Silver anniversary planned for USDA-SCS

The Silver Anniversary celebration, field day, and tour will be held at the USDA Soil Conservation Service (USDA-SCS) Plant Materials Center (PMC) near Knox City on August 30, 1989.

During the noon lunch, a formal program will be held with Honorable Charles Stenholm, U.S. Congressman from the 17th District of Texas, as the keynote speaker. Wilson Sealing, Chief of the USDA-SCS, Washington, D.C., Harry W. Oneth, State Conservationist, USDA-SCS, Texas and Budd Fountain, State Conservationist, USDA-SCS, Oklahoma will also be on the program.

Virgil Polocek, SCS District Conservationist at Sonora said guided tours are planned through the (PMC) starting at 9:30 a.m. Tours will run continually until lunch, then again until about 2:30 p.m. Registration will start at 8:45 a.m.

Several selections of plants are being grown at the PMC that were not being evaluated during the last field day in 1986.

To get to the PMC, go north of Knox City on State Highway 6 about 2 miles, then turn left at FM 1292 for 2 and 1/2 miles. There are signs at both the turn-off and the PMC, he said.

Polocek said Knox City has a 3,200-foot all-weather runway near the PMC for those wanting to fly to the field day in private or chartered planes. Transportation from the airport to the PMC will be furnished by the Knox City Chamber of Commerce on a prearranged basis.

Grass seed dealers, seed growers, conservation district directors, researchers, wildlife enthusiasts, livestock producers, and others interested in the search for better plants are invited to attend. The PMC serves both Texas and Oklahoma.

Lunch will be served by the Knox City Chamber of Commerce on a prepaid basis at $5.00 per plate. Payment must be sent to Doris Crownover, Attention: Field Day Lunch, Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 91, Knox City, Texas 79529. The deadline for making lunch reservations is August 21, 1989. Tickets will be held at the registration desk, and no refunds will be made.

Society selling Cook Book

The Sutton County Unit of the American Cancer Society is now taking orders for the American Cancer Society Cook Book. The book has been written by Anne Lindsay in consultation with Diane J. Fink, M.D.

The American Cancer Society advocates a diet high in fiber, low in fat, and rich in vitamins A and C. And they stress that you should avoid obesity by balancing your caloric intake with exercise.

The book helps you take care of yourself with more than 200 recipes from appetizers to desserts, assuring you of a delicious healthy feast every meal of the day. Grams of fat and calories per serving as well as a fiber rating follow each recipe.

This cookbook is not only about smart eating, it's also about smart cooking. In it you will learn:

- How to make simple substitutions to improve the nutritive values of recipes.
- How to reduce fat content when roasting poultry and meats.
- How to cook fish to retain maximum flavor and reduce fat.
- How to make finger foods and snacks that are low in fat.
- How to pick the the best sources of fiber.

Answers to questions as to peel vegetables or not, to use margarine or butter, or how to substitute yogurt for sour cream help to analyze the foods we eat and modify the recipes we use.

The cost of the book is $21.09 each, payable at time of order, and $10 of the cost will remain in Sutton County for patient services. The book may be ordered by calling Lou Faulks at 387-3269 or Kent Kepler at 387-2684 or 387-2466. The book will be on display at the American Cancer Society booth during Sutton County Days.

Locals to take center stage

Local entertainers will take center stage this weekend at the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater beginning Friday evening as Marti McLain returns to the stage. A ranchwoman and accomplished storyteller, Marti will relate the tale of "Aunt Martha's Home on the Range." If you have had the privilege of seeing Marti before, you know this will be a delightful interlude.

Musical entertainment for the evening will be provided by Reflections, an acapella female quartet from San Angelo. Coming together about a year ago, the Reflections sing for retreats and fairs and last year entertained at Christmas at Old Fort Concho. While their music is primarily gospel, they have incorporated some popular music into their program as well.

Saturday night will welcome L.P. Bloodworth back. He has appeared at the Dinner Theater several times and always brings a large audience... seems that half of the people come to make sure he doesn't talk about them and the other half come to see if he can keep his stories clean.

Accompanying L.P. will be his son Burt, a composer and balladeer, who has written some original music to highlight his father's stories. L.P. will be bringing stories about the earliest days of Sonora and Sutton County complete with comical asides about his family's part in its history.

Dinner, at $4.95 per person, is catered by the famous Sutton County Steakhouse and is served between 6:30 and 7:30 with the show following. Show tickets are $4 for adults with children twelve and under free.

The third season of the Covered Wagon Dinner Theater will conclude August 12 with a gathering of Cowboy Poets. If you haven't attended any of the shows, make plans now before it's over for the year. August 4 will highlight Joe Lane and Julie Ann Carpenter; August 5-Elmer Kelton and Ballet Azteca; August 11-Jim Stephen and Don Edwards.

The final weekend will also feature a Cowboy Breakfast with entertainment by Don Edwards on Saturday morning, August 12.

The Covered Wagon Dinner Theater is located on the beautiful grounds at the Caverns of Sonora. The gift shop at the Caverns, showcasing many items by local craftspeople and delicious homemade fudge, remains open after the shows for shopping.

Joneses named Wagon Bosses for Boys Ranch

The Rev. Monte and Virginia Jones have been appointed as the Sutton County Wagon Bosses for the Annual West Texas Boys Ranch Roundup. Making the announcement was 1989-90 Roundup Coordinator Robert Dierschke.

The Joneses have been active with West Texas Boys Ranch for quite some time. They previously served as Wagon Bosses for Mitchell County before moving to Sonora over four years ago. Monte is an Episcopal minister and is Vice-president of the Sonora Lion Club. Virginia belongs to the Sonora Women's Club and the Christian Women's Fellowship. The Joneses have two children: John, 20, and Julie 16.

The West Texas Boys Ranch Roundup kicks off June 1st and runs through May 31st each year. It is the first program of its type of this area and annually provides much needed operating funds for food and clothing for the boys at the Ranch.

Wagon Bosses are appointed in the various West Texas counties to act as liaisons during the Roundup campaign. Donations of livestock, feed, cash or other items can be arranged by contacting the Joneses at (915) 387-2472. They can have the animal or item picked up. Or, simply drop off an animal (or bale of cotton) at the auction barn (or gin) and tell them it is for West Texas Boys Ranch. The proceeds will be sent to the Ranch and you will be issued a cash receipt for the amount. If the Ranch, or representative, picks up the item, you will be given a Gift-In-Kind receipt.

Donations are still tax deductible and very much appreciated.

The goal of this year's Roundup, excluding special events, is $125,000 which represents 250 animal units of $500.

West Texas Boys Ranch currently cares for nearly 80 homeless and neglected boys from all over West Texas. We have helped over 1200 boys in the past 40 plus years. The efforts of area ranchers, farmers, and businessmen through Roundup have played a big part in making that all possible.

Affidavits as evidence? Don't count on them!

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: I recently lost a case before the Appeal Tribunal, apparently because I submitted sworn affidavits instead of bringing the witnesses in person. I run a small business and cannot afford to close up just to haul everyone down to one of these hearings. Why won't the TEC accept affidavits?

J.G.
Borger, Texas

DEAR J.G.: The TEC DOES accept affidavits, BUT, if you will look on the next notice of hearing that you receive, you will see that special effort is made to advise parties of the fact that affidavits are inferior to firsthand testimony when it comes to weighing the evidence.

It is very common in unemployment hearings that the evidence is in dispute. When this happens, the referee must apply some criteria to judge the weight, credibility, or validity of the conflicting evidence so that he or she can arrive at a decision. It is simply an unavoidable fact that the claimant will always have first-hand testimony concerning the work separation because it is the claimant

Commissioner

Mary Scott
Nabers

Texas Business Today

who has been separated. An employer must counter firsthand claimant testimony with firsthand witness testimony of its own. If an employer relies on hearsay evidence-and affidavits are a form of hearsay-then the employer will be at a disadvantage when the time comes to assign weight to the evidence.

Presenting firsthand testimony does not always mean you must shut down your business to attend a hearing. In preparing for a hearing you should first clarify in your own mind what your allegations are and then ask yourself whose testimony is most critical to proving these allegations. Who saw? Who heard? If you ask yourself these two basic questions regarding each allegation you intend to make, you may find that there is really only one witness who can provide the necessary firsthand testimony. On the other hand, there may be several firsthand witnesses and you may have to choose whether to bring more than one depending upon the circumstances of the case and your own business necessities.

DEAR COMMISSIONER NABERS: I recently read in both your column and newsletter about the chargeback protection afforded employers if an employee becomes unemployed because of a medically verified illness. Does this protection extend to reimbursing employers such as school districts or non-profit corporations?

F.L.
Garland, Texas

DEAR F.L.: No. There is no protection for the reimbursing employer who separates an employee because of medical reasons, even if that employee quits upon the advice of a doctor.

Mary Scott Nabers represents all Texas employers. If you have any question you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 TEC Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Tx. 78778.

Area scouts hike Philmont Trails

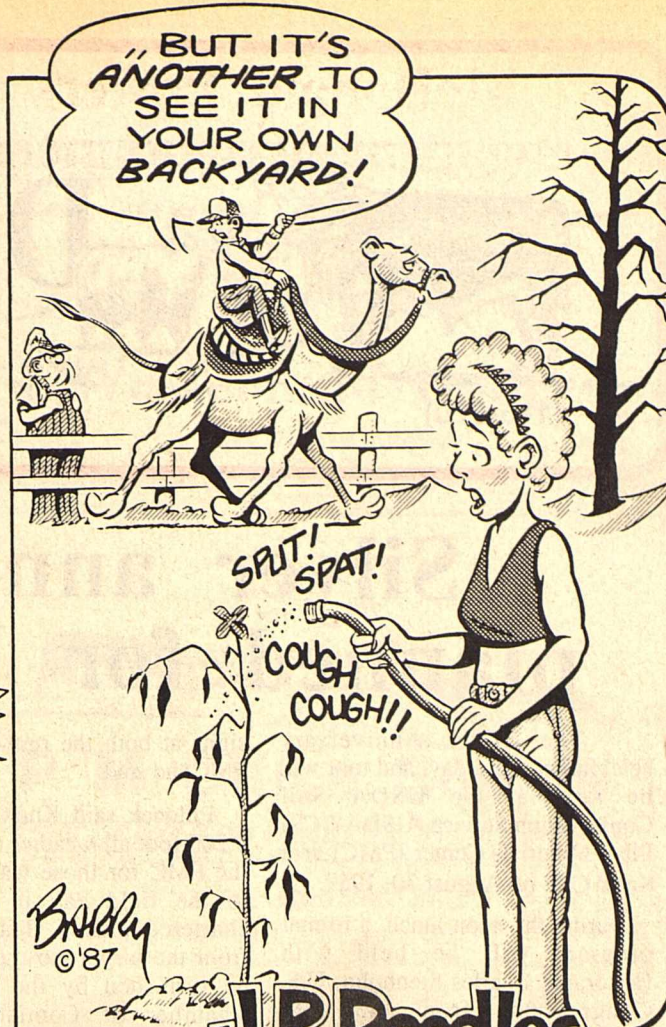

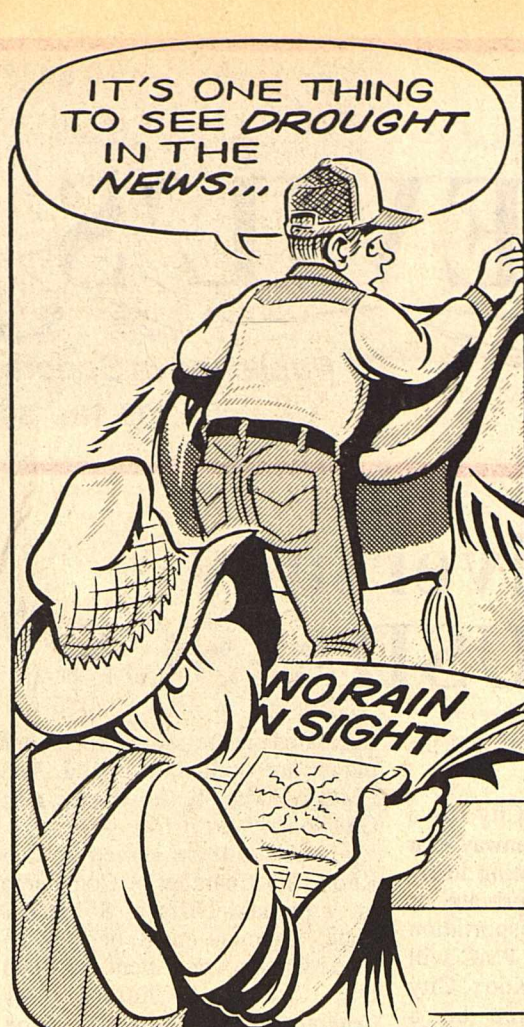

A group of San Angelo and Sonora, Scouts arrived July 12 at Philmont Scout Ranch. Philmont, owned and operated by the Boy Scouts of America, is the world's largest camping facility, covering 214 square miles.

The Scouts are Jericho Thorp, Robert Zook, Jon Jon Zook, Jeremy Hooper, Cody Elliott, and John Dane, of Troops 19 and 22. They are among more than 16,000 young Scouting men and women expected to hike Philmont's mountainous trails this summer.

The group is under the adult leadership of Scout Master John E. Zook and Assistant Scout Master Evelyn L. Zook. During their 12-day stay at Philmont, they will backpack between 50 and 100 miles, visiting several of the ranch's 27 mountain camps.

At these camps, they will be instructed in such things as rock climbing, western lore, fly fishing, lumbering, ecology, and conservation.

This year Philmont celebrates its 50th anniversary of camping at the ranch. Over 512,000 young people have hiked the ranch's trails since it was given to the Boy Scouts of America by Tulsa, Ok, oilman, Waite Phillips.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

by T. Driskell

What do we do now? Most of us have some assets, and the problem at hand is where should those assets be invested, or stored away to derive for us the greatest benefits? There are plenty of paths to well-being offered by individuals who have, unfortunately, a decidedly vested interest in you taking the course they propose. An unbiased decision can be reached only if the individual has an adequate understanding of the underlying economic factors. That understanding can be reached by penetration of the charade one faces today in deriving a definition for our economic status as a basis for one's study.

The charade that must be penetrated is a full blown melodrama with many players and many questionable roles which seem to vary with the audience. An example: During the recent swing through Europe, Bush and Company told the Europeans that they must cope with their debts and make many sacrifices, then introduced comedy by sitting down the table in Paris and discussing the national debts of some of the third world countries, but mind you, not one word was said about reduction of the debt of the most indebted nation on this earth.

Arriving home, where the most expensive path had been taken to perpetuate and expand the Saving and Loan cost to the taxpayers, a Housing and Urban Development mismanagement has lost billions, the requirements of maintenance of the environment have been ignored; a total change of character is observed. Not one word is utilized in coping with the debt, nor coping with the budgetary deficit, but much is said about using bookkeeping gimmicks to keep the money that was expended this year on the Savings and Loan Fiasco from affecting compliance with the Gramm-Rudman budgetary restrictions. As IRS often accuses the taxpayers, it appears that the Federal Government is guilty of maintaining two sets of books. Spending on one just does not count.

Upon arrival home, not one word of sacrifice toward reduction of national indebtedness or reduction of the budgetary deficit. Speaking to the most indebted nation on the earth, not one word about debt, but a new clean air program which will cost billions and last from 20 to 100 years. The coup de grace was an off the cuff proposal that we put a man on Mars. It is obvious that attention is being diverted from something. Cost? Probably one-hundred billion maybe two with overruns and inflation. A whole cloth proposal when the money for his drug program, his clean air program, and his Savings and Loan draw down are not available.

This is only a minute sample of the things you must fathom if you are to derive the most benefits from your assets. I for one, cannot understand why we do not get down to the debt and deficit problems' solutions. If sacrifice is required, let's make it because this is one of the few livable governments and economies on this earth. And the assets are yours and vaporization is a possibility.

Former Sonorans in National Softball Playoff

San Angelo's Shook Tire men's softball team earned a second consecutive trip to the National Triple Crown Softball Championships August 8-12 in Steamboat Springs, Colorado.

A year ago the team finished fifth nationally. Shook's Class C tournament berth was secured with a weekend victory in the third leg of the West Texas Triple Crown Tournament in Odessa. Earlier this summer the Shook team finished second in Abilene and fifth in San Angelo.

Shook's Odessa victory placed them in a three-way tie for the West Texas championship, but the team was awarded the national berth based on a heads-up competition tiebreaker.

Shook won its first two games in Odessa before being knocked into the loser's bracket of the double elimination tournament with a loss to Quality Inn of San Angelo.

Shook claimed the title with a double header victory of Quality Inn, finishing with a mark in the Odessa tournament.

Team player-manager Jack Clanton said the team would undertake several fund-raising projects to help cover travel expenses.

"The national tournament will provide us with lodging, but each team will have to pay its own way to the tournament," Clanton said.

Hill Country Fair

The Hill Country Fair Association will be holding the following activities July 29 and 30 at the Junction fairgrounds: July 29 there will be two team ropings. The first will be roping open to Kimble County ropers only. Books will open at 2 p.m. and the roping will start at 3 p.m. The second roping will be open to all Class #7 ropers. Books will open at 3 p.m. and the roping will start at the conclusion of the Kimble County roping.

Trophy buckles will be awarded to the champion header and healer of both ropings. That night Wayne Kenemmer and his band will be providing dancing music at the open air pavilion from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

July 29 and 30 a two man select golf tournament will be held at the Junction golf course. $1000.00 will be added to the prize money. For more information or to enter call 915-446-3554 or 915-446-3439 after 5 p.m.

Ranchers uncertain children will take over

Most South Texas ranchers either are not certain or do not believe that their children will take over their ranching operation when they retire.

"Only 33 percent are certain that their offspring will operate the ranch when the rancher retires," said Dr. Gary Kempf, a management economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Corpus Christi.

According to a recent survey, the average age of ranchers in the 33 South Texas counties sampled, including the Coastal Bend (District 14), Southwest (13) and South (12), is 58 years old. Kempf and five other Extension Service specialists conducted the survey in the counties south of a line along U.S. Hwy. 90 from near LaGrange to Del Rio.

Kempf speculated that because 43 percent of the ranchers' low $50,000 gross annual income is from non-ranching sources, the sons and daughters might be reluctant to leave non-farm jobs.

"We usually see a lot of optimism when cattle prices are high and pessimism when the prices are lower," Kempf said. "However, we now have high cattle prices and a lot of pessimism."

The severe drought is one likely factor in the pessimism. Other possible reasons may be that the children are no longer interested in agriculture, or perhaps the families have never sat down and discussed what is going to happen when dad finally retires, Kempf said.

The average ranch size of about 3,400 acres has not decreased, so larger holdings are not apparently being divided among children.

These hypotheses will be tested when Kempf and his team move from the mail-out surveys to personal interviews with some of the survey respondents early next year.

The Agricultural Extension group will be looking for answers to questions about the future of South Texas cattle ranches.

Other members of the Extension team are: Dr. Joe Paschal, livestock specialist; Dr. Wayne Hanselka, range management specialist; Dr. Jack Payne, wildlife management specialist; Dr. Ken Pagens, recreation and parks specialist; and Calvin Richardson, Extension assistant. All are headquartered at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center near Corpus Christi.
