Saudi Jet Burns With 255 Aboard

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP)—Flames engulfed a Saudi Arabian jetliner after it made an emergency return to the Riyadh airport and all 265 persons aboard perished, the official Saudi press agency reported today. It was the fourth-largest death toll in aviation history.

The plane was on a flight from Karachi, Pakistan, to Riyadh, to Jidda, Saudi Arabia.

About 75 percent of the victims were Saudi Arabians who boarded the plane in Karachi, said Saudi airline officials in the Pakistani city. Earlier, officials in Karachi said most of the passengers were Pakistanis returning to work in Saudi Arabia after visits home for the Eid festival at the end of the Moslem holy month of Ramadan.

There were no immediate official reports that any Americans were aboard.

"As the tongues of flames shot out the windows of the plane, it became impossible to open the doors from outside or inside," said a statement from the Saudi Civil Aviation Department. "The whole plane was engulfed in flames."

The Saudi state radio said the Tristar caught fire Tuesday night a few minutes after taking off from Riyadh, the Saudi capital on the east side of the country. The flight was headed for Jidda, the Red Sea port 500 miles west of Riyadh.

The plane turned back. As it approached for an emergency landing, the broadcast report said, fire brigades and ambulances were rushed to the runway and rescue helicopters took to the air. A "fierce glow of fire" could be seen.

The pilot told the control tower he was trying to rush his 249 passengers to safety through the emergency exits, the report continued, but radio contact was cut and the body of the plane became wrapped in flames.

"We are from Allah and unto him we return," said the Saudi government radio, quoting from the Koran, the holy book of Islam.

In addition to the passengers, the plane carried a crew of 16, the airline said.

The airport compound was guarded by security men, while a team of experts began the investigation to determine the cause of the fire. Reporters were barred from the area.

The worst accident in aviation history occurred on Tenerife in the Canary Islands in March 1977, when 582 persons were killed in the collision on a runway of two Boeing 747s operated by Pan American and the Dutch airline KLM.

The second worst, and the greatest loss of life in a single-plane accident, was the crash of a Turkish Airlines DC-10 northeast of Paris in March 1974 in which 346 people perished.

The crash of an American Airlines DC-10 in Chicago in May 1979 killed 273 people.

Wednesday update

Anderson To Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—John B. Anderson has received good news from the League of Women Voters, which he believes will insure his participation in the first of three televised presidential debates next month.

Until Anderson received a letter from the League on Tuesday, aides to the independent presidential candidate's campaign were fearful that he might be excluded from the debates.

The League had set a 15 percent average among the major public opinion polls for Anderson to qualify along with major party nominees Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan.

League officials also said last week that they would make a decision in late August on whether to invite Anderson.

Another Case Of Plague

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—New Mexico's seventh case of bubonic plague this year has been confirmed in an 8-year-old Indian boy whose brother contracted the disease earlier, state health authorities say.

Dr. Jonathan Mann, assistant director for health promotion and disease prevention in the state Health and Environment Department, said Tuesday the 8-year-old Navajo, a resident of the Alamo Reservation, has recovered from a mild case of the disease.

The child was the brother of a 5-year-old boy who was earlier confirmed as this year's third bubonic plague case, Mann said Tuesday. "This occurrence of two cases of plague from a single family is not unique," Mann said. "In 1975, three members of one family in Rio Arriba County developed plague at nearly the same time."

Israelis Bomb Palestinians

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli fighter jets bombed Palestinian targets in southern Lebanon today for the second consecutive day after guerrillas pounded Israel's northern Galilee panhandle with a barrage of rockets, the military command announced.

A brief communique said all Israeli planes returned safely after bombing "forward and organizational bases used for strikes" against Israel. It did not identify the targets.

WTC Faculty To Hear Newbury

Dr. Don Newbury will be guest speaker for the annual faculty-administration banquet Thursday night at Western Texas College.

The banquet is planned to give new faculty members and those returning the opportunity to get acquainted. Service pins will also be awarded personnel who have completed five and 10 years of service.

Newbury is director of communications for Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth, a position he has held since 1967. He was director of college information and instructor of journalism at Sul Ross State University from 1963-67 and taught journalism at Howard Payne University before that time.

He was named Howard Payne's Distinguished Alumnus in 1972. He is listed in several books of "Who's Who" and was a finalist in the "Outstanding Young Man of Fort Worth" selection in 1968. Newbury has a growing reputation as a humorist and after-dinner speaker, and during the past decade has addressed hundreds of all types of audiences.

The SDN Column

Sometimes it pays to let well-enough alone. While most cities and counties were protesting, or grumbling, about their census figures, Fisher County got word that it's disappointing preliminary report was much better than figures from a recheck.

The preliminary report showed that Fisher County's population had declined from 6,344 in 1970 to 5,860 in 1980—a decline of 484 people. The new figures indicate that was 443 high. The new total is 5,417.

The misinformation resulted from an error in Roby's population. The preliminary count had Roby gaining from 784 to 1,242, one of the biggest gains percentage-wise in the country. The recheck whittled Roby's current total down to 811, a gain of 27 over 1970. At the same time, it was found that Rotan's population now is 1,934, instead of 2,005 as reported in the preliminary tabulation.

City Manager John Gayle and County Judge Preston Wilson both believe the population figures for Snyder and Scurry County will increase over the preliminary report. They would like to see the city's count go above the 13,000 mark and the county hit 20,000. That would be quite a gain, however, and nobody is going to quarrel with the census people if we get a significant gain, whatever the exact figure may be.

It was bound to happen, and now we are beginning to hear census jokes. One making the rounds in some circles asks, "How can you expect a census-taker to get a full count, unless Congress gives him more fingers?"

The census people have come up with factors which enable them to make logical estimates. Perhaps they should develop one based on credit cards. That reminds us of a teacher in an elementary school who was trying to motivate her pupils to improve their penmanship.

"If you can't write your name, when you grow up you'll have to pay for everything in cash."

Bri-Lab Tapes Keep Rolling

HOUSTON (AP)—As an FBI informant's Bri-Lab bait splashed into a pool of politicians and labor leaders, the fishing expedition got bigger and more expensive, government tape recordings show.

The tapes made public Tuesday in U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor's courtroom revealed a plan to spend from $2 million to $4 million in "seed" money to obtain lucrative union and state employee health insurance contracts.

"This is bigger than anything we've ever done," L.G. Moore, a Deer Park labor leader, told Jack St. Clair, executive secretary-treasurer of the Texas Building and Construction Trades Council in the recording of an Oct. 18 meeting last year.

Moore, St. Clair and Joseph Hauser, the FBI's informant, spent several hours in St. Clair's Austin office discussing the possibility of paying Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton $25,000 for help in obtaining a $70 million state employee insurance contract.

Clayton and Moore, along with Austin attorneys Donald W. Ray and Randall B. Wood were indicted June 12 by a federal grand jury on charges of racketeering, extortion, fraud and conspiracy in the wake of the FBI's 10-month long "bribery-Labor" probe.

"In this bag is $120,000 in $100 bills," Moore told St. Clair.

"We've got to have $500,000 to go get the state contract," hand delivered," Moore continued.

"The thing we've got to have is premiums," Moore said, after mentioning that Hauser was scheduled to meet later with Clayton. "That is a bunch of money," he added.

"All he (Hauser) wants is the inside track and he gives you a better program."

Moore urged St. Clair to use his power to arrange for union health insurance contracts to be steered in Hauser's direction.

"If you start thinking, Moore told St. Clair, "you know...you've got influence...the guy gets it is the guy that's got a friend. This guy Hauser gives us every month...cash."

"He operates right out of L.A. (Los Angeles)," Moore said of Hauser. "He writes into the deal the amount of juice payoff."

Hauser told St. Clair that the estimated "juice" for a 1,600-man union health contract would be "$35,000 per year."

"We want to give Clayton $25,000," Moore said. "If he don't talk right, he don't get much...if he talks nice, we'll be nice."

Suit Filed In Explosion At Fandangle

ABILENE (AP)—A former Fort Worth newspaperman says $2 million in damages as compensation for severe physical and mental problems he says stemmed from an injury sustained in a blast at a 1976 historical festival.

T. Lincoln Kerney II alleges in his federal court suit that he lost his job at the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, has seizures and had a significant drop in his intelligence level because of the head injury.

Doctors said a piece of metal tore into Kerney's skull four years ago in an explosion at the Fort Griffin Fandangle, an annual historical reenactment near Albany, Texas.

Ask Us

Q—If someone is considering baking cakes and pies, etc., for the public, is there any kind of health test you must pass first, is a license required and is it all right to advertise?

A—City officials say you will need the following: A food handler's permit from the county health unit; a sales tax permit from the state comptroller (you can call the comptroller's office in Austin on a toll-free number—1-800-252-5555—to get details on this); and your place of operation must be located in a commercial zone (check the zoning officer at city hall).

When these requirements are met, you may begin your business and yes, you may advertise it.

Notices Go To County Taxpayers

Hundreds of property appraisal notices were emerging from computers at city hall today as the Scurry County Appraisal District staff prepared to mail them out to local property owners.

Notices on oil and gas property went out last week.

The notices are required by the state, and these are the ones that appraisal district officials fear will be misunderstood by some taxpayers. They are not a statement and no tax payment should be made in response to this mailing.

The "estimated taxes" shown on the notices are what the taxes would be if the various agencies levied on the same basis as last year. None of the taxing agencies have set rates for this year. In fact, they cannot set rates until the roll is certified by the board of equalization, which will meet on Sept. 11 to hear local taxpayers. The board's session for oil and gas property is set for Sept. 3.

The notices are being produced by city computers as part of the service contracted by the appraisal district.

invented the suit-preference signal. This convention is designed to help your partner decide which of two suits to lead when he will have an obvious choice.

This convention is valuable, but it is also difficult to use. In his 1960 book Pierre Jais has a chapter that is the best writing on this convention we have ever seen.

His first example discusses the case when one is leading a suit that he expects his partner to ruff. This time West knows that his partner will ruff the second diamond. He also knows that left to his own devices, partner will return a club up to dummy's three small, rather than a spade up to dummy's strength.

Therefore, after West's ace of diamonds holds the first trick, he continues with the 10. His partner recognizes this as a call for the lead of the higher suit and does lead a spade. West takes his ace, leads another diamond, and winds up with a well-deserved plus 50.

To Pursue Registration Evaders

DALLAS (AP)—Young men who did not register for the draft will be tracked down and prosecuted, Selective Service director Bernard Rostker told a veteran's organization.

Rostker, speaking at the annual national AMVETS convention Tuesday, said the draft registration went "extremely well." It was his first public speech since completion of the registration program. The number of registrants has not been tabulated, but Rostker told the veterans he is confident the "vast majority" of young men required to register did so.

"We will endeavor to locate those who did not register, and if necessary they will be prosecuted," he said. "We believe that is the only fair thing to do."

"Failure to register is not a trivial act. It is not a victimless crime," Rostker said. The victims, he said, are young men who registered and stand a greater chance of being drafted because others refused.

"Specifically, there are young men who registered who will be drafted because other young men violated the law and refused to register," Rostker said.

"In the name of fairness, those who fail to register will be identified, and their records will be forwarded to the Department of Justice," he added.

In an interview prior to his speech, Rostker said figures should be compiled in about two weeks to determine how many of the between 3.8 million and 3.9 million men who were supposed to register did so. Young men who were born in 1960 and 1961 were required to register by appearing at post offices and filling out a form.

"The last time we had registration not connected with a draft was in 1973. That year 77 percent of the men registered on time and 98 percent had registered by the end of a year," Rostker said. "We think we'll do substantially better than that."

Rostker, a deputy assistant secretary of the Navy for manpower and reserve affairs before being named Selective Service director in November 1979, said once registration is completed Selective Service could issue 34,000 induction orders per day, beginning within hours after Congress approved the action.

Death Penalty Expected By Suspect

DALLAS (AP)—An ex-convict was charged with capital murder in the brutal rape and strangulation of a 14-year-old girl, and said he expects the death penalty if convicted.

"I expect to get the death penalty since it's my second murder charge," Terry N. Turner said from his jail cell where he was being held without bond today. "If I can hurt someone with these hands, I deserve to be dead. I'm not upset about dying."

Tonna Longan's mutilated and partially nude body was found in a northwest Dallas back yard Sunday. Police said she had been raped, beaten and strangled.

Turner, 25, said Monday he had been drinking and "shooting up" drugs, and didn't remember anything.

Turner was released from the Texas Department of Corrections' Huntsville prison July 11 after serving four years of an eight-year sentence in connection with the aggravated rape and murder of 51-year-old Opal Hughes in May 1976. While police records show a rape charge was dismissed and replaced by a murder charge, district attorney's records show he pleaded guilty to both charges. TDC records show he was convicted of murder only.

When Turner was released from TDC after four years because of time off for good behavior, his mother, Mrs. Charles W. Turner, said she pleaded with authorities not to release him from prison.

Prime Time Regulars Picked Over Politics

NEW YORK (AP)—Regular prime-time fare broadcast during the week of the Democratic National Convention often attracted twice as many viewers as the live political programming, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co.

CBS, in fact, had six non-political shows among the week's 10 highest-rated, and won the networks ratings race for the first time in a month.

The highest-rated of the live convention reports was NBC's Thursday night program, which placed 25th among 45 shows rated during the week ending Aug. 17. The rating for the "Decision '80" broadcast on NBC was 9.7, compared with a score of 21.9 for CBS' "60 Minutes," the week's No. 1 show.

Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 21.9 percent saw at least part of "60 Minutes" while 9.7 percent watched some of NBC's Thursday night convention program.

CBS' rating in the most recent week surveyed was 12.4 to 11 for ABC and 9.7 for NBC. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 12.4 percent of the nation's TV-equipped homes were tuned to CBS.

CBS last beat the opposition during the week ending July 20. That period included four days' coverage of the Republican National Convention from Detroit. Previously released figures showed CBS most-preferred in coverage of both conventions.

Though live convention coverage did not do particularly well in the ratings, ABC's "20-20" newsmagazine, broadcast each evening of the convention, was moderately successful. The highest-rated of the four shows was the Thursday night edition, which finished 18th.

ABC's top-rated show for the week was a movie, "Support Your Local Gunfighter," No. 3 in the ratings, with NBC's best a repeat from "CHips," No. 6.

Of the few original programs broadcast during the week, not counting the political programming, a new installment of "That's My Line" on CBS was the highest-rated, No. 12, and "Speak Up America" on NBC was 16th.

Three of the week's five least-watched shows had nothing to do with politics. "Buck Rogers in the 25th Century" from NBC was No. 41, followed by live convention reports from ABC at 10:22 p.m. EDT Tuesday and 9:14 p.m. Wednesday, "Galactica 1980" on ABC and "From Here to Eternity" on NBC. The Tuesday and Wednesday night convention programs on ABC followed editions of "20-20."

Here are the week's Top 10 shows: "60 Minutes," with a rating of 21.9 representing 16.7 million homes, and "Dallas," 20.8 or 15.9 million, both CBS; Movie: "Support Your Local Gunfighter," 19.8 or 15.1 million, ABC; "Dukes of Hazzard" and "The Jeffersons," both 18.9 or 14.4 million, both CBS; "CHips," 18.1 or 13.8 million, NBC; "Love Boat" and "Fantasy Island," both 17.9 or 13.7 million, both ABC, and "Archie Bunker's Place" and "Trapper John, M.D.," both 16.3 or 12.4 million, both CBS.

Kidnap, Rape, Robbery Suspect Behind Bars

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—A Texan suspected of kidnapping, raping and robbing more than a half-dozen women in at least three states was held without bond today while authorities tried to sort out a bizarre and complicated case.

About a dozen officers—FBI, Louisiana State Police and city police in both Texarkana, Ark., and Texarkana, Texas—pounced on Joseph John Varanelli Jr. as he emerged Tuesday from a motel straddling the Arkansas-Texas border.

Officers here said Varanelli, 37, from the Houston suburb of LaPorte, was preceded from the motel room by a woman he is accused of kidnapping Monday in Baton Rouge, La.

They said Varanelli was held on Louisiana warrants accusing him of aggravated kidnapping, rape and three armed robberies, but that various other Arkansas, Texas and federal action was still being discussed.

Police in Arkansas and Louisiana gave this account of the spree, which reportedly began about five weeks ago in Arkansas, spread to Texas and then to Louisiana.

A 16-year-old Texarkana, Ark., girl was taken July 10 to California, where she was later freed. She later said her abductor committed at least 12 robberies en route.

Next, another teen-ager was kidnapped a few days later near Amarillo, then was released in Houston.

At Houston, three teenaged girls were abducted when their car broke down north of Houston. Two of those girls are still missing. The third was freed in Texarkana, Texas.

Louisiana State Police said they got involved when someone robbed a curio shop at Lafayette and kidnapped its 23-year-old clerk. They said she was driven in her car to east Texas, then to the Shreveport-Bossier City area where her abductor took another captive.

Troopers said the second Louisiana woman, 31, was kidnapped from the Bossier City lounge where the abductor went Saturday afternoon with the woman he kidnapped at Lafayette. They said he robbed the lounge, then threatened to kill the lounge employees unless the Lafayette woman followed them in her car. They said the Lafayette woman was freed Sunday in Alexandria.

State police said the kidnapper went with the Bossier City woman to Baton Rouge, where he robbed another shop Monday and took its one 19-year-old employee captive. Again, they said, the Bossier City woman followed the couple in her car after the abductor threatened to kill the Baton Rouge woman. They said the Bossier City woman was released in the Alexandria area.

Texarkana police said they traced the sports car owned by the kidnapped Baton Rouge woman to a motel astride the Texas-Arkansas line, about 2 p.m. Monday.

They said nearly a dozen officers waited in rooms on either side of the unit occupied by the kidnapping suspect. The woman emerged about 4:45 p.m., they said, and police pounced on Varanelli as he left the room behind her.

Although Varanelli offered no resistance, they said, a .22 Magnum was found in his boot.

Dear Abby

No Room for Girl In Men's Locker Room

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old man. Yesterday I went swimming at a local pool, and while I was in the locker room changing into my swimming trunks, I turned around to find a little girl who appeared to be 4 or 5 years old staring at me! I later learned that she had been brought there by her father, who was calmly drying himself after showering.

The locker room was crowded with men in various stages of undress. Some were completely naked. All were unaware that they were being observed by a wide-eyed girl.

I found the pool manager and complained. He got hold of the father and asked him not to bring the child into the men's locker room again. The father blew up and said he had no one to leave his little girl with, and he wasn't about to let her wait for him outside alone. When the father was informed that the other men in the locker room might not appreciate being observed by a young girl, he said, "Any man who is embarrassed to be seen naked in front of a 4-year-old girl must have something wrong with him!"

Abby, I'd like your opinion. Who has something "wrong with him"? Me? Or a man who would bring his daughter into a men's locker room?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The father used poor judgment in bringing his daughter into the men's locker room because in doing so he violated the privacy of others who may not have felt comfortable under the circumstances. If he had no one to leave the child with, he could have skipped the swim. He was obviously all wet to begin with.

DEAR ABBY: You suggested that "older people" should mark the backs of family pictures while they can still remember who's who, and where the pictures were taken and the approximate dates. But why only "older people"? That's something everybody should do as soon as a snapshot or picture is developed.

For years I was too busy (or lazy) to do it, and now that I'm retired and have plenty of time, I can't remember who half the people are!

My parents can't help me because my father has been dead for 25 years, and my mother is in a rest home unable to remember much of anything.

So here I sit with a big box of family pictures, beating my brains out trying to recall names, dates and places. What a mess!

Abby, please remind your readers often to label their pictures. Then their grandchildren won't have to go through what I'm going through now.

KICKING MYSELF IN ASBURY PARK

DEAR KICKING: Not only should family pictures be labeled, but accounts of historical events and the newspaper clippings of births, graduations, marriages and deaths in your family should be dated and kept in a sturdy scrapbook. Fascinating family histories could be preserved if younger members interviewed older relatives at family gatherings. A tape recorder would be ideal for this purpose. Succeeding generations will love it!

DEAR ABBY: For your survey on how women over 50 feel about sex: I agree with TIREL. I am not a loose woman, but anything gets boring with the same person after 25 years.

Where I work, there are 103 married women between 19 and 65, and just for fun, I decided to ask each woman if she had ever had an extramarital affair.

Of course I didn't expect an answer, but behold—73 said yes, 21 said they would if they thought they could get away with it, and nine told me it was none of my business.

Carter Recovers But Not Well Yet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Right on schedule, the first symptoms of political recovery are showing on President Carter's chart—but he's not well yet.

Carter and his strategists had said all along that their poll ratings against Ronald Reagan would improve markedly once the Democratic National Convention-renominated him.

Until then, it was a two-man show among Democrats, while Reagan had the Republican billing all to himself. Now Carter heads the Democratic ticket and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is supporting him, although it isn't yet clear how active he'll be in the campaign ahead.

The president has indeed narrowed the pollsters' gap, just as former President Gerald R. Ford did against Carter four years ago. Lopsided pre-convention margins for Carter in those polls proved illusory; once Ford had defeated Reagan and gained the GOP nomination, the race was a tight one.

As Associated Press survey showed a surge in Carter support immediately after the Democrats' convention week in New York City. The attention and television time a national convention draws will almost invariably boost the ratings of its candidates.

The new poll, completed on Saturday, shows Reagan the preferred candidate of 39 percent of likely voters questioned. Carter was chosen by 32 percent, Rep. John B. Anderson, the independent, by 13 percent. The Test were undecided or favored minor party candidates.

Ten days earlier, before the Democratic show, it was Reagan 47 percent, Carter 22 percent, Anderson 15 percent.

In both those surveys, the margin of error was 4 percentage points, meaning the candidates' actual support could be higher or lower by that margin.

Otto Frank Dead At 91

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Otto Frank, whose daughter Anne wrote a teen-age diary of Nazi persecution that shocked the world, died today at age 91.

The German-born Frank was the sole survivor of a family of four ferreted out in 1944 by Nazi raiders from the backroom of a Dutch warehouse where they had been hiding for more than two years in an attempt to escape the Holocaust.

He was freed from the Auschwitz death camp by Soviet troops in 1945, at about the time Anne died of typhus in the Bergen-Belsen camp at age 15. His wife and other daughter also died in Nazi camps.

Returning to the Amsterdam warehouse, Frank found Anne's Dutch-language diary, along with fairy tales and other stories she had written while in hiding.

Reflecting humor and pensiveness, the diary has been hailed as a monument to the courage and strength of the human spirit.

But a presidential election is not a single, nationwide contest. It is 51 contests, for the electoral votes of each state and the District of Columbia. The question is not only how many votes, but where. A runaway victory in one state counts for no more than a narrow victory in another; winner takes all the electoral votes.

And democrats from states like Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, even some Deep South states, left New York nervous, or pessimistic, about Carter's standing with their voters. The president can't afford to lose states like those.

Gene Kelly received a special Academy Award for his innovative contributions to the dance in movies.

Foreigners Own About .04% Of U.S. Farmland

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest government accounting shows foreigners own about 0.4 percent of U.S. farmland, virtually the same as surveys indicated earlier this year.

As required by law, the Agriculture Department compiles figures showing changes in foreign land ownership. The latest figures were released on Tuesday.

"Foreign groups and individuals have reported they owned 5.6 million acres or 0.4 percent of U.S. agricultural land as of Feb. 1, 1980," the report said.

A preliminary report issued last Jan. 25 showed that as of Oct. 31, 1979, foreigners owned 5.2 million acres and that the area "is so small that it is unlikely that any aggregate impact on agriculture, either positive or negative, could be detected."

Congress in 1978 passed a law requiring the USDA to make periodic reports on foreign ownership of agricultural land. The law defines agricultural land as that which is used for agricultural, forestry or timber production.

That includes land in agricultural use when bought as well as land later converted to agricultural use. Tracts smaller than one acre and which produce less than $1,000 worth of agricultural products a year are exempted.

The study showed:

- Foreign ownership is concentrated in the South, although it is reported in all states but Rhode Island, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas account for 32 percent of all foreign-owned land.
- A few countries account for the bulk of foreign-held U.S. agricultural land. Canada, the Netherlands Antilles, West Germany, Luxembourg and the United Kingdom hold 81 percent of all foreign-held agricultural land.

-U.S. entities which have at least 5 percent ownership hold 54 percent of foreign-held agricultural land.

-Of the land held by foreigners, 46 percent is forest land.

-Of foreign owners, 87 percent say they intend no change in the use of the land they acquired.

"Nationally, foreign ownership is so small that, except in a few areas of concentrated ownership, that impacts appear to be small," the report said.

Foreign ownership of U.S. farmland is among the major topics being reviewed in a massive study of U.S. agriculture ordered by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

Preliminary results of Bergland's study project indicate that the problem of foreign ownership of U.S. farmland is not as important in Bergland's view as some other areas, including taxation, federal aid to larger farmers and other federal programs.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Exercise aids weight loss

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am desirous of losing about 10 pounds but am extremely wary of embarking upon such a seemingly poisonous regime as a 60 gram per day low-carbohydrate diet. It is my understanding that prolonged exposure to such a diet causes hyperuricemia, hyperlipidemia, hypoglycemia, nausea, chest pains, arthritis of the breastbone, gout, swelling of the ankles, peripheral edema, diarrhea, a build up of ketone bodies causing an alcohol-acetone breath, dizziness, inability to concentrate and make quick decisions and, most disturbingly, cirrhosis of the liver due to an invasion of abnormal deposits of fat and dietary deficiency. Furthermore, it has been variously described by most eminent authorities as bordering on malpractice, a bizarre regime that is without scientific merit and unbalanced, unsound and unsafe.

I would be most grateful if I could hear from your good self giving a detailed opinion of your comments on all the points that I have raised. It would appear to me that the only absolutely healthy solution to my temporary weight problem is a two-mile walk per day. At least my liver wouldn't complain.

DEAR READER — I think you've touched all the bases. Space does not permit me to explain all the terms that you have used but all of those comments have been made. And most of them are correct.

For individuals who need to lose just a small amount of weight such as yourself, if you do not increase your caloric intake but do increase your physical exercise, you can usually lose the weight you need. You'll probably use about 60 calories a mile or 120 calories a day for two miles. At that rate, in about 10 months you'll have eliminated the 10 pounds of body fat that you're talking about. You might grow some muscles from the exercise if you're not already active but that wouldn't be particularly harmful.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 16-2, Dangerous Dieting. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Exercise is often underrated in its value as a safe and healthy way of losing weight. Of course, you can overdo exercise, or do it in the wrong manner, but very few people have ever hurt themselves with sensible walking unless they get run over by a truck.

You can use the diet plan that I'm sending you and you might want to add a few extra calories to it if it causes you to lose weight too fast. As a general rule, the best and safest way to lose excess fat is to eliminate about a pound a week without making a heroic effort. Learn to readjust your life style.

If you develop a walking program on a consistent basis as part of your life style, that may be the most important thing you'll get out of your program. It could also help you prevent obesity in the future.

Interest Rates Climbing Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Interest rates on business loans and home mortgages are climbing again, and analysts say further increases are likely in the next several weeks.

The upward spiral was underscored Tuesday when Chase Manhattan Bank raised its prime rate a quarter of a percent to 11.25 percent and two major California mortgage lenders boosted their rates to 13.5 percent.

Chase, the nation's third-largest commercial bank, said its action was in response to rising costs in lending. Wall Street analysts predicted other banks would soon join Chase and raise their rates from the prevailing 11 percent level.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the prime move up to 11.25 or 11.5 percent in the next couple of weeks," said Maria Fiorini-Ramirez, an economist for Merrill Lynch.

If the rest of the banking industry follows Chase's lead, it will mark the first general increase in the prime rate since April 2, when the rate peaked at 20 percent.

Samuel Morse was granted a patent for the telegraph in 1848.

PBS picked up more viewers again last year, the first year of the plan under which most PBS stations agreed to carry network prime time programs from Sunday to Wednesday. This enhanced national advertising and promotion efforts, and, presumably, accounts for some of the increase in viewership.

While ABC, CBS and NBC are broadcasting reruns and freak shows, PBS will offer this fall schedule:

SUNDAYS: Beginning Sept. 28, "Cosmos," with host Carl Sagan, the Cornell astronomer.

MONDAYS: "Great Performances" begins its new seasons with "Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy," a miniseries the commercial networks would love to have.

TUESDAYS: "Nova" returns, followed by a 13-week series called "Body in Question."

WEDNESDAYS: Special night this season.

THURSDAYS: New programming here. "Up and Coming," about a black family with teenagers trying to adjust to their upwardly mobile existence. "From Jump Street," a music series, follows, and then the Chicago-based movie criticism show, "Sneak Previews."

FRIDAYS: On Sept. 12 Bill Moyers checks in with his "Campaign Journal," a nine-part series on the presidential campaign.

SATURDAYS: "The Vikings," voyages of the Norsemen in 10 half-hour episodes: "Numero Uno," also new, about top athletes from various sports; and "Matinees at the Bijou," a 16-week series featuring cliffhanger serials that played in the '40s.

Defense Secretary...

Warns Of Threat To U.S. Ground Missiles

By FRED HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Harold Brown said today the Russians either have, or are on the verge of attaining, the capability to destroy U.S. land-based missiles in their underground launch bases.

Brown said this in warning that Soviet military advances in weapons power, numbers and technology could in the future "threaten the survivability of each component of our strategic forces," including 1,000 Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles, the bomber force and missile-firing submarines.

"For our ICBMs, that potential has been realized, or close to it," Brown said in a speech prepared for the Naval War College at Newport, R.I. "The Soviets are now deploying thousands of ICBM warheads accurate enough to threaten our fixed Minuteman silos."

"For our bombers, the threats are more remote, and for submarine-launched ballistic missiles, more hypothetical."

His statement appeared to make the Soviet threat to the U.S. Minuteman ICBM force more immediate than his forecast to Congress less than seven months ago. At that time, Brown predicted that "within a year or two we can expect them (the Soviets) to obtain the necessary combination of ICBM numbers, reliability, accuracy and warhead yield" to put most U.S. land-based missiles in jeopardy in the event of an attack.

At the same time, however, Brown expressed confidence that the United States can maintain what he called "essential equivalence" with the Soviet Union and effectively deter a Russian attack by modernizing its strategic forces with the mobile MX missile, bombers armed with cruise missiles, and giant new Trident submarines with more potent and accurate weapons.

Brown stressed that the controversial plan for 200 MX missiles, which would be shuttled among about 4,600 shelters in remote western valleys, "is highly important for preserving the long-term strategic balance."

The defense secretary made these points in connection with a discussion of the revised U.S. nuclear strategy, which places greater emphasis on an ability — and readiness — to strike at Soviet military and war-supporting industrial and command centers, while de-emphasizing attacks on the Soviet population. This "countervailing strategy" has drawn heavy fire from the Russians and from some American critics, who claim it makes nuclear war more thinkable.

Ride Breaks; Injures 11

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Authorities say they don't know what caused an amusement park ride called the Yo-Yo to break and drop its riders to the asphalt below.

"The only thing I can give you as far as what caused it was just a malfunction of the ride," said one Caddo Parish sheriff's deputy.

At least 11 children and teen-agers were injured — none of them seriously — in the accident, which reportedly occurred during a private party given by Shreveport radio station KRMD at Hamel's Park.

Shortly afterwards, a ride next to the Yo-Yo broke, leaving cars holding eight children hanging in mid-air. Firemen climbed ladders to rescue those children and no one was injured, officials said.

The Yo-Yo has 16 two-person seats at the end of long chains suspended from arms that move up and down while the whole machine spins. Every seat was full when the ride broke, said park owner Milton Hamel.

"Mothers and dads ran from every direction," said Ethel Welch, who saw the accident.

She said the Yo-Yo had made barely one turn when it bounced a couple of times, the chains went lax, and the swings fell to the ground. The ride was not at its maximum height, authorities said, but it was not determined immediately how high the ride was.

Karen Blaker Ph.D.

Parental kidnapping

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — My ex-husband has kidnapped our 8-year-old daughter three times. Always before I was able to find her because he allowed her to remain in the same school.

But this time she has really disappeared. I don't know what to do.

With the high percentage of divorces, this must be a common problem. What do other people do when this happens?

DEAR READER — Only about 3 percent of cases like yours are reported to the police. Yet, that is an important first step toward finding your daughter.

It is surprising that more services are not available to help parents find their stolen children. One such service I turned up in my research was the Stolen Children Information Exchange, Box 465, Anaheim, Calif. 92805, telephone (714) 847-2676.

If you call this number, you will learn practical tips that have helped others locate their children. For example, for a small amount of money — less than $20 — you can often get a print-out of driver's license addresses. You may also be able to find out if a ticket was recently issued to that driver and the address on that ticket.

Credit checks are another possible means of determining the location of a stolen child. The loan officer at your bank may be able to help with that process.

It is important for your ex-husband to realize that he cannot get away with this action. I'm sure that each incident further traumatizes your daughter.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — I have heard so much about the difficulties of being elderly, and I would just like to make some positive comments.

I am 70 years old and in good health. I live with my wife and dog in a lovely townhouse where we have opportunities to meet people of all ages. We particularly enjoy the children. We think they keep us young.

We are enjoying these years and want to know why every-one complains so much about getting old.

DEAR READER — The answer is simple. Most senior citizens do not have the three most important elements for enjoying old age: adequate health, sufficient finances and a mate who is also fairly healthy.

The new study "Aging in America: Trials and Triumphs," sponsored by Americana Healthcare Corp., examined the economic, physical, psychological and social conditions of non-institutionalized Americans over 60.

The study found that only 27 percent of these people fell into your category, which was labeled "enjoyers." Another 53 percent were called "survivors," while the remaining 20 percent were termed "casualties."

Interestingly, fewer than half of the "enjoyers" were women even though they comprise 58 percent of the population.

I hope you now understand why so many elderly people complain. You've got it good!

Find out more about sexuality in your senior years from Dr. Blaker's newsletter "Sex: How Old is Too Old?" Send 50 cents plus a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Blaker in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 475, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

And Spending Cutbacks...

Profit Sag Means More Layoffs

By GLENN RITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The sharp drop in corporate profits from April through June means that companies will continue to cut back their spending and lay off more workers in coming months, private economists say.
The squeeze on companies is tightened further by suddenly rising interest rates that discourage borrowing for new plants and equipment these economists explain.

gence in consumer demand—a force that should exist if companies are going to risk heavy spending.

These trends—which would ensure a very sluggish recovery from the current recession—were painted in interviews Tuesday with economists from three of the nation's leading private forecasting firms.
The economists agreed that the decline in corporate profits—while not unexpected—virtually guarantee that companies will further cut back activity and lay off more workers.

"This is a trigger for cutting employment," said Sandra Shaber, senior economist of Chase Econometrics Associates in Bala Cynwyd, Pa. "This is inescapable."
Chase Econometrics, Data Resources Inc., and

Evans Economics all predicted a sustained shrinkage of corporate profits through this year as the recession continues—although at an easing pace.

On Tuesday, the Commerce Department reported that corporate profits fell steeply from the first quarter to the second quarter. This occurred while the nation's entire economy plunged 9 percent from April through June as the full force of the recession took hold. Pre-tax profits from April through June fell 19.8 percent from the first quarter, while after-tax profits declined 18.2 percent.

Corporate profits from current production—a measure that adjusts for depreciation and the replacement of inventory—fell nearly 11 percent from first quarter to second quarter.
Companies did manage to retain more of their total earnings during the second quarter than in the first quarter. However, these retained profits were 13 percent below levels set during the same three-month period in 1979, Commerce Department figures show.

"If retained earnings are shrinking, and interest rates are up, business investment will be choked off in coming months," said Ms. Shaber.

Moreover, a revival of rampant inflation last month will add to the cost of new business investment and dampen any prospect of a rapid resur-

Anderson Makes Texas Ballot

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. John B. Anderson's name will appear on Texas' November ballot as an independent candidate for president, says Secretary of State George Strake.

However, Texas Democrats continued to check today to see if there was a way to keep Anderson off the ballot.

Anderson is expected to take away Texas votes from President Jimmy Carter, the Democratic nominee, if he appears as an independent.

Strake told a news conference Tuesday that a sample of the 80,000 signatures submitted by Anderson's supporters had been checked and 73 percent of them proved to be legitimate, which would give him the 40,719 needed to get on the ballot.

Strake also said similar checks of petitions gave the Libertarian Party a place on the ballot but denied a ballot spot to the Socialist Workers Party and the Citizens Party.

June Middlebrooks, deputy director of the Texas Democratic Party headquarters, said Anderson's petitions were being run through the Democrats' computer. If enough Democratic names show up to affect Strake's decision, then the party may sue.

Strake said most of the names removed from the Anderson petitions were either illegible or were those of voters in May 3 Republican presidential primary. "We did not remove any names of those who voted in the Democratic presidential primary," Strake said.

Strake has contended that Republican voters could not sign Anderson petitions but Democrats could, because the GOP primary was binding in selection of national convention delegates while the Democratic poll was a "beauty contest."

Attorney General Mark White issued an opinion saying persons who voted in the Democratic primary also were prohibited from signing presidential nominating petitions.

Strake said Anderson submitted almost 80,000 signatures on petitions. He said his staff verified one percent of the signatures, just as White, his predecessor, had done. The sample was tested in the 80 counties where the signatures were collected. Strake said the 800 signatures tested showed that 585, or about 73 percent, were legal.

"We feel very optimistic about our current decision," said Strake.

When asked if he expected a lawsuit, he said "If I were them, I wouldn't do it. I think it would be an expensive, losing ordeal."

Ms. Middlebrooks said the Democrats will attempt to determine in comparing Anderson's signatures with their own computer files of registered Democratic voters on May 3 whether the petitions approved by Strake contain enough Democratic signatures to keep Anderson from being certified.

"If we find enough Democratic names, we will file suit," Ms. Middlebrooks said.

By Competitor For Medicaid Contract...

Perot's 1 On 1 Talks Protested

AUSTIN (AP)—H. Ross Perot's one-on-one visits with the three State Board of Human Resources members about a $400 million-a-year Medicaid contract were illegal, the chairman of a competing firm says.

And the board was, perhaps, un-Texan in reconsidering—at Perot's request—its decision to give the contract to Bradford National Corp., said Bradford chairman Peter Del Col.

"I thought a Texan's word was his bond," Del Col, of New York City, told a news conference Thursday.

The board voted July 15 to give Bradford the contract, replacing Perot's National Heritage Insurance Corp. But after Perot's visits, the board reopened the matter on July 29 and said it would make a final decision on Aug. 25.

Del Col said he had hired Austin lawyers and would sue if the board gives Perot's firm the contract to operate Medicaid for 700,000 Texas welfare recipients. He said Bradford stands to lose $5 million to $10 million in profits if it loses the contract.

In a long memorandum filed with the board, he said Perot's private talks with each board member violated provisions of the Texas Administrative Procedure Act.

Del Col said "any change in the board's position would necessarily appear to be grounded in these one-on-one communications."

The board's public decision to reopen the contract issue followed a closed-door meeting with Morton Meyerson, president of the Perot company. Del Col suggested this also was illegal.

"Although an executive session may be convened to discuss matters properly handled in private, Meyerson's communications may have addressed matters not properly presented in an executive session. This would constitute a violation of the Texas Open Meetings Act," Del Col's memorandum said.

The board's original decision to give the contract to Bradford was based on findings of staff members and consultants that Bradford would save the state $20 million to $60 million over four years.

Bill Wright, a Perot spokesman, said it was proper for Perot to seek reconsideration of the contract because "the staff recommendations and the recommendations of the consultants were faulted, subjective and arbitrary and caused the board to make a bad decision."

He challenged Del Col's view that Perot's personal

Prepared Minds

Make Discoveries

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Scientist Henry Hsieh, holder of 86 patents over the past 23 years, says a discovery is "really a series of accidents," and that "it just takes someone with a prepared mind to accept and catch that accident."

Hsieh, a senior research associate, has worked in polyolefins and plastics for Phillips Petroleum. He recently received a cash award of $12,500 from his employer under a new patent payment plan.

NOTICE

IF YOU SMELL NATURAL GAS, FOLLOW THESE 3 STEPS TO SAFETY.

The natural gas industry has an excellent safety record.

The fact that you can smell natural gas is because we add a harmless chemical to it as an extra safety feature. Otherwise, it would be completely odorless. If you detect faint whiffs of what you think may be gas, investigate. It may be something that is as easily and safely corrected as a pilot light that has gone out, or a burner valve that's partially open.

If your equipment seems to be working properly and the odor intensifies and seems to be everywhere, please follow these precautions:

1. Do not switch anything electrical on or off. Do not use the telephone in your own home. Do not strike a match. Do not do anything that might cause a spark.

2. Have everyone leave the house immediately, leaving doors open to help ventilate.

3. Go to a nearby telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the source of the odor to determine whether it's safe for you to return to the house.

You may never have a natural gas leak, but we want you to be informed in case one does occur. Please make sure your family is aware of these precautionary steps. And we suggest that you keep this message for future reference.

SI PERCIBE OLOR A GAS NATURAL OBEDEZCA ESTAS 3 NORMAS DE SEGURIDAD.

La industria del gas natural tiene un récord de seguridad excelente.

El hecho de que Usted pueda percibir el olor a gas natural se debe a que se le ha añadido un producto químico extra, que no es nocivo. De lo contrario, el gas no olería. Si detecta ciertas ráfagas de olor que cree son producidas por escape de gas, investigue. Es posible que se pueda corregir fácilmente y sin peligro, por tratarse de que una llama-piloto se ha apagado, o que una válvula de algún aparato está parcialmente abierta.

Cuando suceda que a pesar de que su equipo aparentemente funciona bien, pero el olor a gas se intensifica y se siente en todas partes, entonces siga estas precauciones:

1. No conecte ni desconecte ningún aparato eléctrico. No use el teléfono de su casa. No prenda fósforos. No haga nada que pueda producir chispas.

2. Haga que todos salgan de la casa inmediatamente, dejando las puertas abiertas para que se ventile.

3. Vaya a un teléfono cercano y llame informando a la Compañía Lone Star Gas Co., y espere hasta que los encargados de la Compañía investiguen las causas y determinen si se puede o no retornar a casa.

Es muy posible que Usted nunca tenga que enfrentarse con escapes de gas, pero queremos informarle por si acaso le sucede alguna vez. Asegúrese que toda su familia conozca estas normas de seguridad. Le aconsejamos también que guarde este aviso como referencia para el futuro. Gracias.

Rangers Beaten Again; Stop Brett's Hit Streak

By The Associated Press
Steve Stone is at 20 victories and counting but 30 meant the end of George Brett's hitting streak.

White Stone became the first 20-game winner this season as the Orioles downed the California Angels 5-2. Brett saw his 30-game hitting streak come to an end thanks to a fine fielding play by Texas first baseman Pat Putnam in the ninth inning of the Royals' 4-3 victory over the Rangers.

"I feel terrific," said Stone, 20-4, who flirted with a no-hitter until Bert Campaneris singled with one out in the eighth inning.

"I've never even been close to 20 wins before. I brought this bottle of champagne with me from Baltimore and I didn't want to take it more than one city."

"I'm disappointed I was 0-for-3 but I'm relieved we won the ballgame," said Brett. "I would have liked to have gotten at least 32 straight (Minnesota's Ken Landreaux hit in 31 consecutive games earlier in the season) but I'm going to start another streak tomorrow."

Although he flied out, grounded out twice and walked, Brett is still batting .401 in his bid to become the first 400 hitter since Ted Williams in 1941.

In other American League action, the New York Yankees shaded the Seattle Mariners 3-1, the Detroit Tigers trounced the Milwaukee Brewers 6-2, the Boston Red Sox downed the Oakland A's 7-5, the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox 8-5 and the Toronto Blue Jays mopped the Minnesota Twins 4-3.

While Stone was mowing the Angels down to boost his record to 20-4, Eddie Murray, Doug DeCinces and Dan Graham backed him with solo homers as the Orioles remained 2 1/2 games behind the Yankees in the AL East.

Stone went 7 1-3 innings, allowing two runs - one unearned - on two hits. The victory made him the earliest 20-game winner in Baltimore history, surpassing Dave McNally, who won his 20th game of 1970 on Aug. 25.

Royals 4, Rangers 3
Kansas City had only four hits off Jon Matlack and trailed 3-1 going into the ninth inning when U.L. Washington reached on an error by Texas shortstop Dave Roberts, bringing up Brett with his hitting streak on the line.

He hit a hard grounder but Putnam knocked it down with a dive and crawled on his hands and knees to beat Brett to the bag. However, Hal McRae's double made it 3-2 and Amos Otis greeted Danny Darwin with a single that tied the score. After John Wathan singled, John Henry Johnson relieved but Willie Aikens singled to score the winning run.

Dorsett Wanting $$$; Threatens A Walkout

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)—Several Dallas Cowboys players are verbally supporting team member Tony Dorsett, who says he may walk out or seek a trade if he cannot negotiate a "lifetime guarantee contract" with the team's owners.

Astros Have New Energy, Win 5-2

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston first baseman Art Howe points to a team meeting as a reason for the Astros' sudden surge in the National League Western Division, including Tuesday night's 5-2 victory over defeating world champion Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh third baseman Bill Madlock points to the scoreboard and wishes they'd turn it off.

Howe collected a pair of hits and drove in two runs as the Astros kept their hold by on first place ahead of the Cincinnati Reds. The victory stretched Houston's winning streak to five straight, which started after a team meeting on the road.

"We had to get everything off our chests," Howe said. "We were putting too much pressure on ourselves. If one guy would fail, the next guy would think he had to make up for it. We just tried to relax and take care of each other."

The Astros took care of Houston starter Nolan Ryan Tuesday night after the Pirates took a 2-0 first inning lead on Madlock's two-run single.

Joe Morgan walked to open the bottom of the first off starter and loser John Candelaria and Enos Cabell singled before the Astros "took care" of Ryan by scoring three runs on Jose Cruz' double, a single by Howe and a grounder by Cesar Cedeno.

Houston scored two more runs in the sixth inning on a triple by Cedeno and a sacrifice fly by Howe.

Lawless Will Try Miami For Size

MIAMI (AP)—The Miami Dolphins have gone to the retirement community again to shore up the National Football League team's offensive line.

Five-year veteran Burton Lawless joined the Dolphins Tuesday. The former University of Florida standout spent five years with the Dallas Cowboys until he announced his retirement recently.

Head Coach Don Shula said Lawless joined the team on a "contingency deal. We'll take a look at him." The Dolphins would surrender an undisclosed future draft choice to Dallas if Lawless makes the squad.

Shula said Dolphins linebacker Ralph Ortega, a teammate of Lawless at the Gainesville school, told him of the lineman's interest in playing for the Dolphins.

Lawless, a starter in his rookie season in 1975 when the Cowboys won the Super Bowl, hasn't seen much action since that first year. When he retired, he indicated he would return to pro ball only if he could play for the Houston Oilers or Miami.

"We feel he's a quality player and he has a lot of experience with a good organization, the Cowboys," Shula said.

"We're going to try him at guard and tackle,"

Shula added.

A strong performance by Lawless would close another hole on the Dolphins' line, a line that seemed questionable two weeks ago. Shula received good news last week when veteran Bob Kuechenberg returned after his own brief retirement.

Kuechenberg saw some action in Monday's night's National Football League exhibition victory over Seattle.

Guard Larry Little has also been coaxed back from the retired list.

Boy's Club News

Scurry County Boy's Club completed three more events yesterday as the summer session draws to a close. Football, darts and tennis were completed Tuesday. Activities on an organized basis were to end today with angleball, badminton and basketball, and the presentation of trophies.

FOOTBALL—Earl Sneed and company outlasted Lucio Ramirez's squad in a 30-24 overtime decision yesterday. Sonny Cobb scored the winning touchdown in the extra period.

Sneed and Pete Madrid scored in the opening quarter to put the Sneed team up 12-0. In the second period, Arthur Ramirez scored for the Sneed bunch and Sam Barrera put the Ramirez team on the board, 18-6. Madrid scored the Sneed team's final TD of the regular game in the third quarter while Lucio Ramirez tacked on six points for his troops. Ramirez tied the score in the fourth with two TDs.

DARTS—David R. Rios took first place with a score of 425, followed by Lucio Ramirez, 370, and Jimmy Velasquez, 325.

TENNIS—In this short-court, ping-pong style scoring game, David R. Rios won first place by beating Jay Clark, 21-11. For third place, Bobby Velasquez defeated Lucio Ramirez, 24-12.

WASHINGTON (AP)— In his first act as president on his first day in office, Jimmy Carter antagonized the powerful organizations which claim to speak for America's 31 million veterans. His relationship with veterans has been rocky ever since.

This week, the first post-convention week of the election campaign, Carter is trying to patch matters up with veterans groups; Ronald Reagan, his Republican rival, is capitalizing on their coolness toward the White House.

Reagan addressed the VFW convention Monday in Chicago and was to speak before the American Legion convention in Boston today. Carter flies to Boston to address the Legion on Thursday. Independent candidate John B. Anderson went before the Legionnaires Tuesday.

Back on Jan. 21, 1977, the Veterans of Foreign Wars called Carter's inaugural day "probably one of the saddest days in the history of our country" because the new president, fulfilling a campaign promise, in his first act pardoned almost all Vietnam draft evaders.

On Monday, the VFW, having since found additional grievances with Carter, handed out its first political endorsement. In backing Reagan the VFW ended an 80-year history of political neutrality.

Reagan, accepting the endorsement, went on the attack. He told the VFW, "This anti-veteran administration has stacked the deck against you."

Veterans Administrator Max Cleland, who lost both legs and his right forearm in Vietnam, replied: "I am surprised and alarmed at Governor Reagan's distortion of the facts about our nation's veterans. Once again his rhetoric has overtaken reality."

Although veterans groups are unhappy with the administration's record, privately some of their leaders concede that, given the temper and the budgets of the times, they probably would be unhappy with any administration.

"We believe the Carter administration has demonstrated a lack of sensitivity to the problems of veterans, particularly in comparison with the priorities the administration has put forward in regard to other interest groups. We feel veterans should be No. 1," says Robert Lyngh, director of veterans affairs for the 2.6 million-member Legion.

Cleland himself comes under criticism when officials of veterans groups speak on a not-to-be-quoted basis.

They say they cannot deny Cleland's value as a symbol of the sacrifices of war. But they portray him as a weak manager who is unwilling to carry the veterans' battle into the White House.

Women's rights groups fought to eliminate veterans' preference on the grounds that most veterans are male and the system gives them an unfair edge in competing for government jobs. The administration agreed with the women, but the veterans won in Congress and veterans' preferences remained in a bill reforming civil service.

But the chief grievance concerns money. Veterans groups charge that the administration has grudgingly gone along with increases in pensions, educational benefits and payments to disabled veterans.

speech Monday night promised gradual pay raises but said there would be no political compromises and told the strikers to go back to work. They refused, and dissident and diplomatic sources reported police reinforcements were flown to the Gdansk area. But Miroslaw Woiciechowski, editor of the government news agency, said: "We do not need the police. We have no intention of occupying the plants."

The government apparently was hoping a "divide and conquer" strategy would work. Woiciechowski said the special negotiating delegation named by the government would meet only with individual strike committees, not with the unified strike committee headed by Lech Walesa, an electrician at the Lenin Shipyard.

Polish Strike Spreads Briefly To Steel Mills

GDANSK, Poland (AP)— The Polish strike wave rippled briefly across the country to the steel mills in the south, but workers there were reported back on the job today.

Both government officials and dissident sources said many of the 40,000 workers walked off the job Tuesday at Nowa Huta, the showcase steel center near Krakow, some 300 miles south of Gdansk.

But they said the first shift came to work today because some sort of agreement had been reached with the government. It was not known whether the workers made the same demands as their colleagues in the restive Baltic area.

The government was still not using force to end the serious challenge to it, now in its seventh day, and a spokesman said police and troops would not occupy the strikebound plants. But the chief of state, Henryk Jablonski, warned that the "fate of the nation" was at stake.

Dissident sources said thousands quit work Tuesday at Nowa Huta, the showcase steel center near Krakow, some 300 miles south of Gdansk. The complex was built following the communist takeover after World War II and is regarded as a model of socialist planning and worker performance.

The strike in the Gdansk-Gdynia-Sopot area of northern Poland's central Baltic coast also spread west and east, to the major port of Szczecin, 180 miles to the west on the East German border, and to Elblag, 40 miles east of Gdansk, the official PAP news agency reported.

Dissident sources said there were at least 20,000 strikers in Szczecin, including shipyard workers and municipal bus drivers, and at least 10,000 at the Zamech turbine works in Elblag. More than 100, 000 strikers have been reported in the Gdansk area.

In addition to millions of dollars in losses, the strike in the shipyards and elsewhere is expected to ruin production plans and delivery timetables and scare away much-sought Western customers.

The strike in Gdansk began Thursday at the giant V.I. Lenin Shipyard, the nation's biggest, to protest the government's withdrawal on July 1 of subsidies that had kept the price of meat down. But in addition to higher wages to compensate, the strikers for the first time are demanding such major political reforms as trade unions free of Communist Party control, access by religious groups to the mass media and an end to censorship.

U.S. Small Cars Stronger, Safer

By HOWARD BENEDICT Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)— Crash tests indicate that American-made small cars are generally structurally stronger and safer than most foreign compacts, the Transportation Department reports.

Ten of 11 foreign cars failed the most recent tests in which cars carrying dummies were crashed at 35 miles an hour into a fixed barrier. The only one which passed, was an Italian-made Fiat Strada.

A Chevrolet Chevette, the only domestic car included in the latest tests, also passed. All were 1980 models.

In test results announced earlier this year, eight American small cars passed, while five American and three foreign autos failed. These were 1979 models.

A failure means that occupants would have sustained serious or fatal injuries.

Joan Claybrook, head of the department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, told a news conference Tuesday the tests show that U.S. compacts have a safety edge over most small imports and said a major reason is generally stronger structures.

She was especially critical of Japanese models, and particularly cited two Toyota cars, the Tercel and the Celica, which she said would have to be redesigned structurally in order to pass NHTSA's frontal crash test.

"The structure of the Japanese small cars are not as substantial as the American car," Ms. Claybrook said. "They have just not put their attention into that aspect."

That remark drew sharp criticism from spokesmen for the Japanese automakers, one of whom called Ms. Claybrook's statement "groundless."

"We have always placed the highest priority on safety," said one Japanese auto official in Tokyo. He and other Japanese producers refused to discuss the safety test results in detail.

Starting in 1982, many cars will have to pass 30 mph crash tests before they can be sold in this country. NHTSA said it is conducting early testing at 5 mps above that standard to give automakers an idea what they face and to alert consumers to the relative safety of various cars.

Psychology Courses Set In Afternoon

Dr. Joe Reaves is offering two psychology courses which will meet from 1:10-4 o'clock one afternoon per week this fall at Western Texas College.
The courses are General Psychology (PSY 231), a required course for some majors and a good elective for many others, and Psychology of Personality (PSY 234), a popular elective for some majors.
General Psychology will meet on Tuesday afternoons, with Psychology of Personality meeting Monday afternoons.
"It might be easier for some people to get away one afternoon per week rather than one night," states Dr. Reaves. "Many people already have busy evening schedules, child care problems or responsibilities which the afternoon class could help solve."
Some students might also like to combine the afternoon class with an evening class to earn six hours of credit with a single trip to the campus. The time between classes could be used for study and research in the Learning Resource Center, and might also include a one-hour physical education class.
Fall semester registration is scheduled Aug. 25-26, with classes beginning on Aug. 27.

DALLAS (AP)—Last year's accident on the Swiss Skyride at the Texas State Fair that killed one man and injured 17 others last year, may have marked the end of the fair-ground attraction.

When three lawsuits stemming from the Oct. 21 accident are settled, fair officials "will take a long hard view at whether we'll ever use it again," he said.

'Safety Sabbath' Set Sept. 5-7

Texas Safety Association has joined the National Safety Council in announcing the second annual National Safety Sabbath, Sept. 5-7.

The purpose of the three-day observance is to emphasize the moral and ethical duty of every person to safeguard himself and others, said Hilton Gilliam, TSA's vice president for church activities.

"National Safety Sabbath will provide persons of all faiths with the opportunity to learn how to protect their communities, families and themselves from accidental death or injury at home, play, work or on the road," Gilliam explained. Gilliam is the manager of the Total State Institute in Brownwood, an organization founded on the premise that to be totally safe, one must be both physically and spiritually safe.

Since most religions hold services either Friday night, Saturday or Sunday, the National Safety Sabbath will last the entire weekend following Labor Day. Participating churches and synagogues will devote their services to discussion of accident prevention.

"There is a great need for such safety awareness," Gilliam said, "because among persons between 1 and 38 years of age, accidents are the leading cause of death in our nation today."

He also noted Texas Department of Health statistics indicating that 7,547 Texans died from accidents in 1979. Accident types included, among others, traffic mishaps, poisonings, falls, fires, drowning, chokings and firearm accidents.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, renowned pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church in New York City and host of a nationally syndicated weekly television program, will serve as national chairman of the safety observance. Texas has yet to appoint a statewide chairman, Gilliam said.

The National Safety Sabbath observance is modeled after a similar safety campaign, with 20 years of success, in Charlotte, N.C. Disturbed by the high rate of auto fatalities in their area, church and community leaders, city and county officials, and citizens banded together to establish a Labor Day Safety Sabbath. The campaign has been so successful that in the past eight years, there have been only two Labor Day fatalities in Charlotte.

Conservation Assn. Meets

The South Plains Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts will meet Thursday at Muleshoe in the Bailey County Exhibition Center and Coliseum.

Hosting the meeting will be the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District. It will begin at 10 a.m.

Spencer Tanksley, Bailey County Extension Agent, will speak on "Efficient Irrigation Water Use with Tensiometers." Jim Lutz of USDA's Soil Conservation Service will discuss "sprinkler Evaluations and Use of Irrigation Test Equipment."

NEW YORK (NEA)—Boyd McGranaghan, a delegate to the Democratic National Convention from Glenolden, Pa., stood forlornly at the edge of the crowd in Madison Square Garden, clutching his blue-and-white "Kennedy for President" placard.

McGranaghan had hoped to use the sign to demonstrate his support for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., during the nomination and balloting for a presidential candidate in the final days of the convention — but Kennedy himself had foreclosed that option by withdrawing on the first night of the meeting.

Asked what he planned to do with the sign, McGranaghan had an instant reply: "Save it for 1984."

Eileen Kenahan, a Kennedy delegate from Providence, R.I., sat in the middle of the hall, equally despondent about the senator's unexpected decision to pull out of the race. She had identical plans for her placard: "Save it for 1984."

Therein lies the tale of a Democratic Party whose activists will go through the motions of supporting their presidential nominee in the forthcoming general campaign but regard him as irrelevant at best and unacceptable at worst.

Kenahan plans to vote for President Carter in the general election. In fact, she's mildly indignant about the suggestion that she might consider any alternative because "I'm a good Democrat."

But when asked if Carter can carry Rhode Island, traditionally one of the most Democratic states in the union, she pauses, then responds: "I really don't know."

McGranaghan is considerably more certain — and more negative — about the president's chances in his home area of Delaware County, Pa., a Philadelphia suburb: "Carter lost the county by 45,000 votes in 1976. He's not even going to come that close this year."

Robert Nece, the 29-year-old president of a United Auto Workers Local in Cleveland, offers a similar prediction when asked about Carter's chances in Ohio: "He'll probably lose the state by at least 200,000 votes."

Nece, also a Kennedy delegate at the convention, doesn't even want to waste any resources on the president's campaign. "I'll vote for Carter," he says, "but I'm going to recommend that our union's political action committee ignore the presidential race and put our money into state and local contests."

Much of that bitterness may fade, but Carter never has been an inspirational figure to most Democrats. Even his own supporters were notably unemotional when the president won the crucial rules contest on the opening night of the convention.

In 1976 and again this year, Carter has proven himself to be an extraordinarily dedicated and determined politician, capable of protecting and promoting his personal fortunes in presidential campaigns. But there remains no emotional quality to match that technical expertise. For professional politicians and citizen activists alike, Carter's administration remains a distinctly joyless period in contemporary Democratic history.

Indeed, only overwhelming support from the president's native South averted the possibility of a defeat on the rules dispute — an event that probably would have led to the ignominious dumping of an incumbent president by the frustrated Democrats.

Although Carter's position of power afforded him the luxury of displaying grace and class — under pressure, it was Kennedy's act of distinction — withdrawing immediately after losing the rules challenge — that provided the opportunity to begin constructing at least a facade of party unity.

Kennedy is a thoroughly professional politician who will make the requisite number of campaign appearances and statements necessary to avoid any suggestion that he is disloyal to or unsupportive of his party's presidential nominee.

But for the senator, for other presidential aspirants and for millions of Democratic voters, this year's presidential race will be little more than a pro forma exercise. The campaign to which they're looking forward is four years away.

misplaced loyalty

It is pro forma for presidents of Mexico to assert their independence from the influence of the United States whenever the opportunity arises, but nothing requires that they cozy up to the hemisphere's foremost American-hater, Fidel Castro. President Jose Lopez Portillo did not have to go as far as he did on his recent visit to Cuba.

After the usual toasts of friendship at a reception in Havana, Lopez Portillo declared that any move by the United States that is anti-Cuban would be considered by him to be anti-Mexican.

Come now. Does he really believe there should be no distinction between U.S. policy toward Cuba, a Soviet-sponsored communist dictatorship feeding arms and guerrillas into Central America and Africa, and our relations with his own country? Mexico is fiercely dedicated to its independence, not given to foreign adventures, and respected by Americans for seeking friendly, fair and mutually satisfactory solutions to any problems that come between us. Mexico is everything that Cuba is, not.

Lopez Portillo is giving his support to Castro's call for ending the U.S. trade embargo of Cuba and for closing the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. In line with Mexican policy in the United Nations, he joins Castro in a communique taking a dig at Israel.

We would expect to see the ties between Mexico City and Havana undergoing some strain as evidence accumulates of Cuban involvement in revolutionary movements in Central America. While Mexico has good reason to worry about political instability along its southern frontier, Lopez Portillo appears to see no danger in lending moral support to the Cuban Marxists who are exploiting it. This could be a dangerous misreading of where Mexico's interests lie.

Lopez Portillo set the tone of his visit to Havana by quoting a line familiar to Cubans: "From the North, a mischievous neighbor is materializing." That's what Jose Marti, the hero of the Cuban struggle for independence from Spain, said about the United States almost a century ago.

Today, Cuba is the mischievous neighbor in a hemisphere still undergoing revolutionary change. The president of Mexico should be willing to admit it.

save the trenchcoat

Generations of American males have been getting the message across that the heart of an adventurer beats within the outwardly ordinary man in the street by appearing in the streets clad in a trenchcoat.

You know — waterproof-drab, double-breasted, belted (but tied, never buckled, unless you want to blow the whole effect), brass rings, epaulets and all. There are trenchcoats and trenchcoats, but nothing to beat the real thing, manufactured in Britain where it was created to keep officers snug in the trenches of World War I.

But back to the equulets, U.S. Customs is now questioning whether these are strictly necessary for the primary purpose of the trenchcoat — which is to provide protection, not dash. If not, the trenchcoat for import purposes may be reclassified as an "ornamented garment" and subjected to a 35 percent duty, rather than the 8 percent levied on ordinary garments.

The British manufacturers admit the equulets are rarely used these days to secure binocular straps, nor are the brass rings weighted with grenades, the original functions. But rather than remove them to retain the beneficial lower duty, it has been decided to fight the issue to the end on the principle the features are not ornamentation but what make a trenchcoat a trenchcoat.

Successfully, it is to be hoped. Otherwise, the private eye and foreign correspondent businesses may never be the same.

The trouble with me is I've never had a lifetime goal. My goals last for about 15 minutes—whenever I get hungry...which ever comes first.

A few years ago, I promised myself that every September I would enroll in something to improve myself. Last year it was Bread Baking I and Slim-nastics. (Which proved counter-productive).

However, my interest in informal classes brought to my mailbox an avalanche of brochures and schedules guaranteed to "challenge my interests, sharpen my skills and make me a legend in my own time."

SEX AND NUTRITION: Is it true what they say about oysters? A frank look at male-female relationships with emphasis on energies. Bring a notebook, pen and floor cushion. Six weeks: $8.

LIGHTING A TORCH FOR BURNED-OUT PARENTS: Children driving you up the wall? Learn how to deal with feelings and pressures. Includes lectures, group interaction and stress release. Babysitting provided. Six Thursdays: $20.

VENTRILQUISM FOR THE BEGINNER: It's easier than you think. Learn the basics from handling your dummy to developing material, stage presence and projection. Dummy or hand puppet provided. Classes by arrangement: $20.

SUCCESS FOR THE NON-SENSE WOMAN: Do you panic in a social situation? Maybe it's because you are insecure about your speech, your dress, makeup, hairstyle, conversation, or personality. Learn how to handle important meetings, parties and interviews. The first session will be on walking. Wear comfortable shoes. Mondays: $15.

FIGHT STRESS WITH BATON-TWIRLING: A basic course for beginners that teaches eye, hand and body coordination. Relaxation for the entire family. Tennis shoes, stretch shorts or leotard required. Hair should be tied back. Six sessions: $20.

READING THE FINE PRINT CAN SAVE YOU MONEY: A common-sense approach to stocks, bonds and annuities. Instructor offers imaginative tax shelters. Your outdated insurance program reviewed without charge. Fee: $200.

GOURMET COOKING AU NATUREL: Discover an exciting world of foods, herbs and spices. Learn what foods have medicinal value (see Sex and Nutrition). At the end of each class, enjoy your creation. Wear loose-fitting clothes. Fee: $30.

I don't know. After looking through a couple of hundred of these courses, maybe I'll go back to my original goals: World peace and five pounds lighter by Christmas.

NEW YORK (AP)—Executives of small companies, family concerns and other not-so-large operations know that when times get tough and money gets tight, bankers look for reasons not to lend them money.

Sy Jones says it pays for small companies to know and avoid "red flags" which might prevent them from winning loans. He compiled a list for clients of his company, Coopers & Lybrand, the big accounting firm.

1. Large growth in sales volume with little, if any, bottomline growth.

2. Inventory expanding at a faster pace than sales.

3. Accounting controls not considered very important by management; controls that are in place appear to have a high potential for management override.

4. Hanging on to an outdated inventory with the forlorn hope of selling it some day.

5. Lack of inventory records.

6. Poor inventory turnover.

7. Company is highly leveraged, thinly capitalized.

8. Viability of company rests on one person or a small group.

9. Lack of management tools needed to analyze sales by customer, product, product line and plant profitability.

10. Management not always open in discussing matters with its bank or in making the most effective use of its auditors or other advisers.

11. No monthly or quarterly financial statements; annual reports not available until several months after year-end.

"Timely financials of one kind or another are among the first things lenders look for, initially and on a continuing basis," says Jones. "Without statements, it is very hard to get money."

To which you might add another observation, one that can be verified by small-business people: Statements or not, in times like these it is often hard to get money — unless your company doesn't need it.

Remember when a merry-go-round wasn't something your baggage rode on at the airport?

What did they ever do with old crankcase oil before carry-in office coffee was invented?

You're getting on, old boy when she won't let you gaze in her eyes unless you're an ophthalmologist.

Recall when Monopoly was only a game, and not the conglomerate that makes everything from applesauce to zithers?

OH, YEAH? Well, I say violence is NOT a fact of American life.

my turn

by joann nunley

A policeman's duty does not always involve dealing with criminals who threaten citizens with burglary, assault and theft. More often, they are called to assist citizens in lesser trouble or to untangle predicaments.

The criminals make the headlines, but a community's heartbeat is reflected on the police blotter where everyday events are recorded minute-by-minute. Some items taken from a blotter are:

An unnamed person called and said that some kids were wrapping a teacher's house with toilet paper.

A restaurant owner called and said he was closing for the night and that his doors were already locked. Three drunks were trying to get in and he wanted them removed.

A woman called to report cowboys were dancing on top of a car near her house.

Police received a call from a woman who said her child's bike was missing.

One woman requested police come to her residence and remove an opossum from her backyard.

Another woman advised officers of a purse lying in an alley. An officer was dispatched and found the purse had been discarded by a neighbor.

A man called and said some people were loitering near a church and picking up pecans. He said he knew the people should not be there and before the dispatcher could answer, the caller slammed down the telephone.

A woman called about a "strange substance" she found. Police checked it out and she had a plain old cigarette.

A woman came into the police department with what she thought to be a real diamond. After close scrutiny, police discovered that what she had found was a pigeon drop.

Police received a report that some one on foot was making loud noises on a main street.

A man reported that someone took his mother's car by mistake. The car was parked at a supermarket lot and was identical to the one left behind. Numerous calls are made reporting unsecured doors and gates of businesses, keys accidentally locked in vehicles and domestic squabbles.

Outside of these requests, remember the police blotter are filled with solved burglaries, murders, accidents (sometimes including midwifery), and crime prevention — all in a day's or night's work.
