Two Officials Address Local Drug Meeting

State Legislative, Organizational Problems Are Discussed

Organization and legislative topics affecting pharmacists were discussed before Big Spring druggists by two state officials at a meeting at Hotel Settles Tuesday evening.

The speakers were Dr. W. J. Danforth of Fort Worth, secretary-manager of the Texas Pharmaceutical association, and R. L. Reader of San Antonio, state representative from Bexar county.

Reader, in a brief talk on Texas taxation problems, opposed a sales levy and advocated taxes on natural resources to finance age benefits and other state funds.

Dr. Danforth explained various legislative items directly affecting the drug business and outlined the reorganization program being undertaken by the state association.

The two men are on a tour of the state in the interest of this work, and left Wednesday morning for El Paso and other western points.

They came here after a meeting at San Angelo. The association is being reorganized along district lines and local units also are being perfected. Plans for enrolling Big Spring druggists in the association were discussed.

Urges Resource Taxes
Reader emphasized that despite efforts for enactment of such a levy, a sales tax is not necessary in Texas. He pointed out that in-

HOOPER LEADS IN REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN, IS SILENT ON PERSONAL POLITICAL PLANS

Third in a series of six articles discussing possibilities for the republican presidential nomination.

By KIRKE SIMPSON
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Nine years ago Herbert Hoover's approach to a presidential nomination was clouded by President Coolidge's mystifying announcement that he did not "choose" to run again for the presidency.

Today, a few months before the election of another republican standard bearer, Mr. Hoover himself is a no less baffling mystery to the rank and file of his party, and to the nation. Is he or is he not a candidate?

Stands High
Until that question is answered by himself, the bulky figure of the former president must stand first among republican nomination possibilities. He still is titular head of his party, and with that goes a traditional right of party spokesmanship.

Teams Take Field Following Breakfast Gathering

The Big Spring chamber of commerce annual membership campaign was off to a flying start Wednesday, a dozen or more teams of two men each starting a thorough canvass in an effort to enlist more business firms and individuals in the civic organization.

The drive was launched immediately after workers gathered at a 7 o'clock breakfast at the Crawford hotel, where they heard the C. C. program for the year, its budget and membership requirements discussed. The canvass was proceeding rapidly through the day, and workers hoped to wind up the drive in short order. First reports of teams were to be made late this evening.

Malone In Charge

The campaign is under direction of Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman of the C. C. membership committee, who, with President Grover C. Dunham, outlined the aims of the drive at the breakfast session. Both emphasized the organization's hope to enlist new firms and individuals who have not heretofore been associated with the chamber of commerce. While new memberships will be sought, the workers also are obtaining renewals.

W. T. Strange, C. C. manager, spoke at the breakfast session, presenting the work program for 1936, and explaining what it will require in the way of financing and membership activity. Cards were distributed to aid the canvassers in their work.

Attending the breakfast were Malone, Dunham, Strange, M. M. Mancini, Harry Lester, Mrs. Onnie W. Earnest, Dr. R. G. B. Cowper, H. C. Holdaway, Mrs. Alice Phillips, J. D. Elliott, Clyde E. Thomas, Burke Sumner, Tracy T. Smith, Ira Thurman, Jesse F. Hall, Edmund Nottelmeier, W. A. Gilmour, Charley Frost, B. J. Cook, Vaston Merrick, Joe Galbraith, G. H. Haywood, O. R. Bolinger and V. H. Fiewellen.

GOVT. HEADING INTO A PLAN OF LESS SPENDING

Merger Of Agencies Contemplated To Cut Down Expenditures

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—President Roosevelt today vetoed the fifty-million dollar seed loan bill. The measure was returned to the senate with a presidential reminder that in approving the 1934 seed and feed loan bill, "I did so on the theory it would taper off the crop loan system."

The president added he would issue an executive order shortly to meet the needs for loans to produce new crops.

RETRENCHMENT

(Copyright 1936 By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The administration plans to place before the voters in the coming presidential campaign a definite program of spending retrenchment. The United Press has learned.

The administration plans to involve merging of functions of several agencies which at present are overlapping work. The plan was believed to have been discussed at White House conferences attended by heads of lending and spending agencies recently.

The administration theory is that any drastic reorganization of the government would meet opposition by a congress which is jealous of its patronage privileges and which would resent any curtailment of jobs which might be handed out to deserving supporters.

Backed by a mandate from the people, however, the administration would be in a position to push through such a program. The plan is based, of course, on the supposition the administration will be returned to power.

Local Officers Asked To Make Arrest In Oklahoma Slaying

Officers here were on watch today for a man wanted for questioning in connection with the slaying of an unidentified man whose bullet-riddled body was found beneath a bundle of feed beside a railroad track south of Mangum, Okla. more than a month ago.

In a telegram conversation on Wednesday, Sheriff E. N. Chabough of Mangum asked Sheriff Jess Slaughter to arrest a man here whose name was found scrawled on a piece of paper in a bloody coat found at Altus Jan. 22.

Chabough said the blood-stained clothing undoubtedly was that of the slain man who had been dead about a month. The victim, whose identity has not been established, was about 30 years old and was badly battered when found.

The man in question has been arrested here several times by officers but has never been convicted of any felony offense.

At Mangum, a coroner's inquest was postponed until Wednesday afternoon pending developments here.

Shakeup Seen In Department Of Commerce

Two Officials Dismissed, Director Of Navigation Bureau Due To Go

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The dismissal of two department of commerce officials "for insubordination" was made known today in official quarters, which forecast the resignation soon of Joseph H. Weaver, director of the bureau of navigation.

Weaver's retirement was expected to follow completion of legislation for sea safety. The aides dismissed were Commander M. McCoy Jones and Frederick L. Adams.

Their dismissal was attributed to their refusal to answer questions regarding the premature release of a report criticizing present ship safeguards.

Secretary of Commerce Roper labeled as "slander" assertions that he was trying to interfere with sea safety legislation. "The idea that any one should say we are trying to stop this legislation is a slander," he declared.

Walter Winn Succumbs To Pistol Wound

Falls By Side Of Car After Talking With Two Of His Friends

Shortly after he told two companions he appreciated their friendship, Walter Winn, 35, who until two weeks ago had served as a special watchman for the Mexican section, was fatally wounded by a pistol shot as he stepped from his car near the Kate Morrison school at 1 a. m. Wednesday.

Dick Bryant, deputy constable who had been called to the scene by Winn, rushed him to a local hospital where he died two hours later.

Justice of the Peace J. H. Heffley indicated he would return a verdict of self-inflicted wounds.

Talks With Officers
Winn remained conscious until a few minutes before his death and talked freely with officers who rushed to his bedside. They said he appeared despondent, even being out of work and his father's recent serious illness.

Bryant said Winn called him just after midnight and told him he had some important business and to meet him near the school. When Bryant arrived, he said, he got into the car in which Winn and Ruth Bradbury were sitting.

"I want to tell you how much I appreciate your friendship," Bryant said Winn told them. With the words, according to Bryant, stepped out of the car and then fell mortally wounded, a bullet from a .44-01 pistol entering his side.

Here Since 1926
Winn came here in 1926 in the employ of the Texas & Pacific railroad. Later he served as a deputy game warden and was active in wildlife conservation moves here, having raised pheasants for a number of years.

Until recently he had been working as a special officer in Mexican town for a number of Mexican merchants. Last week he had gone to Keno to be with his father, who was critically ill of pneumonia.

Relatives of Winn were due to arrive here Wednesday-afternoon to accompany the body to Cleburne. Funeral services will be held there Thursday.

Broadway stage players, including Earl McDonald, Nat Burns, William Dorbin, Alvin Karpis, and Robert O. Mayors, will be seen in the play, which centers around the experiences of the religious order of Jesuits and presents as its theme a supreme faith that overcomes all adversities.

"The First Legion" was presented at San Angelo Monday night and at Lubbock Tuesday night. The cast was due to arrive here this afternoon.

The production has been favorably received by reviewers. One, Elizabeth Jordan, dramatic critic of the publication, "America," wrote, in a letter to Rev. Charles Taylor, local Catholic pastor: "In my opinion, 'The First Legion' is a very beautiful play x x x there is a wonderful lesson of faith and fortitude; the play as a whole would satisfy and does satisfy every open-minded spectator. I believe you will enjoy it very much; and I most heartily commend it to you."

Supervisors Named For City Election

Terms Of Three Commissioners Expire In April

Judge and clerks for the approaching city election April 7 were named Tuesday evening when the commission approved a list submitted by the city manager. W. R. Purser will serve as judge and clerks will be Robert Stripping, Mrs. E. D. Merrill and Mrs. E. M. LaBeff.

C. E. Talbot, mayor, R. V. Jones, and Vic Mellinger are the commissioners. Their terms expire this year. Mellinger is holding his first elective term.

While City Manager E. V. Spencer is engaged in drafting a proposed budget for the next fiscal year, there were other signs of the end of the city's business year manifested at the commissioners meeting.

Bids For Audit
The manager was authorized to call for bids for an audit of the city's books as of the fiscal year ending March 31. J. B. Alford Company of Wichita Falls, holder of the audit for the past two years, will not be eligible to bid again this year since it is against the policy of the commission to allow one firm to hold the contract more than two years in succession.

Advertisements for bids from banks to serve as depositories during the new year starting April 1 were authorized by the commissioners. In the past the banks have made a joint bid.

Commissioners instructed the city manager to work out some arrangement whereby Big Spring's asphalt distributor could be loaned the city of Lorraine for surfacing three blocks in that business district. The amount of work at Lorraine is so small it will not be practical for a contract job.

SENATE VOTES NEW FUNDS FOR FEDERAL COTTON MARKETING
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The senate voted to provide $97,000,000 in new capital for the task of marketing in an orderly fashion more than $300,000,000 of surplus cotton and other commodities now held by the government.

A bill introduced by Senator Fletcher (D-Fla.), and explained by Senator Glass (D-Va.), expanding the capital of the Commodity Credit corporation, was passed with a voice vote and sent to the house.

"It is merely a bookkeeping proposition," was Glass' explanation.

THREE FACE TRIAL
SAN ANGELO, Feb. 26.—Three suspects in the robbery of the First National bank at Bronte last July will be tried in federal court here in April, according to Frank Percival of Robert Lee, Coke county sheriff. State and federal officers had exchanged the trial responsibility several times.

The three are Charley White, Amarillo mechanic, now in jail at Abilene; Allen Hall, arrested with White at Amarillo, now in jail at Memphis, Tex.; and Jack Walker, now serving a life term in New Mexico on a robbery charge.

Recalls Experiences In Big Spring Over 50 Years Ago

Pension Applicant Tells Of Early Days To Substantiate His Age

W. S. Johnson, 72-year-old Seagraves man, was interested only in substantiating his age in connection with an application to the district old age assistance commission office here, but he penned an interesting sketch of early Big Spring.

In a letter to District Supervisor George White the aged Seagraves man gives an intimate glimpse of the little settlement which 33 years ago boasted only of railroad shops and rough plank buildings—most of them saloons.

He was born in Georgia Oct.

13, 1864, according to his letter, "while the state employees of the old W. & H. railroad from Atlanta to Chattanooga were in south Georgia with the rolling stock, engines and cars, keeping them out of Sherman's way on his march through Georgia."

Post-civil war Georgia offered little opportunity, so with his family he migrated to Tennessee and then Louisiana. In 1883 Johnson decided to shift for himself and came to Big Spring in the same year. He immediately went to work in the T. & P. roundhouse.

Three Victims Of Officers' Coup Attempt

Emperor Moves To Set Up New Government And Order Prevails

LONDON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The Japanese embassy announced here today that new Acting Premier Fumio Goto of Japan and the entire cabinet had tendered their resignation to the emperor.

TOKYO, Feb. 26. (AP)—A group of "young officers" assassinated Emperor Kameike Oda; Admiral Viscount Makoto Saito, lord keeper of the privy seal and former premier; and Gen. Jotaro Watanabe, chief of military education, in a sudden thrust at liberal statesmen today.

Finance Minister Korekiyo Takahashi and Admiral Kantaro Suzuki, lord chamberlain of the imperial court, were seriously wounded.

Palace Under Guard
Government sources said Emperor Hirohito had ordered Home Affairs Minister Fumio Goto to form a new government.

The imperial palace and government offices were under guard. The action was regarded as an attempt at a military coup d'etat. The stock exchange here was closed, but the populace was calm.

The new government claimed order prevailed in Tokyo and over the country following the coup attempt. The young officers said they wished to "remove corrupt influences from around the throne."

The government ordered two fleets to police duty at Tokyo and Osaka. Shot Down In Snowstorm
The assassinations were carried out in a snow storm, the conspirators starting before sunrise. They went to seven points, surrounding the residences of the men they wished to kill. They called the victims out into the snow, and when the men sought appeared, revolvers were pressed against them and fired.

An officers' manifesto said their purpose was to protect national policy, thereby fulfilling their duty to the throne.

The attempted coup was supposedly backed by the powerful military bloc, which has pushed Japan's campaign for expansion in Manchuria and in China and for equality on the seas.

Strict Censorship
A strict censorship was clamped down immediately and remained in effect today.

Okada's government had just been upheld in a bitterly contested election.

A long battle for control, with militarists usually holding the upper hand, has been under way in Japan. The army and navy have

To Drill New Water Well

Hole Will Be Carried To Trinity Sands For Porosity Test

Materials were being moved in Wednesday for a new city water well in section 17, block 32, T-1-S, T&P survey. Frank Knaus is driller.

A ten-inch hole will be carried to the Trinity sands. Howard Samuel, U. S. geological surveyor and in charge of the WPA underground water survey, said that a quantity of the sand would be sent to Washington and tested for porosity to ascertain how quickly water travels through the formation.

A large turbine pump will be placed on the well. Samuel Turner, hydraulic engineer with the geological survey, checked the underground survey here last week and ordered a preliminary report be published.

Location is 500 feet from the east and 920 feet from the south line of section 17, block 32, T-1-S, T&P survey. Frank Knaus is driller.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

FROM THE way Ben Daniels has started spring football practice for the Devils it's due to be plenty rough before he shuts down operations about six weeks hence. Here's why. Ben said he would make a slow start, gradually applying the pressure until the grid would be a bit heavy after a few days. Yesterday Ben had his boys out on the field in Washington Place for the first time. He started scrimmaging just as soon as he could find enough players, and all the time he was yelling for a center. Coach Brown of the Steers sympathized with Ben. He needs a good center himself.

BEN INTENDS to do a little football coaching along with the football stuff. Softball won't be a big item with Ben, but he'll manage to spend a little time on the game some nights on the city park diamond. Softball is one of the inter-scholastic league sports now, and Daniels will coach a team to compete in the district meet this year. His club lost out in the finals last season, the first year softball was played in the district.

IF POSSIBLE, Daniels will play a game here this week, maybe with Westbrook. Lights around the softball diamond in the park were inspected yesterday afternoon, and all were found to be in good working order with the exception of one of the lights in the outfield. Rules for softball as the schoolboys play it are somewhat different from the standard softball rules, Daniels says. Not a great deal of difference, but some. For instance, 60-foot bases were used in the city league play here last year—45-foot bases are standard for the school boys.

ONE OF the biggest needs in Big Spring is for a recreational supervisor. The right kind of man could organize softball and baseball teams for the kids to keep them out of trouble, and see that the spring and summer sports program rolls along smoothly doing the greatest amount of good for all concerned. We hope that Big Spring will come day have a recreational supervisor.

"THE DETROIT Tigers," says Jack Doyle, betting commissioner, "will be heavy favorites to win their third straight American league pennant. The Boston Red Sox should be second in the betting unless the Yankees make some dead in that case, there would be very little difference between them."

"Cleveland and Chicago will be close together, with Washington next. St. Louis will be seventh and the Philadelphia Athletics far down the list in eighth. The Browns may move up in the betting as the season progresses. Hornsby's team might be the surprise of the league."

"The National race should be close, with the Cubs, because they won last year, slightly favored. The Giants and Cardinals will be rated about equal, with Pittsburgh, Brooklyn and Cincinnati next in that order. There seems to be little choice between the Dodgers and Pirates."

"Pittsburgh has a number of veterans in its lineup and may fold

FOOTBALL PRACTICE GETS UNDERWAY

FIRST WORK OUT LASTS THREE HRS.

Backfield candidates outnumbered linemen yesterday afternoon at the initial session of high school grid hopes. Fourteen backs reported to Coach "Speedy" Moffett, while Head Coach George Brown worked with 13 linemen. Moffett, however, has already found that two or three of his boys are not suited for work in the backfield and they will be sent to Brown for line duty.

The first workout, in groups, was a lengthy one, lasting over three hours.

Heading the backfield group are Wilson, Trainer, Smith, Settles, Williams and Gibson. Moffett believes Trainer will develop into a good blocker and make an A-1 full-back. Smith, a sturdy young man up from the Devil team, is highly recommended by Coach Daniels and seems to be the best prospect for the quarterback post. Settles, Williams and Gibson are also up from the Devil team. Settles was an end on the junior team, but will be tried in the Steer backfield.

Although it may weaken the line considerably, Jack Wilson is due to go from the forward wall to the secondary. He was a consistent and dependable player in the Steer line last fall, but coaches believe he has the right amount of fire and determination to make them a good back, and he's slated to get the chance. He was a regular back on Daniels' team, and a good one, too. Brown is grooming Rayborn for the pivot position.

One play per week will be given the team, coaches have decided.

Craze For Betting On Football Hits England

LONDON, Feb. 26. (UP)—The craze for betting on football matches is sweeping Great Britain and it is estimated that approximately $100,000,000 is wagered during the 26-week season. The weekly bets sometimes reach a total of $10,000,000.

Betting does not take the ordinary form as in horse racing. "Pools" are formed and the backer must forecast a number of correct results—win, lose or draw—to cash his wager. Anything from 2 to 12 cents is the usual bet, but there are many penny pools also.

Liberal odds are paid to winners. In one penny pool winners received $335. Other pools pay various sums according to how difficult forecasting is, but rarely are the prices quoted below 10 to 1.

Race bookmakers usually operate the pools. Their profits run into the thousands, but they declare they never take more than one-fifth from each pool as their percentage.

Hunts Despite Broken Leg. CRANE, Mo. (UP)—Noel Howard broke a leg while hunting, but bound it with wire and continued until he had caught his limit of quail.

before the season is out. The Dodgers, with their capable pitching staff, may be a big surprise after the race gets under way. Philadelphia and Boston will be way down the list and the odds against their even cracking the first division will be long."

SHIRLEY ROBBINS, a member of the executive committee of the West Texas Golf association, believes Mineral Wells will get the 1936 tournament. The executive committee is due to meet in Mineral Wells on March 1. Brownwood and Mineral Wells have asked for the 36 tourney, Robbins said, and she believes Mineral Wells will get it. "It's their time," Shirley said. "They've done a lot of work on their course and deserve it." Mineral Wells made a bid for the tournament site last year but did not push it.

Texas Picked To Win Title

"Uncle Billy" Says Longhorns Will Get Baseball Title (By United Press)

"Uncle Billy" Disch, the grand old man of baseball at the University of Texas, sees a stout Southwest conference campaign ahead. The winner? With the customary "if," he names his own Longhorns. "Last year," he explained, "six sophomores made our ball team. That is unusual. If there is no junior year let-up, they should be harder to beat this time."

Experienced men are available for each position. Two red-haired right-handers, Norman Branch and Dick Midkiff, head the pitching staff. They are backed up by another lefty man, C. C. Hughes, and a list of reserves including Tommy Mays of Atlanta, Tex., a sophomore described by Disch as having "plenty of stuff."

J. C. Munro and Morris Sands, letter men, and Bill Hughes, sophomore, are lined up for the first base position. Aubrey Graham and Lloyd Rigby, conference batting champion, will be at second and third, respectively, understudied by promising sophomores, Luke Winborn, the fourth sophomore giving a starting assignment in the Texas infield last season, will play shortstop.

Disch predicts that Horace Mann, ambitious sophomore from Houston, will give veteran outfielders a fight for their jobs. "They can't keep him off the team," said Uncle Billy. First baseman Morris Sands is expected to double in the outfield. "Primo" Preiblich, hard-hitting right fielder, will return for his last season.

Other candidates include Thomas, 1935, aquadman, and Westernman, an able sophomore. Joe Fitzsimmons and Meadgen are candidates for catcher's position.

All in all, Disch hopes to build a fighting team such as that of 1935, which was successful both in and out of the conference. Three Texas league clubs will oppose the University of Texas in pre-season exhibitions. Texas will play two games each against Houston, Tulsa, and San Antonio. The Tulsa club will have its spring training camp at Seguin, near Austin. Games with Houston have been arranged to be played in Austin on March 20 and 21. The Pittsburgh Pirates, who

Ben Coaches Little Imps

Plenty Of Candidates But They Lack Beef, Daniels Says

Large in number but small in size—that's the way Coach Ben Daniels summed up the situation after the first two days of spring football practice for the Devil team.

The spring training season for the Devils will probably not last as long as the Steer grind, Daniels said. The Devils will work out for a month or maybe six weeks. Daniels will stress blocking and tackling after a few days of conditioning. Backfield prospects look good to Ben, but the forward wall will be light and green. Womack, quarterback, is the most experienced man in the group of backfield candidates. The 165-pound youngster has played with the Devils two years.

Jones, fullback, is the heaviest man on the squad, tipping the scales at 140 pounds. Winslow and Bostick, both halfbacks, have each had one year experience on the Devil team. Winslow weighs 107, Bostick 120 pounds.

Horse Race Winners In France On Gold Basis

PARIS, Feb. 26. (UP)—Winning of race horses henceforth will be calculated on gold standard rates for comparative purposes.

Therefore, fluctuations of exchange rates and devaluation, inflation or deflation of currencies will have no effect on the registered winnings of thoroughbred or foreign courses.

At least this is the outcome of the international agreement race governing institutions, such as the English Jockey club and the National Hunt committee in Great Britain, and the Societe d'Encouragement for flat racing and the Societe des Steeplechases for jumping events in France, as well as similar organizations throughout will play the Chicago White Sox in an exhibition here March 26, have been asked to play the university team also.

Texas will open its Southwest conference season with a game against Rice, at Houston, March 28. Disch considers Baylor the "dark horse" in the conference this year, although the fine pitching of "Jelly" Sorelle will make the Bears a constant threat, he believes.

Uncle Billy, who has coached Longhorn baseball teams so many seasons he doesn't remember the number himself, considers that Texas Christian should have an improved team composed of players equally facile in football, basketball and baseball. Among them are Sammy Baugh, Meyer, Walls, Montgomery and Stanton.

A. & M. is in relatively the same position Texas held in 1935—the team depends largely on sophomores. Disch said he regretted the fact that Southern Methodist and Rice did not ask permission of the conference to play freshmen on the varsity this season, since both schools are supporting teams for the first season in several years.

ONLY SLIM HOPE FOR LONGHORNS

AUSTIN, Feb. 26.—With a slight chance for the conference championship in view, the University of Texas basketball squad left here today for Fayetteville, Ark., to meet the circuit-leading Razorbacks in a double billing Feb. 28 and 29. The Longhorns will arrive Thursday.

Texas has lost two games and Arkansas one and the championship of the Southwest will be at stake when these two cage titans tangle in the Ozarks. The Longhorns hurdled their final obstacle here Saturday night by walloping the Texas Agies in a convincing fashion. Arkansas won the second of a two-game series with T. C. U. the same night.

Coach Marty Karow has revealed two plans that will be used in battling the lowering Porkers. To acclimate the Longhorn quintet to playing on the small Arkansas court, Coach Karow reined the spacious Gregory gym floor to equal the 10-foot shorter and six-foot narrower measurements at Fayetteville. This move, Coach Karow believes, will tend to overcome the advantage usually enjoyed by the Hogs when playing at home.

Another strategy, an obvious one, will be to use his tallest quintet against the rangy foes. With Captain Jack Taylor of Austin definitely out of the lineup for the season, Joe Ronch of Decatur and Bill Baxter of Lometa will start at forwards; Jay Collins of Denton at center; Bob Butler of Austin and either Don White of San Angelo or Jerry Clifton of Beaumont at guards. This lineup will give the Longhorns a starting team averaging six feet and two inches.

The traveling squad will include the injured captain, Ronch, Baxter, Butler, White, Clifton, Collins, Henry Chovonsky, Art Moser and Warren Wiggins. Coach Marty Karow, student manager Edward Slavick, and Trainer Milton Kelly will accompany the team.

Winning Golf by Lawson Little

BELLAIR, Fla., Feb. 26.—Several years ago when I was interested in various sports, I found that when I started to play golf again during the summer vacations, I had to learn the game all over again. This was rather discouraging, because my game would not be in shape until well along into the tournament season and there were a number of tournaments that came just after school was out.

I loved baseball and didn't want to give it up and play golf exclusively. So near the end of the summer of 1927 I began to work on a theory for playing golf that might enable me to start where I left off the season before, after, of course, I regained the feel of the club in my hands. It is always my contention that if I started the swing right, the shot had a very good chance of being successful; so I started trying to find a way to learn to make me take the club back the same way each time. In other words, I wanted to start the club back in a groove.

Keep Head Still—Turn Right Hip The first thing I decided was that I would keep my head absolutely still. This I should be able to do 10 years from now if I don't touch a club in the meantime. The next thing was the starting of the club. If I started the club with my hands there was no telling what course it would follow. Some little unconscious change in my grip would certainly change the arc of my swinging. Finally I hit upon the hips. If I held my hands and arms still, that is, only used them as a medium through which the club was moved, the world. So that a uniform classification of the winnings of race horses may be followed, the amounts they receive in other countries, when converted at arbitrary rates, regardless of the actual value of the currency. Thus by general agreement in France for winnings abroad, the following rates are to be applied: Pound sterling, 125 francs; dollar, 25 francs; reichmark, 4 francs; lira, 130 francs; Belgian franc, 650 francs; peseta, 4 francs; Austrian shilling, 350 francs. These are approximately the values of the currencies before gold standards were abandoned.

Now that I was at the top of my swing with this bigger hip turn, I found that the left hip was in the way of the downswing. I reasoned that if I grooved my backswing by starting the movement with my right hip, would the reverse work—that is, grooving my downswing by starting the club down by turning the left hip away from the ball—this would surely get it out of the way and prevent me from being locked, anyway. Of course, the force of swinging the club hard at the ball pushed the left hip forward somewhat, but I found that this would take care of itself while I thought only of turning the hip away. If I tried to shove the hip forward, I invariably overdid it, so I have always let the natural force of hitting the ball carry the hip as far forward as nature will—I have no use for restrictions in the golf swing.

Avoid Conscious Lateral Hip-Shift About 10 years ago the golf periodicals started golf instructions by showing illustrations of the many stars. The slow-motion camera picked up this lateral hip-shift and brought to light a natural, unconscious action, about which no one ever thought. As these pictures were only taken of the stars, and they usually can hit the ball about 250 yards, this hip-shift was clearly noticeable. This was one thing that was common among all good golfers, but seldom seen in the average player. The average player doesn't hit the ball hard enough to force his hips forward. But when everyone saw these pictures—saw all the good players with their left hip forward at the moment of impact, they all tried to get more distance by shifting the hips forward on the downswing. They attempted to get a result from a result. Those were the days when the cartoonist had a great chance to see our big businessmen in all sorts of contortions as they heaved at the ball instead of swinging at it. Instructors like Tommy Armour and Larry Brazil have come out against

Rugby Team To Make Tour Of The U. S.

English Stars To Demonstrate On The West Coast Soon

LONDON, Feb. 26. (UP)—England's outstanding rugby football star, not an Englishman but a dapper, fair-haired Russian prince, will demonstrate to American spectators how the game should be played.

Prince Alexander Obolensky, 19-year-old Russian-born student at Oxford university, and the idol of thousands of rugby fans, is a member of the Oxford team that will tour Southern California.

The team leaves here March 10 and, with Hollywood as headquarters, will make a six-week tour of Pacific coast cities.

Schedule Five Games Five games have been arranged, including one against the University of California at Los Angeles and another against the University of Southern California.

The prince, whose ability to avoid tackles is regarded as phenomenal, is the son of a former officer of the Tsar's Imperial guard and has been resident in England since the age of two. In appearance he is anything but a typical Russian. He speaks his native language very poorly and his English is as English as can be. Stars Against New Zealand The Obolensky's, however, were rich and numerous in pre-revolutionary days. As many as 600 some times assembled at family reunions.

Prince Obolensky was the hero of this season's England-New Zealand representative clash at Twickenham, scoring two tries and playing a big part in England's first defeat of the visitors on British soil. With another Oxford player, C. Cooper, he may be required for an international contest between England and Scotland on March 21. In this case they will travel to America on the first available boat after that game.

and started the backward motion by turning my right hip away from the ball, the club would naturally move backward in practically the same path each time. This meant that I would wind up my hips just as if I turned my body around to look at something behind me without moving my feet. After the club was well on its way, my left arm would swing it the rest of its journey to the top of the swing. This gave me an exaggerated hip and shoulder turn, but it started the club back the same way each time. To do this, I had to adopt a closed stance because my regular open stance restricted the backward turning of my hips a great deal too much.

Left Hips Starts Downsweeping Now that I was at the top of my swing with this bigger hip turn, I found that the left hip was in the way of the downswing. I reasoned that if I grooved my backswing by starting the movement with my right hip, would the reverse work—that is, grooving my downswing by starting the club down by turning the left hip away from the ball—this would surely get it out of the way and prevent me from being locked, anyway. any conscious effort of lateral hip-shifting. The final result of my method of taking the club back has pleased me very much. I found that my distance off the tee had been increased a great deal and I was much straighter. But, more to the point, now I am able to play a fairly decent game after a lay-off of several months. All I have to do is hit about 20 balls before starting to play. This gives me the feel of the club and limbers up my muscles. (Copyright, 1936, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

LOUIS FAMILY REAL FIGHTERS

PRATT CITY, Ala., Feb. 26. (UP)—The massive aunt of Joe Louis straightened to her full height and almost filled the doorway of her home as she said:

"I was the fighter in this family, long before Joe Louis ever took to fighting. Why, when I was a child, I was so strong that I used to go around looking for somebody to whip!"

Mary Tucker, 6 feet tall and now 85 years old, still vigorous after a rugged life as a field hand on a farm and foreman on land-clearing jobs in Birmingham, pointed to a large, framed picture above her fireplace.

There, crouched in a fighting pose, was a picture of her nephew—the "Brown Bomber."

Joe's Always Silent "If he were here right now," she said, "he'd be as quiet as that picture. His mother writes me that Joe says he'll be down to see you some time. When Joe says that much, he's done a half-day's talking."

"He's that quiet. That's one difference between us. And another difference—he fights for money, and I fought for sport!"

Mary dropped into the rocking chair at the fireplace where she sits and sews quilts—"now that I'm not as strong as I used to be, since I had a stroke."

"Why on the farm down near Lafayette (Ala.), I would pick two rows of cotton at one time," she boasted. "And I could pick two rows of fodder the same way."

Remoted Labor Gang When Mary migrated to Birmingham, she got a wagon and a mule and peddled coal on the streets. Then she went into bigger business. She rounded up mules and men to work for her, when she contracted to clear land for new houses.

When they were dynamiting rocks, scraping ground and building rock walls, the muscular Mary would help. She says she couldn't just sit around idle.

"Once when somebody asked me any conscious effort of lateral hip-shifting. The final result of my method of taking the club back has pleased me very much. Jap Is Threat For Olympic Pole Vaulting

To Make It Tough On Americans; Second In 1932 Games

TOKYO, Feb. 26. (UP)—Shunbei Nishida, Japan's courageous pole-vaulter who captured second place in his event in the Olympic Games at Los Angeles four years ago, probably will make it tough for American vaulters again at Berlin next summer.

Until recently it was feared Nishida would be unavailable for the Olympics because he had been conscripted for the army. But when he came up for physical examination at Osaka an army surgeon, with tongue in cheek and probably with instructions from higher up, found Nishida, who is one of the finest all-round athletes in the world, physically unfit for military service.

The pole-vaulter star was excused from service for a year and told to report again in 1937, when the army would see whether he had improved sufficiently to don a uniform. Incidentally, his trouble was diagnosed as bronchial catarrh. All of which fits in beautifully with the plans of Japanese athletic authorities. Nishida already is in light training, and barring accidents will be a mainstay of the Japanese track and field team at Berlin.

Last year was Nishida's best year. He consistently cleared 14 feet, something he did only rarely in 1932 when he defeated Bill Graber and all the other American stars except Bill Miller of Stanford at Los Angeles. His second place leap then was 328 meters (about 14 feet), while Miller did an inch and a half better.

Fourteen feet is no great achievement for American vaulters these days, but Nishida has the quality of turning on a little of something extra when competing for the Emperor and the Rising Sun. He had never done within 2 inches of 14 feet before he had to do it at Los Angeles.

to build a rock wall, I didn't have a towel along with me. So I just pitched in and in mind the mortar with my bare hand!"

Weighted 237 Once "I don't weigh but 198 now," she lamented, "but I used to weigh 237." She glanced back at the picture of the nephew who brought pride to the little weatherbeaten house in this Birmingham suburb.

"I ain't seen Joe Louis since he was 11, when my sister's family moved to Detroit from Alabama. I'm not expecting him to send me any presents. He's got seven brothers and sisters to help out."

"His mother wanted to make a violin player out of him. But she might have known he's have to do sum'n stronger'n that—coming from this family!"

Good
Gardening

H. Watering

Once your garden is planted and is a going concern, don't go into it every night with the hose, even if it needs water. Frequent light sprinkling is injurious; the best thing is to soak the soil thoroughly about once a week, preferably during the evening, and then loosen the surface with a rake or hoe as soon as it's dry enough. A good method is to dig slight furrows along the rows of plants and let the water flow gently down the furrows. After the water has soaked in, the furrows should be covered with dry soil to prevent baking. Moisture feeds upward in soil, as does oil in a lamp wick.

Nerves Seem on Edge Every Month

Women who find themselves in a painful, nervous fix, suffering every month, may have some functional trouble which Cardui should benefit.

"At times, I felt like I must scream if a door slammed or there was an unusual noise," writes Mrs. P. A. Odum, of Haines City, Fla. "I did not feel like doing my housework, and as I had other work besides, I felt more like lying down. A friend of mine asked me to try Cardui, which I did. After my first bottle, I felt much better. I continued taking it until I had taken six or seven bottles. By this time I was so much improved I was able to leave it off."

If not benefited by Cardui, consult a physician.

EXTRA special news it was — when Buick wrapped up 3500 pounds of live-wire power-thrill in sixteen feet of eye-stopping smartness — and named it the Special.

Extra special news it was — when buyers put foot to treadle on the open road, and found the Buick Special nimble, eager, steady, smooth — as no car ever was before at $765* list price at the factory.

Extra special news you'll find it, when you pile up the miles, roll the weeks into months, and see how meager are its demands for gas and oil — how stubbornly it resists the siren call of the repair shop.

It's newsworthy for style, for power, for comfort, for safety. It's a headliner for thrift, for prolonged resistance to wear, tear and abuse. It will write family history in the new sort of satisfaction it gives you and yours.

But highlight of the news is that you can buy the Buick Special for a mere two or three dollars a week more than the lowest-priced cars. The new GMAC 6% Time Payment Plan brings down the cost of buying "on time," makes payments easy, removes the last cause for waiting to "step-up" to a Buick.

We'd like to show you the phenomenal Special, let you drive it, figure out the arithmetic on it. It's worth your while just to find out how little it costs to get a car that's big in more ways than its inches! When may we see you?

*$765 to $1045 are the list prices of these Buicks at Flint, Michigan, subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessories groups on all models at extra cost. All Buick prices include safety glass throughout as standard equipment.

Most Crimes Attributed To Poverty, Texas Convict Questionnaire Shows

AUSTIN, Feb. 26. (UP)—Poverty causes most crimes, if questionnaires filled out by Texas convicts are to be believed. T. C. Andrews, member of the board of pardons and paroles, today said a majority of those in the penitentiary said they committed the crime "because I was broke and needed money."

One convict said he stole "to pay my honest debts." Another stole money to pay a doctor's bill.

"I guess those two should be commended for their zeal even if they are not entitled to clemency," Andrews said. "Especially should the party be looked upon with pity who stole to pay a doctor, because he might have thought that the doctor saved him from a worse place than the penitentiary."

Many felons said the desire to care for their wives, mothers or children caused them to commit crime. Some said liquor sent them on a crime career. Others embarked on crime because of love.

Andrews estimated one-fourth of those in the penitentiary still insist that they are innocent.

The United States has one motor vehicle to every 5.07 persons.

BUFFS IN SHAPE FOR REGIONAL

FORSAN, Feb. 26. (Sp)—Daily workouts have put the Forsan high school Buffs in fine shape for the regional basketball tournament at Abilene Saturday. The Buffs open with O'Brien. Crews meets Milburn, and the winners of the two games clash for the regional championship.

The probable starting line-up for Forsan will be Liles and Parker at Forwards, Chambers at the pivot post, and Scudday and McKinney at guards. McKinney takes Lopez's place.

PRESIDENT JOINS IN FINAL TRIBUTE TO HENRY ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (UP)—Standing bare-headed before an open grave, in Arlington cemetery, President Roosevelt paid his last respects yesterday to a distant cousin, Henry Latrobe Roosevelt, fourth member of the family to hold the post of assistant secretary of the navy.

Surrounded by high officers of the navy in full dress uniform, the president stood rigidly at attention as Scriptures were read and three volleys were fired from a nearby platoon by a detachment of marines.

DETROIT, CUBS ARE FAVORITES

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. (UP)—The Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs will be favorites to retain their major league titles when the first betting odds on the 1930 pennant race are issued next month.

Because of the possibility that more trades may strengthen the other clubs, no official prices on the races have been issued.

But Jack Doyle, who is one of the nation's leading diamond price setters, says regardless of what other deals are made, the Tigers will be heavy favorites to repeat in the American League, with the odds on the Cubs slightly shorter.

Doyle, who has been leading odds on major league races for more than 30 years, said before leaving for Miami yesterday the teams probably will be rated in the betting lists as follows:

- American League:
1. Detroit.
 2. Boston.
 3. New York.
 4. Cleveland.
 5. Chicago.
 6. Washington.
 7. St. Louis.
 8. Philadelphia.
- National League:
1. Chicago.
 2. New York.
 3. St. Louis.
 4. Pittsburgh.
 5. Brooklyn.
 6. Cincinnati.
 7. Philadelphia.
 8. Boston.

ENGLISH RACER TO INVADE U. S.

LONDON, Feb. 26. (UP)—Petite, dark-eyed Kay Petre, English racing motorist, known as the "fastest woman on earth," plans to invade the United States this summer to challenge America's leading men race drivers.

"If they'll let me," she added. "We have mixed racing, for men and women both, here and on the European continent—but I understand they don't encourage women racers in the United States."

"I'm very keen to try, though. I'd particularly like to have a go at the 500-mile Indianapolis race, which compares with our own 500-mile race at Brooklands."

A World Record-Holder

It was at the famous Brooklands course, on the outskirts of London, that Mrs. Petre last summer established a new world record for women with a 3-mile lap speed of 134.75 m.p.h.

She also holds the class record for the dangerous mountain course at Brooklands.

Last year, when women were permitted for the first time to enter the big 500-mile race the diminutive English girl sent her 2-liter Alfa-Romeo roaring around the concrete saucer for 92 laps—the first 276 miles—at an average speed of 120 m.p.h., only to have her engine blow a gasket when she was pressing Freddie Dixon, John Cobb, Lord Howe and other famous men drivers for the lead.

She "Shaded" Pettillo

By comparison, Kelly Pettillo won last year's 500-mile race at Indianapolis in new record time of 106.24 m.p.h.

So small that she has to be strapped to the seat of her giant racer, to prevent her from being bounced senseless, Mrs. Petre is only five feet one inch in height, weighs size 3-4 shoes and weighs just over 100 pounds.

Races for Thrills

Independently wealthy, she took up racing three years ago for the thrill of it, and despite her slight physique she has never had a crash.

If she can gain the requisite permission, Mrs. Petre expects to make a tour of tracks in Florida, California and possibly have a shot at setting up a new time record along the salt flats of Utah, where her fellow-countryman, Sir Malcolm Campbell, established the new world mark of 301.122 m.p.h.

EXPOSITION BONDS ARE REGISTERED

AUSTIN, Feb. 26. (UP)—Frontier celebration bonds totaling $937,000 for Fort Worth's participation in a Centennial livestock exposition went through final stages of approval and registry here today.

The bonds were brought to Austin by City Attorney R. E. Houser. They are in two issues, one of $487,500 and the other of $450,000.

Approval and registry was asked also for $91,000 sewage bonds.

Big Lens May Solve Riddles Of Universe

Giant Telescope Will Enable Man To See 3 1/2 Sextillion Miles

PARADENA, Cal., Feb. 26. (UP)

Astronomers estimate the new 200-inch telescope using the great mirror, expected to end its transcontinental journey in March, will double the distance man can see to some 3,600,000,000,000,000,000 miles.

It is expected to bring into view 100 million galaxies like the one the earth's solar system moves in; to shed new light on the riddle of what the universe is doing, and perhaps to solve the intriguing question of whether there is life on Mars.

Theoretically, but not practically, the mammoth telescope will be powerful enough to show a skyscraper on the face of the moon or to spy across the country into the windows of the capitol in Washington.

The scope is being erected atop 6,000-foot Mount Palomar in the clear-air San Diego mountains near the Mexican border. San Diego, nearest big city, is 129 miles away, assuring that there will be no bothersome ground lights.

California Institute of Technology is the builder, aided technically by Mt. Wilson Observatory, whose famous 100-inch Hooker telescope the new giant will succeed as the "world's largest."

Upon completion some time after 1934, the telescope will become science's largest and costliest tool. The great mass will weigh some 300 tons. The expected cost has not been estimated, but guesses of various scientists range from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000.

The "great eye," the mirror to be delivered by the Corning, N. Y., Glass Works, is the heart of the new instrument.

For four years the big chunk of pyrex, nearly 17 feet across and 23 inches thick, will be whirled under a grinding tool inside a cork-lined, air conditioned Caltech laboratory. For all its 17 tons, the glass will be handled easily as a round of cheese by a 100-ton grinding machine, bulking 40 feet long and 30 high.

Like Giant Saucer

Some time in 1933 or 1940, the glass will have been ground to a perfect parabolic curve and will be given a coating of aluminum. The mirror will then resemble a giant, shiny saucer, with a hole in the center.

Mounted at the bottom of a 55-foot steel tube balanced so delicately as to move almost at a finger's touch, the mirror will begin its job as a "great eye" some 50,000 times as effective as a human eye.

Astronomers will not waste time pointing the 200-inch giant at the moon and other nearby objects within smaller telescopes' range. The new instrument will pick up where the present world's largest Mt. Wilson telescope leaves off.

Present limits of the Mt. Wilson telescope is 1,800,000,000,000,000,000 miles, where Dr. Edwin Hubble has glimpsed far-off nebulae. Mt. Wilson astronomers estimate the 20-inch telescope should double the range of the 100-inch instrument.

Look Directly Into Mirror

Astronomers using the new telescope at direct focus will perch in a cartridge-shaped carriage in the middle of the 55-foot tube near the top. They will look directly down at the mirror.

Under other arrangements, a small mirror, instead of the astronomer, will be placed at the end of the tube. This mirror will reflect the star images back through a hole in the center of the "great eye." In another type of focus, a mirror placed at a 45-degree angle will reflect the light off to one side.

Astronomers will do little direct "seeing." Most of the work will be done photographically. A camera plate exposed to the reflection from the "great eye" for hours will pick up dim stars and nebulae that a direct visual observation would miss. The developed photographs are studied under microscopes later.

Divorce Judge Blames Three Men Out Of Four

CAPE GIRARD, Mo. (UP)—Circuit Judge Frank Kelly, who in 23 years has heard 2,380 divorce cases, blames the husband in about 75 per cent of the marital failures he has examined.

The failures occurred, he said, "because the men were so worthless generally."

Abandonment and non-support are the charges most often made by the divorce-seeking wives, he said.

DAFOE ON TRIP

New Doctor Takes Charge Of Quintuplets

CALLANDER, Ont., Feb. 26. (UP)—Dr. Harold Williams, of the hospital for sick children, Toronto, today assumed charge of the Dionne quintuplets, as Dr. Alan Roy Defoe, their physician since their birth, started for a week's visit in New York.

Dr. Defoe, before leaving last night, said he hoped for a little privacy on this trip.

"I would like to go some place where no one knows me," he said. "It takes a day or so to get started going anywhere and I never seem to have a minute of peace. I wish I could have a real holiday without everyone dogging me at every footstep."

Let's get straight to the point about your winter gasoline

In plain words it's old-fashioned to have winter starting troubles. (You needn't admit anything in company—because lots of people don't know there is hard starting any more.) But get a neighbor off to one side. Chances are he's an old regular on Winter Blend Conoco Bronze, or he is one of the thousands and thousands who changed to it these recent cold months. See if he doesn't say almost these words: "You always start up on Conoco Bronze; you start, that's all. No weather yet, around here, seems to make any difference. Maybe your car isn't new, but this stuff starts. You or I don't know how any gasoline is made, no matter what we're told. But when you don't have to grind the starter and pray for your battery, nor keep on choking and choking, then you know you've got what you want. And they don't have to tell you any more about Conoco Bronze than the way it starts, as long as you know it does." Continental Oil Company, Established 1875

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Some of the best informed leaders on Capitol Hill are increasingly convinced there will NOT be a tax bill this session. They are not making a flat prediction. But they are saying it is a good gamble.

Based on their belief is the reluctance evinced by the president in his inner council meetings toward bringing out a tax measure this year.

Insiders who have participated in the White House conferences say that most of their time was devoted to canvassing the possibility of avoiding tax legislation, rather than discussing the scope and contents of such a measure.

The president himself lent credence to this no-tax belief at a press conference last week. Asked about the status of the bill, he replied that there were still "three or four chapters" to be written before a decision was reached.

"What chapter would you say you were on?"

"On Our Way," the president replied laughingly, referring to the title of his own latest book.

"Is it possible," asked one correspondent, "that there may be a chapter, 'It Can't Happen Here'?"

The president laughed in reply.

Legislative Hash
Varied, indeed, are the legislative proposals that make up a session of congress. Here are two bills recently introduced:

H. R. 11176
A BILL
Increasing the penalty for making false oaths for the purpose of obtaining a government free bath-house at Hot Springs, Ark.
—Introduced by Representative McClellan, Democrat, Arkansas.

H. R. 11139
A BILL
To prohibit the bands of the United States army, navy, marine corps and coast guard from furnishing music on occasions beyond the scope of their service duty.
—Introduced by Representative McSwain, Democrat, South Carolina.

Nebraska's Burke
Another angry protest, from a new quarter, has been lodged with the president against his secretary, Marvin McIntyre. This one concerns the political future of Nebraska next November.

Liberal democratic leaders in Nebraska are charging McIntyre with intervening in behalf of Senator Edward R. Burke, who is a candidate for national committee man from the state.

The irate Nebraskans claim that despite the president's frequently reiterated policy of keeping hands off in state politics and Burke's consistent anti-neo deal votes in the senate, McIntyre is secretly spreading the impression that the White House backs him.

The hot attack on his secretary was made directly to the president — although by a circuitous route. — Fearing that if they sent their telegram to the White House it would reach Roosevelt, Nebraska leaders addressed it to a friendly new dealer who placed it in his hands.

Burke has voted against practically every liberal bill sponsored by the White House, including the president's pet holding company act. Only a week ago he joined the republicans in opposing the administration's new farm program.

Behind Burke's candidacy and McIntyre's undercover manipulations is Arthur Mullen, lawyer-lobbyist and former national committeeman from Nebraska.

Since 1933, Mullen has received large fees for representing Big Business in Washington, and was forced to resign from the national committee because of his lawyer-lobbyist activities.

Burke is allied with the Mullen (conservative) faction in Nebraska and his senate voting has followed Mullen's rather than the president's leadership. McIntyre is a close personal friend of Mullen.

The scheme is Nebraska democracy over Mullen has reached serious proportions. Liberal leaders opposing Mullen warned the president that if Mullen should succeed in installing Burke as his "stooge," an open rift would result that might cost the democrats the state next November.

Pan American Peace
The diminutive country of Paraguay has put the president's Pan American peace proposal in a tough spot.

Just after Roosevelt addressed a personal letter on the peace conference to President Ayala, the military staged a revolution, a new president put himself in power, and Ayala was locked up.

Question is: Will the United States recognize the new government? This question is complicated by the fact that the new cabinet has strong communistic leanings.

The minister of justice and education has been in exile as a communist since 1931. The minister of interior, after killing a man in a duel some years ago, fled the country and threw in his lot with Russian nihilists in Paris.

The minister of war, marine, and foreign affairs is a jingoist who wanted Paraguay to pursue her foe, Bolivia, to relentless annihilation in the Chaco war.

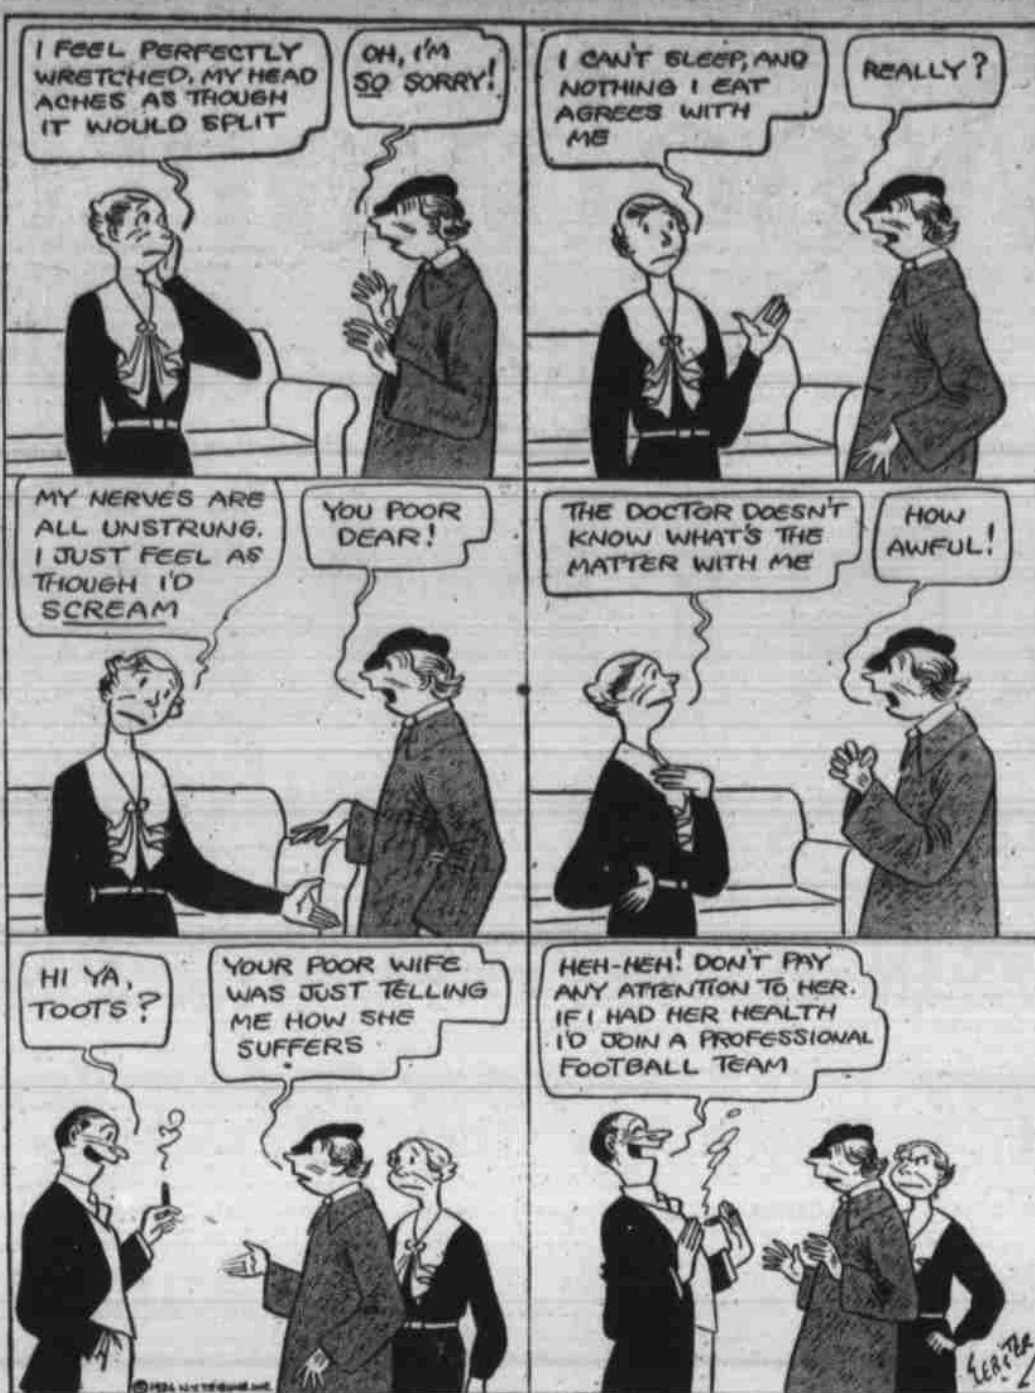

Even if the new government maintains order, the state department will court trouble in recognizing it, because other South American countries are uneasy over the success of any government with communist leanings.

Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, and Chile all are having communist troubles of their own, probably will back-bait Paraguay's insurgents, urging Uncle Sam to do the same.

Meanwhile, what happens to the president's idea for Pan American peace?

A German firm claims to have developed a special gas, easily handled, which will exterminate rodents, insects and vermin.

EL PASO PLANS TO PAY TRIBUTE TO OLD PADRES

EL PASO, (UP)—Commemorating the sacrifices of Spanish padres who made new trails in the New World, 25,000 Catholic parishioners are expected to march in the annual Corpus Christi procession of the El Paso diocese on March 31.

Bishop A. J. Schuler is arranging the program to start the celebration in this diocese of the Texas Centennial.

Bishops of Texas and other mission areas of the Southwest have been invited to attend the procession and pontifical military field mass to be celebrated in the stadium of El Paso high school.

Parochial schools are rehearsing pageants and thousands of school children are expected to join in the 17th annual procession from St. Patrick's Cathedral to the Sacred Heart church.

The Mexican province Jesuit choir will sing the mass and school children will sing hymns.

On July 15, another celebration will be held at Ysleta Mission, the oldest in Texas, built on the Rio Grande below El Paso by Spanish missionaries and settlers who fled from New Mexico after an Indian uprising in the 18th century.

New Dealers Hoping For GOP Errors

Demos Holding Fire Until Identity Of Opponent Is Made Known

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of AP Bureau, Washington)

One interesting feature of the current political situation is that Mr. Roosevelt's opponents are making most of the noise.

Daily—sometimes at the rate of several a day—the big guns of the opposition are pouring their attacks on the White House. Now and then democratic headquarters or some prominent democrat releases, but for the most part the administration batteries remain silent.

Presumably this is a temporary situation only. With its array of experienced spallholders, and its exceptionally well equipped publicity staff, it must be supposed that the democratic organization will come into full action in due course.

There are reasons why, at this stage, it is quite natural for the republicans to be more vocal than the democrats. The GOP is in the process of considering who shall be chosen to carry the party banner against Mr. Roosevelt; and each of the aspirants appears anxious to demonstrate how hard he can hit.

On the democratic side there are reasons also. One of the most potent is the feeling among party leaders that it would be folly to shoot off too much ammunition before it is known who the opposing general will be, and what sort of battlefield he will present.

Appears One-Sided
If the present political picture were judged without taking these things into account, it might be possible to conclude that the contest is very one-sided, indeed.

The thundering of the half-dozen republican presidential candidates alone amounts to a sizeable barrage. Day after day the Liberty League adds its fire unrelentingly, while the Talmadge movement in Georgia chimes in with increasing frequency. The republican national committee recently has enlarged its publicity bureau, and is more active than ever.

In contrast, democratic headquarters appears to be saying less and less. Its publicity machinery is working with only a partial staff. Occasionally a big gun lets go but most administration officials, from the president down, seem content to let it go at that.

Recently when Mr. Hoover assailed one of the "new deal" spending agencies, the director of that agency was attending a party at the home of a friend in Washington. Other "new deal" adherents of lesser rank who were present wanted to turn the dial to some dance music; but the responsible official mentioned objected, and listened carefully to Mr. Hoover's every word. No reply whatever, either private or public, was forthcoming.

Golden Silence
Quite evidently the Roosevelt organization is relying on the soundness of two old political maxims. One is that, in any political game, it is easy to overplay the hand. With the election still eight months away, say the democratic strategists, a constant torrent of denunciation from the opposition may get to be an old story to the country, and have a natural kick-back. The other maxim is that, in politics as elsewhere, silence is often golden in results. Calvin Coolidge ably demonstrated how golden it really can be. Governor Landon among the several republican candidates this year, manifestly is proceeding on the Coolidge theory as nearly as circumstances will permit.

There are republicans who believe both of these maxims faulty; and for proof they point to the situation four years ago. Then it was the democrats who began the bombardment long in advance and kept it up without success. It was the republicans who sat back and waited—until it was too late.

So it is possible to draw any conclusion you desire.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—There's one show on Broadway that has drawn a variety of critical judgments, and that's the "Ziegfeld Follies." The idea of the show, as produced by the Shuberts, was to preserve the flavor and the Ziegfeld touch that has always been a legend on the Rialto.

It isn't that the critics didn't like it. Such fanciful patterns of approval you've seldom read. Lavish with their adjectives, they hymned its verve, taste and texture, and were delighted with its gorgeous women, exquisite costuming, enchanting music and limitless comedy.

But they still aren't agreed as to whether the spirit of Ziegfeld is there. One scribe feels the shuberts have been amazingly successful in emulating the great glorifier: "Comic, bountiful, beautiful, strewn with stars . . . the taste which was Ziegfeld's is in it!"

Equality panegyrics is a confrere but he isn't conscious of anything rivaling the Flo touch. Ending his essay with a flattering paragraph, he concludes: "Of Shubert there are barrels in it, but not one drop of Ziegfeld." Well—you never know.

There's another point on which the citizens aren't unanimous, although this has nothing to do with cities of Broadway. Recently it was decided by company officials to whittle all the great liners down to "cabin class." This was to avoid the heavy tax imposed on de luxe craft. Ergo, the new Queen Mary and the Normandie, most magnificent of all liners, will operate strictly as "cabin" ships. The owners will knock the crest off the usual fare so as to slip under the de luxe limitation.

The argument against this is that New York, London and Paris have a sufficiency of people who like to epitomize their importance by travelling strictly de luxe. They'll pay any price for the more luxuriant rating whether the service justifies it or not. Now observers think this clique will toss its patronage to the Italian liners, which haven't followed the "cabin" lead of English and American ships.

Harry Meyer, the impresario, is famous for matching each mood with the correct musical selections.

Pausing between attacks on his income tax report, George Stuart asked: "What are you going to play for the Bankers' Dinner, Harry?"

"Lehar's 'Gold and Silver Waltz,'" Meyer answered.

Reviewing my premieres for the season, the three that were most exciting were "Jubilee," "Dead End," and "Victoria Regina." The two most exciting first nights I ever attended were "Design or Living" and "Dinner at Eight." They tell me no first night ever rocked Broadway like "Rain." That's one they're STILL talking about.

That glad light in Jose Iturbi's eye is explained by his appointment as conductor of the Rochester Philharmonic orchestra—something he's always wanted.

club numbered three and Johnson remembers them by their maiden names.

Early Big Spring was "at that time a row of plank buildings fronting on the railroad, nearly all of them saloons and wide open day and night—gambling halls, too. Joe Fisher or J. H. Fisher was about the most prominent merchant. (He has reference to the pioneer mercantile establishment of J. & W. Fisher.)

"I got my first paid-for shave in Big Spring by an old negro barber," says Johnson. "His shop was on what is now, I suppose, a street running south. There was not at that time a house in the county outside of Big Spring unless it was some ranch building of which I was ignorant, and there was not a ploughed furrow except a patch by Ben Boydston east of town on the railroad. I remember that at that time he had what appeared to be a fine young peach orchard, also three fine girls, the youngest named Belle, all of them like him—red headed. Johnson boarded much of the time with Mrs. Van Gieson, mother of Verd Van Gieson and Mrs. J. B. Young. He remembers her and Miss Sallie Drake and Ida Morrow.

The following year he left Big Spring and worked at the machinist's trade. In 1892 he was ordained a Baptist minister and since that time has been engaged as a "renter, farmer, and country preacher." He might add a new calling—that of historian.

made increasingly higher budget demands and that for the current year is the highest military budget in the nation's history.

Premier Okada, who was 68, was not held in esteem by the "big navy" group when he went into office two years ago because of his policy of conciliation.

He had won an unexpected victory in the recent general election when the pro-government Minseito party won 208 seats to the 172 of the anti-government Seiyukai.

The disturbance came with Japan in one of her most delicate international positions of her history.

Frequent clashes on the Manchoukuo border with outer Mongolians has caused increasing friction with Soviet Russia. A campaign of economic penetration in north China also has become a world issue. Militarists have demanded firmness both in north China and in Manchoukuo and Soviets accuse the Japanese officers of aggression designs against Russia.

Japan is the most isolated from international agreement of any leading power. She followed her departure from the league of nations by walking out of the international naval conference in London.

stead, assessments should be made on natural resources, such as crude oil, natural gas and sulphur. He argued that since 80 per cent of Texas crude is exported to other states and to foreign countries, it could bear a levy and still compete with Oklahoma and California crude to freight differentials. He advocated a tax of from 6 to 8 cents a barrel. He declared that Texas is realizing only about $200,000 per year from its tax on the vast natural gas resource, and argued that the tax on sulphur should be $2 per ton, instead of the present 75c.

A 6c tax on oil, the representative said, would bring in for the state over 24 million dollars annually, enough to pay age pensions and clear deficits in various state funds.

"Tax On Poverty"

Dr. Danforth presented further argument against a sales tax, describing it as a "tax on poverty" and asserting that merchants now are carrying about all the tax burden they can bear. He urged membership in the state Pharmaceutical association on the basis that by through organization, druggists would be in a strong position to protect their interests in legislation.

The association official also discussed pending national laws of interest to his group, particularly the Robinson and Patman bills which are aimed against price discrimination and unfair competition and trade practices. The measures, designed to protect the "independent merchant" are in the form of an amendment to the Clayton anti-trust act. The measures are on the congressional calendar for the current session.

Mr. Hogg, native of Kentucky, had been in ill health for an extended period.

Survivors include his wife, seven daughters, four sons, three sisters and a brother. The children are Bertram Hogg of Big Spring, and Jim, Edwin and Rudolph Hogs of Stanton; Mrs. Veima Sheridan and Mrs. Ruth Shows of San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Frances Morris of Abilene; Mrs. Vera Smithson of Vernon; Mrs. Katharine Reese and Mrs. Evelyn Crawford of Big Spring and Miss Dorothy Hogg of Stanton. TO PLUG DEEP TEST

Salvaging Of Pipe At McDowell Location Started

Salvaging of pipe from the Loffland Bros.-Moore Bros. No. 1 McDowell deep test was under way Wednesday as preparations were made to plug.

After nearly two months of deepening from 10,115 feet, the test drilled into flowing sulphur water Monday at 10,906 feet. Operators felt that returns from plugging below pay levels picked up around 9,600 feet would not justify expense of shooting and cleaning out. More than 9,400 feet of 7 1/2-inch casing will be pulled and most of 2,000 feet of 10 inch casing will be retrieved.

Although the test failed, geologists expressed a belief that deep pay was to be had in this region. They accepted the shows, formations, and hot sulphur water as evidence that the McDowell well is not far off the Ordovician pay. The water flowing from the well had a temperature from 175 to 190 degrees.

ALBERT FALL'S CONDITION REPORTED AS 'UNCHANGED'
EL PASO, Feb. 26. (AP)—The condition of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior who has been ill for some time, was reported "unchanged" today by attendants at William Beaumont hospital here.

Miss Margarita Gomez of Victoria, Mexico, is expected to arrive from Wichita, Kan., where she has been visiting friends, for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Golden.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. Laxatives are only stimulants. A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 50c.

You're a funny talking man to be selling cigarettes. You talk like they are cure-alls.

I've known this for a long time
... cigarettes cause no ills and cure no ailments.

You mean ALL cigarettes ...
Yes, at some time or other I have just about tried them all and what I say goes for all of them.

Seriously ...

There is probably only one man on earth who would believe it if we told you that a cigarette would cure what ails you.

On the other hand ...

There are millions of smokers who will testify, without publicity, as to the pleasure and enjoyment which they get from smoking a good cigarette.
