vote favorably on a special question to be included on the August 23 run-off ballot.

County Commissioners Court voted recently to call the special election question.

If the proposal is passed the office of tax assessor-collector will be filled by a write in vote in the November general election. The person elected will serve the unexpired term and the office will be filled for a full term in the 1960 elections.

State law provided for automatic separation of the two offices when the population in the county reaches 10,000 and allows the county to vote separation if the population is under that figure.
