U.S. sinks three boats, Iran claims retaliation

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — U.S. helicopter gunships attacked and sank three Iranian patrol boats in the Persian Gulf to defend an American aircraft under fire from the vessels, U.S. officials said. At least two Iranians were killed.

Iran today claimed it shot down one of the attacking U.S. helicopters and damaged a U.S. warship in the combat.

Pentagon spokesman Lt. Cmdr. Chris Baumann denied the Iranian report, saying, "We have no warships damaged and we have no helicopters missing."

Tehran, in a report by the official Islamic Republic News Agency, described the attack by U.S. helicopter gunships as "open military action" by the United States against Iran.

A spokesman for Iran's War Information Headquarters was quoted by IRNA as saying Tehran holds the United States responsible for the lives of six Iranians it said were taken "hostage" by U.S. forces. The unidentified spokesman urged Washington to immediately hand them back, IRNA said.

The IRNA report, monitored in Cyprus, said, "The War Information Headquarters official said the U.S. has thus practically involved itself in a war."

IRNA added: "The spokesman warned the American people that (President) Reagan's unwise and provocative policies will eventually involve them in an unwanted war. He urged the Americans to pressure the U.S. administration to stop these provocative acts before it is too late."

"Otherwise, he warned, the American troops will not return to their home on their own feet."

The agency earlier quoted an "informed military source" in its first Iranian report on the clash.

"Iranian forces aboard speedboats shot down a U.S. helicopter with surface-to-air Stinger missiles and damaged an American vessel immediately after U.S. helicopter gun-ships attacked five speedboats in the international waters of the Persian Gulf Thursday," said the statement.

It said five Iranian speedboats were on a routine patrol mission in international waters near Farsi when "suddenly attacked by foreign helicopters" at 9:15 p.m. (2:15 p.m.)

IRNA quoted the official as saying the helicopter crash "was coupled with a huge explosion which lit the sky."

Iranian units also fired "light missiles at several U.S. vessels which had rushed to help the helicopters as a result of which one of the American vessels was hit and damaged," IRNA reported.

The clash in the northern gulf was the second fatal encounter in three weeks between U.S. and Iranian forces in the waterway.

In a separate incident, the Pentagon said another U.S. military helicopter flying in the southern gulf on Thursday reported gunshots being fired from an Iranian oil rig. In that case, however, the Pentagon said it was unclear whether the Iranians were firing at the Americans and thus the helicopter left the area without returning fire.

Thursday's fighting left the Reagan administration bracing itself for new demands by Congress that it invoke the War Powers Act, a law that would allow Congress to decide whether the U.S. military presence in the gulf should be reduced.

"We all look like fools, fools that are disregarding the law," Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., said in a speech on the Senate floor.

Pentagon spokesman Fred Hoffman said Thursday the administration still saw no need to invoke the act.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the administration would review the attack in terms of the act "but there are no preliminary judgments to make other than we will comply with the spirit of the resolution by giving full and detailed (See IRAN, Page 2)

Band Spirit

Members of the Band Booster Club have been busy decorating the Hereford High School band room with spirited signs such as the one above. Head Director James MacLaskey poses near one of the colorful signs wishing band members good luck in their pursuit of the 30th consecutive win of a UIL Division One rating. Thirty-one area bands will compete for ratings in Amarillo on Saturday.

Band seeks 30th 'I' rating

Hereford's Mighty Maroon Marching Band will seek win No. 30 at the University Interscholastic League Marching Contest in Amarillo this weekend.

Thirty-one high school marching bands from the high plains area will exhibit their marching skills at Dick Bivins Stadium beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday. The HHS band is scheduled to perform last, at 6:15 p.m.

"Judges will rate each band according to the UIL standards," said James MacLaskey, head director of the HHS band. "The band is rated in terms of a comparison of actual performance to ideal performance."

Ratings are given in terms of Division I, or superior; II, excellent; III, good; IV, fair; or V, poor. The top two bands from each division classification will represent the district in regional competition scheduled in Wichita Falls on Oct. 31. Three districts compete at the regional meet for a total participation of 30 bands.

Later in the year, the band will compete in concert and sightreading competition. Bands receiving I ratings in all three receive "Sweepstakes" awards.

A program of big band tunes of the 30's and 40's will be featured by the HHS band.

The band will open with Sing, Sing, Sing, then move into a swinging rendition of Tuxedo Junction, followed by a medley of Pennsylvania 6-5000, Opus 1 and Jumpin' at the Woodside. The closing number will be Stormy Weather, but the band is hoping for fair skies and a large Hereford audience to cheer them on, according to MacLaskey.

"We would love to have a bunch of Hereford people come over and watch. It should be easier for them to come this year since the competition is in Amarillo," he said. There will be a $1 admission fee.

Rehearsals began in August for the 175 member HHS band and continue with daily one-hour classes and Tuesday evening practices. Though students may be a little nervous about the approaching contest MacLaskey said their spirits are high. "There is nothing unusual about our preparations, we are just trying to make things the best they can be," he said.

Reagan quits Bork lobbying

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Robert H. Bork decides whether his doomed Supreme Court nomination is still worth a fight, President Reagan and the nominee himself have apparently stopped their lobbying efforts in the Senate.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Thursday that Bork has given President Reagan no indication he's ready to withdraw, even though a majority of the Senate has declared against him.

Reagan made clear Thursday that Bork must decide his own fate. "He has a decision to make. I have made mine. I will support him all the way," the president said.

Fitzwater said Bork also can request a meeting with the president today if he wants one, and added the White House is "playing it by ear."

The Washington Post, quoting unnamed sources, said Bork planned to make a statement today. Leonard Garment, a Washington lawyer and confidant of Bork, told The Associated Press he was unaware of any such plans.

An Associated Press survey showed 53 senators have declared against Bork, 36 said they back him, and 11 remain undecided.

At the end of the working day Thursday, Fitzwater reported that Reagan had not met with any senators on the Bork nomination during the day and had not made any telephone calls on the subject.

And a survey of virtually all the undecided senators indicated that none of them has any meetings scheduled with the federal appellate judge. Bork had been making the rounds on Capitol Hill, usually to hold one-on-one meetings with senators.

"The White House hasn't called us, Bork hasn't called us," said Ron Tammen, administrative assistant to undecided Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

"I think he (Proxmire) was somewhat surprised he had no personal approaches. It hasn't happened from either side (for or against

Republican Sen. Alfonse M. D'Amato of New York also has no session scheduled with Bork, his office said. The senator issued a statement saying, "The constructive thing to do now is to move forward and find a consensus candidate who would represent the best of the Reagan revolution — someone with outstanding credentials who would be able to secure the overwhelming support of the Senate."

At midday Thursday, Bork visited with Attorney General Edwin Meese III, raising speculation that the nomination might soon be pulled back. Department officials added to the speculation by saying Meese had arranged a meeting with Reagan to talk over Bork's fate.

However, no such meeting took place and Meese reported there was no change in the status of the nomination.

It was Democratic Sen. George Mitchell of Maine — himself a former federal judge — who became the 51st senator to state his opposition to Bork.

Reagan, speaking briefly with reporters at the White House, was asked if he were giving up the fight for Bork's confirmation and said, "It's virtually impossible to give up in the face of a lynch mob." He didn't say to whom he was referring.

Mitchell was one of five Democratic senators who announced against Bork Thursday. Others were Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Paul Sarbanes of Maryland, Tom Harkin of Iowa and Daniel Inouye of Hawaii. Sens. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, and William Cohen, R-Maine, gave speeches supporting Bork.

Reagan was asked by a reporter about complaints by some conservatives that Bork's poor showing was due to faulty strategy by White House chief of staff Howard H. Baker Jr. He replied, "Of course not. ... I don't know any conservatives who say that. I think it's very apparent whose fault it is. We saw that in the committee hearings."

Demos promise federal tax increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats who control the two tax-writing committees in Congress are vowing to write a $12 billion deficit-reduction tax increase that will appeal to both parties, even though Republicans are boycotting the process and President Reagan is promising a veto.

"I'm not interested in a political statement ... (or) campaign fodder," Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said Thursday after a committee meeting attended only by its 23 Democrats. "I'm interested in doing something about the deficit."

"I want this to be bipartisan," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, whose Finance Committee on Thursday temporarily suspended efforts to write a $23 billion deficit-reduction package including the tax increase.

Minutes after Bentsen spoke, Sen. Bob Packwood of Oregon, senior Republican on the panel, announced that his fellow GOP members were not interested in writing a tax increase until it becomes more clear later this month whether one will be needed.

Packwood added that he had talked earlier in the day with Treasury Secretary James A. Baker III, who made it clear that "the president will veto any new taxes — period."

"When we joined this committee we didn't take a vow to raise taxes," said Sen. Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo., pointing to the proposed sale of government property and higher user fees for government services as "attractive alternatives to raising people's taxes."

Bentsen recessed the committee, probably until Tuesday.

Rostenkowski, who had seen the 13 GOP members of his committee walk away from the tax-increase bill a week earlier, met with the other 22 Democratic members and continued looking for relatively small tax proposals that could win a majority vote.

The Democrats agreed on none of those Thursday. However, they did reject two dozen provisions that the Reagan administration had proposed in 1984, including repeal of the deduction for personal-property taxes and taxing a portion of employer-financed health insurance.

Despite Rostenkowski's opposition, the Democrats refused to kill several suggestions for increasing individual income-tax rates and excise taxes on gasoline, alcohol and tobacco. Those items will still be up for deliberation next week, but it is generally conceded they will not become part of the tax bill.

Under the Gramm-Rudman balanced-budget law, unless Congress and the president agree on a package of deficit reductions, $23 billion of spending cuts will take effect automatically on Nov. 20. That would mean a huge cut in defense spending, which Reagan opposes.

However, Packwood said he is convinced Reagan would find that more acceptable than having to agree to a tax increase.

10-year-old boy slept in ditches to avoid abuse

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A 10-year-old boy slept in ditches to avoid his father's beatings, but child welfare workers took no steps to remedy the situation, according to court testimony.

A child welfare worker testified in district court that he was told five months ago that the boy was avoiding his father by sleeping outside.

The worker, Department of Human Services investigator Alejandro Moreno, said Wednesday he took no action to place the child in a foster home because he saw no bruises and did not believe the boy was in immediate danger.

Assistant county attorney Ken Barnes angrily asked Moreno, "Are you saying you don't see immediate danger unless there's a bullet in the head?"

District Judge Enrique Pena became visibly angry when Moreno said there was not enough proof of abuse.

"What better proof?" the judge asked. "You have a statement from a kid saying he'd been thrown against a wall."

Pena ordered the department to place the boy in a foster home.

The session was supposed to be a detention hearing for the east El Paso County boy, who is suspected in two burglaries, but it turned into an examination of how the Department of Human Services handled reports the child had been abused.

Moreno testified he talked to the third-grader at school one day, telling him not to sleep in ditches. He said an unspecified relative had reported seeing the father beat his son, but that he needed physical evidence of abuse.

The department made an informal, non-binding deal with the family in June that the son would live with his sister. The case was closed, according to testimony.

But the boy continued sleeping in ditches. A neighbor found the boy sleeping in a wooden box outside her home Sept. 27. She let him sleep in her family's mobile home for the next week.

The neighbor testified she saw the father beat his son once. She said she called the sheriff's department, but that the boy told a deputy he didn't want his father to go to jail.

In a hearing the day before in the same court, DHS caseworkers testified they didn't have time to investigate neglect charges against a family in which a 12-year-old boy later shot his sister in the head.

County Attorney Joe Lucas said Wednesday he is investigating whether the department has been negligent.

Human Services regional administrator Joe Tarin said in a news release Wednesday that the department "will not address individual child abuse cases in the media."

Department officials have said in the past that they can investigate only the most serious cases because of a lack of employees.

consultations to the Congress."

Meanwhile, Navy Secretary James Webb, in San Diego for a speech, told members of the San Diego Union editorial board that even stronger responses would be taken if U.S. forces were provoked by Iranian forces.

"There comes a time when a different sort of reaction could be necessary in order to make it clear what our objectives are," said Webb.

Hoffman, appearing at a Pentagon briefing, said Thursday's encounter occurred at 9:50 p.m. local time or 2:50 p.m. EDT. It began when a lone U.S. observation helicopter approached three and possibly four Iranian patrol boats in the northern gulf, about 15 miles southwest of the Iranian-controlled island of Farsi.

The island has been used extensively by Iran as a base for speedboats used to attack commercial shipping.

The U.S. helicopter was on a routine patrol and did nothing provocative, but suddenly found itself under fire from the small boats, he said. The observation helicopter then called for help.

The spokesman said heavily armed helicopter gunships were flying nearby to protect the observation aircraft and immediately attacked the Iranian boats.

The U.S. helicopters used machine guns and small rockets to sink the Iranian boats, he said.

"The firing on a U.S. helicopter was clearly a hostile act," Hoffman said. "The helicopter crews fired in self-defense."

Hoffman said the Pentagon believed there were four Iranian boats involved, but one appeared to have escaped. The other three were hit and sunk.

On liability insurance law

AG opinion sought

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — Citing a drop in border-area business, a Rio Grande Valley legislator is seeking an attorney general's ruling on the constitutionality of a new Texas law requiring all motorists to carry liability insurance.

State Rep. Juan Hinojosa, D-McAllen, said Thursday he asked for the opinion at the request of business owners and elected officials at the southern tip of the state.

Texas residents have been required to carry automobile liability insurance since 1962, but a law extending the insurance requirement to all drivers in the state went into effect Sept. 1.

Merchants in border cities say business has dropped since then because Mexicans can't afford insurance and are afraid to drive here without it.

Hinojosa said he was asked to seek the opinion because he is chairman of the House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence.

"I think it's constitutional," Hinojosa said of the law. "It doesn't discriminate against anyone. It simply states that anyone who drives on Texas highways must carry liability insurance."

Hinojosa said the constitutional question arose because of the law's effect on international trade.

The letter to Attorney General Jim Mattox's office was delivered Thursday, said David Diaz, Hinojosa's administrative assistant in Austin.

It says the new law has generated considerable controversy in Texas, particularly along the Texas-Mexico border, because it has affected international trade by reducing the number of Mexican nationals who drive into Texas to shop, visit and do business.

Examining the issues would give legislators additional information to determine whether to keep the law in its current form, amend it or implement another program, the letter says.

"There is some confusion, and there shouldn't be," Hinojosa said.

Harlingen resident Alonzo Cavazos, who lobbied for the insurance law after three of his relatives died in a 1985 collision with a Mexican driver who fled to Mexico, said he supports the request for an attorney general's opinion.

"I feel confident that the law is constitutional and there would be no basis to declare it unconstitutional," Cavazos said. "Mexicans were not singled out."

But McAllen attorney Allen Smith said he is preparing a lawsuit challenging the law's constitutionality on behalf of some merchants in his city 10 miles from the border.

"The adoption of this law by the state of Texas was an unconstitutional violation of Congress' constitutional authority to regulate international trade," Smith said.

He said some report their business has declined by as much as 50 percent.

"Texas has set itself up as a guardian for entry into the United States," Smith added.

Larry Fallek, president of the McAllen Chamber of Commerce, said business last month was down 15 percent from a year ago at his two Mike's Man Shop locations, when he had projected a 20 percent increase.

Gov. Bill Clements said in El Paso Thursday the State Board of Insurance is developing a short-term auto liability policy for out-of-state residents. Under the plan, a three-month policy would cost $15 or $20.

More highways may add 65 MPH

WASHINGTON (AP) — A move is under way in the Senate to raise the speed limit to 65 mph on an additional 5,997 miles of highways in 42 states.

"I think we'll pass it," the measure's sponsor, Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., said Thursday.

And even an opponent conceded it would be difficult to stop.

The proposal would allow states to permit legal driving speeds of 65 mph on stretches of roads that the federal government declares meet or come close to the engineering standards of interstate highways. It would be in addition to more than 30,000 miles of interstate highways that Congress in April allowed to post 65 mph limits.

To be eligible, the federal, state or local roads must be divided, have at least four lanes and be reached only by using access ramps. The roads also must be outside urban areas with populations of 50,000 people or more.

When Congress earlier this year fought over a wider-ranging proposal to increase speeds, supporters said the slower 55 mph limits were unnecessary, while opponents said the faster driving would cause more deaths and injuries.

Nickles rejected the safety argument Thursday, telling a reporter of his proposal, "It just makes common sense. A lot of roads meet interstate standards and are just as safe as interstates."

Sen. Frank Lautenberg, D-N.J., chairman of the Senate transportation appropriations subcommittee, was among those opposing the provision when it was approved 12-7 by the Senate Appropriations Committee on Oct. 1.

Lautenberg said Thursday he would continue to work against the language, saying, "Injuries and fatalities go up when you increase the speed limit."

But he noted that recent votes in the Senate have gone in favor of the higher speed limits.

"I don't think there are enough votes here," he said. "I frankly think it's a futile battle."

Drug Awareness Night Monday

Drug Awareness Night has been scheduled at 7 p.m. Monday in the Hereford High School auditorium. The event is being sponsored by Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the HHS Student Council.

Diane Bosch, director of the Adolescent Care Unit at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo, will be the guest speaker. The care unit is for rehabilitation of students who have a chemical dependence such as drugs or alcohol.

This program sponsors training seminars for school systems and businesses to help develop care teams. These teams intervene in the lives of students who may display traits of a chemically dependent nature or simply display characteristics of a troubled person.

Hereford has sent several educators to the training seminars and these trainees are currently trying to set-up the Care Team at the secondary campuses in Hereford. The high school care team is the WATCH Team, which stands for "We Are The Caring Helpers."

All parents and students or any interested persons are invited to attend this drug awareness night so that those in Hereford may begin the struggle to save a youth from the experience of chemical dependency.

Big Gain By DeLozier

Hereford junior varsity quarterback Carl DeLozier (10) rushes for a big gain during a touchdown drive Thursday night against Levelland. The drive was climaxed when DeLozier completed a pass to Kyle Solomon, with Solomon pitching out the ball to Kelvin Brown who ran the rest of the way for a touchdown. The touchdown play went for 18 yards.

Season record now 5-1

Herd JV is 38-7 winner

Hereford High School's junior varsity football team fell behind 7-0 early in the game Thursday, but went on to score a big 38-7 victory over Levelland in a game played at Whiteface Stadium.

The victory gives Hereford a 5-1 season record. Hereford plays at home against Clovis next Thursday at 7 p.m.

Levelland gained the 7-0 lead over Hereford in the first quarter. Hereford's J.T. Heaton kicked a 24-yard field goal in the second quarter to cut the lead to 7-3.

An 18-yard scoring play later in the second quarter put Hereford into the lead for good, 10-7. Quarterback Carl DeLozier completed a pass to Kyle Solomon, who lateralled the ball to Kelvin Brown.

Brown went into the end zone untouched by the Levelland defense. Heaton added the extra point.

The Hereford defense scored a touchdown in the third quarter. Moses Casas blocked a punt, and Todd Collier returned the ball 20 yards for a touchdown. Heaton's PAT made the score 17-7.

Also in the third quarter, Tate Smith rushed two yards for a touchdown. Another good extra point kick by Heaton upped the HHS lead to 24-7.

Hereford scored two touchdowns with long runs the rest of the way. Brown scored with a 70-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, and Smith rushed 64 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter. Heaton made his extra-point kicks after both touchdowns.

Hereford offensive Coach Craig Yenzler said, "In the second half, the offensive linemen came out and took control of the game." Seeing action on the offensive line for Hereford were Bud Shirley, Edward Castillo, Ricky Rieves, Scott Simons, Randy Iruegas, and Scott Devers.

For the HHS defense, Jim Eric Andrews intercepted a pass and Shawn Ortiz recovered a fumble.

"Jim Eric's interception helped change the momentum of the game," Hereford defensive Coach Bill Bridge said. The interception was made at the Hereford 20-yard line in the second quarter.

"It was a good effort by everybody on defense. After Levelland scored their touchdown, we settled down on defense," Bridge added.

Stanton loses pair of games to Yucca

Stanton Junior High School suffered a pair of defeats in football games played Thursday against Yucca at Clovis.

The Stanton ninth grade team fell to Yucca 28-8 and the Stanton eighth grade team was shut out 14-0. For the season, the Stanton ninth grade squad has a 1-4 record and the eighth graders are 1-1-1.

Next Thursday, Stanton plays at home against Gattis of Clovis. Game times are 4 p.m. for the ninth grade and 5:30 p.m. for the eighth grade.

Stanton held an 8-6 lead over Yucca after one period of play Thursday. Oscar Pesqueda caught a 43-yard pass from Max Mungia for the Dogies' touchdown, and Larry Brown ran for a two-point conversion.

Yucca gained a 12-6 lead in the second quarter, and then added one touchdown in each of the other quarters to defeat Stanton 28-8.

In the eighth grade game, Yucca scored all 14 of its points in the first half in the 14-0 win over Stanton.

Going into Saturday's clash

Texas, OU coaches edgy

By The Associated Press

Both David McWilliams and Barry Switzer have reason to feel a little edgy this week.

Texas is a 31-point underdog to Oklahoma Saturday, the biggest point spread in the series' 82-game history.

It will be the 20th meeting with Oklahoma for McWilliams, but his first as head coach of the Longhorns.

Texas A&M fights for survival against Houston

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

The defending champion Texas A&M Aggies fight for survival Saturday against Coach Jack Pardee's Houston Cougars, who are becoming more dangerous by the week in their new run-and-shoot offense.

The Aggies, upset 27-21 by Texas Tech last week, host the Cougars in a 2 p.m. CDT clash with some 55,000 fans expected at Kyle Field. Texas A&M rates a 21-point favorite over the Cougars, who lost to the Aggies 43-16 two years ago in College Station.

In other games this weekend, Arkansas is an eight-point choice over Texas Tech in Lubbock; Texas Christian is an 11-point favorite over Rice in Houston; Baylor is a 35-point favorite over Southwest Texas in Waco; and No. 1 Oklahoma is a 32-point pick over the Texas Longhorns in their annual Red River grudge match at the Cotton Bowl.

A&M Coach Jackie Sherrill said he is worried about the Cougars.

"Houston is improving every week and they've shown that they can pass the ball," Sherrill said. "Their freshman quarterback (Andre Ware) threw for over 400 yards last week, so we know what he's capable of."

"I think we'll bounce back after the Texas Tech game. We need to concentrate on each game and not worry about what will happen down the line."

Quarterback Craig Stump said two losses could kill the Aggies' Cotton Bowl chances.

"If you lose two games in this conference, it will be pretty close to impossible to win the title," he said. "But we never give up. That's what we believe in."

It will be a nostalgic visit for Pardee. He is one of A&M's most honored athletes, winning All-America honors under the late Paul Bryant in 1956.

Only three times since the Cotton Bowl was founded in 1937 has an SWC team lost its conference opener and played on New Year's Day. The last time it happened was 1968, when Texas lost its SWC opener to Texas Tech.

Tech has beaten Arkansas at home only once in 14 games, the Red Raiders' worst home record against any team. The lone victory was 21-16 in 1966.

Arkansas has won 30 of its last 32 games against Tech, but the Raiders defeated the Hogs 17-7 in Fayetteville last year.

He was 3-0 against the Sooners as a player from 1961-63 and 6-8-2 as an assistant coach from 1970-85.

"Let's face reality," McWilliams said. "They are a better team than we are. But we feel that we are an improving team. But certainly it is an understatement to say that we are big underdogs. We will have to play our very best just to stay in the game with them."

McWilliams says No. 1-ranked Oklahoma, 4-0, deserves its heavy-favorite role against the Longhorns, but his players think Texas' day is coming.

The Longhorns, 2-2, managed a 15-15 tie in 1984 on a disputed call wiping out an apparent Oklahoma pass interception, was shut down 14-7 in 1985 and got run over, 47-12, last year.

Meanwhile, in the midst of pre-game preparations, the Dallas Morning News reported Tuesday that for years, some OU players netted as much as $4,000 per season from complimentary tickets that were issued to them and then sold to boosters at inflated prices.

In a copyright story, the News also said a bank that was headed at the time by former OU president George Lynn Cross and prominent OU booster Jack Black gave preferential consideration to selected members of the OU squad.

Switzer and university and bank officials denied the allegations.

In other Top 20 action Saturday it will be No. 2 Nebraska vs. Kansas; No. 3 Miami, Fla. vs. Maryland; No. 4 Notre Dame vs. Pittsburgh; No. 5

Auburn vs. Vanderbilt; No. 6 Florida State at Southern Mississippi; No. 7 Louisiana State vs. No. 16 Georgia; No. Clemson 8 vs. Virginia; No. 9 Ohio State vs. Indiana; No. 12 Michigan at Michigan State; No. 13 Arizona State vs. Washington; No. 14 Penn State vs. Rutgers; No. 15 Alabama vs. Memphis State; No. 16 Georgia vs. Louisiana State; No. 18 Florida vs. Fullerton State; No. 19 Oklahoma State vs. Colorado; No. 20 Arkansas vs. Texas Tech.

Despite being a heavy favorite, Switzer is also a little nervous.

"I don't care what people say. Texas is still Texas," Switzer said. "The only way we will get better is to play good people, and believe me we will get a test this Saturday. They have some good athletes and seem to be playing defense better than they did a year ago."

Oklahoma leads the nation in scoring offense (54.5 points a game) and defense (4.3), total offense (544.2 yards), rushing (442.3), total defense (150.0) and passing defense (89.8).

Injuries piling up for limping Cardinals

By PAUL LeBAR
AP Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, already limping without slugger Jack Clark in their lineup, may also be minus a second cog for Game 3 of the National League's playoffs.

Third baseman Terry Pendleton sprained his left ankle while working out Thursday at Candlestick Park. X-rays were taken at a hospital, and Pendleton's availability for today's game against the San Francisco Giants was in doubt.

Almost more so than with Clark, particularly on defense, the injury dealt St. Louis a crippling blow.

The 27-year-old Pendleton, a switch-hitter, started 156 of the Cardinals' first 159 games. He batted .286 with 12 home runs and a career-high 96 runs batted in. Jose Oquendo was St. Louis' only other starter at third until the Cardinals clinched the NL East title.

Manager Whitey Herzog announced earlier Thursday that right-hander Danny Cox would be unable to pitch Game 3 as previously scheduled.

"He hasn't pitched since last Thursday," Herzog said of Cox, 11-9, who is recovering from a stiff neck. Cox originally was to have pitched Game 1. His place will be taken today by Joe Magrane, 9-7, a rookie left-hander.

In the continued absence of Clark, who hit 35 home runs and totaled 106 RBI before being sidelined a month ago by an ankle injury, Jim Lindeman and Tony Pena are St. Louis' only everyday players who bat from the right side.

Pendleton is one of six St. Louis switch-hitters. Pena, the team's regular catcher, also played some at first base. If Pena shifts there and Lindeman moves from first to right field, the switch-hitting Oquendo would be at third and Steve Lake, a right-handed hitter, would spell Pena as catcher.

Herzog, before being hit by the latest in a season-long siege of Cardinals injuries, expressed guarded optimism.

"I don't think this park's that tough," he said of Candlestick, where St. Louis was swept by San Francisco in a four-game July series. "We've played good here at times; we've played bad here at times."

Herzog had been scraping for productive hitting from the right side to face left-hander Atlee Hammaker, 10-10, the Giants' Game 3 starter.

"Every day he gets a little bit better, but that's still not good enough," Herzog said of Clark, who has been undergoing daily treatment for his ankle injury. "I could use him to pinch hit. That's as far as I'd go with him."

Cox will definitely pitch on Saturday for the Cardinals, Herzog said.

Even before Pendleton was hurt, San Francisco renewed its verbal jabs against a St. Louis team that has been stopped on the basepaths while dividing the best-of-seven playoffs' first two games at home.

"We're definitely the intimidator in this," Giants catcher Bob Brenley said of San Francisco, which is matching its brawn against St. Louis' speed. "Who would you rather see in an alley, someone with a big stick or someone who runs fast?"

So far, the Giants have hit three home runs — two of them by Jeffrey Leonard — and have frozen the Cardinals' running game.

Unfair labor charge filed against Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — An unfair labor charge has been filed against the Dallas Cowboys by the National Football League Players Association, accusing the team of making "threats" against three striking players to get them to cross the picket lines.

The players mentioned in the charge were Tony Dorsett, Ed "Too Tall" Jones and Everson Walls.

Walls chose not to cross, but Dorsett and Jones said they feared they would lose contractual annuities if they did not return to work and that was the reason they returned to the team.

"It's because of reports the players have been offered various inducements," Dick Berthelsen, legal counsel for the NFLPA, said of the charge filed with the National Labor Relations Board Thursday.

Cowboys president Tex Schramm said he is not concerned about the charge.

"There were not threats," he said. "The NFLPA is long on unfair-labor charges and short on negotiations."

Tim English, staff counsel for the union, said the players also could go to court to seek punitive damages or even awards of free agency because of the "threats."

"Federal law prohibits an employer from withholding or threatening to withhold compensation," English said.

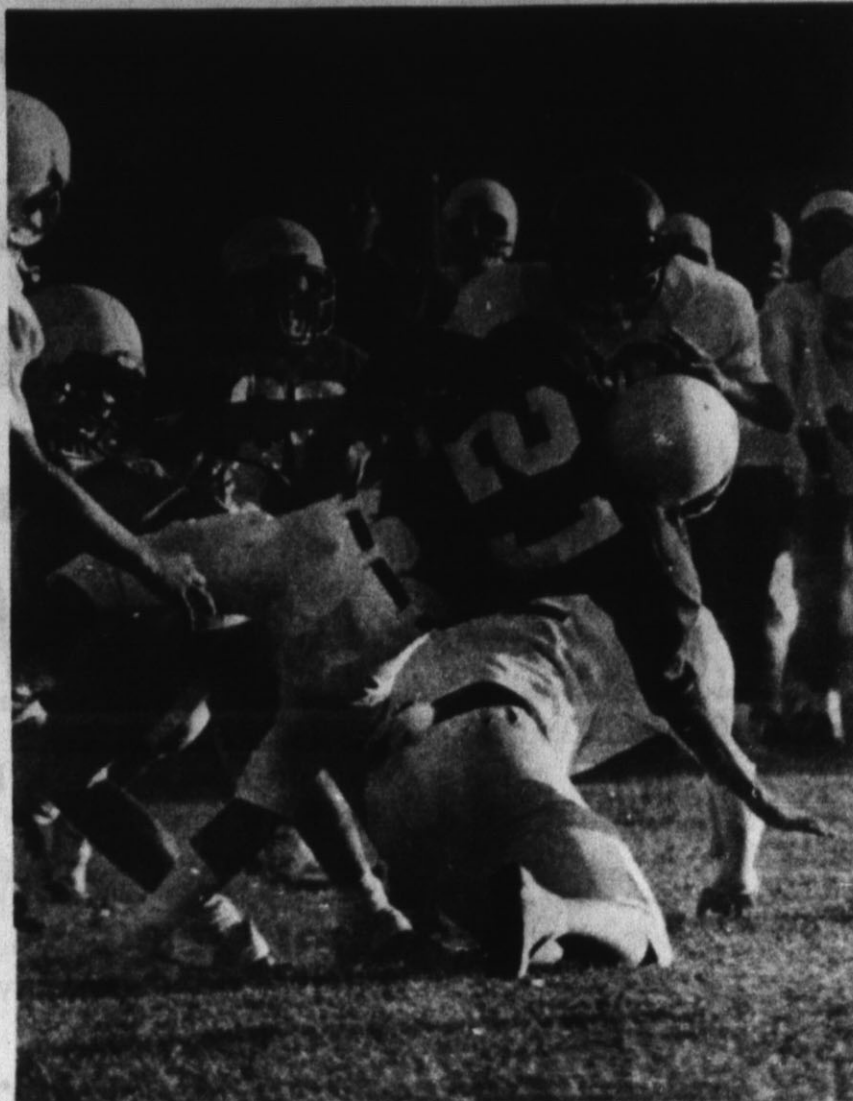

Dorsett said the Cowboys told him in a letter that he could lose almost half of his $6.4 million annuity by staying out during the strike.

If Dorsett was told that the club would ignore what it considered his breach of contract if he returned to the team, that would be an illegal inducement, Berthelsen said.

GATOR'S NEW DATE
JACKSONVILLE, FL. (AP) — The Gator Bowl football game is moving to New Year's Eve. The big game, which is carried on CBS television, will be played the afternoon of Dec. 31.

In past years the game has been carried on a date close to Christmas. John Bell, the executive director of the Gator Bowl, likes the change in dates.

"It was the idea of the CBS network," he said, "and we heartily concurred."

Avila Grinds Out Some Yards

La Plata's Alvaro Avila (21) works hard for a few yards before being tripped up during Thursday's eighth grade football game between La Plata and Plainview Red. Plainview Red beat La Plata 8-0, scoring a touchdown in the first quarter.

HHS sophomores fall to Amarillo High 27-0

A two-game winning streak of the Hereford High School sophomore football team was broken Thursday night by Amarillo High, 27-0.

Hereford fell behind Amarillo High 14-0 in the first quarter in the game played in Amarillo. Hereford has a 2-4 season record and will play at Lubbock Coronado pm Saturday morning, Oct. 17.

Hereford tight end Reggie Salazar caught five passes for more than 100 yards in gains against Amarillo High. Other good performances were turned in by running backs Jim Hillwig and Chuck Lemons, and offensive linemen Anthony Tijerina and Cameron Guiley.

Defensive leaders for Hereford included Lemons, Brian Wagner, Aaron Savage, Jared White, plus the secondary players.

"Amarillo High had a lot of speed, which they used to big play us. They broke three or four long plays on us, went 85 yards on a reverse, 60 yards on a fake punt, and ran a draw for about 70 yards," Hereford Coach Ron Young said. "Take away those plays and it might have been a different ball game."

Coach Stan Carter added, "We did not play well the first half. Amarillo High probably had something to do with that. They were big and fast and extremely well coached."

"We turned the ball over way too much to have a chance to defeat a good ball club. We will try to regroup versus Lubbock Coronado next Saturday morning (Oct. 17)."

La Plata 9th grade beats Plainview 36-0

La Plata Junior High School's ninth grade football team scored its fourth consecutive victory Thursday by shutting out Plainview Red 36-0 in a game played in Hereford.

The ninth grade Mavericks, who are now 4-1 for the season, have outscored their opponents 102 to 20 during the winning streak.

In the other half of Thursday's doubleheader, Plainview Red defeated La Plata 8-0 in an eighth grade contest. La Plata's eighth grade squad has a 1-3 season record.

Next week's games, against Plainview Blue, have been changed from Thursday to Wednesday because Plainview High School's varsity has a Thursday game. Wednesday's games will be the ninth grade game at 4 p.m. and the eighth grade game at 5:30 p.m.

Chris Tardy scored two touchdowns for the La Plata ninth grade team, and Cody Page, Matt Bromlow, and Mark Daniel scored the other touchdowns. Amado Lopez scored six extra points — four extra-point kicks and a two-point conversion.

Tardy scored with a 25-yard run in the first quarter, and T.J. Head completed a pass to Lopez for the two-point conversion.

In the second quarter, a 90-yard run by Greg Urbanczyk set up La Plata's next touchdown. Page rushed seven yards for the touchdown, and Lopez kicked the PAT.

Also in the second quarter, Page completed a 10-yard pass from Bromlow for a touchdown, with Lopez adding the PAT. That gave La Plata a 22-0 halftime lead.

The La Plata defense got in the scoring act when Mark Daniel recovered a Plainview fumble in the end zone for a touchdown. Another successful PAT by Lopez made the score 29-0.

The final touchdown for La Plata came in the fourth quarter. La Plata was deep in its own territory, but Tardy broke loose for a big 90-yard touchdown run. Lopez's extra-point gave La Plata its final margin of 36-0.

"Our whole defense played good," La Plata Coach Ed Coplen stated.

In the eighth grade game, Plainview Red scored the lone touchdown of the game in the first quarter in defeating La Plata 8-0. La Plata twice recovered Plainview fumbles within the 10-yard line in the first half.

In less than five years, June, 1937, to March, 1942, Joe Louis made 21 successful defenses of his heavyweight championship. Eighteen ended in a knockout.
