Aussies Push Inland; Fall Of Davao Near

Tarakan Invaders Near Airfield In Drive For Borneo

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, May 4—Tank-led Australian invaders of Tarakan reached the approaches of Lingkas town and the airfield Wednesday, their second day on the little port island off Borneo. In the Philippines the fall of Davao city to the Americans appeared imminent.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today said the veteran Aussies, moving with close air and naval support, expanded their beachheads and drove to within a few hundred yards of the Tarakan airfield. They were on the outskirts of Lingkas town.

B-29S POUND JAPS

GUAM, Friday, May 4 (AP)—Between 50 and 100 Superfortresses bombed airfields on Kyushu and Shikoku, two of the main Japanese islands, in a daylight attack this morning.

The strike was the 14th since March 27 in the campaign to neutralize air bases in southern Japan from which enemy planes could raid American Okinawa forces.

Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay reported that Matsuyama airfield on northwest Shikoku was bombed visually with good results.

Japs Run On Mindanao

On Mindanao island, meantime, Maj. Gen. Roscoe Woodruff's 24th U. S. Infantry division penetrated Davao city, a major port of the Philippines, as the Japanese garrison retreated northward.

Apparently the fierce fight that had been expected for Davao city, center of pre-war Japanese activity in the archipelago, had failed to develop. The enemy evidently chose to withdraw.

Another airfield south of Davao was taken. This was the fourth airdrome seized by the Yanks on the western shore of Davao gulf.

The Australian invaders of Tarakan, who took with them a government oil crew to put the island's extensive oil facilities back into operation immediately, still were finding only scant resistance.

At Outskirts Of Lingkas

The Aussies, members of the famed Australian Ninth division, were on the outskirts of Lingkas, principal city of the small island which is about 1,000 miles from Singapore.

Tanks assisted the infantry in smashing Japanese resistance pockets.

Unloading of supplies, unhampered by air opposition, proceeded rapidly, the communique said.

Heavy and medium bombers from the Philippines, flying in support of the invasion operation, struck at airdromes, bivouacs and defenses at Jesselton, Kudat, Sandakan and Tawao, on Borneo.

The Allied troops, which included some Dutch Indonesians, met no resistance when they landed Tuesday on Tarakan's oil soaked sands and today's communique failed to mention any organized opposition. The Japanese had been caught by surprise and apparently had been unable to unite their forces for a stand.

Guns Captured Intact

Coastal guns and ammunition dumps were captured intact. The Japanese retreated northward.

Matina airfield, south of Davao, is "under our control and our forces are rapidly clearing small enemy groups from the vicinity of Libby airfield," MacArthur said.

In the interior of Mindanao, the 31st division advanced another two miles northward along the central highway, with close support from dive bombers.

British Trap Japs In Rangoon Drive

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

CALCUTTA, May 3 — British and Indian troops in their greatest victory of the three-year-old Burma campaign today entered Rangoon, capital and chief port of Burma, and began speedily wiping out Japanese resistance in the city only a day after making a powerful seaborne landing at the mouth of the Rangoon river.

There were indications that Rangoon already was in British hands. Allied prisoners liberated by the assaulting forces said the Japanese began evacuating Rangoon three weeks ago both by land and sea, and only light opposition was anticipated. Airmen flying low over the capital saw a large sign on one building saying "Japs gone." The Japanese are believed to have blown up port installations.

Japs Hopelessly Trapped

Whatever Japanese remained in the vicinity were hopelessly trapped by yesterday's landings from the Bay of Bengal at the mouth of the river 20 miles south of Rangoon. Strong Allied armored forces driving down from Mandalay were last reported approaching the capital from the north after capturing Pegu and probably entered the city with the seaborne forces today. The seizure of Pegu cut the last escape routes into Thailand for perhaps 30,000 Japanese.

The final two-way assault on Rangoon, which the Japanese captured March 8, 1942, three months after Pearl Harbor, was supported by a powerful three-day air and sea bombardment of enemy installations and gun positions in the entire area. Carrier planes of the British East Indies fleet joined heavy bombers and fighters in the crushing attack.

The capture of Rangoon, main

Navy Casualties 5,551 On Okinawa

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Friday, May 4.—American naval casualties of 5,551—including 1,131 killed — were reported today by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz for the Okinawa campaign as the ground fighting reached another vicious near-deadlock.

Two "light units" of the Pacific fleet off the strategic Ryukyu island were sunk in an attack last night by four flights of enemy warplanes, the communique announced.

From Start Of Drive

Nimitz gave the naval casualty toll, through Wednesday, as 1,131 killed, 2,816 wounded and 1,604 missing. This includes casualties from the start of the Okinawa operation on March 18 when carrier planes struck Japan's inland sea in a supporting move. Okinawa itself was invaded April 11.

The figures, preliminary and still incomplete, brought the total announced American casualties for Okinawa, counting soldiers and Marines, to 16,964 — including 2,658 dead.

Japanese ground casualties alone exceed 21,000.

The fight on southern Okinawa raged in full fury yesterday as Lt.

Italian Campaign Is Costly To Americans

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — The 20-months-long battle for Italy, ended victoriously by the surrender of German forces there, took the lives of at least 21,577 American soldiers.

Secretary of War Stimson said today that was the toll for the Fifth Army up to April 28—six days before the campaign was over. In addition, 77,248 were wounded and 10,338 were missing, making the total casualties 109,163.

Simultaneously, Stimson announced that Army casualties in all theaters since the beginning of the war have reached 848,089 on the basis of names reported here through April 21. Added to the Navy's losses of 102,383, this placed casualties of both services at 950,472. This was an increase of 11,099 since the report of last week.

War's Slips Pass In Review In Prison Camp Liberation

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALTENGRABOW PRISON CAMP, Germany, May 3—All the major mishaps that American troops have suffered since the war began paraded in retrospect out of this prison camp this afternoon as the 83rd Infantry division liberated more than 1,200 long imprisoned Yanks and began freeing more than 19,000 Allied war prisoners.

Under flags of truce and by arrangement with a German colonel, commandant of the camp, we traveled 20 miles behind enemy lines with 83rd division trucks, ambulances and jeeps to effect the liberation.

As shouting, cheering Yank prisoners climbed aboard the trucks they were asked where they were captured and their answers told a three-year tale of ill-fated phases of a war which now spells only success for Allied and other American armies.

"Kasserine Pass!" shouted scores. Others told of other places in Tunisia—Sidi Bou Sid and Faid Pass and Hill 609.

There were boys from Bizerte and soldiers from Salerno. Cassino's grim crop was represented and several rangers reported on that fatal night of June 30, 1944, when they struck at Cisterna from the outer rim of the Anzio beachhead and lost two battalions of the nation's crack troops.

Not all were from such long gone battles. Hundreds of happy doughboys — actually grabbing gleefully at K rations for the first

Nazi Flight By Sea Turns To Slaughter

By DON DOANE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 3.—Germans attempting to flee the Reich by sea toward Denmark and Norway were slaughtered today by American, British and Canadian planes which sank or damaged more than 64 ships in day-long attacks off the Baltic coast of Schleswig-Holstein.

"Another Dunkerque" fliers described it, only this time it was Germans trying to get away and the Allies hitting their jumbled convoys of ships with bombs and rockets "like shooting fish in a barrel."

Ninth Joins Massacre

U. S. Ninth Airforce rocketfiring Thunderbolts and fighter-bombers joined this afternoon in the massacre which was started by the RAF last night with raids on the Kiel naval base.

The Ninth reported hitting 11 German ships of transport or cargo size and many other smaller craft.

The Nazis set sail from all available ports in every type of ship they could muster—from barges to 10,000-ton cargo ships and troop carriers, and even submarines—in a frantic effort to escape the British and Russian armies, now linked up east of Luebeck and closing in on the last Nazi-held ports and Germany's few remaining U-boat lairs.

Destination—Where?

Denmark or Norway—possibly even Sweden—appeared to be the destination of the fugitives, who might be trying to reach a site where Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz possibly planned a death stand.

American pilots of the 366th fighter-bomber group hit seven ships of 3,000 to 6,000 tons, sank a small motor launch and damaged another small vessel in Eckernforde bay 15 miles north of Kiel, and damaged two tankers 15 miles farther north.

At least four vessels were destroyed and more than 50 others damaged by the Second Tactical Airforce, which sent both British and Canadian rocketfiring Typhoons against the evacuation armada.

Waters near Kiel, Flensberg and Luebeck were ablaze with burning ships and the water was full of German soldiers rowing lifeboats and even swimming toward shore, where British troops waited to capture them, returning fliers reported.

Thunderbolts raking Luebeck bay probably destroyed a large cargo vessel and their pilots said they could see five or six transports burning in the bay from the earlier RAF attacks.

U. S. Blueprints Course To Set Up Permanent World Peace Plan

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3. — America made its bid today to strengthen a world charter for peace through specific regulation of the cardinal principles of justice, international law, human rights and the Atlantic Charter's four freedoms.

And, beyond these, the U. S. delegation to the United Nations conference further recommended:

Future review of a projected international constitution "in the light of experience and the developing world situation after the war is over."

Peaceful Change

Provision for "peaceful change of conditions in the world so that the world is not frozen."

The American suggestions fell into nine major categories. As spokesman for the delegation, Commander Harold E. Stassen outlined them to reporters and said they had been approved unanimously.

Even as he went down the list, foreign ministers of the four nations sponsoring the conference—Stettinius of the United States, Soong of China, Molotov of Russia and Eden of Britain—were going over them.

The Big Four, in fact, were surveying the whole future of the conference in an effort to anticipate issues and insure a quick, smooth run toward its goal after Molotov and Eden leave the Golden Gate.

Four conference commissions which will cull over all amendments and try to fit the most meritorious into the scheme of a world organization, met at conference headquarters to begin their tasks.

The American-endorsed changes had been submitted to Britain, Russia and China in advance. Their announcement at this time was interpreted by many delegates as indicating there are no

Fall Of Hamburg Sounds Knell Of Battle In North

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Friday, May 4 — Mass surrenders swept through German armies of the north yesterday as the fall of Hamburg sounded the knell of all resistance east of the great port and the enemy high command itself declared the famed naval base of Kiel an open city.

More than 150,000 Germans laid down their arms to the British Second and U. S. Ninth armies along the Elbe by noon Thursday and thousands of others were giving up or being driven to their deaths as they tried to flee by sea.

Slash Toward Denmark

British tanks slashed on northeast within 20 miles of Denmark, churning over roads strewn with the burned out hulks of 800 vehicles caught in a tornado of aerial bombardment.

The British last were reported beyond Neumuenster, 16 miles south of Kiel, running roughshod through all the debris of a broken and beaten Army.

The Luxembourg radio said the British had crossed the Kiel canal, and wholly unconfirmed Stockholm broadcasts recorded by the Federal Communications commission said the British had reached Eckenfoerde, on the Kiel bay 15 miles northwest.

Reported In Jutland

(In Stockholm the newspaper Dagens-Nyheter said it had received an unconfirmabe report that the British already had advanced into the southern Jutland province of Denmark almost to a point level with Copenhagen. There were other reports that the Jutland rail network had been completely disrupted and of fighting and plundering.)

Allied commanders wrote off all enemy opposition in the north as the British and the Americans joined up with the Russians on a solid 65-mile front stretching southward from Wismar on the Baltic.

There was chaos in the Baltic as German ships quit Kiel for Oslo and other Norwegian refuges under a raking fire from Allied fighter-bombers which sank or damaged 64 cargo-sized vessels.

Kiel bay was lighted through the night by burning vessels, and on southeast as far as Luebeck British troops with guns ready

New Fuehrer Flees To Kiel; Formal Surrender Doubtful

By ALEX SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 3 — Germany's new fuehrer, Grand Admiral Doenitz, was reported to have fled to the naval base of Kiel today as British forces swept through capitulated Hamburg, 50 miles to the south, and victorious Russian troops searched for Hitler's body in the ruins of Berlin.

So swift was the disintegration of German resistance and so chaotic the general situation inside the Reich that it appeared tonight there might be no necessity to negotiate a formal surrender.

Albert Speer, Nazi minister of armaments and production, told the German people in a broadcast tonight that Germany was defeated and gave instructions that Germans should get busy on reconstruction to the fullest extent permitted by the Allies. He spoke over the German-controlled Danish radio.

NOW HE'S IN COPENHAGEN

LONDON, Friday, May 4 (AP) — A German language broadcast, attributed by monitors to the Allied-controlled Luxembourg radio station, declared today that Germany's new fuehrer, Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, had arrived in Copenhagen yesterday.

The announcement was at first erroneously attributed to the Bremen radio, but monitors later identified the station as Luxembourg, saying it apparently had taken over the Hamburg and Bremen wavelengths.

The broadcast said it was believed that other members of the German government had accompanied Doenitz.

A Stockholm dispatch said Doenitz and his new foreign minister, Count Ludwig Schwerin von Krosgk, were conferring at Kiel with Josef Terboven, Nazi commissioner for Norway, and Werner Best, German minister to Denmark, on the possibility of making a final stand in those Scandinavian countries.

The chief obstacle standing in the way of a declared peace was believed to be the German force in Norway, estimated by responsible quarters at 150,000 troops, who have been strengthened in recent months by aerial delivery of weapons and supplies.

Negotiations Reported

Stockholm heard that negotiations were in progress to bring about the surrender of the Norway Nazis without bloodshed. Norwegian patriots in an order of the day, called upon the people to offer no provocation to the Germans which might diminish prospects of an orderly end to the occupation.

Norwegian sources in London reported that Quisling's followers were trying frantically to soften the feeling of the Norwegian people toward them and claimed that the German troops' will to fight was based chiefly on their terror over the possibility of falling into Russian hands.

Amid the intense speculation over Admiral Doenitz' intentions there was a growing tendency to believe that Denmark could be written off as a scene of a stubborn Nazi stand. A Danish free press dispatch declared that dissolution of the wehrmacht in that little country was obvious, and the Luxembourg radio declared that many German commanders were surrendering to the mayors of Danish towns.

Kiel Seen As Capital

With Hamburg and its powerful radio station in British hands, it appeared logical that Doenitz, the Navy man, would establish his temporary capital at Kiel. Possibly with prior knowledge, RAF

More Than Hundred Arrested In Riot

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 3. (AP)—More than 100 persons were arrested and police chief Juan Gomez Folle was among more than 80 injured in rioting last night by crowds who shouted down President Juan Amezaga and demanded the resignation of the police chief and the minister of the interior, Juan Carbajal Victorica.

Police said the riots started when groups tried to force the liberal morning newspaper El Dia to fly the Russian flag as crowds passed on their way to a celebration of the fall of Berlin.

A government spokesman said the police, including Gomez Folle, were stoned by about 500 persons.

U. S. Tempers Flare At Soviet Charge

Detention Of Released War Prisoners Is Flatly Denied

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — The United States flatly denied today Russian complaints that Soviet citizens liberated from German prisons are being held by this country without notice to Russia.

The State department comment was issued simultaneously with an outburst of protest in Congress against the attitude taken by the USSR on Poland.

"It is as heartening as it is commendable, Mr. Speaker," Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) told the House, "that President Harry S. Truman, having a full grasp and understanding of the situation, has definitely served notice upon Russia, Mr. (Premier) Stalin, Mr. (Foreign Commissar) Molotov, and upon the entire world, that he stands uncompromisingly for the fulfillment of the understanding entered into under the Yalta agreement."

The Big Three agreed at Yalta that the Warsaw provisional government be broadened to include other Polish elements but this has not been accomplished and Russia has been seeking to get the Warsaw regime admitted to the San Francisco United Nations conference.

While the House observed Polish Constitution day, other speakers demanded "justice for Poland" and in the Senate Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) asserted that the Russian government should open occupied areas of eastern Europe to American newsmen "so that mistrust and suspicion can be eliminated."

The State department discussion of freed prisoners came in reply to an accusation April 30 by Col.-Gen. F. I. Golikov, chairman of the

Allied Claim Is Disputed By Tito

ROME, May 3 (AP) — Allied headquarters announced today that New Zealand troops, joining forces with the Yugoslavs, had captured Trieste and Gorizia in disputed Istria, only Nazi-held slice of Italy not commanded by Gen. Heinrich von Vietinghoff-Schell who surrendered his million-man Army in north Italy and western Austria.

(The Belgrade radio broadcast a Yugoslav headquarters statement denying the Allied announcement and saying that Yugoslav forces, not New Zealanders, captured Trieste and Gorizia and that the situation "might have unwished-for consequences" if not cleared up at once. The Federal Communications commission heard the broadcast.)

General Gives Up

At the same time it was announced that Nazi Gen. Schlemmer, who had defied Vietinghoff's unconditional surrender order, had surrendered his Army corps of 40,000 troops pocketed in Liguria at the other end of the Italian front and that "fighting has ceased in northern Italy west of the Isonzo river" on the Istrian boundary.

Surrender of the German garrison at Trieste was received at 4:30 p. m. yesterday by Lt. Gen. Sir Bernard C. Freyberg, commander in chief of the New Zealand Second corps, which advanced 221 miles in 23 days and made a juncture with Yugoslav forces west of the city after overrunning Gorioia on the Isonzo.

A NORWICH PRODUCT

Troops In British Eighth Indifferent To Nazi Surrender

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY IN ITALY, May 3. (AP) — The reaction of an overwhelming majority of British Eighth Army troops today to the surrender of the Germans in Italy and western Austria was indifference.

For most of Lt. Gen. Sir Richard L. McCreery's soldiers it has been a long and bloody war since El Alamein. The knowledge that peace in Italy is in fact only a partial peace in relation to the global war was perhaps the biggest single factor which held the celebrations to a minimum.

The first Tommy I spoke to after the announcement of the surrender merely shrugged his shoulders, hesitated a moment, and said: "Peace is good, but it is not getting me home much faster than if we still were fighting. I don't know whether I'll like Austria very much."

It seemed apparent in the Eighth Army sector that some of the air force men were more eager to celebrate than the long suffering foot soldiers and armored outfits. Occasionally a fighter pilot would fly over the troops at tree top level, do victory rolls and buzz camp sites, and this would bring smiles and waves from the the troops. But when the planes left the men returned with straight faces to the tasks of tinkering with truck motors, packing equipment, standing in chow lines or talking calmly in small groups.

LAAF Flier Tells Of Dagger 'Gift' From Nazi General

Somewhere in Allied hands today is a German general who not only has lost a lot of his Prussian dignity but his gleaming dagger as well—and stationed at Lubbock Army Air field is a veteran AAF gunner of 50 missions over the Reich who has the dagger and a story of parachuting into no-man's land of a flaming battle inside Yugoslavia where he met the general and "obtained" the valuable souvenir.

Staff Sgt. Nicholas J. Wolfe of Cleveland, Ohio, who arrived at the big AAF instructors school this week, told his story at the field, an amazing account of jumping from a crippled Fortress over Yugoslavia, of drifting into the very middle of a raging battle between Nazis and Yugoslav partisans with both Nazis and Slavs sending soldiers out to get him, of being saved by the partisans and then a sudden, surprise meeting with a captured Nazi officer. The story, as released from Rome attracted nationwide attention only a few days ago.

Ack Ack Very Severe

The Fortress S/Sgt. Wolfe was on had been up in German territory cutting communications. Anti-aircraft fire over the target was severe and a final burst threatened to throw the plane into a fatal spin.

As repeated by Wolfe at LAAF, things really began to get interesting about that time.

"We knew we were going to have to bail out sooner or later," Wolfe said. "I don't know how our pilot managed to nurse it along as far as he did."

The end of the ride came over Yugoslavia. The Germans below were firing at the Fortress with rifles. One of the waist gunners was kjlled.

Germans and Yugoslav partisans were engaged in a battle below. And when the pilot gave the word to bail out, Wolfe's chute headed him straight into no-man's land. As he came down he could see parties from both sides set out to get him.

Partisans Get Him First

"The partisans got there first, and we worked our way back to their lines with bullets whizzing over our heads all the way," Wolfe continued.

There stood a German general, captured only a short time before, arrogant and hauty. The general brusquely thrust out a hand.

"Von Klegen," the general said, "Berlin."

"Wolfe," said the sergeant no less cooly, "Cleveland."

"I was still feeling the effects of shock but I was damned if I was going to let him know it," Wolfe added.

"I found we could speak to each other in French. The outcome was that he toned down considerably after that first minute, and seemed ready enough to talk. But he was silent when I asked him if he thought Germany could still win the war. He shrugged his shoulders after a moment and then said something about hoping for the best."

Partisans Aid "Giving"

Wolfe went into a little bit more detail on the general's gleaming dagger and just how it was presented him as a "gift."

"No, he didn't exactly give it to me," Wolfe said. "The partisans took care of the giving. He just sort of furnished it, you might say."

Wolfe was one of several combat veterans who arrived this week, several of whom had as unusual stories to tell of many months of combat duty. Wolfe was on duty in the European theater for more than 10 months, was on the first shuttle run to Russia, participated in some of the biggest aerial battles of the war and has the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the theater ribbon with three battle stars and the Unit Citation with one Oak Leaf Cluster. His story, as released by the Associated Press from Rome, made many of the big city papers and Staff Sgt. Wolfe has found that he is even more widely known than he ever imagined besides the fact that he has been offered impressive sums of money for his souvenir.

Tax-Free Expense Account For House Members Proposed

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — A tax-free $2,500 annual incidental expense allowance for each member of the House was recommended today by its appropriations committee.

The committee made its suggestion in a $50,722,147 appropriation bill to finance operations of the legislative establishment for the fiscal year starting July 1.

For many years, the committee report said, "members of the Congress have been subjected to a myriad of expenses incidental to the efficient conduct of their respective offices," and the result has been a heavy drain on their finances "for matters not personal but directly incidental to public office."

Members of Congress—senators and representatives alike — now receive $10,000 annually, in addition to allowances for clerical help and normal office expenditures.

The total in the bill was $2,845,260 over current year appropriations and $240,007 above budget estimates.

Vets' Bonus Drive Opens In Congress

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — A veterans bonus drive, with an estimated $11,000,000,000 price tag attached, is in full swing on Capitol Hill.

It got off to a flying start under the guidance of Representative Rankin (D-Miss), chairman of the House Veterans' committee and one of the framers of the GI Bill of Rights.

It calls for payment of $20 a week for a year to any member of the armed services who served 90 days or more since Sept. 16, 1940, and was not dishonorably discharged.

Rankin predicted the measure he introduced yesterday as an amendment to the GI Bill of Rights would win early and overwhelming approval.

On the basis of $1,040 each for the more than 10,000,000 men and women eligible, the total cost would be in the neighborhood of $11,000,000,000.

Truman Approves New Mural For Postoffice

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — President Truman today signed what amounted to an eviction order for those corpulent ladies on the wall of the Kennebunkport, Me., postoffice.

The President approved a $3,150,000 independent appropriations bill which carries a rider authorizing the government to accept a new mural for the postoffice.

The present mural, to recall the description which Senator White (R-Me) recently gave the Senate, "is a picture which, to speak frankly, depicts a number of fat women, scantly clad, disporting themselves on a beach."

The picture, again quoting Senator White, "has been an offense to the citizens of that community ever since it was placed in the postoffice." Kennebunkport citizens have raised $1,000 for a painting which depicts historically the sea-faring and shipbuilding activities of the community.

Thirteen Volumes Describe Reign Of Terror Of Germans In France

By ROBERT WILSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, May 3—The German occupation of France was described by supreme headquarters today as a reign of terror filled with brutality and cruelty "on a scale unequaled in history."

The indictment was made in a document study by the psychological warfare division "to convince possible skeptics that German atrocities are not just a lot of propaganda."

To Be Issued In U. S.

The study consists of 13 volumes of reports on German crimes throughout France, collected by American and British officers with the help of the French intelligence service. It will be published soon in the United States and Britain.

In some cases confessions have already been obtained from Germans who were subsequently taken prisoner.

The conclusion of Allied officers who visited scores of French villages, interviewed witnesses and collected photographs of atrocities was: "The whole thing was part of a fixed policy of brutal repression if not extermination."

The study embraced these categories of crimes: mass execution of hostages, mass execution of resistance movement members or suspects, mass reprisals, indiscriminate shooting and sacking of towns, routine methods of interrogation by torture, rape and miscellaneous.

Atrocities Described

It said that in August, 1944, French resistance troops captured a German garrison near Pleubian, Brittany, and other Germans brought up mortars and artillery and forced the French to retreat. Twenty-one French surrendered. Ten days later their bodies were found in a trench.

"The state of these bodies proved without a shadow of a doubt that the men had been tortured and beaten with inhuman ferocity before being killed," the study said. "No international law can justify such brutality and sadism."

The report said that the German method of dealing with the organized French Maquis "was to punish the innocent."

"Men and women arrested on suspicion were beaten and tortured in public after mass executions," the study said. "They would burn farms and whole villages over wide areas, sometimes shooting the inhabitants on sight."

An example of the Nazi torture methods was cited in the case of 17 French resistance members taken from a prison at St. Brieuc last August, whose bodies were later found in a wood:

"Many had their eyes torn out, their tongues cut out, their fingernails missing, welts and bruises all over their bodies and their skulls broken, etc. At least one man was found to have some dirt in his lungs—a sign he had been buried while still alive."

Storied Yank Ranger Commander Is Killed

ROME, May 3. (AP)—Col. William O. Darby of Arkansas, who helped organize and then commanded the American Ranger battalions through the grim fighting in North Africa and Sicily, was killed by a German 88 millimeter shell just two days before the end of the war in Italy, it was revealed today.

The 34-year-old veteran from Fort Smith, who had become the storied hero of nearly every American fighting man in Italy, led an amphibious operation across to the west shore of Lake Garda on April 30 as assistant commander of the 10th Mountain division.

His task force captured Benito Mussolini's villa at Gargnano just five days after the former dictator had left there in the vain flight which ended in his death.

It was learned today that Darby was standing with his regimental commander discussing preparation from an attack northward from that point when two 88 millimeter sheels landed beside them. Darby was killed and the regimental commander was wounded.

Solution To Grain Car Shortage Seen

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—Increased grain shipment by boats from Gulf ports and a new permit system for box car shipments east of the Mississippi may solve the midcontinent grain car shortage, an Office of Defense Transportation official asserted today.

Fred Keiser, associate director, said the ODT is doing everything possible to move wheat, some of which is piled on the ground, from the farms and country elevators before the next harvest.

The corn transportation situation also has worried him, he added, and he wants grain sorghums moved to prevent spoilage.

On April 1 there were 239,000,000 bushels of wheat stored on farms of the nation, 160,000,000 less than on January 1 and 20,000,000 less than a year ago.

With a large order from the War department and other government agencies, Keiser said he feared the stocks were "not enough."

"Bracket Bill" Is Vetoed By Governor

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson today vetoed as unconstitutional a bill permitting the county judges of counties within certain population brackets, and within certain assessed valuation limits, to employ clerks and stenographers.

As written, the bill would have applied only to Waller, Camp and Collingsworth counties.

"It is my opinion that this bill (SB 193) falls within the category of those usually referred to as bracket bills which have repeatedly been held by the courts to be violative of constitutional provisions," the veto message said.

The only other bill vetoed at this session (HB 167) fell within the same category, the governor said.

Stevenson signed a bill (SB 148) increasing membership in the textbook advisory commission from five to nine, and another (HB 718) fixing the term of office of school trustees of independent school districts heretofore created by special acts of the legislature, having boards of seven members and included in the boundaries of cities having a population of 200,000 and shown in the last federal census.

Quarters Still Are Sought For Nursery

Hopes that larger quarters may be found for the negro nursery school were expressed at a meeting of the white board cooperating with the nursery school board Thursday morning in room 102 of the home economics building at Texas Technological college. Mrs. H. F. Godeke presided as chairman.

The building committee is continuing to seek larger quarters.

E. B. Struggs, chairman of the negro board for the nursery, has secured storage space for equipment being donated, it was reported at the meeting. The equipment is to be stored until a more permanent building is available.

The board expressed gratification at interest shown in the nursery by women's organizations.

Mrs. Gladys Holden assists in planning meals served at the school.

Members of the board present were Mesdames W. R. Hedrick, A. W. Young, Durwood Bradley, Holden and Godeke, Misses Margaret W. Weeks, Sannie Callan and Vivian Johnson.

Amendments To Child Labor Law Proposed

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP) — A bill proposing amendments to the state's child labor law reached the House calendar today with approval of the labor committee.

Rep. Arthur Cato of Weatherford, author of the original bill which was substituted in committee said the committee approved bill has these principal features:

It does not regulate the employment of boys and girls in selling and delivering newspapers.

It raises from 15,000 to 20,000 population the cities in which children of 15 years or less may not be employed in certain jobs.

A fine of $25 to $200 is stipulated for violation of a regulation prohibiting the working of children more than eight hours between 5 a. m. and 10 p. m. The governing time is central standard.

Permits children of 12 years or more to work during school hours on approval of the local school superindent or principal and county judge.

Gives justice of the peace courts jurisdiction instead of county courts in child labor litigation.

Does not require parent to take a pauper's oath in order to apply for permission for a child to work.

Permits children to work in laundries if they do not operate machinery.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3 (AP)—Russia is reported here to have agreed in principle to joint Big-Three occupation and supervision of Austria until that country is ready for its promised freedom and independence.

Women Are More Generous Than Men, Gallup Poll Discloses

Most Americans Ready To Put Up With Food Shortages To Feed Europe's Hungry

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—When the late President Roosevelt, shortly before he died, said he thought the American people would be willing to put up with food shortages in order to help feed people in Europe after the war, he was making a correct appraisal of public sentiment.

GALLUP

An overwhelming majority among the adults in this country say people in the United States should continue to put up with food shortages for a year after the war in order to help feed people in Europe.

In fact, a sizeable majority say we should put up with such shortages for two years after the war, if necessary.

Moreover, women, who daily face the problem of preparing their tables under rationing restrictions, show themselves even more willing than men to continue the shortages for one year, or even two, to help the Europeans in devastated areas.

These facts are brought to light in a recent nation-wide survey in which field reporters for the Institute asked:

"For a year after the war in Europe is over, should people in the United States continue to put up with present shortages of butter, sugar, meat, and other rationed food products in order to give food to people who need it in Europe?"

The replies across the nation:

Yes	65%
No	27
Undecided	8

The replies among men and women:

	Men	Women
Yes	61%	69%
No	32	22
Undecided	7	9

Two Year Period

When people are asked the same question, except that the period of rationing is extended to two years, the majority drops somewhat, but it is still substantially in favor of our making the sacrifice in order to help out the needy Europeans.

Here are the replies on the basis of a two year period:

Across the nation:

Yes	57%
No	36
Undecided	7

Among men and women:

	Men	Women
Yes	53%	60%

Stimson Also Thinks That Hitler Is Dead

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — Secretary of War Stimson subscribed today to President Truman's belief that Adolf Hitler is dead.

Said Stimson:

"It is apparent that the war against Germany has not long to run."

He told a news conference he had "no more evidence than has been given in general sources, mostly in the press, but that (belief that Hitler is dead) is my conclusion."

FOR A PARTY

ELSA MAXWELL, who is famous for her unusual and successful social entertainments, says that to make sure of a party going off well she always invites at least two persons who cordially dislike each other. She says if they are well bred, each of them will put on his or her mettle to make the best possible appearance and rival the other in courtesy.

That may be Miss Maxwell's formula for a successful party but it isn't ours. If we were giving a party we'd want a spirit of friendliness to be apparent and not the air of strained relationship that you'd invite by having enemies at your party. We don't enjoy hearing two people scratch each other's eyes out anyway, even if they are wearing velvet gloves over their long claws.

She reminds that smartness of appearance is a combination of well-designed clothes and good health and good health is based on correct eating.

Clothes alone will not make the woman but only enhance her natural attractiveness. Vitality that comes from eating correct foods is essential to a charming appearance, Miss McCardell says.

PHOTOGRAPHING BABIES

CONSTANCE BANNISTER, who is one of the country's top-notch baby photographers, likes to take pictures of babies around nine months best because it is at that age they are just beginning to get acquainted with people and to have personality.

When a baby is nine months old you don't have to resort to bells, feathers or rattles to get them in a mood because they are at the mimic age. All you have to do, says Miss Bannister, is to talk to them, pout, raise an eyebrow or scrowl and you'll find they will imitate.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

ENGLAND has plans for setting up a free college for cooks and maids. According to an article we read the other day, the girls will be taught housekeeping, psychology of child care, etiquette, etc. under a scientifically planned schedule by ace teachers. Wonder if it has a lecture on "How to sweep the dirt under the rug" and one on not promising to show up for work if you have no intention of doing so?

9-Member Elective Supreme Court Goes To Vote Of People In August

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—Submission of a third constitutional amendment to the electorate Aug. 25—one proposing a nine-member elective supreme court—was assured today.

House and Senate acceptance of a free conference committee's report ordered submission of a proposed amendment which would make the six appointive members of the court's commission of appeals judges of the court. The court now has three judges.

Adjustment Of Views

The conferees' report was an adjustment of House and Senate differences on the resolution submitting the amendment.

As adjusted the amendment stipulates no salaries for the judges. These will be fixed by statute. It stipulates that the court meet in sections for hearings on certain preliminary litigation.

Present commissioners would become judges until the expiration of the terms to which they were appointed as commissioners.

Others To Be Submitted

Other amendments ordered submitted on Aug. 25 are those placing members of the legislature on a continuous pay basis of $10 a day and granting members of the armed forces the privilege of voting without payment of the poll tax, if otherwise qualified.

Still another proposed amendment gained a partial right of way in the House which set for special order next Tuesday one authorizing issuance of $25,000,000 in bonds for purchase of land for resale to veterans of world war II for cash or on terms. Tuesday is the 120th day of the general session and whether legislation requiring processing in both House and Senate can reach final passage at that date becomes questionable.

Redistricting Pushed

A broad hint that he would like to see legislative redistricting pushed through before adjournment came from Governor Coke R. Stevenson.

At a press conference he said he wished to commend members who still have this objective. The House comparatively early in the session killed a House redistricting bill. Another one is now on the House calendar. A Senate redistricting bill is on the Senate calendar. The legislature has not redistricted the state since 1921, despite a constitutional provision requiring realignment of districts after publication of each federal census.

Adopted by the House, after some of the most bitter debate of the session, was a resolution petitioning the President and Congress to demand full payment of the Allied Nation's war debts by Germany and Japan.

Object To Language

While there was little objection to the intent of the resolution, offered by Rep. E. F. Harrell of Paris, some members took exception to its language, claiming it was beneath the dignity of the House.

The document referred to Germany and Japan as "unspeakable vultures, international thugs and barbarians."

A motion to send it back to committee for rewriting failed and it was then adopted, 85 to 7 with some members not voting.

The resolution now goes to the Senate.

Mussolini's Widow Is Under U. S. Custody

COMO, Italy, May 3. (U.P.) — Rachele Mussolini, widow of the executed dictator, and two of her children were under protective custody of American authorities today after their arrest by Italian partisans as they attempted to flee to Switzerland.

The partisans turned her over to officers of the American First armored division, saying she always had led a family life and they did not consider her a Fascist criminal.

She was placed in her sumptuous villa, Crespi, Overlooking Lake Como and the Swiss Alps.

McCarran Agrees To Lay Measure Aside

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — Senator McCarran (D-Nev) agreed today to postpone consideration of a $500,000,000 postwar federal aid airport construction bill, in the face of demands that senators be given further opportunity to study it.

The Nevada senator said he was willing to lay the measure aside until he returns from a trip to the west in about three weeks.

Plans Outlined For Southwestern Group

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—Plans for a southwestern states development organization to exploit resources of that section have been outlined to Texas members of Congress.

Fred Florence, president of the Republic National bank of Dallas, said the membership in the organization, officially known as the Gulf-Southwest industrial and agricultural conference, will be recruited from civic and business enterprises in Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

The governors and all members of Congress from these states are advisory officials of the conference, said Florence, adding that unanimous cooperation of all is expected because the aims of the organization are non-political and intended only to increase the industrial and agricultural economy of their section.

John W. Carpenter of Dallas, president of the Texas Power and Light Co., is president of the organization. Florence is secretary-treasurer, and James Blundell of Dallas, executive director.

Florence told the congressmen a number of banks and industrial establishments already have agreed to contribute financially to the maintenance of an administrative force.

Part of the work of the conference would be informing eastern manufacturers of the advantages to be found in the Southwest for establishing new plants, or converting war-born facilities into producers of civilian goods.

Pan-American Airway Protests CAB Ruling

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — Pan-American airways protested before the Civil Aeronautics board (CAB) today a recommendation by board examiners that it be denied a postwar route between New Orleans and Mexico City.

The airline, which is seeking exclusive control of postwar air service to Latin America, is requesting new route out of the additional gateway cities of New York, Charleston, S. C., Tampa, Fla., Houston, Tex., and Los Angeles, Calif.

Henry J. Friendly, Pan-American attorney, said the examiner's recommendation against a New Orleans-Mexico City route for Pan-American was made "by weighing its adverse effects on Eastern Air lines."

Eastern, he pointed out, would lose part of its present traffic to Brownsville, Tex., if Pan-American were certified for a direct route to the Mexican capital out of New Orleans, connecting with national and Chicago & Southern flights.

Prizes Set For Lynn 4-H Show

TAHOKA, May 3. (Special) — More than $900 in cash will be awarded at the Lynn county 4-H Club Livestock show to be held here Saturday, according to R. L. Stone, county agricultural agent.

The show, judging of which will begin at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon one-half block east of the northeast corner of the square, will attract 110 entries in all classes, including fat steers, registered gilts, sows with litters, registered boars, ewes and lambs. W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry at Texas Tech, will judge the show.

Each Entrant Gets Award

Cash awards will total $905 and each boy entering the show will be assured a cash award, Stone said.

The largest class in number of entries will be the registered gilt class with 60 animals entered. Approximately 35 steers will be shown.

Due to the fact that only one school in the county, Wilson High school, has an FFA chapter, that chapter has been invited to participate in the show and special awards have been provided for the boys from that chapter who exhibit livestock. Also Lynn county farmers have been invited to show stock in the show, but not to participate in awards.

Stone said that livestock shown in the show will be sold at auction at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the showring of Lubbock Auction and Commission company.

Jap Dud Falls Into Gun Position Where Local Soldier Was On Duty

U. S. ARMY FORCES, Pacific Area—Pvt. Edmund K. Austin of Lubbock, Tex., will probably never forget the dud that dropped in on him and his fellow cannoneers on their first night ashore at Okinawa. The initial landing was uneventful, as was the digging in of the gun and crew, so uneventful that the men turned in that night with some peace of mind.

And then, shortly after midnight, the Japs changed all that by tossing heavy caliber artillery shells into the battalion area. Shells whistled over, and cracked viciously all around. And then one plopped in that shook the gun and all the crew. But there was no crack of a shell exploding.

Next morning, Austin learned the truth. A dud had landed under the wheels right in front of his gun, passed under the carriage, and nosed up between the trails, where it stopped, right beneath where one of the gun crew hugged the ground.

Pvt. Austin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leuthon M. Austin of 2012 Fifteenth, Lubbock, Tex. Austin attended high school in Lubbock.

Carole Landis Plans To Divorce Major

HOLLYWOOD, May 3. (AP) — Movie actress Carole Landis confirmed reports today that she will divorce Maj. Thomas C. Wallace, now with the Army air forces at San Antonio, Tex., but no date or place has been decided for filing the suit.

The actress said Major Wallace, whom she married in January, 1943, in London after a whirlwind romance, signed necessary consent papers recently.

Future romantic plans? "Honestly, I have none," Miss Landis said.

Relief Likely For Mississippi Valley

NEW ORLEANS, May 3. (AP) — Relief appeared in sight today in the flood-stricken lower Mississippi river valley as the entire Mississippi river and its troubled western tributaries were falling.

The Mississippi was below flood stage as far south as Arkansas City but from that point to the gulf the stages were still approximately 2½ to 10 feet above flood stage at various points.

The United States weather bureau at New Orleans forecast today the Red river below Alexandria would fall slowly for an indefinite period.

The Red Cross reported that 12,000 flood refugees from 13 parishes of Louisiana were still being sheltered by the relief organization.

Dean, Lowrey In Finals At State

AUSTIN, May 3.—The Lubbock Westerners track and field team was cut to two men here today when Cliff Dean in the pole vault and Jim Lowrey in the half mile run were the only Lubbock boys to qualify for the finals here Friday in the Interscholastic League track and field carnival.

Dean, one of the favorites in the pole vault, qualified easily at 11 feet, as did the other favorite in this event, Jack Simpson of Woodrow Wilson, Dallas. These two boys tied for first place at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show at 12 feet, the only other time this season that they have competed against each other.

Lowrey Coasts In

Jim "Pinkey" Lowrey coasted in second place in the first heat of the 880 yard run, and quilified for the finals. The best time of the day in the half mile was Perez of Melvin at 2 minutes, 5.1 seconds, which is 1.1 second slower than Lowrey did the race here last week in the regional meet.

Rhea Nichols of Adamson (Dallas), the winner last year in the 880 yard run also eased along to barely qualify, and is favored to repeat his winning performance of last year.

Another Region One performer listed in the 880 yard run men to place for the finals was Franklin of Panhandle. In the pole vault, Amarillo's pair of Bauman and Dyke, who pressed Dean here last week, both were still in the running, placing all three of the Region One qualifiers in the finals in this event.

Another top favorite in the state from Region One, Randall Clay of Pampa, came into the finals in the discus throw without being pressed. The best toss in this event was by Tom Watt of Brackenridge (San Antonio) at 135 feet, 8 inches, but far under Clay's usual stride, which reached 142 feet, 3 inches here last week.

Harrison, Johnson Shine

The speed of the Region One boys, as was expected, was wrapped up in a pair of lads who stole the show here last week. W. C. Johnson of Hale Center roared down the runways to qualify in the 100 yard dash and 220 yard dash, while Denver City's W. C. Harrison easily qualified in the 440 yard dash.

Johnson won the 100 yard dash here last week, then came right back for the 220 yard dash, and ran second to Harrison without any rest between the races.

The Brackenridge Eagles turned another trick in this game of button who's got the button today by pushing back into the favorite's spot over their San Antonio rivals, the Thomas Jefferson Mustangs.

The preliminaries today heralded that the battle for the title definitely would be a San Antonio affair because Brackenridge landed 16 places and Thomas Jefferson got 11 places in the finals. No other school had more than five spots in the finals.

Arthur Sweet, another of the ailing Eagles, came through with the best shot put of the day, flipping the steel ball 49 feet 10¼ inches.

Thomas Jefferson's Perry Samuels set the pace in the dashes, leading the 100 with a time of 10 flat and the 220 with 23.1.

A hard wind and chilly temperatures handicapped the boys and there were few good times and distances that is compared to the usual showings in the state meet preliminaries.

Trials were run off in all events except the mile. In that contest tomorrow Brackenridge will have two men and Jefferson one.

One Semi-Final

Semi-finals were held in only one contest—the 200-yard low hurdles. In his heat Watt, the defending state champion, was leading until the last 20 yards when he purposely eased up and came in third. His teammate, Erfurth, won the heat in 23.9, which tied Claude Allen of Midlothian for the fastest time of the day.

Abilene and Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) placed five times. Jack Simpson, star of the latter team, failed to qualify in the high jump where he missed 5 feet 8 inches.

El Paso High, Austin, Wharton, Reagan (Houston) and Adamson (Dallas) each got four places in tomorrow's finals while Highland Park (Dallas), Brownwood, Panhandle, and Ysleta each wound up with three.

Erfurth led the high hurdles times with 14.8. Desmond Kidd of Austin topped the 440-yard dash men with 50.8, Thomas Jefferson paced the sprint relay with a time of 44.1.

O'Donnell Girls Cop First Tilts

AUSTIN, May 3. — The girls came through with flying colors as Region One tennis players moved into the first round of the state tournament here today, but the boys met defeat early in the race.

O'Donnell's colorful girls doubles team, making their second bid for state honors at Austin in as many years, and Pat Jackson of Amarillo, the Region One singles champion, both defeated Region Two foes in the first round and moved into the semi-finals of the girls division.

Peggy Cummins and Edna Edwards, the O'Donnell doubles team, turned back Jane White and Eva Beth Farnsworth of Anson in a closely fought battle, 6-2, 6-4.

Miss Jackson was forced to come from behind to win a long, bitter struggle with Ann Batger of San Angelo, 3-6, 11-9, 6-3, and move into the semi-finals.

In the boys play, John Allen of Amarillo ran into Dick Savitt of El Paso, top seeded favorite in the boys singles, and went out of the race as Savitt swept to a 6-0, 6-1 victory.

Jack Laing and Hayden Hardin, Amarillo boys doubles winners from Region One, also ran into favored sons in the first round and were quickly eliminated in straight love sets by El Paso's Ed Chew and Frank Borger, odds on favorites to win the boys doubles.

West Texas prestige was kept on high in the boys play, however, by wins delivered by the Region Two winners, as George Miller of San Angelo, successor to Tut Bartzen, delivered in the singles. Sweetwater's boys doubles team of David Elrod and Harry Tansil came through in the doubles.

Miller defeated Henry Parish of Taft to reach the semi-finals in boys singles. The match was close all the way with Miller winning 7-5, 6-4. The Sweetwater doubles team won over the El Campo team of C. J. Sablatura and Audice Rieger, 6-0, 6-3.

The Region Two boys will face the same test as Region One faced in the opening round, and Miller will play Savitt and Elrod and Tansil will face Chew and Borger.

In the girls pairings for Friday Cummins and Edwards play Agnes Amelung and June Knox of Brackenridge (San Antonio) in the semi-finals, while Miss Jackson plays Betty Roemisch of Woodrow Wilson (Dallas).

The Brackenridge girls doubles team won their first round game over Norma Lawrence and Frances Hutchings of Paris, 8-6, 6-4. Miss Roemisch won her first round girls singles match over Charlene Hinkle of Robstown, 6-2, 7-5.

Other first round matches included:

Boys singles:
Harmon Carswell of Lufkin won over John Sullivan of Lamar (Houston), 6-0, 6-0.
Pryse Metcalfe of Franklin won over Bennie Staford of Sunset (Dallas), 11-9, 6-1.

Boys doubles:
Clinton Nettleton and Donald Hopper of Phar-San Juan-Alamo defeated Jack Turpin and Dixon Osburn of Highland Park (Dallas), 6-4, 6-2.
Tom Battaile and Leroy Carroll of Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) won over Jim Hickey and Ben Billingsley of Paris, 7-5, 6-2.

Girls singles:
Leota Spencer of Brackenridge (San Antonio) won over Huldah Williams of Paris, 6-2, 6-0.
Mary Cunningham of Austin (E Paso) won over Jo Beth Davis of San Jacinto (Houston), 6-0, 6-2.

Girls doubles:
Martha Truog and Edith Smith of Corpus Christi won over Mary Ann Ingram and Irene Duke of Austin (Houston), 7-5, 6-2.
Sylvia Lerner and Barbara Walker of El Paso won over Jeraline Massingale and June Hill of Sherman, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

Probe Urged For Athletes Draft

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — A complaint by Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill), the professional athletes are victims of draft discrimination has started a War Department investigation, and Price predicts a change in regulations "in a few days."

The Congressman disclosed today that he had protested to the department that some athletes are being inducted into the Army even though they cannot meet physical requirements.

Reply From Patterson

He received a reply from undersecretary of War Patterson saying:

"I have asked the inspector general (Major General Virgil L. Peterson) to make an investigation into the manner in which the War Department directives in regard to induction of professional athletes are being administered."

As war mobilizer, James F. Byrnes, since resigned, cracked down on professional athletes December 23, 1941, writing Selective Service Director Hershey to review the military qualifications of such persons.

Price said he is "not asking for a special break for athletes but only a fair deal . . . no man should be inducted if he is legitimately 4-F but in some instances athletes have been inducted without even their classifications being changed from 4-F."

One regulation provides that when any professional athlete is rejected on account of physical condition his case must be sent to Washington for review.

Sites Litwhiler Case

'The history of many of these cases is that they are automatically inducted regardless of their physical candition," Price said. condition," Price said.

He mentioned to Patterson the case of Danny Litwhiler, St. Louis cardinal outfielder, now in service, saying that the following notation was placed on Litwhiler's service record:

"This registrant cannot be considered a soldier against your quota whether he is called by the Army or Navy because he does not meet the minimum requirements for military training."

Price also urged that induction of all players ordered in the past month be deferred until the War Department's investigation has been completed.

Examination and induction of ball players has continued in recent weeks at a rate alarming to some baseball men, and Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler, new commissioner disclosed in an interview in St. Louis that he recently brought the matter up in a visit with President Truman.

LAAF Opens Baseball Play With Hobbs Nines Saturday

The local baseball campaign gets off with a bang Saturday afternoon as Lubbock Army Air Field's Fliers and Hobbs Army Air Field tangle in a two-game feature at the main diamond at the big west base.

Bringing both the negro nines and the regular post teams of the two fields together, the afternoon's doubleheader will inaugurate what promises to be an interesting season for the Fliers, who will be going back to the baseball wars for the first time since 1943. Already 30 games are tentatively set for the Fliers, including contests with such fields as Amarillo AAF, Pampa AAF, Big Spring AAF, Childress AAF, Midland AAF, Pyote AAF and Sheppard Field at Wichita Falls.

"Play Ball" At 3 O'clock

Saturday's games with Hobbs were originally scheduled for next week-end, when the post teams were to play both on Saturday and Sunday. But the schedule was rearranged.

The day's curtain raiser will get under way at 3 o'clock and will bring the LAAF negro nine and Hobbs negro nine together.

The nightcap gets under way at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and will feature the two hard-hitting post teams, Lieut. Joe B. Holmes, athletic director at LAAF who announced plans for the games, said. It was also announced that athletic representatives from the two fields would tangle in a bowling contest and handball contest.

A definite lineup or starting moundsman was not announced by Staff Sgt. Sam West who is in charge of the club, although virtually the same nine which handed the LAAF negro team a 13 to 4 drubbing last Friday in a practice session is expected to take the field.

Idalou Beats Wilson To Even Up Record

Idalou High school's baseball team evened up its season's standing Thursday afternoon by pounding out a 13 to 7 win over Wilson in a South Plains High school league game at Mackenzie Park.

Idalou pushed over three runs in the first inning, another in the second and four more in the third to ice away the game, then coasted in behind the steady pitching of Reddell to win.

Idalou's next game will be with New Home, at Mackenzie Park on May 11.

Chandler Plans To Move Czar's Office

CHICAGO, May 3. (AP)—The office of baseball commissioner, located in Chicago during the 24-year regime of the late K. M. Landis, will be moved to Cincinnati, Commissioner-elect A. B. (Happy) Chandler disclosed today.

Indicating it may be "longer than expected" before he resigns from the U. S. Senate, the Kentucky legislator also announced he had named Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to Landis, as "special assistant" and appointed Walter W. Mulbry, his Senate secretary, as successor to O'Connor.

Chandler asserted at his first Chicago press conference that he had decided to establish his office in Cincinnati, probably at the Netherland Plaza hotel. O'Connor, who told newsmen he would serve as Chandler's assistant for one year, will continue to run the Chicago office until it is closed.

Mulbry will be in charge of the Cincinnati office until Chandler winds up his Senate job. Chandler said that the state of international affairs might keep him in Washington longer than he anticipated.

Winners Return For Boys Club Ring Show

Lubbock Boys club fighters will move closer to the club championship finals tonight with nine winners scheduled to crawl through the ropes for the third fight night show at the club gym at 8:30 o'clock.

All eighteen of the boys on tonight's card are winners from the past two weeks. Bo Sexton will be the third man in the ring, and judges will be furnished by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"I won't draw salaries for both jobs," he added. When he was elected commissioner by the big league club owners in Cleveland April 24, Chandler had estimated he would sign his seven-year contract within 30 to 60 days.

He declared he would keep the game "free from race-track gambling or any other kind of gambling." He said he would continue to attend the Kentucky Derby, but would not wager. "I won't bet, because I have suggested that players refrain from betting," he declared.

Canada now ranks second among the gold-producing countries of the world.

Injured Grid Player Not Seriously Hurt

Jackie Davis, Cowhand grid star who was injured Wednesday afternoon at Chapman field, was reported resting nicely Thursday night at West Texas Hospital. His injuries were not termed serious, following an examination of x-ray pictures taken of the injury.

Davis will be kept at the hospital over Friday for observation. He was suffering from a cracked vertebra and possible bruised cartelege.

Stroud, Buckner Hurl Shutouts For Hunt

Wayne Stroud and Marie Buckner were in fine form Thursday afternoon and threw a couple of shutout victories at the Sanders Steers as the Hunt Pioneers boys team sewed up the Lubbock grade school softball crown, and the girls assured themselves of at least a tie for the girls title.

Stroud pitched the boys to a 10 to 0 victory over Sanders, and Miss Buckner blanked the Sanders girls while her mates were pounding out a 13 to 0 win.

Surrender Fever Sweeps Germany

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The surrender contagion is sweeping the beaten and demoralized Nazi wehrmacht in Germany, or what is left of it, at a rate that makes any attempt to estimate the time it will take to clean out the various pockets nothing more than pure guesswork.

SIMPSON

It seems obvious, however, that Allied policy must be guided from now on largely by a desire to minimize eleventh hour battle losses. Siege operations against resistance cores rather than frontal attack would seem indicated except where some special objective is involved.

And high among such special objectives can be placed what is left of the Nazi U-boat fleet. Unofficial estimates as to the number of such craft still holed up somewhere in Dutch, German or Scandinavian ports run as high as 300. They could be dangerous if spurred to a last desperate vengeance sea attack by the unpredictable Admiral Doenitz, self-imposed successor to Hitler.

Soon To End Threat

It is a fair conclusion that immediate measures to end that threat are a first consideration with General Eisenhower and his staff. It is too great to risk undue delay in forcing the issue in Denmark and Norway much as the Allies certainly hope and desire to spare those long-suffering countries the havoc of mass air attacks.

Those U-boats may be regarded by Doenitz as a trump card at his disposal in seeking to obtain something better than unconditional surrender terms. He was reported to have fled to Kiel, indicating his possible intention of organizing a U-boat fanged Nazi last stand in Scandinavia.

British capture of the Kiel canal, German backdoor entrance to the Baltic from the North sea, is impending with the surrender of Hamburg. Once cleared of obstructions it would permit Allied naval craft to pass into the Baltic to come to grips with the foe in Denmark and Norway from that side as well as in the north and west, supplementing air action.

It remains to be seen, however, whether Nazi U-boat crews are ready to back up an order for suicide action against Allied shipping if it comes. They were first to break as the other world war came to its end, refusing duty. That the stocks of fuel and torpedoes available to them now are strictly limited cannot be questioned. Their plight is hopeless in any case and the surrender contagion is as apt to strike them as it has already struck much of the disintegrating wehrmacht in Germany.

Russian Charges

Soviet Reparation commission, that Russian prisoners freed in Western Europe had been removed to England and this country without the Soviet government being informed.

The State department asserted:

1. There are now no German prisoners of war in this country claiming Soviet citizenship who have not been repatriated except for eight hospitalized at Soviet request.

2. There are 118 who appear to be Russian but who claim treatment as German prisoners under the Geneva convention. The department said they were captured in German uniforms.

3. As this country insists that all German-held prisoners in American uniforms be treated as Americans under Geneva convention rules, it is holding these 118 prisoners who claim treatment as Germans in order to live up to the convention and thereby protect Americans still in German hands.

4. Gen. Golikov's charge, made in Pravda, that there are still 800 Red Army officers in the U. S. whose whereabouts are concealed, is not substantiated by the facts; this government knows nothing about the alleged 800 officers.

The department's statement said that during the early stages of the invasion of western Europe thousands of prisoners were brought to this country, and among them around 4300 were found to have claim to Soviet citizenship. These were sent to special camps for screening by Soviet officers, and repatriated as fast as Russia provided shipping.

Russian officials in England were informed last fall of three camps in that country, the department said, and have received weekly reports since January on these camps.

ed in England until December. He then went back into action in Belgium and was again wounded in January—this time in the right foot, and was sent to a hospital in France. He was wounded the last time after the Third crossed the Rhine, but no details are known regarding the extent of his injuries.

S/Sgt. Jesse R. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White of Littlefield, was wounded in the head April 6 in action about 100 miles from Berlin. He had returned to active duty Feb. 8, after sustaining leg wounds in Germany in November. His head wound was described in a telegram from the War department as "serious."

Pvt. Jimmie F. Cummings, son of Robert L. Cummings of Post, was wounded in action while with the Seventh Cavalary in the Philippines. He was wounded in the hip and is now in the Seventh Evacuation hospital, somewhere in the Pacific.

Chief German Cities Fall To Allies Fast

(By The Associated Press)

This week saw the fall in quick succession of the three greatest cities of stricken Germany.

Monday the Americans captured Munich, with a 1942 population of 829,000.

Wednesday the Russians captured Berlin, capital and nerve center of the Reich with a normal population of 4,339,000.

Thursday the British captured Hamburg, second city and Germany's greatest port with a population of 1,712,000.

Of the greater cities of the Reich, only two still fly the Nazi swastika and both have lost their tactical importance. Dresden, population 630,000, was ruined by Allied obliteration air raids in February. Breslau, 630,000, has been encircled and heavily penetrated by the Russians since Feb. 16.

Of her larger ports, Germany now has but two intact, Kiel, population 274,000, which is under constant aerial assault, and Wilhelmshaven, population 114,000.

World Conference

major spheres of disagreement on them.

This is what the Americans want:

1. An international organization functioning "in keeping with the principles of justice."

Clear Up Dumbarton Oaks

2. Clarification of the Dumbarton Oaks blueprint, worked out last fall by the four sponsoring nations as the agenda for this conference, to say that the world organization shall function within international law and assist in perfecting it.

3. The development and safeguarding of human rights.

4. Provision for peaceful change of world conditions.

5. A definite system of trusteeships for weak or strategic territories.

6. A system to facilitate amending the charter to meet post-war conditions.

7. A modernized world court.

8. Incorporation into the charter of specific provisions of the Atlantic Charter, including assurances of freedom from want and fear, freedom of speech and worship.

9. A declaration of cultural objectives similar to those already proposed by China.

China Urges Education

China asked that the economic and social council of the world organization promote "education and other forms of cultural cooperation."

Adoption of the American recommendations would dissolve some, but not all, of the dissatisfaction of small powers with Dumbarton Oaks as it now stands.

They make no concession to little power demands for a bigger voice in a security council, which would be the real instrumentality for keeping peace because it would be empowered to bring armed force into play.

Nor do they settle small-country claims that regional security systems, such as the Pan-American arrangement, should be allowed to settle local or regional disputes on their own.

These may become the next big focal point of conflict within the conference.

Big Four Differences

And even within the Big Four there still remain some differences of views. The British and Americans, for instance, both believe some form of international trusteeships must be established. But they are in disagreement on important details.

The first formal meeting of representatives of the Big Five powers—the big four plus France—was scheduled tonight to consider the trusteeship problem. And members of a Senate naval subcommittee, Byrd (D-Va), Eastland (D-Miss) and Tobey (R-NH), came to town to advise the American representatives.

Sentiment has crystalized among the U. S. delegation for retaining control of strategic Pacific bases seized from Japan.

Altogether some 70 or 80 specific amendments have been submitted by all countries for inclusion in an international charter.

Four Main Categories

They fall mainly into four categories:

Most small and middle powers want to change the security council to reduce big-power control.

Several middle powers, like Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the Netherlands, says countries which actually have fought in the war, and presumably would contribute military strength to be put at the council's disposal, should have council seats.

Numerous amendments are intended to strengthen a council designed to help eliminate social and economic conditions which might lead to wars in the future as they have in the past.

Naval Casualties

Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner jr.'s Tenth Army hurled itself against tough Japanese defenses. Only the First Marine division of Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle reported limited gains. Elsewhere the Yanks were held.

Two Fleet Units Sunk

Four small groups of Japanese planes raiding American shipping off Okinawa last night sank two "light units" of the fleet and caused other damage. Seventeen of the attackers were destroyed.

Naval search bombers raided Kanoya airfield on Kyushu, southernmost of Japan's mainland islands, yesterday, destroying grounded planes and railroad facilities. A small cargo ship was probably sunk farther north off Honshu.

Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce's 77th Infantry division, thrown into the southern Okinawa fight as reinforcement for the 27th division, pushed the enemy back 200 yards on the western flank Wednesday, a field dispatch reported. The advance followed a 1,400-yard salient driven into the eastern flank the same day by Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh division.

Battle Record Of Infantry Commended

OKINAWA, May 3 (AP) — Maj. Gen. J. L. Bradley said in a message to his 96th Infantry division today it "could be proud" of its southern Okinawa battle record.

The 96th has withdrawn for rest from the center of the line Tuesday.

Bradley's message said in part: "You have killed over 7,000 Japs. The cost has been heavy but, imbued with the spirit of the division to always go forward, you never faltered. You have good reason to be proud of yourselves and your unit."

Capt. Louis Reuter, jr., of Richwood, N. J., and two 96th division sergeants cleared the Japanese out of an exceptionally large cave-like fort. He was aided by Sgt. George G. Randall of Royal Oak, Mich., and Sgt. Eddie W. Koerbel of Austin, Tex. They used grenades and machineguns.

British In Rangoon

supply port for all enemy forces in Burma, will give the British an excellent harbor and control of the entire length of the railroad to Lashio, which was the old Burma road terminus to China. When repairs are completed and the road made serviceable there will be an incalculable saving of time and distance in furnishing China with war goods.

Resistance Disintegrates

Japanese resistance in other sectors was disintegrating. Nearly 180 miles northwest of Rangoon British units entered Prome, an important enemy stronghold, and fought their way to its railway station.

There remains about a month of fairly good weather before the monsoon. With the limited resistance put up by the enemy around Rangoon, the time would appear ripe for continued amphibious operations in the Southeast Asia zone.

American and Australian forces who have landed in Borneo will, when they have completed that job, be in excellent position to assist Mountbatten's command in joint operations against the great port of Singapore.

Tito's New Upset

Tito's Yugoslav troops were fighting in the streets of Trieste, subject of conflicting territorial claims since the last war, led to an Italian demand that the port be controlled by forces of Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander pending post-war settlements.

Allied headquarters announced that more than 230,000 prisoners were taken prior to the surrender of Vietinghoff's forces, estimated at nearly 1,000,000 men, and of German garrisons in Istria.

Truman Wins In House Bill Veto

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—President Truman emerged a winner from his first legislative fight today as the House sustained his veto of a resolution giving almost ironclad draft deferments to farmers.

The President, in rejecting the measure earlier in the day, declared that "no group should have any special privileges." He said the legislation would violate the nondiscrimination principles of the Selective Service act.

On the showdown in the House, 185 members voted to override the veto and 177 voted to sustain it. Since it takes a two-thirds vote of both houses to over-ride, the legislation thereby died.

30 Demos Join Fight

Thirty Democrats joined 154 Republicans and one Progressive in the vote to override. Against them were arrayed 12 Republicans, 1 American Labor member and 164 Democrats.

The legislation was in the form of a resolution offered by Rep. Flannagan (D-Va). It would have strengthened the Tydings amendment to the original draft law by prohibiting local draft boards from taking into consideration the relative essentiality of farm and non-farm work.

The original Tydings amendment, which remains on the law books, blueprinted a procedure for deferment of farm workers deemed to be essential and irreplaceable.

Would Make Mandatory

The Flannagan resolution went a step further by making it mandatory that such registrants be deferred "without consideration of any other circumstance or condition whatsoever." It grew out of congressional dissatisfaction with the administration of the Tydings amendment.

In refusing to approve it, Mr. Truman said it was "the essence" of the original draft law" that no one shall be placed in a favored position, and thus safeguarded from the hazards of war, because of his economic, occupational or other status."

Of the Texas representatives recorded as voting, only Rep. West of Brownsville voted to override the veto. These others voted against overriding: Beckworth, Combs, Fisher, Gossett, Luther A. Johnson, Lyndon B. Johnson, Kilday, Lanham, Lyle, Mahon, Mansfield, Patman, Pickett, Russell, Sumners and Thomas.

Prof. Dobie Says Texas U. Regents Are Anti-Liberal

DALLAS, May 3. (UP)—Professor J. Frank Dobie of the University of Texas declared today that Texas will not have an "open-minded administration" until it has a change of governors.

Mentioned as a potential candidate for governor himself, Dobie made the statement without elaboration.

He added that "the trouble with the regents at Texas U. is that they are anti-anything liberal."

"These men are reactionaries, and I do not believe the majority of the people of Texas are in favor of these reactionary forces which rule us," he said.

Dobie insisted again that he was misquoted several weeks ago when news accounts placed him as favoring negro attendance at the University of Texas.

"I do not advocate negroes at the university at this time," he said today. "Personally, I don't care if they do attend. And I think negroes or any other minority group should have the right to vote."

Bill On Transfer Of School Land Gains

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP) — The House school district committee today recommended favorably a bill by Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock which provides for the transfer of land from the Abernathy school district, Hale county, to the Shallowater district in Lubbock county.

Purpose of the bill, said Smith, is to secure for the Shallowater school district (which now comprises 70 sections) an additional 30 sections in order to have the 100 sections necessary for securing maximum school bus transportation aid.

Eighteen of the additional sections would be secured from Abernathy out of land which extends beyond the county line, and the remaining 12 from a reshuffling within Lubbock county, said Smith.

Rep. Tom Deen of Floydada headed a delegation from Abernathy appearing in opposition to the bill.

Ted Watts, chairman of the Abernathy school board, said if these 18 sections were taken from them their school would stand to lose several teachers, yet Shallowater would not be acquiring enough students to materially better its school's rating.

G. H. Nelson, former district judge and state senator from Lubbock, appearing for the bill, said its "only purpose is to try and build up the educational facilities for Shallowater, and it does not mean any loss of tax revenue to Abernathy

"Taxes on bonds will have to be collected and returned to Abernathy on every acre," said Nelson.

"Twenty years experience have proved to us it doesn't work out that way," responded W. V. Swinburne, superintendent of schools in Abernathy.

A motion to send the bill to a sub-committee failed by a 4-2 vote, and the favorable report was made on a voice vote.

General Patton Is Poet As Well As A Tartar To Germans

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP) — Gen. George S. Patton is the author of a poem, "Fear," it was disclosed today.

The poem appears in the May issue of Cosmopolitan magazine. Describing fear as "that dreadful blighting thing" that rushes "stupendous through the ranks of war," the poem concludes:

"I spare no class, or cult, or creed, My course is endless through the year. I bow all heads, and break all hearts, All owe me homage—I am fear!"

Confusion Rules Ranks Of Nazis

waited to finish German troops either swimming or trying to reach shore by boat.

German Dunkerque

A field dispatch said a German Dunkerque was in progress on both the east and west coasts of Schleswig-Holstein as the Germans shoved off in anything that would float, apparently heading for a last stand in Norway.

The German communique also made an open city of Flensburg at the Danish frontier, indicating that the enemy intended to make no stand short of the border.

Resistance also was breaking up in what is left of the southern redoubt, with the U. S. Seventh Army hammering 21 miles deep into Austria to within seven miles of the big communications center of Linz.

Linz Said Under Fire

(The Linz radio was heard broadcasting that the city was under fire, apparently by the Americans since the Russians from the east still were a considerable distance away.)

In concert with the Seventh Army, the American Third Army was shredding what remains of the Nazi redoubt in Bavaria.

Breaking loose unopposed on a superhighway east of Munich, the Seventh Army last was reported 25 miles west of both Salzburg and Berchtesgaden, while the Third Army was the same distance from Salzburg on the north.

The Third Army likewise had driven into Czechoslovakia as much as six miles along a 50-mile front, seeking out the Nazis who, according to the Hamburg radio before it quit the air, were organizing for a stand to the death.

Fever Grips South Also

Surrender fever also gripped the German armies of the south, a field dispatch reporting that one Seventh Army division alone captured 50,000 troops.

It was impossible to count the prisoners taken in northern Germany since Thursday noon, supreme headquarters said. One entire division surrendered to the British and another to the Americans.

(The London Daily Express said the Germans had quit in such numbers that Britain's facilities for feeding and housing them were inadequate.)

Only enemy opposition reported anywhere on the front of the western Allies was deep in the Alps, where the U. S. Seventh Army ran into German soldiers defending a pass five miles west of Innsbruck in an area supposedly swept clear of opposition by German unconditional surrender to Allied armies in Italy Wednesday.

Four Miles From Emden

The Canadian First Army was only four miles from Emden, and to the east two other ports, Bremerhaven and Cuxhaven, were threatened by British columns fighting west of Bremervoerde, which is 23 miles east of Bremerhaven and 30 miles southeast of Cuxhaven.

The Paris radio without confirmation elsewhere said the surrender of the entire German Army was imminent and, quoting "unimpeachable sources," said Prime Minister Churchill would go to Germany personally "for the final surrender."

The radio earlier said that Admiral Karl Doenitz, Hitler's reputed successor, and Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler once more had approached the Allies, this time offering to surrender to the Russians as well.

Five More Junctions

Five more junctions between the British and Americans from the west and the Russians from the east were made east of Hamburg, virtually ending all organized resistance in the plains and lake country northwest of Berlin

A dispatch from the U. S. Ninth Army front said the once-proud German Army was dying a shameful death on the Elbe, with generals standing in line to surrender and SS Panzer troops—once the Reich's best—paddling rafts or swimming across by the thousands to give up to the Americans before the Russians got them.

There still was fighting in the south as the U. S. Third and Seventh armies cracked the last bit of German soil under the Nazi swastika.

The Inn river, which forms the boundary of this small corner of southwest Bavaria had been crossed in at least six places by the Third Army, which completed the capture of Hitler's birthplace town of Braunau, Austria.

Third Army Near Linz

In Austria, the Third Army was fighting seven miles from Linz against bitter resistance, seeking a junction with the Russians.

While the Third Army was 25 miles north of Salzburg and 40 miles from Berchtesgaden, the Seventh Army broke across the Inn river from the west and last was reported 25 miles from both these citadels of the now shrunken "national redoubt."

Unconditional surrender of the Germans in western Austria supposedly wiped out all resistance on this sector of the Seventh Army front, but as the Americans fought east along the main east-west highway through the Alps to within five miles of Innsbruck, civilians came out and told them fanatic SS troops meant to defend the city.

Hamburg's own radio was the first to announce the big port's fall, issuing an order under Doenitz's name declaring it an open city, the first in all the Reich to take this easy way out of war.

March Into Hamburg

British troops marched into Hamburg at 1 p. m. The surrender of Hamburg also embraced an arc stretching for 10 miles north of the city.

More than 100,00 Germans were swept up by Lt. Gen. Miles C Dempsey's British Second Army in the occupation of Hamburg and in the junction with Russian tanks close to the Baltic at Wismar, and at Brabow, 40 miles to the south.

Approximately 15,000 more Germans streamed into Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's U. S. Ninth Army lines as the Americans made contact with the Russians at three points north and south of Wittenberge.

The Canadian First Army made a bloodless conquest of Oldenberg, anchor of the line guarding the U-boat bases of Emden and Wilhelmshaven, arranging the surrender by telephone.

Resistance To Reds Collapses

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 3. — The last German resistance in north-central Germany collapsed tonight. Premier Stalin announced that Red Army troops in a 30-mile dash, had linked with British forces on a 65-mile front from the Baltic port of Wismar to the Elbe river at Wittenberge, 62 miles northwest of Berlin.

As the hush of a dead nation settled over the smouldering ruins of Berlin, the Red Army set sullen German troops to work clearing up the appalling shambles while Soviet soldiers dug amid the ruins for the bodies of Adolf Hitler and Propaganda Minister Goebbels.

No Word On Search

There was no official word on the progress of the search, but one Soviet commentator, Nikolai Tikhonev, wrote in Pravda today: "Hitler is not in Berlin, but we'll find out what actually happened to him. If he has fled, we'll find him no matter where he's found shelter."

The junction of American, British and Russian forces now extends across northern and central Germany on almost a solid 200-mile front from Wismar south to a point northwest of Dresden. A German pocket possibly still held out west and southwest of Berlin, but it was isolated and without hope of relief.

The new junction left only German forces in western Czechoslovakia and eastern Austria in a position to prolong the fight against the Red Army.

Tottering Redoubt

On the northeastern fringe of the Germans' tottering southern redoubt, Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Fourth Ukranian Army seized the mining center of Cieszyn (Teschen), the last enemy-held strong-point in southwestern Poland. Disputed Cieszyn, formerly part of Czechoslovakia, lies 16 miles southeast of Moravska-Ostrava. Its fall was announced in a second order of the day issued by Stalin.

The Russians already were massing near the Bohemian border for a drive on Prague and the German-controlled Prague radio indicated this offensive already may have begun. In a broadcast at 8 p. m. (London time), Prague said the Russians were attacking with powerful new formations in Moravia between captured Bruenn (Brno) and Moravska-Ostrava.

Regiments Cut To Pieces

"Whole German regiments were cut to pieces rather than withdraw," Prague said. "They had to master a hopeless situation and stood their ground. German resistance has lost nothing of its fierceness."

There was no Russian report on the activity of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army which is operating in Austria west of Vienna, but the Allied-controlled Luxembourg radio said a junction of Russian and American troops at Linz "is imminent." This linkup —when it comes—would create two German pockets, one in Bohemia and the other in the eastern Austrian Alps.

Nazi Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner, commander of Nazi groupings in Austria and Czechoslavakia, broadcast an order of the day calling for continued resistance—but at the same time, the Nazi radio said that Reichsfuehrer Admiral Doenitz had declared the Czechoslovak capital a "hospital day."

Hope For U. S. Seizure

This caused speculation in London that the Germans hoped that American forces from the west would reach Prague first and avert Russian occupation — possibly a hope since the Czechoslovak government is waiting in Kosice to reenter the old capital under Soviet protection.

Meanwhile in Berlin hundreds of stunned German soldiers dragged themselves out from subways, cellars and the ruins of the city and surrendered. Thousands of dirty, unshaven German troops filed through the Brandenburg gate under the pillars of victory, shuffling off to prison camps as the silence of the city was broken only by occasional delayed explosions.

As Red banners fluttered from the hand of the central figure in the "chariot of victory" atop Brandenburg gate, Soviet correspondents described the center of the capital as "almost completely destroyed" — comparable to the shell of Warsaw — and said that famine threatened the city.

ASCAP RITES UPHELD

bombers pounded the city last night. British forces were expected to drive swiftly on Kiel.

Shortly before making their final broadcast from Hamburg, the Nazis announced that Prague, the capital of Czechoslovakia, had been declared a "hospital town," or open city, and that "negotiations for the reorganization of the political life of the protectorate have begun."

A British foreign office spokesman said he could not interpret the "political reorganization" remark, but added that if it meant the Germans were surrendering all of Czechoslovakia an official announcement could be expected from Allied headquarters. Only 18 hours before the Nazi commander in Czechoslovakia had called upon his forces to rally around Doenitz and continue the fight.

Patriots Taking Over

Late today the Prague radio broadcast an order by Dr. Karl Frank, minister of state for Bohemia and Moravia, pledging allegiance to Doenitz and the memory of Hitler, but there was no mention of continued resistance. The free Czech radio reported that patriots were rising in such proportions that Nazi rule was at the vanishing point.

For the first time since the war began approaching its end, Moscow was reported rife with rumors that Germany was about to surrender unconditionally.

When Prime Minister Churchill failed to appear in the House of Commons this afternoon the report spread quickly that he had gone to Germany to attend the surrender ceremony. Another report had him leaving for a meeting with President Truman.

No one here professed to know, actually, whether Doenitz would surrender or would choose to fight on until he was tracked down at sea or perhaps in Norway's mountain-rimmed fjords.

No Mourning For Adolf

No German broadcast had announced a state of mourning for Hitler or has told of any funeral plans. The Russians strongly doubted they would find him, either dead or alive, in the rubble heap of Berlin.

One Soviet commentator declared: "We'll find out what actually happened to him. And if he has fled we will find him, no matter where he has found shelter."

There was, as well, no trace of the other Nazi leaders—Himmler, Goebbels, Goering, Ribbentrop, Ley. The British were intrigued with the possibility of capturing Lord Haw-Haw—William Joyce—the renegade Briton, who was broadcasting for the Nazis at Hamburg up to two days ago.

Prison Liberation

time in their Army lives—were victims of the Ardennes breakthrough last December and January. Hundreds more had spent only a couple of weeks or so as enemy prisoners. They were Second Armored division boys who forced the first bridgehead across the Elbe river in mid-April and then were captured when the bridgehead was lost.

But nobody was thinking of those times this afternoon. While Russian, American and German artillery fire echoed faintly in the distance and an occasional splatter of small arms sounded nearby, doughboys rushed out of the crowded, louse-ridden prison barracks and listened to the liberation announcement while lined up to climb into trucks.

Through 20 miles of enemy-held territory they leaned over the sides of trucks and alternately laughed and swore at staring German soldiers and civilians, most of whom obviously didn't know what to make of this strange American cavalcade in their midst. However, there was no "incident" of any sort to mar the truce, which was set by Lt. Col Tim O'Cook, of Snyder, Tex., acting regimental commander of the infantry outfit which handled the evacuation.

All the Americans and British and several score others were among those evacuated today—as well as all seriously wounded.

For the most part the prisoners said they had been treated "fairly decently" and especially well during recent weeks. The nearer the Americans and Russians came to the camp, the more the treatment improved.

Although it was impossible due to the necessity of the speed of the operation behind enemy lines to get a complete list of American prisoners, those liberated included the following Texans: Pfc. Norman B. Hecker, San Antonio; Pfc. William Jackson, Marble Falls; Pfc. Pedro Figueroa, Brownsville; Pfc. Willis L. Griffith, Woodville; Pfc. Wilmer M. Welsh, Graham, and Sgt. Willis L. Broussard, Port Arthur.

About Russia's Policies

United Nations Must Be United

YESTERDAY, the South Plains newspaper reading public was given two views on the Russian attitude as expressed from time to time in the United Nations Security conference at San Francisco. These views were offered in The Morning Avalanche by Thomas L. Stokes, and in The Evening Journal by Drew Pearson. Both men are widely known and widely read reporter-columnists. Both are "sitting in" on the San Francisco conference and mirroring events there for millions of American subscribers to hundreds of major U. S. newspapers. Both men are experienced Washington commentators and each has had tours of reportorial duty overseas.

It is interesting to note that the opinions of Messrs. Pearson and Stokes, while differing in expression, agree on the major point—agree not only with each other, but also with the general opinion being expressed by South Plains residents. That is: Russia's attitude is very difficult for the American people and for most of the national delegations at San Francisco, to understand.

Apparently Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov has labored too often under the impression that the United Nations Security conference is first and foremost a Russian show in which only Russia's desires—even her whims—are of major importance. Premier Stalin's representative has been in the limelight more frequently than any 10 other representatives put together; he has voiced more suggestions and more requests (if not demands) than any 10 other delegates present. His idea seems to be that whatever Russia wants should be handed Russia on a silver platter, because Russia has been fighting the Germans for several years and has done a good job at it.

Russia does have coming to it a full share of consideration at the hands of the other nations of the world. There's no gainsaying that. But England and the U. S. have been fighting Germany for sometime now, too, and their nationals have done a good job. And the future peace of the world—which the San Francisco conference aims to secure—is as important to every nation in the world as it is to Russia. If Russia forgets that, there is little hope that Russia's contribution to future peace will be as helpful as it should be.

It is high time, we think, that someone whisper into the ear of Mr. Molotov—and, more especially into the ear of J. Stalin—that while we Americans appreciate Russia's war effort to the fullest extent that we, too, have been fighting and, on top of that, have been supplying much of the essential materiel of war to Russia at the same time.

The Russian people live under the tightest censorship the world has ever seen. Therefore, they probably haven't been permitted to know that American supplies have been next in importance to Russian manpower and fighting ability in the Russian victories since Stalingrad. But the American people know it and they'd appreciate Mr. Molotov's indicating sometimes that he knows it, too. It is fairly generally believed in this country that Russia could never have swept the Germans back from Stalingrad without our materiel. If that isn't entirely true, it is a fact that American materiel enabled the Russians to do what they have done in much quicker time, and at fewer losses, than they otherwise could have done.

The United Nations—especially the "Big Three" of Russia, the U. S. and England—must be actually united to do very much in the way of guaranteeing a long peace, or even toward laying a foundation upon which a structure of global co-operation may be constructed. By fighting tooth and toenail for their own selfish desires, they cannot but weaken themselves and the world's hopes for a better day.

That, we think, is something for Russia to consider along with the rest of the "Big Three" in particular, the civilized world in general.

It's A Two-Way Honor

APPOINTMENT by his national organization of Rev. Jeff D. Welch to found in Mexico City this summer an English-speaking Baptist church is a signal honor both to the co-pastor of Central Baptist church here and to the members of his congregation. Although Mr. Welch and the Editor of The Morning Avalanche frequently engage in lengthy arguments (all in the very best of humor) regarding theological beliefs and Biblical interpretations, we long have admired the energy and the steadfastness of purpose shown by the minister.

Mrs. Welch will aid her husband in a three-month tour of duty in the Mexican capital and the two will return to Central church in late summer after placing the Mexico City church in the hands of a permanent pastor.

We wish both of them well in this important endeavor, as, indeed, do hundreds of their fellow citizens.

I

I came up on deck. I looked out across the harbor at pier 14 a mere 400 yards away. And I felt very, very good.

Then behind me someone coughed. I turned. There stood Booker. In the shelter of the windscreen, he lit a cigaret. On his lips was a wintry smile. That little feeling of self-congratulation which one experiences on coming safely through a hazardous affair evaporated.

"Well, Trent," Booker leaned his arms on the rail beside me, "we made it."

My presence on the boat was explained by an encounter with a buzz-bomb which had figuratively blown me out of the pilot's seat of a B-17 to a position of temporary retirement before going back to my old job of aircraft designing. Booker's presence on the boat remained unexplained. Booker went on:

"Back to Boston and the little girl on Beacon Hill, eh?"

"Eh," I said.

"Then to your desk at the Beacon Aircraft." Booker's thin lips curved in a derisive smile.

I looked at him. I hadn't remembered being so confidential.

Booker stared down into the water where the October winds made plumes of foam. He dropped his cigaret into the harbor.

His eyes rested speculatively upon me.

"The Hudsons are very influential people," he said. "The little girl on—"

"Miss Hudson," I said.

He smiled.

"She would take a lot of supporting."

"Would she?"

"This war is not going to last forever, Trent. When it is over, there will be an oversupply of airplane designers. You might like to fortify yourselp against that eventuality."

"Life insurance?" I asked.

"No." He did not smile. "You would not be a good risk."

It wasn't so much what he said; it was the way he said it.

"That sounds like a threat."

"Good heavens, no." He laughed and I observed that his teeth needed attention. "I am merely giving you an opportunity to cash in on a risk which you must inevitably take. You are not responsible for the accidents of birth and environment. But you can take advantage of them instead of suffering because of them."

"I haven't the faintest notion of what you're talking about," I said, "and I am not in the least interested."

He took out a cigaret and tapped it on his thumbnail. All the warmth had gone out of his face.

"Listen, Trent," he said. "I'll be at The Vendome in Boston until Tuesday. Think it over and get in touch with me."

"If I'm half as sleepy as I feel," I said, "I won't wake up until Wednesday morning."

Pat Hudson was the loveliest girl I knew. She stood on the platform beside Charley Strand and together they are two of the very few people in the world who really care what happens to me. Charley is single, sane, and blessed with a very rare sense of immediacy. Now he sensed something sentimentally unique in the situation and he was effacing himself bravely by looking with false interest at everything but Pat and me.

"Hello, Nick," Pat said. "No torpedoes?"

"One," I said and held my hands apart. "That far away."

She shuddered and touched my arm very gently.

"What a blow that would have been to my aspirations."

I happened to glance across the platform and Booker went by. Unsmiling, he looked at me.

"How odd," said Pat.

"Remember me?" Charley asked.

"Remotely." I took his hand and spoke to Pat. "What's odd?"

"That man. Who is he?"

I looked after Booker.

"Nobody," I said. "Why?"

"He looked at you so strangely."

"He wasn't looking at me." I took her arm. "Come along while I park this baggage."

We went to the University Club where I dropped my bags and Charley had Raoul send up a bottle of Hermitage which signaled a moment to be remembered. Gravely we clinked glasses.

"Prosit," said Pat.

"You can't do that," Charley informed her. "That's a German toast."

"Charley." Pat looked at him. "You're not going to start that."

"Eric's got her into that," he said.

"Eric?" My glass stopped in the air.

Charley and I exchanged glances. We had never had much difficulty in coming to an agreement about Eric.

"Hasn't Eric been drafted yet?" I asked.

"You know he's too old," Pat said.

"I had forgotten," I said. "It always seemed to me that anyone who does so much talking ought to supplement it with a little fighting."

"It has been hard for Eric—being of German descent." Pat's tone was defensive. "After all, he is a naturalized American."

"If he hadn't been naturalized," Charley said, "he would have ended up as a corporal in the German army."

"And Eric would not have liked that," I said.

"Please," Pat interrupted us. "Let's not talk about it any more. I'm sorry I brought up the subject of Eric."

"Listen," Charley said. "I've got tickets for the Harvard-Navy game. How about you two meeting me there?"

Somehow the struggles of twenty-two V-12 boys on a football field seemed curiously remote. I shook my head.

"Not today, Charley."

"You're tired," said Pat.

"A little. I haven't really slept for ten days."

"Take me to lunch. Food will do you good and after that you can sleep."

"I could do with a little of that," I said.

And Charley threw up his hands.

"You'll be sorry." He grinned. "Meet me at the Parker House at 5:30 and I'll tell you the score."

Little did we suspect what that innocently-made date was to get us all into.

Vets Administration Needs Clerks, Typists

The Navy department and Veterans administration in Washington, D. C., urgently need clerks, typists and stenographers, according to M. W. Waldron, manager of the U. S. Employment office here.

Appointees for the Veterans administration enter on duty at the Veterans hospital in Amarillo for a training period of approximately 30 days, and at the end of this training period they are transferred to Washington. Those appointed to the Navy department are sent direct to Washington.

Positions are civil service appointments, and are for the duration and six months thereafter. However, many civilian workers will continue their careers in government service after the war as they did after the first World War. Transportation with first class accommodations is paid. Adequate housing facilities are guaranteed.

Applicants may see the special recruiting representative at the U. S. Employment service office, 1207 Thirteenth, for full information about positions with the Navy department and Veterans administration. Appointments are made in accordance with current War Manpower commission regulations.

Airport Construction Bill Before Senate

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—A half-billion dollar federal aid airport construction bill came up today before a short-handed Senate obviously absorbed in the prospect of imminent German collapse.

Not only was victory news distracting the senators from a measure that ordinarily would hold their complete attention, but a dozen members were away on official business.

Under the pending measure the government would spend $100,000,000 a year for each of five post-war years to construct 3,000 new airports and improve 1,600 of the existing 3,000 airfields. The federal funds would have to be matched by an equal amount of state and local money. This would make the actual program total $1,000,000,000.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IT'S PRETTY hard for me to write this column today—and it will be just as hard for the next three or four days.

I presume that you have read lots of Spring poetry—all about lilac and daffodils and moon and swoon and gentle zephyrs and what not.

I respect the poets—and I envy them.

However, I suspect that most of these dreaming bards lived (or live) in city apartments with janitors and handymen and other help to do the heavy work.

It's Spring out here where I live, and it's glorious Spring, at that.

But my back aches and one of my thumbs is bandaged, and I am stiff in all my joints.

If you live in the country you will sympathize with me, just as I sympathize with you.

To us Spring means work.

To us Spring means raking and hoeing and cultivating and painting and repairing and cleaning up and pulling weeds and cutting grass.

Yesterday my wife asked me to bring the summer furniture out of the barn. It's that heavy kind of hickory furniture, you know. Each piece weighs about a ton.

There's no help to be had, of course, so I had to do all the dragging myself. One of the chairs had a broken leg. I fixed it. You ought to see it now. I can hardly wait to have one of our expected week-end guests sit on it next Sunday.

The table was so dirty I had to paint it. The brush was stiff from last year and I had no turpentine handy. So I did the best I could. I think you can imagine the result.

I've pulled enough weeds to feed a whole regiment of vegetarians, and I have done a hundred other chores, I am tired and sore and pretty much disgusted.

But what do you think disgusts me most?

Spring? The hard work?

No? It's my own clumsiness and inefficiency.

Here I have gone through college and studied philosophy and psychology and history and literature.

Some people even tell me that I am a pretty smart guy.

And yet, I see the farmers all around me doing their chores with a smile and in the evenings they are all ready to go to the movies or play pinochle.

While I am just about ready to fall into bed and go to sleep.

IF I HAD my way every child in America would have to take a handyman course and learn something about carpentering, plumbing, gardening and fixing things.

It's just as important to be a good tinkerer as a good thinker!

Uncle Sam Gets Smart

Plans Real Intelligence Setup

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A BRISK controversy flames behind the bureaucratic scenery over which Federal agency shall control the proposed National Intelligence service, even though the organization for ferreting out domestic and foreign enemies will probably not be set up until after the end of the war.

The legislation offered by the White House would create an establishment in which War, Navy, State, Treasury and the Department of Justice would be represented, although it plans that the military, naval and diplomatic branches would have dominant influence.

Under this system the superspy group would devote itself chiefly to keeping an eye on foreign nations' plans and designs affecting the United States, the possible economic and diplomatic threats spotlighted along with actual war schemes against the safety and integrity of the Western Hemisphere.

TUCKER

Now, however, two formidable figures have entered quiet claims that they should top the contemplated Intelligence unit.

The first is the brilliant William J. Donovan, who heads the mysterious but far-reaching Office of Strategic services. He wants his bureau, which combines investigative work with economic studies and outright military operations behind the lines, put on a permanent basis.

The other is J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He has built a powerful and generously staffed organization for counterespionage purposes, and he believes that his is the logical agency to handle postwar sleuthing here and abroad.

SERIOUS: The FBI's contention rests on the admittedly superb job it did in breaking up Axis rings in South America even before the United States entered the conflict. When socialites and amateurs attached to State, War and Navy demonstrated their unfitness for this task, Hoover's agents were sent to key danger spots.

There was no authority in law for this action, but the crisis demanded emergency measures. They were appointed "legal advisers" to our embassies and legations. Their findings eventually led every Latin republic but Argentina to outlaw Japanese and German firms, clubs, propaganda, schools etc.

This spectacle of departmental and bureau heads squabbling to retain or expand their wartime power and personnel is nothing new to the capital. No one wants to demobilize. But the tremendous importance of a National Intelligence Service, in view of the prospect that vast hordes of our enemies may dive underground, makes the current quarrel serious rather than merely spectacular.

ESPIONAGE: Of course, some form of international police force to stop aggressors may come out of the San Francisco conference. This may be adequate to nip surreptitious rearmament on a large scale. But we can never be sure about the future; some of today's buddies may have to be watched closely when the "hands across the sea" spirit has subsided.

We paid dearly for never having had a proper espionage system. It is still humiliating to admit that we did not know what the Japs were up to by reason of the blanket of enemy censorship in Truk and Formosa.

A nation under suspicion will use every trick to outwit watchmen. After the last war the Allied Control commission thought it was keeping tab on the Reichswehr. But Berlin was fooling the outside world.

Advance armament research was carried on for the Germans in Sweden, Russia and other European states. Franco permitted his pals to build experimental submarines in Spain. General von Seeckt in 1922 loaned German experts to train the new Red army. In return his technicians were given opportunity to study new weapons forbidden at home by the Versailles Treaty.

In some ways economic finagling is even more difficult to detect than military monkey business; the term business covers deals by both governments and so-called private firms. Most commercial transactions will be aboveboard, but we must have trained sleuths to pry into the devious ones affecting our safety.

If the San Francisco Conference accepts the Economic and Social council proposed at Dumbarton Oaks, an institution to prevent economic sore spots will be available to us. But we shall require our own machinery to keep informed about cartels, trade barriers, commercial policies and other "secret weapons" which may be used against us.

Businessmen know that in many ways the Schachts, with their unorthodox financial schemes, were as dangerous to our welfare as the Goerings with their hidden Luftwaffe. Prewar ties between huge American corporations and their counterparts in foreign countries are now recognized as detrimental to American interests. We shall need agencies to see that like combinations are not formed again.

INTERNATIONALIST: Although Rep. Charles Gifford of Cotuit, Massachusetts, hails from the second most eastern district in the U. S., he is an extreme isolationist, unlike so many New England associates. So he had a field day when Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton urged extension of the reciprocal tariff agreement act at a House hearing. "You are an internationalist, aren't you?" drawled the Bay Stater.

"That depends on your definition of an internationalist," smiled the Texas cotton broker.

"An internationalist," defined Gifford, "is like a hen who cackles in her own yard but lays the egg in another."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

U. S. SIGNAL Corps films documenting Nazi atrocities on American prisoners of war and concentration camp victims are released this week to the newsreel theaters of the country.

The grim pictures undoubtedly will again arouse public criticism of the way we are treating Germans in our PW enclosures, even though spokesmen for the War department declare that there can be no modification, bound as they are by the terms of the Geneva convention.

LEMAN

Many experts in military and international law in New York think that, by being such sticklers for the rigid interpretation of the Geneva rules, our prison wardens have put us in a strait jacket.

Under our form of government citizens who believe that a law is bad can appeal to the courts for judgment, or to the legislature for repeal. Officials say that war conditions prevent the calling of another convention to correct the war prisoner status in the light of an entirely new situation brought about by Berlin terrorists. So we are hamstrung by the pettifoggery of the brass hats.

As was pointed out in this column recently, far more is involved than retaliation for Gestapo inhumanity to our men. Beyond the question of giving tit for tat is the greater problem of what to do with German captives after the end of the war.

Good people shudder at the thought of "werewolves" unloosed in the Reich. Yet we are building in this country a Trojan horse which some day will be moved to Europe where it will disgorge its evil contents. We shall dump upon the war-weary Continent a compact group of healthy fanatics still imbued with Nazism.

Economists discuss the prevention of future bloodshed by dismantling Germany's steel, chemical and munitions industries. But we do nothing to dismantle the Nazi mind.

Another reason why we want to postpone death as long as possible is because we fear that being dead century upon century might eventually become monotonous.

'Frisco Sees Some "Power Politics" But:

Some Compromises Are Necessary

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO — It is hard to get away from practical politics, or the technique known as "being realistic," if an alibi is needed for something not quite right and proper.

It happens in domestic affairs.

It happens, too, in international affairs.

Compromises began long ago in the preparatory stage of this United Nations conference here. They started at Dumbarton Oaks in Washington where the four big powers — Great Britain, Russia, China and the United States—sat down and wrote a preliminary draft of a world security organization.

STOKES

They were carried further at the Yalta conference in the concession to Russia, providing that any one of the five big powers as permanent members of the proposed security council — France in addition to the four named above — could veto action against an aggressor. This, incidentally, was satisfactory to our politicians, too, because it would help in getting Senate ratification. There was, also, the concession which gave Russia three votes in the proposed assembly and six for Great Britain, counting her dominions and India.

Disappointment Created

The United States, a sponsor of this conference, had kept fairly free of the exploitation of practical politics for ourselves, though we had played the game with concessions for others. We had kept the flag of idealism fluttering rather hopefully. Even after the conference opened here it was others, not ourselves, who were pressing for concessions of one sort and another, principally Russia.

That, perhaps, is why our initiative in pushing through the admission of Argentina—which we formerly had outlawed as a Fascist government, sympathetic and helpful to our enemies—created such a wave of disappointment here, and undoubtedly in the country at large. Argentina had become the symbol of our clean break with Fascism here in the Western Hemisphere. We acted, to be sure, to protect ourselves from trouble within that would complicate our external defense problem, but we also were hewing clean to the line of the philosophy for which we were fighting. That meant a great deal.

WE RENEGED on that here, and we have a very guilty conscience.

It is a self-confessed blot on our escutcheon in the name of practical politics and "realism." Every member of the American delegation deplores it privately. Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), a delegation vice chairman, was frank enough to excuse it publicly on the ground of expediency, as a necessary compromise to help in the over-all result, the success of the conference, a measure of practical politics.

Despite their repugnance, the American delegation decided it was a necessary gesture to the nations in our Latin-American orbit, who wanted it done, as well as to Great Britain which has important trade relations with Argentina. We need the Latin-American nations in this conference—as we also need England. And we will need them in the world security organization—for practical political purposes, for their votes to be explicit. It is obvious, if discouraging, that the play of power politics still goes on, with ourselves and Great Britain and Russia developing our orbits of influence. We are protecting ours.

Where Was The "Victory"

At the Chapultepec conference in Mexico City in February was designed a set of specifications—paper specifications — for return of the black sheep, Argentina, to the fold. She declared war — on paper. She has promised other things. There has been little performance yet. But the practical argument is that she is more likely to do them back in the fold, where we can influence her and watch her, where she has a sort of moral obligation, than isolated outside the fold.

The realists, who look on international matters still as a big game with innings and a scoreboard, proudly proclaim the "defeat" of Russia on the Argentina issue. But was it such a splendid "victory" for us?

THE success of the conference in creating a world security organization is paramount. Some compromises must be made.

But does it, help, in the over-all result, for us, in our favored position, to compromise ourselves too far?

Our moral influence is most valuable and effective.

Use Of Army-Type Craft Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — Plans were disclosed today to use ships similar to armed forces landing craft for commercial operation in the intracoastal waterway of Texas and nearby states.

Two native Texans, Maj. Chester D Bintliff, serving with the Army transportation corps, and David C. Bintliff, Houston business man, told the Interstate Commerce commission in an application they propose using six craft similar to the L.C.T. (Landing Craft, Tank) and L.S.M. (Landing Ship, Medium) for the operations.

They said they selected the craft because of loading capacity, operation economy, ease of loading and unloading "whether docks, piers or wharves are available or not" and because of shallow draft.

Ports Listed

The application is to carry commodities on regular schedules and to serve the following ports: Mobile, Ala., Pascagoula, Biloxi, Gulfport, and Bay St. Louis, Miss.; New Orleans, Houma, Morgan City, Lake Charles, La.; Orange, Port Arthur, Beaumont, High Island, Anahuac, Galveston, Goose Creek, Baytown, Houston, Freeport, Matagorda, Palacios, Port Aransas, Corpus Christi, Port Isabel, and Brownsville, Tex. Trinity river service would include Liberty, Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex.

Until completion of the intracoastal waterway between Corpus Christi and Brownsville, the application said, craft would use the open water between those ports. Similary, it said, service on the Trinity river cannot be offered until completion of a navigation project, "moneys for which we understood to have already been appropriated."

The application did not state from whom the craft would be acquired.

House Hotly Argues, Then Passes Bill Putting War Costs On Axis

AUSTIN, May 3. (U.P.) — Hot words flashed in the Texas House today before members adopted a resolution asking that Germany and Japan be made to pay the full price of World war two.

The resolution was by Rep. E. F. Harrell, Paris, and now goes to the Senate.

It was Rep. F. G. Swanson, Tyler, whose speech against the resolution caused protests from supporters.

Swanson Opposes

"I'm opposed to the resolution because it is mob action," said Swanson. "It is mass hysteria without logic, reason and common sense. There is no power on earth that can collect the entire debt from Germany and unborn generations. This resolution is utterly impossible. It is a clear expression of emotional hysteria."

Swanson said he didn't want his name affixed to the resolution.

"If you're so much in sympathy with Hitler and his gang I don't want your name on it," Harrell shouted.

Harrell, a former Texas ranger, strode to the microphone where Swanson was speaking and displayed before him pictures in a magazine showing atrocities committeed on soldiers.

Speaker Claud Gilmer called for better order.

"I haven't any time for appeasement talk," shouted Rep. Carlton Moore, Houston, to Swanson.

Rep. Roy Cousins, Beaumont, a discharged soldier, told the House:

"The pity of the whole thing is the fact that men with cold logic —cold economic logic—are writing the peace instead of the boy who had both legs shot off."

Adage Recalled

"The old statement that young men fight the wars and old men make the peace is true. I had hopes for the San Francisco conference but it started off with old political men bickering."

Cousin said Germany and Japan should be dealt with as the Romans did when they captured Carthage.

"The Romans took the men in slavery, burned the buildings and took oxen and plowed up the ground and you never heard of Carthage again. I wish to God we could do that to Germany and Japan."

Rep. Grady Moore, Clarksville, a World war one veteran and father of three sons now in the service, told the House he hesitated to be "too positive about what should be done about peace."

"I hesitate because I remember a verse in the Bible: 'Vengeance is mine, thus sayeth the Lord. I will repay'," Moore said.

Rep. Cecil Barnes, San Angelo, before moving that the resolution be referred to the state affairs committee, said the committee had not given it a proper hearing.

"I think most of us are for the resolution," Rep. Houston McMurry, Henrietta, said to Barnes, "but we are coming to the conclusion that words in it are not in keeping with dignity of the house."

The resolution, in referring to axis atrocities, referred to "axis monster," "German barbarians" and "unspeakable vultures."

The motion to rerefer the resolution was defeated, 44 ayes to 65 noes. The resolution was adopted by vote of 85 ayes to 7 noe, with 8 members voting present.

Greater Migratory Labor Aid Expected

COLLEGE STATION, May 3. (AP) —A statement that Texas migratory labor, chiefly of Latin American descent, is expected to be a more flexible and efficient element in Texas agriculture during 1945 than ever before came today from the Texas A. and M. college extension service.

D. D. Steele, assistant state farm labor supervisor, said the farm labor staff of the service had devoted winter and spring months to "laying a solid foundation of confidence and cooperation" between the more than 30,000 migratory workers, county agricultural agents, and the state extension farm labor office.

Objectives of the extension farm labor program were discussed by Spanish-speaking assistants assigned to 30 South Texas and Rio Grande valley counties where the majority of the workers live.

The purpose, said the service, was to "accustom crew leaders and workers to seeking placements through county agricultural agents, and especially depending upon them for accurate information regarding demands for their services.

Darby's permanent rank was captain of field artillery.

Former Texas Tech Student Has Flown Over 110 Missions; Air Medal Has 19 Clusters

A NINTH AIR FORCE THUNDERBOLT BASE, France — Reminiscent of his days as a cowpuncher, 21-year-old Capt. Dorwyn D. Shaver, formerly of Lubbock, now rides herd to a dwindling Luftwaffe as a Ninth Air force fighter-bomber pilot.

SHAVER

Flying a P-47 Thunderbolt armed with eight 50-caliber wing guns and 500-pound wing bombs, Capt. Shaver shot down a twin-engine Nazi bomber, a Junkers 88, on Feb. 8, and previously destroyed another JU 88 and a JU 52 transport plane in attacks against enemy airdromes.

A veteran flight leader of over 110 combat missions, Capt. Shaver flies with the crack 362nd Fighter Group known as "The Maulers." Since arriving overseas, May 13, 1944, the ex-cow puncher has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with 19 clusters. Recently "The Maulers" were decorated with the coveted Presidential Unit Citation for action at Brest last August when the group commander, Col. Joseph L., "Uncle Joe," Laughlin of Omaha, Neb., led his Thunderbolts in divebombing and sinking a German cruiser, damaging a second cruiser and leaving 12 merchant ships aflame.

Describes His Victory

Describing his victory over the twin-engine JU 88 bomber, Capt. Shaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Shaver, South Star route, Portales, N. M., said:

"I was leading a flight of four Thunderbolts when we crossed the Main river in Germany that morning. My flight was flying top cover for 12 other Thunderbolts divebombing enemy targets below us. Suddenly, from out of nowhere, I saw a lone Nazi JU 88 flying toward us and about 100 feet below. He must have been lost for he flew right between our two echelons.

Saw Him Crash

"I dived on him as he passed by and began firing. He broke away and tried to turn into me. Closing to within 150 feet of the crooked swastiskas on his tail, I fired and saw my tracers sparkle all over his wings and fuselage. Seconds later he rolled over on his side and dived straight down. I saw him crash and explode. Rejoining my squadron we continued on our mission and divebombed a large railroad terminus full of box cars."

Capt. Shaver's closest call came during an action for which he received the Distinguished Flying Cross for "exceptional leadership and personal bravery."

"Twelve of us were divebombing railroad yards near the Rhine and enemy gunners were making it plenty 'hot' for us with 20-millimeter fire. My wingman and I went down and strafed and silenced about nine gun positions so our boys could finish divebombing," he said.

Controls Knocked Out

"We came in so close I could see the gunners diving for cover. One of their 20-millimeter shells exploded in my plane, cutting the hydraulic lines and knocking out my wing flap controls. Back at base I had to land 'hot' and fast, but managed to stop before leaving the runway."

Capt. Shaver is a graduate of Bula High school, in June, 1940. He entered the Army Air Force at Muleshoe, Tex., where he and his parents lived from 1935-43. He attended Texas Tech at Lubbock, where he studied civil engineering. One brother, Douglas G. Shaver, is an armorer on a B-25 Liberator in Italy. Capt. Shaver's wife for whom his Thunderbolt, "Fancy Fran," is named is the former Frances R. Drake who resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Drake, route 1, Ropesville.

Having completed his combat duty in the European Theater of Operations, Capt. Shaver will return to the United States shortly on combat leave.

Business, Financial Conditions Improved In 11th Bank District

DALLAS, May 3. (UP)—Business and financial conditions throughout the 11th federal reserve bank district generally improved during March and April, but in the fields of industry and agriculture conditions were spotty, the bank's monthly business review noted today.

Torrential rains and floods over northeast Texas and northern Louisiana during late March and early April left crop conditions in a critical stage, delaying planting and causing heavy damage.

Rains In West

However, this condition was offset by rains in the western part of the district which set the stage for a record wheat crop, an exceptionally large lamb crop and general improvement in range conditions.

Lags in war production were reported by the review in a number of Texas war plants with the blame placed on machine failures, unusually large rejections of inferior materials and lack of experienced supervisory personnel and skilled workers.

However, a large percentage of the "must" plants have accelerated production in recent weeks and are now either meeting production quotas or are materially reducing accumulated lags by better utilization of men and materials.

Total overall employment in major Texas industries showed a slight increase, with indications additional workers would be needed within the next four months in all industries but shipbuilding.

Contracts Increases

Construction contracts awarded increased sharply to reach the highest level in some two years.

Crude petroleum production showed a slight increase with well completions up about 38 per cent over a similar period last year.

Department store consumer buying was up 18 per cent over a year ago and 27 per cent over the preceding month, while stocks remained approximately at last year's levels despite a heavy demand caused by an early Easter.

Only one business failure was reported during March in the district.

An all-time high peak of $631,000,000 was reached during the month in daily average reserve balances of member banks in the district, while deposits showed a $23,200,000 decline in the four weeks ending April 11 after increasing substantially during early March.

Kiwanis Join Music Week Observance

A musical program was presented at the luncheon of Kiwanis club today in Lubbock hotel in recognition of National Music week which begins Sunday.

Mrs. W. C. Wood was guest speaker, speaking on the history of American music. Featured soloist was Mrs. F. C. Stanley, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. E. Hereford. Mrs. Marion Blake read the words of a song she composed after her fifth son had been inducted into the armed forces.

Another feature of the program was the Kiwanis chorus, made up of 15 members of the club, under the direction of Harry D. Delaney.

Store Owner Meant Business On Adolf

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 3 (AP)—Merton B. Robbins meant what he said when he announced many months ago on a window card that his store would be closed "the day of Hitler's funeral."

The Robbins clothing store did not open Wednesday.

"We might as well get him buried," he said referring to the fuehrer.

NICARAGUA CELEBRATES

MANAGUA, May 3 (AP)—Nicaragua celebrated today the fall of Berlin with a holiday. All business places closed.

Lt. Clyde A. Williams Of Slaton Back From Pacific Combat Tour

Lt. Clyde A. Williams, USNR, Slaton, has returned from a tour of combat duty in the Pacific, where he flew a Navy fighter plane from the flight deck of the "Fighting Lady."

Lt. Williams was attached to Air Group Three, operating aboard the carrier whose earlier exploits are dramatized in the Navy's documentary film "The Fighting Lady."

The 26-year-old naval officer inflicted damage on enemy targets during strikes against the Philippines, Formosa, French Indo-China, Hong Kong and Okinawa. He has been decorated with the Air Medal for distinguished performance during an attack in the Philippines.

His citation reads: "For distinguishing himself by meritorious acts while participating in aerial flights as a division leader of carrier-based fighter planes in successful strikes against enemy surface forces. While leader of a division of fighter planes, he and his wingman skillfully maneuvered to destroy an enemy fighter while his second section leader destroyed two more. His coolness, determination and courage were at all times in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Bad Management At Hospitals Charged

DALLAS, May 3. (AP)—Dr. Marion Hotopp, regional medical consultant for the U. S. children's bureau administered through the Department of Labor, said an investigation of conditions in eight Texas hospitals showed that in one institution caring for 22 crippled children through a federal-state aid program, only one child had received pediatric consultation.

She was one of a group of labor department witnesses testifying yesterday in a one-day hearing called by Labor Secretary Frances Perkins to investigate the administration of the program in Texas by the State department of public instruction.

At stake in the hearing is more than $146,000 a year of federal money for Texas.

Young Roosevelt Is Praised In Sub Chase

ABOARD A CRUISER OFF BORNEO, April 29 (Delayed) (AP) Two U. S. destroyers made contact with a Japanese submarine in the South China sea but lost it. A destroyer-escort commanded by Lt. Cmdr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., then was called in.

The destroyer-escort made five runs on the target during a two-hour hunt, and a tremendous underwater explosion indicated the sub's destruction. It was listed as probably sunk, because no wreckage was sighted in the darkness.

Superior officers agreed young Roosevelt did a splendid job. Rear Adm. Russell S. Berkey, squadron commander, termed it "one of the most efficiently conducted antisubmarine operations within my knowledge." Admiral Berkey recommended a legion of merit award for Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt probably never knew of the commendation. He died two days after it was issued.

YANKS' RATIONS CUT

PARIS, May 3. (AP)—The "critical worldwide food shortage" has caused Supreme Allied headquarters to order a 10 per cent cut on the rations allotted for the use of American troops engaged in "light duties" in the European theater of operations, it was announced today.

Protein Foods Are In Child's Diet

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles on feeding the pre-school child, prepared by Miss Rouby Tom-Rhodes, dietitian at St. Mary's hospital.)

The specific functions of protein in the diet is to build and maintain body tissue. Greatest requirements of growth come during the period from birth to adolescence, therefore protein provided must be qualitatively as well as quantitatively adequate.

Milk has already been discussed as one of the best sources of protein. Eggs, meat, cheese and whole grain cereals are other good sources which may be supplemented by less potent sources of protein, such as legumes, nuts and other grains, to furnish this building material for the body.

Generally the American dietary includes too much protein. It is necessary that we limit the protein in a child's diet in order that he may receive well balanced meals.

Sufficient protein for the day may be obtained from the following menus:

BREAKFAST
Stewed Prunes
Enriched Cream of Wheat
Butter Milk Sugar
Whole Wheat Toast

1 can beef consomme
1 teaspoon sugar
Dash of pepper
¼ cup sherry
Sliced lemon

Wash beets, peel and grate coarsely. Cover with cold water and simmer about one hour, until liquid is very red. Drain and add liquor to gelatin which has been softened in two tablespoons cold water. Stir until gelatin has dissolved. Add seasonings, canned or fresh consomme and sherry. Chill. Stir occasionally until the soup begins to thicken. Serve in chilled bouillon cups, garnished with a thin slice of lemon.

Victory Fruit Sherbet

2-3 cup sugar
1-3 cup light corn syrup
1 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons granulated gelatin
3 tablespoons cold water
½ cup orange juice
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup lemon juice
2 egg whites, beaten

Boil sugar, syrup and boiling water four minutes. Add gelatin soaked five minutes in cold water. Cool and add juices and salt. Pour into tray in freezing compartment in mechanical refrigerator. Chill until frozen around edges. Beat three minutes and fold in whites. Freeze three hours or until firm. This sherbet can be frozen by regular freezer method. Fold in the whites when the mixture starts to freeze. Then freeze until firm.

Green vegetables should stay green if cooking water is salted or one or two lettuce leaves are cooked with the vegetable.

To butter bread crumbs, heat butter in a heavy skillet, add crumbs and stir briskly until the butter is absorbed.

Raisins Dipped With Chocolate Are Good

What little gift or offering for Mother's Day? Why not some "Chocolate Dipped Raisins" of your very own making? This delicious confection requires no ration points, thus works no hardship on your regular food budget. Just one word of caution—be sure the chocolate does not get too hot as this causes unsightly grayish streaks.

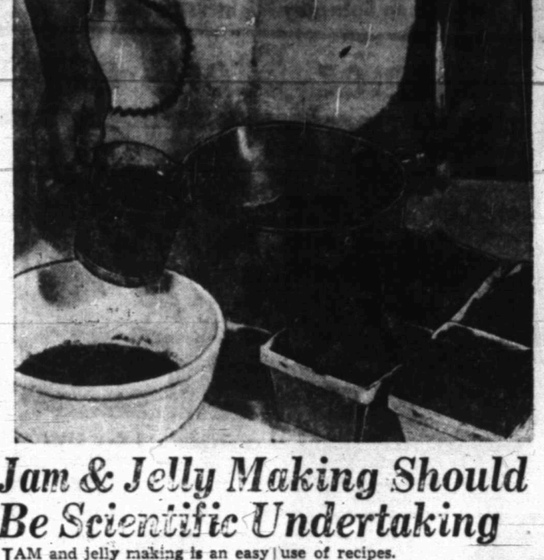

Chocolate Dipped Raisins

Dipped chocolate, seedless raisins. Cut chocolate into small pieces and melt over warm (not hot) water. Beat until smooth and creamy and barely warm to the touch. Rinse raisins, drain and dry on a towel. Dip each raisin into melted chocolate and place on waxed paper to harden. If raisins are slightly chilled before dipping, chocolate will harden in less time.

CHILI SAUCE

1 quart home-canned tomatoes
½ cup minced green pepper
1 cup minced onion
1/3 cup sugar
½ teaspoon celery seed
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup vinegar
½ teaspoon whole allspice
½ teaspoon whole clove
1 stick cinnamon

Press tomatoes, seeds and all, through a coarse sieve. Put the green pepper and onion through the food chopper. Tie the whole spices in a piece of cheese cloth. Put all the ingredients in a heavy saucepan and simmer slowly for about two hours, or until the mixture thickens to the desired consistency. Stir occasionally. Pour into a hot sterilized jar and seal immediately.

Jam & Jelly Making Should Be Scientific Undertaking

JAM and jelly making is an easy but exact form of cookery. There should be no hit or miss procedure and nothing should be left to whim or chance. First of all, the experts explain that the fruit should be fully ripe to secure the natural fruit flavor that is so desirable in jellies and jams.

Next all the ingredients, carefully prepared fruit, sugar and pectin should be measured in a standard measuring cup. The jelly must be timed to the exact second specified in the recipe. Jelly experts who have examined hundreds of failures say they were caused most frequently by careless use of recipes.

So when you make your next jam, profit by the experience of the scientists and follow to the letter this tested strawberry recipe.

STRAWBERRY JAM

3¼ cups sugar
3¼ cups light corn syrup
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, thoroughly crush 2 quarts fully ripe strawberries.

Measure sugar and syrup; set aside. Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary; place over hottest fire.

Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar and syrup, stirring constantly.

Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 13½ glasses (6 fluid ounces each.)

Sugar did not come into use until about 600 A. D.

Vary Toppings For That Gingerbread

Gingerbread is perfect for bridge refreshments, right for an meal-ending and why not let it help you "make your book," in true hostess style by serving it with any of these four-ways-to suit:

Whipped Cream: Whip cream until stiff, sugar to taste, drop in a bit of flavor of your own choice, and pile, creamy-white in a bowl.

Apple Sauce: Flavor fresh-cooked or canned apple sauce with cinnamon and grated orange or lemon rind. Or use apple butter.

Tutti-Frutti: Use a can of mixed sliced fruit (cherries, orange peel, pineapple, lemon peel, citron) or a package of the ready-sliced fruit. Fold into stiffy whipped cream and add chopped nutmeats to taste.

Orange Cheese: Mix two packages of cream cheese with the grated rind of a thin-skinned orange, 1 tablespoon of powdered sugar and 3 tablespoons of orange juice.

White and red vegetables will retain their color if a few drops of lemon juice or vinegar are added to the cooking water.

Von Rundstedt Talks Freely About War, Says Continuation Senseless

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH U. S. SEVENTH ARMY, In Southern Bavaria, May 3. — Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt, Germany's top military strategist taken prisoner by Americans south of Munich, told his captors today it was senseless for the Reich to fight any longer.

Advised of the reported death of Hitler, the Prussian aristocrat commented without elaboration: "Admiral Doenitz has been in charge for some time."

Von Runstedt said he went to Berlin March 10 to bid Hitler farewell and that the fuehrer seemed to be in good health then but was "shaking like he had the palsy."

Von Model Dead Or Captured

He said Field Marshal Albert Kesselring was somewhere in Bavaria and Field Marshal Walther von Model was either dead or captured.

The man who directed the German armies at the peak of their success and again just before they sank to the depths of defeat, was captured by a young American lieutenant on his first combat assignment. The field marshal was surprised at his home in the little spa of Bad Toelz, about five miles from Munich, just after he had finished dining with his family Tuesday night.

The capture was made by Lt. Joseph Burke (address not given) and a detachment from Company A, 141st Regiment, 36th Infantry division. Taken prisoner with the field marshal were his son and aide, Lt. Hans Gerd von Rundstedt; a driver and a medical aid man.

Blinding Snow storm

He was brought to the command post of Maj. Gen. John Dahlquist, 36th division commander, at 3 a. m. He made his comments about Hitler and Doenitz there before being driven away in a blinding snow storm to Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Army headquarters.

At General Patch's headquarters, von Rundstedt said he was relieved of his command March 1 because of failing health. He appeared tired and nervous and declined to answer questions of newsmen. However, he readily accepted an offer of Maj. Gen. Frank W. Milburn, Lafayette, Ind., commander of the 21st Army corps, to sit and chat.

"This is a painful experience for an old soldier," he said in a low voice. "Forty-three years . . . a very painful experience."

Col. Rinaldo von Brunt, San Antonio, Tex., pulled a package of a popular American brand cigarets from his pocket to offer the field marshal but von Rundstedt's physician protested "his heart!"

Though von Rundstedt was immacuate, he apologized for his appearance.

"My last uniform," he said. "Everything I had was destroyed last March when your air force bombed my command post in a schloss at Bad Nauheim."

Von Rundstedt expressed the greatest respect for American air power and said that the chaotic condition of the heavily bombed French roads and rail lines around D-day—particularly in the Paris area—prevented him from bringing up troops to counterattack.

While von Rundstedt was being taken, other Seventh Army troops were uncovering other surprises. The 10th Armored division and the 44th Infantry liberated a group of 90 French and Belgian generals and ministers at Plan See prison. They included Emile Ricard, former French assistant chief of staff; Paul Ricard, former Belgian minister of prisons; and Jules Frederic, Belgian banker.

Boa Constrictor Skin Pops Off, Cop Hurt

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 3 (AP) — When Cpl. Tony Coppens sent a 14-foot boa constrictor skin to his buddies in the Great Falls police station, officers tacked it on the wall for its sobering effect on bug-eyed inebriates who fell into the law's clutches.

But the skin is still drying. As it contracted the tail popped off the wall and bopped officer Deane Bailey on the back of the neck.

"We revived him with smelling salts," said Detective Clarge Grady.

Liberated Civilians Back On U. S. Soil

LOS ANGELES, May 3 (AP) — Some 2,800 civilians, liberated in the Philippines, stepped onto United States soil from two Army-Navy transports today, and into tearful but joyous reunions with relatives.

Young and old, representing 11 nationalities, crowded the transport rail as the ship docked while bands ashore played.

Some passengers smiled, some were solemn. Besides civilians, about 1,500 military perosnnel came back for furloughs and new assignments. Ninety priests and 30 nuns were among the arrivals.

A spokesman for the Red Cross which had charge of homecoming arrangements, described this as the largest debarkation to date of liberated civilians from the Philippines.

Six-year-old Johnnie Baker, waiting for his father, whittled a gun from a piece of pine and said, "No, I'm not excited—I just have horses in my stomach." His father, R. J. Baker, treasurer of the Manila Electric Co. of New York, was a prisoner of the Japanese.

Johnny and his mother, Mrs. Ann M. Baker, left Manila on the last Clipper in November, 1941.

The evacuees included these Texans: Marie E. Chambers, Catherine L. Chambers, and Bunnie J. Chambers of De Leon; Elizabeth Gardiner, Austin; Ethel Newman, Alpine; Elizabeth S. Small, Frank S. Small and Helen Small, El Paso; Lillian J. Weiss, Del Rio; Elizabeth O. Plowman, George Plowman and Patricia Plowman, Laredo.

Cotton Samples Are Offered For Sale

DALLAS, May 3 (AP)—War Food administration's southwest regional office is offering for sale 502 bales of baled loose cotton accumulated during the 1944-45 season from cotton classing offices in Oklahoma, Louisiana and Missouri, Latham White, acting regional director, WFA's office of supply, said today.

Samples of the cotton from Hati, Missouri, Oklahoma City and Altus, Oklahoma, are on display at Memphis, Dallas and the two Oklahoma offices. Samples of the Mississippi cotton are at Jackson while the New Orleans cotton has not been sampled, White said.

The cotton is in six lots weighing 202,285 pounds. Bids, which close at 4 p. m., May 10, must be for an entire lot, f. o. b., present location. All accumulated charges against the cotton, including baling, compressing and storage, through May 26, 1945, will be deducted from the gross purchase price and paid by the purchaser before delivery, White explained.

Once-Filthy Bilibid Of Jap Torture Fame Now Confines Nips

MANILA, May 3. (AP) — In Manila's old Bilibid penitentiary, where the brutal Japanese military police tortured imprisoned Americans, the ancient cells are now occupied by Japanese, Formosans, collaborationists, Germans and other enemy aliens.

But the cells today have been scrubbed and disinfected — it smells like a hospital — in sharp contrast to the filthy, vermin-ridden holes they were when the Japanese threw American prisoners into them.

Where once 20 Americans were forced to crouch for hours in a cell, each now houses two or three Japanese, Formosans and other prisoners taken in by American military authorities. There are several hundreds of these prisoners.

Germans occupy one section of the old prison which dates back to Spanish sovereignty. Just before the war the penitentiary was such an ancient, filthy hole that the commonwealth government abandoned it and opened a new prison farm. The Japanese, however, reopened it soon after the occupation of Manila and threw in several thousand American military prisoners and civilians.

The cell house where the Japanese tied the thumbs of prisoners together, then attached the ropes to iron rings so that a man could barely touch the floor with his toes, is now a storage house. But the rings still are there.

Outside in the prison yards is another bitter memory — crosses marking row on row of Americans who died in cells and where human filth was left unswept by the foe.

300,000 Said Killed In Raid On Dresden

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS NEAR DRESDEN, May 3 (AP) — British prisoners of war returning through the American lines today said Dresden police told them that 300,000 persons were killed in the historic 14-hour Allied air raid which wiped out Dresden Feb. 13 and 14.

Is His Face Red? Girls Run Relay

SALT LAKE CITY, May 3 (AP)—Joseph Henroid, student chairman of the annual U-day celebration at Utah university blushed, stammered and finally blurted out this announcement:

"What with war-depleted fraternities being what they are and in the interest of good athletics it has been decided to let the sorority girls run the relay races rather than the fraternity boys."

Santo Tomas Still Is Crowded With Homeless Humanity

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, (Delayed) — The shanties of Santo Tomas still are crowded with homeless humanity, weeks after a flying column of the American First Cavalry liberated its internees in the first hours of the battle of Manila.

The shanties housed thousands of American and United Nations nationals for more than three years under Japanese rule.

Most of the 1,500 men, women and children here now are awaiting repatriation. Some have decided to stay in devastated Manila and build their fortunes with the new city. All of them live within the camp because Santo Tomas provides Army food, shelter, medical attention, lights and water not always available to civilians elsewhere.

Already more than 3,800 repatriates have been sent on their homeward journey. But more are arriving almost daily, particularly from the Baguio area, said the camp commandant, Lieut. Col. Robert G. Bogle, of El Paso, Tex.

The newcomers are nationals of many countries, caught on Luzon at the outbreak of war. Walking down the broad concourse fronting the main administration building, one hears Spanish, Russian, French, Italian, Turkish, Polish spoken almost as frequently as English.

Army pyramidal tents set up in a banana grove area on the campus of the old Spanish Catholic university, provide shelter for the new groups of civilians as they arrive. All of these people have suffered severe hardships and many had to run a gantlet of Japanese sentries and an American artillery barrage to reach friendly hands.

Cochran Grain To Be Shipped Out Shortly

MORTON, May 3. (Special) — One hundred carloads of Cochran county grain, under Commodity Credit corporation loans, is to be moved out of the county within the next few weeks. The grain has been stored in elevators and warehouses.

The grain will be loaded into freight cars at Lehman and Santa Fe railway officials are already assembling cars for the task.

The grain represents approximately 75 per cent of Cochran county's bumper maize crop of 13,500,000 bushels last fall which brought the farmers of this area more than $3,000,000. A total of approximately 4,500,000 bushels is being held by farmers. The loan on the grain was $1.71 a hundred.

Roy Hickman, Cochran county agent, estimates the 700 farmers of the county realized more than $475,000 from the sale of sudan grass seed.

Reds Take 134,000 Prisoners At Berlin

LONDON, May 3 (AP)—Moscow announced tonight that Russian forces which captured Berlin yesterday took more than 134,000 prisoners in the mop up of the German capital.

This was almost double the number of captives announced by the Russians yesterday.

The figures were contained in the broadcast Soviet communique.

Purple Hearts Finally Catch Up With Two South Plains Gobs

DALLAS, May 3. — Purple Hearts they earned under enemy fire in the Pacific last June and January finally caught up with a couple of South Plains sailors here today.

Checking in at the Navy recruiting station at the expiration of 30-day leaves, Austin Newton Yeats, jr., of Slaton and Lubbock, and Travis Dalton Burch of Plainview were formally decorated in a fitting ceremony conducted by Commander Dan Henry, officer in charge.

Yeats, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Yeats of Lubbock, had been cited as result of wounds received while serving as a member of the crew of a small boat during an enemy air raid on January 10, 1945. A bomb fragment penetrated his steel helmet. Yeats was inducted and subsequently sworn in the naval reserve at Lubbock in September 1943, and served at sea approximately 18 months. At the time of his leave, he was aboard the "U.S.S. Lamar."

Shell fragments from enemy gun fire struck down young Burch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Earl Burch, 1101 Austin, Plainview, June 22, 1944, and he was treated for serious shoulder injuries. He also was serving aboard a small craft at the time and was later transferred to the U.S.S. Heywood. He was inducted at Lubbock March 24, 1944.

The men are rated seaman, first class, U. S. Naval Reserve.

Cessnas And Vultees Are Placed On Sale

The Cessnas are priced at $3,900 to $8,500, the Vultees at $3,600 to $4,000. They are powered with two Jacobs engines, of 225 horsepower each, and are eligible for certification upon compliance with Civil Aeronautics administration airworthiness requirements and upon completion of modifications stipulated by CAA.

The Vultees are two-place, tandem seated and have either Pratt and Whitney Wasp, jr., engines of 450 horsepower, or Wright engines of the same horsepower. They have been type-certificated by the CAA and are eligible for airworthiness certificates upon compliance with inspection requirements and modifications required by the CAA.

Whipping Limitations At Gatesville Okayed

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP) — A bill modifying and strictly limiting conditions under which whipping may be administered inmates of the state training school for boys at Gatesville was passed by the house and sent to the senate yesterday.

The measure, by Rep. Harrell of Paris, provides that a boy may be whipped only as a last resort, and after he his been examined by the school physician. The whipping must be on the order of the superintendent and chaplain, and be administered in their presence.

"The boy shall not receive over 10 licks with a light strap for any offense for which he is being punished," the bill says. "The child being whipped shall at no time ever have the skin broken or shall ever be struck except as hereinabove provided."

The present law permits 20 licks, and is less specific as to the manner of administration, Harrell explained.

Lubbock Man Helps Blow 'Half Million' In The Philippines

WITH THE 40TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN THE PHILIPPINES —Two Texans helped blow a half million in the Philippines. They are Pfc. Homer L. Jenkins, Lubbock, Texas; and Pfc. Robert A. Gifford, Leesburg, Texas.

Dispatched to a small island off the shores of Panay, these two and a handful of buddies from the 185th Regiment of the 40th Infantry Division, had orders to blast huge, secret, enemy installations. The mission had a direct bearing on future operations in the islands.

This electrical installation was valued at more than a half million dollars.

In less than 24 hours the entire plant was demolished and the group, to a man safely back aboard ship. There was no business for Medic Jenkins.

While on island X, the men found a Jap meal. Entering a Nip shack they saw chicken still roasting and hot rice on the fire. Frightened Nips had evacuated.

A telephone in the shack rang and when answered the Yanks were greeted by a chattering Jap.

Both were with the crew which blew the installation.

Together they came overseas in August 1942. Both are veterans of New Britain, Luzon, Panay and now Negros. At present they are with front line troops in northern Negros where the enemy is entrenched in mountain fortifications and hopelessly surrounded by American doughboys of the 40th.

Immobilized Ninth Army Sickens Of Patrol Duty Waiting On Reds

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN GERMANY—Now that all the vodka has been drunk and the toasts and tovariches exchanged, you learn that this Ninth Army-Russian front was immobilized not by military necessity, because the Ninth Army doughboys could have gone on to Berlin or to meet the Russians in force if necessary, but because they were told to confine themselves to patrol activity. If they met the Russians that way okay. Otherwise no.

Kenneth Dixon

So we had patrols. Boy, how we had patrols! And no matter what division front you visited the story was pretty much the same.

(Command post officers were filled with elation. "It's only a matter of hours," they said. They kept saying it. Sometimes it was a matter of days but they kept saying, "it's only a matter of hours at best," and slapped one another on the back and said "come on Russkys.")

Sergeant Rasps "Glory Grab"

"Glory grabbing," rasped a sergeant leading a patrol as it slipped softly out of a boat beyond the Elbe. "It would be different if we were going to attack in force, but we aren't allowed to do that. So we stick our necks out so some glory grabber can rack it up on his record that his outfit contacted the Russians first on the Ninth Army front."

When the patrol returned three hours later it had lost almost half its men. Still no contact.

("Practically no resistance," said the officer holding a pointer on the map in the division war room. "We had a small fight at this point"—he gestured with his pointer—"but didn't amount to much. Machinegun and panzerfaust fire. Now they are on the move again. The Russians are right over here.")

Then The Junction

Then came the day after the junction, and joy and good fellowship filled the air.

"I'm glad I didn't lead that platoon that had to go in and make the junction," said a junior officer. "I wonder how that poor devil will explain to the parents of those two GI's who got blown up by a mine as they went into town. If they hadn't been driven so hard the engineers could have checked the road first. I'm glad I don't have to write those letters."

Negro Employment Hearing Is Slated

HOUSTON, May 3 (AP)—Charges that the Texas and New Orleans railroad (Southern Pacific) and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen have agreed to prohibit employment of negroes as switchmen at the Houston terminal, will be heard before A. Announcement of the hearing was made in Washington by the FEPC.

PARSONS, Kas., May 3 (AP) — Ten days ago Mrs. Anne McElroy received a card, first in months, from her husband, Pfc. James W. McElroy, stating he had been taken prisoner.

Two days later the War department advised her that her husband had been returned to U. S. Army control April 2.

Yesterday McElroy telephoned his wife from Ft. Leavenworth.

Today they are together, in Parsons.

FORT LEWIS, Wash., May 3 (AP)—Raymond A. Blake, formerly of Omaha, Neb., got an induction notice from his draft board.

Figures Tell Story Of German Collapse

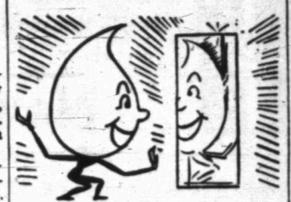

(By The Associated Press)

Figures announced yesterday (May 2) show the rapidity with which the German army has crumbled in the final stages of the war.

Nearly 1,000,000 Germans and Italians in northern Italy and southern Austria were surrendered unconditionally today to the Allies.

Premier Stalin said 70,000 prisoners were taken in the final collapse of Berlin and that 120,000 others had been killed or captured by the Russians since April 24 southeast of the German capital.

Supreme Allied headquarters stated more than 1,500,000 enemy troops were captured by the western allies in April.

By CHARLES H. HERROLD
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 3 — The government plans to continue price and wage ceilings but will gradually drop production and manpower controls during the reconversion period, it was indicated today.

Administration plans for the period between war and peace were brought out in a series of statements by President Truman during the past few days.

They call for: extension of the price control act and continuation of the OPA; retention of the "little steel" wage formula; gradual relaxation of War Production board material controls and War Manpower commission labor rules; and increased security payments for some groups affected by the loss of wartime employment.

Pattern Still Sketchy

The total pattern is still sketchy but Mr. Truman said he would soon add to it with a statement on reconversion period tax reductions—regarded by business as a foundation stone for postwar prosperity.

Organized labor is expected to take issue at once with Mr. Truman's plans to hold on to the little steel formula, limiting wage increases to 15 per cent above January, 1941, levels. The first protest may come when the American Federation of Labor executive council pays a courtesy call at the White House today.

Government economists believe that wage and price controls must be continued to insure fair distribution of civilian goods without inflation during the reconversion period. They believe rationing should be continued in the case of scarce commodities.

Maintaining Earnings

The WLB and stabilization director William H. Davis feel that efforts should be made to maintain wartime earnings when peace comes and that further increases should be made principally to workers in the lower paid industries.

WLB is now working on a detailed reconversion wage program and a policy for the settlement of disputes. Before completing its program it is awaiting Office of Price Administration announcement of its postwar price and distribution policy. OPA may be ready to make its announcement in a few days, it was said.

Mourning Period For Roosevelt Continues

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
