LOCATES FATHER'S GRAVE — Mary Ann Melancon of Houston, unexpectedly found her father's grave in Punchbowl Cemetery while on a tour of Hawaii. She returned the next day and placed a lei of flowers on the headstone and took pictures for other members of the family who had not known for nearly 30 years where Jewel Chelette of Louisiana was buried after he died in the service of his country in 1945.

TWO DIE IN BEAUMONT BLAST

Plant Still Smolders

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Multi-million-dollar explosions and fires left two dead Saturday at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. chemical plant here. Ten survivors suffered injuries.

The dead were identified as James S. Kizer Jr., 28, of Beaumont and Daryl Allen Harper, 35, of nearby Kountze. The bodies were retrieved from beneath a tall tower which apparently exploded first.

The Texas Department of Public Safety estimated 25 per cent of the $50 million complex was destroyed.

FIREBALL

The explosion occurred shortly after 8 p.m. Friday in the isoprene unit and sent massive fireballs shooting 500 to 600 feet in the air, a company spokesman said.

The catastrophe began as a small fire in the isoprene unit. C.T. Winchester, technical supervisor, said 15 to 18 workers briefly fought the fire but fled when it was apparent that they could not control the blaze.

The explosion followed, scattering the fire and sending up to 150 plant workers scurrying for safety.

The main explosion was followed by at least four smaller ones.

Eight of the injured were treated and released from a hospital but two were retained for further treatment.

A plant spokesman, Bob Rowley, said, "We think there was a hydrocarbon leak in some part of the unit."

The first and heaviest shock was felt 50 miles away. The other explosions came as the fire spread to catalytic cracking units.

NEW EXPLOSIONS

The fires appeared to subside at times only to be fed by new explosions. A cold wind gusting to 35 miles per hour fanned the fires into greater intensity.

The few nearby residents were evacuated to schools.

Harvey Merrell whose family was among those evacuated said, "It went up like a ball of fire, the ceiling of our kitchen collapsed ... It was just a mess."

John A. Key who lives four miles away said the first explosion "blew out the windows of our home and threw the doors open."

Goodyear officials would not speculate on the time required to get the plant back in operation.

Stumbles On Grave Of Dad

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Mary Ann Melancon of Houston had not known where her serviceman father was buried nearly 30 years ago. Then on a trip to Hawaii in mid-November, she found his headstone at her feet.

The discovery ended years of uncertainty and misinformation, related Ann Faragher, managing editor of the Greenville (Tex.) Herald-Banner who was with Mrs. Melancon on a simple vacation trip.

Mrs. Melancon's father, Pfc, Jewel Chelette of Louisiana, was killed in the Pacific Theater June 3, 1945, when his only child was three years old.

MASS GRAVE

The family always believed Chelette was buried on Okinawa, based on information from the Army.

Mrs. Melancon asked a brother-in-law stationed on Okinawa five years ago to hunt for the grave.

"His search of the three military cemeteries was unsuccessful and military authorities told him that my father was probably buried in a mass grave or in Hawaii," she said.

While preparing for the Hawaiian tour, Mrs. Melancon copied information from an Army photograph of her father's headstone.

REST STOP

The information was: Jewel Chelette, Louisiana, Pfc. 383, Inf. 96 Inf. Div. Nov. 4, 1920, June 3, 1945."

"If I find my daddy's grave, that would be worth the whole trip itself," she said she told her husband.

The first organized activity was a bus tour of Honolulu and nearby points.

"When we were driving into Punchbowl Cemetery, I happened to see a lot of headstones with 'M's' on them but the bus kept on driving. After a tour of the cemetery and a visit to the lookout, the bus made a rest stop," Mrs. Melancon said later.

"My seatmate on the bus who knew the story said, 'Let's run and look.' So we ran all the way back to the entry where I had seen the 'M's.'

"We quickly searched the names and numbers on the hundreds of white headstones lined up row on row. Finally my friend said, 'It's not here, Mary Ann.' As she looked across several graves, toward me, looked down and my father's headstone was right at my feet," Mrs. Melancon related.

"Diane had walked right over it one time and missed it because she was looking for my married name, Melancon, and not my maiden name, Chelette," she explained.

She returned to the bus in tears. She said her feeling was that something unexplainable had drawn her to the spot.

Mrs. Melancon plans to go to Cheneyvilly, La., to give the information to her grandmother, Mrs. Cora Chelette, who is in her late 80's. Her father has four brothers and two sisters in southeast Texas and Louisiana. Her mother lives in Houston.

"My family never knew where or how my father was killed. My mother was only 19 years old at the time and lived way out in the country. She did not investigate the circumstances of daddy's death. But now that I've found him, I'm going to find out everything about him that I can," the daughter said.

She also hopes to find out the circumstances of the awarding of the Bronze Star Medal and Purple Heart her father received.

Hollywood-Style Plot To Kill Marcos

MANILA (AP) — The government revealed for the first time Saturday what it called a Hollywood-style plot to kill Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos and tagged a former presidential candidate as the "brains of the conspiracy."

The regime asserted that the plotters had made eight attempts to kill the 57-year-old Marcos, starting on Feb. 13, 1972, during the state visit of Indonesian President Suharto.

The details apparently were released to counter publicity generated by the 11-day hunger strike of two men held two years without trial for allegedly being part of the plot.

The government news agency disclosed the assassination attempts in reporting that Eugenio Lopez Jr., 46, publisher of the banned Manila Chronicle, and Sergio Osmena III, 31, had ended their fast.

At long last, to borrow a phrase, that killing freeze arrived. Monday brought the first round with much of the cotton foliage nipped, but then Friday and Saturday mornings proved the coup de grace. Thus, what there is of the 1974 cotton crop will begin coming to the gin in a big way starting the latter part of this week. Some earlier harvesting of marginal fields yielded such low grade and price that several producers just plowed the fields under.

The House passed the military construction (1975) bill last week, including $1,929,000 for Webb AFB, Chief items are for three current projects including $999,000 for the airmen's dormitories, $111,000 for the airmen's dining room, and $43,000 for cold storage, plus $776,000 for reconditioning runways. The Senate may get around this week to passing the bill and sending to the President. A rumor that the BOQs had been deleted from the fiscal year 1976 bill proved incorrect — this project is still alive.

16 Killed In Traffic Accidents

By The Associated Press

Traffic contributed heavily to the violent death toll throughout the state this long Thanksgiving Day weekend.

By late Saturday the violent death count—which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday—stood at 25 including 16 killed in traffic accidents.

The count will continue through Sunday.

The total included two persons killed in Beaumont late Friday when an explosion ripped the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. The victims were identified as James S. Kizer Jr., 28, of Beaumont and Daryl Allen Harper, 35, of Kountze.

Their bodies were recovered from beneath a tall tower that exploded and collapsed.

In Houston Anita Ginther, 31, and her eight-month-old daughter, Heither, died Saturday when their car burned following a collision with another vehicle.

In El Paso, Border Patrolman Oscar Torres, 37, died Saturday in a fall from a railroad bridge close to the Mexican border. Officials said Torres fell as he opened the gates just west of the bridge for an exchange of railroad cars.

Three persons died Friday night of injuries received when their car overturned on Texas 71 in Wharton County.

They were Paulita Rodriguez, 78, her son George, 50, and his wife Mamie, 59.

Roberto Galvan, 34, of Houston drowned in a boating accident off Bolivar Peninsula.

In Hondo, Robert E. Adamine, 31, and Stella C. Adamine, 35, died when their car and a tractor trailer collided.

Rosanna Whitehead, 51 and her daughter Mary, 20, were killed in a two-car collision in Austin.

Also in Austin, Alan Curtis Kelley, 32, and his daughter Shannon Evonne, 3, died when their car overturned on Farm Road 2304.

J.C. Kirkpatrick, 42, a brakeman from Fort Worth, and J. A. Francisco, 23, a fireman also from Fort Worth, were killed when two Missouri Pacific freight trains collided near Weatherford Friday.

Elizabeth Miller, 19, of Dallas suffered a fatal gunshot wound Friday during an argument with a 26-year-old man, police said.

Hugo Maccolini, 65, of New Orleans, a merchant seaman, was killed when hit by a car on Interstate 10 Thursday night in Beaumont.

Robert Ruffins, 24, of Dallas was killed by gunfire early Thursday during an argument with a man police said Ruffins accused of stealing from his apartment.

Earle H. Silven, 53, of Dallas was killed Thursday when his car hit a tree.

A one-car accident Thursday near Terrell killed Chadwich Taylor, 2. Four other persons were hurt seriously.

Airline Strike Scheduled Today

HOUSTON (AP) — The Airlines Employes Association called a strike Saturday against Texas International Airline beginning at 6 a.m. Sunday.

The union made up of ground workers such as secretaries and ticket agents issued this statement:

"The association's negotiating committee meeting to consider Texas International's refusal to maintain the status quo, has announced that a strike date has been set for Sunday Dec. 1 at 0600 hours." The company announced Friday that it considered its contract with the association void and had instituted new work rules and what it called substantial pay and fringe benefits of its own volition.

At a late hour Saturday, a spokesman said the company had not received notice formally or informally of a strike and urged resumption of negotiations.

The contract between the two expired in August and a 30-day cooling off period ended at midnight Thursday.

The union was expected to strike at 12:01 a.m. Friday, but the association president, Victor J. Herbert, said the workers would not strike and would continue negotiating.

This was followed by cancellation of the contract by the company.

A company spokesman said at that time that, "We still have in our pocket a promise from the union that there will not be a strike."

Texas International declined to specify the pay and fringe raises and the new work rules.

The company has 1,100 ground employes. Maintenance and flight employes were not affected.

23 TEXAS CITIES

The line serves 23 of the 24 Texas cities with airline services, nine states and several cities in Mexico.

The states are Texas, California, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Jim O'Donnell, a company spokesman, said at a late hour Saturday the company "feeling is at this time that we have a commitment from Herbert that there will not be a strike."

SURPRISE

"Should there be a strike, we will once again deploy 300 management people so we will be able to maintain a substantial portion of our normal flights," he said.

O'Donnell said the union agreed Friday to immediate resumption of talks at a time and place set by the federal mediation board and expressed surprise that the strike had been called in view of the no-strike pledge by Herbert and an agreement to resume negotiations.

Terrorist Bombings Kill Seven Persons

LONDON (AP) — Detectives arrested 13 persons, including two women, Saturday in connection with a pair of terrorist bombings that killed seven persons near London in the last two months. Later in the day someone threw a bomb into a London pub injuring two patrons.

The pre-dawn police raids in London came as security was tightened at British ports and airports under new laws to combat terrorism spilling over from five years of sectarian strife in Northern Ireland.

Terrorist bombings have left a total of 49 persons dead and scores injured on the British mainland over the past 2½ years.

Police said the bomb was thrown through the window of the Talbot Pub near Victoria train station. The two victims were hospitalized but not believed seriously hurt, police said.

The police raids also coincided with a pledge by government leaders to keep British troops in Northern Ireland where more than a thousand persons have died in the Irish Republican Army campaign to unite the mainly Protestant province with the predominantly Roman Catholic Irish republic.

Police said Saturday's raids were planned before the government's new anti-terrorist measures were adopted Friday. The measures ban the IRA in Britain and enable police to arrest suspected terrorists and deport them to Ireland.

Police sources said those detained were being questioned about bar-room bomb blasts that killed two persons in Woolwich in southeast London earlier this month and five others in Guildford, 30 miles south of London, in October. The sources said the tip-off came from an Irishman.

JAIL REQUEST

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — An Augusta, Ga., man told police he wanted to be jailed for his own protection since he thought someone was trying to kill him.

Officers said they told Ernest James Williams, 28, on Friday that they could not hold him unless he committed a crime.

A few hours later, a secretary for an insurance agency reported that a man entered her office and demanded money.

She said the man told her that the money would be returned as soon as he was arrested, and before leaving told her where the police could find him.

Shortly afterward, police arrested Williams at a street corner and recovered $116. He was jailed under a $1,000 bond.

UNION CHIEF GETS ROWDY RECEPTION

Trying To Sell Pact To Striking Miners

BECKLEY, W.Va. (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller came to the southern West Virginia coalfields Saturday and received a rowdy reception from the men who must try and sell his proposed new contract to the striking union membership.

Miller made appearances at two of the union's eight regional meetings as the UMW launched an intense effort to promote the virtues of the proposed three-year pact. The UMW's 120,000 striking miners will vote on the contract Monday.

The agreement calls for a 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits over the next three years. But benefits and working conditions, not money, were the complaints Miller heard most often in his visits to Districts 17 and 29, which boast a joint membership of some 28,000 active miners.

In his first stop, in Madison, Miller told some 200 union representatives — including some of his former work mates in District 17 — that he had negotiated them the best possible contract under the conditions he inherited. He also predicted that the contract would be approved by at least 60 per cent of the membership.

As he was speaking, at least two caravans were traveling across southern West Virginia coalfields trying to drum up support against the contract.

In Wheeling, where several hundred miners met with District 6 President John Guzek, some workers were critical. An overflow crowd jammed a classroom at Wheeling College, leaving about 100 men outside. "They Got the Apple, You Got the Core. You Want Coal, Give Us More," read one placard carried by a miner outside the meeting.

After an hour-long visit in Madison, Miller's entourage traveled 60 miles to Beckley in District 29. Here, the whitehaired UMW President was barraged with complaints and on one occasion was even accused of lying to the membership.

Miller retorted that he couldn't satisfy everybody and would follow the will of the UMW majority. Earlier in the day, at Madison, he said he would take the contract back to the bargaining table if it became clear the union majority wanted it that way.

India, Pakistan Agree To End Ban On Trade

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India and Pakistan agreed Saturday to restore trade links severed nine years and two wars ago. Both sides hailed the pact as a major step toward full relations.

"This is just a beginning," said Pakistani Commerce Secretary Ahmed Naik, who led his country' delegation in the talks.

The two governments agreed to lift the trade embargo formally next Saturday and to negotiate a trade pact in early January.

The agreement also called for immediate talks to restore rail and shipping services.

Trade between India and Pakistan, which once totaled about $20 million a year, was severed in the aftermath of the 1965 war over Kashmir. The ban continued through the 1971 war over Bangladesh.

The fighting in Bangladesh, formerly East Pakistan, led to a formal break in diplomatic relations between the two subcontinent neighbors — a rupture that continues.

A senior Indian Foreign Ministry official said the two governments were in touch about furthering detente, implying that resumption of diplomatic ties could be one of the next items tackled. India has previously said it would not restore formal relations until a meaningful bilateral relationship evolved.

The major remaining hurdle to fully-restored links is the question of Kashmir, which has soured relations between India and Paskistan since they gained independence in 1947 after the partition of the subcontinent.

Conflicting claims to the Himalayan state have brought India and Pakistan to armed conflict twice, in 1948 and in 1965. India currently controls three-fifths of the predominantly Moslem state and Pakistan has the rest.

Aside from the question of Kashmir, the restoration of trade relations completes nearly all the steps called for by the Simla Pact.

Yule Lights To Be Turned On Monday

The streets of Big Spring will be lighted up for Christmas for the first time since the 1972 Christmas Monday night as a ban on Christmas lighting was lifted, and the Chamber of Commerce gave the go-ahead on Christmas lighting.

Workmen were busy installing the decorations over the weekend and the lights are expected to be ready to come on at twilight Monday.

Santa Claus is expected to make his annual pre-Christmas visit here later in the week.

EGG BEATER — Lou Feltz, left, and Ben Blackwell, two Atomic Energy Commission officials, check an egg-beater-shaped vertical axis wind turbine atop a building at Sandia Laboratories in Albuquerque, N.M. The AEC is testing the device to determine if it would be feasible for generating electricity in areas such as the Great Plains where the wind blows regularly and with sufficient velocity.

Windmills Are Back In Energy Research

WASHINGTON (A+) — The federal government is getting serious about the windmill as it pumps more money into the development of new designs for the ancient energy source.

For centuries of European and Asian civilization, windmills ground grain, drove ships and pumped water. Their importance declined with the discovery of oil and the invention of the steam engine. In this country, they have been used on individual farms to pump water and drive electric generators.

CLEAN-LIMITLESS

Now, with world energy supplies growing scarcer and costs soaring, the windmill has acquired a new appeal as a clean, limitless source of power.

The National Science Foundation and National Aeronautics and Space Administration this week awarded $500,000 contracts to two industrial firms for preliminary design of very large wind energy systems.

The contractors, General Electric Co. Space Division and Kaman Aerospace Corp., will examine modern versions of windmills at sizes that generate 100 kilowatts for use by small communities or farm cooperatives to 3 megawatts for possible connection into the power networks of large utility companies.

200 FT. DIAMETER

A 3 megawatt windmill would be the largest ever built. Its rotor blades would be about 200 feet in diameter and each windmill could produce enough electricity to supply 100 to 200 homes, NASA reported.

The foundation plans to invest $30 million in wind energy research projects in the next five years and already has invested nearly $1 million in construction of a 100 kilowatt windmill near Sandusky, Ohio.

The Ohio windmill, to be completed next July, will stand 160 feet tall and its 120-foot diameter blades are intended to catch the wind and convert it to enough power to run 10 homes.

That project and the newest studies are being managed for the foundation by NASA's Lewis Research Center, Cleveland.

WIND TURBINE

Other wind energy projects sponsored by the foundation include research on the wind itself, methods of harnessing wind energy, small systems for remote areas, and the assessment of encironmental, legal, social, economic and other issues regarding wind power.

The Atomic Energy Commission also announced this week that it is testing an egg-beater-shaped wind turbine whose 15-foot blades drive into the wind to generate electricity. A prototype has been mounted atop a building at the Sandia Laboratories in Albuquerque, N.M.

The AEC said this vertical axis turbine has the potential for wide use in the Great Plains and other places where the wind blows regularly with sufficient velocity.

Newsprint Increase

DALLAS (AP) — Southland Paper Co. will raise the price of newsprint $20 per ton effective Dec. 31, a company spokesman has confirmed.

The spokesman said the price hike was the result of general production cost increases at Southland's paper mills.

The price hike will raise the cost of a ton of newsprint to about $225 across Texas, the spokesman said.

Savings Firm's Appeal Turned Down By Court

AUSTIN — The Texas Supreme Court has ruled it can find no grounds on which to hear a case brought by Abilene Savings Association.

A Dallas trial court ruled that Bruce Berry, of Dallas, was to pay the Abilene firm $5,000, the principal on a note which Berry signed while a student at Abilene Christian College.

But the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals reversed that decision, saying Berry was fraudulently induced into signing the note, and that the Dallas court erred in granting the savings association a summary judgment.

The Supreme Court said it could find no reversible error in the appellate court's decision and refused Abilene Savings Assn.'s application.

Abilene Savings sued Berry to collect on a promissory note of $5,000 plus eight per cent interest which was payable to Western Commercial Savings and Loan.

Western Commercial merged into Abilene Savings Dec. 31, 1968.

Berry alleged he was induced into signing the note by false and fraudulent representation by Claud McAden, president of Western Commercial, and Fred Newman, Berry's employer while he was a student at ACC.

(McAden was co-owner and served as general manger of the Big Spring Longhorn League baseball team in the late 1940s).

Berry said during the original trial, McAden loaned the $5,000 to Newman, "but because of certain restrictions and technicalities he wanted me to sign the note."

He further testified that McAden "told me that Newman would pay the note and that Western Commercial Savings and Loan Association would look only to Newman for payment."

Berry said he was then given a check for $5,000, which he took to a bank and cashed, and returned the money to Newman. He said during the trial court testimony he believed "Newman and McAden were involved mutually in various elaborate and complex financial entanglements."

Cotton Receipts Gain Sharply

Cotton sample receipts increased sharply at the USDA's Pecos classing office, according to Shirley A. Sewell, in charge. Receipts for the week ended Nov. 22 totaled 3,551 bringing the season's total to 9,280. This compares with 24,035 for the same period a year ago.

The predominant grade was 52 with 26 per cent of classing. Grades 41 and 42 accounted for 22 per cent each.

Staples ranged from 29 to 36 with staple 34 accounting for 53 per cent, followed by staple 33 with 24 per cent. Breaking strength of fibers as determined on the Pressley zero gage averaged 79,000 psi for the week and for the season.

CAR SALES DISMAL

More Workers Idled By New GM Layoffs

DETROIT (AP) — Auto giant General Motors has served notice that production will remain in low gear in 1975 — announcing new layoffs which will total 105,000 workers in January, 64,000 indefinitely.

With a large inventory of unsold cars, GM said Friday it will boost its 1975 unemployment rolls by 65,000 workers. Included are 41,000 being furloughed for one and two-week periods in January.

Also included are 24,000 indefinite layoffs on top of the current 40,000. GM's blue-collar workforce numbers about 370,000.

BETTER SHAPE

The firm's hand was forced by a large stockpile of new cars, estimated at 71 days worth. An industry-wide 1.75 million unsold cars is believed to be an all-time record. At the present snails-pace sales rate, those cars would last 83 days.

GM is in better shape than its competitors: Chrysler's supply is estimated at 124 days, American Motors' at 100 and Ford's at 85.

Auto industry layoffs next week will affect 165,000 workers, including 71,200 at Chrysler, 39,900 at Ford and 53,875 at GM.

Car sales during the mid-November period were dismal, 35 per cent below the previous year's period when the energy crisis had already begun to chip away at sales.

CUTBACKS

Chrysler was down 42 per cent in the most recent period; AMC was off 35 per cent, GM 34 per cent and Ford 31 per cent.

Ford layoffs scheduled through March will affect 47,325 of the firm's 178,000 hourly workers, including 15,500 indefinitely. Most of the temporary layoffs are set for December when Ford will shut eight assembly operations for one week.

Chrysler says substantial cutbacks will be continued into 1975.

AMC has scheduled a one-week shutdown of its Gremlin and Hornet assembly lines in Kenosha, Wis., for next month, but has not released any January layoffs.

BODY PLANTS

GM said Friday it is eliminating second shifts Jan. 13 at two of its 22 assembly plants, in Janesville, Wis., and Fremont, Calif.

Effective the same day, the assembly lines will be slowed at the Buick plant in Flint; the Oldsmobile plant in Lansing; and assembly plants in Fairfax, Kan., and Oshawa, Ont. Indefinite layoffs at those locations and companion body plants will total 4,220.

Indefinite furloughs at component plants and other facilities throughout the vast GM system will bring the total of new indefinite layoffs to 24,000 by the end of January, GM said.

Story Sounds Just Bit flat

One local woman called city police to report two simultaneous vandalisms, thinking they were more than a coincidence.

Police detectives arrested John Blanton Ford Friday afternoon at the mobile home lodge on a warrant from New Mexico.

Ford is wanted in Tatum on a charge of embezzlement over $100 and less than $2,500. He was reported to be working for a trucking company here.

T. A. Knight, 1604 Tucson reported $100 worth of damage to a rent house. Things scattered around, paint thrown on walls.

NOT A GIMMICK

Big Grocery Chains Announce 'Freeze'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Two of the nation's Big Three supermarket chains have announced price freezes on about 10 per cent of the products they sell.

Supermarket giant Kroger Co. Friday announced a price freeze on 1,100 of its "best-selling items" as an anti-inflationary move for its 9½ million customers.

A&P earlier Friday announced a freeze on prices on about 1,000 private-label brand items. Spokesmen for Safeway, the third big chain, were not immediately available for comment.

Kroger President James P. Herring said the move is effective Dec. 1 and is tentatively set to end Feb. 1. A&P said the freeze would last until at least Jan. 1.

"This is not a gimmick," said Herring, whose firm has 1,200 stores in a 20-state area.

He said the freeze would not include meat, produce or sugar.

The items include Kroger products and national brands of canned meats, soups, sauces, canned vegetables, snacks, cereals, some soaps, detergents and coffees.

The possibility of extending the program beyond Feb. 1 depends "on the success of the program," Herring said.

St. Paul Player First Of Bridge Title Winners

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Irving Rasmussen of St. Paul, Minn., became the first title holder of the 1974 North American Fall Bridge Championships, winning the Individual Championship from a field of 240 players. Rasmussen compiled 329 match points to finish one-half point ahead of W.H. Dillingham of Lake Charles, La.

Helena Prehn of Denver, Colo., was third with 318 points; George Bleskacheck of Eau Claire, Wis., fourth at 317, and Jack Buck, Vida, Ore., fifth at 315½. The Individual Championship is the only event in the ten-day tournament in which winners are not pairs, or teams, of players. More than 4,500 players are expected for the multiple-event contest in which five major titles and 12 lesser championships are at stake.

John Howland and Gary Tilly, both of Houston, won the San Antonio play in Friday's continent-wide charity game conducted almost simultaneously at 380 other playing sites with an estimated 25,000 participants who competed with identical, computer dealt hands. Play at San Antonio started after Percy X. Bean, Olympia, Wash., president of the ACBL Charity Foundation, presented a check for $25,000 to the American Cancer Society.

Second place in the charity game went to Kirk Benson, Coral Gables, Fla., and David Smith, Greenville, Tenn. George A. Warren, Dallas, and Paul F. Bryant, Carrollton, Tex., were third; Jack Shaw, Weatherford, Okla., and John T. Knudsen, Watonga Okla., fourth, with Mrs. David Brown and Mrs. M.K. Morgan, San Antonio, fifth. A continent-wide winner will be named from the International headquarters of the American Contract Bridge League at Memphis, Tenn., after comparison of scores mailed from all sites.

Two pairs of the most-winning players in bridge held top positions among qualifiers for the final round in the Mixed Pairs Championship, a race for the Helen Pendleton Rockwell Trophy, the first major title at the tournament.

VA Opens Gift Shop

The yearly Big Spring VA Hospital Gift Shop will begin operations Monday, with more than $5,000 worth of Christmas gifts slated to be given away to the immediate families of patients at the hospital.

Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and operated by volunteers from several veteran's organizations and auxiliaries, the shop will last until Thursday.

The purpose of the Gift Shop is to allow all VA Hospital patients to give Christmas gifts to each member of their immediate family, free of charge.

The Gift Shop Committee, chaired by Mrs. Zelda Roe, has been selecting and accepting all new gifts all year so that each patient will have a good selection of gifts.

New gifts are donated by organizations such as the American Legion, Veteran of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, and World War I Veterans and their auxiliaries. Donations come from as far away as El Paso, Lubbock Abilene, San Angelo and parts of New Mexico.

After the gifts are selected by the patients, volunteers wrap the gifts in Christmas wrapping, and then wrap them for mailing, all free to the paitents.

Webb Repeats With Trophy

For the second year consecutive, Webb AFB has captured the Air Training Command Commander's Trophy. The annual award is presented to the base which collects the most points in ATC sports and recreational activities.

Webb's non-athletic activities played a major role in winning the award this year, as the base took command first in design craftsmen and the library scrapbook, also a second place finish in the photography contest.

Base athletes collected a few more points for Webb by winning the flag football crown last week. Webb also finished second in the command golf tourney.

Each undergraduate pilot training base receives 80 points for every entry into an ATC activity. Training centers such as Lackland AFB receive 50 points. Bases winning a first place receive 100 additonal points, second place is worth 80 points and third gives the base 60 points.

Webb had entrants in command competition in chess, the art Contest and talent Contest, as well as in sports such as tennis, basketball, fast and slowpitch softball, volleyball and bowling. An official award presentation will come at a later date.

Nixon's Testimony Required For Full Watergate Story?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Can the full story of Watergate be told without the testimony of Richard M. Nixon? That's the question left to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica by the medical report he received from court-appointed doctors who examined Nixon.

If Sirica decides Nixon's testimony is essential, the judge might have to take extraordinary steps to make it part of the trial record.

TOO LONG

On the other hand, if Sirica decides that neither John D. Ehrlichman nor any of the other defendants needs Nixon's testimony for his defense, it will be a question defense lawyers can raise again in appeals if their clients are convicted.

The unanimous report of the three-doctor panel, released Friday, stated Nixon "is not presently able" to testify in Washington, in California, or even by deposition.

But the doctors held out the possibility that barring further complications in the former president's condition, it might not be too long.

They said Nixon might be well enough to give a deposition at his home under carefully supervised conditions by Jan. 6.

The earliest they estimated he'd be well enough to testify in a courtroom would be early February.

CONSPIRACY

The subpoena demanding that Nixon appear was issued at the request of Ehrlichman, former White House adviser, now charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Ehrlichman contends Nixon's testimony is essential to his defense. He contends, he and Nixon had several unrecorded conversations which would tend to confirm his defense that he consistently urged that the full story of Watergate be told.

In his opening statement, Ehrlichman's lawyer, said that on April 30, 1973, the day Ehrlichman resigned from the White House staff, Nixon told his aide:

"John, you have been my conscience but I didn't follow your advice. It is all my fault. If I had only followed your advice we wouldn't be in this situation."

NO TAPE

There was no tape of that conversation. The only way Ehrlichman can corroborate it is by getting the testimony of the only other person who was there: Nixon.

But the question Sirica faces is how to deal with the strong possibility the trial will end about two weeks before the earliest date the doctors said Nixon could be questioned.

Since the day jury selection began, Sirica has held out the hope to the jurors that the trial would end before Christmas.

If Sirica decides Nixon's testimony is essential and if all other testimony in the trial is completed, he must decide what to do with the jury, which has been sequestered since early October.

Most defense attorneys fear that separating jurors from families and friends over Christmas to wait for Nixon testimony might put them in a mood to convict.

The judge could let the jurors go home for the wait. That would be an unusual move and would probably be protested by defense attorneys who have argued that the Watergate publicity had already made it nearly impossible to get a fair trial.

Energy Tax Bill 'Cheap Politics'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The state's largest association of independent oil operators has labeled the pending energy tax bill "cheap politics" and called on Texas congressmen to fight it.

Major features of the bill, approved last week by the U.S. House Ways and Means Committee, would reduce the price of crude oil to curtail "windfall profits" and eliminate the percentage depletion allowance on oil production.

The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) sent a four-page memorandum to the state's congressional delegation opposing the bill.

PURE AND SIMPLE

George Mitchell, TIPRO president, said the bill would "eliminate any hope for Project Independence" and deal a "devastating blow to domestic independent oil and gas producers."

"This is punitive legislation pure and simple. We believe, it can serve no constructive purpose whatsoever, and that in time the American people will come to recognize that its proponents were less concerned with the national interest than with playing cheap politics," Mitchell said.

He said TIPRO recognized that many supporters of the bill "honestly believe it would only eliminate the excessive profits of a few large American companies operating worldwide."

"As written, however, this bill would devastate domestic independent producers while leaving virtually untouched the operations of the international giants," Mitchell said.

ADDED COST

He said eliminating percentage depletion and imposing the "windfall" profits tax would cost producers as much as $5.50 to $6 for each barrel of crude they produce.

"Only those companies which are integrated, the large majors, have any opportunity to pass through to the consumer this added tax cost," Mitchell said.

Eliminating percentage depletion would leave independents without any means to recoup expenditures for dry holes, Mitchell said, since the bill would limit depletion "to the capital investment involved in only successful oil ventures."

And this, he added, would make risk capital hard to come by.

Mitchell complained that the windfall profits tax does not affect the foreign production of American oil companies.

"Yet it is on these foreign operations that the companies have reaped the alleged 'obscene' profits which drew political fire and led to the unfortunate determination of some in Congress to 'punish' the oil industry," he said.

Oil Drilling Is At Higher Level

Oil well drilling continued its stepped-up pace both in Texas and the nation last week in comparison with a year ago.

Figures by Hughes Tool Co. for the International Association of Drilling Contractors showed 1,626 rigs turning in the United States. This was 219 or 15.54 per cent more than the comparable date in 1973. Of this, 578 were in Texas, 70 151 rigs or 35.87 per cent.

IT'S GREAT THERAPY

Pie In The Eye

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief agent Rex Weiner takes his assignments seriously and guarantees the client who has contracted for his services a direct hit every time.

In the last several months, Weiner and his 12 attack men have zapped dozens of unsuspecting victims — with lemon meringue, banana cream and occasionally shaving cream pies.

These are the agents of "Pie-Kill Unlimited," an organization that considers it a high duty "to stamp out pomposity and to wreak light-hearted havoc."

$40 AND UP

For a fee of $40 and up, depending on the risks involved, Weiner's crew will throw a pie of negotiable flavor in someone's eye at offices, conventions and birthday parties.

"I strongly recommend a pie in the face. It's great therapy, especially for the unbearable ego," said 24-year-old Weiner, a former underground newspaper publisher.

Recalling the stunts of his more political days, Weiner said a week after the Watergate burglary he and his friends "bugged" Republican offices in New York — by releasing thousands of cockroaches at the headquarters of Committee to Reelect the President.

"Then I decided that politicians shouldn't have a monopoly on dirty tricksters," said Weiner who formed "Pie-Kill Unlimited" in June. "We cater to the private sector now."

Weiner assures his clients of the very best quality pies. The flavor is up to the client, but Weiner recommends the cream pies for the most delightful results.

Weiner prefers to be contacted by mail and then sets up a meeting with the client in a public place to guarantee confidentiality. The client must agree to all cleaning costs which can be kept to a minimum by using shaving cream pies instead of the tastier but more staining versions.

So far, said Weiner, none of the more than 50 lathered victims has threatened to sue.

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A982 ♥AK532 ♦J4 ♣7?
The bidding has proceeded?

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣	?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. There is nothing you can do with any degree of safety. Neither East nor West has limited his hand, so there is a chance that your partner has a near bust. Thus, your hand might produce no more than four tricks at an eight-trick contract. However, you have sufficient defensive values to suggest that the opponents may not get to game, or make it if they do.

Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠6 ♥AQ1092 ♦A83 ♣AQ62
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. While you the values to proceed to three no trump, your hand should play better in a suit contract if your partner has a suitable fit. Your bid gives North the option of converting to the no trump game or going on to four hearts with three-card support.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠9 ♥KJ92 ♦KQ10 ♣AKJ52
The bidding has proceeded?

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Even if partner's response was shaded, you want to be in game. Your hand is worth 20 points in support of hearts. Bear in mind that a jump to three hearts would not be forcing, and partner might pass on a hand that would make game opposite yours.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J63 ♥AQ10954 ♦A ♣AK8
The bidding has proceeded?

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
3 NT	Pass	4 ♥	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Six hearts. North has shown a good hand, first by responding at the two-level, then by showing his spade control and subsequently supporting hearts. He should, therefore, have the ingredients necessary to produce 12 tricks. The scientific approach is to cue-bid your minor-suit aces in case partner has the magic holding to produce a grand slam.

Q.5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠1095 ♥AJ10943 ♦K54 ♣8
The bidding has proceeded?

East	South	West	North
3 ♣	Pass	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Partner has shown a powerful hand, so we wouldn't blame you for raising directly to six spades. However, you should make some allowance for the fact that partner might already have taken some of your values into account. At this level it is difficult to be exact, but a prudent raise to five spades would suggest that you have a better hand than he might have anticipated.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠952 ♥AQJ1032 ♦K98 ♣A
The bidding has proceeded?

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	1 ♠	2 ♣	Pass

What is your rebid?

A.—Our preference is for two hearts. To be sure, this is an understatement of our values, but when partner has bid freely at the two-level he surely intends to bid again. A jump to three hearts would be too aggressive, for the hand might be a misfit.

Q.7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQ8 ♥KQ7 ♦AQ982 ♣76
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Dble.
1 NT	Pass	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Double again. Even though partner could not act freely over West's no trump bid, your hand is too good not to compete further. This double is, of course, still primarily for takeout, but if partner elects to pass, you will be happy to defend. Do not bid diamonds at the two-level on such a moth-eaten suit, especially with such fine support for both majors.

A.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ98 ♦AK65 ♦AK852
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥

What action do you take?

A.—Bid three hearts. Your hand was not quite good enough for an opening two-bid, but now that your opponents have shown length and strength in hearts, your chances of finding a fit with partner are that much better. The cue-bid is absolutely forcing and is preferred to a double—which partner might leave in when you would rather play for game.

DEPRESSION ART 'FOUND'

Public Offered Art Prints

Imagine, if you can, finding several thousand sets of antique prints of the world's greatest paintings that were lost for more than 35 years! It actually happened . . . and this is the true story of the discovery of that lost treasure.

Eleanor Roosevelt

Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries — the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Renoir, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

Abandoned In 1937

For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

Through a series of rare coincidences, the lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agreed that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction was incredibly accurate. Over $500,000.00 was spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates. It would be impossible to reproduce prints such as these under existing methods, and for that reason these prints are literally collector's items. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

Available to Public

These authentic original 1937 prints have been appraised by the American Appraisers' Assoc. at $7.00 each print. Now, these full color 11"x14" prints are finally available to the public at $19.95 for a collection of 18 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Surplus, Dept. C85, P.O. Box 605, Tarzana, Calif., 91356. Fully GUARANTEED. Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Mastercharge and Bankamericard OK (give card number). (ADV.)

Ma Bell's Political Slush Funding Probed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Despite stout denials from executives, storm clouds of scandal hovered this past week over Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. as for the first time major questions are being raised about the company's policies and practices.

Allegations of illegal wiretapping, deceitful rate settings and political slush funding have been leveled against the company by police officials, attorneys, former employes and an ex-Bell executive.

DENIALS

Bell officials have issued strong denials to all charges claiming in one instance "we have been accused, tried and judged ... without benefit of trial."

The charges have already had an effect. Several city councils around the state are taking a second look at rate increases proposed by Bell. Dallas has hired a consultant to examine a rate increase requested in that city. Texas has no state utilities regulation body.

The possible scandal was triggered by a $29.2 million libel and slander suit filed in San Antonio against Bell by James H. Ashley, a former Bell executive, and by the family of T.O. Gravitt, the late chief of Bell's Texas operations. Gravitt killed himself in October following a company investigation which his family said caused him extreme distress and drove him to his death.

ILLEGAL RATES

Gravitt left a suicide note and memos which accused Bell of illegal rate setting policies and wiretapping.

The family of Gravitt joined with Ashley in the suit.

In statements to The Associated Press last week, Ashley charged that 142 top Bell executives are required by company policy to give politicians money.

"Up until 1966, we gave $50 a month in cash," he said.

After a law passed forbidding corporations to make political contributions, Ashley said the executives were given $1,000 raises with the understanding that all or part of the money was to go for political payments.

"We had no choice," said Ashley. "We were required to make these 'voluntary' contributions."

A LIAR

A Houston attorney, Phil Green, charged that information for more than 70 narcotics cases was obtained through an illegal wiretap on one of his clients. The attorney showed newsmen the telephone terminal box he claimed was used to establish the tap.

Houston Bell security chief Jerry Slaughter called Green "a damned liar."

Slaughter said he knew his security officers were not involved, but admitted that more than 3,000 Bell employees in Houston alone had the technical capability to tap telephone conversations.

Such action, however, is illegal, he said, and employees caught wiretapping would be fired "and we haven't fired anybody."

Another source, a former Bell employee, said workmen in switching stations routinely tap into conversations just to pass the time. This was confirmed by other sources.

The former employee said workmen sometimes find lines where conversations of an intimate nature take place regularly and these are often monitored. Sometimes, he claimed, the conversations are even recorded and shared with others.

Texas Construction Drops To Low Level

DALLAS (AP) — November contract awards in the construction industry in Texas dropped to their lowest level for that month of any year since 1967, the Texas Contractor will say Tuesday.

The industry magazine blamed what it called the uncertain economy.

At the same time, pevious months hiked the 11-month total to the highest of record.

The magazine reports on all construction other than housing.

The November total was $100.3 million. The 11-month total is $2.2 billion.

The largest November contract was $22.6 million to Austin Bridge Co. of Dallas by the Texas Highway Department for the long delayed North Freeway in San Antonio, the magazine said.

The award was the largest contract ever let by the highway department and overshadowed the total award letings with the remainder ot the highway jobs totaling $6.4 million, Texas Contractor said.

The second largest award was $6.08 million to B. L. McGee, Inc., Austin, for additions to the Texas State Department of Health's headquarters building complex.

The magazine said the primary concern of the industry is the shortage of money and high interest rates in an extremely cautious economy.

$287,000 Gems Theft

PARIS (AP) — A parcel which contained 44 diamonds valued at $287,000 was missing Friday shortly after it was brought here by plane from New York, police said today.

Police said the parcel, which had been sent by Belgo-African Diamonds of New York to the Monneret Company in Paris, was declared missing at Roissy airport. Authorities said it had been delivered aboard an Air France cargo plane.

There are 24 shopping days until Christmas, and, with inflation, recession, and sky high prices, many Big Spring residents are at a loss.

One way many Americans have found to beat the high cost of Christmas is turning back time. In grandmother's Day, handcrafted gifts were commonplace. Today, they are not only rare but deeply appreciated.

Traditional gifts of crochet, knit, quilting, and needlecraft have always been at the top of the lists for talented people. But many more gifts can be made with no more ability than that of reading and following directions.

Dry flowers may be arranged for an attractive winter-time centerpiece. A bouquet from paper flowers created by the gift giver always brightens Christmas morning.

Rugs may be hooked easier than ever for that person on the list with a bare floor. The ancient art of basket weaving can provide any ambitious person with hours of relaxation and that extra personal gift for under the pine tree.

Candles have added a festive touch to holiday entertainment for centuries. How much more the candle means to its recipient if it is an original.

Children seem unable to resist puppets or dolls, and they can be made easily, often using scraps of things from around the house.

Instructions for all of the Christmas gift ideas above and lots more original ideas can be found in the Howard County Library.

Military Rulers Deny Deal For Life Of Haile Selassie

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — The military government announced Saturday that deposed Emperor Haile Selassie has "of his own free will" approved the transfer of his personal and family fortunes to help drought victims in Ethiopia.

The Provisional Military Administrative Council denied reports it had threatened to kill Selassie if he refused.

The 82-year-old former monarch was being held in a suite of the Grand Palace for a fate that the military has said will be determined by the people.

The government statement said Selassie signed a letter authorizing the transfer of money, bullion, jewels, stocks, and other holdings, both in Ethiopia and abroad.

PAUPERS

A sweeping sale of properties, as projected by the council, would turn one of the world's richest families into comparative paupers.

The statement did not say when the emperor signed the three-page letter and did not estimate the amount of the fortunes. Some estimates have put the figure as high as $15 billion.

Much of the wealth is believed held in secret Swiss bank accounts. Swiss Ambassador Heinz Langenbacher said he has not seen the letter disclosed by the military council but assumed that it would "make everything much easier for them."

FREEDOM

But banking sources in Zurich said Friday that any authority to turn the money over to anyone but the depositor would require proof that it was given under "full freedom of decision."

The council's statement said Selassie's letter "authorized the transfer of all his fortune and those of his family to help alleviate the grave problem facing the Ethiopian people on account of the serious natural disaster."

An estimated 100,000 persons have died in Ethiopia's drought. Hundreds of thousands more have gone hungry.

The council said the letter covered assets in the names of the Empress Menen, Haile Selassie's late wife, and his children and grandchildren.

The military contends Selassie grew rich during his 46-year reign while Ethiopian subjects starved. From their own meeting rooms in the hilltop palace, — and want to change it.

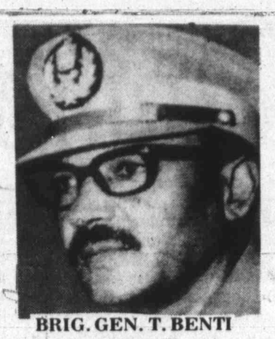

STARVED

But social reform was low on the agenda last week. Reliable foreign sources said the 120 men on the committee of junior officers confined themselves to headquarters — perhaps so they could keep an eye on each other.

Suspicion and fear gripped Ethiopia a week after the military seemed determined to achieve equality and a better life for the poor by imposing stern morality and terror.

"There is no obvious leadership and no clear-cut factions," another Westerner said. "This is the basis of anarchy."

"We are in for a prolonged period of instability," an observer said. "There is no institution of proven political strength. The committee is improvising its programs as it goes along."

Ervin Believes Busing Order Unconstitutional

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., says he believes the court order under which Boston schools are being integrated violates the Constitution's equal protection clause.

Ervin said such court orders are unconstitutional because they divide children into two groups, one to be bused and the other which is allowed to attend neighborhood schools.

The retiring senator's comments were contained in a letter received Friday by state Rep. Raymond L. Flynn, D-Boston, who had asked Ervin to take part in court action here against the federal court order.

Ervin sad he could not do so because "I simply have too many other obligations resting upon me to be able to devote any attention to this matter. However, my heart is with you. Likewise my head."

Mad Deer Gores Couple

RANDALLSTOWN, Md. (AP) — An eight-point buck weighing 250 pounds gored a Randallstown man and his wife before a passing motorist grabbed the bloody antlers and wrestled the animal away, state police reported.

Just as William Messer, 25, was about to lose his grip on the kicking deer, officers said, a passing hunter brought it down with two blasts from his shotgun.

Officers said Howard T. Pitts, 61, was gored in the groin and knocked unconscious Friday and his wife Viola, 53, struck in the leg as they stepped out of their car to get a closer look at the deer.

One passing motorist tried to scare the animal away with his car before Messer arrived and grabbed the kicking animal, officers said. Minutes later, Vincent A. Geppi Jr., who had been hunting rabbits and pheasants, passed by and killed the buck.

"Had it not been for the fellow with the shotgun, someone would have been killed," Trooper David C. Franklin said.

PARLAYED $5,000 INTO $2 BILLION

Oil Mogul H. L. Hunt Dead At 85

DALLAS (AP) — H.L. Hunt, who parlayed a $5,000 inheritance into one of the world's greatest fortunes—often estimated at $2 billion—once said that anyone who knew how rich he was wasn't very rich.

Hunt said he did not know the amount of his fortune.

The oilman with the ultra-conservative political views and the deep-seated opinions on how money should be used, died Friday after a lengthy stay at Baylor Hospital here. He was admitted with a virus last September. The family declined to give the cause of his death.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the First Baptist Church in Dallas with burial at Sparkman-Hillcrest Memorial Park.

Hunt gave this formula for making money: "You have to be lucky. You have to be of an acquisitive nature, aggressive and thirfty."

He once was known as a bigtime gambler, particularly on sports events. But he stopped gambling and smoking in his later years and he claimed he could have been five times richer had he never gambled.

Stories of his frugality are legion. He carried his lunch in a brown paper bag, walked blocks to and from his office to save 50 cents on parking fees and toured his home turning out unnecessary lights.

Conservatives viewed him as a great spokesman; liberals considered him a symbol of the far right and of big business.

But Hunt preferred to be known as a constructive. He said he aimed his money at better government and once told a national television audience that the last really good president was Calvin Coolidge.

Hunt was the youngest of eight children of a Confederate war veteran. He was born Feb. 17, 1889.

He quit school at the fifth grade to roam the country working as a farm hand, lumberjack and cowboy. After five years of such a life he inherited $5,000.

That inheritance became the basis for what billionaire oilman J. Paul Getty called the largest independent oil fortune in the nation.

Hunt bought a plantation in Arkansas mostly for taxes and debts. But when Arkansas drillers struck oil, he headed for the fields.

By 1920 Hunt had his first million, but the big riches came at the East Texas oil field, greatest ever found to that time.

After slogging through the muddy East Texas oil fields in a Model T Ford buying and selling oil leases and watching over his drilling rigs, Hunt moved to Dallas.

There he bought an outsized replica of George Washington's Potomac home overlooking a lake in the city. He named his home Mount Vernon.

Later oilman Hunt diversified into such businesses as pecans, asphalt, canned chickens, roses, and cosmetics virtually guaranteed to keep users looking young.

"I've never tried to become the biggest oilman or anything else," he once said. "For all practical purposes a man with $200,000 is as well off as a man with $200 million. A millionaire who throws his money around is stupid."

Associates often heard him not knowing whether he was literal minded beyond reason or possessed the driest humor in the world.

One legendary story has circulated in Dallas for years about when his son, Lamar Hunt, owned the Dallas Texans—later the Kansas City Chiefs—and the team was losing money.

The story goes that a friend said to Lamar's father: "I hear Lamar is losing a million dollars a year on the football team. For God's sake, how long can that last."

"About 60 years," the elder Hunt replied.

The billionaire's first wife was Lyda Bunker Hunt, a native of Lake Village, Ark. His second wife, Ruth Ray Hunt, survives him. She is from Idabel, Okla.

He also is survived by five sons, Haroldson L. Hunt Jr., Nelson Bunker Hunt, W. Herbert Hunt, Lamar and Ray L. Hunt.

Five daughters also survive him: Mrs. A. G. (Margaret) Hill, Mrs. Hugo W. (Caroline) Schoellkopf Jr., Miss Ruth Jane Hunt, Mrs. Randall A. (Helen) Kreiling and Mrs. Mark A. (Swanee) Meeks.

There are signs that a titanic struggle may ensue over Hunt's empire. Earlier court cases involving various wiretap charges brought up that possibility.

Paul M. Rothermel, former top Hunt security boss, said two years ago in an interview that there is a struggle between the Hunt children by his wife wife and the child by his second.

Rothermel said, "I know all about the split in the two families. I was the one who influenced Mr. Hunt to leave 51 per cent of the Hunt Oil Co. to Ruth Ray Hunt, his second wife and the other children of his second marriage.

A judge has impounded some of the records in various suits bearing on the issue.

"There are times when I've wished I'd wake up stone broke," Hunt once said. "It would be a great adventure to see how good I was, to see if I could create lots of wealth again."

Texas Traffic Toll Takes Dip

AUSTIN (AP) — The Department of Public Safety says there has been a 20 per cent decrease in traffic deaths and a 17 per cent decrease in the number of fatal accidents from the same time a year ago.

The number of persons killed in traffic accidents dropped from 3,306 by this time in 1973 to 2,653 so far in 1974.

There have been 2,278 fatal accidents in 1974, compared with 2,735 at this time in 1973, the DPS said.

Just Say "CHARGE-IT"

Incentive, Not Penalty

Surely the House of Representatives will have the good judgment not to tinker with the oil depletion allowance, although the Ways and Means committee has recommended its abolution.

This proposal comes at a time when the nation is facing a fuel crisis brought on in part by the increasing dependence upon foreign crude oil. To wipe out the 22 per cent depletion allowance at the very time that incentives are needed to more fully develop our own domestic reserves would be sheer folly.

There is a tendency on the part of those not familiar with the extreme hazards of oil exploration to regard the depletion allowance as a subsidy to oil producers. More aptly stated, this allowance is a possible or partial indemnity against prohibitive losses which wildcatting entails. We say it's possible because even though the average is one well to every 8 to 10 explorations attempted, there is no assurance to a operator that he will be even that fortunate. On the other hand, if the wildcatter is lucky enough to find oil, the allowance allows him to charge off only one-fifth of his production. In so many words, against adverse 10-1 odds he hopes for 5-1 rewards.

In a recent address, Ed Thompson of the Permian Basin Oil and Gas Association, the independents' organization in West Texas, pointed out that 87 per cent of the wildcat wells are drilled by independents, and that they have discovered 80 per cent of the nation's reserves Congress had better take a long, long and hard look before killing off the goose that lays the golden egg.

The columnist William Buckley recently made an interesting proposal, namely to slap an import tax on foreign crude oil to the extent of the difference in its price and that for domestic crude. For example, that might mean now that about $5 tax would go on each barrel of imported crude, running its total charge in many cases up to $16 a barrel. That would mean that domestic crude would sell for something less than half of that, and you can imagine which crude oil would sell first and what the demand for it would do toward stimulating exploration and development. We doubt the idea would ever be accepted, but it does illustrate vividly the need for incentive rather than penalty for producing more domestic oil.

"Least Of One Of These"

When you're making up your Christmas lists, why not consider CARE as the object of one of your gifts? The CARE Food Crusade is aiming at a goal of $7,300,000 from voluntary donations to help feed 22 million people, mostly children, thoughout the coming year.

When you give a dollar to CARE, it is multiplied six times before it meets starving mouths. This is because the U.S. government, by selling surplus food supplies at a discount, and the host government adding to it, make those CARE dollars go much, much further. As an example of what your gifts will do: $5 gives 270 children a full, nutritious lunch; $10 gives 3,600 children cups of protein-enriched beverage; $25 delivers 500 pounds of food. If you want to help "one of the least of these," mail your check to CARE Food Crusade, 660 First Ave., New York, NY 10016.

My Answer

Billy Graham

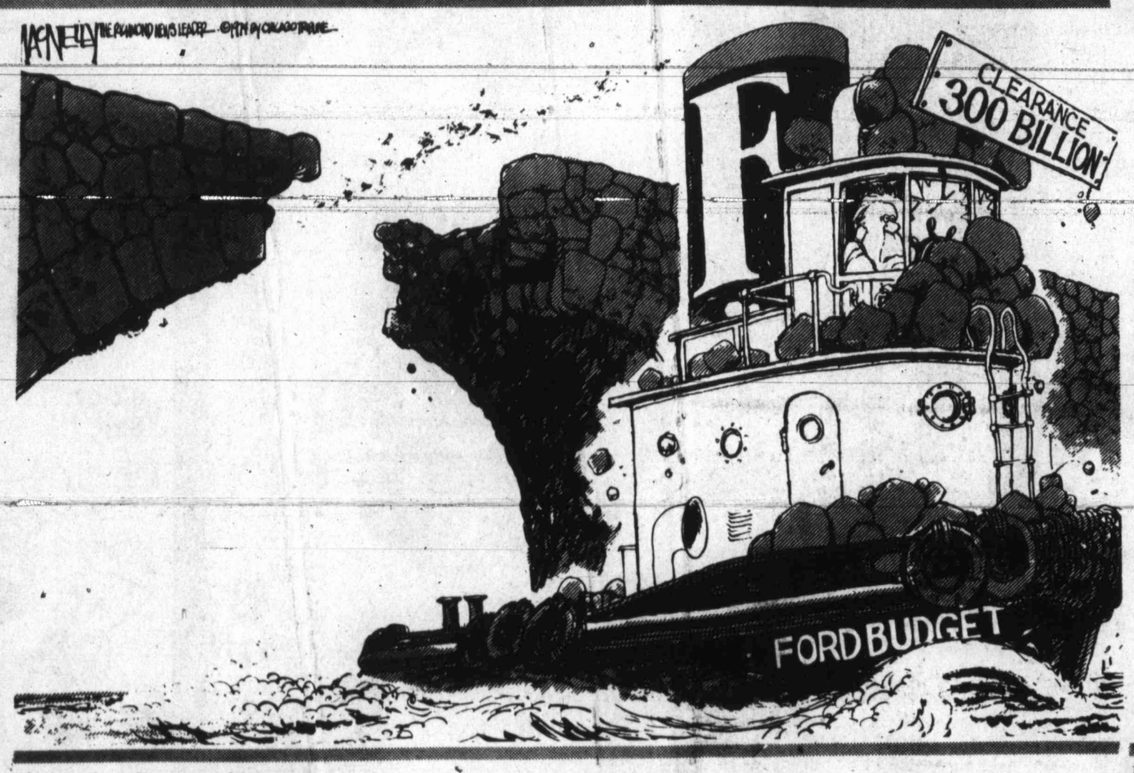

Every day I read your comments in our local paper and enjoy them. Would you comment on the relationship of God and Hannah? What is the meaning of the word "Hannah" according to the Bible? D.S.

The Bible character Hannah was one of the two wives of Elkanah. Hannah visited the tabernacle at Shiloh yearly with her husband to offer sacrifices.

She was greatly distressed because they had no children, and prayed earnestly to the Lord for a male child — whom she promised to dedicate to the Lord from birth. The prayer was heard and she called her son Samuel, meaning "God hears."

Her name, Hannah, had its own special meaning in view of all this. It meant "grace" or "favor." Incidentally, Hannah was a prophetess of no ordinary talent, evidenced by her poetic utterance elicited by God's answer to her prayer, (I Samuel 2: 1-10).

It was this that foreshadowed the magnificat of Mary, and may have been familiar to the mother of Jesus. But taken in its entirety the story of Hannah reveals the happy home life of pious Israelites — and is a great example of the power of prayer.

Two Armed Bandit

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

It had been a wonderful night and dawn in glittering Las Vegas.

Crusading reporter John Edwards, my son, Kim, and I had viewed the spectacular Lido de Paris with its dazzling sets at the Stardust. We had been thrilled by the world's top burlesque stars with their magnificent costumes on and off at the Cabaret.

AFTER A HINT here and there, John decided he should interview and photograph the smallest of the stripper "queens." If I were the Herald's amusement page editor, 27 and single I would have thought it a "must." Even at my energetic age of 49 I thought it was a "juicy assignment." John made his appointment.

Following this rich menu of "goodies," John, Kim and I returned to our $30 a day room at the gaudy Hotel Aladdin.

John decked himself out with photographic equipment and dashed off in his dandy red Dasher.

Kim donned his pajamas and jumped into bed while visions of grapefruits danced in his head.

I SQUIRMED into my pajamas, but I wasn't sleepy. I was worried!

What if that little exotic dancer gave John some kind of pill or something and flim-flamed him out of his camera, plus a bundle of traveler's checks? I would never forgive myself — me, an ex-police reporter in El Paso and Juarez — with maybe not all, but most of the answers.

I studied the road map. We had traveled nearly 1,200 miles and not even a scratched fender. I counted the cash in my billfold — $127 — this included $12 "profit" from slot machines.

I HAD BEEN "hiding" the money in several envelopes and suitcases during our stops at El Paso and Tucson. Tonight, I placed the billfold near a lamp on a table nearby and slid into bed, with three room lights ablaze.

Kim was snoring. I was awakened after dozing about 30 minutes, by someone, wearing a brown leather jacket, slipping around the room.

"Hey," I yelled.

THE FIGURE bolted from the room — almost as fast as OU's Joe Washington flashing for a touchdown against Texas. It was a long, long hallway. The thief was long gone.

I rushed to the phone and shouted: "I've been robbed."

"Kim, get out of bed," I mumbled. "Someone stole my billfold and all my money. What are we going to do?"

My son rolled to his feet. He inspected a hip pocket of his trousers, tossed over a chair.

"He got my billfold and cash," Kim said. He returned to bed and within a couple of minutes renewed his snoring. This infuriated me.

HOTEL ALLADIN Security Officer Don Funston raced into the room. He was lugging a green box containing oxygen. He thought I had suffered a heart attack. He was pretty close to the truth.

About an hour later, Bob Kennedy, chief of hotel security and a former deputy sheriff who had grabbed headlines by arresting a D.A. in Carlsbad, N.M., for creating a disturbance in a Carlsbad, N.M. beer joint nine years ago, seized a suspect in the act of burglarizing a suite in the building.

He was Dewey Edward Mitchell, alias "The Gypsy" with eight felony raps in eight different states. He had no money or identification when arrested. He wore a brown jacket and Levis.

I BEAT the one-armed bandits in Vegas, but I was ripped off by a two-armed bandit.

Readers, don't go away I'll have a few more words about my misadventures next week. Believe me, it's good to be back in good ol' Big Spring.

WASHINGTON — "Can I help you, sir?"

"I'D LIKE to join the United Nations."

"Very good. By the way, do you mind putting down that gun?"

"The gun stays where it is. Now, what do you want to know?"

"We have certain rules for new members. I'll have to ask you a few questions. Who recommended you for membership?"

"ALL THE ARAB countries. They said if you don't make me a member, they'll cut off your oil."

"We don't like blackmail at the United Nations, but on the other hand we're always looking for worthy countries who will abide by the charter. Could you tell me what you've done to warrant membership in our esteemed organization?"

"WE'VE HIJACKED more than 30 foreign airplanes and held the crew and passengers as hostages."

"I see. You're a terrorist organization."

"Do you have anything against terrorist organizations?"

"Of course not. Look, please put down that gun."

"I TOLD YOU, the gun stays where it is. What else do you want to know?"

"Well, is there anything you can tell me about yourself that would show us you're worthy of belonging to a peace-loving organization?"

"We killed an American ambassador in Khartoum as well as the U.S. charge d'affaires and the Belgium ambassador."

"Hmmmm. That could be looked on by some as a provocative act."

"WHEN HAS IT been a crime in the United Nations to kill a couple of ambassadors?"

"Don't get excited, I'm just trying to get the full picture. Is there anything else that you're proud of?"

"We murdered 22 people at the airport in Rome. We were hoping to kill a hundred more, but we only wounded them."

"Ordinarily we don't like to take in anyone who goes around killing innocent people. But in your case, since you come so highly recommended by the Soviet Union also, we can certainly overlook it."

"DON'T FORGET TO put down the massacre at the Munich Olympic Games."

"Yes, I believe I read something about that. The victims were Israeli athletes, weren't they?"

"We got 11 of them, all unarmed. But since they were Israeli athletes, I'm sure no one will raise a fuss."

"THEY'D BETTER NOT. Here's a list of the other things we've done, including the raid on Ma'alot where we murdered all the kids in the school. The list is not up to date because we still have some tricks up our sleeves."

"From what you've told me, I can't see anything standing in the way of your joining the United Nations. Incidentally, where exactly is your country?"

"Here on this map."

"But that's Israel!"

"Not after we drive them into the sea."

Recession May Stretch Out

This Week's Business

- Downturn may be longest since World War II, Simon says
- See jobless rate of 7 pct., three months dip is sharpest
- President's budget makes recession the prime target
- FED chief Arthur Burns pushes for oil "austerity policy"
- First trade surplus in six months is one bright ray

NEW YORK (AP) — Unsettled by predictions that the current recession may be the longest since World War II, Americans celebrated Thanksgiving with a sense of foreboding this past week.

Despite inflation, many knew they had reason to give thanks for past prosperity. But as to the future, there was greater anxiety than in many a year.

Not even the drop in turkey prices managed to relieve the uncertainty. To many it seemed more a quirk than a trend of the times.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, for example, said the current recession may be the longest since World War II.

MORE JOBLESS

He also foresaw unemployment rising from its current 6 per cent of the work force to or above 7 per cent by spring.

The government's index of leading economic indicators plunged 1.3 per cent in October, following the record drop of 3.3 per cent in September and a .9 per cent August decline. The three-month slide in the index, which signals future economic activity, is the first since 1970 and sharpest fall in many years.

President Ford's budget proposals to Congress, revealed Tuesday, were higher than his original estimates and led to speculation that the administration had shifted its primary economic goal from solving inflation to easing the recession or perhaps even stimulating the economy.

Ford's $302.2 billion budget was above the $300 billion figure he had previously said was necessary to whip inflation, and included social welfare cuts seens as unacceptable to Congress.

AUSTERITY POLICY

And Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, told Congress that the nation needs "a policy of austerity" on oil if it is to solve the problem caused by high oil prices and the policies of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC).

Burns, dismissing the administration's voluntary conservation program as inadequate, added his voice to those calling for mandatory measures that may include substantially higher gasoline taxes, or taxes on imported crude oil and big auto horsepower.

But on the bright side, for the first time in six months, the nation scored a trade surplus in October, the Commerce Department reported. The seasonally-adjusted gain of $29.4 million compared with a deficit of $233.3 million the month previous and a surplus of nearly $600 million in October, 1973.

Job Outlook Good In South

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Texas economist says manufacturing jobs, although declining in the nation, are growing rapidly in the rural South.

Ray Marshall, staff director of the Task Force on Southern Rural Development and an economist at the University of Texas, said research shows there are two stages of industrial development.

The first is an influx of manufacturers attracted to an area by low wages, he said, succeeded by a second wave of manufacturers who hire away some of the trained people and raise incomes.

Low - Grade Lenny

William F. Buckley, Jr.

There is a movie out on the life and Hard Times of Lenny Bruce. It is technically a superb production, done in black and white, following the technique of the strung out posthumous flashback, the style of "Citizen Kane." The acting is superb. More exactly, the performances are superb, because the principal, Dustin Hoffman, is quite simply unconvincing, and this is to his credit. Alex Guinness doing Adolph Hitler was unconvincing. Perhaps the reason for this, is that Hitler was unconcinving.

UNCONVINCING CHARACTERS can in fact convince, but this requires the proper historical setting. In the case of Hitler, things like national paranoia, a breakdown of civil government, storm-tossed national emotions on a Wagnerian scale. In the case of Lenny Bruce, it required a nation riding on a frenzy of iconoclasm, where grown-ups, sitting around a bar, felt a sense of liberation on hearing taboo words spoken out loud, smuttily, leeringly, by a "comedian."

There was a lot of that kind of thing in France in the days before the Revolution, when de Sade had his following, and Black Masses were an aristocratic sport. But reading de Sade now is like readnig pathology, and listening to Lenny Bruce is like a visit to one of those clinics where they keep two-headed children until, mercifully, they die off. Lenny Bruce died, morphine needle at his side, and the wonder of it is that they sought in the movie to make a hero out of him. I can be made to feel sorry for Lenny Bruce, but not to admire him. The worst of it is when grown-up movie producers try to make a hero out of him.

Why?

I NEVER HEARD Bruce, and I assume that he must have had some genuinely funny lines. But in the movie, there was only one, or two. And for a movie a third of which consists in exact reproduction of Lenny Bruce routines, that simply is not enough. Well then, was there something of a philosophical nature to be learned from Bruce's experience? I cannot imagine what. It is true that what would put you in the cooler a decade ago if you said it in public, appears nonchalantly today in mass circulation magazines; so that if you want to say that Bruce is pathetic because he went to jail back before the Warren Court issued general instructions to protect the pornographers, then I say: Thanks, but my reservoir of sympathy is otherwise spoken for.

I THINK THERE is a good case for letting obscene comedians go ahead and be obscene before their audiences, but my wells of retroactive sympathy do not run for those who in their haste to get the law changed, spent time in jail and lost on lawyers' fees a lot of the money they earned by pandering to obscenity.

And then the writer of "Lenny" seems to want to make another philosophical point, though he doesn't quite know how to make it. It is that Lenny was really a wholesome man, coming out for a direct approach to life, one that is free of hypocrisy. Count me out. I like it the other way. If Sam and Jane are having an adulterous affair, I shall proceed as if I did not know about it, and I much prefer it that they should hypocritically defend mongamous institutions, than attempt to flaunt their own libertinism: Hypocrisy, La Rochefoucauld said, is the tribute that vice pays to virtue.

THE FACT OF THE MATTER is that Lenny was a mess. He brought unhappiness to all those he touched intimately. He didn't have as much to say about life in his 20-year stand-up monologue as Samuel Johnson will tell you in one page of any of his works. His search for sensation took him to drugs, and that humiliating death, naked in the garret, at the age of 40. I hear it rumored that the movie suppresses some of Lenny's unattractive traits, such as his turning stoolie on his drug-addicted friends, for personal convenience. his call for candor was often perverse. At one hectic moment he enthralls his youthful audience by motivating the actions of Mrs. Kennedy at Dallas on the day of the assassination in a way that is not only cruel, but unproductively cruel. There is, even hypocrisy in his own muddled philosophy, as when, in the nightclub sequence, he uses "nigger" and "wop" and "kike" affecting to defuse the words when, in fact, he is disingenuously exploiting them. Lenny Bruce was probably mad, and mad people can under certain circumstances be entertaining, in time and place. But it is mad to admire them, and sick to find them enduringly funny.

She Has 'No Problems'

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl, 17. About two years ago I started to be very nervous. I went to my doctor a year ago and he said nothing physical was wrong with me but that I might go to a mental health clinic. I didn't go because I don't have any problems.

I get so nervous I start shaking all over and I can't stop it. Twice now it's gotten so bad that my eyesight blacked out for a second, and I felt like I was going to faint. I'm afraid next time I will.

When I was young I had meningitis and rheumatic fever. Please help me. I'm scared. — L.M.

What do you mean by trying to tell me that you "don't have any problems?" Then you tell me you get so nervous you shake all over.

That's your problem — your nerves. It's what can be technically called an "anxiety neurosis."

Your doctor has checked you and finds no physical cause. So he rightly deduces that if it isn't physical, it must be emotional. And he quite rightly advises you to go to a mental health clinic.

It's apparent that you yourself don't know what is causing your anxiety — your neurosis. But skilled mental health people very often can find out what is bothering you, even though you can't see it.

I suggest you follow your doctor's advice. Go to a mental health clinic. And stop saying you "don't have any problem," because you do. And you need some help.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you comment on inner ear trouble and ringing noises? — G.H.W.

Ringing noises in the ears may (or may not) signify inner ear trouble. High blood pressure can be cause; so can certain medications; impacted wax is a possibility. For a discussion of the problem, I suggest that you send 15 cents and a long, stamped, addressed return envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald for my booklet, "Ear Noises, Their Causes and Cures."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My year-old baby loves to chew the silver or gold paint off flashlight batteries. I fear this is dangerous. (Lead poisoning, you know.) His brothers are always leaving batteries from their toys around. What is the danger? — Mrs. R.N.

Chewing paint of any sort is dangerous. Some paint contains lead, but other chemicals also can be toxic.

If the brothers can't keep their batteries out of sight, and out of reach, I would not let them have any more, until they learn how.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son just turned 4. He attends a day care center and catches every virus and cold the kids have.

I should mention that he is half of a set of twins. His sister died at the age of one week, a case of sudden infant death. Can you help us understand why the boy reacts to fever as he does? Whenever his fever goes to 101, he becomes extremely weak. — Mrs. B.R.

It is not unusual for some youngsters, especially gregarious ones, to pick up infections on starting school. Because of your son's apparent susceptibility to infection, it may be he has a low gamma globulin level. Gamma globulin is a factor in the blood contributing to resistance and immunity from infection.

Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

On the street where I live, there are two dogs who are treated cruelly, in my opinion. They are tied with short chains, have no shelter from freezing weather, rain or sun. They are underfed.

I've learned from the city attorney that there is a state law against cruelty to animals, and he advised me to contact the SPCA, Midland. I hope this information will help some other poor little dogs.

How much will your son know about business when he applies for his first full-time job?

Plenty—if he's ever been a newspaperboy. Through route experience he's already a lap ahead of his classmates. While they both mastered ideas, the boy with a newspaper route was able to put them to practical use. Business? He's learned the basic principles from the first day he started delivering newspapers. He bought at wholesale, sold at retail. Made collections. Kept his own books. Dealt with people face to face. Quickly found out that "profit" and "loss" are more than textbook terms.

The benefits of managing a newspaper route are an equation for a future successful citizen. A great number of today's prominent men started their public careers as newspaperboys. And they all vouch that a newspaper route gives a boy a head start on the future.

If you'd like more information for your son or any other interested youngster, get in touch with our Circulation Department.

Eight Killed

LEEDS, Ala. (AP) — "It looks like the car just ran off the road," said a Leeds, Ala., police officer after looking over the site where eight young Alabamians died in an auto accident.

Six men and two women, all of Talladega, were killed early Thanksgiving Day when their car smashed into a bridge on Interstate 20 in St. Clair County east of Birmingham.

"We don't know if somebody forced it off or not," said Capt. Jack Meacham, but he added that police do not suspect foul play in the crash.

Meacham said the impact of the crash was great enough to drive the engine of the car into the back seat.

Authorities identified the dead as Thomas Joseph Williams, 20; Linton Avery Eason, 22; Joey K. Smith, Lou Ann Otwell and Michael T. Miller, all 24; Hillman Cox and his 22-year-old wife, Mary H. Stewart Cox, and Frederick Doyle McBrier, 27.

Weather Helps Fight Against Mesquite

LUBBOCK — Heavy rains this fall have provided almost ideal conditions for getting rid of mesquite by chaining, says a noted brush control scientist here.

C. E. Fisher, a 40-year veteran researcher who heads the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station's brush control field team, says that heavy rains during the 1974 fall months made it considerably easier to uproot mesquite trees and brush by the chaining method.

Under this process two or sometimes three powerful crawler tractors are used to pull a 400-foot chain weighing up to 36,000 pounds over the ground, destroying any dead brush or trees in its path.

"Chaining when the soil is wet helps to pull up larger trees. Smaller brush plants are at least knocked down to ground level," Fisher says.

Best results have been obtained in the late fall and winter, he adds, when mesquite is dormant and brittle so that it breaks up readily.

Costs of this method vary from $1.50 to $2.50 per acre, he reports, depending on the type of growth, terrain and whether the land had been sprayed before. Chaining mesquite that has not been aerial sprayed is usually more costly and ineffective," Fisher said.

Fisher explained that one of the most effective and economical methods of controlling mesquite on extensive areas of rangeland is to aerial spray with 2, 4, 5-T, Tordon 225 or Banvel 2 plus 2, and then chain the treated area one to three years later.

Brush control opens up vast acreages of productive rangeland, and reduces the cost of gathering cattle by as much as 50 to 80 per cent," he said.

THEFTS

Monte Wood Jr., 606 Scurry, reported that someone pried open the screen on his window Tuesday night and took a home stereo unit and two speakers, a 12 gauge shotgun, a car stereo and a man's watch. Value of the property was not determined.

Bucking Stock Is Ready For Rodeo Finals

DENVER, Colo. — The top bucking stock of 1974 will begin arriving this week in Oklahoma City, Okla., in preparation for the National Finals Rodeo, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said. Competition begins Dec. 7 and goes through Dec. 15.

Nearly 300 bucking horses and bulls from across North America, hand-picked for their prowess in throwing cowboys, will be in competition with the sport's top contestants in a nine-day contest billed as "rodeo's world series."

The nation's number one cowboy, Tom Ferguson of Miami, Okla., is expected to set a new winning record for a single season during the course of the finals. Ferguson, with $61,891, should easily win enough money to top the $64,447 that Larry Mahan, last year's all around champ, won in 1973. Ferguson will compete in calf roping and steer wrestling. He already has the calf roping championship cinched as well as the all around title, and lacks only $660 leading steer wrestling title as well.

Governor Okays Two Projects

AUSTIN — Governor Dolph Briscoe has announced his approval of two grants totaling $65,623 to improve law enforcement and justice in the area served by the Midland-based Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Martin County was awarded $20,366 to continue the employment of a full-time probation officer and a secretary. The probation department handles pre-trial and pre-sentence investigations as well as the counseling and supervision of juvenile and adult offenders.

Another grant, awarded to the University of Texas at Permian Basin, provides $45,257 to furnish subsistence for 10 commissioned certified police officers while they attend the University of Texas at Permian Basin to pursue degrees in either law enforcement management or policescience.

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN OFF — Rachel Fitler, 77-year-old millionairess and an aunt of Happy Rockefeller, broke off her engagement to Michael Wilson, a 29-year-old Welsh chauffeur Friday, and police were called to remove him from her mansion in the fasionable Philadelphia suburb of Villanova, Pa. The engagement was revealed last month when Wilson placed an announcement in a Welsh newspaper.

Mounties Rescue Exec, Arrest Three Kidnapers

BRADLEY, Maine (AP) — A Massachusetts businessman who was kidnaped Thanksgiving Day and taken to Canada by three hitchhikers was found unharmed Saturday by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Galen McLaughlin, 62, owner of a machine tool company in Acton, Mass., about 40 miles west of Boston, was found about 5 a.m. in Edmundston, New Brunswick, after the Mounties arrested two men.

The third man was arrested Friday.

BROKE DOWN

McLaughlin came through the ordeal exhausted but unhurt. "It hit me a little while ago and I broke down," he said.

He said he picked up the three hitchhikers in New Hampshire while en route to the home here of his 84-year-old mother, Laura Barton.

"I figured that they would kill me eventually," he said. After his rescue McLaughlin said he would drive to his mother's home for a belated Thanksgiving visit.

He said the nightmare began when one of the hitchhikers pulled out a pistol, announced they were going to Canada and another man took over the wheel.

AWFUL FUNNY

McLaughlin said his abductors had hinted he would be killed if he resisted.

"They told me a guy looked awful funny after he'd been hit with a bullet through his forehead and out the back of his head.

"I kept my cool. I have gone over in my mind many times what I would do in that kind of situation and I did it," he said.

There was no mention of ransom, recalled McLaughlin, who said he was told that he would be released unharmed eventually if he cooperated.

"They were just trying to get away from something — I don't know what," he said.

SPEEDING

McLaughlin said he was almost rescued at about 4:30 a.m. Friday when police stopped the car in Grand Falls, N.B., for speeding and arrested one of his abductors for driving without a license.

However, the police were unaware of the abduction and allowed two of the men and McLaughlin to drive off. When asked about that incident, McLaughlin said: "Let's not discuss that."

Canandian authorities also said that at about 11 p.m. Thursday, the abductors had run a Canadian customs checkpoint at the border between Houlton, Maine, and Woodstock, N.B., but the car apparently was not pursued.

The FBI identified the two men arrested Saturday as Andrew Dodge and Richard P. Knowles. Their ages and home towns were not available immediately.

The man arrested in Canada for driving without a license was identified by the FBI as Ronald G. Valente, 25, of Haverhill, Mass.

Pot Order Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. attorney has cancelled his order not to prosecute persons with small amounts of marijuana in the District of Columbia.

The order, to go to effect Monday, had been the subject of controversy since it was announced three weeks ago by U.S. Atty. Earl J. Silbert.

The plan would have barred prosecution of persons found in possession of five or fewer marijuana cigarettes or less than one gram of marijuana.

The plan had been opposed by district police officials and by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe.

Aunt Of Happy 'Terribly Upset'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The engagement of 77-year-old millionaire Rachel Fitler to a 29-year-old Welshman has ended, according to a member of Miss Fitler's household staff.

Although neither Michael Wilson nor Miss Fitler was available Saturday, the staff member told a newsman, "It's finished. The engagement is off. The whole thing is over."

TOO MUCH

Miss Fitler would not specifically confirm that view, but she was quoted as saying, "I sort of think it's too much for me."

Wilson apparently left the Fitler estate in the posh suburb of Villanova on Friday. He could not be reached for comment.

But Capt. Salvatore Frustaci said the Lower Merion Police Department was called Friday and told there was an "unwanted guest" on the premises of the Fitler estate.

The guest turned out to be Wilson, who had arrived Wednesday from Wales.

Frustaci said Wilson and another man, believed to be a British newspaper reporter, were escorted by police from the premises. They left quietly, he said.

SHE'S UPSET

Wilson announced his engagement to Miss Fitler, an aunt of Happy Rockefeller, wife of Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller, last month in a Welsh newspaper.

The pair met last winter in Palm Beach, Fla., where he was an employe and Miss Fitler a guest at an exclusive hotel. He later became her chauffeur.

Her wealth came from an $8 million family inheritance in 1931.

Texas Relief

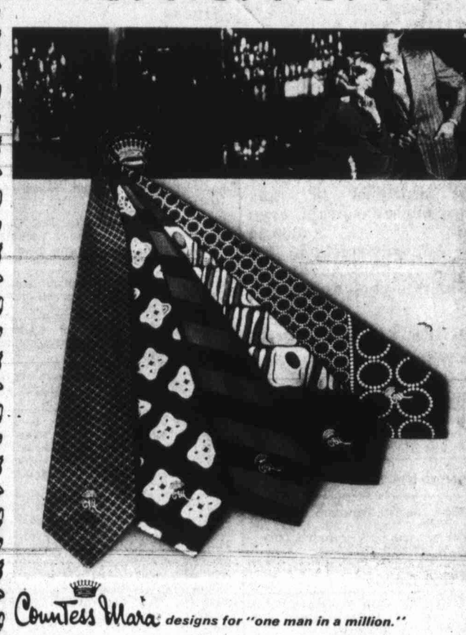

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford declared on Saturday a major disaster for the state of Texas because of damage caused by severe storms and flooding.

The administrator of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration will designate which counties in the state are to receive federal funds for the recovery efforts, the White House said.

Included in the assistance will be temporary aid for families who lost their homes, unemployment assistance and the repair or restoration of damaged streets, roads, bridges and public facilities and utilities.

The Small Business Administration will make available low interest loans for home owners and businesses, while the Farmers Home Administration will provide emergency loan assistance.

Joe D. Winkle, Region 6 director of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, will be federal coordinating officer for the Texas relief.

The Week

Time flies so fast it's difficult to realize that season is upon us, but the Salvation Army bell ringing will begin Dec. 7. Everywhere organizations are shaping up their Christmas projects, and stores are pushing Christmas merchandise.

★★★★

Jay Huskey won the John Phillip Sousa award at the annual banquet given by the Optimist Clubs at the end of the marching season. Cindy Coleman was the runner up. Other top awards went to Pat Daniels and Robert Bradbury. Incidentally, the band is hard at work on CR '75.

★★★★

The city council lost no time in pushing for a start on the paving program. An emergency reading set up the task of pouring curb and gutter and paving of Eleventh Place west from Abrams to FM 700. This mile long job is a key traffic artery to the new Hospital Corporation of America hospital, which is due to be ready to open about March 1.

★★★★

Officers last week teamed to solved several other burglaries, including a number of automobile break-ins. This was a fine example of inter-agency cooperation.

★★★★

Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Tucker brought back human bones from an excursion north of Del Rio where they explored one of escarpment caves. The level at which they were found gave rise to carbon date tests to see if the bones might be old as the Midland man (who was a woman) of 25,000 years ago. Indian pictographs on the cave, however, lend some doubt to that.

★★★★

Coahoma's Bulldogs didn't win the district football crown, but they landed nine of 22 all-district places, including four players who won spots for both offense and defense. In sports, the Howard College Hawks, who are getting needed experience, dropped Navarro College 116-105 and ran their record to 7-2.

★★★★

If a man biting a dog makes news, then Pioneer Gas is entitled to a newsmaker rule by announcing a decrease of 2.14 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas. Of course, gas prices are like a yo-yo, but it s good while it's on the downward bounce.

★★★★

It's three out of four now for the tax appraisal compact. The Big Spring Schools and City of Big Spring joined Howard College in approving the contract, which is almost identical all the agencies had with Southwest Appraisal, but the county demurred for the time being.

Greyhound drivers ended their strike and that put the buses back on regular schedules at Thanksgiving, which doesn't generate all that much holiday traffic. But it's good to know that the service is geared up for the Christmas push.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

GIVING THEM THE WORD — Baylor Head Coach Grant Taff gives his Bears' a little pep talk before the start of the second half in Waco Saturday as the Bears beat the Rice Owls in final Southwest Conference play.

50 YEAR OLD DROUGHT

Bears Finally Collect First Clear-Cut Title

WACO, Tex. (AP) —Baylor's Cotton Bowl-bound Bears, written off only a month ago except by hardcore fans wearing "I believe" clinched their first undisputed Southwest Conference title in 50 years Saturday with a 24-3 victory over Rice behind the runs of toy tailback Steve Beaird.

The 5-foot-7 Beaird became the first Baylor 1,000-yard gainer in the school's history and scored on a 20-yard run to delight a cold but joyful crowd of 40,100 fans in Baylor Stadium.

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff was awarded a new five-year contract immediately after the game.

The 14th-ranked Bears finished with a 6-1 SWC record and will carry an 8-3 overall ledger into the school's historic first Cotton Bowl game New Year's Day. Penn State will be the opposition for the Cinderella Bruins.

Gator Bowl-bound Texas and Texas A&M finished in a tie for second place in the conference with 5-2 records.

Beaird rushed for 154 yards on 28 carries to shatter school and SWC records. He gained 1,124 yards for the season to set a Baylor mark and his 267 carries this year was an SWC record.

Baylor built a 14-0 halftime lead on Beaird's gallop and a 10-yard scoring run by Pat McNeil.

Rice fought back to make it 14-3 in the third quarter on Alan Pringle's 29-yard field goal, but Baylor iced it late in the fourth period on reserve quarterback Mark Jackson's 13-yard touchdown run.

Bubba Hicks kicked a 35-yard field goal with four minutes to round out the Baylor scoring.

Baylor's only SWC loss was 20-0 to A&M on Oct. 26, and the Bears were promptly ignored by all the bowls.

Tulsa Pulls Upset

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa capitalized on early fumbles and a surprisingly strong defense to upset 15th-ranked Houston 30-14 Saturday in an intersectional football game.

Houston, the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl-bound team which hadn't lost since Sept. 21, gave ip its first touchdown when flanker Robert Lavergne fumbled the opening kickoff in the end zone to Tulsa's Jim Stewart. Art Bennett's extra point attempt flew wide.

The second touchdown came when the Cougars gave Tulsa good field osition by losing a fumble on their next possession. Tulsa running back Thomas Bailey ran the ball in from the one-yard line.

The game remained 13-0 until 5:11 of the third quarter when quarterback Bubba McGallion broke the strong Tulsa defensive pressure with a three-yard keeper into the end zone.

Tulsa had to abandon its strong passing game when quarterback Jeb Blount suffered a possible fracture of the right leg, but reserve signalcaller Ron Hickerson worked the Hurricane into several scoring positions.

Houston's final tally came with three minutes remaining in the game when fullback John Housman passed 31 yards into the end zone to tight end Don Bass.

Steers Nudged

Big Spring High kept within close range of Plainview here Firday night in the Steer gym, but the Bulldogs managed to pull out a 62-53 win.

The Steers led the first quarter, 11-10, then fell behind the remaining three periods.

Big Spring matched Plainview in field goals, 23 apiece. The deciding factor came about in the charity line as the Bulldogs cashed in 16 of 21 attempts compared to Big Spring's seven.

Jim Ray of Big Spring hit for 11 points and Plainview's Saddler bounced in 17.

In the "B" game, Plainview was tops, 62-48. Big Spring's Bill Arencibia and Cornell Kimble netted 14 and nine points respectively.

Plainview wrestled the sophomore game from Big Spring, 51-40. The Steers' Frankie Rubio flipped in 18 points.

Big Spring dropped a 93-56 varsity decision to Snyder, there, Friday night. The Steers won the sophomore contest, 44-42.

Big Spring next encounters Lamesa, there, Monday, then go against Crane on the local court Tuesday. The Steers are 1-3 for the season.

Big Spring received a free advertisement compliments of NBC-TV Thanksgiving Day and the Denver-Detroit NFL game.

Don Meredith, one of three broadcast announcers with Curt Gowdy and Al DeRogatis made the remark that Denver's Charley Johnson hailed from Big Spring.

Dandy Don at his best with his good Texas drawl r-o-l-l-e-d out the word Big Spring, so that everyone listening would no doubt understand.

Denver with Charley directing traffic disposed of Detroit, 31-27 and the Broncos now 6-5-1 kept their faint AFC wild card hopes alive.

John Leypoldt, Buffalo Bill field goal kicker, uses a unique practice device to help him prepare for his Sunday afternoon's work. Leypoldt uses small verticle orange bars inside the normal goal posts during drills.

"The goal posts are 18 feet, six inches apart and the small bars are three feet inside. So I have to be accurate enough to hit within 12 feet. If I don't get between the small bars in practice we say it's no good."

Jesse Freitas, the backup quarterback to Dan Fouts at San Diego, is the son of Jesse Frietas, the backup quarterback to Frankie Albert with the San Francisco 49ers in 1946-47. The senior Freitas is now a head coach at a high school in the San Francisco area.

It seems quarterbacking runs in the family. Jesse Sr. now is busy coaching the family's third passer. Jimmy, who threw 25 TD passes as a prep senior.

With Fouts injuried, Freitas is due to get his first start today against the New York Jets at Shea Stadium.

Mrs. Vicky Knoepfel brought to the Herald sports desk Saturday, a newpaper clipping of interest.

This concerned her boy, Jerry, a sophomore who attends college at University of Texas-El Paso.

Jerry, received the Miner gold helmet award against New Mexico played in El Paso last Saturday. This award is presented each week to a Miner for outstanding services rendered.

Jerry had eight unassisted tackles and seven assited tackles. He was also nominated for the "Defensive Player of the Week" award. Paul Linford of BYU won out.

Jerry is a Big Spring High product.

Last season the Miners failed to win in 11 games, but this campaign was almost a complete about face, compiling a 4-7 record.

Mrs. Knoepfel has been active this year in Big Spring Quarterback Club activities. She was honored for her Quarterback interest in the Big Spring High awards banquet held last Monday.

FIRST IN THEIR LIFETIME — Baylor University exes, Larry Miller, left, and Gayle Carden of Greenville, lost no time in ballyhooing the first time their alma mater was a Southwest Conference Champion in their memory. Texas had barely finished whipping A&M on Friday when they ordered their stickers. They were out at sunrise Saturday putting the first stickers on a 1924 Chrysler in an effort to display the first Baylor SWC Champ sticker for 1974.

Cardinal Crown Hinges On Bears

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals can win the first National Football League title in their history— and the club's first since 1948, when it called Chicago home— with a victory Sunday over the Kansas City Chiefs.

The Cards, 9-2, hold a 1½-game lead in the National Conference East, thanks to Dallas' last-minute 24-23 victory over Washington on Thursday that dropped the runner-up Redskins' mark to 8-4.

If the Cards win, they could do no worse than tie Washington for first and, since they've beaten the 'Skins in their two meetings this year, they'd get the crown outright.

Several other teams can also clinch divisional crowns this weekend—but they'll need help to do so.

The Minnesota Vikings, 7-4, can take yet another NFC Central title if they beat New Orleans and second-place Green Bay, 6-5, loses to Philadelphia. Detroit was knocked out of the playoff picture with its 31-27 Thanksgiving Day loss to Denver.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, 8-2-1, can win the American Conference Central title if they whip Houston on Sunday and the Cincinnati Bengals, 7-4, lose in Miami on Monday night.

With both Western division championships already sewn up—Los Angeles in the NFC and Oakland in the AFC—that leaves only one other division up for grabs. And the grabbing for that one will probably go on through the rest of the season.

Miami and Buffalo are tied for the AFC East lead, each at 8-3. The Bills host Baltimore on Sunday and the Dolphins take on Cincinnati Monday night.

If the two clubs remain deadlocked the rest of the way, Miami would get the title since it beat the Bills twice.

In Sunday's other NFL games, it's New England at Oakland, Los Angeles at Atlanta, San Diego at the New York Jets, the New York Giants at Chicago and San Francisco at Cleveland.

The wild-card possibilities are still wide open.

In the AFC, Cincinnati and New England are 7-4 with the Patriots trailing Miami and Buffalo by one game. Even Denver has a shot, albeit a slender one since the Broncos are 6-5-1.

In the NFC, Dallas stayed in contention by beating the Redskins, raising its record to 7-5, one game back of Washington with two to go. And Green Bay, if it doesn't overtake Minnesota, can still take the wild card.

Hawks Score

Pressed by Lubbock Christian JV, Howard College rallied to pound out a hard-earned 99-83 verdict Saturday night in the Hawk gym.

Howard College playing its third game of the week kept the upper hand throughout the contest through holding a slim 46-45 half time lead.

After the intermission period HC attacked Christian's defense well. HC moved ahead by eight and never was threatened thereafter.

A balance scoring punch was shown by the Hawks as five players hit the double figures. Marvin Johnson was high man of the game, flipping in 28 points. Johnson's teammates David Giles and Larry Erves sacked 20 each, Johnny Harris had 20 and Willie Young recorded 11.

Tracy Wallace of Lubbock Christian totaled 25 points.

Johnson, who had 27 rebounds in the Navarro game in which the Hawks won Thursday night, 116-105, again dominated the boards against Christian.

HC travels to Cisco, Monday, then opens conference play here Thursday against Odessa College. The Hawks for the season stand at a creditable 8-2 mark.

Half time: Howard College 46, Lubbock Christian 45.

DAVIS SPARKLES Trojans Crush Fighting Irish

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Anthony Davis, who destroyed Notre Dame two years ago with a six-touchdown explosion, ignited Southern California Saturday with a 102-yard kickoff return—the second of his four touchdowns—and the Trojans, rallying from a 24-0 deficit, crushed the Fighting Irish 55-24.

Southern Cal's incredible comeback, which started in the waning moments of the first half and continued with a 35-point outburst in the third period, resulted in the worst beating for Notre Dame in 30 years.

Davis boosted his three-year total against Notre Dame to 11 touchdowns and 68 points.

The 5-foot-9, 183-pound senior scored on a seven-yard swing pass from Pat Haden with 10 seconds left in the first half, then took the second-half kickoff two yards deep in the end zone and raced officially 100 yards for the touchdown that fired the Trojans to their five touchdowns in the third period.

Notre Dame, which was beaten 59-0 by Army in 1944 for its worst shellacking ever, did not get a single first down in the third quarter until after davis had gone into the end zone on a four-yard run for his fourth touchdown.

Hard Work Pays Off

WACO, Tex. (AP) — "You believed."

That was Baylor Coach Grant Teaff's accolade to his storybook Baylor Bears in the dressing room Saturday after they clinched their first Southwest Conference title in 50 years with a methodical 24-3 victory over the Rice Owls.

"You believed in our program, you worked hard and it paid off," said Teaff, who was awarded a new five-year contract immediately after the game by Athletic Director Jack Patterson.

Cotton Bowl officials headed by Chairman Field Scovel were on hand in the jubilant Bear dressing room to make official Baylor's first appearance in the to invite you to the Cotton Bowl. Now, I just want to know one thing— are you coming?"

Texas whipped Texas A&M 32-3 Friday to clinch for Baylor a Cotton Bowl berth and a tie for the title, but Teaff said he couldn't be satisfied unless Baylor won everything outright.

"I'm satisfied now," Teaff said.

Baylor center Aubrey Schulz indicated Baylor was already putting behind it thoughts of its 8-3 season and readying for the Nittany Lions.

Jim Ned Power Smacks Seagraves, 35-14

By CLARK LESHER

Steady nerves and brute strength carried undefeated Jim Ned of Tuscola to a 35-14 Class A regional playoff win over Seagraves here Friday night in Memorial Stadium.

Close to 1,250 gridiron fans clothed in heavy garments and featuring the stocking hat fashion braved the 30 degree freezing temperature.

Jim Ned now 12-0 for the season runs into Memphis in a quarter-final test next week. The Indians represented District 8A.

Seagraves of 5A, (Stanton's district), finished the year on a 10-2 total. The Eagles' only previous setback excluding Jim Ned was to Lorenzo in Seagraves' homecoming game, 20-14.

Stanton finished runner-up behind Seagraves on a 5A 3-1 note compared to the Eagles unblemished 4-0 district record.

Seagraves had three golden opportunities come across in the first period but the Indian defense stopped the Eagles cold. Jim Ned lost the ball three times on fumbles.

The Eagle offense who averaged 300 yards plus total yardage coming into this game had to settle for a hard to take 237 total.

Seagraves' young team could not get untracked before Jim Ned's smooth operation consisting of a more experienced senior dominated roster.

Jim Ned's size was the key factor as the Indians scored almost when they desired. The Indians flashed across seven points each in the first and second periods, eight in the third and 13 big ones in the final stanza.

Seagraves from an announcer's point of view, who couldn't ever remember when the Eagles ever trailed in a game like this one, this year, mustered across eight third period points and six in the fourth.

Tony Elkins, Indian 165-pound fullback, started his team's quarter-final talk buzzing as he bounced inside Seagraves' end zone from the one. Only 43 seconds remained in the first quarter play. Johnny Quinney's boot provided the PAT.

Elkins aided his own cause on a 63-yard gallop.

In the second stanza, Jim Ned showed it had aerial power to equal Eagle ground rushing ability. A Quinney to Jeff McClure pass for 22-yards flashed six points on the Indian scoreboard side. Only 12 seconds were left before half-time Quinney kicked the PAT.

Brian Aycock paved the way for McClure's grab, racing 42 yards down to the Eagle 29. This Indian drive involved 98 yards in eight plays.

Seagraves for the first time in the game showed a little offense sparkle in the third. The Eagles' Joe Stanley crossed up Jim Ned's defense enough to plunge across for a TD from the nine. Time left: 8:44. Stanley ran over the PAT.

Jim Ned bounced back quickly with a 35-yard score by Quinney with 6:28 posted on the clock. Quinney ran over the PAT.

The Indians salted the game away with ease in the last period.

Quinney, who is considered an excellent college gridiron prospect, scored form the two-yard line with 7:28 left. He kicked the PAT.

Seagraves was able to sandwich a TD in with Jim Ned's last quarter score explosion. Stanley, who scored all of the Eagles points, earned his second TD at 3:15. The run involved one yard.

A play though heard of but never seen by this reporter took place as fourth period time elapsed.

Seagraves figuring that Jim Ned would just run out the clock withdrew its defense somewhat. The Indians took advantage of the situation and Danny Cooper, (37), raced 70 yards for the surprise TD. Jim Ned went through the motions of trying the extra point which was no good.

Seagraves had three penetrations the first half of 15, 14 and eight yards, but failed to put it to effect.

One observer in the press box remarked this was the smallest out of town Seagraves crowd witnessed all season. Jim Ned boosters almost doubled Seagraves' attendance.

The west side press box was kept jumping by the game description voiced by a Seagraves announcer. He would never actually admit defeat even when Jim Ned had a 29-8 fourth period lead.

The announcer kept emphasizing the penetrations Seagraves had recorded though the game was well out of Eagle reach.

Elkins was the game's leading ground rusher, carrying the Indian ball 20 times for 140 yards. Aycock ran 11 times for 125 yards.

Seagraves' top ground pounders involved Crutcher and Stanley. They rushed for 22 for 113 yards and 18 for 76 respectively.

Ron Mercer, manager and Terry Hansen, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce were instrumental in bringing this schoolboy playoff game to Big Spring.

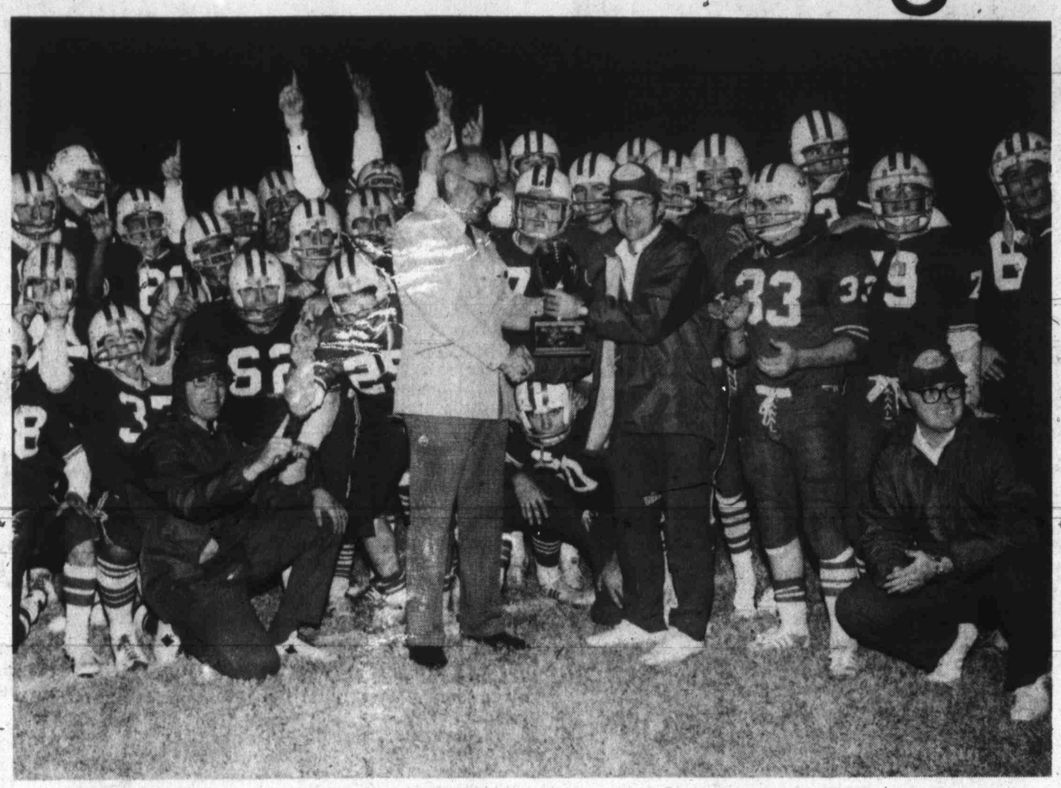

A flip of the coin after three unsuccessful years earned the Chamber of Commerce the right to host this playoff endeavor.

The C of C Ambassadors served as official hosts and the Junior Chamber of Commerce took care of concession arrangements.

Ralph McLaughlin, C of C president, presented the Class A regional trophy to Jim Ned immediately following the unusual no second game play.

Valdes' Punch Smarts

PARIS (AP) — Rodrigo Valdes of Colombia, slugging while his bloodied opponent stood with his hands dangling by his sides, scored at disputed 11th-round knockout over Gratien Tonna of France Saturday night and retained the World Boxing Council middleweight championship.

Tonna's handlers said that the punches which felled Tonna came while Belgian referee Jean Deswert was separating the two fighters after checking Tonna's bleeding right cheekbone.

Tonna took a count of 10 on his knees. He insisted afterward that his corner had told him to stay down.

Tears running down his cheeks, the 25-year-old French challenger said: "The referee said break. I moved back. I dropped my guard and the other guy got me with three fast shots. When I went down I wasn't hurt. The guys in my corner said: 'Stay down. You are world champion. You'll get the disqualification.'"

Deswert acknowledged that the blows might have come before he signaled for the action to continue.

Sooners Strengthen Hopes For First Title Since '56

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Running back Joe Washington slashed for two touchdowns— one on a brilliant 57-yard punt return—as No. 1-ranked Oklahoma turned the upset dreams of Oklahoma State into a nightmare with a 34 point secondhalf avalanche en route to a 44-13 victory over the Cowboys.

The victory kept the Sooners undefeated and untied in 20 games over two seasons and strengthened their hopes for their first national title in college football since 1956.

Oklahoma's second-half blitz was a bitter pill for the Fiesta Bowl-bound Cowboys, who had fought to a 10-10 tie at intermission and held the lead briefly in the third quarter at 13-10.

Halfback Grant Burgett's four-yard run for a touchdown gave the Sooners the lead for good at 16:13 late in the third period. It was set up when end Jimbo Elrod recovered a fumble on the Oklahoma State 21.

Oklahoma stretched the margin to 23-13 on quarterback Steve Davis' one-yard plunge 30 seconds into the final period. Fullback Jim Littrell had romped 34 yards up the middle to the one to set up the touchdown.

The Cowboys couldn't move and punted to Washington. That was a mistake. The All-Big Eight speedster took the ball at the center of the field, reversed to his right and seemed to vanish in a crowd of blockers and tacklers before he emerged again on the right sideline and zipped into the end zone.

Beginning with Davis' plunge, the Sooners scored 21 points in less than five minutes. Washington's second tally came on a five-yard run with 10 minutes left in the third period on the first play after the Cowboys had fumbled a punt.

Only seven seconds later, Oklahoma had the ball again when the Sooners recovered a touched kickoff on the Cowboy 10. On the first play, freshman halfback Elvis Peacock flashed around left end to complete the Sooner barrage.

Navy Grounds Out 19-0 Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Running back Bob Jackson, playing for the first time in more than a month, rammed in for two touchdowns and Navy ground out a 19-0 football victory over Army Saturday before a crowd that included President Gerald R. Ford.

The 231-pound Jackson scored from the three-yard line in the first period after sophomore Steve Dykes had kicked a 45-yard field goal to give Navy a 10-0 lead.

Jackson ripped into the Army end zone from the six in the second period and Navy took a commanding 17-0 lead at halftime.

The Army defense, shredded for 199 yards in the first half by Navy runners Cleveland Cooper, Gerry Goodwin, Jackson and quarterback Mike Roban, stiffened in the final two quarters, but the usually high-scoring Cadet wishbone offense couldn't put any points on the board.

Navy's final two points came on a third-period safety when defensive end Tim Harden tackled Army quarterback Scott Gillogly in the end zone.

The Navy victory in this 75th renewal of the traditional service classic was its 33rd against 36 defeats and six ties. It was the second straight victory in the series for the Midshipmen — and the second consecutive year in which Army failed to score. Navy won last year 51-0.

President Ford, a former lieutenant commander in the Navy and one-time University of Michigan center, had hardly taken his first-half seat on the Navy side of the field before the Middies went ahead 3-0 as Dykes kicked a 45-yard field goal.

About five minutes later, Navy got a break when Army's Gary Smithey fumbled a punt, which was recovered by the Middies' Carl Sharpenson at the Cadets' 13. Goodwin carried once and Cooper twice for a first down at the Army four. Jackson then burst through the line and into the end zone. Dykes converted and it was 10-0.

Navy boosted its lead to 17-0 on a seven-play, 65-yard second-period drive. Cooper raced for 18 and Goodwin picked up 15 for a first down at the Army 32. Cooper then bolted for seven more yards and Goodwin raced for another 10 and a first down at the 15-yard line.

After Cooper picked up two and Goodwin seven, Jackson went the final six and Dykes converted to make it 17-0.

Army's only first-half drive started at its 20 and advanced to a first down at the Navy 29.

Tech Preserves Winning Streak

RUSTON, La. (AP) — Top-ranked Louisiana Tech survived seven lost fumbles and used Jerry Pope's 22-yard field goal with 1:36 remaining to defeat Western Carolina 10-7 Saturday in the first round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Division II football playoffs.

Search Mounts

WELLINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Law enforcement officers searching for Melvin's Woe, winner of the 1973 Little Brown Jug pacing classic, theorized Saturday that the horse was hidden not far from the farm where he was stolen.

The 3-year-old chestnut-colored pacer disappeared early Friday from the Bonnie Brae Farms owned by William Murray, who leased the horse from owner Thurman Downing of the Downing Coal Co.

Downing said he had turned down a $350,000 offer for the horse from an Australian syndicate.

YMCA Opens Registration

The YMCA has opened registration for all fourth, fifth and sixth grade boys who want to plav Gra-Y basketball, which begins Monday, Dec. 9 at the Y facility.

sTwo leagues are being organized, according to Pat Owens, Y Physical Director.

Fourth graders will participate in a "development league," with emphasis on fundamentals through lead-up games, while fifth and sixth graders will be divided into equal teams and work with adult volunteer coaches on more advanced team skills.

The YMCA staff has also scheduled a pre-season skills and conditioning clinic, which will be conducted in the Y gym from 5-6 p.m. daily during the week of Dec. 9-13, for all boys registered for the program.

Following the instructional clinic, all fifth and sixth graders will be placed on teams and assigned to coaches. This team organization is scheduled for 9 a.m. on Dec. 14.

These teams will practice with their coaches twice weekly at the Y beginning the week of Dec. 16. SEason competition will begin on Jan. 11, with all games being played on Saturday mornings in the YMCA gym.

The fourth grade league will be held on Saturday afternoons, beginning Jan. 11. Adult volunteers and Y staff members will also work with these youngsters.

"Gra-Y is a part of a well-rounded physical education program offered by the YMCA, where the values of sportsmanship fitness, and fair play are stressed in a Christian atmosphere," explained Owens.

"We strive to develop character and positive emotional development among all participants; and since we feel each boy is equally important, everyone gets to play in every game," he continued.

According to the Y staff, the only equipment necessary for participants is a pair of gym shorts, socks, and tennis shoes. All other items, including game jersies, will be provided by the YMCA.

To register for Gra-Y basketball, each boy must till out the information form provided through the schools and have it signed by his parent or guardian prior to participation.

There is no registration fee for Y members, and non-members may participate by submitting a $5.00 activity fee with their registration form.

Additional information may be secured at the YMCA office at 8th and Owens Streets, or by calling 267-8234.

Blazers Out To Conquer

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Florida Blazers pictured themselves as penniless ragamuffins setting out to conquer the World Football League's rich bullies in the World Bowl semifinal playoff against the Memphis Southmen.

Angry because they haven't been paid in 13 weeks, the Blazers won 18-15 Friday night before an announced crowd of 9,692 and headed toward a World Bowl date next Thursday night in Birmingham against the Americans.

"We beat Memphis, the World Football League and their money," said linebacker Larry Ely in a joyous dressing room.

The Southmen are the moneytroubled league's biggest winner and probably its most financially stable franchise.

The Blazers also figured Memphis and Birmingham had the best of the playoff format, since each drew first-round byes while Florida had to defeat Philadelphia in the opening round to advance to the semifinals.

"It was all set up for Memphis and Birmingham to be in the World Bowl," said Florida running back Tommy Reamon.

Gun Rules To Follow

Care in handling firearms could prevent many needless tragedies this hunting season, advises the Texas Safety Association. Even the veretan hunter can profit from a review of the following basic safety rules:

—Treat all guns as if they were loaded.

—Keep ammunition in the box and leave action open until prepared to shoot.

—Keep "safety" on until ready to fire.

—Never point a gun at anything you don't want to shoot.

—Be certain of your target.

—Never climb a fence or tree nor jump a ditch with a loaded gun.

—Keep guns clean.

—Store guns and ammunition separately, out of the reach of children.

—Never leave a loaded gun around.

Kirschner Succumbs

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Helmut Kirschner, sports editor of The Associated Press' German service, died Saturday of cancer. He was 52.

Kirschner, a former sports teacher, turned to sports journalism after the end of World War II and joined The Associated Press in April 1964.

He was a well-known figure to many German sports journalists. Their federation awarded him its silver merit medal for his services and efforts.

Kirschner's many assignments as an AP staff member included the 1972 Munich Olympic Games and the 1974 World Cup soccer tournament.

Loop Opens Fire

ABILENE — The Western Junior College Conference opens fire Monday night and it appears to be an open race, if non-conference games mean anything.

Going in to tournaments over the weekend, three teams, Western Texas College, Amarillo College and Clarendon were unbeaten. South Plains and New Mexico Junior College had lost once, Odessa and Howard College had been beaten twice and Frank Phillips had won but once in five outings.

The big game Monday night pits Western Texas College at NMJC in Hobbs. The Westerners scored a big win last Tuesday night when it beat Navarro, a team that had knocked over Region 5 powers, Hill County and McLennan County, and was unbeaten.

New Mexico JC's only loss was to Seminole, Okla., one of the best teams Coach Dale Caton says he's seen in some time.

In other games Monday, NMMI, loser of three games going into the weekend, goes to Odessa, South Plains is at Clarendon and Frank Phillips is at Amarillo. Howard County, the preseason favorite with Western Texas, plays a non-league game against Cisco, there.

Thursday, Odessa is at Howard College, Western Texas hosts Amarillo, New Mexico JC is at South Plains, Clarendon goes to NMMI and Frank Phillips is open.

South Plains added prestige by winning the Odessa tourney over league members. Frank Phillips, Howard College, and Odessa. Amarillo won its doubleheader and NMJC and NMMI were 1-1 in the Hobbs doubleheader.

After games next week, the conference teams will take the Christmas break, and it's doubtful that the picture will be clear by then. In fact, there's a good chance there won't be a clear cut leader as Howard College was last year at the break.

Futrall Later Became Prexy

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks' first football coach was John C. Futrall, who later became president of the University of Arkansas.

Futrall coached from 1894 to 1896. The 1894 team had 14 players who bought their own uniforms.

FACE STEELERS

Oilers Emerge From Dry Well

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nobody worries about the Houston Oilers.

At least nobody did until they got their act together five games into the season and took four straight, including two upset wins over Cincinnati.

On Sunday, the Oilers, who have their first crack at a winning season since 1967, bring their new brand of football to Three Rivers Stadium looking for another upset that could stall Pittsburgh's chances for its third straight Central Division title.

The Steelers could clinch the title with a victory over Houston and if Miami beats Cincinnati Monday night. But the Steelers have no easy task against 5-6 Houston, one-time patsies of the Central Division.

The Oilers have climbed from the bottom of a dry well and no one knows it better than Steeler Coach Chuck Noll, who said early this season that Houston would be a team to reckon with.

"They're going to win a lot of games this year," Noll said prior to the first Oiler-Steeler matchup.

The Steelers defeated them 13-7, but the Oilers then went on their longest winning streak since 1962, winning four straight games, including the two against the Bengals.

The first time Houston and Pittsburgh met, Joe Gilliam was the Steeler quarterback, and Lynn Dickey the Oiler quarterback. That's all changed now.

Terry Bradshaw will start Sunday after leading the Steelers to a 28-7 romp over New Orleans last Monday night. And Dan Pastorini will be at the helm for the Oilers, despite a dismal game last week against Dallas when he was sacked seven times.

But Pastornin still is having his best season ever, completing 59 per cent of his passes. However, he will have to oerate the rest of the season without wide receiver Ken Burrough, the team's leading receiver, who is out for the season with a dislocated elbow.

Houston's main problem is a less than potent running game. Against Dallas, they got just 26 yards on the ground.

The Steelers have done well both in the air and on the ground.

Franco Harris gained 114 yards against the Saints, the third time he has topped 100 yards in the last five games.

And Bradshaw, who has a disappointing 43.4 completion percentage, helps to make up for it and the loss to injuries of running backs Preston Pearson and Frenchy Fuqua with his running ability. He picked up 99 yards in nine carries against the Saints.

The Steelers, who continued as the American Conference defense leader, have allowed the fewest yards and the least points in the AFC.

They also lead the National Football League in quarterback sacks with 46 and interceptions with 23.

Players' Strike Helped Longley

DALLAS (AP) — They called Clint Longley "The Mad Bomber" in training camp.

He got that nickname the day he overshot a receiver and caromed the football off the tower where Coach Tom Landry oversees the preseason practice of his Dallas Cowboys.

It was such erratic performances that earned Longley his name, and the 6-foot-1, 200-pound former Abilene Christian University star may never have made the squad had it not been for the National Football League player's strike.

The 1973 NAIA passing champion earlier was a world beater one day and then couldn't hit a receiver the next. But his rifle arm couldn't be overlooked.

In the preseason, he completed 12 of 25 passes in two games for 259 yards, but suffered three interceptions. Yet he made the squad because Craig Morton signed for 1975 with the World Football League and Landry needed a third quarterback.

Longley became the No. 2 backup quarterback to Roger Staubach when Morton was traded to the New York Giants.

Thanksgiving Day, he was Dallas' No. 1 quarterback midway in the third quarter when Washington linebacker Dave Robison knocked out Staubach.

The free-spirited rookie who had never played a down in the regular season found the Redskins about as easy to handle as the rattlesnakes he hunts in the off season in West Texas.

Longley calmly rallied Dallas from a 16-3 deficit with two touchdown passes — the last coming with 28 seconds left to play to Drew Psearson from 50 yards away for the winning score.

The victory gave Dallas a 7-5 record and kept the Cowboys in the runninf for an NFL playoff berth.

Longley was writing down plays on a clipboard when he got the call.

"I didn't have time to be nervous," Longley said. "I was writing down plays and they told me to grab my helmet and get in there. I had to find my helmet first.

"When you're playing behind a quarterback like Staubach, you know you're not going to play much. It doesn't matter if you're No. 2 or No. 3. I wasn't nervous, but I sure was excited."

Dallas got Longley for a sixth-round draft pick from Cincinnati last spring.

Longley, a redshirt, had a year of college eligibility remaining but elected not to return to school. He was an Associated Press All-American Small college quarterback in 1973.

Longley graduated in july and reported to camp late. At one time, he rated fifth on the Cowboy quarterback chart behind Marty Genestra, Keith Bobo, Morton and Staubach. All are gone now but Staubach and Longley.

And if Washington had its wish, Dallas would have sent Longley away Thursday.

Stoke City Splashes To Victory

LONDON (AP) — Stoke City stormed to the top of the English Soccer League Saturday with a 1-0 victory over Leicester.

The ambitious Stoke club has never won the coveted league crown, but it has splashed out a lot of cash in the transfer market in a determined bid for honors this season.

Dennis Smith scored Stoke's winning goal four minutes from the final whistle in the match played before 29,793 fans.

Baylor Fans Line Up

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor football fans lined up in subfreezing weather beginning at 7 a.m. Saturday to drop off their checks for Cotton Bowl tickets.

The Bears clinched their first Cotton Bowl trip in history Friday when Texas defeated Texas A&M 32-3.

One Baylor official said, "I bet we could sell 50,000 tickets" for the New Year's Day classic in Dallas against guest Penn State.

Baylor is allotted 14,000 tickets but is expected to get many more because of tickets returned by Penn State, which is not expected to use up all its allotment.

Six Rules

The Texas Safety Association advises hunters who head for the hills this season to take along some basic survival knowledge. The six simple rules for extended trips outlined by TSA are:

—Tell someone where you are going and when you plan to return. If you move from one area to another, advise someone.

—Never go hunting alone.

—Take enough food for a few extra days in case of an emergency.

—Take along a compass and map of the area and know how to use them.

—Wear proper clothing and equipment and keep in mind that the weather can change.

—Plan your hunt to get back to camp before dark.

Sam Hunnicutt Heads Scouts

Sam Hunnicutt, manager of pipelines for American Petrofina, will be installed Tuesday evening as the new chairman of the Lone Star district of Scouting.

This will take place at the annual district banquet which recognizes the services of unit leaders and other volunteers who have given special service to boys during the past year. Arnold Marshall, retiring chairman, will preside.

Scouts who became Eagles during the year also will be spotlighted, as will whose with training awards. The program will follow a campfire theme at the Howard College Cafeteria 7 p.m. Tickets ($3) may be had from Joe Pickle at the Herald, or Marshall or Art Flyman, scout executive, or at the door.

Hunnicutt, who has charge of oil purchases and other pipeline services for all of the Fina system, said he has a debt for what Scouting has given to his and Mrs. Hunnicutt's three sons. Jimmy, who was active in Sea Scouts is now in A&M. Sammy is in New Mexico Military Institute, and Tim is a freshman at Big Spring High School. The latter two were life Scouts and with nearly enough badges for Eagle.

Hunnicutt was reared at Fluvanna in Borden County, attended Texas Tech, worked several years for McWood Corporation before operating his own oil business in Abilene prior to taking the post with Fina in 1970. He is a member of the American Petroleum Institute and the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Hunnicutt is the former Eleanor Norton of Kerens. They live at 610 Highland.

Barky Cotton All Too Common

LUBBOCK — As if summer drought, a wet fall, disease, hail and low prices were not enough, some cotton producers now may have to face the prospects of reduced grades and possibly even yield due to "barky" cotton.

The strange condition is the result of prolonged periods of wet, humid conditions during the latter part of the season, says Dr. Robert B. Metzer, cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The specialist says that barky cotton will be reduced by delaying stripping until the cotton plant has time to dry out.

"With green stalks, it is difficult to remove the bolls from the plant, requiring close setting of the stripper rolls to get the cotton," he adds. "Under these conditions, considerably more barky bales can be expected.

Grade, whiteness of the cotton, also will improve with open weather. But, excessive delay of harvest will result in deteriorated plants. Only dry cotton should be harvested, Metzer advised.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Border Patrolman Oscar Torres, 37, died Saturday in a fall from a railroad bridge in El Paso close to the Mexican border.

Authorities said he fell as he opened the gates just west of the bridge for an exchange of railroad cars.

$5 Million AFB Fire

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A World War II-vintage wooden hanger at Bergstrom Air Force Base burned Saturday, with damage estimated at more than $5 million.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

The high loss figure resulted from the storage in the building of expensive communications equipment and vehicles, said Maj. J.H. Slevin.

No injuries were reported.

Col. T.C. Pinckney, commander of the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, said the fire apparently broke out around 4:15 a.m. and was brought under control before dawn.

Three county fire trucks joined base firemen in dousing the blaze.

A base spokesman said the building had been declared surplus and was to have been torn down next year. It was used to house jeeps, communications equipment and maintenance supplies.

"CHRISTMAS BARN"

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There will be much hustle and bustle at the Howard County Fair Barns this week in preparation for the big "Christmas Barn" that will open at 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

The project is a joint effort of the six 4-H Clubs in Howard County to raise funds for the advancement of work done by the young people.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Don Hale and Mrs. Bruce Griffith, the clubs are setting up booths where they will offer for sale art and craft which the members have produced during the year. It will be available from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, and 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Spaces are also being offered to individuals and clubs for $5 and $10, respectively. Information may be had by contacting the Howard County Extension office or by telephoning 267-6671.

In additon to the other sales, there will be cakewalks on both days, the one on Saturday going from 4 until 7 p.m., and on Sunday from 2 until 4 p.m.

4-H parents and leaders who are helping get the big sale going are Mrs. Raymond Phillips and Mrs. Charles Arbuckle, Northridge; Mrs. Woodie Long, Mrs. Joyce Parker, Mrs. Repps Guitar, Knott; Mrs. Millard Saunders and Mrs. Delmar Hartin, Just For Fun; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Freeze, Mrs. Dick Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Earls, Lucky Acres; Mrs. Cromwell Rhoton, Mrs. Dois Ray, Gayhill; and Mrs. Ovis James and Mrs. Phil Wynn, Coahoma.

County agents are Miss Sherry Mullin, Bruce Griffith and Ronnie Wood.

Retirement Party To Honor County Clerk Pauline Petty

Mrs. Pauline Shubert Petty, who is retiring this year as County Clerk, will be honored by fellow workers and other friends at a retirement party from 4 to 6 p.m., Dec. 6 on the second floor of Howard County Courthouse.

Mrs. Petty, at age 74, will have had 29 years of experience in the job, almost all (22) of them as clerk, when she steps down Jan. 1, 1975.

Few have served longer in the clerk's office; probably none with greater devotion to duty. With her, being clerk has been almost a way of life, for she regards this office as the most important office in the courthouse.

The county clerk touches every life from birth to death, keeping records of both events, as well as marriage, instruments by which one acquires personal or real property, and the papers of legal matters, including probate proceedings.

As a fellow employe said, "It is no job for a person with political ambitions, but for someone with integrity, intelligence, common sense and a burning interest in faithfully taking care of these indispensible records."

MRS. HOMER (PAULINE) PETTY

OIL BOOM

Mrs. Petty's background equipped her uniquely for her job. Born Easter Sunday, 1900 in Big Spring, she has been a life-long resident of the county (Howard) she serves. When she graduated from Big Spring High School, she attended a business school and began work for Ward's Drug Store. Soon she took a job as telephone operator (one operator to the shift) and was in on much of the county's exciting developments. It was she who punched the button which sounded the "wildcat whistle" the night the historic Cole Hotel burned. But the whistle stuck and awoke everybody in town.

"All the drops on the board came down," and she spent most of the rest of the night answering the questions, "Where's the fire?" or "What's happening?"

She also was on duty one Sunday morning in April, 1926 when G. Otis Chalk, a southeast Howard County rancher called to say, "Pauline, we've struck oil on my place. Can you get me a line to Tulsa?" Little did she know when she put this call through that she was helping touch off a wave of development that taxed the telephone system and its two long distance lines to Fort Worth. When the big oil boom developed, she was one of the few with enough expertise to finagle lines on out-of-town calls.

With business at a feverish pitch, she took a position as bookkeeper with Gary & Son general mercantile in 1928, then moved on to the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. which needed an experienced phone operator to handle its busy switchboard. Bugg Grocery & Market persuaded her to come to work, but not long afterwards, the Depression left her, with hundreds of others out of work.

CASE WORKER

Because of her knowledge of people, particularly the Mexican-American families whom she had known for years, she was picked by the Texas Relief Commission to be a case worker, a heart-breaking experience as she "went into home after home where there was not a crumb of food." It was during this period, too, that she "saved a woman's arm" which had been caught in a washing machine wringer.

Four years later she accepted an offer to be an abstracter for Elliott and Waldron, then in another four years became a clerk for the Selective Service Board during World War II.

In 1945, she responded to an invitation by Lee Porter, County Clerk, to join his staff, and was made chief deputy, January 1, 1946. When he stepped up to county auditor, she was appointed, January 2, 1953, as county clerk and has been re-elected successively to every term since.

Aside from keeping up with an emmense volume of work, she has found time to help with things like elections, obtaining supplies, preparing boxes, then staying up all night to gather returns. Once she served as NBC correspondent when Howard was chosen as a pilot county in the network's nation sampling.

She got involved in a case in which an Alabama couple sought to obtain a birth certificate for a child they said had been born in the Holiday Inn here March 9, 1969. When she couldn't match up the circumstances, the Border Patrol entered the case and discovered that the child actually had been born in Juarez, Mexico, December 25, 1968, and was delivered to the couple in El Paso for "adoption."

She has gone to the office all hours to help clients with copies of birth certificates, information for passports, and various instruments. Once she went to the cotton patch to obtain a father's consent for his minor-age daughter to marry. He gave it, and she filled out the license on the fender of her car. With her and the sheriff watching, the wedding was performed by the justice of peace in the cotton patch.

ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Petty's activities have extended far beyond the clerk's office. She has been an active member of the First Christian Church, was one of the charter members in 1950, and later president of the Altrusa Club; has held virtually every office in the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge, including noble grand; has been active in the Order of the Eastern Star; the Ladies Auxiliary of Veterans of World War I and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. She also has been a leader in the Howard County Legal Secretaries Association.

She was married December 31, 1942, to Homer Petty, who died October 15, 1966. Mrs. Petty's reaction to this blow was to throw herself even more deeply into her work as clerk and in community affairs, as well as with the state association of clerks.

Mrs. Petty could have qualified with honor any year as clerk of the year, but on this, her last year in office, she was named among the top ten county clerks in the state of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Franklin, Gail Route, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Prudie Adaline, to James Jeremiah Dunne, son of Mrs. James A. Dunne, 1002 Lancaster, and the late James A. Dunne. The ceremony will be held January 11th, at the First Christian Church. (Advertising)

MARY CAROLYN HAMMON

FUTURE BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. Loyd H. Hammon, 2303 Marshall, announce the engagement and future marriage of their daughter, Mary Carolyn to Dennis Pat Johnson of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gail G. Johnson of Albuquerque, N.M. The wedding ceremony is scheduled Jan. 4, 1975 in Trinity Baptist Church.

Party For Pipkins On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pipkin who reside on Johansen Road, were honored Wednesday night with a reception on their wedding anniversary.

The surprise affair was at the Pipkin home with their daughters, Miss Denise Pipkin and Mrs. Robert Hale, both of Big Spring, and Mrs. Cecil Brown of Andrews, as hostesses.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth, and the centerpiece was a wedding cake iced in lavendar and white.

Out-of-town guests were a son, Jim Pipkin, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pipkin, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Pipkin, Mrs. John W. Gatlin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brown and Doug, all of Andrews.

Fresh Ham

Fresh ham is meat from the hind leg of pork which has not been smoked or cured. It tastes and looks more like a pork roast, Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

Patricia Ann Wilkins Weds Glenn Biffar

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Patricia Ann Wilkins of Irving and Glenn Reid Biffar of Denton Friday evening in the First Baptist Church of Chico with the Rev. Joe Motsenbacker, pastor, officiating. Nuptial music was by Mrs. Anne Lewis, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Nelda Vincent, organist.

A graduate of Chico High School, the bride attended North Texas State University 2½ years and is now working at Gifford-Hill and Co., Dallas. Biffar graduated from Big Spring High School in 1968 and will receive a BS degree at NTSU in December. He will be employed by McAlister Trucking Company.

Carrying a bouquet of orchids and gypsophila, the bride was attired in an empire gown of white velvet styled with V-neckline and long, full sleeves. Decorative accents of lace and pearls trimmed the neckline, cuffs, midriff and hem of the gown.

ATTENDANTS

The maid of honor was Miss Pam Wilkins, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Miss Lurae Biffar, Dallas, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Nancy D'Angelo of Burleson. The attendants were identically attired in gowns fashioned with burgandy velvet shirt topped with long-sleeved bodice of antique white lace. They carried bouquets of pink and red rosebuds interspersed with gypsophila.

Randy Morris of Denton served as best man, and groomsmen were Danny Barboza and Terry Lamb, both of Denton. Ronald Wilkins, Hobart, Okla., and John Brock, Denton, were the ushers.

The flower girl was Delana Chilton of Chico.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Biffar were honored at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church where refreshments were served by Miss Robin Bohannon, Southlake; Mrs. Juanita Davis, Denton; and Miss Cyd Bailey, Chico.

Couple Wed Friday At Berea Baptist

(Photo West)

MRS. AUDRY WAYNE BRUMMETT

Berea Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Debra Jean Maxwell and Audry Wayne Brummett, Friday at 8 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Maxwell Jr., Dogwood St., and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Brummett Jr., Knott Rt., Big Spring.

The Rev. Mack Alexander performed the ceremony before the altar decorated by two spiral candelabra holding tall white tapers adorned with English ivy and baskets of white carnations and lemon leaves.

Miss Dorothy Banks was pianist.

The bride's gown was of bridal satin with fitted bodice and lace trimmed V-neckline overlaid with lace. The puffed sleeves were gathered at the wrists with lace, and the chapel train extended from the floor-length skirt.

A cascade of white carnations, blue roses and English ivy, tied with satin streamers, was carried by the bride.

Mrs. G. C. Hagle, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor, and Miss Regina Chadwell of Forsan, was the bridesmaid. Mrs. Hagle wore turquoise and Miss Chadwell blue pastel, knits fashioned with floor-length skirts, fitted bodices with attached belts, and V-necklines trimmed with ruffles. The long sleeves were gathered at the wrists with lace.

The attendants' nosegays were of blue camellias with blue and white satin streamers.

Joe Dan Hancock, O'Donnell, was best man, and Juan Baeza was a groomsman. Brobbie Bayes and Darryl Stephens were ushers.

Joie and Sharon Brummett, sisters of the bridegroom, lighted the tapers.

After a short wedding trip to New Mexico the couple will return to Big Spring to make a home at 502 W. 8th St.

The bride will graduate this year from Forsan High School, and is presently employed by Rudd's Pastries.

The bridegroom is a Borden High School graduate and plans to farm in Howard County.

At the reception following the ceremony guests were registered by Miss Debbie Wooten.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over blue and centered with the bride's bouquet and alabaster doves. The bridegroom's table was laid with a chocolate brown cloth with beige lace trim. Crystal and silver were used in appointments.

Serving were Mrs. Chester Rudd, Mrs. Leo Parker, Miss Dorothy Banks, and Mrs. Gary Gates.

Among out-of-town relatives attending were Mrs. Jean Patton and Miss Kathy Patton of Phoenix, Ariz.

Unique Bean

One lunch in the hand is worth two from the plate, as least where teen-agers are concerned. Try this all-in-one frank sandwich and make it your own specialty with a unique bean relish.

Combine 1 can (16 oz.) pork and beans with tomato sauce and 1 cup drained sauerkraut (if desired, cut strands with kitchen shears). Serve as a relish with frankfurter sandwiches.

Makes 2½ cups or enough for 8 to 10 sandwiches.

Budget Is Best Way

COLLEGE STATION — Plan ahead now for holiday spending, one family resource management specialist suggested this week.

"Most families feel they will need to cut down on the amount of money spent this year. Call a family council and let each family member know the situation," Mrs. Doris Myers, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Start by taking a look at where money is going now. List all expenditures that must be met for the next several months. Then list the amount of money that will be coming in to pay these bills, she advised.

"This provides a realistic picture of how much money is left for gift giving, entertaining and other holiday functions.

"In most families some adjustments will need to be made. Let the family figure out together what can be done," Mrs. Myers said.

She suggested ways to make the season happy for others without spending money. Making gifts instead of buying them, visiting a shut-in, and doing a job such as babysitting for a friend are ideas for bringing joy at no cost.

Women's Year Set In 1975

COLLEGE STATION — 1975 will be International Women's Year, as proclaimed by the General Assembly of the United Nations, Dr. Jennie Kitching reported this week.

"The International Women's Year offers a unique opportunity for organizations and individuals in the United States to focus attention on the advancements of women's status and the recognition of women's responsibilities and achievements," the family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, pointed out.

"The goals established for the year are to promote equality between men and women in the total development effort at national, regional and international levels. Also, to recognize the importance of women's contributions to the development of friendly relations and cooperation among nations and to world peace."

Non-governmental organizations of women in several countries promoted the idea that the United Nations should designate a year for women. Years have been set aside previously for human rights, population, and international cooperation, she said.

Observance of 1975 as International Women's Year will involve stock-taking to determine progress made on the rights and responsibilities of women, and on steps which still need to be taken.

"The Year should involve men as well as women. Men have a stake in International Women's Year, because the Year, through aiding women, will help the family, local community and the nation as a whole," Dr. Kitching said.

Quotable Women

By The Associated Press

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"You never realize that good things are going to be over some day. I grew up at this studio and it didn't seem unusual to see all those stars. Nowadays you'd never find so many names in one commissary. In fact, there aren't that many stars." Cyd Charisse, during a sentimental return to the MGM lot, scene of her movie debut, where she is working on a television show.

"I have women going everywhere. They are looking for equality in salaries, of course, and how the boss treats his secretary and how the sales girls are treated." Francois Giroud, France's secretary for women's affairs, speaking on "Meet the Press" about the condition of women and their treatment in France.

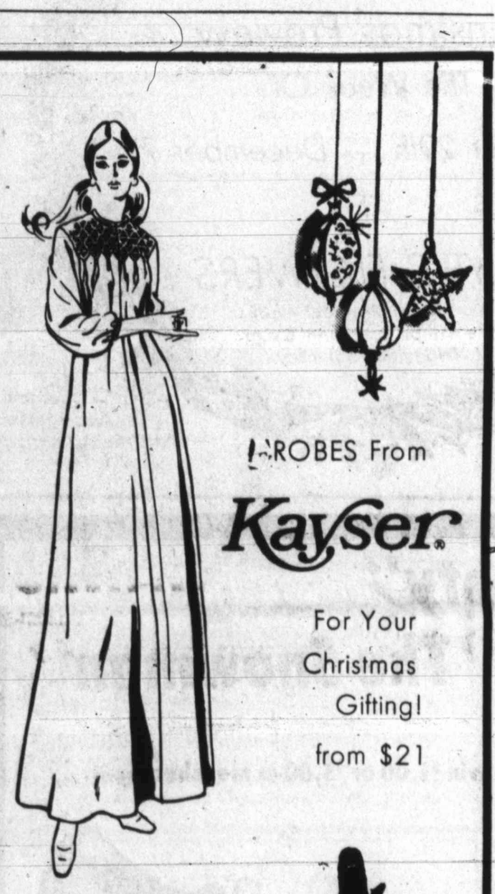

"When I signed the paper to give the doctors permission to use Jenifer's heart, I was still in a state of shock and did not quite realize what I had done. But thinking about it now, I would have done the same thing every time." Mrs. Janette Shrikker, mother of the girl whose heart was implanted by Dr. Christiaan Barnard in a patient's chest during surgery in Cape Town, South Africa.

"This question of contrived versus real scarcity to me is the most important area this hearing can shed light on." Virginia H. Knauer, President Ford's special assistant for consumer affairs, speaking at a two-day conference in Washington on sugar prices.

"I feel absolutely shocked and numb. I cannot believe that my happiness has suddenly turned into sadness and confusion." Helen Morgan, giving up her crown as Miss World, due to the possibility of being mentioned in a divorce case.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

How To Choose Your Yule Tree

By SHERRY MULLIN
(HD Agent)

The lasting beauty of a Christmas tree depends on careful selection and preholiday treatment. Choose a full, dense tree, one that is evenly branched. The branches should be firm and flexible. Shake the branches when selecting to see if the needles fall. Fresh, healthy yule trees do not drop their needles. Select a tree with a fresh, green color, which indicates that the choice is fresh, has good needle retention, fragrance, fire resistance and longer holiday beauty.

Once the tree is selected, remove the bottom of the trunk. Cut away an inch above the original cut, or severely hack the end of the trunk so as to open the wood tissues. This helps the tree to absorb water which will insure freshness and lasting qualities.

Stand the tree in water in a cool location out-of-doors overnight or for several days. When it's time to trim the tree, place it in a tree stand that holds water and keep it filled during the long holiday.

Place the tree in the coolest location possible indoors, away from the open fire-place, radiators and heaters.

For a unique and lasting tree, one may wish to choose a living tree with roots intact.

Dear Abby

Hold The Phone: Have You Decided?

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, age 36. A nice looking man rang my doorbell saying his car was stalled and he wanted to use my telephone to call for help.

I let him in, he made the call, and while waiting, I fixed coffee we sat in my kitchen drinking coffee and getting acquainted. I really started to like this man.

He said he wasn't married and it would be nice to see me again. He gave me his name and phone number and I gave him mine. A week passed and he didn't call, so I called him and asked (in a joking way) if he had lost my number.

He said no, he was just going to call me. I asked him if he wanted to come over for supper that night and he said yes. He came, bringing a box of candy.

I'm sorry to say that he didn't waste much time letting me know he expected to be entertained in the bedroom. I said I wasn't that kind of person.

He left rather early and acted disappointed. He told me to call him if I ever changed my mind.

I really want to see him again, Abby, but I hate to call him. What do you suggest?

MISSING HIM

DEAR MISSING: If you call him, he'll assume that you've decided to entertain him in the bedroom. Have you?

DEAR ABBY: My husband was a good football player in college, but he never was a star. Now he seems determined that our 16-year-old son, Jimmy, will be a star no matter what.

Last year Jimmy broke his leg in the middle of the football season. This year, during the first game, he tore the cartilage in his knee.

To my husband, Jimmy is merely "out for the season." He's already telling Jimmy, "Wait 'til next year, Tiger!"

I know Jimmy doesn't really share his father's enthusiasm for football, but he hates to let his father down.

I am afraid for Jimmy to play again next year. How can I handle this?

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER

DEAR OUT: Have a mom-to-son talk with Jimmy. If he doesn't really want gridiron glory at the expense of his bones, then both of you dig in and make a goal line stand against your husband's obvious obsession. It's time Dad learned "You can't win 'em all."

CONFIDENTIAL TO SAGITTARIUS: Yours isn't a marriage — it's a business deal. And it can last as long as you're both satisfied.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los. Angeles Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Freezing Fact

Research has revealed that the proteins of fresh frozen beef and beef which had been in freezer storage for 40 years were of equal value, indicating that the freezing of beef does not affect its nutritive value.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Our 22-month-old daughter has learned to open doors. I disliked putting a hook on every door in the house, so I took a boy's sock (not cotton) and placed it on the door knob, fastening it with a rubber band.

Now, the door can be easily opened by an adult who can "squeeze" the handle and turn it, but the sock will just slide around the knob in a toddler's small hand.

It's a marvelous way to keep little sisters out of big brother's bedroom!

Mrs. Harry Mussard

Dear Heloise:

Have always enjoyed your tips to make life a little easier — so here is one I just tried successfully yesterday.

I had my husband's dirty white fabric scarf soaking and couldn't seem to lift the dark greasy neck stains by hand-rubbing. I took it to the kitchen intending to use a vegetable brush on them, then I spied your nylon net ball!

I scrubbed across those stains and like magic, they soon disappeared.

Another victory for nylon net! Hope this will help to save someone else time and elbow grease.

Edith Segman

Dear Heloise:

Now that a lot of people are turning to the use of "long johns," I thought my suggestion would make it a little more comfortable to wear them. I sew a piece of one-inch soft elastic on the bottom of each leg, stirrup-style.

This way there is no bunching at the ankles and they look neater. I have been doing this for years for my husband and he agrees with me.

Ardent adminer

Wonderful for women to wear under slacks too!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

With today's high prices of sugar, I want to pass along something I do to save.

I keep a little plastic squeeze bottle filled with sugar syrup on my counter. All I do is pour in sugar, add water to dissolve and there you are.

When I serve tea or coffee or even cereal, I just squirt in a little of the syrup. No more stirring and stirring!

It also "stretches" the sugar — a little seems to go a long way!

Ruth

Ruth, you are a sugar cookie! What a saving and so easy to use.

I know what you mean about stirring and stirring. . . .

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A researcher says supersonic aircraft can fly faster than sound across the United States without causing sonic booms—if advance routing and attention to meteorological conditions take place.

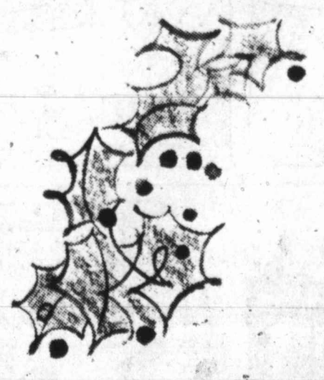

A research program is being run by the Kaman Aerospace Corp. for United Air Lines. Kaman is the main contractor for supersonic flight studies sponsored by the Federal Aviation Administration.

United spokesmen said two recent flights were run between San Francisco and Dulles International Airport in Washington, D.C. The flights, each using Air Force FB111 jets, hit speeds as high as 1.34 times the speed of sound at altitudes up to 57,000 feet.

Data showed that no sonic booms reached the ground, Boynton Beckwith, chief meteorologist for United, state Thursday.

Beckwith said the dounds "would have been turned parallel with the earth 1,000 to 2,000 feet above ground or refracted back into the atmosphere without annoying those below."

He said further tests will be made next year on the West Coast.

SCHOOL DANCES TO BURLESQUE

Ex-Bunny Stripped Of Family

By JOHN G. EDWARDS

"They said I cannot go near my family any more," Michelle LaMora, 23, said.

"I just told them that I have to live for myself and provide for myself . . ."

"I got started as a go-go girl in Milwaukee," Miss LaMora said. "I went into go-go dancing for two weeks and then went straight into stripping."

Her father, a city sanitation department worker, and mother did not approve.

'INDEPENDENT'

"They don't like me showing my body," Miss LaMora said. Why do you continue stripping then? "Because I'm an independent person."

It was 5 a.m., and I was talking with Michelle and three other employes of the Cabaret in a Las Vegas restaurant.

They work for Paul Perry, who was said to look like Marcus Welby, and owns not only the Cabaret but the Palomino and is building a hotel. Guests at the burlesque shows range from stars like Liberache, Tom Jones, Paul Anka and Joan Rivers — "all of the biggies" to families and couples.

The striptease places have been "plugged" nationally on television shows like Johnny Carson's.

On my left was Brandy Jackson, the waitress who was still wearing a plunging blouse but had put on wire frame glasses. She didn't talk much.

Marge Page, the only female bartender on the Strip, said she hated Texas and told me to send a copy of the story so they could get some laughs.

Michelle was across the table from me. Holly Wood, the six-foot star of the show, was sitting next to me and looked even more buxom with clothes on.

'HOG WILD'

Men working at burlesque bars react differently to the dancers, the barmaid said. "When you come out dressed, they go hog wild."

Michelle told me to continue the questions for her personality sketch.

A native of Milwaukee, Michelle said she had worked as a nurses aide, surgical technician and Playboy Bunny at the Lake Geneva (New York) Club two months "until I almost hit a woman over the head with my tray."

Michelle didn't like the way Bunnies were treated.

PICTURE POSING

A free lance photographer hopes to get photos of her published in Playboy. Michelle has been pictured in Escapade, a men's magazine, but she said she didn't say the things they quoted her saying and said she was unhappy, because they didn't use her real name.

"I was on the circuit two and a half years before I came here," Michelle said. She traveled from town to town "staying a week or two or maybe three."

Pittsburg, West Palm Beach and Evansville, Ind., are among the places she's worked.

"You can make up to $3,500 a week," she said, but $700 to $800 a week is considered good pay.

Michelle said 10 per cent of her income goes to Bob Harris, her agent from Benton, Wisc. Also, strippers buy their own costumes which can cost from $350 to $2,000.

'SCHOOL DANCE'

At the Cabaret, she performs three 20 minute shows, six nights a week. She is at the club from 9:30 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.

"I always enjoyed dancing, like at school dances," Michelle said.

"I learned right on stage how to relate to persons" in the audience, she added.

When the audience is responsive, Holly said you can feel excitement backstage.

The dressing room is not always pleasant, though.

"Jealousy among girls: there is some," Michelle said.

"It's like this. There's five or six girls back there, and not every person is together," Michelle said of past experience. "There are clashes, like dope."

GAY GIRLS

"I've had run-ins with gay girls," Michelle said.

But the group believed strippers were no more prone to use drugs or be perverted than any other women.

"There are less heavy drinkers than among any class of people," the barmaid said.

"The one's I've known are very generous and always giving things away," Holly, a veteran of two years, said.

Michelle said she likes horseback riding and reading books of all types from those about UFOs "down to the Bible."

"You can learn things out of the Bible like prophecy," Michelle said.

"I was baptized Roman Catholic," Michelle said.

Now, she said, "I don't believe in God for God, but I believe in a super-intelligent being."

"I believe that there's an intelligence above the human race," Michelle said.

How long could her striptease career last?

"By the age of 25, a lot of them are shot," someone said. But they talked about a 55-year-old still performing and doing well.

FEAR DATES

The show girls said they date less often than other women, because some men are looking for women to support them and strip-teasers are "vulnerable."

"We're afraid of weirdos, freaks, who might slice you up or anything," Michelle said.

"Many of the girls have an inferiority complex," Holly said. "They dance to express themselves and to bring themselves out."

Most are "looking for a lot of love and don't get very much," Holly said.

Does Michelle plan to marry? "Not unless it's a rich old man with a bag full of money."

Books Hold Party Ideas

By SUSIE RITZ
Of County Library

With party season here, entertaining still poses problems to even the most confident hostess. The horror of the dull evening can easily be overcome by simple tips or stimulating ice breakers.

Words will never describe the panic which strikes when the party suddenly goes flatter than last week's ginger ale. Ways to avoid this nightmare can be found in "The Cokesbury Party book." Cokesbury also has an interesting book of ideas for themes and refreshments for teenage parties.

Christmas parties have traditionallybeen brightened by the singing of Christmas carols. Modern parties can be cheerfully touched by nostalgia by forming groups of carolers and thus brightening someone elses evening. Music selections for vocalists as well as most instruments can be found at the Howard County Library.

The library can be of assistance to teachers when they prepare the annual Christmas play or pageant. Plays are available for children from the elementary level through high school. Adult plays are there for the taking.

Stories and legends which surround traditions such as "Christmas' Stockings" or "Presents by the tree are explained in many holiday books. Mothers can find many stories for those preschool children such as "The Littlest Angel."

Far West Texas Cotton Harvest In Full Swing

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Cotton harvesting on the state's western plains gained momentum last week, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

Open weather on the plains also helped speed up sorghum harvesting, he said.

Peanut harvesting made good progress in West Central and Central Texas but yields and quality have been reduced by prolonged wet conditions, he said.

Soybeans awaited harvest in North Central, East and Southeast Texas and along the Upper Gulf Coast.

Good weather in the Panhandle allowed the sugar beet harvest to resume. About half the crop is still out and yields are good.

Sugarcane, citrus and fall vegetable harvesting remained active in the Rio Grande Valley. The citrus harvest is gaining momentum as the holiday season approaches, Hutchison said.

Livestock are in good condition throughout the state with good grazing available from wheat and oat pastures, he said. However, feeding is beginning in some sections.

District agricultural agents gave these reports:

South Plains: The sorghum harvest is about 90 per cent complete in northern counties and at the halfway point in the south. Yields are generally below average. Rust is damaging some wheat fields. Range and livestock conditions are good.

Rolling Plains: Harvesting of cotton, sorghum, peanuts and guar is active. Recent freezing temperatures will defoliate the cotton so that harvest operations can get into full swing. Rust and greenbugs are causing some damage in early wheat.

Far West: The cotton harvest is in full swing. Harvesting of a good pecan crop is underway. Livestock and range conditions are generally good. Small grains are providing grazing for cattle.

West Central: Some cotton is being harvested. Sorghum yields are down because of sprouted heads, midge and bird damage, and lodging. Most of the peanut crop has been harvested. Calving and lambing are active.

Central: Peanut fields and quality are down sharply because of wet weather. Small grains are providing good grazing for livestock. The recent frost killed tender vegetable plants.

South: Flax planting is at the halfway point in Bee and Kleberg counties. Cucumbers are being harvested in Brooks and Kleberg counties. Cabbage and carrots are making good growth in the Rio Grande Valley. The fall sorghum crop looks good in Duval County.

Borden, Sterling Add Outposts, Confirmers

Borden County added a discovery and confirmer, and Sterling County deep wildcat and a confirmer in oil drilling reports over the holidays.

James P. Dunigan, Inc. No. 1-527 Miller, pumped 48 barrels of oil and 72 of water to open Ellenburger pay three-eights of a mile northeast of the reopened Hood (Pennsylvania) field. It is located 11 miles west of Fluvanna and four miles west-southwest of Ellenburger production in the Fluvanna (Southwest multipay) field. Production came from open hole 8,630, 8,635. In testing the Pennsylvanian, operator had recovered 900 feet of 1-4 gravity oil and 510 feet of salt water. Location is 1,980 from the north and 933 from the east line section 527-97, H&TC.

Dunigan No. 1-593 Miller, nine miles northwest of Flubanna, pumped 178 barrels of 40-gravity oil from the upper Strawn through perforations 8,009-26. Gas-oil ratio was 220-1. Total depth was 8,465 with 5½-in. string set at 8,464. Location is 467 from the south and 2,160 from the east lines section 593-97, H&TC.

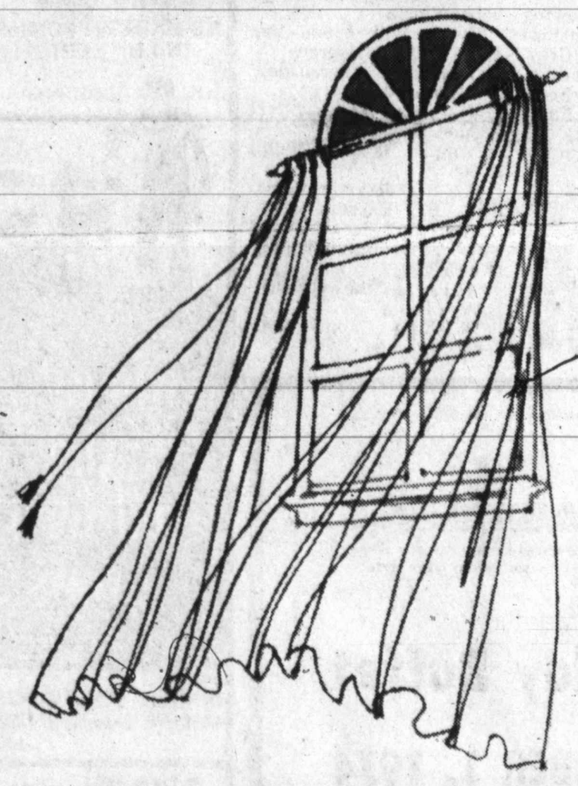

The wildcat eight miles northwest of Sterling City will be Sterling Co. No. 1-29 Reynolds, 1,200 from the north and 1,980 from the east line section 29-23, H&TC. This puts it 2¼ miles south of the Credo, East (Wolfcamp) and two miles south-southeast of the Credo, Southeast (Wolfcamp) field. It is, however, separated by a 7,250-ft. failure in Section 30.

Dorchester Exploration No. 1-18 Foster, 13 miles southwest of Sterling City, finaled for a calculated open flow of 1.9 million cubic feet of gas per day through perforations 7,123-207 fraced with 30,000 gallons. Operator plans to try for dual completion as a Cisco oil producer. It is bottomed at 8,792 with casing set at that depth. Location is 990 from the north and 1,650 from the west lines of section 18-13 SPRR.

William N. Beach No. 1. Woodward will be half a mile west outpost to the Phoenix (Grayburg) field eight miles north of Lenorah in Martin County. Location is 1,980 from the south and west lines section 24-36-3n, T&P.

How to measure

For accurate results always use a metal tape to take measurements.

First, decide just where the rod is to be placed. Remember, you should extend the rod past the window frame for more light, best ventilation and a more pleasing appearance.

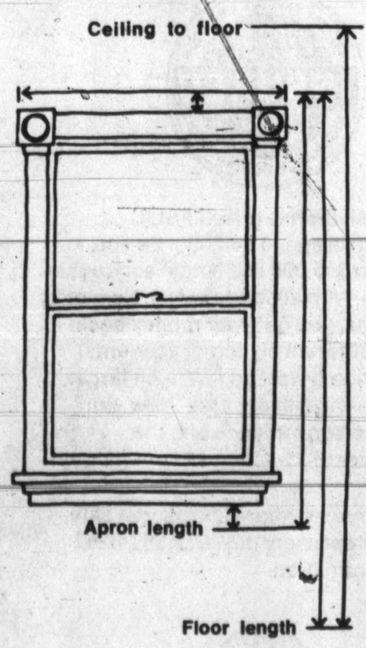

After you have decided on location of the rod, measure from one end of the rod across to the other. This is your bracket-to-bracket measurement. Now add 3 more inches for the right side return, another 3 inches for the left side return, and 6 inches more for the center overlap. This figure will be your finished measurement. Be sure your finished measurement includes all these measurements; the bracket-to-bracket measurement plus the two side returns and the center overlap.

Rods should be at least 4 inches above the window so that hooks and pleating can not be seen from the outside. A similar 4 inch allowance at the bottom will keep the bottom hem out of sight.

Apron length draperies: measure from top of rod to desired length, add 1 inch for finished length.

Floor length draperies: Measure from top of rod to floor or carpet. This is finished length, no allowance necessary.

Ceiling to floor draperies. Measure from ceiling to floor and deduct 1 inch for finished length. Repeat measurements at two or three places across the span. Remember to measure from the ceiling and not from the rod.
