Generally, nature did a pretty good job of designing things. One of the better designs is the human. Humans, usually, are admirably designed with fingers in the proper places and useful innovations such as eyes, ears, movable necks, etc.

But there are just a few sophisticated improvements that could be made in the design.

Arms that are long enough, or back short and narrow enough, for every single itch to be scratched would be one of the first design improvements! When the back itches, as it always does, that itch always lies just out of reach of the most contorted effort to scratch.

This brings about having to utilize tools such as ballpoint pens, rulers, silverware, whatever is handy. It is, obviously, a slight oversight in the engineering department!

Another marvelous innovation would be an extra joint in the leg. That way, toenails could be clipped comfortably and with ease. That extra joint, would, however, necessitate some adjustments in the construction of slacks and jeans!

Noses that didn't run or have to be blown would be a distinct improvement, especially during cold season.

Among the lists of other improvements would be skin that didn't get dry and scaly, or sunburn, or break out during teenage years. Goodness, there are enough problems being a teenager without having to worry about acne, too!

The list of improvements is surprisingly short. However, when one considers the overall workability of the human body, eyes would be hard to improve on (although I've always wished I could implant a camera in one, and spit out pictures instantly). Ears are good, a little hard to clean occasionally, but basically sound.

But first and foremost, now that I'm making this imaginary list of improvements, would be a special section of the brain. And that section would be devoted entirely to "remembering things that shouldn't be forgotten".

That way, I wouldn't be leaping up from the couch fifteen minutes late to tear off to an event I'm supposed to attend. I wouldn't sit at the desk with this dreadful feeling that something important was forgotten.

Let's see now, what was that other thing I needed to remember to put in this column?

Barbara Russell Heads CF Drive

The 1985 education and fund raising drive of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in Bogata and Talco is being chaired by Barbara Russell.

Cystic Fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children and young adults. For a child to be born with cystic fibrosis, both of the child's parents must be carriers. One in twenty Americans is a symptomless carrier of the cystic fibrosis gene, and as yet, there is no carrier test.

Researchers have taken giant steps in genetic research in the past few years. The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is funding genetic research which will ultimately find a carrier test and cure for cystic fibrosis. We urge your support in the fight to conquer cystic fibrosis, soon. Our children are too precious to lose.

WW II Plane Crashes Near Pattonville

It was to have been the plane's last flight before a dignified finish in a North Dakota Air Museum. It was the last flight, but it ended far short of the destination.

Saturday morning an A-26 Invader, piloted by an experienced bush and ferry pilot, with the plane's owner in the other seat, ended its career in a plowed field west of Pattonville.

The plane, which had belonged to I.N. Burchinal's Flying Tigers Air Museum, had been sold to Shane Williams, representing Aero-Nostalgia.

The pilot was Paul Weston, an Alaskan bush pilot with thousands of hours of air-time logged.

The plane, the only type of aircraft ever used in World War II, Korea and Vietnam, was an attack bomber.

It had been sitting idle for the better part of four years, when the two began to put it in working order. They had flown the big bomber from Flying Tiger Air Field just west of Fargo, North Dakota, and had just cleared the pattern and were trying to gain altitude when the engine quit.

Weston feathered the right engine down, but said that the plane was still trying to roll over. When it became apparent that they couldn't make it back to Cox Field, he picked out a not to hit the cows and aimed for a plowed field just beyond. Both cattle, and field, belonged to long-time Pat-grassy field. However, as he approached, a herd of cattle wandered out into his path. He made a decision to turn the plane around.

Wilson, who was working some cattle at the time, saw the plane losing altitude, hit the ground, bounce, and catch a bois d'arc tree. The right wing was sheared off, and when the plane hit the ground, the engines broke free, landing thirty to fifty feet away from the plane.

The pilot credits the engines breaking free with probably being the reason for his and Williams' survival. Fuel and oil were sprayed all over the airplane, and fire danger would have been extreme otherwise.

When Harry Wilson arrived, the two were out of the broken-up wreckage. Wilson said that "I really expected to find two bodies in the mess". Instead they both received cuts and bruises, Williams requiring 35 stitches on the face, but no serious injuries.

The pilot was concerned that he had hit a cow. He hadn't.

Bits and pieces of sharp metal, bolts, screws and shards of cast metal, along with a fine mist of fuel and oil, covered a huge area of Wilson's field after the aircraft came to rest from its sideways slide across the dry dirt.

Pilot Weston commented that "I've been ferrying World War II type aircraft for years. Nothing like this has ever happened to me before. I just thank God we came out of this alive."

FINAL FLIGHT-This World War II vintage aircraft ended its career in a field west of Pattonville Saturday morning when it's left engine quit. The pilot and navigator escaped serious injuries as they crash landed the airplane, but the plane, destined for a Fargo, North Dakota air museum, was destroyed. (Staff Photo)

JOE CORBELL recently brought home an extra $1,550 in cash. While listening to the radio in Austin where he attended the University of Texas, he heard a bumper sticker contest announced. He told a friend that he was going to win the contest and proceeded to tell his friend his license plate number. As if hearing an echo in the room, the radio announcer rattled off Joe's number over the radio. He had won!! He only had a little time to call the station and verify his winning, so he raced to the phone and had someone come check it out. They presented him with a check for $1,550. Joe was so excited in the bank when he cashed the check he even had the security guards coming over to see what was wrong! He plans to use the money to attend classes at East Texas State University. Joe is the son of Glenda and Tommie Corbell of Bogata. (Staff Photo by Diana Eudy)

Wood-McClain Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Scotti Lyn Wood and Gregory Scot McClain were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony on Saturday, August 17 at four o'clock in the afternoon at the First United Methodist Church of Garland. The Rev. Philip Mercer officiated. He was assisted by Don Holmes, Youth Director of Highland Park Methodist Church.

The bride, a 1981 graduate of Rivercrest High School and a student at Southern Methodist University, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wake Wood of Talco. The bridegroom, a 1985 graduate of Southern Methodist University, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. McClain of Garland. He is employed by the Garland Independent School District.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a heirloom Victorian floor length gown of candlelight lace over candlelight satin. The matching chapel length lace train was accented with double rows of lace with satin ribbon overlay. The bride's two-tier veil, which fell from a crown of miniature dusty rose and candlelight carnations, was secured by heirloom amber combs given to her by her great-grandmother. The dress was completed by the addition of a small cameo brooch fastened at the point of the Victorian lace ruffle on the bodice. She carried a bouquet of orchids and roses.

Vows were exchanged before an altar which was centered with a brass unity candelabra adorned with greenery and stephanotis. Two seven-tier candelabra also wrapped with greenery and stephanotis flanked both sides of the altar. Two large elegant bouquets consisting of gladiolas, carnations and spider mums graced the altar. Completing the altar, the railing was decorated with greenery and stephanotis.

"Annie's Song", "The Wedding Song", "Doubly Good To Me", and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Lesa Roundtree.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Gina Eidson of Dallas. Bridesmaids were Lesa Roundtree and Sheila Davis, both of Dallas. They wore dusty rose satin floor length gowns accented with maroon cummerbunds. Each carried a single rose bouquet. The groom, wearing a gray tuxedo and dusty rose tie and cummerbund, was accompanied by his best man, Scott Northcutt of Garland, and groomsmen Rodney Harris of Garland and Stan Wood of Dallas, brother of the bride.

Registering the guests were Allyson McClain of Garland, sister of the groom and Julie Little of Cooper, cousin of the bride. Seating the guests were Chris Loper, Robb Grebon and Wade Jefferies, members of a basketball team coached by the groom. Also ushering was Jeff Hadaway, cousin of the bride.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the church fellowship hall. Receiving guests were the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Scot McClain and their parents. Serving at the reception were Allyson and Melissa McClain of Garland, sisters of the groom, Letha Brysch of George West, Kathy and Juli Martin of Tyler, Leslie Bonny of Frankli, Ohio, Trushell Marts of Wco, Joannie Hollyer of Arlington, Roxanne Richardson of Lufkin and Nancy Mornington of Arlington. Directing the houseparty were aunts of the bride, Mrs. Floyd Little of Cooper, Mrs. Johnny Deel of Sulphur Springs, Mrs. Roy Hadaway of Dallas and Mrs. Rick Voetter of Houston.

For going away attire, the couple chose matching black warmup suits trimmed in red, red polo shirts and white high top tennis shoes trimmed in red.

The evening before the wedding, a dinner was hosted by the parents of the bridegroom at the Holiday Inn Hall of Nations in Garland. The honored couple chose this time to present gifts of appreciation to their wedding party.

Miss Wood was honored with a miscellaneous shower Saturday, August 10 at the home of Mrs. Dean Leake of Talco. Other hostesses were Mesdames Jerry Russell, Robert Giddens and J.W. Via. Thirty guests registered including Mrs. Bertha Gerhardt, Mrs. Jim McClain and Miss Melissa McClain of Garland, grandmother, mother and sister of the prospective groom, respectively.

On August 12, District Judge Leon Pesek of Texarkana heard evidence, revoked the felony probation of James Curbow, age 42 of the Bogata area, and sentenced Curbow to 10 years in prison for violation of his probation. In June, 1982, a Red River County jury found Curbow guilty of sexual abuse of his 13 year old stepdaughter, and the jury had set Curbow's punishment at 10 years probation and no fine.

Glen Nichols of Clarksville pled no contest to aggravated possession of 50-200 pounds of marijuana and Pesek sentenced Nichols to 10 years probation and a $10,000 fine which Nichols paid that day.

Keeping Healthy

Preventing Heart Attacks

Conclusive evidence that reducing elevated blood cholesterol with a cholesterol-lowering drug and diet can prevent heart attacks and death from heart disease was presented recently by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute (NHLBI).

The study was the largest, longest and most closely monitored to date of cholesterol and its relationship to heart attacks. Directed and funded by the NHLBI at 12 U.S. medical centers, the Lipid Research Clinics Trial demonstrated that combining the cholesterol-lowering drug, cholestyramine (Questran), with a moderately low fat diet, reduced heart attacks by almost 20%.

The NHLBI scientists estimate that if Americans would reduce their blood cholesterol levels by 25%, this would eventually lead to a 50% reduction in the incidence of coronary heart disease.

The study participants were 3,806 men between the ages of 35 and 59, but the NHLBI believes that the results are also applicable to both men and women of all ages.

Home Health Care Expanded

Beginning August 1, McCuiston Regional Medical Center expanded their Home Health Care Services into the Clarksville and Red River County area according to Carol Ward, Home Health Care Supervisor. Until that date, Beverly Enterprises had provided the home health care agency in Red River County.

McCuiston began providing home health care in January to offer a continuation of care for those persons that were dismissed from the hospital as well as any person confined to the home.

The first day services were provided to Red River County, nine patients were evaluated for care by McCuiston. Within the first ten days, the number of persons being served by the McCuiston service grew to twelve. Included in the services available are skilled nursing care by licensed nursing professionals, aide assistance, physical therapy, laboratory services, respiratory therapy, medical equipment and supplies, occupational therapy, medical social worker counseling, speech therapy, dietary consultation and additional services as needed and prescribed by the patients' physicians.

Mrs. Ward stressed persons in need of these services do not have to have a Paris physician in order to receive home health care. Several referrals have been made by the Clarksville area physicians.

Since the beginning of this expansion of McCuiston care, over 2,000 home visits have been made. Home Health is often misunderstood. A person does not have to be hospitalized to receive home health care. Although persons may be able to leave the hospital sooner by the utilization of this service.

A familiar face to Clarksville area residents, Mrs. Ward served as a staff nurse and director of the Clarksville Home Health Service and as a registered nurse in the Red River General Intensive Care Unit.

The 12-member McCuiston Home Health Care Staff can be reached at 214-737-1656. To further meet the needs of the people of McCuiston's service area, a member of the Home Health Staff is on call 24 hours and weekends to answer any questions and make visits as needed.

Home Health Care is covered by Medicare, Medicaid, Veteran's Administration, Champus, private insurance, private payment or insurance when ordered by a physician.

Secrets of Salton Sea

A geologist at the University of California, Riverside will lead scientists in a $6 million drilling venture to probe the secrets of one of the largest geothermal fields in the world—the hot brine and rock beneath Southern California's Salton Sea.

The well may reach temperatures of 750 degrees Fahrenheit at a depth of about 10,000 feet, making it one of the world's hottest.

Samples taken at that depth could unlock the secrets of geothermal processes and help engineers to harness a vast potential power source for Southern California.

Middle Class Hit Hardest

Economic recessions are more likely to cause havoc in the lives of members in the middle class than in those of the rich or poor.

The unemployment rate appears to act as a barometer for the middle third of the population: The higher the rate climbs, the more probability of experiencing such negative life events as mortgage foreclosure, job lay-off, or car repossession.

Members of the lower class are vulnerable to negative events regardless of the unemployment rate. And those in the upper class have fewer undesirable events whether the rate is up or down. In fact, they tend to prosper even more when times are bad.

FRANKLIN NATIONAL BANK'S SAV-X-TRA OFFERS YOU MORE FOR YOUR INVESTMENT DOLLAR

SAV-X-TRA is a variable rate deposit account working much like the Certificate of Deposit. The account pays 2% above the 90 day Treasury Bill which is sold each Monday. However, the MINIMUM INTEREST RATE (or floor), on your SAV-X-TRA account at Franklin National Bank is 9%. That means, no matter how low rates fall, your investment at Franklin National Bank will never pay you less than our minimum rate.

The minimum investment for a SAV-X-TRA account is $25,000.00 and your deposit is insured through FDIC to $100,000.00. You may make additional deposits to your account anytime in minimum amounts of $500.00. These certificates are drawn on a two year term with interest payments tailored to your personal needs. Receive a monthly check for interest income or have your interest deposited to a checking or regular savings account - better yet, allow your interest to be deposited to your SAV-X-TRA account and begin monthly compounding.

Chicken

Best Buy
Whole chickens are usually less expensive than cut-up birds. You'll save 4 to 10 cents per pound if you cut your own chicken. But chicken parts may be the best buy if your family has a strong preference for certain parts. Breasts cost more per pound because they are the meatiest parts, followed by thighs, drumsticks and wings. A whole broiler-fryer is 50 percent edible cooked meat. A 3-pound bird yields approximately 3 cups cooked edible meat.
