Action Does Not Mean Complete Hands Off Government Policy

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—President Truman tonight yanked the government further out of the path of private business by ordering the seized plants of 24 companies returned to their owners.

The plants have been in production but under government control. The president said they must be given back to their owners "as soon as practicable."

But this didn't mean a complete hands-off policy when the government thinks—for one reason or another—that even now, a plant is interfering with military activities or reconversion.

Only two nights ago Mr. Truman ordered seizure of the Illinois Central Railroad because a threatened strike might have tied it up. The railroad did not appear on a list of properties named by the White House as affected by the return order.

The wartime seizure of private plants "caused some of the most bitter home front protests of the war against government action."

Only a few hours previously the government said it was throwing all controls off local bus and street car operations.

This relaxation was ordered into effect Aug. 31. It will, of course, be effective in ending staggered working hours in those places where transportation was jammed because of "over-swollen populations."

Meanwhile, other events of the past week include:

Government officials said many government-owned war plants will stand idle for years to come—perhaps forever.

They said the emphasis now is on getting privately-owned plants back into peacetime operation as quickly as possible so they can produce goods and provide jobs fast.

Autos—auto-makers were told to go to the limit. They knew the day was coming but this was official. They may be able to turn out 500,000 cars by Christmas.

Tires—government controls on natural rubber, which is scarce, may remain a year. But the WPB hopes for tire production to double between October and January 1.

Food—the OPA indicated meat points will be reduced, beginning in September.

Radios—maybe 3½ million of them in the stores by Christmas.

War Plants—the army turned loose 252 war plants. These could turn out a lot of civilian goods and employ a lot of workers, if business men want to buy or rent them.

Credit—the government is considering modifying—but not ending—its controls over credit-buying.

Building—the government told business men to build all the new factories and plants and additions they can.

Paper—there will be bigger books and magazines. But the lid remains on paper for newspapers, which is still scarce. More tissue paper, towels, napkins, wax paper have been promised.

Penicillin—the government on Tuesday will take its grip off penicillin, the "miracle drug."

Reviewing The Big Spring—Week—Joe Pickle

The law of averages has a way of catching up with people and communities—particularly if they aren't especially careful. And thus it is that an epidemic of infantile paralysis has struck. Of course, what we do in the way of clean-up won't help the situation now, but it might be the means of controlling the infection with its tragic implications.

Presence of polio is serious enough, but when it is of a nature to claim two lives within a week, then it is time to be doubly concerned. Certainly everyone should cooperate in every way in clean-up campaigns.

An outstanding honor came last week to Frank K. Owens, who is now back to his post with the T&P after service in the Merchant Marine. He has been cited for the Mariner's Medal for injuries received from enemy action off New Guinea. Reports of the award credited it to "John" Owens, but Johnny is "Mr. Owens" son and is in the air corps.

Donations to the Bible course continue to come in with the total now up to $740. No amount is too small.

Texans Vote Three Amendments

DALLAS, Aug. 25—In a light vote Saturday, Texans rejected a proposed constitutional amendment to raise the pay of legislators, adopted one on soldier voting, and on the basis of late returns compiled by the Texas Election Bureau, probably adopted ones on welfare and supreme court changes.

With more than half of the estimated total vote in, the 11:30 p. m. copyrighted bureau returns, including 174 out of the 254 counties (17 complete), showed the closest vote on the amendment which would fix a $35,000,000 ceiling on welfare payments, 57.1 favoring. Almost as close was the vote to increase the supreme court to nine members with $7.5 per cent approving.

Voters approved by 79 per cent the soldier vote amendment and rejected 72.5 one that would have hiked pay of members of the legislature. These were among the 62 proposed constitutional amendments submitted to Texas voters since 1930. Forty-one of these have been adopted previous to Saturday's voting.

Results at 11:30 p. m. were:

|                  | Favoring | Against |
|------------------|----------|---------|
| Soldier vote     | 78,766   | 21,996  |
| Legislators' pay | 27,336   | 73,353  |
| Supreme court    | 57,495   | 42,312  |
| Welfare          | 58,764   | 44,130  |

Polio Epidemic Still Grave With Second Death, New Case Reported

A second death and one new case Saturday kept Big Spring's worst poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) epidemic at serious levels.

Mrs. Doris R. Rockie, 27, wife of Lt. Col. D. A. Rockie of the Big Spring Bomber School, died Saturday evening at a local hospital after the VFW luncheon had been employed in an effort to save her life. She had been placed in the lung Thursday evening. An effort to save an infant daughter by Caesarean was unsuccessful.

One additional case—a child—was admitted to a hospital Saturday and was diagnosed as polio. This left the total number of local cases at seven. Robert Lee Mize, 8, had died Thursday from effects of the malady. Other polio patients were reported making satisfactory progress.

Another case of polio from Odessa was admitted Saturday to a local hospital, bringing the number to three from that city. There also was a lad from Fort Worth, who was stricken while enroute home from the Carlisle Caverns.

A limited amount of DDT, the new insecticide, was of use to arrive here during the weekend for use in the anti-typhus campaign which was underway when the polio epidemic struck. Health authorities said it could prove beneficial in the fly control program also.

Meanwhile, the campaign to have residents to make sure their garbage cans are tightly covered—even though make-shift lids are employed—was pressed by the city. Downtown garbage containers were being sprayed to combat flies.

Property-owners were urged to clean their premises and one service club was considering a vacant-lot clean-up drive.

The Big Spring-Howard County Health unit reiterated its request for reports by mail on places which might be breeding places for flies. The communications may be signed or unsigned. Information will be used in plotting the city in an effort to push the drive.

Buddy Left Behind Too Ill To Move—

Gaunt Trio At Last Return From Doolittle Raid

By SPENCER MOOSA
CHUNKING, Aug. 26 (AP)—Three gaunt American heroes of the famed Doolittle raid on Japan came out today from three years' dark, silent confinement by the Japanese, and one said he had been sentenced to execution—a fate met by some of his fellow-fliers.

The skin of their hollow cheeks crinkled into smiles as a big C-47 transport landed them at a Chunking airfield. The hardness born of long imprisonment vanished from the face of one as he read a message from his wife.

Free men among free men again were Lt. Chase J. Nielson, of Hyrum, Utah; Lt. Robert L. Hite, of Earth, Texas; and Sgt. Jacob D. Deshaizer, formerly of Madras, Ore.

ORPHANS OF WAR—On top of a hand wagon, heaped with sacks of clothing, which a German woman was pulling along a Berlin street, lie two little German orphans.

Fierce Hurricane Expected To Hit Texas Coastline

By The Associated Press

The Texas Gulf coast was battered down Saturday night awaiting a dangerous hurricane bearing winds up to 110 miles per hour which the weather bureau warned would strike between Port Aransas and Freeport Sunday morning.

The 9 p. m. (CWT) advisory placed the center of the tropical storm about 90 miles east northeast of Brownsville. It was moving north northwestward, a course which it has followed since it first developed into a full-blown hurricane Friday.

Port Isabel reported 43-mile winds.

Army and navy fliers braved the gales to radio meteorological data; said they encountered winds up to 110 miles an hour near the center.

Winds of 75 miles an hour blew over an area radiating 50 miles from the calm center.

Hundreds of tourists hastened from gulf resorts. Most residents remained in their homes.

Tides rose, winds increased and barometers fell. Army and navy planes were being flown to safe areas.

Cotton pickers at Port Lavaca left fields which were in full bloom and one-fourth harvested.

Corpus Christi officers and state guardsmen began evacuating North Beach, low-lying tourist section of the city.

"How chemical plants were closed at Freeport. Employees will be notified by radio when to return. Special trains and buses, some with their windows boarded, were run from that area."

Houston buildings, including the huge Fort Sam Houston coliseum, were prepared to house refugees. As many schools, as needed will be opened. Police Chief Percy F. Heard said all shifts and auxiliaries were standing by.

The state highway department set up Wharton, some 50 miles inland, as an assembly point for scores of patrolmen. They will watch the storm's progress, and because of the good network of roads from Wharton, he able to close in quickly when its final path becomes apparent.

At St. Louis the midwestern area office of the American Red Cross announced that two disaster relief representatives would be rushed into the Texas coastal area from St. Louis. All Red Cross chapters in the threatened area have been alerted, and the St. Louis headquarters said it would send any additional aid or manpower which may be needed.

Crisis Nearing In Chinese Situation

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Sunday, Aug. 26 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government forces have entered Shanghai and Nanking, China's pre-war capital, field dispatches said today while rival communist forces were reported marching on those two key cities.

Rockefeller Resigns State Portfolio

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—President Truman today accepted the resignation of Nelson A. Rockefeller as assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin American affairs and appointed Spruille Braden of New York to succeed him.

Braden, a native of Elkhorn, Mont., is now ambassador to Argentina, where he has been under fire from certain Argentine elements.

This is the fourth appointment of assistant secretaries in the state department in recent weeks. Two other vacancies remain to be filled.

In his letter of resignation, made public by the White House, Rockefeller said: "At this crucial moment in the history of the country, please be assured that my services are at your disposal."

Accepting the resignation, the president said: "During your service as assistant secretary for American republic affairs you continued to work for closer and more amicable relations with the Latin American republics. This work of yours, undertaken and carried on as a war service, will not be forgotten."

Mize Services Set For This Afternoon

Services for Robert Lee Mize, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Mize, who died of poliomyelitis Thursday evening, will be held today at 4 o'clock in the Eberly-Curry chapel. Rev. Ivy Bohannon of the Church of the Nazarene will officiate.

Palbearers will be J. D. Patton, Jasper Lynn, Joe Turner and Woodrow Jones.

Burial will be in a local cemetery.

Typhoons Delay Landings Two Days

By JAMES HUTCHESON

MANILA, Sunday, Aug. 26 (AP)—Units of Admiral Halsey's big Third Fleet executed the first step of General MacArthur's master plan for the occupation of Japan by beginning movements today into Sagami Bay—a potential haven from storms which have postponed Allied landings by 43 hours.

Ships from an armada massing in strength of more than 380 off Japan "are moving into Sagami Wan (Bay) today, Aug. 26," MacArthur notified Japanese headquarters.

Masses Of Japs Commit Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Group suicides in front of the imperial palace were reported today by Tokyo radio in a broadcast painting a picture of increasing "sorrow and gloominess" among the Japanese as they "taste the bitter defeat in battle."

Fear of "some terrible incident of bloodshed due to merely one worthless and unnecessary act of some thoughtless person" was expressed by Isama Inouye, a Tokyo radio commentator in an English language message addressed to Japanese overseas and recorded by the FCC.

Inouye's account of the group hara-kiri before the palace expressed the opinion that "it is highly probable that such incidents will occur frequently in the future," as they have in the past and said the suicides were "truly Japanese." He added that "such things are scarcely understandable by the average American" but that fellow Japanese living overseas can "fully understand their psychology."

Reports coming from Manchukuo of Russian soldiers attacking women and pillaging farms, said Inouye, "are vigorously provoking a fear of the occupation forces on the part of our nationals at home."

Quisling Persuaded Nazis To Surrender

By NED NORDNESS

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 25 (AP)—Viktor Quisling declared in his own defense today that he had talked the Germans out of a suicide on in Norway in a suicide stand after Germany collapsed.

Quisling, whom defense character witnesses picture as a man who had undergone a strange psychological change, told the court trying him on charges of treason that the German commander-in-chief in Norway was determined to fight on even though the Nazi homeland had surrendered.

"I warned against it and said it would be wrong to make Norway a German battlefield," Quisling said. He added, "I saw that the Germans could hold a re-doubt here for a long time, but since it would destroy Norway, I opposed it."

School rector Wilhelm Ullman, former Norwegian minister to Moscow, said Quisling "used to be an extremely loyal and good friend admired by all his classmates at our school," but added that Quisling "suffered from an inferiority complex. His greatest ideal was Napoleon. He believed in an unreal world full of dreams of great things he was going to do."

Here are the overseas Christmas mailing rules and requests set forth by army and navy postal authorities:

1. Mail gifts between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15. This is the only time you can mail a parcel overseas to an army person without a written request.

Don't mail a package if your soldier or sailor is on the way back to this country or likely to be coming before Christmas.

If there is any reason to believe your soldier may move to a new location soon, wait until you mail your gift to the new address, even if this means asking the soldier for a letter requesting your gift.

Don't use his latest address, completely and accurately.

3. Pack the gift in a heavy box and tie with strong cord. The packages must weigh no more than five pounds, measure not more than 15 inches long, or a total of 36 inches in length and girth combined.

4. Select only usable gifts, such as dried fruit, canned luxury foods, razor blades, fountain pens, wallets or watches.

Don't mail perishable foods, intoxicants, weapons, poisons or any inflammable materials, including matches and lighter fluids.

BROUGHT TO SAFETY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (AP)—An Australian broadcast recorded tonight by NBC said that 12 American airmen, survivors of two Liberator crashes last November and January, had been brought safely out of the Borneo jungle by Australian Cub planes. The fliers had been hidden from the Japanese by friendly natives.

current conferences, said:

"The visit of General De Gaulle, president of the provisional government of the French republic, to the president of the United States of America, has been marked by an important exchange of views between the two chiefs of state, who in the course of their first meeting, expressed their sentiments of mutual high esteem."

"The conversations which began immediately after General De Gaulle's arrival in Washington, have made possible a thorough discussion of a wide range of subjects, among them those of most immediate interests to the two governments."

"Subsequent to the second conversation between President Truman and General De Gaulle, and at their request, the secretary of state, Mr. Byrnes, and foreign minister, Monsieur Bidault, had during two days a full and frank discussion of political and economic questions in which the two countries are deeply interested."

"Following these discussions, both the chiefs of state, and the secretary of state and the French foreign minister have fully recognized, in the course of a further meeting, the fundamental harmony between French and American aims in the construction of the postwar world and have expressed their readiness to act in accordance with this mutual understanding by establishing an even closer cooperation between the two countries."

Sophisticated Show Weekending At Ritz

With the names of Barbara Stanwyck, Dennis Morgan, Sydney Greenstreet, Reginald Gardiner and S. Z. Sakall for marquee and newspaper copy, the exploiting of this picture, coming to the Ritz theatre today and tomorrow, to a profit would appear to be simplicity itself. Showmen who rely upon this material, adding the information that the picture is a comedy, rather than any of the other things the title might suggest, will have remained within the boundaries of fact and meet the routine requirements of the occasion.

It would be a less simple matter to convey to the public at large, without waxing verbose about it, a complete and detailed impression of the production, for it is by no means the gently sentimental item of Americana that the title indicates. On the contrary, it is a venture into that field of entertainment which used to be called "sophisticated comedy," and it underscores the first half of that phrase heavily.

Miss Stanwyck plays a girl who's been writing smart-housekeeping articles for a magazine, owned by a millionaire played by Mr. Greenstreet, and has built up for herself a fictional background of husband, child and country home which exists only in her imagination. When the publisher, who doesn't know she's been dreaming up this background, arranges for her to entertain a war hero (Mr. Morgan) at her estate over the Christmas holiday, she agrees to marry a suitor (Mr. Gardiner) who owns such a place. The story moves then to the estate, and a writer of complications. So far as story needs are concerned, it could have been "Thanksgiving in Georgia" or "Sunday Dinner on Long Island," and people who attach more than calendar significance to Christmas might have been happier in either of those circumstances.

New Abbott-Costello Film Features Spitalny Music

A new Abbott and Costello picture is always something to look forward to for people who enjoy a good laugh. According to reports, however, their latest Universal film, "Here Come the Co-Eds," is not only another hilarious Abbott and Costello treat, but a movie spiked with so many additional entertainment elements that the line had better start forming to the right, right now!

"Here Come the Co-Eds," which is due today and Monday at the new State theatre, features, in support of the comedians, the Hour of Charm All Girl orchestra under the direction of Phil Spitalny with Evelyn and her magic violin; Peggy Ryan; Martha O'Driscoll, Donald Cook, Lon Chaney, June Vincent and many others.

There is more music in this Abbott and Costello picture than in any previous one. The seven songs in the film are delivered by the Spitalny ensemble and Peggy Ryan.

The story of "Here Come the Co-Eds" has to do with the efforts of Abbott and Costello, assistant caretakers of an exclusive girls' college, to save the old school from going under the auctioneer's hammer. To raise the necessary funds, they engineer a girls' championship basketball game and a wrestling match, with little Lou Costello getting hilariously involved in both.

One of the funniest film scenes ever pictured is said to be that in which Costello, masquerading as a girl, plays in the basketball game opposite a team of Amazons — every girl of which is over six feet tall!

"Here Come the Co-Eds" was produced by John Grant.

A lot of today's wolves are old goats.

POST GRADUATES—Bud Abbott and Lou Costello in a hilarious scene from their latest comedy, "Here Comes the Co-Eds," with Peggy Ryan, Martha O'Driscoll, and Donald Cook. It plays at the New State Theatre today and Monday.

Balmorhea Reclamation Expected To Be First US-Texas Peace Project

AUSTIN, Aug. 26 — The U. S. Bureau of Reclamation project at Balmorhea is expected to be the first postwar project of that bureau in Texas.

While this is not sure, because the emergency postwar budget is now being prepared in Washington for submission when Congress reconvenes, it is reasonably certain.

A few legal details remained to be ironed out when the freeze came, but Smith thinks this project will be resumed soon. Several other Texas projects are still in the investigative stage, and they, too, will be resumed, but perhaps not in the $1,300,000,000 emergency budget now being drawn to complete projects already begun.

L. W. Smith, acting area planning engineer for the Reclamation Bureau, said today that the Balmorhea lake rehabilitation project was the only Texas project on which work was halted by the freezing of reclamation funds and WPB restrictions at the start of the war.

A few legal details remained to

School Budget Hearing Slated For Wednesday

Public hearing on the proposed $265,367 budget for the 1945-46 Big Spring Independent School district will be held Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. in the school administrative office.

The document on which trustees will conduct hearing represents an increase of approximately $44,000 over the anticipated expenditures for this year.

Increased current taxes by virtue of the addition of detached territory from the Midway district (which includes Cosden Petroleum Corp. properties) plus utilization of unbudgeted surpluses will be applied to cover the gain in disbursements.

The biggest increase under the tentative budget goes for teachers salary, roughly $29,000.

Another $6,000 is occasioned by purchase of a bus to serve the new territory, for a driver, maintenance and for legal fees. Salary increases for plant maintenance workers was pegged at approximately $3,000. Another $1,000 was set up for supplies and about $1,200 more for replacing equipment. Other increases, including salary raises for administrative and supervisory employees, maintenance, etc., were minor.

Under budget estimates, revenues for the year were fixed at $248,492, including $106,168 from taxes (and local tuition, donations, and federal contribution for the Ellis Homes section). State funds were due to amount to $112,840, including $107,180 on the state apportionment. Federal funds paid to the diversified occupations, home making and area home making supervisor total $3,660. Tax payments applied to debt service come to $25,300. Anticipated carry-over from this year's budget (which was enhanced by unexpectedly good delinquent tax payments and a $2 extra payment on the per capita apportionment) is figured at $40,371.

Expenditures are broken down on this general basis: General control $4,780; business administration $5,630; assessing and collecting taxes $2,815; census expense $500; miscellaneous $4,950; instructional service (white) $169,838 ($106,881 elementary, $62,956 high school); supplies special courses $3,350; usual teaching supplies $2,100; travel (interscholastic league) $500; instructional (colored) $4,100; operation of school plant $23,100; maintenance of plant $2,500; insurance and other fixed charges $2,800; alterations and additions $750; equipment $3,300; debt service $27,554 ($15,854 interest, $11,600 principal); bus $3,500, driver $900, maintenance $400, legal fees $2,000.

Bombing Observation To Highlight CAP Week

Visits of parents today and flights as bombing observers Monday through Wednesday will highlight the final week for young Texans attending the two-week Civil Air Patrol encampment at the Big Spring Bombardier school.

Parents will be welcomed at the field between 2 and 5 p. m. today, and will be received in the west wing of the Cadet club. Parents are expected from Big Spring, Abilene, Lubbock, Midland, Plainview and Odessa to visit the 37 youths.

For the cadets, the day will open with a formal parade to the post's twin chapels to attend religious services. The evening will be free, although the cadets will be limited to the post.

The flights planned tentatively for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings call for one to two cadets to fly as observers on regularly-scheduled training missions of Army Air Forces cadets.

They will watch the army cadets dropping 100-pound practice bombs, will listen to pilot-to-bombardier communication on the interphone, and will receive instruction on aerial orientation, according to 2nd Lt. Charles M. Watson, post liaison officer to CAP.

They have already received instruction in the mechanics of the famous Norden bombsight and have seen it disassembled, in addition to visits to the link trainer department, the chemical warfare department, and the combat ships—the chemical warfare department, and the combat ships—a B-17 and a B-24.

This week, in addition to their regular curriculum, they will see and operate bomb trainers; they will be shown all types of aerial guns and personal AAF arms at the base; they will see the mechanism of bombs, and they will observe a formal guard mount by the post guard, and may take turns walking post with the regular guard.

The end of the week will feature a two-mile training hike Friday. Evening schedules will include more combat films, as well as lectures. They have already seen the two well-known films, "Target for Tonight" and "Target Germany." The encampment will close Saturday noon following a formal review of the CAP detachment by Col. John K. Nissley, Big Spring post commanding officer. Trucks will carry the youths into Big Spring at 1 p. m. Saturday.

semblies, disclosed that 49 upperclassmen and 48 plebes—for reasons known to themselves—did not appear for the parade.

Dallas Youths Set To Go After Title

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Dallas, winner of four state junior golf titles, more than any city except San Antonio during the annual tournament's 19-year history, is going after the kid links crown in earnest in this year's meet, which gets under way with qualifying play Monday at San Antonio's Brackenridge Park course.

The North Texas city is sending nine well-known under-21 golfers, headed by Gene Towry, 1945 Dallas junior champion, to next week's state junior. It's the largest and strongest out-of-town delegation thus far listed for the championship event.

Jimmie Thomas, who lost to Towry in the Dallas junior final; Don Millender, the 1944 Dallas city champion; Don January, Lakewood country club tillist there; Claude Reed, semi-finalist in the 1944 state junior; Warren Higgins, Herbert Pohl, Billy Baxter and Clarence Kloppe, Jr., are other members of the Dallas delegation.

RADAR SCIENTISTS — Dr. Lee A. DuBridge (left), noted physicist, directed the huge radiation laboratory at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass., which during the war did secret research revolutionizing radar. With him is Dr. J. G. Trump, head of the laboratory's British branch.

Yanks Hand Nats Double Set Back

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—The pennant hopes of the Washington Senators received a staggering blow today when the rejuvenated New York Yankees, playing their best ball of the season, captured both ends of the doubleheader 4-2 and 5-4 to drop the Senators to a game and a half behind the league leading Detroit Tigers.

Hershel Martin, veteran Yankee outfielder, delivered the telling blows in each contest before 22,751 fans, in addition to the 2,707 servicemen. His two-run homer off Dutch Leonard in the eighth decided the opener, and his single with the bases full in the 10th inning of the nightcap sent in the winning run.

The Yankees, who moved past the Cleveland Indians into fifth place by the twin victory, came from behind in the first game with a three-run rally in the eighth. Prior to Martin's two-run blast, Russ Derry had tied the score with a pinch hit homer. Floyd Bevens was the winning pitcher. He went eight rounds, holding the Senators to five hits.

SCHEDULE PLANNED

FORT WORTH, Aug. 25 (AP)—An eleven-game schedule including five at home and one at San Antonio, with the other five being played in Florida, Tennessee, New York and Iowa, has been completed by the army air forces training command team which will compete this season in the National Air Forces league.

BABE DEFEATED
LAKE FOREST, Ill., Aug. 26, (AP)—Youthful Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia., rallied to defeat favored Babe Didrickson Zaharias of Los Angeles, 1 up, in a torrid scrap to the 36th hole finish for the Women's Western Amateur golf title at Knollwood club today.

SENT FOR TREATMENT

Nine persons were sent to Mineral Wells to the Rapid Treatment center Friday.

Chicago Pennant Hopes Shaken By On-Coming Cards

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (AP)—Pennant hopes of league-leading Chicago were shaken more than a little today when the on-rushing speed in the race down the National League stretch, won the second game of this important three-game series, 3 to 1, to shave the Cubs' lead to three and a half games.

As yesterday, when they dropped the first of the series, the Cubs outbit their rivals in the pennant chase, but superb fielding by the Cardinals staved off every Cub threat.

It was a booming triple by freshman Al (Red) Schoendienst with the bases loaded in the second inning that accounted for all the St. Louis runs. Aside from that one frame, the Cardinals didn't get a man past first as Ray Prim pitched three-hit ball for the first five innings and Henry Wyse gave only three in the last four frames.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 26. (AP)—Brooklyn's Dodgers made it three in a row over the New York Giants by sweeping both ends of today's doubleheader 8-6 and 13-3. After Ed Stevens' eighth inning home run with one man on won the opener, the Dodgers climbed on three Giant hurlers for 10 hits, including homers by Dixie Walker and Stan Bordagary, to pull three and a half games away from the fourth place Giants.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26 (AP)—Vernon Kennedy bested Preacher Roe in a pitcher's battle today as the Cincinnati Reds beat the Pirates 1-0. The only tally of the game was scored in the ninth inning.

SUIT FOR OVERTIME
DENVER, Aug. 25 (AP)—A suit for $3,000,000 in overtime pay and damages was filed in District court today against Continental Air Lines, Inc., by two lodges of the International Association of Machinists (AFL) of Washington.

LUCKY KING OF MP'S
TULSA, Okla., Aug. 25 (AP)—Sgt. Maynard Leroy Thompson of Warrod, Minn., won the "nearest M.P." contest and a three-day pass when he picked the lucky card in a draw between five candidates. The card was the King of Clubs.

WTCC To Carry Industrial Copy In Advertising

"West Texas Invites Industry!"—Investigate the industrial advantages of this long and truly known raw material capital of the world!

"Write, wire or phone!" The invitation is from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to the nation's industrialists, timed to reach them as World War II finally rings down, and conveyed through paid advertising. Media are so far selected as Time Magazine, Nation's Business, the Wall Street Journal and the New York Times.

The initial series of 1x4 inch ads will start in early September as the start-off in a WTCC test campaign by its executive board, calling for spending of a modest sum from organization funds for display space in Eastern periodicals, and for creation of a West Texas Industrial Development Bureau for following through on inquiries received from the advertising.

The headquarters bureau will receive inquiries from industrialists, provide detailed information, endeavor to sell West Texas as a whole, and impartially pass on the correspondence of each affiliated chamber. The local groups will have the privilege of putting on their own sales campaigns for plant locations, in turn copying the regional office on all communications.

President E. W. Hardin's letter to community WTCC directors, enclosed a listing of industrial inquiries previously received by the regional office, with a copy of the chamber's general sales letter presenting West Texas as a whole. West Texas A Nation.

The pattern sales letter gave the area's annual production percentages as against the nation's: 15 percent of its cotton; 45 percent of grain sorghums; 50 percent of highest quality wheat; 20 percent of wool; 65 percent of mohair; 30 percent of crude oil; enough natural gas to meet the nation's fuel requirements; and 65 percent of the cattle, sheep and goats for Texas, the largest producing state. "Yet," said the letter, "West Texas as a whole still has almost unlimited possibilities for development. More than 40 million acres of tillable land are still unfarmed. From the standpoint of industry of the future, we have in our office for your inspection a listing recently made by the U. S. Bureau of Mines of more than 60 minerals existing in quantity in virtually every one of our 132 counties, that are undeveloped and practically untouched to date.

"Another characteristic of our territory is that it is the nation's purest Anglo-American born white section.

This character of citizenship, we feel, makes a desirable situation for industry. "Another point we wish to express, is, that in West Texas you would find ample water, and power facilities; superior transportation facilities; an almost perfect year-around climate; and a most favorable tax situation both state and local."

Bible Class Contributions Show Increase

Gathering momentum, the campaign to raise funds for a full-time Bible course in the high school had accounted for $740 Saturday evening.

At the same time, it was announced that Elizabeth Akers had been engaged as the instructor for the course. Miss Akers holds a bachelor degree in education, and a masters in religious education from a professional school. She has had nine years experience in teaching, four of them as an instructor in Bible. In addition she has three years as a director of religious education. Miss Akers will come here from Lubbock.

Instruction is due to be on two levels—one for freshmen and sophomores and a second for juniors and seniors. Credit is granted for the course.

J. H. Greene, named chairman of a fund raising committee at the suggestion of the ministerial association, appealed for other donations, regardless of amount, to be mailed to Joe Pickle, treasurer. "We are anxious to have as many people as possible to have a part in this undertaking," he said.

Latest contributions included $250 from the Rotary club, $100 from Iva Huneycutt, $25 from the Crawford-Settles hotels, from an anonymous giver, from H. E. Clay, $15 from Clyde E. Thomas; $10 from Merrill Creighton, H. B. Reagan, John Albert Smith.

The domestication of the ostrich in South Africa, for its plumage, dates from 1867.

how your pappy toured old Heidelberg in Adolph Hitler's own automobile, and let this be a lesson to you. Always be kind to sports writers. They might wind up eating your fried chicken.

It was back in 1945 and a bunch of us sports writers were looking over the American army sports setup in Europe after the second world war. Some say we were overlooking it, but we did not overlook anything.

We were dropping in on Hannenheim to visit the Seventh army headquarters and even before the plane touched the ground we could see this super-colossal motor vehicle, looming up beside the runway like a whale of a sandbar, with so much gleaming nickel that it looked like the automat on wheels.

We didn't know the history of this mechanical giant until we were comfortably bogged down to the armchairs in the lush, red leather tonneau upholstery. Then we began to take inventory.

The car is armor-plated and weighs, without Hitler, just nine and one-half tons.

The windows, rolling up from massive doors, are two and one-half inches thick and will shed 30 caliber bullets. It seats seven persons comfortably and nine in a pinch.

Oddly enough, the car is a convertible type, leaving the top unprotected, so the GI's nicknamed it "Hand Grenade Special."

Its supercharged Mercedes-Benz motor gets only three miles to the gallon, so it would seem the front end would be running out of gas while the back end was being filled up. The tank holds 60 gallons. They have had it up to 130 miles an hour.

The machine came into the possession of the Seventh army through various mysterious military channels and now is the official car of Lieut. Col. D. L. Durfee, in charge of the Seventh army visitors' bureau and a very courteous and accommodating gentleman indeed.

The natives recognized the machine and stared after it wide eyed. We hope we looked nonchalant.

I forgot to say that the horn has dual control so the man sitting next to the driver can reach under the dash, press a button and send out a blast in case the pilot was negligent. It seems like a fine idea and would be great for back-seat drivers.

And that, chillun, is the story of your pappy's ride in Hitler's chariot and also shows Adolf's satanic instincts. Even his car had two horns.

Gonna Buy New Sports Equipment? Forget It

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—If you've been thinking about dropping in on your old sporting goods dealer soon to buy a complete supply of new equipment, you're in for a slight shock.

The War Production Board indicated today that by Christmas, only 10 percent more equipment will be on sale than now, and not until well into next spring or summer will the sportsman be able to purchase almost anything he desires.

Differing from other industries in which military needs have eased off since Japan's defeat, most of the athletic goods produced will continue to be taken by the army and navy, since servicemen now have more time for athletics.

Pvt. Fisher entered the army in January, 1943, and went overseas in May, 1945, for service in the Philippine Islands. He went into action with the 37th division during the Luzon campaign of the Philippines. Prior to going overseas, Pvt. Fisher was stationed at Kelly Field and Camp Howze, Tex.

Germans Thronging To Berlin From East

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—A mass exodus of Germans from the east has swamped Berlin's crippled rail transport and virtually souped soup kitchens.

These people are arriving at the rate of 15,000 to 18,000 daily, according to British estimates. They come from Danzig (Gdansk), East Prussia, Silesia and Poland. Other refugees are coming from Czechoslovakia.

They are arriving for the most part by rail. Others come in trucks, by barge and afoot after journeys requiring days with scarcely anything to eat. Allied authorities controlling Berlin have ordered that no more Germans enter the city to stay. Ration cards have been frozen and those who do manage to slip past Allied patrols are unable to draw food allotments.

WRENCHES, GUN STOLEN

W. D. Abbe reported to police that about 9:30 p. m. Friday on the north side someone stole an undetermined number of small wrenches, a .38 caliber, five-shot U. S. make revolver. The gun had a four inch barrel.

White Speeds Up Returning Troops

LE HAVRE PORT OF EM-BARKATION—Speeding American troops homeward bound through this key port in the army's redeployment system is Cpl. Billy J. White of Big Spring, who is a member of the 282 Field Artillery Battalion, now processing troops at Camp Phillip Morris, one of five staging areas through which troops refueled to waiting ships.

The port, which has shipped an average of almost 6,000 troops per day since V-E Day, has facilities in these staging areas for 150,000 troops and has handled the bulk of troops bound for the states.

After 265 days of continuous combat duty, during which they fired 82,874 rounds of 105mm shells, the 282nd's artillerymen were doubtful of their new role as host to the homeward bound soldiers. Now they take great pride in the part they play in housing, feeding, clothing and entertaining the returning troops.

Cpl. White, son of Mrs. E. M. White, participated in the campaigns of Normandy France, Ardenes and Central Europe. He was a gunner on 105mm How. In civilian life he was employed at Rice Printery.

Ansley of Abilene as secretary.

The Reds have built up strong popular support and resent as slanders they are in the wrong. And right or wrong Mao Tse-tung is not forgetting that Chiang Kai-shek's forces once chased him and his ragged red armies 4,000 miles in a bloody civil war after Chiang became supreme in China with communist help.

It may be noteworthy that neither side has proposed meeting at an intermediate point, such as Sianfu.

The third thing to remember about the present phase of the impasse is that both sides realize they are approaching a showdown—either negotiated, or, failing that, one to be fought out in tragic civil strife.

If the past is any criterion, this makes both sides anxious to maneuver to the last possible moment before a decision is forced. All reports—Chungking, Yenan and Japanese—present a picture of both central government and communist forces racing to fill the void which surrendering Japanese forces will leave.

Each side thinks the showdown may mean political life or death. The fundamental red demand is political equality in China—and Chungking fears that would mean the strong democratic appeal of the red reform program loosed within its rural economy which is dazed

Fate Of Nation's Two Big Inch Oil Arteries Uncertain, Bothersome

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The government-owned "big inch" and "little big inch" pipelines have done a war job. Now they become a reconversion problem. What they do with the giant oil and oil products arteries from Texas to New York-Philadelphia area is causing many a wrinkled brow in the government and in the petroleum and railroad industries.

At this point, no one in government admits knowing the answer.

The "big inch," a 1,254-mile, 24-inch line, was built by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation at a cost of about $78,500,000. During its two years of full length operation it has delivered more than 210,000,000 barrels of crude oil to eastern terminals.

The paralleling 1,475-mile, 20-inch "little big inch" products pipeline was constructed at a cost estimated at $87,000,000 and made its first delivery at Linden, N. J., March 2, 1944, after months of delay due to breaks.

Officials for the Petroleum Administration for War, which schedules shipments through pipelines, say that the arteries will continue in use as long as they are needed to supply the East. But the PAW is rapidly removing its wartime controls and expects to be out of existence by the end of the year. That within about 60 days the navy and maritime commission may be able to return to the petroleum trade sufficient tankers to meet normal or nearly normal requirements in the East by the pre-war method.

The RFC has engaged a New York engineering firm, Ford, Bacon & Davis, to study the physical potentialities of the "big inch," including estimates of its cost of operation at various levels short of capacity. The possibilities of its use for transporting natural gas, and the cost of converting to a gas pipeline. The firm's surveys have been under way for about six weeks.

Some experts believe that to complete the tankers in cost of operation, the line would have to operate near its capacity of 315,000 barrels daily. It is believed that no single oil company could operate the line at that rate. Whether its operation by a group of oil companies would be legal under the anti-trust laws is another question.

Railroads, with plenty of tank cars, are not expected to be much interested.

Construction of the "big inch" was supervised by the non-profit War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., organized for that purpose by 11 eastern oil companies. The non-profit corporation operates the line as agent for the government.

During the past twelve months, the "big inch" delivered 11,261,589 barrels of crude oil, an average of 315,045 barrels daily. It has accumulated operating revenue of more than $113,000,000 before reductions for depreciation, amortization and interest on working capital, the PAW reported.

Oil Man Suggests V-J Shutdown Glasscock Students To Register Sept. 3

DALLAS, Aug. 25 (AP)—A nationwide shut down on V-J day of oil wells operated by independent producers until the price of crude rises at least to 35 cents per barrel was advocated today by D. Harold Byrd, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas.

Byrd said he would present this proposal at a hearing of the Texas railroad commission at Austin Aug. 30. "Under the law which was not written by the independent oil producers," Byrd said, "the Texas railroad commission is prohibited from considering price or other economic factors in its prorations schedules. Hence the commission cannot take any official steps to close down the wells."

"The independent operators, however, have the answer in their own hands—the valves."

"Oil during the war brought a price of $4.21 a barrel compared with its normal value of $1.85," he continued.

"The difference means that Texas has the Office of Price Administration to thank for putting up the front for those interests who thrive best and profit most from cheap oil. The cost to Texas was close to one and one-half billion dollars."

"The oil producers presented their case for a fair price for crude oil time after time. The OPA stalled us off at every opportunity. We endured this studied procrastination because we had to. We could have shut down our wells but that would have been a strike against the war effort. The oil producers don't strike during war time."

"Now that the war is over, it's up to us to save ourselves from ruin. We have shortened the lives of our wells by producing them at high rates, many of them above the maximum efficient rates. We have poured out veritable floods of oil to win a double war."

Third Fleet Will Include 180 Ships

GUAM, Aug. 25 (AP)—Admiral Nimitz announced today that the powerful U. S. Third fleet taking part in occupation operations around Tokyo would include 180 combat ships, including the battleship Missouri which the articles of surrender will be signed Sept. 2.

C. G. Parsons, superintendent, announced that registration for the Glasscock County Independent School district for the 1945-46 school year will be held Monday, Sept. 3.

Despite the fact that salaries have been raised and two apartments and one new teachersage have been provided the shortage of teachers is being keenly felt, said the superintendent. By temporarily suspending most vocational departments "we are able to announce an almost complete faculty," he said. A high school librarian is yet to be hired.

High school faculty includes Gordon Griggs, principal and coach; Gladys Lehman, English; Mrs. Rube R. Ricker, social science; Mrs. Mary Lynch, commerce; and Norma Ruth Calverley, girls' physical education.

Grade school teachers are Mrs. Mildred S. Ramsel, first; Mrs. Ruth Cook, second; Mrs. Willadine Radke, third; Mrs. Frankie Marstrand, fourth; Mrs. Elizabeth Tweedle, fifth; Mrs. Gordon Griggs, sixth; and Gracia Ross, principal and seventh.

Mr. and Mrs. Griggs have recently returned from Alpine where they have been doing graduate work in Sul Ross college. Mrs. Lynch has spent the summer in school at Canyon.

Under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teacher association, the school district has purchased and installed the equipment necessary to operate a school lunchroom. The lunchroom will be managed by Mrs. C. E. Fulton who will be assisted by Mrs. P. A. Cox and Mrs. Cora Hunt.

Other school employees include W. J. Williams, building custodian; June Hardy, school bus mechanic; L. T. Nelson, bus driver; Mrs. Faye Mitchell, bus driver; Curtis Fisher, bus driver; V. M. Fannin, bus driver; and C. S. Berryhill, bus driver.

THESE GI HUGS

BALTIMORE, Aug. 25 (AP)—Frank Chlan, returned Baltimore soldier, was so glad to see "Mom" that he gave her a hug she won't forget in a hurry. The doctor said several ribs were broken.

The line of ships embraces 12 battleships, 17 aircraft carriers, six escort carriers, 20 cruisers, 101 destroyers and 24 destroyer escorts.

Top Career Woman, Radio Packager, Says Good Businesswoman An Oddity

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Mildred Fenton, who has chalked up success in a tough hitherto-all-male field—radio packaging—still believes a woman's place is in the home.

She said so the other day as she relaxed a few minutes from her work in radio packaging, a broad-casting practice in which one person dreams up a radio program idea, hires writers and performers, whips the whole thing into production and then sells the program as a "package" to an advertiser, agency or station. It is notable chiefly for the wide opportunities it offers for back-breaking work and for losing one's mind and one's shirt. It also offers opportunities to those who can take it for accumulating large amounts of coin of the realm.

Miss Fenton, who began packaging early in 1945, after extensive radio advertising experience, now has six programs on the air—four on networks. And she has done it with an all-woman staff of eight. Yet she said, as she sat in her chintz-hung New York office:

"I think any woman who makes a success in business is an oddity. That's not the right word, but I can't find a better one. What I mean is, she does not conform to the pattern. I believe most women belong in the home. They are happiest as wives and mothers. I don't mean they should never do anything else. They should pursue every interest possible to develop themselves. But they are meant for homemakers."

Nevertheless Miss Fenton is honestly enthusiastic about her work, which adds some of the hazards of show business to radio, keeps her constantly on her toes and whips her to a 12-hour-a-day schedule from five to seven days a week. She is obviously going somewhere. But there are times when the code of behavior that homemaker idea and the exigencies of her present schedule make her wonder just where it is. Ask her to tell you about the most difficult hair-raising day in her experience—the day when everything went wrong—and she will say with a little grin: "I can't remember one that didn't."

But on the subject of her all-woman staff she talks with the greatest enthusiasm. "I started with women because I had to," she said. "There were not enough men available. But I have been so gratified with the results that I would certainly be willing to keep on with women. They are more conscientious than any man. I pay them well and give them recognition for a job well done. And that's all they ask."

Miss Fenton is a comely, dark-eyed, dark-haired girl with a watchful look and a friendly smile. Her life would make quite a book of information to anybody who thinks of women as the weaker sex. As a school-girl in East Orange, New Jersey, she suffered injuries in an automobile accident and went through high school in a wheel chair, with a good deal of time out for operations. (Eventually she outgrew that injury and walks normally now.)

After business school education, she served as secretary for movie moguls both in the United States and London. Back in New York she joined the staff of an advertising agency specializing in radio and remained in that field for the next ten years, eventually serving as script editor, casting director and general supervisor of certain shows. She stepped from that field to her present job. In 1937 she was married to Harold Levin, department store executive, from whom she is now divorced. Miss Fenton's mauve-walled office is furnished with antiques and chintzes but against its colorful background her staff maintains a schedule of hard-driving efficient work. For fun—when she has time for it—Miss Fenton likes the theater, dancing and cooking dinner for her friends.

Cosden Chatter

By Jack V. Smith

I recently received a letter from Raymond L. Andrews, S. I. C., expressing his appreciation for the "Chatter." Raymond says he hopes to be back with us before too long, and we are anxiously waiting his, as well as all, of our servicemen's and servicewomen's return.

In a letter from Le Roy Jones, A-S, he tells us he is well and will be out of boot camp in 3 or 4 weeks, if nothing happens. Le Roy tells me there was quite a celebration in San Diego on August 14.

I received a letter this week from Evelyn Monroney, daughter of G. L. Monroney, pipeline, who has been ill for some time with infantile paralysis. Evelyn says she is getting along swell and they are to put braces on her feet right away.

Miss Georgene Falls, in our Credit Department, became the bride of T-Sgt. M. L. Galloway, Saturday, August 18, at the First Baptist Church in Big Spring.

George Grimes, Superintendent of the Graham refinery, spent Thursday and Friday in the office on business.

Opal Bates, former employee now living in Fort Worth, was a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rip Smith last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCamy and son of Fort Worth, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stittcher last week. Mr. McCamy was with Cosden for several years at Fort Worth and Big Spring.

R. L. Tollett is leaving Monday for Chicago to join Miller and Orme on company business.

Word has been received that Glynn Jordan will return to Big Spring today from Fordyce, Arkansas, as her father is much better.

Kathryn Fuller, of our credit department, has been in the Big Spring Hospital since Thursday due to an illness which overcame her Wednesday. She was to undergo major surgery yesterday. We are wishing "Khaki" a speedy recovery and are anxiously awaiting her return.

Pfc. Jack R. Flinn, a former Cosden employee, arrived home yesterday from France on a 30-day leave. We are always happy to have our boys home on leave.

Dear Judy

Victory — isn't it pos wonderful! I guess we won't die old maids after all!!

How did you celebrate V-J?

Katy's V-male, who was home on furlough at the time, took us to town to see the sights. It was a sandwich date but golly we had a time. Times Square was wild with delirious people. We blew horns and tooted whistles. It was thrilling.

It looks like we'll have to part with those shirfs and bow ties we borrowed from the brothers for the duration. I hope they get home soon but I guess lots of them will have to stay in the army of occupation for while.

And, that, cross my heart, chum, is how I happened to meet Santa Claus! Sounds mysterious, doesn't it?

Well, he stopped off at Norwalk, Conn., for a Christmas in Connecticut party that was given to servicemen who might not be home for Christmas. The thing that struck me funny was seeing Santa swat mosquitoes.

About a hundred servicemen were entertained with turkey and all the trimmings. The town was dotted with Christmas trees, snow men and colored lights. There was even jitterbugging and squirrelly whirl out at the park.

You'd be floored to see all those hep cats in uniforms. But I guess jitterbugs don't change much. Connie writes from Decatur, Illinois to let you know that her big brother just returned from the Navy and is "still in the groove."

Health Officials Stress Sanitation

With communicable diseases mounting in Big Spring, health officials stress the importance of cleaning up our town and ridding it of rats, fleas, mosquitoes, flies and other disease carrying insects.

Nine polio cases had residents taking precautions against the disease this week. Three more typhus cases brings the total to 32. One Meningitis case was also reported.

Twenty-five persons were said to have dysentery. Four trench mouth cases were in town. Two persons were reported to have tuberculosis.

In the weekly communicable disease report nine cases of gonorrhea and five cases of syphilis were included.

Big Spring May Get DDT Insecticide Soon

In connection with the typhus fever control, city officials say there is a possibility that Big Spring will receive DDT from the state this week.

Tom Warren, sanitarian, is expected from Austin to assist H. D. Horn, city sanitarian, in making a general inspection this week to help control the spreading polio-myelitis.

Polio Precautions: "Ole Swimmin' Hole" Should Be Avoided May Be Germ Trap, Say Authorities

Written Exclusively for AP Newsfeatures

"Don't swim in polluted water," says the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in its list of safeguards against polio. The virus causing infantile paralysis is readily found in the bowels of many patients and healthy contacts. Swimming in water polluted by sewage which contains this deadly virus may lead to infection.

To the small town of Perrysburg, Ohio, which suffered an outbreak of polio in the summer of 1944 went three scientists at the request of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Doctors John A. Toomey and William S. Takacs of Western Reserve University and Doctor H. M. Weaver of Wayne University surveyed the town and discovered that a majority of the patients lived in homes bordering a creek that ran through the settlement.

Their suspicions of the water were strengthened when the local chief of police told them that he knew of several infantile paralysis after wading and swimming in the creek. "Some of them," he said, "had upset stomachs after swimming in the water." There was evidence also that the stream was being polluted at a number of places by water containing sewage.

The polio scientists set up their testing stations at various sections of the creek. After collecting samples of the water the scientists returned to the laboratory to begin the arduous work of proving the presence of the virus. The animals used were wild cotton rats. The injected cotton rats showed symptoms of infantile paralysis. The polio scientists had proved that the creek water contained the virus of infantile paralysis.

Although the doctors were unable to prove conclusively that any of the cases of polio in Perrysburg had been directly caused by swimming in the creek, there was the undeniable fact that many of the children had waded in the water prior to their illness. When the results of the scientific experiments demonstrated the presence of the infecting virus in the polluted stream, the chain of circumstantial evidence was complete.

Hiroshima Death Toll Mounts, Tokyo Claims

By The Associated Press

The Tokyo radio said that radioactivity in Hiroshima, blasted by an atomic bomb, was taking a mounting death toll weeks after the day of the attack, and that in the 14 days following the raid the death toll had mounted from 30,000 to 60,000.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said servicemen working in the area on reconstruction a week after the attack were found to have severely diminished numbers of red and white corpuscles.

Investigations in the city showed "radioactivity caused by the fission of uranium used in the atomic bomb is taking a toll of mounting deaths, and moreover is causing persons engaged in reconstruction work in Hiroshima to suffer from various sicknesses and ill health."

Tokyo broadcasts have been referring repeatedly to the atomic bomb raids on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, possibly in a bid for world sympathy.

The broadcast said: "Although the war has ended the spectre of death hangs over the remaining citizens of Hiroshima. In an investigation made three days after the atomic bomb hit Hiroshima it was reported there were 30,000 dead and 160,000 injured out of a total population of 250,000. Two weeks afterward the death toll had mounted to 60,000 and is continuing to rise.

"The majority of the injured persons received burns from powerful ultra-violet rays from the atomic bomb, and those within a two-kilometer (1 1/4 mile) radius from the center of the bomb explosion received burns two or three times.

"Those within three to four kilometers (about two miles) radius of the bomb received burns to the extent that their skin turned bright red, but as these burns were caused by ultraviolet rays they hardly felt the heat at that time. Two hours later, however, blisters formed, resulting in dropsy.

"Although abundant medical supplies were rushed to the scene of the disaster and treatment was unsparingly given the victims, the death list continued to grow daily. It is recalled following the atomic bomb raid on Hiroshima an American radio broadcast said Hiroshima had been turned into a place where all living creatures cannot exist for 75 years. It added that to send scientists to investigate the damage caused by the atomic bomb would be suicidal.

"Examination of 33 servicemen, of whom ten had received burns while engaged in reconstruction projects one week after the bombing took place, showed those with burns had 3,150 white corpuscles and the others who were apparently healthy had 3,800. Compared with ordinary healthy persons who have 7,000 to 8,000 white corpuscles, this is a drastic decrease.

"On the other hand the servicemen with burns had only 3,065,000 red corpuscles and the others, apparently healthy, 3,094,000, which, when compared to the four and a half to five million red corpuscles of an ordinary healthy person is again an extreme shortage.

"This shows no one can completely recover from injuries sustained from the atomic bomb."

Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District News

"Resting pastures from grazing while moisture and growing conditions are favorable show good results," is the statement made by George White, rancher-cooperator of the Hartwell Conservation Group. Since the July rains, White is deferring from grazing approximately one-third of his ranch. White pointed out to C. R. Donaldson of the Soil Conservation Service while making range observations that desirable grasses such as side oats grama, hairy grama, black grama and crowfoot have already formed seed and are showing improvement in vigor and thriftiness. Range improvement is a part of Mr. White's complete soil and water conservation program.

Ed Carpenter, district cooperator of the Vincent conservation group, has completed terracing a 110 acre field. The 3 1/2 miles of level terraces were built to meet the standards of the districts which are: 24 feet base width, 15 inches settled height and four-foot crown width.

Approximately 20 miles of terraces have been built on 482 acres of Mrs. Millie Whitaker's farm located also in the Vincent Conservation Group. These terraces do not meet district standards as to height and width; however, by plowing to the terraces twice each year they can be enlarged. "Blackie" Morris and "Lefty" Bethell, soil conservation technicians, surveyed approximately 4 miles of terrace lines on W. D. Christian's farm this week. Terraces will be built with a whirlwind machine. Christian has previously constructed 32 miles of terraces on his farm as a part of his complete conservation program.

Walter Anderson, district cooperator of the Luther conservation group, plans to terrace some additional cultivated land on his place in the near future.

FLY FACTS

Flies Spread Polio (Infantile Paralysis)

Also typhoid, dysentery, diarrhea, tuberculosis and many others.

The House Fly Comes from Filth

It lays its eggs in human waste, manure, and rotted vegetable matter. The eggs hatch into maggots which feed several days on the filth in which they are born and then go into a resting stage for two or three days in which the maggot becomes covered with a hard case and completes the change from a worm-like maggot to the full-sized fly. This change occurs a few inches below the surface of the ground and the fly emerges covered with millions of germs and ready to do its dirty work.

Food Exposed to Flies Is Dangerous

The housefly feeds through a sucking tube. When feeding on solid food, such as sugar or candy, it forces up a vomit drop to dissolve the food, then sucks the food in to its stomach. The fly is such a constant feeder it usually lays waste matter at the time it is feeding and the mere act of alighting on exposed food deposits filth and germs from the flies feet to the food. Thus, there is three-way contamination of the exposed food.

Thousands of Babies In Texas Die Every Year --

Many of these deaths are due to flies carrying disease germs in babies' food.

Flies Always Have Been an Enemy of Man

Their power to do harm always increases in proportion to the density of population in an area.

What Can We Do as Individuals to Combat the Fly?

1. Check your premises for breeding places: human waste, cowlots, chicken pens, rotted vegetable matter, any accumulation of filth.
2. Clean up all manure and filth in which flies may breed. (This should be done at least every four days—that is, before the fly can complete its breeding cycle).
3. Dig up the area immediately surrounding the garbage cans to a depth of one or two inches and lay some waste oil there, then tamp the oil-covered surface. (Waste oil can usually be obtained at one of the filling stations).
4. See that your garbage cans are cleaned out, and in good condition; spray a thin film of waste oil in the bottom and keep can covered tightly. (Maggots have been found in numerous cans).
5. Use well-baited fly traps in the vicinity of the cans or other places where flies are numerous.
6. See that your screens are fly-proof and use spray, swatter and fly paper to free your building or home from flies.

Jap Ship Sinks; The Sun Has Set

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (AP)—The submarine Sealion single-handedly sank the 45,000-ton Japanese battleship Kongo, off Formosa, and sank the Japanese prison ship, Rakuyo, from which she later rescued 54 British and Australians.

The navy made those disclosures today as it reported the Sealion—second of that name—is undergoing overhaul at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s shipyard here. The first Sealion was sunk at Cavite, in the Philippines, very early in the war to prevent capture.

The Sealion discovered the Kongo and three other battleships, flanked by destroyers, 40 miles north of Formosa the night of Nov. 21, 1944. She mortally wounded the Kongo with four torpedo hits and damaged another of the battleships.

As Cmdr. Eli T. Reich, Elmhurst, N. Y., the skipper, maneuvered to put more torpedoes into the Kongo, already dead in the water and detached from the other fleeing battlewagons, there was a tremendous explosion.

"The sky was brilliantly illuminated. It looked like a sunset at midnight," Reich related. "Then all trace of the battleship disappeared. The battleship sank—the sun had set."

Concussion of the Kongo's explosion was so great that the Sealion's officers and crew, some 2,500 yards away, feared that their submarine had been discovered and hit.

Christianity became the state religion under Emperor Constantine the Great, after 250 years of persecution.

Typhoons

to disarm and return to ways of peace.

MacArthur announced yesterday that a series of typhoons had forced him to delay the whole occupation scheduled by 48 hours.

That means the articles of surrender will be signed Sept. 2 instead of Aug. 31, aboard the mighty Battleship Missouri anchored in Tokyo Bay.

The first of the typhoons struck Tokyo last Wednesday.

A second boiled up toward Okinawa but, as the mighty air base braced for the blow it veered off toward Japan.

Yet another typhoon of great violence was churning up mountainous waves in the South China Sea 90 miles southeast of Hong-Kong.

MacArthur has kept his plans for the occupation fluid, and even now they can be changed if the men who land to get Atsugi ready for him find the job too big to be finished in the limited time.

Three army air transports will be the first to reach Atsugi, and the first American plane to land on Japanese soil will be piloted by Col. John H. Lackey Jr., of Norfolk, Va.

The American and British fleets swarmed off Japan, ready to send ashore 10,000 Marines and Bluejackets Thursday with a crack marine regiment which has spearheaded many Pacific landings.

They will land at Yokosuka, Japan's second greatest naval base, south of Tokyo.

It was announced here that Admiral Halsey and Admiral Raymond A. Spruance who crushed Japan's sea power would accept the surrender of what is left of the Imperial fleet, presumably after the signing in Tokyo Bay. Spruance's Fifth Fleet will control waters of southern Japan and Halsey will be assigned to Tokyo Bay.

CAMACHO TURNS ON LIGHTS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25 (AP)—Nuevo Laredo ceased to get its electric power from the United States today as President Avila Camacho switched on a new turbine generator established here.

The south produces almost half of the U. S. supply of lumber, almost entirely from second growth forests.

Breeders To Boost Agricultural House At County Fair

Howard County Hereford Breeders Saturday named a committee to confer with the Howard County Fair association in regard to a central plant to house livestock shows and all agricultural exhibits.

The association considered the matter of a show barn at its meeting, held at 3 p. m. in the chamber of commerce office.

On the committee are Leslie Wallace, O. H. McAllister and Durwood Lewter.

Also planned at the meeting was the matter of the second annual show. The breeders agreed tentatively to hold the show during the same week as the 4-H club boy calf show next spring.

The members attending were McAllister, Alex Walker, I. B. Cauble, H. D. Cowden, C. C. Wolf, Leland Wallace, Sam Buchanan, Rexie Cauble, J. J. Phillips, Jr., Edward Simpson and Everett Lomax. Matt Harrington, assistant chamber of commerce manager, met with the group.

Qualifying Rounds Open On Links Today

First qualifying rounds for the annual Big Spring Country Club golf tournament will begin today over the club's grass-green layout. Several local linkmen, together with a number from Lamesa and other cities in the area, are expected to post their qualifying rounds during the day.

Qualifying continues through Sept. 2 and concludes the afternoon of the following day. Hall & Bennett Trophy matches in which a local team captained by J. R. Farmer meets invaders led by Chic Trout of Lubbock will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m.

The barbecue is set for Saturday at 7:30 p. m. at the clubhouse with Calcutta drawings afterwards. Shirley Robbins, general chairman, is expecting a near-record field now that gasoline rationing has been lifted.

Large Gathering At Cotton Price Meet

Approximately 170 local cotton producers met with the county agent Saturday afternoon to discuss the cotton pulling and picking ceiling price program. The meeting was held in the county agents office in two sessions as the office would not seat the total gathering.

Petitions for the program have been circulated throughout the county and to date 300 producers have signed them. Durwood Lewter, county agent, urged that all petitions be signed and returned to his office by September 1.

small to help. Just send your gift to this column.

Farmers are circulating petitions for cotton picking and pulling ceilings, and showings thus far indicate the proposal will go over here this year. The picture, we are told, is pretty much the same in this district. The ceiling may come at a time when other ceilings are being lifted.

Bond sales have fallen down miserably since the war's end was announced. We know of very few who are making less now than then. We know also that war expenses still are terrific. So why not pick up that bond-buying habit, where you left off?

Old settlers (perhaps now more appropriately called old timers) will hold their annual picnic Friday at the city park. Those who have been here 20 years or those who were in Borden, Glasscock, Scurry, Dawson and Martin counties back in the early days are invited to join with Howard county pioneers.

Praise is due the Red Cross chapter for its efforts in contacting relatives of prisoners of war in Japan. On one-day notice, chapter workers were able to get letters from all but one of the next of kin listed in the chapter area.

Dove hunters may find good shooting starting Saturday—provided they can get shells. While the bird crop is not as heavy as it has been in some years, it is enough to match the expected ammunition supply.

And perhaps the less said about the shameful record of Howard county citizens in failing to turn out Saturday afternoon to discuss the cotton pulling and picking ceiling price program. The trouble to voice their opinion, possibly five per cent of the qualified voters. Is this democracy in action?

TO MAKE FLIGHT—OKINAWA, Aug. 25 (AP)—Sgt. William C. Davis, Sterling City, is among crew members from here scheduled to make the flight in the first Allied airborne landings in the Tokyo area.

Mrs. Rockie Dies, Second Victim Of Poliomyelitis

Mrs. Doris Reed Rockie, 27, wife of Lt. Col. D. A. Rockie, 108 Canyon Drive, died Saturday afternoon in a local hospital, the second victim of poliomyelitis here within the week.

Efforts to save an infant daughter by a Caesarean were unsuccessful.

Mrs. Rockie, active here in Red Cross and other service undertakings, had been hospitalized since Monday. Her condition became acute Thursday evening.

She had served the local Red Cross chapter as an instructor in home nursing and had been active in its other undertakings. Mrs. Rockie was a member of the Congregational church. She was born in Touchet, Wash., March 19, 1918. Surviving are her husband, one son, Leonard John, 3; her father, P. M. Reed, Walla Walla, Wash.; a brother, Scott Reed, and a sister, Jean Reed, Walla Walla. Col. Rockie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rockie, reside in Portland, Ore.

The body is at Nalley Funeral home and is to be shipped to Walla Walla for interment where the Cookerly and Groseclose Funeral home will be in charge of arrangements.

Jones Learns Of Brother's Death

J. D. Jones learned Saturday that his brother, Joe Jones, 25, chief electrician's mate, was considered a war casualty.

He was aboard the Bullhead, the only submarine which the US Navy has been unable to contact since the surrender of Japan. The craft had put out from Australia on July 30 and efforts had been made to contact her since Aug. 13 without success. The navy reported her "overdue and presumed to be lost."

A veteran submariner, Joe Jones had been in service since before Pearl Harbor and had served on four submarines, two of which were so badly damaged they were subsequently sunk. He was aboard an underwater vessel which lay inside a Java bay when the ill-fated Houston limped in to patch her wounds from Japanese attack.

On a visit here with his brother, he said that they could see, through the periscope, the Houston plowing out of the bay to run the Japanese gauntlet to go down slugging. Although he could have had other assignments, Jones insisted on going back to his submarine after leave about a year ago.

J. D. Jones also lost another brother during the war, Pvt. Jimmy (Cyclone) Jones, who worked here a year before going to college. He was killed in action when his tank unit attempted to crash through at Aachen on Oct. 30, 1944.

Retroactive Raise Granted Employees

Approximately $30,000 is being distributed to Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employees in this area on the basis of retroactive pay increases.

The distribution in this district was estimated by company officials to cover some 300 workers in plant, commercial and operative capacities.

The payments are based on a 10 cent per hour increase and cover the period from last August to June, when the hike became effective. Also sharing in the retroactive payments are a few former employees who worked with the company from last August.

KILLED

DEL RIO, Aug. 25 (AP)—George Thomas Christall, Jr., 17, Del Rio, was killed instantly last night when the truck he was driving jumped the guarding rock wall at the Pecos river highway bridge and plunged 35 feet to the river bank.

Failure To Expect War's End Blamed For Lend-Lease Ills

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Failure of Allied leaders, even as late as the Potsdam Big Three conference, to plan fully for such a sudden end as came in the Japanese war was blamed by top officials today for the economic upsets to come from the end of lend-lease.

Some arrangements for financial aid to Britain, for instance, is taken almost for granted, but there is a gap, and surprise was expressed that the British did not see it coming when the enemy quit.

The expectation that something will be done to help the British over the long pull is rather general among congressmen reassembling after their vacation, but there is a sharp reaction among them to London criticism of the end of lend-lease.

Rep. Celler (D-NY) led off on that direction with a statement saying a "proper substitute" will be found if England opens markets for American goods in foreign lands.

Expressing belief that England is keeping India and other sterling bloc areas from buying American goods, Celler added:

"We want to help England out of her unfortunate debt position, but she is not playing cricket."

CAP Officers Give Approval To Camp

Wing officers of the Civil Air Patrol gave enthusiastic approval of the CAP cadet camp now in progress at the Big Spring Bombarrier school on an official inspection here Thursday.

In the party were Lt. Col. D. H. Byrd, wing commander; Maj. R. L. Bowen, wing executive officer; Maj. James L. Camp, wing operations officer; Capt. Harry H. Reed, wing training officer; and 1st Lt. Edwin J. Karlson, AAF liaison officer to the CAP.

Col. Byrd used the occasion of his visit here to announce the promotion of P. W. Malone, Big Spring squadron commander, from the rank of captain to that of major. The camp here has the bulk of its personnel made up from youths in the squadron area under the command of Lt. W. D. Berry.

GRIST APPOINTED

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 25 (AP)—Appointment of Dr. Edgar A. Grist of Fort Worth as poultry veterinarian for the Texas A. and M. College extension service effective Sept. 16, was announced today by Director Ide P. Trotter. Grist is a native of Austin.

Citrus Regulations Retained For Awhile

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—Most federal regulations for the citrus industry will be retained "for a while," OPA and agricultural leaders told Texas citrus industry representatives today.

The government officials, who held several conferences with the Texans, said the problem is being studied now but no program has been devised as yet for dropping the wartime production and marketing rules.

"Apparently all regulations will stay for awhile," G. O. McDaniel of Eliza, Texas, told a reporter. "The people running the citrus program are just like everyone in Washington right now—they are just getting organized on a peacetime basis and aren't just sure of what they are going to do immediately."

Services For Mrs. Hunt Await Husband

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 26 —Funeral arrangements for Mrs. J. J. Hunt, 46, wife of a prominent Westbrook farmer, are pending his return from Fort Worth.

Mrs. Hunt, ill of a heart disease, was found dead in her bedroom late Friday. Sheriff Nick Norrell and L. A. Costin, justice of peace, said her sudden death was due to natural causes.

Hunt had left home Friday afternoon for Fort Worth to accompany a daughter to Westbrook. A small son of the couple and a neighbor found Mrs. Hunt's body across her bed several hours later. Rites may be held here Sunday.

No Cause For Hysteria

Sorry For The Japs?

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Special Writer

A contemporary says that now that the Jap has been beaten and humiliated, he feels sorry for him. He says we must be sure to write a peace based on mercy and the Golden Rule.

We looked into our heart and found no sorrow for the Jap's plight there. He asked for everything he'll get in the way of punishment and humiliation. We have never yet been able to sympathize with a murderer, a rapist or a bully who gets licked—and we're too old to start doing it now.

We looked into our Bible and perceived that God forgives only those who repent, that He demands atonement for every sin, that before there can be trust and confidence there must be reformation.

Are we greater than God? Can we measure His ways and contest His perfect law?

We will forgive the Jap when he repents; we will trust him when he reforms.

There is a reciprocity, an expected return, about the Golden Rule. We are willing to do whatever is necessary unto the Jap to keep him from doing it unto us first.

We looked into Emily Post, and nowhere did we find it good etiquette to invite swine to a garden party, or smuggle up to pit vipers.

We do not hate the Jap, for until he demonstrates that he is worthy of that honest reaction, we hold him beneath contempt. We do hate his ways, we hate the things he did to other human beings, we hate and despise the things he personified throughout this war—brutality, unbounded arrogance, merciless disregard for the principles of truth and justice that have come to mean so much to civilized mankind.

We would treat him with absolute fairness, according to our code—not according to his. We would not starve or beat him. We would give him a fair trial on all occasions when he falls afoul of the law. We would not enslave him, but help him to free himself from the chains that bind him to a way of life that is as primitive and barbaric and anachronistic as that of jungle animals.

And for his sake and the world's, we would be quite sure that he never again got possession of a gun, or the chance to hold authority over any people other than his own.

Above all, we would not confirm him in his satanic ways by being mawkishly sentimental

Our people are now concerned with an outbreak of poliomyelitis, and justly so. It is of small comfort to those who have seen its hand laid upon a loved one or those who have youngsters, but if the hard cold facts are considered, there is still no reason for hysteria from an over-all picture.

An eminent neurologist gives the advice: "Don't worry," then quickly adds sagely, "you can't." And that's pretty much the picture. Naturally there will be concern where there is one case, let alone several. Yet, statistics indicate that even in severe outbreaks only three to four children out of a thousand will be recognizably affected.

While statistics may be comforting in the main, the individual possibility is that one may be on the little end of the horn, hence the wisdom of trying to observe commonsense rules which might prevent or control the infection.

We have just been through a rat killing campaign because these creatures bear fleas which sometimes carry typhus germs. Now the campaign is being directed at flies because of suspicion which is placed upon them in connection with spread of poliomyelitis. This should not be looked upon as a magic cure-all, for epidemics have occurred in places after the fly season.

Other steps may be undertaken, and like the drive against the fly nuisance, they may be more or less shots in the dark. One may ask: What is the point in exerting these efforts?

Just this—they might be the means of preventing some cases, and even if they don't do any good toward helping the current situation, they will be worth the effort many times over in reducing the spread of other infections which we do know beyond any doubt are carried by flies, etc. In the interest of public health, we simply can't lose.

Although we are passing through a period of anxiety, there should be no tendency to panic. You can't avoid the possibility of infection any more than you can avoid sin; but if recognition of temptations helps strengthen resistance against the latter, a knowledge of precautions and of symptoms may help avoid or mitigate polio. Do your best individually to maintain a well, rested body—and hope and pray that we will soon be given respite.

Not for a long time, not for many generations of decent living, would we trust him as far as you could throw a bull by the tail. This, not because we wish to be harsh or unjust to the Jap, but because we want to be fair and merciful to unborn generations of Americans, and to living Americans who sorrow not over the Jap's present plight, but over the multitudes he has slain.

If we can qualify for brotherhood with the Jap on these terms, you can start filling out our application; otherwise you can take a great long running jump.

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Mirrors Of Austin—

Discrimination Of State Labor

Within the next few months you'll be hearing of the organization of state employees—not a union, but a cooperative organization designed to give some dignity to a state job. This movement, which is still in the talking stages, grows out of a gross and callous disregard for employee morale evidenced by the last legislature.

To some members of the legislature, it may have seemed an insignificant thing that they were able to get their favorite employees in one division or department raised more than the general level of raises voted by the last legislature. But they overlooked the fact that those who didn't get the special favors become less substantial employees of the state. That's human nature.

The instances of discrimination could be multiplied. But here is a glaring example:

Under the old appropriation bill, the one under which Texas will operate until the end of this month, a lot of the field men for various departments and divisions were paid a practically uniform $175 a month. The rate of increases which the legislature was supposed to follow would have given these employees a 10 percent increase.

Picking out divisions at random, the gasoline tax division of the Comptroller's Office got the ten percent. They were increased to $192.50.

But the Liquor Control Board field force of 102 men were raised to $210, an increase of 20 percent; and five on the Liquor Board staff were raised to $225, an increase of 28 percent. Two hundred patrolmen in the Public Safety Department were raised from $165 to $200, jumping ahead of the gasoline tax inspectors. Some of these patrolmen were jumped to $229 from the former base of $175.

It is not that those getting the smaller pro rata increases begrudged those who got the larger increases; it was a question of principle, and of employee morale, and of unanswerable discrimination.

Nor is that the only angle to the feeling. Within departments, individuals were picked out for special raises. New jobs were created such as a girl bookkeeper in one division, at a higher pay rate than other girl bookkeepers in the same division—and those who had years of service saw a brand-new employee come in at a salary greater than theirs. Certainly such a situation can do nothing other than break down morale and cause office dissension.

One division expresses his feelings this way:

"How can a legislature sitting four months out of every two years and attending at the same time to other legislative duties, qualify themselves to determine the value of thousands of individual employees?"

The unsavory fact is that too often the legislative appropriation bills are written, or rewritten, in that device of legislative procedure known as the free conference committee. The free conference committee takes a bill carefully drawn by committees working over a period of some three to four months, and within a few days completely rewrites it, according to the whim of the individuals. And those of the ten who feel the discriminations ought not to be allowed obviously can't, in the few days, go through the bills and spot all of the discriminations.

And another equally important fact which the legislature has been reluctant to accept is that the state government is no longer a mere hitching-post for patronage to help them get elected. It's a big business institution, and will run with efficiency in direct ratio to the application of sound business principles in employer-employee relationships.

Bus Drivers Given Retroactive Raise

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (AP)—The War Labor Board today ordered increases in the hourly wage rates and minimum daily guarantees of Pacific Greyhound Bus drivers in the western states, the increases to be retroactive to July 31, 1944.

The Board denied the demand of the AFL Motor Coach Employees union for wage increases based on the Little Steel formula, as well as the demand that drivers be paid for all "on duty" time at an hourly rate when not actually driving.

The union represents 1,953 drivers and 705 station employees of Greyhound in California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Germans Unconscious Of War Guilt

By DREW PEARSON

(NOTE: Drew Pearson is on vacation. Darryl Zanuck, famed head of 20th Century-Fox, contributes as guest writer today's column on post-war Germany.)

Producer of "Woodrow Wilson." By DARRYL ZANUCK

HOLLYWOOD.—To my mind, the most disturbing and sinister fact about Germany today is that it is a nation without a conscience. Not long ago, I visited Germany and other sections of Europe at the invitation of the physiological warfare section of the war department. I went there as one of a group of film executives. We were sent to study at first hand what war, as it is fought today, does to men and women and nations physically and spiritually.

IN the course of that tour, we talked to many people. Among them were military and diplomats, high-ranking representatives of various governments, men of religion and men of low estate, men and women who had lived through the terror, some scarred and some ennobled.

But shocking as it may seem, we failed to find in Germany even one person with the slightest sense of shame or war guilt. They have no realization of the scope or enormity of their crime against mankind. They have no compunction. They have become, it seems to me, a people without a soul.

REV. NIEMOLLER

Two men whom I met in Germany and talked to at length—two men of totally different antecedents and outlook—summed up for me the German frame of mind today. One was pastor Martin Niemoller, the famous U-boat commander of World War I who defied the Nazis from his pulpit and spent eight dreadful years in a concentration camp. The other was Max Schmeling, for a brief time the world's heavyweight champion who is now a tavern-keeper in Hamburg.

I ran across Niemoller in Frankfurt. He speaks excellent English. He had intended going with his wife to a tea that afternoon but gave that up when he learned that we were in the city. As one of Germany's foremost anti-Nazis, we were naturally eager to talk to him. For his part, he was obviously just as eager to talk to us.

We wasted little time in preliminaries. He had spent two years in solitary confinement after his arrest but when Germany plunged into war, he offered his services and his life to the Nazis as a U-boat skipper. We explained that it was difficult for us to understand this about-face. His answer was measured and calm.

"I don't expect you to understand. I expect few people to understand. It's difficult for anyone to understand my state of mind unless they, too, have spent time in solitary confinement."

"I had two consciences. On one side I asked myself: 'How can I support the state that is controlled by these horrible beasts?' On the other: 'How can I turn down my country, my Germany?'"

Always a German

And yet, knowing this horror and having experienced it in his own person, this man would not have hesitated to kill for the Nazis.

Parcel post was introduced in the U. S. on Jan. 1, 1913; in England an inland parcel post was established in 1883.

Short History Of The Japanese War—

The Battle For Leyte Gulf

(Ninth In A Series)
General MacArthur reached the emotional climax of his two-and-a-half-year campaign on Oct. 20 when he returned to the Philippines at the end of the 2,900-mile trail from eastern New Guinea.

Dramatically wading ashore on the east coast of Leyte Island with his troops, the American leader in a broadcast over the Philippines to "rise and strike." With him was every able-bodied American who had escaped Corregidor.

An example of long-range striking power, MacArthur's expedition was put ashore by a 600-ship convoy after a 1,300-mile voyage and had the support of Adm. Halsey's Third Fleet, Vice Admiral Thomas Kinkaid's Seventh Fleet, and both American and Australian army sirmen.

The seven divisions of Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth Army had been preceded by one of the most intensive aerial offensives of the Pacific. In which Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's carrier planes and island based bombers had destroyed 1,335 enemy aircraft, sunk 86 ships and damaged 127 in 10 days of rampage from Formosa and the Ryukyus to Manila, the Philippines and the Eastern Carolines.

Quickly the advance divisions seized Tacloban, Leyte capital, and President Sergio Osmena established the Philippine Government on its own soil again.

Expecting invasion at Mindanao, the large island to the south, or possibly at Luzon, the main island to the north, the Japanese were unprepared for attack in the central Philippines where their forces were threatened with being cut in two. But they accepted the challenge.

In a supreme throw they sent the bulk of their carefully husbanded fleet into an action that was calculated to trap the American Navy.

The battle for Leyte Gulf, unofficially known as the second battle of the Philippine Sea, was the greatest naval battle of the war and the greatest in American naval history. It was the battle upon which American and Japanese strategists had speculated for years, but it was not fought the way they had envisaged.

Perhaps close to 300 warships on both sides participated in the far-flung struggle.

When it was over the Japanese Navy, the third largest in the world, had lost more than half its maximum strength in the greatest naval defeat of history. American admirals counted 58 Japanese ships sunk or crippled, including four carriers, two battleships, six heavy cruisers and many lesser warships definitely sunk and six battleships probably sunk and six cruisers and five destroyers damaged.

For the victory the United States paid with the loss of six warships—the light carrier Princeton, two escort carriers, two destroyers, a destroyer escort—and some lesser craft.

At about this time the Japanese made the first large-scale use of their Kamikaze Corps—the suicide fliers who later were so widely advertised—when about 30 of their planes dived on Halsey's carriers off Luzon.

With the naval threat dissipated, MacArthur forged rapidly ahead and announced as early as Nov. 3 that the end of the Leyte campaign was in sight.

The announcement was premature. A series of typhoons swept over the island, miring down tanks and guns and

HESS' WHEREABOUTS

LONDON, Aug. 26 (P)—Rudolph Hess is believed to be a prisoner in a military hospital in the small Welsh village of Aberavenny, wallowing in melancholia, while the Allies consider whether to try him as a war criminal or commit him to a mental home. The whereabouts of Hess has been one of the war's tightest secrets.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE HERALDGaines Due First
Devonian Producer

By JOHN B. BREWER

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 25—Indicated opening of the first Devonian lime field in Gaines county by Amerada Petroleum Corp. No. 1-A Dr. E. H. Jones of San Angelo highlighted West Texas oil development this week.

Shell and Texaco No. 1 Ratliff & Bedford, quadruple pay strike in southwestern Andrews county, flowed oil in initial testing of the Ellenburger, and Gulf completed No. 2-E Upton Henderson, discovery in the Tubb zone of the Clear Fork section of the Permian lime in southwestern Crane county or three-mile northwest extension to the Sand Hills Permian (Tubb) field.

The TXL field in Ector county and the Keystone Ellenburger field in Winkler county with multiple pays listed four locations each. Lynn and Gaines counties reported a wildcat location each and a wildcat each in Yoakum and Lubbock counties failed.

Amerada No. 1-A Dr. E. H. Jones, the Devonian strike in northwestern Gaines, made a small oil flow on a drillstem test after perforating 5 1-2 inch casing between 11,428 and 11,436 feet. It then began swabbing and recovered 34.50 barrels of 39.6 gravity oil in 9 1-2 hours.

First perforations, between 11,438-444 feet, were sealed following a flow of 182 barrels of fluid, 85 per cent oil and 15 per cent water, the last eight hours of testing. The discovery is in the C NW NE 3-A6-psl, 1-2 miles southwest of the Wasson field and seven miles northwest of the Russell pool, both Permian lime producing areas.

Humble prepared to deepen its No. 1-B Humble-Eubank, southern Gaines county wildcat, from 7,645 feet in lower Permian lime to at least 10,000 feet. Location is in section 6-AX-C. H. Eubank, 2 1-4 miles northwest of the Doss (Clear Fork lime) pool opener.

Union of California started No. 1 Gibson Ross Williams, slated 5,500-foot wildcat in south central Gaines county, C NE NE 7-C44-psl, 3 1-2 miles southeast of Seminole.

Shell and Texaco No. 1 Ratliff & Bedford, southwestern Andrews four-pay discovery, C NW NE 4-73-psl, gauged 23 barrels of oil through a three-quarter inch tubing choke the 15th hour of testing naturally through perforations in 5 1-2 inch casing between 11,310-320 feet.

Magnolia and Humble No. 1 E. P. Cowden, opener of the third Devonian field in Andrews county, C NW SE 7-A55-psl, flowed 160 barrels of oil through a three-eighths inch tubing choke during the first 15 hours of a scheduled 24-hour potential gauge. Production was through casing perforations between 7,900-60 feet, following treatment with 1,000 gallons of acid.

Texas Gulf Producing Co. of Houston, obtaining a discovery well in its first test drilled in West Texas, in southeastern Cochran county, offset it on the south with No. 2 Allie Slaughter and others. The firm's No. 1 Slaughter, 6,135 feet from the south, 6,388 feet from the east line of league 113, Potter county school land survey, was rigging a pump for completion after swabbing oil at the rate of eight barrels hourly from acidized San Andres pay at 5,020-62 feet. It is three miles west of the Dean sector of the Slaughter field.

Gulf No. 1 Fred W. Frost, northern Yoakum county wildcat C NW NW 35-D-John H. Gibson, was abandoned at 5,209 feet after encountering sulphur water. Geo. P. Livermore and Honolulu plugged No. 1 DeBusk-Eastman, east central Lubbock county wildcat, at 5,978 feet in lime. There were no shows.

Barnsdall spotted No. 1 Lonnie and Billie Williams, Lynn county wildcat projected to 7,000 feet or deeper, five miles south and two miles west of Tahoka, C NW SW 2-8-EL&RR.

Kidd & Cherry of Dallas started No. 1 Stoker in Garza county, 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 8-2-GH&H, one mile east of production on the southeast side of the Garza field.

Sinclair Prairie No. 1 Williamson, northwestern Ector county wildcat C SE SW 40-45-In-T&P, recovered salty sulphur water with a showing of oil and gas on a drillstem test of the Ellenburger from 9,881-9,923 feet and shut down for orders.

In the TXL field in Ector, Shell and Arkansas Fuel staked locations for a proposed Ellenburger test and for three Devonian operations. Gulf spotted for tests in the southeast part of the Keystone Ellenburger field in Winkler county, where Humble No. 1-B W. A. McCutcheon, south outpost, C NE SW 15-B-2-psl, recovered oil from the Devonian on a drillstem test from 7,569-7,790 feet.

Gulf No. 2-E Henderson, Tubb strike in southwestern Crane county, in the northwest corner of section 25-B27-psl, established a daily flowing potential of 654 barrels of 34.3 gravity oil for completion at 4,445 feet after acidizing.

Magnolia No. 1-B Tucker, southwestern Crane discovery in the Waddell section of the Simpson, in the northwest quarter of section 25-1-H&TC, alternately flowed and was shut in, testing naturally through perforations in 5 1-2 inch pipe between 5,796-5,806 feet. Late in the week it treated with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Argo Oil Corp. No. 1 Mrs. Dora Roberts, southwestern Reeves county wildcat C NW SE 294-13-H&GN, was to run 7-inch casing to the bottom, 5,165 feet, after top of the Delaware lime was picked tentatively at 5,150 feet, 2,270 feet below sea level. A cable tool unit then was to be installed for drilling ahead.

Woman Injured In Car-Truck Collision

Mrs. Eva Henderson, operator of Magnolia Courts, sustained cuts and bruises in a car collision at E. 3rd and Owens streets at 9:45 a. m. Friday.

She was injured as the car in which she was riding and a Banner truck, entering Third street, were in collision. In turn, the Henderson car was in collision with a car parked on the south side of E. 3rd. Another woman and baby with Mrs. Henderson escaped without injury. Police questioned a youth in connection with the mishap.

Sticker Was Dead
Giveaway Of Thief

Maybe it would have helped if this fellow had really gone to school.

But as it turned out, the big Texas University sticker on a piece of luggage stolen from the bus station was a dead giveaway for a bedraggled Latin-American. Police noticed the sticker and figured the man certainly wasn't working his way through college. He was held at the police station on a theft complaint.

Christopher Wren was the architect for London's famous St. Paul's Cathedral which still stands amid the ruins of the blitz.

Periwigs, first mentioned in England in the 16th Century, are still worn in court by English judges and barristers. The average depth of the ocean below sea level is 12,450 feet; the greatest depth, off the Philippines, 35,400 feet.
