DWI Is Prime Factor in Texas Highway Deaths, Officials Say

Every day in Texas, drinking drivers cause a proportionately $224,000 in property damage, kill an average of three persons on Texas roads and injure about 95 more, F. L. Wright of the Texas Department of Public Safety said Friday.

Wright pointed out that during 1956 two fatalities were recorded on Mitchell County highways, one of which involved a drinking driver.

During the first six months of 1957, five persons have died in traffic accidents in Mitchell County and three of these involved drinking drivers.

A grand total of 35,200 people were injured by the deadly combination of alcohol and automobiles in Texas in 1956.

And 836 persons, comprising 32 per cent of all highway fatalities, were killed on the state's roads by drinking drivers in 1956.

Wright said that studies show that driving while intoxicated ranks second only to speed too fast for conditions as causative factors in the grim highway death toll.

Excessive speed accounts for 30 per cent of the fatalities in the state, with drunk driving close behind with 32 per cent.

During the 18-month period from January, 1955, to June, 1957, 92 cases of driving while intoxicated were filed in district and county court in Mitchell County.

Statistics point to a greater highway death toll this year than last year, Wright said.

This means that more than 2,611 persons will die on Texas highways this year—and at least 32 per cent of them will probably be caused by drunk or drinking drivers.

And County Judge Sam Bullock added that nearly all cases in county court are caused directly or indirectly by liquor.

This includes aggravated assault cases and selling and transporting liquor in dry territory, as well as driving while intoxicated offenses, Judge Bullock said.

In July, 1957, alone, 8,335 drivers licenses were suspended in Texas for driving while intoxicated, Wright concluded.

Dance Area Enlarged at Shell Center

With Colorado City's many-sided recreation program now in full swing on several fronts, plans are already underway for fall entertainment programs and for expanding local recreation into a year-round program.

The first round of free beginner swimming lessons closed at Ruddle Park Pool this week and Bill Brown, city park and recreation director, reported that approximately 150 youngsters had learned to swim.

"Everyone who finished the course learned to swim," Brown said.

Although the program has closed temporarily, Brown said his co-workers still plan to set up an adult swimming course later and there is still one complete class of children who have registered for courses, but have not yet taken them.

Brown also announced new hours for the swimming pool. The pool will open at 10 a. m. on weekdays from now on, will close for an hour at noon and will be open in the evenings from 7 p. m.

Sunday pool hours will be 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The wading pool in Ruddle Park is also open from 10 a. m. until 12 noon and from 4 p. m. Monday through Saturday, Brown said.

The wading pool is free to children five years of age or younger, Brown pointed out.

Because of the terrific response to the first teen-age dance sponsored by the city park board here, Brown said that the board was planning to make the dances a regular occurrence.

Enlarging of the dance area at the Shell Recreation Center is now underway. The room will be enlarged to include an area 20 feet long and 16 feet wide, Brown said.

No dance was held this week because of the work going on at the center.

However, a dance is planned for next Friday night, Brown said.

He added that the park department hopes to turn part of the Shell Building into a permanent youth center which would be open every week-day afternoon during the school year.

An advisory committee composed of park department recreation supervisors has been set up to plan future parties at the center and to help supervise the same.

SUPERINTENDENT SAYS

Curriculum Changes in Store For Students at Colorado High

"Several changes will be made in Colorado High School curriculum this year," Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Wilson told Lions Club members Friday.

Wilson said the changes will be made to conform to requirements for high school graduation as set forth by the State Board of Education.

The new Superintendent told the civic club that one program of offerings at high school would meet all requirements for graduation and entrance into college work.

Instead of two units of social studies, two and one-half will be necessary. Also two units in science will be necessary for graduation, but two years of language may be substituted for one year of science.

Several changes will also be made in the physical education program.

These changes will affect students entering high school this fall as freshmen.

"More audio-visual training will be given," Wilson added.

Music and band departments are also to be expanded this fall.

Efforts are also being made to obtain a special education teacher to work with approximately 60-70 children with speech defects.

Wilson pledged continuous, gradual improvement for the schools, and asked that we all make in common effort for the welfare of our children.

"We want a well-balanced program, not only in learning, but physical and emotional development," Wilson added.

Wilson emphasized the need for discipline in our schools, too. "It must be had," he said.

The superintendent said that guidance activities must be provided since there are some 28,000 vocations in the U.S. and the students need help in making a choice of jobs.

To help accomplish this program, over 40 units in studies at the high school level are being offered to help with the students' individual desires.

"There is one thing we must never lose sight of—the individual child," Wilson said.

"Your evaluation of school is what happens to your child as your grandchild.

"We want to bring out the individual capacities of each child, obtain the best of him.

"And we invite your support and cooperation in doing this task.

"Know your child's teachers, visit with them, study your child's problems and we will have a better school system," Wilson concluded.

Navy Veterans Hold Reunion

Five members of U. S. Navy Squadron VF-18 had a reunion Saturday at the Lake home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Cooper.

Cooper and four others who were all members of the squadron in World War II, had their first meeting in 12 years.

They were all stationed at Moffett Field, Calif., prior to overseas duty.

The ex-Navy fliers came from Pasadena, Calif.; St. Louis, Mo.; Decatur, Ill. and Staten Island, N. Y.

They spent Saturday on the lake, boating, sunbathing and fishing.

Sweetwater Vicar Is Speaker for Annual Book Review and Tea Here

Rev. Angus Miller, vicar of St. Stephen's Episcopal Mission in Sweetwater, was guest speaker Thursday afternoon at a book review and tea hosted annually by the Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Mission.

Scene for the affair was Parish House.

Rev. Miller spoke about the six Marys in the Bible.

"Strictly speaking," Rev. Miller began, "this is not a book review but rather a compilation of talks I have given before altar groups during my ministry. I had a book once by this name, but it is now probably out of publication."

Rev. Miller reviewed character delineations of the six Marys in the Bible. Principal thought of the speaker's review was emphasized as he said, "The first Christian sermon was preached by a Mary by Jesus' tomb."

Then he quoted the woman's saying, "He is risen. He is not here."

Rev. Miller asked women to return to basic principles of Christian women in "caring for the sick and comforting the widows and oppressed."

The guest speaker was introduced by Rev. Donald Hungerford of Snyder, vicar of the local Episcopal mission.

Tea table was laid with a lace cloth. An arrangement of crepe myrtle centered the table. White napkins were edged in pink.

TWO MINDS WITH BUT A SINGLE THOUGHT...

Meet Jeff and Kim! (Jeff's the one with the curly ears!)

They're inseparable pals. They both go around on all fours, and they're generally interested in the same things.

For instance, right now they're both wondering just what Daddy and Mama are talking about.

They seem to be discussing something called "religious education." It is carried on weekly by all the churches. It is the bulwark of America's moral strength and her religious faith.

Daddy is saying that he wants Kim to have the priceless advantage of religious training in Sunday School. And Mother is saying that she has been thinking the same thing.

That's the way it ought to be in every home! Two minds with but a single thought... wise parents planning together the moral and spiritual development of their child.

Wag your tail, Jeff! Things look mighty bright for your pal Kim!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SCHOOL—

 Year's Day, Jan. 1; Easter, April 4.
 Classes will be dismissed also March 7 or 14 for the Texas State Teachers Association district meeting in Odessa and May 22 for a teacher's work day the day before the close of school.
 Wilson pointed out that five in-service education dates or work days for teachers are included in the original calendar. More of the dates will be scheduled at intervals in the school year.
 The increase in teacher in-service dates (when not teaching regular class schedules) is in accord with Texas State Board of Education.
 "In compliance with accreditation requirements," Wilson said, "up to three more days may be used for further in-service education activities of professional personnel and for in-clement weather."
