Wife Of Defendant On Stand To Relate Details Of Her Husband's Alleged Illicit "Affair" With Stenographer

Judge Brady Weeps

Women In Courtroom Cry As Mrs. Brady Tells Story Of Defendant's Downfall; Arguments Likely Today

DALLAS, May 15.—Pausing now and then to gain her composure, Mrs. John W. Brady today told of an alleged illicit affair between her husband and Miss Leila Highsmith, for whose death he is on trial here.

For 45 minutes Mrs. Brady remained on the stand telling of relations between her husband and Miss Highsmith that ultimately brought unhappiness into their lives and a tragic death to the stenographer in Austin last Nov. 9.

The state and defense rested conditionally today. Judge Charles A. Fippen, however, announced that he would have his charge to the jury ready tomorrow morning and that arguments would start if no further testimony was offered.

Indications were that the case would go to the jury late tomorrow or early Saturday.

Brady Weeps
Judge Brady cried frequently as his wife unfolded details of the relations he had with Miss Highsmith, and when the witness was excused wept tears from his eyes.

Mrs. Brady said she had known her husband for 12 years. Her age is 33 and her husband's 30, she testified.

Testimony was launched into the personal life of the defendant, his wife and Miss Highsmith.

Brady always was very kind to her, and "we were just as happy as could be until three years ago," she said. When they married the defendant was a stenographer.

Three Men Die In Mine Blast

Four Others Are Injured, One Seriously, After Fall Of Slate Occurs; 325 Miners Working At Time

AVELLA, Pa., May 15.—A gas explosion in the Peshwan Coal company's number 2 mine today killed three miners and injured four others, one seriously.

The dead: Clement Manley, 35, New Cumberland, W. Va.; John Speers, 18, and Thomas Williams, 30, negro, both of Avela.

Andrew Kustie, 19, Avela, was so severely burned that his recovery at a Washington, Pa., hospital was regarded as doubtful. There were 325 men at work in the mine at the time of the explosion.

A fall of slate occurred shortly before the blast, knocking from the track a trolley on which Kustie was riding. Mine officials were inclined to believe that sparks resulting from derangement of the trolley set fire to gas created in the slate fall.

Navy Admirals Disagree Over London Treaty

Sharply Conflicting Views Are Presented Before Two Senate Committees Probing Naval Limitations Pact

Agreement Flayed

Rear Admiral Hilary Jones Leaves Sick Bed To Score Plan; William Pratt Voices His Satisfaction

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Sharply conflicting positions on the London naval limitations treaty were taken before two senate committees today by two of America's outstanding admirals, and the prosed senate inquirers turned inquiringly tonight to the general board of the navy.

Leaving a sick bed, Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, one of the navy's advisers at London, went before the foreign relations committee to assail the pact as one giving the edge to both Great Britain and Japan at the expense of the American navy.

Pratt Satisfied
Emphasizing his answers with forceful gestures, Admiral William V. Pratt, also a naval adviser at London and commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, told the naval committee at the same time that the limitations agreement was "the best that could be obtained" and was one satisfactory to him.

The unheeded attack upon the London pact by Admiral Jones led to close questioning by Senator Robinson, democrat of Arkansas, one of the American delegation. Jones held his position under the cross-examination.

The white-haired admiral insisted the treaty would leave the American fleet "frozen in a condition from which it cannot escape" in 1936; would give Japan a ratio of 5-5 instead of the 5-3 ratio established by the Washington conference, and that its limitations upon the cruiser armament would impair the effectiveness of the American fleet in favor of the British.

"We have built our financial system around our corporations," he continued, "and they have received almost every conceivable safeguard, through operation of tariff laws. A national money panic was avoided last year, following the crash of the New York stock market, when the government, our banks and other financial institutions and industry in general jumped into the breach to stabilize things."

Howl Goes Up
"Yes, when the federal farm board recently jumped into the breach following the crash of farm commodity prices, the howl went up."

SAM H. THOMPSON

Sam Thompson Will Talk At Meeting Here

President Of American Farm Bureau Federation To Be Heard By Business Club And Bureau Members Today

The law of supply and demand is not being permitted to operate in regard to farm products, because of our system of speculative buying, according to Sam H. Thompson, of Quincy, Ill., president of the American Farm Bureau federation, who will speak at the court house here at 2 o'clock this afternoon and at a meeting of the A. B. C. club today noon.

Mr. Thompson arrived in Lubbock late yesterday from Plainsview, where he spoke before the district convention of the Texas Farm Bureau federation Wednesday and Thursday. He is accompanied by J. E. Montgomery, of Tynan, Texas, president of the Texas federation.

Law Not Permitted
"It is because of this fact that the law of supply and demand is not permitted to operate that farmers throughout America have been insisting for more than 50 years that a more equitable condition be brought about," Mr. Thompson said last night when interviewed here.

"We have built our financial system around our corporations," he continued, "and they have received almost every conceivable safeguard, through operation of tariff laws. A national money panic was avoided last year, following the crash of the New York stock market, when the government, our banks and other financial institutions and industry in general jumped into the breach to stabilize things."

Two-Day Financial Campaign Falls Below $12,000 Goal Sought By Allen Brothers Post To Build Structure

Response Praised

"Mop Up" Drive To Be Staged Today In Effort To Raise Necessary Funds; $10,218 Pledged By Citizens

LACKING only a total of $1,782 yet to be raised before the dream of a new American Legion home for Lubbock will become a reality in the beginning, members of the financial drive of the local post today will begin a "mop up" campaign in an effort to raise the necessary amount before tonight.

A report by Glen Hess, lieutenant-colonel of the drive and post adjutant, last night showed a total of $8,418 in cash and pledges in the amount of $1,800, making a grand total of $10,218.

Many Are Missed
"We know that there are many business men and other citizens of Lubbock who have been missed in the two-day canvass," stated Post Commander J. A. Bailey, Jr., yesterday, "but we feel that those who have been missed will want a part in the building of this monument to the veterans of this section. Our 'mop up' men will be out Friday, we hope that they will be able to secure many of those who have been missed and that contributions by tonight will send the total 'over the top.'"

The response of Lubbock citizens to date has been wonderful and we appreciate it. I am sure that our nation 12 years ago, when called will respond and see the thing through to a finish. We are not asking for charity, the motive which prompted this drive and plans for this new building in our city was one which should be shared by every man, woman and child of Lubbock. It will be a lasting monument of appreciation.

Air Adventure Takes Aviator

Three Military Planes Lost In Dramatic Maneuvers Of Planes Near Hawaii; Three Men Rescued By Vessels

(By Associated Press)
HONOLULU, May 15.—A dramatic adventure of air and sea, it was found today, has cost the life of Staff Sergeant Joseph Becker of Brooklyn, N. Y., and caused the loss of three military airplanes between the islands of Maui and Hawaii yesterday. Twelve other army and navy fliers whose planes rode the rough waves from noon yesterday until early today were brought ashore by surface vessels.

Becker died when an army bombing plane fell into the ocean while accompanying a fleet of forty-one army and navy planes from Luke and Wheeler fields, near here, to Hilo, Hawaii. A navy seaplane and two army amphibian planes were brought down by their crews to rescue the bomber's men. They picked up three men, but the rescuing planes were unable to rise from the rough waters.

While flying 8,000 feet high, the bomber broke an aileron control and began its descent. Becker's parachute opened prematurely, as he was about to leap and became entangled in the bomber's rigging. Two others of the crew parachuted at an altitude of 4,000 feet and were picked up by the rescuing planes.

New Braunfels Bishop Cannon To Face Trial

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, May 15.—(P)—Despite the silence of Episcopacy committee members, a report grew today at the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, that Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Washington, D. C., and Virginia would be brought to a church trial for speculating on the stock market.

Leading members of the Episcopacy committee, who heard the complaints discussed for nearly six hours yesterday, still refused to commit themselves on the report that the committee voted last night to ask the church trial. The report that could be obtained to confirmation was the statement of one member of the committee that the generally credited report "probably was true."

Other delegates, who discussed the rumor more freely, pointed out first they considered a pertinent reason for the committee's adjournment last night, until Friday, Bishop Cannon will preside at tomorrow's session of the general conference. His name having been reached on the roll of bishops, and they said it would have been too great a personal affront to prefer the charges on the day before he served as chairman.

A lovely, clear skin is within your reach

WITH the last blemish gone, confidence returns. More friends, more invitations—more good times. With the joy and pride of possessing a clear skin, self-respect increases. A lovely, clear skin is within the reach of all. To you who have lost it, hope is offered, that you, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple. Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low. The natural way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S. S.S.S. helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Healthy blood nourishes the body and works against infection and disease. Without plenty of rich, red blood there would be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women. If you are troubled with so-called skin disorders, take a few bottles of S.S.S.

A new thrill awaits you in STAR BACON

Armour's new "double-f" process gives you Fixed* Flavor and new zest to an old favorite HUNDREDS argued it couldn't be done. "You can't improve on perfection," they said. But we tried—and found the narrow path to Fixed* Flavor. It led to the tenderest, tastiest bacon that ever passed your lips... Armour's Star!

Every good cook who has "fussed" with ingredients will appreciate our search for perfection. We changed our curing mix and the cure itself, and finally our smoking process which drives that North Woods tang deep into every ounce of the meat. Then, with thermometric controls, we made the "double-f" process, Fixed* Flavor, as changeless as the fixed stars.

Try the new Star Bacon tomorrow. Uniformly sliced in cartons, or your dealer will slice it from the original piece. Ask for Star Bacon. When it sizzles in the pan, see how unmanageable your appetite becomes! Armour and Company, Chicago.

Sam West Leads Senators To Triumph Over Cleveland

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by William Braucher

Students of the Derby
It is a great year for possible long shots in the Derby. Crack Bridge, Gallant Fox, and perhaps one or two others have won what is known as public favor, but there is a horde of dark horses in the Kentucky classic this year, and one of them is rather more than likely to gallop in at some price like $50.00.

No matter what the price, though, there will always be somebody who "caught him." He will walk around the lawns and enclosures with his ticket. He "kissed" a sleeper. He is a great man. He is a student of the Derby.

They come from all corners of the world, these students of the Derby. They can give a very good reason for their bet. I saw one of them cash a $200 place ticket on a plate at Hawthorn one misty day. He explained it.

"All them Venie horses are snadders. Whenever I see a Venie horse run in the slop I ride my legs with it."

There's Always a Reason
There will be any number of people at Churchill Downs on May 17 who will fight and snarl in the long lines to the betting windows to get up there and lay their money on the line for one of the sons of Man o' War to win. Five of them have been named—and didn't a Man o' War boss win last year—Clyde Van Dusen?

Any number will be holding tickets on Tannery when the horses go to the barrier. Tannery's mother was a daughter of Oldenbath. Remember that old Olambath? If you don't you're crazy. And don't tell me Tannery isn't bred to go on a sprinter? Huh! How about Chollowe and Midway, sons of Ballot, the father of Tannery? Were they

Philadelphia Athletics Fail To Complete Official Game As White Sox Tie Score In The Fifth

WASHINGTON, May 15. (AP)—Sam West's extra base hitting gave Washington a victory today over the third-place Cleveland Indians, 4 to 2. The Indians scored ten hits in the Nationals' line but could not make them count.

Rice, Washington's leading hitter, kept up his performance by obtaining a double. It was the 25th consecutive game in which he connected.

SHOOTING WITH SHUTE

No put is too short.
I shall never forget the expression of Bobby Jones after he had holed a three-inch putt to win the national Open at Columbus several years ago.

"It was in terror," said Jones after he sank the putt. "The thought that I should strike the ground and fall to move the ball obsessed me. It was the last hole and all Bobby had to do was sink that puny little putt to win the championship. You can realize how much depended upon it. His nerves were strained to the limit. Yet he took his stance just as though it were that 18-footer he sank on the last hole at Winged Foot last year to tie for the open title."

No short putt on any hole is to be taken lightly. Carelessness on one of the early holes in a long match may be the factor of defeat. I have seen many cases where too much tension on a short putt caused the loss of a match. Take all putts "in your stride." Do not let them scare you and at the same time do not fail to make your best effort.

One-handed or other freak swings, on short puts have no place in the game of golf. If you get the habit of making all your putts, even in friendly, informal games, you will have valuable practice for the tournaments where every shot is precious.

Bussey Meets Don Mitchell In Tiff Today

Conqueror Of Doherty In Semi-Finals Will Meet Winner Of Bussey-Mitchell Match On Sunday

Jo Dick Slaughter advanced to the final round of the Lubbock Country Club open golf tournament yesterday by defeating E. Doherty, 8 up and 4 to go, in the only first flight match played during the day.

In the final 36-hole match Sunday, Slaughter will meet the winner of the Clinton Bussey-Don Mitchell tiff, which was scheduled for Thursday but postponed until today.

Only one match was likewise played in the second flight, N. L. Peters putting out Bud Roberts on the fourteenth green and winning 4 and 2.

In the third flight D. A. Dowell reached the final by beating Oscar Lykes, 3 and 2.

W. B. Powell and Jimmy Alls became the finalists in the last flight, the former defeating O. L. Peterson 2 up and the latter winning over F. Bradford, 3 and 1.

Wins First

Captain Robert T. Jones of the American Ryder Cup team led his team to an auspicious start in its quest of the international golf supremacy yesterday at Sandwich, England, when he and his partner, Dr. O. F. Willing won the first point for the Americans. Jones and Willing defeated T. A. Torrance and Rex Hartley in a foursome, 8 and 7.

Lion Baseball Aspirants To Open Training

O. B. Conley Issues Call For First Practice; Club Will Meet Kiwanians Here Soon In Inter-Club Combat

Followers of the national pastime in Lubbock will soon learn whether or not members of the Lions club here can play baseball as well as they can give the Lions' roar.

This evening, at 6 o'clock, aspirants for positions on the Lions baseball team, who will meet the Kiwanis club nine in mortal combat soon, will gather at the sheriff's office in the courthouse and from there will go to first practice.

All Urged Out
Deputy Sheriff O. B. Conley, manager of the team, urges all Lions who ever had a baseball in their hands, to come out for practice and to bring any equipment they may have, with them.

"We're going to challenge 'the old men' next," Conley said, "and we don't mean the House of David bearded team, either. We mean the Rotary baseball team—if any!"

Date of the Lions-Kiwanis game has not yet been set but will be announced soon.

Gallant Fox And Tannery In Spotlight On Eve Of Annual Kentucky Derby Race Classic

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 15. (AP)—The hope that springs eternal in every Kentucky turfman's breast, wherever the classic derby is celebrated, rose with buoyancy today as the result of an impressive workout by Edward P. Fritchard's colt, Tannery, the pride of the Blue Grass, in preparation for Saturday's $50,000 added race at Churchill Downs for the most cherished of American three-year-old prizes.

Kentuckians take this race and the desire for victory of its own to heart. Nevertheless, the Pritchard colt's performance was good enough to make Eastern horsemen take sharp notice, even though not sufficiently good to dislodge the gallant Earl Sande and equally gallant Fox from the rockbound position of favorite.

Tannery Impressive
Tannery worked a brisk mile and a furlong in 1:39 2-5, impressing all with his long, easy stride. The fractional times were 24 2-5, 50, 1:16 and 1:44 and the workout served to boom the stock of the colt, which is likely to attract even stronger backing if rain makes the going heavy Saturday.

Tannery is considered a much better runner than Gallant Fox, although the Preakness winner has never really been tested on a bad track.

With the derby only two days off, the Earl of Derby himself only 20 miles away at Lexington, and good sized crowds trekking into town, the talk is almost exclusively confined to Gallant Fox and Tannery, with East once more against West in the 57th running of the historic Kentucky race.

Women Favorites Lose in Tourney

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 15. (AP)

A couple of Jack the Giant Killer put in a belated appearance in the Women's Southern golf tournament here today and in consequence the erstwhile "Big Four" of Dixie golf had dwindled to a badly worried "Big Two" on the eve of the semi-final round. Anne Kennedy, diminutive Miss from Tulsa, Oklahoma, engineered the prize cup of the meet by eliminating the defending champion, Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta 2 and 1, while Mrs. Kenyon Rowell of Savannah, Ga., hopped into the spot light with a sensational one up victory over another favorite, Mrs. Leon Solomon, of Memphis, who—until today—was regarded as the "natural" of the tournament.

MR. COLP'S IDEA

D. E. COLP, chairman of the State Park board, continues to press his pet plan of raising additional park revenue through plastering Texas motorists with a driver's license tax.

He makes a speech, demanding the appointment of an investigating committee. It is senate custom to name him as chairman.

Now, in earnest, all he has to go on is pure suspicion.

He needs, the worst way, some actual evidence to support it. So what does he do?—but send out an assistant sergeant-at-arms, with a subpoena, to bring in, bodily, the entire correspondence files of the individuals, firms or corporations among whose records he has an idea he can find proof (more or less) of the charges he has made, largely as a matter of mere guesswork.

And—this is the genuinely amazing part of the performance. The senator almost invariably finds what he is looking for; at any rate a close enough approximation to it to serve his purpose.

To say that he is a good guesser is no explanation whatever.

Suppose he is. Suppose he is shrewd enough to have surmised, from hints and indications he has picked up, that his accusations are well founded—if only he can substantiate them as he would like to.

Would you imagine that the gang he is trying to get the goods on, would be so unsophisticated as to keep reams and reams of documentary evidence of their nefarious conspiracies and plottings on file?—in readiness to be grabbed and examined under a microscope by the first senate investigating committee that comes fishing for them?

And anyway—even if the plotters are as indiscreet as all that—would one not think that they would have had a system of destroying their incriminating documents at the first intimation that a senate's sergeant-at-arms was likely to appear any minute, asking for them?

But no: the whole layout always is available. An ordinary person, writing a letter to a confederate relative to the contemplated murder of the former's mother-in-law, would not be apt to keep a carbon copy of it in his correspondence file—would he?

Nor would the letter's recipient, if at all a dependable pal, file away the original communication for future reference. Even if he wanted to preserve it, as a means of blackmailing its writer subsequently, surely he would hide it in a safety deposit box or some such place.

But our big business men, supposedly so fussy! No one possibly can have failed to notice what happens to them when ever a senate investigating committee puts a crowd of them on the witness stand, one after another.

The chairman sits with a stack of their own letters in front of him and grills them over a fire for which they themselves furnished the fuel.

They howl about surrendering their correspondence. They question the investigators' right to seize their papers. They refer feelingly to the fourth amendment to the constitution. It never seems to occur to them that they could burn their letters, or tear them up or chew them up and swallow them.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

INCRIMINATING CORRESPONDENCE THAT GETS INTO SENATE PROBES RESULT OF SHEER CARELESSNESS

By CHARLES F. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The United States senate has done a lot of investigating in recent years.

Some folk think it has done too much. However, they are the ones who have been investigated. No wonder they did not like it.

Fall, Doherty, Sinclair, Donaherty and Tom Miller—of course they considered the oil, the justice department and the alien property investigations perfectly outrageous.

Later, the public utilities inquiry, upon which the senate started the federal trade commission—naturally that made no hit with the power people.

Can Gladys Huston reasonably be expected to wax enthusiastic over Senator Caraway's lobby "probe"?

Nevertheless, none of the senate's investigations has found every one of them has brought to light any quantity of interesting facts, of one sort or another, which plenty of highly influential personages would infinitely have preferred not to have uncovered.

All senate investigations originate and they proceed in one and the same fashion.

To begin with, some senator gets an inkling of something that he believes would be politically profitable (from his or his party's standpoint) to dig into and make a row about.

He makes a speech, demanding the appointment of an investigating committee. It is senate custom to name him as chairman.

Now, in earnest, all he has to go on is pure suspicion.

The Husband Hunter By RUTH DEWEY GROVES

NATALIE HUNG TODAY. BERNADINE tries to conquer her jealousy over her husband, ALAN. But when he is called to the home of BERNADINE LAMONT, a popular night club hostess, she demands that he refuse to go.

He promises and tries to tell Natalie but her rebuff silences him. He confides in his secretary, PHILIPPA WEST, who has been waiting for this opportunity.

When Natalie comes to the office, Philippa tells her about helping Alan pick out boys for Bobby and shows a letter from Bernadine. Natalie leaves in a rage and Alan follows, but her accusations drive him back to the office. He finds Bernadine there and asks her out.

there's a list of things that will need your attention, on my desk." Alan thought her extremely cautious. "Have you enough money?" he asked abruptly.

"For the present," Natalie answered. "Will you write?"

"Of course, will you answer?" She somehow made her words sound flippant, and all the while she was hoping desperately that Alan would go before she broke down and wept openly.

"Well," Alan said slowly, "good-by, Natalie. Better luck next time." He opened the door quickly, and was gone before Natalie's choked reply left her lips.

He did not come home to dinner that night. He ate alone in a restaurant on Fifth Avenue, and pitted himself exceedingly. He hoped Natalie was as dismal as he was.

It was sunset at home. Frances and Hannah were still there; he decided to keep them for a while at least. At first he planned to close the house and live in New York, but he loved home life; the thought of being cramped up in hotel quarters was displeasing to him; he had changed his mind at the office and telephoned the servants to stay.

The house was dark when he arrived; only a crack of light showing past the blind in Hannah's sitting room indicated that anyone was in the place. Alan's spirits fell lower upon finding the golden globes beside the front entrance dimmed.

He must speak to Frances about having them turned off at sunset. It made the house look better, he told himself.

Frances turned away from Hannah's window and called out: "Hey, he's just come in. You better turn off that photograph, Hannah."

"An' I lose me bet," Hannah sighed. "Shure an' I never thought he'd come home before the mornin'."

She shut off the photograph, but the pack the music had reached Alan's ears. It irked him that there should be gaiety in the house when it seemed there should be mourning.

The living room was impossible. Everything was in its place; each chair and cushion—precisely arranged. The hearth was swept clean, and there wasn't a book or a magazine lying about as Natalie was used to having them.

Alan stood near the door and glanced around, taking it all in—the change in his home. When Natalie had gone away before, she had left everything cheerful and comfortable. Now there wasn't a flower or a lighted lamp—except those overcast, which he had just now turned on—to welcome him.

He snapped the lights out quickly and retreated. His own room was less forsaken. Things were just as usual there: all but his slippers and bathrobe. He had to get them from the closet himself. Not always, but quite often, Natalie had them out for him.

Suddenly Alan realized that he was missing the creature comforts Natalie had provided for him. He did not like it. "It's her companionship that I ought to miss," he chided himself. And then he had to admit that companionship quality. For a moment he was glad that they were apart for a while.

While? She wasn't coming back to him! His heart sank again to its former gloomy depths. The future, as he looked into it then, seemed dim and hopeless. After all, he'd had many happy hours with Natalie; not many without her.

"Hang it all; maybe I was to blame," he said aloud to the tune of the running water in his tub. "I might have been more patient with her, tried harder to convince her there wasn't any other woman."

He decided to write to her as soon as he finished his bath. His resolution held until he found himself seated at his desk—the desk Natalie had brought down from Vermont for his last birthday. Then he was seized with doubt. What he could induce her to return to him immediately? Wouldn't she consider that she had won a decisive victory? Perhaps she would go so far as to think his conscience had driven her to grovel at his feet.

Alan started his letter despite his misgiving "Darling Natalie," he wrote. Then he stopped. He had a vision of Natalie smiling in triumph over the salutation.

He crumpled the sheet of paper, and threw it into the waste basket. "Dear Natalie," he wrote on a second sheet. Again he stopped. He didn't know exactly what he wanted to say to her. Apologize? Tell her he was sorry? It wouldn't do. He had too little to be sorry for.

"It isn't up to me to get this mess straightened out; it's up to Natalie," he told himself. "If I begin to come back, things will go on as they were before, and that's impossible. Perhaps I'd better wait a day or two before writing. She may come to her senses when she's had time to think it over."

He closed the desk with a bang. But it did not shut out the first sound of the telephone, ringing in the hall below. Alan wondered, as he went down, how many of Natalie's friends knew that she had left him. It wasn't like her to spread the news, he granted. But she might have told Gladys. He hoped this was not someone calling to offer condolence, or a chance to attend a party and forget. He was not in a mood for it, he thought irritably, and reached for the receiver.

Rank; Commencement Held
In Methodist Church

Two hundred fifty graduates of Lubbock Junior High school yesterday morning at 10 o'clock were advanced to the senior high when commencement exercises were held in the auditorium of the First Methodist church.

Dr. W. T. Read, head of the chemistry department of Texas Technological college, delivered the commencement address to the pupils. In complimenting the young people in the achievement that they have realized already, Dr. Read warned them not to be dazzled by the side show of extra curricula activities in high school but to remember that they were preparing for a career.

Certificates were presented by S. C. Wilson, vice-president of the board of education and M. H. Duncan, superintendent of public schools.

How Persons Open Specifically Formed Box Proves Good Test of Intelligence

WASHINGTON, May 15. (AP)—How a person opens and closes a specially-equipped box apparently has proved a very successful method for testing intelligence in Belgium.

Dr. A. G. Christiaens, Brussels professor, today told the international congress on mental hygiene that of the 3,000 persons taking the test, "the right prediction had been made in 87 per cent of the cases when it was a question of young men, and in 93 per cent of the cases when adults were examined."

Five Minutes Allowed
The person undergoing the test, Dr. Christiaens explained, is given a box closed by intricate devices which he is told to open. Upon opening it he is asked to restore the box to its original position. Five minutes are allowed for preliminary inspection and an equal time for solution.

In meeting the test, he pointed out, five problems are involved. "The first two," he said, "arouse thought but require no act of reasoning. These problems are solved by the majority. The third problem cannot be solved without the help of reasoning and is far more seldom solved. The fourth resembles the first two but requires keener observation. The fifth, like the third, requires intelligence of a superior kind."

The intelligence of the individual, it was explained, is gauged not only by the problem at which he stops, but also by his behavior in dealing with the problem, the latter being termed far more valuable as an indication of capacity than his success or failure in opening the box.

Huge Whiskey Airway Bared

Claim Million Dollars Worth Of Liquor Dropped Into Chicago From Canada; Brother Of Al Capone Implicated

CHICAGO, May 15. (AP)—The Tribune said today a whiskey airway whose high speed planes have dropped more than a million dollars worth of Canadian liquor into Chicago territory in the last eight months has been uncovered by federal prohibition agents.

Ralph Capone, brother of the better known Al, promised through his counsel to appear today at the federal building where he was to be questioned concerning his knowledge of the air smuggling.

Clubs Raided
Capone's two night clubs, the Cotton club and the Grey-Hound Inn, both in Cicero, were raided early yesterday by federal agents; but the investigation into smuggling of whiskey by air has been going on several months. The purpose of the raids was explained as a move to get as many as possible of the Capone men under bond.

The Tribune understands that two planes, one a tri-motored cabin plane valued at $60,000, the other a smaller machine, have been used in the traffic. Round trips between Windsor, Ont., and Chicago were made six days a week, and the smuggling is said to have been going on since last August.

The planes timed their arrival in Chicago at dusk, dropping down near Cicero where trucks waited to carry away the whiskey.

Since August the planes are believed to have made 200 flights, bringing in 14,000 cases of liquor with a bootleg value of $1,400,000.

PREDICT CONFIRMATION

Nomination Of Owen Roberts In Routine Channels

WASHINGTON, May 15. (AP)—The nomination of Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia to be associate justice of the supreme court was steered into the channel of routine senate inquiry today while leaders both in and out of the regular republican fold freely predicted confirmation.

Senator Shepard, democrat, Texas, who had served notice he might oppose Roberts on the prohibition issue, said he "wanted the facts" and would not enter a fight on the nomination "unless investigation shows a definite prejudice against the law." Shepard said that he was "satisfied" with an explanation by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, that a speech Roberts made in 1923 was a discussion of legal considerations.

RECEIVE DEBUTANTES

Girls Launched On Social Career By King, Queen

LONDON, May 15. (AP)—In a magnificent setting of gold and scarlet, King George and Queen Mary tonight sped hundreds of palatial debutantes—including eight Americans—on their way to social careers.

The first court of the season in Buckingham Palace—the first in two years where the king has stood beside the queen—was a great success, ideal weather contributing no small part.

Thousands of amiable onlookers, many of whom arrived five hours before the court began, jostled to get close enough to view the powdered and befeathered debutantes who waited in parked motorcars along the Mall for the royal summons.

One shipyard in Glasgow, Scotland, now is employing 7,000 men.

Name Pioneer Officers For Floyd County

Annual Celebration Of Old Timers Will Be Held May 28; Elaborate Program Is Outlined For Party

(Special To The Avalanche)
FLOYDADA, May 15.—Officers and directors of the Floyd County Pioneer association met in Floydada, Saturday, for the purpose of perfecting plans and arrangements for the annual celebration of this organization which will be held in Floydada, Wednesday, May 28.

The Floyd County Pioneer association was formed in Floydada last year and their first celebration was held in Floydada, at which time many of the early pioneers of this section were present. The present officers of the association are: J. J. Day, president, R. E. Muncy, vice-president, Tom W. Dean, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. C. Henry, Mrs. W. M. McGehee, Geo. L. Fawver, directors.

The celebration commemorates the organization of Floyd county, which was organized on May 28, 1890, and this year marks the fortieth birthday of the county. On this day forty years ago an election was called for the purpose of determining the location of a county seat, the records show that there were 88 votes cast in the county and that Floydada received 55 votes and Dela Plains 33. Dela Plains has long since passed off the map as a community.

Rivalry Existed
At that time quite a bit of rivalry had sprung up between the two towns, both contesting for the county seat, and it is said that the election was a spirited one. There was not a public road in the county and the nearest railroad points were Amarillo, Childress and Colorado City and everything that was brought into the county had to be freighted from one of these points, making it a long tiresome and in many instances a very hazardous undertaking. Many of these old time pioneers still live in Floyd county.

many have moved elsewhere, but each year finds many of them gathered in Floydada to celebrate and to talk over remembrances of old times.

Invitations are going out this week to all former Floyd county pioneers and all those who have lived in Floyd county for the past 25 years, each sees many new names added to the already large roster of members.

Program Outlined
The celebration will be held on the courthouse lawn. The following program has been outlined: 10:00 a. m. registration and get acquainted hour; 11:00 a. m. welcome address by R. E. L. Muncy; response by Rev. G. T. Palmer, pastor of the First Methodist church of Floydada; 12:00 noon, basket lunch spread on the courthouse lawn; 1:30 p. m. address by Judge L. S. Kinder, of Plainview; 2:00 p. m. music furnished by old time fiddlers, and a round table discussion reminiscent of pioneer days in West Texas and

In Floyd county; 3:00 p. m. election of officers for the next year. Glad Snodgrass has been named as general manager in charge of arrangements and entertainment.

Contract Awarded For Brick School

(Special To The Avalanche)
FLOYDADA, May 15.—Contract was let this week for another brick school structure in Floyd county to cost $8,200.00. The building is to be erected in the Fairmont school district which is located 35 miles north-east of Floydada.

Bonds were voted a short time ago to the amount of $10,000.00 for the building and equipment. The new school building is to be one story with four class rooms, arranged so that two of the rooms may be turned into an auditorium when the need arises. This building will replace a two room stucco frame structure that was destroyed by fire early this year.

Boggs Brothers, of Quitaque, has the contract, E. B. Haynes, of Lubbock is the architect. The building will be completed in time for the opening of school in September.

PLANTING UNDER WAY
LAMESA, May 15. (Special)—With much rain generally, in all sections of Dawson county, cotton planting is well underway. Farmers here usually begin planting during the first week of May and continue for a twelve day period. Over three inches has been received in some parts of this county this month, providing plenty of moisture for planting.

Mexico's metal production is increasing.
