What Democracy Means

We wrote the other day, apropos what is happening to civil liberties throughout a large portion of the world, that the American citizen has cause to be thankful that he is living under a democratic form of government.

Let us see what our guaranteed civil rights mean in concrete terms, here in St. Louis.

Rabbi Isserman—to name but one Jewish leader—preaches without hindrance, and he is free, like any other citizen, to criticize the policies of the government.

The same same is true—again to single out one leader as an example—of Archbishop Glennon.

The same is true of the ministers of all branches of the Protestant faith.

Protestants, Catholics and Jews work together in the annual United Charities campaign and in other civic causes.

Catholics, Protestants and Jews are judges in the courts of St. Louis.

The Post-Dispatch, the Globe-Democrat and the Star-Times, free of any semblance of governmental control of their policies, print the news of this and other countries and interpret it as they see fit.

KSD and the other radio stations are free. They broadcast speeches against Mr. Roosevelt and speeches in praise of him; speeches for and against individual policies of the Government; speeches by members of the American Liberty League and members of the American Civil Liberties Union.

The stage is free. It can satirize the highest officers of the Government as it is now doing in the George Cohan play in New York.

The City Art Museum is free. The Municipal Opera and the Symphony Society are free—free in choice of directors and personnel, free as to programs.

The schools and Colleges and the bookshops are free. There are private schools, public schools, Democratic are free to meet, and Socialists, Communists. The American Bund is free to meet and has met. Men are free to join the A. F. of O. or any other organization and to strike for better wages. The Masons and the Knights of Columbus have the right to practice their religion. We accept all other civil liberties of course. It is we should take stock of and again, and as they are—St. Louis patch.

D. L. Truett for State Representative

To the Voters of the Democratic Party and citizens of the 104th Representative District of Texas:

In announcing for State Representative of this district I am mindful of the fact that I am asking at the hands of the voters a position representing some of the greatest people of the state of Texas.

Believing as I have always believed that education of body, mind and soul, of the young people of our commonwealth is the bulwark of our liberties and is our greatest asset for Democracy. I pledge myself to the liberal support of all our institutions of learning and more especially those institutions of our rural people. I believe the children of the rural districts should have equal educational opportunities as those of the cities. I favor the next Legislature paying the State's part of the teacher retirement fund.

I believe that this present generation owes a debt of lasting gratitude to our dear fathers and mothers that we shall never pay in full. My heart goes out in reverence to those old souls and I want to have a little part in showing to them our appreciation for the endeavors they have set forth for our benefit. I shall, if elected to this position, espouse a law giving to each person both poor and rich, that have attained the age of 65 or over a pension as was authorized by an amendment to our State Constitution known as section 51B. I will so write that law that each beneficiary under it will not have to humiliate themselves by taking a paupers oath before someone with dictatorial powers, but that they may come before the Commissioners' Court of their county and certify to the satisfaction of said court that they have attained the prescribed age and then receive their pension without any red tape. I favor the abolition of the Old Age Assistance Board, and thus save the people $1,000,000 and invest in the Commissioners' Court the duties of said board. Also I favor the State doing the part enjoined upon them by the mandate of the people in a constitutional amendment giving aid and assistance to the dependent children, blind, deaf, and dumb. To all this I pledge my best efforts.

I have unwavering confidence in the ability of our local peace officers, hence, I believe all matters of law enforcement should be vested with them, unless at such times that conditions might arise where they cannot cope successfully with the situation, then in that event give them the authority to call for the assistance of the State. I believe that the liquor laws could be efficiently and successfully enforced by our local officers thus saving one million dollars to the tax payers. I am against any law allowing intoxicating liquors to be sold in Texas by the drink, and against any form of legalized gambling whatsoever.

In conclusion I wish to say that I will do my utmost for the passage of the above named planks. If you believe in these principles, I would certainly appreciate your vote and support.

Stockmen Warned to Prepare for Screwworms

"Prepare for the screwworm in great numbers," R. R. Reppert, entomologist of the Extension Service of Texas A&M College, has warned Texas ranchmen.

The Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has forecast a severe infestation, probably worse than that of 1935, in many parts of the Southwest, especially Texas and Arizona. The screwworm fly has started earlier than ever before. The infestation in extreme Southwest Texas had been held down by dry weather during the first part of the season, but the weather in other parts of the state has favored the rapid development of the insect.

The best way to protect livestock from Screwworms, Reppert points out, is to examine animals frequently so that wounds may be treated before they are seriously infested. Many ranchmen report that they have found it advisable to hold wounded or infested animals in small hospital traps, located on a high, open part of the range where flies are less abundant.

Reppert endorses the Bureau's recommendation for killing the maggots. The procedure is to treat the infested wound with 90 per cent commercial benzol. The wound is then plugged with clean cotton saturated with benzol. Reinfestation is prevented by lightly covering the area around the wound with dehydrated pine-tar oil of 1.065 specific gravity.

The advantage of the benzol over most patented medicines lies in its low cost and in the fact that it does not cause shock to animal tissue. It does not deteriorate with age but is highly inflammable and will evaporate really. It is this last property which makes it valuable in screw worm control, for the maggots are killed not by the liquid but by the fumes.

Reppert also emphasized that the common pine-tar oil will often burn the animal while the dehydrated form will not.

Petroleum Saves Texas From Recession

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, June 9.—Business is good in Texas, with retail sales at virtually the same level as last year, chiefly because annual expenditures of the petroleum industry amounts to about $500 for every family in the state, W. R. Boyd, Jr., executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute, asserted today at the annual convention of the Texas Press Association.

Mr. Boyd is a native of Texas, and although he spends much of his time at the Institute's headquarters in New York, his legal residence is at Teague, in Freestone County. His first job was as a printer's devil on the Fairfield Recorder at $5 per month. At 19 he was admitted to the bar and served briefly as secretary to a member of Congress. At 21 he was elected mayor of Teague. In 1920, soon after the formation of the American Petroleum Institute, he joined that organization as assistant general secretary and counsel. In 1931 he was made executive vice president.

"Texas currently is one bright spot on all business maps," said Mr. Boyd. "The reason is oil. This industry has maintained its operation during the depression years; has paid its workers virtually at the same high rates. Last year this one industry distributed more than $725,000,000 in Texas. This sum may be compared with $717,000,000 spent in Texas by the federal government during the period March 4, 1933 to January 1, 1938—an average of only $151,000,000 a year. Last year alone the petroleum industry paid Texas farmers more than $100,000,000 on royalties, bonuses, and leases. That sum was equivalent to more than 20 per cent of the entire cash income of Texas farmers from their total sales of livestock and crops."

But the dark spot in the petroleum picture is the growing burden of taxation said Mr. Boyd, pointing out that "last year the total tax contributions of the industry in Texas approximated $155,000,000. State and local taxing jurisdictions received $112,000,000; the balance went to Washington. This tax bill falls only slightly below the industry's pay roll."

Dean Frank C. Whitmore of Pennsylvania State College says the South will be the "Chemical frontier" of the nation during the next 25 years, citing the region's ability to supply, in proximity to each other, such basic chemical materials as sugar, petroleum, sulphur, natural gas, cellulose, starch and vegetable oils.

Say you saw it in The Eagle!

The Riddle of Europe

The European situation seems to ease down one day and flare up the next, and that gives no comfort to those of us who can recall July, 1914.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife were assassinated at Sarajevo on June 28 of that year. There was great excitement and for a time it looked like war within 24 hours.

Then the hullabaloo died down. Three weeks later the newspapers of London, Paris and Berlin were back in their mid-summer doldrums. The crisis seemed so definitely past that even the French correspondents in Berlin sent stories back to Paris that there would be no war.

But on July 23, Austria flung her ultimatum at Serbia, demanding an answer within 24 hours. Serbia replied on July 25, yielding on all points save total abandonment of her sovereignty. On July 26 armies were mobilizing. And exactly a month after Sarajevo, Austria-Hungary formally opened hostilities against Serbia and the World War was on.

We recall all this not merely to rattle an ancient skeleton but to emphasize that much remains to be done if 1938 is not to repeat the tragic story of 1914.

Czechoslovakia must maintain her courageous stand against invasion. France must stand by her alliance. Britain must let Germany believe she is disinterested in the fate of Central Europe. And Soviet Russia must practice one of the things she is so fond of preaching to the democracies—namely, take a bold stand in defense of international justice in the concrete—something she has seemed strangely willing to do only in the abstract.

If these things are done, and firmly, peace is probable. We do not believe Hitler is more eager than anyone else for war. His past coups have succeeded because nobody was willing to risk war to stop him. In all likelihood he will curb himself and his country now if he is made to understand that more of his rough stuff will mean a new Armageddon.

That, we repeat, is the likelihood—but not, unfortunately, the certainty. For after all, who can read the mind of a man who every so often, retires into his mountain and fancies himself a God.—New York World-Telegram.

MICKEY MOUSE

MR. Mickey Mouse, he of the movies and scores of strange and mad adventures, has a new pet. A huge green parrot, almost as large as Mickey, has joined our little playfellow.

The editor of Good Housekeeping has given us permission to reproduce a portion of the full color page Mickey Mouse display his magazine has in the June issue.

We should not be greatly surprised to see Mickey, Pluto and Polly have a boisterous time for a spell.

Here they are:

When Mickey brought his new pet home, Poor Pol could only squawk. So Mickey got his schoolbooks out to teach her how to talk.

Then Pluto came to get a drink—He was a bit bashful. To find that in his special dish. A strange bird bathed and splashed.

But Pol had learned her lesson well. And, when she saw him there, She called politely as could be, "Come in, the water's fair!"

Poor Pluto stayed to hear no more; He disappeared from sight. A bird that talked! Was he awake? His hair stood up from fright!

But Polly, bound that they'd be friends, Had Mickey there to back her. And soon she coaxed him out to play With "Pluto want a cracker!"

Most every farmer talked to the past few days who had grain, reported that he had already cut and bound it. A few have used combines where wheat was harvested. But in most cases where combines are to be used the work is just starting, or will start early next week. They are waiting for it to get ripe.

SUMMER CLOUDS AND SKIES

Clouds help your outdoor pictures. Use a color filter to record them more effectively.

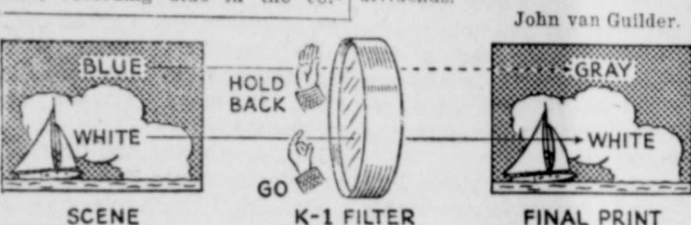

SUMMER is the outdoor season. One of the season's chief picture charms is its wonderfully rich blue skies against which cloud masses stand out in magnificent fullness and contrast. Given two pictures of identical subjects in which that your attention will be held by the one effectively showing the clouds against a gray sky and not the one with the unnatural and unattractive flat, white firmament.

Here is the way to picture clouds and skies as your eye sees them: Load your camera with chrome type or panchromatic film, and slip a yellow color-filter on your lens. The diagram below shows how a yellow filter works—it preserves the sky tone, recording blue in the corresponding shade of gray instead of white. Thus, the clouds and sky are more dramatically recorded and much is added to the appeal of your picture.

Summer clouds and skies are pictorial studies in themselves. Try picturing clouds alone—the different types of cirrus and cumulus; fair-day clouds and stormy-weather clouds. Use the sky and clouds as background for your pictures of people. Work them into your landscape views. They give your pictures reality, and a warm, summery feel. Use your filter for all such pictures, increasing exposure according to the instructions that come with the filter or with the film you use.

Such practice pays rich snapshot dividends.

Color filters are traffic cops. A yellow filter (K-1 or K-2) stops part of the blue light, so that in the print, blue shows up as gray. Filters come in several colors, but a yellow K-1 or K-2 is what you want for general use.

The most serious grasshopper menace in Texas history is reported developing at this time with Hamilton County facing danger of her share of the loss.

Harris, et al," I did, on the 7th day of June, A. D., 1938, at 8 o'clock a. m., levy upon the following described parcels and tracts of land, situated in Mills County, Texas, as the property of said defendants, said premises containing 795 acres, more or less, located 14 miles Northeast of Goldthwaite, Texas, and most generally known as the John M. Harris Land, being in three separate tracts as follows:

FIRST TRACT:
The Northeast 1-4 and the North part of the Southeast 1-4 of Section Number 3, T. & S. Louis Railway Company survey, Patent Number 567, Certificate No. 1,339, Abstract No. 672, containing 240 acres;
SECOND TRACT:
395 acres out of the East part of Section No. 4, Certificate No. 1,339, Abstract No. 1,358, sold by the State of Texas, and patented to J. M. Harris, April 3, 1928, by patent recorded in Volume 3, Page 129, Patent Records of Mills County, Texas, for 475 acres, less the 80 acre tract out of the S. E. corner of said survey sold by J. M. Harris to A. Harris on October 29, 1912.
THIRD TRACT:
160 acres being the Southwest 1-4 of Section Number 6, Certificate No. 1,340, Abstract No. 1,304, patented to J. M. Harris, by Patent No. 479, dated March 28, 1928, recorded in Volume 3, page 128, of the Patent Records of Mills County, Texas.

The homestead tract of said defendants, consisting of 200 acres out of the "Second Tract," above described, is described as follows:

The East 200 acres of the 395 acre tract in Section No. 4, Certificate No. 1,339, Abstract No. 1,358, T. & S. Louis Railway Company Survey, located in Mills County, Texas.

And on the 5th day of July, A. D., 1938, same being the first Tuesday in said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. MOURNED

J. Burgess Rudd

J. B. (Burgess) Rudd, 37, widely known by newspapermen and publishers throughout Texas, and Field Representative of The Comanche Chief for the past five years, died in a San Antonio hospital Wednesday, June 1, following an illness.

Funeral services were held in Goldthwaite at the home of his father, Luther Rudd, well known ranchman and business man of Central West Texas, Thursday afternoon at five o'clock with Rev. C. C. Klingman, pastor of the Central Christian Church of Comanche officiating. Interment was in the Goldthwaite cemetery.

Mr. Rudd had been in the newspaper business for about eight years at Cleburne before moving to Comanche in 1933. He was reared at Goldthwaite and attended Howard Payne College. He was a member of the Texas Press Association, the Heart of Texas Press Association, the South Texas Press Association, and was a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. He was a member of the Christian Church.

He took an active interest in politics and was county chairman of the Tom Hunter for Governor Club here in 1934 and was county campaign manager for Congressman Clyde L. Garrett two years ago. He was precinct chairman of voting box No. 2 in Comanche.

Mr. Rudd is survived by his wife, the former Miss Ruby Hayes, member of a well known Bell County family; by his parents at Goldthwaite and by a sister and several brothers.

Mr. Rudd traveled widely over Texas selling election supplies and county printing for the The Comanche Chief, dealing thru local newspaper men and publishers and was one of the best known younger men in his profession—Comanche Chief.

Farmer Jim Talks Politics

The depression still depresses. It is telling on the State campaigns. While activity of the candidates is beginning to show up, yet there is a perceptible lack of interest compared with former campaigns at this stage of the contest.

It is less than 60 days until the July primary and we have not had a first fight yet. Usually by this time we have a cussing bee or two and a few black eyes, accompanied with vociferous exclamations of the hot air merchant.

For some reason the people have not displayed much interest in this campaign so far. It looks like every voter is like the colored man's mule that butted into a post, and he said his mule was not blind, but just didn't give a damn. Maybe business will pick up soon.

Now the governor's race is to say the least, at the present in a confused condition. There are 14 candidates and some one or two more that will throw their hats in the ring yet. It is quite evident that the people will have to do a lot of eliminating at the ballot box.

While I do not agree with everything he says, Bill McCraw is putting on a terrific campaign. I really believe he is going as strong as I used to go in my palmy days when I used to make five real speeches a day. Up to date he has put in more hours on the stump than all the rest of the governor candidates put together. While I may not vote for him, candor prompts me to admit that he is leading the whole pack now. If he keeps up his stride he will pull off a "plsen" finish when he hits the home stretch.

Tom Hunter's late entry into the race has caused considerable confusion, if not alarm, among the rest of the candidates. Tom has never received more than 241,000 votes in the first primary of any of the three races that he ran. While he received 457,000 in a run-off with Allred, that lacked 40,000 of victory, and his vote was one of protest, largely a choice between evils. At the next election his vote was only 239,000.

While he has yet many friends, on account of his failing to win in three races leaves a very serious doubt in the minds of his friends and foes that he can win at all. His inherent strength seems to be no more than the 241,000. He received 239,000 in 1936 and 220,000 in 1932.

But while this is all true, and does not show that he can win, and probably shows that he can't win, yet 214,000 will, if he can get them, very likely put him in the run-off with McCraw. This is what is now causing all the fright among the rest of the candidates, especially Colonel Thompson. Before Hunter announced it looked like Colonel Thompson had a cinch to be in the runoff. Now it is all different. It is no better than 50-50 that he can keep ahead of Hunter and the rest of the list who might show a dark horse.

McCraw's backers claim that he has already jumped the first hurdle and that everybody else in the race will yet have to jump two to win. All indications show that there are many facts to sustain this contention.

But in every race there is always the danger of the long shot, and favorites lose out every day. With 14 in the race we need not be surprised at anything.

Frank Christian Died in Temple

Death last night, took from Temple's citizenship, a real thoroughbred gentleman.

There were few men in the writer's knowledge who enjoyed greater esteem and loyalty among all their friends and acquaintances than Frank Christian.

He gave his life to the Santa Fe railroad, and the Santa Fe railroad owes him a debt which can't be repaid for the long and energetic and honest service he rendered to it.

His great zeal for his job, for the welfare and smooth operation of the Santa Fe railroad shortened the life of Frank Christian. He lived his job too completely and too well.

No personal sacrifice was too great for him to make, no hours too long for him to keep, no problem too great, or no trip too strenuous, so long as the Santa Fe was involved.

Frank Christian lived this railroad, and because he did he made friends, for himself and for his railroad, and his job was a constant credit to him and to the institution he served.

As a young man looking up to a man of mature years, I found in this railroad man one of the finest friends of my life.

His generosity and consideration were genuine qualities which attracted friends—and young people always found in him calm and interested and friendly counsel.

In the vernacular of the street Mr. Christian was a great guy.

His very friendship added something to life in Temple that made it more pleasant and wholesome.

Nearly 40 years, Mr. Christian gave to the Santa Fe.

He didn't half-give any of those years. Every one was packed full of hard work and conscientious service.

He was a pattern for those who worked alongside him and for those who came into contact with him.

Calm and reasonable, easy to talk to, never rattled, he was an ideal executive and leader.

In his death, his railroad and his community, which is not only Temple but a great section of Texas, sustain a great loss.—Temple Telegram.

Harry Baird Passed Away

Harry Baird, son of the late Rev. J. C. S. Baird of this county, died in Brownwood Tuesday. Mr. Baird came back to his old home town recently from his home in Hugoton, Kansas, seeking to restore his health.

He was born in Coleman, March 3, 1885. He was educated in the public schools and later attended college at Huntsville. He was married to Miss Kate Bowden of Goldthwaite during commencement exercises at their Alma Mater in the Sorority Home on June 1, 1912.

Mr. Baird was a Christian from the days of his youth, joining the Methodist Church, then in later years united with the Baptist Church. He had been a Deacon in this church for the past twelve years.

He taught school at Zephyr and other places in West Texas, later accepting a responsible position with the First National Bank in Brownwood.

Survivors are the wife, two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Davis, Hugoton, Kansas; Mrs. W. L. Egbert, Ulysses, Kansas; two sons, John of Olga, Washington; Grundy of Hugoton; two sisters, Mrs. J. I. Jackson of Red Bluff, Calif.; Mrs. J. F. Parsons, Hugoton; one brother, Oran Baird, Fresno, Calif., and a wide circle of relatives and friends.

Those from out-of-town who attended the funeral of Harry Baird were:

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Geeslin, Brady; Mr. and Mrs. John Cross and children of Fort Worth; Kate Baird, Grundy Baird, John Grundy, Felix Grundy, Nina Grundy, A. M. Grundy, Mrs. C. Smith, and Charlene Smith, all of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. John Barr of Sherman; Mr. and Mrs. Parsons of Kansas; Miss Lila and Jo Baird of Nixon.

Another question nobody can answer is whether viewers with alarm do good or whether people would return to common sense anyway.
