

Prizes Offered In Abra Fourth Of July Rodeo

Although the Fourth of July is two weeks off, plans have been practically completed for the 11th annual Abra Rodeo and Picnic, George Groves, a member of the committee in charge, said Tuesday night.

As in the past, the rodeo will be held at the Abra Grove, and admission to the grounds is free.

Calf roping, calf riding, cow riding, steer riding, and mule riding will be the main attractions of the rodeo, while old time fiddle music will be furnished by several well known musicians of the county during the day. Archery contests will also be provided.

Prizes will be awarded in all divisions of the rodeo contests.

Dinner will be spread on the ground at the noon hour.

"We're expecting a crowd of around 1,500 or 2,000 persons," Mr. Groves said. "Our rodeo contests are attracting some good talent this year, and we can guarantee you that you'll see one of the best amateur rodeos in this part of the Panhandle."

At the same time Mr. Groves assured that roads to the Abra Grove will be in good condition by July 4.

Members of the committee in charge are Buck Breeding, J. C. Breeding, Carl Amerson, D. Kincannon, George Groves and John Groves. These men have served for the last five years, and a part of them have been members since the rodeo was begun.

Delinquent Tax Penalty, Interest Reduction Made

Reduction of penalty and interest on taxes delinquent on property in this county to a flat six per cent penalty was announced late last week by Howard Riggs, tax assessor and collector. This reduction is in effect on all taxes delinquent prior to July 1, 1940, and it will be in effect until November 1, 1941.

This act of the legislature was made possible through an act of the legislature, and acted upon by the Commissioners Court in its last regular meeting.

"This reduction to a flat six per cent penalty is without the redemption cost and effective only if all of the delinquent taxes of a property owner are paid at one time, or if all delinquent taxes on one particular tract, if he owns more than one piece of property in the county," Mr. Riggs explained.

"If there is more than one year's taxes delinquent, and the owner pays only one year's taxes, then he will have to pay at the regular rate of penalty and interest together with redemption costs," he continued.

This reduction rate applies both to personal property taxes and taxes on real estate.

After November 1, 1941, all former rates will again go into effect.

"This means a substantial saving for lots of people who own property in this county," Mr. Riggs pointed out. On taxes delinquent prior to 1935, it means a saving of 38 per cent; prior to 1936, a saving of 32 per cent; prior to 1937, a saving of 26 per cent; prior to 1938, a saving of 20 per cent; and prior to 1939, a saving of 14 per cent," Mr. Riggs said.

Harry Patterson, president of the Dodson singers, said Tuesday that all plans for this big singing have been completed, and that committees appointed are working out final details of the event.

"There'll be around 3,500 or 4,000 persons there if we aren't rained out," Mr. Patterson predicted. "This is the biggest singing Dodson has ever had. We're expecting people there from several states, and we extend a most cordial invitation to every person who loves good singing to come down Saturday night or Sunday."

The singing will be held in the Nazarene Tabernacle, the largest building available for this purpose in the town.

A large number of singers from a distance are expected to arrive Saturday afternoon and spend the night.

In addition to the running of foundation, concrete walls of the front basement have been poured, and those of the basement at the (Continued on Page Twelve)

Committeemen and workers to conduct Collingsworth County's drive to raise funds for the United Service Organization were named this week by Deskins Wells, county chairman. The drive will start next week.

This county's quota in the drive is $800. Mr. Wells has been notified by Jay Taylor of Amarillo, district chairman of the U. S. O. This quota was set on a basis of population, as was that of all other counties.

"Our people here are showing a great deal of interest in the work the U. S. O. is doing, and because everyone of us is vitally interested in the welfare of the young men from this county and every other county who are now in training in the army camps of our nation, we are pledging our support to it," Mr. Wells said.

The United Service Organization has combined the efforts of the Salvation Army, the Jewish Welfare Association, the Y.M.C.A., the Travelers Aid, and the National Catholic Community Service Association. While the government is providing recreational buildings for soldiers in each of its army camps, it can go no farther, and the U.S.O. is stepping in here to raise funds to equip these buildings and to maintain activities in them.

Its aim is to provide high class and intelligently directed recreational activities, and to care for the religious and educational needs of the young men in the armed forces of the United States.

Local Business Firm Has Quail For A Customer

Wildlife just doesn't apply to the quail around here anymore. It looks like they're getting tame.

Cameron Beam, manager of the West Texas Utilities, and other employees, were astonished Monday about noon when a quail walked into their office. Keeping it in the building, they called Bill Pierce, game warden, who captured it.

Mr. Beam made inquiries around town as to where the quail might have come from, but no one could help him out. None have been moved from the Hughes Estate's Cottonwood Ranch recently, nor have any others so far as is known.

The bird will be taken to Canadian by Mr. Pierce, along with a nest of quail eggs plucked up by A. L. Cochran on his farm near here, and which were placed in a hatchery.

WPA Employees Available For Private Work

AMARILLO. — WPA District Manager A. A. Meredith today reiterated his reminder to farmers and other private employers that all WPA workers are listed with the Texas State Employment Service and are available for private employment.

WPA workers will be released from projects wherever needed to make farm help available, Meredith declared. "Prospective employers should consult local representatives of the Texas State Employment Service," he explained, "as this is the duly-constituted agency for referring WPA workers and other persons seeking private jobs to employers."

Rolls of the WPA are constantly open to private employers, Meredith emphasized, and no worker who refuses a bona fide offer of employment will be retained by WPA. This regulation is based on the following section of the WPA appropriation act.

"No person in need who refuses a bona fide offer of private or other public employment under reasonable working conditions which pays the prevailing wage for such work in the community where he resides and who is capable of performing such work shall be employed or retained in employment on work projects under the funds appropriated in this joint resolution for the period such private or other public employment would be available."

Currently employed on WPA projects in this district are 2,594 men and women and an additional 1,033 persons are certified as eligible for WPA employment and are awaiting assignment whenever jobs are available. All of these persons are registered with the Texas State Employment Service and are immediately available to private employers, Meredith stated.

IMPROVED SOIL AIDS CHILD HEALTH

Observance of Child Health Day each year indicates the nation's interest in the welfare of its future citizens such as this radiant child. This interest is shared by the six million farmers cooperating in the AAA farm program. As a contribution to proper nutrition for growing children, these farmers are creating soil conditions which assure an abundance of healthful foods both now and in the future. Application to the land of liming materials and superphosphate, shown in the top picture, is one means of doing this. Such practices mean better pastures, more and better milk from dairy cows, and healthier American children.

Final Salary Aid Payment Made

Final payment on the salary aid fund for county schools was made late last week to Logan Cummings, county superintendent. This payment amounted to $1,148, and was approximately six per cent of the total received this year.

Only the common and consolidated schools were included in this payment.

This year, a total of 95.75 per cent of the approval grants on the teacher salary aid was made, Mr. Cummings said.

Quail Couple Moves To City To Make Home

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Vernon, residents of this county for the last 26 years, recently moved from Quail to Wellington to make their home.

Mr. Vernon observed his 78th birthday Sunday, and he and Mrs. Vernon will observe their 50th wedding anniversary on July 16. Mr. Vernon is still active, and for the last four and a half years, has worked for Tom Crabtree of Quail, quitting only when he moved here.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Vernon are natives of Tennessee, but they moved to this county from Lamar County, Texas.

Agent Describes Screwworm Cure

Livestock owners in this area were warned by W. K. Cottingham, county agent, this week to keep a watch for screw worms in their animals during the summer months. At the same time, however, Mr. Cottingham told of a remedy worked out by the Department of Agriculture for the treatment and prevention of screw worm cases.

Relatively inexpensive, the remedy consists of a correct compounding of the two principal materials—diphenylamine and benzol. Full particulars for preparing and applying the remedy can be secured from Mr. Cottingham.

"When applied to infested wounds, the compound is efficient in rapidly killing all screw worms in a wound," he said. "At the same time the remedy gives as good protection, or better, to all wounds against subsequent attacks as materials heretofore recommended for this purpose."

Continuing his description of the treatment, the county agent said: "The smear is best applied with a one-inch brush. The remedy kills screw worms quickly, and after its application large numbers of them soon drop out of the wound carrying along a considerable amount of the protective chemical. For this reason, it will be good practice to apply a second treatment 24 or 48 hours after the first one in order to insure proper coating of the wound surface. Thereafter, under average conditions, regular treatments twice weekly should be given until the wound heals. It is especially recommended that infested animals be kept in a pasture to themselves if at all possible when this schedule of treatment is used. When flies are unusually active and abundant more frequent treatments may be necessary."

Mr. Cottingham added that any livestock owner wishing further details of this remedy may secure them at his office.

A. J. Richardson, auto dealer of Lubbock, Texas, canceled a $900 debt owed him by 21 of his friends, explaining: "I don't like to see them dodging around corners when they see me."

Social Security Protects Children, Widows Of Workers

It appears that many people are still uninformed regarding the provisions in the amended Social Security Act of 1939 for a new kind of insurance protection for widows and children of insured wage earners who die at any time after 1939, according to Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Board field office.

"This type of insurance is provided for the survivors of workers without regard to the age at which the insured wage earner dies; however, insurance payments can be made only in cases where the deceased had sufficient wages credited to his social security account to qualify as an insured person."

According to Reed, this type of survivors insurance includes:

- (1) Monthly payments for insured wage earner's widow, after age 65, until she remarries or dies.
- (2) Monthly payments for insured wage earner's widow, regardless of her age, while she has in her care deceased's unmarried dependent children under age sixteen, or under age eighteen if still attending school.
- (3) Monthly payments for insured wage earner's unmarried dependent children, under age sixteen, or under age eighteen if still attending school.

teen, or under eighteen if still attending school.

- (4) Monthly payments for insured wage earner's dependent parents, after age 65, if no widow, or child under eighteen, survives.
- (5) Lump-sum if insured wage earner leaves no survivors immediately entitled to monthly payments.

Then how long is a quart of this great New Motor Oil?

STRAIGHT FROM SIZZLING DEATH VALLEY COMES YOUR ANSWER...

The lock-guarded engines of 6 coupes faced the Death Valley desert with oil exactly up to "Full." Not a drop could be added. The destination of all 6 identical everyday engines was... Death!

Here were 6 high quality motor oils getting the same strictly fair opportunity to show how long they'd let an engine live on one exact fill and no more.

Down in Death Valley—hotspot of the U. S. A.—every car sped at 57 miles an hour, till its oil gave out and the engine smashed. The brand of oil that used up quickest was outlasted 8,268 miles by a revolutionary new oil in this impartial, certified test. This new oil exceeded the average mileage of the other 5 oils by all of 7,057 miles! Certified. This longest-lasting oil in the test, which your car can have today—at popular price—is new with its Man-made new Economy aid The record long life that defied Death Valley comes from a new laboratory creation... man-made... called Thialkene inhibitor. Its action in some ways suggests Vaccination—which puts the right protective substance on guard to keep a trouble from even starting on you.

The trouble aiming to start on motor oils lurks in the engine's normal firing. Filth is formed that tends to start the oil "festering." First one drop spoils—then two drops "catch it"—then four—then sixteen—faster, faster, FASTER. Soon oil stamina is sapped; the engine suffers, and cries for quart after quart... but not when the worst of this "festering" attack is nipped in the bud—inhibited—by the life-giving Thialkene inhibitor in new Conoco Nth motor oil.

Now you'll never rashly exceed the proper oil-change period for your car and driving conditions—any more than you ignore traffic rules just to "get away with it." But Certified Proof from the desert that new Conoco Nth could outlast the other oils in the test by as much as 161%, gives you more than mere hopes of long Summer mileage between quarts. Texas Almanac Is Encyclopedia Of This State

A book of 576 pages, The Texas Almanac for 1941, just off the press, is the largest volume in the long history of this biennial publication of The Dallas Morning News. A number of new features are included in addition to the usual chapters and statistical tables on such topics as agriculture, industry, population, history, soil and water resources, weather, minerals, manufacturing, transportation, wholesaling and retailing, government, education and civic affairs.

Has Texas really had more than six flags? How has the relationship of rural and urban population changed since 1930? When were the tapir, sabre-toothed tiger and camel found in Texas? Who was Governor in 1893? What facilities has MacKenzie State Park at Lubbock? Who won the Dixie series in 1931? What are the total retail sales of Brady, Texas? These are typical of the wide variety of questions that can be answered from the pages of the new book.

New census figures on population, manufacturing, agriculture, wholesale and retail trade and service businesses are included. The historical chapter has been supplemented by a number of supplementary topics including a long list of Texas historical landmarks. There are especially complete chapters on highways and parks in anticipation of increased tourist trade in Texas during the next two years. The usual large folded maps, showing railroads and highways respectively, have been brought up to date, and there is an individual map of each of the 254 counties of Texas accompanying the county articles. New developments in Texas, including the defense industries, chemistry, conservation programs, changes in farm and farm tenantry, aviation, new army and navy camps and posts, and political activities are covered. There are more than 50,000 separate and distinct facts about Texas in this "Encyclopedia of Texas."

Rain Causes Unusual Growth Of Shelterbelts

Record breaking rainfall for the past two months has resulted in exceptional growth and greatly increased survival in the shelterbelts planted in Collingsworth County, W. J. Grigg, Department of Agriculture's Forest Officer for the Wellington subdistrict, said here early this week.

"Available soil moisture is probably the most important factor in growing trees," the Forester stated. "Its effect is reflected in the remarkable new growth many shelterbelt trees have already made despite the fact that the growing season has hardly begun."

Old and new shelterbelts alike have been aided by favorable weather. On the E. A. Singley shelterbelt which was planted in 1938, Desert Willow has grown from six to eight inches, American Elm and Apricot 14 to 18 inches, Chinese Elm, Honey Locust, and Osage Orange 18 to 24 inches, while the growth on Cottonwood varies from 24 to 36 inches.

Pine and Cedar have been greatly benefited. On the B. D. Burden 1940 shelterbelt the growth on the Red Cedar varies from three to five inches while the growth of the Western Yellow Pine is from four to eight inches. Survival of these two species is in excess of 95 percent whereas last year at this time the survival on this shelterbelt was less than 40 percent and the growth less than 2 inches.

"Future growth will depend largely on the amount of cultivation the shelterbelts receive," the official concluded. "Shelterbelt owners should not overlook the fact that weed growth has also increased and is causing needless loss of moisture. Clean cultivation combined with the moisture we have at present should result in remarkable tree growth."

Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Dear Mr. Wells:

You may wonder why I am writing to you. Well, this fine sunny morning as I am sitting in my office, my mind wondering back to my dear old home town of Wellington, Texas, and all my friends back there, so here I am. I don't know whether this will be published or not; but I hope it will.

I am stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and would like it just fine if it wasn't so far away from home. I guess I am "Mother's little man;" well, anyway I get homesick.

You may probably know by this time, I am the son of D. F. Roberts, who lives about nine miles southeast of Wellington.

I am sending a poem that gives you a picture of some of the things I had to do when I first joined the Army of which I am proud.

Well, I will shove off and let you rest for a while.

Your friend,
Jimmy Don Roberts.

THE RAW RECRUIT

I ain't been long in this yere army, I'm what they call a raw recruit, Guess I'll stay, it's better than farming,

Get three meals and pay to boot.

The very first thing in the morning, Fellow with a horn makes an awful noise, Then that guy they call first sergeant Says, "Get up an' turn out boys."

Then you go down to the stables With your brush and currycomb. There you groom as long as you're able,

Cease grooming, fall in, march back home.

Then you go down to the bath-house, Places like that I never saw before. Water runs in through a hole in the ceiling, Runs right out through a hole in the floor.

They tried to learn me a soldier lesson, Marched me up and turned me around.

Give me a gun an' I put it on my shoulder, One, two, three, an' I put it on the ground.

They put our names on a piece of paper, Fellow over there gives you your pay.

Take it to the squad room, put it on a blanket.

Fellow yells "CRAPS!" an' takes it all away.

Then they try to talk by signals, Fellow waves a flag to one far

Use More Milk To Aid Health, Dairy Farmers

National Dairy Month, being observed in June, should be of particular interest to this community, which has seen such sound and marked progress in the development of a dairy industry in recent years, in the opinion of Arthur Power, manager of the Childress cotton oil mill.

"Local farmers, as well as those in other parts of the State, have made a real contribution in the improvement and expansion of their dairy herds," he commented, "and this sound development has helped the entire community. National Dairy Month offers an opportunity for everyone to use more milk and dairy products, to the benefit of their own health; and to the economic benefit of farmers and dairymen."

Recognition of the importance of dairy products in nutrition; and interest in helping local dairy producers to expand the market for their products, have caused the local oil mill to sponsor an advertisement, printed elsewhere in this issue, featuring National Dairy Month and dairy products.

"Milk is nature's greatest food, a splendid source of energy and of minerals, vitamins and other nutrients that the human body needs," the mill manager points out. "All of us should drink more milk, and use more milk and dairy products for eating and cooking."

"We in the cotton oil industry, are greatly interested in aiding the dairy industry, as well as proud of the part that our cottonseed meal and hulls play in the efficient and economical production of dairy products. Our own cotton oil mill is very glad to sponsor an advertisement during National Dairy Month as a contribution to dairymen; to better health of this community; and as evidence of our sincere appreciation of the friendship of the many dairymen who depend upon cottonseed products as standard feeds in dairy rations."

The first book is gaining wide acclaim by those interested in dealings of the business world. The second is a story of a modern mid-western family, while the third book is the first novel written by that author in more than five years.

CHINA GROVE

By MRS. CHARLES GRAVES

Sunshine, sunshine! This is Monday morning and all are enjoying the sunshine. Some of the people are harvesting, some are plowing and some are planting, but it is a joy to all as even the roads need sunshine, as well as work. The housewife even needs the assistance of sunshine in cleaning up. Canning time is here again, and so is combining. Earl Brashears has begun combining the golden grain.

Mrs. Charles L. Graves and boys, Mrs. T. D. Graves and children, Mrs. M. V. Jones and Ansel Miller visited J. D. Graves in Mangum, Okla., recently. While on the trip, they picked 26 gallons of berries. Mrs. T. D. Graves has been canning English peas and potatoes, and Mrs. Charles Graves has been canning beans.

Billie Overcast is now working on a combine in harvesting a field near Hollis, Okla.

T. D. Graves, Jr., is working at Mangum, Okla.

W. M. Elder made a business trip to Shamrock Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bodine and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jodie San-

Mother Of Floyd Morton Dies In Sherman June 8

Funeral services were held Monday at the First Baptist Church in Tioga, and burial was at the Pilot Point Masonic Cemetery.

Mrs. Morton was born in South Carolina September 16, 1864. She was married to Mr. Morton in 1883, and in 1890 they came to Texas.

Survivors are her husband; five sons, two daughters, a sister, five grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton and children attended the funeral services from here.

Egg Profits Depend On Care

With this section of the state becoming more conscious of high quality eggs, it was pointed out this week that good care of eggs on the farm is one of the chief factors in producing high type eggs. Miss Rose Erisman, county home demonstration agent, says that in addition careful handling means more eggs for defense food supplies and additional income for poultry producers.

"But care of the finished product is only a part of the poultryman's job. Proper quality food for producing quality eggs is just as important," Miss Erisman reminded.

"Efficient egg production," it was pointed out, "is influenced by the amount of feed it is possible to induce each laying hen to eat daily. Normally one hen will eat about 80 pounds of feed a year, approximately half of which should be mash and one-half grain for best results."

"Egg mash, or laying mash, is the important portion of the feed for hens that are expected to lay. Laying mash is a combination of feeds which are high in protein and other ingredients essential for keeping the hens in good health, as well as for producing a maximum number of eggs."

The usual mixture for laying rations comprises 100 pounds protein supplement and 200 pounds of ground home-grown grains to make a suitable mash mixture. The grains may be corn, maize or hoga in combination with oats.

Under average feeding, only 40 pounds of home produced grain is fed but with the use of supplements and home grains in the mash, two-thirds of the mash is of home-grown grains. This will make approximately 66 pounds of home produced grain fed to each hen yearly.

"One hundred laying hens will consume about three and one-half tons of home grown grains a year," Miss Erisman added. "If the net income from the flock is figured on the basis of increased returns from home produced grain, the producer will find that he sold his grain at about double the market price. In some cases even greater return can be made."

For six hours Dr. Von Baumann of Los Angeles probed in a man's stomach and finally pulled up his false teeth.

America's First Line of Defense

★ America is on the alert. In this flaming world, the best guarantor of security and peace is adequate preparedness for defense. An aroused nation is intent on making these United States so strong, so well defended, that no nation or group of nations dare attack us.

★ What constitutes defense? In other days, it was trained manpower, weapons, and food. Today, these things are necessary, yes—but most important is industrial production. The multitude of requirements for mechanized warfare has now made industry America's first line of defense.

★ The key to stepped-up industrial production is POWER—more POWER—to move the wheels of industry faster, ever FASTER.

★ FUEL is power. Today, Natural Gas plays a major role in industrial production. It provides industry with the flexible, abundant, clean source of dependable energy adaptable to the high-speed, highly specialized production methods of our modern industrial system.

More Milk in your Diet

More Money in your Pocket

Good health is the strongest reason why everyone should drink more milk, use more milk in cooking, and eat more butter and cheese, ice cream and other dairy products. Those healthful, delicious foods belong in every diet, every meal.

In addition, dairying is a major industry of the farmers of this community—an industry that has made rapid progress in developing larger, more efficient dairy herds in recent years.

By using more dairy products, you help the dairy producers, and, directly help your own income, for revenue from dairy products is spent here at home.

Collingsworth Is Active In County Land Use Work

COLLEGE STATION.—Texas farm families are learning through 252 county land use planning committees how they can contribute to the national food-and-feed-for-defense program.

Here are some highlights of county reports compiled by the food and feed committee of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service:

Community land use planning committees in Wise County got a head start in April and held community nutrition and national defense meetings with a total attendance of 1,007. The meeting at Greenwood community in that county drew 210 people. Fisher County reported attendance of 675 at six community meetings.

In Dallam County the mayor of Dalhart proclaimed May 17 to 25 as Nutrition Week and pastors of churches in that city were asked to emphasize the relationship between physical and spiritual well-being at services on Sunday, May 18. Childress County has planned a series of "feeding schools for cows and people" during June.

Families working at mattress centers in McLennan County are taking part in educational sessions of food, feed and national defense. Other counties are awarding buttons, window and windshield stickers to families who follow recommended food and feed practices.

Teams composed of a farm man, a farm woman, a professional home economist, and a professional agricultural worker are conducting demonstrations for Anderson County families. Movies on nutrition are being shown at the same series of meetings. Collingsworth home economics and agricultural workers recently conducted nutrition training schools for land use planning committee members and for local grocers.

Trinity County held a pasture Short Course on May 6 while a sub-committee in Cherokee County is working to obtain a county health unit. Sherman County is also planning a free health clinic where all school children may be examined prior to September 1. Hutchinson County is working on plans for a cooperative hospital, and Parmer County is forming a veterinary cooperative association to rid food-producing animals of infectious diseases.

J. A. Schofield, chairman of the committee, says other activities of county land use planning committees include promotion of freezer lockers, expansion of the school hot lunch program, surveys on health and nutrition situations in the various counties, spread of nutrition information through radio programs and newspaper articles, purchase of community or home-operated grist mills for increasing the use of whole grain products, and arrangement of nutrition exhibits in store windows.

June Old Age Checks Late

Old Age Assistance checks for June will be one week or more late, pending the arrival of additional federal money, J. E. Norman, who is in charge of the district office here, said Tuesday. These checks are ordinarily mailed out about the fifteenth of each month.

Provided federal funds are obtained for matching state funds, the $9.00 cut in June checks, as announced by the State Department of Public Welfare, will be avoided, Mr. Norman said, and added that the state legislature took final action Thursday, June 12, to provide additional state money to avoid the $9.00 cut.

If federal funds are obtained to match the additional state money made available, checks for June will average $18.50 per person, the highest since the program was started in 1936, Mr. Norman said.

June Wedding Idea Works In Reverse Here

The idea that June is the month of weddings seems to work in reverse here, judging from the number of marriage licenses issued through the local county clerk's office.

Although the month is more than half gone, only two licenses have been issued, Mrs. Claude Nelson, deputy clerk, said Tuesday. One of these was to an out-of-state couple.

The licenses were to John H. Hauck and Agnes Mae Lovett of Mansfield, Colo., June 4; and

Johnson Favored By President

AUSTIN.—Wire service stores from Washington today, as printed in the Austin American-Statesman and other daily newspapers, said "President Roosevelt gave his endorsement to Lyndon B. Johnson for the senate seat vacated by the late Morris Sheppard."

A reporter asked at the president's press conference if the Administration had any comment of the Texas senate race now that around 18 of the candidates were claiming Roosevelt support.

Referring to his press conference several weeks ago at which he followed Johnson's announcement from the White House steps with a statement that the congressman was his "old and close friend," the president smilingly said he thought he had done a good job the first time and was quite certain the people of Texas understood him.

Why should God Bless America—if we won't?

Singing is easy. But it never won a battle. What you and I do today is determining whether or not we will be free men tomorrow. All the wishful thinking in the world can't change that fact. Without knowing it, countless Americans are serving the foreign enemies of this country. Every time you or I raise a hand or speak a word to turn class against class, every time we fan a hatred, slow down production, waste a penny of materials or time—every time we do any of these we are firing a shot into the heart of America. The hour has come when every moment counts—for your country or against it. And let those who think they can "get theirs" by insisting on their rights even when that interferes with the greater rights of the nation—let them remember this—duped by foreign agents whether they know it or not, they are softening this country for conquest—they are selling their right of freedom for the most miserable mess of pottage and poverty anyone can imagine. Ask the belligerent workmen, politicians, managers of France who demanded their "rights" above their country's rights. Their reward is serfdom, hopeless despair, and starvation. God helps those who help themselves. Let's work for America—when and only when the nation which gives us work and liberty is safe, then will be time to think of ourselves.—Warner & Swasey Co. publication, Cleveland.

An earlier appeal in this column for residents to trim their trees must have gone in one ear and out the other, because it is still almost impossible to walk without bending double under the trees in front of some homes. • These Rising Prices

Every mail brings notice of price changes in everything we use and sell. This, despite government efforts to keep prices down, causes some uneasiness. Personally I believe a lot of it is unjustified, but manufacturing concerns are placing the blame on the cost of raw products and increased wages. Increased wages mean little when the cost of living is increased more. All most of us are seeking is what we term decent living conditions and a little recreation.—Ed Bishop in The Dalhart Texan.

That Reminds Me - - -

By RALPH HERBERT

In congressional speeches and in newspaper editorials men are apt to compare things of today with those of the so-called horse-and-buggy era. Recent figures show that down on the farm today it is also far, far different from the old horse-and-buggy times, or man-and-mules times. The era of mechanization has come to the farms in ever increasing percentages.

Back in 1910 the farmers owned or employed comparatively few automobiles, tractors and trucks. Today the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that for every 90 farms there are about 60 automobiles, 25 tractors and 15 motor trucks.

At least half the farmers of the United States own at least one of these machines. In the past 10 years the use of tractors has doubled. Even greater use of tractors is seen in the near future because of decreasing labor supply, due to men being called up to the army or being employed in factory defense work; due also to the fact that replacements of horses and mules will be more difficult as these animals also will be in heavy demand for military use.

Tractors are used to the greatest extent in the great plains, the corn belt, the Pacific coast and the Rocky Mountain states, and are used to the least extent in the south. They are used more for heavy than for light work. They have especially been used in the wheat areas where labor needs have been reduced by 75 per cent, due to mechanization. In corn there has been a reduction of 25 per cent in farm labor. Hay crops continue to be harvested largely by animal power.

Cotton growers use mechanical power less than do those engaged in producing any other major crop. But even in cotton there are areas where machine power is extensively used for preparing the seed bed, planting, cultivating, and hauling the seed cotton to the gins.

On some 6,000,000 farms in 1910 there were 1,000 tractors, 50,000 automobiles, comparatively no motor trucks and 19,429,000 horses and mules.

In 1940 on the same number of farms there were 1,610,000 tractors, 4,185,000 automobiles, 935,000 motor trucks and horses and mules had fallen to 13,368,000.

The five-year-old Knoll tw Joe Frank and John Drew, t sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kn just up from a combined of measles and whooping cough. Their mother said what they needed most just now is a hair cut.

Carr Scott driving his trailer through town, leading a horse, and following behind were two tiny little spotted colts, the cutest ones to come through town lately. . . Buford Graham picking out a new tie to go with a new suit. That was just before Quail graduation, and the tie was especially for the graduating exercises.

Dora Elizabeth McClaskey explaining that the reason the new screen door out in front of Wells and Wells office hadn't been hung was that it was three inches too long, and wishing that another one would hurry and come. When asked if the men around the office were as anxious to keep the flies out as she is, she said, "Well, no. They wear long pants and so the flies don't bother them."

And speaking of flies: Ollie Raburn's little red-haired son has as one of his duties this summer keeping the flies killed around the store. . . Mrs. Ralph Stowell and Rosalie Driskill drinking cokes and when they were through looking as though they felt much cooler.

Bess Owen saying he'd replanted his cotton for the third time, and now he was out of cotton seed, and if it rained him out again he hadn't the slightest idea where he'd get any more. . . Mrs. Frances Hicks eating a piece of her favorite kind of pie—chocolate. . . Judge C. C. Bishop saying Mrs. Bishop was going with him to the Kiwanis convention in Atlanta and that would make it "double the expense and half the fun." But from the way he laughed you knew he didn't mean it.

Heard: That Vernon Willard, who has been attending Clarendon College, and his family moved back to their farm just after the spring term was out, and then last Sunday night, the cyclone which struck Clarendon completely destroyed the house they had been living in there.

Mrs. Ed Estes saying now that Opal—who married Jules Boverie Sunday—is living in Charleston, S. C., her family is mighty far apart, with R. V. serving in the navy at Honolulu, and Virgil at Fort Bliss. . . Eula Lee Powell running to catch up with her mother when they went to see a neighbor the other day.

Notes on the newest generation: Mrs. Keith Smith over from Estelline showing her baby daughter, Cheri, to friends. Clara Frances will leave soon for California, where she and Keith are going to make their home. . . Mrs. J. D. Dorsey bringing her less-than-a-month old son in for a checkup by the doctor before she and J. D. moved to Pampa. . . Carolyn Couch wearing a pair of bright blue coveralls down town.

Mrs. J. W. Payne, who has been visiting out on the plains and in Arkansas, is back home again, and enjoying seeing her old friends. . . There's a saying that when a dog bites a man it isn't any news, but if a man bites a dog, then that's real news. Anyway, Anita Lou Savage, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Savage, has a pup just about the right size for her. The other day, they were playing when the dog nipped Anita on the leg. She didn't cry. She just jerked the pup up by the ears and bit him on the side of his face till he howled.

The fire department was called out when a beer truck caught fire in Seattle, but Chief Joseph Spranger reports that the exploding bottles of beer had almost quenched the flames before they arrived.

When Molly, an Airdale owned by Charles Cox of Atchison, Kan., saw the family moving into a new home, she went into the yard, dug up 17 bones, carried them one by one to the new yard and reburied them.

New Marketing Group Sponsored Here By FSA

Believing that farmers working together can buy their necessary supplies more cheaply than can each farm family individually, the Collingsworth County Purchasing and Marketing Association has been organized here.

It is sponsored by the Farm Security Administration, but the FSA authority stops there. The entire set-up of the Marketing Association is governed by the officers and directors chosen at the organization meeting.

President of the group is Cecil B. Craven, while T. C. Cass is vice president and Mrs. Joe Knoll is secretary-treasurer. Directors are J. L. Dennis and Tom Harwell.

Most of the purchasing will be through local firms, Mr. Dent believes. However, he emphasized that money saving was one factor which would be considered.

At present only those farm families being aided by the Farm Security Administration are members of the association, but other families will likely become members later.

"We have only seventeen members in the Purchasing and Marketing Association just now, due to the fact that it was organized on one of the few days recently when the men could work in their fields, but some thirty or thirty-five other families have already planned to join," R. W. Dent, who is in charge of the Farm Security office here, said.

A second meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, June 18, and a substantial increase in membership was expected at that time.

Already, members of the Association have planned two co-operative purchases—the first is fruit to can, and the second is sugar to use in the fruit canning.

Regular meetings of this group will be held in the court house, although the regular date for these has not been set. Dues are set at 25 cents per family per year, this going into a fund from which stamps, notice cards, and other such equipment is bought.

Not only will the group buy collectively, but they will market co-operatively certain products of the farm and home.

Membership in the group is en-

Something New On Farmer's Want List—Tractor Mud Chains

This county is experiencing an acute shortage of something no one thought they'd need—mud chains for tractors.

Feeling they must start planting even if the fields are wet, local farmers began inquiring of Wellington firms for the chains, but they were not to be had.

Neither were there any in Childress nor Amarillo nor Dallas nor Oklahoma City.

Chester Fires, Pink Sullivan and Ike Emmert solved the problem by making their own out of trace chains and lug links. And it is likely that a number of others will be doing the same thing in the next few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mitchell of St. Paul, Minn., were guests last week end of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nowlin.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Starkey were guests Sunday and Monday of their son, Charlie Starkey, and Mrs. Starkey of Goodnight.

She will be in charge of two kindergartens, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. This work is being added to the Russell School for the first time and Miss Mears is helping to select the equipment to be used.

Vernene Franks Takes Seniors On Record Trip

Miss Vernene Franks, former Wellington girl, has just returned with the senior class of Southland High School from what has been termed "a world record long distance picnic," one which took the group of 26 students and six adults all the way to California.

Miss Franks, a member of the Southland faculty, is sponsor of the class.

The group traveled by bus, and camped out, even to cooking their own food over an outdoor fire. In California they visited in the vicinity of Los Angeles, and also chartered a fishing boat for a trip to Catalina Island.

Miss Franks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Franks.

Former Resident Honor Graduate Of Rice Institute

Cleon Black, who as a child lived in Wellington, graduated with distinction from Rice Institute in Houston this spring. He was one of the young men to receive this honor.

Black is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Black of Childress. H. S. Black, when here, was employed in the First National Bank. Mrs. Black is the sister of John Forbis of Wellington.

During the summer months, the young man will work in Texarkana, but in September he plans to return to Rice to study toward his M. A. degree.

Lee Hunter of Amarillo was a business visitor in Wellington Wednesday morning.

Understanding Of Draft Law Is Urged By Board

Full cooperation of registrants and their employers with their local Selective Service Boards is essential for the proper placing of each available man in the National Defense program, General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, declared today.

"Much of the trouble in classifying workmen," he said, "results from lack of understanding by registrants and their employers that they, too, have a responsibility to help the Selective Service System function to the best advantage of their country."

Pointing out that, through misguided patriotism, many registrants and employers do not request occupational deferment, Gen. Page said that in some cases, also, employers have failed to assist the local board by giving complete information about registrants, when the employer alone knew that these registrants were essential to National Defense in their civilian occupations. Employers should advise local boards concerning "necessary men" in their employ, even when the men themselves fail to ask for deferment, he asserted.

"Employers should put the facts before the local board at the time the registrant sends in his questionnaire, and not wait until after the man has been classified," Gen. Page emphasized.

It is the duty of each registrant, General Page said, to search his own qualifications and patriotically answer the question: "Where can I best serve my nation now?" In making this analysis, the registrant should consult the Registrants' Advisory Boards which have been set up under the Selective Service System, he declared, and then present the complete picture of his skill and capacity.

Likewise the employer has a duty, General Page pointed out, to take stock of his business, of the part that he is playing in the National Defense picture, and to determine exactly what part any employee who is a Selective Service registrant is playing in the production pattern. He should give the local Selective Service Board full benefit of this information, General Page said.

"If the registrants, the members of the Registrants' Advisory Boards, and the employers perform their duty well," General Page said, "there can be little doubt then that the great majority of the local boards will place the individual in the classification in the national pattern that the information made available to them indicates."

A prospective bridegroom of McAllen, Texas, unable to pay Justice G. C. Sewell his fee in a lump sum, turned over one dollar each week until the whole amount had been paid.

Thompson, Moore Receive C. A. A. Flight Scholarships

Two Wellington men were among those taking the CAA civil pilots training course at Childress who received flight scholarships at the close of the ground course recently. The two are Roy Thompson and Glynn Moore.

These two, along with seven other young men and women, will receive flight instruction at the Childress airport.

James Crane, also of Wellington, was one of an additional twelve students who passed the course and who will probably also take instruction.

A FEW QUESTIONS FOR YOU

1. Is there anything wrong with your eyes, ears, nose or throat? If you have suffered defects of vision or hearing, have lost voice entirely, don't give up hope, but investigate Chiropractic.

2. Have you so-called Rheumatism, Pleurisy, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Goiter, Paralysis, Epilepsy, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Piles, Insanity, Appendicitis or a Constant Headache? Chiropractic will adjust the cause and permit nature to bring about a cure.

3. Have you stomach, lung, heart, liver, kidney, bowel or bladder trouble?

4. Have you Sciatica, Gallstones or Diabetes? The results are wonderful. Try Chiropractic.

5. Perhaps you have stiffness in the joints in the arms or legs. This system is most effective.

6. Our methods not only stimulate, but eliminate the cause, thus permitting nature to perform her work. Health is the greatest blessing we can have.

Friends Work For Johnson

Walter Gates, Austin attorney, spoke in Wellington Wednesday afternoon, June 11, in the interest of Lyndon Johnson's candidacy for the United States Senate.

He was accompanied here by Roy Calloway and T. E. Johnson of Amarillo.

Mr. Gates stated that Lyndon Johnson was a leader in securing the REA and the farm parity law; and that he was instrumental in getting the administration interested in building a naval base at Corpus Christi.

"Lyndon Johnson is probably the closest man to Roosevelt in Texas," he said.

The party included McLean, Shamrock, Wheeler and Canadian in their speaking tour that day, in addition to Wellington.

This is the first year that the Dodson singing has been combined with any other event. The Dodson and Four-County singings were combined this year due to the fact that both groups would have met in Collingsworth within one week of each other.

The Four-County Singing Association is made up of singers of Collingsworth and Wheeler counties in Texas, and Harmon and Beckham counties in Oklahoma.

Meeting Of Red Cross Workers Called Saturday

All women of the county who will sew or knit for the Red Cross have been requested to meet Saturday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. Harper to work out plans for volunteer service production work.

The meeting will be held at the home economics room of the Wellington High School at 3 o'clock.

"We want the women to come in and say just how we can manage this work so it will be most convenient for them, and so that we can get the most done," Mrs. Harper said. "Committees for the Volunteer Service Production Corps will be named, and we attend to any other matters that need to be worked out in connection with the Red Cross work."

The quota assigned the Collingsworth County chapter at present is considerably larger than any in the past, Mrs. Harper pointed out. It includes 224 knit sweaters, 192 dresses, 72 bedshirts, 150 skirts, 20 layettes, 8 shawls, 24 pairs of knitted socks, 10 children's knit suits, and 23 mufflers.

"This meeting is for all women in the county," Mrs. Harper said, "and we most cordially request that every one of you who is willing to work come at this time."

Services are held twice daily, at 10 a. m. and 8:15 p. m.

The rock wall along the north side of the building has been completed to the ground level.

All walls begin approximately 42 inches below the floor level, with the outside walls 18 inches in thickness and the partition walls 12 and 15 inches thick.

Approximately 65 men are now employed on the project by the W.P.A., including 30 assigned this week.

Mr. Handley estimated that all concrete work will be completed by July 1, and after that time the walls of the building should begin to rise rapidly.

be placed in a federal savings account for the soldier until he is mustered out of service.

"We must think of the future," he said. "There must not be a repetition of conditions following the last war when the ex-soldier found himself jobless and penniless. Under this federal savings plan, the men discharged from the army would have something to fall back on, while readjusting themselves. This is not only right and just, it is sound economics."

Declaring there must be no weak links in the total national preparedness the Attorney General said the needy aged must be cared for.

"Old age assistance by a system of federal matching has become a federal question," Mann said. "When elected United States Senator I shall support legislation providing equal uniform assistance to all the needy aged and let the federal government see to it that such a law is efficiently administered, justly construed, and fairly applied."

tered, justly construed, and fairly applied.

"There cannot be a sound economy until the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar is put on a par with that of the other man," the speaker continued. "So long as our 'infant industries' which have grown into giants are protected, so must our farmers and ranchmen be protected. Too long have they been forced to buy on a protected market and sell on an unprotected market. Thirty-five years ago one bale of cotton would have bought a good wagon. Today it takes three bales. As United States Senator I shall favor continued federal aid to our farmers and ranchmen."

Concluding, he pledged his support to the work of the REA, soil conservation, and the equalizing of freight rates.

Gerald Mann spent Tuesday night in Wellington, meeting, in addition to his local supporters, several local men who were his school mates in Southern Methodist University. Wednesday morning he continued on his campaign tour, which in its closing days has scheduled an average of eight speeches a day, and is patterned after his campaign of three years ago when he won the Attorney Generalship by a wide margin.

BRIDGE BUILDERS

Impassable streams make bridges a necessity. Life is in the hands of the bridge builder the moment a traveler commits himself to one. Faulty material, excess strain, or bad engineering may cause a collapse.

A Bank is a "Bridge Builder" for its community. Its MATERIALS are furnished largely by DEPOSITORS. Its LOAD is made up of its BORROWERS. Its MANAGEMENT, the function of the ENGINEER.

DEPOSITORS, BORROWERS, MANAGEMENT together form a partnership of high purpose and mutual interest, grounded on honesty and fidelity.

Our Bank has availed itself of every facility to make our bridge both safe and useful, and our PAST RECORD OF DEALINGS WITH THE PUBLIC determines THE KIND of bridge builders we have been in this community. We solicit the cooperation of the other two groups—DEPOSITORS AND BORROWERS. Drop in and let's talk it over.
