J. W. BURRIER INDICTED AS SLAYER

Blast of T. N. T. Extinguishes Texas' 'Death' Gasser

BLAZE WHICH KILLED EIGHT "BLOWN" OUT

"Tex" Thornton Risks Life In Work to Snuff Out Fire

SANFORD WATCHES

Texas Oil Field Town Cheers Daring Of "Salamander"

BORGER, May 27. (AP)—McMillan No. 1, the flaming gasser which cost eight lives when it ignited accidentally yesterday, was extinguished at 11:05 tonight on the second shot of TNT. The first shot, fired at 10:10 p. m., was for the purpose of clearing away the projecting casing, advices received here said. No details were available here at midnight.

SANFORD, May 27. (AP)—All eyes tonight were centered on "Tex" Thornton, "the salamander of the oil fields," as he made final preparations for shooting with T. N. T., the blazing gasser which has claimed eight lives since it ignited yesterday. Tex himself seemed least concerned of anyone in Sanford, for he has snuffed out with explosive, exactly as one snuffs a candle, perhaps a hundred blazing wells.

Some of the wells on which Thornton successfully used his live steam-T. N. T. process proved worse, in point of volume, of blazing gas than the McMillan No. 1 which he was preparing to weight tonight. None, however, was more disastrous for the workmen at the rig.

Wears Asbestos Suit.

Swathed in his asbestos suit and carefully shielding his eyes, Thornton worked methodically all day today making his preparations.

The ground near the well has been drenched with steam and water in order to prevent, if possible, the premature explosion of the capsule of T. N. T. containing sixty or seventy quarts or about 150 pounds. This capsule is sheathed in asbestos like the "salamander," and although heat is supposed not to ignite T. N. T. it sometimes does. That is a risk that Thornton takes.

When everything is ready the jets of steam from a semi-circle of boilers, heated red hot, are turned on the raging column of gas, the explosive detonated by an electric battery, and streams of water are played about from half a dozen lines of hose.

Blast Magic.

When the concussion of the blast separates sufficiently the stream of runaway gas, the column of flame disappears magically, leaving not even a wisp of smoke. The unignited gas may then be easily controlled.

Noted Prussian War Leader Dies Friday

BERLIN, May 27. (AP)—General Hermann Von Stein, 73, Prussian minister of war from 1916 until October, 1918, died today on his estate at Lehnin, near here.

General Von Stein's name became familiar during the world war when he was quartermaster general and signed the daily bulletins from the front issued by the general staff.

Hambone's Meditation

Bobby Writes for Wichita Falls Golfers

Old Colonel Bogey also has a mental hazard now.

It's none other than Bob Jones, who is going to write two articles a week for The Record News beginning Sunday.

Soon the locker rooms will resound to the excited voices of ex-duffers as they proudly vaunt a score in the low eighties or high seventies. For Jones has the exceptional ability of analysing his own play and putting it down on paper for all to see. Don't miss his articles starting Sunday.

Thermometer Climbs To 106 Degrees Here Friday For Season's High Mark

Mr. Wichita Falls, the one who was unable to stay under the whirl of an electric fan Friday afternoon, plaintively mopped his brow and wondered how hot it was and swore that it was the hottest day of the year. He was entirely correct at that, it is shown in the weather record of the day kept by the Texas Electric Service company. The mercury reached a new high mark of 106 degrees Friday afternoon. At 5 o'clock the thermometer read 104 degrees while the lowest figure of the day was 75.

To augment the high temperature a hot breeze swept out of the southwest and although the skies were partly cloudy, at no time in the afternoon did they protect the city from the rays of the sun.

Amateur weather forecasters are found to be optimistic enough that they consider the hot wave a preliminary to heavy rains in this section.

The high mark previous to Friday was reached May 18 when the thermometer registered 99 degrees and again May 27.

BONNER SUES FOR DAMAGES

$100,000 Asked For Jail In Murder Case

BELTON, May 27. (AP)—A suit for $100,000 damages was filed in district court here Friday by Frank H. Bonner against the American Railway Express company alleging unwarranted arrest on a charge of murder in connection with the recent Corpus Christi bomb case.

Charges against Bonner recently were dropped. In the case in which he was charged with the murder of J. A. Barnes. Barnes and his son were killed by a bomb which was sent by express. Bonner was tried at Corpus Christi but the jury disagreed.

The plaintiff's complaint alleges that representatives and employes of the express company displayed malice in arresting him and that he suffered bodily and mental anguish by the arrest and the fact that he was held without bond. He further alleges that the wide publicity given the case has damaged him.

A. L. Curtis, Belton attorney, represents the plaintiff.

Following the killing, Bonner married Barnes' daughter. They had been students at the University of Texas.

Ruth Brown Snyder Files Formal Appeal

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—The formal appeal of Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder from the sentence of death imposed upon her and Henry Judd Gray for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, was filed in county clerk's office at Long Island City today. On the day she was sentenced to die in the electric at Sing Sing prison during the week of June 20, her counsel, Edgar F. Hazelton, verbally informed the court that an appeal would be taken, which automatically would stay the sentence.

Los Angeles Viaduct Damaged By Dynamite

LOUISIANA IN GRIP OF PANIC AS RIVER RISES

Water From Mississippi In Western Area Hits Many Towns

NEW PERILS ARISE

Thousands of Cattle Die Of Starvation On High Ridges

By Universal Service.

LAFAYETTE, La., May 27.—Panic has gripped southern Louisiana west of the Mississippi river, slowly falling prey to the onrushing flood waters.

Great excitement reigns in the larger towns, where the entire populations are struggling frantically to evacuate or carry on in upper stories.

Threatened by an epidemic due to congestion in the camps, Opelousas today was building a new camp for its white refugees. This town of 6000 normal population has 13,500 refugees, 40 per cent of them white.

Refugees Crowd Cities.

Flood relief forces virtually have taken control of Lafayette. With a normal population of 8000, Lafayette has 17,000 refugees. They are streaming into the city from inundated regions so fast that they are being turned away to other camps.

Morgan City, which is scheduled to have 10 to 12 feet of water is a city on stilts. Faced with the inevitable, the whole town was seething with activity today in preparation for several weeks living upstairs. Even buildings carried marks indicating where the water was likely to reach.

Pandemonium prevails in New Iberia. The town had hoped and prayed that the devastating flood waters would spare them. Today New Iberia is almost entirely surrounded by water and it is expected the town itself will have from one foot to three feet of water.

Fearful that the towns food supply will be cut off, the relief forces have concentrated two weeks' supply of food for 2000 persons.

Flood Changes Course.

Flood waters along the west ridge of Bayou Teche suddenly changed their course and headed directly for New Iberia. There is a stampede to get out of the town. About two thousand persons have fled. There are still 3500 remaining residents and about 2000 refugees from the inundated countryside.

A refugee camp was established two miles west of the city. That is now cut off from the town by the swirling waters. Only by boats can the residential section of New Iberia be reached.

Hundreds of persons are marooned between New Iberia and Loreauville. The American Legion and other volunteer rescue workers are desperately trying to save them.

Several hundred boats are combing the water covered countryside for the stranded. Thousands of cattle, mules and other livestock were reported drowned in the race for high land and safety.

Cattle Starving

Thousands of cattle are standing on ridges slowly starving to death.

Texas cow punchers mobolized for rounding up the livestock have been forced to give up in water soaked areas, the water having risen too high for animals to walk.

These cow punchers herded more than 1500 cattle across a raging

DETROIT, May 27. (AP)—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, announced tonight that her son, Captain Charles Lindbergh, trans-Atlantic flier, has accepted President Coolidge's invitation to return home on a warship and would sail for home on or about June 16. He so informed her by cable, she said.

FIRST BALE GINNED

Rio Grande Area Gives First Cotton Bale For Season

By Universal Service.

SAN BENITO, Texas, May 27.—The lower Rio Grande valley has ginned its first bale of 1927 cotton and the Valley Gin company paid 25 cents a pound for it.

The cotton, grown by Dr. G. W. Gullidge, graded strict middling, with staple measuring 28.9 millimeters and was picked from six acres. The bale weighing 516 pounds.

This bale of cotton the earliest one ginned here since 1921 when a bale weighing 604 pounds was ginned on May 26 and later auctioned for $1300 on the floor of the Houston cotton exchange, is of volunteer cotton and will not be shipped for exchange sale.

TEXAS WAR ACE ENTERS FLIGHT

Capt. Will Erwin to Try Dalas-Pacific Hop

DALLAS, May 27. (AP)—Capt. William Erwin, war ace and commercial flier, Friday made application to compete for the $25,000 prize offered yesterday by William E. Easterwood, Dallas, for a 10,000-mile, two-stop flight from Dallas to Hongkong, China.

Erwin's check for the $50 entry fee as an evidence of good faith was received today by Easterwood with announcement that he would begin his preparations at once. He hopes to get the backing of professional flying interests and plans to use a specially built twin-motored plane equipped with radio and necessary navigating instruments.

The proposed flight is considered one of the most hazardous and difficult ever attempted, but flying men say it is entirely possible with a ship designed for sustained flying and with a change of motors en route.

$100,000 IN PRIZES POSTED FOR FLIGHTS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27. (AP)—With prizes totaling more than $100,000 offered for long distance flights over continent and ocean, adventurous aviators now may choose from at least five events of the kind during the next few months.

The prize offers and proposed flights are:

$35,000 offered by James Dole of Honolulu for a nonstop flight from the Pacific coast to Honolulu, $25,000 for the first and $10,000 for the second aviator to make the hop.

$25,000 offered by William E. Easterwood, Dallas, Texas, capitalist, for the first to fly from Dallas to Hongkong, 10,000 miles.

$?,000 offered by the business men of Spokane, Wash., for a series of races between New York and Spokane. This race is sponsored by the National Aeronautic association.

$?,000 by Sid Grauman, Hollywood, for the first to fly from Los Angeles to Tokio ... miles.

Preparations are under way in many quarters in the west to enter the races.

American Explorer Opens Ancient Tomb

CAIRO, Egypt, May 27. (AP)—Dr. George A. Reisner, Harvard Egyptologist, yesterday opened the masonry-sealed recess in Cheops' tomb, but did not find the mummy of Queen Hetepheres, mother of Cheops, which he hoped would be there.

In the recess was a canopic box divided into four sections containing organic matter which, in two of the compartments was covered with a clear yellowish liquid. The organic matter is supposed to be intestines of the queen removed prior to mummification of the body.

St. Louis May Buy Lindbergh's Airplane

ST. LOUIS, May 27. (AP)—Acquisition by the city of the airplane, "Spirit of St. Louis," as a permanent memorial of Captain Charles A. Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight was proposed in a resolution passed unanimously today by the board of aldermen. Purchase of a flying field in or near St. Louis to be named Lindbergh field, also was proposed by the board.

Moody Sends Ranger To Investigate Prison

AUSTIN, May 27. (AP)—Governor Dan Moody today ordered a Texas ranger sent to Huntsville to investigate cruelty charges brought by L. B. Smith of San Antonio, former convict, against the Texas prison system. Moody also wrote a letter to prison authorities requesting their full co-operation.

19 OFFICERS SWORN IN BY STATE LABOR

Annual Convention Closes With Ceremony Of Installation

MANY RESOLUTIONS

Nine Vice Presidents Put On Rolls to Serve Districts

With 10 elective officers and nine appointed vice presidents taking obligation of office in the Texas State Federation of Labor Friday at 12 o'clock, the 30th annual convention of the organization was brought to a successful and dramatic close. The convention has been in session here at the Labor temple since Monday morning and was declared by all officials to have been the best in the history of the Texas federation.

Resolutions of thanks, expression of gratitude to the outgoing president, action on reports and passing of resolutions took up the entire morning of the final session, with rather a hectic rush during the last two hours. All business was finally considered and given the authoritative stamp of convention approval.

23 Resolutions

Twenty-three resolutions were acted upon during and between 9:30 o'clock and 12 Friday morning, with all except one receiving the support of the committee report. The amended document was concerned with insurance taken by contractors employing two or more workmen, increasing the maximum weekly compensation from $20 to $25 to 60 per cent of the weekly wage, and increasing the minimum compensation from $7 to $10.

There was extended argument concerning the inclusion of the word compulsory in the compensation phrase, and the federation asks that this become the law.

Nine vice presidents to represent cities in which none of the elective officers reside were appointed as follows at the close of the session: L. B. Strauss, Galveston; Ted Crowder, Port Arthur; J. L. Calloway, El Paso; W. L. Hargrave, Abilene; Ed Tuil, Amarillo; Claude Berns, Waco; W. T. Cunningham, Corpus Christi; C. A. French, Sherman; Mrs. Idell Jones, Denison.

The resolution of thanks as presented by the committee included individual expressions of gratitude to each speaker on the programs, to the Wichita Falls Trades and Labor council for the entertainment of the week, and to each representative of the press for publicity on the convention. The assembly also gave a rising vote of thanks to the retiring president, Herman Kachel of Denison, for his service, and loud shouts of applause greeted the hall with the vote.

Summary of Action

Resolutions adopted Friday may be summarized with the following results:

[illegible] placing the eight-hour law on full force will be called for at the next session of the state legislature.

A law will be urged correcting [illegible] so as to [illegible].

[illegible] will be used in an open hearing to prevent [illegible].

POULTRY MEN TO ORGANIZE

Marketing by Co-Operative To Be Promoted

Personal "evangelism" was decided upon as the best means of securing members for marketing eggs cooperatively at a meeting of the North Texas Poultry association at the court house Friday night and as a result egg producers in this section will be called upon by members of the association in the near future with the proposal that they join the movement.

The meeting had been called for the purpose of hearing recommendations of a special marketing committee appointed at the last meeting. The report of the committee comprised the plan of offering only the highest grade of eggs and selling through local dealers.

Advertising was declared to be essential in educating the public to the fact that eggs marketed by the association were of the highest quality and different methods of advertising were discussed. It was decided to hold an egg show here in the near future and a committee composed of O. K. Barnes, Mrs. A. F. Devers and A. V. Moser was appointed to work out details for the egg show.

Newspaper and other forms of advertising to place the proposed trade name of the association's eggs "Blue Ribbon" before the public were discussed and it was intimated that an extensive campaign of advertising may be undertaken.

It was voted to hold a December poultry show and a committee was appointed to begin preliminaries for the winter exposition which will include production exhibits.

O. K. Barnes will be in charge of the personal solicitation of members of the co-operative marketing plan. Mr. Barnes is to call in person on producers and secure members throughout the district.

Modern Youth Free of Sham, Says Waits In Graduation Tribute

Pleading for faith in the youth of the high schools and colleges of today and for tolerance and sympathy for every individual among them, Dr. E. M. Waits, president of Texas Christian University of Fort Worth addressed the 298 graduates of Wichita Falls high school and junior college and a capacity audience at the college auditorium Friday night.

At the close of the commencement exercises, W. B. Chauncey, president of the school board, awarded diplomas to 49 graduates of the college and 249 graduates of the high school. S. H. Rider, principal of the school, awarded scholarships.

"I believe in youth' should be the motto of every American," Dr. Waits declared, as he expressed his own faith in the young people of today.

"They are at least free from hypocrisy and sham—they like to stand on their own feet and worship their own prophets with the

COURT ISSUES JAIL WITHOUT BAIL ORDERS

Archer Jury Accuses Suspect in Slaying Of McDaniel

HE'S HELD IN JAIL

Officers Also Get Fire Of Jury For Use Of Blackmail

Indictments for murder and robbery with firearms against J. W. Burrier in connection with the slaying of John McDaniel, May 5, filling station owner near Lake Wichita, and a report condemning certain officials for making unwarranted arrests on highways, were returned Friday by the Archer county grand jury reconvened by Judge H. G. Thornton. Burrier, who was recently arrested in Colorado City, will be brought to trial Aug. 1 in Archer City, according to Ben Allred, district attorney, who returned to Wichita Falls Friday afternoon after representing the state in the grand jury investigation in Archer City.

Officers Scored.

Relative to the unwarranted arrests the grand jury returned the following report to Judge Thornton:

"We, the Archer county grand jury make the following report to your honor: Complaint is made to the grand jury that certain officers in one precinct of Archer county have made arrests of citizens whose only offence has been roadside parking.

"We have thoroughly investigated the complaints and we find that in at least one instance a young lady of good character and standing has been arrested by two officers and required to plead to "indecent exposure of her person" and both of said officers have testified that neither of them saw her do any act of that kind and neither saw such conduct on her part.

Action Condemned.

"We condemn such conduct upon the part of said officers, and, although we have not voted a bill of indictment in this case we are reporting the matter to your honor with the recommendation that should further cases of this kind occur on the part of these officers, action should be taken to stop such unlawful and unwarranted conduct."

(Signed) JOE SHELTON, Foreman.

Unwarranted Arrests

In a statement to The Record News, Mr. Allred said that he had received numerous complaints relative to unwarranted arrests made by officers in the Archer county precinct referred to in the grand jury report, and that he intended to present the evidence he has gathered to the next Archer county grand jury, which convenes in August, with the view of having indictments returned against officers making the arrests.

The indictments returned against Burrier were voted in a short length of time by the grand jurors, said Mr. Allred. The murder indictment was returned for the slaying of John McDaniel and the robbery with firearms charge for the robbery of the Three Way filling station a short distance from Archer City, which Burrier is alleged to have robbed about an hour before he is alleged to have shot and killed McDaniel in front of the latter's filling station near Lake Wichita.

Burrier Refused Bail

Following the returning of the indictments, Judge Thornton ordered Burrier held in custody without the right to make bond.

After the murder of McDaniel, his slayer fled into a nearby field and escaped through a cordon of officers thrown around the field.

Two weeks after the slaying, Burrier was arrested in Colorado City and held for the arrival of Archer county officers.

consciousness that they have created them themselves rather than worshipping a mere restraint imposed from without.

"You citizens here tonight—have the courage to send your young people into the colleges, have the courage to tell them to know the truth—the truth that shall make them free," he said.

Speaking of the criticism that is so freely directed against the youth of this age, Dr. Waits asserted that "certainly there were some delinquents," asking who would expect to find a community of over one-half million people without that percentage.

"These half million boys and girls are the custodians of the finest ideals our civilization has known—why should we arraign the splendid youth of our nation when it is not criticism they need but guidance, sympathy, direction?" he asked.

"There is in youth today a voice leading to finer things than ever before known," the speaker concluded. Reference was made in this connection to certain modern books as "The Goose Step" by Sinclair Lewis, which Dr. Waits termed merely critical and not representative of the real idealism and visions of the college men and women.

The program Friday night completed graduation exercises for over 400 students in the junior and senior high schools and the junior college all held Friday.

Graduation exercises for students of Reagan and Zundelowitz Junior high schools were held Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the auditoriums of the two schools. Judge H. J. Bruce addressed the graduates of Zundelowitz, with a general program constituting the commencement exercises at Reagan high.

W. B. Chauncey, president of the school board, presented diplomas to the 98 graduates of Reagan, and W. L. Roberts to the 92 graduates of Zundelowitz. Musical numbers and addresses by students featured both programs.

TWO DROWN IN DALLAS POOL

Casualties Occur Just As Vacation Begins

DALLAS, May 27. (AP)—Miss Hallie Gaston, 19-year-old school teacher from Palacios and Lawrence Jones, 14, son of T. W. Jones, were drowned in different parts of Dallas at about the same hour last night.

The body of the school teacher was recovered early this morning at White Rock lake where she met death when waves caused a motorboat to sink.

Jones drowned in the municipal pool at Fair Park while he was attempting to teach Rufus Kirk, age 9, to swim in the nine-foot depth of the pool.

Just From School

Miss Gaston had just arrived in Dallas from Palacios and was stopping with her sister and brother. With her sister, Miss Fana Gaston, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Worthington and Schuyler B. Worthington, she was riding in a 16-foot flatbottom motor boat which capsized. She was not seen after the boat turned over.

Miss Gaston was graduated from the Cooper, Texas, high school and took a course in the East Texas normal in Commerce before going to Palacios. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gaston of Cooper.

It was not know that young Jones had drowned until after the municipal pool had closed about 10 p. m. Witnesses said Jones told Kirk to jump into the water and he would teach him to swim. It is believed Kirk became frightened and grabbed Jones by the neck, both sinking.

Drowning Boy Screams.

Young Kirk fought his way to the surface and screamed. He was rescued by Miss Nina May Gross, but Jones, who was an expert swimmer, was forgotten until he was missed after the pool had closed.

Woman Files $995 Suit After Auto Collision

Claiming that she sustained serious injuries as a result of a collision between two automobiles, Mrs. Sybil Morris filed suit Friday for $995 against the Gate City Grocery company.

The plaintiff claims that May 18 she was driving an automobile on Tenth street and that a truck, driven by an employe of the defendant, cut in front of her automobile. The plaintiff alleges the truck came to a sudden stop and as she was unable to stop her car struck the truck. The plaintiff requests judgment for alleged injuries and for damages to her automobile.

Car and Garage Wrecked In Friday Night Blaze

Fire, of unknown origin practically destroyed a garage and Essex coach belonging to E. R. Riley, 2132 Avenue K, Friday night. The blaze started shortly after 9 o'clock. Fire trucks from station No. 5 in the immediate vicinity of the fire had some difficulty in reaching the scene due to scores of cars parked on all streets near the Junior college, but soon had the blaze under control.

No solution to the origin of the blaze could be determined by Mr. Riley as the flames were well under way when discovered by Mrs. Riley. C. R. Erwin, living in a room in the garage, escaped uninjured. Insurance was carried on the garage but not on the car, Mr. Riley said.

FRANCE FEARS FOR AIR IDOL

Europe Wants Lindbergh To "Play Safe"

Copyright, 1927, By Universal Service

PARIS, May 27—A strong movement against allowing Captain Charles Lindbergh to take unnecessary risks has been started here following his unannounced spectacular stunts which he accomplished early this morning when, in a French racing machine, he gave a realistic imitation of a chase and air battle against a French aviator above Paris.

Curiously enough, such a movement originated among the French.

"Were Lindbergh a French citizen, we would not permit him to endanger his life on overland trips," was the gist of opinion expressed by several senators and deputies in the lobby of the chamber today.

Bleriot Plays Safe

"See Bleriot,' 'they said. "He was our pioneer and the forerunner of our now regular Paris-London and other cross-channel services. After his first flight over the channel he never crossed the channel again and never flew again unless it was necessary.

"As a master expert he was obliged later to go up to personally try some new feature in aviation but always under the greatest possible guaranty against mishap. Men o fthat calibre are too precions for the future of aviation and the future of international relations and general progress to be allowed to risk their lives on mere travelling in the air."

As Capt. Lindbergh, himself, is at present resolved to give his entire attention to the development of commercial long distance aviation, there should not be any difficult in preventing him from further attempts at long distance flights just now.

"It is true," say the French, "that the Paris-Brussels and Paris-London trips must be nothing to him after the gruelling 36 hours across the Atlantic, but the air currents over the earth are much more treacherous than in flying over the ocean.

Argue Against Flight

"His plane may be in perfect order but who can foretell what slight incident might happen to his motor? How can one be sure that a speck of dust may not find its way into the gasoline, or a sparking plug suddenly stop operating.

"Landings also present innumerable chances for trouble. Lindbergh is a master and the world has no doubt of it, but the fields are not always smooth. Altogether, Lindbergh's life is too valuable for him not to curb his enthusiasm for the sake of the progress of mankind."

Thus reason reason the French solons. Thus Lindbergh may yet be prevented from hopping off tomorrow for Brussels and from there to London, if public opinion in his own country makes itself sufficiently heard by him.

The immense responsibility which his historic achievement has placed on his shoulders is just beginning to down upon Lindbergh. When alighting at Le Bourget field Saturday night he had never imagined the tremendous importance of his success. In his youthful enthusiastic modest mind he saw himself as a sporting pioneer, carrying the American flag to victory in a field of individual sporting achievements.

He Realizes Duty

So much is clear to all those who have been close to him since his arrival now. Now, however, he is beginning to understand that so far as France is concerned, for instance, he is, in the very words of Ambassador Herrick to the French chamber solemnly assembled to greet him, and has been since his arrival, "A real United States of America ambassador to France."

From a political standpoint, the infant Lindbergh must today be thanked for smoothing over innumerable tiny difficulties which lately have arisen on the political horizon between the two great republics. Since last year, when speculation and other internal political reasons forced the franc down, since the continuous rising in the cost of living acre, there is no question but that the French masses looked upon American visitors with less favor than before.

A misguided French press had depicted America and Americans under the garb of a Shylock.

Then suddenly out of the sky Lindbergh alighted at Le Bourget field in the very heart of France. No one knew who he was, no one had ever heard of him or his preparation. There has been no cabled stories of bickering about money prizes, insurance tangles, or the like.

He Was Unknown

"Lindbergh" Whos that? When did he start? "In what machine" Who is financing him? And why?" were questions on everybodys' lips. The simple, sporting side, the unassuming manners of the youthful aviator, his disregard for money or personal profit, his modesty in the face of a grandiose achievement were not lost on the quick intelligence and hyper-sensitiveness of the French. He became the idol of the whole country, and all the citizens of his country benefitted, at the same, time, by the wave of heartfelt sympathy now sweeping the whole of France.

All the past nonsensical pin pricks, stirred up by a partisan press, are forgotten. The greatness of this son of America has effaced everything throwing into utmost relief the fundamental greatness of his country.

All Americans who are in France today feel a difference in the very air.

"American?"

"Yep."

"Vive l'Amerique!"

All Due to "Tucky"

This terse exchange of amenties is a usual occurrence on the streets of Paris today, and it is due to Lindbergh.

French politicians are not slow to realize the importance of this change of mood of the masses. Carefully and masterfully led by Ambassador Herrick, the manifestation of sympathy of the French towards the American hero can do no less than create such a feeling of sympathy and understanding between the two countries that will have a far-reaching effect on future political and financial relations.

All questions now in abeyance, including that of the French debt, are bound to be affected favorably.

If Lindbergh's dream of regular passenger and commercial airlines between America and Europe has materialized within four or five years, as he predicts, a revolution is sure to take place in the commercial, economic and political relations of the old and new continents.

Want His Safety

And compared with the enormous potentialities of his near future development, the present-day problems — so feel far-seeing Frenchmen—are automatically reduced in geometrical ratio.

For this reason, and for the really heartfelt affections which Lindbergh has awakened in 40,000,000 Frenchmen, all France would rather see their American blonde idol take a special train to Brussels than watch him disappear behind the gathering clouds off Le Bourget field in his 'plane.

Vernon School Will Hold Summer Session

SALARY CUT AX IS DENTED

House Economy Bloc Fails In Slash Drive

By Universal Service.

AUSTIN, May 27.—Attempts by the house 'economy bloc' 'to slash salaries in the house educational bill, which carries a total of $16,136,743 for the biennium, proved unsuccessful today and at adjournment about two-thirds of the measure had been waded through. The representatives left the chamber with the understanding that the budgets passed today may yet be amended.

Before the bill was taken up this morning, the house committee on appropriations weeded $1,082,000 from various items, bringing the total appropriation $591,000 below that of the senate educational bill and $1,900,000 under the amount recommended by the state board of control.

The "insurgents," led by Veatch of Johnson county, fought hard to cut the salary of the president of Texas university from $10,000 to $8000, and salaries of presidents of the eight state teachers' college from $5000 to $4500 a year.

Budgets Adopted

The budgets adopted today were as follows: A. & M. college, $3,307,059; North Texas Junior A. & M., Arlington, $536,500; John Tarleton Agricultural college, $559,040; Prairie View State Normal college, $655,420; University of Texas, $3,661,760; College of Industrial Arts, $938,090, and Texas Tech, $1,567,250.

Consideration of the educational bill is expected to be completed by tomorrow afternoon.

In the senate considerable time was devoted to debate on whether the free conference committee, having the eleemosynary bill in custody, should be instructed to eliminate a $50,000 appropriation for the construction of a building to house criminally delinquent negro girls. It was finally decided to eliminate the $50,000 item.

Adoption of the resolution was immediately answered by Senator Hall of Houston with his resignation as a member of the free conference committee. Senator Hall sponsored the original bill providing for a home for delinquent negro girls.

After Senator Reid was appointed to Hall's place on the committee, the senate passed a bill providing for the eradication of scabies among sheep and cattle. The measure was backed by West Texas cattlemen, who also had the "butchers'" bill, providing for the registration of hides of slaughtered animals to prevent cattle thefts, made special order for Monday.

School Vote Near

The senate probably will take up the supplemental available school fund bill tomorrow.

In another message to both houses of the legislature today, Gov. Dan Moody opened wide the gates to legislation by authorizing the consideration of about 24 measures during this session, ranging from a revision of the primary election laws to amending the "fresh water supply district" law.

The governor would have a measure enacted giving political parties the right to exclude negroes from voting in the primaries. The other recommendations would correct errors made in the recent modification of the statutes.

Opens Today

For the best complete Sunday dinner menu, with recipes and table suggestions, The Record News each week will pay a first prize of $5 in cash, and a second prize of $2.50 in cash. Other menus and recipes submitted in the contest which are printed will be paid for at the rate of $1 each.

The contest for the first week's prizes is opened today, and will close at noon next Thursday. The winning menu or menus will be printed Saturday in The Record News.

In selecting the best menus consideration will be given to the following points.

1. Appeal and attractiveness.
2. Timeliness (of food and ingredients).
3. Balance and originality.
4. Cost.
5. Discussion.

"Woman's intuition" has long been considered a power in the world, and this same intuition will better understand the meaning of the above classifications than mere description ever may. For the good cook knows the requirements of a good dish, and the preparation of a balanced and attractive menu.

However, in the classification on "appeal and attractiveness," the vital point is the palatable and appetizing appearance of the dishes suggested. Each should be such as to stimulate the appetite and to rouse a desire for good food, attractively served.

The "timeliness" of a dish may be interpreted in various ways, but at this time of the year it refers to the place of the food in the summer season. Ingredients should be used that are suitable for hot days, thought this does not exclude the rich and complicated recipes that are so appealing to the lover of good foods. The main requirement is that the dishes shall be in good taste for the season in which they are prepared.

Balanced Meal

As for balance, every housewife for years has been studying the question of calories and vitamins, and will realize the significance of a balanced meal for the health of the family. Diversified foods make up a meal, not all of the same food value. Original combinations will be an important consideration in the judging.

The cost is a relative term, though moderate priced menus should be favored as more practicable. Cost may be regulated in the various dishes, some being made up of more costly products, others less.

In the discussions, each woman is asked to present briefly and concisely her preparation of the main dishes of the menu—those that are new, original or unique in any respect. Those familiar to every housewife may be only mentioned in the list, and the recipes for the others and descriptions of their serving is preferred short and readable. Prizes will be awarded each week.

CHICKEN CROQUETTES

2 tbsp. butter.
3 tbsp. flour.
1-2 tsp. salt.
3-4 cupful milk.
1 cupful finely chopped chicken.
1-2 tsp. finely chopped parsley.
1-2 tsp. lemon juice.
1 egg.
bread crumbs.

Cream or chicken stock, or a mixture of cream and stock.

Melt the butter and add the flour, stir both together over the fire to a smooth paste, then gradually pour in the cold liquid, and simmer, stirring all the time, to a thick sauce. Trim every particle of skin or gristle from cooked chicken and chop the meat very fine, then add it to the sauce with the seasonings and flavorings. Mix well, turn out on a cold plate and set away to chill and become firm.

When the mixture is cold, shape it into croquettes.

JELLIED FRUIT SALAD

1 envelope gelatine.
1-2 C. cold water.
2 C. boiling water.
1-2 C. mild vinegar.
1-2 C. sugar.
3 C. fresh fruit, cut in small pieces.

Soak gelatine in cold water 10 minutes, and add boiling water, vinegar and sugar. Strain, and thicken or to becomoe stiff, add fruit, using cherries, oranges, bananas, apples or cooked pineapple alone, or in combination. Turn into mold, first dipped in cold water and chill. Remove from mold to nest of crisp lettuce leaves; accompany with mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing. Substitue vegetables for the fruit and you will have a delicious vegetable salad.

Five Foot Emergency Shelf Saves Day When Guests Arrive Unexpectedly

Unexpected guests never find the fore-sighted hostess unprepared. The five-foot emergency shelf in the pantry, with an assortment of canned vegetables, fruits, evaporated milk, fish and meats, provides the material for meals to suit any and all tastes.

Confronted with the need of serving two or three unexpected, but nevertheless welcome, guests and to serve them graciously and without being "flustered," is so easy if the necessary supplies are at hand. To be proud, rather than unhappy when an event of this kind has passed is the goal of the ambitious hostess.

For these emergencies a few easily prepared dishes are suggested. They permit the hostess devoting more time to the other needs of the occasion.

Menu

Cream of Pea Soup
Crackers
Salmon Loaf, Tomato Sauce
Baked Potato Buttered Beets
Graham Muffins Butter
Pickles
Oatmeal Cookies Canned Peaches

Salmon Loaf

One No 2 can salmon, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup bread crumbs, 2 eggs, half cup evaporated milk, diluted with half cup boiling water, half teaspoon salt, eighth teaspoon pepper.

Remove skin and bone from salmon and flake with a fork. Add lemon juice. Melt butter in the hot diluted evaporated milk and add bread crumbs and seasonings. Combine with the fish. Add well beaten eggs, shape and put into buttered baking dish. Bake one hour in a moderate oven. Serve with tomato sauce. Yield: five servings.

Tomato Sauce

One tablespoon fat, 1 tablespoon flour, quarter teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, third cup evaporated milk diluted with third cup water, one and third cups tomato puree.

Melt the fat in a double boiler, add the flour, pepper and salt and stir until perfectly smooth. Add the milk slowly, stirring at the same time. Let it cook until thick, stirring occasionally. It requires about 15 minutes' cooking. When ready to serve add hot tomato puree Yield: five servings.

Graham Muffins

One cup bread flour, 1 cup graham flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, half teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons sugar, third cup evaporated milg diluted with two-thirds cup of water, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons melted fat.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Beat egg thoroughly and add to it the diluted milk and melted fat. Combine wet and dry ingredients as quickly as possible. Just as soon as every trace of the flour has disappeared, pour instantly into oiled muffin tins. Bake in an oven heated to 425 degrees F. Baking requires from 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: 12 medfum size muffins.

Cream of Pea Soup

One No. 2 can peas, cold water 1 slice onion, half tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 cup evaporated milk diluted with 1 cup water or chicken stock, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter.

Make a white sauce of the diluted evaporated milk, flour, butter, salt and pepper. Drain the liquid from the peas. Add sufficient water to the liquid to make one pint and return to the peas. Add the onion and sugar and boil for five minutes, then rub through a sieve. There should be two and one-half cups of pulp and liquod. Serve immediately. Yield, 6 servings.

Oatmeal Cookies

Half cup fat (half lard, half butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons evaporated milk, 6 tablespoons water, 1 and three-quarter cups rolled oats, 1 and half cups bread flour, half cup raisins half cup nut meats, half teaspoon salt, three-quarter teaspoon cinnamon, half teaspoon soda, half teaspoon cloves, half teaspoon allspice.

Mix and sift twice the flour, soda, salt and spices. Cream fat and sugar, add well beaten egg and continue creaming for three minutes. Add the rolled oats, chopped raisins and nuts. Add sifted dry ingredients and diluted milk all at once. Combine with just enough stirs to mix well. Drop by teaspoons onto an oiled tin. Bake in a 400 degree F. oven. Yield: Three dozen cookies.

FUDGE CAKE

1-2 C. shortening.
1 C. sugar.
1 egg.
2 squares melted chocolate.
2 C. pastry flour.
2 level tsp. Calumet baking powder.
1-4 level tsp. salt.
1 tsp. vanilla.

Cream together shortening and sugar; add well beaten egg and melted chocolate. Sift together remaining dry ingredients and add to first mixture alternately with the milk. Then add vanilla. Pour into a square greased cake pan and bake at 350 F. for 45 minutes. Frost with chocolate fudge frosting.

SUNSHINE CAKE

1-2 C. butter.
1 1-2 C. granulated sugar.
2 1-2 C. flour.
2 1-2 level tsp. Calumet baking powder.
9 egg yolks.
1-2 C. water.
1 tsp. lemon juice and grated rind.

Cream fat and sugar thoroughly, beat eggs and add to butter and sugar. Sift flour, then measure and sift three times with baking powder. Then add alternately with water to other ingredients. Add flavoring and rind. Bake in slow oven (325 F.) 50 to 60 minutes in an ungreased angel food pan.

Greener Green Salads

"Green is the most popular good health fashion shade this summer, announces Miss Catharine Hanley of the Philadelphia branch of the National Dairy council. Various shades combined in the same outfit are being worn, as you can see by looking at any of the large store windows. When it comes to salads, several shades can be combined. The dark green background given by uncooked, chopped spinach is one of the latest recommendations of those who know the new fashions in health foods. Here are some cool and crisp green salads for your summer menu featuring the green shades as suggested by the Dairy Council's color artist.

1927 Green Salad

Chop equal parts of mustard greens, fresh spinach, cabbage and celery. Add a little chopped onion and green pepper. Dredge in French dressing, made with olive oil blended with vinegar, sugar, salt and paprika. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

Ten Carrot Salad

Cube 10 fresh carrots which have been scraped and four large apples. Add the sour cream dressing given below to the cubed apples to present discoloring. Mix with one cup finely cut, uncooked spinach. Add lemon juice to taste, mix the salad, then serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

Sour Cream Dressing

1-2 pint thick sour cream
1-4 pint mayonnaise dressing
Juice of half a small onion
1-2 tsp. lemon juice
2-4 tsp. salt
1-4 tsp. mustard
1-8 tsp. paprika
1-8 tsp. white pepper

Fold all ingredients into the unbeaten sour cream.

TOURIST LUNCH HINTS GIVEN

Joy of Outing Found In Tasty Food

By Kathryn St. John

Camping parties for the entire family have been made possible with the popularity of the automobile.

Food and shelter are the two principal things the camper has to consider in making preparation for an outing. Bedding and a tent may now be so compactly arranged that they will fit on the running board of the car and the few supplies that cannot be purchased along the way may be packed in the car. The meals should be planned before starting on the trip. Such things as food to be purchased and menus for the day, as well as the recipes may be recorded in a small note book.

The following recipes are not only easily prepared, but nourishing and tasty.

Deviled Eggs.

6 hard cooked eggs, 2-8 tsp. salt, 1-4 tsp. pepper, 3 tbsp. evaporated milk, 1-2 tbsp. butter, 3-4 tsp. dry mustard, 2 tbsp. tomato catsup, 1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1 tbsp. chopped ham.

Cut eggs in half, lengthwise, Remove yolks and mash fine; add rest of ingredients yolks and mix thoroughly. Fill mixture into whites. Press halves together and make secure by putting a toothpick through the center. Wrap in paraffin paper. Yield: 6 servings.

Potato Salad.

2 cups sliced or cubed potatoes, 2 tbsp. chopped onion, 2 hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup chopped cucumber, 1-3 cup crisp bacon cubes, 3-4 cup boiled dressing.

The potatoes should be boiled or steamed, and well seasoned in cooking. Slice thick or thin, across or lengthwise, or cube from 1-2 to 3-4 inch as liked. Mix well with onion, cucumber, bacon and dressing. Let stand 1 hour in a cold place. When ready to serve, garnish with hard-cooked eggs cut in wedges. Yield: 4 servings.

Boiled Salad Dressing.

1-2 cup evaporated milk diluted with 1-2 cup water, 2 egg yolks, 2 tbsp. melted butter, 2 tbsp. sugar, 1-4 cup vinegar, (5 per cent acidity apple vinegar preferred), 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. mustard, few grains cayenne, 2 tbsp. flour.

Combine salt, pepper, mustard and sugar and add to the well-beaten eggs. Add the diluted milk and butter and cook in a double boiler until it begins to thicken, then gradually add the vinegar, then the cayenne. Chill thoroughly. Yield: 1 1-4 cups.

Date Nut Sandwich.

2 oz. dates, 1 oz. raisins, 1 tsp. lemon juice, 1 tbsp. orange juice, 1 tbsp. pecans.

Wash, steam and stone dates. Combine all ingredients and put through a food chopper. Spread on buttered slices of bread cut 1-4 inch thick. Yield: 4 sandwiches.

Ham Salad Sandwiches.

1-2 lb. ham, 2 small pickles, crisp lettuce leaves, chopped hard cooked egg, if desired, sandwich bread, 1-3 cup butter creamed, 1-2 cup mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing, 1-4 cup evap. milk.

Put ham through food chopper, add chopped pickle, salad dressing and milk. Cut bread three-eighths of an inch thick, spread with creamed butter, then with ham mixture. Place on top of this a lettuce leaf and another slice of bread. When ready to serve cut in triangles. Yield: 16 sandwiches.

ORANGE ROLLOVERS

Rich pie pastry.
English walnuts
1 tsp. orange juice
Candied orange peel.
Sugar.
1 tsp. pineapple juice.

To a half cupful of candied orange peel add a few chopped walnut meats, about a fourth of a cup, then add the fruit juices and a little powdered sugar. Both the orange and nuts should be chopped very fine. Roll out some rich pie pastry and cut into squares. Spread some of the orange and nut mixture over each square, and roll up like a jelly roll. Bake in a moderate oven until a delicate brown. Nice to serve with a salad course.

DALLAS AFTER MEET

DALLAS, Texas, May 27. (AP)—Plans for inviting 3000 water works engineers of the United States and Canada to Dallas for the 1928 convention of the American Water Works association were completed here Friday.

Flood Panic In Louisiana

current. Scores were drowned in the swim for life.

Volunteer workmen fought desperately to build a protection levee to save part of the town from inundation. They failed. Waters from Spanish Lake are slowly creeping over the town.

Come reports of a life and death struggle in Pointe Coupee parish. This parish, situated between the Mississippi and Atchafalya rivers, is fast being engulfed by flood water from the crevasse at McCrea.

The gash in the levee there is now over 2000 feet long and water 20 feet deep is charging over this "sugar bowl" country. It has spread out fan-like over 200 square miles, reaching northward about 10 miles and southward about 25 miles, with the widest point about 10 miles.

Thousands Marooned

Thousands of persons are marooned in northern Pointe Coupee. They are fleeing to levees, terror stricken by the waters that already have sunk their homes and green fields of sugar cane, rice, corn and cotton.

Hundreds of boats were busy today scouring that inland sea for refugees, and rushing food for refugee persons and animals now stranded.

Secretary Hoover, accompanied by James L. Fieser, acting national chairman of the Red Cross, and Col. W. H. Sullivan, Louisiana rehabilitation chief, held conferences today in the sector west of the Mississippi.

Having some $6,000 new refugees to care for, they were busy seeing that camps were set up in towns safe from the flood. Their attention was especially directed toward heading off an epidemic.

Scores of physicians and sanitary engineers have been mobilized in the imperiled zone, with huge supplies of medicines and preventatives against a plague.

FEAR OF EPIDEMIC IN LOUISIANA FLOOD.

By Universal Service.

BATON ROUGE, May 27.—Fearful of an epidemic that will add a heavy toll of lives to the stupendous property damage done by the flood, Red Cross officials today ordered physicians and sanitary engineers rushed to Southern Louisiana where the flood is at its worst.

LaFayette, a city of 8000 inhabitants, has 17,000 refugees in camps. They have streamed into the city during the last week. As a precaution against epidemic that city has been closed to refugees. They are being sent to other towns.

Situation Worse.

"The flood situation in Louisiana is growing worse," former Governor John M. Parker, state flood relief co-ordinator, declared.

"We are doing all that is humanely possible to get the people out of the imperiled zones, but many will not heed our warning."

With the tier of parishes in Southern Louisiana west of the Mississippi now in a life and death struggle with the ravaging waters, Secretary Hoover decided to make a speedy trip to that sector.

Six hundred boats and more than 300 motor trucks and automobiles carried thousands of endangered persons to refugee camps. Panic has crippled that section. Thousands of cattle, horses, mules and chickens are being swallowed by the flood waters.

Red Cross headquarters were opened at New Orleans to direct the battle against the waters to the west. The shift was made from Memphis over night, a special train carrying the Red Cross, army engineers, naval and coast guard liason officers and other personnel to the Crescent city.

Vaccinate Refugees.

Refugees are being vaccinated as fast as they land in camps. Thousands of pounds of chloride are being spread. Oil is being spread over water to kill mosquitos and head off malaria.

People in the "Sugar Bowl" country between the Atchafalaya and Mississippi rivers flatly refused to evacuate. Thousands of them clung to their homes in defiance of the flood waters.

Haying been faced with similar obstinacy in other sections the rescue forces continued massing boats in Pointe Coupee parish to evacuate these people, when they find that the water will drown them if they stay.

Water from the McCrea crevesse, about 50 miles northwest of Baton Rouge today had covered 170 square miles. It covered an area 30 miles long and eight miles wide at its widest place.

The creeping monster was at the outskirts of Morganza, a town of about 500 persons. Morganza, Torras and other communities were threatened with being marooned. Hundreds of citizens have taken to the levees, planning to stay there until the flood water recede.

Relief Problem.

Here again is a problem for the relief forces. These people have only two or three days food supply. They will be clamoring for food shortly and then boats will have to be rushed to them. That many of them will elect to go to refugee camps rather than take the risk of starvation was believer certain.

Although the flood waters are only 10 miles away and advancing with irresistible certainty the town of New Roads is only partially deserted. Within 40 hours there will be a stampede to get out of that place.

The many crevasses have resulted in a sharp fall in the Mississippi river below Natchez, causing a new menace. Levees sometimes cave in when the water falls too fast. Thus the threat hanging over eastern Louisiana became more serious.

The Louisiana national guard has taken a hand in the evacuation work in Pointee Coupee parish. Like Paul Revere of old, the guardsmen go from door to door, warning the people to get out.

BRIDE'S CAKE ALWAYS WHITE

Lilian Gunn Gives Hints For Weddings

Don't bake the thimble, penny and ring in the wedding cake, advises Lilian Gunn, in the June issue of McCall's. She explains how they may be inserted afterwards, and describes the decorations of the bride's cake as follows:

"The bride's cake is always a white cake. It is usually baked in a round pan with a hole in the center. In it there should be a ring, a ten-cent piece, a button and a thimble. These are put in after it is cool. Wrap each article in wax paper, then with a sharp knife make tiny cuts in the top crust and insert the favors.

"For ornamenting the bride's cake, tiny silver ball candies called dragees can be purchased from any confectioner. A frosting syringe for putting on the ornamental frosting, with assorted tubes or ends to make different designs can be bought for as little as 10 cents for each part and for each tube or end.

"The wedding cake, which is always a rich fruit cake, should be made at least a month in advance. You can cook it from the following recipe in square pans to be cut in pieces and put in small white boxes or you can cook it in a large pan and frost it to grace the center of the table.

One pound butter.
One pound light brown sugar.
One pound flour.
One teaspoon mace.
Two teaspoons cinnamon.
One teaspoon soda.
Three pounds currants.
One pound citron, sliced thin.
Two pounds raising, seeded and chopped.
Half-pound almonds, blanched and shredded.
Nine eggs.
Quarter cup milk.

"Cream butter and add sugar, sifted to remove lumps. Beat mixture. Sift flour with spices and soda. Mix fruit and nuts with flour. Separate eggs and beat yolks until lemon colored. Beat whites stiff. Combine sugar mixture and fruit mixture, add yolks of eggs and milk. Fold in egg whites, then mix well. Line pans with two layers of paper, the first one of manila paper and the one next to the cake of waxed paper. Fill pans three-quarters full, leaving no air spaces. Cover tops of pans with a layer of waxed paper and a layer of manila paper, then with cheese-cloth. Steam six hours not remove paper from cake."

THE AMATEUR GARDEN

Last year, remember, we agreed
We'd plant this Spring just radish seed
Since nothing else of what we sow
Seems in the least inclined to grow.

Well, try the beans, if you insist.
What's that you're hiding in your fist?
Asparagus? That takes two years
Before an edible stalk appears!

Oh, go ahead and plant the peas—
At least the blossoms feed the bees!
Some watermelons? I don't care.
Just stick the beet seeds anywhere.

Merciful Heavens, now you've got
Two dozen varieties in this plot!

Betrays him the world's prize optimist!

Passing Of a Builder

THERE are men who lead long lives of usefulness who are noiseless workers in the highway of duty and shoulder their responsibility and perform their labor without the blare of the band or the beating of the tom tom.

Adolph C. Goeth of Austin was a worker of that type. He was a native Texan. His father came from beyond the Rhine when a very young man and was one of the pioneers of early Texas. He was a builder as well as a pioneer and the son walked in the footsteps of the father.

He won an honorable place in the business world. He won prominence in the field of finance. He was for the education of all the children of all the people and never shirked the places which he was called upon to fill by governors of Texas or the voters of his own town.

He was not a politician. He did not aspire to public place. For years and years he was a regent of the normal schools and the cause of education had no more enthusiastic or steadfast champion. He lived a long life in Texas and he lived it well. He was as loyal to conviction as he was to duty or to his sacred words. He believed that the man who enables two blades of grass to grow where only one has grown before has accomplished something for home and country, that a man who shirks his civic duties or responsibilities as a voter of the great commonwealth is derelict and unforgetful of what he owes his country and its flag and constitution.

Men of the Goeth type have had a vast deal to do with the building of the empire known as Texas and the beautiful city which crowns the hills and is the seat of government of a mighty commonwealth.

They speak in deeds more than in words; they speak with their purses louder than through the personal praise of publicity agents; they work modestly and noiselessly and when they pass they leave behind them noteworthy achievements as model citizens and intelligent builders.

Passing Of Robert Small

A NEWSPAPER dispatch bearing the date of Washington tells that Robert Small was found dead in bed. Robert Small was a newspaper writer all his life—that is all his active life. He was a great reporter and ranked with the best. He was the son of Rev. Sam Small, in his day a noted revivalist. He was a nephew of Frank Small, in his time a star reporter in the city of New York and for years a top-notcher in the ranks of theatrical press agents.

Robert Small was a Georgian. He was a gifted writer. His stories were full of human interest. He knew how to write colorful stuff. His writings were not vicious. He never dealt in slime and smut. His writings of a political nature were not biased. He gave every man he handled a square deal and never struck a blow below the belt.

He was not a great "I am," in the writing world. For years he was one of the stars of the Associated Press. For years after leaving the Associated Press he was a high salaried writer for another great American news association. He had readers everywhere; he had admirers everywhere. He was not dogmatic; he never filled his columns with "I told you so."

He never let the reading public believe that he was a mental giant and the reading masses fools of pigmies to be led out of the bullrushes of ignorance by Robert.

A real newspaper man, a real human being answered to the call of "thirty" when his candle of light flickered out.

Mark As a Picker

MARK SULLIVAN, Republican in regular standing in the camp of the elephant, has picked Senator Thomas F. Walsh of Montana as a Democratic presidential standard bearer in 1928, if the Democrats are to make Republican political corruption their slogan. Mark has made the discovery that the Democrats of the north and the east are shy on newspapers, that all the leading newspapers are either Republican or so-called independents and give the Democrats the worst of it all the time.

Perhaps there are more republican voters in the north and east who read daily newspapers than there are democrats.

Mark should be told that a party organ is about the nearest approach to nothing that is issued from the press. Big business trains under the Republican flag. Big business has the money of the country. Big business needs newspapers, but the great newspapers of the party organs, they do not bow to party bosses, they are not controlled by party machines and they give the news without coloring.

Gone are the party organs of yesteryear. The average newspaper reader wants the news. He wants facts as near as he can get the facts. He wants the truth if it is possible to get the truth.

On Their Knees To Uncle Sam

NOW the oil kings of America, the Titans of the greatest game in the world, are on their knees to Uncle Sam. They are begging him to adopt restrictive plans for the conservation of the oil supply of America. Now they agree that the present method of capturing American oil deposits is wasteful to an alarming degree. Now they say that over-production, threatens disaster to the industry. Now they say there must be a complete shut-down for a given period of time. Now they say that the big operators should decline to finance wildcatters. Just now the oil business needs a Mussolini. There is no Mussolini in America.

Bumper Crop For Dixie

COTTON men who are the scouts of big buyers are covering the state. They predict another fat cotton crop this year. It is not too late for the boll weevil to step in and get busy. In an Alabama town there is a tall monument erected to Mr. Boll Weevil. He ravaged the Alabama country two or three seasons and this forced the farmers to diversify and live at home. In greatful remembrance they reared the monument to the pest that had been their best friend.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, May 27 (EFS)—An Italian green-grocer on Eighth avenue, who pays rent for a cellar and a sidewalk stall, has had a sign painted to advertise his wares: "Fine vegetables fresh from the old man's farm."

Asked about the old man, he replied:

"You know, same-a like. So's your-a ol'-a man. He's-a my fod. Gotta farm been-a New-a Jois'."

Advertising men in New York have a wonderful opportunity to make what they call "home circulation" more attractive. When things reach the stage where you can't glance at the cover of the telephone directory without encountering a cemetery and coffin ad, it's time to call for a fresh deck and a new deal.

We all know we have to die at some future date; but there's something positively indecent about being reminded of the fact every time you sit down to the telephone table.

Speaking about advertising: The New York Theater Program corporation carries the following ad in all New York theater programs:

"Just What You've Been Wanting':—This attractive black, flexible cover binder for your theater programs in this orderly and available form, and you will have an interesting record of many delightful evenings spent at the theater. Also, an instant answer to the frequently puzzling question: 'In what production did I see—?'"

What they fail to mention is, that if they sell enough of these bound volumes they can use that as a means of jacking up the price of theater program advertisements, by pointing out to merchants that the space they buy remains permanently in the home.

Most of us are not born suspicious but after awhile we become that way. We get an uncomfortable feeling whenever we run across a proposition where somebody wants to do something for us just so's we can be more comfortable. As a matter of fact, nobody ever thinks of our comfort or convenience, outside our own homes, without wanting to be paid for it, and paid well.

Bob Dean the artist had some trouble with his lamps. An eye doctor he consulted didn't know any more than Bob did, what the trouble was. But he pulled the old stuff on him—asked him if he smoked much. Bob said sure, he smoked like a bootlegger's chimney. That was like a ray of sunlight in a rat hole, so far as the Doc was concerned.

"I thought so," he said, lighting a fresh cigaret from the stub of an old one. "You'll have to cut smoking out, Mr. Dean, and we'll see what we can do for you."

Bob emptied his pockets of gaspers and laid in a supply of chewing tobacco.

He got into a Pullman at the Pennsylvania station the other day and couldn't find the little brass floor decoration so essential to a gent who flirts with a cheek full of fine cut. So he called the porter and mentioned the deficiency.

"Yassah," said George, "yo' see de comp'ny removed de teah jugs out o' de Pullmans. Chewin' gen'lemen is sort er extinc', jes' 'cep' yeah an' dere dey's one come along, jes lak yo'all. But we keeps a reserve stock fo' emergencies. Dey's a full line in de smokin' compa'tment, but if yo'all feels yo'd like to sit yeah an' spit comf'iable, ah'll be right back wif one. Yassah, thank yo' suh!"

My Son's Sweethearts

Both Anne Tracy and Mr. Jones, who is the Tracy's milkman, object to the engagement of Phillip Wynne Tracy IV and Natlee Jones.

Phillip's mother gives a party to interest her son in some other girl but when speaking of it she unconsciously interests him in Lyra Hilliard, an old friend of hers, who is coming to visit and will stay at her house for a short time.

Without his mother's knowledge Phil plans to bring Natlee to the party through his friend, Rodney Maxwell. Natlee decides to go, whether Mrs. Tracy invites her or not, because she thinks Phil wants her to.

Meantime Phil meets Mrs. Hilliard at the train and takes her to luncheon. Shortly he finds he has fallen in love at first sight with this woman much older than himself and hopes Natlee will not come to the party after all.

After their first kiss on a midnight ride Phillip only lives when he is with Mrs. Hilliard and they make arrangements to go riding together again after the party to which Natlee surprises everyone by coming.

The young girls at the party are jealous and criticize Mrs. Hilliard for dressing so young. Natlee explains to Phil why she came.

Here the story further unfolds—

CHAPTER XV.

Natlee Sizes Up the Situation.

"That evening, Wynne, I kept looking out at the old elm tree for I thought you would surely come.

"At last, as the clock struck 10, Father all at once seemed to sense that I had been very nervous ever since dinner.

"'You had better go to bed, Natlee,' he said. 'I don't know what's the matter with you. You have fidgeted around like a hen on a hot griddle all evening.' I was glad to be dismissed to my room, Wynne—I had been afraid to go before for fear Dad would suspect something.

"The window of my bedroom looks directly out on the old elm tree, and although I knew you would not come that night, I sat up until 12 o'clock, hoping that I might be mistaken.

"I told myself, Wynne, that something you could not help had kept you away and that I would hear from you in the morning. Then you told me where to meet you.

"I stayed by the telephone all day.

"Then when you did not come or send me any word, I knew that for some reason you had changed your mind—that you hoped I would be too proud to go to your mother's home uninvited by her—that whatever had been your wish when you sent the message to me, now your only wish was that I would stay away."

Natlee Jones stopped speaking as though the tale were ended.

Phil, however, was determined to know why she had changed her mind.

He put the question to her her outright and was answered.

"I decided to come to this party, Wynne, because I wanted to know the real reason why you wanted me to come in the first place and why you didn't want me to come afterward.

"The last time I had seen you, you were anxious to marry me. You left me to tell your mother that you had proposed to me and had been accepted. At the present moment I do not know whether I am engaged to you or not.

"Surely the fact that my father had displayed his narrow mind to your mother ought not to have made any difference in your feelings.

"I determined to find out what it was that had made that difference and that is why I am here driving to the Plaza with you tonight?"

"First—that your mother objects to me coming into the Tracy family quite as much as my father objects to you coming into the Jones clan. Second—that she didn't invite me to this party because she determined to trot out all the girls in town in their prettiest clothes that you might look them over and see if you would fall in love with one of them and give me the go-by."

"And that is what you think I am going to do?" asked Phil, 'pointing that Nat had not had the uncanny luck to have found out that he had been struck in a heap by Lyra.

"No," she answered, a little uncertainly. "Knowing what I do about them and what you have always thought of them, and looking them over again tonight, I know, Wynne, that you would not suddenly fall in love with any of these feminine numskulls. I don't know yet just what has made you change your mind in regard to me."

I have not changed my mind, Natlee—I think you are the sweetest, cleverest young girl I know."

As soon as he had said this he knew that he had made a mistake by ringing in those words, 'young girl.'"

Natlee turned abruptly and said: "I didn't meet your mother's friend. Was she that striking looking woman near you while I was talking to Mrs. Tracy?"

"Yes—what did you think of her?"

"The one thing about her I noticed, except her grace, was that she seemed dressed a bit too girlish for one of her age."

"That sounds like Luella Carr, Nat," retorted Phil warmly.

"I do not mean to be like her—I am just trying to be honest, Wynne. I am always a little sorry when I see a woman who so plainly regrets her lost youth. It always makes me feel that none of us is getting the most out of this thrilling time."

"That's what Lyra says," interrupted Phil so eagerly that he did not realize what he had called Mrs. Hilliard until Natlee asked slyly.

Is that your mother's friend's first name?"

"Yes." He wanted to enter into a long explanation of why he had called her Lyra, but he restrained himself, for he was afraid he would give himself further away.

He did not know that he had already said enough to make Natlee Jones understand that he had fallen in love with a woman much older than himself.

The others had gone to the dressing rooms that Mrs. Tracy had ordered prepared outside her private dining room.

Natlee Jones had never seen such a beautiful dinner table. There were great shower bouquets for the girls and boutonnieres for the men at each plate.

As she entered the room Phillip had another attack of panic. He had forgotten to tell them to set an extra plate for Natlee.

He was so relieved that he almost forgave his mother for sending him with her in the roadster when he found that a place had been laid for her between Rodney and himself, with Lyra on the other side of him.

"Mother has been unconsciously kind to me, dearest," said Phil to Lyra. "Although she made me bring Natlee instead of you to the hotel she has put you beside me."

"Is Natlee Jones that beautiful girl on the other side of you? Unless your mother is anxious for her to be her daughter-in-law she ought to have kept her away from this party."

"That's what she tried to do, Lyra. I'll tell you all about it when we go for that ride after Mother is fast asleep."

Unconsciously Phil had raised his voice a little as there was more or less noisy confusion over place cards and bouquets.

By a strange trick of fate, Mrs. Tracy had ordered gardenias for the flowers to be put at her place, thinking they would look well with her black velvet. She now had them placed at Natlee's. This, of course, conveyed to the rest of the guests that Mrs. Tracy had asked Natlee what color she was going to wear and provided her flowers to match as she had done for all the other girls.

Natlee picked up the bouquet beside her place in great surprise, and was just bending forward to catch its fragrance when she heard Phillip's last sentence to Mrs. Hilliard—"when we go for that ride after Mother is fast asleep."

Deliberately she turned to Phillip and said. "You have not introduced me to your mother's friend, Mrs. Hilliard. I am Natlee Jones, who has been Wynne's intimate chum ever since before our kindergarten days."

"Yes, my dear Miss Jones, I have heard both his mother and Phillip speak of you."

Natlee was sure that she knew what Mrs. Tracy had said about her but she would have given at that moment long hours of her life to have known what Wynne has said about her. She could think of nothing to say, however, to Mrs. Hilliard and was much relieved when Rod spoke to her, giving her an excuse to turn away from Phil and this woman for whom she had conceived the utmost dislike.

"She loves him," her intuition told her. "And she has no right to do so" her reason answered back.

I wonder that Mrs. Tracy does not see through her, she thought. Then I'm sure she would not throw her precious son into the arms of a wicked woman.

Wynne's mother thinks he is perfectly safe—Mrs. Hilliard is so much older than he and married. If she did but know it she is much more dangerous than I.

"Natlee, do you like that Hilliard woman?" asked Rod, in a low voice.

"I hate her," answered Nat, viciously.

"Well—while I would not go so far as to say that I hate her, I must say that I don't like her, and I wonder that Mrs. Tracy doesn't see that her friend Lyra, as she calls her, is vamping the daylights out of her son. She might be the model for the vamp in 'A Fool There Was' and Phil's the fool."

"What do you know about it, Rod?"

"I only know that he can talk of nothing else but that woman, and the other night he asked me if I thought there was any reason why a man should not marry a woman a little older than himself."

"Good lord, Wynne is only a little over 17 and that dame is 35, if she is a day."

"What did you tell him, Rod?"

"I told him, Nat, that I had never thought much about it. I knew too many lovely young girls to be looking around for leftovers."

"What did he say to that?" asked Natlee, grinning.

"He said I was very coarse."

"I like you, Rod," remarked Natlee, irreverently, as he turned to answer a question from Luella Carr on the other side of him.

Natlee Jones was a very human young woman, and when she heard Phillip call Mrs. Hilliard "darling Lyra" she rather pricked up her ears to listen.

"I mean it, Phil," Mrs. Hilliard was saying when he interrupted with the endearing words, "I am afraid I am beginning to think about you too much, dear boy. I ought to know better but I find myself wishing I had some other name to call you—everyone calls you Phillip.

"Do you think your mother would object if I called you by your middle name? Wynne is such a beautiful name."

(To Be Continued)

Natlee overhears Lyra ask Phil's permission to use the name she has considered her personal privilege. Further complications unfold in the next installment.

But Job answered and said:
Oh, that my grief were thoroughly weighed, and my calamity laid in the balances together!

For now it would be heavier than the sand of the sea; therefore my words are swallowed up.

For the arrows of the Almighty are within me, the poison whereof drinketh up my spirit; the terrors of God do set themselves in array against me.—Job .6:1-5.

THE NORTH POLE FOR A DOG

EDMONTON, Alta.—In the wake of the birdmen, civilization has begun its inevitable invasion of the frozen fastnesses of the far north. No longer are the cheerful chirps of Arctic pigeons the only music of the Arctic, for Frank Connibeare, farthest north hotel keeper, has opened a hot dog stand with pop bottles, straws, ice cream cones and all the fittings. Indian braves who have from time immemorial toughened on tidbits of dog harness, have taken up the white man's burden, indigestion, and are adopting his war cry of "Hot Dawg."

Judged from a compilation of interviews with centenarians, the secret of long life is living a long time.

What About Salt?

In these articles I speak so much about organic salts, and readers are frequently confused, thinking I mean common table salt.

Chlorid of sodium, or common salt, is composed of sodium and chlorin, but in the human body it can only be used in an organic form. There is no way the body can change the mineral sodium chlorid into the organic kind; only plants have that ability. The minerals of the soil are all used in the growth of vegeation, and man can secure these minerals only through the vegetables containing them.

The lime which the plasterer uses, the potash used in lye, and the iron used in the steel mills, cannot be taken up by the body and converted into cell structure. This is like-wise true of common table salt. It is true that it imparts an agreeable flavor to food which has been improperly cooked. When vegetables are cooked for too long a time, the organic sodium chlorid is finally changed into an inert substance or into waste minerals which the body cannot convert back into an organic form.

As salt is eaten with food it does get into the blood circulation and through the chemical action really deprives the cells of other minerals with which it comes in contact and with which it forms new compounds. At no time can it become a real part of any of the cell structures of the body. It is always a waste product and always an irritant.

The irritation of salt starts at once in the stomach and, when large quantities are used, excessive thirst is created. This is the reason why so many people find they must drink liquids with meals. The body is calling for extra liquid to wash out the irritating salt or other irritating, unnecessary additions to the diet, such as condiments, pickles, spices, etc.

When cattle are fed salt they will drink large quantities of water. This is a good thing for the dairy-man when he wishes the cow to produce more milk. When salt is distributed around the ranges cattle, after licking the salt, will go great distances to find water where they otherwise would be indifferent to thirst for so long that they finally become sick for the lack of it. Many observers have pointed to the fact that animals all like salt, and cite this as a reason for more use of it, but you must remember that animals will eat anything which has a good taste, and cannot be depended upon for giving us our scientific lessons in dietetics.

I am sure that a small amount of salt will not injure the average person who has been used to much, but it is a good plan to try to reduce your salt in-take until you will find you can get along almost entirely without it.

If you season vegetables with salted butter and do not cook them too long, you will find they will have sufficient seasoning and you will soon learn to enjoy the real flavor of different foods which you have so long spoiled by excessive seasoning.

QUESTION: Mrs. R. M. writes: "Will you kindly answer the following questions through your newspaper? What are tebucular glands? Please give their cause, symptoms, and cure. Do they prove fatal in mose cases? Thanking you in advance."

ANSWER: Tubercular glands are simply lymphatic glands or nodes which are swollen because the lymphatic circulation is overloaded and cannot get rid of the pus or poisons in a certain location fast enough. They can be entirely cured, if you will get rid of the local and systematic cause.

QUESTION: Mrs. W. H. L. writes: "Would be glad if you could give me advice through the column on what is the cause of children getting Hives, and the best treatment to get rid of them. What is the best ointment or lotion to use, and what is the best medicine to give a child that is already infected? Enjoy the helpful hints from your column but have never seen treatment for Hives. Thanking you."

ANSWER: There is no medicine or remedy which will have any permanent effect in the treatment of hives. Feed your children so that they do not have an over-acid condition in the stomach. Be especially careful to combine their foods properly, so that they do not eat bad mixtures.

QUESTION: C. N. D. writes: "My eight year old boy is very lean and weak. He is not able to control his bowels at times, and complains about the lower part of his stomach hurting. He has been taken to two or three good doctors, but with no relief. What could be done to relieve him?"

ANSWER: It is unwise for me to guess what is causing your child's trouble. Take him to one physician after another until you secure a correct diagnosis. The cure will then probably be easy.

BOMARTON NEWS

Miss Ruby Burks, our music teacher for the past term, left Monday for her home in Dasca, Texas.

Little William Edward Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hallie Shaw, departed from his beloved parents, May 19, 1927, but went to a happier land than this. He was two months old and a very bright little fellow which was the "Sunshine of His Home." But God needed another angel in heaven. "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away." But the Lord knows best and for some unknown reason little William Edward was taken from us. The whole county goes out in sympathy to the parents and relatives in this sad hour of trouble.

Rid of Ills Due To Constipation

Texas Lady Says She Felt Fine After Taking Black-Draught To Correct Imperfect Elimination.

Winfield, Texas.—"For eight or nine years, I have used Black-Draught in my home, and it has come to be our family stand-by for constipation," says Mrs. C. L. Hays, of this town.

"Several years ago," explains Mrs. Mays, "I was suffering from a bad pain across my back. I became sallow and my complexion was dull. I felt sluggish and lifeless.

"I realized that I was becoming poisoned from improper elimination. I was constipated, and this was causing a condition which was making me ill.

"I lost my appetite and did not relish anything to eat.

"I had always found Black-Draught to be a useful purgative, so I thought I would take a course of this medicine to thoroughly cleanse my system. I took a small dose every night for several weeks and found that it was just what I needed. I soon began to feel better. The sluggish, dull feeling left, and I felt fine.

"I know Black-Draught can be relied upon to give good results. I give it to my little boy, as it is about the only medicine I can get him to take without an argument. His health is good, and about all he needs is something to keep his bowels open when he has a bad cold or an unset stomach."

Clarendon Vocational Students Earn $4498 In School Session

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, May 27.(AP)—Out of 34 pupils enrolled in vocational agriculture in the Clarendon Hight school during the past year a total of $4498.91 was earned from their projects a requirement for a pupil taking the work. The projects were of the following farm enterprises, one in hog raising netting a profit of $83.50 from one brood sow, 11 in poultry netting a profit of $394.73 from 570 hens, 4 dairy projects making $728.19 from 9 cows, and several other enterprises including grains, sorgums, truck garden, corn, cotton and wheat, making a total of 34 from which the $4498.91 was earned. This figure more than doubles the salary paid for the instructor besides providing the boys with the actual experience and allowing them to go to school and serving as a source of spending money so necessary to the welfare of the modern boy.

It is interesting to note from the record kept by the boys in the class that out of about 12 poultry enterprises the labor income per hour or the actual profit per hour was practically constant at about 40 cents, while the earnings per hen averaged $1.00. The dairy projects ran somewhat higher and averaged close to $75 per hour and about $60.00 per animal for the period.

These records are based on accurately kept records and include all production costs common to the farmers of today including interest on investment and depreciation. The system of records used is sent out by the state department and was prepared by expret farm accountants and is easily maintained, the record containing a blank for each days entry.

Any farmer interested in this system of records can be supplied with the information by any member of a vocational agriculture class in Texas or by calling on the agriculture instructor.

Today's hero: Wee P. Turgeon. He brings us out of the wilderness or something, of defeat. Pete socks a pair for the circuit and we finally win another.

IRONY

Those guys over in Beaumont must not be paying much attention to the batting averages this year. Pillette purposely passes Jenkins, with two out, filling the bases, in order to get at Turgeon who's been batting a million right along while Tut has been hitting below his stride. You know the rest: Pete ups and hoists one over the fence.

Which causes Mickey M'Guire to burst into an effusion about Babe Ruth bunting with the bases full in a world series when everybody was playing back for a heavy slam. Crazy? Sure, the heat. No connection at all. Speaking of temperature, M'Guire's close scrutiny of the wire, however, brought to light the contrast of rabid fans forsaking Philadelphia ball park yesterday because of extreme coldness while the thermometer in the shade on the porch of the ice house registered in Wichita Falls a calm 106 degrees.

Zero in sports: The fight referee who can yurp nothing but draw verdicts. Is there, after all, such a thing as a real draw fight?

While they're talking about purchasing lefthanders and the like with which to bolster a wavering box corps, Spudder officials should not overlook that husky righthander, Milt Steengrafe, who's been working out at the orchard daily with Freddy Boone and Ichabod, the sandlot sports writer. Steengrafe appears ready to go and he believes he's ready to go. The big fellow's leg injury has healed and he's been conditioning himself assiduously the past week or so.

If Wichita Falls could throw in right now one more consistent heaver such as Steengrafe should prove to be unless he's gone clear out of shape with the injury layoff, the Spudders could limp along and tide themselves over the present slump and run of tough breaks without so very much damage.

The unusual in sports: The second guesser who breaks down and confesses that if he had guessed first he would have made the same mistake.

Rough Richard roars again. Dainty Dick Daviscourt assumes high umbrage in a second telegram yapping a defi at the wrestler, Dick Schikat, undefeated in two years' pastiming over the United States and who backs challenges to Stecher and Lewis with $5000 cash. Daviscourt declares he can beat the big German who showed Wichita Falls fans quite enough mat ability and brute strength in match here early this week.

As powerful and clever as he is, Schikat, however, refuses to meet Daviscourt under New York commission rules. "Under Police Gazette, I beat him in a hurry," wurbs Schikat. "That's wrestling, but commission rules . . . that's not wrestling!" Isn't necessary to announce Daviscourt won't mix any other way than the roughest way, by commish edicts.

Matty Matsuda, the Jap, pens a line from San Francisco saying he will be in Wichita Falls again in a few weeks. Which reminds, Jack Reynolds hasn't flown so far he can't get back in a hurry.

JAP HAS DEFENDER

Also, which reminds that Jackie Gorman down at San Angelo still is steaming for a crack at Reynolds who jumped out on him here last week. Received a missive from Gorman yesterday, gurgling the same old wheeze: "Get me that guy Reynolds into the ring and Matsuda won't have to worry any more." It may be out of order to repeat this, but Gorman and Matty are in partnership on a gymnasium at San Angelo.

WHY?

Habits of great men: Frank Quiesser, he flows eloquent defense for the umpire, even though umphs may be cold from chin up and admits it.

Wichita Falls Conocos Defeat Burk's Ditto

Perk Ray singled in the fifth inning to score Prince and win for the Wichita Falls Conocos over the Burkburnett Conocos Friday afternoon on the Conoco diamond, 6 to 5.

Dickey pitched great ball for Wichita Falls and fanned nine of of the Burkburnett batters. He also contributed to the cause with a home run. Wichita Falls led by the score of 5 to 1 until the fifth inning when the Burkburnett nine staged a rally that tied the score. The Wichitans then won the game in their half of the fifth.

Coolidge in Favor Of Dakota Vacation

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—Such examination as President Coolidge has been able to make of the situation at Black Hills, S. D., has convinced him that the site is adequate for the summer White House.

The president has not definitely made up his mind about selection, however, and today dispatched Colonel Edward W. Starling of the White House secret service staff, to make a final survey of the locality.

Turgeon Smashes Twin Homers In 9-4 Victory

Payne Grows Stingy In Beaumont

BEAUMONT, May 27. — Payne proved just that to the Exporters this afternoon when he scattered their 11 hits while the Spudders were punching the same number, and winning 9 to 4. Pete Turgeon with two home runs accounted for five tallies, the bases being loaded when he got the first and one being when he knocked the second.

Tom Connally was put out of the game in the fourth inning after requesting Umpire Barr to have a look at the foul line where Mann drove a liner.

Wichita Falls' heavy hitters sewed the game up in the very first inning. They scored five runs. LaFayette opened with a single and Mann drew a base on balls. Fitzgerald beat out an infield hit. Lamb blasted a stiff grounder at third and Dorman recovered on a pretty play for a double killing. He forced LaFayette at the plate and Lamb was thrown out at first base. Jenkins was walked purposely. Turgeon followed with his first home run over the left field fence. The Spudders were not satisfied with these four runs but chased across another. Benton singled and scored on a single by Lapan when the ball bounded through Edington in right field.

Dunning's single, Connolly's triple and Capes' single gave Beaumont two runs in the first inning. Payne was invincible thereafter until the ninth when the Exporters pushed over in a belated rally for two more runs.

The Spudders scored two runs in the fourth after there was an out. Mann doubled to left. Fitzgerald drew a base on balls. Lamb tripled to center, scoring Mann and Fitzgerald, and was thrown out himself endeavoring to make a homer out of the blow.

Jenkins was hit by a pitched ball in the ninth, thereby getting a base and Turgeon followed with his other home run, a smash to deep center field.

CATS CONQUER BEARS.

SAN ANTONIO, May 27. (AP)—Southpaw Sep Good was the victim of circumstances when the Fort Worth Panthers defeated the Bears Friday 4 to 2. Two runs in the third inning were the result of an error at the plate and two runs in the sixth followed when Roy Leslie lost an easy pop fly in the sun. Charlie Sullivan who had a tryout with the Detroit Tigers when they trained in San Antonio last March, used a fast ball with good effect and was accorded marvelous support. The score:

WACO 13, DALLAS 9.

WACO, May 27. (AP)—The Waco Cubs jumped on the offerings of Ruel Love, recruit pitcher of the Dallas Steers here today in the first three innings and scored 12 runs, enough to win the game, 13 to 9. Both teams had their batting eyes at work and obtained 15 hits each but the locals mixed in three home runs with eight walks. Pratt and West hit homers in the second; Vigare got one for four bases in the third, and Riley, the Steers' first sacker, hit a circuit smash in the ninth. Tate, Dallas third baseman, had five hits in five times at bat. The score:

SOX TAG IT ON DETROIT AGAIN

Thomas Scores His Eighth Victory, 3 to 1

DETROIT, May 27. (AP)—Alphonse Thomas held Detroit to five hits today and the White Sox won their fifth successive game, thereby climbing a step closer to the leading Yankees. The score was 3 to 1. In winning his eighth victory of the season, Thomas deserved a shutout as the only Tiger run resulted directly from McCurdy's wild throw. Thomas has allowed only one earned run in his last 35 innings. The score:

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—The Yankees split a twin engagement with the Senators today, shutting out Washington 5 to 0 in the final contest after taking the small end of a 7 to 2 verdict in the opener. Lisenbee held the Yankees to four hits in the first game, two of them going to Gehrig who also clouted his eleventh home run of the season in the second game, tying Babe Ruth for the season's high total.

The sportsmanship brotherhood presented a medal to Walter Johnson, veteran Washington pitcher, who has played twenty seasons without ever being put out of a game. The score:

CLEVELAND 7, ST. LOUIS 3.

ST. LOUIS, May 27. (AP)—Scoring six runs on faulty pitching and infield support and only one earned run, a homer by Hodapp, the Indians today won from the Browns, 7 to 3. Cleveland garnered three runs in the third off one single when Jones walked four, forcing in two runs, and Sisler bobbled a grounder.

George Burns, veteran Indian first baseman, got home on a double steal in the ninth, duplicating his performance of the second game yesterday. The score:

OH, THOSE WRESTLERS

ATLANTA, Ga., May 27.(AP)—Wladek Zbyszko, the wrestler, said his condition was "not serious" Friday as a result of a plunge head foremost from a local ring Thursday night where he was engaging Joe Stecher, claimant of the world's wrestling title, in what was advertised as a championship match. Zbyszko said he had not received his share of the receipts from the match which were ordered withheld from both contestants by the Atlanta boxing commission.

Playing brilliant ball back of the veteran Everett Blue's steady pitching gave the Texas Electrics a 9 to 6 victory over the fast going American Eagles Friday afternoon at Katy Park. This was the first loss of the year for Larry Williams' team and was a bitter pill for them to take, but they swallowed it grimly.

Coval Francis was the big stickman of the day with three hits in four times at the bat. Several players poled out two. Two of the longest hits of season were poled out for doubles. Both Crouch and Williamson slapped nice drives into the wind that sailed far over the outfielders, but the fighting Electricians relayed them in to hold both to only doubles.

Roper Hammered.

Roper was hammered from the box in the fourth inning when a wild spurt of base hits poured from the Electrics bats. The two teams bunched their hits well and got them when hits meant runs.

Doubles by Crouch and Williamson, a fielders' choice and an infield out gave the Eagles two runs in the second.

The Electrics came back for two more in their half of the same inning. Andree walked. Francis bunted down the third base line and beat it out. Estep tossed out Ross and both runners advanced. Blue rolled out to Hale and Andress scored. Downey singled through the box scoring Francis.

The Americans came back at them strong in the fourth inning and four runs were chased over the plate. After one was out, Hale singled over short. Lewis walked. Estep singled past short filling the bases. Williamson singled to left scoring Hale and Lewis. Estep went to third and Williamson went to second on the throw-in. Roper popped out to Blue. Maddox slapped a single to left that scored Estep and Williamson. Windham rolled out.

Electrics Come Back.

The Electrics came right back at them to tie the count once more. Francis opened the round with a single through the box. Ross was safe on Hale's error. Blue singled past third scoring Francis and sending Ross to second. Downey singled through the box scoring Ross. Blue stopped at second. Dick Gordon dropped a single back of third, filling the bases. Miller flied to deep center and Blue scored after the catch. Glidewell relieved Roper at this stage of the inning. Allen singled to left, scoring Downey, Dick Gordon went to third. Cox struck out. Andree beat out a slow roller to second, scoring Gordon.

LINKS KINKS by ROY GROVE

Lessen all your troubles in golf by first lessening and analyzing ideas you have in the back of your head.

One cannot play good golf or even fair golf if he is to think of five things at one time. Think of one thing five times and hit the ball.

Outside of taking the club back along the ground there is little to do on the back swing. This trick will automatically take care of the rest of your swing. If you keep the club low coming back the head will come down in the same line, allowing you to follow through in an effective manner.

In coming down watch the head and hit the ball. That may sound radical or lacking the detail which may tell you exactly what to do to hit the ball, but nevertheless just do that, in the mind, and the stroke will take care of itself.

There are too many things in golf to detract a fellow from his shot. Get comfortable on the stroke and then play it as easily as possible without throwing you out of rhythm.

Play a ball about 10 feet in front of you and start swinging back and forth, in clock time. Gradually move nearer the ball, swinging all the time in an easy movement. Finally you will get up to the ball and while you are swinging let the ball get in the path of the swing. Hit it, but not any harder than you have been swinging from the start. You will be surprised to find how well the ball was hit and how far it has traveled.

Swing on all your strokes in the same fashion as you would in taking a few practice shots before teeing off.

HOUSTON 5, SHREVEPORT 1.

HOUSTON, May 27. (AP)—Ken Penner Friday worked easily and nonchalantly but was quite effective in the pinches, and the Buffs whipped the Shreveport Sports, 5 to 1. The Buff ace was given sensational support, with Ray Powell and Johnny Kane in the stellar roles. Eddie Hock led the Houston attack with three clean singles. Friday's victory was the ninth in the last eleven starts, and Penner's eighth of the season. Karpp for six innings pitched excellent ball for the visitors. He was taken out in the seventh for a pinch hitter. The score:

Nobody "Mad" At Cards in Houston

Breadon to Start On New Park "Immediately"

DALLAS, May 27.(AP)—Work is to start immediately on new park and grandstands for the Houston team of the Texas league, Sam Breadon, president, and Branch Rickey, business manager of the St. Louis Cardinals announced here yesterday. The Cardinals are principal owners of the Houston club.

Announcement was made at a meeting of Texas league club owners called to confer with Breadon and Rickey on the new park and grandstand plans.

President Doak Roberts of the Texas league announced that Breadon and Rickey had presented executed contracts for the land in the new park, for construction of the stands and for the steel work to be used.

Breadon assured the club owners that Houston would be ready to entertain the crowd in case Houston should win the league pennant and play the Dixie series, and with this assurance the league approved the plans.

Roberts said the meeting adjourned in the greatest harmony. No change in the present membership of the Houston club or any other club was made or agreed upon and the present membership of all Texas league clubs remains the same, the officials stated.

"It now appears that the Texas league is slated for one of the greatest years in its history," said President Roberts.

Those attending the meeting were: W. K. Stripling and Paul LaGrave, Fort Worth; R. O. Harvey, Wichita Falls; T. S. Hickman, Shreveport; Harry Ables, San Antonio; C. R. Turner and W. Albaugh, Waco; Reuben Stewart, Beaumont; Fred Ankenmann and Al Parish, Houston; Walter Morris and Charles Maxwell, Dallas; Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey, St. Louis; Doak Roberts, president, and Judson C. Francis, secretary of the Texas league.

Wife Uses Drastic Method To Cure Husband Of Unreasonable Jealousy

How to Deal With a Mean, Jealous or Stingy Husband—Convincing a Spinster of 40 That Suicide Is Idiotic — Why Married Men Are More Interesting to Some Girls Than Single Men.

Dear Dorothy Dix—A woman wrote you the other day about her husband being so jealous that he kept her a virtual prisoner in her house. I had the same experience, and I want to tell her how I won out. Without any reason—for I was devoted to him and in every way faithful to him—my husband was so obsessed with jealousy that he viewed everything I did with suspicion. He said that he had no faith in any woman, and I could not even speak to a man without his putting some evil interpertation on it. I stood this for two years, until I was a nervous wreck, having spells of hysteria, and despondency, wishing and even planning to die. Then I suddenly realized that I couldn't love a man who would not trust me, so I told him that I was going to leave him.

He told me to go, and I went to another city, found work, made friends, and though I was lonely, I was happier than I was in my jail. After a while my husband wrote, begging me to come back. He told me that he had time to think and that he had changed his habits of wrong thinking and would prove to me that he really loved me. I refused to return to him at first, but after a while I went back, with the understanding that I would leave and never return if he hadn't changed.

This has been more than a year ago, and I am now the happiest woman alive, and strong and well again. HELPFUL.

Answer:

I think you have, indeed, pointed the way to many another woman who suffers from the brutality of a mean husband. If these wives would only realize that no woman in these days need endure being mistreated by any man, we would have a great reformation in husbands.

For the very men who abuse and ill-use their wives and who swear at them and curse them do not wish to lose their humble drudges and have their homes broken up. They are just cowards and bullies, who vent their spleen on the only human being in the world they are not afraid of and who is spiritless enough to take it.

And if their wives wouldn't stand for it, they would tell their husbands that they would not live with them unless they were treated decently, the husbands would treat them properly. All that the needs is a little spunk and backbone. If she would only assert herself, her great, big bluffer of a husband would back down.

I confess I haven't much sympathy for any woman who will let her husband keep her shut up in her house and won't let her poke her nose out of the door because he is so jealous of her that he is afraid for her even to speak to another woman. If she had the pep that God promised a fishing worm, the first time he raised a row about her going out or having an innocent conversation with anybody she would tell him exactly where he got off and that she was a decent and respectable woman and an independent, voting citizen, and that she would go when she pleased and talk to whom she pleased, and that would be the last of that.

Nor have I any pity for the women whose husbands make good money and never give them a cent. If those women are not cringing cowards they would inform their husbands that they are not going to work without wages and that they were going out to get a job that had a pay envelope attached to it, and that they would get their own meals and sweep their own floors and darn their own socks.

Any woman who can make her own living nowadays, and a lot of them would find working for other people far easier and more remunerative than working for their husbands. And they would get better treatment, too.

It's an unlovely thing in human nature that virtually everybody, husbands included, treat us just as mean as we will let them treat us and impose on us just as much if we will permit them to. So it is up to every wife to make her husband give her a square deal, and if he doesn't, to leave.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am an old maid of 40, exteremely stupid, extremely ugly. I cannot earn a dollar, although I have tried. I of giving an old woman a bare and miserable existence; but if I die, I know of two young girls to whom it would mean a university education.

Don't you think in this case suicide is justifiable? Of course, you will say not even though you really think yes, but give me your reasons, please. I want to see if they are strong enough to convince me.

MISS. Z.

Answer: Of course I don't think you justified in committing suicide. First, because self-murder is just as great a sin as murdering any one else. And, secondly, because suicide is cowardice.

It isn't playing the game. It's laying down and quitting because luck is going against you. It's running up the white flag of surrender because you are in a tight place in the fight.

Instead of committing suicide, if I were you, I would go first to a doctor, because your brand of pessimism is almost invariably the result of ill health.

A wit has said that whether life is worth living or not depends altogether on the liver, and when you get yourself straightened out physically you will find that you have ceased to take this jaundiced, bilious view of fate.

Then I would go to a trust company and buy me an annuity with whatever money I had, so as to get the largest possible income on my capital.

Then I would reconstruct my entire mode of thought. I would quit thinking that I was old at 40. It isn't true, to begin with. A woman of 40 is just in her prime, and she is young enough to learn how to do anything she wants to do.

So instead of giving up life I would make up my mind what I wanted to do and I would study and perfect myself in it and get me a good job, not only for the money that was in it, but for the sake of having an absorbing occupation and new interests.

And I would make friends. Nobody need lack them who will show helfself friendly and kind and sympathetic.

The whole world is crying out for love and for comradeship. Everywhere hands are stretched out to you if you will only take them.

So I do not see why you should think of committing suicide when life holds so much for you. And as for killing yourself for the sake of giving two girls a college education, that is simply idiotic.

If the girls want a college education, let them go to work and earn it for themselves. Not take it as blood money—the price of a murder.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: Why are married men more interesting than unmarried ones? As a rule they are intelligent, ambitious and treat you with respect, but the young fellows haven't a serious thought in their heads and all they think about is petting. If a girl tries to carry on an intelligent conversation with a boy he thinks she is trying to trick him into a proposal or he kids her about taking life to seriously, and says: "Come on and be a sport and have a good time." Don't think I am in love with any married man. I am not, and I detest the home wreckers. But I am

JUST WONDERING.

Answer: Probably the reason that married men are more interesting than single men is because they are generally older and have had more time to think and read and consider life. Also they are generally have not time to make love to a girl, and so can give their minds to serious topics.

MODISH MITZI — A Night In Paris — By JAY V. JAY

You've heard about the night life of Paris. Well, Mitzi is trying a little of it. Most every one has heard loads about it, but few know that it is best seen this season when one wears a short printed chiffon cape as Mitzi does here. Not to mention the four-tier earrings.

A cafe where they served the most delectable salads. Where she saw a Chanel dress with fringe extending from shoulder to waist and from waist to skirt. Where Poiret dress with its artful pockets is commented upon by those who know. Mitzi's earrings match the ornament on her dress. Her shoes are the latest rage with

IOWA PARK SOCIETY

Special to Record News.

IOWA PARK, May 27. — Miss Elizabeth Harraden got Sunday school and young peoples worker of the Italian Presbyterian mission by a number of workers from the Methodist and Christian churches is conducting a vacation Bible school at the Presbyterian church for children between the ages of four and fourteen years. Sixty children have enrolled up to date and a larger number are expected to enter. The children are taught Bible stories and memory work, songs, drills and handwork. The school closes the last week in June for the orphans. At 10:30 the smaller children are served a lunch of crackers and milk.

Those assisting Miss Harraberger in the school are Mesdames Curtis Sewell, John B. Barbee, Ed Applegate and Frank Clark. Also the Junior Circle and Mrs. F. E. Swearingen and Mesdames R. F. Abernathy, C. E. Brands, O. L. Kidwell, F. D. Straker, Ernest Bick, Gayle Park, Alvin Hester, J. S. Lawrence, Ed Bivins and Miss Clara Lawrence.

The sessions begin at 8:30 each morning closing at 11:30. The school will last two weeks, ending June 3.

Division Number Two of the Christian Ladies Aid spent a pleasant and profitable time at the home of Mrs. H. Hester in the Hollywood Monday afternoon. The meeting opened with a song, Where He Leads Me I Will Follow, followed with the Lord's prayer by Mrs. Crews. It was decided to hold a food sale Sunday, with Division Number One on the second Saturday in June the proceeds to go to the flood sufferers. Mrs. Sisk, the captain, led the study of chapters four, five and six of Matthew, with especial attention to the Lord's prayer. The meeting closed with the song, Blest Be the Tie That Binds, and prayer led by Mrs. N. Mallen. Chapters seven, eight, and nine were assigned for the next lesson. Those present were: Mesdames Aylor, Fegler and the hostess, Mrs. Sisk.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church enjoyed a fine program last Monday afternoon. After the devotional service led by Mrs. H. Sherwood, Mrs. Hicks "Arthur" led the discussion, "The Old and the New Earth." This was one of the best programs given this year. The next interesting and well prepared topic, Kalidescope Monthly and ... Miles gave a pleasing little reading. When Hallie Sisk Jones, Mesdames Mary Hewitt, Juanita Kidd, Maud Hopper, Celia Cherry, Wynona Pearce, Ruby Lee Hewitt and Ralph Anderson, Morris Shenton, Roger Golden, Mesdames McIntyre, R. Barnes, ... Meeks and Meeks, James A. Sewell, Carl Hester, J. A. Keller and J. A. Bevill.

Mrs. James A. Sewell entertained her Sunday school class of intermediate girls with a picnic supper at the city park, seven o'clock Monday night, at Coleman Park. Each girl was allowed to invite one guest to enjoy the merry making.

The singsong voice of the auctioneer drones on, and the women crowd one another for a sight of the antiques. Heirlooms polished with fond memories and useful other articles and furnishings add to the brave display.

It is the craze for antiques. Have you caught it? Perhaps you're just curiously skeptical of it.

Queen Mary of England is a most enthusiastic collector of antiques. She has London fired out in areas on a small search she carries in her purse on shopping expeditions, and has also the Shops in each district for such pieces as tele her fancy.

Prince George, Younger son, brought the queen many oriental antiques when he returned from two years' service in the navy and she has been making purchases to correspond with these.

SIX MILE EXTENSION PROMISED WOODSON PRODUCING AREA

CARRIES POOL OUT OF COUNTY

Deep Production Extends Into Young

Standing with 100 feet of oil in the hole after just scratching the lime at 3804 feet, R. W. Painter's No. 1 W. L. Donnell in southwest Youn gcounty promises to extend the deep pay of the Woodson field approximately six miles to the east. This well is located in section 2371, T. E. & L. survey, and just a short distance east of the Young-Throckmorton county line. It is near the dry hole drilled several years ago by the Whatley interests, a Heydrick map reveals.

It is approximately five miles east of the town of Masters, in Throckmorton county. The Woodson pool, which produces from a lime at approximately the same depth, is just east of Masters.

The Painter test is preparing to drill ni and is being watched with interest, as it will add a dozen sections of favorable land to the southern parts of Young and Throckmorton counties, in case it pays off.

Marine Kills Rebel Leader

Nicaragua General Slain In Street Duel

CHINANDEGA, Nicaragua, May 27. (AP)—Capt. William P. Richards of the United States marine corps shot and killed the liberal general, Cabulla, here early this morning, allegedly in self-defense.

General Cabulla is declared to have been intoxicated and firing with revolver at people in the street when Captain Richards returned fire, killing him.

Managua dispatches on May 11 said that a band of former troops under General Cabulla, who called himself a liberal, but who was described by the liberal as a bandit, had entered the outskirts of Chinandega, killing a half dozen natives, wounding a number of others and engaging in an orgy of plundering. They fled before the arrival of American marines, a detachment of whom was concentrated near the railway.

Dispatches three days later said Cabulla, with 400 men, was still holding out near Chinandega. On May 16 it was reported that Cabulla intended going o Managua to confer with the liberal general, Moncada, with regard to disarming his forces under the agreement between General Moncada and Henry L. Stimson, who recently visited Nicaragua as the personal representative of President Coolidge.

GENERAL CABULLA WAS GENERAL TROUBLE MAKER

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—Marine corps records show that Capt. William Pettet Richards is a native of the state of Washington and was appointed to the marine corps from the naval academy at Annapolis on March 30, 1917, as a second lieutenant. He is 32 years old and has held the rank of captain since January 1, 1922.

General Cabulla has been regarded as a constant trouble-maker for the American expeditionary forces.

2000 Bbl. Well In Earlsboro

Seminole Production Gains Only 38 Barrels

TULSA, May 26.—With the Wilcox sand barely scratched, a well in the Earlsboro pool of the Seminole field is flowing 80 barrels per hour, or at the rate of almost 2000 barrels per day. The well is Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 2 Bryant in 9-9-5, offsetting the J. E. Crosbie produce rto the east. The new well topped the sand at 4277 feet and started flowing at 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Crosbie well is still producing a total of 4210 barrels daily, at three feet in the Wilcox topped at 4296 feet. Its peak production was on April 28, when it made 6480 barrels.

The Seminole field's total output for the 24 hours ended yesterday morning was 356,880 barrels, from 462 wells, being but 38 barrels mare than it made the previous day from 457 wells, when its production was 356,842 barrels.

Prairie Oil and Gas company's two and one-half mile extension to the Searight pool is producing from the Misener and not the Hunton lime, as was first believed. The well is No. 1 Winer, SE corner NE NE of 22-10-6, and swabbed 155 barrels and no water, the last 24 hours. It topped the Misener at 4247 feet, and is three feet in to a total depth of 4250 feet.

News Of The Field

SOUTH WICHITA COUNTY.

Petroleum Producers company has made location to drill its No. 2 Munger, 300 feet west of No. 1 which was recently completed as a dry hole after testing out several promising sands. The lease is located in block 31, Kemp Wichita valley land of South Wichita county.

SOUTHEAST ARCHER COUNTY.

Sun Oil company has made location to drill its No. 1 W. L. Andrews in the R. R. Rainey survey, southeast of Anarene in Archer county. The test will be put down 1150 feet east of P. F. Gwynn and Roxana's recently completed No. 1 Andrews and 150 feet from the west line and 1000 feet from the north of the Sun's 184-acre lease in the R. R. Rainey survey.

WESTERN WICHITA.

The Texas Company has abandoned as a dry hole its No. 1 W. T. Waggoner, Wichita county, at a total depth of 2250 feet. The test was located in section 33, block 5, H. and T. C. survey.

WEST OF IOWA PARK.

T. F. Hunter has spudded in a well on the John and Jeff Waggoner land five miles west of Iowa Park in Wichita count and located 150 feet from the north line and 1800 feet from the west of the M. A. Willis survey.

DAUME DISTRICT.

Wilson Drilling company has placed its No. 1 Daume in section 57, Kemp Wichita valley lands, South Wichita county, on the pump and it is making 100 barrels of oil with a small amount of water daily from the 1815 foot sand.

COTTLE COUNTY.

Sun Oil company is drilling at 2595 feet in No. 1 Burnett, located in section 8, block L. S. P. R. R. survey of eastern Cottle county.

ANCELL DISTRICT.

Consolidated Oil company and Apple and Brandeberry have staked out locations for immediate drilling of two offsets to No. 2 Ancell in section 11, block 7 of the H. and T. C. survey in Wichita county. No. 3 will be 300 feet south of No. 2 and 4, 300 feet east of the new producer which swabbed 275 barrels of oil in 18 hours.

FOARD COUNTY TESTS.

The Texas Company is digging the cellar at the location for its No. 1 Watkin south of Crowell in Foard county and located 1000 feet from the south and west lines of the J Armstrong survey.

In the eastern portion of the county, Roxana Petroleum corporation and Fain-McGaha Oil company are drilling at 530 feet in No. 1 Matthews, one of the most important tests drilling in counties west of Wichita Falls.

NORTHEAST YOUNG COUNTY.

Henry Ford Drives Ancient Model To Prove His Car Will Still Run

DETROIT, May 27. (AP)—Henry Ford got out his most prized possession yesterday, his number 1 car and paraded it before an applauding assembly. The car was the first produced by Ford, a dimunitive two-cylindered affair known in its era as a horseless carriage and resembles a buggy seat attached to bicycle wheels. It was driven by Ford at a celebration arranged on the occasion of the assembling of the 15,000,000th Ford automobile at the Ford plant here yesterday.

Ford, who only recently recovered from injuries received in an automobile accident, at first was disinclined to drive, but when mechanics had difficulty starting the aged motor he climbed into the seat.

Machine Responds

A moment's tinkering and the little machine responded perfectly to the touch of the man who designed it. Ford drove several miles around the Dearborn estate and brought up in front of the crowd of several hundred persons present. At the stern of the machine hung a huge oil lamp, the pioneer tail light, and the steering apparatus was equipped with a bell device, the forerunner of the present-day horn. When Ford pressed a button the device produced a sound similar to the ring of a door bell.

Ford told spectators that he had to make some special tools to turn out the spokes and that former United States Senator Truman H. Newberry made the springs. The machine was sold to Charles Ainslee of Buffalo for $160, but was retrieved by Ford several years later. Ainslee afterwards started the Buffalo gas engine works, Ford said.

Called a Monster

The machine was regarded by some persons as a sort of monster, said Edsel Ford, who told of coming upon a horse and buggy while driving it one day.

"The whole family got out of the carriage and fled when they saw us," he said. "The horse wasn't scared, but the family was."

Ford appeared to be completely recovered from the effects of his accident.

60 DAYS JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Federal Court Punishes Fort Worth Man

DALLAS, May 27. (AP)—John Luther Walker of Fort Worth was sentenced to 60 days in jail without bail for contempt of court by Federal Judge William H. Atwell here Friday.

Walker, who filed petition for personal bankruptcy in 1925 was brought to trial for alleged violation of a court order signed by Judge Atwell last March. The court order referred to alleged interference with sale of property turned over to B. K. Goree of Fort Worth as trustee.

Witnesses testified today that Walker attempted to block the sale of a lot in Fort Worth to Mrs. Victoria S. Brandes, and three witnesses testified that Walker said "Judge Atwell's signature doesn't mean a thing."

"No one is going to interfere with the process of this court, either openly or under cover," Judge Atwell said in delivering sentence. "You have slandered the titles, this court, an officer of this court, and have done everything possible to hinder sale of this property.

"To that the defendant adds the temerity of coming to open court and testifying that he did not do what these witnesses have testified he did do—and of course, I believe the testimony of these two women."

Railroad And Industrial Stocks Continue Climb In Face Of Pre-Holiday Profit Taking

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 26.—Both railroad and industrial stocks moved higher on the average today despite the widespread belief of the trading community that pre-holiday profit taking would cause irregularity. The industrial average reached the highest record in history and the strong undertone of the market throughout the day was pointed to by brokers as further indication that strong banking interests are in sympathy with the advance.

Several new favorites were prominent with revival of rather excited buying of Wabash and Great Western while among the industrials Bush Terminal and General Refractories jumped into the spotlight while Pittsburg Coal added somewhat to its sensational gain of the previous day.

Call money held at 4 1-2 per cent all day although there appeared to be a larger supply of funds available. Foreign exchange was quiet and practically unchanged while the commodity markets turned stronger with wheat and cotton options making up all of the losses of the last few sessions on further bullish weather advices.

It was interesting to note that the five most active stocks of the day; viz., Wabash, Great West preferred, Western Maryland, Marine preferred and Transcontinental Oil, were all non-dividend payers and Wabash alone appears to have a fair chance of receiving a payment in the comparatively near future. The Marine advance followed gain of the previous day and was influenced by report that freight war between the steamship companies was over and that an advance in rates would be announced in the near future. Transcontinental Oil was moved in sympathy with reports as to its valuable holdings in West Texas, although naught was said of the huge amount of stock outstanding. Merger talk was the main motif for the rail strength.

New York Central was the real investment leader of the day as forecasts were made in banking quarters that the stock would move comparable to the performance of Steel before the stock dividend now that liquidation of a big amount of stock had been completedd. This liquidation, it was hinted, had been going on over the course of the last several weeks and was for the account of other railroad interests who were forestalling trouble when their merger plans were announced. Reading also moved higher as did the Katy and the stocks of the other roads that were to go into the Southwestern merger.

The strength of the rail shares was more noteworthy in that it followed on the heels of utterances of certain students of railroad conditions that the Commerce Commission probably would refuse to approve the new Van Sweringen plan. This merger on which the most powerful bankers, leading lawyers as well as the best minds in the transportation world have been working for over four years, is the keystone of the railroad consolidation program of the east. Should it be thrown out by the commission the fear will grow that Congress will make changes in the transportation act undesired by the bankers and railroad magnates.

Brokers are in dispute as to what the effect on the market will be of the distribution of the 40 per cent Steel stock dividend next Wednesday. One group feels that material increase in brokers loans will result because of the amount of "public" buying of the heavy margin as the actual stock will when delivered. However, other brokers maintain that when the so-called "public" trades they demand as heavy margin on contracts as on actual stock. Furthermore they point out the borrowings on by Steel carrying the stock dividend will be cut down as many holders have sold contracts against their shares.

Bush terminal jumped over four points to a new high record although a dividend was not declared. The stock was in steady demand throughout the session coincident with rumors to the effect that important action for stockholders was not far off which would more than warrant the rather sensational advance in price experienced already. Gabriel Snubber was another to reach a new high record price during the session as buyers of the stock exhibited a little more aggressiveness following a report that the company expected to get the business on the new Ford car.

COTTON SEED OIL.

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)— Cotton seed oil was moderately active and firm today, closing six to 18 points net higher, due to light offerings and commission house buying, inspired by the bullish excitement in grains and lard, and the firmness of cotton. The June delivery, however, was easier, closing 10 points lower due to circulation of delivery notices for 400 barrels. Sales 8500 barrels. TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

FORT WORTH, May 27. (AP)—With a nervous and erratic contract grain market Friday, the Forth Worth cash market showed little activity. Dealers reported that trading was of such a nature that it was practically impossible to quote even a nominal price for any commodity. Exporters got out of the buying and refused to make any bids on wheat. Milling wheat prices were quotable but no buyers were found. Other grains were slow.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, May 27. (AP)—Excited buying today brought about a wild general advance in all grain and provisions. Radically adverse conditions for wheat and corn crops combined with talk of war possibilities between Great Britain and Russia hoisted wheat nearly 6 cents a bushel in some cases and corn more than 5 cents.

Closing quotations on wheat were greatly unsettled, 4⅝ to 5⅛ cents net higher. Corn finished 4⅛ to 5⅛ cents up, rye at 3 to 3⅝ cents gain, oats showing 1⅝ to 2⅛ cents gain, oats showing 1Z to 2⅛ cents advance, and provisions a ris eof 17 tao 55 cents, affected chiefly by the strength of grain and hog values as well.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, May 27. (AP)—Despite an early decline due to pre-holiday and week-end liquidation prices in today's cotton market rose almost to the high points for the movement. December actually duplicating the season's hight at 17.00. Profit taking near the end caused a slight recession and the general market closed steady at a net advance of 19 to 21 points.

At the start Liverpool cables were lower than due and first trades here showed a decline of four points. The market continued to ease off in the early trading on the New York and local liquidation until October traded down to 16.45 and December 16.63, 12 or 13 points below the previous close.

Covering induced by the belief that the dry weather in thew est will continue over Sunday started the market on the upgrade and by mid-session prices showed gains of 22 to 24 points above the lows, with October at 16.67, and December 16.87.

Prices remained near those levels until near the close when increased shorts covering brought another sharp bulge and all months made new highs with October at 16.79 and December at 17.00, 34 to 37 points up. The high prices attracted some profit taking at the end and the market eased off a few points but closed steady near the highs.

Secretary Hester's mill takings of 288,000 bale shad no effect on the market.

Exports for the day totaled 27,222, and for the week 105,338 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—Rather heavy realizing was absorbed on a decline of 9 or 10 points in the cotton market early today. Prices later firmed up on covering and fresh buying inspired by apprehensions of unsettled weather in the south over the local holidays. October contracts advanced from 16.50 to 16.85 or within 4 points of the high level touched earlier in the week and 26 points above the closing quotation yesterday. That delivery closed at 16.83 the general market closing firm at net advances of 23 to 25 points.

The opening was steady ata declin of 4 to 7 pointsin response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and favorable early weather reports. There was considerable pressure of lonog liquidation, but offerings of July were absorbed with the aid of trade buying, while there seemed to be a good deal of covering, or some fresh buying of later months.

Trading was active late in the afternoon, when buyers appeared to be competing for a comparatively small supply of contracts. July advanced from 16.12 to 16.50, December from 16.74 to 17.10, and January from 16.81 to 17.15, these prices being equal to the previous high level in the case of July and within 4 or 5 points of the best on the later deliveries.

Exports today 22,222, making 10,281,743 so far this season. Port receipts 12,942; U. S. port stocks 1,667,441.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—Speculative interest in today's markets was divided between the violent advances in special stocks and the jump of five cents a bushel in active wheat futures. More than 50 stocks, including a dozen rails, sold at new high levels for the year or longer, many of them at the highest prices ever recorded, despite the rather extensive pre-holiday readjustment of speculative accounts. The stock market disregarded a number of ordinarily unfavorable news developments, apparently deriving its chief impetus from the easy credit situation. The rise in wheat was based largely on unfavorable crop reports from Canada and the winter wheat belt of this country.

The weekly mercantile revews characterized general as "spotty" but report no general contraction of activity. An unexpected increase was reported in the operations o fthe United States Steel corporation, although steel and iron scrap prices were quoted 25 cents a ton lower in the Chicago district. The first 43 railroads to report their April earnings show a drop of about 17 per cent in net railway operating income and the American Railway association estimates a drop of about 550,000 cars in loadings this year.

Competitive bidding for control was believed by many Wall Street traders to be the reason behind the heavy buying of some of the eastern and middle western carriers. New maximum prices were recorded by New oYrk Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Railway, Rock Island, "Katy" common and preferred, St. Louis-Southwestern, Western Maryland common and preferred, Wabash common and preferred A, Rutland prefefred, and Chicago and Alton preferred.

Talk of higher coastal freight rates accompanied the brisk demand for shipping shares, Marine preferred, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies, American International, and United Fruit all reaching all reaching new high ground.

Motors, which were inclined to heaviness yesterday on the announcement of a new Ford model and the curtailment of production by the Hudson company, offered better resistance to pressure today.

Call money held at 4½ per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet with rates holding steady. Demand sterling ruled around $4.85 7-16 and French francs around 3.91⅝ cents.

GRAIN PRICES SOAR TO HIGHS

Wheat Takes Two-Cent Climb For Day

BY CHARLES J. LEYDEN.
Universal Servic eStaff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Grain prices soared to much higher levels today, new tops for the season being made for all but May deliveries. Wheat gained in Strength as the day wore on and trading in the final hour was heavy.

Attainment of the dollar level by the Septemter delivery was the feature in the corn trade. Prices advanced steadily and closed within a fraction of best levels. Oats were active and strong and rye was up sharply along with other grains.

May wheat opened at $1.52½@1.52⅝, declined to $1.51¼, worked up to $1.54⅜ and closed at $1.54. July opened at $1.46¾@1.47½, advanced to $1.51, reacted to $1.50 and closed at $1.50⅛@1.50⅝.

Only small sales of red winter and Canadian wheat for export were reported, the seaboard claiming that buyers were not following the market. A fair barley business was worked at best prices on the crop. Liverpool wheat closed ⅞@1⅝ pence higher.

Locally, wheat closed 4⅝@5c higher, corn 4⅞@5⅝c, oats 1⅝@2⅝c and rye 3½@3½c.

General buying developed in the corn market and prices reflected this. All deliveries were sharply higher and September reached the dollar level. The action of the market frightened the shorts and many stop-loss orders were uncovered.

Oats trading was the most active in some time.

Rye trade was not particularly active but the market was strong in sympathy with other grains.

TEXAS VEGETABLES.
By Universal Service.

SAN ANTONIO, May 27.—With the demand in eastern and northern markets for watermelons exceeding the supply, lower Rio Grande valley shippers today started 19 cars of watermelons for out of the state market with them went 67 cars of potatoes, 16 cars of mixed vegetables, three cars of cucumbers and six cars of onions.

Potato sales today were consumated at Texas points from $3.35 to $3.50, a few wire orders sales were reported higher. An unofficial report listed f. o. b. wire order sales on watermelons around $2.50 for 28s; $2.20 on 26s, $2.10 on 24s, and $1.75 on 20s. This was largely the quoting basis, but not a great many sales were noted, and inqury was limited.

The Brownsville tomato marketw as dull at $1.00 per four-basket crates of unwrapped turnings, and $1.75 and $2.00 for lugs of wrapped greens.

In the market of the nation, tomatoes were rather inclined to weakness, although a number of leading jobbing markets were fairly steady.

Potatoes were spotted with Kansas City stronger. A number of other points cobblers were dull to unsettled.

COMMERCIAL BULLETIN.

BOSTON, May 27. (AP)—The Commercial Buplletin tomorrow will say:

There is a broader demand for wool and the tendency of prices is upward both here and in the west. The call has been principally for the finer qualities. This reflects better demand for goods.

Heavy buying has been the rule in Texas, Nevada, Utah and Oregon with some activity in Wyoming at prices substantially back to the February contract levels while 33 to 36 cents is the general price level through the bright wool states.

Foreign markets are firm.

Mohair is steady. Wool quotations:

Scoured basis, Texas fine 12 months (selected) $1.05@1.08; fine 8 months 90@95c.

Mohairs good original bag fall Texas 53@59c; Texas kid 68@70c; good original bag Arizona and New Mexico 52@54c; original bag average 12 months Oregon 53@55c.

POULTRY PRICES.

CHICAGO, May 27. (AP)—Poultry alive, weak; receipts five cars; fowls 20½@22½c; springs 35c; broilers 22@30c; turkeys 25c; roosters 13c; ducks 25@30c; geese 15c.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Weather, crop, trade and industrial reports continue very spotted. From practically one-half of the reporting centers this week come advices of wet, cool, weather being a retarding influence upon retail trade, which should be good at this season, while wet soil or bad roads, or, as in the south, the progress southward of the Mississippi floods, makes for delay in seeding of crops, such as spring wheat, cotton, and corn. Winter wheat prospects in the southwest certainly seem to have faded, and the leading corn states still report little plantinf done. A wide area of the lower Mississippi valley has not been planted to cotton. Curiously enough, in view of the supposedly wide distribution of moisture, it is worth noting that cotton in the South Atlantic staes, southwest Louisiana, eastern Mississippi, and West Texas, and wheat in parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, need ran for best growth.

Weekly bank clearings $9,768,251,000, an increase of 8.5 per cent over last year.

TEXAS SPOT COTTON.

DALLAS.—Spot cotton closed steady, 20 up. Middling 15.40; sales 4554 bales.

HOUSTON.—Spot cotton steady, 25 up. Middling 16.30; sales 350 bales.

GALVESTON.—Spot cotton steady, 25 up; middling 16.50; sales 500 bales.

PADUCAH GETS TWO BIG ROADS

Great U. S. Highways To Cross There

Special to The Record News.

PADUCAH, May 27.—By action of the Great Plains Highway association, meeting today at Valentine, Neb., Paducah is placed at the intersection of two trans-continental highways. The "Great Plains highway," which by this action is permanently routed through Paducah, has for its northern point of origin the city of Regina, Canada. Entering the United States just above Minot, N. D., it runs almost due south through Bismarck, N. D.; Pierre, S. D.; North Platte, Neb.; Liberal, Kan.; Perryton, Canadian, Wellington, Childress, Paducah and Abilene, Texas, on down to a connection with the Mexican highway system at Laredo, and is to be known as Federal highway No. 83.

This road will intersect at Paducah the "Lee highway" or Federal highway No. 70, which traverses the continent from east to west, from New York City to San Francisco.

There is in progress on this road, probably the greatest construction program ever attempted in road building in the south; that is the paving of the entire route through Texas, at one time, a distance of about 240 miles. Entering Texas at Farwell, it passes through Muleshoe, Oilton, Plainview, Lockney, Floydada, Matador, Paducah, Crowell and Vernon, crossing Red river near the latter point.

Four of the nine counties traversed have already voted bonds and the state highway commission has tentatively agreed to furnish state and federal aid in the proportion of two for one, and has appropriated $500 per mile for the preliminary work.

BIBLE SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

First Methodist Holds Vacation Session

The daily vacation Bible school of the First Methodist church will convene May 30 for a three weeks session. Classes will meet daily from 8:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. from Monday to Friday of each week.

An invitation has been extended to all the children in Wichita Falls to attend the school. The school in past years has been limited to the membership of the First Methodist church.

Training will be given in pageantry, dramatics, Bible story, Bible drill, memorization, music, handcraft, manual training, worship, missions, citizenship, directed play and recreation.

Enrollment will be limited to the capacity of the equipment and building. All children expecting to enroll have been requested to be present in the auditorium of the church at 8:30 a. m. Monday.

arrest of workers through misapplication of the vagrancy law.

A maximum of 48 working hours per week for all women workers will be asked.

Full compensation for time lost by prisoners found to be innocent of charges preferred against them will be asked through correction of this compensation law.

The proposed bill which calls for reorganization of the Texas prison system and the appointment of a prison board of nine unsalaried members was approved.

A bill now pending in congress which would raise all salaries of government employes at Washington, D. C., to not less than $1500 yearly was approved.

Rehabilitation of persons injured in industrial accidents through government funds will be urged.

All handlers of food will be required to furnish a health certificate obtained not less than every six months if a bill to be introduced by the federation legislative representative is passed.

Wage Collection

The legislative representative of the federation will be asked to find some means of protection of the laborer in collection of wages.

A law preventing the use of the paint spraying machine will be urged to protect the health of operators.

Safety devices for painters and other workmen on buildings over three stories in height will be asked through legislation.

The public drinking cup was condemned, and some legislation requiring sanitary drinking cups in all public places will be asked.

The bill now before congress which calls for the retirement of federal employes after reaching the age of 53 years was endorsed.

A more rigid enforcement of the immigration law relative to the entrance of foreign seamen into this country will be asked.

Two Speakers

Two speakers addressed the convention early in the final session, Mrs. Mary M. Wise of Houston, who was formerly head of the label and shop card department, and Arthur Thorpe of Houston. Both pleaded for the support of all representatives in demanding the union label on all good purchased.

George Wilson, incoming president, in a short address pledged full support of all principles of the organization and urged the complete support of each member of the organization to all officers.

CLARA NEWS NOTES

Special to The Record News.

CLARA, May 27.—On Friday evening, May 13 the senior class of Clara school presented their senior class play, "A Poor Married Man." The cast was as follows:

Professor Wise—J. O. Sehon Jr.
Mrs. Iona Ford—Nova Matthews.
Zoie, her daughter—Alice Hoffman.
Dr. Graham—Clarence Schroeder.
June Graham—Reba Faulk.
Billie Blake—Herman Engleman.
Rosalind Wilson—Clara Kiesling.
Jupita Jackson—Paul Matthews.

The play netted about $55, which was given to the school fund. The play was directed by Miss Mare Foster, class sponsor.

Baccalaureate Sermon.

Rev. Paul Kaiser delived the baccalaureate sermon to the senior class on Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Prof Karl Goetze played the march and several special musical numbers including a violin solo. Miss Phlorene Geo of Iowa Park also played a special number. The members of the graduating class are: Alice Hoffman, Reba Faulk, Clara Kiesling, Nova Lee Matthews, J. O. Tehon, Jr., Arnold Muller, Paul Matthews and Herman Engleman.

Theater Party.

Those enjoying the occasion were Reba Faulk, Clara Kiesling Alice Hoffman, Nova Lee Matthews, J. O. Sehon Jr. Paul Matthews, Arnold Muller, Herman Engleman, Werner Kiesling, guest and Miss Mary Foster, class sponsor.

On last Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Sehon and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hauze proved themselves delightful hosts and hostesses when they entertained the junior and senior classes at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hauze. Games and contests were enjoyed until a late hour. Miss Gertrude Kieserman and J. O. Sehon Sr., being prize winners in the contests. The guests were then called into the dining room which was beautifully decorated in pink and white. A large angelfood cake formed the center piece. The eleven candles were blown out by the juniors and wishes made for the senior class, after which ice cream and cake was served to: Arnold Muller, J. O. Sehon Jr., Paul Matthews, Reba Faulk Alice Hoffman, Nova Lee Matthews, Clara Kiesling, Ona Lamb, James White, Gertrude Kieserman, Jimmie Chapman, Mildred Van Loh and Ruby Harlow and Lela Mae Chapman guests. Plate favors were autograph books for the seniors and teething rings for the juniors.

Commencement Exercises.

The commencement exercises were held at the Clara school auditorium on Friday, May 20 at 8:30 o'clock. The stage was beautifully decorated in the class colors of pink and white carnations, the girls also carrying arm bouquets of pink carnations.

Burl Bryant delivered the address and Rev. Paul Kaiser played several special piano numbers. Professor Cullers then presented diplomas to Alice Hoffman, Arnold Muller, Paul Matthews, Clara Kiesling, Nova Matthews, J. O. Sehon Jr., Herman Engleman and Reba Faulk. Scholarships were awarded to Alice Hoffman who gave the valedictorian's address and Paul Matthews, honor student among the boys. The seventh grade graduates were: Ruth Garrett, Durseward Redman, Ola Bell Duff, J. T. Currey, Joddie Mae Alexander, Raymond Lamb, Angie Belle Price, Vera Chapman, Opal Mathews, Waymon Frazier, Velma Rogers, Eula Chandler, Eulalia Hoffman, Laverne Sansom, J. C. Stone, Ray Faulk, Albert Williams, Evadene Sullivan, William King, Mitchell Nations, Ruth Gerrets was honor student of the seventh grade class.

Majestic: "Tip Toes" with Dorothy Gish and Will Rogers; Harry Snodgrass in person; comedy and Pathe News.
Olympic: Betty Bronson in "Ritzy," also comedy and news.
Strand: "Silver Comes Through," starring Fred Thompson; also news reel.
Mission: Desert Toll," with Tim McCoy and chapter 3 "Return of the Riddle Rider."
Garden: "The Cyclone Cowboy," with Wally Wales, No. 6 of "The Melting Millions," and comedy.
Gem: Yakima Canutt in "The Fighting Stallion," and comedy.

Dorothy Gish, Will Rogers and Nelson Keys, three of the funniest people in this funny world, are all at the Majestic theater for three days, starting today. "Tip-Toes," a Broadway stage hit of last season is their screen vehicle. The picture was produced in London by British National Pictures, Ltd., and imported by Paramount.

"Tip-Toes" is the story of "The Three Kayes," dead broke American vaudeville team in London. After their tryout, Al ruefully remarks, "Well, an Englishman's face was never made to laugh with," to which Hen replies, "Righto, but mine was made to eat with,—and how?" To which the answers appears in the form of one Lord William Montgomery, titled innocent, and very nice, too—who immediately falls in love with dainty, dancing, "Tip-Toes."

Now London is an awful foggy town to be hungry in—so who can blame Al and Hen for plotting to marry "Tip-Ttoes" to Lord William and his fortune? And who can blame the "Three Kayes" for occupying the finest suite in London's smartest hotel, when his lordship's unsuspecting influence placed them in it under the supposition that "Tip-Ttoes" was an American heiress and Al and Hen her two uncles? An invitation to Montgomery castle lands the three adventurers plump into the lap of aristocracy, where dinin; is a holy rite and conversation a fine art—while the "Three Kayes" had always known that grub is to eat, the quicker the better, and table talk a nuisance unless it be loud and funny. Of course their true status is soon discovered. Lord William issues an ultimatum; internment under police supervision threatens the Yankee invaders. In other words, they're in an awful jam. After a party aboard his lordship's yacht, "Tip-Toes" manages to convince him of the sincerity of her love.

Added to the talents of Gish, Rogers and Keys is the direction of Herbert Wilcox, said by some to be England's most talented megaphonist. "Tip-Toes" is indeed funny, added to which is a real important production.

Half Holiday For Postal Carriers Urged By Business Council Speakers

Investigation of the proposed Saturday half holiday for postal carriers of Wichita Falls will be made by a special committee of three members of the Business Council, appointed at the weekly luncheon Friday, and a report offered at the next meeting. Roy Carter, B. G. Ripley and J. M. Baber compose the committee.

The question of the half holiday was favorably discussed during the meeting, and action delayed in accordance with a council policy of not going on record on an issue at the same meeting in which it is presented. Conditions in other cities were explained by several speakers, and the league informed that one carrier in Wichita Falls takes care of 2900 people where carriers in most other cities of the state serve about 900.

Air Mail Service

Hubert M. Harrison gave a detailed report of the air mail service which will be afforded Wichita Falls if present plans materialize. A ruling that a route may not exceed 1000 miles will have to be waived and the lighting system for the Chicago-Dallas night line be changed if the service is obtained, he said.

Mr. Harrison is at present making a survey in the territory to estimate the average daily tonnage that would be available from this point. The contract company will ask approximately 40 pounds, he said, and the council will be asked to aid in enlisting business interests in the proposition.

P. R. Roberts of the Peoples' Press introduced George Wilson of Houston, newly elected president of the Texas State Federation of Labor, who complimented Wichita Falls on the co-operation of the business interests and organized labor, and Joe Amstead of Austin, a delegate to the convention.

Mr. Harrison had as his guest Henry Camp Harris of Dallas, a former director of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Approve Bond Issue

Mr. Harrison had as his guest Henry Camp Harris of Dallas, a former director of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

The concluding business of the meeting consisted of enthusiastic endorsements of the $1,110,000 road bond issue to be voted on June 25. Several speakers predicted that the issue would be passed with little opposition due to the obvious advantage of highway connections to be made.

Electra Man Cleared Of Liquor Charge

Arraigned on a charge of having three gallons of liquor in his possession when taken into custody by Electra officers, Walter Holder was acquitted Friday by a jury in the 89th district court.

Holder still faces an indictment for attempting to bribe an officer. He is alleged to have offered $500 to the raiding officers if they would allow him to stay in his house alone for a short time.

Holder will be brought to trial on the attempt to bribe charge within the near future, E. F. Fruechte, assistant district attorney said.

State Insurance Head To Speak Here Today

R. L. Daniels, state insurance commissioner, will be in Wichita Falls Saturday and will address the regular weekly luncheon of the Northwest Texas Life Underwriters association, it was announced by Travis Wallace, secretary.

All life insurance men, regardless of membership in the association, are invited to hear Mr. Daniels' address, Mr. Wallace said.

Mr. Daniels is a brother of Dr. J. E. Daniels, formerly of Wichita Falls but now of Houston.

DATE FOR TOUR SET JULY 16

22 Already Signed For California Trip

Postponement of the proposed tour through certain sections of California as planned by several Wichita Falls business men was announced Friday by J. W. Chatham, industrial and traffic manager of the chamber of commerce. The train will leave Saturday, July 16 instead of June 4, as previously announced.

Approximately 22 men have signed up for the trip, Mr. Chatham said, and at least 50 are expected to join before the excursion starts. The same schedule will be observed as was announced for the first date.

The train is to leave Wichita Falls at 1:05 o'clock on the afternoon of July 16. The trip can be made conveniently for about $175, Mr. Chatham said.

Jury Suspends Term In Liquor Conviction

A two-year suspended sentence was meted out Friday to A. W. Allred by a jury in the 89th district court, when he was arraigned for the violation of the state prohibition law.

Allred was arrested during December when county officers raided an alleged liquor distillery, with a 500-gallon capacity, near Iowa Park. Oscar Carroll, taken into custody during the raid, was recently sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary. The still captured in the raid is said to be the largest one ever discovered in Wichita county.

Ex-Pen Agent Sues Solons

Ousted Prison Secretary Asks Damages

HOUSTON, May 27. (AP)—The District court docket here today shows that Frank O'Rourke of Houston, former secretary of the Texas state prison commission, has filed suit for $100,000 against members of a legislative committee which took testimony in connection with an alleged incident at the state penitentiary in Huntsville last October when Frank and Alonzo Noel, Dallas negroes, were electrocuted for murder.

The suit is one of several Mr. O'Rourke has filed in connection with the same matter. It names Lee Satterwhite of Amarillo, former speaker of the Texas house of representatives; H. W. Sayle of Breckenridge, former chairman of the state prison commission, and the following members of the legislative investigating committee: W. M. Fly, Gonzales county; R. A. Powell, Montgomery county; Claude Teer of Williamson; W. E. Montgomery of Hidalgo; W. H. Williamson, Mexar; John M. Beatch, Johnson; John F. Wallace, Freestone and Alfred C. Petsch, Gillespie county.

Texas Railroads Ask Freight Rate Schedule

AUSTIN, May 27. (AP)—In application of intrastate rates and regulations, the Texas & Pacific railway, Abilene & Southern, Cisco & Northwestern; Weatherford, Mineral Wells & Northwestern, and Denison & Pacific suburban, shall be considered as under same management and control, the railroad commission ordered today.

The Two Phases Of Usefulness As We See Them

There are two well-defined phases of banking service. One is the propelling phase, represented by the forms of usefulness that carry you forward, that build up.

One is the stabilizing phase, the forms of usefulness that gives you anchorage, resisting power, reserve strength, when it is needed.

Each is as important as the other.
