BANKER'S SUICIDE REVEALS SCANDAL

Pennsylvania's Funds Are Loaned to Politicians

COULDN'T COVER LOSS

Missing Money Said to Have Been Used in Promoting Santa Fe Central

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 19.—An investigation of the books of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny disclosed the fact that the bank was solvent. T. Lee Clark, for years cashier of the institution, went to his home, 545 Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, Tuesday night, spent a sleepless, nervous night and yesterday morning took poison and shot himself through the heart. He lingered until 2:30 yesterday afternoon, when death came.

An hour before the announcement of his death a telegram came from the comptroller of the currency at Washington to close the doors and appointing Bank Examiner John B. Cunningham as receiver.

Following closely on the exciting events in Allegheny came information from the president of the bank, Frederick G. Gwynner, that Clark had loaned thousands of dollars to Pennsylvania politicians, that he himself had indorsed a note for $50,000 yesterday for Clark, concluding with the statement "that if the shortage was only $100,000 he would gladly pay it himself."

The bank has state deposits which will amount to about $800,000, of which $398,000 is in the checking of active account and the rest is state sinking funds.

Mr. Gwynner, in his statement, said:

"Nearly $700,000 of the $800,000 state deposits of our bank is out on paper to state politicians. W. H. Andrews has borrowed nearly $400,000; Frank J. Torrance has borrowed considerable. I do not know how much; but the bank is solvent."

Penrose Pleads Ignorance

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 19.—Senator Penrose was asked last night how he accounted for the failure of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny.

"I do not know anything about it," he answered. "I don't even know it has failed. I don't owe that bank a dollar. I don't know a thing about that bank or its failure."

Governor Pennypacker was asked how much if any the state had a chance to lose by the failure.

"I don't know anything about it," answered the governor. "That matter is entirely within the jurisdiction and under control of the state treasurer."

Late Deposit Is Denied

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A dispatch to the Herald from Media, Pa., says:

"State Treasurer Mathues said last night in a reference that $50,000 of state funds had been deposited Tuesday in the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny, which closed its doors yesterday:

"There cannot possibly be any truth in the report of the deposit. I was not at Harrisburg Tuesday or Wednesday, and it is unlikely anyone would have made such a deposit without first consulting me."

Catastrophe Expected

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Concerning the closing of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny and the suicide of its cashier, T. Lee Clark, a dispatch from Pittsburg to the Herald says:

"It was learned Wednesday night that the catastrophe to the Enterprise Bank was expected in certain quarters. Plans for the exposure of trafficking in state funds, it is said, were laid weeks ago. Mr. Clark was cognizant of this and talked the matter over with several of the directors a few days ago. The cashier was told by the directors he would have to meet the paper obligations of the institution, negotiated through him, and he promised to insure the bank against all loans for which he was responsible. The supposition is he was unable to accomplish this, and fearing the consequences, took his life. The bank directors only acknowledge having $60,000 of the state's funds, but the statement was made by one of the officials that the Enterprise Bank had more than one million dollars of state money on deposit before the extensive loans were made. According to this statement, all this money is insured by bonds of the Mercantile Trust Company of Pittsburg and the United States Fidelity and Trust Company of Baltimore.

Clark was associated as treasurer with former State Senator W. H. Andrews and Francis J. Torrance, who, according to President Gwynner, were borrowers of the bank, in the Santa Fe Central Railway Company, incorporated in New Mexico in 1901. The stock of the corporation has never been marketed. This road was built by Messrs. Andrews and Torrance. Cashier Clark was also a heavy investor in Mexico and New Mexico silver mining stocks, according to Mr. Gwynner.

Former State Senator Andrews is a brother of Wesley R. Andrews, United States Senator Penrose's private secretary and chairman of the republican state committee.

At the last election Mr. Andrews was elected as a delegate from New Mexico to congress, and it is said he aspires to be senator from New Mexico when that territory is admitted to statehood. Although Mr. Andrews is now delegate from New Mexico, he retains a residence here in apartments in the Hotel Schenly. Mr. Andrews arrived here yesterday, but refused to talk about the Enterprise Bank's trouble.

When advised of the statements made by the president of the Enterprise National Bank that the closing of the doors was due to the loaning of state money to politicians, Homer L. Castle, candidate for supreme court on the prohibition ticket, who has been campaigning the state in company with W. H. Berry, democrat-prohibition candidate for state treasurer, said: "I am sorry. The life of a good man is a terrible price to pay for what has gone on. We have been saying that these conditions existed, but we could not get behind the bank doors. Now a pistol shot has opened them and reveals paralyzing conditions. Nobody knows what will follow.

Politicians Deny Loans

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 19.—Investigation of affairs of the Enterprise National Bank in Beaver avenue, Allegheny City, Pa., whose doors closed yesterday afternoon by the comptroller of the currency following the sensational suicide of T. Lee Clark, the cashier, is making good progress. Far in to last night and the early hours today John B. Cunningham, national bank examiner, who was appointed receiver of the institution pending the investigation, with a large local force, labored steadily in an effort to unravel the extent of the bank's embarrassment.

According to the statements of President Gwinner, the bank through Cashier Clark furnished most of the funds used to float the Santa Fe Central railway and Pennsylvania, the development in which former State Senator S. W. Andrews and Arthur Kennedy and Francis J. Torrence were deeply interested together with Cashier Clark.

The two projects were allied ones. Former Senator Kennedy was president of the development company, and former Senator Andrews president of the railway. Francis J. Torrence was heavily interested in both concerns and his confidential man, W. C. Hagan, was secretary of both companies. T. Lee Clark, the dead cashier of the Enterprise bank, was treasurer of both companies and bank custodian of their bonds, which were held as security for the loan. Personal notes of the promoters are also reported to be among the additional security furnished the bank.

Former Senator Andrews denies the statement of President Gwynner and says he never got a cent from the bank. Mr. Torrence is ill, and Secretary Hagan, speaking for him, also denied he had been a borrower. Former Senator Kennedy is en route to this city and is expected some time today. Upon reaching here a meeting of the directors will be called and it is said a complete statement of the connection of the companies with the bank will be made. Since the closing of the bank it has developed the United States government and state officers have been in Pittsburg within the last few weeks looking into the affairs of the institution and particularly, it is said, to make an investigation of the statement recently made by Homer L. Castle, prohibition candidate for supreme judge, relative to the acceptance of money from the state with the understanding that certain politicians would have the benefit of loans.

W. B. Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, it is learned, was in Pittsburg two weeks ago, having stopped at the Duquesne Club. Last week John A. Berkey, state commissioner of banking, and John W. Morrison, deputy commissioner of banking, spent several days in the city, having registered at the Hotel Henry.

AN UNIUE PICTURE OF MISS ALICE

Here is a profile photograph of Alice Roosevelt, who is scheduled to arrive home from the far east soon. It shows the White House young lady in a different and by far more attractive pose from which she is usually taken. It is attractive because, perhaps, it is natural, the picture being from a snapshot.

PARISH QUARANTINES FAST BEING LIFTED

Every Effort Will Be Made to Have Big Crowd in New Orleans Roosevelt Day

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 19.—The railroads today are announcing low rates from all the surrounding country on the occasion of President Roosevelt's visit to New Orleans, and this fact is expected to give still further assistance in breaking up the quarantines that now exist against New Orleans because of the widespread desire among the Louisianans and Mississippians to see the President. The wonderful improvement in the situation here and the implicit faith being placed in the reports of the government officers are also having an effect and every day brings announcements of the removal of restrictions. West Baton Rouge parish is the latest to throw itself open to the world and Plaquemines parish sends word all her quarantines will be removed on Sunday.

Today's early morning train over the Southern Pacific carried 245 laborers, each armed with a certificate, bound for the sugar district. The number of patients in the emergency hospital has now dropped to eighteen and will be further reduced today.

At Kenner Hospital, which soon will be closed, only five remain under treatment. A dispatch from Rosetta, Miss., says the arrangements are progressing for a memorial service in the cemetery next Sunday for those who fell victims of the fever. During the height of the epidemic there it was impossible to have religious services with funerals. Ministers from nearby towns have been invited to participate, but will not be exposed to infection. They will remain on one side of the quarantine lines and the Rosetta ministers and people on the other.

The rush of people to New Orleans, both natives and foreigners, continues and the streets show abnormal activity for the season.

"MUCH COLDER;" GET YOUR COAT

Drop in Temperature—Frost Predicted by the Local Weather Man

According to the New Orleans forecast, which appears below, all flowers should be housed tonight in Fort Worth. Frost! actual, official, biting frost is the stated indications for this vicinity.

A little fire prepared in the fireplace, stove and grate might not be amiss as a suggestion in line with the weather as indicated. Tonight is to be fair, although probably preceded by showers, while the words "much colder" loom up in the forecast with an ominous distinctness which means death to mosquitoes.

Minimum temperature at New Orleans for the 24 hours ending at 7 o'clock this morning was 70 degrees, while the high barometric area, with a cold wave, which is now in motion from northwest toward southeast is expected to see the end of the stegomyia in the not far distant future.

Temperature at Fort Worth ranged form 68 to 87 degrees and the wind had a velocity of 10 miles an hour this morning.

Official statement of weather conditions as reported are as follows:

"The cotton belt is cloudy and showery. Heavy to excessive rains occurred in Tennessee, Texas and Arkansas. Temperatures are generally high.

"The Mississippi valley is dominated by high barometer conditions, causing showers to excessive rain in various portions of the low area, accompanied by thunder storms.

"An area of high barometer, with cold wave, is moving southeast from the northwest, causing low temperatures throughout the northwest and west, frost occurring at Phoenix, snow falling in South Dakota and current

Believed to Be Regarding In-temperature 6 degrees below zero at Havre, Mont.

"The cotton belt is generally cloudy and showery. Temperatures throughout the belt are generally high.

"Fort Worth and vicinity may expect fair weather tonight and Friday, much colder tonight and colder Friday."

Forecast until 7 p. m. Friday, for Fort Worth and vicinity, issued at New Orleans, is:

"East Texas (north)—Tonight, fair, preceded by showers in extreme east portion; much colder, frost in western portion. Friday, fair, colder.

"East Texas (south)—Showers tonight or Friday, colder tonight and Friday."

MONK GIBSON REMOVED

Change of Venue to Bexar County Is Taken

EDNA, Texas, Oct. 19.—The six cases against Monk Gibson go to Bexar county on a change of venue.

The order was entered and Gibson was on his way to his destination before it was generally known that the change of venue would be made. No one looked for the removal to be so speedily and quietly accomplished.

As the prisoner, handcuffed, was led to the depot, accompanied by the sheriff and rangers, it was surmised by those who saw it that Gibson was being taken away, and a few followed him to the depot out of curiosity to see the departure of one generally regarded by the people of this section as the greatest youthful criminal of this age.

There are some who feel wrathy because of the order made by the judge transferring the case to another county for trial, while others say he only did what he regarded as his legal duty in the premises.

Reformatory Cotton Good

WACO, Texas, Oct. 19.—W. K. Mendenhall, who is connected with the management of the State Reformatory for Boys at Gatesville, is here for a few days on a visit to his old home. He states that a fine crop of cotton was produced at the reformatory farm this year, and that the total yield will be about 325 bales of cotton. This will net a nice sum of money and will go far toward helping the state pay the expenses of the institution. It costs about $37,000 annually to run the institution, but a part of this goes back, as shown.

Mikado Going to Ise Temple

TOKIO, Oct. 19, 4 p. m.—The Official Gazette in an extra issue today announces the emperor will proceed to the temple at Ise to report the conclusion of peace with Russia. The date of his journey has not yet been fixed. A personal visit of the emperor to this temple is a rare event.

MISSING EXPRESS CLERK CAUGHT IN CONNECTICUT

Edward G. Cunliffe Said to Have Confessed to Theft of $101,000

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 19.—Edward G. Cunliffe, wanted in Pittsburg, Pa., for robbery of $110,000 in cash from the Adams Express Company, was arrested here today. He is said to have made a clean breast of the matter to Pinkerton detectives and to have expressed willingness to return without extradition papers.

MUTUAL LIFE KEPT A HOUSE IN ALBANY

Clerk in Supply Department Tells of Maintenance at State Capital

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The district attorney's office was called upon yesterday by the legislative insurance investigating committee because of the testimony of one witness and the question for an arrest for perjury is now being considered by District Attorney Rand.

The witness is George J. Plunkitt, an employe (telephone operator) of the stationery firm of L. W. Lawrence & Co., from which the Mutual Life Insurance Company purchased a great deal of its supplies of this nature. It was brought out in Monday's testimony that among the vouchers for money charged to legal accounts was one for $901 signed by Plunkitt. His identity was not disclosed until yesterday when Plunkitt was called to the stand. He testified as to his employment, and when shown the voucher denied that he had ever signed it. He further denied that he had ever received that amount of money from the Mutual Life Insurance Company or that he had rendered the company any service.

Mr. Hughes asked Plunkitt to write his name in ink on a piece of paper, which he did. This and the voucher were then offered in evidence and the similarity of the signatures was called to the attention of the committee.

Shortly after this incident the sergeant at arms was sent to communicate with the district attorney's office and soon Mr. Rand appeared. He was given a seat beside Chairman Armstrong and for a time he critically examined the signatures. All that Mr. Rand would say was that he had been summoned by Chairman Armstrong, and when the chairman was questioned he said that the matter was now in the hands of the committee and was up to the district attorney's office.

Hughes Accused

Another feature of the day's hearing was the passage at arms between Chairman Armstrong, Counsel Hughes and Charles M. Beck, counsel for President R. C. McCurdy. Mr. Beck accused Mr. Hughes of misleading the public by not following out his lines of interrogation to the end, and asserted that he dropped the subject before the witness was allowed to explain.

Chairman Armstrong then said that the work of the committee must not be obstructed. The committee, he said, wanted all the information it could get that would be helpful, and the witness had placed himself in the position he found himself by his continued evasion of answers. Mr. Armstrong said further that every witness would be treated with all possible courtesy.

Mr. Hughes then said if he had erred it was by showing courtesies when circumstances justified an entirely different course, adding that evasion would be held up to the contempt it has always received.

There was a spontaneous outburst of applause when Mr. Hughes had concluded, which was stopped only by a threat to clear the room.

William M. Carpenter, a clerk in the supply department of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, made an excellent witness for the committee by his frank manner and apparent desire to give whatever information he could upon the matter before the committee. Mr. Carpenter was under the direction of A. C. Fields, the superintendent of this department, and was very close to Mr. Fields in his "legislative supervision" at Albany.

The House in Albany

Mr. Carpenter told of how a house has been maintained in Albany for several years at the expense of the Mutual Life. Mr. Fields occupied it only during the legislative session, and on several occasions two members of the insurance committee of the legislature lived at the house with Mr. Fields. Mr. Carpenter leased the house and paid for the servants and supplies with money furnished him by the Mutual Life. He did not know whether these members of the insurance committee ever shared in the expense; he never received any money from them, but he said they might have paid Mr. Fields. No account was kept of this expense. A house had been maintained for years in Albany under these conditions, but not always in the same street.

Later in the day when Mr. McCurdy was recalled, the president said he did not know that the Mutual Life's funds had been maintaining this house, although he knew that Mr. Fields had rented a house to escape the risk of illness in hotels.

THE GASKILL SHOWS

The World's Most Sensational Act Next Week

The people of Fort Worth will next week have an opportunity of seeing what is conceded by all showmen to be the most sensational and thrilling act ever produced. The combination act of Oscar V. Babcock of looping the death trap loop and flying the flume in one side on a bicycle has created a sensation wherever it has been exhibited and is indisputably the most intrepid and daring act the world has ever seen.

All next week, twice daily, 3:30 in the afternoon, and 9:30 in the eevning, at the carnival.

ROOSEVELT LEARNS OF TREE'S DEATH

Announcement That He Will Investigate Matter Later Suggests Another Possible Visit

Does President Roosevelt intend to pay Fort Worth another visit is the question that has been raised by his reference to the elm tree planted by him upon the lawn of the Carnegie library during his visit here in the spring.

One of the interesting features of the national convention of bankers at Washington was a reception tendered the bankers by President and Mrs. Roosevelt at The White House. Over 4,500 people, bankers and their wives, shook hands with the President and his wife and were given a cordial greeting by the chief executive.

When J. W. Spencer of this city, while in reception line, notified the President that the elm tree that he had planted on the lawn of the Carnegie library during his visit to Fort Worth on April 8, had died, the President said: "Well, I'm very sorry to learn this," and added that he would have to investigate the matter later.

Mr. Spencer says that the bankers are all friendly with the President and before adjournment almost unanimously endorsed a resolution favoring the ship subsidy measure which is one of the President's pet measures.

Secretary Shaw also tendered the bankers a reception at the Arlington, which was largely attended.

BANKERS PLEASED WITH CONDITIONS

Present Tightness Due to the Strain Caused in Moving Southern Crops

"The report made in the meeting of the American Bankers' Association held at Washington from Oct. 11 to 13 were to the effect that the country generally is in a very prosperous condition, financially and commercially," said J. W. Spencer, who returned to Fort Worth Wednesday night. Mr. Spencer was elected a vice president at the meeting to represent the association in Texas.

Referring further to the financial matters over the country, Mr. Spencer said that just at this time there was a tightening up of money in the east because of the fact that considerable money was being used in the movement of crops in the south. It is Mr. Spencer's opinion, however, that the depression is only temporary; that for a short time there will be a lack of elasticity in the circulating medium.

The taking out from the eastern money centers funds with which to handle the monster crops in the south, he says, has had a tendency to stiffen rates considerably. This condition, he says, will not continue long and will soon pass away.

In the face of this conditions all over the country were never more prosperous than now, and according to the statement of Mr. Spencer, bankers generally are making money. These facts developed, he says, during an extended discussion by the bankers.

PRISON FOR BOGUS ACCIDENT VICTIM

Man and Wife Convicted of Having Planned Suit for Damages Against Car Company

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Abbot N. Woods and his wife, Mary E. Woods, who are alleged to have defrauded street railway companies throughout the country by pretending accidents, were sentenced to three and two years imprisonment respectively yesterday. The woman confessed. She was convicted of having purposely fallen from a car of which her husband was the conductor, after which she attempted to collect damages from the company.

ASSISTANT RESIGNS WITH BACK SALARY

Commissioners Abolish Office in Dispute, but Allow Payment for Time Served

Joseph Phillips, who was assistant to County Auditor McKenna, has resigned, or rather, stepped down and out, because there was no provision in the law creating the position of county auditor for the pay of an assistant.

When this matter was brought to the attention of the county commissioners the office of assistant county auditor was promptly abolished. The commissioners allowed back salary of $75 per month, which was paid Mr. Phillips.

M'CURDY FAMILY HAS QUIET TASTES

Mutual Officers Make No Great Show of Wealth

COULD AFFORD BIG SHOW

Richard A. Said to Be Worth $40,000,000 and Son Gets $147,000 a Year

Staff Correspondence of The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The family of Richard R. McCurdy, who have done so well in the insurance business, one of them having testified at the insurance investigation of family emoluments amounting to $4,534,120.49, live in no such pretentious style as do the McCalls, Hyde, Alexanders or other insurance dignitaries who do not receive nearly as big salaries.

Richard A. McCurdy, of the Mutual, who gets $15,000 a year for being president, has quiet tastes and this trait of the father is shown in the succeeding generation. Mr. McCall, president of the New York Life, gets $50,000 a year less than Mr. McCurdy, but during the past four years he spent nearly $1,000,000 on a summer home.

Richard McCurdy, his son, Robert H. McCurdy, and other members of the family have a sort of McCurdy colony in the summer time at Morris Plains, N. J., not to mention the business colony in the magnificent offices of the company at 32 Nassau street, this city.

They keep a score or more French servants between them, have automobiles and fashionable outfits, but they are not famous as "spenders," entertain very little a live in quiet comfort.

The elder McCurdy, some time ago, purchased at swell Morristown, a winter home. This is a stone structure of rather imposing lines, surrounded by fifty acres of beautiful parks, but there is nothing about it to suggest an enormous expenditure. The town house of the McCurdys is at 35 Fifth avenue, and it, too, shows the predominating modesty.

Reihard Aldrich McCurdy, though 70 years of age, is still the active head of his great insurance company. He inherited a berth in the Mutual from his father, who was for many years a director in the concern. Mr. McCurdy, it is understood, has always planned that his son, now general manager of the Mutual with an income of $140,000 a year, would follow him as president. In this connection it has been recalled that while on the witness stand, the younger McCurdy called upon another employe of the Mutual to prompt him when he was asked what the total assets of the Mutual amounted to.

The McCurdy insurance oligarchy also includes L. A. Thebaud, who married a daughter of Richard C. McCurdy; C. A. Gillete, a cousin connected with the Texas agency; Ellis J. Moore, a brother-in-law of the president, and F. Stuyvesant Pillot, a cousin to a brother-in-law.

Mr. Thebaud has made a great success in the business since the elder Mr. McCurdy took him in. His commissions amount to $147,000, which is nearly three times the salary of the president of the United States. Thebaud lives in fine style at Morristown. Gillette's income has been around $75,000 a year. Moore gets $12,000 and Pillott $15,000.

One of the things the insurance investigation has put on record is that the "Big Three" insurance companies have established something resembling commercial dynasties. The president sits on the throne and his son inherits it.

Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual, does not look his 70 years. He is quite as spry as his son Robert, general manager of his company.

McCurdy said that he was very much complimented when his committee on salaries increased his annual stipend from $100,000 to $150,000. He was worth that amount, he proclaimed; else his committee would not have given it to him.

The president of the Mutual faces the investigators much as the average man would sit on a dock, letting his legs hang over to the lapping water. Inquisitor Hughes would propound his question and McCurdy would deliberate. When he had the answer framed the way he wanted it, he would reply, always the same way, quiet, self-sufficient, unalarmed.

Maybe Mr. McCurdy was not anxious because of the feeling of security which comes from the possession of vast wealth. He is personally worth not a penny less than $40,000,000, and has enormous holdings in scores of industrial corporations, and his real estate holdings are very extensive.

STREET WORK TO WAIT ON SEWERS

Improvement Districts Temporarily Abandoned Pending Other Work to Be Done

On account of the quantity of work at present under way in water and sewer extensions and other needed improvements in the city, the formation of improvement districts over the city has been postponed until the work on hand is nearing completion.

One thing which is to be accomplished is the extensive extension of sewerage in the South side, plans for which were adopted by city council some time ago, as reported in The Telegram at the time. Subsequent action by council contemplates sewerage extension on a large scale and to be done under one general plan over the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth wards.

Contract for this work was awarded the McQuatters Plumbing Company, who will take up the same as soon as arrangements are completed for the financing of the undertaking. The total of work to be done will represent an outlay of about $72,000, which is to be paid in ten year payment at 6 per cent interest. It is considered likely that work will be well under way by the first week in November.

COTTON MILL MANAGERS

Held Executive Session at Waco Yesterday

WACO, Texas, Oct. 19.—Several of the managers of cotton mills in Texas met here Tuesday afternoon and held an executive session. The meeting was presided over by President J. C. Saunders of Bonham, and Secretary W. H. Fairbanks of Dallas was here. Managers of mills in Dallas, Sherman, Bonham, Hillsboro, West, Brenham, Cuero, Belton and Gonzales were present. The matters under discussion were those things pertaining to the labor supply, class of goods manufactured, methods of work and management. Superintendent Albert Clifton of the mill at Hillsboro thinks that larger mills should be built and believes that larger mills could be made to pay handsomely. Many of the smaller mills, by close management, are doing well, too.

ROOSEVELT ASKED AS TO PICTURE GIVING

President of Cigar Dealers' Association Calls Attention to Distribution of Cartoons with Tobacco

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—At the suggestion of W. M. Diffley, president of the Cigar Dealers' Association, President Roosevelt has taken official notice of a picture of himself now being given with a certain brand of tobacco.

While it does not appear that the picture is anything more than one of the many conventional portraits of the President, Mr. Diffley implies that there is something objectionable about it. In his letter to Mr. Roosevelt Mr. Diffley said:

"These cartoons are being used by the American Tobacco Company to promote the sale of their products. I take the liberty of sending you by registered mail a sample thereof that you may pass judgment on the manner in which your photograph is being used. These cartoons are being distributed in enormous quantities. I wish to protest against it, as our members consider it an insult to Your Excellency."

William Loeb, Jr., secretary to the President, replied, writing Mr. Diffley that the subject in question would be at once taken up with the company.

LAMSDORFF HONORED

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 19.—An imperial rescript was published this morning conferring on Count Lamsdorf, minister of foreign affairs, the Vladimir, order of the first class, in recognition of his signal service throughout the war and during the peace negotiations.

Lieutenant General Linevitch has been appointed aide de camp to Emperor Nicholas.

NORTH FORT WORTH and ROSEN HEIGHTS

Following the announcement that W. A. Arthur, alderman from the Third ward, North Fort Worth, will move from that ward to his farm near the oil mill in the vicinity of the packing houses for the purpose of engaging in buying and feeding cattle. The probabilities of an immediate election to be ordered by city council upon the resignation of the alderman are being discussed by the city officials of that city, while the citizens of the Third ward have mentioned the name of Thomas E. Carson for the position of alderman to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Arthur.

Several residents of the ward are urging that Mr. Carson would make a good alderman and those favoring his election offer as one support of the proposed candidacy that the section of the ward in which he is a resident has not heretofore had a member of council. Mr. Carson is one of the older settlers of North Fort Worth and is looked upon as a natural leader. So far, no other name has been put forward for the place which Alderman Arthur will vacate.

To Call Pastor

Rev. Mr. Stitt will preach at the North Fort Worth Presbyterian church Sunday. There will be a congregational meeting following the morning service at 11 o'clock, and it is thought that the congregation will take steps looking to the immediate calling of a pastor for that church.

Kindergarten Meeting

The North Fort Worth Kindergarten Association met Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Strain, in Grand avenue, North Fort Worth. Miss Hammers of the Fort Worth Kindergarten Association addressed the meeting. There was a large attendance and the association was reported to be in a thriving condition.

THREE CONVICTED ON CHARGES OF FORGERY

W. F. Whitney, Alleged to have Operated in Fort Worth, Gets 14 1-2 Years in Penitentiary.

WACO, Texas, Oct. 19.—W. F. Whitney, a man who is alleged to have passed forged checks in Waco, Dallas and Fort Worth, plead guilty to the Waco end of the matter in seven cases, getting a total of fourteen and a half years in the penitentiary. He passed small checks on suburban grocers here one Saturday night and had a buggy full of groceries when captured, besides some money taken in change for checks little more than paid for groceries. He says he has been an insurance man on a good salary at one time.

Ernest Williams, who worked for Manager Fabian of the Waco baseball team during the season, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary on two pleas of guilty to forgery. C. P. Johnson got two years on one plea of guilty in a similar case.

Building Permit

Building permits have been issued by City Engineer J. B. Hawley as follows:

T. S. Wallace, $2,000 frame dwelling, McClelland addition.

Ike A. Wynne, $3,500 frame dwelling, Edwards' Heirs addition.

G. K. Jackson, four frame dwellings, $300 each, Chambers' addition.

George Wilson, three-story twenty-seven room addition to hotel, Rusk and Weatherford streets, $6,000.

B. E. Morris, $700 frame dwelling, Texas and Pacific addition.

Postoffice Changes

Postoffices have been established at the following places in Texas: Eulalie, Rusk county (re-established); Sparks, Bell county (re-established); Spindle Top, Jefferson county. The following Texas postoffices have been discontinued: Kinkead, Galveston county, and Steep Creek, San Antonio county.

Most physics cause chronic constipation—or worse

Chronic constipation, piles, appendicitis and other such intestinal afflictions are more often caused by improper physics than anything else.

The average physic, whether it is in the form of a water, candy, pellet, or pill, is intended to quickly and unnaturally move the bowels. Such an unnatural treatment so shocks and weakens the intestinal muscles that the continued treatment of stronger and stronger physics becomes necessary. This produces chronic constipation.

Piles and appendicitis are caused by the violent manner in which these explosive drugs attack the intestines.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the ordinary sense is not a cathartic. It is a laxative but acts differently from all other preparations. It contains great tonic properties, which strengthen instead of weaken the intestinal muscles. It is pleasant to take, does not gripe or cause pain, and never creates a necessity for the continual use of any physic. All druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

Money back if it doesn't satisfy.

PORTION OF PACKERS' DEMURRER SUSTAINED

Indictment Charging Monopoly Thrown Out—Remainder of Demurrer Overruled

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Federal Judge Humphrey gave a divided decision on the demurrer of the meat packers charged with illegal conspiracy. He overruled a portion of the demurrer in which the packers attacked the odd number of counts charging conspiracy in restraint of trade. The demurrer to the even numbered counts charging monopoly was sustained.

COWAN RETURNS FROM HEARING

Attorney for Commission in Celebrated Case Returns to Fort Worth—Declines Discussion

Judge Sam H. Cowan has returned from Chicago, where he has been for the past month engaged in the trial of the case instituted by the interstate commerce commission against the railroads, wherein the commission is endeavoring to have the rate on cattle made at least equal to the finished products shipped by the packers. The rate concerned in the case are those from Missouri river points to Chicago and points between. Judge Cowan was the representative of the interstate commission in the case, which has been tried before United States Judge Bethea for the past month.

It was testified in the case that one railroad had entered into a seven-year agreement with a packing house to haul the finished product of the packer at a rate 5 cents less on the hundred than the rate was for the live stock, thus giving the packers an advantage over the cattle raiser. The interstate commerce commission has always held that the raw material should not be charged a higher rate than the finished or more valuable product. The case first came before the interstate commerce commission in 1890, when the railroads were ordered not to have the rates for hogs from Missouri river points to Chicago higher than the finished product shipped back. Until 1902 the railroads in their published rates obeyed this order, but in that year, it is alleged, one of the railroads entered into the seven-year agreement. The interstate commerce commission ordered a readjustment, but the railroads refused to obey and so the present suit was brought by the interstate commerce commission.

The decision in the case has not been announced yet and Judge Cowan refused to discuss the case on that account. Judge Cowan had to fight the case almost single-handed against the best lawyers that the railroads could bring to bear on the case.

The case that was fought is the only one of this kind that is in existence at the present time, as all other points have at least equal rates for the raw material and the finished products. The rates for Texas are lower for the live stock and from Chicago to New York they are also lower. It is the principle of the matter, therefore, that interests the Texas cattle raisers, who declare if the railroads are allowed to set aside the order of the interstate commerce commission in this one case there is no telling what they may do elsewhere.

LATE RANGE REPORTS

Those Received Tuesday Night and This Morning Similar to Those of Earlier in Week

Additional range reports received at the office of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association Tuesday night and yesterday morning show dry weather with the range in good shape. Shipments are good.

They are:

Anchor, N. M.—Range good. Eighteen cars shipped to Kansas City.

Dickens—Weather cool and range good.

Hebbronville—Weather hot in the daytime with cool nights. Also dry and windy. One car cattle shipped to Fort Worth and six to Flatonia and Corpus Christi.

Liberal—Weather dry. Seventy-nine cars cattle shipped to St. Joe, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Pecos—Cool and cloudy.

Midland—Weather and range good. Four cars cattle shipped to Fort Worth and eighty-nine to Kansas City and St. Louis.

San Angelo—Weather a little cool, cattle doing well and grass coming fast. Seven cars shipped to Fort Worth and Comanche.

Victoria—Range and weather good. Thirty-seven cars shipped to Algiers, Cuba and Beeville.

AMUSEMENTS

"McFADDEN'S ROW OF FLATS"

"McFadden's Row of Flats," entirely new and bright, will be the offering at Greenwall's Opera House today, Oct. 19. This clever farce comedy from the pens of E. W. Townsend and Glen MacDonough, is undoubtedly the most successful production of the kind ever produced.

"A trained mackerel is a curious pet, isn't it?" says Miss Gussie Nelson of the "McFadden's Flats." I am perhaps the only young woman in the world with a pet of that kind.

"We were playing last fall in New England and were filling in a week at one of the coast towns. A day or two after we reached the town I was surprised to see in one of the papers a small liner advertisement stating that if the person who took the trained mackerel from room 23, such and such a hotel, would return the same, a reward would be paid and no questions asked. The room mentioned was my room. At first I thought that someone in the company was trying to have some fun at my expense, but I determined not to be caught napping, so I sent out a boy in the hotel with a commission to return with a live mackerel and a glass cage such as gold fish are kept in. I was none too soon, for I had no more than got his mackerelship installed in his news quarters than I received word that a young man from one of the papers would like to see me. He was shown up and had in his hand a copy of the paper containing the advertisement. He had seen the ad and had scented a story in it. I took him into my confidence, told him I had no idea who had inserted the advertisement and asked him to keep the joke up. He went back to his paper and the next day it contained a marvelous story of the wonderful tricks my trained mackerel could perform. Later I learned that the advertisement had been inserted by the press agent of the theater with the hope that he would get a raise out of it. Well, he did."

"THE LIBERTY BELLES"

One of the greatest charms of "The Liberty Belles," which will be seen at Greenwall's Opera House Wednesday matinee and night, Oct. 25, is that the entire performance is as clean as new paint, as fragrant as new-mown hay. The New York World remarked that "purity is the keynote of success" of "The Liberty Belles." It begins with a frolic and ends with a frolic. It is an entertainment blending the grotesqueries of farce, the specialties of vaudeville and the beautiful melodies of opera. The production is one of the big hits in musical comedy. In addition to all the original features of the play, Mr. Berger, the manager, has recently secured the services of the popular comedian, William Maussey, late of the Casino Theater, New York. And still the Pink Pajama Girl may be the talk of the town next day.

"UNCLE JOSH PERKINS"

"Uncle Josh Perkins," a brand-new comedy drama with an original plot, plenty of thrilling dramatic action, a pleasing injection of comedy and a sprinkling of musical and dancing specialties, will be the attraction at Greenwall's Opera House Saturday matinee and night, Oct. 21. In addition to mounting each and every act with a wealth of new scenery, Messrs. Frazee & Bay have engaged a most acceptable acting company, several of this number being local favorites. The production is perfect and complete in every respect and should prove one of the best offerings of the present season.

SHEPARD'S MOVING PICTURES

Archie L. Shepard's Great Eastern Company, the grandest and costliest exhibition of moving pictures in the world, will, owing to the acclamation of praise received on its former southern tours, return, presenting an entirely new and original program, which for subjects of great variety and priceless value stands over everything of its kind which offers competition. It comes to Greenwall's Opera House for four performances, commencing Monday matinee, Oct. 23.

READY FOR WINTER

Cattle Will Go Into Cold Weather in Good Shape

J. E. Boog-Scott, a prominent breeder of Herefords from Coleman county, who is in the city, says that first shipments of feeders will go to the north during the next month from his ranch. About thirty cars will form the first consignment.

Mr. Scott reports that conditions are good around Coleman and that cattle will go into the winter in good condition. Ranges, he reports, are in proper condition for a good season.

PLANT EXPERT AT WACO

Professor Weber Will Inspect Work Done There

WACO, Tex., Oct. 19.—Professor Herbert F. Weber, chief in the bureau of plant breeding at Washington, and a man who has had a wide and practical experience in the direction indicated, will reach here Sunday and will remain most of next week. He will look into the work of the experts who have been farming on the land of T. O. Plunkett, near Robinson, and will also see what has been done in the laboratory here in Waco. He will make a note of his finds and this will be included in bulletins which are issued from time to time by this department. Mr. Weber was to have been here sooner, but was delayed by the yellow fever scare.

AGED MINISTER DIES

Was Over a Hundred Years of Age—He Was the Oldest Christian Minister

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 19.—A. T. Spears, a veteran minister of the Christian church, died at his home in Peytonsburg, Ky., aged 101 years. He was the oldest Christian minister in Kentucky and doubtless the oldest in the country.

He was 101 years old last September, and he intended to preach his farewell sermon on his birthday, but he was too feeble to leave his room. Mr. Spear was a man of superior mental attainments and was widely known.

CATCHING COLD ON THE STREET CAR

"AS ANY COLD MAY LEAD TO CATARRH—PE-RU-NA SHOULD BE KEPT IN EVERY HOME."—Dr. S. B. Hartman.

DURING fall weather, open street cars are a frequent source of catching cold.

Starting out in the middle of the day, when it is quite warm, one often finds himself getting chilly at the close of the day and unprovided with a wrap to protect himself against the draughts in the car.

NEGLECT IS DANGEROUS.

A slight cold is the result. This is the most dangerous kind of all colds. The system is naturally depressed by the warm weather and it cannot shake off the cold as easily as in the winter time. It is always extremely risky for any one to neglect prompt treatment of an autumn cold.

Notwithstanding the danger that attends riding in the street car they are very useful means of locomotion. Everybody must patronize them at least occasionally and the majority of people find it convenient to do so daily.

Dr. Hartman gives it as his opinion that no other convenience of modern civilization is indirectly responsible for so many cases of chronic catarrh as the street car.

This opinion ought to interest those who depend upon the street car for transportation.

POSSIBILITY OF CONTAGION.

Another important item in this connection is the danger of infection in a street car. Often people are crowded together like sardines in a box. They touch each other and an intimate contact is brought about unknown in any other public place. This cannot be other than a frequent means of spreading disease.

HEALTHY MUCOUS MEMBRANES.

The only safety that can be availed of is the keeping of the body in excellent condition. So long as the mucous membranes are free from catarrh, so long there is little or no danger of catching disease.

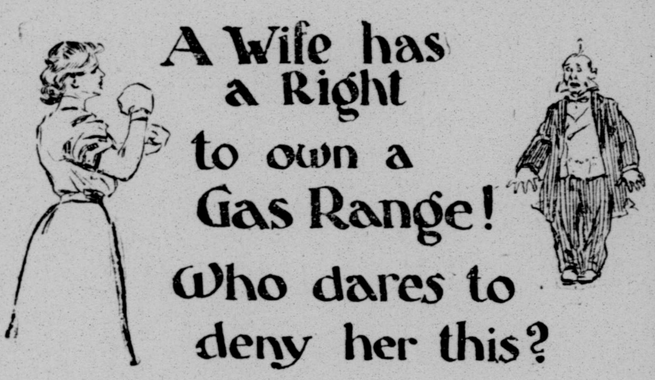

It is through the mucous membranes that the disease germs and poisonous materials find their entrance into the body.

Peruna is without a rival in keeping the mucous membrane clean, strong and healthy.

An occasional dose of it for those who are well, and a thorough course of Peruna for those who are afflicted with catarrh, brings comparative safety in these cases.

ENGLISH ROYALTY STARTS FOR INDIA

Prince and Princess of Wales Begin Voyage—Go Overland to Genoa First

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Prince and Princess of Wales started on a six months' tour of India today. King Edward, Queen Alexandria and other members of the royal family and cabinet ministers bade them farewell at the railroad station.

The Prince and Princess of Wales are going overland to Genoa, Italy, where they will embark on the British battleship Renown, which is due to arrive at Bombay Nov. 9. They will stay in India until March, visiting the principal cities and native states and receiving the chiefs and princesses on behalf of King Edward. The exchange of ceremonial presents will be dispensed with and consequently no presents are to be accepted by the prince and princess while on their tour.

The departure of Lord Curzon of Kedleston, the viceroy who resigned Aug. 20 owing to the bitter feeling between the viceroy and Lord Kitchener, commander in chief of the forces in India, and who will be succeeded by Lord Minto, has been postponed in view of the fact King Edward desired Lord Curzon to remain and officially welcome the Prince and Princess of Wales.

COMMUNICATION FROM R. A. ANDERSON

Offer to Refund Money if Hyomei Does Not Cure Catarrh

I have been asked recently if the advertisements printed in your columns regarding Hyomei were true, where I offer to refund the money if this treatment does not cure catarrh. I wish you would please print this letter in as conspicuous a place as possible in your paper, saying that we absolutely agree to refund the money to any purchaser of a Hyomei outfit if it does not cure catarrh.

This outfit consists of an inhaler of a convenient size to be carried in the best pocket so that the user can breathe Hyomei four or five times daily. With this is included a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The outfit sells for $1.00 and is a most economical treatment, for the inhaler lasts a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' use, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

I trust this letter will settle any doubts that may have arisen as to my willingness to refund the money for a Hyomei outfit, in case the purchaser is not perfectly satisfied.

I wish to say emphatically that our guarantee on Hyomei holds good, and I will refund the money to any dissatisfied purchaser who simply states that he has used the treatment according to directions and not been helped.

Respectfully yours,
R. A. ANDERSON.

SIDEWALK WORK GROWS RAPIDLY

Dealer Estimates That Activity in This Line Has More Than Doubled

Sidewalk building in this city is on the increase according to the statement of one of the leading sidewalk builders in the city.

J. R. Puckett when seen by a Telegram reporter said that according to his estimate there were twice as many sidewalks being built now as there were last year. The increase has come largely within the past two months and is noted all over the city, although chiefly on the South side, where the residents have been spurred to great activity within the past few months.

The announcement of increase in building of sidewalks is causing a rush among the builders and they are having all that they can do to take care of it. The chief difficulty with them is to get competent men to do the work. Otherwise they declare they could build walks as fast as the work came.

EX-GOVERNOR HOGG SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Decision to Be Made Today Regarding Removal to Austin

EX GOVERNOR HOGG 7.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the condition of ex-Governor Hogg was about the same, although those who keep constantly in touch with him say that if anything there is some slight improvement. He rested well Wednesday night and this morning he seems to be holding his own, although a dangerously ill man.

Despite his illness Governor Hogg still maintains his pleasant ways and continues to converse with members of his family and the few close friends who are permitted to see him.

Dr. J. W. McLaughlin of Austin, his family physician, arrived here this morning and this afternoon will confer with the local attending physicians regarding the condition of the governor, and what is best to be done for him. It has been the desire of members of the family to remove the ex-governor to Austin, but from what is learned this afternoon it is doubtful if this will be done.

The patient is being kept as quiet as is possible. No mail, and there is a vast accumulation of letters and documents here for him, is permitted to go into the sick chamber. Every mail brings many letters, but owing to his serious condition they are withheld from him.

ADVERTISING BY INDUSTRIES URGED

Factory Club Considers Plans to Cause Further Activity of Home Concerns

The board of directors of the Home Industrial and Factory Association held an executive session Wednesday night and discussed several matters relative to business of the club. The principal matter that came before the board was how to give greater impetus to the advertising of the business people in the local papers so as to show the people from out of town just what there is in the city. Thorough advertisement of home industries was urged.

The sidewalk proposition was also discussed, as was the matter of the laws about the residences of the town. Special effort was urged upon residents to have their lawns ready as soon as possible in the spring and to have them decorated with trees, shrubs and flowers.

During the months of February and March of next year, it was announced, a large number of visitors are expected to this place and beautiful lawns and plants will go a long way toward creating a good impression, especially to visitors from the north.

Reports were also read from a number of the factories in the city showing increase in business. One was especially noticeable in that the number of its employes had increased within ninety days from eight to thirty-three.

WILL DISCONTINUE SCHOOLS

OKMULGEE, I. T., Oct. 19.—The Creek council in its last annual session at the capital Wednesday passed an act to the effect that all the Creek schools controlled by the Creek nation will be discontinued after March 4, 1906. Chief P. Porter has not signed the bill yet, but it is expected that he will without delay. An appropriation was also made of $45,881 for the support of the schools until March 4.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is In Preserving Health and Beauty

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possble harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

DR. SADLER'S RESTORATION

Sherman's Latest Sensation.

Sherman, Texas, Interested in J. Austin Larson's Teleconi Treatment

SHERMAN, Texas, Oct. 12.—The work of Austin Larson, who has headquarters at the Delaware Hotel, Fort Worth, on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays of each week, is thoroughly believed in by the people of Sherman on account of what his treatment has done for Dr. J. C. Sadler, the veteran physician of this place.

In conversation with your correspondent the doctor made the following remarkable statement in regard to this Telconi treatment of which J. Austin Larson is the originator:

"I am 100 per cent stronger. I have had no recurrence of my old heart trouble and not a touch of asthma.

"For three years I have been a sufferer from heart trouble, asthma, nervousness and general weakness," continued the doctor. "For as much as ten days and nights I couldn't sleep a wink on account of the asthma. I had sinking spells with my heart when I thought I could not live. In fact I have treated with six or seven of my medical brethren and they agreed that there was no hope for me, and cautioned me against walking upstairs, fearing once too many times would prove fatal."

"How do you feel now?" queried the reporter.

"Like a new man," the doctor replied; "no heart trouble, no asthma, no nervousness, sleep fine. Why, I can even sleep now in the day time. The first time I went to the Binkley I could hardly get upstairs. Now I can walk without the least hesitation."

"What do you think of Professor Larson?" was asked.

"He is one of the most wonderful men I ever met. He has the greatest vitality, the greatest force of any man I have ever known. His hands are like two burning coals of fire. I believe in natural vital force. Physicians everywhere are recognizing its theurapeutic value. I am 72 years old and when I told Professor Larson that he looked pretty doubtful, said my age was against me. Didn't think I could hope for a cure, but would try his best to relieve me. But he surprised me and surprised himself. I authorize you to make my statement pubic. I am glad to do it, because my experience may help somebody else."

Dr. Sadler has led an active life, has ridden all over this and adjoining counties attending the sick and is known everywhere. His statement, therefore, bears double weight, coming as it does from one known in almost every home in Grayson county.

Silks! Silks! Silks!

The Big Silk Sale Starts Friday, Oct. 20th, at The Daylight Store at 9 a. m.

Friday morning, Oct. 20, at 9 o'clock, we will welcome the public to an exposition of silks, illustrating the world-wide resources of a great store. The event has a two-fold mission: To demonstrate the ability of this store to obtain the best the world affords, and to provide the requirements of the wardrobe, as applied to silks, at low value—giving prices peculiar to this institution. The former will be illustrated by an unsurpassed showing of rare and beautiful merchandise and the latter by an extensive series of remarkable offerings at prices which cannot be made by any other store, before or after this sale. The silks are all in the latest fancy shades and plaids, as well as white, cream, black and the more modest street tones.

If as good silks have ever been offered for the price anywhere in this country, we have never been informed. We know a silk sale is no uncommon thing—the kind of a silk sale where a lot of low-priced silks, undesirable styles and poor qualities are forced on the people. This sale will not be a silk sale like you have heard of before, but a sale of high-grade silks at prices that you all will remember as the only successful silk sale attempted in Fort Worth for years to come. No attempt shall be made on our part to force you to buy, but we invite you all to come and see this exposition of silks, made from pure silk stock. It will be worth while to visit, even should you not buy. The prices will be announced in our Friday morning ad in the Record.

ANOTHER SOURCE OF COMPLAINT

The cattlemen of the country have had a pretty hard experience during the past three years, and have had much to say concerning the evils of the so-called beef trust, composed of the big packing interests of the country. Just about all the ills the live stock industry has suffered from has been laid at the doors of the packers, and the indictment of those worthies by the federal government elicited a wave of popular approval that extended from one end of the country to the other. It seems to be dawning on the cattlemen, however, that there are other ills to which they have not given the proper attention. There is a growing suspicion that the retail butchers and market men of the country are not altogether immaculate in the matter of their business relations with the public. In fact, there is a growing apprehension that the big packers are not the only people connected with the meat industry that have been working under a close combination.

The people of Texas are very well acquainted with M. C. Campbell, of Wichita, Kan. He is a cattleman of much prominence, having been identified with the industry in the Texas Panhandle for a number of years, and having served as a member of the executive committee of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas for several terms. He is also an ex-chairman of the Kansas state live stock sanitary board, and one of the representative cattlemen of his state. In a public statement he says:

"Retail butchers of the country have a trust. They control the price of beef to the consumer. They are just as much to blame for the bad condition of the cattle market today as are the packers, and whatever manipulations may have been made by the packers' trust.

"Of course, now," he continued, "I'm not kicking especially, because I have no sore spots in this matter. I'm making a little profit on my stuff and have been doing so all this year, but we fellows who are 'up against it' know what we're about, and we know too well that we aren't getting the profits rightfully coming to us nor the profits that the big packers and retail butchers in the trust are getting. When I speak of the trust among the retail butchers I speak advisedly, for I know just what I am talking about. Now it is quite apparent that the retail butcher by putting up the price of meat is putting meat farther out of the reach of his customers or those who should be his customers all the time. And the consequence is the injury to us cattlemen.

"What we need in this country and what I think we are going to have before any great while is a large number of independent packing houses distributed through the smaller cities. The hog market isn't controlled nearly like that of beef. It does not require the facilities in a general way to handle hogs and pork products that it does cattle and beef products. For instance in the city of Wichita two packing houses are killing hogs on a large scale and it is so in many other cities of the country the same size where the beef industry is not known as a local one. Take Kansas City Chicago St. Louis Omaha Sioux City and St. Joseph and you have the principal beef packing centers of the country and of the world for that matter. And the fact is that the trust generally controls this industry. But as I have said I look for conditions to change within a few years and the smaller independent beef packeries will come.

"Another thing that is aggravating the situation for us cattlemen is the fact that the market isn't wide open with some outside nations as it should be. Take Germany for instance. We don't have the trade relations with that country that ought to prevail. However I believe that in a short time things in this respect will undergo a change for the better. This is something over which the packers or the butchers have no control and of course for which they shouldn't be blamed.

"I believe that the recent beef trust action by the government is going to have a salutary effect. I am of the opinion that if the steps thus far taken should be followed up properly, conditions will become much improved. We need Roosevelt, or some man just like him, to succeed to the presidency, when the present term expires, in order that this subject may have the proper consideration.

"In view of these unfavorable conditions, touching the beef industry, I believe that too many breeding animals are being produced in this country. But on the other hand, I am of the opinion that the market prices are going to improve during the coming winter. I find that a great many ranchmen are becoming dissatisfied with things, and are quitting the business. This, of course, relieves what, otherwise would be a glut of the market, and has a tendency to make the market better. Many of the great ranches, too, of the middle west, as well as of the southwest, are being cut up into farms and this has an influence on the situation. This may not mean that the number of cattle for a like number of acres of land will decrease from what it was formerly. But it does mean that the farmer, if he choose, can get rid of his cattle easier than the man with a great ranch, who either has to stay in the business to the fullest extent, or else must quit absolutely. But during the present transitions from ranches to numerous farms it so happens that the cattle business is not so popular as it might be and this has its effect. This, as you know, has been an exceptionally good corn year and ordinarily there should be a good deal of corn-fed beef. But compared with the big crop, I am of the opinion that there will be a relatively small number of cattle full-fed this fall and winter."

One fact brought out in the Campbell statement that is worthy of general notice is the suggestion of small independent packing establishments. This is a matter that has been generally discussed among cattlemen for the past three years, and several attempts have been made to launch such enterprises on a co-operative basis, but each of these has proven abortive, and independent plants seem no nearer realization now than back in the days when the late Charlie Martin was prepared to demonstrate the fact that such enterprises constituted the only hope of a speedy and permanent relief. It seems, however, that the minds of the cattlemen are again turning in that direction, and independent plants may yet be settled upon as the only method of meeting and dealing with an obnoxious situation.

If the government is successful in dealing with the big packers it is quite probable that the producers of the country will next turn their attention to the retail butchers. In fact, it may be stated quite authoritatively that plans are already maturing for looking into the affairs of the retail butchers, and if they have been deviating from the straight and narrow path the fact is almost sure to be made known.

The Jackson county grand jury has finally returned indictments against Monk Gibson, and a speedy but fair and impartial trial should follow.

There seems to a diversity of legal opinion as to the right of the individual to now smoke upon the street cars, under the provisions of the new ordinance. And the best way out of the difficulty seems to be to stop smoking.

Jim Hogg is a very sick man, but the hope is strong in the hearts of all Texas people that he may be spared to his state for many years yet.

The outlook for the next Fat Stock Show is very encouraging. That new premium list ought to be sufficient to bring out the very best.

THE MIKADO TO HIS PEOPLE

The treaty of peace between Japan and Russia has been signed by the emperors of both countries, and the curtain has been rung down on the last act of bloody war between the two nations in the Far East. While Russia is somewhat vainglorious over getting off without the payment of indemnity and puffing with assurances of what she could have done if the war had continued, the mikado counsels his people to carefully refrain from any such tendencies in their joy over the restoration of peace and tranquillity that has been accompanied by so much renown for the Japanese arms. The imperial rescript is as follows:

"We have always deemed it a fundamental principle of our international policy to maintain peace in the east and thus assure the security of our empire, and the promotion of this high object has, therefore, been our constant aim; but last year, for reasons dictated by the necessity of self-preservation, we, unfortunately, were forced into hostilities with Russia.

"Since the war begun our army and navy have made adequate provision for home defense, and military preparations within the empire itself, and have withstood hardships of all kinds during their campaigns abroad and thus have achieved a glorious success. Our civil officials, in concord with our diet, have diligently performed their duties in furtherance of our will. All measures for the prosecution of the war and for the administration of domestic and foreign affairs have been properly taken, as the exigencies of the situation demanded. Our people, frugal and prudent, have cheerfully borne the heavy burden of national expenditure and have generously contributed to the war fund, thus assisting, as with one will, in advancing the prestige and maintaining the dignity of the state.

"The result is due in a large measure to the benign spirits of our ancestors, as well as to the devotion to duty of our civil and military officials and the self-denying patriotism of all our people.

"After twenty months of war the position of the empire has been strengthened and the interests of the country advanced, and insomuch as we have never wavered in our desire for the maintenance of peace, it is contrary to our will that hostilities should be protracted and that our people should unnecessarily be subjected to the horrors of war.

"When the President of the United States, in the interests of peace and humanity, suggested that the governments of Japan and Russia should arrange terms of peace, fully appreciating his kindness and good will, we accepted the suggestion and at the proper moment appointed plenipotentiaries to confer with those of Russia.

"The plenipotentiaries of the two countries, having met and conferred frequently, the Russian plenipotentiaries have agreed to the proposals of our plenipotentiaries which were essential, having in view the objects of the war and the maintenance of peace in the east, thus manifesting the sincerity of their desire for peace. We have examined the terms agreed upon by the plenipotentiaries, and, having found them in entire conformity with our will, we have accepted and ratified them.

"Peace and glory having thus been secured, we are happy to invoke the blessing of the benign spirits of our ancestors and to be able to bequeath the fruits of these great deeds to our posterity. It is our earnest desire to share the glory with our people and long enjoy the blessings of peace with all nations.

"Russia again is the friend of Japan, and we sincerely desire that the relations of good neighborhood, now re-established, shall become both cordial and intimate.

"In this age, when there is no delay in the world's progress, there should be no cessation of the effort to improve the administration of the nation's affairs, both internal and external. While military efficiency should be maintained in full vigor, even in time of peace, an earnest endeavor should be made to attain success in peaceful pursuits, so that, in equal measure with its power, the prosperity of the country may be maintained and its permanent progress insured.

"We strongly admonish our subjects against manifestations of vainglorious pride, and command them to attend to lawful vocations and to do all that lies in their power to strengthen the empire."

The principles enunciated in this remarkable document would do credit to the head of any civilized nation on the face of the earth, and present but additional evidence that the little Japs are made out of the right kind of material. They have proven themselves great in war, great in peace and great in all those virtues which constitute the real bulwarks of national existence.

AMONG EXCHANGES

Henry C. Pierce, head of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, swears that he sends two-thirds of the dividends of his company to the Standard Oil Company. Yet in Texas only a few years ago it was solemnly declared that the Waters-Pierce Company had no connection whatever with the Standard Oil Company. All of which proves that a man's foresights are not near so reliable as his hindsights. Hon. Joseph D. Sayers, his official family and the lawmakers of the Twenty-seventh legislature accepted the story as gospel truth and the state of Texas rechartered the Waters-Pierce Company—the Standard Oil. Eminent statesmen and certain leading newspaper correspondents aided in the work of hoodwinking the people. Ambassador Sayers should speak out and ex-Secretary of State Hardy should not permit excessive modesty to lock his jaws.—Dallas Times-Herald.

If the Standard Oil people gained entrance into Texas through the medium of false affidavits no blame attaches to the state administration that granted the permit to do business in this state. The remedy lies in invoking the law upon the makers of those false affidavits, instead of abusing the Texas officials who were duped in the premises.

Farmers are closing up the work of gathering their crops and planning for the next. All things considered this has been a fairly good year with them. They are out of debt, the majority of them have money ahead and on the whole they will enter upon the next year's work with cheerful spirits and full of hope.—Corsicana Sun.

Texas farmers have fared very well this year, taking all things into consideration. Crops have been very good, cotton has sold for a satisfactory price, and peace and plenty prevails throughout the length and breadth of the state.

Rev. Sam P. Jones is still advising as to the price of cotton. He is reported as saying in his lecture at Granbury last week: "The outlook for a cotton crop indicates a yield of less than 11,000,00 bales. If I were a cotton grower I would not sell my cotton for 9 1-4 cents a pound. I'd set up with 'em till hell froze over and then scuffle with them on the ice before I would sell my cotton for less than 11 cents. But if you are in debt you have to do what the other fellow says. You don't belong to yourself, the other fellow owns you."—Stephenville Empire.

Sam Jones is not a very safe authority on cotton. He can come nearer giving good advice on spiritual matters, and should leave the cotton question to those who are regularly in the cotton line.

The member of the legislature clamoring for an extra session to correct his own blunders and negligence puts himself in a very shameful attitude. If business had been attended to during the regular session as it should all these disgraceful public acts would not have been saddled upon Texas. The extra session proposition convicts legislators of shirking a duty to the people. It is a lamentable proposition indeed.—Georgetown Commercial.

It is lamentable that an extra session of the state legislature is necessary, but the people of the state are not responsible for that. The fault lies with the men, trusted by the people, who failed to do their sworn duty.

The Fort Worth Telegram, an evening paper that is nothing if not progressive and high-toned, is doing some splendid work in an effort to arouse the people to a sense of their duty in calling out the best men in every county in the state to go to the next legislature. While we would not sanction sending some of the old broken-down politicians suggested by our esteemed contemporary, at the same time we are in sympathy with the believe in most of the sentiments expressed by the man on the tripod of The Telegram. Let the good work go on, Bro. Telegram.—Bonham News.

The Telegram thinks it can render the people of Texas no greater service than to assist in the movement to elect representative men as members of the next state legislature, and it will continue to earnestly labor in that direction. It is a work in which every paper in the state should assist.

It is said that an unusually large number of school houses are being built in Texas at the present, and that many of them are of the very best, too. It would certainly be hard to find a more hopeful sign of the future prosperity of Texas than this. The land of the school houses is the land whose prosperity is assured. Let the good work go on.—Terrell Transcript.

More school houses in Texas means better educational advantages for the Texas men and women of tomorrow. But fine school houses do not provide all the requisites. Only professional teachers should be in charge of those school houses.

Th Hon. William D. Williams, author of intangible tax measure, says the Thirtieth legislature "must decide whether it is the railroads or whether it is the people that must go out of the governing business in Texas." It isn't as bad as that, Mr. Williams. The people are supreme in Texas.—Waco Times-Herald.

The people are supposed to always be supreme in Texas, but there are times when their supremacy is questionable. The railways are doing all in their power to protect their own interests, and in some quarters it is believed they are showing too great a disposition to interfere with the rights of the people.

CHAPTER VII.

COLONEL RAY'S RING.

The ring lay on the table between us. Colonel Ray had not yet taken it up. In grim silence he listened to my faltering words. When I finished he smiled upon me as one might upon a child that needed humoring.

"So," he said, slipping the ring upon his finger, "you have saved me from the bangman. What remains? Your reward, eh?"

"It may seem to you," I answered hotly, "a fitting subject for jokes. I am sorry that my sense of humor is not in touch with yours. You are a great traveler, and you have shaken death by the hand before. For me it is a new thing. The man's face haunts me! I cannot sleep or rest for thinking of it—as I have seen it, dead, and as I saw it alive pressed against my window—that night. Who was he? What did he want with me?"

"How do you know," Ray asked, "that he wanted anything from you?"

"He looked in at my window."

"He might have seen me enter."

Then I told him what I had meant to keep secret.

"He asked for me in the village. He was directed to my cottage."

Ray had been filling his pipe. His fingers paused in their task. He looked at me steadily.

"How do you know that?" he asked.

"The person to whom he spoke in the village told me so."

"Then why did that person not appear at the inquest?"

"Because I asked her not to," I told him. "If she had given evidence the verdict must have been a different one."

"It seems to me," he said, quietly, "that you have acted foolishly. If that young woman, whoever she may be, chooses to tell the truth later on you will be in an awkward position."

"If she had told the truth yesterday," I continued, "the position would have been awkward enough. Let that go! I want to know who that man was, what he wanted with me."

"My young friend," he said, "have you come from Braster to ask that question?"

"To give you the ring and to ask you that question."

"How do you know that the ring is mine?"

"I saw it on your finger when you were giving me wine."

"Then you believe," he said, "that I killed him?"

"It is no concern of mine," I cried, hoarsely. "I do not want to know. I do not want to hear. But I tell you that the man's face haunts me. He asked for me in the village. I feel that he came to Rowchester to see me. And he is dead. Whatever he came to say or to tell me will be buried with him. Who was he? Tell me that?"

"Sit down, sit down!" he said gruffly, "and do abandon that tragical aspect. The creature was not worth all this agitation. He lived like a dog, and he died like one."

"It is true, then?" I murmured.

"If you insist upon knowing," Ray said coolly, "I killed him! There are insects upon which one's foot falls, reptiles which one removes from the earth without a vestige of a qualm, with a certain sense of relief. He was of this order."

"He was a human being," I answered.

"He was none the better for that," Ray declared. "I have known animals of finer disposition."

"You at least," I said fiercely, "were not his judge. You struck him in the dark, too. It was a cowardly action."

Ray turned his head. Then I saw that around his neck was a circular bandage.

"If it interests you to know it," he remarked dryly, "I was not the assailant. But for the fact that I was warned it might have been my body which you came across on the sands. I started a second too soon for our friend—and our exchange of compliments sent him to eternity."

"It was self-defense, then?"

"Scarcely that. He would have run away if he could. I decided otherwise."

"Tell me who he was," I insisted.

Ray shook his head.

"Better for you not to know," he remarked reflectively. "Much better."

My cheeks grew hot with anger.

"Colonel Ray," I said, "this may yet be a serious affair for you. Why you should assume that I am willing to be a silent accessory to your crime I cannot imagine. I insist upon knowing who this man was."

For a period of time which I could not measure, but which seemed to me of great duration, there was silence between us. Then Ray leaned over towards me.

"I think," he said, "that it is my turn to talk. You have come to me like a hysterical schoolboy, you seem ignorant of the primeval elements of justice. After all it is not wonderful. As yet you have only looked in upon life. You look in, but you do not understand. You have called me a coward. It is only a year or so since his majesty pinned a little cross upon my coat—for valor. I won that for saving a man's life. Mind you, he was a man. He was a man and a comrade. To save him I rode through a hell of bullets. It ought to have meant death. As a matter of fact it didn't. That was my luck. But you mustn't call me a coward, Ducaine. It is an insult to my decoration."

"Oh, I know that you are brave enough," I answered, "but this man was a poor weak creature, a baby in your hands."

"So are the snakes we stamp beneath our feet," he answered coolly. "Yet we kill them. In Egypt I have been in more than one hot corner where we fought hand to hand. I have killed men more than once. I have watched them galloping with waving swords, and their fine faces ablaze with the joy of battle, and all the time one's revolver went spit, and the saddles were empty. Yet never once have I sent a brave man to his last account without regret, enemy and fanatic though he was. I was not a bloodthirsty man. When I kill it is because necessity demands it. As for that creature whom you found in the marshes, well, if there were a dozen such in this room now, I would do my best to rid the earth of them. Take my advice. Dismiss the whole subject from your mind. Go back to Braster and wait. Something may happen within the next twenty-four hours which will be very much to your benefit. Get back to Braster and wait."

"But he came to Rowchester to see me. I want to know why."

"Go back to Rowchester and wait," Ray said. "I shall tell you nothing. Depend upon it that his business with you, if he had any, was evil business. He and his whole brood left their mark for evil wherever they crawled."

So I left him. I had waster the money I could ill afford on this journey to London.

From the station I had walked straight to Ray's house, and from Ray's house I returned direct to the great terminus. I caught a slow train, and after four hours of third-class miseries, alighted at Rowchester Junction. I had started on the three-mile tramp home, my coat collar turned up as some slight protection against the drizzling rain, when a two-seated trap overtook me, and Mr. Moyat shouted out a gruff greeting. He raised the waterproof apron, and I clambered in by his side.

"I've been to Sunbridge," he told me. "Went over with his grace. My girl was talking about you the other night, Mr. Ducaine."

"Indeed?" I answered.

"Seemed to think," he continued, "that things had been growing a bit rough for you, losing those pupils after you'd been at the expense of taking the Grange, and all that, you know."

"I was rather bad luck," I admitted quietly.

"I've been wondering," he continued, with some diffidence, "whether you'd care for a bit of work in my office, just to carry you along till things looked up, Blanche, she was set upon it that I should ask you anway. Of course, you being a college young gentleman might not care about it, but there's times when any sort of a job is better than none, eh?"

"It is very kind of you, Mr. Hoyat," I answer, "and very kind of Miss Blanche to have thought of it. A week ago I shouldn't have hesitated. But within the last few days I have had a sort of offer—I don't know whether it come to anything, but it may. Might I leave it open for the present?"

I think Mr. Moyat was a little disappointed.

"Just as you say," he declared. "I ain't particular in want of any one, but I'm getting to find my own bookkeeping a bit hard, especially now that my eyes aren't what they were."

We drove on in silence till we came to a dark pile of buildings standing a little way back from the road. He moved his head toward it.

"Braster Grange is took," he remarked. "Mr. Hulshaw told me this morning."

"Do you know who is coming there?" I asked.

"An American lady, I believe, name of Lessing."

I glanced involuntarily over my shoulder. Braster Grange was a long grim pile of buildings, which had been unoccupied for many years. Between it and the sea was nothing but empty marshland. It was one of the bleakest spots along the coast—to the casual observer nothing but an arid waste of sands in the summer, a wilderness of desolation in the winter.

We drove to Mr. Moyat's stable yard and clambered down.

"You'll come in and have a bit of supper," he insisted.

I hesitated. I felt that it would be wiser to refuse, but I was cold and wet, and the thought of my fireless room depressed me. So I was ushered into the long, low dining room, with its old hunting prints and black oak furniture, and, best of all, with its huge log fire. Mrs. Moyat greeted me with her usual negative courtesy. I do not think that I was a favorite of hers, but whatever her welcome lacked in impressiveness Blanche's made up for. She kept looking at me as though anxious that I should remember our common secret. More than once I was almost sorry I had not let her speak.

"You've had swell callers again," she remarked, as we sat side by side at supper time. "A carriage from Rowchester was outside your door when I passed."

"Ah, he's a good sort is the duck," Mr. Moyat declared appreciately. "A clever chap, too. He's A1 in politics, and a first-class business man, chairman of the great Southern Railway Company, and on the board of several other city companies."

"I can't see what the gentry want to meddle with such things at all for," Mrs. Moyat said. "There's some as says the duke's lost more than he afford by speculations."

"The duke's a shrewd man," Mr. Moyat declared. "It's easy to talk."

"If he hasn't lost money," Mrs. Hoyat demanded, "why is Rowchester castle let to that American millionaire? Why doesn't he live there himself?"

"Prefers the east coast," Mr. Moyat declared cheerfully. "More bracing, and suits his constitution better. I've heard him say so himself."

"That is all very well," Mrs. Moyat said, "but I can't see that Rowchester is a fit country house for a nobleman. What do you think, Mr. Ducaine?"

I returned an evasive reply. Mrs. Moyat nodded sympathetically.

"Of course," she said, "you haven't seen the house except from the road, but I've been over it many a time when Mrs. Felton was housekeeper and the duke didn't come down so often, and I say that it's a poor place for a duke."

"Well, mother, we won't quarrel about it," Mr. Moyat declared, rising from the table. "I must just have a look at the mare. Do you look after Mr. Ducaine, Blanche."

To my annoyance the retreat of Mr. and Mrs. Moyat was evidently planned, and accelerated by a frown from their daughter. Blanche and I were left alone—whereupon, I too, rose to my feet.

With the CATTLEMEN

THE ALPINE COUNTRY

ALPINE, Texas, Oct. 19.—Luther Yarbro bought of Gourley Brothers & Olney 240 cows and calves at $15 and $7 50 respectively.

Bud Simpson sold to George Wurzback a car load of fine cows and calves at $18 for cows and $8 for calves.

Dr. Scott Lock and Charley Hutchins drove two car loads of fat cows from Davis to Marfa and sold them to Albert Cockrill for the El Paso markets. They were the property of Dr. Lock.

Colonel Robinson returned from Big Bend last Saturday, where he had just succeeded in landing the big 18,000-pound boiler for the Dallas company. The trip was quite an eventful one and it was a big undertaking to get the immense piece of iron work to the camp in the mountains. It cost something like $500 to freight the boiler from Marfa to the mines. One or two wagons were broken down during the trip. Cal reports live stock and range as doing extremely well down in that part of the county.

Oliver Billingsley bought of J. A. Stroud a car load of fat cows and shipped them to El Paso Monday.

J. D. Jackson shipped from Marathon a car load of bulls to Houston, a car of calves to New Orleans, a car of calves to Fort Worth and a car of calves to Kansas City.

W. D. Krebaum and C. F. Lucken shipped the remnant of the 7HL cattle from Marathon. There were 101 head of cattle.

Judge F. G. Morris stated that he expected to clear $90 per acre from his sorghum patch. He expects to convert most of it into molasses and sell some for feed. On account of the bountiful rains this summer the judge has never irrigated his cane field, so that $90 per acre from about twenty acres in cane proves that it sometimes pays to "raise cane."

Cattle buyers in this country are having a hard time finding any cattle to buy, as the market price is too low to induce cattle raisers to part with their stuff. The range being in such good condition and all water holes filled, the stockman feels that he can rest easy this winter and has hopes that the market will be strong enough to induce him to sell in the spring.

SEEKING PACKERS' AGREEMENT

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 19.—Subpenas have been issued from the office of the United States district court for seven men who were connected officially with various former independent packing companies which are said to have been merged into the National Packing Company.

Following is a list of the men in Chicago for whom subpenas were issued:

George H. Taylor, 755 Homan avenue, treasurer Continental Packing Company.

Benjamin S. Wilson, 7240 Yale avenue, former secretary and treasurer of the Continental Packing Company, now manager for Wells.

Fred Cowin, 6643 Stewart avenue, secretary of the Anglo-American provision Company.

E. F. Robbins, former president of the Omaha Packing Company, now in the commission business at 218 La Salle street.

T. W. Taliaferro, former secretary of the Omaha Packing Company, now connected with Robbins at 218 La Salle street.

The indictment against the packers alleges that the men who sold the independent companies which were merged afterward into the National Packing Company, signed agreements which provided that "those persons were not for a long period of time to engage in such trade and commerce in any manner or at any place, the exact terms of which are to this jury unknown."

Secret service men under Captain Thomas I. Porter are trying to trace the supposed contracts and learn their present abiding place.

RESULTS ARE PROBLEMATICAL

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 19.—Arguments in the railroad rate case were completed last week before Judge Bethea in the United States circuit court. The decision will not be heard for a month, as ten days was given the attorneys to file briefs, and it will take two weeks longer for the court to consider them.

Attorney S. H. Cowan, counsel for the interstate commerce commission, made the closing argument. He began his afternoon's address by denying that he was at all interested in the Chicago Live Stock Exchange or the Chicago Stock Yards Company. Then he complimented the government on the fair way in which it had conducted the prosecution.

"We have not sought to hinder investigation nor to prevent testimony," he said. Concerning the charges brought against the commission, Mr. Cowan said:

"A man's station in life does not affect the truth of his statements."

Mr. Cowan argued that the published reports of the railroad companies show what the railroads want them to show as to capitalization, and that the real figures are exaggerated often. He dwelt at some length on the prevailing conditions of shipping live stock in the Missouri valley.

"They can't ship east of there on local rates," he said, "and the published rates apply only west of the river. Therefore there are no shipments east unless in violation of the law."

It is conceded generally by the attorneys in the case that the case will not end in the circuit court. Unless Judge Bethea orders that the lower rates must go into effect at once it will be much more than a month before anything will result from the four weeks of talking.

Verses That Ring

LOVE AND FALLING LEAVES

(Will Reed Dunroy in Chicago Chronicle.)

Ah, love of mine, come wander out
In yonder wood with me,
Where brilliant leaves float all about
Beneath each shrub and tree,
And whispering they softly sing
A forest symphony.

Come wander far where loveland lies
Through winding, golden ways,
And let me see within your eyes
A glimpse of summer days
And hear your voice bid me rejoice
As soft the lovelight plays.

Ah, love of mine, come out with me
Where violets are dead.
And watch the dry leaves dance in glee
Where zephyrs softly tread;
The piping breeze sings in the trees
Whence singing birds have fled.

Come, tell me that you love me, dear,
Beneath the bittersweet,
And I will whisper in your ear,
Afar, in that retreat,
Such words of love, my sweet, my dove,
As only gods repeat.

Ah, love of mine, come wander out
In yonder wood with me,
With warmth and sunshine all about
On path, on shrub and tree
Where whispering the breezes sing
A forest symphony.

RAILROADS RUSH COTTON PICKERS

Traffic Figures Compiled by Local Offices Show All Records Broken

The matter of providing sufficient cotton pickers in the Panhandle and the Oklahoma country, is taxing the railroads just at this time. The movement has been very heavy the past two weeks, the demand is so great for pickers that farmers have employed representatives and sent them to Central and South Texas to hustle up men.

Up to date the Denver Road has carried 1,700 pickers to Vernon, Quanah and beyond these places. This line Sunday night carried out 200 men in a double header train, and hundreds of additional pickers are to follow at once.

Speaking of this matter, General Passenger Agent A. A. Glisson of the Denver Road said today that he had never before seen such a demand for pickers in the Panhandle country as exists at this time. He added that cotton in that part of the state was averaging half a bale to the acre and was of an excellent quality.

At the general passenger department of the Rock Island today it was reported that something like 1,500 pickers have been shipped into the territory country, mainly to Oklahoma. They are being given employment in fields around Snyder, Lawton, Duncan and Waurika. On Sunday something like 300 pickers from Central and South Texas were sent to Oklahoma over this road.

The Santa Fe is also busy hauling pickers to the territory country. This line has carried at least 1,500 or 2,000 laborers to Oklahoma. The majority of these are colored, but very few white men being employed.

According to reports here made by railroad officials, they still have demands for several thousand more pickers for the localities mentioned above.

ROCK ISLAND REPORT

Pacific Line Shows Decrease, According to Statement

Annual report of the Rock Island and Pacific just made public in New Jersey indicates a decrease. The report of the company which owns the road for the year ending June 30 shows a total income of $5,510,000. After the payment of interest, taxes and dividends there was a deficit on the year's operations of $124,-102. For the year ending June 30, 1904, there was a surplus of $129,764.

Additional information given out by the directors is as follows: Mileage operated, 7,321; gross transportation receipts, $44,-051,500; operating expenses, $31,058,209; net earnings, $12,993,299; other income, $1,-529,171; total net income, $14,519,471. The decrease in surplus available for dividends over 1904 is $1,295,000. Net earnings show a decrease of $201,299 for the year. Dividends paid during the year aggregated $4,676,622. Gross earnings decreased $917,982, or 2 per cent. While there is a decrease of $1,504,620, or 4.8 per cent, in freight earnings, this was partly offset by increase in passenger and express earnings. Passenger earnings increased $353,748, or 3 per cent; express earnings increased $280,167, or 35.5 per cent. Miscellaneous earnings decreased $55,713. Operating expenses show a decrease of $716,684, or 2.2 per cent. The capital stock outstanding at the close of the last fiscal year was $74,818,100. The funded debt on June 30 was $173,607,000. Retiring directors, F. L. Hine and George G. McMurtry, were re-elected for a term of five years.

TEST CASE WANTED

Railroads and Interstate Commission Both Anxious for Trial

It is the desire of the interstate commerce commission to push forward a test case in the pending controversy over private car line rates, and it is more than likely the hearing that began by the commission at Washington Wednesday will result in developing the case that is to be selected to make the test.

When the commission finds a case that it believes will meet all the requirements for a test in the courts it will render its decision. Then if the company toward which the ruling is directed fails to comply with the order, the attorney general will be asked to bring proceedings on behalf of the interstate commerce commission in the United States district court.

It is said that as the attorney general has the power to expedite the hearing of the test case, he will be asked to do it, so that it would be only a few months before a final decision could be reached in the supreme court of the United States.

Members of the commission are of the opinion that it will be to the best interests of the producer, the consumer and to the transportation companies as well, if there could be an early decision secured in the highest tribunal.

A final decision is also desired by the railroads, as old contracts with private car companies are expiring and it is desired on the part of the railroads to know just how they must act in the premises.

HEAVY EARNINGS

Denver and Rio Grande Makes Good, Summer Record

The Denver and Rio Grande railroad is at the top of all roads in the United States in the matter of earnings, according to a statement just made public by officials at Denver. From July 1 to Oct. 10, the Rio Grande showed the greatest percentage of increase in earnings of any railroad in this country. Its earnings for the period named were $5,-217,200, as against $4,555,600 for the corresponding period last year.

Much of this increase came as a result of the heavy passenger traffic during the summer months. Thousands of tourists while in the west use the Denver and Rio Grande out of Denver and Colorado Springs for the northwest, and to this is due the greatest amount of increase in the road's earnings. Locally, the Rio Grande is used by tourists as well as the Colorado and Southern. Possibly the latter road will show as heavy increases in earnings as the Rio Grande. The statement of the Colorado and Southern will be made public Nov. 20, at which time the stockholders meet.

RAILROAD RUMBLING

CROPS WELL RECEIVED

Texas Exhibit Sent Through New England Effective

E. C. Robinson, industrial agent for the Southern Pacific, has just returned from New England, where he has been several weeks, attending state fairs and exhibiting displays of Texas and Louisiana products.

Upon his return he said:

"As a matter of fact, our collection, which was shown under a large tent, attracted more attention than all the other attractions combined," said Mr. Robinson. "Thousands of people stood in lines six deep each day, waiting to have our tent opened and to hear the announcement that the southern display was ready for inspection.

"Mr. Patrick took north with him an old Virginia mammy and a brace of pickaninnies, and they were objects of great interest to the downeasters. Every time the old mammy would sing one of the songs she learned on the plantation away back before war times, large crowds would surround her and listen with bated breath and moistened eyes.

"Governor Glenn of North Carolina, who was with our party, and Judge Norman G. Kittrell of this city, who represented Governor Lanham on the trip, made great hits by their addresses wherever we went. Crowds stood in the rain for hours at St. Johnsbury, Vt., to listen to Governor Glenn's address, which was most generously punctuated with applause. A banquet was given at St. Johnsbury to three governors, their official families and other prominent guests.

"The menu cards used on the occasion were unique and filled with sentiment expressive of fraternal relations between north and south.

"I think on the whole that the display of southern products, the distribution of literature and the eloquent addresses made by the distinguished men of our party will do much to attract immigration and capital from the New England states to the southwest. We were most hospitably treated wherever we went, each one seeming to vie with his neighbor to give us the very best he had."

TEXAS TOBACCO GOOD

Southern Pacific Sends Exhibit to Factories

G. S. Bruce, who is at the head of the advertising department of the Southern Pacific, has just returned from Ohio and Kentucky, where he has been exhibiting Texas-grown tobacco. He reports that the tobacco experts of these states pronounce the Texas "Havana" tobacco the finest they have ever seen grown in America and admit that the Texas product is finer than that grown in either Ohio or Kentucky—especially the finer grades. They pronounce the Texas tobacco as good as that raised in Cuba.

Mr. Bruce reports that there will be quite a heavy movement of tobacco growers from Ohio and Kentucky to Texas this winter. They expect to engage in growing tobacco in this state next year.

SANTA FE CHANGES

Promotions to Be Made All Along the Line

With the promotion of D. B. Shuckhart to the position of auditor of the Santa Fe lines in Texas there follows several other advances.

R. B. Ruble, formerly traveling accountant, is appointed chief clerk to the auditor, and O. C. Van Zandt becomes traveling auditor in place of Mr. Ruble.

It is understood that E. J. Valentine will succeed Mr. Van Zandt as traveling auditor. This promotion, however, has not been officially announced.

Traveling Auditor Fagan will probably become traveling auditor of the southern division and a new man be appointed to the Beaumont division to take the place vacated by Mr. Fagan.

BIG FAIR BUSINESS

While in Chicago recently Assistant General Passenger Agent Heelen of the Southern Pacific ascertained that there were 85,000 people who went from the east to Portland to attend the exposition. This is said by passenger officials to be the largest transcontinental movement in the history of the country.

HOLIDAY RATES

Already the railroads are arranging for cheap holiday rates from the southwest to the southeast, north and east. The Rock Island is the first to announce the rate which will be one and one-third for the round trip. The limit on tickets will be thirty days.

COFFEE NEURALGIA

Leaves When You Quit and Use Postum

A lady who unconsciously drifted into nervous prostration brought on by coffee, says:

"I have been a coffee drinker all my life, and used it regularly, three times a day.

"A year or two ago I became subject to nervous neuralgia, attacks of nervous headache and general nervous prostration which not only incapacitated me for doing my housework, but frequently made it necessary for me to remain in a dark room for two or three days at a time.

"I employed several good doctors, one after the other, but none of them was able to give me permanent relief.

"Eight months ago a friend suggested that perhaps coffee was the cause of my troubles and that I try Postum Food Coffee and give up the old kind. I am glad I took her advice, for my health has been entirely restored. I have no more neuralgia, had one solitary headache eight months. No more are wasted in solitary a dark room. I do all with ease. The flesh that the years of my nervous has come back to me during these months, and I am once more a happy, healthy woman. I enclose a list of names of friends who can vouch for the truth of the statement." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

Ten day's trial leaving off coffee and using Postum is sufficient. All grocers.

Can She Save Them?

Many a poor mother who feels that those she holds most precious are gradually slipping away from her over the terrible precipice of disease, would be thankful to know what Doctor Pierce's wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" has done to restore thousands of weak and wasted children to complete rounded, rosy, healthy, activity and life.

"Five years ago this last fall I was taken down with a fever and was very bad for several months," writes Mrs. Henrietta Bell, of Diamond, Ohio. She continues: "Finally recovered from the fever, then my lungs became very bad. The doctor said I had consumption, and that he had done all he could for me, and he did not think that I could get well. My case was a very dangerous one. Became very weak, had night-sweats, also a very bad cough, night and day. At times would spit blood. I felt as though my time on earth would be short. Requested my husband to get me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and perhaps it would help me. Before I had taken one bottle my cough was almost gone. The next to disappear were the night-sweats. I am almost sure that if it had not been for your medicine I would not have been here to-day."

If mothers will only write to Dr. Pierce concerning the ailments of their family he will send them sound and valuable advice in a plain sealed envelope, and without any charge whatever. His remarkably wide experience has qualified him to deal with diseases which baffle the local practitioner. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative.

PAY PUPILS CROWD THE CITY SCHOOLS

South Side Residents Object to Pupils Transferred to the Other Buildings

Complaint is being raised by residents of the South side that while the schools are overcrowded to such an extent as to force transfers of pupils, at great inconvenience, to buildings without their own wards, pay pupils living without the city are attending school.

A protest is being made by them against such a course, claiming that first right in the city schools belong to the residents and taxpayers.

Major K. M. Van Zandt, member of the board of school trustees, said this morning that pay pupils are attending school. He said he was unable to give the number.

Residents report that the matter has been brought to the attention of Mayor Powell and will be laid before the school board.

The new school buildings now in course of erection are expected to remedy the situation. Of these the Fifth ward building is about ready for occupancy, but that in the Eighth ward will scarcely be ready for use before January.

CAR SHORTAGE FELT

Scarcity Affects Movement of Coke for Iron Furnaces

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 19.—The Iron Trade Review this week says:

Complaints of car shortage are made with increasing force. The movement is more to be hampered and in many places it is difficult to obtain prompt delivery of coke. In some sections the car shortage is also felt in the slow delivery of pig iron. That the railroads generally appreciate present conditions is shown by the very large orders for all kinds of equipment which are being placed. The Pennsylvania railroad system, which recently placed an order for 16,000 cars, is about to order an equal number. The Vandalia system is also expected to order 16,000 steel cars, and the Central of New Jersey has placed an order for 10,000 steel hopper gondolas. The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has authorized the purchase of 71,000 tons of rails and other heavy orders are pending.

The principal sales this week were New York Central, 125,000 tons; Clover Leaf, 11,000 tons; Soo Line, 6,000 tons; miscellaneous sales aggregated fully 60,000 tons. The continued heavy buying of rails following the unprecedented business of a few weeks ago is indeed remarkable and indicates that all of next year's product will be contracted for before January.

The upward tendency of prices is still the leading feature of the pig iron market. Prices for Southern brands show quite a wide divergence in different territories.

While iron has been sold in the Cincinnati district in limited amounts on the basis of $12.50, Birmingham, sales have been made elsewhere at $13. In northern market considerably higher prices are prevailing especially in Chicago and Cleveland. In both these cities the withdrawal of local producers from the market has made it necessary to ship long distances. Buffalo being drawn upon for large tonnages. It is possible to ship iron from Buffalo by boat on the basis of $17.75, Chicago.

Advance in quotations of coke and increasing difficulties in obtaining prompt delivery are causing considerable anxiety among consumers.

TROLLEY FRANCHISE WILL BE DISCUSSED

Third Ward Citizens to Urge Grant of Franchise Asked Under Referendum at Meeting Tonight

An important meeting of citizens of the Third ward will be held at Summer's store tonight. It will be under the direction of the Third Ward Democratic Club and is to be held for the purpose of hearing speeches on the coming referendum election on the Arlington Heights street car franchise.

Among the speakers will be Judge J. E. Martin, former Alderman Murray, Alderman W. R. Parker, Frank Cook and others.

Speaking of the matter today Judge Martin said that all those who speak will make addresses favoring granting the franchise. "We want to encourage anything that will build up Fort Worth," said Judge Martin, "besides, if this line is built into the city the Third ward will stand a better chance of getting an extension of the line, which we so badly need in that part of the city."

Judge Martin said that so far as he is able to learn the consensus of opinion in the Third ward is favorable to giving the Arlington Heights company what they ask in the way of a street car franchise.

President Ripley Surprised

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 19.—The Inter Ocean today says:

"President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe road was surprised last night when told it had been reported that the failure of the Santa Fe to buy the new road in New Mexico had been productive of the trouble in Pittsburg.

"We thought of buying Andrews' little road some months ago, but the owners wanted too much money for it," said President Ripley. "As far as we are concerned the matter was dropped. I do not see how a Pittsburg bank could be concerned in the matter unless it had been putting up the money to build the road, hoping to be able to sell it at a profit.

"The road in question runs from Santa Fe to Willard, N. M., and is about 120 miles in length. W. H. Andrews of Pittsburg, who is now a resident of New Mexico and prospective candidate for United States senator, is interested in the venture."

NOTES AND PERSONALS

J. M. Stone, traveling passenger agent of the Big Four, headquarters at Dallas, was in Fort Worth Tuesday for the first time since his appointment to the position. He succeeded W. G. Pittle.

T. F. Short, live stock agent of the Rock Island, has returned from Kansas City, where he went to attend the Royal Live Stock Show. He says that Texas was well represented at this show and many premiums were carried off by them. Mr. Short says there is a heavy movement of marketable stuff at this time. Cattle, he says, are in fine condition.

STOCKS

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The stock market was narrow and professional today. London cables were lower on American stocks, but the local market was not influenced to any extent. Although sentiment on the street was somewhat bearish, there was no great amount of selling pressure in evidence and all issues were rather steady, with the exception of Amalgamated Copper, which showed weakness during the initial trading, being influenced by the failure of the company to increase the rate of dividend. Brooklyn Rapid Transit developed strength early in the day on heavy buying and was quite active throughout the session.

The Bank of England rate of discount is unchanged at 4½ per cent. The American money market was steady, with call money at 5 per cent up to the noon hour. Sales to noon, 387,700 shares.

Money was easier in the afternoon, being quoted at 4½ and 4¾ per cent, but stocks were not affected to any extent, although several issues developed some strength during the last hour. Locomotive maintained the advance of yesterday and several of the rails closer higher, but the general close was irregular.

COTTON

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The unfavorable weather throughout the cotton belt for the past twenty-four hours, with predictions of colder weather and probable frost in some portions for tonight and Friday resulted in a strong and active market the greater part of the session. The opening was 11 to 12 points higher for near positions; prices eased off 4 to 6 points during the initial trading, but soon recovered on heavy buying, a large part of which was for Liverpool interests. Shorts were also very active purchasers and December and January options advanced 21 to 23 points above the close of yesterday. At this point there was considerable profit taking and the support weakened somewhat, prices receding during the last hour to the opening figures and closing steady at a net advance of 11 to 13 points.

Spots are quiet and 25 points higher at 10.25c for middling.

THURSDAY'S REVIEW AND SALES

Receipts today amounted to 2,000; receipts so far this week, 13,000.

Steers

Steers today were in light supply and mostly medium grades and feeders. The demand from both local packers and feeder buyers was good and an early clearance was made at values steady with yesterday. Tops today sold at $3.25, averaging 1,070 pounds. Sales:

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
42	1,070	$3.25	25	907	$2.85
50	967	3.00

Cows and Heifers

Butcher stock was in fair proportion to the run, and, while a few good fleshy cows arrived, the bulk of offerings was common to medium. The most desirably beef cows and canners are still finding an active outlet at steady figures with the close of last week, but packers are still hammering the medium cows and cutters and sales were made very slow and draggy. A few good cows sold today at $2.25, with the bulk ranging from $1.50 to $2. Sales:

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
12	572	$1.25	2	910	$2.50
21	798	1.85	2	1,090	1.25
1	630	1.00	6	640	1.30
31	873	2.55	31	892	2.15
1	480	2.50	2	670	2.00

Bulls

There was an active demand for the light supply of bulls and little or no change could be noted from yesterday. One bull, weighing 700 pounds, sold for $1.25.

Calves

Calves were in moderate supply and the quality was good. Packers had liberal orders to fill and all offerings sold active and steady. Tops reached $5.25, with the bulk from $3 to $4.50. Sales:

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
34	256	$3.50	17	375	$2.85
70	320	2.90	5	336	3.00

18	132	4.25	53	176	4.25
2	260	5.00	5	240	3.00
8	222	1.25

Hogs

Hog receipts today amounted to 1,200; total receipts so far this week, 4,000. Offerings today were good in both weight and quality, with very few pigs on sale. The market from the start had a good active tone, and values ruled fully steady with yesterday. Good heavy weight hogs, averaging from 244 to 276 pounds, topped the market at $5.17½, with the bulk of sales ranging from $4.95 to $5.10. Sales:

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
53	228	$5.07½	68	245	$5.10
23	197	5.02½	9	200	4.75
60	238	5.15	10	247	4.75

7	185	4.75	22	245	5.15

Pigs

6	130	4.20	37	111	4.25

Sheep

The supply of sheep consisted of one mixed load. All offerings found a strong demand from local packers and an early clearance was made. Lambs averaging 72 pounds sold at $5.75; yearlings of 95 pounds average reached $5.15, with 108-pound wethers at $4.90. Sales:

	Ave. Wt.	Price.
3 yearling rams	90	$4.00
6 wethers	108	4.90
58 yearlings	95	5.15
22 lambs	72	5.75

TRADE ITEMS

It is largely all chance with inferior sheep.

All fat sheep that are not ewes in lamb should be marketed.

Underdeloped horses as a rule are uncertainties.

The more quiet and steady you can keep your horses the better it will be for them.

An industrial exposition of the resources of Texas is what the Dallas and San Antonio fairs will be.

The early maturity of the draft horse is an argument and important factor at two years of age he will do his share of the work on the farm, and at three and four is readily marketable.

A tablespoonful of carbolic acid in a pail of water, sprinkled over the floor of the pig pen, is a very effective deodorizer.

Texas Angora goat breeders are feeling good. Goats have done unusually well this year and breeders report a large increase and their flocks in good condition.

GOLDEN NUGGETS FOR SALLOW PEOPLE

A Solemn Duty.

A solemn duty which we owe society, our children and ourselves is that nothing which can be done to assist nature at that time when our wives are to become mothers should be left undone. Of all the countless details to be observed at such a time, no single one is of more importance than the bodily welfare of the expectant mother; she must not experience undue suffering through any lack of effort on our part.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

should be the recourse of all real men and women at such times; it is easily obtainable, and it is a positive crime not to procure it. Its offices are to relax the muscles and tissues intimately associated in this greatest of the Creator's phenomena, and by simple external applications a result is obtained which at the appointedtime permits the mother to undergo her greatest joy with fortitude, and bring into the world a child worthy of its parents. $1 00, all druggists. Our book "Motherhood" sent free.

A Roaster!

The Never Burn Kind. This ingenious kitchen utensil does away with the temper-trying ordeal of basting meat over a hot stove. The meat always has a better flavor and never dry. Roasts and fowls are never cooked so well as they could be if you used the Never Burn. It's easy when using this to season meats just to your taste, for the roaster is air tight.

Weak Kidneys Cured Forever.

If you have a pain or dull ache in the back it is unmistakeable evidence of kidney trouble. It is a warning to tell you trouble is ahead unless you remedy the cause immediately.

Lame back is only one symptom of kidney trouble. Other symptoms are, being obliged to pass water often during the day and to get up many times during the night, inability to hold your urine, smarting or irritation, passing brick-dust or sediment in the urine, catarrh of the bladder, uric acid, constant headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, irregular heart beating, rheumatism, bloating, irritability, wornout feeling, lack of ambition and sallow complexion.

Truth About Silks

Tomorrow morning read the Morning Record early. It is about time some one in Fort Worth would offer some good grade silks. There have been enough of the other kind bulled on the market.

A new silk mill in an eastern state is going to let us sell a few hundred dress patterns at a less price than any silk manufacturer in this country or in Europe is justified in doing, just to show what glorious lustrous good wearing silks can be made by new machinery with all conditions most favorable.

In tomorrow's paper you will get more particulars.

CROSS CAR LINE DECLARED NEEDED

Residents Suggest That Summit Avenue and Belt Lines Be Connected

A suggestion has been made by a resident of the South side that the Summit avenue street car line be extended eastward in some way or another so as to connect with the present city belt line and afford a method of transferring from the South side to the residence part of the city contiguous to the Seventh avenue line.

At the present time a resident of one of these sections who wishes to go to the other by car has to come down town and then transfer to the other line. Many of the places to which a person would wish to go are but a few moments walk, but when the trip is necessitated by car in wet weather it will take from a half hour to an hour to make it.

The resident making the suggestion wished to take the trip suggested last night and although the end of the trip was only a half mile away, walking was impossible because of the long distance that had to be covered without any sidewalk. The trip on the street car down town and then out on the Summit avenue line consumed about forty minutes. The same trip was made in a hurry through the dust of a few days ago on foot in less than ten minutes.

At Traction company offices it was explained this morning that such connection could only be effected by another loop line similar to the one causing complaint on Henderson street.

CATTLE SALES MADE

Stock Brings Good Prices in Deals Just Closed

While Captain S. B. Burnett was away on the last trip to his 6666 ranch, from which he returned on Tuesdday, he closed a deal whereby he and son sold to J. W. Corn 1,550 three and four-year-old steers, delivery to be made between Nov. 1 and 15. The terms of the deal are private but the cattle sold comprise some of the best graded stock in this section.

E. D. Carver of Kansas City was here Wednesday night and left for Okema, I. T., where he goes to receive 5,000 steers for Cassidy and Courtney, which were purchased from Tom Waggoner. When these cattle are added to the Cassidy and Courtney herd on the Waggoner pasturage they will have 10,500 head there. The terms of the last deal are private, although it is understood that the price was close to $30 around.

Big Prices for Cattle

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A cable dispatch to the Herald from Buenos Ayres, Argentina, says: "Some Durham cattle stock, imported from the United States, were sold Tuesday. The best prices were for Bullhamptons, from Maryville, Mo., which brought $3,000. Village Lad, from Manila, brought $3,300. Hampton's Pearl, from Maryville, brought $3,700.

POLYTECHNIC TO JOIN ASSOCIATION

Athletic Organization Formed with Fine Outlook for Strong Teams

Polytechnic College has effected athletic organization and will apply for admission to the Texas Intercollegiate Association.

An enthusiastic meeting of students was held Tuesday night and the athletic association formed with sixty charter members. The membership has been further increased since then and it is expected that before the first of the week the 100 mark will be passed.

Following officers were elected at the meeting: President, Dr. J. D. Young; vice president, Brinkley; secretary, B. O. Brown; treasurer, W. McCarley; censor, Schifflett; sergeant, R. L. Brown. E. J. Snyder was chosen as manager of the baseball and track teams, with power to arrange a schedule for both. The captain of the baseball team is D. Caviness and of the track team O. P. Nielson.

A contract will be let this week for a new athletic field, with a quarter-mile cinder track and also 100 yards straightaway for the short dashes. The new field will be on the campus adjacent to the gymnasium and wil cover five acres. The work of leveling the field and building the track will be started as soon as possible so that active training may start within a few weeks. A fine baseball diamond will be laid out on the field.

Track Men Organize

A track team was organized Wednesday under the direction of Captain Nellson and Manager Snyder. There were twenty-eight candidates out for the team. Of these fifteen have done track work before while three or four are men of considerable proven ability in intercollegiate work. The material promises as fine a team as has ever been turned out in this vicinity.

A committee comprising O. F. Sensebaugh, E. J. Snyder and McKinney was appointed at the meeting to arrange for the admission into the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association for its annual meet next May. A strong team will be sent from here if the request for admission is granted, as there is every prospect of there being. A field day for the students of the college alone will be held Thanksgiving Day.

To Employ Coach

Negotiations are now going on for a competent coach of the first class to report for work about Dec. 1. The coach in mind is a fine all around man and he will take charge of the baseball, basketball and track teams. He already has quite a reputation throughout the state as a fine coach.

An installment of $150 worth of new material for the gymnasium was ordered Monday and will be set up as soon as it arrives. The gym is being refitted and generally improved. The room will be overhauled and a new floor added. New baths will also be installed and everything will be in first class order. The gym will be kept open every day from 4:30 o'clock until 10 o'clock at night.

A meeting of the executive committee of the new athletic association will be held Friday evening and a constitution drawn. The members of the committee are J. D. Young, B. O. Brown, W. McCarley, D. Caviness, O. P. Nielson and E. J. Snyder.

Baseball Outlook

Prospects for a fine baseball team are bright as there are about four hundred boys at the school from which to draw candidates. Business Manager J. D. Young has authorized a trip for the team, which will extend several days. The schedule will include about twice as many games as have ever been played by a Fort Worth institution and with colleges that have hitherto been considered far too strong for the local teams. Games will be played with many of these institutions in Fort Worth.

There are four basket ball teams practicing every day with a total of twenty-five men trying for positions. Later on a first team will be organized to play match games with outside teams.

NOTICE TO FARMERS

Government Agent Urges Destruction of Cotton Stalks

Special to The Telegram.

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 19.—The following circular letter to farmers has been issued by S. A. Knapp, special agent in charge of farmers' co-operative work under the direction of the United States department of agriculture, bureau of plant industry:

Early Fall Destruction of the Cotton Stalks and Burning of the Trash

Owing to the comparatively small damage done by the boll weevile this season, farmers are liable to neglect the fall work necessary to their control—to-wit: Cutting and burning the cotton stalks, burning all trash in the fields and immediately plowing them.

Undoubtedly, if every farmer had attended to this work last fall, very few boll weevils would have been found in Texas this spring.

Eternal vigilance is the price of success. With vigilant work this fall, we may reasonably expect a cotton crop in 1906, regardless of the boll weevil. With general neglect, we are morally sure of diseaster to the next crop from the boll weevil. Therefore, take immediate steps to destroy the cotton stalks, clean up the trash and plow the fields. Even if there are a few unopened bolls in the field, it is better to destroy the stalks in South Texas and Louisiana, by Oct. 20, and in the northern portion of these states before frost, if possible. Let the effort to minimize the evils of the boll weevil be general.

Farmers of Texas and Louisiana! Act promptly and insist upon your tenants doing the same. Let the work be thorough, and let it be universal.

Fall plowing and breaking

No single farm operation is more important than fall breaking, and the land should be broken each fall about two inches deeper than the previous season, until a depth of ten inches is reached. Flat breaking is the best, except in heavy soils where the surface is level and there is considerable rainfall and on post oak lands where the soil is liable to run together after a hard rain. In such cases, either lick furrow, so as to leave the land in ridges, or flat break, harrow and then throw into ridges later in the fall, the right distance for planting. Very rolling lands, liable to wash, require special instructions. While the above general suggestions are made in regard to fall breaking, we recognize that there are many special conditions of soil and climate requiring more or less modification or our method. The farmer must, therefore, use his judgment.

In general, the following points may be placed to the credit of fall breaking:

1. It aerates the land and prepares plant food.

2. The germination of the seed at the next planting is better, plants are more vigorous and the crop greatly benefitted.

3. It destroys weeds and insects. Both will be injurious to the future crop.

4. It advances the work of the farm, lengthens the working season and enables the farmer to plant promptly at the right time.

We respectfully ask the co-operation of the press in bringing the above facts to the attention of the farmers.

Respectfully,
S. A. KNAPP.

WHAT TIME IS IT AT NINE O'CLOCK?

Various Public Timekeepers Show Variance of Thirty-Five Minutes

"Do you know what time it was this morning at 9 o'clock?"

Foolish as the above question may seem, it is a serious one when one looks at the various clocks that are scattered about town to aid people to catch trains and do other important matters. When one makes a date for a certain minute of the day it is best to make arrangements as to what clock will be used.

The fire hall bell strikes every morning at 9 o'clock. This morning when the bell tapped an investigation was made of the other public clocks in town. At the time the bell struck it was 9:10 o'clock at the Texas and Pacific station. The various Western Union regulated clocks with an additional six minutes after the hour. The big court house clock almost agreed with the Western Union clocks, its hands standing at 9:07 o'clock.

The clock by which the weather is kept in the weather bureau evidently believed in the truth of the statement of the hourly clocks, as it also had 9:06. The sun time kept by the weather bureau, which, however, is not used by the general public, was figured out to be 9:35 o'clock.

COTTON PICKER LOSES EARNINGS

$165 Disappear Through Hole in Man's Pocket as He Walks Main Street

W. S. Hill arrived in this city Wednesday from Abbott, Texas, where he has been picking cotton, having $170 in eight twenty-dollar bills and two fives. This morning he appeared at police headquarters with less than five dollars in silver and exhibited a pocket in his trousers, the bottom of which had evidently ripped, causing the loss of his purse and $165 in money somewhere between the Tarrant county court house square at the Houston street intersection of Weatherford street and the Texas and Pacific passenger station.

Hill, who is accompanied by four children, says that he is a widower and came to this country with his children to remain through the cotton season, or until their combined efforts as pickers represented a sum sufficient to send the three older children to school during the winter. He intended to start for his old home at Iuka, Tishomingo county, Mississippi, this afternoon.

LETTER TO J. P. BRASHEAR

Fort Worth, Texas.

Dear Sir: A property-owner of Skowhegan, Maine, had a house to paint, and "saved 10 cents a gallon" by trying another paint than Devoe.

But his paint was 10 per cent short-measure; 10 per cent of the liquid was water; and 33 per cent of the pigment barytes.

How much, do you think, he saved?

One of the difficulties, in paint, is the fact that a cheat is as good as a paint, till you find it out; and lots of men go through the world and never find-out the cheats that keep them poor.

Go by the name: be willing to pay a few cents more for Devoe; be glad to.

Your truly

POLICE REFUSE TO REMOVE PASSENGER

Detective Allen Follows Direction of Chief Maddox as to New Ordinance

Following the opinion of the city attorney the police department has refused to remove white passengers on the rear platform of cars.

"Since publication by The Telegram of my statement to enforce the law under the direction of the city attorney," says Chief J. H. Maddox, "we have had only one report of a case where a passenger refused to leave the platform.

"Detective Allen was requested by a conductor of the Northern Texas Traction Company to remove that passenger from a downtown car and promptly refused to comply with the request, according to the instructions which I issued to the entire department regarding the ordinance."

CAR LINE SUPPLIES TO BE MADE HERE

Northern Texas Traction Company to Use Switches and Frogs Manufactured in Fort Worth

Officials of the Northern Texas Traction Company continued the conference held here Wednesday until late in the afternoon.

It is learned that one matter discussed was the location in Fort Worth of a plant for manufacture of switches and frogs. Manager Mapledoram, refering to this matter today said that he was anxious to receive instructions to go ahead and put in the plant which he said would be located near the car-shops if it was decided to build them.

He added these frogs and switches could easily be made in Fort Worth and thus save to the company considerable money during the year. "Of course," said Mr Mapledroam, "there are many things in constructional macities, but such things as are mentioned can be manufactured in Fort Worth just as well and as cheaply as elsewhere."

DELEGATES INVITED

James F. Callbreath Jr. of Denver, Colo., secretary of the American Mining Congress, which holds its session at El Paso Nov. 14 to 18, has addressed Captain B. B. Paddock requesting that he appoint delegates to the El Paso meeting to represent the Fort Worth Board of Trade.

The coming congress will urge the creation of a department of mines and mining through which a closer co-operation with the government will be had.

The work of this congress is to be directed from Denver headquarters of the association. Building of a mining temple at Denver in which will be displayed an exhibit of commercial ores of America is in contemplation. Already the exhibit is in course of formation.
