EPIC OF HEROISM IS RECOUNTED IN BYRD FLIGHT

HAIL, ACCOMPANYING RAIN, WIPES OUT CROPS IN TWO AREAS

FLOYD'S CROPS ARE DAMAGED BY HUGE STONES

NEW HOME COMMUNITY COTTON WIPED OUT AS STORM HITS

RAINFALL GENERAL

GROWING CROPS GET FURTHER ROOST BY MOISTURE

Hail, which accompanied scattered showers and rains over the plains Friday afternoon, left everything devastated in two small areas at Floydada and the New Home community, according to dispatches received here.

Hail at Floydada, reported large as hen eggs, beat cotton and other crops into the ground, broke out window lights punctured and lodged over tops and smashed holes in shingle roofs. An area extending two miles south and a short distance east of the city suffer a heavy damage.

At the New Home community, according to R. E. Overstreet, heavy hail accompanied by about five inches of rain, occasioned almost total damage to young cotton in a strip four miles wide and perhaps ten miles long. He stated that he did not see the hail until after the precipitation was over, and that the fields were turned into lakes by the downpour, and most of the cotton ruined. He estimated that out of 400 acres of cotton on his lands, two hundred acres were ruined.

Generally, the rain proved of benefit to the farmers, falling in varying amounts over almost the entire eastern section of the plains. About one-eighth to one-fourth inch fell in Lubbock.

Lockney Gets Rain

LOCKNEY July 1.—Rainfall totaling one and one-fourth inches fell in the Lockney section Friday with the clouds giving promise for more. Farmers will be greatly benefited as they have the major portion of their wheat already harvested. Approximately all the new crops are planted.

Hail At Floydada

FLOYDADA, July 1.—What many believe to be the heaviest hail that ever fell in Floydada fell here this afternoon from two-thirty to three. Window lights were broken, car tops damaged and other small damages. One inch of rain fell with hail. Territory covered by hail includes two miles south of Floydada and short distance east. Hail completely ruined cotton planted since last week. Hail will be too late to replant. Many hail stones fell as large as average hen eggs.

Rain At Dalhart

DALHART, July 1.—A light rain fell here this afternoon. The fall was heavier west, northwest and southwest. It will benefit young cotton and feedstuff, although no special need for rain existed here. Many hail stones reported.

General Farm Values Are Given Huge Boost During Month Of June

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 1.—The largest advance in a single month in more than two years was made in the general level of farm prices during June. The level advanced four points from 126 to 130 and was caused, the department of agriculture said today, by an increase of 12 points in the grain index, 43 points in the fruits and vegetables index, and six points in the cotton and cottonseed index. The increases in farm prices are attributed largely to adverse weather conditions this spring.

The Mississippi flood affected cotton prices and some of the other farm products. Cotton mill activity, together with heavy export movement of hogs to market in response to higher corn prices and increased world production of pork were credited with having shown their influence in the index of most staples.

Corn again advanced sharply breaking all records back to 1909 for a price of 1.15 per bushel. Wheat prices advanced in all sections, the country's average being approximately six percent above May. Bad weather and prospects of a smaller crop were said to have been the dominant factors in the price increase.

WOMAN IS SENTENCED

Mrs. Norma Pierce Gets Ten Years For Robbery With Fire Arms In Fort Worth Trial

FORT WORTH, July 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Norma Pierce, 23, first woman in Tarrant county to be convicted of robbery with firearms, was today sentenced to serve ten years in the penitentiary. She was convicted of a few weeks ago of robbing a filling station here. A companion named charging robbery of a grocery on the night the filling station was robbed, probably will be discharged.

All I hate is the disgrace of it, said Mrs. Pierce, in accepting the sentence.

PROSPERITY RECORDED

The barometer of prosperity continued to register higher yesterday as a total of 144,975 worth of real estate transfers were recorded in the office of county clerk Amos Howard. Indications pointed toward a much larger total for July than June which went well over 150,000 and considerable property is due to change hands, real estate men say.

Fire Ruins Factory In Sooner Pen

MEALESTER OKLA., July 1.—(AP)—James gutted a large part of a two-story brick building containing the broom factory, tailor shop and yard office in the state prison grounds tonight. They were checked before it could spread to the work clothes factory of the penitentiary manufacturing company 40 or 50 feet away, and before they could demolish completely the annex of the Semmore company in the broom factory building.

The loss tentatively was estimated at $150,000. The origin of the fire was not determined. The broom factory is operated by the Oklahoma Broom company, with prison labor. The broom factory was vacated for the night before the flames burst out. They spread rapidly enveloping the entire building. The Mealester fire department was rushed to the scene.

ARGUMENTS HALT GRACE'S HOP-OFF

ACTOR FLIER DELAYED AS MECHANIC AND HIS MANAGER QUARREL

(By Associated Press) MANA, Island of Kauai, July 1.—The proposed Honolulu to California nonstop flight of Richard Grace, Hollywood movie stunt flier, was delayed tonight by a storm of discussion which broke out between Carl C. Spang, in charge of the rigging arrangements on the Grace plane, and Easton B. Kuger, lieutenant in the United States naval reserve and mechanic for the flier.

Spang accuses Kuger of inefficient management and failure to make proper preparations for the handling of the plane here. Spang is also very bitter against the naval officers, blaming the navy and special activities at Kaula for the delay in the proposed flight.

Grace is reluctant about the difference, evidently trying to keep peace among his associates by refusing to take sides.

Meanwhile, the naval officers were still siding in the flight harbor.

OKMULGEE, Okla., July 1.—(AP)—Clyde Brandon, 32, who is charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Sam Skelly, a deputy sheriff at Pawnee, Okla., in 1921 and who later escaped jail there, was arrested with an unidentified companion at Pawnee late today. SAFE TAKES A FALL

Heavy Streetbox Smashes Down Stairs And Out Window As Chain Snaps in Two

Falling from the top landing of the Citizens National bank building when a chain broke, a 150-pound safe plumed havoc with the stairs and tumbled out through a window into the swimming pool street. The safe was being moved to the offices of W. E. Halley yesterday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock.

Had not the window and several feet of landing checked the fall of the safe, it would probably have fallen through to the street, workmen said.

CRUISER SIZES NEW PROBLEM BEFORE PARLEY

BRITAIN MAY WANT A LARGE TONNAGE IN THIS TYPE

(By Associated Press) GENEVA, Switzerland, July 1.—The question of limiting the total tonnage of cruisers now looms as the greatest problem before the tripartite naval conference.

Great Britain will probably request figures so much higher, than the existing tonnage, and so much in excess of the maximum figure suggested by the Americans that it may be exceedingly difficult for Hugh S. Gibson and his conferees to agree to the British proposition.

It is understood that Great Britain is maintaining its demand for a cruiser strength because of its commitments to the protection of the dominions as well as the far-flung British trade routes.

Aviation History Written By Plane Trip Through Fog

(By the Associated Press) PARIS, July 1.—Battered by storm and blinded by fog, with compass out of order and out of gasoline, the giant trans-Atlantic monoplane of Commander Richard E. Byrd sped swiftly to the sea at Ver-Sur-Mer on the coast of Normandy early this morning, valiantly completing its great trans-Atlantic hop—about 175 miles west of its goal, Paris.

BYRD'S OWN STORY OF OCEAN FLIGHT

AVIATOR TELLS OF HOW TRIP WAS MADE BY COMPASS IN MIST AND FOG

(By Associated Press) VER-SUR-MER, France, July 1.—Here is Commander Byrd's story of his trans-Atlantic flight, as he related it to J. E. Angly, staff correspondent of the Associated Press.

"We had fairly good weather during the first part of the flight off the American coast and kept up good speed, even at the start, when our load was extremely heavy.

"From the time we sighted Newfoundland until we had nearly reached Europe, we saw no land or sea, the American being always in a fog which at times was so thick we could barely see as far as the tips of the wings.

"We had nineteen hours of high, dense fog and darkness. It may have been clear on the surface at times, but it would have been impossible to go up and down continuously seeking clearer weather, instead of getting on with the flight.

"Of course, that was a terrible experience. Imagine not seeing anything at all for nineteen hours."

"We were unable to take our departure from St. Johns, as we could not see Newfoundland at all because of the fog with which the whole country was covered.

"After nineteen hours of what we managed, by very good luck, to locate ourselves on coming out of it and reached the French coast at Finistere. I don't know exactly what time it was, for I've lost my charts and most of my records, but we had before us a very good view of the coast.

"We first got in the fog about four o'clock (Wednesday afternoon) New York daylight saving time and continued in it until 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

"At Finistere we left our compass for Paris not long after we left Finistere darkness fell. Naturally, then we followed the compass course, having used it satisfactorily for a thousand miles."

"To our astonishment and amusement we came to a park near the sea, instead of Paris. Something had taken the compass off many degrees and in the fog and rain we had gone in a circle. Something must have affected the compass. I believe it was not the fault of the compass.

"We were unable to take our departure from St. Johns, as we could not see Newfoundland at all because of the fog with which the whole country was covered.

LINDBERGH ON TOUR

Famous Flier Enroute To Canada In Spirit Of St. Louis To Attend Function There

SELEBRIDGE FIELD, Mount Clemens, Mich., July 1.—(AP)—Carefully protected against any attempt to make him the center of another uproarious reception, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh came to Selebridge field today with his famous "Spirit of St. Louis."

He flew from St. Louis, enroute to Ottawa, Ont., to be the guest of honor tomorrow at the jubilee celebration of the Dominion of Canada. The flight from St. Louis required slightly more than five hours, the big trans-Atlantic monoplane being down on the field here at 3:10 p. m. eastern standard time.

Colonel Lindbergh came to Selebridge field to be an overnight guest of Major Thomas G. Lanpher, commander of the field, who has accompanied him on all his triumphal flights since his return from France. He went into retirement immediately upon his arrival and planned to remain at the field until his takeoff tomorrow for the Canadian capital, Ottawa.

These four Washington groups of 12 Selebridge field fliers will accompany him on the hop to Ottawa.

Police Chief Warns That Autoists Must Not Get In Way When Fire Occurs Or Fines Will Result

10 Commandments Of Child Training

ABOVE ALL, BE JUST TO YOUR CHILD, SAYS OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON, A MOTHER

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Thou shalt be just toward your child at all times—particularly in the matter of punishment.

If a boy or girl has not learned the habit of obedience by the time he is five, he never will learn it at all.

A child is never too young to learn to obey. It is a mistake to think that tiny children can not recognize authority.

Must be just and must not be mean. Tone and manner soon do their work—a baby can tell by the very expression of a mother's face if she means what she says.

Fair of it may be instinct, but it is amazing how early in life little brains begin to respond to outside suggestion and act on it.

Lay Down the Law

It is absolutely fundamental that children be taught that the parent's word is law and that the law must be obeyed. It is all the more necessary that home laws be reasonable and not too many in number. If a law is a law and not merely a weak suggestion, it is up to the parent to see that it is obeyed to the letter.

We will assume that parents are persons whose intellectual capacity is never influenced by "emotional conflicts." The one who punishes through rage, chagrin, or vindictiveness, is certainly not the person to teach discipline. Who is he to try to instill self-control in another when he can not control himself?

Do not be too quick to class initiative and the exercising of a child's personality as disobedience. Do not be too hasty to judge if his curiosity leads him to destroy. Motive only should be considered if punishment is intended. Just as motive is the basis of punishment for crime in court of law.

Emphasize Honesty

Honesty should be stressed very strongly.

strongly. Teach a child to be absolutely truthful. More children learn to be liars through fear of an angry parent when they have gotten into trouble than for any other reason on earth. Think of it! If a child was absolutely certain of justice and understanding, would it be so?

That is why I recommend only a few absolutely necessary and fundamental laws to begin with, and a thorough investigation if laws are broken. Hastily jumping at conclusions is fatal.

I also recommend a second chance for a serious offense. But only a second. A talking to may prevent a recurrence. Children, unless abnormal, are usually quite amenable to reason. After that, punishment swift and sure!

The Rex Theatre offered their first performance under the new management Friday evening.

Friday evening a bunch of boys were having a great time in front of the chautauqu. Every time a person would come near they would point upward and shout, "Just look at it."

"What?"

"Can't you see it?"

At this point spectators would see the joke and pass on.

Danta Hanson Illustrates Why You Call 'Em "Hams"

If you happen to have enough baseballs around, try this trick that Danta Hanson is doing in the photograph. The only reason one hand has six baseballs in it and the other five is that was all the balls on the field. Hanson, doped to graduate from Montana State University this spring, was one of the best hitters and pitchers in that section this year.

California Meets Texas Over Nets

HAVERFORD, Pa., July 1. (AP)—California and Texas will clash tomorrow for the Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis championship. Ben Gorekoff, of Occidental college and Wilmer Allison, of the University of Texas, will meet in the final round at the Merion Cricket club, as the result of their victories in the semi-finals today.

Gorekoff defeated John Whitebeck of Harvard in a hotly contested five set match, 6-2, 4-6, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5.

Allison defeated John Van Ryn, Princeton 8-6, 6-4, 6-4.

CROPS ARE LAGGARD

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—While substantial improvement was made during June, crop conditions continue behind schedule this season, the department of agriculture stated today in its July review of the agricultural situation.

"Winter wheat harvest is now coming into full swing and haying is in general progress," says the review. "Corn, potatoes and the spring grains are still behind time, though they made progress during June. Corn has a very poor start, but a cool wet season does not necessarily mean crop failure. In the past the yield of corn has averaged above normal in the wet seasons. Notwithstanding that warm weather is favorable to corn, the records of the past 26 years indicate that the amount of rainfall is the dominant factor governing the yield of corn."

"Early threshing of winter wheat has been disappointing both in yield and weight. Rains in Kansas last month damaged the grain and seriously handicapped the harvest, but conditions are good in Nebraska and the outlook is for a record crop in that state."

Big Spring Bond Election Is Called

BIG SPRING, July 1. (AP)—Mayor R. D. Mathews has called an election for August 2, to vote on a paving bond calling for the laying of $160,000 worth of residence paving in the city of Big Spring. The issue will carry by a big majority, according to City Manager Montan.

The city of Big Spring has never defeated a bond issue of any kind. Every issue voted on has carried by heavy votes; the recent school bond issue carried ten to one. Such a co-operative spirit of progress is revealed in few cities.

"PATSY" PLEASER LUBBOCK CROWD

CITIZENS HERE LIKE PLAY GIVEN AT CHAUTAUQUA LAST EVENING

Playing into the hearts of her audience from the first rise of the curtain with her exceptional dramatic interpretation and stage presence, Miss Mildred June led the cast of "The Patsy" in the second night's program of the Lubbock Redpath-Horner chautauqua at the tent on Avenue L last night. The play, providing a clever insight into the family life of the middle class, received a large ovation from the audience and Miss June as "Pat" kept them in uproarious laughter one moment and then brought tears to the next. She was supported by an excellent cast of portrayers, each member of the family in a capable manner. "Pat" suffered from being the "black sheep" of the family but she finally won them to her side in the close of the production which was featured by clever plot. This afternoon's program for the chautauqua will carry the Gibe to an excellent artistic entertainment. They will also appear in the program which A. B. May, special investigator and leader of leading magazines of the United States will lecture on "The Nation's Failure" and "Name-Is-Polison". The programs have been well attended and the tent was crowded to capacity last night. A meeting of the association of the chautauqua will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at city hall, L. C. Ellis chairman, presiding last night and requesting that all be present.

Gas Lines Within Lubbock Started

With the promise of gas for Lubbock citizens by late fall, construction of lines within the city has been started by a force of 20 men and two ditching machines.

An eight inch line is being laid in the alley from 19th street between Avenue J and K to intersect with the line to be laid from the railroad up the alley between Broadway and Main, is being placed three feet in the ground now. The piping from the railroad will extend to Avenue O and an eight inch line will handle the distribution for the business district. Scores of men were being employed for the work this afternoon and the Williams Construction company will start today's program with about 200 workers, it was announced this afternoon. With the addition of four ditching machines there will be six machines working away for the lines within the next few days. The West Texas Gas company is about one month ahead of schedule in its construction work. H. W. Brown, local manager of distribution, stated that distribution lines started in Plainview day before yesterday and were started in Slaton today. Regulations governing the entrance of trucks have been set for the purpose of guarding patrons as it has been found that they interfere with the crowds where deliveries are made in exposition hours, last year. Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Wilkins, of Sudan, are spending several days in Lubbock while the Mrs. Wilkins is recovering from an operation in a local sanitarium.

Plan Banquet For Oil Men July 9

In honor of the oil men who operate out of Lubbock and in Lubbock's trade territory, a banquet will be given here July 9th, by the chamber of commerce, when those of the oil fraternity will meet Lubbock business men.

Walter S. Posey, Walter Myrick, Edgar T. H. Oxford, Tom Jones, and Charles A. Gay have been appointed by President S. A. Wells of the I. O. O. F. as a committee to make all arrangements for the affair. The committee met yesterday and began preparations for the banquet, after checking Mr. Gay chairman. A complete program of the event will be announced at a later date, events of which are being arranged now. A banquet at Hotel Lubbock will precede the program in which it is expected, will be attended by from 40 to 50 oil men and approximately 400 Lubbock business men. Ticker sales among business men will begin here next week with Tom Jones in charge. Geologists, scouts, operators, field managers, tool dressers, drillers and all members of the oil industry in this district are being sent invitations to attend. Fair To Operate For An Extra Day

Though another day has been added to the length of the South Plains Fair, there will be no boost in the admission price of season tickets for the five days, it has been decided by the fair directors who met yesterday.

Rules and regulations governing the admission of delivery cars and trucks to the grounds and the price of license therefor were also decided on. No car of any kind will be admitted to the grounds except delivery trucks, the time of admission being set for the hour before noon and any time after 5 p. m. Regulations governing the entrance of trucks have been set for the purpose of guarding patrons as it has been found that they interfere with the crowds where deliveries are made in exposition hours, last year. Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Wilkins, of Sudan, are spending several days in Lubbock while the Mrs. Wilkins is recovering from an operation in a local sanitarium.

BYRD FLIGHT

of even the greatest liners to reduce speed and to drop their way through the fog. Only at rare intervals did they catch a glimpse of the threatening ocean below them through fog and clouds. Yet they reached the coast of France in safety and only lost their way when their compass went back on them.

Heroes Of France
Tonight the American airmen are the heroes of all France and more than heroes to the little seaside town of Ver-sur-Mer to which they brought the first breath of fame since a Spanish galleon, a remnant of the great armada that once plowed the seas toward England, crashed on the rocks there in 1558.

Commander Byrd and his three companions have joined Charles A. Lindbergh in his niche in the hearts of the French people. The courage with which they faced the stupendous odds against them, the skill that carried them through one of the worst nightmares that aviation history knows and the splendid fight for life that they put up in a howling storm while all France lay fog hidden beneath them has caught public imagination just as the lonely dash of Lindbergh.

Reduce Fear Terror
They failed to reach Paris—whether they passed over it in the darkness of the stormy night—no one knows, not even Commander Byrd, although he thinks he may have, but they demonstrated to the satisfaction of the average man that the terrors of fog and rain—those great bugbears of the air—

are not so deadly as they once seemed. But the greatest thing was—and that's all that really mattered to the man in the street—"they're safe and sound."

They came down over Ver-sur-Mer with gasoline and oil tanks empty and compass out of gear after hours of maneuvering above the clouds for a sight of a landing place or any hole in the cloudbanks that might permit them to get their bearings.

Forced To Land
"We had no choice but to seek a landing then," Commander Byrd told the Associated Press, explaining that he had deliberately sought the seacoast when he knew his fuel supply was low because he thought that a safe landing was more likely there than on unknown terrain.

"When we struck water, however," he said, "the tail of the plane was thrown off along with the wheels and landing gear." Fortunately none of the equipment was badly injured, and in short time, despite the high waves and a stiff wind, they launched their raft, packed their most cherished instruments and gained the shore. For more than an hour they waited on the beach for daylight to come to give them their bearings, anxiously watching the plane that drifted at the mercy of the waves 200 yards from shore.

Found By Fishermen
There two fishermen found them, nervously walking up and down the beach. Despite their exhaustion after their long flight they could not get to sleep until they found out where they were and just what had happened. They were given every care and offered the best beds of the village. Before getting to bed, however, they called in the neighboring fishermen to give them a hand with the plane and to tow it out of the worst danger.

Lieutenant George O. Norville, radio operator and alternate pilot of the America, who spoke enough French to get by, acted as interpreter. When the plane at length was dragged as far as it could go in the falling tide, the Americans turned in, stopping long enough to chat a moment with their hosts and take a bite of sorely needed food. Commander Byrd and Lieutenant Noville went to the home of the deputy mayor, while Lieutenant Bernt Balchen and Bert Acosta the pilot, went to the home of the lighthouse keeper, Lercon.

STATE RAINS

The rain extended from Post to Lubbock.

GENERAL SHOWERS FALL OVER STATE
(By Associated Press)

Scattered showers which in some places turned into heavy down-pours were reported in dispatches from Northeast, Central, South Southwest Texas and the South Plains Friday and Friday night.

Crops in many parts of the state were reported as damaged by the rains while the hope of the farmers on the plains were buoyed by the rainfall.

Hail Occurs
At Floydada one of the hardest hailstorms in the history of that city occurred. Window lights were smashed, automobile tops dented and punctured, and considerable property damage was reported.

Dallas and Fort Worth had a four-hour rain which totalled a little more than half an inch. A rainstorm brought an inch precipitation in the center of the city but did not yield a measurable amount as the edge of town or throughout the county.

Rain In Valley
Showers fell in the upper lower Rio Grande valley. A light rain was recorded at Edinburg while Pharr, nine miles south of there had a deluge in the afternoon and Harlingen reported three inches of rainfall.

In the South Plains light rains fell along the route from Post to Lubbock while an inch or more fell near Lockney with lowering clouds promising more precipitation before midnight.

Slaton reported a slight rainfall with heavier precipitation to the west, southwest and northwest. It was said that the rain there would benefit young cotton although no especial need for moisture existed.

Rain At PE-Inview
Eighty-two hundredths of an inch of rain fell at Plainview from 4 to 5 p. m. with indications of more before midnight. The rain will stop completely in that section. It also will help feed planting, but it will be of benefit to feed crops already in the ground, farmers said.

Paris and Lamar county reported a heavy rainfall which began at noon Friday and continued steadily for more than two hours. Precipitation is estimated at nearly an inch and a half, which is not needed for crops especially cotton. Reports indicate some damage to corn and truck crops.

Amarillo reported showers during the day, but not enough precipitation to be of any damage.

BYRD'S STORY

compasses for they worked most satisfactorily. We were now in the predicament of flying around on a very dark, rainy foggy night, not knowing where we were going.

More Rain and Fog
"Every few minutes there was rain or fog. By then we had only enough gasoline for a few hours more, probably not enough to keep going until daylight. We would have to land with it pitch dark if we could not reach Paris again."

"We set another course for Paris but the effort was ended by low clouds and rain. We may have been near Paris. We searched for the city for hours.

"If it had been clear there would have been nothing to it, we should have seen the lights. For hours we searched for a landing place and watched carefully our gasoline consumption, of course getting nearer all the time to the moment when we would have to land."

Couldn't See Ground
"It was too dark to tell the nature of the ground on which to land. A slight roughness of the ground would have meant tragedy. I felt most keenly the responsibility three gallant men with me."

"I didn't feel that we could fly on until the gas was entirely out. There would have been danger of killing people who might have been beneath for when it gets out you've got no choice of a place to land. You've got to land right away."

"That's another reason why we decided to land in the water. We saw the revolving light and knew there was a beach, but the light was weak. We dropped a navigation flare, but it gave little light."

Hard to Land
"We circled around. It is hard enough to land in the water during the daytime, but we had to land at night and could not see at all."

"There was a sudden hard jolt and the water filled everything immediately. Of course, the boys thought only of getting to each other."

"None of us could hear after the long hours of the engines' roaring. We were quite appalled when we could not hear the answers to our calls. I yelled and Acosta didn't hear me at all nor Balchen."

"There was nothing worse than bruises and shocks, however."

"We got out our little boat after quickly clearing out the cabin. We had some trouble pumping up the (rubber) boat but rowed ashore all right."

"It was almost high tide. We were about 200 yards out."

ALPINE CLEANS UP FOR THE MOUNTAIN MORTGAGE

ALPINE, Texas, July 1—Alpine is doling up in its Sunday bib and tucker, and everything in town will close Tuesday afternoon and engage in a real clean-up for the celebration which will take place here next Monday. Mayor F. E. Gillett has issued the proclamation, proclaiming the week from June 27th to July 2nd as Clean Up Week in Alpine, and the Alpine Civic League, under the leadership of Mrs. C. S. Edwards is now engaged in one of the most thorough cleanings a town ever had, and the city will present a very attractive appearance to the visitors on July Fourth.

LOSES 125 POUNDS IN YEAR

NEWPORT, R. I.—Anthony Richard Audenas, commissary steward, is in imminent danger of losing the U. S. Navy heavyweight championship. Not the boxing championship, just the heavyweight title. Tony is literally fading away. In a year his weight has slipped from 425 pounds to a trifling 302.

But Tony doesn't care. An injury caused him to put on excessive weight. Navy physicians who apparently know what's what when it comes to reducing, put him on a diet, ordered him to swim two hours a day and fed him tablets. What is in the tablets is the secret of Tony and doctors.

Big Spring Votes School Bond Issue

BIG SPRING, July 1—The school bond issue voted on in Big Spring Tuesday, June 28, carried ten to one. Dr. E. O. Ellington, president of the school board, reports that plans are being drawn for an addition to the South ward building enlarging its capacity, this being made necessary by the putting on of a new residence addition in that section of the city.

Equipment will be purchased for additional rooms in both the high and junior high school buildings. Dr. Ellington says that the 1927-28 enrollment will exceed any previous attendance.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Saul Chosen King.

Scripture Lesson: I Sam. 10:17-26; 11:12-15.

I Sam. 10:17.—And Samuel called the people together unto Jehovah in Mizpah.

18. And he said unto the children of Israel, Thus saith Jehovah the God of Israel, I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and I delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of all the kingdoms that oppressed you:

19. But ye have this day rejected your God, who himself saveth you out of all your calamities and your distresses; and ye have said unto him, Nay, but set a king over us. Now therefore present yourselves before Jehovah by your tribes, and by your thousands.

20. So Samuel brought all the tribes of Israel near, and the tribe of Benjamin was taken.

21. And he brought the tribes of Benjamin near by their families; and the family of the Micathites was taken; and Saul the son of Kish was taken; but when they sought him, he could not be found.

22. Therefore they asked of Jehovah further, Is there yet a man come hither? And Jehovah answered, Behold, he hath hid himself among the baggage.

23. And they ran and searched among the baggage, and when he stood among the people, he was hidden.

24. And Samuel said to all the people, See ye whom Jehovah hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people? And all the people shouted, and said, long live the king.

25. Then Samuel told the people in the manner of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it before Jehovah. And Samuel sent the people away, every man to his house.

26. And the people said unto Samuel, Who is he that said, Shall Saul reign over us? bring the men, that we may put them to death.

27. And Saul said, There shall not a man be put to death this day; for today Jehovah hath wrought deliverance in Israel.

28. Then said Samuel to the people, Come, and let us go to Gilgal, and renew the kingdom there.

29. And all the people went to Gilgal; and there they made Saul king before Jehovah in Gilgal; and they offered sacrifices of peace-offerings before Jehovah; there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

30. And Saul made king (Bech. R. C. 1182). The kingdom reigned, B. C. 1181.

31. Place:—Samuel's city of Ramath, north of Jerusalem, Saul's city of Kish, to the east of it, Mizpah, to the south of it, and Gilgal north of Jerusalem near Jericho.

32. Lesson Text:—What doth Jehovah require of thee?—to love him, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with thy God.—Mic. 6:8.

Introduction.—Saul reigned in the last half of last year, according to the last six months of this year, we studied the history of God's chosen people from Moses to and including Samuel. Now we are to carry on the history from Samuel to and including Saul.

responding to the last six months of this year, we studied the history of God's chosen people from Moses to and including Samuel. Now we are to carry on the history from Samuel to and including Saul.

Our survey of Old Testament history will be completed in 1929, occupying the six months from April through September.

Samuel's Wicked Sons.—We take up the Old Testament story at a sad point, the old age of Samuel, who was second to Moses alone as a Hebrew statesman and founder of the Hebrew nation. But wise and strong as he was, he had failed lamentably in the rearing of his two sons. Having before him the disaster which befell his predecessor, Eli, because of his lack of family discipline and the wickedness of his two sons, Samuel made exactly the same mistake in his own home life. The two boys were allowed to fall into evil ways. Samuel made them judges when he himself became too old to hold court in distant parts of the country, but they were unjust judges, taking bribes.

The Rejection Of Jehovah.—The people would have been right in asking Samuel to appoint, under God's direction, other judges who would have rendered righteous decisions; but they did not do this. They were infected with the heathenish spirit of the time. They were weary of the simple, primitive, and somewhat hardhearted justice of Israel of the surrounding nations and which were the source of its strength. This is what lay beneath their request that Samuel would appoint a king to rule them.

Samuel thought this action was in discredit of himself, but Jehovah told him that it was He, the Lord, who was rejected by the people, rather than Samuel, the representative of Jehovah.

The National Assembly At Mizpah, v. 17.—Samuel, as for many years the recognized leader of the people, convened the national assembly. Any Israelite twenty years old or more was a member of this assembly. This was the assembly which had accepted the law given by Jehovah through Moses, had received Joshua as their leader after the death of Moses, and had settled various important questions as they arose. It was not such a legislative body as we are familiar with, but was a pioneer from which modern parliaments and congresses took their start. This assembly was convened "unto Jehovah;" that is, in his recognized presence and for the purpose of learning his revealed will.

Jehovah's Message Through Samuel, v. 18, 19.—Samuel was conscious that God was with him, using him as a mouthpiece, so that his thoughts were God's thoughts and his words were God's words. He was a freed man from Egyptian bondage, not you who rescued yourselves. You could have done nothing without me. What memories were involved in this reminder—the providential preservation of Moses, the wonders wrought in the ten plagues, the miraculous crossing of the Red Sea, the guiding pillar of cloud and fire, the quails and manna, the water bursting from the rock, the victory over Amalek in answer to prayer, the solemn voice of Law amid the thunders of Sinai! Saul Chosen King, vs. 20, 21.

The probable process was that some representative of each tribe came forward and drew a lot, one of the lots being especially marked. The tribe which drew that lot was the tribe containing the king. Or, the high priest, as the tribal representative came forward, may have put his hand into the pocket of the sacred breastplate and drawn forth lots—the "Urim and Thummim." Those lots may have been stones, a black stone signifying "No" and a white stone "Yes." Whatever the process was, it was so familiar to the Bible writers that it was not described.

Saul "Every Inch A King" vs. 22 and 24.—"Physical qualifications of stature, strength, and beauty are a natural commendation for the dignity of a king, especially in warlike ages. Euripides speaks of 'a form worthy to rule.' Ajax appears in Homer as 'towering o'er all with head and shoulders broad.' And Turnus, in Virgil, 'out-tops the foremost chieftains by a head.' This we say, 'He is every inch a king.' But it was not all that was to be desired in royalty, and when it became necessary to choose some one to take Saul's place the stripping David was chosen, a young man of no extraordinary size. Indeed, some of the most influential characters of history, such as Napoleon and Victoria, have been unusually short.

Saul's Kingship Ratified, v. 25.—"And all the people went to Gilgal." Not literally all the people, of course, but representatives of all the tribes and clans; so that the entire nation might be said to be there; thus all the United States may be said to be present in the national House and Senate. "And there they made Saul king before Jehovah in Gilgal." The y^e had made him king before, in Mizpah; now they ratified that choice, and unanimously. "And there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly." Note that it is not said that Samuel entered into these rejoicings. Though no longer judge he was still a prophet, and he had a clear understanding of the moral and religious decline which the choice of a king indicated, and of the future disaster which it portended.

DAILY MARKETS

COTTON STEADY

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—The cotton market was quiet again today with the price movement correspondingly narrow. October contracts sold off to 17.02, advanced to 17.19 and closed at 17.11, compared with 17.09 at the close the previous day. The general market closed steady, up 5 points higher to 1 point lower.

There was liquidation and local selling at the start, but offerings were readily absorbed by covering or trade buying and after showing net declines of about 3 to 7 points during the forenoon, July ending off to 16.74 and December to 17.22, the market turned steadier.

Immediate weather conditions in the south were considered favorable and additional private crop reports pointed to a condition about equal to that of last season. Selling of these features however, was restricted by more bullish private figures, and fear of unfavorable weather conditions over the week-end. Prospect for the latter did not appear clearly enough defined to bring in much fresh buying, but there was a renewal of covering, and the best prices of the day were reached in late trading when July sold at 16.85 and December at 17.32, or 3 to 6 points net higher. Last prices were within a point or two of the best.

COTTON DEPRESSED

NEW ORLEANS, July 1 (AP)—Unwillingness of traders to enter upon new commitments in advance of the Independence Day holidays had a depressing effect on trading in the cotton market today. Although prices declined 9 to 10 points before mid session the market rallied in the afternoon and traded to levels 5 to 7 points above the previous close. October traded up to 16.92 to 17.04, but ended off near the end of the day at 17.00. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 2 to 3 points.

Liverpool was rather unfavorable at the start but the expectation of some overnight buying orders, after selling from the bulk in the afternoon, brought the market back to a net advance of 2 to 3 points.

Final prices were 18 points net higher. Sales 1,990 barrels. Price: rice 8.12 1-2; prime summer yellow spot 9.25; July closed 8.23; September 8.93; October 10.91; December 10.68; January 10.13.

COTTON OIL DULL

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Cottonseed oil was dull, but steady today on covering for over the triple holiday, and the steadiness of cotton. Final prices were 1 to 10 points net higher. Sales 1,990 barrels. Price: rice 8.12 1-2; prime summer yellow spot 9.25; July closed 8.23; September 8.93; October 10.91; December 10.68; January 10.13.

LIVESTOCK STEADY

FORT WORTH, July 1 (AP)—The three divisions of the live stock market here today were generally steady. She stock regained some of the week's decline and calves were active and a shade higher.

CATTLE STEADY

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Cattle 1,500; market generally steady; top steers 13.00; bulk 10.10 to 12.25; cows 5.50 to 9.00; bulls 6.00 to 6.50; stockers and feeders nominal. Hogs 28.00; sheep, better grades 18 to 20 lower; sows 12 to 25 off; top hogs 9.50; lights 9.15 to 9.25; mediums 8.65 to 9.25; butchers 8.45 to 8.75; sows 7.15 to 7.65; pigs 8.50 to 8.75; estimated holiday.

WHEAT RALLIES

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Disquieting advice about Illinois and Indiana wheat rallied the wheat market today, from declines due largely to cool wave forecasts. Corn values underwent a sharp setback free selling of corn being done against buying of wheat. The finish for wheat was irregular 1-2 cent net lower to 1-8 cent advance, with corn 3-8 cent to 3-7-8 cent off, provisions at 2 cents to 15 cents drop.

Provisions went lower with corn and hogs.

CLOTHS QUIET

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Cotton goods markets were quiet today. Saturday will be observed as a general holiday in the primary markets. Yarns held steady. Demand for fall specialties was active. Some hosiery lines have been advanced from 5 cents to 10 cents a dozen. Raw silk was steady and quiet. Hurlaps were quiet.

DALLAS WILL BE HOST TO AVIATORS IN ONLY TEXAS STOP OF U. S. TOUR

DALLAS, July 1 — All Texas will gather in Dallas on July 3 and 4 to welcome the forty fliers and planes of the National Air Tour, which will make an eighteen hour over night stop here, the only Texas point visited by the aviation group touring the country in an effort to arouse interest in commercial flying.

Several thousand persons are expected from North Texas alone, it was announced by Robert J. Smith of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, who, with the Dallas Flying Club, is completing local arrangements for the tour. Far away points of the state are expected to send larger delegations to the flying meet.

Fifty Planes Sighting

More than fifty planes from various Texas cities will assemble in Dallas on the morning of July 3 to fly out and greet the air tour party. Planes are expected from Waco, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Lubbock and many other points.

Invitations to the people of Texas have been sent out over the state by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. Beginning July 1, local speakers will broadcast invitations daily from Dallas radio stations.

All Types Included

Every type of plane devised for commercial flying from the "baby parassol," weighing only 750 pounds to the giant Ford tri-engine monoplane, will be included in the tour. All of the planes will be placed on demonstration in the Love Field hangars, which will remain lighted throughout the night of July 3, so that visitors may inspect the ships.

The first planes of the tour will begin arriving at Love Field about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of July 3. A huge reception will be held for the fliers at the landing field and various entertainments will be given for the members of the touring party during the evening. The visiting planes will depart about 10 o'clock on the morning of July 3 for points in Oklahoma.

Cash Prizes Offered

Cash prizes and the Edsel Ford trophy will be given to the planes.

PHILADELPHIA IS HOST TO TEXANS

HISTORIC ASSOCIATION OF TWO STATES RECALLED BY SPEAKERS

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 1 — Closer contacts among 48 states, "partners in a great business firm," were advocated here today as Philadelphia and Pennsylvania officials welcomed Governor Dan Moody and his big party of Texans who are making a good-will tour of the country.

The guests were met by the chamber of commerce committee which escorted them to the city hall where Mayor Kendrick, his cabinet, city officials and a group of Philadelphians received them. Al Johnson, formerly president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and now president of the state chamber of commerce, introduced Governor Moody as America's youngest governor. "Anything that brings into closer contact the 48 members of this huge firm, as your visit is doing, is well worth while," Mr. Johnson said.

Historic Association recalled that Philadelphia and Texas had been in historic association and he hoped that the visitors would return home with increased good will for the city.

"This nation is truly a partnership," Governor Moody said in reply. "We have come north and east to get better acquainted with the people of the Atlantic coast and the Canadian border. We want to stimulate interest in Texas and its industrial projects."

After resting at the Benjamin Franklin hotel, the Texas party was escorted to the Union League club where they were formally welcomed to Pennsylvania by Governor John S. Fisher, who came from Harrisburg for the occasion. Luncheon followed at the Penn Athletic club where the program called for division of the delegates into four groups for sightseeing. Tonight the party will be entertained at dinner.

That's why Cudahy's Puritan Ham has Finer Flavor

Distinguished in name. Puritan Ham is—"First in the Land," because of its finer flavor and greater tenderness.

Puritan owes this distinction to the special Cudahy method of curing—"ripened naturally."

This method naturally diffuses the sweet juices of the young meats selected for Puritan, without forcing or hurrying.

The result is likened to fruit tree-ripened compared to that artificially ripened. You'll thoroughly enjoy Puritan Ham.
