Mother's Fund Grows in One Week

By RUTH COFFEY
Record News Editor

One week ago, Saturday July 6, anonymous givers of $7 cash started the "Mother's Fund" at City National Bank.

A story published in last Sunday's Record explained that the fund was needed for immediate financial assistance to a fatherless family facing a serious crisis.

In one short week the "Mother's Fund" has grown to $463. The money will be used to care for the family while the young mother of five children recovers from major surgery performed last Friday. The mother was suffering from cancer.

Things looked pretty bleak at the time the first "Mother's Fund" story was printed in the Record. Two of the small children are handicapped. The father deserted his family. The mother was too ill to work. There was no money for food. The children's mother needed immediate surgery.

Things look better for the family today. Wonderful things have been happening day by day, hour by hour. The surgery was successful and the cancer removed. It will be six more weeks before the young mother, sole support of her self and her children, can be permitted by her doctor to seek work again. The doctor operated "on the credit."

Meantime, Colorado City citizens, Sunday School Classes and churches have rushed to help with money and with other forms of sympathetic help. Two churches, First Baptist and First Methodist, ran church bulletin appeals for foods for the family and are accepting food in their church offices.

Lions Club is to buy the child with impaired vision glasses. The deaf child is to receive special schooling. The landlord declared a moritorium on rent money for the time being.

George Womack, City National Bank vice-president, has given his time as keeper-of-the fund and is still accepting checks or cash to help see the family through a crisis not of their own making.

The warm response to the "Mother's Fund" appeal and the numerous sympathetic inquiries about the mother's present condition have been splendid things to watch grow.

The mother herself, improving now, cried for joy when told of the money by the woman who worked to get the fund started. That woman is well known for her year-long interest in the less fortunate families here, but has asked that her name not be used.)

That fund-starting woman, that mother, those five children, George Womack, and the Colorado City Record wish to express grateful appreciation for every gift, large or small. The "Mother's Fund" may have saved a life—one life very much needed by five small dependents.

The Record wishes to point out that the "Mother's Fund" is still open and will welcome donors until enough money is on hand to take care of the family's needs during the coming six weeks. The paper will publish, later, a strict accounting of how the fund is used.

Donors to date are: B. H. Gregory, Leonard Henderson, E. S. Miles, W. K. Miles, Byron Wren, Chester Hart, Perry Barber. Those seven donors are members of the Amigos Sunday School Class, First Baptist Church.

Also, Roy Davis Coles, W. C. Davis, L. J. Taylor, Lillian Forrester, Ella C. Walden, E-Z Way Superette, R. A. May, J. L. Strain, R. H. Ratliff Sr., Mrs. Albert Erwin, H. G. Maule, Ross Daniels, Olive P. Price, Mrs. Clara A. Smith, Mrs. Julius Smith, Tom Glover, Mrs. Urde Wulfjen, Mrs. Bill Coffey, Mrs. Doris A. Allen.

TAX ON GAIN

Farm Sale Money Taxable, Says IRS

The sale of a farm is taxable, says Arthur E. Fogle, Jr. Administrative Officer at the Abilene office of Internal Revenue. Fogle points out that farmers must pay tax on any gain on the sale of their farm or other capital items, even though they may turn around and use the money to buy another farm or similar item.

In a letter to County Agricultural Agents, the District Director of Internal Revenue in Dallas asked the County Agents to help IRS correct the erroneous thinking. The tax man advised farmers to check the tax consequences before they sell, trade, or swap.

Buddy C. Logsdon, Mitchell County Agent, has pointed out that farmers can get a good general idea of taxes owed by reading the latest farmers tax guide furnished free by the Internal Revenue Service.

Copies of the farmers tax guide are also available at the Extension Service office in the Courthouse cottage annex. The county agent will mail them upon request.

IN PECOS

Texas Great Plains Conservation Meeting

Thirty members of the Texas Great Plains Conservation Program Committee met in Pecos recently.

Representatives of groups and associations working in the field of soil and water conservation met with H. N. Smith, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

The Pecos meeting was the annual field meet of the committee for discussion of results and experiences during the past year and for recommendations of improvements in the program.

George Skeete, rancher near Water Valley and a director of the Association of Texas Soil Conservation Districts, explained the principle of the GPCP.

Cost-share assistance, provided in accordance with a complete conservation plan for application on a systematic basis, has proved to be the best demonstration and educational tool for soil and water conservation to date, he said. Skeete said that management must accompany any treatment applied if it is to produce the greatest return and is to be maintained over a long period of time.

Jack Stone, supervisor of the Toyah-Limpia Soil Conservation District, talked to the group and showed pictures of the work done on his ranch with Great Plains Conservation Program assistance. Stone explained how he spread run-off water over flat draw-type ground that had been root-plowed and seeded to such grasses as Johnson grass and blue panicum. Stone invited the group to tour his ranch and see the results.

E. L. Thaxton, head of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station located at Pecos explained the research work being carried on there and conducted a tour of the station for the committee.

James Abbott of the Soil Conservation Service reported on progress and accomplishments of the GPCP. He said that approximately 900 contracts had been signed since July 1, 1962, obligating just under three million dollars on over a million acres of farm and ranch land.

It was also noted that the Soil Conservation Service had about 300 proposed contracts on hand for which cost-share funds would be available July 1.

"This backlog of contracts illustrates the tremendous build-up in interest in the GPCP that has taken place in the past four or five years," Abbott said.

CONVERSATION CORNER

MORE things are wrought by 'flair' than this world dreams of.

Magazines mostly have a flair for writing to please women readers. (Women, of course, belong to the sex which has a flair for reading when they oughta be working.)

Writers with a flair for stirring the little women into all manner of mischief-making adventures are always with us.

THERE was once a women writer (name of Kathleen Norris) who wielded great influence in certain households.

She was always encouraging the flair for gracious living. There wasn't, Kathleen Norris advised, anything wrong with a marriage that couldn't be cured by a sweet-spirited wife and white candles on the supper table.

ONE young wife we knew quite well tried the eat-by-candlelight routine, once long, long ago.

She read the article three times, washed and ironed the one white linen tablecloth, dashed down to buy two white candles. She was ready, all sweet-spirited, to greet her man by the time he dragged his troubled bones homeward.

'HOLY COW,' was what he said.

Then "What did you do with the money I gave you to pay the (censored) light bill with?" And "I'll be (censored) if I'll eat in the dark."

With that, he slammed the front door and went out to eat a hamburger at the brightest-lighted drive-in he could find.

YOU'D think a woman would learn what to try and what not to try after so much reading and so many failures.

Years later, that same woman blended into some lemon jello, some diced cucumbers, grated onion, strips of pimiento and chunks of pineapple. The woman's magazine called it "Fiesta Salad."

The man of the house called it awful, flanked with wild sound effects as adjectives.

BUT my goodness, if you have a flair for change, how can you manage a flair for gracious living without sampling some?

Now this new issue of the Ladies Home Journal has a whole new section called "Non-Cook Cooking." It's complete with recipes for the lazy, busy, gorgeously inventive summer hostess.

THERE are recipes for baked cucumber with toasted peanuts, dips and more dips, and all manner of things marinated in wine.

The recipe we're just dying to try begins, "Soften a pint of orange sherbet . . . add one cup of bourbon . . ." and so on. It's called "Orange-Bourbon" cooler.

That is not, we have a funny experienced feeling, what the average hungry husband home for supper would call it.

Most men just simply do not like things like orange sherbet.

HEADED for a two weeks vacation trip to start with "Six Flags" are Charles and Bonnie Summers, their son Lee, son Dickie and his wife Shirley who're living in Roscoe this summer.

After "Six Flags," the Dickie Summers will return to Roscoe. The Charles Summers and Lee will visit relatives in Big D . . . Former C-Citians Cecil and Sara (Carter) Smith in Ennis . . . Relatives in Houston plus the Lowell Emmetts who used to live here.

In Smiley they'll be guests of former C-City coach Floyd Sampson and his family. In Galveston they'll be sight-seeing guests of nobody in particular. From there, they'll drive across South Texas to the Big Bend area for more sight-seeing.

GUESS who came in the Record office this week to say Hello? Beauteous Inez Rogers Dickerson and her mama Mrs. N. A. Rogers Sr. both of California!

Mrs. Rogers lives in Costa Mesa. Inez and her family live in Anaheim where she mothers the gorgeous girl named "Miss Anaheim," recently.

Mrs. Rogers, Inez, N. A. Rogers Jr. and his son Jack stopped overnight in C-City, their former home, enroute home to California after a vacation visit in Alabama. They were guests here of Mrs. Rogers' brother W. R. Mize and his family of Route 1.

COFFEE crews included John Morgan Hale, Joe Barnett, and T. E. Hammond . . . J. Ralph Lee . . . Raymond Webb . . . Virgil Moser.

Bunky Girvin was "table-hopping" while he and John Morgan talked something called "wooly worms."

"And," Bunky added, "I've got enough grasshoppers after my fruit to feed ten turkeys." He said it with a right jolly good will—proving once again that the stoutest hearts are lodged in the chests of ranchers, stockmen, and maybe cotton farmers.

TALKING the Country Club golf tourney were Jimmie Maddox, Raymond Fuller and Gerald Gordon who heads the Country Club as president.

Another time, another place, saw four F. P.'s (favorite people) at one and same time: Gwen Wistrand (Mrs. Dick) wearing snazzy slacks with print jacket . . . Friday Moore (Mrs. Therman) in sun dress and flat sandals . . . Mrs. Johnnie Tiller . . . and Billie Henderson (Mrs. Don) of Oak St.

Beta Sigma Honors Mrs. Washmon

Beta Sigma Phi hosted a going-away party Thursday for Mrs. Dean Washmon, who moved to Fort Worth Saturday with her husband and two daughters, Terri and Betty. Washmon was formerly the owner of the Western Motel.

Mrs. Wayne Whiteside served as hostess in her home.

A gold compact was the gift of the sorority to Mrs. Washmon. She, in turn, gave the club Greek letters of Beta Sigma Phi that her husband had crafted from plywood.

Plans were discussed and voted on for coming events on the social calendar. Mrs. John Denton is to be host Aug. 16 at a watermelon supper for sorority members and their families at her home.

Moving to New York

Mr. and Mrs. Ather Ellis, photographed with their children Marilyn, Bill, and Jackie left Colorado City this week for Bay Shore, Long Island, New York. The Ellis family is one of 75 families joining in the Church of Christ new church establishment project in a missionary movement to New York state.

JOIN MISSIONARY GROUP

"Full Life" Is In Store Now For Ellises In New York

"It will be a full life," said Ather Ellis, as he talked of the new life he, his wife Mary, and their three children are beginning in the New York township of Bay Shore, Long Island.

A full life it will be, and certainly a different one for the Ellises, one of 75 families joining in a Church of Christ missionary movement to New York state. There they will establish a church and settle, finding jobs and making friends. They wil take up the customs and manners of their adopted state, in order to "live just like them."

Since last August the Ellises have been planning on going. "We had to put a lot of thought into it first before we decided to go," said Mrs. Ellis. "In the beginning, the children were a little hesitant, but now they are even more ready than we are!"

Marilyn, the oldest, is 11, Bill is 8 and Jackie, 4. When Marilyn was 8 months old, the family moved from Abilene to Colorado City, and have lived here since then. Ellis received his B. A. degree from ACC in agriculture; his wife was graduated from West Texas State College with a degree in home economics. Both like it here and want to return to Texas after three years in New York, though some of the families will live there permanently. They also hope to visit Colorado City during the summer.

"As far as I know," said Mr. Ellis, "nothing like this missionary movement has ever been tried before." The idea for it stemmed from Dwayne Evans of Fort Worth, who was formerly pastor of the Lamar Street Church of Christ in Sweetwater. When he was in Maine preaching several years ago, he became so homesick he was unable to do his job as well as he would have liked. He decided that if an opportunity to preach in another part of the country ever came again, he would take someone from 'back home' with him."

Headed by Evans, the movement has been in the planning for three years and has reached the "go" stage this summer. He will be the pastor for the New York church and will have around three full - time assistants. The rest of the men in the "immigrant" families, who will form the original congregation, will find full time jobs of their own.

Ellis has not yet found a job or even a house, but expects little difficulty. He would like to teach, or perhaps work with one of the many industries. Mrs. Ellis, a qualified teacher, will probably later work in that profession, but for the first year or so, she feels she will be more needed at home.

"I have many reasons for going," Mr. Ellis said. "I'm not a preacher, but I can teach, and it's something I love to do. I feel like I have an individual responsibility and should fulfill it to the best of my ability.

"We're not going because the people in New York are ungodly," he laughed. "But 10% of the people in the United States live in New York and it is hard for churches to meet the needs of so many people.

"Churches of Christ are weak in numbers in the North and the congregations in New York are widely scattered. It will be easier for us to establish a church because we already have a nice large congregation to start with. We will teach, worship, and work among the people, trying to live just like them."

The Ellises left for Bay Shore Thursday and expect to arrive Sunday night. Thirty-two families have already arrived. There will be no colony and they will all meet together for the first time August 1. Until then, new arrivals will be busy finding homes, jobs, and getting themselves settled in the Northern town. All 75 families are from Southern states—New Mexico, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Alabama. They have been "warned" about the curiosity their accents and Southern manner will raise — and also about what may at first seem to be Yankee aloofness.

Mr. Ellis, who visited Bay Shore in December, liked both the people and the town. "I might not be brave enough to be a missionary overseas, but I can do this," he said cheerfully. "I want to teach the Bible. I've always dreamed of something like this."

Mr. I. W. Ramsey returned to Westbrook Wednesday and is staying in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Taylor. Friends are invited to visit with him.

Three Recipes For Cake Desserts Feature Variety

Everyone knows that no meal is really complete without the dessert . . . especially a good homemade one.

This week, we rounded up three delicious cake dessert recipes, that range from old-fashioned to new-fangled, with the third a combination of the other two! And the variety of taste to be found will satisfy even the most finicky sweet tooth.

(Memo to all dedicated pie fans: watch for the next recipe feature coming up. Meanwhile, if you have a favorite recipe — for anything — you would like to share, call the Record and tell us about it. We'll try to find a place for it in our recipe series.)

Mrs. John Brown, 532 Elm, has entered the recipe for this always popular cake in the Garden Club's annual tasting tea. She usually makes two 2-layer cakes from it, using 8" pans.

Old Fashioned Devil's Food Cake

1 c. shortening
2¼ c. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
5 well-beaten eggs
(set aside one yolk)
1 c. buttermilk
2 3/4 c. flour
1 tsp. baking soda
½ tsp salt
½ tsp baking powder
3/4 c. cocoa
½ c. hot water

Cream shortening, sugar, and vanilla. Add eggs (minus one yolk), mix in buttermilk. Sift dry ingredients together and beat into creamed mixture. Make a thin paste of cocoa and water, stir till smooth and add to batter. Bake in four greased and floured 8" pans or three 9" ones at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool completely before frosting.

Chocolate Frosting

1 box powdered sugar
1 stick soft butter or margarine
1 egg yolk
2 Tbs. cream
2 tsp vanilla
1 Tbs. cocoa
5 Tbs. boiling coffee

Cream together sugar, margarine, egg yolk. Add cream and vanilla. Stir together coffee and cocoa until smooth, add to sugar mixture. Will frost two 2-layer cakes or one 3-layer cake.

Mrs. Trevor Crawford, 1665 Watson, was given this recipe some ten years ago by a former resident of Colorado City, Mrs. Orville Bobo, and it is one of her favorites.

Angel Food Custard

6 beaten egg yolks
3/4 c. sugar
3/4 c. juice (half orange, half lemon)
1 tsp. salt
1 Tbs. grated lemon rind
1 envelope Knox gelatin, dissolved in ¼ c. cold water
6 stiffly beaten egg whites
3/4 c. sugar (added to whites)
1 angel-food cake (either bought or made from a mix)

Mix together egg yolks, sugar, salt, juice, rind and cook in double boiler until slightly thick. Add gelatin and cool until mixture gets thicker. Pour over beaten egg whites to which sugar has been added. Fold together. Grease large angel food pan with salad oil. Break up cake in pieces the size of walnuts. Line bottom of pan with pieces, cover them with some of the custard, follow with another layer of pieces, repeating the process until all cake and custard is used, with a cake layer on top. Keep in refrigerator overnight. Remove from pan (it will come out easily) and ice with frosting made from ½ pint whipping cream, stiffly beaten, 3 Tbs. powdered sugar, and 1 tsp. vanilla. Keep in refrigerator until serving time.

When asked for the recipe of her well-known gingerbread and lemon sauce dessert, Mrs. Tom Neff exclaimed, "My goodness! It's nothing but a mix!" The gingerbread is, indeed, made from a mix; or, if you have a good recipe, use your own. But the sauce, an old family recipe Mrs. Neff received from her mother, is another matter, and, everyone agrees, "makes" the gingerbread.

Old-fashioned Lemon Sauce

1 c. sugar
2 Tbs. flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 c. warm water
juice of 2 lemons
2 tsp. oleo

Beat together vigorously sugar, flour and eggs. Add water, lemon juice and oleo and cook on stove until desired thickness is reached. The sauce may be poured over gingerbread squares either warm or chilled. "This dessert is just as good for a coffee or tea as it is for every-day," Mrs. Neff commented.

MEETING—

A total of 209,005 acres of cropland have been planned for conversion to other uses such as pasture and rangeland. This represents over 21 per cent of all cropland placed under Great Plains contracts. Brush control has been carried out on over one million acres with assistance from the GPCP with an average cost-share assistance of $2.35 per acre.

It was pointed out that since 30.68 per cent of the total cost-share assistance had been spent on brush control, a disproportionate share of the available funds, a priority limitation had to be placed on brush control.

Following the business session, the committee toured the James P. Goode and Allwood and Avery farms near Barstow, George Avery and Mrs. Anna Herring ranches near Pyote, Edd Cox ranch at Monahans, A. J. Hoelscher at Coyanosa and the Winfield Estate Ranch at Fort Stockton. Outstanding examples of conservation were observed on each farm and ranch.

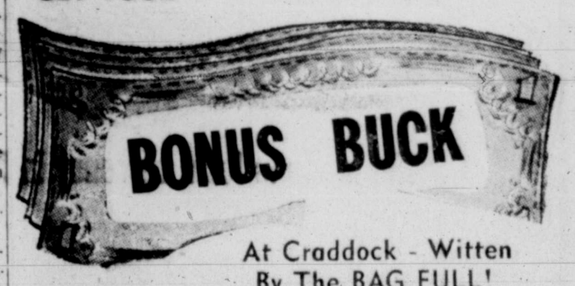

Agricultural experts participating in the meeting were: Dr. R. E. Patterson, Dean of Agriculture, A. and M. College of Texas; Dr. G. W. Thomas, Dean of Agriculture, Texas Tech College; Harvey Davis, Executive Director, State Soil Conservation Board; Ben A. Jordan, Jr., State Director Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

J. D. Prewit, Associate Director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service; N. B. F. McGuire, State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; John D. Wells, President Association of Texas Soil Conservation Districts; A. L. Bading, Executive Director, Association of Texas Soil Conservation Districts; Dr. J. R. Johnston, Agricultural Research Service; and D. C. Stevens, W. P. Blaney and Brad Emery of the U. S. Forest Service.

"CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP"

Program Is Led By Mrs. Feaster

Mrs. Orin Feaster was in charge of the program, "Christian Citizenship," Wednesday night when women of the First Presbyterian Church met at 7:00 in Fellowship Hall.

She gave the invocation for the pre-program salad supper, which was served cafeteria-style. Tables were decorated with Shasta daisies.

"Cheerfulness" was the theme of the devotional given by Mrs. Gerald Gordon. "Cheerfulness of heart is a gift of God," she said, "and one of the best things we can have."

At the conclusion of the devotional, Mrs. Feaster explained to the group that they would be hearing recordings of a lecture made by Major William E. Mayer, a psychiatrist in the Army Medical Corps. Maj. Mayer had examined many American soldiers who had been captured in Korea.

"Four in ten of these men died," said Mayer, "not so much from wounds and illness but from the lethargy that resulted from losing their will to live." One out of ten of the captured men became informers for the Communists, so that brainwashing was found to be a greater danger than the physical hardships that were endured. Maj. Mayer emphasized that the time to teach youngsters the strength of endurance is when they are children, before they must be forced to put themselves to the test in the armed forces.

The Mizpah benediction closed the meeting.
