Bomb Threat Clears House And Senate

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)— Senators, working fast under a bomb threat, passed to the House today a bill limiting the right of San Antonio policemen and firemen to collect accumulated sick leave in cash when they retire.

The vote was 27-2 to restrict a retiring fireman or police officer to cash payment for 90 days of sick leave.

House members recessed for the weekend at 11 a.m. after Speaker Bill Clayton said he wanted to end proceeding because of a telephoned threat that a bomb would explode at 11:30 a.m.

Senators quit minutes later. "If this guy calls back, can we get him to do it every Thursday?" joked Rep. Ron Waters, D-Houston, from the back microphone in the House.

Representatives ordinarily shut down on Thursdays, the earlier the better, as they see it.

Several hundred employes evacuated the Capitol while firemen and policemen searched corridors, offices, restrooms and under seats in the legislative galleries.

Legislation that would cut farmers', ranchers' and timber owners' taxes by basing them on the productivity - not the speculative value - of their land won final passage today.

The measure would allow schools to operate less than 180 days in a school year "in case of calamity and emergency."

It won tentative approval late Wednesday afternoon, 112-34, but a series of tissue-thin votes on amendments reflected the true divisiveness of the issue.

A constitutional amendment, pending in the Senate, will be necessary for the agricultural tax break to take effect.

The measure would base the taxable value of farm, ranch and forest land on the average net income it would earn over a five-year period if cultivated with "ordinary prudence." In most cases, the productivity figure would be multiplied by 10 to produce the taxable value.

If land were sold for a non-agricultural purpose, the owners would have to pay four years' back taxes at market value, plus 5 per cent annual interest.

Corporations could not receive the tax break unless they had fewer than 10 shareholders - normally family-held firms. Speculative value as real estate, not productivity, now determines the value assigned to agricultural land for tax purposes.

The SDN Column

We've been having a problem trying to get Paul Harvey's column into our office. We subscribed to it several weeks ago while planning our new editorial page. The syndicate immediately flooded us with Paul Harvey columns, going back a couple of weeks prior to the beginning of our contract. Everything went fine until about 10 days ago when suddenly there was no Harvey column.

The first impulse, of course, is to suspect the postal service has taken it somewhere else. But a phone call to California indicated that somehow we had got off the mailing list. The girl who answered the phone couldn't be certain how it happened, but is sounded like a computer may have been involved. Anyway, they have promised that Paul Harvey will be back with us soon.

If mankind seems to have medical problems today that were unknown to our more physically active ancestors, there is a reason, according to "Medical Times."

"As part of the animal world we have been designed to use our muscles frequently. The invention of the wheel was the first of many steps which have steadily diminished the need to use our muscular apparatus," the publication says.

Judging Begins In Stock Show

Judging begins tonight in the 33rd annual Scurry County Junior Livestock Show.

The first competitive event in the show will send swine entries into the arena at 6 o'clock this evening.

The swine division is by far the largest division in the show, which also will include lambs and steers which have been fed out as projects by Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club members in the county.

The young feeders were busy this morning at the livestock-agriculture building at the Scurry County Coliseum as they groomed their animals for showing. The animals were put on display Wednesday and they will remain through Saturday.

Lambs will be judged at 1:30 p.m. Friday and the judging will be completed Friday night when steers go into the arena at 7 p.m. Prizes will be awarded by the Scurry County Junior Livestock Association.

The annual auction sale will officially close the annual event on Saturday. The sale will begin at 1 p.m.

Carter Urges Cuban Restraint

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Carter is asking that Cuba pursue a policy of restraint abroad and respect for human rights at home as his price for friendlier U.S. relations with Havana.

Cuba, in turn, is demanding that the United States lift its trade embargo against the island if Washington wants an extension of an anti-hijacking agreement past its scheduled April expiration.

Carter took his White House advisers by surprise when he said Wednesday he has received indirect word that Cuba intends to remove its troops from Angola.

Waller Announces For Re-Election

Rod Waller, Place 5 Councilman, has filed as a candidate for re-election in the city election set for April 2.

Waller is the second candidate to file for a place on the city election ballot. Mayor John Fagin, who was appointed last October to serve until the April 2 election, had filed earlier as a candidate for the remaining year on the mayor's term. The mayor's post had been left vacant in October due to the death of William A. Vestal.

Waller is seeking a second term on the council.

Other council posts which will be filled for full two-year terms are Place 1, now held by Jerry McWilliams, and Place 3, now held by Truett Bryan. Also to be filled is the Place 4 Councilman's post where Milton Ham is serving by appointment. A Place 4 Councilman will be elected April 2 to serve the remaining year on the term which Fagin was serving when he was appointed mayor.

March 2 is the deadline for candidates to file.

TESCO'S Construction Budget At $242 Million

Texas Electric Service Co's board of directors today approved a record-high construction budget for 1977 of more than $242 million.

The budget is an 8 per cent increase over last year's construction budget and is almost 10 times the utility's construction budget 10 years ago.

"This costly construction is a result of our switch from power plants burning expensive natural gas to those using cheaper lignite coal and nuclear fuel," said Texas Electric President W.G. Marquardt. "It's expensive, but to keep burning high-priced natural gas would be even more expensive."

The two largest items in the budget are $78.3 million for the company's share of the Comanche Peak nuclear power plant under construction near Glen Rose and $61.2 million for its share of the Martin Lake lignite plant going up near Henderson.

Both plants are joint projects of Texas Electric, Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light, subsidiaries of Texas Utilities Co.

The budget represents an expenditure of more than $500 for each of Texas Electric's 440,000 customers.

Other major items in the budget include:

--$33.7 million for construction of a third generating unit at the jointly owned Monticello lignite plant near Mt. Pleasant.

--$13 million for the company's share of the Forest Grove lignite plant under construction near Athens.

—$7.8 million for completion of a gas-fired peaking unit at the handley Plant on Fort Worth's east side.

The cost to complete all the projects now in progress will be more than $1.5 billion, Texas Electric officials say.

The first of four units under construction at Martin lake is scheduled to begin operation sometime next month. The third unit at the Monticello plant is planned for operation next year. The Forrest Grove plant, where work began last year, is scheduled for operation in 1983.

Comanche Peak will begin producing power in 1981.

High construction costs of lignite and nuclear plants, along with rising natural gas prices, cause electric rates to go up. But Texas Electric officials say electricity will cost less by switching to lignite and nuclear fuel than it would with continued use of gas.

For example, lignite-fueled plants saved Texas Electric customers over $40 million dollars last year, the company points out.

Electric utilities in the state must build plants that use new fuels, because the Texas Railroad Commission has ordered a gradual reduction in the use of natural gas as a boiler fuel. Electric generating plants burn fuel like natural gas or coal to boil water to create steam needed to spin turbine-generators.

DRIVER INJURED—A California man was injured Wednesday afternoon when his 1975 Ford left the road and came to rest under a bridge on U.S. 84, approximately two miles north of Basin Wax. down in the gutter

A new low in network television was reached last Friday on evening newscasts.

The networks carried an interview with the gunman who had held a mortgage company executive hostage for three days. Anthony G. Kiritsis, 44, released the hostage on Thursday and was arrested by police.

But in the interview, the man spouted profanity and obscenities that did not belong on television—or anywhere else.

Every other word of the prisoner was an obscenity or taking the Lord's name in vain.

The man is a proper news subject. His foul language is not!

Why the television network did not bleep out the man's profanity, especially those dealing with the Lord's name, we cannot understand.

We feel that every child should be encouraged to develop a habit of watching and reading daily news accounts. And most television networks do a good job of capsuling the news.

But no newspaper, radio, or television station has the right to thrust on its public profanity or obscenities in the interest of news...or entertainment.

We dislike profanity in books, in movies, on television, in restaurants, in any public gathering place.

We realize some people have used profanity of one kind or another since time immemorial and will continue to do so. That it should be condoned in public, in print, in movies, or on television is wrong.

Personally, we feel that the Federal Communications Commission should strongly censure or condemn the networks for the Friday newscast. If they are allowed to get away with such gutter-type language on the air, then, as has happened in the movies and on television shows, it will occur more and more frequently.

If a man or woman wants to cuss, that's their business...but not on the screen going into living rooms across the nation. This country hasn't sunk that low yet, despite what some producers would have us believe.

the great $2 boo-boo

The Treasury Department, having failed on its own, now is said to be thinking about spending $300,000 to promote the $2 bill, which, frankly, hasn't been accepted with any degree of enthusiasm by the public.

The bulk of the $300,000 would go to an advertising agency to convince Americans that they need the $2 bill. This could prove to be somewhat of a hopeless undertaking, even for one of the nation's top agencies. It seemingly would be a waste of taxpayers' money.

Officials admit disappointment in the public reception given the $2 bill since it was brought back with much fanfare 10 or 11 months ago.

In fact, printing of the bills has been discontinued, at least temporarily. Only about 222 million of the approximately 415 million which were printed actually went into circulation.

Millions of the $2 bills apparently were tucked away as sourvenirs soon after they were issued and have remained unused since.

But the fact that four million of the $2 bills showed up in circulation in December was somewhat encouraging to James A. Conlon, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

It is doubtful, however, if this or any sort of promotion could stimulate widespread demand and use of the bills.

Either the $2 bill is a public convenience, or it is not. If it is, a public relations campaign isn't necessary. If it is not, any such effort is bound to fail.

The bureaucrats who conceived the idea of reviving the $2 bill thought it was a good idea. If it wasn't, they might as well admit the mistake without apology.

No one is perfect, although some people in government somehow feel obligated to pretend to be.

Meanwhile, a handful or a pocketful of $2 bills wouldn't be too bad, would it?

The soaring price of coffee is turning some normally Jeckyll-headed people into real Hydes.

Supermarket acquaintances who used to casually greet me now race me to the coffee caches. Otherwise innocent little ladies glare at me menacingly when I reach out to get a can of coffee.

I am treated little better by my friends when they drop by my apartment to indulge their caffeine addiction. Their slurping of my valuable coffee can be heard for a city block.

For my friends, however, I plan to give them a special treat the next time they come over to visit me. For them, I plan to serve a concoction of hickory nuts and pecan tree scrapings.

The late humorist Frank Sullivan (no relation to the late Ed Sullivan) once remarked that taking care of his livestock was a full-time job in itself. His friends, knowing that Sullivan was city-reared, incredously asked, "What livestock?"

"At least once every day," Sullivan quipped, "I have to beard the lion, keep the wolf from the door, let the cat out of the bag, take the bull by the horns, count my chickens before they are hatched..."

A southern-reared woman, Florence King, wrote a book in 1975 concerning what she felt were the humorous aspects of living in the South.

In her book, she remarked that, "Yankees always make the mistake of going home the moment they realize they are going mad, which is why they have never understood the South. They do grasp the simple fact that losing one's mind is the most important prerequisite for fitting in with Southerners."

coffee producers are reaping most of 'wealth'

Editor's Note: Soaring coffee prices have brought profit to many along the chain from bean to brew. But the wealth is unevenly divided. Here is a look at who has been sharing in the price spiral.

By DAVID C. MARTIN and
TERRY KIRKPATRICK
Associated Press Writers

If you're wondering where the money you spend on coffee is going, look first to the countries that grow it.

Brazil, the world's largest producer, earned $2.3 billion from coffee sales in 1976, about 2½ times more than in 1975, although its exports rose less than 7 per cent.

Colombia, the second largest producer, boosted its coffee revenues by about a third to $917.7 million, despite a nearly 25 per cent drop in exports.

Since July 1975, when a frost hit Brazil, suddenly making future supply uncertain, the retail price of a pound of coffee has jumped from an average $1.27 to over $3 in some places.

Although it's difficult to give an exact breakdown of the retail price, most of what you pay for coffee goes to producing countries. And indications are that no segment of the American coffee industry has reaped a comparable windfall.

From farm to grocery shelf, the sharing of the new coffee wealth looks like this:

PRODUCERS

Green coffee beans account for more than 90 per cent of the cost of producing a can of roasted coffee.

In Brazil, a 132-pound bag of green coffee sold last month for $240. That is about $1.82 a pound, but it takes more than a pound of beans to make a pound of roasted coffee.

Of that $240, according to exporters and officials, the government takes $103 in export tax; local levies, commissions and fees account for $27 and the grower gets $110. He spends about 68 per cent of his share for salaries and production costs, leaving him with a profit of about $35.

In 1975, before prices started soaring, the 132-pound bag of coffee sold for $64. The government export tax was $21 and, according to one exporter, the proportion of money the grower had to spend for local levies, labor, etc. was about the same as it is now. That left the grower with a profit of about $11 or $12.

Prices for beans have almost quadrupled; profits for the grower have just about tripled.

The growing nations need coffee revenue to buy oil and American tractors. Earning as much as they can from coffee, industry observers say, is no different from what U.S. farmers do in times of shortage.

"Whether it's right for a producing country to hold back on its coffee or not, it's a free market mechanism," said a commodity analyst. "The alternative is to pass a law that you can't drink coffee."

ROASTERS

There are more than 100 U.S. coffee roasters, who turn green beans into ground and instant coffee. They sell to grocery stores from their inventory at a price based on the cost of replacing the green beans, although the coffee actually going to the store was bought several months before.

When prices rise, the coffee they have in warehouses is more valuable, a gain known as inventory profit.

Two weeks after the Brazilian frost, Maxwell House, the nation's largest roaster, raised it wholesale prices by 20 cents a pound. Folger, the second largest, cut temporary reductions it had been offering to grocers.

General Foods, the parent company of Maxwell House, said that in the three months ended July 3,1976, profits were 61 per cent higher than in the same period a year earlier.

"Inventory profits from anticipatory price increases on coffee account for a sizable portion of the recent earnings," the Argus Research Corp. said in an analysis of General Foods.

The big roasters could have reaped even larger inventory profits had they raised wholesale prices as much as green bean prices were rising, analysts say.

Maxwell House says its profit margin actually is lower than it was before the frost. In those days, it took 71 cents worth of beans to make one pound of coffee selling at a wholesale price of $1.26.

Today, it takes $2.69 worth of beans to make a pound of coffee selling wholesale at $3.11. Maxwell House says the markup dropped from 55 cents to 42 cents.

IMPORTERS

Although roasters hold about 80 per cent of the nation's coffee stocks, inventory profits were also important for the some 100 importers in the United States, who buy coffee in producing countries and ship it to roasters.

Any importer with a warehouse of coffee when the frost hit made a quick profit. "We made some good bucks right after the frost," said one importer, who didn't want to be named.

Most import firms are privately owned and don't reveal their profit figures, but all agree that the postfrost boom pulled their business out of the doldrums.

"This was a very, very depressed industry," one said. "Only now in the last six months has the coffee importer been able to make a reasonable profit."

The importers are realizing a continuing profit on their inventories since the coffee they buy overseas is worth more by the time they sell it to the roaster.

"Our firm's position was to buy more coffee than we needed," another import executive said. "You always gain a lot more in an up market because your inventory appreciates in value. But you get killed when the market goes down."

SPECULATORS

Although not a direct part of the flow of most coffee, the U.S. and London commodities markets become a source of profit for speculators attracted by the price advance.

A futures contract is an agreement to buy or sell a certain amount of coffee at a fixed price at a later date. If you buy coffee now and the price goes up, you make money. If it goes down, you lose.

An example: a speculator agrees now to have 100 bags of coffee delivered in three months for $60 a bag. If the price were to rise to $80, his profit would be $20, less his broker's fee.

He could take delivery of the actual coffee, or just sell his contract back in the futures market before the delivery date, realizing the profit either way.

Speculators can also profit when prices go down, if they sell before the drop. In this case, a speculator agreeing to deliver 100 bags of coffee at $60 a bag in three months would be able to buy the coffee he needs to make delivery for less than he will receive for it.

How active speculators were in the coffee price advance, and what their profits were, aren't known. One analyst estimated that speculators not in the coffee business account for 25 per cent of active futures contracts.

Most futures trading, however, is done by coffee merchants. They can protect themselves by buying futures equal to their planned purchases of actual coffee or by selling futures equal to their inventories.

For example, if prices plunge, their inventory will decline in value. But if they sold futures, they would realize a profit on the contract that would balance the loss on the actual coffee.

Coffee companies can also trade speculatively, buying or selling more than needed to protect inventories.

RETAILERS

At first glance, many stores appear to be losing money as coffee prices rise.

Before the July 1975, frost, they sold roasted coffee at an average of six cents above the wholesale price. By December 1976, the retail price was 25 cents less than the wholesale price.

But grocery store prices lag several months behind wholesale prices. In all but three months since the frost, the government's average of retail coffee prices has been higher than the wholesale price of two months earlier.

There are signs, however, that grocers who often sell coffee at or below cost to attract customers into the store may be feeling the profit pinch. They were the first segment of the trade to urge customers to quit buying coffee.

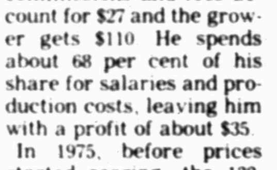

"The money you and I are being asked to pay for coffee is outrageous," said Martin Rosengarten, president of the Daitch Shopwell chain in an advertising campaign. "My sincere recommendation to you is that you limit drinking coffee and find a substitute."

difference in turkeys

WASHINGTON, D.C.—ANYONE WHO HAS EVER SHOT a wild turkey may have had a different experience than the one describe here, for it is understood that the behavior of a flock out of which a gobbler is killed may vary.

SEVERAL YEARS AGO WE SHOT THIS GOBBLER out of a flock of fourteen. ordinarily, we are told, the others will fly. In this instance they went into sort of a dance ritual, chattering while circling the fallen one. A few shot from a deer-blind could have killed a half dozen more and maybe all of them, but the limit was one. Finally they strolled away as if they had performed some duty.

A STORY FROM AUSTRALIA TELLS ABOUT THE TYPICAL BEHAVIOR of a kangaroo that has won them a reputation for stupidity. They would not be expected to remember whether Ford or Carter carried Delaware but one would think they would bounce away when freed from capture after being tagged. Not so says this article. Instead of fleeing when released they usually hang around to watch the next one wrestled into submission to have an identification put on him.

WELL, JUST MAYBE. IN THE MYSTERIOUS EBB AND FLOW of the gene pool in us we people may have acquired some trace of the characteristics of the turkey and kangaroo. At least that was a passing thought that hopped out at us one day not long ago during rush-hour traffic. Along with the rest of the herd we moved ten feet or so at a time. Progress was slower than usual and that is very slow. With powerful deduction and perspective abilities we assumed there had been a big pile-up accident--something like three semi-trailers, a bus and half dozen passenger cars.

AN HOUR OR SO LATER, IT WAS DISCOVERED that sure enough there was a wreck, involving only two cars, a smashed taillight, a yard of stripped chrome and apparently no one injured. But it was on the other side of the divided highway, going in the opposite direction from our traffic tie-up. There was no reason at all for that little fender-bender to impede movement on our side. But there we were--the sad-eyed kangaroos, the bewildered turkeys--hunched over the wheel, making short starts and stops, gawking at the non-event across the median--stalking the bumper of the guy in front and expecting the guy in back to smack us, lingering to watch the critter on the other side wrestled down. Probably we would have circled the wreck if we could have crossed the island.

ANALOGIES MAY BE DRAWN HERE IN THE CONGRESS. We linger to see the other fellow mentally wrestled down or circle a foe to see if he is flopping.

FOUR HUNDRED THIRTY FIVE MEMBERS of the House of Representatives each have a Constituency of approximately 466,000 people. Each Congressional District across the Nation has varied interest, different from the next one. The Member represents that interest and attitude to the best of his ability and judgment. This is our system and the remarkable thing about it is how anything ever comes out at the end of the horn.

MEMBERS THEMSELVES ARE, OF COURSE, DIFFERENT. About every walk of life is present in the make-up of Congress--lawyers, doctors, farmers, business, labor--rich and poor--baker and candle-stick maker. No one is particularly impressed by another's past accomplishments or what he is going to do in the future--it is what he can do now.

MAYBE WE SHOULD NOT BE OVERLY CONCERNED about the behavior of turkeys and kangaroos.

Mrs. Guerrero Stays Busy

Mrs. R. C. (Anita) Guerrero, 110-33rd Street, is a very active young mother of four children, Reme 13, Lisa 12, Christian 7 and Adam 5. Mr. and Mrs. Guerrero moved here four years ago and her husband is employed with Chevron Co.

Outside of her duties as a housewife she is in charge of preparing the supper previous to the Wednesday night prayer meeting services at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. She and her husband are interested in working with young people.

Although she enjoys cooking, a favorite hobby is quilting. She recently completed a king-size quilt, which she stated involved nine months work. Mrs. Guerrero shares the following recipes.

ENCHILADA SAUCE

Note: Can be used in place of oil to prepare corn tortillas for enchiladas. Good because it is tasteful and less greasy.

4 tbsp. flour
3 Tbsp. Crisco oil
1 tsp. salt
1½ tbsp. chili blend

Mix flour, salt and oil together. Add chili blend, next add water to make thin paste. Bring to boil in saucepan, large enough to dip tortillas in to soften. They are ready to fill with your favorite cheese or meat recipe.

CREOLE LIVER

Melt in skillet...2½ tbsp. shortening
Add and cook for 5 min...¼ cup minced onion.
Dredge in flour and brown with onion...1 lb. beef liver, sliced
Add. 1-3 cup diced green pepper
2½ cup tomatoes
⅛ tsp. chili powder
Cover and simmer 45 min. Serves 4.

CHILI RELENOS

Cut slice from stem end and remove seeds and membrane from 6 large peppers.
Cook in boiling salted water over med. heat 5 min. then drain.
Cook in skillet over med. heat until onion is tender-
1 lb. ground beef
2 tbsp. chopped onion
Drain off fat-stir in-
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. garlic salt
1 cup cooked riced
1 cup tomato sauce
Continue cooking until hot. Lightly stuff peppers with meat mixture. Stand peppers upright in baking dish. Pour remaining tomato sauce over peppers. Cover and bake in moderate gas oven, continue baking 15 min. more. Serves 6.

Opening lead — K ♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The Unlucky Expert had cornered us again. He showed us the West hand and asked if we would open one heart if we weren't vulnerable and our opponents were.

Our answer was that we would open this hand as would anyone who played any normal bidding system. The hand counts 12 points in high-cards plus two more for the doubletons. In addition it includes three quick tricks and the hand should be opened irrespective of vulnerability.

Then we asked what calamity befell him as a result of opening the hand. We flattered him by remarking that he was far too good a player to pass with that nice aggregation of cards.

If you readers take a look at all the cards you will see what did happen. He bid a heart. North doubled, East passed with his horror and South arrived at four spades with no trouble at all.

Our hero cashed the ace and king of hearts and shifted to a club.

South drew trumps and eventually led a diamond toward dummy. Our friend ducked, but South went right up with dummy's king and wrapped up game and rubber while if West had not opened the bidding there is a near certainty that South would have gone wrong in diamonds and lost his contract.

Ask the Jacobys

A Florida reader asks who wins the rubber. The side with the greater number of points or the side that has won two games.

The answer to this question is that the side that wins two games is given the rubber bonus but if this leaves their score below that of the other side, then the other side wins the rubber.

The giant tortoise, Testudo elephantina, may weigh 600 pounds and live 200 years. It is found on some of the Seychelles Islands off the east coast of Africa. A related species is found on the Galapagos Islands off the west coast of South America.

MoneyHoldsUnhappy Marriage Together

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc

DEAR ABBY: I see so many letters in your column from women who are in love with married men and are waiting for them to get a divorce. Take it from a woman who wasted nine years on a married man. No matter how much he loves you and how little feeling he has for his wife, one thing will always hold them together: money!

My married lover begged me to be patient until he could work it out so we could marry. Of course, he was never able to work it out.

Married men will stall because their children "need" them, or their wives are "emotionally unstable" or "physically ill." But if they told the truth, they would admit that they stay married because divorce is too expensive.

Abby, why do these men lie through their teeth?

NINE YEARS WASTED

DEAR WASTED: Not all men lie through their teeth. Many have paid through the nose.

DEAR ABBY: My grandmother died recently and left me her collection of antique clocks from all over the world. Most of them are in working order.

I hate to appear ungrateful, but I don't have any special interest in clocks, and I have had several good offers from clock collectors. Some members of my family have told others that we should keep the collection in the family, but no one in the family has offered to buy it from me.

Any suggestions?

TICK TOCK

DEAR TICK: Tell your family that the collection is for sale, and offer it to them first. If you get no takers, sell the clocks to a dealer and tell your family that it took too long to wind up the estate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old unmarried woman and I'm not bad-looking. A delivery man for my office, who comes about once a week, has shown an interest in me. About two weeks ago he brought me a box of candy. I accepted it, but in a nice way tried to get it across to him that I wasn't romantically interested in him. It didn't seem to put him off because the next week he brought me some flowers!

I really enjoyed getting these presents, Abby, but I feel guilty—like maybe I owe him something. Do I?

Maybe I shouldn't have accepted the gifts in the first place, but I didn't want to hurt his feelings. He is really nice, but he's not my type, and I have no intention of going out with him. So what should I do if he asks me?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Turn him down diplomatically and don't feel guilty. When he gets the message that you aren't interested in him (and he will), he'll quit bringing you presents.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped 24¢ envelope.

Mrs. Christopher Dies At Marshall

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Hollie Jewell Christopher in Marshall.

Mrs. Christopher was the sister of Mrs. Lois Powell, a teacher for a number of years in Snyder Public Schools who now lives in California. Mrs. Christopher died Wednesday and funeral arrangements will be made at the Hayward Funeral Home in Marshall.

WTC Typing Has A New Look

The Typing Learning Center at Western Texas College has taken on a brighter look since learning materials there have been re-packaged in bright pink boxes given by Media Systems Co. which produced the materials.

Learning materials in the Center consist of a textbook correlated with slide-tape presentations which are viewed by students at carrels, tables equipped for use of the audio-visual items.

This individualized system for learning typing enables students to complete one or more typing courses during a semester. It also gives students with a slower paced learning style the option of continuing into another semester to obtain the competency they desire to achieve.

The Typing Center is open for students from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and from 6:30 to 9:30 on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Each student attends the Center during the time that is most convenient for them, which gives them great flexibility in scheduling other classes or working.

A qualified typing instructor is in the Typing Center during open hours to give each student the individual help they need.

Dr. Lamb

Aspirin does not cause strokes

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Does Ascriptin (aspirin with Maalox) have anything to do with minor strokes — speech mix-ups? After my first such attack, the doctor told me I was too old for a neurologist to accept. Then he gave me Ascriptin without changing the subject. After reading the Ascriptin label I assume it is to replace Tylenol for my arthritis.

My father's family died of major strokes. My mother had minor strokes, the year she died at nearly a hundred. So I may have years to go yet and wish to avoid crippling strokes and senility.

Too many doctors are too busy to bother with older people. Could you take time to help me avoid a crippling stroke? I do not recall reading about strokes in your column and would greatly appreciate any help you can give me. I am totally alone.

DEAR READER — I suspect that your doctor gave you Ascriptin because the aspirin in it helps prevent blood clotting. Some small strokes are caused by small parts of bloodclots breaking off of larger clots in arteries in the neck and seeding the brain. The aspirin helps to prevent the clots and may prevent strokes. A national study is under way on the benefits and dangers of using aspirin for this purpose and to prevent heart attacks.

Tylenol does not have this effect and is not used for that purpose. So I suspect your doctor was doing more than just replacing Tylenol with Ascriptin as a pain reliever.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-8, Aspirin and Related Medicines so you can learn more about the effects of these common medicines beyond simple pain relief. There is a limit to how many of these you or anyone should take. Women should avoid any of these medicines before childbirth. Others who want more information on these medicines can send 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for the issue. Write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I hope that doctors are not taking the attitude that older people like yourself don't need help. I know many good neurologists who do see patients in consultation, like yourself, to resolve what the basic problem is and usually send them back to the family doctor.

It is a mistake to assume a person will only live a few more years because of the life expectancy factor. Some people live very productive lives for years, as in the case of your mother. Adenauer of Germany was still chancellor in his 90s and was vigorous until he died of pneumonia. In many other cultures people commonly live from 80 to 100 years of age. In fact, the average lifespan of the first seven presidents of the United States after George Washington was 81 years.

The best things that you can do to avoid strokes are the same things we do to avoid heart attacks. Controlling blood pressure seems to be of great importance. You can do this by keeping your weight down. Stay on a diet moderately low in fat and cholesterol, don't smoke and get some regular exercise, such as walking each day. This may stretch your years of enjoyment and help you prevent that crippling stroke for many years. I am also sending you The Health Letter number 2-5, on strokes to give you more information. And may you live to be a hundred and enjoy each day.

Briscoe To Kick Off Celebration

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe is to exchange "abrazos" embraces with the governors of several Mexican states in the middle of the international bridge here next week to kick off Laredo's 80th annual George Washington's birthday celebration.

Gov. Enrique Cardenas Gonzalez of Tamaulipas, the Mexican state just across the Rio Grande from Laredo, and Gov. Pedro G. Zorrilla of Nuevo Leon state are to be among the dignitaries from Mexico attending the celebration.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill is to be a special guest of honor as he has been named Mr. South Texas of 1977. Hill will be honored at a reception hosted by the Caballeros of the Republic of the Rio Grande, who select Mr. South Texas each year.

Another highlight will be the annual colonial pageant, sponsored by the auxiliary society of Martha Washington. At the pageant, a prominent Laredo couple will play the roles of George and Martha Washington and participants will be dressed in colonial costumes. This year, Horace Watson and his wife, Julie, will portray the Washingtons.

Cotton

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were higher at midday.

Buying by speculators who chart price patterns and by commercial interest firmed futures prices, brokers said.

The average price for strict low middling 1 1/16 inch spot cotton was unchanged at 72.87 cents a pound Wednesday for the 10 leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were $2.55 to $2.75 a bale higher than the previous close. March 77.40, May 77.25, and July 77.51.

Pay Raise Is Almost Assured

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some House members may try to prevent the House from adjourning for the weekend in order to force a vote on their $12,900 pay raise that takes effect automatically Sunday.

But it appeared all but certain that the increase from $44,600 to $57,500 for members of Congress and similar pay boosts for judges and other high officials will go into effect without a vote.

An attempt to force a recorded vote in the House failed Wednesday.

Student Seeks Wife On Faculty

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—A 22-year-old junior at Hobart College is looking for a wife among the faculty's single females. But it's strictly a business proposition.

Paul Ferbank wants to be the husband of a professor, because spouses don't have to pay tuition - a saving of $3,400.

In exchange, he says, his "wife" would get a $750 tax deduction because "she could declare me as dependent."

His ad in the school newspaper says: "Needy tax deductible male student seeking marriage contract for tuition purposes."

Ferbank, a science major from Swampscott, Mass., says he placed the ad mainly so "people would get a chuckle," but insists he will proceed with his plan if he gets a favorable response.

College treasurer William P. VanArsdale described Ferbank's scheme as "rather humorous."

Minor Injuries In Traffic Mishaps Here

Two persons received minor injuries in traffic accidents investigated by city policemen.

Following a mishap at the traffic circle southeast of town, Molly M. Warren of Snyder was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. She was treated and released.

Officers reported that the 1976 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Warren was in collision with a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Jaspar Elms of Lubbock. Moderate to heavy damages were reported to each vehicle in the 12:08 p.m. Wednesday collision.

Today, at 7:20 a.m., a 1966 Chevrolet driven by Sylvia Torres collided with a parked 1975 Ford truck owned by the Sonora Drilling Co. Mrs. Torres, 22, was taken to Cogdell for treatment of minor injuries and later released.

The mishap occurred in the 1500 block of Avenue T. A wrecker was needed to remove the Torres car. Moderate damage was reported to each vehicle.

A minor one-vehicle collision also occurred today at 8:31 a.m.

A 1976 Chevrolet truck was in collision with a trash dumpster. The truck, owned by Line and Line Oil Co., was driven by Thomas Dean McDorman.

1. SOURDOUGH STARTER

1 package active dry yeast
2½ cups warm water (105° to 115°)
1 cup instant nonfat dry milk
2 tablespoons sugar
4 cups all-purpose flour

a) Stir yeast, water, dry milk and sugar in 2-quart crock or non-metallic bowl until yeast is dissolved. Stir in flour gradually until a smooth batter forms. Let stand loosely covered in warm place 3 to 5 days. Stir down batter occasionally. Store loosely covered in refrigerator.

b) Replace exact amount of starter used for each recipe by stirring equal amounts of homogenized milk and flour back into starter. For example, replace 1 cup starter with ½ cup homogenized milk and ½ cup flour. Let stand loosely covered until it bubbles, overnight. Stir down. Each time this process is repeated, the starter becomes more active and develops a more sour flavor. Note: if stored as much as two to three weeks between usings, just pour off the watery layer on top and replace following procedure in b).

2. SOURDOUGH BREAD STICKS

1 cup instant nonfat dry milk
1 cup warm water (105° to 115°)
1 cup Sourdough Starter (see Recipe No. 1)
2 cups all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ to 1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted

a) Mix dry milk, water, Sourdough Starter and 2 cups flour in non-metallic bowl; cover loosely. Let stand in warm place until mixture is coarse and bubbly, at least 8 hours.

b) Mix oil, salt, sugar and baking soda into sourdough mixture. Stir in enough of the remaining flour to make dough easy to handle. Knead dough lightly on well-floured board, about 2 minutes.

c) Roll dough into rectangle, 15 x 10 inches, on well-floured board. Cut into fifteen 1-inch strips. Roll each strip into even round strand about 14 inches long. Double strand over and twist to form bread stick. Place bread sticks on greased baking sheet; brush with melted butter. Cover with plastic wrap. Let rise in warm place until double, 1 to 1½ hours.

d) Heat oven to 375°. Bake bread sticks until golden brown, 30 to 35 minutes. Makes 15.

Tax Writers Altering Carter's Rebate Plan

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional tax writers are altering President Carter's proposed rebate plan to deny the $50 payments to families and individuals with incomes over $30,000 and to make sure some of the nation's poorest citizens get them.

The House Ways and Means Committee voted Wednesday to scale down the rebate for persons earning between $25,000 and $30,000 and to eliminate it entirely for those with income above $30,000.

The panel also decided to extend the rebates to the 11 million persons who receive Aid to Families with Dependent Children, the chief welfare program. Many of these families earn too little to pay any income tax and would miss out on rebates under the original plan if they did not file a tax return.

The denial of the rebate to high-income taxpayers eliminates $1 billion of the President's $11.4 billion tax refund.

The committee is considering eliminating another $1 billion by barring some 19 million persons from receiving both a $50 rebate and a $50 "bonus."

The committee's staff disclosed Wednesday that the 19 million could "double dip" under Carter's plan because the $50 payments would go out to anyone receiving Social Security and to taxpayers.

Some 36 million persons receiving Social Security, Supplemental Security Income or railroad retirement benefits would get the $50 bonus under Carter's plan. The 19 million potential "double dippers" are among the Social Security recipients or those on welfare.

Although Social Security benefits are tax-free, many recipients work part-time and file income tax returns.

Committee staff experts said that much of the "double dip" could be eliminated, but that in doing so, many of the $50 checks would be delayed two months or more - and that would defeat the stimulative purpose of the rebate plan.

The rebate is part of Carter's $31.2 billion two-year plan to pump up the economy. If approved, most American households could expect to receive a $50-per-person check sometime in May.

Committee Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., is pressing the panel to complete the basic drafting decisions on the tax legislation this week.

Tops Still Law In Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Despite the endorsement of tourism officials and a councilman's contention that "God's masterpiece" should be given greater exposure, bare-breasted bathing still is against the law in Miami Beach.

The city council voted 6-1 Wednesday not to change a city ordinance against toplessness on the beach. Councilman Phil Sahl cast the lone vote in favor and said, "God's masterpiece is a well-built woman and Mayor, you should look into it."

But Mayor Harold Rosen was unmoved.

"If we had secluded beaches, like California or some of the islands, it would not bother me," he said.

The change in the ordinance was proposed two weeks ago by the city's Tourist Development Authority, which said it would help draw tourists.

"I didn't know it was going to be so sensationalistic and I didn't have the idea of merchandising women's bodies," said Bob Grenald, a grandfather and the TDA member who originated the proposal.

The council first turned the question over to the city's Commission on the Status of Women. The proposal lost 10-8, despite the argument that the current ordinance was discriminatory because it required that only women cover their chests.

Westerners, Dusters See Action Tonight

The Western Texas College basketball teams have games scheduled tonight. The women's team, the Dusters, take on Weatherford Junior College there at 6 o'clock tonight. The men's team, the Westerners, host New Mexico Military Institute at 7:30 p.m. in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Both teams have beaten tonight's opponents in earlier games this season. The Dusters took a 25-2 lead against Weatherford, then had to fight for their lives to hold onto a slim margin victory. Moreover, the Dusters are without the services of Barbara Denman and Janice Verden. The Westerners beat NMMI on their home court 76-58. But the Westerners probably will be without the services of their leading scorer, Lawrence Butler, tonight. He is out with a strained knee.

Coach Sid Simpson of the Dusters said Weatherford shoots well and has a lot of hustle. The Dusters will be taking a 15-8 season record into this non-conference game. Probable starters are Rosemary Scott, 5-8 sophomore from Slaton, and Temi Baker,5-8 sophomore from Knox City, at guard; Annie Tillman,5-9 sophomore from Lubbock, at center; and, Cindy Luttrull, 5-10 freshman from Laverne, Oklahoma, and Pam Tatum, 5-8½ freshman from Happy, at forward.

Coach Mike Mitchell of the Westerners said the Military has a patient, deliberate team. They have two of the better inside players in the league in Reggie Franklin and Marty Zeller. Probable starters for the Westerners are Allen Corder,6-3 sophomore from Lake Charles, La., and Doug Worthington, 6-5 freshman from Buffalo, N.Y., at guard; Larry Orton, 6-8 sophomore from Portsmouth, Va., and Butch Person,6-5 sophomore from Brooklyn,N.Y., at forward; and , Darryl Smith, 6-8 sophomore from College Park,Ga., at center.

Other Dusters available for action are Cathy Minton, 5-6 freshman from Snyder; Debby McIvor, 5-11 freshman from Ft. Stockton; Marketa Sissom, 5-2 sophomore from Van Horn; and ,Jamie Branch, 5-2 sophomore from Aspermont.

Other Westerners available for action are Wayne Jamison, 6-1 freshman from Washington, D.C.; Charles Gipson, 6-6 freshman from Brooklin,N.Y.; Lonnie Nichols, 6-6 freshman from Buffalo,N.Y.; Robert Brown,6-7 freshman from Baltimore, Md.; Jon Moorehead, 6-8 freshman from El Paso; and, Walter Benjamin, 6-4 sophomore from Richmond,Va.

Tiger Track Boys Are Working Real Hard

"We're not blessed with a lot of blazing speed like Dunbar and Estacado, but our kids are working real hard and having a good time," declared Winfred Shipp, head coach of the Snyder High School track team.

He said enthusiasm is the team's strong point. His main concern is a lack of field event people.

The Tigers must be considered strong contenders for the district title since they have seven returning senior lettermen and six returning junior lettermen.

The senior lettermen are Tim Falls (high hurdles), Steve Fisher (miler), Ronnie Hines (sprinter), Ricky Rice (pole vaulter), Brent Terry (sprinter and broad jumper), Doyle Browning (sprinter and broad jumper), and Joe Garza (880).

The junior numeral winners are sprinters Clay Peterson and Johnny Velasquez, hurdlers Randy Shipp and Jeff Terry, high jumper and Randy Courtney and pole vaulter Mark Shaufele.

The team has four other seniors who didn't letter last year. They are sprinter Ricky Fritz, shot and discus man Greg Early, high jumper Brad Browning and hurdler James Posey.

There are 12 sophomores on the team. They are Travis Babcock (880), Dennis Boone (mile), Don Chandler (440), Ronnie Collins (sprinter), Ernest Duncan (hurdler), Robert Dupuy (440), Tom Luera (880), Karl Humble (hurdler), Clay Johnson (sprinter), David Morrell (shot and discus), Dell Vickers (mile) and Kerry Welsh (weight man). Babcock, Boone, Collins, Dupuy, Humble and Vickers all won letters last year.

Coach Tommy Doyle will be the assistant track coach this season.

The Tigers participated in a three-way practice meet here with Levelland and Sweetwater last Saturday. The same three teams are going to meet again beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday on the local track.

WINFRED SHIPP

In that first meet, the Tigers would have won it if points had been kept. Ronnie Hines took first in the century and the 220. Steve Fisher was first in the mile.

In addition, both relay teams won first place. The sprint relay foursome includes Doyle Browning, Ronnie Hines, Brent Terry and Clay Peterson. The mile relay quartet are Johnny Velasquez, Ricky Fritz, Tom Luera and Joe Garza.

The schedule:

Feb. 18 — Tri Meet (practice), Sweetwater and Levelland at Snyder.

Feb. 25, 26 —Comanche Relays at Ft. Stockton.

March 5 — Mustang Relays at Andrews.

March 12 — At Lake View.

March 19 — Canyon Reef Relays.

March 25 — ABC Relays in Big Spring.

April 2 — At Seminole.

April 8 — At Stamford.

April 15, 16 — At Amarillo.

April 23 — District 3-AAA Meet in Brownfield.

April 30 — Region I Meet in Odessa.

May 13, 14 — State Meet in Austin.

Southwest Grid Signees Defect To Other Teams

By William R. Barnard
AP Sports Writer

Would-be Mustangs, Bears, Longhorns and Aggies today are Bruins, Sooners, Cowboys, Cornhuskers and Wildcats after the first day for schoolboy football prospects to sign national letters of intent.

UCLA and four Big Eight Conference schools took highly-regarded prospects who had signed Southwest Conference letters with Southern Methodist, Baylor, Texas and Texas A&M.

Southern Methodist was the biggest loser, failing to sign three key prospects who they had signed to SWC letters of intent-Billy Don Jackson of Sherman, running back Worley Taylor of Houston Washington and lineman Terry Crouch of Dallas Skyline.

Jackson signed a national letter with UCLA, Crouch signed with Oklahoma and Taylor cast his lot with Oklahoma State.

Texas Football magazine listed Jackson as the state's No. 1 lineman, Taylor was one of Texas' 14 bona fide bluechips and Crouch was a Texas Football Top 30 player.

"It hurts, but we're going to have to move on," said SMU Coach Ron Meyer.

Another bluechip running back, David Overstreet of Big Sandy, who signed a Southwest Conference letter of intent with Baylor last week, also signed a national letter with Oklahoma.

"I'm disappointed," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff after losing Overstreet. "But this doesn't detract from the impressive list that chose to play with Baylor."

Overstreet said: "I have nothing against Baylor but Baylor is trying to get where Oklahoma already is."

Other SWC defections to the Big Eight included defensive linemen Jerrell Franklin of Houston Yates and Ben Landry of Port Arthur Lincoln, both to Kansas State, and Maurice McCloney of Beaumont Hebert to Nebraska. McCloney, who was named the No. 1 wide receiver in the state by Texas Football, had signed an SWC letter last week with Texas, while Landry and Franklin had signed with Texas A&M.

Rangers Make Trade

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Rangers dropped the other shoe Monday.

The American League baseball club announced that the "player to be named later" in their trade for pitcher Darrold Knowles is outfielder Gene Clines.

Clines will go to the Chicago Cubs, from whom the Rangers obtained Knowles.

Texas also paid cash in the deal.

NFL, Players Settle Dispute

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for the National Football League and its players reached settlement of their 3-year-old labor dispute today. No details were released immediately.

The agreement includes provision for a college draft, one of the major stumbling blocks in negotiations after court rulings that found the draft illegal.

Sargent Karch, executive director of the NFL Management Council, bargaining arm of the 28 teams, and Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, jointly announced the settlement following three days of talks at Council headquarters.

"Negotiators for the Players Association and management council had reached agreement in principle on a collective bargaining agreement that includes provision for a modified draft," the joint statement said.

"No details will be announced prior to meetings of the league and player representatives later this month."

Those meetings will be ratification sessions and if both sides okay the contract, an NFL draft of graduating college seniors could be held as early as March. Ordinarily, the draft is held in January but was delayed by the negotiations because of the league's desire to reach a collective bargaining agreement before holding it.

Today's announcement came two days after a self-imposed deadline which the two sides had been working against. The target for settlement had been Feb. 15 and negotiators had met last week in Washington and resumed Monday in New York amidst reports that they were getting closer to agreement.

Hobbs Coach Resigns Post

Hobbs football, basketball and track coach Bill Hulsey submitted his resignation last Thursday morning, and it was accepted a short while later by the school board.

The board met in a called session on Feb. 10 to accept the resignation.

Hulsey taught biology and health.

Groundhog Golf Tournament Set

Thirty-four teams are entered in the Third Annual Groundhog Partnership Golf Tournament which will be held at Snyder Country Club's golf course Saturday and Sunday. There will be 18 holes of best-ball medal play each day.

"We're expecting good weather for the first time," said Bill Keys, pro shop operator and local golf pro.

He said entry fee is $50 a team, and 12 o'clock noon Friday is the deadline for entering the tournament.

Defending champions are Mark Hargrove and Danny Walters, both ex-WTC golfers. Both have entered the tornament again this year, but they will be playing with different partners. Mark will be playing with Steve Talbott, who is playing golf now with the University of Texas.

Three other Western College teams are entered: Brown McCrory and Donnie Loerwald, Kerry Kendrick and Miller Scott and David Foster and Larry Barber. Teams will be flighted Friday before the tournament begins.

Contestants and their wives will see a dinner theater presentation, "The Owl and the Pussycat," Saturday night. Entry fee covers cost of the dinner theater, which is being presented by two ex-WTC students.

Merchandise gift certificate prizes will be awarded to winners of the golf tournament.

WOULD DISCARD LOCAL PROPERTY TAX

Texans May Get Vote On School Resolution

By GREG THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas voters may get a chance to decide whether to discard the local property tax that has been used to finance Texas public education for more than a century.

Sen. Bill Moore, chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee, guided his proposed constitutional amendment, which abolishes the local property tax, out of the committee Wednesday by a 7-4 vote.

But the resolution, which would be subject to a statewide referendum in 1978 if passed by two-thirds of both the Senate and House, is facing heavy opposition from the Texas State Teacher's Association.

The TSTA claims the proposal, which provides for the state financing of public schools from other taxes at a cost of $1.6 billion, would wipe out some smaller districts and "guarantee mediocrity" in Texas schools.

"This gives the people of Texas a chance to express themselves on the issue," said Moore, who called the local property tax, "the most unfair tax ever devised by man.

"The tax is a burden on the homeowner and land owners," added Moore. "There are many tax sources other than ad valorem."

Moore, D-Bryan, said he supports a penny per gallon refinery tax as one possible avenue of funding for his proposed state financing of schools.

The new plan, if approved, wouldn't take effect until September 1979.

In committee hearings Wednesday, former TSTA official, L.P. Sturgeon said the measure would wipe out about 500 local school districts in Texas that use local funds to hire a majority of their personnel and support some of their programs.

"This would completely change the course of education in Texas," said Sturgeon. "It would force about half of the 1130 school districts in the state to close."

TSTA President Grace Grimes testified, "When you take away any local support, you also take away local control and bring about sameness and mediocrity in the school systems."

90% Of Youth Drink

RICHMOND, Tex. (AP) — A survey shows 90 per cent of 4,400 Southeast Texas youths questioned said they drink alcoholic beverages.

The study, conducted by the Fort Bend County Alcoholism Service here, showed beer was the most popular drink, followed by wine and whiskey.

The survey of the Texas high school and junior college youths showed 38 per cent of the boys and 28.6 per cent of the girls said they drank because they liked the way it made them feel.

Pressure from their peers to join in the drinking was cited as the reason for using alcohol by 28.6 per cent of the boys and 18.7 per cent of the girls.

Those responding to the survey were between the years of 13 and 20 and included a racial mix of Anglo, black and Hispanic. Those questioned live in the counties of Fort Bend, Wharton, Colorado, Austin and Matagorda.

IT'S OFFICIAL NOW—Rayburn Burgess, left, and Jerry McWilliams stand beside the new sign which proclaims that the name of their store is Burgess-McWilliams Pharmacy. The sign was five years coming. Roy and Rayburn Burgess established the pharmacy here 20 years ago when they moved to Snyder from Quitaque. McWilliams purchased the interest of Roy Burgess in the store five years ago, but they didn't get around to changing the sign until this week. (SDN Staff Photo)

Refresher Course In Shorthand Set

A refresher course in Gregg Shorthand is being planned as a Community Services course at Western Texas College if as many as 10 persons enroll.

The course would offer 10 hours of instruction for fees of $12 per person, with classes meeting from 7-9 p.m. on Mondays. Carol Martin, assistant professor of secretarial science, will be instructor.

The course is designed for those who wish to re-enter the secretarial field or for those currently employed as secretaries who need brush-up training.

Subject matter will include a review of theory principles, brief forms and high-frequency words for Gregg Shorthand. The textbook used will be Refresher Course in Gregg Shorthand, Diamond Jubilee Series.

"We would like to schedule this class as soon as possible," Rex Hopkins, Director of Continuing Education, said, "but we must have at least 10 persons enrolled before classes begin. Persons wishing to enroll must call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240."

C-City Okays Exemptions

COLORADO CITY--The Colorado City School Board approved a new exemption policy for high school students at its February meeting.

The new policy, recommended by Principal Bill Everett, allows exemptions from final exams each trimester for students who have grades from 80 to 100 and who have no more than three class cuts for the trimester, and for those grades 60-79 who have only two cuts for the trimester. The lone dissenting vote was cast by Drew Ballard, board secretary who had said during discussions of the policy that he believed all students should experience the stress of taking a final exam and should have the learning experience of studying for a final test in a subject.

Fisher Jail Conditions Are Deplored

ROBY--Fisher County Sheriff Mickey Counts has informed the Fisher County Commissioners Court of the possibility that the county and he, as an individual, may be named defendants in a suit concerning conditions in the county jail.

Counts read a copy of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Carroll Wayne Follis, currently in the Fisher County jail awaiting trial on a burglary charge in Nolan County. The petition alleges that the jail is overcrowded, unsafe and unsanitary and that it has sub-standard heating, lighting and plumbing facilities and that prisoners are not properly cared for.

The sheriff said he understood the petition would be filed in Federal District Court.

Roby Contracts Are Extended

ROBY--The contract of Supt. Caffey Welch has been extended through 1980 by the Roby School Board. The board voted to extend the contract for one year beyond its present expiration date.

Also receiving one-year extensions were High School Principal Vernon Townsend and Elementary Principal J.H. McHaney. Vocational Agriculture Teacher Jimmy Laurie and Homemaking Teacher Abigail Pritchard were hired for the 1977-78 school year.

Post Principals Get Extensions

POST--Contracts of three principals were extended through the 1978-79 school year by the Post School board in its February meeting.

The principals include Billy Hahn, high school; Lee Davis Jr., junior high school, and Jack Alexander, elementary school.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There's a possibility you could be a bit flirtatious today, but be careful. Clandestine activities could brew a heap of repercussions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Sensitive friends require the kid glove treatment today. Failure to recognize this could result in some strained relationships.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Looking for a short cut to the stars is a foolish approach for you today. Only honest effort helps you scale the lofty heights.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Inability to stick to your original plans could cause some problems today. Last-minute changes tend to work against you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone you know rather well will seek your help. Do what you can, but don't be drawn into their complicated finances.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The type of person you associate with today has a very definite influence on your outlook. Seek out positive thinkers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you let your duties go until the last minute today, you'll be in a real bind. In your rush to catch up, you'll only fall farther behind.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're not too good at disguising your true feelings today. Try biting your tongue a few times.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Conditions at home are apt to be unstable today. The way you're likely to react could cause an even higher reading on the Richter scale.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In conversations with others, you're likely to rattle skeletons. There's nothing to be gained, so try a fresh approach.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Think of your purse as a container today, rather than a sieve. Plug up the leaks. Don't punch new holes in it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Attempting to be all things to all people is more fallacious than usual today. Be true to your own principles and the rest will be easy.

Your Birthday
