Sniper Ridge Changes Hands Again, ROKs Up

DEEP PLOWING TO SAVE SOIL FROM BLOWING

The 44-inch disc machine above is the first that has ever deep plowed in Scurry County although the machine is common in other counties in the state. The machine, which is pulled by a crawler type tractor is owned by Dewy Everett, West of Snyder. It is plowing on J. L. Webb's farm four miles west of Ira. Approximately one and one-quarter acres, can be turned up per hour. Irelan Finley, of PMA and Jake Hodges of SCS said deep plowing with this equipment is necessary only about once every 10 years and with proper management, such as planting legumes might never have to be repeated. (Staff Photograph.)

Some Cover Growing; Scurry Farmers Facing Bleak Winter

The drought is still plaguing farmers in this area and there is no let up in sight.

Scurry County farmers have planted about 20,000 acres of wheat as a cover crop and for grazing, 16,000 of which have come up, according to Jake Hodges, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service. The farmers who plan to plant wheat have almost all done it although there may be some planted from now until the last of this month, he said.

Some sandy land farmers are planting wheat, but it is used solely for grazing. They are mostly trying to hold their soil down by deep plowing, Hodges said. A few are planting winter legumes as conservation but lack of moisture is holding a number up, he stated.

Enough moisture is available to plant winter legumes and raise a cotton crop the next season about once every five years, he stated. Stock farmers ocassionally plant because they aren't interested in cotton, he added. Hodges estimated that about 15 per cent of the farmers have taken tillage measures such as deep plowing for conservation.

The drought has also held up operations as far as terracing is concerned. Irelan L. Finley, administrative officer for Production and Marketing Administration, estimates about 200 miles of terraces will be built by the end of the year compared to the 300 or 400 miles that are usually built.

The PMA office said they had exhausted their program funds, and few farmers would terrace without them. More money this year was obligated to subsoiling, that is, breaking up the hard pan soil found in tight land farms. About $14,000 had been spent for subsoiling with $7,000 spent for terracing as of July 10, Finley said. He stated he expected most of next year's program to be devoted to subsoiling.

More emergency hay has been ordered by drought-stricken farmers than can be obtained, according to Finley. Only 669 tons of hay has been delivered out of the 1,385 tons that are on order. A labor shortage partially due to corn harvesting is holding up shipment of the hay from the three states, he stated.

Texas farmers have placed orders for 14,750 cars of hay, 3,850 of which have been delivered. The daily milk production has dropped due to feed shortage, too. The production dropped to smallest amount on record for the past 20 years. Only about one quart per person per day is produced now, according to B. F. Vance, state agriculture mobilization committee chairman.

Snyder cotton seed houses report a shortage of seed for planting purposes. A bulk of the seed will come from the Plains, they say. Two seed houses stated farmers were more cautious about getting behind in payments now and usually deal on a cash basis.

The two gins operating in Scurry County, Planter's Gin and Paymaster, have ginned a total of 550 bales this season. The managers, D. V. Merritt and Ovid Lawlis, respectively, estimate they have ginned about one-half of the cotton that will come in. Merritt said a labor shortage is still holding up cotton picking.

Inadale Man Being Held In Double Murder

ABILENE, Nov. 15 (AP)—The riddled bodies of the wife of a Sweetwater farmer-oilman and an Abilene grain salesman were found today beside a car on a country road about 20 miles southwest of here.

The dead were Mrs. Fred Ohlenbusch, about 40, and James Henley, 44, salesman for an Abilene Mill and Elevator Company.

The husband, Fred Ohlenbusch, 49, was jailed. A complaint against him charging two counts of murder was signed by Ranger Jim Paulk.

District attorney John A. Willoughby gave this account:

Three men drove up on Mrs. Ohlenbusch and Henley about 2 p.m. after the shooting.

The bodies were lying on the ground near the car. Henley had been shot three times. Mrs. Ohlenbusch had been shot once.

Ohlenbusch owns a farm and a country store at Inadale, five miles northwest of Sweetwater. He also dealt in oil leases. He has four children, two of them married.

Henley is survived by his widow and two sons.

Ohlenbusch told reporter Georgia Nelson of the Abilene Reporter-News he and Mrs. Ohlenbusch had been divorced several years ago and she had married another man. But, he said, she got a second divorce and remarried him.

Lie May Stay With UN For Another Year

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y, Nov. 15 (AP)—Diplomatic sources said today Trygve Lie has stated he is willing to remain another year as U. N. secretary general if the Russians and the West cannot agree on his successor.

There is no indication so far that a deadlock will develop finally on the question of Lie's successor. There are reports that a move is being developed to ask Lie to stay on but at the same time the U.N. halls are full of talk and speculation about various possibilities.

A quiet diplomat from Iran, Nasrollah Entezam, who is a former president of the Assembly, was said to have the inside track in the spirited contest for Lie's post. Entezam has said he is not a candidate but his backers are booming him at every opportunity and are quoting the Russians and British as having no objection to Entezam.

The United States is playing this problem slowly and cautiously. A spokesman said today that it is not urgent and immediate. He said American energies are tied up with things like Korea. He said, however, if a great number of states want to discuss the issue in the next couple of weeks the U. S. would get its ideas in order.

There was speculation in U. N. quarters that the Americans would not want to act until President-elect Eisenhower has had an opportunity to make up his mind, since the Eisenhower administration must deal with whoever heads the U. N. Secretariat.

Crashed Plane Identified As One Carrying Nineteen Aboard

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 15 (AP)—Plane wreckage near the tip of lofty Mt. Silverthrone was identified positively yesterday as a C119 Flying Boxcar which carried 19 airmen and soldiers to their death eight days ago.

Heavy clouds which normally shroud the 13,170-foot peak 135 miles north of here lifted during the day, enabling Air Force reconnaissance planes to fly low over the scattered debris.

It was the first day weather permitted close scrutiny of the wreckage since it was discovered last Monday, three days after the C119 of the 435th Group Carrier Wing, Miami, Fla., disappeared midway between Anchorage and Fairbanks.

Alaskan air command authorities here said today that pilots and observers reported sighting a boom and horizontal stabilizer — distinguishing features of the big C119 transports.

Wreckage was strewn over a 300-yard area below the flame scorched point of impact at the 12,000-foot level.

Capt. William D. Hackett, veteran Army mountain climber stationed at Ft. Richardson, remarked:

"No one viewing the scene of the crash could have any doubt that all aboard were killed instantly when the plane exploded as it hit."

Hackett, who accompanied one of the search planes as an observer, said the explosion of the C119 appeared to have started an avalanche that swept pieces of the wings and fuselage far down the mountainside. Other fragments were buried in deep crevasses.

The impact, blast and avalanche was feared to have scattered bodies of the victims.

Chinese Are Back In Their Hillside Caves

SEOUL, Sunday, Nov. 16 (AP)—Victorious South Korean troops, once more astride the crest of Sniper Ridge, drove Chinese Reds back into their caves Saturday 400 yards north of the crest.

Allied fighter-bombers pounded the honeycomb of tunnels and trenches called the Yoke. The underground network at the northern end of Sniper Ridge is the jump off point for Chinese attacks in the blazing Central Front ridge battle.

A forward observer reported direct bomb hits on the Red redoubt. South Koreans have tried repeatedly to capture the Yoke but have not been able to burn the Reds out.

It was an old story for the Republic of Korea troops. They recaptured Pinpoint Hill, dominating height of Sniper Ridge, at dawn Saturday for the 15th time in 31 days. So long as the Yoke remains in Red hands, Allied control of Pinpoint Hill is shaky.

ROK infantrymen also chased Chinese troops back to Little Finger Ridge, angling sharply from the main hill mass of Sniper Ridge.

However, the Reds took advantage of stony ground to slow the ROK advance by nightfall.

About 20 miles farther west, other U. S. Eighth Army troops won back Jackson Heights, north of Chorwon. They had yielded it twice to Chinese Red assault forces since midnight Friday.

The aerial war flared anew in clearing weather. U. S. Sabre jets reported their first kill in nine days. The Air Force said Sabres shot down a Communist MIG deep over Northwest Korea.

U. S. F84 Thunderjets struck at a large Communist troop concentration west of the North Korean capital at Pyongyang. Pilots said they destroyed 70 buildings. The Thunderjets dumped thousands of gallons of flaming napalm (jellied gasoline) on the target area at 50-foot altitude. The entire target area was reported bathed in flames.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force reported the loss of three Allied planes in the week ended Friday midnight. None was lost in combat. The were lost to ground fire and other causes, the Air Force said. For the first time in nearly 15 months Allied pilots made no claim of shooting down a Communist plane during a week.

Tumor Weighs 184 Pounds

GALVESTON, Nov. 15 (AP) —A tumor weighing 184 pounds has been removed from a 44-year-old mother at John Sealy Hospital here.

The woman was getting along "fine," her doctor said today.

Dr. Dan Eanes, who performed the three-hour operation Thursday, said the tumor is the largest ever removed at the hospital.

He said it was also the biggest he's seen and probably among the largest in the history of medicine.

Dr. Eanes said the woman was sitting up in bed today "feeling fine."

He estimated the woman's normal weight at about 130 pounds and quoted the woman as saying the tumor, an ovarian cyst, had developed within the past year.

The woman is of Latin-American descent and has several children.

Dr. Eanes said her case became known when a teacher visited the home to see why the children were not attending school regularly.

The surgeon said he was told it was necessary to break down the front door of the woman's modest home to get her out and she needed the help of four persons to arise from a sitting position.

Americans Are Unpopular In England Again

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force is taking direct action to combat reported bad feeling between some British civilians and American airmen in Britain.

Maj. Gen. Francis H. Griswold has scheduled a series of flying visits to all nine major American air bases in England, beginning Monday, to lecture on the importance of good behavior. He is commander of the U. S. Third Air Force in Britain.

A reindoctrination campaign is under way to drive home to fliers and ground staffs alike—a total of 45,000 men — the desirability of maintaining friendly relations with their British allies.

The Air Force also has started on-the-spot checks of conditions in cities, near American bases, publicized by some British newspapers as trouble zones.

Officers said today the investigation so far has showed little evidence of serious trouble between the airmen and civilians, though they did not deny some antagonism. They blamed Communists and sensatonalized reports of occasional trouble for stirring up much of the bad feeling.

Griswold told a reporter that incidents are relatively few and often are considerably exaggerated.

"We have every reason to believe that the behavior of our forces generally is good," the general said. "We aim to make sure it stays that way."

The Air Force's counteraction followed publication last week of a report by a private 14-member British and American group saying "the situation is serious" and calling for joint British and American action to correct it.

Five Injured When Passenger Train And Freight Crack Up

LOUDONVILLE, O., Nov. 15 (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad's speedy Manhattan limited and a 97-car freight train piled up like Jackstraws west of Loudonville today. Five persons were hurt.

Railroaders said a broken truck on a baggage car may have caused the Manhattan to leave the tracks only seconds before it met the freight.

The wreckage blocked three Pennsylvania tracks. Repair crews opened one wrecked track by midmorning, a second by mid-afternoon and planned to reopen the third by early evening.

Toll of the pile-up apparently was kept at a minimum because the freight train hit the strayed passenger cars at low speed, although top normal freight speed is 50 miles an hour.

Royal Prince Can Talk Back

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Prince Charles, heir apparent to the British throne, proved today that even royal kids sometimes talk back to their elders.

The young prince, who celebrated his fourth birthday yesterday, was taken to a children's concert by his grandmother, the Queen Mother Elizabeth at the Royal Festival Hall.

He sat enraptured at the beginning.

But about half way through, he began to fidget and lose interest.

His grandmother decided he had had enough and it was time for him to go home to Buckingham Palace.

His nurse tried to lead him out. Charlie refused. His grandmother had to take him by the hand and shepherd him out of the royal box. Then she returned to listen to the rest of the concert.

Later, Lady Mayer, wife of Sir Robert Mayer, who sponsors the concerts, said:

"His grandmother decided that he should leave about half way through the concert. When she told him, 'Now you are going,' he said, 'No, I don't want to,' and he would not go until she went with him."

Cabinet Posts Are Discussed

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 15 (AP) — President - elect Dwight D. Eisenhower conferred today with Walter Williams, Seattle businessman, and Williams said afterward they discussed "in a general way" the possibility of his taking a cabinet post.

Williams, who headed the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee during the campaign, said in response to questions at a news conference that he feels his background might qualify him to serve either as secretary of commerce or secretary of the interior.

He declined to say whether Eisenhower actually had offered him a cabinet assignment in the new Republican administration.

Williams, 57, heads Continental Inc., in Seattle — an insurance, banking and mortgage firm. He said he came to Eisenhower's vacation retreat primarily to discuss the future of the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee, generally credited with having played a major role in helping to win the presidential nomination and the election for the general. The organization's efforts were directed mainly toward winning the support of independent votes and disgruntled Democrats.

Government Is Quiet On Bomb

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today appeared to be waiting until the end of its series of atomic tests before making any comment on reports that a hydrogen bomb was exploded.

A growing flood of letters from military personnel attached to the task force at the Eniwetok proving grounds in the Central Pacific point to Nov. 1 as the date on which an H-bomb was set off.

Without confirming or denying this, the commission has let it be known some kind of an announcement would be made "when feasible."

Spokesmen did not specify how the announcement would be made or by whom.

Previous tests, at Eniwetok and in Nevada, have been announced by the commission itself or by the White House.

2 Injured In Wreck Here

Two persons were injured, neither seriously, at about 10 o'clock yesterday morning when their pickup was in a collision with a transport truck one and one-fourth miles outside the city limits on the Post Highway.

They were S. G. Lunsford, 79, and his wife, 70, who were in the pickup.

The White truck, owned by the Ince Transport Co. of Lubbock, was heading toward Snyder on the Post Highway. It was driven by George Y. Morgan, 35, of Lubbock, who was not injured. The 1950 Ford pickup was heading north onto the highway off a new cut-off route between the Lamesa and Post Highways.

Mr. and Mrs. Lunsford were taken to the Battenfield Hospital in a Bolger ambulance. Hospital attendants said their condition is not serious. They are being kept at the hospital for further observation.

Hurricane Season Ends And No Drought-breaking Rain Seen

By The Associated Press

Hurricane season is officially over, darn it, or maybe hooray.

Fortunately, there were no vicious winds whirling out of the Gulf of Mexico this year, slamming across the Texas Coastal Plains, flattening crops, battering cities, perhaps killing people.

Fortunately or unfortunately, as you choose, newspapermen didn't get to indulge in fine writing about lashed streets.

And distinctly on the unfortunate side, there were no hurricane-rains.

There would have been rains—bound to have been—if a hurricane had come even as close as Tampico, Mex. A giant tropical twister striking closer or hitting the Texas coast probably would break the three-year drought.

But hurricane season ended officially at midnight Saturday—as quietly as it began for Texas June 15. There was "an area of suspicion" off the Florida coast late Saturday—but it was still about 600 miles away and not yet a hurricane.

These tropical storms hardly ever develop out of season. So the Weather Bureau ended the 24-hour watch it began June 15 on a teletype circuit from Miami to Brownsville.

The Texas drought didn't end. Scattered showers were forecast for Sunday and again for Wednesday, but they weren't expected to amount to much. And the Texas Forest Service was worried for fear deer and turkey hunters would start fires in the piney woods.

The last time a hurricane had any effect at all on Texas was Aug. 22, 1951. The storm hit Tampico and carried rain as far north as Brownsville.

The last time a hurricane actually hit Texas was Oct. 3-4, 1949. It moved inland at Freeport and tore across Brazoria, Fort Bend, Galveston and Harris Counties. It did an estimated six and a half million dollars in damage. It killed two persons.

It also produced rain over most of Texas, heaviest in the eastern third of the state. Splendora had 11.70 inches in 24 hours. Houston had 17 inches during the hurricane's two-day spree in Texas.

"That's what we need, all right—a hurricane," a weathermas said Saturday. "We don't wish anybody any hard luck, you understand. But we sure need the rain."

Now if a hurricane would just build up, move in, stop 50 miles or so off shore and spread four or five inches of slow, steady rain from Brownsville to Dalhart and Texarkana to El Paso, well. . .

Five Killed On Highway 80

BIG SPRING, Nov. 15 (AP)—Five persons in a pickup truck were killed tonight in a collision with a truck near a curve on Highway 80 about four miles west of here.

The truck driver escaped uninjured.

Two men, a woman and two children were killed.

The men were identified tentatively from papers as Ishmeal Donaldson, 29, and employe of the Wooley Tool Co. of Odessa, and Glendon Wallace, 21, Odessa.

Officers theorized the others were the wife and two children—about 2 and 3 years old—of Donaldson.

The driver of the big truck was Norman Ledford of Odessa.

Man Shot To Death

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15 (AP)—Forest McNeel, 38, father of six, was shot to death today as he stood in a yard at Arlington.

His wife, sitting in the family car nearby, saw the shooting. A 35-year-old man was arrested.

44 Killed In Air Crash Near Seoul

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 15 (AP) — A big Air Force Flying Boxcar carrying U. S. troops and a load of Christmas presents from Japan crashed into a mountain near Seoul yesterday, killing all 44 persons aboard.

The Air Force called it the "worst transport disaster" since the Korean War began. The troops were on their way back to war duty after short five-day leaves in Japan.

A ground party reached the burned wreckage late Saturday and expected to return to the Seoul area about midnight with the bodies of 37 soldiers and seven Air Force crewmen.

The plane smashed into a "V" shaped point about 2,200 feet high where two mountain ridges joined some 18 miles east of Seoul. The terrain was so rugged helicopters could not land.

A reporter who accompanied the ground party to the scene said four of the victims were in parachute harness with their 'chutes open. No one could say whether they had cleared the plane before it crashed.

Korean peasants using sign language told the search party they had seen five chutes stream from the plane.

The reporter, Patricia Scott of the English language Nippon Times in Tokyo wrote:

"The wreckage was in two sections, about 100 yards apart. Personal effects including pictures of loved ones and Christmas presents bought in Japan, were strewn on the hillside.

"It was a pitiful sight. As I walked through the wreckage, I found many Christmas presents that the fellows had brought while on R. and R. (rest and recreation) in Japan.

"There were many gifts for women and children. One of them was a little pair of pink pajamas for a child. It was partly burned.

"One duffle bag contained a lady's wrist watch and a small record player. I also saw several pairs of embroidered satin ladies slippers of Japanese make."

Week End Violent Deaths Are Climbing, Reach 19 Saturday

By The Associated Press

Violent deaths took 19 lives in Texas Friday and Saturday.

Traffic took the largest toll, but fires and shootings added to the list of reported violent deaths.

A man and a woman were shot to death on a country road outside Abilene Saturday afternoon. The victims were Mrs. Fred Ohlenbusch, about 40, Sweetwater, and James Henley, 44, Abilene.

A farmer near Troup, Jim Cates, 61, shot himself to death Saturday after he had wounded his wife critically. The shooting followed an argument as the couple rode to town in a wagon with their 15-year-old daughter. The daughter saw the shooting.

An accidental shooting Saturday took the life of Leonard Phillips, 11, as he played with an old rifle at his home near Lufkin.

Earl Shattuck, 29, Lubbock, and Miss Pauline Fisher were killed in a head-on automobile collision near Hale Center in West Texas.

In South Texas Saturday Donald Cox, 27, Iowa City, Iowa, was killed in an accident involving two trucks near Victoria.

In Dallas, Mrs. Lewis R. Ferguson, 68, was killed in an automobile collision Saturday.

The body of Mrs. Effie Hankamer, 42, Peaumont, missing on a fishing trip, was found Saturday in Galveston's east bay.

Arnold Conway, 33, of Acme died several hours after he was burned in an early morning explosion and fire at the Kimbell Oil Mill in Sherman Saturday. Glen Moore, 24, of Sherman, and Lloyd Waggoner, 32, of Gainesville, were critically burned.

Mrs. Lucy McIntyre Reynolds, 68, wife of Police Chief Ben Reynolds, Albany, and her sister, Mrs. Ella Nowlin, 66, of Milton, Ky., were killed in a car-truck collision near Hamilton Friday.

Roy Swisher, 72, of Newton, Ill., died in a head-on collision Friday night north of Dallas. Five other persons were injured.

At Houston the body of a man believed to be Ollie Mahan, about 60, was found in the ruins of a vacant tavern building destroyed by fire early Saturday.

The body of Dr. John Strickland, Alice, was found beside the wreckage of his light airplane in a plowed field six miles west of Sinton Saturday. The plane crashed Friday night.

Billy Jones, 14, Hamilton, a winner in the district Future Farmers of America leadership contest, was fatally injured when the auto in which he and four other youths were riding overturned near Hico Saturday. None of the others was injured.

Acheson Seeking Ike's Views On U. S. Policy In Korea Way

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—In an effort to take the lame duck tag off the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, Secretary of State Acheson will seek assurances from President-elect Eisenhower next week that he supports present American diplomatic policy in Korea.

A spokesman said the secretary will sit in on Eisenhower's conferences with President Truman to get an "indication of Ike's approach" to the question of forcibly sending home Red prisoners who say they don't want to go as well as to other questions facing the U. N.

The spokesman said Acheson is well aware that Eisenhower neither could nor would take responsibility for decisions reached before inauguration day next Jan. 20, but hopes for an expression of his "general views."

The U. S. delegation has repeatedly told representatives of other countries here that the refusal to send home North Korean and Chinese prisoners at the point of a bayonet is a bi-partisan decision, reached after wide conferences in Washington and after ascertaining the views of other countries with troops in Korea.

The delegation has also said the American view on such problems as Morocco and Tunisia and U. S. contributions to the U. N. budget will not be sensationally different under a Republican administration. The budget position was pointed up by having Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis), prospective chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the new Congress, handle it here.

Despite these assurances, many delegations have been uneasy about new American policy and have hesitated to back up U. S. stands which they fear might change overnight.

Uncertainty about the real authority of the U. S. delegation as well as the stone-wall opposition of the Soviet bloc to the policy of voluntary repatriation has slowed the Korean debate to a crawl.

Local Officials Doubt Worth Of Giving Intoxication Tests

One of the most frequent charges seen on the criminal dockets of county courts is driving while intoxicated and the vast majority of persons so charged plead guilty and pay fines without contesting the cases.

Evidence admitted in the trials of those who contest the cases is usually testimony of witnesses, which include arresting officers, complainants, informants, witnesses to accidents, doctors, nurses, and ambulance drivers. Witnesses also may include persons who testify of seeing the accused shortly before he is arrested.

Once in a while an accused person complains at his trial that he was not given a blood test at the time of arrest to determine whether he was intoxicated or the extent of his intoxication.

This seldom happens, however, according to Keith L. Merrick, county attorney, who has prosecuted many cases of this kind. Merrick, who says the law in Texas does not require that any kind of test be given an accused person, says there are varying opinions as to the value of such tests.

An intoxication test is actually a form of testimony directly from the accused, and therefore, such a test could be construed to mean that an intoxicated person so tested is testifying against himself if the findings are introduced as evidence. Before such can be admitted in evidence, the accused person must give his consent. The consent of a person to be given a test, if he is actually intoxicated, is the consent of an intoxicated person; and there is another question: is it right to take the consent of one intoxicated? Then, of course, he may refuse to consent to the introduction of the test in evidence.

Self incriminailton is a thing all persons in the United States are protected from by the Constitution, and for this reason, many hold that it is unlawful to test a person without his consent. The same is true concerning the matching of a shoe or hat found at the scene of a crime to the person accused in the crime. You can't make the accused person try on the hat or shoe. Of course, he can voluntarily try on the garments, and one could volunteer also to take a blood test for intoxicatino.

Just as there are varying opinions on the value of tests, there are also variations of opinions as to whether tests should be required or forbidden. One West Texas district judge ruled in recent years that no blood tests for intoxication would be admissible in his court. Also, the court of criminal appeals in Austin recently dismissed several hundred old cases that were pending in which the accused protested conviction on grounds they were not given blood tests.

A third reason many officers, judges, and prosecutors place little value on intoxication tests is that the tests vary in value, and persons tested having varying affects on the tests. For instance, one person may become senselessly intoxicated after drinking a certain amount of liquor, while another person may take the same amount and retain most of his faculties. Others may be just as intoxicated as the staggering drunk by reason of his frequent use of liquor. A blood test determines the amount taken, not the degree of its effect.

Inconvenience of giving tests is a problem. Often officers are too busy at the time of an arrest to take a man to a hospital or laboratory for a test. And often the arrested person objects to the test, then contests the charge against him after he is sober and in the courtroom on grounds nd test was given.

If a test is not given very soon after an arrest, the test is useless. This is another reason many object to it. Some say that often a test cannot be given for two or three hours because of other circumstances such as injuries in an accident, distance from hospitals, etc.

Other tests include various examinations by use of rubber balloons, urinalysis, breath spectrometers, etc., but the blood test is considered by most authorities to be by far the most nearly accurate.

A balloon test measures the amount of alcohol being given off through the breath. A drawback to this type test is that a person who fills his mouth with liquor, does not swallow a drop, then exhales into a ballon could give the balloon the same result an intoxicated person could.

The summary is that the value of tests remains a matter of opinion. Merrick says the state law, however, is more than a matter of opinion, although opinions as to its violations and various interpretations are often given.

By law, a person in Texas is deemed to be intoxicated if he does not have full use of all his faculties by reason of the recent use of intoxicating liquor.

This rules out the refuge of the frequent cry that a person was drinking and a little topsy but was not intoxicated.

Another point of the law is that it is a violation to drive a motor vehicle upon a public highway or street "while under the influence of intoxicating liquor." A person may be relatively sober but still "under the influence" if the liquor has in any way caused him to lose even a small portion of any one of his normal faculties.

Only One Candidate For Each Council Post, Deadline Passes

Election by acclamation appears to be in store for the seven men who announced as candidates for city offices to be filled in the special city election Dec. 16.

Late yesterday afternoon no contests had appeared for any of the six council seats or the office of mayor. One man had announced for each position.

Dr. Robert H. Hargrove, 32-year-old dentist and former councilman, was the last candidate to announce. He is running for place No. 4 on the council.

The native of West Texas was born in Rotan, Oct. 12, 1921.

Earlier this year Hargrove was elected in the city general election to the city council, but forfeited his seat on the council when he moved from Ward No. 1, North Snyder, to Southwest Snyder.

The new candidate is a former president of the Snyder Junior Chamber of Commerce, and is vice president of the Seventeenth District Dental Society. He is married and has two children, he has lived in Snyder for the past three years.

Harry T. Holbrook, owner of Sunset Courts, is the only candidate for mayor. Council candidates for places in this order are: Eugene E. Harper, owner of Pal-O-Mar Cortel; J.L. (Broadway) Browning, real estate dealer; C. N. von Roeder, rental property owner; Hargrove; Malven K. Stevenson, one of the owners of Sunbeam Cash Food Market; and James W. Phillips, owner of Phillips Bros. Hardware.

None of the present office-holders had announced for re-election by 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

They are: Forest G. Sears mayor; and councilmen J. Elmo Crowder, N. R. Clements, R. B. Sears, Jack Contella, Claud Lloyd, and John P. DeShazo.

One other man indicated early yesterday morning that he might announce for one of the offices, but later returned to the city hall and told Mrs. Clara Jones, city secretary, that he decided not to run.

The election set for Dec. 16, was made necessary by the adoption of a new city charter by voters here in a special election Oct. 21.

Absentee balloting in the election will start Nov. 25 and end Dec. 12. The city council has authorized purchase of 25 special absentee ballot forms, but only a few are expected to be used.

Start Building On Girl Scout Meeting Place

Construction was started last week on a new meeting place for the Girl Scouts here, Mrs. George Frazier of the Alpha Study Club announced.

The club, which sparked the drive to raise funds for the building, turned over $5,500 to G. B. Clark, Jr., a member of the local Girl Scout executive committee. Clark took charge of letting the contracts and overseeing construction.

The building is going up on land donated by Wade and Harrie Winston just west of Avenue V on Thirty-fifth Street. Surveying was donated by the Arch Wilson Engineering Co.

Frank Montgomery Dirt Contractors donated the dirt work completed last week and E. L. Fikes Construction Co. holds the contract on the building.

The meeting place will be of concrete block construction with an over hanging roof, Mrs. Frazier said. Dimensions are 20 feet by 36 feet. It will have a fireplace and powder room, she stated.

The study club had first planned to hold up construction until a temporary school building promised by the school board could be made available. The temporary building will be in use by the schools until the new high school is completed and this may take more than another year, she said.

The decision was made to go ahead with construction and add the temporary building as a kitchen when it is no longer needed by the schools.

Construction time is estimated at 30 days.

Warden Holds Disabled Prisoner Extra Month

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 15 (AP)—How can a warden let a prisoner walk free when he can't walk?

Warden Joseph E. Ragen of Stateville Prison wants help in answering that question and in deciding the future of the prisoner who is due for release but is paralyzed.

Ragen said John Long, 38, was due for release Friday, after serving more than eight years of a five to 15 year sentence for robbery.

Long is being kept in his cell for an additional 30 days, however, while Ragen seeks assistance in providing for Long's future care.

The prisoner, Ragen said, has no friends in the state and has no money.

Ragen said he arranged to keep Long legally imprisoned for another month by withdrawing some time granted him for good behavior.

Long is demanding his freedom immediately, Ragen said.

Long, who was paralyzed below the waist in an accident at the Menard State Prison, cannot move about without the aid of a wheel chair.

Enlisted Men Aren't Getting Long Leaves

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP) — Basic training will continue through the coming Christmas and New Year period for most of the recruits in the armed forces, the Defense Department disclosed today.

The Army had previously announced its intention to continue recruit training through the festive season, except for one-day passes which may be given individual recruits on Christmas and New Year Day.

Army personnel engaged in advanced and specialized training and those who are assigned to tactical units, however, stand to get about eight days of leave during the holiday season. The Army has ordered suspension of all except basic training from Dec. 20 to Jan. 5. The Army said this means that normally about half of those eligible will be given leave over Christmas and the remainder over the New Year.

The Navy holiday schedule calls for the suspension of advanced and specialized training from Dec. 20 to Jan. 4 and will permit recruits who have completed six weeks of boot camps to take leave during the festive season. But such time off will be subtracted from the leave normally granted men upon completion of basic training. The Navy has interpreted this ruling to mean that men who report to recruit training centers on or after Nov. 1 will be ineligible for holiday leave.

The Air Force likewise will continue both basic training and crew training throughout the last two weeks of December and the first week of the New Year. But regional commanders have been instructed to be as liberal as possible in granting time off for other personnel.

The Marine Corps holiday schedule likewise continues basic training and prohibits extended leaves for men earmarked as replacements for overseas units.

Editors Association Opposes Secrecy In Government Bodies

BOSTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Managing editors of the nation said today that secrecy is the "refuge of corrupt, wicked and reactionary government" and urged complete freedom of information concerning government agencies.

Specifically, the concluding session of the annual meeting of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association recommended revocation of President Truman's order of Sept. 25, 1951 restricting information on activities of federal bodies.

Congress and state legislatures were urged, in a resolution on freedom of information, "to give the most careful scrutiny to all enactments to see to it that provision is made for the full disclosure to the public of those transcations of government that are the just and proper concern of the public . . ."

The resolution continued: "And be it further resolved that the officers of the government of the United States, the officials of the several states, and those of the counties and cities of the United States, be and hereby are urged to conduct publicly the public business, to make continuously that full disclosure of all public transactions that is the foundation of our freedom and the surest safeguard against corruption and malfeasance, tyranny and oppression."

The editors also proposed that authority to classify documents into categories of "top secret," "secret," "confidential," and "restricted," be limited to military security agencies.

Continuous review of such classifications by an "authority other than the classifying authority" was recommended by the group.

A pledge of assistance was given to James A. Pope of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal in his sustained fight for freedom of information. Pope, retiring APME director, is chairman of the Committee on Freedom of Information of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Another resolution appealed to the federal government to "press for the release" of AP Correspondent William N. Oatis, serving a 10-year prison term in Czechoslovakia on espionage charges brought by the Communist regime.

Norman E. Isaacs of the Louisville (Ky.) Times, newly elected APME president, urged more attention be given to development of supervisory personnel, both by individual newspapers and The AP.

"We need an 'in-training' program," Isaacs declared, "to improve personnel affairs in the newspaper business. The industry needs a massive re-tooling because you're not going to get creative newspapering without creating newspapermen.

"We'd like to see The AP put a tool in its own hands to improve not only The AP report, but eventually all newspapers."

Isaacs stated that good personnel handling in the newspaper business "is largely non-existent." He criticized current methods of selecting supervisors, charging that many persons not qualified for the positions were promoted without sufficient consideration to their abilities in that direction.

Frank J. Starzel, AP general manager, said The AP has a program for developing potential supervisory talent, adding: "A good reporter is not necessarily qualified for a supervisory position. You can spoil a good reporter in many instances, by giving him supervisory duties."

With the wind-up of the business session, the delegates went to Providence, R. I., to attend the Harvard-Brown football game. The final convention activity was a shore dinner sponsored by the Providence Journal-Bulletin.

Nazi's Sentence Cut By Criminal Court

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 15 (AP) —A Munich criminal court ruled today that the killing of captured American bomber crews in Germany in the last war "did not constitute murder."

Reducing the charge against a minor Nazi party official from complicity in murder to complicity in manslaughter, the court of 12 lay judges said "bomb attacks against the civil population violated the Hague Convention and possibly were crimes against humanity."

The population, it added, was stirred by these attacks to "understandable excitement."

Hans Rupert Villechner, 47, former Nazi district leader in suburban Freising and a war invalid, was sentenced to three years' imprisonment on the reduced charge. The prosecution, which had asked nine years, announced it would appeal.

Villechner was accused of failing to intervene when two Nazi storm troopers killed an American airman in 1944, after he had parachuted from his disabled plane. The storm troopers were convicted of murder by an American military tribunal at Dachau and hanged at Landsberg Prison soon after the war.

Two School Nurses Are Always Alert To Health Of Charges

School health care has advanced considerably since the days the school mar'm decided it was measles and sat the pupil in the corner

Wednesday through Friday Snyder public school children will be having their teeth checked by three local dentists. Previously the children were given visual and auditory tests administered by two school nurses, Mrs. Eula Williams and Mrs. Nell Spence.

The children who fail tests given with an audiometer are rechecked with the tests being recorded on an audiogram chart. If they fail again the parents are advised to take their child to the family physicians. A followup check is made by the nurses later to see if any attempt has been made to correct the defect.

Due to such tests in the past month 28 children have been fitted with glasses, two have had tonsillectomies and a number have reported to specialists, the nurses said. "We're getting wonderful reception to our eye tests, but the public isn't as well educated on hearing difficulties," Mrs. Williams stated.

The key to a student's misbehavior and poor grades often lies in a sight or auditory defect, she explained. "When a student can't hear what is going on around him, he's just lost," she said. His psychological well-being is often affected by his physical well-being, she said.

Frequently the nurse takes the place of a counselor and listens to problems that range from dating to home life. "A broken home can affect a child quicker than anything," she stated. Counseling is more extensive in the junior high and high schools than in the grade schools, "because they are older and have more problems," she added.

Occasionally the child will come to school sick, but Mrs. Williams said she realizes that the parents aren't aware of it at all times. "We make it a point never to send a sick child home without first making sure a parent is there," she said.

Colds seems to be the biggest reason for absenteeism although there are cases of measles, chicken pox, and three or four cases of scarlet fever, Mrs. Williams said. Because the school enrollment is transient, measles hit here every year instead of every other year, she stated. "But it should be years before we ever have another case of mumps. I've never seen as many as we had 3 years ago," she said.

Whooping cough and diptheria are rarely in evidence because parents are more conscience of serums now, she said. The project of immunizing the students is being given further study by the school, she added.

The schools are always prepared should any accidents occur. All the teachers in the elementary schools and the physical education instructors and principals are equipped with first-aid kits which are very adequate, Mrs. Williams said.

Deer Hunters Reminded Of Laws On game

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP) — Deer hunters will fire away early tomorrow morning in hope of bagging the first buck of the Texas season.

The turkey season gets started at the same time.

Fair shooting was predicted for deer hunters by Executive Secretary Howard Dodgen of the Game Commission, who reminded sportsmen of major regulations for the general season extending through Dec. 31.

He particularly emphasized that game wardens are not privileged to ignore violations. For example, if a hunter shoots a doe deer he must be prosecuted regardless of the circumstances unless it is the rare case of a doe having horns.

Be sure you don't shoot a buck deer bearing less than the legal pronged horn, Dodgen also warned.

Dodgen said some other regulations which should be remembered by the estimated 100,000 or more deer hunters are these:

1. Two legal deer are allowed each hunter and the law requires a paper tag from the hunter's own license to be securely attached to the carcass. A good way to do this, Dodgen suggested, is to slit a small pocket in the hide to insert the tag.

2. Hunting from public roads or on enclosed land without permission of the landowner is prohibited by law. Dogs or deer calls cannot be used but horn rattling is permitted.

3. Shooting hours are from one half hour before sunrise to one half hour after sunset.

Wild turkey regulations are similar, with a bag limit of three gobblers for the entire season.

Xmas Shopping Starts Here

Thirty - two shopping days remain before Christmas rolls around, and Snyder merchants began this week to urge residents to begin their shopping now and avoid the last minute rush.

"Shop early — enjoy Christmas more" is their slogan as they begin their pre-Christmas specials.

Most of the merchants here have already filled their shelves with giftware — everything from toys to clothing — and they urge shoppers to begin now so they will have ample time to choose the best gifts.

The stores are open later on Thursday and Saturday nights now, and they will begin Christmas store hours Dec. 18, opening at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and closing at 7:30 o'clock at night every shopping day until Christmas.

Army Is Building Up Unit Of Light Planes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Army, under a new agreement with the Air Force, is beginning to build up its own specialized aviation unit to a total strength of about 2,200 helicopters and light planes.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, made available to reporters today the terms of a "memorandum of understanding" with the Air Force outlining the types of aircraft operated by the Army and the areas and conditions under which they operate.

"We definitely are not duplicating the functions of the Air Force," Collins declared. "There is no such thing as an Army 'air corps.' These planes and men will be an integral part of the infantry."

He explained that what the Army has started to do is to provide a helicopter and light plane lift for soldiers and weapons "within a combat zone." This aim is to supplement and speed up conventional truck-type transport and to make it possible to take men and weapons into otherwise inaccessible places on the battle line.

While the Army is preparing thus to provide its own airlift within the combat zone, Collins explained this does not mean it also intends to have its own transports for airborne forces.

Three Snyder men show 200 pounds of their catch of blue cat and channel cat they brought back Monday from Don Martins, Mexico. Left to right, the men are Mac McReary, Bill Boyd, and Harry Dean. A fourth man in the party, L. C. Morgan, had not returned from the lake in which they were fishing. He had stayed there to catch mountain trout and bass. Fishing there three days, the men caught these fish. The largest one, shown on the far left, is a blue cat weighing 40 pounds. All the fish were caught on a trot line.

Irish Fumble Away Mich. State Game

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—An unexpected offensive weapon — the Notre Dame fumble — gave Michigan State's Don McAuliffe a chance to score the two touchdowns that were the heart of the Sapartans' 21-3 victory over the Irish here today.

Michigan State recovered seven Notre Dame fumbles during the defensive thriller watched by a record crowd of 52,472 in Macklin Stadium. Five times the Spartans muffed scoring chances but the law of averages gave them the day and left them unbeaten in 23 games.

Notre Dame's field goal also was set up by a fumble—for a change by Michigan State.

The Irish bobbled the ball three times in the first half but Michigan State couldn't make its scoring magic work and the game was a goose-egg tie at the intermission.

Michigan State recovered four Irish fumbles in the third quarter, where most of the scoring was concentrated, and scored twice.

Dick Tamburo recovered when Joe Heap dropped the ball to put MSC in position for the first score. Michigan State took over on the Notre Dame 14-yard line, worked the ball down to the 9, was helped to the 1 by a penalty and then McAuliffe broke over through left guard.

Hank Bullough grabbed the second important fumble, by Francis Paterra, on the Notre Dame 21. After four plunges put Michigan State on the Irish 5, a penalty gave an assist to the 1-yard line and again McAuliffe was able to throw himself over.

Defenseman Jimmy Ellis intercepted a pass by Ralph Guglielmi and sprinted to the Notre Dame 25 to set the stage for the final score. Fullback Evan Slonac, who had a perfect day with his extra point tries, raced around end for the score.

Billy Wells fumbled for Michigan State as the second half opened and John Lattner recovered. Notre Dame got down as far as the Michigan State 6 but had to try for a fourth down field goal. Sophomore Bob Arrix split the goal posts to put Nore Dame briefly in the lead, 3-0.

Coach Biggie Munn's famous offence, which has been averaging better than 440 yards a game, was held to 128 yards rushing and 41 yards through passes.

Willie Thrower, the Negro passer, was at quarterback when all three touchdowns were made. Michigan State was hitting high and hard, which accounts somewhat for the fatal attack of Notre Dame fumbleitis.

Hermleigh In Bi-district Playoff Soon

The Hermleigh Cardinals captured their third district championship in a row Friday night when they downed Trent 38-6 and remained undefeated in district play and their 10 season games.

The win qualified the Cardinals for a meeting with Sanderson, which is champ of District 6-B for its second year in a row, for the bi-district contest. Last year, Sanderson took Hermleigh 20-13 in the bi-district tilt. Game time for this year's tilt has not been definitely set, but the game will be played in Snyder in the near future, Coach Charlie White said.

The Trent Gorillas scored only once against the Cardinals when Halfback Phill Goodwin ran 90 yards to the goal line.

Dickie Wall, fullback who was back in the game after several days off the field with an injured ankle, made the first Cardinal tally in the first period on a short run. In the second quarter, Quarterback Floyd Hacker and Halfback Douglas Chitsey each scored touchdowns. Kemp McMillan and Charlie Rhinehart were the other Cardinals scorers. Gerald Jordan and Joe Groves booted the extra points.

Coahoma, the top contender in the district which lost only to Hermleigh during the season, ran away with the game in a tilt with Ira, 79-0.

The victory held the Coahoma squad in second place with a 7-1 record, while Ira remained on the bottom without a win.

Scorers for Coahoma were Garry Hoover, J. Spears, Billy Cramer, Jerris Springfield, Bill Read, Billy Dickson, Darrel Robinson. Cramer scored four time.

While Coahoma scored 12 touchdowns and six extra points, Ira never moved inside the Coahoma 20. Coahoma had 17 first downs to Ira's six.

Hobbs, the third place team with a 4-2 record, tied Loraine, the No. 4 team with 4-3 by a score of 13-13. Trent holds fifth place in the district, and Robert Lee, which did not play this week, is sixth. Bronte, which defeated Divide 60-6 Friday night, is seventh with 2-4, and Ira and Divide both hold 0-7 records.

Cornell's Fast Plays Down Dartmouth 13-7

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—Two lightning strikes in five minutes—a 60-yard run by fullback Guy Bedrossian and a 55-yard dash with an intercepted pass by Russ MacLeod—gave downtrodden Cornell a 13-7 upset victory over Dartmouth today.

Twice halted deep in Cornell territory in the opening period, Dartmouth salvaged its only touchdown in the last quarter when halfback Russ Smale took a Cornell punt in mid-field and raced 50 yards for the score.

Mississippi Will Go To Sugar Bowl Game

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Mississippi's team climaxed its stunning upset victory over unbeaten Maryland today by accepting a bid to meet unbeaten Georgia Tech in the Suagr Bowl New Years Day.

The game will mark the first meeting of two Southeastern Conference teams in the bowl since it was inaugurated in 1935.

Mississippi's 21-14 victory over Maryland was its seventh triumph. The Rebels have been held to ties by Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

Georgia Tech earned its ninth straight victory today by tumbling a stubborn Alabama team 7-3.

OPEN SEASON

By DALE WALTON

A large number of Snyder sports fans would like to see Breckenridge become a member of Snyder's District 1-AAA, according to a survey made this week.

Breckenridge, recently booted out of District 2-AAA, has applied for admission into this district. The schools voting them out gave as their reason that the Breckenridge high school enrollment had fallen down. It is down to about 450 students, low enough that they cannot force themselves into Class AAA but high enough that they can remain in that class if they are accepted by any district.

Whether they will be granted membership in this district for the 1953-54 season will be decided by the member schools in the next meeting of representatives at the site of the bi-district game. If they are not given membership, they will drop to District 10-AA.

Of 10 active backers of the Snyder team surveyed this week, only one did not think Breckenridge should be brought into the district. He was Dr. Billy J. Weaver, who said, "We have a large enough district now. Other schools, like Levelland and Pecos will be large enough to advance to Class AAA later. Both are in this area and will need a district."

All the remaining nine agreed that the Buckaroos should be allowed to participate in this district. "The only thing I could see against it is that Breckenridge might dominate the district, but at the same time it would make this district one of the strongest in the state, and that's what we want," U. D. Walker said. He added "Snyder might not win a district championship but once every 10 years but having Breckenridge in the district would add prestige. We would also have more district games instead of forcing the boys to go so far away to play ball."

"I'd like to see them in our district," Bill Morgan said, "I know they have a good team, but this is a rougher district than the one they are now in. I think we could learn a lot of football by playing them."

The Rev. Ronald Hubbard said, "I think they should be let in. The fine brand of ball they play should certainly be made available to some AAA district."

"I think it's a dirty shame that they got run out of their district after playing the type ball they have played," Carl Herod said. "If a kid can play that class of ball in AAA he sould be able to play there. It would mean rougher competition to us, but sometimes the better the competition the better your own team. I'd like to see this district take them in. Breckenridge is not too far away from here. They have always played good clean football, and it's a credit to play against them or be in the same district."

Forrest Beavers commented, "They're just another Class AAA high school, and I think in times to come we will take care of them as well as the others. Football is a flexible sort of thing—sometimes your team is up, sometimes down. We're just as good as they are, and we can beat them some years."

Bill Grimmett, who has two sons playing on the team now, one a junior and one a freshman, said "I don't see anything wrong with letting them in. It will be rough competition, but I don't think it will be any rougher than what we now have. I think we'll be just as good as they are in times to come."

"It would be a shame if Breckenridge had to go down to a lower class, and I think they would be a good crowd gatherer for every team they play. Playing them once a year wouldn't hurt us," J. B. Davidson said.

Clyde Godwin said, "I'm not running the deal, but I think they should come into our district. I think if the district has a few stronger teams, the whole district will be stronger. We'll have to be strong if the teams we play are."

"I don't think Breckenridge can hold up to winning like they have been—they've got to fall sometime," Miller Price said, adding "We're going to be building up our team all the time, and I don't think it would hurt us to let them in."

Whether Breckenridge will gain admission to the district is practically unpredictable. According to sportswriters at Sweetwater and Vernon, feeling seems to be toward letting the Bucks into 1-AAA, but it seems to be just the opposite up Lamesa way. Maybe Lamesa is afraid it cannot hold onto its distinction of being the top team if Breckenridge comes into the loop.

Sweetwater Mustangs Wrap Up Easy 47-7 Victory Over Tigers

The Sweetwater Mustangs began to hope a little stronger that they have a chance for the district title Friday night after they downed the Snyder Tigers 47-7 before a large homecoming crowd.

The game was in one sense a victory for the Tigers, because they picked up their first score against a district team. They lost to Vernon 25-0 and to Lamesa 45-0.

The homecoming activities turned out to be a bigger show than did the game. The school crowned a football sweetheart and a homecoming queen, paraded the field with a colorful band, hauled nominees for the queen's title around the field in new convertible, and honored a huge group of ex-students.

Angel Olvera, 160-pound fullback, was the star of the game for the Mustangs. He contributed two touchdowns, and he led ground gain with 130 yards.

Olvera opened the Mustang scoring in the first minute of play. The Tigers kicked off to the Mustangs, who returned it to their own 24. Halfback Eugene Kouri went four yards on a line buck, then Olvera took a handoff from Quarterback Joe Feagan and moved around left end 71 yards across the goal stripe. Point try by Don Reagan failed.

SECOND TOUCHDOWN

The Tigers took the kickoff, made one first down on an 18 yard run by Fullback Jackie Grimmett, and the Mustangs took up play on their own 40. On their first play, Feagan passed to End Mark Bishop for 60 yards to the second Sweetwater score in the first three and one-half minutes. Reagan's kick was good this time.

Soon after Tiger Quarterback Burney Hagin missed his handoff receiver and fumbled, and the Mustangs recovered, made one first down on the ground, then Feagan passed to Olvera for 21 yards and another score. Reagan converted again.

Late in the first period, the Tigers lost the ball on downs on the Mustang 49. Sweetwater tried a couple of jabs into the line, then Feagan passed to Olvera, who was on his way to the goal line until Tiger Halfback Dan Burns knocked him out of bounds on the 21 as the first quarter ended. Kouri made seven yards on one play into the line, then he took a handoff from Feagan and scatted across the right side of his line for the remaining 14 yards. Reagan made another good conversion try to put the Mustangs in the lead 27-0, which was the score at halftime.

SHOW LIFE

The Tigers picked up as the second half began returning the Mustang kickoff to the 30. Back Jack Spikes carried three yards, then Hagin passed to Burns, who went 55 yards to the Mustang 15 before he was stopped by Mustang End Hal Byrd. Burns carried another yard on the next play, then Hagin started to pass on the next play, but Mustang Back Theron Dorsey picked the ball out of the air and galloped 86 yards for another Sweetwater score, Reagan's kick was good.

After Burns returned the kickoff to the Tiger 26, Hagin passed to End Ned Underwood for six yards, Back Jack Spikes went another five, then Hagin passed to End Reagan White for 29 yards. Burns took the ball from there on a handoff and went 38 yards for the single Tiger tally. Kick by Guard Royce Pierce was good for another point.

The Mustangs took a Tiger punt and returned it to their own 44 early in the fourth quarter. Feagan handed to Byrd for five yards, then he passed to Bishop for 51 yards and another score. Reagan's kick was again good.

AND ANOTHER SCORE

Reagan booted the kickoff, and it bounced off a Tiger lineman onto the Mustang end of the field, and the Mustang's sub quarterback, Freddie Armstrong, finally recovered it on the Tiger 49. The Mustangs ground to the Snyder eight on three first downs earned on a pitchout, two handoffs, and a 10 yard pass, then Armstrong handed to Back Glynn Parish twice for four yards, the last time for a touchdown. Reagan's kick failed.

The Tigers made two first downs to the Mustang 48, and Dorsey had intercepted a Hagin pass as the game ended at a score of 47-7.

Tackle Jimmie Rodgers, Guard Buster Moss, and Back Alan Snead were the defensive standouts for the Tigers, while Byrd, Bishop, and Tackle Joe McCutchen were outstanding for the Mustangs.

Hagin completed three passes, one to Burns, one to White, and one to Underwood, for a total of 90 yards. He tried 21, and Burns attempted two. Grimmett led the Tiger ground gain with 86 yards, followed by Burns with 82.

Of 10 passes attempted, Feagan completed seven, three to Bishop for 121 yards, three to Olvera for 39 yards, and one to Dorsey for twice and completed one to Olvera for 10 yards. Olvera led Mustang scrimamge with 130 yards, while Byrd made 90 and Kouri made 26.

Two Tiger players, Underwood and White, were sent off the field by officials for unsportsmanlike conduct, as well as were two Mustang gridders.

The win put Sweetwater in third place in District 1-AAA with two wins and a loss, while Lamesa's 34-9 win over Plainview and Vernon's 36-21 victory over Big Spring kept those two teams on top with three wins. Big Spring comes after Sweetwater with a win and two losses, and Snyder and Plainview sit on the bottom with three losses each.

Whether Sweetwater will remain in the race for the district title will be settled Friday night when they meet Lamesa. Snyder will attempt to climb from the bottom in a tilt with Big Spring, and Vernon will hold onto its lead in a game with Plainview.

Longhorns Double Score Over TCU In Southwest Conference

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15 (AP)—A partially blocked punt and an intercepted pass set up two Texas touchdowns in the last period and hammering Billy Quinn and blasting Dick Ochoa pushed the Longhorns to a 14-7 victory over TCU and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

A crowd of 32,000 roared as the Longhorns, thwarted at every turn by intercepted passes and fumbles, finally pulled themselves together for the victory that kept them undefeated in the Southwest Conference race and clinched a place in the Cotton Bowl against Tennessee New Year's Day.

Ray McKown, the passing, running, punting star of the Christians, had kept TCU ahead going into the final period. But ironically, it was the partial block of one of his kicks that gave Texsa its first chance at a touchdown. Also it was the interception of one of his passes that led to the other.

Quinn, the swirling, smashing sophomore halfback, scored both of the Texas touchdowns, one on a 16-yard blast over guard, the other on a pitchout which Quinn carried around left end for the six yards needed for victory.

Gib Dawson, another of the great running Texas backs, kicked both extra points—making his 12 conversions in a row.

The TCU score came on a pass from McKown to Glen Jones, for 10 yards deep in the first period.

Intercepted passes provided the 7-0 halftime lead for TCU.

Giant Hal Lambert arose out of the line to block Jones' pass and gather in the ball on the Texas 47-yard line deep in the first period. McKown ran and passed the Christians to a touchdown. Two runs by McKown put the ball on the 36, then McKown blasted the line for three and passed to Jones for seven. Another pass, this one from McKown to Ted Vaught, set the oval on the Texas 10. McKown then passed over the line to Jones on the six and the Frog halfback scatted across.

The other intercepted pass was late in the second period and it was vital indeed. Texas had smashed from its 34 down to the Frog 14 when Billy Quinn tried a throw over the goal line to Gill Spring. Ronald Fraley, ace TCU defensive back, rushed in front of Spring and plucked in the ball to end Texas' last threat. The Longhorns previously had stormed to the TCU 23 before losing the ball. The terrific running and passing of Gib Dawson had sparked both Texas drives.

Twice in the last half fumbles robbed Texas of touchdowns after the Longhorns with Ochoa, Quinn and Dawson ripping the TCU line apart had smashed deep into Frog territory.

Junior High Completes Its Best Season

With the most successful football season a junior high school team ever had in Snyder out of the way, Jimmy Williams, junior high coach, is preparing to start his young athletes in basketball training.

The team finished its season last week with a win over Sweetwater and a 6-2 season record. During the season, they defeated Sweetwater 40-7 and 36-7, Colorado City 54-14 and 13-6, and Rotan 26-0 and 12-7. They lost to Lamesa twice, 7-6 and 14-13.

That record gives them a total score of 200 points to opponents' 62, while they led by far on rushing 2,070 yards to 730. During the season, they completed 26 out of 43 passes, three of them paying off in touchdowns. Most of the passes were thrown by Ronnie Smith, quarterback.

Bobby Pollard, seventh grade fullback, led the team's point making with 86, followed by Halfback Billy Joe Hattaway with 54, Floyd Blackwell with 18, Wayne Cain with 13, Powell Berry with 13, and Richard Snyder and Milton Ham with six each.

Cain led interceptions with two, while Hattaway, Ham, and Bud Morgan had one each. Robert Brooks, a standout on defensive as a middle guard, blocked three punts during the season.

Other outstanding players on defensive were Tackles John Partain and Allen Skaggs, Center Joe Reeves, and Linebacker Gary Hill.

The season was the first here for Williams, who came here from Texas Western College.

Houston Bench Cheers

HOUSTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Houston's Cougars all but forgot about their own ball game with Baylor today when the crowd of 33,000 was informed Mississippi had beaten mighty Maryland, 21-14.

Players on the Houston bench jumped up and cheered.

Houston lost 6-0 last week to Mississippi.

Fort Sam Ties ACC 21-21

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 15 (AP) — Underdog Fort Sam Houston came from a two-touchdown deficit in the fourth today and gained a 21-21 deadlock with Abilene Christian College.

Fullback Kenneth Shobe combined running with pass receiving to lead he unbeaten soldiers to their second tie in seven games.

Shobe scored two touchdowns, one on a 67-yard gallop and the other on a nine-yard pass from quarterback Joe Cendro. Hs final tally came with four minutes to play and gave the Rangers their upset tie against the collegians.

Abilene Christian came from a 7-0 deficit in the second quarter when end Stanley Staples intercepted Cendro's pass and ran it 10 yards for the score.

SMU Defeats Arkansas In Comeback

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 15 (AP)—Sam Stollenwerck, a half-pint back, who had done virtually nothing for SMU but kick extra points, herded the Mustangs to a comeback victory over Arkansas today.

It was a 27 to 17 triumph for the Methodists.

The one-man show before an Arkansas homecoming turnout of 20,000 retained for SMU a mathematical chance to tie Texas for the Southwest Conference football championship.

Stollenwerck entered the game as SMU's third tailback and with the handicap of a 17-point deficit early in the second quarter. He got the Mustangs ahead for 209 yards and three touchdowns. He also made three of four conversions. Before today, he had tried only 10 aerials all season, completing three.

Arkansas used an alert, hard-hitting defense to rack up all its points in the first 17 minutes.

A pass interception gave the Hogs possession on the SMU 30 from where Carl Mazza kicked a field goal.

Just before the first quarter closed, Arkansas' Lamar McHan boomed a 50-yard punt to the Mustang 10. Safety man Roy Pace fumbled when he was crashed down by Edsel Nix, and Arkansas' Buddy Sutton covered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

At the outset of the second period, McHan punted to the SMU 5 and again, Nix threw a tackle that jarred the ball loose from Val Joe Walker. Jim Cauthorn grabbed it for Arkansas on the two and two plays later, McHan sneaked over.

From there on it was all Stollenwerck, a 160-pounder whose father played for SMU 30 years ago.

Georgia Tech Defeats Alabama 7-3 In Toughest Game Yet

ATLANTA, Nov. 15 (AP)—Two second-string backs, Pepper Rodgers and Dick Oretz, paired with regulars Billy Teas and Glenn Turner and an impregnable defense today to give Georgia Tech a squeaky 7-3 victory over a fierce, unexpectedly strong Alabama.

With a sellout crowd of 40,000 in the stands and millions watching on a national television hookup, the nation's No. 2 team found Alabama to be the toughest team it has played this season. Not in 15 games had Tech been held to one touchdown.

Tech's valiant defense, spearheaded by All-American linebacker candidate George Morris, three times halted Alabama drives which could have changed the outcome and brought a repeat of 1947 when 'Bama knocked Tech from the perfect-record ranks.

In the first quarter, with 12th-ranked Alabama ahead 3-0 on Bobby Luna's field goal, 'Bama's Ralph Carrigan recovered a fumble on Tech's 21. Bobby Marlow, Corky Tharp and Tommy Lewis, who showed the best running Tech's been up against this season, moved the ball to the 1. But Tech's defense wouldn't give and 'Bama lost the ball on downs.

In the last quarter with about four minutes to play and trailing 7-3, Ed Pharo fell on Turner's fumble on the 'Bama 23 and Alabama started marching. Marlow, Tharp and Lewis chewed out big hunks of yardage and Teeh couldn't stop them. The drive went 64 yards to Tech's 13 where the Crimson tide needed 4 yards for a first down. Quarterback Clell Hobson threw a desperation pass into the ground and Tech came roaring back.

Turner, who became a father for the first time only yesterday, almost single-handedly moved the ball back into 'Bama's territory before the final whistle blew with Tech in possession on about the 30.

Tech got its touchdown in the second quarter after Rodgers relieved Bill Brigman, who couldn't get Tech's offense to click. Pretz, running from the halfback slot vacated last week by the injured Leon Hardeman, went the final 9 yards for the score. Rodgers converted.

Houston Gives Baylor One Of Worst Beatings In Upset Tilt

HOUSTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Halfback Ken Pridgeon scored two touchdowns and set up a third with his running and passing today as Houston throttled Baylor's high powered offense for a 28 to 6 upset over the Southwest Conference team.

Pridgeon, 180-pound senior from Bryan, scored twice from the 8 yard line and tossed a 37-yard pass to Halfback S. M. Meeks to move the Cougars to the Baylor 14 in a drive that netted the final Houston tally.

The powerful Houston defense, ninth ranked in the nation, was permitting Baylor to pass midfield only three times. The lone Baylor touchdown came as Halfback Don Carpenter climaxed a 55 yard second quarter drive by skirting right end from the Houston 4.

Fullback Jack Patterson plunged over right guard from the 2 to score five plays after Pridgeon had hit Meeks on the 14. The other Houston touchdown came in the second quarter as tackle Buddy Gillioz recovered a blocked punt in the Baylor end zone.

The victory kept alive the hopes of Houston, the Missouri Valley Conference leader, for a post season bowl game invitation. It was Houston's sixth victory against losses only to Texas A&M and powerful Mississippi.

Baylor played without two of its three top ground gainers, halfback L. G. Dupre and Alan Jones. Both were sidelined with leg injuries.

Pridgeon was the day's leading ground gainer, netting 68 yards in 17 carries. His long toss to Meeks was his only pass attempt.

Houston had a two-touchdown lead before Baylor could get beyond its own 42-yard line.

Mich. Riding Toward Rose Bowl Glories

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Michigan came from behind today to smash Purdue's Rose Bowl dreams, 21 to 10, and emerge as the co-leader of the torrid Western Conference football race.

But few of the frenzied 54,376 fans who turned out in perfect football weather were convinced of the outcome until Michigan halfback Don Oldham intercepted a pass by Purdue quarterback Dale Samuels to set up Michigan's final touchdown with two minutes left in the game.

It was Michigan's fourth victory in the Big Ten against one defeat and made the Wolverines favorites against Ohio State at Columbus a week hence. Michigan appeared sure of at least a share in the conference title. Co-leader Wisconsin matched the pace by defeating Indiana, 37-14.

The fast-charging Michigan line that wore down the big Purdue line and frequently trapped Samuels for losses, helped hang the first conference defeat on the Boilermakers, who had only a tie against them in league play.

Tech Is Tied By Simmons

ABILENE, Nov. 15 (AP)—A fired-up bunch of Texas Tech Red Raiders tried a field goal on the final play of the game, missed and wound up with a 14-14 tie with Hardin Simmons in the Border Conference game today.

Jimmy Williams, who tried the 23-yard field goal, threw himself to the ground and beat his fists.

Tech jumped into a 7-0 lead early when Jerry Johnson passed 25 goal line after Hardin Simmons yards to Lewis Crossley on the had fumbled on its own 25.

The Cowboys tied it up 7 minutes later as quarterback Jimmy Riddle tossed a 7-yard pass to End D. C. Andrews on the goal line.

Tech took a 14-7 halftime lead when John Thompson intercepted a pass on the Cowboy 20 and returned it to 12. Jimmy Turner plunged 6 yards for the touchdown.

Quarterback Zee Windsor passed 25 yards to halfback Riley Cross in the open on the goal line on the fourth down for the tying Hardin-Simmons tally just 28 seconds before the end of the third period.

Tennessee Gets Florida 26-12 In Knoxville

KNOXVILLE, Ten., Nov. 15 (AP) — Andy Kozar, a Pennsylvania coal miner's son who doctors once said would never be able to play football, ripped Florida's line to shreds today to lead Cotton Bowl-bound Tennessee to a 26-12 homecoming victory.

The 210-pound senior fullback from St. Michael, Pa., scored twice and reeled off 111 yards in 16 rushes before he was carted off to the hospital early in the third quarter with an injury. It was announced after the game that he was not hurt seriously.

Kozar was stricken with spinal meningitis in 1945 and after a 31-day siege with the dread disease, doctors told him to forget about football. But he was determined to play and today he had one of the greatest days of his star-studded career.

The big fullback scored Tennessee's first two touchdowns, plunging from the 1-yard line in the first period and again smashing over from the same distance in the second.

A&M Beat 16-6 By Rice

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 15 (AP) —Leroy Fentemaker won another football game for Rice today, but this time he got a chance to use his considerable passing ability as well as deadly kicking and Texas A&M took a 16-6 licking.

The gawky junior from the Hill Country of Llano was shoved into the breech when quarterback Dan Drake hurt a knee early in the first period.

Ole Miss Is Victor Over Maryland 11

OXFORD, Miss., Nov. 15 (AP) — Mississippi quarterback Jimmy Lear pitched a magnificent 42-yard fourth period pass to upset mighty Maryland 21 to 14 and boost the Ole Miss Rebels into the national football limelight.

Lear's storybook heave to end Bud Slay on the Maryland 4-yard line set up the winning touchdown that halfback Wilson Dillard rammed over two plays later from the 3-yard line.

Lear's passing and the ferocious work of the Mississippi line stunned the nation's number three footbal team into submission, the Terps' first loss since Oct. 4, 1950. They had gone undefeated in 21 games.

For the entire second half, Mississippi's keyed up offense dominated the play and knocked on the goal line three times before the last payoff punch carried over.

The game was a crushing battle for the full 60-minutes but the hero of the day was the Mississippi line that bottled up All-America candidate Jack Scarbath and held that pass-master to only two completed throws.

After taking the first bottle, I no longer had such a ravenous appetite, yet I ate all I wanted. I have lost 15 pounds and feel wonderful."

Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour into pint bottle. Add 12 ounces of grapefruit juice. Then take just 2 tablespoonsful twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back. Year after year this amazing product increases in popularity. Over four million bottles sold in Texas in eight years. After you have tried the starvation way with vitamins to fortify you against weakness, why not try the safe, sure, Barcentrate way? You won't know a hungry moment reducing with Barcentrate.

RATHER ARGUE WITH LARAINE

If Leo Durocher quits as manager of the New York Giants after the 1953 baseball season, his main arguments may be with his wife, actress Laraine Day, on where to hang pictures in their den. Durocher may give up arguing with umpires to become a movie producer. He says he will wait to talk to owner Horace Stoneham at the winter baseball meeting in Phoenix, Ariz., early next month before deciding whether or not to stay in baseball.

Original Ike Man Has Been Working For Over Five Years

By SAUL FELDMAN

PONCA CITY, Okla., Nov. 15 (AP)—Just before the election a Ponca City druggist bought a full page in a newspaper, not to sell his pills but to make a last prediction — that Dwight D. Eisenhower would be elected president.

It culminated a one-man campaign T. J. Cuzalina started back in 1946 to get Ike in the White House. During that time he predicted (in paid-for newspaper space): Eisenhower would run only if he was convinced he was needed; Sen. Byrd (D-Va) would support him; Truman would not seek another term in 1952, and that the general would be nominated on the first ballot.

And now that his man is in?

"It was a tremendous victory," Cuzalina says, "but now I'm through with politics. I can go back to just selling pills and get politics out of my column. I'm going to leave this country in the good hands of Eisenhower and devote my column to humor.

"The only thing I want out of this election is maybe getting to play a little golf with Ike. After he won I just sent him the same greetings I put in a wire when he was nominated: 'Hot ziggety dog! Congratulations. T.J.'"

From 1946 on, Cuzalina never once left up in his drive. An unwavering faith, plus a phenomenal ability as a self-educated publicity man, resulted in slogan contests on behalf of the general, letters to all the nation's druggists to promote his candidacy, distribution of Ike buttons and a daily column in a local newspaper.

Friends hail the personable, sharp-witted druggist, son of an Italian immigrant family, as the original Eisenhower booster.

Cuzalina's first efforts for Ike came after a group of his cronies were mulling over the problems of the day at his soda fountain and the discussion got around to the man they'd like to see be the next president.

Eisenhower, then still in Europe, was mentioned and the more Cuzalina thought of the general, the better he liked the idea.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," he told the fellows. "I'll plug Ike in my column and we'll order 5,000 Ike buttons just to see what happens."

Dee Donohoe, Ponca City real estate man, agreed to halve the cost of the buttons. They shelled out $82.50 apiece.

And into Cuzalina's daily column, "Just Poppin' Off," which he pays for and uses to discuss the events of the day, went the first of thousands of words on behalf of Ike.

"After a while Donohoe lost interest but I kept up the campaign," Cuzalina recalls.

After Eisenhower eliminated himself in 1948, Cuzalina set about booming the general for 1952. He started working through the nation's druggists, compiling a list of 80,000 names and sending letters to his colleagues urging formation of Eisenhower for president clubs.

He started mailing his column to 300 newspapers and promoted a contest, giving $1,000 for the best slogan.

Mrs Joe Kanewske of Galveston, Tex., won with "Get right with Ike."

Then came more buttons, more letters and more words in his column about Eisenhower.

He estimates more than 120,000 letters were sent out from his store. His only help was a couple of high school girls working part time. The incoming mail was just as voluminous. He received more than 100,000 letters and thousands of clippings from newspapers and magazines.

Cuzalina won't say how much he's spent on behalf of Eisenhower. But it's all his money. He accepted no contributions.

"I'll tell you one thing though," he said. "I've spent more than $2,700 just for 3-cent stamps."

After the convention, Cuzalina met Ike for the first time.

The druggist took five days off from his work—the first time that he can remember taking a vacation—to play some golf at Denver. The general was there playing a little golf, too.

"I didn't know how to approach the general so I asked one of the fellows in the [illegible] house," Cuzalina related.

"He told me to just go right up and say hello. So I went up and said hello. And the general said 'Doggone it, hello there.' I told the general I sure hoped he'd win and he said, 'I think I'll do all right.'"

Chiropractor Opens Office

Dr. N. E. Gambrell, chiropractor, formerly of Colorado City, has opened offices at 1300 Twenty-fifth Street here, he announced this week.

Gambrell, who lives at 1108 Twenty - fifth Street, is assisted by Mrs. Gambrell in his office. He said his office is equipped with the latest X-ray, colon therapy, and plasmatic therapy units.

The chiropractor is a graduate of Carver Chiropractic College in Oklahoma City. He is a thirty-second degree Mason, a charter member of the Masonic Sojourners Lodge at Inchon, Korea, and he was active in the Kiwanis Club and Chamber of Commerce at Colorado City. He is also a member of the Texas State Chiropractic Association, as well as those in Kentucky and Oklahoma.

A captain in the Army reserve, Gambrell recently returned from active duty in Korea.

In 1951 U. S. bituminous coal usage increased by about 18 million tons, or 4 per cent over 1950.

Divorce Ratio Here Is High; Amount Of Property Plays Part

The marriage - divorce ratio in Scurry County is close. There are only about 13 per cent more marriages than divorces. This, however, does not indicate necessarily that only 13 couples out of each 100 that marry stay married. Many of those divorced married elsewhere, and probably many who marry here divorce elsewhere.

Here are the figures: In 1951, the number of divorce suits filed in civil district court here exceeded the number of marriage licenses issued by 32. There were 172 licenses issued and 204 divorce suits filed. So far this year, there have been 121 marriage licenses issued, but 129 suits for divorce have been filed.

But the fact that for at least the last 22 months divorce suits filed have outnumbered the licenses issued does not mean there are more divorces than marriages. Roughly 20 per cent of the divorce suits filed are dismissed before coming to trial. This would leave the ratio for 1951 at 171 licenses issued and about 163 divorces granted. The ratio for the 10 and a half months of 1952 would be 120 licenses and 103 divorces.

Ben F. Thorpe, district judge, estimated the number of divorce suits dismissed at "approximately 20 per cent." His off-hand guess was apparently close. A check of the first 64 divorce cases listed in the record of disposed civil court cases for these two years showed 49 divorces granted and 15 divorce suits dismissed. This is a dismissal of 23.4 per cent of the cases.

What might seem to the average person a strange fact is that most of the divorce suits dismissed are cases in which there is considerable community property involved, Judge Thorpe said.

"But what about cases where children are involved?" the judge was asked.

"That seems to have little bearing in the matter of dismissals," he replied. "Everyone knows divorce is a serious problem for the children who unfortunately can do nothing at all about their parents but of the cases filed, the number involving children that are dismissed is no greater than the number dismissed when there are no children."

One undisputed fact, however, is that couples with children are outnumbered on the divorce pages of the dockets by those without children.

Most of the divorce suits that come to trial are uncontested cases in which the defendant is cited either in person or by publication but never comes to the courtroom. The plaintiff comes before the court, and with the aid of his attorney, he shows cause for wanting a divorce and attempts to convince the court that the allegations in petition are true. If the judge is convinced, a decree of divorce is issued, and judgment is filed.

Contested cases are usually contested either over division of community property or over child custody. A party to the suit may have it heard before the judge or before both the judge and a jury.

Few couples contemplating divorce seek counsel of ministers. What is even worse, the couples that do seek counsel usually start the search too late.

The Rev. E. K. Shepherd said that in his five years as pastor of the First Baptist Church here only about a dozen persons contemplating divorce have talked to him about it. "So far as I know, none of these divorced," he added.

The Rev. Earl Creswell, pastor of the North Side Baptist Church until recently, said that in his 12 years with the church here, none sought counsel on the matter.

The Rev. Ronald E. Hubbard, said that during his two years with the First Presbyterian Church here, about a dozen had come to him for advice on divorce and nearly all had since divorced. "The trouble is usually that they wait until they have broken their homes and lack only the divorce decree, then want to know how they can undo what they have done," Mr. Hubbard said. "The first step in preserving the home is to have a Christian home."

Meat May Be Forced Down By OPS Soon

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Price Stabilizer Tighe Woods says if the price of meat at retail does not come down in the next 10 days or two weeks, "It's going to be forced down by an order."

"We have authority to do that, and we won't cut the packers' prices to the farmers," Woods told a consumers' clinic yesterday.

"Other things being equal, there's quite a few dollars between the farmer and the butcher counter that aren't accounted for," Woods said during the discussion.

He said "our accountants all over the country have been trying for the past three weeks to find out who's hoarding this margin.

"We find this: The industries we have to go to when they want a price increase make their books available very quickly. But when we're trying to figure out a price decrease, we have the darndest time finding their accountants and their ledger sheets. They were lost in the fire, the treasurer took them to Europe — everything else."

Woods did not elaborate on how he would implement the law to force down meat prices.

A member of the audience, Onah Thurston, Minneapolis, asked Woods, "How long can the United States support all you leeches in government? We may save a nickel on price controls, but we spend a quarter to do it. Let's get rid of your bureaucrats and let our economic system run itself."

Answered Woods: "Nov. 4 took care of your first question. But somebody else will take my place.

"The Office of Price Stabilization costs 25 cents a year for each person in the United States. But if we didn't have OPS, inflation would cost many times that."

Many species of wildlife have become extinct, not because they were killed off deliberately by man, but because man changed the face of nature with lumbering, building and farms so that unadaptable types of life could not survive.

Oilmen Told to Look For Hike In Demand Over Next 15 Years

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Oilmen eived this week a prediction S. demand for petroleum pro- ts will increase 46 per cent in next 15 years.

long-range outlook extending industry's supply and demand ture to 1967 was presented in icago at the annual meeting of American Petroleum Institute.

The forecast was a result of a ious study made by two Stand- l Oil Co. (Ind.) officials who ew assistance from representa- es of numerous other companies.

John W. Boatwright, Indiana's neral manager for distribution onomics, broke down the antici- ted 15-year increase this way:

Gasoline—A 46 per cent climb er 1951, reflecting growing mil- ry and civilian requirements of erosine and distillates 44 per nt higher, with strong growth in t and diesel fuel needs

Residual fuel—Only a 20 per cent oost because of such indications e almost complete conversion of l-fired steam locomotives to die- l fuel.

Other products (lubricating oil, sphalt, liquified petroleum gas, t)—92 per cent with liquified ases the leader at 175 per cent.

Boatwright cautioned that the in- ustry alone cannot insure ac- mplishment of these objectives. e added:

"If the American people will reate an environment character- ed by monetary stability, free rices, intelligent labor relation- hips and a sound highway devel- pment program, this industry will supply the petroleum needed to meet full requirements."

The forecast was not so positive, however, over the industry's abil- ity also to attain the reserve pro- ducing capacity government offi- cials at present consider essential to national defense.

This reserve capacity is the amount the industry would be able to increase production almost overnight in the event of an emer- gency, without waiting on time consuming drilling and develop- ment programs.

Boatwright said the special study indicated this reserve capacity will range from 18 to 20 per cent over demand during the 15-year period. Government officials now are understood to be seeking a 25- per cent reserve.

Interior Secretary Chapman, a speaker at the convention, said he could not reveal the desired re- serve capacity for security reasons but that the current level provides only minimum protection.

Frank M. Porter, institute presi- dent, earlier had placed present reserve abilities at 15 per cent of demand or about one million bar- rels a day.

Boatwright expressed a belief the 25 per cent level would require major adjustments to the indus- try's drilling program.

"In fact, we doubt the industry will be able to carry a margin of greater than approximately 20 per cent over current demand," he said.

The forecast expects 1967 domes- tic demand for all petroleum prod- ucts to be 10,280,000 barrels a day compared to last year's 7,043,000.

The largest jump is expected to come prior to 1955, when an esti- mated domestic demand of 8,300,- 000 barrels daily is expected. An- other 880,000 barrels a day would be needed by 1960, and 810,000 more by 1965.

The study anticipates a gradual decrease in exports because of in- creased foreign refinery capacities. Exports in 1967 were forecast at 120,000 barrels a day, compared to 1951's 423,000.

With the export picture included, the 1967 total demand for petro- leum products from the U. S. in- dustry was forecast to be 39 per cent over 1951.

Three Coronet Wells Plugged And Deserted

Three projects in the Coronet 2900 field and the Vincent area of Northeast Howard County have been plugged abandoned.

J. E. Bauer & Associates No. 1 Anna Bastin was plugged and abandoned on total depth of 2,935 feet. Contract depth was 3,000 feet.

Location was 330 feet from south and west lines of the north- east quarter of section 4-25-H&TC about three miles northeast of Vin- cent and three-quarters of a mile northeast of the Coronet No. 1 Brokhage, discovery well of the field.

Burdell Oil Co. No. 1-A Hodnett, a wildcat two miles north of Vin- cent, was plugged abandoned at a total depth of 2,935 feet.

It was 330 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quar- ter of section 31-24-H&TC.

Haynes & V-T No. 1 Chester L. Jones in the Coronet 2900 field was abandoned at 3,070 feet. Con- tract depth on that hole was 3,200 feet.

On Oct. 19, the No. 1 Jones was reported to have recovered 17 feet dense dolomite with no shows, one and one-half feet fractured dolo- mite bleeding oil, and six and three-fourths feet of fractured shady dolomite while coring at 2,850-879 feet. It took a test and recored 660 feet very heavily oil and gas cut mud while tool was open one and one-half hours. On Oct. 30, it was reported to be test- ing to complete at a total depth of 2879 feet.

It is 2,310 feet from west and 330 feet from north lines of sec- tion 15-26-H&TC.

Eight Wildcats Brought In While 60 Are Dusters

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP)—Wildcatters had a poor week in Texas this week, drilling only eight oil wells while abandoning 60 dry holes.

Completions totalled 163, running the year's figure to 9,242 compared with 9,578 a year ago, the Railroad Commission reported.

Three gas wells were brought in and the year's total reached 709. It was 793 at this date last year. Operators reported 103 dry holes, plugged that number of dry wells, one gas and 48 oil wells.

The total average calendar day crude oil allowable as of today was 3,372,433 barrels, down 132 from a week ago.

Petroleum Producers Waiting For Next Interior Secretary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The government's synthetic fuels re- search program likely will contin- ue without much change in the Eisenhower administration. The Republican platform, like that of the Democrats, calls for further research in this field.

One questions in the minds of petroleum industry representatives here is who will be Secretary of the Interior in the Eisenhower cab- inet. This cabinet officer will have much to do with mapping the syn- thetic fuels program as well as making many decisions affecting the oil and gas business.

Oscar Chapman, present Inte- rior Secretary, in addition to back- ing the research program by the Bureau of Mines, went so far as to suggest the government subsidize a private plant in Illinois for turn- ing coal into gasoline. The subsidy would have been in the form of a fast tax write-off under the De- fense Production Act. The proposed plant would have been guaranteed that its output would be purchased for a period of years at a level to assure profitable operation.

THORNTON MENTIONED

This proposal, which drew criti- cism from the petroleum industry and from several members of Congress, fell through. It is not likely to be revived in the Eisen- hower regime.

Among those mentioned for the next interior secretary is Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, who has been in the cattle and oil business for years. Colorado possesses large deposits of oil shale and the Mines Bureau has a modern research center and pilot plant at Rifle, Colo.

For the current year Congress appropriated approximately 7½ million dollars for the research in producing gasoline and other fuels from oil shale and coal. Although the Budget Bureau has not an- nounced its estimates for the 1953- 54 fiscal year beginning next July 1, the amount probably will be about the same.

The oil industry will await the views of the new Interior Secretary on methods of encouraging it to increase reserve crude production and refinery capacities.

RESERVE BOOST ASKED

In a speech this week before the American Petroleum Institute (API), Chapman emphasized need for boosting the reserves in the interest of national defense.

He said that although removal of ceiling prices on crude oil might lead to some increase in explora- tory drilling, there probably would have to be some added incentive to induce private operators to do more extensive drilling.

Among others who have been mentioned as possibilities for sec- retary of interior is Sen. Cordon (R-Ore).

Cordon has supported the states in their fight for title to the oil- rich lands beneath the marginal

Andrews Test To Go To 9,000 Foot Bottom

The Superior Oil Co. No. 5-11-C University is to be drilled as a northeast stepout to Group Oil Co. No. 1 University, assured one-mile southwest extender to Devonian production in the Block 11 field of Southwest Andrews County.

The new test will be dug 660 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 27, block 11, University Lands survey. It is slat- ed for a 9,000-foot bottom.

Group No. 1 University is bottom- ed at 8,250 feet in Sulurian lime waiting for cement to harden on five and one-half-inch casing set on bottom.

Operator will drill out the ce- ment and perforate and test for completion in the Devonian. The Silurian has had no shows for commercial production.

Last drillstem test was staked in the bottom of the Devonian and top of the Silurian from 8,145 to 8,250 feet. Tool was open two hours and 24 minutes. Gas sur- faced in 12 minutes, mud in 56 and oil in 65 minutes. It was flow- ed to pits 19 minutes and then turn- ed to tanks. During the next hour it made 20 barrels of oil.

The Silurian was topped at 8,230 feet, elevation 3,294 feet.

The project already had flow- ed oil on a drillstem test in the Devonian from 8,046 to 8,205 feet.

Location is 330 feet from south and east lines of section 28, block 11, University Lands survey.

Extension To Pegasus Field Made In Upton

Sharples Oil Corp. has extended the Pegasus - Pennsylvanian field of Northwest Upton County five- eighths of a mile northwest on the west side with the completion of its No. 2-C TXL.

The well was completed for a daily flowing potential of 537.77 barrels of oil. Gravity was 45.3 de- grees and gas-oil ratio was 2,240-1.

Production was through a 24-64- cinch choke from open hole be- tween 10,264.3 feet, where 5-inch casing is set and total depth of 10,345 feet. Top of pay was picked at 10,265 feet on derrick floor ele- vation of 2,881 feet.

Tubing pressure was 1,000 pounds with packer on casing.

The well is one location south- west of Ellenburger production.

Location for No. 2-G TXL is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 47, block 41, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Howard County Wildcat

A new wildcat has been locat- ed in Howard County as the Fair & Woodward of San Antonio No. 2-20 Susie B. Snyder.

Contract depth is 3,500 feet. Ro- tary tools will be used.

It is 1,650 feet from north and west lines of section 20-20-tls-T&P.

Location In Howard

Coronet Oil Co. has spotted loca- tion for its No. 4-3 Boyd in the Coronet 2900 field of Northeast Howard County.

Rotary tools will be moved in to drill to 3,000 feet.

It is 990 feet from north and west lines of sectino 4-25-H&TC.

Pecos Well Deepened

Brown & Thorp Drilling Co. of McCamey has re-completed No. 1 Cruise Sanders as a small pumper from the Ellenburger and a dis- covery for a new pay in the Brown & Thorn (Glorieta) field of East Pecos County.

Originally completed from the Clear Fork at total depth of 3,017 feet, the well was deepened to completion.

Operator reported a daily pump- ing potential of five barrels of oil and 25 barrels of water. Comple- tion was from open hole at 4,770- 4,820 feet after 15,000 gallons of acid were used.

Pay was topped at 4,770 feet and five and one-half-inch casing cemented at that point.

A BIRD IN HAND

No wonder this nameless cat won't look you in the eye. He is guilty as only a cat can be. He just ate not only one, but five canaries. The sad story began when the stray cat was locked accidentally in a department store overnight in Keene, N. H. The next morning store officials found the cat had knocked over a cage of canaries, springing the cage door. Only the bird in the cage above the cat survived.

88-Year-Old Texas Editor Is Being Honored By Historians

PARIS, Tex., Nov. 15 (AP)—Texas' oldest working newspaper editor will share with his publisher in accepting an award to their newspaper, the Paris News, for outstanding contribution toward preservation of local history.

This will take place next Thursday, Nov. 20, at annual convention of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

A. G. (Pat) Mayse, publisher of the Paris News, credits his 88-year-old editor, A. W. Neville, with most of the historical writing on the news, so both of them will be present to receive the award made by the American Association for State and Local History. The presentation will be made by Dr. S. K. Stevens of Harrisburg, Pa., past president of the association and Pennsylvania state historian.

A major factor to arranging for the presentation at White Sulphur Springs is the fact that White Sulphur Springs is only 80 miles from Neville's birthplace, Salem, Va., which he has not visited since he left there at the age of 15. Thus the trip will afford him an opportunity to visit his hometown, in company with his brother, Edgar T. Neville, who will come from Mobile, Ala., to join the party.

Basis of the award to the Paris News is the paper's exceptional handling of local history. When Mayse came to Paris from Sherman to publish the News in 1929, he decided that Neville's unusual memory and long residence in Paris would provide some interesting reading as newspaper features. As a result, Neville that year began his daily column "Backward Glances," which appears regularly on the editorial page, along with his daily editorials.

With interest in Texas history at a high peak from the state's centennial celebration, the late J. J. Cunningham, a printer friend, suggested that the News should get Neville to write a history of Lamar County. Mayse agreed, and so the history was written to appear serially in the Paris News as a Sunday feature in 1937. From the newspaper type, several hundred copies were printed in book form, and this is now classed as a collector's item, being the first history of the county ever published.

Continued interest in "Backward Glances" led to the writing and publication of "The Red River Valley: Then and Now," issued in 1948 on Neville's 84th birthday. Designated Neville day, this was celebrated with a luncheon given by the News. The book is dedicated to Mayse and his associate, Houston Harte, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times, who had urged the printing of the book as a more permanent form of preserving Neville's recollections and research. The material is largely based on the daily column's stories.

Neville, called "Judge" because he once served as city court magistrate, on Sept. 1 rounded out 50 years on the Paris News. As a youth, he became a printer, not long after his family moved from Virginia to Paris. He has continued in one phase or another of the publishing business ever since.

He was a representative of the Texas State Historical Association, and was appointed by Gov. Allan Shivers to the Battleship Texas Commission, which has custody of that Texas shrine at Houston.

Reds Work Faster With India's Untouchables Than Government

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru cannot decide whether a proposed new anti-discrimination law will help or hinder the cause of India's 60 million still outcast "untouchables."

Technically, they are already touchable. The Indian Constitution rules out all discrimination and lays down special guarantees of political and social equality which run for a decade.

But ancient custom is dying hard in the villages of rural India. As always, an orthodox high caste woman may throw away food handled by an untouchable. Untouchables remain apart, in segregated quarters at the village outskirts, low men socially and economically on the Hindu caste ladder.

Legislation putting teeth into the constitutional guarantees of equality may be introduced in current session of Parliament. If the government Congress party goes ahead with the bill and wins passage over high-caste opposition, acts of discrimination would become statutory punishable offenses for the first time.

However, the Nehru government's own official charged with protecting the rights of untouchables, L. M. Skrikant, opposes such a move. So far the Premier has not taken a personal stand in the behind-the-scenes controversy.

Skrikant, a businessman active in social welfare organizations sponsored by Brahmins and others of high caste for the advancement of the lower castes, advocated financial help for "non official groups working for the uplift of the scheduled castes and for the strengthening of public opinion for the removal of untouchability."

He also urged greater emphasis on action by state governments, especially in compiling "a record of villages where Harijans are still suffering under social disabilities."

The late Mahatma Gandhi gave untouchables the name Harijans, which literally means "children of God."

Largely through the efforts of the Gandhian groups of high caste Hindus, most states have passed laws prohibiting interference with the use of wells and access to temples and other public places by Harijans. But Skrikant reports that "very few cases have been recorded in the courts of law for breach of the provisions of these acts."

The main reason, he explains, "is that Harijans have no courage to come forward either to draw water from the common wells or to go to public places, since they are generally economically dependent upon non-Harijans."

Economic discontent among the Harijans, who make up most of India's landless agricultural labor, is beginning to find political expression. Communist success in organizing landless untouchables in some areas was mainly responsible for South Indian Red victories in the general elections.

Depression Not WorryingSome

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—An official of a major appliance manufacturing concern said today he foresaw no business depression for 1953 or for the indefinite future.

William A. Blees, vice president of Avco Manufacturing Corp. and general manager of its Crosley division, said he didn't expect any serious effect on the economy from the scheduled tapering off of the defense program starting late next year.

Blees said, in an interview, that if government spending is cut by ten billion dollars, for instance, and an equivalent amount is left in the hands of the consumers through tax reductions, it would offset cutbacks in the defense program.

"They'd spend it," he continued. "I have yet to see an economist that evaluates the thing that makes us a great country—our high standard of living and the desire of people to have better things. That creates more jobs."

Looking further into the future, Blees expressed belief this country would avoid a depression as long as it did two things:

1. Continued a make-work policy to cushion sudden declines in employment, provided it is done "in exceedingly careful fashion so as not to devalue our money."

Board Of Directors Of Lions Club Votes To Have Ministerel Show

The board of directors of the Lions Club voted in a meeting Friday morning to sponsor a Negro minstrel jointly with the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Other matters of business included the club's decision to donate $50 from its treasury to the Girl Scout's finance drive.

Melvin Newton, new chairman of the Snyder committee of the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children, announced that he and one other member would go to Kerrville to visit the Crippled Children's Camp, now under construction. The trip, Newton said, would enable them to present a more accurate picture of the gains and needs of the cause to the local members.

Present, at the meeting, held at the Manhattan Hotel, were H. O. Beard, first vice president, presiding; Bill Smith, Roland Bell, Harold Bennett, Glenn Snyder, J. J. Dyer, Chuck Wolf, and Newton.

Vol. 3 No. 172 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1952 SECTION TWO

Flying Rancher In Borden County

Bert Dennis, who used to get car sick, takes dives, rolls and spins in his airplane without turning a hair.

Dennis ranches 9,000 acres in Borden County, covering the fences and looking over the stock in 45 minutes with his plane, a job that ordinarily takes two full days on horseback.

Mrs. Dennis pointed out that one advantage to having the plane is that fewer ranch hands are necessary. "I don't think Bert really realized exactly all he could do with the plane until he got started with it. He has a slipped vertebra in his back and isn't supposed to ride a horse at all," she said. Occasionally neighbors pitch in and help, particularly on roundups. Dennis with his plane is called upon to help the neighbors, too, thus both parties avoid hiring extra hands, she explained.

The second year Dennis had the plane he killed about 200 coyotes contrasted to the one every two or three months he and other ranchers had managed to bag with dogs. "It's easy to lose 200 or 300 sheep per year with coyotes around," Dennis said. They figure they paid for their plane in less than two years by the number of sheep they didn't lose.

In his plane Dennis will spot the coyotes and yell through the loudspeaker at the hunters below the position of the "varmits". Sometimes rancher - friends fly with him to do the shooting. "I tried to mount a gun on the plane a couple of times so I could shoot when alone, but I had a few close calls and gave it up", he said. However, others shooting from the plane has not gone without causing mishaps.

Dennis recalls when one hunter with a bead on a coyote also shot through a plane tire forcing them to land with a flat. Another time a hole was shot in the propellor. But Dennis has never crashed in the plane.

Bobcats which present another menace to the sheep are hard to hunt from the air. "They'll see the plane and hide. If you don't get them with the first shot, you'll never see them to try again," he said. The ranchers use only shotguns in their hunting from the air. A government trapper, Sipes, kills most of the bobcats in the vicinity.

Dennis shoots 10 to 15 eagles per year: the birds are deadly enemies to small lambs. Dennis said he is always careful never to fly under the circling birds as "they can drop like a shot" and have caused a number of pilots to crash by falling in the propellors.

Ranching isn't new to the Dennis family. They leased a ranch in Fort Stockton for five years before buying the present one ten years ago. Like other businessmen they have dreams of expansion. "But it isn't that simple. We are sort of sewed in here; there isn't any direction to move," Mrs. Dennis said.

Situations have changed since the old timers could simply buy a neighbors land. Anyway, there is a new trend in ranching, Mrs. Dennis said. "We may follow the lead of some ranchers now and buy land in another county, or even another state. This year it didn't particularly matter, the drought hit everywhere, but usually both ranches won't be hit by the doughts," she pointed out. Due to the present drought the Dennis ranch only carries about 6,000 head of Rambouillet sheep which is 40 per cent of the number previously found on it. The disadvantages to owning two ranches come in when the family would constantly be moving between ranches and couldn't have much time for a home life, Mrs. Dennis said.

She remembers when she first saw the ranch house they now live in. "It was a wreck. In fact, it was so bad that people before us had only been living in two rooms. When Bert brought me out to see it befcre we bought it, he showed me how it had wonderful possibilities. And I must have been highly optimistic that day, too, because I saw them also," she laughed. The drawback was that the house didn't get redecorated all at once. "I hardly saw him for a year. He and the other ranchers would hunt all night. We had to do it room at a time," she said.

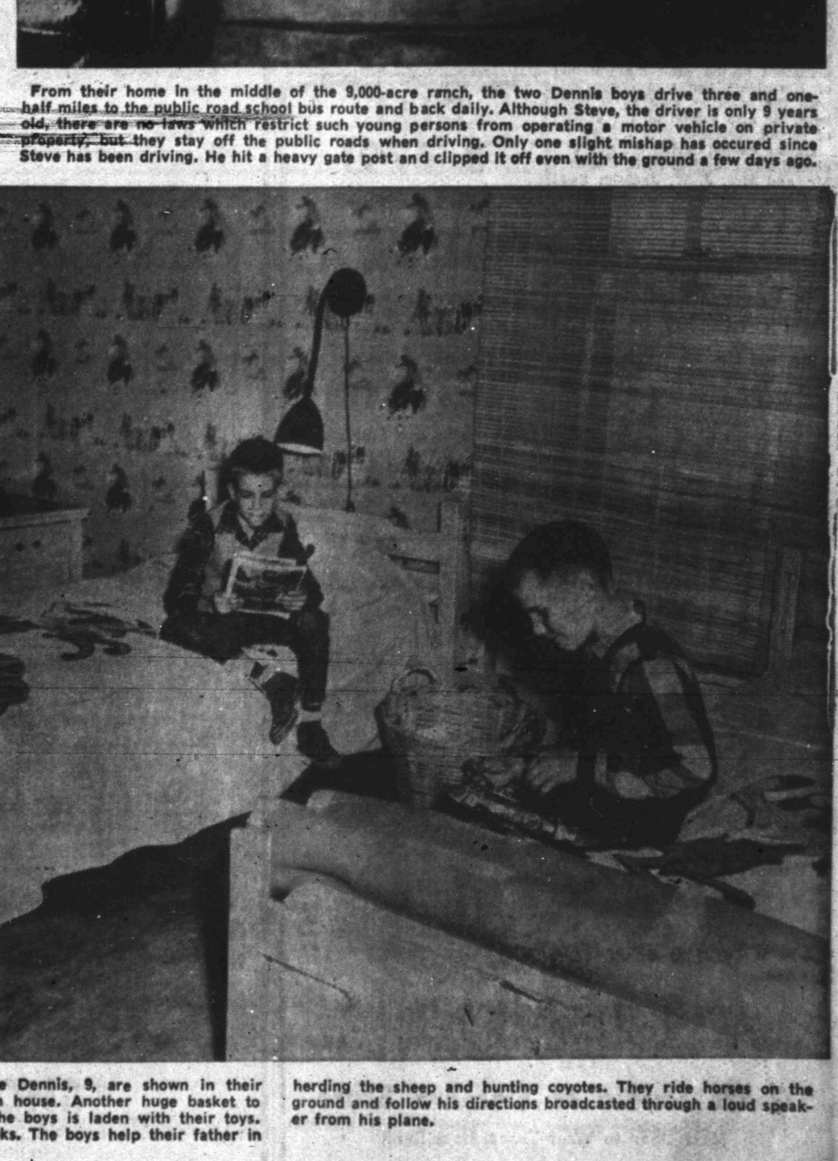
The Dennises redecorated their home, fitting it in with the surrounding country — rustic ranch style. "Bert and I both like it this way, and, too, while the kids are growing up I couldn't stand saying don't to them about getting their feet on the furniture and so forth all the time," she said. The Dennis house includes six rooms, two baths, "a horror chamber where the boys keep their jackets", a back porch, and a sun porch about 35 feet in length done in knotty pine.

The Dennises have some furniture that would appear voluminous in any smaller house. Before their fireplace in the livingroom they have a cut-down painted white dining room table (shown in the upper left picture) on which Mrs. Dennis keeps the latest magazines, apples, candy and other aids to comfort. "Bert told me I was crazy when I was looking at it in the shop, told me I was crazy when I bought it, but I think it worked out all right," she said. In the dining room they have a huge custom built circular dining room table because, Mrs. Dennis said, "I like to seat my company all at one table."

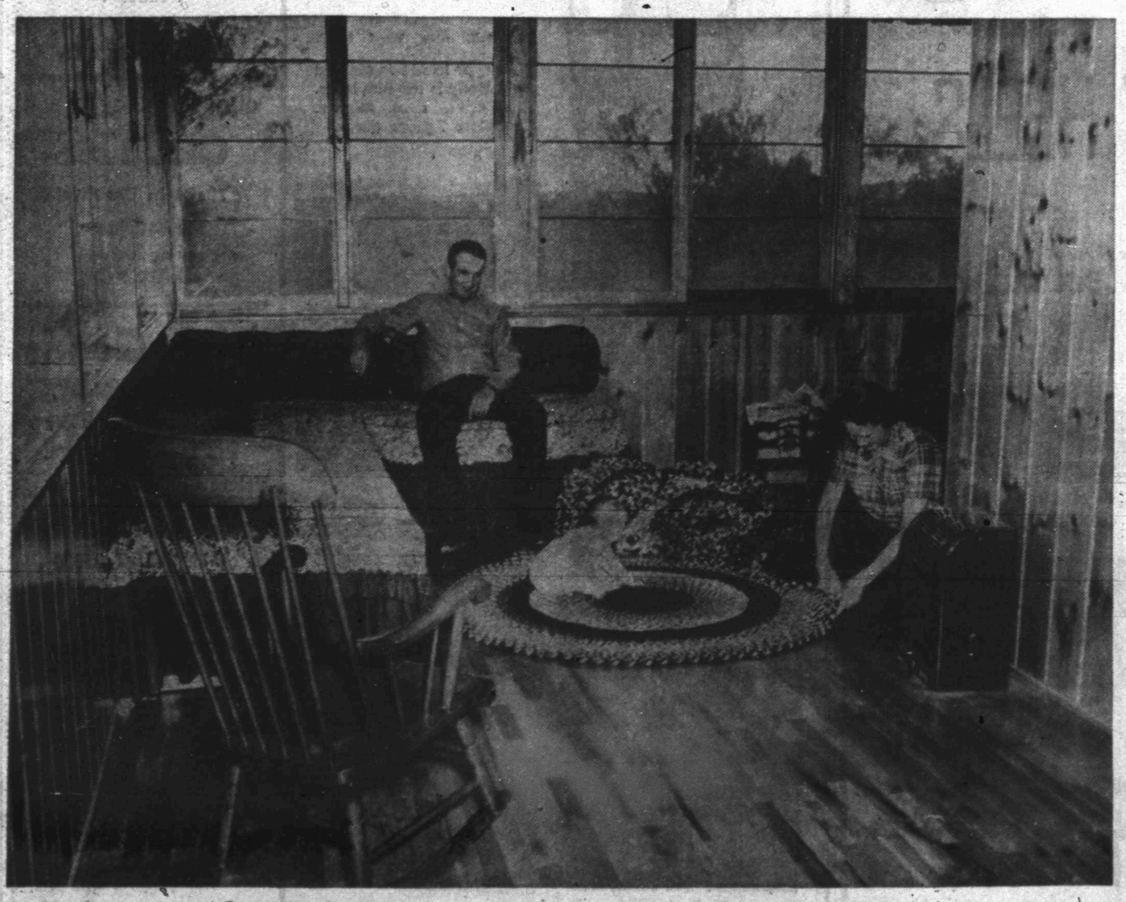
The Dennises, no matter how busy, find time for social life off the ranch too. Mrs. Dennis is a member of Altrurian Daughters and they both go to the Country Club occassionally, she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dennis, and seven-months-old daughter, Lisa, are shown in the living room of their large ranch home about six miles northeast of Gail in Borden County. Rebuilt from an old ranch house, the Dennis home is now modern to the nth degree, and although a gas heater is shown on the right side of the picture above, Mrs. Dennis is shown in front of a crackling fire in the fire place. (Lee Watson photographs.)

Mrs. Bert Dennis shown above in the dining room of her home, is setting the table which follows the furniture pattern of maple used throughout the house. The early Colonial table has a revolving raised portion which eliminates the boarding-house reach at the Dennis dinners. An old oaken bucket serves as a pot for a plant in the center of the table.



From their home in the middle of the 9,000-acre ranch, the two Dennis boys drive three and one-half miles to the public road school bus route and back daily. Although Steve, the driver is only 9 years old, there are no laws which restrict such young persons from operating a motor vehicle on private property, but they stay off the public roads when driving. Only one slight mishap has occured since Steve has been driving. He hit a heavy gate post and clipped it off even with the ground a few days ago.



Above the Dennises are shown in a large living area salvaged from an open porch that crossed the 36-foot front and ran half way down the south side of the house. Windows that can be removed by pressing a latch button leave a screened porch that is ideal for parties or dances in the summer. Mrs. Dennis is hooking a rug for the living room while her husband and baby daughter watch, in the above picture.

Joel Dennis, 8, left, and Steve Dennis, 9, are shown in their bedroom in the renovated ranch house. Another huge basket to match the one shown between the boys is laden with their toys. The one shown is for comic books. The boys help their father in herding the sheep and hunting coyotes. They ride horses on the ground and follow his directions broadcasted through a loud speaker from his plane.

Vera Maxwell

The new winter suit by Vera Maxwell incorporates all that is new in the season's silhouette and a lot that is tried and proven from the winters gone by. A straight, slim skirt goes well under the longer than hip-length jacket. An easy fullness swings to the back and raglan sleeves with a turn back cuff give the active woman free and easy motion. The Maxwell touch is silk braid trim on heathery tweed or velvet banding on silk faille. The suit would look well in black velveteen. Size 12 requires three and five-eighths yards of 54-inch material. Pattern is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. To order Pattern number 1125 send $1 to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., Dept. 163, Box 535. General Post Office. New York 1, N. Y. For air mail handling enclose an additional 25 cents. I want to shampoo the upholstery on my living room furniture and would like some instructions. L.

First, remove loose surface dust by brushing or vacuuming. If there are any grease spots, remove them with a cleaning solvent.

When it comes to the actual shampooing, the important fact to remember is that speed is essential. For this reason, home economists suggested using two steel pails — one for suds and the other for clear rinse water, so that cleaning and rinsing may be done without delay.

Using a rotary beater, whip up a thick suds right in the pail. Covering a small section at a time and with a circular motion, sponge fabric until clean. Remove suds with a cloth that has been dipped in warm water and wrung almost dry. To prevent rings, simply overlap clean sections. An electric fan may be used to speed drying. If the fabric has a thick nap, it should be brushed up when it is almost dry.

I have a rose living room suite, a hunter green chair and am planning to have gray draperies. I want to know if a gray chair, either matching the curtains or a shade lighter or darker, would be all right. Also, in a southeast bedroom I have limed oak furniture and dark rose patterned wallpaper. I would like to use brown curtains and bedspread, since it seems dark spreads look best with light furnishings. How do these colors sound? Mrs. W.

Both choices sound good. If your bedroom were in a dark part of the house, you would probably like lighter curtains, but since it is a southeast room, the brown should be nice.

REPORT TO PARENTS

Pre-School Age Children Should Have Dental Checks

By Dr. MARTHA M. ELIOT

It should go without saying that children need their dental health checked, as well as their physical health, well before they start to school.

Within the past decade, parents have been putting increasing emphasis on seeing that children of pre-school age get dental attention in their very early years.

And from Honolulu, Hawaii comes dramatic proof that this kind of emphasis pays off.

There, at the Strong - Carter Dental Clinic, a program to prevent loss of teeth among children has now been in operation for more than thirty years. In the early years of the clinic, children of pre-school age got little or no dental service before entering primary school.

By the time such children entered school and were admitted to the Clinic as first graders, many had permanent teeth which were either decayed beyond repair or surrounded by infection. The result was a high rate of extraction. The average number of permanent teeth extracted per 100 children in 1929, for example, was 26. At that time pre-school children received little or no dental service at the clinic. Twenty years later, with increased emphasis on getting dental care for the children well before they started school, children from 3 to 13 years old attended the clinic and the average number of permanent teeth extracted per 100 children had declined to five.

The Honolulu clinic is supplemented by a school for training dental hygienists, which is now a part of the University of Hawaii.

Interest in dentistry for children is a comparatively recent development in the health field. The Forsyth Dental Infirmary for Children in Boston, Massachusetts was the first institution of its kind to be erected in the world. Prior to its founding soon after the turn of the century, dental treatment for children was a neglected phase of dentistry.

The Forsyth Clinic has operated as a philanthropic center of service, education and research.

It seeks to teach the principles of mouth hygiene to further studies leading to the prevention of dental disease, as well as to maintain the health of the teeth of children.

Most authorities now agree that a child should first see the dentist when he is three years old. By that time, all his baby teeth are in position. If his baby teeth are kept healthy, then the permanent teeth which follow will have the maximum chance to develop normally and without risk of infection.

Another factor in the first trip to the dentist for the three year old is that the youngster who simply has his teeth checked over at this time is not as likely to think of the dentist as a man to be feared and avoided in later years.

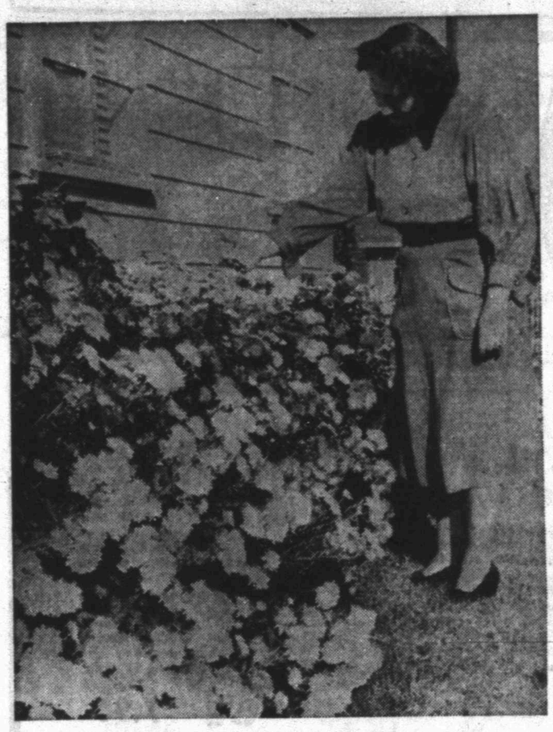
Mrs. H. L. Wren puts the finishing touches on an arrangement of giant lavender and yellow chrysanthemums which she raised at her home, 1305 Twenty-third Street. Her entries in the October flower show sponsored by the Garden Club won ribbons.



Frosts haven't discouraged this profusion of chrysanthemums at Mrs. O. J. Weber's home, 3790 Dalton Drive. In the height of their season this month, chrysanthemums are brightening flower beds all over town. (Staff Photograph.)

Chrysanthemums Popular In Lawns And Arrangements

Until a dry freeze hits Snyder, chrysanthemums blooming in small groups or in masses will continue to brighten the weary mid-November lawns.

Chrysanthemums — proclaimed the flowers of the month — are popular with Snyder florists and home gardeners alike for their hardy qualities and versatility in arrangements.

Garden types of chrysanthemums found in local yards bloom in a famut of colors ranging from pure white through the popular yellow and bronze shades, lavender and wine. These flowers are in the decorative class, while the large, showy pompon and incurved types are also grown by several enthusiasts. Swirl center and reflex types are left mostly to florists to cultivate, while the home gardners use patience and care to coax the large blooms and more exotic types.

As for the chrysanthemum culture, growers say they are planted between April 15 and June 1. Either roots or cuttings are used to start the plants, with cuttings said to provide better bushes. In the formal types, branches are pinched back to leave a maximum of three to each bush. Usually this is done about July 15, according to a local chrysanthemum fancier. Then when buds appear, the plants are pinched to leave one bud per branch. One woman who grows the flowers says she leaves two buds per branch "just to insure getting one bloom."

HEAVY FEEDERS

The flowers require an abundance of water, with one heavy watering per week preferred to several lighter waterings. Fertilizer is required on almost all the plants, although growers say after plants remain as long as four years in one spot, even fertilizer cannot help.

One reason for the chrysanthemums' popularity could be that they can be used for a border plant equally as well as for a background flower. The flowers may range in height from 12 to 36 inches.

Three insects found locally are a menace to the chrysanthemum, but growers say a cholordane spray or dust controls them. The red spider smothers the plant; the thrip sucks the leaves and a type of beetle harms the bloom.

ANNUAL UNCOMMON

The Chrysanthemums are a perennial plant, although there is an annual which doesn't resemble the flower as it is commonly thought of.

Chrysanthemums are rugged individualists, as described by one local grower. Their blooming date is determined by the amount of dark and light they receive, which causes serious growers to count days following the equinox.

Marriage Has Made Talker Of Silent Jimmy Stewart

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With three years of marriage clocked off, James Stewart is a changed man.

Or so his friends and associates would have you believe. They claim that Jimmy, once Hollywood's most noted and eligible bachelor, is different from the fellow we knew a few years ago.

For one thing, he talks. He had long been noted for such conversational gems as "Wala, shucks, I don't know about that." But when we had lunch together, he talked glowingly about his new family. It consists of his wife, Barbara, her two sons by a previous marriage, 6 and 8, and the twin Stewart daughters, 18 months.

"You see, each of the boys said he wanted a baby sister," Jimmy explained. "So we had to arrange that for them. And you know something? It's amazing that each boy has claimed a sister for his own. We try to mix them up, but the boys insist on adopting one of the sisters apiece."

I asked Jimmy if he thought marriage has changed his life. He said he wouldn't be the judge of that. What about making adjustments? I had heard that after he was first married he would leave the house in the morning without saying goodby to anyone.

"Now that's a press agent's story if I ever heard one," he replied indignantly. But after reflection, he added: "I guess that did happen once. I got up and left the house without saying a word to anyone. When I got halfway to the studio, I realized what I had done. I had to stop and telephone home to make apologies."

The Indiana, Pa., actor was really more at ease talking about his career, rather than his personal life. He was the pioneer in the split-the-profit picture deals which other stars have flocked to.

That's the deal whereby the star works for no salary, but takes 50 per cent of the profits of his picture. It has reportedly brought Stewart payments of over a half-million dollars apiece for pictures like "Winchester 73" and "Bend of the River." He is currently making "Thunder Bay" on the same basis. That's a story about tidelands oil, filmed largely at Morgan City, La.

One Killed In Explosion At Sherman Oil Mill

SHERMAN, Nov. 15 (AP)—One man was killed and two others critically injured today in an explosion and fire in the vegetable oil plant of the Kimbell Oil Mill here.

Arnold Conway, 33, of Acme died of injuries three hours after the explosion. Conway, who had started to work at the plant yesterday, is survived by his wife and three children.

Critically burned were Glen Moore, 24, Sherman, and Lloyd D. Waggoner, 32, Gainesville.

Fire Marshal Cecil Burris said cause of the explosion, which badly damaged the roof and wall of the corrugated iron building, was not determined.

Pictured above is the National Operatic Sextet which will open the concert season here tomorrow night.

First Concert Of Series Is Group Of Operatic Soloists

The first in the series of concerts sponsored by the Civic Music Association will be presented in the high school auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, according to Mrs. Armor McFarland, president.

The National Operatic Sextet, a group of six soloists, will compose the first program. They will include in their selections Sigmund Romberg's "Will You Remember", and music from "Cavalleria Rusticana," "La Boheme" and "Rigoletto."

Although most of the singers got their start through professional debuts Tenor Attilio Baggiore's had a different twist. When Baggiore was a young man studying opera in Naples he dined on the terrance of the Hotel Tramentano. One night he was asked to sing. Afterwards Luisa Totrazzini, world-famous coloratura soprano gave the young American singer an audition and engaged him as her assisting artist.

Bruce MacKay, bass, was discovered when he toured as a soloist with the men's glee club of the University of Southern California.

The members of the sextet have appeared in musicals as well as opera. Miss Alice Rager, soprano, was head in "High Button Shoes," "Song of Norway" and numerous radio shows. Arthur Rubin, tenor, sang leading roles in four successive hits, "Finnian's Rainbow," "Allegro," "Song of Norway" and "Two on the Aisle."

Miss Margaret Baxter, mezzo-soprano, was head in "Alive and Kicking," "Finnian's Rainbow" and "Seventeen." Mario Fiorella, baritone, was in "The Resurrection" and a movie, "This is the Army."

MacKay played in "The Magic Flute," "Faust," "Don Carlo," "Martha" and six months of Gilbert and Sullivan. All the singers have appeared on radio shows.

The accompanist, H. Walter Hatchek, attended the Conservatory of Vienna before coming to this country.

Tyrone Powers' Wife Keeps Him Happy With Good Food

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

How can a girl keep her husband happy, if he's one of Hollywood's handsomest glamor boys?

"Easy," says Linda Christian, the green-eyed actress who is still married to screen star Tyrone Power after four highly publicized years. "I feed him."

Here in New York for the opening of "The Happy Time," in which she plays her most important role to date, Linda doesn't look especially like a homebody.

Born in Mexico and educated in Venezuela, Palestine, South Africa, Holland and Italy, Mrs. Tyrone Power looks like a young and modernized version of Cleopatra. But, as she points out, looks aren't everything. Lots of girls have allure, but how many, for instance, know how to cook authentic Mexican mole or fried beans. Says Linda:

"I've gathered up recipes in every country I've lived in, and Ty just loves them all."

A devoted and conscientious mother, she takes her year-old daughter, Romina, along on all her tours. The baby's name commemorates the city where Linda met Ty and where they spent their honeymoon—Rome.

Linda was born Blanca Rosa Walter, the daughter of a Dutch oil executive whose business took him to most of the far corners of the earth. She studied medicine and planned to become a surgeon, until offers of screen contracts interfered with her studies.

She went to Hollywood, but didn't meet Tyrone Power until she took a vacation trip to Rome.

Linda caused some comment, even in Hollywood, by her unusual anniversary gift to Ty—an undraped statue of herself which graces their Hollywood lawn. Both Mr. and Mrs. Power do a lot of traveling, but they're never separated for more than six weeks a year. The rest of the time Linda presides in their California home, working up a reputation as a model hostess with the film colony.

Linda plans to continue her film career, of which Ty approves highly. But, she says, she'll never let it interfere with her duties as a housewife, a mother and a cook.

Pilot Finds Pet Dog Hanging On Pontoon Of Plane In Flight

SEATTLE (AP) — It was a nice routine flight for pilot Roy Aitchison as he gunned his seaplane along at 2,000 until he looked out a window. Then he nearly froze with fright.

What he saw was the Aitchison family's pet cocker spaniel pup, Curley, clinging desperately to a pontoon. The dog's tail was toward the front and his fur was blowing like crazy.

Aitchison though it was hopeless, he related here yesterday, but he throttled the plane down to 60 miles an hour. Then, making a slow, flat turn, he flew back to nearby Lake Sammamis with Curley still hanging on.

In the wash of the landing, he feared the dog would be lost, but the plucky pup hung on.

And then the tears of Bill, 4, and Mrs. Aitchison, who had seen the takeoff but couldn't warn her husband, turned to cheers. And all joined in giving Curley a good rubdown.

Airlines Seek Polar Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airlines and the federal government started talks last week about North Polar air routes to Europe and who should fly them.

Representatives of the Air Transport Association—the airlines' organization—and several individual airlines including Pan American and Western, met with members of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Further and more detailed discussions are in prospect.

Much in the foreground of the discussions are the plans of Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS).

SAS plans to ferry one of its new DC6B airplanes next week from the factory at Santa Monica, Calif., by way of Canada and Thule, Greenland, to Scandinavia. A second plane is to be similarly ferried later this year.

The airline hopes with these two trips to "prove" a new route from the U. S. West Coast to Northern Europe some 10 hours shorter than the existing route by way of New York City.

Denmark, Norway and Sweden have filed separate notes within the past six weeks asking the State Department for consultations on the amendment of existing bi-lateral air transport agreements. The State Department plans soon to reply that it will be happy to take part in such consultations.

Before the meetings, however, the state Department and the CAB want to sound out the plans and wishes of U. S. airlines regarding polar travel.

Pan American already has authority to operate a route from the United States to Moscow. For obvious reasons, this route never has been actually established.

There also are reports that Western and Northwest Airlines are interested in the possibility of extending their routes to the north. To date, however, the following are the only requests for polar routes on file with the CAB:

1. Alaska Airlines: A proposal field in October, 1951, for a route from Fairbanks to Paris by way of Oslo and London.

2. Wein Alaska Airlines: A proposal field from Fairbanks to Oslo, Stockholm, Copenhagen, London, Paris and Berlin.

Plans are to be made for using the Hallowe'en carnival proceeds. Donna Baker will sing, accompanied by Doctor Hamblen.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Holley of Graham, Tex., were guests this week of Mrs. Holley's cousin, Mrs. Ethel Elland, 2208 Twenty - eighth Street.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of the Scurry County Times - Signal Nov. 17, 1927.)

The Times - Signal carried a warning in last week's paper concerning a recent stunt staged here by a telephone advertising salesman. The man in question visited Editor Norman of the Hermleigh Herald and represented himself as an agent for the Snyder Merchants Association, who wanted to put a supplement in his paper. Thinking in a spirit that he wanted to cooperate, Editor Norman told the man to go ahead and he would help.

The salesman came back to Snyder, saw County Judge Holley and told him he was representing the Hermleigh Herald and that he wanted to use an office in the courthouse to do his telephoning. Judge Holley wanted to help all he could and gave the man a key to County Agent Williams' office. The "man" got on the phone and called every representative business house in Snyder, saying he was the editor of the Hermleigh Herald and asking for a $10 ad to help in getting out a booster edition.

Mayor H. G. Towle first smelt a mouse, came to the Times-Signal, following which visit the Hermleigh Herald was asked its version of the whole matter. Editor Norman came right down and the whole scheme of the visitor exposed.

No specific news has been vouchsafed to the Times - Signal upon which to warrant the belief that the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad will soon project its Texas Central line from Rotan to Snyder, Lamesa, and Roswell, N.M., as originally planned, but this news paper believes the hour has arrived when some definite representation should be made to that system along this line.

Stock Market Makes Advance

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Conflicting trends swept the stock market this week.

Price averages at the close Friday stood just about where they started Monday.

Bullish contingents professed to find much to encourage them, however. They pointed out that some profit taking sales continued and selling for tax adjustments started, only to be fairly well absorbed. They said the fact trading volume generally expanded on rising prices and contracted as quotations dropped was favorable and indicated a basic support for the market level.

In each of the four sessions of the holiday-shortened week, stocks advancing outnumbered those declining.

But on no day was there a uniform direction to the market.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged on the week at $107.50.

Low-priced issues sparked a whirl of activity late in the week. While total volume fell below that of election week, it came to 5,893,411 shares. And the daily average was a respectable 1,473,352 shares, well above the average of the year to date.

As is usual during any period of tax selling, stock movements were of a selective nature. And this was heightened by the number of issues responding to individual corporate news—dividend, mergers, reorganization reports, management changes.

General business news of the week was of the same favorable nature as in the preceding period. Business loans were at a new high, steel production at capacity, crude oil output at a record pace, automobile assemblies and electric power distribution at high levels.

At the mouth of the Amazon River are found bats which catch fish.

Churchmen Blamed For Gambling Over State Of California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Northern California churchmen yesterday heard themselves blamed partially for the existence of gambling in the state.

Warren Olney III, University of California law professor and chief counsel for the State Commission on Organized Crime, said about the only organized lotteries in the state today are those operated by fraternal, charitable and church groups.

Officer Takes Responsibility For Grounding

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — A chief officer who admitted his memory lapse led to the loss of a luxury liner on rocks in Alaskan waters Sept. 7 has been beached for six months.

He is Charles W. Savage, who was chief officer aboard the Princess Kathleen when it grounded and later sank near Juneau. There were 300 passengers aboard the ship but all escaped the vessel before it slipped from the rocks into a watery grave.

Justice Sidney Smith yesterday ordered Savage's master's license suspended for one year but recommended that he be given a ticket as a chief officer again after six months. Savage had a master's license at the time of the mishap but was acting as chief officer of the Princess Kathleen.

The seaman admitted through counsel that he was on watch on the bridge at the time of the accident. He admitted he had ordered the quartermaster to alter to a starboard course about 10 minutes before the lookout sighted land close at hand.

Then, he informed the justice, forgetting his previous order he ordered "hard to starboard" a few seconds before the ship slid high upon a rock.

Savage was commended by the government attorney for his candor.

Wingless Plane Forced Down

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — A wingless plane that made a forced landing in a plowed field on its maiden flight yesterday, is going to be tried again after its builder, William E. Horton, does some re-designing.

"Back to the drawing board," Horton quipped to newsmen. "I'm convinced the design is sound, but it needs a lot more improvements —a lot more development."

The strange-looking craft took off from Orange County Airport yesterday, flew low over the ground for about a mile, dipped dangerously near high tension lines, but landed without damage in an open field.

Horton, who has worked almost alone for the last 18 months on the experimental plane, had planned to be in the air for about an hour on the flight. Instead, he was aloft only two minutes.

The plane has stubby eight-foot control flaps on either side, is 26 feet wide and 40 feet long. The fuselage is virtually a wing in itself.

Christian Scientist Ruled Not Negligent In Refusing Medical Aid

BOSTON, Nov. 14 (AP)—Municipal Judge Frank E. Tomasello ruled today that two women members of the Christian Science Church were not negligent when they declined medical care after they were injured in a bus accident near Bow, N. H., June 5, 1948.

Mrs. F. J. Schmidt, 53, of 1809 Elmon St., Houston, Tex., was awarded $14,000 and Mrs. Lona S. W. Degner, 62, of 1533 Polk Ave., Houston, was awarded $7,500 in suits against Gray Line, Inc., a Boston bus firm.

The women were members of a Christian Science group making a chartered bus trip to the Mary Baker Eddy Memorial in Bow when the accident occurred. Mrs. Eddy was the founder of the Christian Science religion.

The bus firm asked the court to find that the women's injuries were aggravated by failure to accept medical aid.

Girl Acquitted Of Yacht Blast Murder Obtains Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Mrs. Beulah Louise Overell Cannon, 23, who with George Gollum was acquitted of slaying her parents in a yacht blast in 1947, has obtained a divorce from Robert Cannon, 31, former Los Angeles policeman and bar owner.

Cannon, married three times before, signed a consent to the divorce action and agreed to an out-of-court settlement. The couple was married in 1949. It was the first marriage for Miss Overell. She obtained custody of their 2-year-old son, Stephan.

Gollum, her fiance at the time of the trial, was given a one-year sentence in Savannah, Ga., in 1950 for car theft.
