Council approves bonds resolution

The approval of a resolution calling for the issuance of $565,000 in tax exempt bonds for the development of SnTx Park I was approved by Snyder City Council last night as one more step was made in the development of the 309-acre industrial park.

Roy Baze, president of the Development Corporation of Snyder, told the council that proceeds from these funds would be used primarily outside the area of the industrial park for water and sewer lines.

The DCOS will issue another $900,000 in bonds after the first of the year and those funds will be used inside the industrial park for the development of the infrastructure, said Baze.

Baze, along with financial advisor Joe T. Smith of First Southwest Co. in Abilene, once again recognized the part the Snyder banks have played by purchasing the bonds.

Smith also noted that the City of Snyder is not committed in any way for the development of the park. The funds are generated from the levy of a three-eighths of one percent sales tax designated for economic development.

The resolution also approved a sales tax remittance agreement to the DCOS and the approval of the articles of incorporation of the DCOS and its bylaws.

In other matters relating to the industrial park, a zoning change was agreed to by the council to make that area zoned for light and heavy manufacturing and a commercial zoned district.

The renovation of the Ritz Theatre also got a big boost from the council last night as it voted to give the project $38,000 from hotel/motel tax funds.

Speaking on behalf of the theatre project, Mike Thornton addressed the council before the vote and said the project needed $38,000 to complete "a bare-bones functional theatre."

Mayor David Holt, along with the rest of the council, complimented the renovation project and the work the theatre group had accomplished.

In a related matter, the council also approved, on second reading, an ordinance establishing the city's hotel/motel tax fund at seven percent.

In another move, the council approved a resolution calling for the issuance of certificates of obligation not to exceed $3.2 million

Tickets going quickly

Snyder ISD was sent one section, or 460 tickets for Friday's 7:30 p.m. game at Mustang Bowl. Already, 200 have been purchased, local officials said.

The tickets, all reserved seats on the 50 yard line, are $5 each. They are being sold at the SISD Administration Building on 37th Street from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Ticket sales will close at noon Friday.

The office is also selling student tickets at $2 each.

Officials said that if all 460 tickets are sold early in the week, Snyder can probably obtain more tickets from Sweetwater ISD.

Friday's game will determine the District 5-4A championship.

THE SDN COLUMN

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Everybody has to face the future. The choice is to face it with apprehension or with anticipation."

Being around a hospital and doctors the past couple of weeks, we have a renewed appreciation for the job they have to do.

One of Snyder's strongest assets is Cogdell Memorial Hospital and the staff. While delivery of health-care is undergoing dramatic changes throughout the country, we hope that local officials will proceed cautiously to ensure that Scurry County residents have continued access to quality and concerned care without having to leave town.

We were reminded of a story of just how much medical care has changed. Giving birth to a child used to mean at least a week in the hospital. What is now out-patient surgery used to require a two-week stay.

The story concerns a young farm couple who were expecting their first child.

Wanting the best of care, they journeyed into town for a check-up. After the exam, the doc stamped her stomach with a rubber stamp in the manner of a parcel package, and then sent the couple home without comment.

Neither wife nor husband could read the writing and the curiosity was driving them crazy. The husband went back to town and procured a magnifying glass powerful enough to enlarge the tiny print.

These words were revealed: "When this writing gets large enough to read without a magnifying lass, take her to the hospital and call me."

Local schools receive gains awards

Central and Stanfield Elementary and Snyder Junior High School have received monetary awards as part of the Texas Successful Schools Awards Program, Wendell Sollis, director of curriculum and testing for the district, has announced.

Central received $1,909.69. Snyder Junior High received $3,004.72. Stanfield received $2,047.23. The schools were recognized for significant gains in student performance as part of the Academic Excellence Indicator System, more commonly known as the state's school report card.

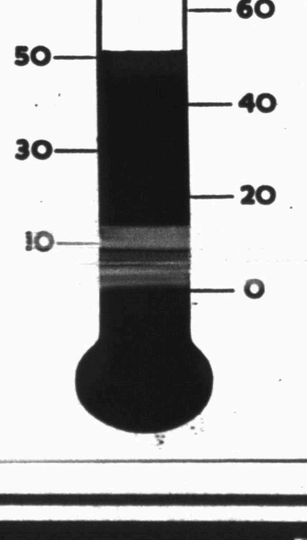
The awards are based on the schools' 1995 performance on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) test as well as meeting standards for dropout and attendance rates.

To be eligible, schools must have at least 25 percent of all students in each group passing each section of the TAAS. In addition, a school's gain in performance from spring 1994 to spring 1995 had to be in the top 20 percent in the school's demographic group on overall gain and average at least five percent gain across all subject areas for all students.

UW reaches 51% of goal

Scurry County United Way officials reported this morning that they have topped the halfway mark toward's the 1995-96 campaign goal.

Some $37,170 has been collected, or 51 percent of the goal of $73,000.



Ticket reservations open Wednesday for upcoming musical, 'Forever Plaid'

"Forever Plaid," the popular musical comedy featuring music of the 1950s and 1960s, is scheduled to open Thursday, Nov. 16, at the Ritz Theatre.

The musical was originally scheduled to open this Thursday, but has been delayed one week.

Theatre dates are currently set for Nov. 16-19 and Nov. 30 through Dec. 3. However, either the second or third showing, Nov. 17 or 18, is subject to change, depending on scheduling of a Snyder varsity football playoff game.

There will be no performances during Thanksgiving week. Sunday performances on Nov. 19 and Dec. 3 will be 2:30 p.m. matinees. All other performances will begin at 8 p.m.

Ticket reservations begin this week. Reservations for season ticket holders can be made Wednesday and Thursday. The general public may begin calling for reservations on Friday. To make reservations, contact the Senior Center at 573-4035 from 2-5 p.m.

The cast of "Forever Plaid" is composed of the members of a 1960s singing group named "The Plaids," plus a pianist and a bass player. The group includes Francis, played by Matt Cross; Sparky, played by James Hanks; Jinx, played by David Trevey; and Smidge, played by Wayne Knox. The pianist is Judy Brown. Brett Gibson plays bass.

"Forever Plaid" was written by Stuart Ross with musical arrangements by James Raitt. It is being produced by special arrangement with Music Theatre International in New York. Trevey is the musical director. Judy Haines is the choreographer.

The four men who sing as The Plaids also sing together in real life as a contemporary Christian quartet named "4-Giv'n." They have performed together about two years at their home church, First Baptist Church, in Snyder and at other churches and functions.

Scientist explains process

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The discoverer of a genetic trait linked to Alzheimer's says he has now figured out how it causes the disease — by weakening the microscopic "plumbing" that carries nutrients to brain cells and flushes out the waste.

The new understanding offers numerous possibilities for the development of drugs that might not "cure" the disease but could delay it for 20 years, meaning most people would not live long enough to get it, said Dr. Allen Roses, chairman of the neurology department at Duke University Medical Center.

Speaking Monday at a meeting sponsored by the Council for the Advancement of Science Writing, Roses also reported that people with the Alzheimer's gene are more likely than others to die after a head injury, because of the weakened condition of their neurons, or nerve cells.

The gene produces a substance called apolipoprotein E4, or apo E4, which shuttles cholesterol through the bloodstream.

Roses's belief that apo E4 is critical in Alzheimer's puts him at odds with some other leading authorities.

"No one disputes that E4 is important. E4 is a risk factor, not the cause," said Dr. Dennis Selkoe, a neurologist at Harvard Medical School.

Selkoe believes that E4 somehow changes the form of a substance called amyloid in the brain. The brains of Alzheimer's victims are laced with amyloid plaques, or deposits, that Selkoe and others believe are the central feature of Alzheimer's disease.

Roses said he believes that amyloid is an incidental consequence of damage produced by apo E4, and that amyloid is not central to the disease itself.

Strong, Loving Parents Help Children Who Suffer in School

DEAR READERS: I printed a letter from a woman signed "Worried Mom in Virginia." Her son, a sixth-grader, was ostracized and teased by his classmates. I asked readers to share their solutions to this painful problem. Yesterday, I ran responses from adults who shared their personal experiences as children. Today we hear from parents. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: We, too, have a son who was teased and mocked and made fun of. Our son is fun, nice, bright and polite. In other words, he doesn't quite fit the "macho" mold.

I would like to bring up some points for "Worried Mom in Virginia" that are quite important:

1. Don't allow the school system to tell you that your child needs to see a psychologist. There is nothing wrong with him. If the psychologists want to help someone, tell them to start working on all the bullies in the schools. They are the ones who need help.

2. You pay taxes. Your child has a right to an education in a non-violent environment. Keep hammering away at the administration.

3. Talk to other parents. You'd be surprised at how many have horror stories to tell.

4. Assure your child that he's OK. Point out that his tormentors must feel so bad about themselves, they have to pick on someone else in order to feel better.

This happened in a small town in Minnesota: After months of complaining to the administration, the parents finally "wired" their son, and with that concrete evidence, they sued the school board and won! That woke up a lot of school districts around here.

My son is now in ninth grade and all is well. Parents, get tough, and things will get better!

MINNESOTA MOM

DEAR MOM: Many parents will appreciate your helpful letter. Read on for a different solution to the problem:

DEAR ABBY: It is unbelievable that a child being teased for four years is tolerated in our "enlightened" society. I am 67 years old and remember very well the taunts from both teachers and children because I was thin, sickly and frequently absent.

My own four children fared quite well. However, one of my 12 grandchildren has had a particularly bad time. "Craig" suffers from asthma and Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD). His teachers had no patience or understanding and singled him out for "discipline."

My daughters volunteer their time on the playground, as well as in the classroom. Children are watched, and any cruel remarks are handled immediately with hugs and talks. Their children have been taught to "adopt" anyone who needs a friend.

When did society decide to put children in institutions to relieve parents of their responsibility to raise their offspring in person? The schools should be filled with adults to help in every area. Children of all ages need constant loving supervision. Abandoning them to raise each other has led to most of society's problems.

The world won't improve until children are taught kindness along with the 3 R's.

A PROUD MOM AND GRANDMA, SPARKS, NEV.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "Worried Mom in Virginia" and had to write because my sons went through a similar situation, since they had always made high grades in school. The kids would call them "nerds" and worse names. This did not bother my sons because I had talked with them and explained that kids did this when they were jealous, so they shouldn't let it get to them.

I'm happy to say that my seventh-grader is an excellent athlete as well as a high honors student — he is also in the "gifted and talented" program.

My husband and I are proud of our sons' grades and other accomplishments. We stress to them how important it is to look out for other kids who might endure what they went through and lend a helping hand.

We thought about sending them to another school, but the school system where we live is excellent — that's the reason we moved here.

In the year ahead, your social life may undergo change. These alterations will usher in a new phase of pleasurable involvements.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you do not make critical decisions for yourself today, a colleague might try to make them for you. As a surrogate, he or she may make poor choices. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Make sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Trying to get others to do things for you today could be more difficult than doing these tasks by yourself. Try not to be too dependent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Do not let your inclination to take risks overpower your common sense today. You may be apt to back the wrong horse.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Stick with companions who warmly welcome your company today. Do not impose your presence on a clique that has been unfriendly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) When dealing with subordinates today, you may not exercise enough patience. If you fail to be tolerant of others, you could invite a rebellion.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Associates are likely to mirror your attitude and behavior. If you are argumentative, prepare for a rumble.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Avoid dealing with someone who has manipulated you in the past. His or her tactics might be different, but the purpose will be the same.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Major decisions should not be made hastily today. If you are too rushed, you may overlook several important factors.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Make sure you handle a fair share of the load when you deal with co-workers today. Do not dump your tasks on them, nor let them do the same to you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A position about which you feel adamant might not be of equal concern to other members of your family. You will not gain their support through intimidation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your image will be fragile today, so make sure to conduct yourself properly in front of others, especially if someone who resents you will be present.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Manage your resources as well as the holdings of others carefully today. If you fall asleep at the switch, costly mistakes might occur.

CDF founder accepts award

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Children's Defense Fund founder Marian Wright Edelman took time to accept an award for her work on children's issues, but that didn't stop her from working.

In accepting the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints' International Temple Peace Award on Saturday, Edelman urged an audience of 500 to fight congressional cuts in welfare programs.

"I would submit that our crisis is not a crisis of money,' Edelman said. "It is a crisis of values."

90 million breathing dirty air

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of people who live with dirty air has declined by more than a third since 1990, but 90 million Americans still breathe air that flunks federal health standards, the government says.

The Environmental Protection agency reported Monday that 33 regions, many of them metropolitan areas, failed to meet federal standards for ozone, the major component of smog.

But EPA officials said the latest results in the agency's annual air quality report found a continuing trend toward cleaner air. Five years ago more than 91 regions — with a population of 140 million — had smog levels considered to be unhealthy at least some time during the year.

"In the last five years, our efforts to protect public health have resulted in 50 million more Americans who are now breathing far healthier air," EPA Administrator Carole Browner said in a statement.

A violation of federal health standards means that the ozone level in the air on some days exceeds 0.12 parts per million. Ground-level ozone, a key component of smog, causes respiratory problems as well as irritation of the eyes and mucous membranes.

The EPA found air quality improved significantly along the New Hampshire seacoast as the Portsmouth-Dover-Rochester area met federal standards. It had been classified as having serious pollution.

San Diego, while still not meeting federal standards, shifted from "severe" to "serious" pollution, showing slightly improved air quality, while Sacramento, Calif., went in the opposite direction, from serious to severe, the agency said.

Many cities with dirty air are not expected to bring their air quality into federal compliance until the middle of the next decade. Under federal law, they must attain compliance within two to 13 years, depending on the severity of the pollution.

The EPA said eight areas had "moderate" smog problems, compared with 14 a year ago. Those in the "marginal" pollution category dropped from seven to four.

Cerebellar cyst may need surgery

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 13-year-old son has recently been diagnosed with a cerebellar cyst that causes headaches. The neurosurgeon discussed putting in a shunt. My son is scheduled for another MRI in six weeks. If the cyst has enlarged, surgery will be necessary. Do we have other options?

DEAR READER: The central nervous system (brain, spinal cord and surrounding structures) are bathed in a clear liquid called cerebro-spinal fluid, which protects the delicate nerve cells. The CSF normally circulates around the central nervous system through a complex series of channels.

At times — due to infection, injury, or poorly understood genetic factors — the CSF circulation may become impeded at any one of many areas in the brain. This damming effect causes pockets of CSF to balloon out, press on nerve tissue and cause headaches, among other symptoms. MRI testing readily demonstrates such "cysts."

Evidently, your son has developed such an abnormality at the back of his brain, which — if it enlarges — could lead to increasing headaches and permanent nerve damage. Quite properly, the neurosurgeon chose to prepare you for the possibility of surgery.

An operation at the base of the brain may be too hazardous to consider (because of technical difficulties); therefore, the doctor mentioned a shunt. This simple and safer operation involves placing a plastic tube around the cyst to bypass the impediment and allow CSF to circulate normally. Such an operation is routinely performed on infants born with hydrocephalus ("water on the brain").

If the new MRI shows that the cyst is enlarging, I advise you to follow the neurosurgeon's recommendations. While no one eagerly anticipates brain surgery, the shunt operation could certainly return your son to good health.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After writing several national foundations, I still cannot find a diet for irritable bowel syndrome. Can you help?

DEAR READER: Irritable bowel syndrome is a common, harmless but annoying condition, marked by periodic gas, bloating, maldigestion, constipation or diarrhea. The affliction is considered by most experts to be a "functional" bowel disorder, meaning that although digestive functions are affected, there is no physical cause. IBS is often most troublesome during cycles of stress and anxiety.

There is no generally accepted diet for IBS. Most patients quickly learn which foods (such as spices or greasy edibles) worsen the disorder — and they avoid them.

Therefore, I can only help you in an indirect way by stating that you should follow the advice your bowel gives you.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Irritable Bowel Syndrome." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

Scurry Chapter ABWA meets in Martha Ann Woman's Club

The Scurry Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association has had a busy fall with programs, planning activities and celebrating the chapter's birthday.

In a September meeting at the Martha Ann Woman's Club, presided over by president Anita Felan, retired teacher Martha Schiebel gave tips on having garage sales.

For 17 members and two guests, Carol Young, employee at Computer Solutions, gave the vocational talk. Her working hours are from 1:30 to 5:50 p.m., answering the phone, helping customers, making orders and checking in freight.

Due to holidays, the next ABWA meeting will be held Nov. 14, and next month's will be on Dec. 12. A Dec. 2-3 arts and crafts show at the coliseum is scheduled and the organization will man the concession.

Vera Pruitt was voted ABWA Woman of the Year. Birthday ladies included Betty Boyd, Margaret Easterwood, Jo Ann Prince and Jessie Scarbrough.

The chapter met for an Oct. 12 meeting with 14 members and one guest, Kay Pavalosky, attending. Felan presided and Pruitt, membership chairperson, introduced the cast for "ABWA Island," a skit explaining the purpose of ABWA. The Skipper was played by Pruitt; Jillian, Ruby Deavers; Professor, Vivian Cockran; Ginger, Glenda Glasscock; Mary Ann, Prince; Kristen Howell III, Scrivner; and Lovey, Inez Teaff.

Scrivner gave the vocational talk.

Highlighting the possibilities

An unusual bridge book, "Over Your Shoulder" by Tony Forrester and Brian Senior, has been published by Batsford in England ($19.50 postpaid from The Bridge World, 39 West 94th Street, New York, NY 10025-7124). The authors analyze the bidding and play of 24 deals. The unusual feature is that each player's actions are taken together, rather than on a round-by-round basis.

In this deal from the book, how should the play go in four spades after the diamond-queen lead?

Most American experts sitting South would overcall one spade, feeling this hand is a little light for a takeout double followed by a spade bid. North is thin for three clubs, but one cannot afford to lie down and play dead in a competitive auction.

After winning with the diamond king, South led the club king: four, five, pause. Eventually East won this trick with the ace and returned a diamond. Gratefully, South won with the ace, played a club to dummy's jack and cashed the club queen, discarding his diamond loser. Now came a spade, South claiming a moment later having lost three tricks: one spade, one heart and one club.

East was the guilty party. West's first club gives count. And with four cards West should signal with his second-highest. Therefore, with 8-7-4-3 of clubs, West would signal with the seven. Knowing West has three clubs, East should duck the first club and win the second. Then South, with no fast dummy entry, loses a trick in each suit.

Every deal ends with a helpful tip. Here, it's always signal as clearly as possible.

Sweetwater enters top 10 in football poll

DALLAS (AP) — Sweetwater might have one less Carr to drive into the playoffs this season, but the Mustangs still have the same destination in mind.

Ten years after winning its only state championship, Sweetwater is gunning for a second title, and in running back Shaun Carr it has one of the state's most potent offensive weapons.

Carr has amassed 1,754 yards this season on 225 carries to rank third in 4A. He has scored 132 points this season.

The Mustangs' 9-0 record earned them their first state ranking this season in The Associated Press Class 4A poll, where they were voted No. 10.

With victories last week, all top-ranked teams in the poll retained their positions — Tyler John Tyler in 5A, La Marque in 4A, Sealy in 3A, Celina in 2A and Thorndale in 1A. All have 9-0 records.

Like Sweetwater, 2A's Kerens joins the poll this week for the first time at 9-0 as well.

Richardson Lake Highlands moved up a spot to No. 3 in the 5A poll with a 38-7 victory over Plano, which dropped from No. 3 to No. 10. A 21-21 tie with Abilene Cooper caused Midland Lee to drop from No. 7 to No. 8.

In 3A, Port Isabel's 14-14 tie cost it a four-spot drop to No. 8.

Falling out of the poll were Cedar Hill in 4A, Newton in 3A and Goldthwaite in 2A.

Coach Tom Ritchey said he appreciated some statewide notice, but won't be convinced of his Mustangs' place among Texas teams until the playoffs.

"I don't know that we deserve (the ranking)," he said. "I think it's recognition for a group of kids that have played hard and done everything asked of them."

Football success and Sweetwater have been synonymous for decades. The 1957 team fell to Nederland 20-7 in the 3A championship, then broke through for a 4A title in 1985 with a 17-7 victory over Tomball.

"We've had a lot of good things happen here," said Ritchey, whose teams have gone 93-21-2 in his 10 seasons there, including two trips to the 4A semifinals.

An oft-injured Carr teamed with brother and quarterback Kerry Carr last season to form an imposing combination that won a district title before falling to Sherman in the second round 10-7.

Sophomore Andrew Boatwright has replaced Kerry Carr, who graduated last June, more than adequately, Ritchey said.

"He has good people to play with," Ritchey said. "Good linemen, good running backs."

The Mustangs face Snyder Friday in a longstanding rivalry. Its importance is heightened with a District 5-4A title on the line.

Despite locking up a playoff spot, Ritchey said he's treating Snyder like a playoff opponent.

"It's important to win the district, and we feel like we've got an even game with Snyder," he said.

DALLAS (AP) — The Associated Press high school football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses. Total points are based on 10 points for a first-place vote through one point for a 10th-place vote, and previous week's ranking. Voting is by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Holmes could be suspended for year

IRVING (AP) — Defensive back Clayton Holmes, one of two Dallas Cowboys serving a four-game suspension for substance abuse, is facing yearlong suspension, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today, quoting an unidentified source.

The NFL announced Friday that Holmes and defensive tackle Leon Lett had been suspended for four games, effective immediately. But the newspaper reported that, according to its source, the league intends to suspend Holmes for a year.

Under the league policy, a player cannot be suspended for a year unless he has tested positive for drugs at least four times. The current policy was implemented in October.

The source did not indicate how many times Holmes has tested positive for violation of the policy. His most recent violation, another source said, was for cocaine. Lett was reported to have been suspended after testing positive for marijuana.

There is no indication that Lett will be suspended for any more than the announced four games, his agent said Monday. Neither Holmes nor his agent was available for comment Monday night.

NFL spokesman Greg Aiello said, "I only know what we announced."

Cowboys owner Jerry Jones also declined to comment.

The Cowboys had to resort to a patchwork defense with Holmes, Lett and injured defensive lineman Russell Maryland out of the lineup, but beat the Philadelphia Eagles, 34-12, Monday night, running their NFL record to 8-1, tied with Kansas City for the best record in the league.

The suspensions of Holmes and Lett have not been a clear-cut process, a team source said. It was unclear until the suspensions were announced, the source said, exactly how the league would penalize each player.

Coach Barry Switzer said he did not know for certain that Holmes would be suspended at all until after practice Friday.

Lady Tigers look for win in regional semis

For the first time since 1985, the Snyder High School volleyballers have made it into the regional semi-finals. The Lady Tigers will play Hereford at 8 tonight in the Box at Lubbock Monterey.

Snyder enters the match 23-6 for the year while the Lady Whitefaces are 26-3.

The Lady Tigers reached the regional semis by knocking off Brownwood in bi-district, 7-15, 15-8, 15-11 and in the Area round over Sherman, 15-3, 15-10.

Hereford drew a bye in the first round and defeated Monahans in Area, 15-3, 15-5.

The winner of tonight's match will face the winner of the Dumas, Cleburne match in the regional finals this weekend. The region winner will then advance to the state tournament in Austin.

Dumas and Cleburne play tonight in Vernon.

Hereford will the be third school in a row for Snyder to play whose colors are maroon and white. This is also the first year Coach Patty Grimmett has led the Lady Tigers past the bi-district round as their head coach. She was an assistant in 1985.

In 1985, the Lady Tigers, coached by Vicki Nelms, defeated Dunbar in bi-district, Fort Worth Castleberry in Area, Levelland in regionals before going to the state tournament. They defeated College Station A&M in the state semi-finals, 15-8, 15-10 before winning the state tournament over Leander, 15-10, 5-15, 15-9.

Snyder High School has state titles in 1972, 1978, 1980, 1981 and 1985. In 1979, the spikers were eliminated in the finals of the regional tournament.

Cowboys continue total domination

IRVING (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys are turning into one of those computer games with Deion Sanders on the box.

Robotic quarterback Troy Aikman completes nearly every pass he throws, most of them going to Michael Irvin. Defenses sag to try avoiding that connection, and machine-like runner Emmitt Smith beats them up the middle.

Philadelphia was the latest victim to lose to this toy Jerry Jones has built to perfection. The Cowboys beat the Eagles 34-12 Monday night behind another stellar performance from Aikman, Irvin and Smith.

"It's almost like being in Hollywood," said Sanders, who made a cameo appearance as himself and was pretty sparkling in his home debut — during prime time, of course. "There are stars everywhere performing at their best."

Everything is clicking these days for the Cowboys, who are 8-1 heading into a surprisingly not-so-big game against San Francisco.

But even if the 49ers were playing their Super Bowl best, they could have trouble containing Dallas.

Irvin is in the midst of a record receiving streak that Jerry Rice probably would like: at least 100 yards receiving in seven straight games, something not done since 1961; or, as Irvin put it, "before I was born."

Smith, a three-time rushing champion, is building the credentials for his second MVP. Another 158 yards and two touchdowns Monday night pushed him over 1,000 for the fifth straight season and has people talking about 2,000.

After those guys, there's not enough yards or touchdowns left to make Aikman a league leader in either category. So his forte is consistency — he entered this game as the NFL's top-rated passer, and he couldn't have hurt that much by going 17-for-24 for 202 yards and a cheap interception.

"The combination of Troy, Michael and Emmitt is pretty tough," said Philadelphia coach Ray Rhodes, who previously tried stopping it as the 49ers' defensive coordinator. "We didn't do a good job of containing those three."

Smith stumbled out of the blocks against the Eagles, fumbling on his first carry to help Phildelphia take a 3-0 lead. Three carries later, he made up for it.

Facing first down from the Philadelphia 39, Smith found a seam in the middle of the field between his blockers for a sure 10 yards. Then he made the type of move that makes him different from most other running backs.

As he reached the 30, Smith cut right to avoid safety Michael Zordich and Mark McMillian. Bobby Taylor and Mike Mamula closed in near the goal line, but they were too late, and Smith gave the Cowboys a lead they wouldn't relinquish.

Navy likely will deny promotion to captain involved in sex case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy will likely refuse to promote a captain acquitted last month in a sex harassment case, a Navy official said today.

Navy Secretary John Dalton is considering blocking the promotion of Capt. Everett L. Greene, who was cleared of criminal wrongdoing after being accused of making repeated, unwelcome verbal and written contact with two female subordinates.

Greene was in line for promotion to admiral until he refused a settlement in the harassment case and opted for a full-blown court-martial. At that point, the Navy asked the Senate Armed Services Committee to withhold confirmation of Greene's promotion.

After reviewing the case file, Dalton told aides he has serious questions about Greene's judgment, in spite of the not-guilty verdict. Greene is being given an opportunity to respond to Dalton's concerns, either in writing or in a face-to-face meeting, according to the Navy official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Cmdr. Steve Pietropaoli, a Navy spokesman, said today that a final decision on blocking Greene's promotion is up to Defense Secretary William Perry and President Clinton.

"It's the president who has to say 'yes' or 'no' to sending the name to Capitol Hill," Pietropaoli said.

Reports in today's editions of The New York Times and The San Diego Union-Tribune characterized Dalton's decision against Greene's promotion as final.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

4 slain in restaurant shooting

BOSTON (AP) — Gunshots cut through the restaurant's lunch-time hubbub, jolting customers into a split second of silence — then pandemonium. People screamed, leaped behind the bar and scrambled to the floor for safety.

When it was over, four men were dead, one was seriously wounded and two suspects were in custody, arrested by a pair of plainclothes officers who happened to be in the restaurant eating lunch.

While The Boston Herald reported today that the shooting erupted from an argument over drug profits, Police Commissioner Paul Evans said earlier that the motive was unclear.

"If it was a hit, it was a very sloppy hit in broad daylight in a very crowded restaurant," Evans said.

The gunmen walked into the 99 Restaurant & Pubs on Monday, began an argument with the men, who were sitting in a booth, and fired 13 shots, witnesses said.

"I heard, 'Pop, pop, pop.' I hit the deck," said Bill Sewall, one of about 50 people in the restaurant in the rough, mostly Irish Charlestown section, where a "code of silence" has sunk many a murder investigation. "I ran out the front door, and I'm still shaking."

Immediately after the shooting, the two suspects raced out and Everett police Officers Robert Hall and Paul Durant — in street clothes after making a court appearance — gave chase with guns drawn.

"I saw a cop pointing his gun at them and holding his badge in the air," said a witness, who spoke on condition of anonymity. "He said, 'If you move, I'll blow your head off.'"

The officers, who would not comment, were praised as heroes. Patrol Capt. Richard Basteri said both were proven "young and aggressive, good street cops," in Everett, just outside Boston.

U.S. sailor admits rape charge

NAHA, Japan (AP) — Before a rapt courtroom, an American sailor today admitted raping a 12-year-old Okinawan schoolgirl, an attack that outraged Japanese and strained security ties between the two nations. Two Marines acknowledged helping plan and carry out the assault.

"I wish to kill those three American soldiers," the girl's father wrote in an anguished statement to the court. "I hope they will be kept in jail as long as they live," wrote the girl, adding that all foreigners frighten her now.

The case — which could result in a life sentence for the sailor who pleaded guilty to rape — is the most highly charged in memory involving American military personnel in Japan.

Demands that the 26,000-strong U.S. force on the island of Okinawa be sharply reduced have caused huge political headaches for the Japanese government, and the issue threatens to overshadow President Clinton's visit to Japan this month.

The accused are Marine Pfc. Rodrico Harp, 21, of Griffin, Ga.; Pfc. Kendrick M. Ledet, 20, of Waycross, Ga.; and Navy Seaman Marcus D. Gill, 22, of Woodville, Texas.

Gill pleaded guilty to all charges — confinement and rape causing injury — shortly after proceedings got under way in Naha District Court. The two Marines admitted to helping plot the attack and Harp acknowledged hitting the girl as she was abducted, but they denied raping her.

The prosecution said all three were guilty of rape, although they did not accuse Ledet of actually penetrating the girl. Under Japanese law, a defendant can be found guilty of rape without actual penetration.

As the defendants were brought to court from a nearby detention center, Japanese guards protected them with metal shields. They were led into court in handcuffs.

for the construction of a water treatment plant and improvements to the city's sewer system.

City Secretary Jeanne Johnson said this is the first step in obtaining funds for construction of the treatment plant, which is expected to be completed by March, 1997.

The council also heard a presentation from Freese & Nichols concerning permit modifications at the city's landfill and recommendations on proposed rates for commercial waste haulers. The council took no action, and the matter is expected to be considered at a special meeting scheduled for Nov. 27.

Approval of a contract with WesTex Waste, a private company, was tabled pending approval of the landfill rates.

Action on awarding bids for new police cars was also tabled until Police Chief Lannie Lee has an opportunity to study a company's refurbished line of police cars. Lee said the cars could be purchased for approximately $12,000 each with a one-year warranty. Lee said each vehicle would have approximately 30,000 miles on it.

In other action, the council approved on second reading an ordinance creating a joint airport zoning board, turned down a citizen's request to place a four-way stop sign at the intersection of 35th Street and Austin Place and agreed to participate in the West Central Texas Drug Task Force and pay its pro-rata share of $3,296. This amount will be paid only if insufficient money or assests are seized to fund the program.

Also approved on first reading was an ordinance providing for appropriations for the fiscal year Oct. 1, 1994 and ending Sept. 30, 1995.

The council also approved a year-end amendment in the water and sewer budget for $384,000.

A request from the local VFW to extend its hours of operation in which to serve alcoholic beverages was removed from the agenda and not considered.

The council went into executive session at 8:08 p.m. to discuss the acquisition of real estate. It reconvened in open session at 8:50 p.m. and no action was taken.

Mayor Holt presided at the meeting and council members attending were Dayton Robertson, Vernest Tippens, Jerry Webb, Kenny Gambrell, I.E. Martin and Ron Shaw.
