WOMAN ESCAPES Two Charged In West Texas

Slaying

OZONA, Tex. (AP) — Murder charges were filed Thursday against two men in the shooting death Wednesday night of Eugene Johnson, 21, of Lewisville.

The two, held in jail here, are Ronald Berry, about 21, from Vermont, and Harry Ricks, about 43, from the Los Angeles area.

A bus driver found Johnson wounded along U.S. 29 near this West Texas town. He died later.

Officers said Johnson and Carolyn Jones, 17, also of Lewisville, hitchhiked in the car of Berry and Ricks from San Antonio.

The girl told police she escaped at Fort Stockton after the men attacked her.

She was in a doctor's care at Ozona.

C-City To Host 65 Lions Clubs

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Midwinter conference for 65 Lions Clubs of District 2A-1 will meet here Saturday. Registration will open at 8:30 a.m. in Colorado High School Cafeteria.

A general business session will begin at 9:45 a.m. Luncheon will be served at noon in the Civic House, Main and Elm Streets. Noon speaker will be Marion Snider, Dallas. Following the luncheon, Lions will meet for a series of clinics on Lions Club problems at 2 p.m. until adjournment at 3:30 p.m.

Lion wives will be entertained by a morning book review and visit to the Colorado City Museum. A bridge session is scheduled for the afternoon.

Host clubs will be the Noon Lion's Club, with B. D. Mason, president, and the Evening Lion's Club, with president, James Huckaby. District president, A. E. Pruegel, Sonora, will attend. District 2A-1 is bounded by Midland, Sweetwater, Brownwood, Llano and Ozona.

11 To Attend

Region Choir Clinic

Eleven Big Spring High School choir members will attend the all region choir clinic at Snyder tonight and Saturday, rehearsing and performing under the direction of Dr. Ray Moore, of Lamar Tech.

In addition, the Big Spring choir, under the direction of Kenny Sheppard, and the Snyder High School choir were asked to sing as guests of the clinic.

The all region choir members from Big Spring include Mark Dirks, Esther Dennis, Pam Dower, Sandy Reed, Richard Craven, Keith Graumann, Betty McCann, Richard Rigdon, Monnie Watkins, Connie Gary, and Mike Colclazer.

Next week, on Jan. 17, Colclazer will go to Lubbock for the final auditions for the all-state choir, Sheppard said.

Bank Teller Foins Thugs

DALLAS (AP) — A quick-thinking drive-in bank teller foiled two thugs wielding shotguns Thursday.

Police said that after Lora Maddox dropped to the floor of her booth and pressed an alarm, the startled holdup men fired a blast into a glass window and sped off.

Mrs. Maddox said the two men drove to her window about 10 minutes before closing time and the driver ordered, "Give me your money and don't punch any buttons. We have your guard."

She knew the men were bluffing, Mrs. Maddox said, because she had seen the guard moments earlier. She dropped to the floor and pushed the alarm button.

The shotgun blast failed to penetrate the window but knocked bits of glass off inside the booth.

Police continued a search for the pair today.

280,000 BARRELS OF JET FUEL, 41 MEN ABOARD

Tanker Slowly Sinking In Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A raging sea buffeted a crippled jet fuel tanker today as other vessels and aircraft stood by 180 miles off the central California coast to rescue 41 crewmen if necessary.

The master of the S.S. Connecticut, who at midnight said he didn't think the vessel could stay afloat for more than six hours, told the Coast Guard at dawn he didn't think there was any immediate danger of sinking.

Gale force winds of 60 knots and waves 15 feet to 20 feet high struck the vessel. Its power failed, stopping pumps which had been holding back water that leaked through packing around the driveshaft connecting the engine and propellers.

A Coast Guard helicopter lowered an emergency pump to the stricken ship.

Pumps dropped from a circling plane were lost.

The Connecticut left Los Angeles Thursday night for Yokohama. She was 260 miles south of San Francisco and 180 miles southwest of Morro Bay, Calif., the Coast Guard said.

In her tanks, the guard reported, were 280,000 barrels of a jet fuel called JP5. Fearing some fuel might have spilled, the circling C130 did not drop flares.

There was no indication of the crew's condition. The Tsuneshima Maru, a Japanese refrigerator ship, stood by in case the Connecticut's master decided to abandon ship.

Three merchant ships—the Oriental Pearl, the Buckeye Atlantic and the Hawaiian Builder—were reported speeding to the scene.

The Coast Guard also dispatched the cutter Rush from San Francisco, the cutter Cape Hedge from Morro Bay, Calif., and two helicopters and another cutter from San Diego, Calif.

Connecticut Transport Co. of New York was listed as the owner of the Yokohama-bound tanker.

IDENTIFIED AS HIJACKER — A Trans World Airlines official tentatively identified the hijacker of one of its planes as Christian Bellon, a Frenchman who is shown after his arrest at Beirut airport Friday morning. Bellon allegedly hijacked a TWA jetliner with 20 persons aboard between Paris and Rome and forced the pilot to fly to Beirut.

He Commandeered Jet To Protest Border Raid

BEIRUT (AP) — A young Frenchman with a rifle and two pistols who said he hated all Americans hijacked a Trans World Airlines jet with 19 other persons aboard to Beirut today. No one was hurt.

The hijacker, dark-haired, bespectacled Christiane Belon, told security officials he commandeered the plane to protest the Israeli border raid last weekend

Newscasters Transferred

SAIGON (AP) — Two military newscasters who accused the U.S. Command of censorship were transferred today from the American Forces Vietnam Network (AFVN) to other duties within the command in Saigon.

A spokesman said Army Spec. 5 Robert E. Lawrence, 27, of Atlanta, Ga., has been made a chaplain's aide and Marine Cpl. Thomas M. Sinkovitz, 21, of Harrisburg, Pa., has been assigned to the 1st Marine Air-Naval Gunfire Liaison Company.

in which 22 Lebanese were kidnapped and because he hated all Americans.

Belon, 20, riddled the plane's instrument panel with bullets as the Boeing 707 rolled to a stop on the runway at Lebanon's international airport. Then he followed eight other passengers, eight crew members and three other TWA employees down an inflatable escape chute.

The hijacker protested angrily when a police officer slapped him in the face and disarmed him as he slid to the ground, but he did not resist arrest.

Belon took over the New York-to-Rome flight between Paris and Rome. By then it was carrying three passengers who had boarded in the United States, and six—including himself—who had boarded in Paris. The flight originated in Baltimore with a stop in Washington before landing at New York.

Pointing a rifle at pilot Kenneth Marks, Belon ordered him to fly to Damascus, Syria. He was told they would have to stop at Rome to refuel.

While airport police swarmed around the plane at Rome's Fiumicino Airport, Belon held the crew at gunpoint and refused to allow anyone to leave.

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — The triple slaying of union reformer Joseph A. Yablonski, his wife and daughter was called a "deed of infamy" at their joint funeral services today.

Meanwhile, the Labor Department prepared a full-scale probe of the bitter United Mine Workers presidential election some claim led to the slayings.

Services were scheduled at 11 a.m. at Immaculate Conception Church with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles Owen Rice, so-called "Labor Priest" in this coal mining area, delivering the eulogy.

In his prepared remarks, Msgr. Rice likened the methodical slaying of the family to the assassination of the Kennedy brothers and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"There was the killing of a famed and controversial man," said Msgr. Rice. "There was the chilling and efficient murder of two women, and if there were an insanity here, it is the sort to curdle the blood."

Subzero temperatures—coldest weather to hit southwestern Pennsylvania in years—prevalled for the funeral and burial.

Coupled with the Labor Department's announcement Thursday it would investigate the UMW election were a request for a Senate investigation by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., and a UMW offer of a $50,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the killer or killers.

PICKET LINES

Concelebrants in the Mass were the Rev. Joseph Koloszyk, the Yablonski's pastor at St. Thomas Catholic Church in Clarksville, and the Rev. Armand Jean Baldwin, a Benedictine monk and professor of economics at St. Vincent's College, a close friend of the Yablonski family.

Msgr. Rice, pastor of the Holy Rosary Church in Pittsburgh, became known as western Pennsylvania's labor priest because of his associations with such union leaders as John L. Lewis, former chief of the UMW, and Philip Murray of the CIO.

He was often seen on picket lines and supported the labor movement through regular radio programs and columns in Catholic newspapers.

Yablonski's lawyer, Joseph Rauh, said in Washington, D.C.,

"What is required now is a joint Justice-Labor investigation of corruption and violence in the United Mine Workers, of the massive expenditures of union funds during the election campaign as well as the election day frauds."

No Trouble With Quota

AUSTIN (AP) — Col. Morris Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said today there will be no trouble filling Texas' January draft quota with lottery numbers under 30 and they expect no trouble in making the February quota with numbers under 60.

Schwartz said the February quota will be 929 men compared with 573 for January.

MARY JO MIGHT HAVE BEEN SAVED?

Judge Refuses To Allow Testimony

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Judge James A. Boyle refused to allow testimony that Mary Jo Kopechne might have been saved if Sen. Edward M. Kennedy had summoned help promptly, it has been learned.

Skidiver John Farrar, who had expressed that opinion publicly, was permitted to testify only about his role in recovering Miss Kopechne's body from Kennedy's submerged car on Chappaquiddick Island last July 19.

The information came from a courtroom source at the secret Kopechne inquest which ended Thursday after 3½ days of testimony.

DOWN THE LINE
"The law," the source said, "is interested only in facts—not conjecture, theory, or casual opinion. That's the way this inquest was conducted, right down the line."

Kennedy and his legal team had considered Farrar's testimony the crucial point of the inquest, which sought to determine whether the 28-year-old Washington secretary's death called for criminal proceedings.

Judge Boyle will give his opinion on that in a report to the Superior Court along with the transcript of the inquest. Only when all chance of criminal prosecution has passed can the report be made public, the Massachusetts Supreme Court has ruled.

The attorneys had carefully prepared rebuttal testimony and a consulting firm's report to the effect Miss Kopechne could have lived less than a minute after the car toppled from unlighted Dike Bridge, no matter how soon help was summoned.

GUARDED HINTS
Farrar had said the victim could have survived in an air pocket in the overturned car.

At the outset of the inquest Monday, Boyle announced he would permit no extraneous testimony—and with Farrar's theory excluded from the inquest, the rebuttal report presumably will also be kept out of the record.

After Boyle has filed his report, Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dinis must decide whether to prosecute Kennedy or anyone else involved in the case by taking it to a grand jury for indictment. Guarded hints from Dinis and his staff indicated he would follow Boyle's recommendation on that, although he is technically free to go to a grand jury any time.

WEEKS DELAY
Dinis appeared outside the old Dukes County courthouse shortly before 2 p.m. Thursday, a crisp, sparkling afternoon, to announce that testimony had ended. It was closed out by the testimony of the five young women who, with Miss Kopechne, Kennedy, and five Kennedy male friends, had attended a Chappaquiddick Island cook-out last July 18.

Although Boyle said Thursday he would study the inquest record and write his report "without undue delay," even the Kennedy lawyers who are hoping for early release of the testimony estimate it will be a matter of weeks and perhaps a month or two.

'NO COMMENTS'
Barred from the courtroom by order of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, reporters could only record the comings and goings and "no comments" of witnesses—perhaps two dozen throughout.

PANTHER INQUEST

Called For Cease-Fire While Raid In Progress

CHICAGO (AP) — An inquest into the shooting deaths of two Black Panther party leaders in a police raid has been told by Sgt. Daniel R. Groth that he called for a cease-fire three times while the raid was in progress.

Each time, Groth testified Thursday, gunfire continued from inside the West Side apartment building where he had gone with 13 other policemen with a warrant to search for illegal weapons.

Fred Hampton, 21, leader of the Black Panther party in Illinois, and Mark Clark, 22, a downstate party leader, were killed. Groth and the 13 other Chicago policemen who conducted the raid did so under special assignment to the Cook County state's attorney's office.

Groth testified that when the men he was directing attempted to serve the warrant at Hampton's apartment they were met with gunfire.

Earlier Thursday the six-man jury, a racially mixed group of leading Chicagoans, toured the apartment for 10 minutes.

Groth said he ordered the first cease-fire because he thought one of his policemen was wounded. He said he told all five men near him to cease firing.

But, he said, a "shot rang out and they (the police) resumed their firing."

Curtailment Of Gas Use

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. officials said today that they have initiated a 25 per cent curtailment of service to large industrial users because of the recent cold snap in the Dallas area.

"This is a standard contractual arrangement with our large users," said Jim Christian. "We have plenty of gas available for our residential and commercial users, and we're cutting back on the heavy industrial use to make sure the supply stays adequate."

Voters In Mexia To Decide Issue

MEXIA, Tex. (AP) — "There is no defense for our action," City Commissioner Harold Nussbaum told a Mexia service club Tuesday after informing them that the city daily breaks laws governing discharge of pollutants.

Voters in Mexia will decide a $300,000 tax bond issue Jan. 20 to finance a new sewage treatment plant.

"The situation is very common among cities in Texas, and the problem is not critical, but it is serious," Nussbaum said.

The Mexia plant, built in 1923, has outlived its intended life span, Nussbaum said.

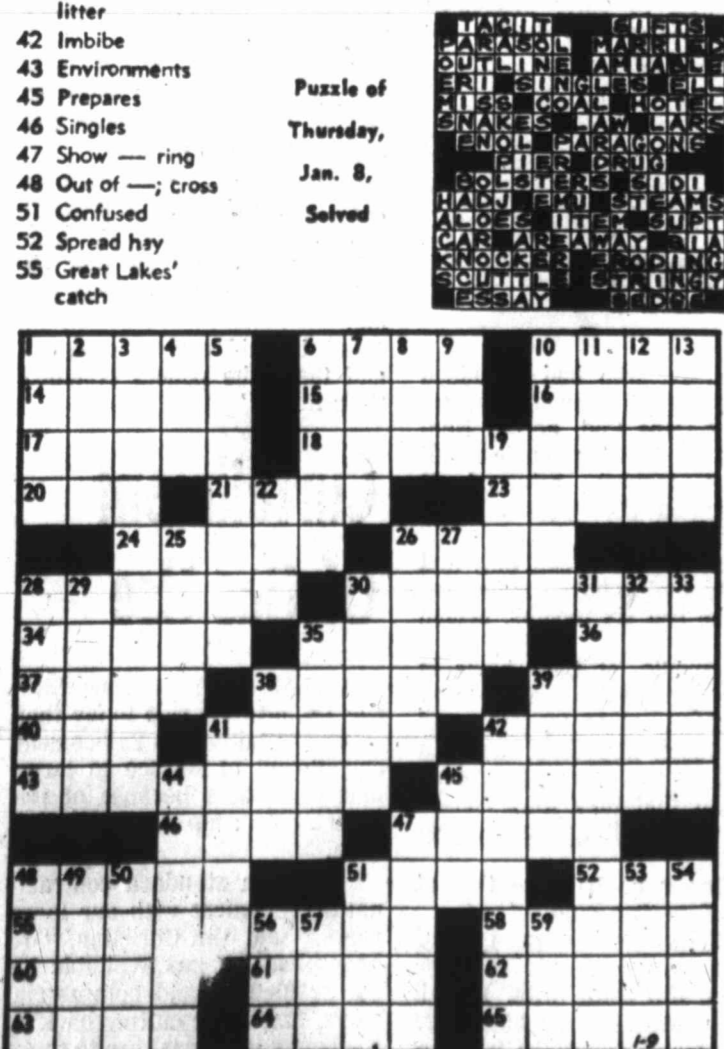

"The law says 20 parts of pollutant-type material per million is permissible," he said. "When the law was enacted we were discharging 110 parts per million into the Navasota River, and we were given permission to stay at that level as long as we were working at improvement."

The last test made showed 220 parts per million, Nussbaum said.

Tax Official Hunts New Cars Of Mayor

MISSION, Tex. (AP)—The tax assessor-collector in this Lower Rio Grande Valley city continued today to search for new automobiles owned by Mission Mayor Clark Spikes.

Lowell Thorn said Thursday Mayor Spikes has his cars "scattered all over Hidalgo County" in an attempt to keep them off the tax rolls. He said he found cars Thursday in Mission, McAllen, near Edinburg and La-Joya.

Thorn said that such action is not really illegal.

The tax collector, who was appointed by the city commission before Spikes' election, said he found Spikes' new cars parked in a field near La Joya last year when it was time for property to be assessed.

Spikes said the cars were "on display."

"We and the other auto dealers put cars on display like that," he said. "We put them in shopping centers and hotels. We've always done it."

Spikes said he didn't know how many cars were on display in the county or where they were.

"My sales people do it," he said, adding that he didn't know if the cars were marked for sale or bore other identification signs.

A group of Mission citizens have organized a recall movement aimed at Spikes and councilmen Al Ady and Clarence Ashley. A total of 85 registered Mission voters signed a petition alleging that the three are incompetent and have violated the city charter.

Hidalgo County Judge Milton

D. Richardson stunned the recall movement Thursday when he ruled that there would be no recall election. He gave no reason for the ruling.

Leaders of the recall movement are continuing their efforts and have planned a protest rally for 4 p.m. Saturday at Mission.

Weather Outlook Lists Light Snow

By The Associated Press

Moisture was moving in today to reinforce the frigid air mass enveloping most of Texas.

Wintery weather besieging the state gave promise of growing even worse before it improves.

Intermittent light snow was predicted across the northern half of Texas tonight. It was expected to change into light rain by Saturday. Chances for light rain continuing through Saturday were seen over the southern half.

La Grange and Columbus got a freak preview this morning of what may be in store for the northern part of the state during the night. The Weather Bureau reported that light snow occurred both places—an area southeast of Austin where any snow is a rarity.

About the only bright spot in the weather outlook was a forecast for a little warming in all sections.

Temperatures again plunged within sight of zero in the Texas Panhandle this morning, diving to 2 degrees above at Perryton, and freezing weather extended as far south as the Upper Texas Coast.

Light rain or drizzle fell in extreme South Texas and along the coast. Skies were clear only in North and far West Texas.

Official observers looked for the moisture to spread up the coast and into South Central and Southeast Texas by evening.

Elsewhere in the Panhandle-Plains sector the mercury skidded to 7 degrees at Dalhart, 9 at Amarillo and 10 at Lubbock and Plainview.

Readings near dawn at other points included Denison and Sherman 12, Wichita Falls 13, Abilene, Childress, Fort Worth and Texarkana 14, Big Spring and Mineral Wells 16, Dallas, Midland and Tyler 17, Longview and Wink 18, Waco 20, Killeen 22, Lufkin 24, San Angelo 25, Austin 27, College Station and El Paso 28, and Beaumont and Port Arthur 32.

At the same hour it was 52 at Brownsville on the southern tip of the state, where rain was falling.

Registration Lags In Urban Counties

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Democratic Executive Committee says 23 medium-sized urban counties have registered just over a third of their total quotas, with less than a month to go before the registration deadline.

The counties have enrolled 282,851 voters, 35.9 per cent of their quota of 676,680, the SDEC said. The same counties showed a total registration of 230,764 a month ago, it said.

Jan. 31 is the deadline to register to vote in 1970 elections.

The SDEC is sponsoring a registration drive, with awards for counties that have the highest percentage of eligible voters registered.

Brazoria County, with an estimated 35,000 registrants and 90.2 per cent of its goal, leads the group.

$80,000 Chemical Fumes Suit Filed

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston man has filed an $80,000 federal suit alleging that chemical fumes in his neighborhood last year caused permanent injury to his family.

Alex Garcia, 42, charged the fumes Feb. 6, 1968, caused his family permanent injury to the throat, lungs and other parts of the body.

The suit was filed against Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc., and asked $10,000 for each plaintiff. In addition to Garcia, other plaintiffs included his wife and six children.

The suit claimed that improper washing of a tank truck caused the fumes.

Erwin To Shun Student Poll Calling For His Resignation

AUSTIN (AP) — Frank Erwin says he won't pay much attention to the results of a student referendum in which 86 per cent of those voting said he should resign as chairman of the University of Texas Board of Regents.

With about a fifth of the UT-Austin student body voting, 6,266 approved and 966 disapproved a proposition stating that Erwin's continued chairmanship was not in the best interests of the university.

"I have frequently stated that I shall relinquish the chairmanship in 1971 when the next three regents are approved by the governor and confirmed by the Senate," Erwin said in a statement issued through the UT news and information service.

"I have no intention of resigning the chairmanship prior to that time, and I shall continue to serve as a member of the board of regents throughout the full six-year term to which I was appointed and confirmed last year.

"Perhaps it would be well for my critics among the faculty and students to accept the realities and get about the business for which they are supposed to be at the university."

Erwin said those voting against him "constitute substantially less than 20 per cent of the students at UT Austin."

"In view of the bitter and personal vendetta which the student newspaper has been carrying on against me daily for the past several months, I am surprised that they were able to persuade only 17 per cent of the students to cast a negative vote," Erwin said.

The Daily Texan, student newspaper, has urged editorially that students vote to ask Erwin to resign. In an editorial Thursday, the Texan said Erwin has refused to talk to its reporters because of the paper's campaign against him.

Erwin, a former state Democratic party chairman and former Democratic national committeeman, has been controversial ever since he was first appointed to the board in 1963. He came under attack most recently for personally directing the bulldozing of trees to make way for expansion of the football stadium, despite student protests.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You will benefit now by listening quietly to your own deep-seated intuitions. Also, get together with experts in their fields to find out how their background of experience can be helpful to you. It is possible they can bring you the answers for which you have been searching.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Backing those in personal life who mean a great deal to you is fine during the morning, and be sure to show true devotion. Plan the new week ahead in a most practical fashion. Be inspired to gain your aspirations.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Put new ideas across that will improve your character and help your development along new avenues of expression. Persons of different background to yours can be very helpful. Contact out-of-town who has always been helpful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Seek out those persons who can help you achieve better relations with family and business associates. Find the right way to show devotion to the one you love. Don't be influenced by outsiders.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Clear up those differing views with associates or competition for better understanding in the future. Have fun with congenials later in the day. Relax tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Fulfill promises meticulously today so they can then be forgotten. Your romantic life has some fine ideas. Go along with them for better relationships in the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Discuss with some partner some problem that has kept you from working together amicably and make the future much brighter. You can handle civic matters very wisely later. Many new doors of opportunity open for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Complete important work before you go out to that favorite recreation. You have promised co-workers that you would take care of certain tasks. Do so.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you plan early for the recreations that appeal to you, this can be a most delightful day and evening. Make is very cooperative concerning some new venture. Take advantage of this.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Have a happy exchange of ideas at home so there is more harmony and cooperation. Listen to what is actually being said instead of misinterpreting conversation. Be smart.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to schedule your time if you want to make all these contacts today. Dive into the civic and cultural as well. Many benefits can be yours.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may be at a loss to understand certain financial affairs properly, so get in touch with some expert for advice. Improving property brings fine results. Start building up your reserves.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Make a good impression on those who really like you and get more backing from them willingly. Do those things that improve your appearance, magnetism. A good day for expansion and getting your feet on the ground.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

A publisher's representative will be in Big Spring in February. He will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication by Carlton Press, Inc., well-known New York publishing firm. All subjects will be considered including fiction and non-fiction, poetry, drama, religion, philosophy, etc.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without cost or obligation), please write immediately describing your work and stating which part of the day (a.m. or p.m.) you would prefer for an appointment. You will promptly receive a confirmation for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to the representative (address below) for a free reading and evaluation. He will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress. Please address:

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Happy are those who have suffered persecution for the cause of goodness, for the kingdom of Heaven is theirs!" (Matthew 5:10, Phillips)

PRAYER: O Lord God, I do have faith but often it is not strong enough. I seek to increase my faith; help me to feel the security that comes through Thee. Grant me strength to live by faith no matter what experiences come my way. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

It Can Hurt Us

San Angelo, which is affected to a lesser degree than Big Spring by the recent cutbacks in service by Texas International Airways, is taking a critical view of the situation. While the Board of City Development in San Angelo was relatively calm, the San Angelo Standard Times saw in it a serious threat.

"TIA is in the midst of expansion," noted the S-T. "It recently was awarded routes to Los Angeles; it is upgrading equipment and purchasing new planes. In short TIA is attempting to transform itself into a major airline . . . not the second-level regional carrier it was when it first established routes." The paper continued to draw a parallel with other airlines which had provided similar service, got into the trunk line business and then abandoned the secondary service. We can attest to a similar history here.

Where the cutback in TIA service affects primarily evening flights to San Angelo, it has meant the cancellation of early morning eastbound service out of Big Spring. Now, if we want to make connections to other points in the nation, we are told to wait until the afternoon flights. We either go a day earlier, or get there a day later because of the capricious decision. It's not right; it's not fair; and it's definitely harmful to the city, now and especially in the future.

The Big Truck Battle

The American Automobile Association and the American Trucking Associations, Inc., have fought to a stalemate over allowing heavier and larger trucks on the interstate highway system. And the battle, now paused with HR 11870 in the House Public Works Committee, will be rejoined when the 91st Congress' second session convenes this month.

The federal freeze on truck sizes and weights came in 1956, with 8-foot width and 73,280 gross weight allowed with no length limit. Texas the same year hiked its truck load limit from 58,420 to 72,000 pounds. Some states still hold to lesser limits, while others allow larger ones under a "grandfather's clause" in the federal law.

The tendency is for the states to allow truck weights and sizes on all highways up to the federal limits for interstate highways, for competitive reasons. The pressure for that comes high on state legislatures.

The bill now pending in Congress would allow widths to increase from 8 to 8 1/2 feet, allow much heavier weights depending on axle distribution, and authorize a 70-foot length limit (average states' limit is now 55 feet). The Department of Transportation wants amendments for a three-year postponement for safety studies, a 65-foot length limit, extension of maximums to all federal-aid highways, and elimination of the "grandfather's clause" that lets oversized trucks operate in states that allowed behemoths before federal regulations.

The truckers argue that the bill would result in billions of dollars of operating economies that would be passed on to consumers, but the economics and the blessings to consumers is debatable. The AAA counters that the bigger trucks would be unsafe, further congest crowded highways, add to highway costs more than they pay in user taxation, and shift freight from railroads contrary to federal policy for a balanced national transportation system.

The general public, particularly the operators of some 90 million automobiles now on the highways, likely will oppose allowing heavier, bigger trucks.

Year Of Crisis In Vietnam

WASHINGTON — This is the critical year for America in Vietnam. 1970 will determine whether Vietnamization is a workable policy permitting a more rapid rate of disengagement with a government in Saigon that can maintain stability short of total and self-defeating repression.

The author of Vietnamization is Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, who has shown himself to be the shrewdest and most realistic member of the Nixon Cabinet. Out of his long political background in politics, his 16 years in Congress, Laird understands the fearful strain the war has imposed at every level of American life. The phased withdrawal — the pledged removal of 95,000 troops — is for the time being an answer.

BUT IT IS A satisfactory answer only so long as it seems to promise much more of the same. That is the real weakness of Vietnamization as a policy.

Doubts about the ability of the South Vietnamese army to take over the fighting within a foreseeable period of, say, two years cannot be ignored. With growing impatience here at home, the pace of Vietnamization may be accelerated far beyond the slow development of that ability. And the consequence can be a disaster that no outpouring of comfortable rhetoric can disguise.

THIS IS Sir Robert Thompson's warning in his book, "No Exit From Vietnam." The consequence will be a massacre of those Vietnamese counting on the continuing support of the United States. While it is idle to talk in numbers, Thompson, out of his firsthand knowledge of Vietnam and before that Malaysia, believes the slaughter would be of such a magnitude as to shock and anger opinion everywhere.

There is grisly precedent in recent history. When the French finally succeeded in extricating their forces from the long ordeal of the guerrillas war in Algeria, they left behind defenseless Arab allies who had believed in the repeated pledge that France would never abandon them. By rough guess, up to one million persons were slaughtered after the disengagement.

THEY WERE the incipient middle class with some training and education who had sheltered under the French wing. Part of this is told by a Yale graduate student, William G. Stott Jr., who put pieces of it together while with the United States Information Service in Morocco. In a searching article on the last phase of the Algerian tragedy Stott quotes a liberal French diplomat with firsthand knowledge:

"THE REBELS themselves couldn't do it (maintain order); they were too fragmented. So what did you have? You had bands of guerrillas, a few men in each, who knew nothing but destruction and who felt they had made — as was true — a great sacrifice for their country. But they came into a village or a town and what do they find? Men, Arabs, who haven't carried weapons, haven't risked their lives for freedom, and yet who own something more than just a rifle."

So they killed and they took. This is a parallel, Stott suggests, for Vietnam. The big landowners, the generals with bank accounts in Europe and safe hideouts in Asia, the rich merchants will have escaped the country.

THE VICTIMS will be the thousands upon thousands who have advanced a bit, thanks to the trickle-down effect of the billions in American aid. A bicycle, a motorcycle — these are the symbols of affluence and favor for which they will pay. They are the incipient middle class who could help to rebuild Vietnam. ### Generation Gap Gladness

NEW YORK (AP) — Isn't it about time that somebody came to the defense of the generation gap?

It is widely decried as one of today's greatest evils. Is it really?

The extent of the gap may be deplored, but the fact that a gap between the generations is both normal and needed can hardly be denied. It serves a healthy purpose: it keeps the generations from trying to sit forever in each other's laps.

Where there is no generation gap the young become the prisoner of the old, and the progress of the world is anchored to the fear of change characteristic among the elderly.

The generation gap enables—even forces—the young to grow up, to thumb their noses at the past and put a new imprint of their own upon time. It keeps a civilization from drying rot, common in countries where ancestor worship flourishes.

Of course, in this land the pendulum may have swung too far in the other direction. Ancestor worship may have given way to youth worship, and that has a danger and a penalty also. Neither the young nor the old deserve the status of idols.

While anyone over 40 may be annoyed by the impudence and disrespect of the young, he has reason to be glad there is a generation gap. It has an advantage for the middle-aged: it serves them as a protective moat and shield.

For example, if you're past the two-score mark — it isn't necessary to wear tight pants and long sideburns that make your cheeks look like a bunny rabbit's behind.

You get to read the sports pages of the newspaper first, because your children are more interested in checking the front page to see if any of their friends have been arrested in the latest sit-in.

You are not made uncomfortable by being put on a pedestal where you know you don't belong.

In the morning you can awake cheered by the knowledge it isn't your duty to start a new crusade by nightfall.

No matter how old and comfortable the clothes you wear, you feel they don't make you look as much like a bum as those worn by the younger set.

You don't have to worry about some wet-behind-the-ears whipper-snapper stealing your job from you, for he disdains the idea of living in such a commonplace rut.

Even if you share much of the idealism of youth, you aren't expected to help build barricades or man them. It is charitably realized that you are too old and tired to lift heavy stones or hurl them.

The kids can do without your advice, but they are still dependent upon the power of your pocketbook.

While they are galloping off to tilt at every windmill on life's horizon, you are free to lift your eyes and admire the beauty of arching sky and bending rainbow.

Do without the generation gap? How could you? It is the only thing that makes middle age feel safe.

Goals For The 1970s

NEW YORK (AP) — If the United States could plan ahead as well as it sees ahead a lot of problems could be avoided. They could have been warded off in the 1960s but they weren't; and the outlook for the 70s is the same.

In other words, the nation's leaders clearly foresee the changes that are developing in population, education, health and housing but are not always in a position to direct coordinated methods for dealing with them.

In housing, for example, the nation has recognized the need for 26 million units in the next 10 years.

Instead of heading toward that goal, however, it watches the situation grow critical. Old housing is being torn down but new housing is being erected at a rate that won't get the nation halfway to its goal.

The country has set high goals for health. But a study by the National Planning Assn. indicates that the nation's medical schools will fall far short of providing the manpower needed to accomplish these goals.

Back in the early 1960s it was quite obvious that the nation's large cities were becoming, simultaneously, the place for rich Americans to make their money and retreat to the suburbs and the home for poor rural immigrants.

While the problem was recognized, not enough was done about it until the damage had been done and now, says John Gardner, head of the Urban Coalition, "We get richer and richer in filthier communities until we reach a final state of affluent misery—Croesus on a garbage heap."

Disturbed that this nation seems without finely coordinated goals, and that when goals exist there is "practically no mechanism in government to methodically implement them," Thomas J. Watson, Jr. has come up with this suggestion:

"The national goals of this country should be set and restudied annually. They should be costed and readjusted on an integrated basis just as a larger industrial enterprise sets and controls its goals . . ."

"What we need is a completely new governmental body; perhaps a Senate-House citizen group, to sit permanently on this matter and report to the President." Watson is chairman of International Business Machine Corp.

"Congress would have to pass enabling legislation giving this commission substantial power if it's to do the job that's needed," said Watson, adding that American goals are now a "mixture of party platforms, state of the union messages and editorial nagging." They are not clearly defined, nor are they integrated.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a drug that can be taken by mouth to cure fungus on the finger? I am told that they cannot guarantee that it won't return when the new nail grows in.—R.G.

For some funguses, yes; for other no. Abide by your dermatologist's advice on that. But while removal of a nail cannot guarantee that the fungus won't return, this method is successful often enough to make it worthwhile.

Asks About Pancreas Transplant

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm 18 and have been a diabetic since I was 5. Right now I'm taking 98 units of insulin (Lente) a day.

There has been talk about a pancreas transplant. Is it possible? I would like if possible to try it myself. I don't have too much to lose, from what I can see.—R.W.E.

Attempts have been made to transplant a pancreas, so far probably less than a dozen times in this country, but none successful. After all, the matter of transplanting is in its infancy. Of the heart transplants, few have lasted more than a very short time.

I think it reasonable to suppose that more and more will be learned about organ transplants, but as of today they have to be regarded as experimental, at best adding some months of life.

I can agree that having diabetes at your age is no fun;

nevertheless, even these severe cases are being kept under control for many years. You have a lot to lose with a transplant—so pay attention to your diet and the other rules of controlling diabetes. As the years pass, much more may be learned about transplants of the pancreas. Doctors and surgical teams are working on it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How do the symptoms of trichomonas and monilia infections of the vagina differ? How does a doctor determine which is which? Do they both cause itching and discharge, often spreading to adjoining areas?—Mrs. H.A.P.

Both cause vaginal discharge and irritation, and the adjacent tissues sometimes are inflamed, too. Easiest method of differentiation is that trichomonas can be readily seen in microscopic examination, but not the other. Both can be cultured in

The Nitty-Gritty?

Nitty-gritty is an "in" word. Naturally in an "in" group, everyone tries to work it into the conversation second — right after "tell it like it is."

And yet, although I have asked many "in" people what it means, none of them really knows.

THE DICTIONARIES in our office don't define it. So I have done my own research.

Nitty means full of nits. A nit is the egg of a parasitic insect, especially of a louse, often attached to a hair or a fiber of clothing.

Gritty means consisting of, containing or resembling grit. Grit is defined as fine, abrasive particles, as those deposited in the form of dust from the air or occurring as impurities in food, water, etc.

So the phrase itself is not defined, but I do get the picture. I will say, however, I wouldn't want to live there.

"TO BE GROOVY is to be in a rut," my priceless cousin, Price Everett, Bridgeport, suggests. And, you might add: "going around in circles."

"The Making of the President 1968" and "The Selling of the President 1968" both are on the best-seller list.

From the dissent extant in the country, it's obvious some would like to throw him back.

AS A MATTER of fact, I wonder if it isn't the President's lot to be unpopular with large segments of the populace.

The only popular president I have known was Eisenhower, and his popularity was well established before he ever tried for the White House.

THE DOWN-AND-OUT writer finally landed an assignment for a small magazine by claiming he needed the money to pay for some new glasses.

It turned out he was talking about glasses of a popular intoxicating beverage, but it was just as well since he couldn't see most of the time anyway.

THE CHINESE Restaurant Syndrome — believed to be caused by monosodium glutamate in the food — consists of headaches, flushing, numbness and burning feeling at the back of the neck.

But an hour later you're hungry.

There's a new verb in use now. An AP story referred to the many people who "telegammed the President."

Come to think of it, it wouldn't sound right to say they "had wired the President."

NORTHWEST and Northeast Airlines are merging.

Northwest-Northeast Airline — doesn't that sound like the legal description of an oil lease.

Turning Our Back On Commitments

WASHINGTON — Are the pledges by the President and the Senate in ratifying the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty and the North Atlantic treaty going to be withdrawn? The peoples of Asia and Europe who rely on this country to help them are getting nervous as they perceive a return to "isolationism" in Congress.

THE LATEST development which will arouse concern all over the free world is the proposal made by Senator Mike Mansfield, Democratic leader, that the Senate start the new year by taking away from the President the broad military powers which he can exercise by reason of resolutions previously passed by Congress.

The Montana senator mentions specifically the Formosa resolution enacted to help protect Nationalist China from invasion, and the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which was the basis for the enlarged military movement in Vietnam.

Mr. Mansfield gives a wishful interpretation of the "Nixon Doctrine" as meaning that the only way the United States "would ever become involved again would be when our own security was at stake and a nuclear showdown appeared to be in the offing."

THE MONTANA senator apparently wants to repudiate the resolutions themselves and the provisions of the treaties which give the President power to act whenever the collective defense treaties are violated.

The Gulf of Tonkin resolution, passed overwhelmingly by Congress in August, 1964, says:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression.

"SEC. 2. The United States regards as vital to its national interest and to world peace the maintenance of international peace and security in Southeast Asia. Consonant with the Constitution of the United States and the charter of the United Nations and in accordance with its obligations under the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty, the United States is, therefore, prepared, as the President determines, to take all necessary steps, including the use of armed force, to assist any member or protocol state of the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty requesting assistance in defense of its freedom."

JUST WHY any senator should assume that the American people would approve the repudiation of the defense treaties is hard to understand, particularly since the chances of a third world war would be substantially increased.

The proposals of Senator Mansfield, made on a radio and television program, drew no word of disapproval from Senator Hugh Scott, the Republican leader, who was on the same panel. Mr. Mansfield declared, incidentally, that, as he understands the "Nixon Doctrine," America will not become involved on the Asian mainland "on a combat basis any more" and that to our friends we would give only "logistical and economic support."

THE FOREIGN POLICY of the United States is thus being placed in jeopardy by the "isolationists," inside and outside Congress, in their attempt to nullify promises hitherto made by Congress and the President. Senator Mansfield says he believes President Nixon would be in favor of "another re-evaluation, re-assessment, of these resolutions and powers, and if needed, continue them, and if not, to do away with them."

The moment a President of the United States is compelled to announce that our government wishes to back away from commitments made in the Southeast Asia defense treaty and the North Atlantic treaty, the uncertainties which may be created could bring on crisis after crisis, including our own, into another world war.

Public Wants Anti-Crime Laws

WASHINGTON — Since the canons of big-time politics are seldom compared with the Golden Rule, or even the code of Las Vegas, it is not surprising that the Democratic high command has decided our unsafe streets are the result of what it now describes as "Mr. Nixon's Crime Wave."

This will be one of the battlefronts on which the Democrats will fight the 1970 Congressional elections campaign. Or, as National Chairman Sen. Fred Harris of Arkansas puts it, the Dems will "hold Republicans responsible for the President's ineffectual handling" of the crime problem.

WELL, ALL'S FAIR in war and politics, so the Democratic strategy was predictable. Crime, along with inflation and the Vietnam War, is one of the three major issues. For their part, however, the Democrats presumably will be reminded that the crime wave was inherited by Nixon from his Democratic predecessors, John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

To be sure, crime was up practically everywhere in Nixon's first year in the White House, but the momentum had been building up during a decade of permissive Democratic rule.

FOR EXAMPLE, the fact that Washington had a record number of 7,071 armed robberies in 1969, compared to 4,640 in 1968, is not an overnight incident. The situation has long been out of hand here in Hell City. With no significant new anti-crime legislation on the books, the criminal element can be expected to go on to greater heights in 1970.

A fact known to everybody is that not a single one of Nixon's crime-control bills was enacted by Congress in 1969. The campaign argument will revolve around which party was at fault.

SO THERE will be plenty of partisan oratory as Congress attacks the small mountain of crime legislation. But with unsafe streets such a strident issue, the citizenry at long last may emerge the winner. When both parties agree that something must be done, and quibble only about the label to be attached to that something, even this lazy Congress can be expected to stir off its larded collective hams.

IT HAD BETTER DO just that if some of its time-serving members seeking re-election hope to be returned to the luxurious sloth of office at $42,500 a year. No joke is intended when critics depose that Saigon is safer than most big American cities.

Thus, anti-crime legislation is a must in 1970 if the advance toward civil war in the streets is to be arrested. We need laws to control the sale, possession and accumulation of weapons, and for the preventive pretrial detention of thugs who are an acknowledged menace to society. Some legislative device must be found to permit holding witnesses in protective custody.

POLITICAL STRATEGY to the contrary notwithstanding, the plain citizen doesn't give a hoot which party gets credit for ending — or at least curbing — national anarchy. He simply desires the privilege of stepping out his front door without being mugged or murdered. In all the jockeying for position, our legislative lords had best keep this firmly in mind.

Joe B. Hoards Will Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Hoard will be honored with an open house Sunday in the Forsan School cafeteria from 2 to 4 p.m. on the occasion of their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Hostesses will be Mrs. John Kubecka, Mrs. John Cardwell, Mrs. Carl Tippie, Mrs. C. V. Wash, Mrs. Jesse Overton, Mrs. Joe Evans, Mrs. L. T. Shoultz, Mrs. Jesse Skeen, Mrs. Lois OBarr Smith, Mrs. Don Murphy and Mrs. Amy Reid.

Mr. Hoard, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Hoard, was born Dec. 21, 1898, in White-wright. The family moved to Sherman where he attended public school, later going to Austin College. He joined the Marines in 1918, and when he returned from service, was employed by the A. G. McAdams Lumber Company in Lubbock.

Mrs. Hoard, the former Della Speed, was born in Denison on April 20, 1897, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W.

B. Speed. She attended college in Huntsville at what was then known as Sam Houston Normal Institute. After teaching in Freeport schools for three years, she moved to Lubbock where she met her future husband. The couple was married Jan. 10, 1920, in the Baptist parsonage by the Rev. W. A. Bowen. The bride's roommate, Miss Reddie Nichols served as her attendant.

The Hoards lived in Sherman and Dallas before moving to Howard County in 1929. They came to Big Spring where he was employed by Texas Electric Service Company, and made their home at the TESCO Chalk sub-station from 1930 to 1942 when he joined Continental Oil Company. He retired Jan. 1, 1964.

The couple has four children: Mrs. E. E. (Emma) Woodson, Gadsden, Ala.; Joe B. Hoard Jr., Upton, Wyo.; William R. Hoard, Jennings, Kan.; and Mrs. S. W. (Lavonne) Woods of Albuquerque, N.M.

Hoard, a Mason, is a member of Knights Templar and past patron of the Laura B. Hart Chapter No. 1019, Order of Eastern Star, of which Mrs. Hoard is also a member. She holds membership in the Social Order of Beauceants and the Forsan Study Club.

For the open house, Mrs. Hoard will wear a dress with gold metallic pattern. The dress has sentimental value to Mrs. Hoard because she wore it to the Democratic Victory Dinner on Jan. 10, 1967, in Austin. Her corsage will be of gold roses, and Mr. Hoard will be presented a gold boutonniere.

Bride-Elect Honored

Miss Janice Chapman, bride-elect of Johnney E. Witcher, was complimented with a gift party Thursday in the home of Mrs. Cecil Richardson, Silver Heels. Cohostesses were Mrs. Ira Dement, Mrs. M. A. Dunagan, Mrs. Henry West, Mrs. Clyde Denton, Mrs. Earnest Hughes, Mrs. Joe Wasson, Mrs. Delbert Harland, Mrs. Stanley Harris, Mrs. Earl Freeman and Mrs. W. C. Killough.

The bride-elect was attired in a long-sleeved rose pink shift and was presented with a rose and chrysanthemum corsage. Assisting the honoree in greeting guests were her mother, Mrs. Jeff Chapman, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. J. E. Witcher.

The refreshment table was laid with a white cloth trimmed in lace and centered with an arrangement of red roses. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting. The couple will marry Saturday evening in Hwy. 80 Church of Christ, with W. P. Dennis, minister, officiating.

Couple To Marry In Baptist Rites

The Rev. and Mrs. Coy R. Burt, 2500 Ann, are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Brenda Kay, to Tommy Joe Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Patterson, Sand Springs. The wedding will be solemnized Jan. 31 in Hillcrest Baptist Church, with the father of the bride officiating.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Our carpeting is high-styled shag and we are not too happy about the change in its original appearance. I can only tell you that it appears matted and overly fuzzy in some areas. What can you tell me? ... Lottie Leavitt

Dear Lottie,

Shag carpeting has been made popular by designers and decorators. It is now somewhat the rage of homemakers. The construction of this shaggy type of carpet is quite different from what we are used to, so we must be prepared for it to give us some new problems.

Due to the length of the yarns and the wider spaces between their bases, the pile yarns do not stand erect. In no way can they support one another, but this was the intention of the manufacturer — to give the carpet or rug the popular shaggy look.

One problem is, the more you walk on this kind of carpeting, the more the yarns will be crushed, causing definite "traffic-patterns"; the long yarns become entangled with one another and make it very difficult to remove small pieces of litter such as string, pins and bits of paper.

This form of soil is hard to remove, and usually has to be removed by hand.

Because of the nature of the shaggy yarns, they might untwist, become enlarged, or will "bloom" at the ends through ordinary use; these factors cause the carpeting to wear faster.

Professional carpet cleaners themselves will have more difficulty in cleaning our shaggy rugs, but their specialized equipment makes it easier and safer to maintain their beauty. Remember, you selected this type of carpeting for its unusual look — therefore, you must give it unusually good care and expect to have a few problems with it. ... Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Have you ever noticed how much you can get done when you get mad at your husband, kids, or one of your in-laws? ... W.G.

Dear Heloise: I always had trouble with my drop cookies spreading until I learned this little trick.

After spooning the chilled dough onto a cookie sheet, I place the filled cookie sheet into the refrigerator for an additional five to 10 minutes before baking.

This allows the first of the spooned cookies, which warm and soften slightly in the time it takes to fill the rest of the sheet, to rechill.

Result: Nice, uniformly shaped cookies you can be proud of. ... Mrs. J. Phillips

January Favorites Named By Group

Sheree Buntyn and Earl Rasmussen were elected January "girl and boy of the month" at Monday's meeting of the Ambassadors of Christ of Hillcrest Baptist Church. The group met in the Buntyn home at 2005 Morrison, with Mrs. Willard Hendrick as sponsor. Plans were made for a sweetheart banquet in February. The next meeting will be Feb. 2 in the home of Mary Ellen Hedges.

Parish Workers Hear Book Review Thursday

Mrs. Ray Cantrell reviewed the book, "My Flickering Torch," by E. Jane Mall at Thursday's meeting of St. Paul Lutheran Parish Workers in the home of Mrs. Frank Long, 1200 Wood.

The book was the story of a chaplain and his wife who adopted five children. One child was mentally retarded, and another had an emotional problem. After the death of her husband, the author said the only thing that kept her from a mental breakdown was reading the Bible, and her "flickering torch" of faith. She rallied with a renewed and closer faith in God and was able to rear her children alone.

Mrs. Gail Lutinen was welcomed as a new member and Rev. William Roth, pastor, was a guest. Mrs. Eugene Selby was named welfare chairman.

A Valentine salad supper was slated at 8:30 p.m., Feb. 12, in the parish hall, when secret prayer pals will be revealed. Mrs. Loy Anderson is in charge of the event.

The group will serve coffee and cookies following the Lenten service next month, with Mrs. Selby and Mrs. Ralph Hadley as chairmen.

Mrs. R. G. Sinder will be in charge of the baby sitting services to be provided by the group during the pastor's information class. Members adopted a new welfare project of making layettes for Lutheran World Relief.

The Parish Workers will be hostesses for the spring rally of Lutheran Women's Missionary League on April 5. Mrs. Leroy Budke will be in charge of arrangements.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ronald Wasson and Mrs. Bob Roever.

Mrs. Leon Rankin Is TOPS Queen

The TOPS Plate Pushers recorded a total weight loss of 283 pounds during 1969, it was announced at Thursday's meeting in the First Federal Community Room.

Mrs. Leon Rankin was named December queen, and Mrs. L. D. Shortes received a trophy for maintaining a KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly) status for the past year.

Mrs. K. C. Webb presided, and Mrs. W. C. McCutchan led the pledge. Secret pal and telephone buddy names were exchanged. The next meeting will be Jan. 15 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Westbrook Families Entertain Visitors

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. J. F. Wigner spoke on "The Light Of the New Year With Hope," when members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the United Methodist Church met Monday in the home of Mrs. L. E. Gressett.

Mr. and Mrs. Quann Bryant of Westbrook and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bryant of Odessa have returned from a 10-day fishing trip to the Texas Coast.

Mrs. C. J. Miller of Abilene, a longtime resident of Westbrook and mother of Leroy Miller, is seriously ill in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

Weekend guests of the W. E. Smiths were the Dick Millers of Kermit, who also visited his mother, Mrs. C. J. Miller in Abilene.

The Rev. Frank Hodnett and family have returned from a visit in Carlsbad, N.M.

The D. A. Oglesbys were weekend guests of the Ronnie McGowans in Hobbs, N.M.

Mrs. Gordon Coe of Sweetwater was a holiday guest of her daughter, Mrs. George Sweatt and family.

E. J. Johnny Hines has returned to Fort Bliss, El Paso, after spending the holidays with his parents, the Pete Hines.

Mrs. Eunice Whitehead and Tommy accompanied Mrs. Joe Stephenson and family of Ballinger to Liberal, Kan., for a holiday visit with the Bob Durhams.

R. C. Hardin, son-in-law of the Bill Hutchins is a patient in the Levelland Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins were

South Boasts Top Coterie Of Quints

College basketball is alive and well in the South. Oh, boy, is it ever.

Six of the nation's top ten teams are from that region—and Thursday night, Davidson upheld the tradition of the South by embarrassing Virginia Military Institute 95-52.

Davidson is just one of a basketful of southern teams having outstanding seasons. The others include Kentucky, South Carolina and North Carolina, ranked Nos. 2, 3 and 4 respectively, seventh-ranked Jacksonville and 10th-ranked North Carolina State.

The Davidson-VMI contest topped a relatively light card Thursday night. Elsewhere, Navy smashed Gettysburg 76-56; Furman thumped Wofford 109-86; Georgetown defeated George Washington 100-81; Drake got by Wichita State 98-85; St. Louis defeated St. Peter's 94-83 and Bradley socked North Texas State 91-86.

Also Utah beat Arizona State 93-92; Wyoming topped New Mexico 92-74 and Texas-El Paso tripped Colorado State 77-64.

Davidson's triumph was its 51st consecutive homecourt success. The last team to beat the Wildcats at home was VMI.

Bryan Adrian led Davidson's balanced scoring attack with 18 points and Lee Seibert had 15 points for the losers.

Jack Conrad scored 24 points for Navy as the Midshipmen snapped a nine-game losing string. Contributing to the Midshipmen's success was a 44.8 shooting percentage from the field.

Don Weber fired in 25 points to lead Georgetown over George Washington. The Hoyas pulled away from a 49-49 halftime tie as Charlie Adrian pumped in 10 and Weber hit for 9.

Drake held off a late second-half rally by Wichita State and beat the Shockers, despite a 35-point performance by Greg Carney. The 5-foot-9 Shocker stand-out hit for 23 points in the second half as Wichita State closed an 18-point Drake halftime lead to 89-81 with 2:35 remaining.

Jim Irving and Joe Wiley scored 29 and 24 points respectively to pace the St. Louis victory and Rich Schultz poured in 23 as Bradley overcame a 32-point effort by Joe Hamilton to down North Texas State.

Runnels Wins By 41-33 Tab

Big Spring Runnels bowled over Colorado City, 41-33, in an eighth grade basketball game here Thursday.

The win was the fourth in 10 starts for the Yearlings, who return to play in Andrews Monday.

Everisto Pineda led the Runnels team in scoring with 19 points. Randy Marshall, who stands 6-0, hit for 17 points and came down with 16 rebounds, tops for the season on the club.

Paterno: Penn State Faced Tougher 11's

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Here in the Nittany Mountains on the sprawling campus of Penn State University the argument will never die. Penn State is the No. 1 college football team of 1969, not Texas.

The final Associated Press top 10 poll made Texas No. 1 and Penn State No. 2. Penn State people can read, but they don't believe the final judgment of the experts.

They can't understand how a team which has won 22 straight games and hasn't been defeated in its last 30 games could rank No. 2 to anyone.

Both of these streaks are the longest current such marks in major college football. The 30 game defeatless record is the longest since Oklahoma's 48 in 1953 through 1957. Only a 17-17 tie against Florida State in the Jan. 1, 1967, Gator Bowl mars Penn State's football record over the last three years.

UNBEATEN SINCE '67 The last time the Nittany Lions lost was in the third game of the 1967 season, 17-15 to UCLA. Coach Joe Paterno says his team has met every challenge and if it isn't No. 1, he doesn't know who is better.

Paterno says Penn State played a tougher schedule than Texas. The Lions beat Colorado, Kansas State and Missouri, all of the Big Eight, one of the toughest conferences in the nation. They routed West Virginia, the only defeat for the Mountaineers who wound up a winner over South Carolina in the Peach Bowl. Colorado went to the Liberty Bowl and whipped Alabama.

Who did Texas beat? ask Penn State backers. The Longhorns struggled to take Arkansas and was tied by Southsas and Notre Dame, the only ern California. Arkansas bowed two real powers on their sched- in the Sugar Bowl to Mississippule. Texas defeated Oklahoma, pl, a three-game loser.

come to the Cotton Bowl and have it out with the Longhorns.
The answer is simple and logical.

NOT WORTH IT
When State voted on a bowl game, Ohio State was No. 1, with only Michigan remaining on its schedule. It appeared that nothing short of the Minnesota Vikings could beat Ohio State, so the Lions decided it wasn't worth going to Dallas to fight for No. 2. They chose the sunny climate of Florida.

State didn't select a patsy in facing Missouri in the Orange Bowl. The Tigers were 9-1 and co-champions of the Big Eight. Missouri had one of the best offenses in the nation. It had crushed Michigan, which was in the Rose Bowl by virtue of its stunning win over Ohio State.

Penn State beat Missouri 10-3, with one of the most awesome defensive performances of this, or perhaps any other year. They intercepted seven passes and recovered two fumbles. They smothered Missouri's 36 point a game offense, stopping the nation's third best runner, Joe Moore, sending quarterback Terry McMillan to the sidelines in tears, and blanking Mel Gray, one of the game's top passers.

Some of his show business friends are planning to raise money for his family with TV specials.

Bob Bright and his son, Bruce, of Big Spring were on hand in Oklahoma City recently when Niagara swept to the All-College Basketball tournament championship.

One Niagara player in particular caught Bob's eye. That would be 5-16 Calvin Murphy, this generation's Marquese Haynes at handling the ball and a young man with a tremendous scoring touch.

Five professional teams have already made overtures to Murphy, according to Bright. He'd probably be the most talked-about collegiate cager in America were it not for LSU's Pete Maravich. Maravich will lead the country in scoring but Murphy will finish right behind him.

It didn't take long for the ex-Stanton mentor, Doyle Edmiston, to improve the fortunes of the Lubbock High School basketball team.

The 1968-69 club won only two of 30 starts. Under Doyle this year, the Westerners prevailed in four of their first six outings.

San Francisco's John Brodie earned more in a recent football-throwing contest staged in Denver than pro footballers used to make in a whole season.

For beating Houston's Pete Beathard, Brodie earned $5,000. For finishing as runnerup in the competition, the promoters stuffed Beathard's pockets with three grand.

John Hadl of San Diego and Earl Morrall of Baltimore raked in $1,000 each for furnishing some early competition to the finalists.

Athletic directors in District 3-AAAA have learned it is impossible to book the perennial Central Texas powerhouse, Austin Reagan, in a non-conference football game.

Coach Travis Raven of the Austin school doesn't want his teams pointing for the early games and Reagan couldn't match thunderbolts with most 3-AAAA teams without a lot of preparation.

Toward the end of the 1969 NFL season, QB Randy Johnson of Atlanta (who played his college ball at Texas A & I) said:

"We're going to the Super Bowl some day."
After the Falcons knocked off Minnesota in their final game, some observers are inclined to think that will happen sooner than later.

In the 1969 Atlanta Golf Classic, Master champion George Archer failed to make the 36-hole cutoff when he skied to a 151.

That was the second straight year such a thing occurred. In 1968, Bob Goalby — who had qualified for the green coat at Augusta — failed to survive at Atlanta.

Notre Dame's All-American lineman, Mike McCoy, made one thing clear when he was in Dallas for the Cotton Bowl game. He said he didn't want to cast his lot with the Chicago Bears. He would go with any other team in pro ball rather than sign on with George Halas' team.

Pittsburgh, of course, gets a shot at McCoy in the draft and Mike says he'd dearly love to be piped aboard by the Steelers.

McCoy isn't personally miffed at the Bears. He just doesn't care for Chicago's 'big city atmosphere.'

He's 274 and 6-5. Maybe he's like the gorilla who can sleep anywhere he likes.

Coahoma Girls Triumph In Jayton Tournament

JAYTON — The Coahoma back on the floor at 5:15 p.m. girls trounced Matador, 31-27, this evening against Roaring in the opening round of the Jay-Springs.

Ann Stout led the way with 15 points. Brenda Wason counted the same number for Matador.

Coahoma returns to play at 7:45 o'clock this evening against Jayton.

In the boys' bracket, Matador defeated the Coahoma B team, 67-37. Troy Kirby banged in 12 points for the Bullsups in that one.

Steers Still Undeclared

Goliad's Longhorns remain undefeated after six Seventh Grade league basketball starts following a 26-19 victory achieved over the Goliad Eagles here Thursday.

The Eagles, who enjoyed a fine last period but who had too far to go at that point, are now 3-3 in the standings.

Billy Don Whittington counted eight points and Ricky Crittenden six for the Longhorns while Barry Canning, although he did not score, was tremendous on defense in helping with the win.

For the Eagles, Terry Tredaway settled for six points. In other league action, the Runnels Packers won their first contest in six assignments by pugging the Runnels Cowboys, 16-13. The Cowboys are 2-4.

Johnny Majors and Sammy Henry each tallied four points for the Packers.

SENIOR STARTER FOR STEERS
6-2 Bruce Hutto

Steers, Odessa Fight To Flee 3-4A Cellar

Big Spring and Odessa High clash at 8 o'clock here tonight, each visting with the opportunity of departing the District 3-AAAA cellar.

Big Spring is 0-3 against league teams. Odessa is 0-4. While the Steers were losing a ten-point decision to Abilene Cooper earlier this week, Odessa was surrendering to Odessa Ector, 59-56.

The Steers started very slowly against Cooper but played fine ball after the intermission and almost caught the Cougars, who were playing at home.

Odessa got off to a bad start against Ector but the Bronchos used a semi-press to rattle the Eagles and almost caught them.

Odessa played the game without 6-4 Rick Moon, its No. 2 scorer, who had been dropped from the squad for disciplinary reasons. Whether or not he'll play tonight is not known.

The Bronchos will be led by 6-3 Mark Green, who gave the Steers fits in football as a quarterback. Dennis Graham,
Larry Thornhill and Buddy
Reynolds are other standouts for the Red Hosses.

Odessa brings an 8-12 record here. Those who have seen the Cayuses play say they're much better than their record would indicate.

Big Spring has shown much improvement in recent games.
The Steers played a tremendous game against Plainview

recently, although they lost, 39-35. Plainview later turned around and conked Amarillo
High, a club that scored 105 points against the Steers.

Lack of rebounding strength has hurt the Longhorns. They don't have anyone on the club taller than 6-2 and that hurts them. The boys aren't timid about competing for the caroms, however.

Quite likely, coach Kirby Pugh will start a lineup composed of Robert Evans, Gary Hinds, David Carter, Bruce
Hutto and either Randy
Womack or Mike Randle.

Over-all, the Steers are 6-12.
Junior varsity units of the two schools square away at 6:15 p.m.

Toros, Brahmas
Tourney Entries

Two Big Spring ninth grade teams, the Toros and the Brah-mas, are entered in the Abilene
Junior High Basketball tournament starting today.

The Toros play Abilene Jefferson at 3:45 p.m. The Brah-mas square off with Abilene
Madison at 5:15 p.m.

In other first round contests,
Abilene Mann tries Brownwood at 7 p.m., and Abilene Lincoln opposes Abilene Franklin at 8:15 p.m.

RIP ELDERADO

SAN ANGELO — Stanton's
girls outlasted Eldorado, 50-45, in the first round of the Lake View Maiden Girls' Basketball tournament here Thursday.

Sandy Chandler played a big role in the win, scoring 26 points. Kathleen O'Hara matched that for Eldorado.

Stanton doesn't return to play until noon Saturday, when it squares off with Rocksprings.
Rocksprings was a first round winner over Wall, 61-22. In other first round games, Lake View decided Miles, 52-16;
Christoval turned back Lake
View B, 41-20; and Iraan trounced Mertzon, 66-29.

Two Sought In Slaying Of Contractor, His Son

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two men, both believed wounded, are sought in the slaying of a contractor and his son during an apparent robbery attempt. Killed Thursday night were James William Lindsay, 47, and his son, James Richard Lindsay, 19. The son and his wife lived in a new mobile home at the rear of the father's house in Martin City on Kansas City's south side. Police said one gunman apparently stayed outside while the other entered the mobile home. Young Lindsay jumped the intruder, fought with him, but was shot in the head before he could fire a .410 shotgun found beside his body.

Crash Claims Two Motorists

ROMA, Tex. (AP) — A collision in the rain eight miles west of here in South Texas killed two motorists and injured three others Thursday night. State police said all those involved apparently were Mexican nationals. They identified the dead as Augustin Jimenez of Nuevo Ciudad Guerrero, Mexico, and David Pena, address undetermined. Officers said the Jimenez family was riding in one car and the other carried Garcia and Pena. The accident happened on U.S. 83.

The father and another son, 15-year-old Gerrold Lindsay, dashed out of the house and the elder Lindsay was shot down in the yard. The boy ran back into the house, got a 20-gauge shotgun and fired three shots at the two men as they fled across the yard. Shortly afterward, two men knocked on the door of the Anderson home across the street. They asked for help in getting to a hospital, saying they had been in an accident. At least one was bleeding. Hansen started to the hospital with them, but he told police the two men soon forced him out of the car and drove away in it.

Schoolmen Attend Meet

Several Big Spring school administrators have been in Austin since Wednesday attending the mid-winter conference of the Texas Education Agency, the annual School Administrators Advisory Conference on Education.

Attending from here are Supt. S. M. Anderson; assistant Supt. Lynn Hise; Keith Swim, director of federal programs; Noel Reed, director of special services and Don Crockett and Don Green from the business office. They plan to return to Big Spring this evening.

The general session began Thursday at the Terrace Motor Hotel, to focus on vocational-technical education. A symposium on that subject included E. D. Redding, Houston, chairman of the Advisory Council on Technical-Vocational Education in Texas, Representative George Hinson of Mineola, chairman of the Texas House Standing Committee on Education, Senator Chet Brooks of Pasadena, chairman of the Vocational Technical Education Study Committee in the Legislature, and Dana Williams, Corpus Christi superintendent. Moderator for the symposium was John Guemple, associate commissioner for occupational education and technology at the agency.

Sixteen work groups were scheduled for a series of three sessions each Thursday and today. Leadership for the meetings is drawn from throughout Texas.

MORMON CHURCH Policy Of Excluding Negroes Reaffirmed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Mormon Church has reaffirmed its policy of excluding Negroes from the priesthood while backing their civil rights.

A private letter from the church's first presidency in Salt Lake City to its top officials became public in San Francisco Thursday.

The letter came after an announcement last year by President Kenneth Pitzer of nearby Stanford University that because of the priesthood policy his school was severing athletic relations with Mormon-owned Brigham Young University. In part, the church letter dated Dec. 15 said:

"We believe the Negro, as well as those of other races, should have his full constitutional privileges as a member of society and we hope that members of the church everywhere will do their part as citizens to see that these rights are held inviolate . . .

"Each citizen must have equal opportunities and protection under the law with reference to civil rights. However, matters of faith, conscience and theology are not within the purview of civil law . . .

"Were we the leaders of an enterprise created by ourselves and operated only according to our own earthly wisdom, it would be a simple thing to act according to popular will, but we believe this work is directed by God and that the conferring of the priesthood must await His revelation . . .

"Some time at God's eternal plan the Negro will be given the right to hold the priesthood."

Sex Crime Angle Enters Alleged Massacre Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — With four soldiers now charged, Army sources say they may take another three months to complete investigations of 22 other men suspected of involvement in the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

Formal charges of premeditated murder were filed Thursday against Sgt. Charles E. Hutto, 21, of Tallulah, La., and Pvt. Gerald A. Smith, 22, of Chicago. Hutto also was accused of assault with intent to commit murder.

A sex crime angle entered the case for the first time as Hutto also was charged with rape and Smith with "indecent assault on a Vietnamese female."

Since there will be a sort of grand jury investigation before it is decided whether to court-martial the two young soldiers, the Army refused to provide any details.

But Army sources said "a small number" of alleged slayings figured in both cases.

Court-martial trials are pending for 1st Lt. William L. Calley, Jr., 26, of Waynesville, N.C., accused of the premeditated murder of 109 civilians at My Lai, and Staff Sgt. David Mitchell, 29, Saint Francisville, La., charged with assault with intent to murder 30 noncombatants.

Both Hutto and Smith were due to be discharged from the Army next Tuesday, completing three-year hitch. However, their releases have been held up, and there are indications the charges may have been filed at this time to have them on record before their enlistments end.

Pentagon authorities said there is no way to tell when additional charges may be entered against other former members

CHARGED WITH PREMEDITATED MURDER — Sgt. Charles E. Hutto, 21, left, of Tallulah, La., and Pvt. Gerald Smith, 22, right, of Chicago, were charged with premeditated murder by the Army Thursday. The charges stem from the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, South Vietnam, March 16, 1968. Four soldiers have now been charged with crimes relating to the My Lai incident.

A few hours after the announcement of charges against Hutto and Smith, the leaders of a special Army investigating board returned from nearly two weeks in South Vietnam where they visited My Lai and interviewed dozens of South Vietnamese and Americans.

This panel is trying to determine whether the failure of a field level investigation shortly after the alleged massacre was incompetent or a deliberate cover-up.

The authorities appear confident charges will be filed against most of the 26 soldiers and former soldiers under investigation.

Eleven of the 26—including Calley, Mitchell, Hutto, and Smith—still are in service. The other 15 have returned to civilian life.

School Board Meets Monday, Full Agenda

The Big Spring Independent School Board of Trustees will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the portable classroom building behind the school administration offices on Eleventh Place. The meeting is being changed from its regularly scheduled Tuesday time to allow board members to attend the Junior Chamber of Commerce Banquet set for Tuesday.

Bids received on two 60-passenger-buses will be discussed at Monday's meeting, and in addition to routine business, the following items are included on the agenda:

Action to confirm employment of Earl O. Dean, tax appraiser, and execution of a joint contract with him;

Review of contract with Brown and Hamby, attorneys for the collection of delinquent taxes;

Approval of incorporation of pilot vocational, academic laundry program budget into regular budget;

Action on proposition of Datamate to provide a second computer for the high school computer class;

A study of the school calendar for 1970-71;

Review of administrative personnel contracts.

Taps Midlander For Safety Post

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has reappointed William Blakemore II of Midland to the Texas Public Safety Commission for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1975.

"With a commission as important as the Public Safety Commission it would not be proper for the state of Texas to lose the valuable experience which Mr. Blakemore has gained during the last 12 months," Smith said.

Blakemore, a native of Tennessee, attended Georgia Military Academy and Emory University. He served in the Air Force during World War II and also briefly during the Korean war. He is chairman of the board of Windecker Research, Inc., director of the Museum of the Southwest and director of the First National Bank, all of Midland.

South had to give a nimble performance to maintain control of the proceedings in today's four spade contract. The slightest slip would have resulted in a setback.

West opened the queen of clubs and the king was played from dummy. It appeared that a successful finesse in either major suit would enable declarer to score up 10 tricks in routine fashion.

South was reluctant to take a first round finesse in spades for fear that if it lost, a diamond shift would dislodge his ace and thereby place the fate of the contract entirely on the favorable location of the king of hearts.

A spade was led to the king at trick two and the queen of hearts was put thru. East was in with the king and he shifted to the jack of diamonds. South ducked the first round but played the ace on the continuation as West followed with the queen.

With the diamond situation now exposed, declarer decided to forgo the spade finesse altogether. He cashed the ace of trumps and when the queen did not appear, he began running the hearts in order to take some immediate discards.

On the third round of hearts, South parted with a diamond and West ruffed in with the queen of spades. Fortunately for the declarer, West was out of diamonds and when he put North back in with the ace of clubs, declarer was able to discard his remaining diamond on a high heart.

South's losses on the deal consisted of one trick each in spades, hearts, and diamonds. He would have been defeated had he taken a finesse in spades. Defeat would have resulted also, if he did not duck one round of diamonds after East shifted to that suit.

Monkeys Don't Have U.S. Rights

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A federal judge ruled monkeys don't have constitutional rights as he dismissed the suit of six prisoners who sought to join the National Aeronautics and Space Administration from sending any more monkeys into space.

Judge Algernon Butler of U.S. District Court said the suit was "wholly without merit and entirely frivolous."

The convicts said they could understand how a monkey feels being confined to a spacecraft. They also said that Bonny, the NASA monkey which became sick on a space trip and later died, had been subjected to "cruel and unusual punishment."

Judge Butler said the suit was "an attempt at abuse of process. We are not aware of any court, state or federal, that has included monkeys in the category of homo sapiens whose rights are guaranteed by the Constitution and Bill of Rights."

Color TV Sets, Welfare Hassle

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Three Forsyth County residents have challenged the authority of the North Carolina Department of Social Services to cancel welfare payments for owners of color television sets.

The plaintiffs said in a suit in federal court that they received letters from the Forsyth Department of Social Services informing them that their old age assistance payments had been canceled because they owned color sets.

HEY, MAN, LISTEN TO IT SWING

The Church Is Punching A New Groove

Editor's Note: In the beginning, there were the hymns, the congregational choruses, the staid singing of the choir. But now many churches are moving with the times. The spirit is moving to change to the more secular pop, rock and funk — in an effort to bridge the generation gap. The church is beginning to groove, man.

By MARY SCHURZ Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The liturgy was more rock than rock of ages. "Let's get the beat going now," urged the man in the front of the dimly lit chapel. He bent over his saxophone and issued a series of deep staccato notes.

"This is something of a rock hymn. We'll need your help. Let's hear you clap." The figure, straddling steps near the altar, sank and rose. Bleating and blowing the sax wailed. It was joined by a nearby grand piano. Together they formed a backdrop for the voices of the congregation.

Haltingly, the 100 or so who had gathered for the noon hour service tried to match their voices to the beat and the unfamiliar words on the mimeographed sheets, which began: "Give credit for what is hip for the times..."

It was as different to them as the lights, which melted like stained glass from reds into cobalt, on the sandy brick walls behind the altar. Over windowless walls, the projected lights and colors traced patterns on the ceilings and walls of the chapel, opening up the room to unexpected shapes and dimensions.

At this service at the Inter-church Center, next door to Manhattan's Riverside Church, there were no choir robes, no choir. Just a chorus of the long-haired and the clean-shaven. Hissing, tongue clicking, ah-ing, shrieking. They slapped their thighs, stomped their feet and snapped their fingers. Behind them, a girl danced.

Baptists Counted Surplus In Funds

DALLAS — The Baptist General Convention of Texas closed its books for 1969 with a surplus of $155,784.34 over its budget of $13.5 million. This favorable financial picture will make possible a variety of additional projects recently approved by the convention's executive board in anticipation of the surplus funds.

The BGCT budget for 1970 will be $14.5 million. With the addition of more than six million dollars in special offerings, the total mission giving figure for the 1.8 million member Baptist organization is $19,713,766.69. This does not include monies collected through Baptist institutional development or endowment programs.

sicians, missionary nuns, rock singers, folk singers, and others who want to translate the word of God into the modern idiom. Make it multimedia and close a chasm created by the generation gap and a church which is only beginning to notice its creaking liturgy.

In the past half decade some religious music has swung sharply from the traditional sacred and spiritual to secular pop and folk. Its language has become more direct and its message has been recorded on perhaps a dozen or more labels.

In the forefront of these is Avant Garde, launched when 11 medical missionary sisters from Philadelphia sang the scriptures in a fresh and novel way—as folk songs to the accompaniment of guitar and Indian drums.

Sister Miriam Therese Winter, whose poetry formed the lyrics for the ballads, explained what got her started. "It kind of started as a hobby. I was writing poetry. When the church put its liturgy—its Mass—into English, I felt a need for the songs to speak to our time," she said.

Traditional music has a place, but I felt that spontaneous music would appeal to our younger people. The response has been overwhelming. While the receipts from their recordings continue to assist the sisters to maintain their hospitals, Sister Miriam Therese and her group take their Bible-with-a-beat to nearby churches and faraway colleges.

Frank Siegfried, a serious violinist and chief entrepreneur at Avant Garde, said: "I think all churches realize their need for young people. There has to be some identification with them. Musically it can be done here." His plea for the young person was echoed by Clay Pitts, his assistant and a man in his 20s who divides his time between production work at Avant Garde, writing rock music and his duties as organist and choir director at the Second Presbyterian Church of Newark, N.J.

The son of a Richmond, Va., Baptist minister, Pitts said that in his view the "majority of ministers either seem to be unaware of the need for communication with the young people or, if they are, they don't know how to reach the young without losing the old at the same time."

Siegfried, whose musical career began at the knee of his teacher, Efrem Zimbalist Sr., at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, said the contemporary religious music movement had largely caught on by word of mouth. "It's something that has to be heard. Because of their religious content, these records are not broadcast on secular programs on the air." He said the music was such that you listened to it in your home, played it for your friends; they bought it, played it for their friends and so on.

But for a commercial record store here and there, the religious records have circulated more through orders from religious supply centers, churches, parochial schools, seminaries, and isolated individuals who write in, including priests in Africa.

What surprises and pleases Siegfried is the ecumenical appeal the music has. "The great charm and satisfaction of this—apart from the private enterprise aspects of the business—has been the inter-denominational effect," said Siegfried. "Right down to the fundamentalists, there seems to be a universal appeal about the new music, and all the denominations are moving in the direction of the new sound."

The earliest known church music—plain-song—was as much communication as the later, more highly developed, music of the Baroque era. There always has been drama, movement and light in the church, whether it be in the form of morality plays, taking of communion, responsive readings, kneeling, or rose windows.

John Ylvisaker, whose father and grandfather were Lutheran ministers, and who is currently working toward a doctorate in music at the University of Minnesota, has taken his rock services to young and conservative audiences in concerts, church services or conventions from coast to coast and Texas to Saskatchewan.

"I feel right now we are at a crossroads," Ylvisaker said. He said that where the church was liberal enough to allow new thinking, the young people were interested. "The church ought to be right on the front line, with a good leadership. But sometimes certain people can cause trouble. If that voice carries—the upright voice, and says, 'Well, you've had your chance and we don't like what you're doing,' then we take the other road, the unorganized one."

THE SINGING WILLS FAMILY will present special gospel music at Trinity Baptist Church Sunday at 7 p.m. The family, which has its own syndicated television show, is from Arlington.

Trinity Baptist Slates Gospel Singing Family

The Singing Wills Family, Arlington, will sing in the evening service at Trinity Baptist Church, 810 Eleventh Place Sunday at 7 p.m. The Wills Family has been singing gospel music for over 30 years and have appeared in church services and gospel concerts all over America.

The Wills family recently completed the 10th taping of their 20-minute color television show syndicated across the country. The total cast of 17 persons in the show include Pop Wills, father, his children and grandchildren, and the in-laws. The family also is involved in the recording business, their latest release features Pop Wills in a tribute to him from his children. On the Skylite label, the album is, "Now I Have Everything."

business—has been the inter-denominational effect," said Siegfried. "Right down to the fundamentalists, there seems to be a universal appeal about the new music, and all the denominations are moving in the direction of the new sound."

The earliest known church music—plain-song—was as much communication as the later, more highly developed, music of the Baroque era. There always has been drama, movement and light in the church, whether it be in the form of morality plays, taking of communion, responsive readings, kneeling, or rose windows.

Attend Church Sunday

Select The Church Of Your Choice And Be Faithful
In Your Attendance

Swaying on a limb outside my kitchen, a bird flapped his sleek black wings and curved his throat in a burst of pure beauty.

"Watch out!" I wanted to cry. For over by the woodpile Tabby crouched, carved in predatory silence. Stone-like she stared, as the bird warbled, and even after the songster flashed off in a streak, she sat impassively.

How like our Tabby we humans sometimes are. Caught in the frenzy of making a living, stalemated with problems, we look indifferently at our world. Forgetting that God reveals Himself in simple ways, we overlook the laughter of a child, the smile of a stranger, and the flaming colors of our landscape.

Your church can show you how to find joy in life again. Within its fellowship you can learn the happiness which comes from loving God and serving Him.

Israeli Troops Kill Arab Saboteur, Grab 20 Others

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets kept up their almost daily attacks along the Suez Canal today, striking at targets in the northern sector of the waterway for 75 minutes before returning safely, the Israeli military command said.

A spokesman also reported an artillery exchange farther south along the canal in which one Israeli soldier was wounded.

On the occupied west bank of the Jordan River six miles south of Bethlehem, Israeli troops killed one suspected Arab saboteur and captured 20 others Thursday.

A spokesman said one group of Arabs was found hiding in a cave. After a two-hour siege, during which the Israelis hurled grenades through the cave entrance, five guerrillas surrendered and a sixth man was found dead inside the cave.

There were no Israeli casualties in the operations. The troops reported they found two large caches of arms including 70 hand grenades, several hundred pounds of explosives, detonators, rifles and ammunition.

A Jordanian army spokesman in Amman reported that an Israeli patrol tried to cross the Jordan River during the night but was intercepted and forced to return. He said heavy fire was exchanged for 90 minutes.

Earlier, he said, the Israelis mortared Jordanian positions in the southern Jordan valley and Jordanian troops returned the fire. No losses were reported in either engagement, he added.

King Hussein pledged Thursday that Jordan will not accept any settlement with Israel that falls short of "complete liberation of occupied Arab territory and restoration of usurped Arab rights."

In a broadcast report on the Arab summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, last month, Hussein said if the way to peace does not "lead us to our aims, then we shall achieve those aims through liberation."

Premier Golda Meir of Israel said Thursday that Israelis want peace, but "we refuse to believe the fairy tale that the Arabs, who refuse to negotiate a peace, would live with us in peace according to some arrangement provided by a third party."

Mrs. Meir was replying to a statement by French Defense Minister Michel Debre that "the Israeli premier wants total war."

"Nothing could be more absurd," Mrs. Meir told an executive session of the World Jewish Congress in Tel Aviv. "All we want is peace."

The 71-year-old leader also disclosed that a country she did not identify is ready to sell Israel its latest model tanks if the Russians supply their latest model to Egypt.

Two London newspapers reported today that Britain is secretly supplying Israel with tanks that British army units in West Germany are replacing with newer models.

The Daily Mail and the Daily Telegraph said, without giving their sources, that Israel has received nearly 200 reconconditioned Centurion tanks since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Israeli government officials in London declined to confirm or deny the report, citing policy of not commenting on arms deals.

Moon Flight Postponement

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Postponement of America's next two moon flights is both a victory for scientists and a budgetary move by the space agency, officials said Thursday.

Apollo 13, the third moon landing, was rescheduled Thursday from March 12 to April 11. Apollo 14, previously set for July 11, was scheduled for some time in the fall, probably in September or October.

A space agency spokesman said the move was made partly because of heated complaints from lunar scientists and partly to save fiscal-year funds.

He said the factors "bore equal weight in the decision."

The rescheduling was viewed as a first move in a stretch-out of the seven planned moon landings.

A space agency official said earlier in the week that a plan under consideration called for two moon landings this year, two in 1971, none in 1972, two in 1973, and a final one in 1974.

A space station would be launched in 1972.

The spokesman said the launchings would be about six months apart under the new schedule. Apollo flights had been planned for four-month intervals.

Explorers Offers Abilene Program

ABILENE — A French explorer who hopes to recover Noah's Ark from Mt. Ararat will present a program at 4 p.m. Sunday in Abilene High School Auditorium. The public is invited.

Fernand Navarra and other members of the archeological expeditionary team hope to recover timbers believed to be remains of the Ark from a glacial lake on the 17,000-foot Turkish volcanic mountain.

Pieces of the more than 4,000-year-old hand-carved wood recovered by Navarra in previous years will be on display, and 16mm films of his 1969 expedition will be shown. A question-and-answer period will follow the program. There will be no charge.

Conservation Chapter To Be Organized Here

All individuals interested in any phase of conservation of natural resources are invited to take part in a meeting Wednesday looking toward organization of a local chapter of a national conservation unit.

C. A. Rechten, Temple, state resource conservationist and president of the Texas chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America, is due to be here to address the meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the U.S. Experiment Station.

Some 25 individuals in the area from Lamesa to Garden City, from Odessa to Colorado City, have signed up as potential members of a local chapter.

The scope of the society goes far beyond soil, said Bill Fryrear, station director, and embraces the conservation of all natural resources. Therefore, people with interest in any phase of conservation are urged to attend the meeting.

Fryrear beamed his appeal especially to people who live in the towns and communities, pointing out that they have a pressing stake in conservation.

In a recent article in the organization's Journal, James D. Strange, associate director of the Southeastern region of the Forest Service, USDA, noted on the basis of a study by Gary A. Soucie: "In the United States a baby is born every 12 seconds and a new car is produced every five seconds. The two combined create a demand for space that potentially eats away two acres of countryside every minute. These facts make it crystal clear why people living in urban areas must acquire and exercise a far more active interest in rural land use planning." Moreover, he pointed out, the urbanite's food, water and raw materials for his manufacturing, etc. come from the land.

LD. Phone Rate Is Reduced Again

Telephone customers in Big Spring are sharing in $150 million nationwide reduction in interstate long distance telephone rates which went into effect Jan. 1.

The reduction — biggest in Bell System history — was made at the request of the Federal Communications Commission.

"This is the eighth price cut in out-of-state calls in the past 10 years," said Harry Sawyer, manager. "These reductions, combined with Commission-precided accounting changes," Sawyer continued, "will bring to $1 billion the amount that Bell System customers are saving at today's calling volume. And that savings is during a period when consumer prices have gone up almost 30 per cent."

Sawyer said the reductions have been made possible by economies resulting from technological advancements in equipment that handles long distance calls.

While the new interstate reduction plan will cut charges somewhat for operator-handled and person-to-person calls, major savings will go to customers who dial their own three minute station-to-station calls of 197 miles or more across a state line.

Customers who dial their own calls between midnight and 8 a.m. seven days a week will get even bigger savings under a new one-minute rate to be effective during that eight-hour span.

Sawyer pointed out that the special "late night rate" should be especially helpful to businesses for data transmissions.

The telephone official also noted that the reduced rate period will be extended from 7-8 a.m. for all calls.

At the same time, however, persons who cannot dial their own long distance calls through the Direct Distance Dialing network will pay the customer-dialed rate so long as the operator only dials the call.

Sawyer explained that the higher operator-handled rate will apply when the operator is asked to dial a call the customer could dial himself, and on credit card, collect and other normal operator-handled calls.

Sawyer said the rate reduction is "another chapter in a story spanning half a century."

Sawyer explained that coast-to-coast telephone calling became possible in 1915. Such a call then cost $20.70.

By 1940, the cost had dropped to $4. By 1963, such a call placed after 9 p.m. cost only $1.

"Now, between 7 p.m. and 8 a.m., a customer who dials his own call can make a coast-to-coast call for as little as 75 cents," Sawyer pointed out.

"There aren't many things around today that you can get at 1915 prices," Sawyer noted, "much less at less than a nickel on the dollar."

Gov. Williams, Negro Clash At Aid Hearing

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Gov. John Bell Williams and a Negro leader critical of the handling of aid to Hurricane Camille victims clashed briefly before a Senate subcommittee probing disaster relief problems.

They'll each get 30 minutes today, when the Public Works subcommittee finishes its three days of hearings, to debate the issue but Aaron Henry, the black leader, left for his Clarksdale, Miss., home Thursday and a Williams aide said he didn't know whether the governor would show up either.

Thursday's session was sparked by the confrontation between Williams and Henry, a druggist who is president of the Mississippi branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Henry charged that the governor deliberately excluded Negroes from his emergency council — named to direct long-range solutions to the many problems created by Camille, the strongest hurricane ever to lash the United States.

Three Have Entered Races

Three persons have filed with Democratic Chairman C. V. Riordan to run for public office in the May 2 primary, but so far no one has registered with Republican Chairman Akin Simpson.

Riordan said today that Pauline Petty was the first to make application with him for re-election to her fifth term as Howard County clerk, and that Fern Cox has applied to run for his third term as district clerk. Riordan said he has also received an application from Mrs. Lulu Adams to run again for Justice of the Peace in Coahoma. Mrs. Adams is seeking her second term.

"There are several applications in circulation with definite candidates," Riordan said, "and I expect them to be returned any day."

The deadline for making application with either party to run in the May primary, a prerequisite to the November election, is Feb. 2 by 6 p.m.

Houston Found Not Guilty

SWEETWATER — John Mills Houston, 18, was found not guilty Thursday of the Aug. 9, 1969 slaying of Lawrence Edwards Franks, 16, Big Spring.

An 11-man, one-woman jury deliberated from 10:55 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. before delivering the verdict.

Houston had been certified by Juvenile Court to be tried as an adult. He was 15 at the time of the incident. The normal age of accountability under Texas criminal law is 17 for males.

The case was believed the second in Texas in which a juvenile was certified as an adult for shooting.

The shooting occurred about midnight Aug. 9. Franks died two days later in a Sweetwater hospital as a result of internal bleeding.

Houston took the stand Wednesday and testified he thought Franks had some sort of weapon at the time of the shooting, and that he was acting in self-defense.

Boosters To Meet

Big Spring Choir Boosters will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the senior high school choir room. All interested persons are invited to attend.

High School Girls Gain Permission To Wear Slacks

CARLIN, Nev. (AP) — High school girls here now have permission to wear slacks to class when the temperature drops below 15 degrees.

"You can't buy a skirt in a dress shop anymore that's a decent length to keep warm," said Principal Jay Anderson, who sent about 30 girls home Wednesday when they showed up in 10-below-zero weather wearing slacks.

Most of the girls returned in skirts, and Anderson called the 138 Carlin High students to a meeting at which they decided to relax their dress standard.

Anderson said he would have permitted slacks if the girls had asked before donning them, but said that the minute the temperature goes above 15, "they've agreed to go back to wearing dresses."

Plans To Lay Off 2,000

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The Autometrics Division of North American Rockwell Corp. says it plans to lay off 2,000 workers in the next few months.

"The layoffs reflect both a declining work load due to congressional budget cuts and stretchouts in defense programs, as well as our own company's general belt-tightening," a spokesman said Thursday.

SEEDS OF DREAD DISEASE PRESENT IN ALL HUMANS? Revolutionary New Cancer Theory

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the world's foremost microbe hunters has disclosed a revolutionary new cancer theory suggesting seeds of the dread disease are present in all humans from the time of conception.

But these seeds are kept from malignantly growing in most people, Dr. Robert J. Huebner said Thursday in explaining the theory he co-developed with Dr. George Todaro. Both scientists are with the National Cancer Institute.

Huebner said the concept might open the way to eventual control of cancer through anti-viral drug therapy or a vaccine. Previous concepts envisioned cancer viruses largely as external attackers. The new one approach points the finger at viruses-related materials deemed present from the time of conception.

"We think that, for the first time in the virus field, we have a way to get at the cancer problem," Huebner said in an interview. "The concept is entirely different from what people had anticipated. . . . We believe it is going to change the whole field of cancer-virus research."

In effect, the new theory holds that:

—The actual seeds for cancer—in the form of some of the genetic precursor ingredients for a certain type of virus, called "C-type RNA virus"—are present in all of us from the time we're conceived. But, in most people other genetic forces keep them from developing.

—When cancer does occur, it's the result of the previously-suppressed mechanism being switched on by defective genes present in some people; by such environmental factors as radiation or certain chemicals; or, in some people, by the very process of aging.

—The cancer seed mechanism, whether or not it ultimately generates malignancy, may have a beneficial function in the early development of the embryo—it may be essential to life itself.

Huebner said there is "a lot of documentary evidence" to support the concept. He said precursors to C-type RNA viruses have been found in mice, chickens and cats; and full-blown RNA viruses of this type have been demonstrated in hamsters and rats, and have also been seen by electron microscope in tumor cells of humans, cattle, swine, guinea pigs, snakes and monkeys.

He indicated production of complete viruses may not be necessary in order to produce malignancy. Rather, he suggested, cancer may result just from the "switching on" of "viral cancer-genes" that are among the precursors of such viruses.

Fire Injures Martin Crew

MIDLAND — Three of four men who suffered burns in a flash fire at a Martin County oil well Tuesday morning have been taken to the burns center at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston for treatment.

They are James C. McGee, 44, Midland, toolpusher for FWA Drilling Co.; W. P. Tadlock, 61, Odessa, a member of the casing crew, and Earl Cadell, 24, Odessa, derrick man for FWA.

All three received first, second and third degree burns when an explosion occurred as the casing on an oil rig north of Stanton was loaded with oil and the crew was bleeding off pressure.

McGee and Tadlock were reported to be in very serious condition, while Cadell's condition was listed as satisfactory. The men were picked up Tuesday evening by a medical transfer plane from Scott Air Force Base.

Roger Smith, 26, another member of the drilling crew, is listed in satisfactory condition in a Midland hospital.

DEAR ABBY: About eight months ago my wife had a baby. The wife of a co-worker (I'll call him Al) gave him a baby gift to deliver to me to take home to my wife. Al thoughtlessly put the gift in a seldom-used desk drawer and completely forgot about it.

Now Al suddenly discovered the gift and has asked me to please give it to my wife with express instructions that she should NOT acknowledge it! Al says he doesn't want his wife to know that he forgot to give it to me.

Should my wife accept the gift and agree not to acknowledge it? Or should we do as my co-worker asks, and have his wife continue to think that we are unappreciative?

some weight, but haven't been doing very well.

The problem is that my husband hasn't even come near me since I've had the baby. He admits that he is staying away in an attempt to punish me. I think this is just terrible. I am 22 years old, and I'm only human. I need love and affection, Abby. I love him very much and he says he loves me, too, but until I lose those 50 pounds — nothing doing! So what should I do?

HUNGRY FOR LOVE
DEAR HUNGRY: You heard the man. He certainly has found your Achilles heel. (The heel!) Hi there to a doctor and get going on a diet. You have a lot to lose.

CONFUSED IN HARRISBURG
DEAR CONFUSED: Tell "Mr. Milquetoast" that he'd better tell his wife the truth, because your wife refuses to accept a gift without acknowledging it. And if Al gets clobbered, it's Al's funeral.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this letter in near desperation. My husband and I have been married for three years. We have a 17-month-old baby.

I suppose I should tell you that I am inclined to be quite heavy. Well, when I became pregnant I put on 50 pounds. I am not entirely to blame for this because I had a lot of faith in my O.B. (a woman) and she isn't very strict about her patients' diets. Anyway, to make a long story short, after I had the baby I tried to lose

DEAR ABBY: This is for the woman whose husband was six inches shorter than she was and admitted that tall men turned her on.

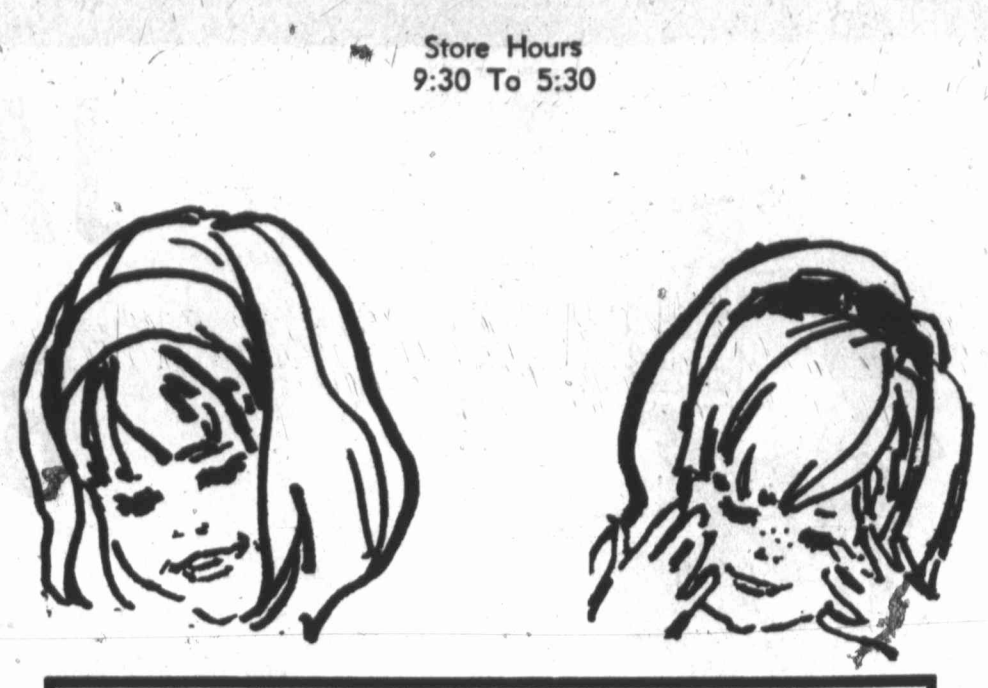

I can tell her from experience that short men can be very attractive. I am 25, and my man is short and round and in his forties. He barely comes up to my chin, but when I am on his arm, he stands 9-feet tall in my eyes.

He is a tower of character, compassion, and consideration. Even though he has been over the rough roads himself, he is gentle and well-mannered. For all his success he has maintained his humility. In other words, he is the kind of man I can look up to in all the ways that count.
