Final Rites Held For King At Windsor's Royal Crypt

FINAL TRIBUTE TO MONARCH

Grieving Britons formed long lines on both sides of the royal bier in London's cathedral-like Westminster Hall as they paid their last respects to King George VI. Motionless guards in traditional dress surrounded the crown-topped catafalque and coffin on which the king's body was to lie in state until burial ceremonies today at Windsor Castle.

Buried Beside BrotherKilled During War

By The Associated Press

WINDSOR, Eng. Feb. 15 — Britain said farewell to George VI today in a great outpouring of sorrowful grandeur, and buried him here at Windsor with a hymn of triumphant faith.

Elizabeth II, a queen at 25, led the nation's final homage to her father. For 2½ hours she rode in a horse-drawn carriage behind the coffin to the dirge of 10 bands, while more than a million Britons, packed tightly along the chill streets of London, bowed in reverence.

Then she entrained for Windsor with the body and saw it laid to rest in a crypt of royalty already holding George III and nine other sovereigns.

The King's mother, Mary, stayed in London with the weight of her 84 years and waved her farewell from a window of Marlborough House. But the widowed Queen Mother Elizabeth was here with the Princess Margaret to hear the choir sing the hymn she and the new queen had chosen — a hymn of victory, often sung at Easter:

"The strife is o'er, the battle done;

"Now is the victor's triumph won. . ."

BESIDE BROTHER

The Archbishop of Canterbury voiced the commital the Church of England assigns to King and commoner alike:

"Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust, in sure and certain hope of the resurrection to eternal life. . ."

A slab of stone had been laid aside in the floor, and the oak coffin was lowered slowly to the side of the body of the King's brother, the first Duke of Kent, killed in a wartime air crash.

Representatives of nations around the globe joined royalty, nobles and lords in the funeral at St. George's chapel of Windsor Palace. There was the Duke of Windsor, who was a king himself when he laid George V to rest here 16 years ago. There were Winston Churchill, the servant of four sovereigns; there were seven sovereigns from other countries, Secretary of State Acheson representing President Truman; and the Ambassador of the Soviet Union.

There also, was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who led Britons as well as Americans against the Nazis while George VI stood unflinching beside his people in this island Hitler coveted. And by the turn of time, the dignitaries invited to the funeral included the chancellor of a new Germany.

NATION SILENT

Britain and all the commonwealth fell silent for two minutes at 2 p.m., the hour of the funeral. Then thousands turned to their radios to hear the service. Earlier, the street processions had been seen on television.

In London, more than a million people from all walks of life had watched in reverent silence as 150 white-gaitered British sailors drew the King's coffin mounted on a gun carriage from Westminster Hall to Paddington Station.

As Queen Mary waved her farewell from Marlborough House, the Duke of Windsor turned in the line of march and saluted his mother. Salutes came also from her two other sons, the Dukes of Edinburgh and Gloucester, and from the Duke of Kent, the 16-year-old nephew of George VI.

Elizabeth II and the Queen Mother bowed toward the window where Queen Mary watched and checked each contingent in the line of March from the funeral program.

IN STATE THREE DAYS

The king's body has rested in state in Westminster Hall for three days. An eight-year-old boy was the last of 305,806 persons to pass by the bier.

The King died Feb. 6 of a coronary thrombosis. Elizabeth II, in East Africa on a royal tour, hurried home to receive the homage of her subjects as Britain's first queen since Queen Victoria's death 51 years ago.

The body was carried out of Westminster Hall at 9:30 a.m. It left London for Windsor at 12:35 p.m.

As the royal funeral train chugged into the black-draped station at Windsor at 1:10 p.m. an escort of guards and naval ratings snapped to attention. Elizabeth II sat in the front seat of the royal coach in the 10-car train, the place nearest the hearse car ahead.

QUEEN FOLLOWS

A bearer party of guardsmen lifted the coffin, still draped in the royal standard, from the train. It was placed on a gun carriage. The jewelled crown, orb and sceptre were put back on the casket. To the accompaniment of slowly beating drums and a funeral dirge, the procession moved toward Windsor Castle and St. George's Chapel.

Elizabeth II rode in a black carriage drawn by two white horses that moved behind the coffin. Naval ratings pulled the carriage upon which the coffin rested.

Thousands upon thousands of flowers, including a wreath of red tulips from President Truman, brought color to the scene.

GIVEN DEATH

Negro Convicted Of Rape For 2nd Time In Florida Trial

OCALA, Fla. (AP) — Walter Lee Irvin is back in the Florida State Prison death house today after his second conviction for raping a young white woman. His lawyers plan a new fight to save him from the electric chair.

A jury of 12 white men late yesterday convicted the 24-year-old Negro of helping three others seize the 17-year-old girl from her farmer husband July 16, 1949, and raping her.

There was no recommendation for mercy, which made the death sentence mandatory. Circuit Judge Truman C. Futch immediately pronounced the sentence, and Irvin was taken at once to the state prison.

Irvin's lawyers said they will file a motion for a new trial Monday, and if it is denied they again will appeal to have the verdict set aside.

Irvin was the last of the four Negroes who were accused of the crime which set off a series of mob demonstrations, shootings, and burnings of Negro homes in Central Florida, and brought about bitter exchanges between Florida officials and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Two others of the accused have been shot to death by law enforcement officers. A third is serving an uncontested life sentence.

The young woman and her husband identified Irvin as one of the attackers. Irvin denied any part in the case.

There was no demonstration in the packed courtroom when the verdict was announced. Some of Irvin's women relatives sobbed as he was whisked away to prison.

The young woman who said Irvin raped her heard the verdict silently from the front row of the audience, where she sat holding her month-old baby.

Alex Akerman, Orlando lawyer who headed the defense staff, said the state had failed to prove beyond a doubt that the girl was raped or that Irvin had done it.

State Attorney J. W. Hunter and his assistant, A. P. Buie, insisted the identifications of the young woman and her husband were sufficient to tie the Negro to the crime.

The jury deliberated an hour and 25 minutes after hearing testimony for 2 days.

The United States Supreme Court reversed Irvin's first conviction after defense attorneys contested the verdict on grounds that inflamed public opinion made it impossible for the young Negro to have a fair trial in Lake County where the crime was committed.

The second trial was transferred to Ocala, in adjoining Marion County, by agreement of state and defense counsel.

No Waiting At C-C Banquet Promised Here

Tickets will be on sale at the high school gymnasium tonight for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, which will feature Senator J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) as principal speaker.

Leon Huff, Chamber manager, said that members believe there will be many persons who did not have a chance to buy tickets and will want to buy them at the door.

"There will be no line waiting outside in the rain," Huff said, adding that those who wish to buy tickets at the door may enter the gym at the north door and buy their tickets after they are inside.

Huff said that ticket sales stood at about 750 this morning, and Chamber members believe they will exceed last year's total of 840. He added that seats will be available for 1,000 persons.

Fulbright and C. T. McLaughlin, general banquet chairman, were scheduled to arrive here by car shortly after noon. They were originally to leave Fort Worth this morning in McLaughlin's plane, but weather conditions prevented their flying into Snyder.

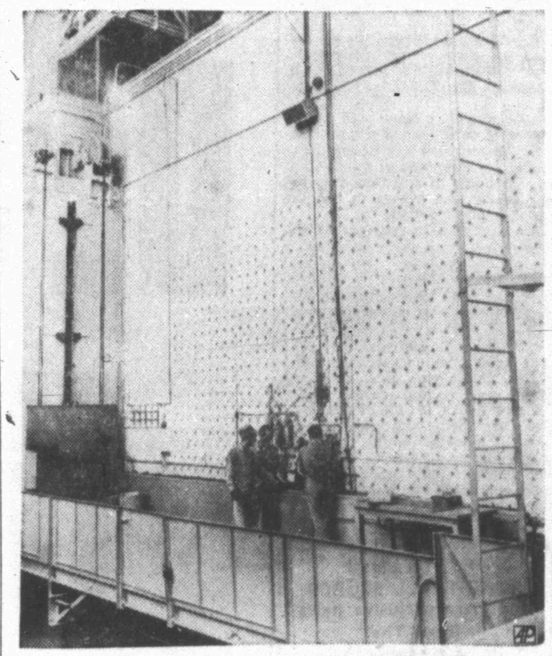

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, who was main speaker last night at the Rotary Club ladies' night dinner, remained in Snyder after the banquet and will introduce Fulbright tonight.

Huff said the banquet tables will be decorated with centerpieces of miniature cotton bales and oil derricks to carry out the theme of Snyder's slogan, "Where cotton grows and oil flows."

After the banquet the Bar Association wives will serve coffee at the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church at an informal reception, where the public will meet Fulbright.

The senator will remain here tonight as a guest of McLaughlin at the Diamond M Ranch.

Tomorrow Edward H. Harte, acting publisher of the San Angelo Standard - Times and former editor of the Snyder Daily News, will drive Fulbright and McLaughlin to San Angelo where he will be host to the senator at a luncheon at the San Angelo country club.

Legislators Applaud Demands For Cuts In Truman's Budget

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Lawmakers studying President Truman's $85,444,000,000 budget applauded today a demand by Senator Byrd (D-Va) that it be cut by nearly nine billion dollars.

Some members of the Senate Appropriations Committee expressed doubt Byrd's goal could be achieved, but the idea of a substantial reduction won an election-year endorsement.

Byrd, a leading economy advocate, made public last night a detailed analysis and a proposed downward revision of the Truman budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He said the President's figures reflect a trend toward "destruction of our currency and chaos," and added it is up to Congress to call a halt.

"The Byrd budget," as he described it, calls for spending of $76,800,000,000 or $8,600,000,000 less than Mr. Truman proposed.

Even the cut would not balance the administration budget, which contemplates a deficit of $14,400,000,000. Byrd's version would mean red ink spending of $5,800,000,000.

He said if the President and his administrators wanted to they could cut enough more to "achieve a balanced budget while reaching the same degree of (military) preparedness and providing for all other essential functions."

His proposals included:

Wiping out entirely a proposed 2.4 billion dollars in economic aid abroad, saying any continuing need in that field would be met by "overlapping" military assistance to friendly foreign nations. Such military aid, Byrd said, should total $7,900,000,000 instead of eight billion dollars as requested by the President.

Cutting $2,700,000,000 from a total of 52½ billion dollars he listed in the President's budget for this country's military program. He said $1,260,000,000 could be saved in salaries and overhead in the armed services.

Slice three billion dollars from the $10,600,000,000 the Administration wants to spend on various domestic civilian programs.

Trouble Over Cleanup Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman's request for far-reaching investigative powers for Newbold Morris, his government cleanup prosecutor, today faced prospects of rough going on Capitol Hill.

Key lawmakers were quick to term it "unprecedented" and "a complete departure from established practice."

So far as could be determined, Congress was being asked for the first time to cloak an individual in the executive branch with virtually unlimited subpoena powers, and the tremendous added authority to grant witnesses immunity from prosecution.

The sweeping proposal, certain to run into congressional snags, states in effect:

Where it is "necessary to the public interest," witnesses may not be excused from testifying or producing records on grounds of self-incrimination and subjection to possible criminal prosecution. But when compelled to testify, after claiming constitutional privileges against self-incrimination, the witness shall not be prosecuted.

Compulsory Union Membership Seen In Other Industries Now

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP) — A government board's approval of the union shop for a million rail workers gave labor unions a lever today to pry the same compulsory arrangement out of other industries.

Some labor experts said privately they expect yesterday's railroad industry ruling will cause a furor in Congress.

They said it is bound to encourage unions to seek the union shop more insistently than ever, with an inevitable increase in labor strikes. And it was widely predicted more and more unions will try to get their disputes before government boards in hopes of winning the union shop.

The three-man panel headed by David L. Cole, Paterson, N. J., arbitrator, recommended that the railroads grant the union shop and dues check-off provisions to 17 unions representing a mill-odd non-operating rail workers.

It was the first time the government, or a government board, had ever recommended in favor of the union shop on any such scope. The union shop requires all workers in a bargaining unit to hold union membership and pay dues.

The union shop issue is a big problem now facing the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB), which has a number of major cases — including the big steel industry dispute—with the same issue.

Neither the railroads nor the rail unions would say immediately whether they would accept or reject the board's union shop recommendation, which is not binding. But it was obvious the unions would grab it, since it was what they asked.

Daniel P. Loomis, a carrier labor relations spokesmen, said the railroads would decide individually and not as a group.

The railroad emergency board reported to President Truman yesterday that Congress paved the way for the union shop on the railroads a year ago by repealing a specific ban against it.

Production Is Indicated From East Vealmoor

Ada Oil Co. of Houston No. 1 Anderson, Central - North Howard County exploration west and north of the East Vealmoor field, has indicated finding production in the reef lime.

The prospector topped the reef at 7,528 feet, calculated to be about 50 feet above the oil - water contact of the East Vealmoor field pay section. In a one and one-half hour drillstem test at 7,541-7,551 feet, gas surfaced in 45 minutes. There was a good blow for the remainder of the period. Recovery was 325 feet of oil and heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud with no signs of formation water.

Operator is said to be preparing to set and cement casing at 7,541 feet and then test for completion from the lower 10 feet of open hole.

There are some dry holes in the reef to the south and west of the No. 1 Anderson. Its location is about 20 miles north and a little east of Big Spring in section 11-31-H&TC. It is about one mile west and a little north of the field.

GARZA WELLS

Alamo Corp. No. 1-B Kuykendall, an outpost to the Garza field about four miles northwest of Post, is rigging up rotary rig to drill below present total depth of 3,142 feet.

The well is about one mile northwest of the nearest producing well in the Garza field and in the northwest quarter of section 1,235, AB-M survey.

Five miles southwest of Justiceburg, Husky Oil No. 1 Nance is waiting for cement to cure on surface casing before drilling deeper. The No. 1 Nance is contracted to 8,500 feet.

Cosden No. 1 Tipton, Garza wildcat, is drilling in lime and shale below 8,378 feet.

SCURRY TEST

In Northeast Scurry County, the Texas Co. No. 198 P. L. Fuller is taking a drillstem test from 7,124-35 feet. That is about 11 feet more hole than was covered in the last test reported.

McAlester Fuel No. 1 T. P. Allen, Southwest Scurry wildcat, is drilling below 4,430 feet in lime and shale.

DRILLING REPORT

Sinclair Oil No. 1 Helen Woods, Fisher wildcat northeast of Rotan, is shut down for rig repairs and is then to continue swabbing. No gauges of swabbing tests just completed have been reported.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-A W. T. Barber, East - Central Howard wildcat, is circulating while waiting on orders after a drillstem test which recovered no show of oil or gas. The project is at plugged - back total depth of 9,150 feet in the Mississippian.

The test was run from 9,020-9,150 feet. Recovery was 450 feet of salt water - cut drilling mud with no shows. The project is in the south half of section 45-31-tln-T&P, about two miles southwest of Coahoma.

Big Guns Fire At Communists

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 15 (AP) —Allied big guns poured a withering barrage of shells into Communist positions in Eastern Korea today.

High explosive and fragmentation shells rained down on some Red strongpoints for more than an hour. A murderous 15-minute barrage battered Red positions above the Mundung Valley, springboard for one of the heaviest Communist attacks in weeks Thursday night.

Allied aircraft were out Friday afternoon after being grounded by storms in the morning. One Red MIG was damaged in a four-minute battle between 19 U. S. Sabre jets and 30 Communist jets over northwest Korea, the Fifth Air Force said.

Fog and low hanging clouds shrouded the results of the artillery bombardment.

The U.S. Eighth Army said two companies of Reds spearheaded Thursday night's attack. They stormed down the Mundung Valley, with another 1,000 right behind.

More Stories On Tax Bureau Due Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William (R-Del) today promised to tell the Senate more next week about Joseph D. Nunan Jr. and a tax case involving the Indianapolis Brewing Company.

The Delaware Republican, who helped start last year's congressional investigation of tax scandals, told his colleagues yesterday that the brewing company got a $35,000 tax rebate after settling for $4,500 a $636,000 claim for back excess profits taxes.

Nunan, who resigned as commissioner of internal revenue on June 30, 1947, said in New York he had never represented the Indianapolis Brewing Company.

"I never spoke to anyone on the company's behalf," he said. "I never received a fee from the company."

Asserting that he had no recollection of ever having signed an application for a waiver of Internal Revenue Bureau rules so that he could represent the company, he said he would "like to see that waiver." Nunan now is a private attorney.

Williams immediately produced for reporters a photo copy of a waiver he said he had received from John Graves, chairman of the Committee on Practices in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The waiver, dated March 28, 1949, and notarized, said Nunan was applying for permission to appear before Treasury officials "to represent Indianapolis Brewing Company of Indianapolis, Indiana, in connection with federal income and excess profits taxes for the period of years 1944, 1945, and 1946 to which I gave no personal consideration and as to the facts of which I had no actual personal knowledge while in the service of the Treasury Department. . . ."

TO GET HIGHER PRICE

Murray Says Steel Industry Is Trying To Force Strike

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the CIO United Steelworkers, accused the steel industry today of trying to provoke a strike or threat of a walkout to get "unjustified price increases."

Murray made his charge in a prepared statement as he opened the union's rebuttal before a Wage Stabilization Board panel seeking to settle a wage-contract dispute and avert a threatened Feb. 23 strike.

The CIO chief said:

"I accuse the steel industry of deciding in advance not to engage in real collective bargaining; seeking to provoke a steel strike or the threat of a steel strike, in order to place additional pressure on the United States government for new and completely unjustified price increases. . ."

The union's 650,000 basic steel workers are demanding an 18½ cents an hour wage boost, a guaranteed annual minimum wage and other benefits, including a union shop to replace an existing maintenance of membership clause.

The union says current wages average $1.92 an hour. Industry places the average at $1.97.

Murray said the union demands can be granted without price increases and without "any undue burden or unfair strain" on the industry's ability to earn fair profits.

He further contended that the industry has failed "to make a single step toward honest, responsible agreement since company-union negotiations opened last Nov. 27."

A three-day WSB hearing, starting Jan. 10, was held in Washington. Panel hearings started here Feb. 3. The hearings are scheduled to end tomorrow, with management reserving the right to enter rebuttal testimony today and tomorrow.

Snow Flurries And Rain Fall; Little Moisture

Slow rain began in Snyder this morning at about 6:30 o'clock, and occasional flurries of snow mixed with the rain throughout the entire morning.

Skies were still cloudy early this afternoon, while the rain settled the sand and topsoil, which had been blowing with the strong wind for several days.

Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, weather observer, said the moisture measured .07 as an inch at noon. This is the second fall of moisture for February, the first falling on Feb. 3, which was not enough to measure. Added to January's total of .12 of an inch, today's rain totaled .19 for the year.

High Ranking Negotiators To Hear New Red Proposals Read

MUNSON, Korea (AP)—Truce negotiators will hold an important full dress session tomorrow to hear a new Communist proposal for a Korean peace conference.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U. N negotiator, returned today from Tokyo where he has conferred for two days with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and two high ranking officials from Washington.

Staff officers working on prisoner exchange plans reported some slight progress Friday. The session on truce supervision marked time. Col. Don O. Darrow said it looked as though the Reds were stalling until after Saturday's plenary session.

There has been no hint as to what the Communists will suggest in their new plan for a post-armistice peace conference.

Previously the U.N. agreed to talk about the withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea and a final peace settlement, but rejected a Red proposal to discuss other Asian problems related to Korea.

Joy conferred in Tokyo with Gen. John E. Hull, Army vice chief of staff, and U. Alexis Johnson, deputy assistant secretary of state for the Far East, as well as with Gen. Ridgway. Hull denied bringing instructions from Washington, but there was speculation that the two officials might be taking a hand in the stalled truce talks.

Col. George W. Hickman said staff officers discussed the new nine-point Communist plan for exchanging prisoners. He said that except for the basic disagreement over voluntary repatriation only disputes over wording separate the two sides now.

The Reds are holding out for the forced repatriation of all prisoners while the U.N. insists on giving each man a choice.

Hickman said U.N. and Red staff officers agreed to study remaining differences overnight and "see if we can't come closer."

Darrow said both sides at the truce supervision session rehashed arguments over troop rotation and the number of ports of entry to be inspected by neutral teams.

He said there also was some discussion of a new Red demand that inspection teams check on specific design as well as the overall type of supplies and equipment moving into Korea during an armistice.

"We are not far apart on a lot of these issues. We could settle them easily if they wanted it," Darrow said. "I think they realize that what we have left to do won't take long."

The Communist Peiping radio Friday charged the Allies with stalling the Panmunjom truce talks. Red China's Premier Chou En-lai accused the U.N. Command of "shameless stalling" while preparing for "a new aggressive war on a still larger scale" in Asia.

Dial System Going In Here Tomorrow

The switch from the operator to the dial telephone system here tomorrow at midnight will end three years of engineering and hard work and will start a new era of instantaneous telephone service for Snyder.

The latest equipment known to the communications industry has been installed in the new $1,750,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. dial system building at Twenty - seventh Street and Avenue R.

Not only will local service be greatly speeded by the switch to the dial system, but long-distance connections to nearby towns, cities all over the nation, and to many foreign countries will be greatly speeded, Truman Black, resident manager of the Snyder headquarters, said.

Physical plant for the new system has been built with a view to continued expansion of the system as the city grows, W. L. Blakney of Abilene, company district manager, said.

The dial system here can be expanded to easily accommodate a city of from 30,000 to 50,000 residents by utilizing the room for expansion built into the new plant, Blakney said.

Snyder's new system will enable operators here to dial through many similar exchanges in other Texas and out-of-state towns, and dial the other party's number in the distant city, Blakney said.

The switch over to the dial system will be made at midnight by pulling ropes which will remove connecting plugs in the old telephone headquarters, on the north side of the square, and at the same time switches in the new building will be thrown to connect the new system to all of the more than 3,300 telephones in the Snyder area.

"Although the new system will be much faster than the old, some slight delays may be experienced in long distance calls until operators have become familiar with the new mechanisms," Black said.

Unpreparedness Is Traditional In British Empire; True Again

SINGAPORE (AP)—Grimly silent, six British officers strode from their sheltered headquarters into the blazing afternoon sun and climbed into two waiting staff cars.

The procession moved slowly down from a gently rising hill in the heart of smoking Singapore. Distant gunfire gnawed at tired nerves.

At the wheel of the lead vehicle, an open touring model, sat Capt. John K. Gwinnell, London - born veteran of the first world war and a Singapore volunteer in the second. In the car behind, a sleek limousine, rode Lt. Gen. A. E. Percival, general officer commanding Malaya.

From both cars streamed huge white flags. The date: 10 years ago today.

Less than an hour later Gen. Percival established his fateful rendezvous with Japanese Gen. Yamashita — the "Tiger of Malaya."

On the grounds of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada factory in Singapore's northwestern outskirts, the British general affixed his signature to Yamashita's surrender terms—the shooting stopped at 8:30 p. m. Feb. 15, 1942.

So ended 10 weeks of bloody, bitter fighting which began when the Japanese invaded Malaya through Southern Siam on Dec. 8, 1941. And so began an enemy occupation which never will be forgotten by the inhabitants of this little island and of the jungle land beyond the Straits of Johore.

The Japanese, after moving down the 400-mile length of the Malay Peninsula at heavy cost, struck across the Johore Straits on Feb. 8. Overnight, they landed 12,000 troops and the number was doubled the next day.

In his official summary of the Malayan Campaign, Gen. Percival decried Britain's unpreparedness for war in the Far East in 1941, and said:

"This unpreparedness is no new experience. It is traditional in the British Empire."

Now, 10 years later, Singapore is leading a peaceful, though strained life. Many of its residents look with fear on the Communist campaign of terrorism along the whole Malay Peninsula. Newspapers here talk of the present limited jungle war as a possible forerunner to a Chinese Communist invasion of Southeast Asia.

British ground forces in Singapore and Malaya are fewer in number than they were in 1941. This is no secret. It is no secret, either, that the Chinese Reds have numerical air superiority in Korea at present.

Throughout Singapore and Malaya there are some 30,000 British army troops, less than one-third the number available here in 1941. However, the troops here are said to be better trained than those who met the Japanese onslaught."

Many observers think they can see the handwriting on the wall. The writing is that of Gen. Percival:

"Unpreparedness is no new experience. It is traditional in the British Empire."

Vandals Have Run Of Nashville In Rock Throwing Escapades

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Rock-throwing vandals pitched their hardest against windows and front doors last night right on the heels of police curbs.

Young hoodlums bombarded homes in all sections of the city.

Police headquarters was deluged with calls for three hours, but patrol cruisers were always moments late.

Only yesterday police Chief Ed Burgess directed officers to tighten enforcement of the 11 p. m. curfew for children under 16 unaccompanied by their parents.

The rock-throwing wave began several weeks ago when 72 window panes were broken at a private school. Since then two shotgun blasts have been fired into residences, and other vandalism perpetrated against business houses, homes and churches. Damage has been estimated at $2,000.

Congressman Levels Guns On Lobbyists, Methods They Use

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (CQ)—Lobbying, a "shadow government" that is increasing "all the time," has drawn a blast from Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D. - Mass).

He defines lobbying as a "political pressure exerted on the shaping of legislation by those who are not duly elected representatives of the people."

The congressman believes the "average American" should know more about lobbyists "because, often as not, the lobbyist is working for a special group and against the public interest."

Outlining lobby techniques, Lane took a cut at "the old device of chiseling in on the free mailing privilege accorded to Congressmen in spite of the law which forbids this abuse."

This is done, Lane said, by inserting in the Congressional Record material favorable to a group's viewpoint.

"The Government Printing Office turns out as many copies as are ordered at very cheap rates. The printing is paid for by the legislator, who, in turn, is reimbursed by the sponsor," according to Lane.

In this way, 2.5 million pieces were sent out in one year "at the taxpayers' expense by one organization that advocates Government economy," Lane said.

TRACES LOBBY GROWTH

"Group pressures increased enormously beginning with World War II," when "all kinds of groups and organizations were formed, seeking protection and subsidy," the Massachusetts Representative said. Lobbies "spent more money and worked harder to protect themselves from adverse legislation or administrative rulings than at any other time in our history."

"When the war ended," Lane said, the government "kept growing bigger and the lobbyists grew bolder."

Congress' attempted to "control this practice" by passing the Federal Regulation of Lobbying Act in 1946 "did not slow down the pressure," said the Congressman.

This led to the 1950 probe by the House Select Committee on Lobbying Activity and its conclusions that more lobby information was needed, Lane reported.

Surveying lobby techniques, Lane said "modern pressure on legislative bodies is not so barefaced" as to employ bribery, although "buttonholing legislators is still a common practice."

HOW THEY WORK

Lobbies make their views known by letters, telegrams, phone calls and sometimes by delegations marching on the Capitol, according to Lane. Some groups organize "rigged - up" letter - writing campaigns designed to "overwhelm" Congressmen, he said. "One organization," Lane said, lines up influential people to "swing into action" when a pressure campaign reaches a critical stage.

Other approaches listed by Lane included "building up grass-roots pressure or exerting pressure on many fronts at once, by massed effort in lobbying, and even lobbying by Government agencies."

For answers to what he called the "problem children of government," Lane cited the House Lobby Committee's recommendations.

That group, headed by the late Rep. Frank Buchanan (D-Pa.), decided, "We need more information on lobbying and lobbyists."

Although every group has the right to present its case, "Congress and the public have a right to know who they are, what they are doing, how much they are spending, and where the money is coming from—in a word, full disclosure of the facts," said the Lobby Committee.

He quoted the Buchanan Committee as saying that if all the facts were known, lobbying "would prove to be a billion — dollar industry."

Lane pointed to the Lobby Committee conclusion that the only two ways to identify a lobbyist are to find "intent, and some substantial effort to influence legislation."

Escapee Given 2-Year Term

Wilbur James Williams, 46-year-old Snyder Negro, was sentenced yesterday afternoon to two years in the state penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary.

Williams, an ex - convict and former escapee from the county jail here last October, was charged by grand jury indictment in December with burglary in September of a residence occupied by Pat Aviles.

After escaping jail here with four other felony prisoners last fall, Williams was captured about two weeks ago in Caldwell, Tex., where he was charged with burglary. He was released from the penitentiary in Huntsville in 1947.

Corroborating evidence was presented by Bob Davie, district attorney, when Williams entered the plea yesterday. The sentence was pronounced by Ben E. Thorpe, district judge. Williams was not tried in connection with the jail escape.

Distress Signal Is Picked Up, Searchers Believe It's All Hoax

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Answering a radio distress call, the Coast Guard searched Cuban waters yesterday for a blazing freighter and her crew, then wrote the whole thing off as a hoax.

The SOS, picked up by the Coast Guard station in Richmond, said the freighter was afire off the west coast of Cuba and had been abandoned by the crew. The call identified the ship as the S. S. George Duketon and her call letters indicated Swedish registry.

An amphibious plane and 165-foot cutter searched the area thoroughly without finding any trace of a ship or crew.

Mr. B. L. McKinley Jr., 3304 Avenue U, who underwent major surgery in the Gaston Avenue Hospital at Dallas Wednesday is reported to be improving very slowly.

Last Arguments Today In Trial Of Newsmen In Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Attorneys will present final arguments today in the trials of five newspapermen charged with defaming 16 public officials and three admitted gamblers in an anti-gambling crusade.

The arguments were scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. (CST). After considering them and briefs submitted by the defense and prosecution, District Judge J. Bernard Cocke is expected to hand down verdicts in several weeks.

The five newsmen were tried last December, but Judge Cocke postponed final arguments in the cases until today.

Defamation is a misdemeanor and under Louisiana law misdemeanors can be tried only before a judge without a jury. The maximum penalty for each count is a $3,000 fine and a year imprisonment.

The newsmen, all members of the staff of the Lake Charles American Press, are:

Publisher Thomas Shearman; his son, Co-Publisher Hugh Shearman; Managing Editor Kenneth L. Dixon; City Editor James Norton, and reporter Carter George.

They were indicted by a grand jury last August for allegedly defaming District Attorney Griffin Hawkins, his assistant, Melvin Wetherhill, Sheriff Henry Reid, and 13 members of the parish police jury, the county governing body.

A citizens group protested open gambling to District Judge Mark Pickrell and demanded a grand jury investigation.

Pickrell called a special session of the grand jury. Before the grand jury met, District Attorney Hawkins filed bills of information against a group of gamblers. Judge Pickrell fined them up to $100 each and handed out several suspended jail sentences.

Dixon contended that small fines without jail sentences "could not in anyway be a deterrent to violators of the law."

The newspaper published a listing of names and criminal records. During the newsmen's trial, the state charged the newspaper had listed under the names of three gamblers the criminal records belonging to three other men with the same names.

Time Bomb In Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A steady muffled ringing interrupted the Court of Judge Francis Shunk Brown yesterday.

An aide investigated and traced the sound to a clerk's desk drawer behind the bar of the court.

There he found a crudely wrapped package. "It looks like a time bomb," he said.

A court officer blushed. "That's my alarm clock. I took it in to be fixed and just got it back at noon," he explained.

Truman Asks Congress For More Money To Finance Operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman has asked Congress for $715,238,165 more to finance current operations.

The largest slice of the supplemental appropriations requested by the President yesterday is $285,800,000 for the Veterans Administration.

It was explained that 160,000 more trainees registered under the "GI Bill" benefit program than were anticipated. Also needing financing are insurance for Korean casualties, automobiles voted for disabled veterans by the last Congress and veterans compensation and pension payments.

Other sums are needed for the Postoffice Department ($189,338,000) to cover increased cost of railroad mail transportation under an ICC order last November; Treasury ($26,640,000) to cover salary increases and enforcement of the new gambling law; commerce ($77,416,170) for federal aid to highways; Housing and Home Finance Agency ($48,875,000) mostly for defense housing.

Post Hospital Needs Administrator Again

POST — Garza County officials are again seeking an administrator for the new Garza Memorial Hospital here after the recently hired administrator resigned.

He was C. F. Childress of San Angelo, who held the position less than three days. He was quoted as saying he did not feel he had the cooperation of all persons concerned. The position carries a $6,000-per-year salary.

Area Draft Board Is Given Quota For March

The Scurry - Nolan - Fisher draft board will be among the 90 in Texas which will receive preinduction physical examination quotas for March.

The remaining 47 boards in the state which were not to receive a physical examination quota for March had no available men 21 years old or older for examination, state selective service headquarters said. A total of 3,828 men are to be examined during March.

Big Vote In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Election officials say 3,935,000 men have registered for voting in the July 6 presidential election—the largest number in the country's history.

Mexico has an estimated 5½ million eligible voters—women do not have suffrage in national elections. There were only about 2½ million votes cast in the 1946 presidential balloting.

Woman Charged Here

Miss Beatrice Efird, 24, who gave her address as 2301 Avenue O, was charged in county court yesterday with misdemeanor theft.

The complaint charged theft of a pair of slacks valued at $5, a pair of shoes valued at $4, and a sewing machine valued at $40 from the possession of Mrs. Josephine Leonard yesterday.

Vatican Appointment Widened Rift Between Two Religions

NEW YORK (AP)—Although most of the country's religious bodies have formed closer alliances in recent years, discord is flaring in some quarters today.

Several modern issues, most of them revolving around "church-state separation," have precipitated the collision, chiefly between Roman Catholics and other faiths.

The President's move to send an ambassador to the Vatican set off the latest outburst. It has wandered far afield from the specific issue.

Charles Y. Glock, manager of Columbia University's Bureau of Applied Social Research, said:

"Such issues can sometime act as a spark for others. They can retard the assimilation of people and segmentize them into opposing groups. What starts as a faucet drip can lead to broken plumbing."

Dr. Rheinhold Niebuhr, professor of applied Christianity at Union Theological Seminary, commented:

"Protestant and Catholic relations have almost never been worse. There are practically no points of contact."

Father Moorhouse Millar, chairman of Fordham University's department of Political Philosophy, said much of the trouble is due to misunderstanding, and "there is a great need for clarification of what is fact and what is fable."

Many protestant publications and speeches have bristled with broad accusations against the Catholic church. Catholic journals have recorded their replies and counterclaims. But the respective audiences usually hear only one side.

Here are some of the areas of argument, summarized from printed materials and statements by church leaders:

Claim: The Roman Catholic hierarchy seeks a church-state union in the United States.

Reply: The official position of the Catholic church is that church and state are two distinct institutions, one spiritual, the other temporal, and that neither should encroach into the sphere of the other.

Claim: Despite denials, proof that the Catholic church seeks such a union is contained in various Papal encyclicals and pronouncements of the past, condemning church-state separation.

Reply: In such instances the Pope was speaking in a historical climate that has no reference to our own, and which does not apply to the democratic states which since have evolved in our Anglo-American tradition.

Claim: Many protestants have played on anti-Catholic prejudice and bigotry to try to picture the Catholic church as un-American and anti-democratic.

Reply: Responsible protestants scorn such evils. But they also deplore a tendency of some Catholics to label any criticism or honest differences with the Catholic church as anti - Catholicism or bigotry.

Claim: The Catholic church is authoritarian and tells its worldwide membership what to think, much as Moscow gives a Communist "line" to follow.

Reply: Except in matters of faith and morals, good Catholics need not agree with Vatican policies. Catholics differ as widely on political, social and economic issues as any group. In fact, so do many priests and bishops.

Claim: Protestant majorities discriminate against Catholics in education by withholding public support of Catholic schools on grounds they teach doctrines Protestants do not share. But Catholics willingly help support public schools teaching doctrines with which they disagree.

Reply: Goal of the public schools is to present objectively information in all fields of learning, without proclaiming any absolute or special doctrine, as Catholic schools do. The theory is that full knowledge is a key, rather than a barrier, to truth as each man finds it.

Claim: The Catholic church espouses totalitarian political regimes.

Reply: The record is the other way. Both Italian fascism and German nazism were excoriated by the Pope. The church was among the first to condemn communism. These actions were not on political grounds, but because these "isms" seek to undermine the church and its influence. In Spain, there were two alternatives — communism, which would suppress church influence or Franco, who support it. The church is very jealous of the right of its children to worship.

Clearing the air of erroneous ideas was cited by many churchmen as essential to a better understanding.

Episcopal bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., said it is tragic that Roman Catholic and nonAroman Catholic relations were "deteriorating," while cooperation among non-Roman faiths was increasing.

He added: "Free and frank discussion with a maximum of light and a minimum of heat is the best way toward approaching the problem."

Near 100 Attended Prayer Meeting For Rain Here Sunday

An estimated 75 to 100 persons attended the special prayer meeting for rain Sunday afternoon at the Calvary Baptist Church, the Rev. T. Gerald Cates, pastor of the church, said yesterday.

This was the first meeting of this type to be held in Snyder this year. The idea of special meetings, however, is gaining momentum in several cities throughout drouth-stricken West Texas.

In Abilene, for instance, a housewife, Mrs. Rufus Stokes, has started a telephone campaign for a city - wide prayer meeting to ask for rain. She planned to extend the campaign even further by contacting ministers throughout the area to ask that they call such meetings in their church.

A boy and his HEROES

One of the keys to a boy's character is his choice of heroes.

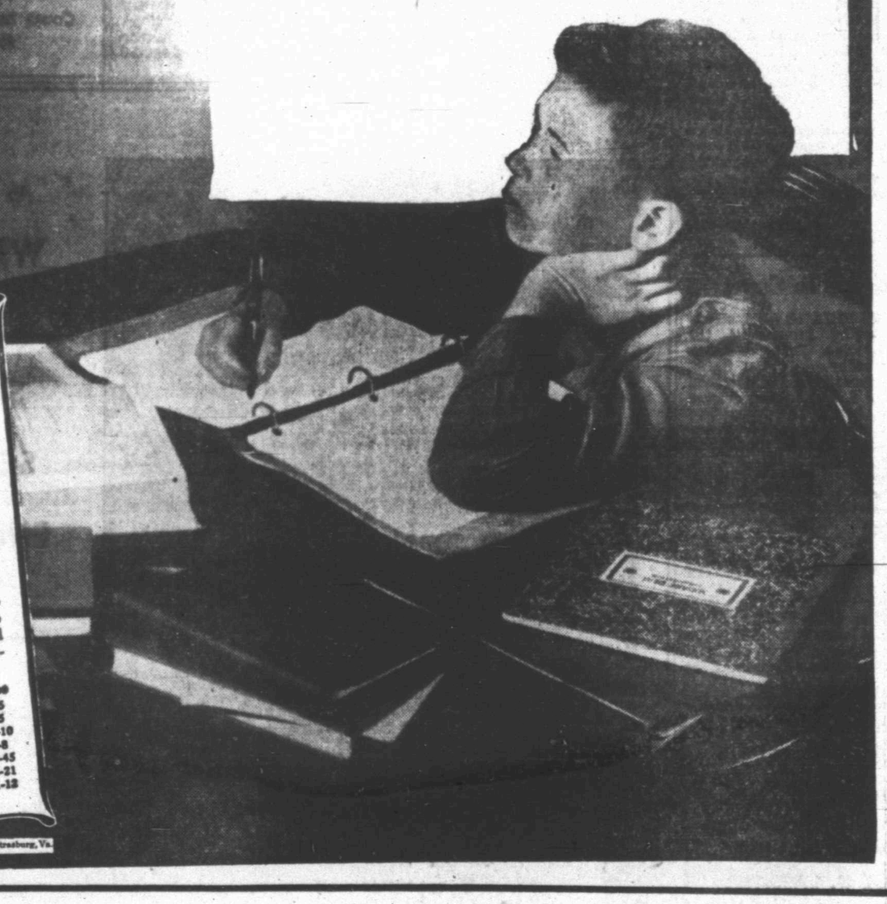

For a hero is more than a portrait on the wall. A hero is an ideal—a blueprint of greatness.

And where does a boy find his heroes?

He finds them in books and on the playing field . . . in his school, his family, his Church.

The Church's contribution to a child's gallery of heroes is unique.

Bible study and religious education not only introduce him to the greatest lives ever lived . . . but they teach him how to build the same qualities of heroism into his own life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

How to get better men elected to office is the subject of an article written by Sen. J. WILLIAM FULBRIGHT in a recent issue of the Ladies' Home Journal.

The senator, who will speak tonight at the Chamber of Commerce roundup, seems to have the educational and practical background to make him one of our more worthy governmental leaders.

In his discourse on public officials, Fulbright says, "Our political life becomes subject to what one might call a vicious circle. Our public officials are assumed to be corrupt or incompetent and, therefore, the people have little respect for them. Since the people have little respect for the politicians, the decent and abler citizens of the community will not seek public office and consequently only mediocre, or worse, candidates are available at election time.

"If we have a low opinion of the public official, he is likely to agree and to act accordingly, inasmuch as he has little, if anything, to lose. But if we exalt him, he will not wish to lose the respect of his fellow men. He will become more concerned about his integrity and honesty than about his cleverness in conforming to the letter of the law....

"Only time will tell us whether or not it is a fortunate coincidence that the most critical period in our history arrives just as the census reveals that women now outnumber men in our nation. The women, I believe, with their intuitive powers of judging the human character, should do a better job of selecting superior public officials than the men have done."

Fulbright also urges that we be just as concerned with local officials as with those on higher levels, since it is the local group that furnishes material for higher offices.

Whatever subject the senator chooses tonight, it's a safe bet he'll give intelligent, thought-provoking statements. He himself scorns the politician who panders to the voters by remembering birthdays and doing personal favors at the expense of the public good.

Girl Disappears Just Before Getting Married

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15 (AP) — A worried mother snatched a few hours of sleep today while police searched for her pretty 23-year-old daughter who vanished while making plans for a Valentine Day wedding.

Crime Commission In State At Waco Today

AUSTIN, Feb. 15 (AP) — Eighteen of 40 witnesses subpoenaed by the House Crime Investigating Committee for its two-day hearing on Waco and McLennan County crime conditions were scheduled to testify today.

The other 22 are supposed to appear before the committee tomorrow.

Rep. Fred Meridith of Terrell, chairman, said yesterday the investigation—the fourth one called since the committee was created about a year ago—is partly the result of a grand jury investigation in Waco last April.

The jury returned 20 indictments on gambling charges, but these later were reduced to misdemeanors.

Previous investigations by the House committee have dealt with tie-ups between West Coast Gambler Mickey Cohen and operators in West Texas cities; the Maceo gambling empire in Galveston; and the use of dope by juveniles.

Mrs. Claude Robinson, 415 Twenty - ninth Street, returned Wednesday from a visit with relatives in Brownwood. She and her sister, Miss Tylene Usrey, attended the state beauticians' convention in Dallas.

This aerial view was made by Birmingham News Photographer Eldred Perry from a low-flying plane. One person was killed and at least 43 injured in North Alabama storms.

Aged Man Still Missing

SAN SABA, Feb. 15. (AP)—Search was to continue today for Walter Nesbitt, 79, missing from his ranch home near here since Tuesday.

The nearly-blind rancher disappeared from his home while his sister, Mrs. Vance Hodges was feeding stock. She said Nesbitt was gone when she returned to the house.

She reported him missing Wednesday.

Officers said yesterday they had found no trace of Nesbitt on the ranch and theorized he had made his way to Highway 16, a mile east of the home, and had been picked up by a motorist.

The Nesbitt-Hodges home is ten miles north of San Saba.

Newsmen Told Not To Bore

FORT WORTH, Feb. 15. (AP)—A report from Will C. Grant, executive vice president of Southwest School of Printing, and a round table discussion of labor were to feature today's session here of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association.

Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa Tribune, was scheduled to make the principal address of the two-day session tonight following a cocktail party and dinner.

Curtis Taulbee, publicity director of R. E. Cox & Company and first lieutenant governor of the Advertising Federation of America's 10th district, was to be the luncheon speaker.

Fort Worth publisher Amon G. Carter entertained the newsmen with a barbecue at Shady Grove farm last night before the state Golden Gloves tournament.

Earlier, the delegates had heard Wesley Izzard, Amarillo daily news editor, say "newspapers are becoming the last stand of the written word."

Izzard said the rise of radio, movies, picture magazines, television and visual aids to education imposes a responsibility on newspapers to keep their copy readable.

"Next to staying solvent," said Izzard, "Your chief obligation is to see that you don't bore the readers."

U. S. Scores On Communists In Ideological Battlefront

By The Associated Press

ROME — Italy's national Communist headquarters recently sent a directive to its comrades, warning them to be on guard against "traps of the enemies of peace."

It was the nicest compliment that the United States Information Service (USIS) in Italy has yet received.

It showed that the work it has been doing to nick away members from Italy's Communsit Party and win them to the cause and ideals of the west was hitting where it hurt.

But what really galled the tough Red hierarchy of Italy's Communists was the fact that pamphlets issued by USIS had such skillfully designed covers that they were picked up and distributed by Communists. Said the Red headquarters warning:

"A look at the text would be sufficient to know that it was the work of the enemies of peace."

"Peace" has been the word that the Communist Party in Italy as well as elsewhere has tried to claim as its monopoly. It is around this word that USIS has built much of its crusade of instructions in the ideals of the West.

One very effective pamphlet, said Lloyd Free, head of the USIS in Italy, appeared on its face very much like a Communist broadside. On a red cover the word "peace" stood out bolding, but it was qualified, in smaller type, with the words "For a stable (peace)". The back cover showed a dove — popular Communist propaganda symbol — flying out of a red colored block into white space. But inside was a detailed list of pacts that have been made and broken by Soviet Russia since 1925.

This pamphlet was sharply attacked by the Milan edition of l'Unita, the Communist Party's official organ.

Ralph Geisenhoner, vice-president of the Snyder National Bank, was elected Rotary president. Malven Stevenson, now president, is vice - president for the coming year, succeeding Bentley Baze. Gene Harper was elected secretray - treasurer, the office now held by Tony Holcomb.

Braves Without Any Holdout Problems

BOSTON (AP) — With Warren Spahn, their southpaw pitching ace, in the fold for the next two seasons, the Boston Braves today appeared to be without a serious 1952 holdout problem.

General Manager John Quinn announced that Spahn, who had been reported as demanding a $50,000 salary, had agreed to sign a new two-year contract. Quinn refused to disclose the terms but indicated Spahn had received a generous boost. His 1951 salary was presumed to be about $35,000.

Candidates From Both Parties Under Fire From Negro Group

By The Associated Press

Two of the presidential sweepstakes runners were under fire today on the touchy question of racial segregation, a possible critical issue in the pre-convention campaigns of both major parties.

They were the Republicans' Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Democrats' Sen. Estes Kefauver. Both were criticized by a Negro official for what he said was their attitude toward Negroes in the armed services.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington bureau director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said Kefauver once voted for race segregation in the armed forces, and that Eisenhower had told NCAAP that Negro soldiers mixed with white "would be at a disadvantage."

The Tennessean's office said Kefauver once backed a proposal to let men in uniform decide whether they wanted to serve in segregated or non-segregated units. No one offered any comment for the general, who has said he would not take part in the pre-convention presidential campaign.

Sen. Taft of Ohio was under fire too—for a statement that he has "no confidence" in the present chiefs of staff. Sen. Morse (R-Ore) said, without naming him directly, that the GOP candidate should not shake public confidence in the military leadership.

Taft himself was in the Far West campaigning briskly and talking about everything from potatoes to foreign policy.

Moving into Idaho, Taft said the recent price order on white potatoes—a hot issue in Idaho—was an example of "federal bungling in industry."

Speaking in Boise and Pocatello, he said (1) workers and farmers deserve government aid, but only to give them equality under a free enterprise system, (2) the GOP won't win by using a "me-too" policy, and (3) the administration's Far East policy is wrong and the Chinese Nationalists should be armed.

Today he moves to Cheyenne, Wyo.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, another GOP candidate, implied in New York he does not believe Gen. Douglas MacArthur is the man to keynote the Republican convention this July. He said the keynoter should not be a candidate, and should not favor any special candidate. MacArthur has been reported leaning toward Taft, but has neither confirmed nor denied this.

Down in strongly Democratic Louisiana, the state's handful of Republicans were holding the political headlines. An Eisenhower faction demanding a voice in the pro-Taft GOP State Central Committee said a court decision today may play a role in the presidential race.

The Eisenhower faction wants the court to force the Taft forces —who hold party authority — to recognize returns of a Jan. 13 primary in which the general's forces unexpectedly won 10 committee seats.

Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor bucking Taft, Eisenhower and Warren for the GOP nomination, said in New York he favors a world-wide program to combat communism. He said he is for neither MacArthur's "Asia-first" policy nor Eisenhower's reported "Europe-first" attitude in buildup of strength.

In Washington, a sampling of Senate opinion indicated Democrats are sharply divided on whether President Truman should run again. Truman said yesterday he faces a "difficult decision" in making up his mind.

Nine key Democratic senators were interviewed by Jack Bell, Associated Press political writer. His count: Two said Truman ought to run, one called him the "most logical candidate," two said he should not run, two predicted he will not, one said he favored Sen. Russell (D-Ga) and one would not comment.

Price Daniel Wants Reconsideration On Citrus Commission

AUSTIN, Feb. 15 (AP) — Atty.-Gen. Price Daniel has asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its ruling that invalidated the Texas Citrus Commission Act.

He filed motion for a rehearing yesterday.

The court ruled two weeks ago that the act creating the commission was unconstitutional on grounds it was not an equal and uniform levy of occupation taxes in that individual, independent growers of citrus were exempt. The taxes supported commission activities.

Daniel's brief argued that the holding of one section of the act invalid should not invalidate the entire law. Numerous portions of the act were not attacked in the original suit questioning ...w's validity, he noted.

The commission was created to investigate citrus markets, conduct research and direct promotion campaigns to aid the citrus industry.

Barber's Wife Free On Bond

FORT WORTH, Feb. 15. (AP)—Mrs. Doris Faye Barber, 21, was freed on a reduced bond of $3,500 last night posted by Mrs. Ethel Olinger, Dallas apartment house owner.

She is charged with murder in the death of Detective H. E. Cleveland shot to death in a gun battle with Robert H. Barber, husband of the blonde freed last night.

Criminal District Court Judge Dave McGee earlier reduced Mrs. Barber's bond from $7,500.

McGee on setting the new bond dismissed a habeas corpus hearing that had been scheduled this afternoon. Fort Worth authorities said the reduced bond spared the state from disclosing evidence in the case which might have been demanded by the defense in a habeas corpus hearing.

Dist. Atty. Stewart Hollman said, "We know she's not going to run off."

Barber is in a Fort Worth hospital with bullet wounds received in the gun fight.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Clarkson of Cresson, Tex., were week - end visitors of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clarkson, Lamesa highway, and other relatives. They were enroute to their new home in Mesa, Ariz.

Fired Official Fires One Back

DENVER, Feb. 15 (AP) — A former official in the Dallas office of the Production & Marketing Administration says he was fired to furnish a political "whitewash" for the Agriculture Department.

Harry J. Solomon, former assistant director of PMA in Dallas, told the Rocky Mountain News he was fired by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to take congressional heat off the department.

He said his discharge came despite leading investigations into seven warehouse shortages in the Dallas region and one in Colorado. He added that he and Latham White, former regional PMA director in Dallas, were fired for accepting small gifts when other agriculture officials received the same presents.

Solomon is in Denver to testify before a Federal grand jury probing shortages of government-owned grains in private warehouses.

He said he was telling his story because of the law of self-preservation.

"I know it won't do much good to tell my story," he said. "People will just say, 'oh, he's just another disgruntled government employe.'"

Chuck Wagon And Sunray Start Off With Wins In City League

The Chuck Wagon and Sunray teams became suecessful as the first winners last night in games of the Snyder basketball league.

Chuck Wagon's five defeated the Pan American squad 33-21, both teams playing with little practice behind them. Play was scoreless until the latter part of the first period when Guard Tom Fox led off with a free toss for Pan American.

By the end of the first quarter, the Chuck Wagon had captured a 6-5 lead. They led 16-7 at the half and 27-11 at the end of the third stanza. Joe Burney, captain and high scorer of the Chuck Wagon with his 11 points, also topped defensive play. Other high scorers for the Chuck Wagon were Eddie Redwine, Ira cage coach, and Tom Anderson, former pro basketballer. High for the losers were Landis Lee, 6 foot center who scored nine points.

Sunray won over the National Guard 47 - 18 with Center Paul White, ex - New Mexico star, and H. G. Bishop leading offensive play.

After the teams tied up 4-4, Sunray came out ahead 6-4 when the first quarter ended. The Guard tied up the score again, but Sunray stepped up its pace, leading 19-6 at the half.

Bill Schiebel, two year veteran of play at the University of Texas, scored eight for the Guards.

Glynn Snyder, league chairman, said that games for Monday night have been postponed until Wednesday because high school cagers will meet Stamford in Abilene Monday to vie for district championship. C & S Sporting Goods was to meet the Jaycees, and D&H Food was scheduled to play Wade Pipkin Motors that night.

Baseball Players In Golf Championship Play

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Defending Champion Al Dark and Jim Hearn of the New York Giants and Coach Dick Bartell of the Detroit Tigers are rated the men to beat today in the baseball players' golf championships at Miami Springs Country Club.

Dark, Hearn and Bartell turned in 73s yesterday for the best practice rounds among the 40-strong major league contingent.

Pete Harris, former minor leaguer, burned up the flat 6,310-yard layout with a one-under par 69 for the best score.

A starting field of 82 golfers will compete for the three titles in the competition ending Sunday afternoon. There will be three divisions —major league, minor leagues and sports writers.

Minor Leagues Expect Another Healthy Year In 1952 Season

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Minor league baseball, despite the demise of seven leagues since the 1951 campaign, looked forward today toward a healthy and happy season.

In 1950 the minors hit their peak of 59 leagues and 444 teams. Now the field has dwindled to 43 leagues and 320 clubs.

Ten loops dropped out between the 1950 and 1951 seasons, seven gave up this winter, and one 10-club circuit split up to help form two six-team loops.

Phil Piton, No. 1 aide to minor league President George M. Trautman who is in the Southland, struck an optimistic note today as he said:

"The leagues still in the fold appear to be financially stable. Most of those which dissolved were borderline loops, unable to hold up in the face of attendance drops, major league broadcast competition, and the loss of players to the services.

"Baseball, however, doesn't feel it is losing players to the Army and other branches. First things come first, and the national emergency transcends baseball. We are proud that our players are able to serve their country and help baseball make its contribution to the national effort.

"We are hoping the minor leagues will receive some consideration and some relief from the flood of radio and television broadcasts of major league games. Economists predict the current 'good times' will continue, so I'd say minor league baseball's outlook is a bright and healthy one."

Leagues which have folded, or will be dissolveid within the next few days, include the class A Central League made up of teams in Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia; the class C Mid-Atlantic, with teams in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio; the class C Canadian-American, with clubs in New York, Massachusetts and Quebec; the class D Ohio-Indiana; the class D Virginia; with teams in North Carolina and Virginia; the class D Far West loop, with teams in Nevada, Oregon and California; and the class D Georgia-Alabama circuit.

The 10-team Southwestern International loop has split into two leagues, making up some of the loss. Under the new setup the Arizona-Texas League of 1950 comes back into being with Juarez, Mexico; Bisbee-Douglas, Tucson, Phoenix and Globe-Miami, Ariz., joining with El Paso, Tex.

The Southwestern will retain El Centro, Calif.; Las Vegas, Nev.; Yuma, Ariz.; and Mexicali and Tijuana, Mexico, with a traveling Negro team rounding out the circuit.

With the dissolution of the several leagues, class B, C and D ball disappears from Ohio, Michigan, Wyoming, Nebraska, Oregon, Washington, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. Ohio is without lower classification ball for the first time since the turn of the century, with the collapse of the Central, Mid-Atlantic and Ohio-Indiana leagues.

Championship Match In Palm Beach Just Like Last Year's Slate

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP)—Last year's championship match will be played all over again today in the finals of the annual mixed foursomes golf tournament at the Everglades Club.

Polly Riley, Fort Worth, and J. Wolcott Brown, Manasquan, N. J., will meet Bee McWane, Birmingham, Ala., and Bob Sweeny, Palm Beach, in the 18-hole final.

FIRST OLYMPIC VICTOR

Andrea Mead Lawrence, America's top woman ski speedster is shown in action during a victorious pre-Olympic slalom race at Bad Gastein, Austria, last month, became the first Olympic winner Mrs. Lawrence, 19, of Rutland, Vt., won the women's giant slalom ski championship at Norefjell, Norway, to open the Sixth Winter Olympic Games with a United States victory. The New England speedster, a pre-games favorite, streaked down the course in two minutes, 6.8 seconds, to beat 44 competitors.

Two Schools In Cage Tourneys

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP)—Dayton University and St. John's of Brooklyn have just about clinched bids to one and possibly both of the major post-season college basketball tournaments —the National Invitation and the NCAA.

Dayton, victor over St. John's in last year's NIT semi-finals, won its 13th straight game last night, a 60 to 59 squeak over Eastern Kentucky. St. John's made it 9 in a row by whipping St. Bonaventure 59 to 56.

A spokesman for the NIT said unofficially the Ohioans and the Brooklyn Red Men were high on the list of teams being considered. As for the NCAA it is possible both will be invited to compete as "at large" teams. St. John's competed in the NCAA last year, too.

A crowd of 16,151 paid, largest of the season at Madison Square Garden, saw the St. John's game, first of a doubleheader. In the nightcap New York Univ. defeated Niagara, 67-56.

DePaul, also believed under consideration for the NIT, had its 9-game winning streak snapped by Notre Dame, 76-70.

West Virginia, Holy Cross and Siena, unofficially reported to be also under consideration for the NIT, all chalked up victories. West Virginia, strengthened its hold on first place in the Southern Conference by beating Virginia Tech, 99-82. Holy Cross whipped Springfield, 81-61. Siena trounced Williams, 69-45.

In other games, Marquette beat Toledo, 58-52; West Texas beat Arizona, 79-73, and Utah State drubbed Colorado A&M, 85-62.

Indoor Tennis Crown At Stake Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — Dick Savitt, Budge Patty and Don McNeill loom as the chief obstacles in Billy Talbert's bid for his second straight national indoor tennis championship.

Talbert begins defense of his crown tomorrow in the Seventh Regiment Armory. The top seeded New Yorker takes on Charles Hunt of New York in an upper bracket match. Third seeded Patty, former Wimbledon champion now playing out of New York, tangles with Philippe Neff of Washington.

McNeill, fourth seeded, and a former two time winner of the event, clashes with George Hall of New York.

POMP AND CEREMONY

Olympics Officially Opened After Competition Had Begun

OSLO (AP)—Princess Ranghild of Norway, slender, dark and 21, formaly opened the sixth winter Olympic games in Bislett Stadium today.

The attractive ski-loving princess put the gigantic winter sports show on the road officially after a brilliant parade of competitors from 30 nations.

In an unusual departure from custom, the competition already was underway by the time the pomp and ceremony of the regal opening show was staged in the 30,000 seat stadium.

Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence, 19-year-old daredevil from Rutland, Vt., won the first gold medal of the 1952 games yesterday when she outclassed the world's best to take the women's giant slalom ski race by a wide margin.

The Oslo games, the biggest winter sports carnival ever held, have drawn 1,178 competitors and officials. But not all of them were on hand for the official opening.

Mrs. Lawrence herself played hookey to watch her young husband, David, take his chances in the men's giant slalom at Norefjell, 70 miles up in the mountains north of Oslo.

Because of the distance none of the competitors in the men's giant slalom were able to attend the show. The stadium, located in the heart of this Norwegian capital, is famous both as a track and field grounds and as a speed skating track.

Today it was aglow with the flags of Olympic nations, and the gay uniforms of the contestants stood out against the thin cover of snow.

As a climax to the ceremonies, a blonde Norwegian skier entered the stadium carrying the Olympic torch, which had been lighted at Moregdal, shrine of modern skiing, and set ablaze the Olympic fire that will burn throughout the games.

The torch had been carried 170 miles by a ski relay of 100 men.

The athletes paraded into the stadium with the nations arranged alphabetically according to the Norwegian language. French usually is used to determine the order of march.

This would have brought the German team in immediately behind the flag of Greece, which always leads the Olympic parade. In French, Germany is Allemagne. In Norwegian its Tyskland, which put it far down the list.

Norwegians still hold bitter memories of German wartime occupation and although there have been no incidents, every effort has been made by authorities to avoid anything that could lead to unpleasantness.

The Olympic games mark the first Norwegian-German sports relations since the last world war.

The United States team, as usual wore bright white jackets, white caps and blue pants. The jackets bore red, white and blue stripes on the arms.

Jim Bickford, veteran bobsledders and oldest members of the U. S. team, marched at the front, carrying the American flag.

Supporting Socialist Dr. Kurt Schumacher is his secretary, Frau Anne Marie Renger, who serves as his human crutch.

Human Crutch Helps West German Leader

By The Associated Press

BONN, Germany — The chairman of West Germany's powerful Socialist party walks with a human crutch.

One - armed, one - legged Dr. Kurt Schumacher is unable to stand or walk alone. He lost his right arm in World War I and his left leg as a result of tortures in a Nazi concentration camp. So he moves by draping his left arm around the neck of his long-time secretary, Anne Marie Renger.

Frau Renger, a pretty, 32-year-old war widow, accompanies the ailing Socialist leader to all official parties and dinners, to press conferences and meetings. Only when Schumacher enters the Bundestag (lower house of the parliment) is Frau Renger missing. Since only members of parliament are allowed in the chamber, one of the deputies helps the Socialist chieftain to his seat.

Frau Renger took Schumacher into her home when he was freed from the Nazi concentration camp in 1945. She nursed him for months and them became his secretary — and crutch.

Wildcat, Stepout Set For Coke County

Locations for a wildcat in Southwest Coke County and for a stepout to production in the central-east side of the same county have been staked for immediate drilling.

Both are about six miles northwest of Vincent. Contracts call for a depth of 7,500 feet.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Supercrews Needed To Handle New, Powerful Jet Bombers

By HAL BOYLE

TAMPA, Feb. 15. (AP)—The American Air Force is training "four-headed monsters" at its MacDill field base here.

That is its term for crewmen of the new 600-mile-an-hour B47 jet bomber. They are the elite airmen.

A conventional B-29 bomber has a crew of 11. The big new jets are slightly larger than a B-29, have only three crew members.

Each of them is a four-way specialist, able to act as pilot, bombardier, radar operator or navigator. In the entire country there are fewer than 100 of these men. It is the job of bluff Col. Mike McCoy to train more.

The jet bombers — they fly at 40,000 feet, cost 3½ million dollars each, and are designed to replace the lumbering B-29 of World War II fame — are coming slowly off the assembly lines. But it is easier to build them than to train the men to fly them.

"It takes about 24 months to turn out a combat ready crew," said McCoy.

And the students in his pilot school here aren't exactly schoolboys. Each must have at least 2,000 hours in the air to qualify as a candidate. Most are veteran combat pilots of the last war.

"Everybody in the Air Force wants to get into the program," said the colonel, "but we have to be exceptionally careful in picking them, because of the time and money spent in training them. We can't afford any cowards."

The fledgling jet bomber pilots are a serious, hard working lot. None wants to flunk out. They have a gym, steam bath and massage rooms to keep them in peak physical condition.

"The men come down pretty tired after long flights at high altitude," explained Col. McCoy. "Sometimes they have trouble sleeping." The steam baths and massages help them relax and snap back to normal so they can fly again the next day. They have to keep in shape."

None of these highly skilled jet pioneers who have survived one war knows what the future holds. But they are aware that even now the B-47 would be mighty useful in Korea, where the slower B-29s no longer can make daylight missions in the face of enemy jet fighter strength.

Rotarians Hear Dr. Wiggins

A capacity crowd heard Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological College, address the Rotary Club's annual lady's night program last night.

In his address, Wiggins asked members "As individuals we complain much of the time, but as citizens, what are we going to do about it?" Wiggins emphasized the importance of schools in the training of youths, but he said that citizens should not blame the schools if a child is not raised right. He said the moulding of a child into a citizen is a joint project of the parents, schools, and community.

Wiggins added that if we are going to complain about government, we should realize the importance of voting and helping to make the government as it should be.

Malven Stevenson, president of the club, opened the meeting by introducing the present and newly - elected officers and board of directors.

Ralph Geisenhoner, president for the coming year, was chairman of the banquet committee and master of ceremonies. After he led the singing of songs, Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the Texas Tech music department, presented several of his students in vocal solos, quartets, and octets.

The banquet room was decorated with hearts, red and white streamers, and valentine place cards. Plate favors for ladies were heart - shaped boxes of candy and white carnations.

Two Fined In Court

Two persons were assessed fines of $73.50 each today when they pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges in county court.

They were James Jones, 22, Snyder Negro charged with aggravated assault; and Clyde J. Newman, 37, who gave his address as 2900 Avenue I, charged with driving while intoxicated. Both charges were filed today.

Late yesterday, Miss Beatrice Efird, 24, of 2301 Avenue O, formerly of Denver City, Tex., was fined $25 plus court cost of $23.50 when she pleaded guilty to theft of a pair of shoes, a pair of slacks, and a sewing machine, all valued at a total $49.

Snyderites Are Checking Hike In Insurance

Officials of the fire department and insurance executives here are checking the report that Snyder has been assessed a five per cent fire insurance penalty which will make this year's fire insurance premiums 20 per cent higher than for the past two years, Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said.

Gatlin said he and N. W. Autry, fire chief, are writing a letter today to Paul H. Brown, state fire insurance commissioner, to see if the report is true.

"If it is true insurance issued after March 1, will cost 20 per cent more than the same policies did for last year," he said.

Last year Snyder received a 15 per cent credit.

Lyle Deffebach, of the Deffebach Insurance Agency, said he would place a telephone call today to a representative of the state fire insurance commission in Abilene for more information on the new order.

No explanation for the change in insurance costs here were given in the fire insurance ratings for West Texas cities announced Thursday by Brown.

Gatlin said insurance premiums here last year far exceeded the insurable losses, but that the commission sets the rates according to losses over a five - year period.

One Filed On Here In Felony Complaint

Hanold Campbell, 26, of Snyder, formerly of Hermleigh, was charged by felony complaint yesterday with two counts involving the alleged making and passing of a forged check.

Bond for Campbell was set at $750 by W. C. Davidson, justice of peace, when the accused waived preliminary hearing. The charges are to be considered by the next grand jury, which has not yet been selected.

The complaint against Campbell alleges that on Jan. 31, he made and passed a check payable to Hank Wilson and signed with the name of C. V. Lee in the amount of $28.50.

Iranian Shot While Celebrating Death Of Another By Assination

TEHRAN, Iran, Feb. 15. (AP)—Hossein Fatemi, right-hand man of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, was shot and wounded today by a youthful Moslem terrorist who shouted, "There is no God but Allah."

Fatemi, former deputy premier, was felled by a single pistol shot fired at point blank range as he was addressing a crowd in a cemetery near Tehran. He was speaking on the fifth anniversary of the assassination of one of Iran's first Nationalist martyrs.

The would-be assassin was seized by the crowd.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

(Letters from the readers of the Daily News are always welcome, provided they are signed by the writer and give his correct address. They will be printed subject to the publisher's discretion, based on whether the material contained is libelous or the language offensive. Letters should not exceed 300 words.)

To the Daily News:

Few weeks ago a letter appeared in your paper over the signature of one L. H. Deavers, Gen. Del., Snyder, Texas, and some people believe that he is the husband of the lady who works in the sheriff's office here in Snyder. I wish to inform those people that he is NOT her husband. In deference to my wife, children, and myself, I would be most grateful if you will publish this letter, because no member of my family or myself had a thing to do with the writing of that letter. Matter of fact, I do not even know the man; secondly, I have only been living in this county 24 years and I believe (if my memory serves me correctly) that the writer stated that he had lived here some thirty odd years; thirdly, I do not have "any bones to pick" with the newcomers, because I try, and so far, have succeeded in getting along with everyone that I have met. All the newcomers that I have met seem to be very nice people.

I have no desire to become engaged in a controversy, either personally or thru the medium of newspapers, regarding the merits of "newcomers" and "oldtimers" because, unfortunately, we had some people here before the boom who broke the law, and I'm sure that there have been a few who came here after the boom who probably violated some of our laws; but we have had policemen and sheriffs ever since I can remember, and I'm confident that we will have them long after I'm gone.

Democrats Divided On Whether President Truman Should Run

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sampling of Senate opinion indicated today Democrats are sharply divided on whether President Truman should run again.

Truman's statement at a news conference yesterday that he faces a "difficult decision" on this question emphasized the uncertainty within his party about his future plans. He is generally credited with being able to get the nomination if he wants it.

Of nine Democratic senators interviewed by this reporter, two said the President ought to run again, one called him "the most logical candidate," two said he shouldn't seek the nomination, two predicted he won't run, one said he preferred Sen. Russell (D-Ga) and one wouldn't comment.

Among Republicans, Sen. Martin of Pennsylvania said he hopes Truman runs so as to draw the issues sharply in the campaign but Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire said it doesn't make much difference—that the Republicans are going to win anyway.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) and Sen. Murray (D-Mont), who like to be classed in what they call the "liberal" wing of the party, said they want the President to run again.

"I am in thorough sympathy with the President's domestic and foreign policies," Lehman said. "He typifies those policies better than any other Democrat. I hope at the same time he takes vigorous steps to wipe out corruption in government and punish the guilty."

Murray said the Democrats can't afford to discard Truman's "experience and background" in such troubled times.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla), who would like to have the nomination if Truman doesn't seek it, said he regards the President as the party's "most logical candidate."

However, Carl Rice, Kansas Democratic national committeeman who conferred with Kerr, said he is going to continue to plug the Oklahoma Democrat as second choice to the President.

Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa), who doesn't go along with the recent action of the Midwestern Democratic Conference in urging the President to run again, said if he were in Truman's place he would retire at the end of his present term.

Although the President is exempted from the restrictions of the two-term amendment to the Constitution, if I were in his place I would observe the spirit of that amendment and not run again," Gillette said.

Truman will have been in the White House almost eight years when he completes his present term next January.

Southern Democrats who are opposed to his civil rights program are almost solidly against him.
