Talks Resume Tuesday

JERUSALEM (AP)-Israel-Egyptian military talks aimed at working out a formula for an Israeli pullout from the Sinai Peninsula will resume Tuesday night in Cairo, Israel announced today.

A government statement said Defense Minister Ezer Weizman and his negotiating team will leave for Cairo Tuesday morning, where Weizman will face his Egyptian counterpart, Mohamed Abdel Ghany Gamassy.

The military talks recessed Jan. 13 in deadlock over the future of the 20 Jewish settlements established by Israel in the Sinai Desert. When Egyptian President Anwar Sadat broke off parallel foreign ministers' negotiations in Jerusalem on Jan. 18, President Carter prevailed on him not to suspend the defense ministers' parley. But Israel delayed the resumption.

There was still no indication when the foreign ministers would resume negotiations.

"That is up to Egypt," Israeli cabinet secretary Aryeh Naor said Sunday. "It wasn't Israel that broke off the talks."

Coal Cuts Warned

WASHINGTON (AP)-Energy Secretary James Schlesinger warns that industrial users face a curtailment of power unless weather conditions improve or the coal strike ends.

Schlesinger said Sunday the government is studying ways of alleviating the situation, but he would not predict use of the Taft-Hartley Act to end the 55-day strike.

"I don't believe the issue of the Taft-Hartley Act has yet been addressed," he said on ABC-TV's Issues and Answers.

The 1947 act allows the president to seek a court injunction stopping strikes for an 80-day cooling off period while an impartial fact-finding commission studies the dispute.

Contract talks collapsed over economic issues Sunday as the walkout approached the longest coal strike in the history of United Mine Workers union-coal industry bargaining-59 days in 1946.

Storm Scene Better

By The Associated Press

Scattered cars and trucks litter snowy highways. Runaway barges clog rivers, hitting dams and endangering other water traffic. And many towns remain unwilling fortresses against the outside world behind enormous snowbanks.

Still, Ohio is digging out of the blizzard that paralyzed the state for four days and killed at least 31 people.

"Things are getting better every day," Dennis Kwaitkowski, head of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration's snow removal project in Ohio, said Sunday.

Ohio expected 1 to 4 inches of fresh snow today, with temperatures no higher than the 20s, and officials expressed hope that it would not create new cleanup problems.

Other states also struggled to recover from the devastating storm.

7 Asphyxiated

LAYTON, Utah (AP)-Autopsies were to be performed today on seven members of a family found dead in a home where police said temperatures measured at least 112 degrees. Authorities said the seven apparently died of asphyxiation from a faulty furnace.

"It's about as tragic a thing as I've seen," said Davis County Sheriff William Lawrence. He estimated the victims had been dead about 12 hours when they were discovered by relatives about 4 p.m. Sunday.

Police identified the dead as Ruben Martinez, 22; his wife Ernistina, 26; his daughter, Jessicka, 2; his son, Zakery, 9 months; his twin brothers, Rowdy and Randy, both 9; and his sister, Bernadine, 16.

Fire Toll Hits 14

KANSAS CITY (AP)-The charred bodies of five more victims, one of them a small child, have been found among the ice-coated debris of the Coates House hotel.

The discoveries Sunday brought the death toll to 14.

Seventeen people were still unaccounted for, but officials said some or all of them may have simply drifted away after escaping from the fire.

One of 10 people injured in the fire was in critical condition Sunday night at a local hospital. Four others were released over the weekend.

About 140 people escaped unharmed when the fire swept through the six-story, 110-year-old building early Saturday.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, but Fire Chief John Waas said it appeared to have started on one of the upper three floors.

Americans Gain Purchasing Power

Economic Outlook Is Mixed

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-Americans generally will be better off in 1978, benefiting from a 5 percent increase in purchasing power, but the nation's economic future remains clouded by sluggish investment activity, Carter administration economists says.

The increase in purchasing power, up from a 4.9 percent increase in 1977, should help propel the economy to overall growth during the year of between 4.5 percent and 5 percent, sufficient to further reduce the nation's jobless rate.

Unemployment should decline to between 6 percent and 6.25 percent by the end of the year, down from the 6.4 percent rate in December, and inflation is likely to remain stuck at about the same 6 percent rate as last year.

The administration's latest projections for this year are contained in the president's annual economic report to Congress, which was prepared by his Council of Economic Advisers, headed by Charles L. Schultze, and released today.

Some highlights of the report were disclosed by the president in his economic message to Congress two weeks ago.

The president's advisers gave this overall short-term assessment of the economy:

Prospects for continued expansion were favorable as 1977 came to a close. The sectors of the economy were in good balance, inventories were relatively lean and the balance sheets of business and financial institutions were strong."

They said the projected growth in the nation's gross national product of between 4.5 percent and 5 percent depends on enactment of Carter's proposed $25 billion in tax cuts. The GNP, which measures the total output of goods and services in the economy, expanded 4.9 percent in 1977.

Without the tax cuts, they said, the economy might start to slow down beginning about mid-year and extending into 1979.

But they made clear the economy isn't by any means out of the woods, even with the tax cut.

Inflation and unemployment are serious problems, "and great resources of the U.S. economy are still incompletely utilized," it said.

There is good news for consumers and workers in the report's projecting that purchasing power, called real disposable income, will increase by 5 percent or more this year, up slightly from the 4.9 percent last year. The rise in purchasing power should result in an increase in personal consumption of goods of all kinds of about 4.5 percent.

One of the biggest problems facing the economy in the long run is what the report said was a disappointing rate of investment by business in new plants and equipment.

Investment increased 8 percent last year, after discounting for inflation, and is projected to rise another 7 percent to 8 percent this year.

Wreckage Of Satellite Found

BAKER LAKE, Northwest Territories (AP) - A Canadian -American search team struggled through waist-high snow Sunday to the edge of a crater nearly 10 feet across in the ice on the Thelon River and found wreckage from a runaway Soviet nuclear satellite.

Lt. Col. Donald Davidson of the Canadian Armed Forces told a news conference early today that tubing and a perforated metal canister were found protruding from the ice.

Paul Murda, leader of a five-man U.S. scientific crew, said the canister was "sort of like a cylinder that got smashed" while the tubing "looks like structural tubing."

"Something has really gone through that ice at a high speed," said Davidson. "This is all that's left sticking out, or maybe separate pieces. We don't know. We didn't pull it apart."

A Chinock helicopter took the 13-member crew from Baker Lake to the crater 180 miles to the southwest after it was found by two of the six members of a Canadian-American team wintering in the area on a wildlife survey for the Northwest Territories government.

The debris from the nuclear-powered Cosmos-954 satellite that fell from orbit last Tuesday was found eight miles northeast of the landing strip at Warden's Grove, a weather outpost in the Dubawnt Lake area 1,000 miles north of the North Dakota border.

Davidson said the two men made a sled trip up the Thelon River Saturday and encountered the crater on their return.

He said one of the two men touched the metal with a gloved hand. Both men were flown Sunday to University Hospital in Edmonton for tests, while the other four were flown to a hospital in Yellowknife. The team consists of five Americans and one Canadian.

Davidson said the search team talked with the wildlife surveyors at their camp and then went up again in the helicopter. Using detection equipment, they located a source of radiation about eight miles from the camp.

The helicopter landed on a rock outcropping about 1,000 yards from the site. The team moved forward on foot through deep snow, taking continuous radiation readings.

"We kept moving forward and didn't find any excessive radiation and we were able to go right up to the edge of the crater," Davidson reported.

A crater nearly 10 feet across had been blasted in the ice by the heat of the object. About a foot and a half of water had refrozen in it. Around it were 50 to 100 puncture marks which Davidson said may have been made by pieces of metal or by ice thrown up from the impact.

Market Up 1.73

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market posted a small gain in slow trading today while Wall Street awaited some expected bad news on the nation's balance of trade.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.73 at 765.85.

The government was due to report today on the nation's imports and exports for December and 1977 as a whole.

Ma Bell Settles With Dixon

SAN ANTONIO (AP)-Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. announced today it has settled out of court a lawsuit by Oleta Gravitt Dixon over company benefits she claimed were owed to her.

Mrs. Dixon was the wife of the late T.O. Gravitt, who was the top Southwestern Bell executive in Texas when he committed suicide at his Dallas home in October 1974.

She has since remarried and now lives in Bartlesville, Okla.

James Barden, general attorney for Southwestern Bell, said the payment to Mrs. Dixon includes $30,282 in pension that accrued during more than two years of litigation. The company also will pay $45,000 in legal costs to Mrs. Dixon.

Barden said the pension expense is provided under the company's benefit plan and the legal costs will be borne by the company and not passed on to telephone customers.

2 Speakers Are Scheduled By Farmers

Guest speakers at a farmer's meeting tonight will include Ralph Roming of Bovina and Glenn Toombs of Fluvanna.

The meeting, reported members of the local strike headquarters, will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held at the auditorium of Snyder High School.

Toombs, who has recently returned from Washington D.C., will speak on the farmer's efforts at effecting legislation in the nation's capital.

The public is invited to attend.

Lauck Speaks At Banquet

Local API Names Its '78 Slate Of Officers

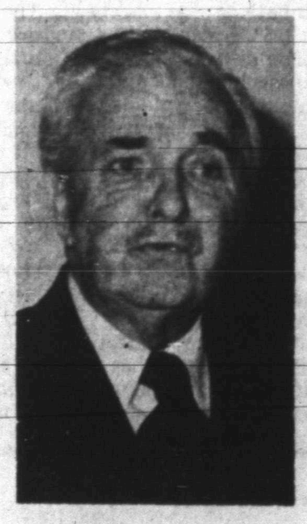

A new slate of officers was named to head the American Petroleum Institute at a special banquet held Saturday night.

Chairman for the API during 1978 is Ed Mlcak while Joe Bullard is the first vice chairman. Jim Johnson is the second vice chairman and David Burkett is the API's secretary.

Approximately 250 people crowded into the National Guard Armory Saturday night for the banquet and to hear the guest speaker, Chester H. Lauck.

Lauch, a 1930s radio personality and former executive assistant to the chairman of the board of Continental Oil Co., spoke to the group on the current mood of America and the problems the country is facing today.

Interspersing his speech with home-spun widsom and tales of his native Arkansas, Lauck told the group that the free enterprise system has marked both the oil industry and the United States.

"We have probably made more contributions to civilization than any other country on earth," said Lauck.

The other nations of the world, said Lauck, had the same opportunity as the United States but lacked the incentive provided by free enterprise.

"We're drifting away from the very thing that made us so great," he said, "And I bet profoundly that this will lead to dull mediocrity.

"When we drift away from the free enterprise system, we're in trouble," he added.

Two things are needed, he said, to correct the path the U.S. now finds itself traveling. One, he said, "is roots to hold us firm" and the second is a "sky to pull us up."

"On our character we build our own destiny," Lauck said.

Tickets Ready For Chamber Banquet

Tickets to the annual banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce which is scheduled for March 3, have arrived and will go on sale Wednesday.

The tickets are priced at $8.50 each.

The banquet this year will focus on Scurry County's agriculture industry and the menu for the banquet meal will feature Scurry County products.

The guest speakers for the banquet will be Reagan Brown, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture and Julie Benell, a consumer consultant and former food editor of the Dallas Times Herald.

The chamber's agriculture committee, headed by Ernest Sears, has been working on plans for the banquet for several months, and the March 3 date was recently firmed up.

Deadline Near For Candidates

A major political deadline is approaching, Hilton Lambert, Scurry County Democratic Party Chairman, reminded this morning.

Monday, Feb. 6, is the last day that candidates for county and state offices may filed to have their names on the ballot for the primary election. The ballot will be closed at 6 p.m. on that date.

The primary election is set for Saturday, May 6.

Light Moisture Falls In Area

The Snyder area was savoring some light moisture this morning, while the thermometer hovered just above the freezing mark, preventing treacherous ice from forming.

Much of the state had freezing drizzle, the U.S. Weather Service reported.

A thin coating of ice formed for a time on Sunday morning here, but temperatures edged upward into the low 40s during the day. Overnight, the mercury dipped to 30 degrees, but had inched up to 33 by 7 a.m. Fog and drizzle had accounted for a total of .02 inch of moisture and it continued to hover over the area at mid-morning.

Most of the Panhandle and South Plains regions had icy highways and bridges this morning due to fog and freezing drizzle.

Light rain was falling in East Texas and South Texas, but there was no heavy rainfall reported in the state.

Temperatures were expected to remain cool today over most of the state. Afternoon highs were expected to range from the upper 30s in West Texas to the 40s and 50s in the middle of the state and upper 60s along the Rio Grande from El Paso to Brownsville.

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Saturday, 46 degrees; low, 24 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Sunday, 28 degrees. High Sunday, 42 degrees; low, 30 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. today, 33 degrees; precipitation, .02; total precipitation for 1978 to date, .23.

West Texas - Fog and occasional light freezing drizzle north, partly cloudy southwest considerable cloudiness elsewhere today then partly cloudy most sections tonight and Tuesday. A little warmer north today then a little cooler north Tuesday. Widely scattered showers west of the Pecos Tuesday. Highs today 45 north and extreme southeast to 68 extreme west. Lows 20 north to 35 south. Highs Tuesday near 40 north to near 60 south except upper 60s Big Bend.

joker in the hopper

Included in unfinished business left over from the first session of the present Congress is a bill designed to simplify the process of forming labor unions. It is called labor law reform. What is meant in the current situation, however, is repeal of the freedoms now guaranteed to individual workers who wish to stay out of unions and employers who prefer to operate their businesses without a contract with a union.

Definition of the term reform varies from one situation to another. The dictionary definition says it implies change for the better. When a person addicted to use of harmful chemicals reforms his action is taken to mean he has given up some of his bad habits.

But reform means something entirely different when applied to labor legislation. Change isn't necessarily improvement. When Congress reforms tax law, for example, chances are better than even that more people will believe the result is worse than the condition the change was supposed to correct.

In any case a measure dealing with employer-employee relationships and union activities passed the House early in the last year's session. It is now pending in the Senate. Point of difference between sponsors and opponents of the measure involves picketing and limitations on activities of employers when employees are considering whether a union shall be certified as the bargaining agent of employees in contract negotiations with management.

The Carter Administration wants a measure that makes it easier for unions to organize workers in an industry or a single plant. The major issue is whether employers shall be required by law to bargain with a designated labor organization and whether employees shall be required to join a union or at least pay union dues, in order to hold a job.

Historically the number one objective of labor lobbyists has been repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, generally known as the right-to-work provision in present law. Repeal would underwrite the closed shop and as a matter of Federal law compel workers to pay union dues or contribute an equivalent amount to a legally approved charity or religious organization.

Thus far the Senate has shown inclination to agree with the House of Representatives. If this is minor legislation a good many millions of Americans would realize how wrong that designation is if labor lobbyists with support from the President, get what they want in way of changes in existing labor law.

some see the light

Bravo. If you had a chance to hear the Republican answer to President Carter's State of the Union address and proposed budget Thursday night, you might have seen a ray of real hope for many Snyder families.

Although we do not often agree with today's minority party, it seems they have been listening to grass roots opinions about deregulation of oil and gas, the farmer's plight, and supply and demand.

While taking shots at the majority party and President Carter, Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee and Rep. John Rhoades of Arizona talked with newsmen and offered their views on stablizing the economy.

They stated that deregulation of oil and gas prices is the only solution to today's energy problems and that solar power is the answer to tomorrow's problems. They also said that the farmers need more than sympathy and double-talk.

What a shot in the arm it would be to Scurry County to see deregulation of oil and gas this year coupled with a real solution to the farmer's problems.

Talk is cheap, but each time we hear someone propose a solution that seems to fit our problems, it might not be a bad idea to let them know that we agree. Hopefully if enough support is shown, some of that talk could turn into real action.

at wits end

You know what this country needs?

Something that doesn't last forever.

I never saw the advantages of buying a carpet that would last a lifetime...or a winter coat that never went out of style...or lawn furniture that you never had to replace.

When one has a low threshhold of boredom, a lifetime guarantee can be depressing -- especially when it applies to things you hate.

In 1953, I bought a set of plastic dishes. They came two shocking pink and two dramatic black plates to a set. The first year we had them I thought they were chic beyond description.

By the fifth year, they began to grate on my nerves and I begged the kids to take them to the sandbox or lose them on a picnic.

After seven years of those crummy dishes (do you know how disgusting liver looks on a black plastic plate?) I resorted to sneaking out at night and putting them under the rear wheels of the car and allowing the kids to sit in them and sled down the hill in back of the house.

There isn't anything biodegradable anymore, with the exception of marriage which seems to decompose before the honeymoon.

The shine on my car is built to outlast the motor. The fillings in my teeth are good for 50 more years after I'm gone and my deodorant is so dependable, I've given up showers.

If American ingenuity keeps pace, I predict all the excitement will go out of our lives. Light bulbs will burn forever, tennis shoes will have to be put to sleep to get rid of them, and we'll never know the exhilaration of tossing away a wafer-thin piece of soap and saying, "I thought you'd never leave."

Maybe it doesn't bother anyone else, but this morning I did a gutsy thing. I took a paper clip which I've been using and reusing for ten years and threw it away. That's right--just dropped it off in a waste can and said, "Bunkie, you're finished!"

Someday, I know as sure as I'm sitting here, strangers from another planet will poke through the rubble of our civilization and try to figure out what we were all about. There's no doubt in my mind a woman will unearth a set of dishes, two shocking pink and two dramatic black plates to the set, and exclaim, "Hey, these look like they'll last forever."

That will be her first mistake.

letter to the editor

The The Daily News:

From the day of Abraham to the day of Cyrus M. McCormick, farming was a static occupation. Our great-grandfathers were still tilling the soil with the crude implements of the stone age. From the day of McCormick, the planter and reaper have revolutionized agriculture. From 80 per cent of the population to about five per cent of the population today are engaged in farming. With modern machinery of today, the five per cent still can produce more than the trade can use. One way to reduce crops is to outlaw any farm tractor to three rows or less. One way is through collective marketing. One way is through socialistic farmer, let the government own and operate the land. One hundred per cent parity? Consumers' vote 90 per cent, farmers vote 6 per cent. Farmers don't cut your own throat.

WASHINGTON-(NEA)-White House operatives may have committed a major political blunder in their overzealous effort to fashion new Democratic party rules designed to frustrate opposition to President Carter in the 1980 primaries.

When the commission established to draft revised party rules concluded its work here recently, Carter's agents had gained virtually every change they had sought-but the political price may well be higher than they can afford to pay.

Under intense pressure from members of the White House staff to accommodate Carter's needs, the commission produced a final report that is, with only one notable exception, a thoroughly regressive document.

Although many of the structural changes that produced reform within the party during the past decade remain intact, almost every revision promoted by the president's staff represents a step backward from the Democrat's commitment to an open process for selecting presidential nominees.

The White House's no-compromise approach produced grumbling and some defections among even stalwart Carter supporters on the commission, headed by Morley A. Winograd, chairman of Michigan's Democratic party.

The likely result: A bitter, highly publicized fight that probably will tarnish Carter's image when the proposed rules changes are considered by the Democratic National Committee in April.

The commission's sole positive accomplishment was a rules revision that will confine 1980 presidential primaries to a three-month-period stretching from early March through early June.

That move was designed to half a trend that saw numerous states advance their primaries to the earliest possible date in 1976, in an apparent effort to be among the first to attract attention and thus artificially influence the candidate selection process.

But Carter's agents successfully pressed the commission to exempt from the new rule New Hampshire-the state whose "first-in-the nation" primary has been regularly criticized as an excessive and unhealthy influence on later primaries.

Another White House-supported rules change will require candidates to submit qualifying petitions 55 days prior to any primary. Had such a provision been in effect in 1976, two of Carter's most troublesome opponents-Sen. Frank Church of Idaho and California Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown Jr. - would have been shut out of almost every primary they entered.

Undoubtedly the most controversial scheme promoted by the president's aides is an unnecessarily complex and restrictive formula that allots convention delegates to 1980 primary contestants only if they attain a minimum percentage of the vote in each primary.

The applicable figure varies from 15 to 25 percent, with a set of exemptions and special conditions certain to confound the state Democratic officials who must administer the rules.

Prior to the commission's final meeting, Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., a member of the commission and one of the most respected members of Congress, personally warned Carter about the retrograde proposals being advanced in the name of the president.

According to the congressman, Carter asked Fraser to submit a written summary of his views. After that letter was received, Fraser met with Hamilton Jordan, widely regarded as one of Carter's most influential advisors.

Jordan's message to Fraser: The disputed proposals were being fully supported at the highest levels of the White House and there would be no Carter compromise on the most controversial of the issues.

In other words, the man who ran for president as a reformer is acting very much like an old-line politician while preparing to seek a second term in office.

market mood grey

NEW YORK (AP)-It slants downward slowly like a weakened bird, now and then flapping its weary wings and sometimes finding a lifting warm current, but unable for long to interrupt the descent.

A year or so ago the stock market, as measured by the Dow Jones industrial average, was above 1,000 points. Last week it fell below 750, its lowest in 33 months. Its feeble rallies fade in hours.

Even while the economy was rising, the market was falling. It remains ill, desperately searching for help, looking everywhere for currents to keep it afloat. And finding none.

No help anywhere, even though the New York Stock Exchange's chief economist opened an address to bankers this month with the felicitous reminder that "The economy has a good deal of momentum going for it."

Said William Freund, also a vice president: "There have not appeared on the scene the distortions, excesses, and over-optimism which lead from boom to bust. The expansion has been modest and sober."

Amid the stirring in the audience you might have heard someone say, "If only the mood included some excesses and over-optimism, a pinch of insobriety, a little hot air to make some ascending currents."

But the winds are cold and the mood is grey. Economic worries impale ambitions, and hope is suppressed. Caution rules. Assured fixed-income is stressed. Security is in and risk is out.

You can pick your reasons, but you'll find most of them relate to interest rates, inflation, international trade, energy and taxes.

Inflation and interest rates tend to rise as an economic expansion reaches 'maturity," the street people say. Since 1945 the average expansion has been 34 months. This one is age 33, they warn you.

No matter that it is entering maturity with the vitality of a much younger age. It doesn't matter; to many investors economics is numbers, and those numbers, like a $60 billion deficit, are omens.

One number rather rarely discussed by investors is nevertheless on their minds: The trade imbalance, averaging more than $2 billion a month over the past year, is a hole in the investment foundation.

Wise traders note that earlier periods of trade problems, dollars problems, and protectionist sympathies often were accompanied by marketplace disruptions. We are a trading world; we don't stand alone.

The energy problem - more importantly, the nation's inability to come to grips with it - has been a festering neurosis, with some investors adamantly refusing to buy stocks so long as no policy exists.

Asked why the market was falling, almost 58 percent of respondents - corporate officers, analysts, bankers, investment officers-named energy uncertainty, tax policy, and inflation fears.

In the same survey, by Vestaur Corp., an investment advisory adjunct of the First Pennsylvania Co., 32.4 percent said their fears for the country as a whole resulted from a lack of Washington leadership.

The next largest percentage, 30.4 percent, named inflation-based problems as the No. 1 fear for the nation, followed by "government intervention and policies" in third place, named by 25.5 percent.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Alan: "How about devoting all this week's articles except my Wednesday article to Sue Emery's delightful book on fifty years of contract as published by the American Contract Bridge League. You might start with the hand when you were dummy and President Eisenhower was declarer."

Oswald: "It was April, 1953. I was back in uniform for a couple of weeks to work on a problem involving the Navy, NATO and the National Security Agency. I ran into Harold Talbott, the Secretary of the Air Force and he arranged a game at the White House. The fourth was Judge Vinson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. On this hand I was North and after I opened one heart the President got to six spades. Judge Vinson took his ace of diamonds and shifted to a club. The President refused the finesse (a 50 percent chance) and after drawing trumps, went after hearts. The suit broke 4-2 and he got rid of his queen of clubs on the fifth heart."

Alan: "A couple of questions. How well did Mr. Eisenhower play? Did you solve the security problem?"

Oswald: "Very well indeed. If he hadn't been bothered by such things as the presidency he would have been a champion. As for the problem: I was debriefed and since it was and still is highly classified I can't discuss it."

Ask the Experts

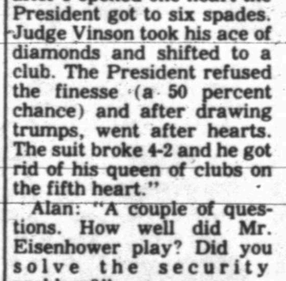

An Indiana reader wants to know if an expert player who ostensibly bids 16-18 point notrumps ever opens one notrump with 19.

Experts never shade their notrumps up. They might try an occasional 15 pointer, but they never go to 19.

Altrurian Daughters Sees Slides

The Altrurian Daughters Club met Jan. 25 for a program by Chantal Baril, foreign exchange student from Quebec. Miss Baril showed slides from her native Canada accompanied by her own commentary. Many of these slides were of scenes from Montreal and Quebec City as well as the village in which Miss Baril lives.

Also included were slides from Ontario featuring Niagara Falls, from Alberta showing its mountains and lakes along with the Calgary Stampede, and from British Columbia emphasizing the Rockies and the hunting and fishing there.

Gloria Ziske, Miss Baril's American mother during her stay in Snyder, served as hostess for the meeting while Jeanette Clements was chairman.

On Feb. 22, the club will host a tea for all the Snyder federated clubs at which Dora Boyd, Mesquite District president, will present a federation program dealing with the collect for club women.

At this meeting a new slate of officers was presented by the nominating committee and approved by the club members for the 1978-79 club year. This group will consist of Claudine Atwood, president; Lounette Null, vice president; Frances Thompson, secretary; and Irene Smith, treasurer.

Herbron Colony Treats

BOONE, N.C. (AP)-In a day when alcoholism is regarded as a disease, there is a 30-year-old treatment center which operates on the premise that an alcoholic is a plain old sinner.

"We view alcoholism not as a disease but as a sin. We try to get these men to accept Jesus Christ as their savior," says Gary Hoyle, assistant director of the Hebron Colony.

The Colony, started in 1947 by the Rev. E. Archer Dillard with a minimum of cash and a maximum of hope, takes its name, Hebron, from a biblical reference: the Old Testament Jews found peace and hope at Hebron after wandering in the wilderness for 40 years.

"We feel safe in saying we have a 65 to 80 percent success rate," Hoyle said.

C-City Chamber Manager Resigns

COLORADO CITY - The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce is looking for a new manager following the resignation of Sefton Pickens.

Pickens, who has served as the manager since 1966, announced that he was resigning for "health reasons and the pressure." The board of directors of the chamber held a special session Friday afternoon to accept Pickens' resignation and to discuss plans for seeking a new manager.

Pickens also served on the Colorado City Industrial Team as assistant to the secretary-treasurer. He said he would continue his work with the Industrial Team, although he said he had not made any definite plans after his resignation becomes effective on Feb. 1.

He also is a member of the Colorado City Lions Club and has served the club as treasurer for the last 11 years. He is a native of Colorado City. He moved away in 1946, but returned in 1965 and became chamber manager the following year.

Chamber President Jerry Putman named the executive committee to screen applicants for the manager's position and he said they will begin immediately to seek a new manager. The executive committee is composed of Ken Gosey, vice president; Mildred Free, treasurer, and Mac McKinnon, secretary.

In the interim, the chamber office will be kept open by Secretary Virgie Goodlett, with Putman handling correspondence.

Two Mastodons Are Unearthed

ROCHESTER, Ind. (AP)-When Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jackson set out to dig a fish pond in front of their home, they had no idea they'd unearth the remains of some previous tenants.

What they found, however, is more of a matter for paleontologists than for police.

Jackson was digging away about five feet below ground level with heavy, earth-moving machinery when he struck something he took to be a tree trunk.

He hauled the object out, and then realized that he was looking at the tusk of a mastodon - a wooly prehistoric ancestor of the modern elephant.

The Jacksons got in touch with Dr. James Bellis, head of the archeology department of the University of Notre Dame, who confirmed that the Jacksons had dug up the remains of not one, but two mastodons.

Stand-By Stockpile Plan In West Germany Costly

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Millitary Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter's proposal to stockpile stand-by equipment and supplies for an additional three U.S. Army divisions in West Germany would cost about $4 billion, Pentagon officials estimate.

This is a key element in the Carter administration's plan to strengthen U.S. forces assigned to help defend Western Europe against what Pentaton specialists describe as Russia's "incredibly strong and growing military power."

In his fiscal 1979 budget message to Congress last week, Carter said the Army should increase "prepositioned stocks and equipment in Europe to enable U.S.-based divisions to deploy more rapidly in a crisis."

Under this concept, troops would be flown from the United States with only small arms and personal gear. Tanks, artillery and other heavy equipment would be earmarked and waiting for them in European depots.

That would sharply reduce reliance in an emergency on scarce cargo air transport resources and get the reinforcing divisions ready to fight quickly.

The concept has gained importance because of rising concern among U.S. and allied strategists about the ability of western forces to stop a heavy tank-led attack launched with only a few days warning.

Carter said present stocks in European depots, mostly in West Germany, are adequate to support a little more than two additional divisions sent from the United States.

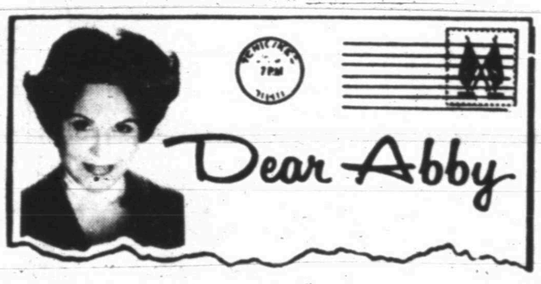

He proposed stockpiling enough additional equipment to outfit another three U.S.-based divisions by 1983.

In effect, that would enable U.S. commanders to double the number of U.S. divisions on the European firing line in the first days of a world crisis.

American generals in Germany expect that reinforcing divisions would start flying to Europe in advance of actual attack. They figure on possibly seven days of warning in the form of a Soviet buildup detected by U.S. satellites and other intelligence sources.

Therefore, they are counting on the prepositioned stocks being in the hands of the reinforcing troops by the time an attack could be launched from the east.

The president did not spell out the cost of the additional equipment he wants for Europe, but said a full set for one mechanized infantry division costs about $1.3 billion. An armored division costs about $1.4 billion because it has more tanks.

Must She Exchange Christmas Checks?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: The following is from a letter I recently received from an out-of-state relative:

"Let's make a deal. Next year instead of sending each other Christmas presents, send me a check, and I will do the same for you. It will save us both a lot of trouble."

Abby, I never considered shopping for Christmas presents "a lot of trouble." Besides, what's the sense of my sending her a check for $30, and her sending me the same? How do you feel about it? I should add, this relative needs more money like I need another belly button.

BULLETIN READER IN PHILLY

DEAR READER: I agree with you. Tell her to just blow you a kiss next Christmas, and you'll do the same for her.

DEAR ABBY: My wife's older brother, who is retired, telephoned us long distance to give us some very bad news. He said his wife had cancer, then he asked me if I would put her on my Blue Cross at work.

I was startled to learn that his wife had cancer, and shocked at his suggestion that I put her on my Blue Cross. I told him that I didn't think General Motors, for whom I work, would approve.

He told me that he had once put his neighbor on HIS medical plan at work so he knew it could be done, but if that's the way I felt about it, he was sorry he called. Then he hung up.

Abby, my wife and I are bewildered. Could I put his wife on my Blue Cross? Legitimately, I mean?

BEWILDERED IN OHIO

DEAR BEWILDERED: You are correct in assuming that you may not put your brother-in-law's wife on your Blue Cross. In order for her to qualify for your Blue Cross coverage, she would have to be totally dependent on you financially, which is not the case. Your brother-in-law may have been able to legitimately include a neighbor on HIS medical plan, but it was not Blue Cross.

DEAR ABBY: Re the secretary whose boss asked her to return (on her lunch hour) a girdle his wife had purchased. The secretary was humiliated because, after standing in line for a long time, she was informed that undergarments were not returnable.

You should have told that secretary that if her boss ever asked her to return anything again, she should tell him that her lunch hours were already taken up with her own errands, but she would be glad to accommodate his wife ON COMPANY TIME.

If the boss allowed her to do so (which is extremely doubtful), the secretary should then take her sweet time to perform the errand. I assure you, that would be the last time the boss would ask his secretary to return anything.

ALOHA IN HANALEI, HAWAII

DEAR ALOHA: Thanks, friend. Your answer was better than mine.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HATE QUEERS IN PASADENA, CALIF.": Yes, some homosexuals are capable of committing crimes, but they are also capable of heroism. How soon we forget. SWC Roundup...

Horns To Face Rested Arkansas

By GREG THOMPSON
AP Sports Writer

The Arkansas Razorbacks, whose loss to Texas earlier this season was their fourth game in a week, will rest tonight and enjoy the irony of Wednesday night's crucial Southwest Conference rematch with the weary 15th-ranked Longhorns.

Texas, atop the SWC with an 8-0 mark, hosts rested, dangerous Houston tonight and must travel to Arkansas on Wednesday to take on the fourth-ranked, revenge-minded Hogs. It will be Texas' fifth game in 10 days.

On Jan. 14, the unbeaten Hogs stumbled into Austin for their fourth game in a week and were beaten 75-69 by the Longhorns, who had enjoyed a three-day rest.

"Look, it's different for us than Texas. We go on a road trip and we've got to spend the night," Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton said after the Hogs trimmed Texas Tech 54-49 Saturday night in Lubbock.

"We're always flying and that gets old. Texas has a few bus trips where they get back home by midnight. But this week the situation is reversed," added Sutton. "Last time the Texas game was our fourth in seven days. This time it's their fifth in 10 days."

The Longhorns, with Jim Krivacs pumping in 30 points, out-lasted Southern Methodist 85-80 Saturday night to run their season mark to 16-2. Houston, meanwhile, was idle.

"Krivacs was hot," Texas Coach Abe Lemons said of the 5-11 junior who hit 14 of 24 field goals. "One of these nights, he'll miss and they'll call him a bum. But he hasn't missed yet."

Ron Brewer pumped in 21 points to spark the Hogs, 19-1 for the season and 7-1 in the SWC, over Texas Tech to snap the Red Raiders' 16-game winning streak at home.

In other SWC action Saturday, Vinnie Johnson canned 24 points to spark Baylor to a 77-53 victory over Texas Christian, while Willie Foreman hit 20 points as Texas A&M outlasted Rice 74-70.

Tonight's other games find Baylor at Texas A&M, SMU at Rice and Texas Tech at TCU.

SHS Cagers See Action On Tuesday

Snyder varsity cage teams are scheduled to go out of town for their basketball action tomorrow evening.

Coach Ken Housden's girls will meet Ozona in Ozona at 6 p.m. in a non-district battle, while Coach Jack Stephenson's boys travel to Brownfield to face the Cubs in a 3-3A tilt.

The girls' game will be proceeded by a 4:30 junior varsity match. Snyder junior varsity boys and sophomore boys will make the trip to Brownfield, also.

In other play, girls' 8th Gold and Black teams and the 9th grade team will be in Sweetwater for games at 5, 6:30 and 7:30 respectively.

Saints' Own Nolan Favorite To Fill Head Coaching Job

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The New Orleans Saints hope to find a replacement within 10 days for Hank Stram, the latest coach to be fired by the hapless National Football League team.

Early speculation centered on Dick Nolan, a former San Francisco 49ers head coach who was made defensive coordinator for the Saints last year after starting the season as linebacker coach.

Harry Hulmes, the team's vice president for administration, confirmed that Nolan was a top candidate for the job, but he said several others were being considered.

Hulmes said one of those would be George Allen, recently fired as coach of the Washington Redskins. "I'd listen," Allen said, "but I haven't been contacted."

Hulmes said the Saints hoped to have a new coach within 10 days. He said team owner John Mecom "is restless and anxious to find a winning combination."

Stram was the fourth New Orleans coach to be fired by Mecom. In 11 years in the NFL, the Saints never have finished better than 5-9. During Stram's two seasons, they were 4-10 and 3-11.

Stram cleaned out his plush office Sunday, still shaken by the news of his firing on Saturday. "It was like a bolt out of the blue," he said.

Tiger Netters To Host Meet

Snyder's varsity tennis team, playing with a group of first-timers, were defeated 16-5 by Ft. Stockton in a dual meet played there Saturday.

Coach Bill Boles said, "We played well enough to have won eleven matches but we never could close out one in our favor. Ft. Stockton has ten lettermen back from last year where we have seven, but it was a good "work-out" Saturday." Individual results of Saturday's match were:

Girls' Singles: Margaret Womack won over Kelly O'Banion, 7-6, 6-0; Donna McGee lost to Tara Walters, 6-1, 3-6, 1-6; Belinda Scott was defeated by Diane Walters, 2-6, 5-7; Diane Sentell lost to Irma Gonzales, 2-6, 0-6; Cathy Cypert lost to Teri Terrazas, 0-6, 1-6; Kim Burkhart was defeated by Carie Connor, 4-6, 2-6.

Girls' Doubles: Womack and McGee defeated O'Banion and Walters, 6-3, 6-4; Sentell and Cypert lost to T. Walters and Gonzales, 0-6, 0-6; Scott and Burkhart defeates Terrazas and Coredo, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

Boys' Singles: Jay Wesson lost to Tony Gibbs, 2-6, 3-6; Mike Greenfield was defeated by Randy Magee, 6-4, 2-6, 6-7; Zane Sterling won over Orlando Urras, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2; Lyn Edmison lost to Michael Castello, 1-6, 5-7; Rodney Babcock lost to Leslie Hall, 0-6, 1-6; Davey Brown lost to Alberto Rodarte, 0-6, 1-6; Mike Hammack was defeated by Mike Ketterman, 0-6, 3-6; Kevin Jackson lost to Louis Wolfe, 0-6 2-6.

Boys' Doubles: Wesson and Greenfield defeated Hall and Castello, 3-6, 7-6, 6-4; Sterling and Edmison lost to Magee and Gibbs, 6-7, 3-6. Babcock and Hammack lost to Ketterman and Rodarte, 1-6, 1-6; Brown and Jackson were defeated by Urras and Wolfe, 2-6, 2-6.

Snyder will host five area high schools in an invitational team tennis tournament Friday and Saturday, Feb. 3-4.

Play will begin each morning at 9 o'clock. The number 1 and 2 boys' singles and doubles and the number 1 and 2 girls' singles and doubles from Brownfield, Seminole, Lake View, Sweetwater, Brownwood and Snyder will be participating.

"An invitation is extended to everyone interested in tennis to come out and watch what promises to be some of the state's best high school players," expressed Coach Boles. Snyder players who will be playing in the tournament as well as the district competition have been consistent winners in all of the dual meets and tournaments the past year. These include Margaret Womack, who has lost only one match this year; Donna McGee, Jay Wesson, Mike Greenfield, Zane Sterling, Neil Paige, Jeff Wesson, Lyn Edmison, Belinda Scott and Jana Wesson.

Ninth Gold Stages Win

Snyder's 9th grade Gold team, coached by Ralph Harvey, utilized "good team effort" to rip Midland Christian here over the weekend, 72-59.

Eric Arnold nailed the visitors for 24 points while teammates Mat Taggert and Barry Blackman garnered 13 and 12.

Scoring by quarters: 11-15, 15-20, 23-11 and 23-13 for 72-59

Snyder's 8th and 9th grade teams will compete in the Sweetwater Tournament this weekend. Ninth-Gold opens the three-day tournament against the host Mustangs. Ninth-Black opens against Merkel.

WTC Cage Crews In Action Tonight

WTC teams play at home and on the road, in conference and non-conference action tonight, as the Westerners host WJCC opponent Clarendon College, and the Dusters travel to Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

Coach Nolan Richardson's Westerners, tied for the conference lead with a 7-3 record, will entertain the mid-stream seated Bulldogs at 8 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum. Despite Clarendon's 5-5 record, Richardson refuses to look beyond tonight's meeting.

"That team could easily be number one in the conference," the coach contends. "They have a real good coach with good strategy and good talent. The first time we played them we never got the lead until the last few minutes." WTC defeated the Bulldogs 72-63 on that occassion in Clarendon late last year.

"They are not out of the race," he added. "If they beat us tonight, they'd be right back in it. And they'll be doing their best to do that."

Among three other victories, Clarendon has beaten South Plains and Amarillo this season - both of which nipped the Westerners in the first round of play.

Tonight's contest will be the Westerners last home game until Feb. 16, when they host a double header with the women, against South Plains.

In other WTC action this evening, the Dusters are scheduled to meet TCU at 5 o'clock in a non-conference game. The Dusters, 12-5 for the season and 7-1 in league play, will host Texas Tech University here Friday before returning to conference play in Amarillo on Feb. 16.

Iskersky Garners TCA Singles Title

HOUSTON (AP) - Eric Iskersky of Trinity University mastered a nemesis of sorts Sunday in the form of Southern California's Robert Van't Hof.

Twice before the Trojan had whipped Iskersky on the college tennis circuit, but the Toledo, Ohio native was determined to see that it didn't happen again.

It didn't. And Iskersky claimed the National Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association Indoor Singles Championship with straight sets, 6-4 and 6-1.

Iskersky lost the first three games and trailed the Downey, Calif. product 4-1 in the first set before rallying to win the next five games.

Van't Hof took the first game of the second set, but lost the next six in a row.

Abbott Takes PGA Match Championship

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) - Bryan Abbott, an assistant pro from Stow, Ohio, easily won the PGA National Match Play Championship Sunday with a 7-and-6 victory over George Shortridge of New Brighton, Minn.

Abbott took a quick lead in the morning 18 holes of the scheduled 36. He needed only a par on the 30th hole to win the match.

Shortridge admitted he "played really, really bad," but six birdies by the 34-year-old Abbott were another factor in the one-sided victory.

"I hit some good iron shots," said Abbott, who won four of the first five holes, twice with birdies.

Victory in the $20,000 event was worth $2,000. Shortridge collected $1.500.

Guidelines To Cut Down Hall Of Fame Numbers

NEW YORK (AP)—A set of strict new voting guidelines applied to the Hall of Fame's committee on baseball veterans this year insures the fewest number of new members in a decade for the Cooperstown, N.Y. shrine.

The veterans committee met today to consider additional candidates for the Hall of Fame but was limited to naming only two men to join Eddie Mathews as 1978 inductees. Mathews was the only player elected in this year's voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The last time as few as three new members were named was 1968 when Kiki Cyler, Goose Goslin and Joe Medwick made it. Since then, Cooperstown membership has been swelled each year, usually by as many as six personalities, and sometimes, such as 1971 and 1972, by eight.

But last year, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn ordered a re-examination of the voting procedures and appointed a special committee for that purpose. Among the committee's recommendations was a new structure and altered responsibilities for the veterans group.

Membership on the veterans committee was increased from 12 to 18 but it is one shy of full strength because of the resignation of Hall of Famer Bill Terry. In addition, the committee was given the added responsibility of dealing with players from the old Negro Leagues.

Previously, a separate committee had dealt with players who performed in the Negro Leagues in the days before blacks were permitted in organized ball. That group functioned for seven years and elected nine members to the Hall of Fame, including Satchel Paige, Josh Gibson and Monte Irvin.

Besides players from the Negro Leagues, the veterans committee considers two other categories of candidates. The primary one is players retired at least 25 years. The other is executives, managers and umpires retired at least five years.

Navratilova Wins Tourney Sans Evert Or Goolagong

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Martina Navratilova played excellent tennis on her way to a victory Sunday in a $100,000 womens' tennis tournament, but she said things might have been different if Chris Evert or Evonne Goolagong had been around.

"Maybe I wouldn't have a streak if Chris or Evonne were here," said the 21-year-old Navratilova Sunday after whipping Rosemary Casals 6-3, 6-2 to win the tournament championship and the $20,000 first prize here.

The triumph was the 15th singles win in a row for Navratilova, who was seeded second in the tournament and had few problems in disposing of the fifth-seeded Casals in a 65-minute match.

A crowd of 5,130 watched as the 29-year-old Casals of Sausalito, Calif., was able to break Navratilova's service only once.

"Martina played a better game," said Casals. "When somebody comes in like a blanket as she did, I didn't have a chance to push her."

Navratilova, who had never won a tournament in Los Angeles, earned $20,000 while Casals collected $10,500.

The tournament was sponsored by Virginia Slims. The women's tour moved to Chicago for another $100,000 tournament beginning today.

Lobos On Top In TIAA

By The Associated Press

The Sul Ross Lobos, with a pair of conference victories last week, have become the third leader in as many weeks in the turbulent Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball race.

The Lobos, 3-1 in the TIAA, whipped McMurry 67-65 on Monday night and then trounced winless Tarleton, 74-64 Saturday night.

Sul Ross lost to McMurry 72-65 Tuesday, but it wasn't a conference game.

Trinity and McMurry trail Sul Ross with 2-1 records.

Trinity has two conference games on tap for this week, hosting 0-17 Tarleton on Monday and entertaining Austin College on Saturday.

Sul Ross meets only Tarleton in TIAA action, while McMurry's only TIAA game is Monday night at Austin College.

Connors Captures $225,000 Tourney

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Showing how vastly their approaches to the game differ, Jimmy Connors downed Roscoe Tanner 6-2, 6-4, 6-3 Sunday in the $225,000 U.S. Pro Indoor tennis tournament.

The 25-year-old champion simply stroked his fellow Californian into submission in straight sets of the best-of-five final for the $35,000 first prize. Not even Tanner's big serve - he had 16 aces against Connors - could save him.

Tanner, of course, had nothing to be ashamed of for his week's work. He eliminated Syd Ball, Zeljko Franulovic, Ilie Nastase, Eddie Dibbs and Borg enroute to a confrontation with Connors. He left with a $17,500 runner-up check.

Connors beat Brian Gottfried in a 3 hour 32 minute semifinal Saturday night, after losing the first two sets of the best of five match.

The doubles title went to the top seeded pair of Bob Hewitt and Frew McMillian, who split $11,500 for defeating Vitas Gerulaitis and Sandy Mayer 6-4, 6-4.

Soviet Sluggers Outdo States, 7-4

MOSCOW (AP) - For the 10th straight year, the Soviet Union beat the United States in its boxing series - but the Yanks managed the only knockout and a pair of TKOs in the 11 bouts.

The Soviet Union wound up on top 7-4, with all of its victories coming on points in the three-round bouts, three of the American victories were more like routs, capped by a powerhouse second-round TKO by 19-year-old heavyweight Greg Page of Louisville, Ky.

Page, a 1977 AAU national champion, danced like Muhammed Ali through the first round against Khoren Inzhyan, then exploded in the second round with right and left combinations that sent Inzhyan reeling. The bout was halted at 1:52 of the round as Inzhyan grasped at the ropes to keep from toppling over.

Andre Curry, a 17-year-old Golden Gloves regional champion from Washington, D.C., turned in one of the day's best performances. He flattened Viktor Kotovshchikov, a finalist in the 1976 Soviet championships, with a thunderous right to the jaw just 15 seconds into the second round of their light welterweight bout.

Flyweight Richard Sandoval, 17, of Pomona, Calif., out-pointed Anatoly Klyuev and 22-year-old welterweight Edward Green of Houston stopped Sergei Radkevich after 2:09 of the second round for the other American victories.

In two other bouts, lightweight Viktor Rybakov out-pointed Darryl Fuller, 17, of Jackson, Tenn., despite several fine combinations by the American and bantamweight Vladimir Scrokin easily outpointed 18-year-old Byron Lindsey of San Diego.

Ira Wins Third And Consolation

HIGHLAND - Ira's junior high teams grabbed third place and consolation in a tournament which concluded here Saturday.

Ira boys, suffering only their second loss of the season, fell to Hobbs 43-31 as Scott Sharp drilled 12 points for the Bulldogs, but came back to grade third place as they defeated Westbrook, 43-33. James Crowder dropped in 22 to pace Ira in that game.

The tournament results show Ira boys with a 14-2 overall record.

In girls' play, Ira drilled Hobbs 36-27 to advance along the consolation route. Julie Kellner had 16 points and Marla Phillips noted 13 for Ira while Mary Davis posted 17 for the Panthers.

Saturday, Ira copped the consolation trophy with a 43-18 defeat over Blackwell. Phillips had 13 for the Dogs while Garvin noted 17 for Blackwell. Ira girls are now 10-7 for the season.

Tonight, Ira junior high hosts Roby. Both Roby and Ira girls are 4-0 in district play. Ira boys are 4-0, while Roby is 2-2.

Texas Traffic Crash Kills 8

ROCKPORT (AP)-Two children and a teenager were among eight persons killed Sunday afternoon on a narrow creek bridge near this South Texas city in a two-car collision that Department of Pubfic Safety officials called one of the state's worst in several years.

Killed were the driver and lone occupant of a Cadillac, 62-year-old Joe Rodriguez of Richmond; Yolanda Garcia, 35, of Victoria; Clem Garcia Jr., 4; Corine Jimenez, 53, of Victoria; Ida Jimenez, 16, of Victoria; Henry Seguara, 34, of Goliad; Ophelia Autry, 32, of Victoria; and Scott Autry, 6, of Victoria.

The bodies were charred beyond recognition, and identifications weren't completed until this morning. All were taken to funeral homes in Corpus Christi and Rockport.

Police said Rodriguez's Cadillac collided with a northbound Chevrolet Nova carrying the other seven victims.

The accident occurred about 2 p.m. on a two-lane creek bridge on Texas 35 about 17 miles north of this coastal community.

"Our troopers at the scene said Rodriguez was apparently on his way to see relatives in Corpus Christi at the time of the accident," said DPS spokesman Jim Robinson. "The Nova was torn in half and the back half was knocked 55 feet backwards. It burst into flames immediately.

Robinson said passersby attempted to pull Rodriguez from the wreckage but the Cadillac exploded. Police said one of the witnesses managed to get his wallet out before the blast, which enabled authorities to identify him.

State Trooper Terry Lankford said the cause of the crash is still under investigation. However, light drizzle was reported in the area at the time. Lankford said there were apparently no witnesses.

Argentina Ups Grain Harvest

BUENOS AIRES (AP)-Argentina's corn production for the 1976-77 harvest year reached 8.3 million tons, up 41.8 percent over the previous harvest, the Secretary of Agriculture and Livestock has reported.

The tonnage is 6.4 percent over the average harvest for the last five years. Other grain harvests, as well as grain exports, were generally higher than in 1975-76, despite a continuing two-decade decline in the area of land under cultivation.

The Agriculture Secretary attributed the growth to a steadily climbing yield per acre in most crops.

Snyderite Emcee Of LCC Follies

LUBBOCK-Paula Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.A. Parks, Jr., 2706 28th, Snyder, has been selected as an emcee for the 1978 production of Master Follies, a show consisting of musical skits and choreography which pits student social clubs against one another at Lubbock Christian College.

Parks, a senior secondary education major is a 1974 graduate of Snyder High School. At Lubbock Christian College she is a member of the Meistersinger Chorus, Music Masters, and Christliche Damen women's social club. She has also performed with the Good Time Singers and "Summer Breeze." Last year, Miss Parks was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Selected from open auditions, the emcees were chosen on the basis of their talent and ability to entertain. They will appear between each club presentation and will introduce each act of the Follies, which will be staged the first and second weekends in February for a total of over 5,000 people.

Also appearing with Miss Parks will be David Brown of Artesia, N.M. Audra Oliver of Alamogordo, N.M. and Jay Prothro of Lubbock.

Lubbock Christian College, located on the high plains of West Texas, is a private liberal arts college that is the academic home for some 1,300 students, representing 35 states and 15 foreign countries.

Snyder Student On Honor List

LUBBOCK - Kerry Musick of Snyder is among 132 students named to the dean's honor roll for the fall semester at Lubbock Christian College.

To receive the honor, a student must have a minimum 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Decision Time For Politicians

AUSTIN (AP)-Texas politicians are deciding this week whether to pay up or get out.

The deadline for filing official notices for public office and paying the necessary filing fees is Monday, Feb. 6, at 6 p.m.

Candidates who want to run in the May 6 party primaries must file and pay filing fees to their respective Democratic and Republican local or state headquarters. The price is $2,000 for candidates for U.S. Senate and $1,500 for governor and other statewide offices. Local filing fees start at $50 for public weigher or inspector of hides and animals and run upwards to $700 for district judges.

Those who want to run as independents must file declarations with the Secretary of State by Feb. 6 and then after the primaries gather petitions from voters who did not vote either Democratic or Republican in May.

Statewide candidates who have announced so far and paid their filing fees at either the Democratic or Republican state headquarters include Democratic:

Governor-Ray Allen Mayo, 65, San Juan author and publisher; former Gov. Preston Smith, 65, Lubbock businessman, and Attorney General John Hill, 54.

U.S. Senator - U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger, 41, New Braunfels.

Lieutenant governor - Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, 45.

Comptroller - Comptroller Bob Bullock, 48.

State Treasurer - C.R. "Charlie" Sanderson, 46, San Antonio accountant.

Agriculture commissioner - Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown, 56.

Railroad commissioner unexpired term - Ray Lemmon, 51, Houston businessman.

Republican:

Governor - Clarence G. Thompson, 46, Fort Worth businessman; Ray Hutchison, 45, Dallas attorney and former State GOP Chairman.

U.S. Senator - Sen John G. Tower, 52.

England held its first state lottery in 1569 to raise money for construction of harbors. Altogether, 40,000 tickets were sold at 10 shillings each. Over the years, private lotteries were gradually suppressed and public lotteries lost favor, the last one being held in 1860.

ASTRO·GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Jan. 31, 1978

Be imaginative and an innovator this coming year. If you follow the soaring of your intellect, it's probable that you can hit a high mark.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb.19) In order to get what you want today, you may use devices like pleading, flattery or cajolery. If none work, you could even toss a temper tantrum. Find out to whom you're romantically suited by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You are far too modest concerning your own potential today. Because you have such a low estimation of yourself, you may just be proven right.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't get cute in business today. If others are being serious and you are not, they could quickly become soured on the whole deal.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Treat those with whom you're associated careerwise with kindness and restraint today. They could easily become alienated and cause a serious rift.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're going to get involved in that old buck-passing game today. All of a sudden, you'll realize that it stops with you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Fight the tendency today to take chances on people you know little about or situations you can't control. It's no time to stick your neck out.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Any pressing domestic matters should be attended to today. It would be a serious mistake to try to rationalize them or postpone a decision.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept.22) Sincerity will work for you today, but a snow job won't. Keep this in mind if you get the urge to lay it on a little heavy with coworkers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct.23) Instead of carrying a wallet or purse today, you might as well be toting a sieve around. Money just seems to slip through your fingers.

SCORPIO (Oct.24-Nov.22) For reasons known only to you, today you could anger members of your household to cover a seemingly resolved situation. It's like snatching defeat from the jaws of victory!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov.23-Dec.21) Should you do something foolish today that could even prove expensive you may look for others to bail you out. You might even be provoked if they don't.

CAPRICORN (Dec.22-Jan.19) Beware of making pledges today that could tax your resources. It may inflate your ego, but giver's remorse could quickly result.

Anorexia nervosa

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR LAMB — In reply to a reader who requested some advice on weight control I would like to pass on two words — be careful!

The reader spoke of losing 35 pounds in four months after having a weight problem all her life. I too found myself confronting the same situation after losing a great deal of weight in a short period of time. After reaching a weight I thought was adequate I tried to find a plan to maintain my weight. I counted calories and weighed portions of food. I exercised vigorously. I drank coffee constantly to avoid the hunger pangs.

I found myself getting very upset, bewildered and confused. I continued to lose weight, all the while becoming more depressed and frustrated about what I could or could not eat.

The saga lasted for nearly nine months. At this point I weighed 80 pounds. I'm 5-feet-3. I was so confused that I tried to commit suicide. Luckily someone cared enough to send for professional help. It was then that I learned of an illness called anorexia nervosa.

A few comments from you could help to clarify the disease and its symptoms for your readers, but I would like to comment to everyone who diets strictly. If you find that controlling your weight becomes the prime motivating force in your life, if you feel lost, frightened and confused, please be careful. Get some help from your doctor. Anorexia nervosa is dangerous. It's a killer.

DEAR READER — Thank you for sharing your experience with others. And you are right, anorexia nervosa is dangerous.

It usually occurs in young girls in their teens. It can occur in males as well, but it is rare. The girl becomes obsessed with being thin as you have described. Such people are sometimes described as having a faulty body image. Even though they are thin they still think of themselves as being fat.

Often a number of psychological problems are present. Commonly, the girl is shy and withdrawn and as the illness progresses she may be severely depressed, to the point of suicide. Another characteristic is self-induced vomiting. When she does eat a big meal because she can't stand the hunger anymore, she may induce vomiting to get rid of it. The weight loss may be extremely rapid.

Of course professional help is the only answer. It is difficult at first to separate the effects of starvation from the other problems and the first goal is to re-establish normal nutrition. That may require watching to be sure she eats and watching to be sure she doesn't vomit.

The occasional occurrence of such a psychiatric problem, however, is no excuse for the obese person to avoid dieting. For both the fat one and the skinny one the proper approach is a well-balanced nutritional diet that contains the right amount of calories. Excessive dieting is an example of carrying a good thing to the extreme. I do think, though, that it is worthwhile to point this disease out so that parents of young girls in particular can be aware of it and be on the lookout to see to it that any do-it-yourself dieting program is not carried to extremes.

When is a depressive mood important? Readers who want information on this and related problems can send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 10-10, Depression: The Ups and Downs of Life. Send your request to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, TX 78292.

Deficiences Found In Small Claim Courts

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

An increasing number of Americans are taking their complaints to small claims courts, but there are indications that the system designed to help them does not always work.

Small claims courts are used to handle such things as landlord-tenant conflicts and business-consumer disputes over goods and services. The atmosphere is informal; you present your own case to a judge. You usually do not need a lawyer and, in some areas, may be prohibited from using one. There is no jury.

A two-year study of 15 small claims courts, reported in a recent issue of the American Bar Association publication Judge's Journal, found that the courts are meeting the goal of providing speedy and inexpensive justice. But the authors of the report also found serious deficiencies.

Steven Weller and John Ruhnka said the cost to individuals could be cut through more efficient scheduling of cases so people who use the court spend as little time as possible away from their regular jobs.

They also said more active participation by judges would lower costs by making attorneys unnecessary at trial in most small claims cases. Weller and Ruhnka said that lawyers' roles should be limited to presenting additional points of law or evidence at the end of a case. All questioning of witnesses should be done by judges, they said.

"This could retain the benefits of attorney participation in more complex cases, while avoiding the potential for an attorney to harass an opposing witness or party," the two men said.

Other suggestions in their report include bringing judges up to date on new developments in federal and state consumer protection laws and getting the courts more involved in collection of judgments.

The lack of follow-up action by the court to make sure that judgments are paid is one of the most frequent criticisms of existing laws on small claims operations.

A limited study by the New York Public Interest Research Group of judgments awarded in one borough of New York City found that over 43 percent of the individuals who had won their cases never collected.

A collection provision is included in the "Model Consumer Justice Act" proposed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States which has called for a complete overhaul of small claims courts.

The chamber made its proposal 18 months ago. A spokeswoman for the 60,000 member business organization said recently there had been some progress, although there is still a long way to go. She said Arkansas and Kentucky had passed small claims legislation in 1977 along the lines of that recommended by the chamber.

A similar bill is pending in New Mexico and the spokeswoman said she hoped more states would act this year.

'Flash' Likely A Meterorite

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A bright flash which lit up the sky over a wide area of the Gulf Coast for about five seconds Sunday night may have been a meteor, federal authorities said.

A spokesman at the Federal Aviation Administration office in New Orleans said the flash was reported seen as far away as Fort Smith, Ark.; Jacksonville, Fla., and Memphis, Tenn.

It definitely wasn't a plane crash, the FAA said.

"We've had a lot of calls from the general public, and from the way they described it, it appears that it may have been a meteorite burning out as it entered the atmosphere," said a National Weather Service spokesman.

"It must have been a fair-sized one, not like those you see on any night. It must have had a pretty big tail."

The callers described the flash as having covering most of the sky. Some said it had a greenish tint to it. Some said they thought it was accompanied by an explosion.

Joel Schexnayder, a weather forecaster who fielded several calls about the flash, said, "One pilot said he saw it at 25,000 feet. He said it looked as though the sun was coming up."

The flash occurred about 9 p.m. CDT.

Police stations, newspapers, radio and television stations were deluged with telephone calls from people describing the light.

"We're hearing everything from a plane crash to a transformer blowing up," said a harassed deputy sheriff in St. Tammany Parish, across Lake Pontchartrain from New Orleans.

Two New Orleans television stations aired news stories quoting an apparent telephone hoaxer who claimed he was a University of New Orleans astronomy professor and said the meteorite's fall had been predicted two days in advance by the Palomar Observatory in California.

Dr. Jesse Greenstein, a professor of astro-physics at California Tech, which operates the Palomar Observatory near San Diego, said the observatory had made no such prediction.

"Meteors are unexpected," Greenstein said. "It is quite out of the question for us to predict them."

Greenstein said Palomar didn't see any large meteor Sunday night, but that the observatory could easily have missed it because of the heavy cloud cover and the distance to the Gulf area.

"We didn't see it, but that doesn't mean there wasn't one," he said.

Give up and win

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

DEAR DR. BLAKER — My husband stays out late drinking with his friends three or four nights a week. When he comes home he is verbally — and sometimes physically — abusive. What's worse, he remembers nothing the next morning.

We've been married 10 months but already have been separated three times. Whenever I throw him out or threaten to leave, he promises to change. This "change" lasts about a week until he goes back to drinking with the "boys."

I went into therapy because I want to make my marriage work. He recently started seeing a counselor for the same reason. But I don't feel like trying much longer. And I don't understand why he's doing this to me.

DEAR READER — Only you can decide if the situation has deteriorated past the point of reconciliation. However, if you have some hope, here is a two-step approach that might work.

Your husband may be resisting the fact he is married. He may drink with the "boys" to show he is still a man — not a hen-pecked husband. If you think he is trying to prove he is not controlled by a woman, why not give up trying to control him?

Accept him as he is. Understand his problems in adjusting to marriage. Don't worry about when he will go out, with whom, what time he'll return or how much he will drink. Use your mental energy, instead, to involve yourself with your friends — and maybe some new interests. If you give up the struggle, you might win.

If this fails after a few trial months, you might be facing a more serious problem. Your husband may not be rebelling at marriage but may have a serious drinking problem. You mentioned he drinks often, experiences blackouts and occasionally is physically abusive. These are sure signs of alcoholism.

It is foolish to think his counselor will take care of that problem. Alcoholics often play down their drinking when talking to a therapist — and many professionals are insensitive to the subtle signs of alcoholism.

If you are convinced your husband is a problem drinker, encourage him to join Alcoholics Anonymous or a similar self-help organization.

If this approach is unsuccessful, you may have to face the fact that your marriage has soured. That will not be the end of the world.

But you must talk it over with your therapist and try to understand how you could have made such an error in judgement. Maybe you are frequently taken in by people who misrepresent themselves.

One other bit of advice: Next time you decide to leave, follow through! Vacillating behavior only makes things worse. At this point, your husband probably thinks you will never move out.

Write to Dr. Blaker in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Volume of mail prohibits personal replies, but questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns.

Basin's Rig Count Rises

The active rotary rig count in Permian Basin oil fields totalled 306 last week, according to Reed Drilling Equipment's weekly survey. This represents an increase of two over the previous week and is five more rigs than were running in the corresponding week of last year.

Lea County, N.M., was the leader, with 26 rotary rigs in operation.

Scurry County had only one rotary rig running last week, the same as the week before. Figures for other area counties, with last week and the week before, in order: Borden 10 and 11; Dawson 7 and 8; Fisher 4 and 5; Garza 2 and 1; Howard 3 and 3; Kent 2 and 2; Mitchell 4 and 3; Nolan 4 and 4; Stonewall 0 and 2.

Great Mountain Forest, near the village of Norfolk in the northwestern corner of Connecticut, sprawls across 6,800 acres of the Berkshire foothills.

AFTER TWO OSCARS, seven weddings, several brushes with death and three decades in the public spotlight, has Elizabeth Taylor finally found happiness in the Virginia countryside? It all seems too good to be true. At any rate, Taylor is destined to remain in the headlines as wife of U.S. Senate candidate John Warner.

Bicyclist Caught Speeding

AUSTIN (AP) - Campus police arrested a bicyclist at the University of Texas Sunday on charges of speeding, evading a police officer and riding on a sidewalk.

Steven Lynn Rosanky, 27, was released on personal recognizance bond after being charged in Municipal Court.

Patrol officer Nan Doerr said she clocked a man pedaling his bike at 25 miles an hour in a 15 mile an hour zone. She pursued, but when he took to a sidewalk and she tried to head him off by going around a block, he doubled back.

The officer then drove onto a sidewalk and gave chase while radioing for help. The biker darted between buildings.

Fellow officer Billy Cox arrested Rosanky moments later.

The officers estimated the chase lasted five minutes.

Ford Tells Conference

Fed Regulation Hurts Industrial Expansion

By JONATHAN WOLMAN
AP Urban Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Henry Ford II, saying "too much government inevitably leads to economic decay," told a White House conference on the nation's economic future today that efforts to develop a balanced growth policy are misguided.

The Ford Motor Co. chairman said federal regulation is hurting industrial expansion and argued that economic growth must be given priority in any confrontation with efforts to improve environmental quality.

But Rep. Morris Udall, chairman of the House Interior Committee, told the White House Conference on Balanced Growth and Economic Development that it is a mistake to believe the nation's economy can grow at the rate of past years without some coordinated planning.

Some 500 delegates are meeting this week under White House sponsorship to consider the nation's economic future.

"I welcome this chance to take a stand in favor of vigorous, sustained national growth," Ford said in prepared remarks. "You will note that I did not say balanced national growth, but I am strongly opposed to many of the measures that have been adopted in any effort to achieve that goal."

Ford said the term balanced growth is often used "by those who argue that economic growth must be sacrificed to environmental quality ...

"We want clean, sparkling rivers and streams wherever we go. But must we close down all the industrial plants along their borders in order to achieve that goal?" he asked. "We want clean air. But is 90 percent clean much less than 99.9 percent clean?"

Ford asked the conference delegates to wrestle with this question: "How much more regulation can we afford, either directly in product costs or indirectly through lost opportunities for economic growth?"

Udall, D-Ariz., said the period of unbridled economic growth is doubtlessly over. "Our great leap forward was not the normal course of events, but rather an exception to them," he said. "It was based on cheap and inexhaustible energy and a never ending supply of waters, minerals, lumber and other resources."

Udall said "the human race will be essentially out of oil and gas in 30 years. We can't ignore it, and it won't go away." He added:

"I am not talking about a national no-growth policy. All I am saying is that an insistence on growth, in the pattern that we have known it in the past can only take it on a collision course."

The White House conference is featuring a series of verbal confrontations on issues such as growth vs. conservation, the Sunbelt vs. the Frostbelt, environmental protection vs. development.

"The key phrase is 'scarce resources.' How do you do more with less - less land, less energy, less water and less polution," said one delegate, a Colorado businessman.

The 500 delegates hail from every state and territory and from all walks of life. Most are prominent in politics, business, labor or academia, representing the traditional viewpoints of economic diversity.

The conference opened Sunday night with a review of the nation's economic history from the 1970s, when growth was unlimited for a sparse population with abundant resources; through the 1800s, "manifest destiny" principle, the belief in some divine sanction for territorial expansion; to the present-day's dwindling resources, high unemployment, abandoned farms and aging cities.

"As we begin the second 200 years of our history, we know that the future will not resemble our past world of abundance; abundance of land, water, energy, mineral resources, forests and food," said Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps.

"We know that things once thought free now bear a price tag. We know that new resource constraints bring new dimensions to our thinking."

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Trevey

Funeral service was set for 3 p.m. today at the Bell Seale Funeral Home Chapel for Mrs. Mettie Trevey, 88, who died at 5:15 a.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. Buck Hatfield, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, was to officiate, and burial was to be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Erath County, she was married in 1912 in Pecos to Emmett Trevey. He preceded her in death on Dec. 4, 1962.

Surviving are two sons, S.W. Trevey and R.J. "Buddy" Trevey, both of Snyder; a brother, Bud Stiles of Long Beach, Calif.; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

County Opens Truck Bids

County commissioners this morning opened bids for the purchase of two trucks.

They had sought bids for two vehicles, one for Precinct No. 1 and another for Precinct No. 2, and were still studying the bids shortly before noon.

In other business, the commissioners court declined to join its retirement plan with a state system which now also includes teachers. County and district retirement system were given the option to join the state system or remain as they are. Commissioners Eldon Perry, Charlie Yoast and Jess Everett voted to reject the system, while Earl Sneed abstained, noting that he had not had time to familiarize himself with the proposal. The county was required to reject the plan by the end of the month or automatically join the system.

County Court Pleas Heard

Two men were sentenced Friday in county court.

Jack Alan Kinnaird pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was fined $100 and sentenced to serve three days in the county jail.

The second guilty plea was entered by Adam Ocanas to a charge of driving while his license was suspended. He received a $25 fine and a 72-hour jail term.

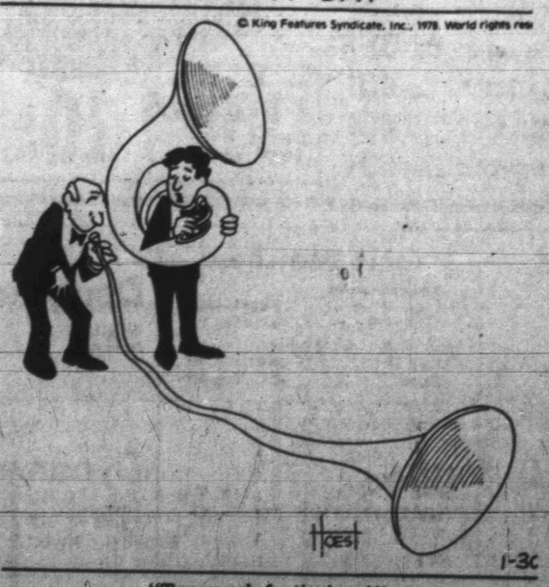

Car Spins Off Highway 208

Troopers of the Highway patrol investigated a minor one vehicle accident early this morning.

A 1975 Chevrolet, they reported, spun off the road about 1 a.m. today two miles south of Snyder on Texas Highway 208.

The driver of the car, John Salazar of Colorado City, was not injured and only minor damages were reported to the car.

Tim McCoy Is Dead At 87

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP)-Tim McCoy, the actor-cowboy in the huge white hat, is dead at 87.

McCoy began working as a cowboy at the age of 15 and appeared in 89 movies, most of them Westerns.

He died Sunday in the Fort Huachuca Military Hospital, where he was being treated for a heart ailment. In ill health in recent months, McCoy had lived in this Mexican-border community for the past 20 years.

McCoy, a Michigan native, swept from the Wyoming range to Wild West shows, the silent screen, talkies, television and them back to the Wild West show, before retiring in 1976.

He also was an author, intent on debunking many of the myths surrounding Western heroes. He was inducted into the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma in 1974, along with actor John Wayne. Wayne had been an extra in some of McCoy's films.

During World War I he was a lieutenant colonel in the infantry. He knew Indian sign language and caught the eye of a Hollywood scout who got him a leading role in the motion picture, "The Covered Wagon."

He won an Emmy for his "Tim McCoy" show on television and then went on a Wild West show circuit, playing in such arenas as New York's Madison Square Garden.

He married his late wife, Inga, when she was a Washingtn, D.C., newspaper reporter. She made headlines herself in the 1930s with interviews with Adolf Hitler and other Nazi German leaders.

They had two sons, Ronald and Terry. Both live in Nogales.

Funeral services are imcomplete, but it is believed McCoy will be buried in Saginaw, Mich., next to his parents.

Snyderite Victim Of Purse Snatcher

A purse snatcher made off with over $5,000 in cash and jewelry when he swiped the purse of Neoma Harlin Saturday afternoon.

Ms. Harlin told police the incident occurred while she was shopping at a local supermarket. She said she discovered the loss when she reached the checkout stand.

The loss was set at approximately $5,165. About $700, police reported, was in cash, while the rest was in diamond and turquoise jewelry.

The theft was reported to police at 5:08 p.m. Saturday.

Water Fees Are Effective At Hermleigh

Future connections to the Hermleigh water system will require a deposit of $10 each, the commissioners court reported today. The new rule went into effect today.

Also, any account which becomes delinquent for a period of two months will be disconnected. All delinquent payments must be made in full, plus a $5 reconnect fee must be paid to get a delinquent account reinstated, said Commissioner Jess Everett of Precinct 4. The county has operated the Hermleigh waterworks since Hermleigh dissolved its municipal corporation several years ago.

In other reports, Guy Allen told police that five gas caps were taken from his business at 405 East Highway and Robert Allen told police that six gas caps had been taken from his business. The thefts were reported to police Saturday afternoon.

A minor traffic accident was investigated at 11:36 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of 25th St. and College Ave. Involved in the mishap were a 1976 International tank truck driven by Ronald Fannin of Abilene and a 1978 Ford pickup truck driven by Sandra Merritt.

A second mishap was investigated Saturday at 12:45 p.m. in the parking lot of Everybody's Thriftway Grocery. Involved in that collision were a parked 1971 Ford owned by Julia Luera and a 1972 Chevrolet driven by Merle Clardy. Only minor damages were reported.

Wise To Look Like Elvis

OCALA, Fla. (AP)-Dennis Wise tries to sound like Elvis Presley and now he's going to great lengths to try to look like him.

Wise, 24, has already undergone the necessary dental work and is expected to have his face worked on this week.

The first phase was dental work completed Saturday by an unidentified dentist who used an 11-inch by 14-inch color photograph of Presely as a guide.
