Snyder rejected as prison expansion site

DALLAS — There were some familiar cities listed among the group selected by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice board as sites for 669-cell expansions, but Snyder was not among them.

"We're extremely disappointed and surprised. We thought we were in the running," said Roy McQueen, Development Corporation of Snyder board member, and one of several Snyder civic leaders who attended this morning's meeting.

Announcement of the eight sites came quickly from the board, without discussion.

Chosen were Colorado City, Lamesa, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Gatesville, Woodville, Livingston and Karnes County.

Snyder was one of 18 sites being considered by the board for 669-cell expansions. Snyder's application was submitted Oct. 10 and a seven-member site review team was in Snyder on Oct. 18.

Prison task force members had expressed optimism about the selection process because utilities to the site were over-sized when the Price Daniel Unit was built in 1989. Utility providers had agreed to extend service to the new unit at no cost, and commissioners had agreed to provide an access road for construction as well as the perimeter road.

Snyder, recognized by the TDCJ numerous times for its support and innovation in assisting in prison health care and education, has continually sought to add to or expand its prison facilities, but has been passed over in the selection process each time.

Expansion would have meant 200 additional jobs in Scurry County, representing an increased payroll of $5 million.

McQueen said Snyder's prison task force remains committed to the effort.

Other West Texas locations which had submitted bids but were unsuccessful were Abilene, Childress, Dalhart and Pampa. Also rejected were Huntsville, Palestine, Cuero and Teague.

Also attending this morning's board meeting at the Dallas Medallion Hotel were DCOS President Roy Baze and City Manager John Gayle.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Human nature is funny. It's a lot easier to forgive after you get even."

The Andrews County News reported a "local connection" in the bombing of the federal building in Oklahoma City.

A former resident and AHS graduate, Hoppy Heidelberg, was the grand jury member who made national news by being ousted from the grand jury after he gave a magazine interview.

A judge has rejected Heidelberg's assertions that the government didn't present enough evidence about the possibility of a larger conspiracy, even though he does not question the indictments of Timothy McVeigh and Terry Nichols.

Heidleberg is a horse breeder from Blanchard, Okla. We looked up Heidelberg's old picture in a yearbook, and we remembered him, but the AP photo didn't ring a bell.

We're concerned however. How could we have forgotten a name like Hoppy Heidelberg?

In Lamesa, Dawson County commissioners and hospital board members are having a series of meetings with representatives of the three major hospitals in Lubbock to discuss the possible sale or lease of the county-owned hospital.

I l be interesting to watch.

A judge in Hood County, near Granbury, has ruled that a woman can keep her pet pot-bellied pigs, despite objections from nearby property owners.

Incidently, she can keep her pot-bellied husband as well, but he doesn't have to stay in the yard.

And another story out of Lipan, also near Granbury.

There was a college chap down at College Station who went out and won a gold medal at the Olympics.

"The Aggie was so proud of it that he went out and had it bronzed."

Shutdown continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — With broad sections of the government closed for a fourth day, Congress today advanced toward approval of the sweeping Republican plan for balancing the budget and cutting taxes.

In the face of certain veto by President Clinton, the House began debate on the package, moving it forward on a procedural vote, 230-193. It planned to approve it today, with the Senate likely to follow by Saturday morning.

The bill, the cornerstone of GOP efforts to shrink government, would reduce taxes by $245 billion over seven years for families and companies while promising a balanced budget by 2002. It would also overhaul Medicare, welfare, Medicaid, and payments to farmers while slicing hundreds of other programs.

"I thought this day would never come," said Rep. Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y., the House Rules Committee chairman. "Today this House is going to consider what is arguably the single most important piece of legislation this year or any other year. ... The American people ... want a balanced budget."

Rep. Joseph Moakley, D-Mass., the senior Democrat on the Rules panel, said, "Today is the last chance for us to stop this very horrible bill before it goes to the president. Today's our last chance to vote against cutting Medicare to pay for the tax cuts of the very rich."

Clinton ordered thousands of furloughed workers to return to their jobs to process benefit applications. Spokesman Mike McCurry said today that "we will very quickly act to adjust the size of the work force" if day-to-day evaluations indicate any threat to public health and safety.

U.S. District Judge Emmet Sullivan declined to issue an order today that would have barred the government from requiring employees to work without pay during the shutdown. The order was sought by the American Federation of Government Employees.

Although the budget-balancing measure is the highest-profile bill in Congress this year, it is overshadowed by the bitter budget duel between Clinton and congressional Republicans that has seen the forced idling of 40 percent of the federal civilian work force of about 2 million. The two sides have refused to budge in that standoff, realizing it is a prelude to likely bargaining later this year on the balanced-budget package.

"I think we all know what the endgame is here — it's negotiations on a budget agreement," White House chief of staff Leon Panetta said in a brief interview.

The Senate gave final congressional approval, 60-37, to a bill Thursday that would reopen shuttered agencies through Dec. 5, but only if Clinton agrees to balance the budget in seven years, using congressional economic forecasts.

Clinic construction said to begin by Dec. 1

Ground will be broken here by Dec. 1 for a 12,000 square foot medical clinic to be built by St. Mary Hospital of Lubbock, according to Eddie Owens of the hospital's community relations staff.

The clinic is to be located just north of Trinity Methodist Church.

Owens said the primary purpose of the facility is to place the three local physicians who are currently affiliated with St. Mary — Dr. James Burleson, Dr. Gary Nussey and Dr. Paul Thompson — under one roof.

"We will be recruiting at least three more doctors to serve on the staff at Cogdell Hospital and they will also have offices in the new clinic," said Owens.

St. Mary presently has 21 such facilities across West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Owens said there is no way it should be construed that the clinic will be in competition with Cogdell Hospital.

"We are currently providing primary care for our patients at the offices of the three doctors including laboratory work and X-rays," Owens said.

"We'll be doing the same things in the new building but everything will be under one roof in order to make it a lot more convenient for our patients," said Owens.

Completion of the clinic is expected within five or six months after construction begins.

Lord's Acre Festival slated for Saturday

First United Methodist Church will sponsor the sixth annual Lord's Acre Festival on Saturday at Scurry County Coliseum.

The custom of the Lord's Acre event dates to Biblical times when "first fruits" of the land were brought as an offering to God.

In later times, farmers would dedicate a portion of their crop or livestock — thus the name Lord's Acre became identified as that particular portion designated to be given to the church.

The festival will begin at 9 a.m. and will feature homemade food items; handmade arts and crafts, including Christmas decorations; a country store; activities for children — some free; a sidewalk artist; a silent auction; face painting; Christian shirts and a concession stand.

Entertainment will be provided — including pianst Joe Williamson, the Ira High School Stage Band, Deep Creek Cloggers and gospel music, continuing until 5:30 p.m. when the barbecue dinner will be served. Tickets for the meal will be $5 for adults, $3 for children 6-12, with children under 6 eating free.

An auction is scheduled to begin at 6:30. Items to be auctioned include two sculptures and several jewelry items by western artist Kenneth Wyatt, a handmade quilt, afghans, a handmade oak sideboard, a large Raggedy Ann doll, small tables and other donated items. Bobby Goodwin will be the auctioneer. Admission to the festival is free. Door prizes will be given away throughout the day.

All proceeds will benefit the church's youth ministry.

Rabies vaccine drop meeting planned here

The Texas Department of Health will conduct a series of public meetings to explain an upcoming rabies control project in which packets of rabies vaccine enclosed in small cubes of flavored dog food will be airdropped over a 55-county area to immunize gray foxes.

The drop area includes southern Scurry County and TDH has scheduled a public meeting in Snyder for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 29, in the county courtroom.

Scheduled to begin in late January, the massive project is an attempt to control a gray fox rabies epizootic in West-Central Texas. Some 738 cases of rabies have been reported in 45 area counties since 1988, including 219 cases in 1995.

Counties in TDH's Public Health Region 2/3 in the drop zone include Scurry, Mitchell, Borden, Howard, Fisher, Nolan, Jones, Taylor, Shackelford, Callahan, Eastland, Erath and Comanche.

Dr. James Wright, TDH regional zoonosis veterinarian from Arlington, will moderate the series of meetings.

Man suspected of at least five slayings fell through the cracks in legal system

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Glen Rogers stood before a Municipal Court judge in September, he could have gotten a jail sentence of 2½ years for beating a girlfriend and violating probation.

Instead, he got two days for the beating, was credited for the time he had already served and was immediately released. Apparently, nobody at the Van Nuys courthouse knew Rogers was on probation for a conviction in a courthouse just a few miles down the freeway.

Over the next two months, when he could have been in jail, Rogers is suspected of going on a cross-country killing spree, murdering four women in California, Mississippi, Florida and Louisiana.

He is wanted for questioning in a fifth slaying in Ohio in 1993. And police across the nation are scouring their files to see if Rogers could be a suspect in other murders.

Interviews and records show that before the murder rampage, Rogers was arrested dozens of times, convicted at least twice in California alone, and managed to spend little time behind bars.

Arrested Monday in Kentucky after a nationwide hunt, Rogers apparently benefited from overcrowded jails, jammed court dockets and police budget constraints.

"It's incredible," said Joan Burkart, daughter of the 71-year-old Ohio man Rogers is suspected of killing. "I just about believed that this man could get away with everything he did and they wouldn't do anything unless he killed somebody important — or a lot of people."

Rogers, 33, who had a long arrest record in his hometown of Hamilton, Ohio, on charges ranging from arson to aggravated assault, is due back in a Kentucky court Tuesday for an extradition hearing. Authorities in four states are trying to decide who will charge him first.

Rogers left Ohio for California in 1993. In August 1994, he turned up in a Los Angeles jail on arson charges.

Los Angeles police notified authorities in Hamilton, who wanted to talk to Rogers about the disappearance of Mark Peters, a former roommate whose decomposed body was found tied to a chair in a shack in Kentucky owned by Rogers' family.

Hamilton Detective James Nugent made arrangements to fly to Los Angeles to interview Rogers. But the trip was deemed a waste of money and canceled at the last minute.

Hamilton's police chief, Simon Fluckiger, figured Rogers wouldn't talk. After all, he said, Rogers had been arrested 26 times in Ohio — and had never given a statement.

"I've been in the business for a long time, and I've never seen an attorney allow his client to talk, unless you've got an airtight case or they're looking for a plea bargain," Fluckiger told the Hamilton Journal-News. "We didn't know at that time (the arson charges) were going to be dismissed."

But they were. And Rogers was loose again.

Peters' family was outraged.

"He didn't fall through the cracks," said Peters' son-in-law, John Burkart. "Police just didn't do their jobs."

In June, Rogers was back in a Los Angeles County jail, this time on charges he attacked two men with a knife, trapping one of them in an elevator as he held a blade to his throat.

After pleading no contest to assault with a deadly weapon, Rogers was given six months in jail and three years' probation by Hollywood Municipal Judge Michael Mink.

But the financially pinched Sheriff's Department, which runs the jails, let Rogers out after just 42 days because the overcrowded jail needed his bed for more dangerous criminals.

In August, Rogers allegedly attacked his girlfriend, Maria Gyore, in their apartment in suburban Van Nuys, in the San Fernando Valley. The attack was the latest of many, the girlfriend alleged, and Rogers was arrested on suspicion of spousal battery.

As part of an agreement, Rogers pleaded no contest before Municipal Court Commissioner Rebecca Omens, who could have revoked his probation from the June conviction.

If she had known about the probation.

Omens declined to comment on the Rogers case specifically. But she said that in her high-volume courtroom — where justice is dispensed in a minute or less — all she has to rely on is the defendant's file.

"The court relies very heavily on the supporting agencies to follow through and know what their respective responsibilities are," she said. "The court is not an investigative agency."

Municipal Court is so jammed, it takes up to 20 minutes just to get into the building through the lone metal detector in the morning. In Omens' courtroom alone, as many as 400 cases are heard a day.

"This volume speaks for itself," said Omens, who handles misdemeanor pleas and traffic violations. "We need more courtrooms. We need more attorneys. We need more bench officers. We need more jails."

Closing medical schools studied in doctors' glut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A private study commission is urging "the wholesale closing" of U.S. medical schools over the next decade to avert a glut of doctors.

The Pew Health Professions Commission Thursday urged a similar retrenchment in pharmacy schools and elimination of at least 10 percent of nurse training programs.

It also called for constricting the pipeline of foreign doctors who come to this country to train and usually wind up practicing here.

It predicted that dramatic changes will be forced on health care workers as hospital beds go empty and managed care plans insist on more efficient methods of delivering care.

Richard Lamm, the former Colorado governor who chairs the commission, said, "West Virginia's got to ask itself, do we need three medical schools? Does Ohio need six? New York fourteen?"

The United States has 125 medical schools and 16 others that train doctors of osteopathy.

The panel recommended that medical schools admit 20 percent to 25 percent fewer students by 2005. That would mean cutting their entering classes from 17,500 to 13,000 or 14,000.

"These reductions should come about as much as possible by the wholesale closing of schools, not ... reductions in class size," it said.

The commission endorsed a 10 percent to 20 percent reduction in the 1,470 nursing education programs, and elimination of 20 percent to 25 percent of the 75 pharmacy schools.

Change in the health care system "is inexorable," the commission said.

Benson new grad of hospital corps

During the 14-week course, Benson learned a wide range of medical procedures used to provide first aid and assist Navy doctors and nurses. He also received an introductory instruction for service in a variety of medical environments, from fleet hospitals and shipboard medical departments to fleet Marine forces and medical administration offices.

Benson's first assignment after school will involve direct patient care, but with his training, he can work in several areas, including first aid and assisting with minor surgery, pharmacy, laboratory analysis, patient transportation, and food service inspections.

The 1980 graduate of Snyder High School joined the Navy in February 1995. He is also a 1985 graduate of Abilene Christian University where he received a bachelor of science degree.

Saly appointed

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. George W. Bush has announced the reappointment of Michael D. Saly of Conroe and the appointment of Michael K. "Spanky" Stephens of Austin to the Advisory Board of Athletic Trainers.

Saly, current chairman of the Advisory Board of Athletic Trainers, is coordinator of sports medicine for the Conroe Independent School District.

The advisory board establishes guidelines for athletic trainers and prepares and conducts examinations for those seeking a state license.

The appointees will serve terms expiring Jan. 31, 2001. The appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

Trucker receives life for wife's slaying

EL PASO (AP) — A trucker was convicted of shooting his wife to death after their fistfight and chopping her up into 21 pieces that he painted gold, gray and blue.

After three days of testimony, the jury took two hours Thursday to find James Patrick Bradley guilty of murder and less than five minutes to sentence him to life in prison. He won't be eligible for parole until 2025.

District Attorney Jaime Esparza said jurors "got the same impression of him that I did, that he was an evil person."

Bradley's wife of less than two years, Suzy Gae Hahn Bradley, 33, was shot six times on Feb. 15.

Testimony showed that after Bradley shot her with a .22-caliber rifle, he hacked up the body with an ax and scattered the painted parts around El Paso and southern New Mexico over the next four days.

Bradley spray-painted the parts to make them more difficult to identify, police said.

Bradley, 48, testified Thursday that he opened fire because his wife threatened him with a shotgun after their fight.

Defense attorney Gary Hill said he anticipated the verdict after Bradley insisted he wanted to testify. Bradley often contradicted himself and a confession he gave police.

The victim was identified only after a photo of her head, its eyes wide open, was shown on television.

Campbell changing chicken noodle recipe

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Last summer Campbell's began saying its soup was "M'm M'm better." Now it is unveiling a new recipe for chicken noodle that it says backs up the claim.

The recipe, which puts a third more chicken in every can, was introduced in August and began reaching stores across the country last month. The Camden-based Campbell Soup Co. said it represents the first significant change since it began marketing chicken noodle soup in 1934.

"The overall goal is to sell more soup," company spokesman Kevin Lowery said. "This is the first real change. It's a massive change."

Campbell markets 64 varieties of soup, but chicken noodle is its most popular, selling 350 million cans a year.

It wasn't always that way. When it was introduced as "Chicken and Noodle" soup in 1934, Lowery said, it met with a lukewarm reception. That changed a few years later, he said, when a radio announcer mistakenly called the soup chicken noodle and people flocked to buy it.

Over the years, the recipe remained virtually unchanged, although the company did introduce a double-noodle chicken soup three years ago.

"It wasn't a knock-your-socks-off product" Lowery said.

Campbell, the nation's sixth-largest food company, is also bringing out a new line of reduced-fat soups for health-conscious consumers. Originally introduced in the United Kingdom 18 months ago, they began to arrive in the United States in August.

Also in August, the company announced its new slogan, "M'm M'm Better," a variation of the one it had dropped two years ago, "M'm M'm Good."

Jerry Garcia has new book

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Jerry Garcia's new book reveals what only a few people were privy to in his life: darkly humorous stories and colorful pictures from his childhood memories.

"Harrington Street," to be released Tuesday, features pictures of events such as Garcia rescuing a cat that turned out to be a rat, and the death of his father, who drowned when Garcia was 5, said his widow, Deborah Koons Garcia.

As H.G. Wells pointed out, "Not one is altogether noble nor altogether trustworthy nor altogether consistent; and not one is altogether vile."

At the bridge table, players can be trusted most of the time, especially early in the play. And you cannot get earlier in the play than the opening lead. You are in a no-trump contract and receive a low-card lead from length. You can be confident it is a fourth-highest lead. Almost no one falsecards on opening lead; it is just too dangerous. South should have borne that in mind on this deal.

South might have rebid a forcing three diamonds, but with major-suit stoppers he went for the logical game.

After winning the first trick with his heart jack, South played a diamond to dummy's ace and continued with the diamond queen. When East correctly withheld his king, declarer continued with three rounds of clubs. No luck — East won with the jack and switched to the spade king. However South wriggled, he couldn't win nine tricks.

The best line is deceptively difficult to spot. If West's heart four is an honest card, he has at most five hearts. So, the first trick should be won with dummy's heart ace. Then declarer continues with the ace and queen of diamonds, East holding up his king. Now South plays a heart to his king! (True, with spades 4-3, a spade to the ace works too, but the heart play is slightly safer.) Then South continues with the diamond jack. The defenders may cash three heart tricks, but South has the rest.

Restaurants using toilet paper napkins

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The Malaysian government is cracking down on eateries that would blur the line between restaurant and rest room.

Restaurants that persist in offering toilet tissue for use as napkins will face tougher punishment, the government says.

"The product is meant for use in other places," Deputy Health Minister Siti Zaharah Sulaiman told Parliament on Thursday.

"There has not been any known health hazard in using toilet tissue to wipe one's hands," Zaharah said, but the "use of toilet paper does not project a good image."

She said stiffer penalties, including jail terms, were planned for repeat offenders. Authorities now issue warnings and may impose fines of up to $80.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Some of Life's Big Events Are Better Left Unfilmed

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1995 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Flash in New Hampshire," who was all bent out of shape because a minister refused to allow flash photos during a wedding ceremony to capture those precious moments on film.

My minister and I fully support that minister's refusal. No sacred religious ceremony should be disrupted by flash photos — they are an intrusion upon the dignity of the occasion.

As for understanding the need to prevent guests from doing this, a professional photographer must take many shots, thus intruding on the ceremony so that one or two memorable moments may be captured.

We are in the personal intrusion/information age when photographers and journalists tend to become part of the ceremony, thus detracting from the intimacy of the occasion.

If "Flash" thinks so little of the religious beliefs of the couple, perhaps a justice of the peace would have been a more appropriate option. Your suggestion to "shop around" for another church or elope shows a disturbing lack of understanding of the deep meaning of a religious ceremony.

What will be next? Capturing the last moments of a person's life on film? Or, heaven forbid, the actual birth of a child? I suggest that "Flash" should try another business.

NO FLASH, PLEASE

DEAR NO FLASH: Both the "last moments of a person's life" and the actual birth of a child have already been captured on film. What can we expect next? The conception?

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "From the Old School in Florida," who were upset that their granddaughter had become a stripper. You told them to try to be tolerant, and that jobs for young people are hard to come by. You were absolutely right.

I am 23 years old and have been dancing topless for three years. Becoming a topless dancer was not an easy decision for me, but I have never regretted it. I had goals that my parents could not afford to help me attain.

Dancing is not a career for me — just a stepping-stone to help me secure my future. It has enabled me to travel across America and see places I would not otherwise have been able to. I can afford to work out at a good gym and eat properly. Best of all, I am a pre-med student with a 3.5 grade average. I will be the first doctor in the family, and my parents are very proud.

I hope people realize that "strippers" are not all immoral bimbos. Many of us are trying to achieve our goals and move forward in life.

DANCING IN NEW ORLEANS

DEAR DANCING: Thank you for your perspective. I hope "From the Old School" will read your letter and take heart.

DEAR ABBY: Marie E. Limmer of Baltimore asked, "Would it be the worst thing in the world if he (a husband) were fat and paunchy?"

I can testify that it can be. Last summer, my husband died of an abdominal aortic aneurysm when the main artery from his heart ruptured. He was fat and paunchy.

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

BIBLICAL JUSTICE FOR THE FALSELY ACCUSED

PUNISHMENTS FOR THE SINNERS AND THE CRIMINALS WERE VERY SEVERE IN BIBLICAL TIMES. THE EXECUTION OF A MURDERER CERTAINLY DID NOT AIM AT THE MURDERER'S REFORMATION! AND PUNISHMENT BY PUBLIC WHIPPING ALSO WAS NOT INTENDED TO REFORM THE OFFENDER! BUT THE LAW WAS UPHELD TO THE LETTER. HOWEVER, WHEN A MAN WAS FALSELY ACCUSED AND THIS FACT REVEALED, THE FALSE WITNESS INCURRED THE PENALTY OF THE CRIME FOR WHICH THE ACCUSED MAN WAS ON TRIAL. (DEUT. 19:16,19) THE BIBLICAL PEOPLE, THEMSELVES, FELT A SENSE OF TRIUMPH WHEN ONE OF THESE WAS FINALLY VICTORIOUS OVER THEIR TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS! SUCH AS THE FALSELY ACCUSED JOSEPH WHEN HE WAS JAILED AFTER THE ACCUSATIONS MADE BY POTIPHAR'S WIFE, TO FINALLY TRIUMPHANTLY RISE TO THE SECOND HIGHEST POWER IN THE KINGDOM OF EGYPT. (GEN. 39:41)

AND HOW THE YOUNG HEARTS OF BIBLICAL YOUTH MUST HAVE SWELLED ON HEARING THE STORY OF THE MUCH MALIGNED MORDECAI WHO BY THE KING'S ORDER WAS LED THROUGH THE STREETS ON THE KING'S OWN HORSE AS AN ACT OF HONOR BY THE VILLAINOUS HAMAN WHO HAD TO PUBLICLY PROCLAIM THROUGHOUT THE CITY'S STREETS THE FACT THAT HIS BITTER ENEMY HAD FOUND FAVOR WITH THE KING! (ESTHER 6)

Head injury led to seizure disorder

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following a motor vehicle accident eight years ago, during which I suffered a severe concussion, I began experiencing auditory and visual hallucinations. I was diagnosed with schizophrenia and given powerful tranquilizers.

It wasn't until last year, when I became ill, smelling odors that weren't there, that I saw a neurologist. After an EEG and MRI, he diagnosed temporal lobe epilepsy caused by a scar on the brain. Also, I have cortical atrophy. He prescribed anti-convulsants. Was my condition caused by the car wreck?

DEAR READER: Very possibly. At the time of the accident, your brain was badly shaken up, causing a concussion. Because of the injury, you may well have developed a brain injury, with scar tissue and shrinkage (atrophy) that could have led to a seizure disorder involving the injured side of your brain.

Clearly, the original doctors misdiagnosed your condition and labeled you with schizophrenia, a mental disorder marked by distorted thinking, often complicated by hallucinations. In reality, since the accident you have probably had an unusual type of seizure disorder (temporal lobe epilepsy), characterized by the symptoms you described — especially the part where you smell non-existent odors. In short, a physical, not mental, affliction.

Whether or not the seizures were caused by the accident is immaterial. The important consideration is that you are now taking anti-convulsant medication under the supervision of a neurologist. This drug should help control your symptoms.

I'm sorry that so many years passed before the proper diagnosis was established. Your original doctors should have performed an EEG (brain wave test). MRI scanning is a new technology that was probably not available at the time of your accident.

However, in all fairness, I should add that some symptoms of schizophrenia can be identical to those of temporal lobe epilepsy. Thus, while I cannot condone the misdiagnosis, I can certainly understand it.

At this point, it seems reasonable for you to put the past behind you and move on, with the help of your neurologist, whose perceptiveness enabled the story to have a happy ending.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Epilepsy: The Falling Sickness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

Book recounts various types of criminals' misadventures

Faced with a 90-day sentence for disorderly conduct, he spent 88 days concocting a scheme to break out. On the 89th day he successfully made his escape — only to be caught a few months later and sent back to prison for 1½ years.

"The crimes are real, but the names have been changed to protect the ignorant," quipped author Leland Gregory, who collaborated with two others on the new book, "America's Dumbest Criminals."

Gregory, Daniel Butler and Alan Ray toured the country for four months beginning last November talking to police officers in big cities and small towns. Among some of the most stupid criminals were:

— A Nevada robber who let a convenience store clerk make one phone call during a hold-up, then seemed surprised when police showed up.

— A Rhode Island man charged with breaking open vending machines because he wanted to pay his $400 bail entirely in quarters.

Those criminals might seem too stupid to be real, but that's all the better, the authors said.

"We wanted to let kids know that criminals are not really glamorous characters," said Gregory, an actor, writer and TV producer who lives in Chicago.

"Films like 'Seven,' 'Copycat,' 'The Silence of the Lambs,' with intellectual, conniving criminals — that's all fiction," he said.

New type of drug fights AIDS virus successfully in monkeys

WASHINGTON (AP) — People exposed to the AIDS virus have only one drug to try to ward off infection — and it seldom works. Now scientists have an exciting new candidate, an experimental medicine that completely protected monkeys in the same situation.

One of the nation's top AIDS experts called the discovery "unprecedented," and the drug's manufacturer is preparing to test the medicine in people next year.

It's a long way from a monkey drug to one that will help people, cautioned chief researcher Dr. Che-Chung Tsai of the University of Washington Regional Primate Center. Still, in today's edition of the journal Science, Tsai calls PMPA the most promising candidate yet to help people ward off the AIDS virus.

"Such complete protection with no toxicity is unprecedented in the monkey model of AIDS and suggests a potential role for PMPA in health care workers or others accidentally exposed to the virus," agreed AIDS expert Dr. Anthony Fauci of the National Institutes of Health.

Health care workers are at risk of catching HIV, the AIDS virus, from accidental needle-sticks or tainted blood. Now when these people realize they were exposed to HIV, they take the drug AZT — but it often fails to protect them.

PMPA is a chemical very similar to AZT. Both attack the AIDS virus by blocking a key protein it needs to reproduce. But while AZT must wait to be turned on to begin fighting the virus, PMPA can start waging war immediately, and it is 100 times less toxic than AZT.

This type of drug is called a nucleotide analog, and no such medicine is yet on the market.

To see how well it worked, Tsai gave 35 monkeys 100 percent infectious doses of SIV, the primate version of HIV. Fifteen monkeys got injections of PMPA 48 hours before they were exposed to AIDS, five got PMPA shots four hours after they were exposed and another five were treated 24 hours later. They all received PMPA intravenously for four weeks.

Eight months later, none of the treated animals — not even the ones exposed for 24 hours — is infected with SIV and none has experienced any side effects.

Astro-graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Saturday, Nov. 18, 1995

Your confidence in your abilities will continue to grow stronger in the year ahead. Once you start to utilize your gifts, your approach to life will change for the better.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Telling it like it is wins the respect of others today. Your comments will be direct and forthright, but never offensive. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences that govern you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Make sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Using both your reasoning and your intuitive faculties will advance your personal interests today. Your persona is loaded with positive attributes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You won't go wrong today if you desire to do good deeds for a large number of people. Unselfishness is the key to success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may receive something you have secretly desired today. If not, you will at least get a firmer indication as to when you can expect this to occur.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Use your powers of observation constructively today. Carefully study a colleague's style and learn all you can.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Success will be probable today in areas where you have a strong desire to succeed. You must stay aware and maintain a high level of motivation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A partnership arrangement should work out rather well today for you and your associate. This union could be stronger than you realize.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If someone wants to hire your talents or services today, don't underrate your skills. However, make sure to keep the price fair.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your best asset today will be your ability to synchronize with others on a one-to-one basis. You don't need a big team, just a few competent allies who can deliver when needed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You will be a delightful companion today because you'll instinctively know how to inflate people's egos. Making friends look good will reflect favorably on you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You will have more power and influence over your peers today than you think. Your inherent trustworthiness will be the reason for your effectiveness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Finances continue to look very encouraging. Increases could occur in situations in which you're trying to provide additional support for loved ones.

Tigers look for upset

Perhaps the toughest job in Snyder this week is Snyder High School coach David Baugh's job. He has the task of figuring out a game plan to stop the two-time defending state champions in Class 4A.

The Snyder Tigers enter the state playoffs for the first time since 1991 and will face the Stephenville Yellow Jackets in bi-distict action Saturday at 1 p.m. in Shotwell Stadium in Abilene.

Currently ranked fifth in The Associated Press poll, Stephenville is riding a nine-game winning streak and has won 41 of their last 42 football games dating back to 1993.

These two teams have met once in the 90's with Stephenville coming out on top of the 1990 quarterfinal game, 34-13.

On offense, "I think we can match up well with their secondary," said Baugh. We are going to try to get some match-ups there and beat their secondary, so throwing is going to be a big part of our game plan."

The Tigers will move back into their eight-man front for Stephenville. By doing so, Snyder will attempt to shut down the Yellow Jackets' running game which averages 279.2 yards a game.

On offense, Stephenville runs a "scatter" offense. Baugh explained it this way, "They will send three receivers to one side and two receivers to the other side, they will get in the shotgun, power formation by putting their two tackles side-by-side and try to run over you." Stephenville's base offense is the wish-bone.

"If they win state championship again, it will be because of their defense," added Baugh.

On the injury front, Matthew Fambro will miss the game. He went down in the Sweetwater game with a left knee injury. He is to be reevaluated in a couple of weeks at which time the doctors will decide if surgery will be necessary.

Kickoff is set for 1 p.m. Saturday at Shotwell Stadium in Abilene. The winner of Saturday's game will take on the winner of tonight's Fort Worth Castleberry-Sherman game. They are playing in Lewisville at 7:30.

Stephenville seeks third state 4A title

For the Yellow Jackets from Stephenville, they have one thing on their minds, playing one game at a time.

If the Yellow Jackets can win its remaining football games, they will join a select few who have won three state championships in consecutive years.

Abilene High (1954-56), Big Sandy (1973-75), Waco (1925-27) and Amarillo High (1934-36) are the only schools to win state titles three years in a row.

Stephenville started the 1995 season as the number one ranked Class 4A team in Texas. An upset win by Saginaw Boswell, 17-10, ended a 32 game winning streak for the Yellow Jackets.

Since that time, Stephenville has rebounded to win nine in a row and put it's self in contention to three-peat. Over the last three years, the Yellow Jackets have a combined record of 41-1 and enter Saturday afternoon's bi-district game as the number five team in the state.

"Our biggest strength right now is tradition," said Stephenville coach Art Briles in a telephone interview Thursday. "Our kids know what it takes to win and we are not looking past the Snyder Tigers."

Why the success the last couple of years, according to Coach Briles, "We have an established program and a great feeder system in the junior high."

For Stephenville, it has been a great turnaround. The Yellow Jackets went 37 years without winning a district title until 1990. Now, they've been in the playoffs every year since 1989.

The Yellow Jackets defeated Snyder in the 1990 quarterfinals, 34-13.

Stephenville has 27 seniors on this year's squad, including 15 lettermen. Only five of the lettermen are returning starters with three on offense and two on defense.

There were 11 members of last year's Stephenville team who received college football scholarships, including back/end and defensive back Jason Bragg, who is at Texas A&M.

This year's squad is led by quarterback Jason Schwartzkopf. Like the general with the same last name, Schwartzkopf has taken charge and has shown to be a leader. He has completed almost half of his pass attempts and gain 1,277 yards in the air. He is not a bad runner either gaining 313 yards on 58 carries.

Last week in the win over Mineral Wells, Schwartzkopf was injured in the third quarter with what coach Briles called a neck jam. "He is all right and will start," Briles said.

If he can't go, look for starting tight end and back-up quarterback Kyle Dempsey to move in and run the team. According to Briles, he came in last week with the score tied at seven and led the Yellow Jackets to two touchdowns.

Stamford-Albany kickoff bi-district

"I've never played a team twice in one season so I don't know if either team has an advantage," said Albany coach Denney Faith about tonight's bi-district matchup between Albany and Stamford. Kickoff is set for 7:30 in Tiger Stadium.

Stamford won the first meeting, 19-17 when a two-point conversion try with 1:50 to play failed. "It's been seven weeks since we played," added Faith. "They are a better team and I hope we've improved. Hopefully, our incentive comes from making the playoffs and going on to the next level.

Running backs Jeff Farmer and Corey Ruff have been the offensive weapons for Albany. Farmer has gained 1,215 yards and scored 13 touchdowns, while Ruff has rushed for 1,133 yards and 14 touchdowns. In addition, Ruff has caught 13 passes for 208 yards and three touchdowns.

Stamford is back in the playoffs for the first time in the 90s, this time as the District 7-2A runner-up.

"I guess playing them the second time is a disadvantge since we won the first game, but that's part of it," said Stamford coach Jerry Taylor. "We are not playing very well right now and Albany is. They really got after De Leon last week, but if we play up to our ability, we might be able to stay with them."

Stamford is led by quarterback Eric Strand, receiver Paul McClendon and running backs Josh Murphree and John Sanchez.

Albany, a 28-0 victor over De Leon last Friday, is 7-3 an champion of District 8-2A. Stamford loss to Hamlin last week, 24-13, only their second loss of the year.

Davis back for TCU

By CHARLES RICHARDS
Associated Press Writer

Running back Andre Davis returns to the Texas Christian football team this weekend, and not a moment too soon for the Horned Frogs.

TCU (6-3, 3-2 Southwest Conference) could earn a bowl berth and possibly a tie of the conference championship by winning their last two games.

Unfortunately, those last two games figure to be the Frogs' two toughest of the season. Before ending the regular season at home against 18th-ranked Texas A&M, TCU journeys to Austin on Saturday to play 10th-ranked Texas (7-1-1, 4-0). The Frogs are 17-point underdogs.

In other games this weekend, Texas Tech (6-3, 3-2) is favored by 19 over SMU (1-9, 0-6) in Dallas; Baylor (6-3, 4-1) is favored by 15 in Waco against Rice (2-6-1, 1-4). Texas A&M (6-2, 4-1) hosts Middle Tennessee State in a non-conference game, and Houston (1-8, 1-4) is idle.

Past performance isn't on the side of the Horned Frogs in their last two games. They've lost 27 of their last 28 games with the Longhorns and have lost 28 straight games to the Aggies.

Davis has just completed a four-game, NCAA suspension for alleged dealings with an agent. He's averaging 126 yards rushing per game and is just five yards short of becoming No. 2 on TCU's all-time rushing list.

"I'd like to say that's not a big issue," TCU head coach Pat Sullivan said of Davis' return, "but I'm sure it's an added confidence boost to have him back." While Davis was sidelined, TCU went 2-2, beating Tulane and SMU but losing to Baylor and Texas Tech.

TCU already has the six victories required to play in a bowl game, but need some success over the final two weeks to improve its stature to bowl committees. In 1994, TCU had to beat Texas Tech in its final regular-season game to throw the SWC into a wild, five-way tie for the championship and earn a spot in the Independence Bowl.

"This time last year we were playing catchup," TCU linebacker Geoff Stephens said. "We're in a position right now to control our own destiny."

TCU quarterback Max Knake will have to bounce back from the worst game of his career. He completed only five of 31 passes for 64 yards and an interception against Tech's Red Raiders last weekend.

Quarterback James Brown, who directs the Longhorn attack, said of Knake's passing troubles against Tech, "I don't think I'd let myself be 5-of-31. I'd run the ball."

The Longhorns have averaged 462 yards a game on offense and haven't allowed a sack in their last 14 quarters.

"To beat Texas, it's going to take 60 minutes of football," TCU defensive end Chris Piland said. "It's one of those things we can't come out and play a good half."

Rice will be short of quarterbacks against Baylor. Coach Ken Hatfield began the season with three, but Josh LaRocca is out for the season, and Chad Nelson is doubtful this week. There's no one to back up freshman Raphael Tillman, who is expected to start.

Oilers off to Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Bud Adams says his Houston Oilers "won't be coming to Nashville to take, but to give."

Adams and mayor Phil Bredesen signed a 50-page agreement Thursday to have the team relocate here if the city meets several requirements, including the construction of a stadium by 1998.

It's a $292 million deal that will earn Adams and his Oilers all the stadium revenues, including ticket sales, concessions and team paraphernalia. Plus, he'll get $28 million in moving costs, at least $7.5 million a year from the sale of luxury suites and a share of $11.5 million annually from the sale of premium club seats.

In return, Adam will spend at least $5 million to operate the stadium. And he said the Oilers' staff and players will be involved in anti-drug and stay-in-school projects, as well as charities similar to those they help in Houston.

"We want to become involved in the community. We want to become involved statewide," Adams said.

And he wants Tennesseans to decide in a statewide contest what to call the NFL team.

"We've mentioned this before, but the Oilers didn't seem to be the right name for Tennessee, unless someone looks someplace for some oil," Adams said, chuckling.

The team may be in Tennessee before their stadium is built. The agreement includes a provision that the city help find an interim stadium if the Oilers buy out the two years remaining on their Astrodome lease.

"As a lame duck team, I would hope we could work something out," Adams told reporters after the signing ceremony at Nashville's Metro Courthouse.

He said Memphis and its Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium, where the team has played two preseason games, would be his preferred site and that Oilers GM Floyd Reese was heading there. Adams said he has not talked to Astrodome officials about breaking the lease.

"This is all exploratory," said Pepper Rodgers, general managing partner of the CFL's Memphis Mad Dogs, who would have to allow the Oilers to play at the Liberty Bowl.

Local teams hit the hardwood

The WTC Lady Westerners open play today in the Weatherford College Coyote Classic. WTC was to play at 2 this afternoon against Cisco. They will play the host team, Weatherford at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Snyder High School boys and girls teams are both on the road tonight. The Lady Tigers travel to Monahans while the Tigers travel to Andrews. Both games are set for 7:30.

The Lady Bulldogs and Bulldogs are in tournament action this weekend in Rule. Both of Hermleigh's teams are in action tonight at Trent. The Lady Cardinals are scheduled to tip off at 6:30 with the boys to follow.

SJHS boys open round ball season

Snyder Junior High boys' basketball teams won three of four games Thursday over Big Spring.

The seventh grade B team won 30-23. Trenaine Johnson was high point with 11, followed by Josh Arizmendi and Ralph Ramon with six.

The seventh grade A team was also victorious with a 52-42 win. Alan Smith was high point with 12, Martin Villareal added 11 and Jared Thornhill had eight.

In eighth grade action, the A team won 47-26 behind Sonny Cumbie's 12 points. Jared Hester added 10 and Ray Carreon had nine.

The eighth grade B team was defeated by Big Spring, 32-24. Greg McAnaw was high point with 15.

PUBLIC NOTICE

City of Snyder Notice of Intention to Issue of Tax and Waterworks and Sewer System Revenue Certificates of Obligation, Series 1995.

The City of Snyder does hereby give notice of intention to issue Tax and Waterworks and Sewer System Revenue Certificates of Obligation, Series 1995, in the maximum principal amount not to exceed $3,290,000 for paying all or a portion of the City's contractual obligations for the purpose of improving and extending the City's Waterworks and Sewer System, and for paying legal, fiscal, and engineering fees in connection with this project. The City proposes to provide for the payment of such Certificates of Obligation from the levy and collection of ad valorem taxes in the City as provided by law, and from the surplus revenues of City's combined Waterworks and Sewer System, remaining after payment of all operation and maintenance expenses thereof, and all debt service, reserve, and other requirements in connection with any of the City's revenue bonds or other obligations (now or hereafter outstanding) which are payable from all or any part of the Net Revenues of the City's combined Waterworks and Sewer System. The City Council intends to consider for passage on first reading, at a Special Meeting to be held at 6:30 p.m. on November 27, 1995, and to consider for final passage on second reading at a Regular Meeting to be held at 6:30 p.m. on December 4, 1995, an Ordinance authorizing the issuance of Tax and Waterworks and Sewer System Revenue Certifcates of Obligation, Series 1995, at the City Hall, Snyder, Texas.

Demos, GOP settle Medicaid differences

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate Republicans resolved a difference over how hard to squeeze Medicaid spending by putting almost $7 billion back in the pot that would be divided among the states.

The compromise struck by House and Senate conferees Thursday reduced the target for savings from the health program for the poor to $163.5 billion over seven years.

That's down from $170 billion in the bills that passed both houses last month and from $182 billion in the original GOP blueprint to balance the budget in seven years.

The Republicans settled a dispute by basing the grants on whichever allocation came out best, the one in the House bill or the one in the Senate bill, for each of the states. For the long run, the House distribution formula would be written into the law.

The GOP overhaul would end federal entitlements to health care for the poor and give states broad flexibility to decide how to spend their "MediGrants" on caring for the needy, including poor children, the disabled and nursing home residents.

The negotiators resolving differences between the chambers' bills also agreed to call for a new $3.5 billion fund to help 15 states cope with the costs of emergency care for illegal aliens for five years.

Almost half that money would go to California, and New York, Florida and Texas would get much of the rest.

The changes in the health programs represent about half the savings sought under the GOP blueprint for balancing the budget in seven years.

Hospitals had lobbied strenuously against the Senate version of the Medicare reductions, which targeted them for $86 billion in savings by reducing the hospital fee increases; the House version looked for $75 billion in such savings.

The compromise appeared to fall right in between.

The American Hospital Association today denounced the Republican plans for Medicare and Medicaid. AHA President Dick Davidson charged that hospitals would lose $1,100 on every Medicare patient they admit.

"We are in opposition to this conference report. We find it highly objectionable," said Davidson, who renewed a call for creation of a bipartisan commission to chart Medicare's future.

Combined crews of shuttle, space station say good-bye

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The combined crews of shuttle Atlantis and the Russian space station Mir said an emotional goodbye to one another in a farewell ceremony today.

"We've come to the end of what I think has been the most successful mission I could have possibly imagined," shuttle commander Kenneth Cameron said.

"We worked together extremely well, had a great launch, rendezvous and docking and the chance to see the station Mir. ... Most of all, seeing and working with friends has been an experience that none of us will ever forget," he said.

The hatch between the two spaceships was to be closed later today, with Atlantis separating first thing Saturday morning after three days of docked operations.

"It's most difficult to say goodbye, and the Russians have a much better expression, which is 'do svidaniye' — until we see each other again," Cameron said.

The astronauts and cosmonauts patted each another's shoulders, clasped hands and then broke into the 1960s hit "Those Were the Days."

"Those were the days, oh yes, those were the days. La la la la la la."

The two Russians and one German who have been living on Mir for 2½ months — and have 3½ months more to go — said they're sorry to see their shuttle friends leave.

"This is an unforgettable experience for us," Mir commander Yuri Gidzenko said in Russian.

Earlier in the morning, United Nations Secretary General Boutros Boutros-Ghali called the space travelers to thank them for flying a U.N. flag in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of his organization.

Russia violates conventional weapons treaty

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Russia violated a landmark NATO-Warsaw Pact weapons treaty today by not meeting obligations to reduce troops and military hardware in the northern Caucasus and around St. Petersburg, diplomats said.

Without mentioning the war in Chechnya outright, Moscow argues that tensions in the Caucasus mean it must maintain more military muscle in that area than the 1990 treaty allows. It cites NATO's plan to expand eastward as a reason to maintain more arms and men in the northwest around St. Petersburg.

The treaty on reducing conventional forces in Europe, signed in 1990 by NATO and states of the now-defunct Warsaw Pact, called for extensive cuts in troops and hardware, particularly by Pact nations, over a 40-month period. Fifty thousand weapons have already been eliminated across Europe.

Russia has honored other aspects of the treaty, but the deadline for implementing the cuts in the northern Caucasus and the northwest passed Thursday at midnight.

Diplomats in Vienna refused to say whether Russia has reduced its troops and hardware in the two regions at all.

The 30 nations who are party to the treaty have huddled in feverish negotiations this week in Vienna trying to reach a compromise between NATO and Russian proposals for changing the troop and hardware limits.

The most expected today was a commitment by all nations to reach agreement on the issue eventually, said a senior American diplomat, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Diplomats expect an eventual compromise to smooth the dispute with Russia, and have virtually excused similar violations by Ukraine and Belarus.

It is in no one's interest to ratchet up tensions in East-West relations.

Tearful Americans mourn victims of terrorist bombing

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Hundreds of tearful mourners attended a memorial service today for five Americans killed in a bombing that shattered the tranquil life of U.S. expatriates in Saudi Arabia.

With the American flag fluttering at half-staff, friends and relatives flocked to the sprawling U.S. Embassy compound for the private ceremony in a garden behind high walls.

Non-Americans and the media were not allowed to attend.

The bodies of the five Americans killed in Monday's explosion were put on a flight to the United States a few hours before the midmorning ceremony. They arrived at Dover Air Force Base about 5 a.m. this morning, said Staff Sgt. Michael Dorsey, a spokesman for the base in Delaware.

Six people were killed and about 60 were injured in the bombing of a U.S.-run military training facility in the heart of the capital, Riyadh.

Estranged husband gives himself up

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The estranged husband of U.S. Rep. Enid Greene Waldholtz turned himself in to federal authorities today, six days after he disappeared amid allegations of financial misconduct.

Joe Waldholtz surrendered in Washington, D.C., to face questioning, said Kevin Ohlson, spokesman and special counsel for U.S. District Attorney Eric Holder.

The husband of the freshman Utah Republican congresswoman had been missing since Saturday and was wanted in a federal arrest warrant as a material witness in a grand jury investigation of bank fraud.

The FBI alleges in an affidavit accompanying the arrest warrant filed Wednesday that Joe Waldholtz was involved in a check-kiting scheme involving more than $1.7 million and that he manipulated accounts at First Security Bank in Salt Lake City and the Congressional Federal Credit Union at the Capitol and House offices in Washington.

Enid Waldholtz filed for divorce Tuesday, claiming her husband of two years was guilty of "an incredible level of deception."
