Navy Feud May Erupt In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's appointment of a new Navy secretary may set off a chain reaction leading to congressional explosion over a tentative Pentagon decision to deny the Navy any more nuclear carriers.

When Paul H. Nitze, named Monday to succeed Fred Korth, comes before the Senate for confirmation, it seems certain he will be asked for his views on the continuing controversy over whether carriers should be phased out in favor of missiles and missile-firing submarines.

Korth, who said he was resigning to "attend to my pressing private affairs," probably will be asked to explain if his decision had any connection with his apparently futile efforts to get a new nuclear carrier built.

See related story, page 1-B
"Navy Foresees"

SPEEDS DECISION
Associates said his defeat in the nuclear power argument sped his decision to quit.

Some Congress members said they thought Korth's action stemmed from the row over the controversial TFX warplane contract award, and Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Korth will be questioned again about it.

Korth has told the Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., that a bank he formerly headed in Fort Worth, Tex., joined several others in making a loan to the General Dynamics Corp.

CHEAPER DECISION
General Dynamics was given the TFX contract by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara despite a claim by the Boeing Co. that it could produce the TFX — tactical fighter, experimental — cheaper. Korth supported the award to General Dynamics.

McClellan declined comment on the resignation. But Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said he thought it was precipitated by testimony on the plane contract.

"I predict there will probably be other resignations," he said. He gave no names.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he thinks there will be no serious opposition to confirmation of Nitze, who now is assistant secretary of defense for international affairs. He was named to the post by Kennedy in 1961.

GO TO SENATE
The nomination of Nitze, 55, will go to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

In announcing the Navy switch the White House disclosed that Korth wrote his resignation last Friday—the same day he persuaded McNamara to reconsider a tentative decision against permitting the Navy to install nuclear power rather than conventional engines in its new supercarrier.

Kennedy praised Korth in a "Dear Fred" letter accepting the resignation. Nothing was said about the carrier question. But informed sources made it clear that Korth had slighted McNamara will reverse himself. Nitze, a former partner in the Wall Street investment firm of Dillon, Read & Co., entered government service in 1940. He joined the State Department in 1946 and served as director of its policy planning staff from 1950 to 1953.

Dillon Begins Selling Task On Sen. Byrd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon began the job today of selling President Kennedy's tax cut package to what may be the toughest customer on Capitol Hill—Sen. Harry F. Byrd and his Senate Finance Committee.

After waiting through 20 days of closed hearings, Dillon appeared today with a thick sheaf of facts and figures that stressed a need for urgency in approving the $11 billion reduction this year.

Said Dillon: "It is essential to the well-being of the nation that every effort be made to complete action on this bill before the end of the current year . . . the nation has waited too long for relief from the stifling burden of excess taxes."

BALANCING CUTS

Byrd, the Virginia Democrat called by many "the watchdog of the Treasury," opposes a tax cut without balancing cuts in spending. He prefers to hold up action on the cut until the 1964 session to put pressure on Kennedy to put the brakes on the budget.

Dillon argued strongly against this.

"The need for a major program of tax reduction and revision is pressing," he said. "I firmly believe that to delay its passage would incur serious economic risks."

The President says the tax cut would give families extra money to buy dishwashers or make a down payment on a new car, plants money to buy new equipment, and free more money for investment. This, he and his advisers say, will put the economy in high gear, and also bring in more taxes ultimately.

CAPITAL GAINS

In his statement, packed with charts on what the reduction would do for taxpayers, Dillon said the bill as approved by the House will do the job with one exception—the treatment of capital gains.

"Because of the urgency of prompt action, I recommend that the committee eliminate the provisions of the bill dealing with capital gains," said Dillon.

His comments were in a prepared statement. If the bill comes fully effective, it would remove 1.5 million low-income families from the tax rolls, and mean cuts of $100 for four-person families earning $5,000 a year, $202 for a similar family with a $10,000 a year income, $1,004 for a $30,000 a year family, and $5,278 for a $100,000 family.

MORE MONEY

Administration officials want the tax cut to be passed and adding more money to take-home pay by January's checks. There's deep concern among them that a delay in the Finance Committee will bury the tax cut for this year under the dust of the forthcoming Senate battle over civil rights legislation.

The House, after months of hearings, passed the measure Sept. 25. The next day Dillon offered to testify for it before Byrd's committee.

Byrd put off the secretary's appearance and instead held closed door hearings for 20 days. The capital gains section that Dillon urged be dropped is complicated and it could generate a time-consuming controversy.

Foreign Aid Skirmish Blossoms In Senate

Metropolitan Captains

Although preparations for the Metropolitan Division of the United Fund have been in the mill for more than a week, the group kicked off officially Monday on a one-week intensive drive to dig up $3,500 of this year's goal. Heading the group is Larson Lloyd. Out in the field will be some 60 workers under the three captains. Shown making plans are, left to right, Chester Cathey, Ralph McLaughlin and R. R. McEwen Jr., captains. Last year the division went over its annual goal of $3,500 by $75.65.

Out Of Town Report Pushes UF Total Over Half Point

The United Fund campaign is the answer to a successful conclusion to this campaign. There are many volunteers who have worked their cards but have not reported them. It does not count until we get them at headquarters."

The United Fund lends support to 13 local youth guidance and welfare organizations. These include the Boy Scouts, Summer Recreation Program, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Milk and Ice Fund, Howard County Rehabilitation Center, Westside Youth Center, Lakeview YMCA, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Texas Rehabilitation Center, Texas United Fund, and Air Force Aid Society.

COUNTY GOP BACKS BARRY

Howard County Republicans, meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the First Federal Savings and Loan building, made plans for the 1964 election year and set up regular monthly meetings for the future.

The 35 members endorsed Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater as the Republican candidate for president in 1964.

County Chairman Ralph Gossett said tentative plans were made for a Dec. 7 dinner meeting with Congressman Ed Foreman as speaker.

Rick Anderson made a report on the county chairman's convention in Austin last week. He also said Texas GOP leaders were solidly behind Sen. Goldwater as a candidate.

Former Navy Leader Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Adm. Alan G. Kirk, 74, a naval hero who spent 40 years in military service and then went on to high diplomatic assignments, died today in Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Kirk entered the hospital Sept. 1 for treatment of a heart ailment.

He resigned last April as ambassador to Nationalist China because of ill health. He had held the post for almost a year. Kirk retired from the Navy in 1946 to accept appointment as ambassador to Belgium and minister to Luxembourg.

He later served three years as ambassador to Russia and for a brief period as director of the country's Psychological Strategy Board.

Kirk left a distinguished and action-packed naval career when he began his diplomatic assignments.

When Allied soldiers stormed into Sicily in 1943, Kirk led a task force that landed a division in less than half the scheduled time and without the loss of a single ship.

In the invasion of France on June 6, 1944, Kirk commanded the huge U.S. Naval task force that landed Allied troops and supported them by bombarding enemy installations on the Normandy beaches.

For his part in the invasion of Sicily, Kirk was invested as honorary Knight Commander of the Bath and received the U.S. Legion of Merit.

Rough Sledding Is Seen For Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight over foreign aid crackles anew today in the Senate where the administration intends to mount a counterattack to recapture some of the $1 billion cut in the House.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen thinks the tide of battle has turned against the aid program.

"The bill is in deep, deep trouble this year," said the Illinois senator. "There is a new and harder attitude in the Senate and throughout the country."

President Kennedy is asking the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to restore at least a good chunk of the $1 billion the House chopped from the $4.5 billion he had requested.

In the past the Senate usually has voted to restore much of what the House has taken away. But this time, Dirksen told reporters, the mood has changed.

GOING DOWN

"The number of recipient countries is going down and there is a feeling among the people that there are countries in which the foreign aid program is not accomplishing anything worthwhile," he said.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., counters that "the foreign aid bill is always in trouble. I don't know that it is in any more trouble this year than it always is. It is not a popular bill and it has no constituents."

The committee's previous deliberations on the measure were interrupted by its hearings on the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

More than a score of amendments aimed at tightening the program are scheduled for consideration.

HOUSE ECHOES

Even as the battle was resuming in the Senate there were echoes of the fight in the House. Testimony taken in closed hearings of a House Appropriations subcommittee and just made public revealed that Indonesia ordered three jet airplanes in the United States for $20 million.

IN NEW VOTE

Ecumenical Okays Use Of Modern Languages

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council overwhelmingly today extended the use of local languages to the sacraments, as well as the Mass, keeping Latin only for the very heart of the rites.

The more than 2,000 prelates meeting in St. Peter's Basilica also agreed to change the name of extreme unction—the sacrament of Last Anointing—to "anointing of the sick." This was done to remove the fear of death overtones of the sacrament's present name.

Approval of these changes came in voting on amendments to a schema (topic) on liturgy, or public worship.

The council fathers also voted to end discussion on a difficult passage in a theological schema, "de ecclesia."

tion in the same week it got an emergency $17 million stabilization loan from this country.

"I do not think any country which can spend $20 million for plush airplanes is in such dire financial straits that they have to have an emergency loan from us," said Rep. George W. Andrews, D-La.

Subcommittee Chairman Otto E. Passman, D-La., said, "They are familiar with the gullibility of Uncle Sam."

The House adopted an amendment to stop economic aid to Indonesia. This is another of the actions the administration hopes the Senate will change.

MOROCCO KING

In testimony made public today, Passman turned his guns on the king of Morocco. He said he resented that the United States planned to give Morocco $20 million for the use of bases it will evacuate by the end of the year.

"I picked up the paper this morning and saw that we have given this spendthrift from Morocco, who bought five Cadillacs and 17 of his servants an automobile each, $20 million," Passman said.

He referred to King Hassan, the ruler of Morocco, who visited President Kennedy last March. The king now is the host of Mrs. Kennedy in his country.

David Bell, U.S. aid administrator, said that reports that the king purchased a fleet of automobiles were not verified.

The Passman-Bell exchange came in closed hearings June 3.

King Urging New Boycott

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — An intensified buying boycott by Negroes against downtown stores has been urged by integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

He also said a decision could come this week on whether Birmingham will face "bigger and ever" racial demonstrations. At a mass rally Monday night King charged white merchants with broken promises in complying with an agreement which ended demonstrations last May.

King said he was in Birmingham to evaluate the racial situation and progress made since he and other Negro leaders pressed two demands on city leaders a week ago.

At that time, he and Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, president of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, asked the city to hire 25 Negro policemen within two weeks and hold a face-to-face meeting with the organization and other Negro leaders.

Mayor Albert Boutwell flatly rejected the meeting, stating that the City Council would meet only with "bona fide" Negro residents of the city.

South Koreans Choose President

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korea elected a president today, choosing between strongman Chung Hee Park and Yun Po-sun, whose party charged election fraud and accused the military of brokering voters.

As the polls closed, Park issued a statement asserting the election was conducted in "the most peaceful balloting atmosphere in Korea's history." He appeared confident of victory.

Yun's Civil Rule party immediately raised charges that might enable them to challenge the validity of the election, which was called under U.S. prodding after more than two years of rule by Park's military junta.

Space Nuclear Ban Readied For U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union put final touches today on a joint effort to bar nuclear weapons from outer space and clear the way for new disarmament negotiations.

The U.N. General Assembly's main political committee scheduled a double session on disarmament as the two big powers readied two resolutions couched in the new spirit of East-West amity.

One proposal, to be introduced by other members on behalf of Moscow and Washington, appeals to nations to refrain from putting nuclear weapons on orbiting space satellites.

The United States and Russia planned to propose the second resolution. It would press the Geneva Disarmament Committee to explore possibilities for a breakthrough on the question of complete disarmament.

The eight nonaligned members of the 17-nation Geneva Committee had two resolutions for assembly consideration.

One was drawn in general terms and renewed the call for complete disarmament. It was not expected to stir up much discussion.

The other, dealing with the disputed question of underground testing, underwent last minute revisions after Soviet and American arms experts objected to a preliminary draft. The resolution calls on the nuclear powers to round out the limited nuclear test-ban treaty by halting nuclear weapon tests beneath the earth's surface.

The United States objected to the initial draft circulated by Yugoslavia because it failed to mention inspection safeguards. The Russians objected to mention of previous resolutions they did not like.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home announced after a meeting in New York Oct. 3 that their governments agreed in principle that the orbiting of nuclear weapons should be banned.

Negro Is In Running For Georgia Mayor

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — Citizens of this Georgia city choose a Democratic candidate for mayor today from among three persons—the first Negro ever to run for the office and two white segregationists.

All three agree that Negro integration leader Slater King has not a chance of winning the primary, but for different reasons.

King, 35, a native of Albany, says he hopes the campaign has helped members of his race to think politically.

"I am really interested in freeing the minds of Negroes because many of them feel that Negro should aspire for high office," he said. King is a real estate broker.

The white candidates are attorney James V. Davis and architect Edward V. Jones.

Davis, a former state representative, expressed the belief there will be a runoff and that King will be in it.

But, he said, "I don't think he has a chance of winning unless the white people sit down and don't go to the polls. People are rather excited about the election and I don't believe they'll do that."

Jones, who describes himself as "a Goldwater conservative," based much of his campaign on opposition to what he called federal interference.

"I am against socialism and in favor of states rights," he said. "I am against a biracial committee."

Failure of the city to establish a biracial committee to discuss Negro grievances is one of several issues which brought intermittent civil rights demonstrations and more than 1,200 arrests during the past two years.

Albany has a population of 58,000, including about 24,000 Negroes. There are an estimated 4,600 Negroes among the 16,436 registered voters.

Political observers think King will get most of the Negro vote and that this will put him into a runoff. A majority is necessary for election.

Mayor Asa D. Kelley Jr. is not seeking re-election.

Quints Haired By Hometown

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — It was wet and gray in Quint City U.S.A.—but the people turned out in droves to say "Happy Birthday" to the Fischer quintuplets.

An estimated 20,000 to 25,000 lined Aberdeen's main street Monday for a mile-long, hour and a half parade honoring Andrew Fischer, his wife, Mary Ann, and their newborn — four girls and a boy.

Six blocks from the noise and excitement of the biggest celebration ever staged in this farming community, the month-old quintuplets squirmed and kicked in their isolettes at St. Luke's Hospital.

They had another weigh-in session and got measured for the first time.

THE SMALLEST

Mary Ann, the smallest, weighed 3 pounds, 12 ounces and measured 16½ inches; Mary Magdalene weighed 4-10 and measured 17; Mary Catherine was 4-13 and 18½; Mary Margaret was 5-1 and 18½; and James Andrew 6-1 and 19 inches.

On main street, Andy and Mary Ann Fischer were the life of the party, along with their other five children — also four girls and a boy.

The Fischers followed a 300-pound birthday cake down the street. Trailing them was a stream of floats, bands and dignitaries.

Politics Rise For Mexicans

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The pace of political activity is being stepped up, and there are predictions the government party will call a national convention before the end of the week.

A convention of the government's Party of Revolutionary Institutions would be a step toward naming a successor to president Adolfo Lopez Mateos in elections next summer.

Opposition to PRI is so weak that whoever gets the PRI nomination will be regarded by most Mexicans as the president-elect. Predictions for the convention call came from sources within the party and from political writers.

Rival political leaders meanwhile debated a speech by Gen. Gabriel Leyva Velazquez, a former president of PRI. He said Sunday there was no reason for a widely accepted belief that one couldn't be a religious man and a follower of the Mexican revolution.

Being a revolutionary is a necessity for anyone to succeed in political life in Mexico.

Adolfo (Christie) Ibarrola, president of the Party of National Action (PAN), denounced the General's statement as an effort to reap political advantage for PRI by soothing Roman Catholics, the nation's religious majority.

PAN is generally regarded as strongly pro-Catholic and PRI either anti-Catholic or neutral.

GUESTS OF HONOR

It was evident, however, that the Fischer family would be leading far from ordinary lives. Crowds of children flocked around to get autographs.

Earlier, the Fischers were guests of honor at a reception and luncheon. Among gifts they received were five gold medals sent by Pope Paul VI along with personal blessings.

Asked to make a speech, Fischer, who was an $80-a-week clerk before becoming famous, quipped, "This is the greatest task I've had to undergo in the past 30 days. I'm not very good at speech-making."

The Fischers said "the help offered and given by so many persons came when our problems were almost overwhelming and greatly relieved our heavy burdens."

Mrs. Fischer told newsmen she longed for some quiet days. Her husband commented "So do I. I think we'll have them after awhile."

Report Indicates Fewer Thefts Are Occurring Here

Theft and larceny is on the decrease in Big Spring, according to figures contained in the police department's monthly report for September.

Total value of property stolen to date this year is $31,684.90. This compares favorably with the figure of $32,077.80 for property stolen by the end of September last year.

Value of property stolen in September, 1962, is $3,747.12. Value of property stolen last month is $6,063.89. There were 11 burglaries, two cases of larceny over $50, and 27 instances of larceny under $50, recorded during September.

Figures for the previous month show 24 burglaries, two cases of larceny over $50 and 21 instances of larceny under $50.

Larcenies totaled 173 and burglaries 86 for the first nine months of 1963. There were 126 burglaries and 258 larcenies reported during the first nine months of 1962.

Stolen automobiles accounted for the biggest loss in both years. Twenty-six cars valued at $29,065 were stolen during the nine month period of 1962. Thirty cars valued at $23,175 were taken during the first nine months of this year.

There were five auto thefts last month, compared with three in September. All of the automobiles stolen last month were recovered.

Total value of property recovered: this month, $1,808.22; last month, $8,849.94; this year to date, $33,332.04; and, last year to date, $32,737.37. Although thefts appear to be on the decrease, the number of arrests has increased. There were 1,490 arrests made in the first nine months of 1962 and 1,512 during the similar period for this year.

Delinquency Is Increasing

Juvenile delinquency is on the increase, according to a Big Spring police department report for September.

Twenty juveniles were taken into custody during the month. Only fifteen were arrested in August.

More youthful offenders were arrested during the first nine months of 1963 than during the corresponding period of 1962. There were 90 arrests through September of this year compared with 83 for the similar period last year.

Although juvenile offenses increased only one from 51 offenses in August to 52 in September, the total number of offenses during the first nine months of 1963 increased 13 over the first nine months of 1962. There were a total of 338 arrests during the period, January through September, of this year. There were 345 arrests during the same period of 1962.

The number of youths counseled or warned by the police department has increased along with the rise in arrests, indicating that fewer youths are being released to their parents.

Twenty-four youths were counseled or warned during September whereas only 18 received similar treatment during August. Total counseled or warned in 1963 is 112. This is 11 more than the 101 juveniles who were counseled or warned in the first nine months of 1962.

MEN ARE LOST

That is why we are compelled to preach and to write. Men are lost in sin. Everybody knows something is wrong. Human wisdom has not been able to give a satisfactory explanation. The Bible tells us what is wrong; and its explanation is unanswerable.

Therefore, as through one man sin entered into the world, and death through sin; and so death passed unto all men, for that all sinned" (Rom. 5:12). This is spiritual death: the opposite of justification; the equal of condemnation (verse 16).

Men are lost; and Christ came to this earth to "seek and to save that which was lost" (Lk. 19:10). He saves the lost, because he is "the lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" (Jno. 1:29). "Neither is there salvation in any other" (Acts 4:12).

That is why we must preach Christ to you. He is your only hope. Without him you are hopelessly lost!

NEURITIS CAUSES

By Halvard T. Hansen, D.C. Neuritis is one of the most painful, nerve-racking experiences known to man. The pain is boring and stabbing. The victim is unable to get any rest or sleep. Every movement means suffering. There is loss of power and feeling.

A local inflammation of a nerve is called simple neuritis. It is localized in one spot and is usually caused by pressure on a nerve at a point of exit from the spine. Pressure on a nerve near the surface of the body, such as the shoulder or elbow will result in numbness and tingling.

Repeated constriction and pressure may result in inflammation of the affected nerve. The nerve sheath or neurolemma may squeeze the sensitive nerve fibers and form adhesions. This will aggravate the neuritis and develop in a chronic stage. Blows, falls, contusions and long exposure to cold will result in a similar way. The spine should be checked in ALL cases.

If you are still suffering from a similar condition or discomfort, have your spine checked at the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic — across from Piggy Wiggy, AM 3-3324, as this woman did.

This woman complained of pains in the left leg (Sciatic nerve), left arm, shoulder and neck. Extremely nervous with headaches and constipation complicated by insomnia from her aches and pains. Now, after correction of her spinal nerves, she enjoys freedom from her pains and aches. No. 2173. You can have the same health when your spinal nerves are freed from nerve root irritation. —Adv.

Lately he's been buying his own groceries and cooking his own meals because he thinks I'm trying to poison him. He uses vile language and he accuses me of the filthiest things. And after 43 years of love and faithfulness! If there is a knock on the door, he goes with his pistol to answer it. He has spells and acts like his old sweet self for a day or two, then he starts in acting ugly again. I'm afraid if I ask anyone for help they will lock him up. Please tell me what to do, but don't let on where this letter came from.

DEAR ABBY: I am not a child. In fact, I'm a grown woman of 50, but there is a question I'd like to ask you. When robins, or other birds, lay their eggs, do these eggs grow any larger before they're hatched? I hope this doesn't sound like a silly question, but I must settle a discussion with my husband who says once eggs are laid they do not grow. I say they do.

DEAR ABBY: Why all this nonsense about displaying the flag? I am 53 years old and I have never owned a flag or flown one. I did send one son to World War II, and another to the Korean conflict. I cast my vote and raise my voice in protest when bigots and men of ill will endanger our precious heritage. I love my fellow man, and hold his right as dear as my own, regardless of his race, color or creed. Anyone can wave a flag, but what does it prove? Live your life according to God's will, and you won't need to.

State Presenting Its Case In Trial

Only one witness remained to be heard in the prosecution's case against Jose Nunez Lopez, charged with murder, at 11:30 a.m. today.

Lopez, accused of murder in the death March 25 of Gloria Gomez, went on trial Monday in 11th District Court. A jury composed of 10 men and two women was seated at 5:10 p.m. Monday. Court recessed until this morning. The state began its presentation of witnesses at 9 a.m.

At 10 a.m. Gil Jones, district attorney, indicated he had one more important witness to introduce and told the court that this witness would not be available until 11:30 a.m. She is a young Negro girl, Jones said, who had been told to report to court but who had apparently misunderstood. She was reported to be in a cotton patch and a search was under way for her.

She is said to be of particular importance to the state in its efforts to connect Lopez directly with the fatal beating administered to Gloria Gomez on or about March 25, the state said.

At noon, the missing witness was still being sought. Judge Ralph Caton, presiding in the case, instructed the bailiff to take the jurors to lunch and the prisoner back to his jail cell. He said court would resume at 1 p.m.

First state witness called today was Pedro Montemayor, a city police officer. He told of picking up the Gomez woman and placing her in the city jail on or about the date given. She had been badly beaten, he testified, and had black eyes and numerous bruises on her face and arms.

John Burgess, city attorney, and John Richard Coffey, city court judge, told how the woman was brought before them in city court on a police charge the morning following her arrest by Montemayor.

She was fined for the alleged offense and credited with $6 for jail time served, the witnesses said. She was then released. Both lawyers described the woman as bearing evidence of having been severely beaten.

Fourth state witness was Dr. Fabian Gomez, San Antonio. Dr. Gomez was in Big Spring on the date the woman was found dead in her apartment. He was engaged by the state to perform an autopsy on the body and he held that death had been caused by heavy injuries to the brain. Severe hemorrhage occurred, he testified. He said that the injuries had been perpetrated some time prior to the day he performed the autopsy.

Questions by attorneys Wayne Basden and Dee Jon Davis, indicated there is a plan in the defense program to set up the theory that the woman may have been subjected to a second beating after she was administered by Lopez.

The testimony of the young Negro girl was expected to climax the state's case. It is possible the trial can be completed by noon Wednesday.

The jury was selected from a special venire which had dwindled to 44 individuals when actual selection of jurors was begun. J. W. Speegle was the 12th.

Enrollment Up Again

After two weeks of decline, enrollment in Big Spring public schools climbed upward by 13 to 7,613 pupils on the weekend report Friday, according to S. M. Anderson, superintendent.

Attrition continued at the secondary level, with a loss of 10 recorded during the week. Elementary grades, however, showed a gain of 22 for the week and special education picked up one. The counts at those levels were: elementary 4,424; secondary 3,053 and special education 136.

By school the enrollments and changes were: Airport 509, up seven; Bauer 312, up 10; Boydston 503, up three; Cedar Crest 289, up one; College Heights 485, down one; Gav Hill 131, up two; Kate Morrison 247, up six; Kentwood 114, down one; Lakeview 193, up one; Marcy 331, down two; Park Hill 253, no change; Washington 686, down four.

Goliad 810, no change; Lakeview Junior High 64, no change; Rannels 865, down two; and Senior High 1,305, down eight.

Pistol Packer Held In Jail

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Bernard George Dittich, 35, ranch hand from Chatsworth, Calif., pleaded guilty in Mitchell County court Monday to charges of carrying a pistol and was fined $227.50.

Dittich was arrested Friday about noon when his companion, Mrs. Arthur J. Grolitzer of Reseda, Calif., flourished a .357 Magnum pistol in the face of a local restaurant owner. Both Dittich and his companion were wearing gunbelts, pistols and bowie knives.

Mrs. Grolitzer paid her fine Saturday night and left for California Sunday morning with her husband.

Dittich was unable to pay his fine Monday and is still in the Mitchell County jail.

A turn to cooler weather Tuesday night will be noted in the upper Mississippi Valley and the northern Plains. A few showers are expected in the Lakes region and northern parts of Ohio Valley and in southern Florida.

Widely scattered showers are due in north Pacific states and north and central Rockies with some snow in the higher elevations of the central Rockies. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

An advanced water works course is being taught at City Hall, according to Roy Hester, superintendent of the Big Spring water treatment plant.

Hester said the course opened Monday night. Classes will be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. through Thursday of this week and Monday through Thursday of next week, he said.

Some 24 water and sewer department employees from area cities are taking the course. Hester said graduates will receive 20 hours credit toward an operator's certificate.

Requirements for a Class "C" operator are 20 hours class instruction and one year of experience. Class "B" requirements are 80 hours instruction and three years experience. Class "A" requirements are 120 hours instruction and eight years experience.

In addition, applicants for licenses must pass a test given by the State Health Department. Hester said the next test will be given Tuesday, Oct. 29 following the course. He said he expected a number of enrollees to take the test for Class "C" license.

Instructor for the course is Bill Mixon, Texas A&M College School of Extension. Hester holds a Class "A" operator's license.

Fourteen members and a guest, Mrs. Edward Johnson, participated in games with prizes going to Mrs. Joe Maldonado and Mrs. Roger Smith.

Hostesses were Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Ronald Kahoser. The next meeting will be held in the Flame Room at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 28.

Attorney General Makes No Check Dept. Ruling

J. C. Davis, assistant attorney general, said today in a telephone conversation with District Attorney Gil Jones that the state attorney general's office has not been contacted "formally or informally" on the legality or illegality of the hot check department now functioning in the office of Miller Harris, sheriff.

Davis added "If either Mr. Jones or the Howard County attorney will make a formal request to this office for an opinion on the matter we will be happy to provide one."

Davis had been quoted as the source of a statement that the department as it now functions is an illegal operation.

He said he had not discussed the matter with anyone and added that any statement made outside of the office and informally was of no significance in the evaluation of any legal question.

Meantime, merchants of the city, who feel that the sheriff's department hot check office is of great value, are asking that the situation be finally determined. The county commissioners court in a session Monday had raised the question of the legality of the department.

Only two counties have such departments. One is here and the other in Wichita County.

Neither Jones nor Burns have been requested, they said, to obtain an official ruling by the attorney general on the matter.

Plead Guilty, Go To Jail

Two transients admitted in Howard County Court this morning they attempted to defraud a motel out of money owed for lodging. As a result, both men are now assured of 30 days free room, board and safekeeping at no cost.

They pleaded guilty and were sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail for attempting to avoid payment of lodging fees owed to the Desert Motel on Scurry. They were identified as Charles Wyatt, 34, who claims Arlington, Va., as his birth place and James Pierce, 24, of Bristol, Va.

Ross Hoffman, charged with writing a worthless check, was sentenced to serve 15 days in the county jail. In Hoffman's case as well as that of the two Virginians, court costs must also be paid in connection with the jail sentences.

Receives Honors

Mrs. Thomas J. Natoli, wife of the national ABC president, may not have held bridge honors but she did receive party honors and a corsage of chrysanthemums Monday afternoon. She is shown, left, with Mrs. Morris Robertson.

Visitor Is Honored By Club

Here with her husband, Dr. Thomas J. Natoli, national president of the American Business Club, Mrs. Natoli was honored Monday at an afternoon tea and bridge party. XYZ Club members, wives of the ABC members, were hostesses with Mrs. Weldon Byson in charge.

Guests were received in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Building. In the receiving line with Mrs. Natoli were Mrs. William Cox of Lubbock, wife of the ABC district governor, Mrs. Bob Hickson, wife of the local ABC president, and Mrs. Elmo Phillips, vice president of XYZs in Big Spring.

Mrs. Charles Dunn and Mrs. V. A. Whittington were those who served, assisted by Mrs. Garner McAdams. The table, covered with a white linen and lace cloth and appointed with silver, was marked with an arrangement of bronze and gold mums interspersed with autumn leaves.

Mrs. Natoli and her husband are residents of Norristown, Pa. Both were guests of the ABCs at a luncheon given in the Settles Hotel preceding the afternoon event.

Forsan P-TA Hears Talk By Ainsworth

"The Family Is Education Our Affair?" was the subject for a talk given Monday evening for the Forsan Parent-Teacher Association meeting at the school. The talk was made by Dr. J. Ainsworth, counselor for the Big Spring schools.

Mrs. A. D. Barton conducted a business session and announced that library books for the new school library would be the year's project for the P-TA. Mrs. Bob Rodman read the proposed budget which was approved. Also, Nov. 9 was set as the date for a fall festival.

Miss Mary Pratt's first grade won the room count.

Family Returns To New Jersey Home

Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Phil II and their sons, Carl III and Stephen William, have returned to their home in Moorestown, N. J., after spending several weeks with Mrs. Phil's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William G. Hook, Navajo Drive.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Of all the Texas exes to be seated among Oklahoma fans at the Cotton Bowl Saturday were avid rooters CHARLES and RITA WEEG.

When the game was over the Weegs just stayed put as did most of the pleased Texans who just couldn't get over the great joy of victory. Mrs. Weeg was looking for some Big Spring ex-students and hadn't seen any until MIKE WORLEY and our No. Two Boy, Gary, hove into sight. They had a good visit while the thousands milled about them.

MRS. MARY EHLMANN has returned to Big Spring after spending a month in Morris, Minn., with a daughter and her family. Mrs. Ehlmann, 80, makes the trip each summer and returns here for the winter with another daughter, MRS. GEORGE PITTMAN, and Mr. Pittman. She accompanied the Pittmans home and en route here the group spent some time in Denver and Estes Park. Colorado isn't cold yet, according to Mrs. Pittman, but the aspens are turning which makes the mountains a beautiful sight.

Prior to going to Minnesota the Pittmans had spent three weeks in Hot Springs, Ark., enjoying the mineral baths and visiting a sister of his.

MRS. BILL BRADFORD and LaVelle have returned from Waco where they have visited Mrs. Bradford's grandmother.

The OTIS GRAFAS are spending this week in Cleburne where Mrs. Graf is attending business interests.

A happy visitor to Big Spring this week is former resident MRS. LAWRENCE COLLETT whom most people here remember as "Mom" Eubanks. Mrs. Collett makes her home in Fort Smith, Ark., but always gets back here for a stay each year to keep in touch with her numerous friends.

The SHERMAN SMITHS and the JOHN COFFEYS made a quick trip to the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains Friday and came back through the Big Bend country. Sherman had a scouting conference on the pad.

Almost any item of clothing can be stamped with each child's name. (For example: blue jeans have white pockets; socks can be stamped on the toes.) Believe me, the stamping lasts through heavy bleaching, and stays on for years, so be careful just where you stamp.

The initial expense costs a little more than for other marking methods but the same stamp can be used for years and years. My daughter, who is now in college, still uses her stamp to mark her belongings.

The GRANVILLE HAHNS had more football over the weekend than most people. They attended the SMU game Friday night, the Texas game Saturday and the Cowboys fracas Sunday. Sons GREGG and RANDY had to miss the Texas game but took in the other two.

MRS. MINNIE WILLIAMSON, mother of MRS. JIMMIE FELTS SR., left today for her home in Heber Springs, Ark., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Felts and other relatives here.

J. C. EBERSOLE of Brownfield is a patient in Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital where he has undergone surgery. Mr. Ebersole is a former resident of Big Spring.

Dear Heloise: I learned this trick after raising five boys. It has to do with the chore of marking clothes for school (or camp), and just plain every day sorting laundry.

Order a rubber stamp at any office supply store with each child's name on it. Buy an uninked stamping pad and a bottle of indelible cloth marking ink to use on the pad. Almost any item of clothing can be stamped with each child's name. (For example: blue jeans have white pockets; socks can be stamped on the toes.) Believe me, the stamping lasts through heavy bleaching, and stays on for years, so be careful just where you stamp.

Dear Heloise: I have had one pot of ivy in my living room for years, and all of a sudden, it just stopped growing. The leaves are coming out small, and it does not sprout anymore. What is the matter?

Dear E.S.: I suggest if you have had this pot of ivy for years that you remove it from the pot and see if it is root-bound. If so, you should plant it in a larger pot using fresh soil. Sometimes this works.

Anyone have a better idea? If so, write to us care of the Big Spring Herald. We sure would appreciate it! Heloise

Miss Burnham Leads Study

The first in a series of studies on "Christian Issues in Southern Asia" was presented Monday evening by members of Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church. Miss Gladys Burnham is the study leader for this course.

Taking Mrs. Irene Draper as a model, Miss Burnham showed how the dhoti, casual trousers for men of India, is worn topped by a white coat and white beret. She then draped Mrs. John Cherry with a sari, colorful dress of the women of India. Mrs. Nan Bunch wore a light colored blouse and full skirt, concealing her face with a white veil.

Mrs. Morris Gay gave data relative to India's history; Mrs. Miller Harris' discussion pertained to Pakistani women; Mrs. Cass Hill told the background history of Ceylon, and Miss Twila Lomax, that of Nepal.

During the business session, as Mrs. Harris presided, members agreed to continue assisting with game parties at the state hospital. The next one is scheduled for Nov. 7. Mrs. B. M. Keese asked members to bring their "Week of Prayer" offering to the next meeting, Wednesday, Oct. 23. Mrs. W. D. McDonald has Christmas nappkins which guild members will sell to provide Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets.

Before the program, dinner was served in Fellowship Hall with Mrs. Anna Cunningham offering the invocation.

Artifacts, lotus blossoms, replica of a water well, oriental jewelry, all representative of southern Asia, were featured on the white laid tables.

Hostesses to the 35 attending were Mrs. Bert Affleck, Mrs. A. C. Bass, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Cass Hill and Miss Burnham. Mrs. Jane Farmer was a guest.

Members repeated the guild benediction as dismissal.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the designer-genius, Olga. Be "Suddenly Slim" today in either girdle or panty version. Featured at Hemphill Wells, 214 Main, Dial AM 4-8283.

Commission Submits Standards Of Labor

Millions of low-paid workers who most need protection are not covered by federal or state wage and hour laws. The President's Commission on the Status of Women said Friday in its final report that coverage by the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act should be broadened to include millions of low-paid workers, both men and women, who are still denied its wage, hour, and premium overtime pay protection.

Many workers covered by FLSA now earn $1.25 an hour. Newly covered workers now getting $1 an hour will earn $1.15 next September and $1.25 in 1965. But still excluded from FLSA's minimum are millions of workers, many of them women, in low-paid jobs in hotels, motels, restaurants, laundries, and many retail outlets; in agriculture, and in nonprofit organizations.

In some states, existing legal working hours for women in some occupations cover a wide range. There is no legal maximum in seven states and Puerto Rico. Four states permit a 60-hour week. Thirteen permit over 48 but under 60 hours a week. A 48-hour week is legal in 25 states and the District of Columbia, and one state specifies a 44-hour week.

Excepting agriculture and household service, weekly hours in private employment average near 40, and 71 per cent of all employees work 40 hours or less. But nearly 14 per cent work 40 hours or more. The Commission believes effective minimum wage coverage, with at least time and a half the regular rate for all hours over eight a day or 40 a week.

Shortly after its establishment, the commission endorsed the principle of equal pay for comparable work. Twenty-two states now have equal pay laws. But double pay scales, with one rate for men and a lower rate for women doing the same work, are common throughout the country. This year, after 19 years' effort by many groups and individuals, Congress passed and President Kennedy signed the Equal Pay Act of 1963 which amends the Fair Labor Standards Act to require equal pay for equal work for men and women covered by FLSA.

Equal pay legislation is needed at the state level as well, particularly because women workers are concentrated in occupations difficult to organize. Where industries are solely under state jurisdiction, organizing low-paid women workers is more difficult when employers are not legally obligated to bargain or to refrain from antiunion practices, including dismissal of union members.

Prevalence of such situations led the commission to recommend state laws protecting the right of workers to join unions and to bargain collectively.

Installation Is Held By WICS

Mrs. Sam Armstrong is the new president of Women in Construction. The WIC combined its annual installation of officers with a Bosses Appreciation dinner Saturday evening at the Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. Armstrong was installed in the "Jewel Ceremony," conducted by Mrs. H. J. Morrison. Mrs. Tim Jones was installed as vice president; Mrs. Tom Enloe, secretary; Mrs. Gene Haston, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Choate, holdover director; and Mrs. Johnnie Winham, Mrs. Tom McAdams and Mrs. Charles Campbell, new directors.

Each officer was given a jewel representing her office and instructions on how to be the perfect "gem" for her chapter. Corsages were given to the officers by Mrs. Armstrong. She also presented Mrs. Raymond Dyer with the past president's pin and a charm bracelet, a gift from the club members with each charm bearing a member's name. Mrs. Dyer, who presided, gave Mrs. Armstrong the president's pin, the gavel and the charter for the new year.

PROGRAM

Miss Delores Howard sang a selection from "My Fair Lady" and Mrs. Carl Bradley accompanied her at the piano. Gifts were presented to each by Mrs. Dyer. In Mrs. Armstrong's acceptance speech, she reviewed the three focal points in the theme at the recent national convention in Atlanta, Ga. The theme, "WICS World—The Better Tomorrow We Are Building Today," stressed "Learn, Listen and Lead." Mrs. Armstrong said the WICS would have more educational programs this year in order to acquaint them with the latest developments and research in the construction industry.

Mrs. Orval Brasuel, regional director, Odessa, gave a brief talk on the importance of WIC. Also in attendance were Mrs. J. W. Denton, secretary of the Odessa chapter, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Tunnel of Sand Springs.

BOSSSES HONORED

Bosses were given trophies engraved with "World's Greatest Boss." Among those attending were Curtis Beaird, J. D. Jones, Jack Johnston, Gene Haston, II, J. Morrison, Tim Jones, Raymond Dyer and Tom McAdams. Thirty guests were present. The speakers table was draped with gold glittered fabric and centered with a jewel chest draped with jewels. Each of the other tables had jewels in the center for decorations to help support the "Jewel Ceremony" chosen for the installation.

VFW Auxiliary To Give Gifts To VA Patients

Patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital who are without families will receive Christmas gifts purchased by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. The announcement was made Monday evening when the group met at the post home. Mrs. Jolene Miller presided.

The women also will bake cookies to be given to patients at the state hospital during December.

Mrs. John Littlejohn, scrapbook chairman, displayed the new scrapbook that the committee made.

A request was read from Granvil Miller, commander, the post in sponsoring a social activity each month. The first affair will be a salad supper and dance at the post home the evening of Nov. 2. Also, Miller asked that the auxiliary participate in the membership drive and Harvest Dance set Nov. 23. The dance will have a western theme and band.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Littlejohn.

Horton Smith Dies After Long Illness

DETROIT (AP) — Horton Smith, a member of the Professional Golf Association's Hall of Fame and a participant in every Masters Tournament, lost a remarkable six-year battle to illness today.

The 55-year-old winner of the first Masters died of Hodgkins disease at 12:05 a.m. He collapsed Monday in his car en route to see his physician.

Smith had just returned from attending the English-American Ryder Cup matches at Atlanta, where he collapsed on the first tee Sunday, but came back to see the finish of play in a motorized cart.

Smith was a member of seven U.S. Ryder Cup teams, and never lost a match against the British. He won the first Masters in 1934, repeated in 1936, and played in all of them at though he had to go part way in 1963 in a cart.

Cancer forced removal of a lung in 1957, and in 1960 he received the Ben Hogan Award for overcoming illness. Hodgkins disease is characterized by enlargement of the lymphatic glands and spleen, with progressive enema.

Smith was president of the PGA 1952-54 and was the 20th golfer elected to the Hall of Fame, in 1958. He was made an honorary life member of the British PGA in 1959, and in 1962 he received the Bobby Jones Award of the United States Golf Association for distinguished sportsmanship.

At the time of his death, Smith was professional at the Detroit Golf Club.

QB Club Will Meet Tonight

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will hold its weekly meeting tonight at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria.

Head coach Don Robbins will be on hand to narrate a film of last week's game between the Steers and the Odessa Bronchos which will be followed by a question and answer period with all the coaches available for queries.

The meeting will be closed with a scouting report on the Midland Lee Rebels.

Forsan Player To See Action

FORSAN — David Robertson, 170-pound junior halfback and defensive specialist, for the Forsan Buffaloes, will be back in the lineup Friday night when the Bisons open defense of their District 6-B title against the Sterling City Eagles in a 7:30 p.m. Forsan encounter.

Robertson, who received a badly sprained ankle in the Jay-ton game, Oct. 4, watched the entire Coahoma "B" team game Friday night from the sidelines.

"His ankle is still swollen a little bit but I think he'll be able to start against Sterling City," head coach Oscar Boeker said Sunday. "He didn't work out any last week and although he'll do some running this week he may not work out before the game at all. Of course, if he does continue to improve he may get in some contact work beginning Wednesday but we'll have to wait and see."

"We sure missed him on defense in this last game. He's our best defensive boy. He plays linebacker on defense and he doesn't mind hitting somebody, no matter how big they are."

Jones Gives Reporter Quite A Start In Car

By JACK HEWINS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP)—I rode r-re-cently with P-P-Parnelli J-Jones.

"Don't bother with a helmet," said Rufus Parnelli Jones. "You don't need it." The quiet confidence of the man who won the Indianapolis 500 and the Pikes Peak hill climb was so reassuring I lowered my voice — and asked for a helmet.

I happened to know that, for all his fame, Parnelli Jones never had driven in a sports car race. Perhaps Parnelli should have been nervous, too. His passenger never had ridden in a sports car.

There it was at our feet, looking something like a red bathtub made for a small person who liked privacy.

was room for only three legs under the hood, and I insisted politely that Parnelli keep both his inside in case they were needed for acceleration and breaking. I got my right leg completely in. The left made the trip masquerading as a bent pin. I could peek around the knee and see through the four-inch-wide windshield whenever I dared.

Away we went. Racing being over for the day, things were rather informal at the track. Cars were crossing from the infield but a traffic officer gave us a gap and we romped into the first turn with our Coventry Climax power sounding like a stirred-up hornet's nest as Jones walked on the gas pedal.

It was then I discovered an oversight. Parnelli's upholstered seat was equipped with a safety belt. My scoop shovel wasn't. I felt airborne.

As we made the first huge loop my left hand sought something to grip and found only a too-hot pipe. I was scratching for finger nail purchase when we plunged down a hill and the world's nastiest double-hairpin curve loomed dead ahead.

We downshifted. Parnelli calmly, I desperately, and I felt rather proud that I got us around that big S without a steering wheel or stick shift of my own. In the process I located a hole in the dash-board just large enough for my right forefinger.

Safely anchored now as we toiled over the backstretch hills, I was beginning to enjoy it when Parnelli touched my knee and pointed ahead. Puttering down the middle of the track was a man on a small motorbike. He cast a startled look over his shoulder and zigged. We zagged.

I let my breath out slowly but had to reclaim it with a gasp as we whipped around the final turn into the home stretch.

And went around again. This time the bends and lifts and drops were familiar but Jones boosted the RPM and slammed into the turns with the gears groaning and came out with the Lotus trying to run from under the

Ford Leading SWC Rushers

DALLAS (AP)—Tommy Ford, the bulldozer from Texas, has taken over the lead among Southwest Conference ball carriers, but the top rung in passing and total offense appears to be firmly in the hands of Don Trull, Baylor's busy quarterback.

Ford gouged 77 yards out of Oklahoma's line last week to shoot to the top in rushing with 248 yards on 55 carries. He replaced Jim Lindsey of Arkansas, who fell to second with 243 on 61 runs.

Trull is the total offense leader by the proverbial mile. He has run up 681 yards rushing and passing for an average of 6.1 yards per play. The nearest man to him is Danny Thomas of Southern Methodist, who has racked up 389 yards on 70 plays.

Trull leads passes with 51 completions in 82 attempts for 631 yards and three touchdowns. Closest to him is Thomas, who has thrown 49, completed 26 and gained 368 yards.

Thomas continues to lead the punters with a 45.5 average on 14 boots.

Lawrence Elkins of Baylor leads the pass-receivers with 15 catches for 239 yards. David Parks of Texas Tech and Jim Ingram of Baylor are tied for second with 12 catches each.

Jury Sought In Hussey Death Trial

PALEO PINTO (AP)—Selection of a jury to try Nathan Curry, 17, on a murder charge in the 1961 slaying of a Cisco woman went on today.

Eight veniremen were accepted Monday. When 32 prospective jurors have been seated, each side will be allowed to strike 10.

Curry is accused in the fatal beating of Mrs. Florence Hussey, 52, a divorcee and church secretary. The youth asserts he is innocent and that he was "brainwashed" into making a confession.

Curry was 15 at the time. He was declared a delinquent "by reason of committing burglary" at her home the night Mrs. Hussey was killed.

Old Airplane Restored

A flying machine built by a Midland, Tex., blacksmith in the early 1900s has come down from the dusty rafters of Johnny Pliska's old blacksmith shop after more than half a century. A new handsome museum building to house the aircraft, which may be Texas' first airplane, is to be built. Shown looking over the old plane are, left to right: Mayor Hank Avery of Midland; Max Hendrick Jr., president Permian Basin Aviation Association; and George T. Abell, civic leader and business man. ## Adenauer's Heart Is Heavy As He Retires From Office

BOONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer moved today through his final 2 hours in office before turning over the West German government to Ludwig Erhard.

President Heinrich Lübke was to notify Adenauer this afternoon that he accepted the resignation submitted by the chancellor last Friday. Adenauer was to continue as acting chancellor until the Bundestag, West Germany's lower house, elects Erhard to succeed him Wednesday.

The autocratic, 87-year-old chancellor said he was stepping down with a heavy heart, evidently fearful that a major goal—reunification of Germany—had been pushed further from realization by warming relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

FROM RUINS
Adenauer could look back on his 14 years as Germany's first

POLITICAL REALIST

Adenauer is a shrewd political realist who often made decisions without consulting his cabinet. The jovial, cigar-chewing Erhard is an economist who plans to rely more on the judgment of his ministers in charting domestic and foreign policies.

Authoritative sources reported that Erhard agreed to take Erich Mende, leader of the Free Democrats, as his vice chancellor and to give Mende's party an extra seat in the 21-member cabinet.

★YOUR STARS TODAY★

By Constella

Successful minds work like a gem—into a single point. —Boyer

DAILY GUIDE—Keep alert mentally and you may learn something today. Many people go through days and days without a new idea, or without sharpening any they might have. Then they wonder why others move ahead of them. Keep your mind sharpened to a point. The moon conjunct Mercury today suggests the general public will be interested in the news and will let on the go and talkative. Don't let it be just idle gossip you just talk about.

Libras should express themselves concisely, and Arians listen to others. Capricornians can learn something to their advantage from those in authority.

Acquarians should seek professional advice or communicate with those at a distance. Pisceans attend to banking details; Virgoans to shopping or correspondence about finances; Scorpios keep plans secret. Taurus attend to details of job, or talk with fellow-workers.

Tomorrow carry on much the same activities.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LIBRA! These have been very active weeks for you and continue to give you a chance to move around more, express yourself and ideas until the end of the month.

Finances are still a matter of concern. Next June and December there could be further emphasis on finances, and then you should be careful not to indulge in extravagance, even if some extras do come in.

At the present time give personal relationships your undivided attention; you could receive other opportunities through other people. Watch health; some backstage tensions or worries can be bothersome, especially through the summer. Working conditions could be difficult.

Billie Sol's Appeal Up For Hearing

AUSTIN (AP)—Billie Sol Estes, once rated a wizard of Texas farm finance, will have another day in court Oct. 30.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals set the date Monday for Estes' appeal of a conviction carrying an eight-year prison term, assessed by a Tyler jury last Nov. 7.

Several weeks usually elapse after the court hears oral arguments before a decision is announced. Once it rules on an appeal, there are often two or three motions for a rehearing.

Estes, 38, former Pecos promoter, now living at Abilene, was convicted in district court at Tyler on a swindling charge. The jury deliberated slightly more than two hours at the end of a 17-day trial.

It was not until June 27 that four big boxes containing the record of the trial reached the Court of Criminal Appeals. The court went into summer recess shortly thereafter. Sessions were resumed Oct. 9.

The Tyler conviction was the first for Estes, whose financial dealings in fertilizer tanks, mortgages, cotton allotments transfers and grain storage contracts collapsed in the spring of 1962.

Last spring he was convicted on mail fraud charges at El Paso, again after a 17-day trial. A federal judge sentenced him to 15 years in prison April 15.

The specific charge at the state court trial in Tyler was that Estes induced Pecos farmer T. J. Wilson to sign a $94,500 chattel mortgage on non-existent fertilizer tanks.

Prosecutors claimed that Estes raised cash by discounting mortgages like that Wilson signed to big finance houses after leasing the purported tanks from farmers buying them on credit. Estes agreed to pay farmers rentals in matching the monthly mortgage payments.

Lawyers for Estes contended the defendant was merely paying the farmers a bonus for lending him their credit.

Estes is free under appeals bonds totaling about $150,000.

Hospital To Ask Inspection

LAMESA (SC)—Directors of Medical Arts Hospital have agreed to ask for an accreditation inspection for early 1964. The board will request an inspection be made in February on building, facilities, equipment, records and medical staff members.

Directors also voted Dr. David Smiley and his wife, Dr. Evelyn Smiley, as active members of the hospital staff following a one-year tenure as associates.

Book Fair Book Browsers

High school students found the Book Fair trailer in front of the gym a pleasant place to browse Monday and today. The Fair, brought to Big Spring, by the Vocational Industry Club, will be here through Wednesday. The Book Fair trailer has more than 1,500 titles in stock. Books are being sold by the club members and profits from the enterprise will go to the club program. The trailer will be open to 9 p.m. if public demand merits.

C-City Council Discusses Library, Museum Operation

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Colorado City's council cancelled a contract Monday which had existed since 1962 between the city, the Federation of Women's Clubs and Mitchell County by which the city and county donated $250 per month each toward the operation of a public library owned by the federation. The resolution cancelling the contract also indicated the intent of the city to own and operate a historical museum. The resolution came as the result of a meeting between the council and county commissioners during which the two governing bodies decided to separate their joint operation with the county taking over the support of the library and the city agreeing to apply its $250 per month toward the support of a local museum, presently supported by the Mitchell County Historical Society.

Mayor H. I. Berman cast the only "no" vote on the resolution following a long discussion concerning the moral and legal obligations expressed in the resolution.

Berman favored the donation of $250 per month toward the operation of the museum, but was opposed to city ownership of the museum. City attorney John Worrell told the group that the city had

POWER LICENSE

Toledo Bend's Building Must Begin In 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Construction of the Toledo Bend hydroelectric power project on the Sabine River must begin within two years under a license issued by the Federal Power Commission. It granted the license Monday for the Sabine River Authorities of Texas and Louisiana to build the project in their states. The plant would be about 156 miles above the mouth of the boundary stream. Completion of the project is required within six years of the effective date of the license, Oct. 1, 1963. Toledo Bend dam will be of rolled earth fill construction, 8,600 feet long and 110 feet high. It will create a reservoir with capacity of 4,477,000 acre-feet. Of this, 1,554,200 acre-feet will be available for power generation and water supply. The powerhouse will have a capacity of 86,400 kilowatts. Commissioner Charles Ross will set forth his individual views in an order granting another license application, to be issued shortly, the FPC said. Officials gave no information about this order. Ross' views will be applicable to the Toledo Bend case but were not included at this time in order to permit issuance at once of the license, it was explained. The FPC issued the license subject to customary terms and also attached these special conditions: Cooperation with the Forestry

Navy Foresees Day Of All-Nuclear Warships

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy believes U.S. atomic know-how is moving ahead so rapidly that before long it will be dollar-foolish to build surface warships with fuel oil engines rather than nuclear power plants. It is supported by the Atomic Energy Commission, which in effect touched off the current dispute between the Defense Department and the Navy. Many months ago, it was learned, AEC Chairman Glenn Seaborg suggested to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that nuclear power costs were coming down and that the Pentagon should give thought to wider application of atomic power to surface vessels. POWERFUL BACKING The Navy may have lost the first battle—but with powerful backing on Capitol Hill it may yet win the war. Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth's abrupt resignation, announced Monday, appears the tipoff that McNamara probably will deny the Navy permission to build a new aircraft carrier for which Congress last year voted $280 million. The Navy is not talking about the studies it made to support its bid for the new carrier and, beyond that, for all future warships heavier than 8,000 tons. MEMBERS ARE But certain members of Congress are aware of the Navy findings, and the matter may come out on the public record if hearings are held. Cost is a pivotal factor both on the issue of the carriers' future as a weapon either conventionally or atomic-powered, and the longer range matter of building warships of various kinds with nuclear power plants. The United States some years ago made a start on a nuclear surface fleet but the Pentagon changed direction when costs began getting out of hand. The 85,000-ton Enterprise, world's first and only nuclear carrier, ran up a bill of $474 million. FOUR ENGINES But Seaborg reported to McNamara that technological progress had been so marked that four nuclear engines installed in the new carrier could furnish about as much power as the eight reactors that propel the Enterprise. He also said that the new type engines could use atomic fuel with more than double the life expectancy of those used in the Enterprise's engines. Navy studies that followed showed that the costs of installing atomic power plants were dropping and are expected to drop even more. The nuclear engines also are expected to improve in output of power and in simplicity. The prospects are so hopeful that atomic experts in the AEC and the Navy are giving serious thought to the practicality of mounting nuclear engines in fighting ships as small as 4,500-ton guided missile destroyers. McNamara's experts reportedly have estimated it would cost another $180 million to build the next carrier with atomic power. The Navy's calculations arrived at a figure nearly $60 million lower.

A Devotional For The Day

O give thanks unto the Lord: call upon his name: make known his deeds among the people. (Psalms 105:1.)

PRAYER: We beseech Thee, O Lord, to pardon our forgetfulness and ingratitude. Let the Holy Spirit so move within us while we pray that our praises shall overflow in happy song and joyful life, to the honor and glory of Thy name. In the spirit of our Savior and Master we pray. Amen. (From The 'Upper Room')

Gen. Dean Gets Another Job

Fred Dean's many friends here are delighted but not entirely surprised at his promotion to lieutenant general and his assignment to one of the most ticklish and far-reaching jobs in the nation.

As commander of Webb AFB, Gen. Dean (then a colonel) exhibited many attributes of an exceptional executive. Although he was comparatively young then, he demonstrated real maturity and a quick grasp of the essential problems of his command. He had an incisive mind, getting quickly to the heart of a problem and he showed an ability to fit good men into the right jobs.

He was approachable and friendly, and yet he was straightforward. He could be frank without being disagreeable, and he recognized the importance of good relations both internally and externally so far as his command was concerned.

His promotion to brigadier general while still here was an indication that his superiors recognized his ability. His subsequent rise up the ladder in his overseas duties in the Far East at a delicate time, in duty at Washington and more recently as commander of the 12th Air Force at Waco confirmed that Fred Dean was destined to fit into an area of great service. As head of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency in Washington, he has a tremendous responsibility, and in it he has the best wishes and prayers of his former "home town."

Proposals For Tax Reform

It becomes increasingly doubtful that the tax reduction bill cleared by the House of Representatives will get through the Senate this session. This does not necessarily mean the issue is eternally dead, for action by one house at least puts it in prior position for the next session.

Meanwhile, there is an increasing clamor for tax reform. If not for tax cutting, One proposal reported now to be taking shape is that no one can be taxed more than half of what he makes. The present graduated scale now imposes a confiscatory rate on the very top brackets. At that point the taxpayer gets to keep less than a dollar out of every ten he makes within the top bracket. Many feel that this is choking off investment funds, which in turn helps to slow the rate of economic growth. If nothing else, it leads to a tremendous amount of talent and time being devoted to finding loopholes or way to mitigate the deep bite.

The revenue loss would be relatively small, for the dollar volume comes largely from the basic end of tax-paying. It would mitigate a gross inequity imposed upon the top incomes.

Another reform being proposed is that by Rep. Joe Pool, Texas congressman at large. He introduced a measure which would establish an independent tax commission to provide supplementary rules and regulations. His bill requires that the five-member commission have no more than three members of the same political party, and that members would serve for long terms in interpreting the intent of Congress. In short, what he is aiming at is to make the agency which enforces the law separate and apart from the agency that interprets the law. This may not be the ideal solution, but it is certainly food for thought.

Look Ahead To Avoid The Ruts Of Past

WASHINGTON — With the Cuban economy already straining almost to the breaking point, Hurricane Flora has put a new burden on the Castro regime that could prove fatal.

This comes at a time when relations with Moscow are embittered and the Communist bloc is itself under the necessity of importing a large volume of food for hard-won gold. As his troubles multiply Fidel Castro shows an increasingly sulky and rebellious face to all the world with the possible exception of Red China.

CAN THE SOVIET Union continue to make up the deficits that are far more acute in the aftermath of Flora? And how long can the regime survive without a far greater volume of help? These are pressing questions as the anniversary of the great Cuban confrontation of a year ago approaches.

A careful survey by top intelligence authorities shows how high the cost of the Khrushchev Cuban adventure has been to the Soviet Union. This has been especially true in shipping. In addition to its own ships Moscow has had to scrape the bottom of the barrel to charter other vessels to carry cargoes to and from Cuba.

THE VOLUME of this tonnage has not appreciably declined in recent months. But it has become more and more costly as many ships have had to go in ballast to pick up cargoes of sugar. They have also, according to intelligence reports, had to sail from Cuban ports in ballast as the sugar crop failed by a wide margin to come up to expectations. And estimates are that up to half the current sugar crop has been destroyed by Hurricane Flora.

One major change in the situation the President finds greatly encouraging. As a result of strong and persistent pressure the volume of free world shipping has sharply declined. In the first nine months of last year 730 free world ships called at Cuban ports.

FOR THE FIRST nine months of 1963 the figure was 250. Of this number 100 were of British register and most of the balance were Greek and Lebanese. Greece has now put a stop to the trade over the angry protest of Greek shipowners and there is a dispute about the constitutionality of the government order it will stand in any event for two years. Greek arrivals had totalled 80 ships.

To several Western visitors with whom he talked just before and during

NEA Opposes Required Driver Training

James Marlow is on vacation. In his absence his column will be written by Washington and New York Associated Press Staffers. Today's column is by J. W. Davis of the Washington Bureau.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over the weekend the National Education Association came out against the practice of state legislatures requiring high schools to provide driver training.

At first glance, this looked something like opposing good manners, good sportsmanship or good health.

It wasn't at all. The NEA, an organization of teachers and school administrators, has no objection to boys and girls learning how to drive safely.

What happened was this: An NEA-sponsored report said the role of the legislatures is to set forth general goals and provide financial support. It said decisions on what to teach should be left as much as possible to local school faculties.

AN NEA spokesman said the recommendation was adopted because some state laws require courses on such things as communist and state history and several states require high schools to provide driver training.

The American Automobile Association, which has pioneered in the work, reports that youngsters who have had driver training have fewer accidents and traffic law violations than those who haven't had it.

THE AUTOMOTIVE Safety Foundation puts it this way:

"High school driver education offers a tested opportunity to improve the bad accident record of the teen-ager. The program is on a plateau and needs aggressive support so that more youngsters in more schools can have the benefit of training."

The under-20 group has about 6,400 accidents a day at an estimated cost of about $1 billion a year.

"THEY ACCOUNT for only 7.1 per cent of the licensed drivers but 6.600 of them were involved in 13.2 per cent of the fatal accidents in 1962."

Last year about 3.1 million young people reached driving age. Of these, 1.31 million, or 42 per cent, were enrolled in driver education courses. The percentage has been about the same since 1955.

As the nation's population increases so will the number of drivers. However, the number of young drivers will increase more rapidly than those in other age groups.

It's a sobering thought to anyone who witnesses wild driving by young people, or has to pay the extra-high insurance rates that such driving demands.

To Your Good Health

Anesthesiology Is An Intricate Science

(This is the first of a series of three articles about anesthesiology.—ED.)

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please write a column on anesthesiology. Some of my friends and I fear it so much we refuse to have necessary surgery. I do not worry about anything I understand, but the patient rarely sees the anesthesiologist. I had surgery recently, and was not prepared for the anesthetic and its effect. Unless I understand it, I would never again consent to surgery. Here are my specific questions.

It will take three columns to answer your numerous question. Anesthesiology, once just a matter of "giving ether," has become an intricate science. Many anesthetics, and many drugs in conjunction with them, are now used, with the amounts and proportions modified to fit each case.

In many hospitals the usual practice is for the surgeon and anesthesiologist to discuss the patient and operation in advance and the type of anesthetic.

The anesthesiologist, particularly in a major operation, visits the patient the day or evening before the operation. He studies the medical chart and tries to assure the patient.

explaining all the possibilities. But a general outline of what is to be done is helpful to the patient.

And now I'll start with your list of questions—and my answers.

Q. Why is an enema given as part of the preparation even when, as in my case, the operation is not internal? Mine was orthopedic surgery on the lower extremities.

A. It's a good idea to clean out the colon, since loss of control of the bowel can occur under anesthesia. It's not just a matter of convenience for doctors and nurses. It is to save the patient the ordeal of having to be cleaned up afterward, right after the stress of surgery.

Q. What is the presurgery "hypo" supposed to do and why did it not cause drowsiness, but only dizziness when I was lying flat?

A. This is to lessen the patient's anxiety on the way to the operating room and to reduce the excitement phase which is normal in the early stages of anesthesia. Like nearly all drugs, this can have slightly different effects on different people, accounting for the dizziness in your case. It doesn't usually cause that.

Q. What is the "relaxant" that is given intravenously, and is it in itself an anesthetic?

A. No, it isn't an anesthetic. It relaxes the muscles and reduces the possibility of giving a deep anesthetic. Several types of relaxants are used. They relax tension and this is necessary for accurate surgery.

More of Mrs. E. W. H.'s questions tomorrow.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it all right to eat a chunk of lettuce without washing it?—Mrs. H. W.

—Always wash fruits and vegetables if you eat them raw. In fact, wash them first even if you cook them. This will give you added safety. Never pass up a chance of being safe. Don't you agree?

Dear Dr. Molner: Would aspirin tablets be considered barbiturates? Could they cause purpura?—Mrs. M. S.

Aspirin is not a barbiturate. It is a salicylate. Both can cause purpura in susceptible individuals.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope a 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

The Long, Long Way Home

A friend shook me awake. It was cold in the third deck cabin of the Navy Flying Boat Mars at 12,000 feet over the Pacific.

"Wake up," said my friend. "We're going to land in about an hour." I looked at my watch with sleepy eyes. It was 2:30 a.m.

"NUTS," I muttered. "You crazy? We ain't due to reach San Francisco until 7 a.m."

My friend chuckled: "We're not landing in San Francisco," he said, "we landing in Pearl Harbor."

"Come off it," I retorted. "I have been to Pearl Harbor. I want to go to San Francisco."

He pointed through a porthole. One of the big engines on the flying boat was dead. The propeller was frozen. Oil was splattered over the wing. "That's why we're going back to Pearl," he said.

AND WE DID: We landed in the famous harbor in a deluge of tropical rain. They put in a new engine, or something, and we took off again. This time we flew all night and did land in San Francisco at 7 a.m. After a quick cup of coffee and a 10-minute walk to limber up our stiff legs, we climbed into DC-3 remodeled for Navy use. All day we bucked winds and never before or since have I been so trouble and landed in Dallas at dusk. A very special Saturday, too—the Saturday of that year that the University of Texas and the University of Oklahoma football teams had met in the Cotton Bowl. It was so tired my eyes were shut, but I knew looking for a room in Dallas on that night was too absurd to consider.

I WENT to the bus station. The last bus to my destination was in the runway ready to leave. I was sold a ticket but told that there was no place for my luggage. I had been in the Islands for over two weeks and was packing three sizeable suitcases. If I wanted to ride, said the bus station man, I could do so but I would have to hold my luggage in my lap.

I wanted to get home so for four weary hours I sat on the bus wrestling with my luggage and trying to find some way to sit where a few less bones would ache.

AROUND MIDNIGHT I reached home. I had flown around 5,000 miles, walked what seemed to have been a hundred, and bumped along on a bus for more than another hundred in 36 hours.

I crawled into bed, but I couldn't go to sleep. I was still flying or, if I could rid myself of that sensation, I was grabbing at sliding suitcases as the bus lurched along the dark highway.

I have been weary many times, but never before or since have I been so completely bone-tired as I was that long, long night.

Culinary Heaven On Earth

COPENHAGEN, Denmark—My conscience ought to hurt me, and it isn't even nagging. When a columnist is in a foreign country he should, if he wants to keep his franchise, race around to all the ministries, call on the American Ambassador and extract nuggets of wisdom from the U.S.I.S. on what's what with reference to the international situation.

He — the columnist — should come home loaded with all the answers. Well, I'm going to come home loaded, all right. But loaded with calories. Denmark is the one country in the world where it is a waste of valuable time to do anything but eat.

LONG EXPERIENCE has taught me that the only proper course of action on reaching Denmark is to toss away the two-way stretch and eat as if there were no tomorrow or bathroom scales. There will be a day of reckoning, all right, but I'll think about that tomorrow.

Even His Honor, the American ambassador, William M. Blair Jr., and Mrs. Blair have compounded the felony. When they took me home for luncheon, they stuffed me with delicious food, not relevant facts. The cold soup was the richest and most delectable I have ever eaten, and I had to hang onto my manners with might and main not to ask for the recipe. La, now I wish I had let the leash slip.

IT IS PROBABLE that no people in the world eat as well and as constantly as the Danes. The fattest calf is killed every hour on the hour and the resulting Danisher Schnitzel is a true Scandinavian tone poem.

As for pastry, there are no people in the world, not even the French, who can produce such oven sonnets. The Danes have a gossamer touch and the result is as near paradise as many of us will ever come.

There are travelers who will swear that Demel in Vienna is the greatest pastry shop in the world. But that is only because they have never ventured as far into Denmark as Kolding, where the Saxildhus is a pastry shop beyond compare. I often wonder what its proprietors buy "one-half so precious as the stuff they sell."

AT THE MOMENT American farmers are trying to find a way to raise a leaner pig with less lard in his ham, bacon and general make-up. All the American farmer needs to do is appoint a committee to come to Denmark to consult this country's agriculturists. Years ago, they discovered the secret of producing a svelte pig, long lean and lovable when it reaches the dinner table. For generations they have been supplying the breakfast tables of Europe with lean, luscious bacon. Even Danish hens, so the legend goes, have been taught to lay their product already stamped with the national trademark.

The Danes are even now producing a new cheese, Crema Danica, that is strongly reminiscent of French Brie, and Charles de Gaulle can like it or lump it. These remarkable people have even managed to put beer-drinking in the realm of public interest. The two great breweries of Denmark are now national trusts that support the arts and myriad good causes, including a home for aged newspaper people. Naturally, I drink beer out of loyalty to my profession.

DESPITE THE FACT there is a nip in the air, Denmark is still green. The leaves are just beginning to turn and the roses are blooming as if it were June. But chrysanthemums, on the other hand, are now spilling out of the great flower pots that decorate every street and public square in the city. I never come to this beautiful city and this pleasant country that I do not remember that Denmark, occupied by the Germans from the beginning of World War II, was the only country under the Hitlerian heel that managed through ruse and great fortitude to save its Jewish citizens.

Ah, well, I have been carrying on a love affair with Denmark for years! It is all right for good Americans to go to Paris when they die, but I intend to insist on at least equal time for Copenhagen.

Storm Warnings In Otepka Case

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A dash of sex... a dip of racism... a dab of subversion... the hot radish of international politics... the strong brandy of Constitutional dispute.

Get thee behind me, Satan—a n' push! Were it not for a puritanical conscience, and the unwritten commandment of journalism that you don't tell stories given in confidence, what a dish could be served up out of the ingredients of the fight now developing between the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and the Department of State.

CHRISTINE KEELER, U. S. A.? No, despite some hints to that effect, there is no connection with the London scandals, and nothing quite so lurid. But sex, pro-Semitism, security risks, the no-win policy and a slug fest over the separation of powers by the Legislative and Executive bastions of our Constitutional Government—these will be forthcoming if the brewing fight goes to a finish. The skirmish is over Secretary Rusk's banishment of his department's chief security evaluator, Otto Otepka.

Only his home appears to be that he gives his honest appraisal of State Department security practices to the senators who are assigned by law to hear such testimony.

Briefly, as the news stories have revealed, Otepka, has been physically barred from his own office, his career apparently smashed. This happened to him for speaking the truth as he sees it instead of reciting the State Department line which says, in effect, that any uneasiness about Red infiltration into Government posts and policies is mere hysteria.

IF IT ALL has a familiar ring, it's because the State Department behaved this way toward its officials who suspected Alger Hiss, and toward Senate committees which investigated the strange doings of Owen Lattimore. If you're recalling that another Democratic President and his Secretary of State bore some bruises from a fracas of this sort, they would be Mr. Truman who called the original Hiss investigation a "red herring" and Secretary Acheson who vowed he'd "never turn my back on Alger Hiss."

Will the Otepka case blow up to something the size of Hiss-Lattimore? Well, unless Secretary Rusk backs down, and the Kennedy Administration decides to take its characteristic get-along-with-Congress approach, this new story could follow the same lines and assume the same proportions as the older ones.

INVOLVED HERE is the accusation that the State Department has been slack to the point of being soft on Reds when dealing with passports, visas and some of its own personnel, notably William Weiland, whose name has been linked to the fall of Cuba to Castro.

Involved, also, is the accusation that the Administration was so eager to accommodate Russia on the Test Ban Treaty that it didn't want any spy-subversion stories going around during the Senate debate. Implied is the theory that we are entering the Age of Coexistence, an Era of No Win, during which it's no fair being nasty toward the Soviets.

IF ANY PART of this preliminary summary proves true, the Internal Security Subcommittee will be both a participant and the battlefield itself. Such is the slander often surrounding congressional investigative groups that the subcommittee needs to be identified.

It's Changed?

Most visible change in any 1964 Volkswagen is on the Sunroof Sedan where the plastic roof fabric has been replaced with a sliding steel section which fits flush with the rest of the roof when closed. A hand-operated crank (inset) which folds into a recess in the car's headlining opens and closes the steel sunroof easily even when traveling at highway speeds.

New Volkswagen Models Remain Almost The Same

Like Detroit, Volkswagen announces a new model every year to separate one year's production from another. But for years, each new VW Model has looked almost the same as the previous one.

In line with its policy, according to Western Car Co., 2114 W. 3rd St. in Big Spring, Volkswagen has done it again. The 1964 models look virtually the same as those of the past. Still, not quite!

"This year, the most visible change with VW has taken place in its popular Sunroof model," according to Frank Winterhalter, head of Western Car Co. "A sliding steel section replaces the plastic roof fabric. When closed, the steel panel fits flush with the rest of the roof. Crank-operated, it opens and closes easily even when traveling at highway speeds."

Other readily visible changes for 1964 include a larger rear door—more than four feet wide—for VW's trucks and station wagons. This permits easier loading and provides greater visibility since the window areas of the rear door on panel trucks and VW Kombi Station Wagons are more than double their original size.

Inside the '64 station wagons, in another case of change, a new easily-cleaned leatherette material is used as the headliner, replacing the standard soft-nap fabric and giving the vehicle's interior a more tailored appearance.

Looking at the ever-popular, classic VW Sedan Model, changes for 1964 include:

A newly-styled horn bar in the two-spoke steering wheel, replacing the horn half-ring on wheels of earlier models.

New body colors, including Java Green, Bahama Blue, Panama Beige and Sea Blue, while still available are VW's popular Ruby Red, Anthracite Grey, Black and Pearl White.

Wheel rims are standardized in two colors for '64—blue-white for the Sea and Bahama Blue Sedans, and pearl white for all others.

Volkswagen's crankcase, ventilation device, which was introduced in 1961, has been improved for '64 by the addition of a self-draining water trap.

This opens automatically when condensation builds up in it, eliminating the possibility of winter freeze-ups in the tubing.

A number of changes in owner's options have been introduced for the 1964 VWs, including a new type of leatherette upholstery material which assures greater driver and passenger comfort during hot weather by letting air actually flow thru the perforated fabrics. Other changes in options include a new selection of interior colors for the leatherette upholstery, among them "corduroy" tones of grey, brown, blue and "oxide" red, all designed to retain their clean appearance.

Available as an option on the panel trucks, rated at 1,830 pound payloads, is a sliding side door for convenient loading in close quarters.

J. D. Norman Rites Slated

COLORADO CITY (SC)—J. D. Norman, 61, died at the Root Memorial Hospital Monday after a long illness. Norman was born Aug. 4, 1902 in Malta, Texas, but had lived in Mitchell County much of his life. He had lived in Loraine, Hermleigh and Abertown coming to Colorado City in 1940. He retired as manager of the Higinbotham Bartlett Lumber Company in 1962 after 40 years service.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church, a member of the official board and former Sunday school superintendent.

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday from the First Methodist Church with the pastor, the Rev. Darris Egger, officiating. The Rev. J. E. Shewbert, a former pastor, will assist. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

He is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Jane Poppe, Coleman, Mrs. Sarah Lee Waco, and Irene Norman, Brownfield; three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Reeder, Abertown; Mrs. Annie Roland and Mrs. Lucy Miller, both of Lubbock; and three grandchildren.

U.S. Ordered To Pay Tax On Bequest

HOUSTON (AP)—Dist. Judge Thomas Stovall has ordered the federal government, to pay the state $97,351 inheritance tax on a $1,935,038 bequest from the late Mrs. Susan Vaughan Clayton.

Mrs. Clayton, who died Jan. 7, 1957, left half the income from a trust to help retire the national debt.

John Hopkins University, bequeathed the other half of the trust income, will be required to pay the state $318,380 tax.

Asst. U. S. Atty. William Butler told Judge Stovall, the federal government had abandoned its argument that the government could not be required to pay a tax to the state.

He said the bequest will be held in a Texas bank and used only for retiring government obligations to residents of the state.

John Crocker Jr., lawyer for independent executors of the estate, said the order Judge Stovall signed Monday was not an agreed judgment but was acceptable.

The executors had asked a declaratory judgment. They said the state had threatened to tie up distribution of Mrs. Clayton's $12,228,265 estate by filing a tax lien against all assets to guarantee payment of inheritance taxes on the two special bequests.

New Health Insurance facts for Texans 65 and over and those with Texas relatives in this age group

Your money back.

If within 10 days after receiving your certificate of insurance you decide not to keep your Texas 65 Plan, just return your certificate and your money will be refunded in full.

Your policy won't be cancelled because of long or repeated illness.

You may cancel your plan at any time. But, your individual coverage cannot be modified or cancelled, nor your premiums increased, unless similar action is taken for all persons enrolled for the same Texas 65 Plan.

Enrollment regardless of past or present health.

No medical examination is required. No lengthy medical questionnaires to answer. Even previous illnesses or conditions are covered after reasonable waiting periods.

Who can enroll

You are eligible to enroll in Texas 65 if you are 65 or over and reside in the State of Texas.

This enrollment period extends only from October 1 to October 31, 1963, and your insurance becomes effective on November 1, 1963. Husband or Wife under 65 may enroll. Your spouse (regardless of age) may also enroll in Texas 65 if you are enrolled.

Sons and Daughters: enroll your parents or other relatives.

Give an older member of your family the peace of mind and protection of Texas 65. You can enroll a parent or other relative without their signature, and you can make the premium payments yourself.

INCOME TAX NOTE: If a parent or relative qualifies as a dependent on your Federal Income Tax, your payments of premiums for this health insurance are 100% tax deductible.

How to enroll

Just see your insurance agent — he will gladly give you specific answers concerning Texas 65 — will offer you any assistance you want in enrolling — there is no extra charge for his services.

Or, if you would like additional information, mail the coupon printed here.

Expenses not covered under Texas 65 plans

If you were confined in a hospital or convalescent nursing home on November 1, 1963, or at any time during the 31 days prior to that date, your coverage will become effective on the first of the month following 31 days free of such confinement.

The Plans do not pay expenses for conditions for which you received treatment or diagnosis during the 90 days before your insurance became effective: (a) incurred during the first 6 months of your coverage, or (b) incurred during a continuing period of hospital or nursing home confinement which commenced during the first 6 months of coverage.

Other expenses not payable under Texas 65 Plans are for: injuries and diseases covered by Workman's Compensation; care for mental and nervous conditions outside a hospital; dental care; eye examinations and glasses; hearing aids; diseases or injuries arising out of any war; services and supplies furnished without charge by any government; those which you would have no legal obligation to pay if you did not have insurance.

Benefits under Texas 65 Plans are subject to reduction if you have benefits under other hospital, surgical or medical plans, so that the total benefits will not exceed the actual amounts charged.

Bogged Down In Trouble

Mrs. Pat Bottoms bogs down in mud inspecting a break in a city water main that spewed water into her apartment Monday morning in Houston. The main burst near the curb and sprayed water into Mrs. Bottoms' apartment through a fan vent (second floor behind her head). "I woke up about 4 a.m. with water spraying on my face," said Mrs. Bottoms. She said her apartment had four inches of water on the floor by the time city water crews cut off the flow. The Houston water department has been plagued by bursting pipes caused by shifting soil from the prolonged dry weather. (AP WIRE PHOTO)

ABC Is Growing, President Says

American Business Clubs are rapidly becoming one of the top service organizations in the nation. Dr. Thomas J. Natoli told a joint meeting of the AB and XYZ clubs Monday.

Natoli, a Norristown, Pa., doctor who is serving as the 40th national president of the ABC, spoke to approximately 60 people at a luncheon gathering on the second floor of the Settles Hotel.

"I'm proud to be an ABC member and you ought to be proud," he said. "It has become recognized that the members of service clubs are community leaders. Wherever there is an ABC Club there's a bunch of doers. They don't just sit back and do nothing. We want our chapters doing and growing."

"This national association of ours is on the grow. That is our goal—we're going to grow, we're going to expand. I'm hoping each local chapter adds 10 percent more members in the coming year. That's what we're working for."

Natoli spoke at length about the ABC child development clinic in Montgomery, Pa., which he was instrumental in helping found.

"We have the finest national project that any club has ever had," he said referring to the $400,000 center that is now attended by 135 handicapped children that otherwise might not be educated.

Natoli, on a nationwide tour visiting all ABC clubs, has been a member of ABC since 1945. He has been active in national affairs of the ABC since 1954, when he headed a drive to convince club members on the value of a national scholarship.

"Scholarships for Therapists." Since the beginning of this program, the national ABC has awarded 526 scholarships to worthy students while spending over $242,000 toward their education.

For his work in carrying through the national scholarship, Dr. Natoli received the American Business Club's highest award in 1955 and again in 1959.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Queen of ♦
The three national tournaments held annually by the American Contract Bridge League can always be relied on to provide a good source of copy for this department, and the contest held in Los Angeles last August was no exception. One of the most spectacular defensive plays of the tourney is featured in today's hand, taken from an early session of the Life Master's Pairs.

The bidding was short but spirited. North might have been better advised to jump directly to four hearts after West's one spade overcall. East was not to be shut out, however, and South was forced to the level of five hearts in order to buy the hand.

West doubted the feasibility of attempting to cash any spade tricks in the light of East's violent raise and his own length in the suit. He attempted to strike profitably in another direction by opening the queen of diamonds against the final contract.

A small diamond was played from the dummy and East signaled encouragingly with the eight. When the queen held, West continued with the jack and the dummy once again did not cover. East, after a moment's reflection, overtook the jack with his ace and led a third round of the suit which West ruffed to defeat the contract.

Altho East's play may appear a bit flamboyant, it was actually well thought out. He was looking at seven spades between his own hand and the dummy, and West's failure to try to cash even one spade suggests the likelihood in his mind that the trick would not live.

Having reached the conclusion that South had no spades it was clear that East should overtake the diamonds to try for a ruff for, if it should prove that declarer rather than West was short in diamonds, nothing would be lost in the attempt. One sluff on the king of diamonds could hardly benefit South if he had a club to lose.

The score of plus 50 for East and West proved to be an excellent result for them on the deal, for at most tables South made five hearts. In the absence of a diamond lead, declarer can ruff two clubs in dummy to establish that suit for the discard of two of North's diamonds. He loses two tricks, but trumps out his third diamond.
