Two New Plans For Taxing Corporate Profits Outlined

Fight Staged To Save Plan Of President

Treasury Seeks To Stem Tide Of Opposition With Single Tax Schedule To Replace Bill Passed By House

Estimates Sought

Harrison Offers Idea With 15 Per Cent Tax On Income And Surtaxes Ranging From Five To 45 Per Cent

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 12. — Two new plans for taxing undistributed corporate profits were outlined before the senate finance committee today as the administration fought to save the essence of the Roosevelt tax plan from defeat at the hands of hostile senators.

The treasury sought to stem the tide of opposition with a single, comparatively simple tax schedule to replace the complex tables in the bill passed by the house. It would impose taxes ranging up to 50 per cent on that part of corporation income withheld from distribution.

Harrison Has Idea

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the finance committee presented the other, in an effort to get a "meeting of minds," and not as a proposal he was ready to favor. It would levy a flat 15 per cent tax on corporate income, with surtaxes ranging from five to 45 per cent if more than 30 per cent of a corporation's income was withheld.

Harrison asked treasury experts to prepare an estimate of the revenue such a plan would raise. He expressed confidence to newspapermen that President Roosevelt would approve any bill congress passed that would raise the revenue he has asked.

"The president said he wanted to get so much money," Harrison said. "He did not say what method was to be employed."

FDR Might Yield

The committee chairman was referring to the president's public utterances, but reliable sources said he had received similar word from the chief executive in a conference only yesterday, indicating that Mr. Roosevelt might yield on his original proposal for taxing undistributed profits.

The treasury's new tax schedule was submitted to the committee by Herman Oliphant, its general counsel, as he appeared before the senators to answer objections raised to the tax bill passed by the house.

Three Hours On Stand

Oliphant, obviously weary, spent three long hours on the witness stand answering the questions propounded by senators who insisted the bill would be big corporations escape taxes and penalize small ones.

Earlier the committee had received recommendations for changes in the house bill from Secretary Wallace and Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, while on the senate

Mexican Is Bound Over For Murder

Juan Griego, Mexican, Tuesday afternoon was bound over under $2,500 bond to await grand jury action on a charge of murder, after waiving examining trial before J. T. Trigg, justice of the peace.

The charge, sworn to by F. C. Rector, deputy sheriff, alleged Griego Sunday murdered his five-year-old son, Jose Griego, in the Mexican quarter of Lubbock, "voluntarily and with malice aforethought." The complaint was prepared by County Attorney Jess C. Levens.

The elder Griego and Arcadio Satello were taken into custody after the affair, a shooting. Authorities said a stray bullet from a gun held by the child's father struck the boy.

Satello Tuesday afternoon pleaded not guilty of disturbance in connection with the shooting and was remanded to custody pending trial before Trigg Monday. Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, was complainant.

Robinson Admits Kidnaping Woman

Young Criminal Likely Will Be Arraigned Today; Claims He Spent Ransom Lavishly

(By The Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 12.—Announcement that Thomas H. Robinson, jr., has "willingly admitted" that he kidnaped Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll and that during the 20 months since he had spent most of his time traveling between New York and California was made here tonight by E. J. Connelley, in charge of the Cincinnati office of the federal bureau of investigation.

Connelley who came here to join O. C Dewey, head of the local federal bureau of investigation, said the 29-year-old will o' the wisp fugitive, caught last night in Glendale, Calif., and rushed to Louisville today in a chartered airplane, said the kidnaping of the young Louisville matron was carried out according to one of several plans he made.

Spent Money Freely

"Robinson said he didn't know why he did it," Connelley replied to a question. Connelley added that Robinson told the agents during the questioning that he had spent the $50,000 ransom freely in night clubs and hotels, that once he travelled in an airplane between New York and California and at other times on trains, and in automobiles.

The erstwhile fugitive who disappeared after getting the ransom and leaving Mrs. Stoll in an Indianapolis apartment in October, 1934, was rushed to federal agents headquarters in a downtown building before a crowd of spectators at the airport got more than a glimpse of him.

He sat disconsolately in a cell at headquarters most of the day.

Be Arraigned Today

Dewey who had conferred late today with Oldham Clark, assistant U. S. district attorney, said Robinson would spend the night in the cell and probably be arraigned tomorrow. Clark said that he understood Robinson had not signed any confession. In the first discussion of the case by the agents here since Robinson's return, Connelley said:

"Robinson willingly admitted having kidnaped Mrs. Stoll and said he had considered several plans, including the one he finally followed. He admitted slugging Mrs. Stoll with an iron pipe (when he kidnaped her from her home) and taking her in a rented car to an Indianapolis apartment where he kept her some five days.

Threatened Husband

"Robinson forced her to go with him by threats of what he would do to Berry Stoll (her husband). He said that since the kidnaping he spent most of his time traveling back and forth between New York and Chicago, spending the ransom money lavishly to cover up his trail.

"He spent a great deal of money in hotels and night clubs. On one occasion he traveled in an airplane between New York and California. On other occasions he traveled by train or automobile."

When Connelley answered a question by saying that Robinson said he did not know why he kidnaped Mrs. Stoll, Dewey commented "maybe revenge," but did not elaborate upon the remark.

Security For Europe Struck Another Blow

Fascist Delegates At League Of Nations Walk Out; Rumor Of Italo-German Alliance Wafted About

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, May 12.—A fresh effort to build up security for uneasy Europe crumbled tonight when the Italian delegation to the League of Nations brusquely bolted from Geneva at the imperative command of Premier Mussolini.

The Fascists walked out after the council adopted a resolution which was virtually a new condemnation of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Further Time Needed

Asserting it needed further time "to consider the situation," the council adjourned until June 15. Sanctions meantime will continue against Italy.

Widespread pessimism also was based on the fact that the Italians boycotted a scheduled meeting of the remaining Locarno powers to act on Germany's renunciation of the treaty.

Mussolini was reported flirting with Adolf Hitler. Some saw the possibility of an alliance between the two dictators.

Secret Views Exchanged

A reliable source here said a secret exchange of Italo-German views took place in Berlin yesterday and observers wondered if it was connected with the withdrawal today of the Italian delegates.

Great Britain was apprehensive of her position in regard to the vital sea route to India.

France was worried about the German Locarno problem.

The league was worried lest the departure of the Italians be followed by Italy's resignation from the league.

Gooch's Record Of Crime Is Prepared For Study By FDR

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 12. (AP) — A record of crime charged to Arthur Gooch, condemned to hang June 19 for kidnaping two Texas officers, is being prepared to be submitted to President Roosevelt, who has been asked to commute the sentence to life imprisonment, it was learned here today.

The report is being prepared by the department of justice, to which the president referred the clemency plea.

Son Of Late Humorist Hurt When Car Hits A Palm Tree

SANTA MONICA, Calif., May 12. (AP)—Ring W. Lardner, jr., 21, screen writer and son of the late humorist, received a possible concussion of the brain today when his automobile smashed into a palm tree.

His injuries are not serious said his physician, Dr. Keith C. Flower.

CARRY INVITATIONS

DALLAS, May 12. Ten pigeons from lofts in each city have been groomed for the flights.

Record Set In Fine Payment

Ann Sanders And Companion, Of Oklahoma, Pay A Total Of $1,211.40; Pleads Guilty To 15 Counts

All records for payment of county court fines Tuesday afternoon were believed broken when Ann Sanders of Oklahoma and her companion paid $1,211.40.

The woman pleaded guilty of 15 cases of violation of the medical practice act, being assessed by Judge E. L. Pitts $50 and costs in each. Don A. Watts paid $100 and costs on a pistol carrying charge. Two cases of violation of the medical practice act against the women remain on the books.

Will Be Called Up

"These will be called up if she ever returns," said County Attorney Jess C. Levens. "The woman and her companion were told to get to the state line as fast as is legal and remain out of Texas, where several counties want her for investigation."

A large supply of remedies carrying the label of a Sayer, Okla., company was destroyed after the manager had signed an order allowing that action.

The woman had treated Lubbock county persons for a variety of ailments, charging as much as $5 a bottle for remedies allegedly costing as little as a few cents to compound. Supplies destroyed were estimated by the woman to be worth an estimated $3,500.

Complaints were sworn to by Joseph Osoba, special investigator who said he had been watching for the woman here and in other Texas cities three months. Osoba and Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, arrested her and her companion last week.

Two Important Problems Are Claimed To Be Facing Labor

HOUSTON, May 12. (AP) — The specter of unemployment and means of providing adequate old age insurance are the greatest problems facing organized labor, Attorney General William McCraw told delegates to the Texas Federation of Labor convention here today.

The attorney general urged that those two problems head the federation's program for the coming year.

Organized labor should not expect beneficial legislation from those not in their own ranks, McCraw warned. "Labor laws and reforms can come only from labor," he added.

Two Haskell County Men Are Being Held In Beating Case

HASKELL, May 12. (AP)—Two Haskell county men, one a 65-year-old Bohemian farmer once convicted in connection with a slaying, were under $10,000 bonds tonight on assault to murder charges in connection with the brutal beating last week of Miss Elizabeth Coursey, frail, 76-year-old spinster.

Hobbs Is Booming With Oil Revival

Business Gain Noted In New Mexico Town As Oil Activity Again Gains Spotlight

(By Staff Correspondent)

HOBBS, N. M., May 12.—Busiest town in Southeastern New Mexico and probably the second largest in the state, this oil field center is enjoying a second "boom" due to oil field activities and a revival of drilling.

Conservatives estimate the population at not less than 12,000 people, while some place it at much higher, 15,000 and above. Including the camps around, the total is much higher.

Hobbs is a typical oil town, one who has seen the same kind of town in other fields of Texas and Oklahoma, will instantly see familiar scenes. Business is rushing, day and night. Building is under way, streets are filled with parked cars and sidewalks are crowded until late hours of the night.

One who has not seen the place for several years, would have a hard time in locating many familiar landmarks. Names of stores, buildings, etc., have been changed until the place is almost entirely made over.

Brick buildings are now being erected, the new postoffice will be of brick, as will the new Goodwin-White hardware and furniture store and funeral home, a new theater and other structures.

Paving Is Planned

A paving program is getting under way. The streets down town are to be surfaced along with surfacing of highways into town from the west and south. It is hoped to get the local work started this summer.

One is impressed with the large number of splendid looking homes that dot the city. Many have lawns, trees and shrubs and flower gardens. They are substantial looking, well painted and well kept outside and comfortable looking. Most of the residences are painted white.

Business houses likewise are better looking than during the first boom. Evidences are seen of the "shack age" being on its way out.

Rooms Are Scarce

One is impressed with the number of hotels, boarding houses and places where room and board may be had. Prices are high, however, and rooms scarce.

One Lubbock man, who decided he had to stay over night, looked for several hours before he found a satisfactory room, at $2 for the night. He said he could have had a cheaper room, but he wanted comfort.

Montgomery Ward & Co. is reported to have leased a building here for three years and will locate a store. This is expected to bring other well known firms to the city.

More Activity Seen

There is more activity in the field around Hobbs now than at any time during the past six years or more. New wells have been brought in, in the Jal, Eunice, Monument and other fields to the south. Around 100 operations are under way.

This has brought to town a large

House Echoes To Arguments On Debt Bill

Inflationary Reference Sets Up Cause For Shouting And Series Of Charges; Issue May Be Last Major One

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 12—Plunging into what may be its final major scrap of the session, the house today heard shouted arguments that the Frazier-Lemke farm-debt refinancing bill was not inflationary and counter assertions that it was "unjust" and "iniquitous."

As the house moved well into the six hours of general debate on the measure, which would authorize issuance of $3,000,000,000 in new currency, the steering committee backing it converged tonight to plan strategy for jamming it through to final passage. Democratic leaders still predicted they would fail.

Lemke Opens Debate

Representative Lemke (R-ND) opened the give-and-take debate with an assertion that the bill "is not inflation unless every federal reserve bank note issued is inflation."

A group of farmers seated in the gallery broke house rules to applaud as he took the floor.

Democrats promptly began sniping back with Representative Feisinger (D-Ohio) branding the bill "iniquitous" and saying its enactment would mean a dictatorship.

Would Have Collapse

"If inflation came," he said, "we would have a collapse more serious than the depression and then chaos followed by a changed form of society and government."

Calling the bill "unfair" and "unjust" Representative Cooley (D-NC) objected to what he said were attempts to "bullwhip and browbeat" members into voting for it. He said it was designed to "bail out" banks and insurance companies holding bad farm loans.

But the acting chairman of the banking committee, Representative Goldsborough (D-Md), countered with the statement that the bill would not endanger the nation's credit structure and scoffed at the inflation arguments made against it. He added:

Bill Serves Notice

"This bill serves notice on the creditor class that the people are beginning to find out there is a way to do business without being burdened with debt to the grave."

(The bill would authorize issuance of government tax-exempt bonds to refinance farm debts at 1 1-2 per cent interest over 47 years. If the bonds could not be sold, federal reserve notes up to $3,000,000,000 would be issued.)

McCloud left here Sunday for Big Spring. He had been in poor health because of severe burns.

Favorite Son List In Lead

Presidential Primary Fights Are Staged In Two States Tuesday; Senator Borah Is Behind In Ohio

(By The Associated Press)

Ohio's Republican presidential primary battle yesterday saw delegate-at-large candidates ticketed for a "favorite son" pick up an approximate one and a half to one lead over those for Senator William E. Borah as early returns were tallied.

With returns from 348 of the Buckeye state's 8,579 precincts counted, the slate of eight candidates favoring Robert A. Taft, son of the late president, were ahead of seven Borah delegate-at-large candidates.

21 Hold Leads

In a contest for district delegates, three of Borah's 28 candidates were leading in two districts. Twenty-one "favorite son" candidates held leads in 10 contested districts.

In a preferential vote for the Democratic nominee—the outcome not binding but only for purposes of vote expression—President Roosevelt had 25,857 to 2,074 for Colonel Henry Breckinridge, New Deal critic, on the basis of returns from 604 precincts.

A second state primary — West Virginia—saw major interest focused on a political feud between that state's two senators. Senator M. M. Neely had 2,147 votes to 279 for Ralph M. Hiner, whose candidacy for Neely's seat was backed by the junior senator, Rush D. Holt, on the basis of 21 out of 2,147 precincts.

Presidential Voting

In the state's presidential primary, 79 districts brought a total Democratic vote of 6,601 votes for Mr. Roosevelt and 2,810 for Sena-

Rep. Zioncheck Is Still Up To Driving Tricks

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 12. (AP) —The automobile adventures of honeymooning Representative Marion Zioncheck of Washington did not end when he left the territorial United States.

Francisco Rodriguez, a truck driver, asserted today that the congressman, driving a friend's motor car, had been in a collision with Rodriguez' truck yesterday on a bridge near the town of Rio Grande.

The owner of the car Zioncheck borrowed got it back—with a broken spring, smashed fenders and bumper and minus one headlight.

West Texans Are Urged To Attend Shows

Rivalry Between Fort Worth And Dallas Is Praised As Constructive Force By Representatives Of Cities

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, May 12. — Rivalry between Fort Worth and Dallas was praised as a constructive force today as representatives of the neighboring cities jointly exhorted all Texans to support the Centennial celebrations starting next June.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention delegates heard Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, and R. L. Thornton of Dallas, member of the centennial commission, laud the big time shows to be given in their cities.

To Be Greatest

"It will be the greatest fair ever held in the Western hemisphere," Thornton declared in describing the $24,000,000 Dallas central exposition.

Carter said Fort Worth's frontier show would concentrate on amusements, the only feature of a serious nature being the West Texas development exhibit.

"We couldn't begin to compete with the Dallas exposition in magnitude, but we can assure 15 weeks of good entertainment," he said.

Plan Many Features

"We are moving 'Jumbo' down from New York, with Billy Rose in charge. Paul Whiteman's band will be there and some outstanding stars will entertain every week. Shirley Temple is coming for the opening week and others will be Dick Powell and Jimmy Durante."

Thornton urged the cooperation of every Texan in putting over the Centennial. He described the vast building program carried out in preparation for the Dallas exposition.

He and Carter were in agreement that practically everyone who visited one of the shows would take in the other before returning home.

"We want you to see our show when you get done with Dallas," Carter told the West Texans.

To Display Trophies

Trophies of Will Rogers will be on exhibit and a new stadium at the frontier exposition will be dedicated to the famous humorist, killed in an Alaskan airplane wreck with Wiley Post.

Carter referring to the keen rivalry that has existed for years between Dallas and Fort Worth, said this spirit of competition was a good thing.

"We are going to have a big sign just outside the Dallas Centennial exposition letting the visitors know that when they have seen the hall of science, we want them to come to Fort Worth for amusement," he said.

"I have heard more about the Centennial in New York, Chicago and other cities outside the state than I have in Texas. All we have to do is get ready to welcome them."

Smiling American Doctor On Trial For Attempted Murder

TIENTSIN, China, May 12. (AP)— A smiling American physician, with the wife he is accused of trying to murder at his side, pleaded innocent today when his strange trial opened in United States district court.

Dr. John Colbert, 50, formerly of St. Louis, Mo., is charged with attempting to remove his fourth wife by poison. Young Mrs. Colbert is a leader in Tientsin's international society. The doctor is one of the best known American physicians in China.

District Attorney Pelthan Watson charged that Colbert falsely told his athletic wife she was ill and began a slow, scientific campaign to kill her by putting poisons in her medicine while treating her.

Limitation Of Strength For Cities Sought

Resolution To Provide That No County Shall Have More Than Seven Representatives Approved By WTCC

Meet Ends Today

Brownwood And Wichita Falls Nominated For Next Meeting Of Body; New Officers Are To Be Selected

BY P. D. ELDRED
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMARILLO, May 12. — A far-reaching move to protect political power of counties devoted basically to agriculture and stock raising was embodied in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce's decision today to fight for a limitation of state representatives to seven per county.

Directors of the regional body unanimously approved a resolution to provide that no county shall have more than seven members in the house of representatives unless its population shall exceed 700,000 persons and then only in proper ratio for such increase.

Amendment Favored

The convention went on record as favoring adoption of a proposed amendment to the state constitution, proposed by Representative George Moffett of Chillicothe, which comes up for vote next November.

"Agriculture and stock raising have been and perhaps always will be the predominant occupations in Texas," the resolution said. "Improved modern machinery will likely require fewer and fewer people on farms and cause a decrease in farm population and a definite increase in city population.

"Sixty-nine rural counties actually had fewer residents in 1930 than 1920, while four urban counties gained nearly a million persons, thus swinging the balance of political power from county to city.

Called Balance Wheel

"We believe the proposed amendment is a desirable balance wheel in the governmental machinery of this state."

Directors approved in rapid succession a series of other resolutions recommended by the work committee.

Among them was one re-affirming the position of the W. T. C. C. in favor of strict conservation of oil and gas resources of Texas, and particularly of the western part. The railroad commission was commended for its efforts to halt the waste of natural gas in West Texas.

The legislature was commended for passage of the conservation statute to prevent dissipation of resources.

Hospital Is Sought

It was urged that the legislature provide funds and build another general hospital for the insane somewhere in West Texas. Gov. James V. Allred had previously assured the convention this would be

Eckener Hits At Critics On Craft

ABOARD THE ZEPPELIN HINDENBURG, En Route To Germany, May 12. (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, after predicting a 40-hour flight by the zeppelin Hindenburg from Lakehurst, N. J., to the English channel, hit today at critics of arrangements at Lakehurst to handle the giant airliner.

A small group in the dining room was discussing what one called "primitive" arrangements at Lakehurst when Dr. Eckener, president of the Zeppelin company, said sharply:

"Do you not realize what a tremendous debt we owe the United States government for courtesies extended? Why, Lakehurst would have been closed long ago except for a promise to me to keep it open for the Hindenburg.

"Do not criticize details in view of this magnanimity."

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

The Woman's Angle

BY MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

IT'S out to outdoors for an outing and back to nature again, as the season for picnickers gets underway. Once more the hardy souls who like their lunch from a basket are ignoring the brambles and insects to tote themselves to the parks and roadsides. Once again are the ads full of hampers and vacuum bottles and sportswear (with even "picnic shorts" displayed for the foppish male)! Now again are the fields peopled with flower pickers and the watery ways with waders. And once again are columns like this one full of food thoughts for the picnickers!

* * *

We believe picnics are like olives; you like them or you don't. Like the sunset that happens every night, like the friends you love most!—some things never grow old! A picnic fiend cannot be stayed from pursuing his hobby, anymore than a porch-sitter cannot be persuaded to believe that a rock is better than a rocking chair for taking one's ease. Even without benefit of shade, it's fun to "eat out," whether it be in the backyard or on the outskirts of the village.

* * *

Perhaps you have discovered some new ways of making sandwiches, or cookies or cool drinks. If so, won't you let us know, so we can pass the good word along to other readers?

FEATURING TEXAS FOOD

TEXAS big birthday party exposition at Dallas is to feature food shows and meals as they are cooked "down by the Rio Grande" which will be brought home by the millions of visitors to the celebrations throughout the Lone Star State and that southwestern flavor will begin to appear on dining tables all over the country.

* * *

This should be good news for food lovers because Texas cookery is a clever composite of those countries whose flags have flown over it. Travelers will learn to relish barbecue, black eyed peas and tamales; they will find out how real chili con carne is made and they are certain to discover how versatile is rice. Perhaps those visiting the reptile gardens in San Antonio will be served a delicious morsel of barbecued rattlesnake!

AN ERA ENDS

WITH the last of the major fugitives of the United States seized, we can breathe a sigh of relief and add our thanks with others that the men were captured with no shots exchanged. You'll remember that some G-men both good and true lost their lives trying to capture gangsters in past years.

* * *

Much praise should go to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the department of investigation, and his men for their quiet unending work in tracking the criminals and withholding information from the public, even after their tasks were completed. After all, it's no easy matter to stifle the questions of embryonic, would-be "Sherlock Holmes." There must have been thousands of private citizens who secretly believed, that given the opportunity, they could have rounded up Karpis, Campbell and Robinson in one-half the time taken by Uncle Sam's men.

HAPPY HAPPENING

WALTER WINCHELL, the highest paid newspaper columnist in the world, was a vaudeville actor out of work. A friend who ran a theatrical weekly sent him out to take Broadway snapshots at five dollars a day. He let the camera fall and broke it on the third day out. "Oh, well, write me some Broadway snapshots for five dollars a week," said the editor. The written snapshots made a hit. Winchell was taken on a daily newspaper. He now earns a hundred thousand dollars a year just because he broke a camera when he was broke himself.

RUN AWAY BOYS

DO boys still run away from home? There was a time when almost every neighborhood had a boy who ran off to join the navy or a circus or out west and sometimes they returned in a week and sometimes they didn't return until their parents had sent them money.

* * *

Those boys who ran away soon were broke, hungry and homesick, and many of them were glad just for the warmth of the family fireside after a brief taste of the world. As we say, we don't believe you learn of much of that nowadays. Greater freedom in the home may be one cause and books, magazines and picture shows that answer curious questions concerning the great outside may be another.

Hanks Speaks To Large Audience

Often called the "incurable optimist," N. C. Hanks lived up to his reputation in lectures delivered to 136 Senior High school students Tuesday afternoon and to about 500 persons Tuesday night in Senior High school auditorium.

Hanks who is blind and handless, drew interested attention from both audiences. He spoke to the students on the American's heritage of freedom, and to the night audience on "Diamonds in the Rough," the story of his own life.

The lecturer addressed the high school group as "my fellow students." He has studied in various colleges and has memorized much classical literature since he was injured in a mine explosion when about 20 years old.

The high school and Texas Technological college sponsored the lectures.

Telling of the freedom Americans enjoy, Hanks said "Our task is to find the things that are worth saving." He mentioned many privileges Americans take for granted.

Hanks is accompanied on his lecture tour by the driver of his automobile.

Why Be Fat!

REDUCE SAFELY
WITHOUT THYROID
WITHOUT DINITROPHENOL

Science finds absolutely safe way to take away ugly fat.

Here's wonderful news for women who want to make their figures slim and lovely. A physician and scientist, who has specialized in research with the Pasteur Institute of Paris and famous clinics of America, has discovered an absolutely harmless tablet known as Vannay, that will take off ugly fat as nature intended by proper body metabolism.

Now it is absurd for anyone to take dangerous drugs to lose weight. You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take Vannay tablets twice a day and eat your regular meals, but eat less fats and sweets.

Vannay is a safe, natural regulator of the digestive ferments (Lipases) which control the production of fat in human bodies and positively does not contain thyroid, dinitrophenol nor any harmful ingredients.

Read what Lynn Francis, a well known actress writes about Vannay.

"I have tried Thyroid, exercise and heavy massage unsuccessfully—as well as strenuous dieting. So I can recommend Vannay Tablets wholeheartedly. They are the only means of reducing that I have found successful as well as harmless; in fact, since I have been taking Vannay, I have felt infinitely more alive."

"It's good news, Mrs. Sweeney"

"Twins, did y' say?" says Mrs. Sweeney. "Sure now, and what do y' know about that!"

It's easy to see that Mrs. Sweeney is a busy woman. Probably that's why she expects so much of her telephone: The latest news of her nieces and nephews, for example. Calls that are both fast and clear. And, once a month, a telephone bill that she expects to be reasonable.

The job of the men and women who work for this company is to give Mrs. Sweeney the sort of telephone service she expects.

This means much more than just operating switchboards, or keeping lines in repair. It means getting ready—sometimes far ahead—to meet problems as they come up. It means doing the daily job a little better all the time.

A fortunate thing it has been for Mrs. Sweeney that these men and women who manufacture her telephone calls have behind them the advice and help of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. staff—the scientific research of Bell Laboratories—the skillful buying and manufacturing of Western Electric.

Mrs. Sweeney may seldom give these organizations a thought. Yet—

"Twins, did y' say?" she beams into her telephone.

And with every call she makes, she benefits from the work they have done. For not only have they helped make her calls faster, clearer and better. In the face of the growing complexity of the telephone system, they have helped this company hold the cost down to a price she is willing and able to pay.

West Texans After Power

Resolution To Provide That No County Shall Have More Than Seven Representatives Approved By WTCC

given consideration at the next legislative session.

The regional body favored establishment of an army air base at Roswell, N. M., under the Wilcox bill. The resolution said Roswell had excellent weather conditions and was strategically located.

Another resolution endorsed the standard public health measure and establishment of a sanitary zone along the Rio Grande.

Report Is Approved

Directors approved the treasury report, made by C. M. Francis of Stamford. He said all current bills had been paid and cash on hand May 12 amounted to $22,604.12. Expenses for the coming year will be met with these funds and other receipts.

The Texas Christian university band from Fort Worth was designated the official band next year. Memphis' band had that honor at this convention.

Julian Montgomery, state director of the Public Works administration, spoke on the 48 projects already completed in West Texas at a cost $4,100,000. He said 150 other West Texas projects were under contract or construction, with an ultimate cost of $15,600,000.

Montgomery launched a strong defense of the "New Deal" and President Roosevelt's efforts to lift the country out of unfavorable economic conditions.

Unenviable Task

"If ever a man inherited an unenviable task it was President Roosevelt," he said.

He took a crack at opponents of the president's policies, saying "it is easier to be critical than correct."

Montgomery expressed the opinion that no lightening of taxes was in immediate prospect.

"We have the paradox of a growing demand for governmental services and works, in the face of demands for lower taxes.

"The government will not have completed its task when it has spent the last dollar of existing works appropriations—the long range program still exists."

Asks Removal Of Power

Gov. Allred, in the general convention session before the directors met, suggested that absolute power of clemency be removed from the hands of the governor.

He said this would take pardons out of politics, remove the burden from the chief executive's shoulders and would be fairer to the convicts and society.

The various views of governors on clemency policy causes a lack of uniformity, he said, urging that a uniform, permanent system be adopted instead.

President Ray H. Nichols of the regional chamber pointed to the danger of this country's government spending, year after year, more than its revenues. He said there must inevitably come a "pay day."

He encouraged a return to industry and thrift, as exemplified by its pioneers, as a means of meeting this problem firmly.

Two Seek Convention

Gov. Allred flew back to Austin this afternoon.

Brownwood and Wichita Falls were nominated for the next convention. Results of the voting on them will be announced at the concluding session of the convention tomorrow.

The new president, general manager and other officers will be elected tomorrow. J. S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls oil man; John J. Gallaher, mayor of Graham; and Milburn McCarty, Eastland lawyer, were candidates for the presidency.

Miss Marguerite Walling of Childress tonight was crowned queen of West Texas by President Ray Nichols. The ceremony was part of the "West Texas Cavalcade", WTCC pageant.

The better class, there are a number that are a credit to many larger towns, have as good service as one would find in Dallas, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Tulsa or Kansas City.

All lines of retail business are found here. Merchants are divided into two main groups, those who have followed the oil fields for years and who know how to cater to that type of trade, and men who have been in business in other towns and are here to make a "stake."

C. Of C. Is Active

The chamber of commerce is active again. A. W. Anderson, who used to head the civic group at Clovis, came here some months ago.

R. C. Goodwin, who was secretary here years ago before John Scharbauer, Midland oil man, got him to look after his interests here, is optimistic about the future of the town.

So is Grady Thompson, who came here from Borger and Pampa during the first boom and who has remained here.

Larger Texas Delegation To National Convention Sought

MARSHALL, May 12. (AP)—Myron G. Blalock, state Democratic executive committee chairman, set out today for Washington to persuade Democratic chieftains to enlarge the Texas delegation to the national convention in Philadelphia next month.

"The fact a Texan will be nominated for vice-president means the state should be permitted a larger than normal delegation," Blalock said. He referred to vice-President John Garner.

Graduating Exercises For 17 Nurses Are Held In City Tuesday Evening

Right to wear the crisp, white uniform of a graduate nurse was recognized at graduating exercises held at the First Methodist church last night for 17 young women who have successfully completed three years of training in the Lubbock Sanitarium and West Texas Hospital schools of nursing.

An audience of 500 persons was present to witness the graduates take the Florence Nightingale pledge to their profession of ministering to the suffering. It was the first time the two schools had held joint graduation ceremonies.

Ideals Emphasized

In a commencement address Bryce Twitty of Dallas emphasized three ideals which should be looked to: citizenship, including both political, economic and religious; service to humanity; and Christian living.

"Your choice of the nursing profession is indicative of your willingness to serve mankind," he said. His address contained numerous examples from his capacities as past president of the Texas State Hospital association, present executive secretary of the association, editor of the State Hospital Journal, and his connection with Baylor University hospital as superintendent. He is a fellow of the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Student Nurses Attend

Student nurses of the sanitarium and hospital schools attended, dressed in their blue and white, and grey and white uniforms, respectively.

The program included: Processional and the recessional, Mrs. Mamie I. Neal at the organ; invocation, Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of the church; piano duo, "Rondo," C. Gurlett, Misses Dorothy Sue Standefer and Carol Ann Krueger; choral singing by the Lubbock Sanitarium School of Nursing glee club of 17 voices, directed by Mrs. Carl Scoggin; reading, "Florence Nightingale's Heritage to Women," Rudyard Kipling, by Jocille Russell of the hospital; and the benediction by Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Grads Are Listed

Graduates from the Lubbock sanitarium school are Bertha May Lasseter, Lorena E. Bains, Lois DeSpain, Eva Adair, Jeane Jackson, Norene Shofner, Louise Hinson, and Lea Horstmann.

Graduates of the West Texas hospital school are Estelle Blevins, Violet Bratcher, Johnnie Sue Guess, Asal Jean Gray, Vera Heywood, Frances Krohn, Lena Mae Williamson, Lois Lair, and Ola Mae Dellis.

Miss Lillian Waltemate and Miss Edna Ingle, directors of nursing at the sanitarium and the hospital, respectively, presented diplomas to their groups.

Tax Bill

floor Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) congratulated Democratic senators for "apparently insisting upon modification of a tax bill that is an atrocity."

The treasury's new tax schedule would give corporations with income of $20,000 an exemption permitting them to keep $1,000 in reserves without taxation.

Require Large Tax

Oliphant, aiming at one proposed method of revision, told the committee a 25 1-2 per cent corporate tax would be required to replace the proposed undistributed profits tax.

Aside from that exemption, the government would take two-sevenths of the first 14 per cent of net income undistributed; one-third of the next 15 per cent; three-eighths of the next 16 per cent and one-half of all beyond that.

A corporation with a $100,000 net income would pay $4,000 if it kept $15,000; $5,000 on the next $15,000, and so on.

Under the house bill corporation net income would be taxed up to 42 1-2 per cent, depending upon how much of it was withheld from distribution.

Chairman Jones of the RFC aimed at an important part of the undistributed profits tax with a recommendation that outlays for new equipment be excluded.

Secretary Wallace recommended new processing taxes to raise $220,000,000; the insertion of new clauses intended to protect almost a billion dollars of processing taxes collected under the AAA; and retention of the "windfall tax" on refunded and unpaid processing taxes.

Opposition To Resignation Of L. G. Phares Expressed

GALVESTON, May 12. (AP)—Opposition to the resignation of L. G. Phares as director of the state department of public safety was voiced in a resolution passed by the executive committee of the City Marshals and Chiefs of Police Union of Texas, officials announced today at the conclusion of a conference which started Monday.

Plans were made for the state convention in Houston Aug. 10-12; and a special committee was appointed to study crime prevention in Texas. Those named to this committee included: R. D. Thorp, Austin; L. T. Robey, El Paso; W. R. McDowell, Amarillo.

Man Dangerously Ill Given Highest Honor Of Profession

KANSAS CITY, May 12. (AP)—Dr. J. Tate Mason, dangerously ill at a Seattle, Wash., hospital — one leg has been amputated in a desperate attempt to save his life—was accorded tonight one of the highest honors his profession can bestow, the presidency of the American Medical association.

His voice husky with emotion, the outgoing president, Dr. James McLester of Birmingham, Ala., raised his right hand and said:

"I hereby declare Dr. J. Tate president of the American Medical association."

Al Smith Has Decided That He Will Not Attend Parley

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP) — The Herald-Tribune says it has learned that former Governor Alfred E. Smith has decided to remain away from the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia.

The paper says a friend of the former governor said his decision had been reached in fulfilment of his threat to "take a walk" and that his absence will insure an undivided vote of the Tammany delegation for President Roosevelt's renomination.

Smith could not be reached tonight for comment.

Farley Says Country Will Insist FDR Finish His Job

DEVILS LAKE, N. D., May 12. (AP) Postmaster General James A. Farley told the state Democratic convention today he believed the country at the November election "will insist the president shall have the opportunity to complete his job" of seeking recovery.

"The people know that the work of recovery is only half done" said the cabinet members, who came from Washington to address the gathering of North Dakota Democrats whom he credited with being among the first to enlist under the Roosevelt banner in the 1932 campaign.

No Clues In Pair's Flight

C. W. French And Sam Lee Are Being Sought By Levelland County Officials Following Jail Break Tuesday

LEVELLAND, May 12 (Special)—No clues were left in the flight from the Hockley county jail at 2 o'clock this morning of C. W. French and Sam Lee, unless it was an automobile license number.

French, about 22, is under two-year sentence for forgery and Lee, about 23, two-year sentence for car theft.

French recently escaped from the Terry county jail at Brownfield, only to be recaptured in Houston.

Steal Automobile

The two men were believed to have fled southward in a Ford automobile stolen from Frank George, bakery shop operator. The car, bearing license number 593-094, was stolen a short time after the jailbreak. Mrs. George was awakened as the car was driven away and officers were notified immediately.

R. H. Epperson, facing a 4-year sentence for mule theft, remained in the jail. He told Deputy Sheriff F. A. Crockett that he did not attempt to escape. Epperson is appealing his sentence.

Make Blanket Rope

Crockett said the men picked the lock on their cell door, prepared a 60-foot rope of blankets, and scuttled down the rope from the fourth floor of the courthouse building. They left the building through a small window in the jail's kitchen.

Deputy Sheriff Crockett said no report of the fugitives' trail had been made.

French was described as weighing about 160 pounds and having red complexion. Lee, about 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighed 140 pounds. He has dark complexion.

Lubbock officers were notified and the escape was reported over police radio station KGZW there.

The escape was discovered by H. E. Mowrey, night watchman, who found the dangling rope.

Hypothetical Case Arising From Mock Holdup To Come Up In Tech Supreme Court

Texas Tech Supreme court, into which embryonic barristers leap head first without the formality of a toe-wetting in the lower courts, "soon" will try a hypothetical offense involving armed robbery early this morning by a vaguely described hoodlum of The Varsity, confectionery.

One "Cotton" Eagan, soda clerk, is to be complainant in the criminal cause. He was as surprised at the "hold-up" as the judge likely will be at the pleading, evidence and arguments likely to be outcroppings.

Forms of procedure in the mock trial will be the same as those governing expression in the state supreme court, said Jim Lindsey, editor of the Toreador, college newspaper.

Bike And Skating Races Are Held At School On Tuesday

Forty pupils of Dupre school fourth grade rooms taught by Mrs. Newton Walton and Mrs. H. G. Knight staged bicycle and roller skating contests during a physical education period Tuesday afternoon. A street in front of the building was roped off and patroled by two city policemen for the occasion.

Mary Evelyn Williamson and T. S. Cranford were respective winners of girls' and boys' bicycle races. Cranford was winner over Mary Evelyn for title of grand champion rider. Jean Chappelle and Billy Rodgers, with the latter claiming the title of grand champion, were skating winners.

The races being a culmination of a study unit on The Netherlands, the field was decorated with three arches erected in imitation of those built for races described in a Dutch book, "Hans Brinker", which the children have been studying. Finale of the races was skating and riding in and out the arches by all of the children.

The contests were watched by all the other pupils and teachers of the school and numerous parents and passersby, Mrs. Knight said.

Three Babies Of Seven Are Alive

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 12. (AP)—Three babies out of an alleged multiple birth of seven were reported alive in Rivas, 60 miles southeast of here today.

The governor of the department of Rivas informed President Juan B. Sacasa last week that he had been informed of the birth of septulets to an Indian woman named Sinforosa Martinez in an isolated village, Posa Azul, about 20 miles from the city of Rivas.

President Sacasa, a former practicing physician, ordered the governor to investigate the report. As a result, Senora Martinez and three young babies were taken to Rivas.

It was said that four of the babies had died shortly after birth.

Irrefutable proof by medical authorities of the multiple birth was lacking.

General Hagood Plans To Retire

DALLAS, May 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood will regretfully leave, at the end of this month, the army life he has known 40 years, he disclosed here today.

General Hagood, center of a country-wide controversy recently when he was relieved and then reinstated to active duty because of his comment on "WPA stage money," said:

"I leave the army with regret, of course. I have many close relatives in the service, including my son and brother; my wife has several close connections in the navy, including her daughter, who married into that branch. It has been my entire line."

General Hagood was relieved of command of the eighth corps area at San Antonio after his criticism of WPA before a senate committee. After a conference with President Roosevelt he was assigned to command the sixth corps area at Chicago. At the end of 48 hours duty he asked and received permission to retire.

He said here he expects to begin a book on national defense when he retires at the close of May.

Tulsa Is Host For Oil Meet

Oil Capital Of World Dons Best Dress As Many Representatives Of Industry Arrive For Sessions

TULSA, May 12. (AP)—Tulsa did on its bib and tucker today, shook out the bunting, tuned up the band and got down to the business of acting more than ever like the oil capital of the world.

For the next ten days the big moguls of the petroleum industry will be concentrated here to attend many a meeting of specialized groups and to argue and experiment at the ninth international petroleum exposition.

Is World's Fair

The show is a veritable world's fair of oildom, a place where oil men engaged in every branch of the industry can come to look over technical and popular progress made in the past two years.

Throughout the period of the exposition various national associations of oil men will hold their annual meetings.

First on the long program was the mid-year meeting of the American Petroleum institute wth 46 committees of the divisions of production and marketing starting a series of meetings Wednesday.

Today no less than a score of sub-committee meetings were in progress. A. J. Byles of New York City, president of the A. P. I. was in town lining up things for the meetings.

The institute's board of directors will hold their mid-year meeting Thursday.

He found the easy way to roll 'em

NO MORE GUESSING how the wind blows. This is Clarence Gehris installing his new weather vane. That brings up another point that he likes about rolling P. A. "makin's" while working. "Prince Albert snuggles right down in the paper," he says, "doesn't spill or blow all over creation."

THE NATIONAL PASTIME takes up a lot of Clarence Gehris' spare time. So does the National Joy Smoke—Prince Albert. Gehris bats a thousand when it comes to rollin' his own...turns 'em out in jig time, using P. A. As he says: "It's easy to shape up a fine firm cigarette with Prince Albert. It's 'crimp cut' for quick, easy rolling."

Panny Farmer Shoots 63 To Lead 76 Qualifiers In Meadowbrook Title Meet

Ray Meyers, Resolved To Fight, Faces Hy Sharman

Dale Haddock Meets Sailor Watkins In Special Combat

TONIGHT'S CARD

Preliminary — The Black Dragon, unknown, vs. Dick Trout, San Pedro, Calif. One fall or 20 minutes.

Special event—Dale Haddock, Detroit, vs. Sailor Tex Watkins, Post. One fall or 30 minutes.

Main event — Hy Sharman, Salt Lake City, vs. Ray Meyers, Louisville, Ky. Two out of three falls, or 2-hour time limit.

Curtain goes up and broadcast from ringside over Station KFYO begins at 8:30 o'clock.

Mystery, speed, cunning, ability and villainy are offered in Sled Allen's wrestling card at the Auditorium tonight—one of the best balanced cards offered in several weeks.

For mystery, there's the Black Dragon, unknown personage from an address just as vague, making his debut against the clever Dick Trout from California. Wrestling skill, as well as an ability to take it, is Trout's, and he occasionally gets rough, as witness his part in the main event last week.

The Black Dragon gets that way by the clothes he wears in the ring, not a mere head-covering such as the Masked Marvel and his mimics disport, but an entire body covering of skin-tight black cloth. Where he is from, what is his name, nobody in the circuit professes to know.

No Favorite Here

For speed, cunning and more ability, there is Hy Sharman and Ray Meyers in the main go. Meyers, a commissioned colonel from the Blue Grass state, resolved last week to drop his role of pleasantry and go after his foes as relentlessly as they have been going after him. He suited the action to his word by turning brilliantly temperamental for 15 minutes to kick thunder out of the rough Jack Gorman of San Angelo, and pin him fairly in the special event. The week previous he had executed a coup which resulted in main event victory over Dale Haddock, chief pretender to the circuit's crown.

Sharman is favored, what with his very, very fast and unscrupulous methods, to win over Meyers, but Sharman has bowed to men, although infrequently, whom Meyers has conquered. If they wrestle, Meyers is favored, because he's the more experienced wrestler. If they fight, Meyers still can do things, if he keeps up what he started last week.

Haddock And Tex

The semi-final may, after all, swipe the show. Dale Haddock tangles with the ex-navy terror, Sailor Tex Watkins, who came home to find quite a rough bunch of boys in his old stomping grounds. He has faired more or less ill with most of them. He is up against a tough proposition tonight.

This, no doubt, will be a battle of rugged individualism all the way, with each scampering for the ropes when in serious trouble, each resorting to wiles of the ring and of their own highly imaginative minds.

The tissue of the human brain is not sensitive to pain.

Medalist And Manson Allen To Play First

Alfred Holton Duplicates 65 Medal Winning Score Of Last Year; To Start Defense Of Title Against Tech Star

His woods and irons dripping the blood of birdies, Panny Farmer, young Texas Tech golf champion from Knox City, set Meadowbrook Golf club course afire yesterday with a sparkling 63, seven under par, to become medalist of the annual club championship tournament.

Qualifying ended yesterday with a record-breaking entry list of 76 golfers posting 18-hole qualifying scores. Four full flights of sixteen each and a fifth flight of a dozen duffers were announced in pairings arranged last night. Qualifiers were guests of the club late yesterday at a "free feed" on the club grounds.

The field exceeds by 20 the number of players in the 1935 tournament, won by Alfred Holton, high school youth. Holton, not required to qualify, nevertheless earned the No. 2 position in the qualifying, by thumping out a five-under-par 65 yesterday. He meets Hollis Blackwell, member of the Texas Tech team, in his first round match.

Holton Plays Anyway

Holton, who scored a 65 last year and tied Kay Bradshaw for the medal, defeated Bradshaw, 5 and 4, in the final round to win the title, the strange case of medalist coming through.

Farmer got his seven under with just seven birdies; no eagles and no bogeys showed on his card, which read as follows:

Par out . . 434 445 443—35
Farmer out 434 334 433—31.
Par in . . . . 443 434 445—35—35—70.
Farmer in 443 424 434—32—31—63

Holton's card matched Farmer's on the out nine, but went to a 34 coming in when he took a five on the par 4 No. 13 hole.

Holton out 424 434 343—31.
Holton in . . 443 534 434—34—31—65.

Third best score in the qualifying was Edgar Doherty's 67, placing him in the upper bracket of the championship flight, paired with W. B. Kelley, who fired a qualifying score of 74.

Even par figures were turned in by Cotton McAfee and Jack Trammell. Jo Dick Slaughter also qualified with a 70, but withdrew from the tournament.

Matches Start Today

Match play begins today and continues through Sunday, when 36-hole finals will be played.

Two days are allowed for first round matches, and players are urged to make necessary arrangements with each other regarding time for playing. It is hoped there will be a minimum of forfeits.

All first round matches are to be completed by Thursday night. Second round matches will be devoted to Friday only, with semifinals Saturday and finals Sunday.

The luck of the draw placed two top-notchers together in the first round, meaning that Panny Farmer or Manson Allen, his team mate on the Texas Tech team, will be eliminated early. They meet today or tomorrow. Allen stumbled in his qualifying round, posting an unusual, for him, 74.

The championship flight ended and the first flight started at the 76 figure. There were seven of these, but only four made the top flight. In the draw, R. V. Sandlin, Harold Crites, Weldon Counts and C. J. Quinlan won championship flight roles, while E. B. Wheelock, Guy McAfee and Si Fluke, also with 76s, led the first flight.

The four regular members of the Tech team, Farmer, Allen, Blackwell and Bob Hale, sailed into the championship flight, as did Bob Bourland, alternate team member.

Idalou To Stage County Baseball Joust Next Week

Lubbock County's school boy baseball champion will be determined in a tournament starting May 22, according to Coach N. B. Wilkerson of Idalou who has been appointed baseball director by County Athletic Director Ameral Payne.

Wilkerson said that all schools desiring to enter teams in the tournament are urged tonotofy him at once so that definite pans can be made. It is panned now to conclude the tournament, at Idalou, on Friday and Saturday, next week.

The tournament will be conducted according to school classifications, after which winners of each class will play for the county championship proper.

Woodrow Dedends Title

Woodrow won the tournament last year, defeating Idalou in the final. Idalou had won the championship the two preceding years.

No entry fee will be charged, Wilkerson said. Each team will be expected to provide its own playing equipment and one new ball. Texas Interscholastic league rules will apply, governing eligibility and regulating tournament play.

Dick Shikat Is Released From Contract With Boss

COLUMBUS, O., May 12. (AP)—Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood cancelled the managerial contract between Joe Alvarez of Boston and Dick Shikat, heavyweight wrestler, today, in approving an entry for dismissal filed by Alvarez's attorneys.

Under the dismissal agreement, sanctioned by John A. Common, Shikat's counsel, and the law firm of Sterling and Willing of Philadelphia, counsel for Alvarez, the plaintiff (Alvarez) will pay all costs of the case.

Judge Underwood's approval of the entry to dismiss also released to Shikat the purse he received in his losing match with Ali Baba in Detroit. The money was impounded by the court pending a decision.

Oklahoma City Voters Favor Opening Of Area To Drilling

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 12. (AP)—Incomplete and unofficial returns indicated tonight that Oklahoma City voters had approved opening all of the east side of the city to oil drilling.

Returns from 100 of the city's 152 precincts indicated that all three propositions carried by a majority of approximately 3 to 1.

The vote on the three propositions was approximately 2,700 for; 850 against.

Little Thinks Maybe It Was Wrong, Turning Pro

Ex-Amateur King Is On Bench, Out Of 'Open' Picture

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 12.—Professional golf's latest recruit, Lawson Little, jr., is still "on the bench" and probably wondering today whether, after all, it may not have been a mistake to quit the amateur league he ruled for the past two years.

Lawson Little

The spring training test for the clouting Californian, who turned pro scarcely a month ago, so far has proved a thorough "bust." His failure to qualify for the United States Open yesterday, following poor showing in his first pro start in the August National tournament, has upset carefully laid plans to keep Little in the championship tournament picture.

On his way back to Chicago, where he starts his "educational" tour shortly, Little has the alternative of concentrating on business at home for the summer or taking a shot at the British Open championship, scheduled June 22-26 at Holylake.

May Go Abroad

Assuming his professional career hinges somewhat upon ability to stay in the competitive spotlight, it will not be surprising if Little decides to go abroad. He has had the trip under consideration, anyway, but primarily was aiming at the United States Open, the finals of which will be played at Baltusrol, June 4-6. Now that he doesn't have that target to shoot at, he may find it worth while to unlimber his big guns in England once more.

Chick Evans To Make "Farewell" Appearance

CHICAGO, May 12. (AP)—Charles (Chick) Evans, ruler of America's golfers 20 years ago, is coming back—just once more.

Evans

At 46, after 10 years of comparative obscurity, Evans, who won Open and amateur titles to become the country's king of the fairways in 1916, will make his last stand in the 1936 open at Balutsrol, next month. After that, regardless of where he finishes, he will join the legion of week end golfers.

The opportunity for a last fling at major golfing glory came yesterday at Olympia Fields, just about the time that Evans, one of the last of the amateur old guard, had given up hope of gaining a place among the select 15 players from the Chicago district. He finished with 74-78—152, for his 36 holes and had to go into a playoff with the veteran professional, Bo MacDonald; two young pros, Sam Bernardi of Chicago, and Bill Heinlein of Indianapolis, and another amateur, Jack Hoerner, for the last three qualifying places.

The Kind That Counts

Heinlein got his par four on the first extra hole. So did MacDonald. Then Evans stepped up and sank a six-footer for the other place.

"I got the biggest thrill of all my days in golf," Evans beamed today, "when that little putt dropped. I wanted more than anything to qualify just once more. I've suffered more on the greens than any golfer I ever heard of and I was scared to death when I stepped up. But it dropped and I am going east to make one more big try at the Open."

Grimm Men Turn Grim As They Reach New York For Important Series With Giants; Cardinals Source Of Worries

BY PAUL MICHELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 12.—Down the sports trail and into the dugout of the championship 21-in-a-row Chicago Cubs.

GRIMM MEN . . . It isn't quite correct to write that the Cubs have lost their spirit, but it doesn't seem the same. As Manager Charlie Grimm led his champions into the Polo Grounds today to open their first Eastern invasion of the year, the mantle of champion seemed to hang heavily on each player's shoulder. It was a great contrast from the rollicking crew of 1935 that upset the Cardinals and Giants with their unforgettable winning streak.

Tougher Than Expected

"Oh, we'll get going," said Grimm as he sent his team out to battle the Giants for third place with the season one month old, "but it's going to be tougher than I expected."

BASIC SALARY . . . Writers traveling with the Cubs accuse the club's basic salary system for the players' apparent lethargy this season. Under the system, each player gets a basic salary. If he goes good his pay is hiked on he first or 15th of the month. If he slumps it is never reduced, but never below the basic point.

GAS HOUSE . . . Most of the discussion among the Cubs centers these days around the gas house gang from St. Louis, which beat the champs three in a row last week at Wrigley Field. Some think they're better than last year; others think they are weaker.

She SPENT 24,000 HOURS Caged Alone with JUNGLE TIGERS

For 23 years Mabel Stark has ruled supreme as the No. 1 wild animal trainer of her sex in the world—and now she is ready to surrender her dangerous job

The tigress glared at Miss Stark and snarled. Miss Stark's whip snapped. The tense moment was here. What would happen? Would she conquer or die?

By Erskine Johnson

MABEL STARK, the little blond "tiger queen" of the circus world, is making her farewell tour of the sawdust trail.

Not much longer will she thrill big top audiences by risking her life inside a cage full of snarling jungle beasts.

A headliner for 23 years, she will retire next fall to the comparatively humdrum task of managing an apartment house she owns in New York City.

"I'm 44 years old," says Mabel, "and I can't go on forever. Besides, circus pay isn't what it used to be.

"This is my last season. My act is scheduled for an 18,000-mile tour of the country this summer. Then I'm going to quit."

An amazing career will come to an end when Mabel Stark bids adieu to her ferocious cats, her whip and her gaudy military costume with its high black boots.

For 23 years she has ruled supreme as "the only woman in the world who breaks, trains and works tigers."

Braving sudden death, she has spent more than 24,000 hours, nearly three whole years, alone behind steel bars with her tigers.

Her body is pitifully polka-dotted with scars — grim reminders of countless brushes with long claws and sharp, shiny teeth.

Seasonal tours have taken her more than half a million miles—from far-flung hamlets to New York's great Madison Square Garden and back, over and over again.

HER nerve has been unshakable, despite several near-fatal attacks in the arena, and she has won the undying admiration of millions who bit off fingernails while she put her cats through their tricks.

Weighing only 119 pounds and standing but five feet three inches, her wrestling routine with Rajah, a 750-pound Bengal tiger, was a sensation in the entertainment world. Her present act, in which she works 17 tigers at one time, is just as remarkable.

Blond, with chalky-white skin, tiny fingers and flashing blue-gray eyes, Miss Stark, outside the arena, is just as ordinary and human as the woman who sat across from you in the street car on the way to work this morning.

She spends most of her time sewing when she isn't defying death. She makes all of her own clothes and frequently designs and cuts costumes for fellow performers. Housekeeping interests her but she knows nothing about cooking. She is a widow. Her husband died in 1927, seven years after their marriage.

Mabel Stark and one of her tigers.

She reads a great deal, favoring biographies, occasionally attends a motion picture theater "if Wallace Beery is in the show" and likes to listen to radio dance orchestras. She's a rabid fight and horse race fan, but draws the line at bridge.

Inside the arena, surrounded by the most temperamental of jungle beasts, she is an entirely different person. Always the mistress of any situation, her confidence is easily noticeable. She barks out her orders in commanding tones, cracks her whip with determination—and the tigers obey.

Actually, there is nothing mysterious or supernatural about working with tigers, she explains.

"There is no such thing as staring animals into submission," she says. "I like best to compare my work with teaching school to deaf and dumb children. It's just plain hard work.

"Like little children, the tigers have notions of their own and one must sometimes be stern and other times kind. Patience always is important—a quick move or an unkind word spoken too harshly easily can result in disaster."

Tigers learn more quickly than any other member of the animal kingdom, she says. At the same time they are the most treacherous. "There is no such thing as a tamed wild animal," says Miss Stark, and she speaks from experience.

"Teaching new tricks to veteran circus cats is the hardest part of my job," she says. "They become accustomed to certain things and, like children, it's hard to change their minds. Long hours of patient schooling in winter quarters sometimes don't even help.

"Young cats, fresh from the jungle, are the best students. They're afraid, at first, to enter the arena through the chute and it is necessary to prod them along. Once inside, with two or three other tigers already mounted on their pedestals, it is a simple—although dangerous—matter to approach one. It's another story, however, to make him retreat in the face of a whip—but half the battle is over when he does."

Teaching a tiger to perform on a revolving table, for example, requires patience plus a lot of nerve. Initiating a tiger to such a trick, Miss Stark first places him on the table, with a rope helping to keep his head pointed in the right direction. A helper turns the table by hand.

AT first the tiger just keeps running straight instead of in a circle and lands on the floor. Miss Stark keeps pushing his head inward and leans against his body. Soon he acquires the idea of turning corners and it isn't long before he races around the table with lightning speed. Later, a black stripe is painted on the table for him to follow with his eyes.

"Courage and patience, that's all tiger training requires," says Miss Stark.

Long hours spent with tigers have convinced her that these animals have a language of their own. Translating their vocal expressions, she defined five definite sounds. The cry is of hunger; the "holler" corresponds to a dog's friendly bark; anger is expressed in a deep growl; the purr, like a housecat's, is for pleasure and the hiss means that Mr. Tiger is just disgusted with the world in general.

Likewise, Miss Stark believes that tigers understand, in their own way, her words. Instead of offering food as reward for being a good little tiger, she says "good boy" or its equivalent in a low, kind voice. That, she says, means just as much to the tiger as an extra-fancy New York cut steak.

As proof of her theory, Miss Stark recalled her experience chasing two tigers that escaped from their circus pens in a small western town. Following them, she called the tigers by name. One came to her and lay down at her feet. Then the other did the same.

ATTEMPTING to break down the barrier separating the trainer from the animal, Miss Stark on many occasions has taken baby tigers into her home and raised them as she would ordinary household pets.

However, these house-trained tigers grow up and forget all about their baby ways. Miss Stark told the story of Sheik, a tiger she took into her home and raised on a bottle as a pet. Sheik led a two-tiger attack on Miss Stark in 1928 that nearly ended her career.

Fully grown, the tiger was working with Miss Stark in a show at Bangor, Maine. Rain was dripping into the arena from the big canvas top and the ground was muddy and slippery. A long train trip through the same rainstorm had left Sheik and the other tigers in a nasty frame of mind.

The act started out uneventfully. The tigers responded obediently to Miss Stark's orders and the audience cheered as usual. Then the little blond trainer slipped in the mud and fell on her face. In a split second Sheik leaped from his pedestal and pounced upon her fallen form. Zoo, another tiger, joined what appeared to be a horrible massacre.

Assistant trainers and helpers rushed into the cage with drawn guns and cracking whips. Sheik and Zoo retreated. Luckily, the other tigers remained on their pedestals. Gentle hands lifted Miss Stark to her feet.

She was taken to a hospital and surgeons administered to 19 deep wounds, on her back and sides and arms, everywhere almost, and re-set a broken right leg. She was in the operating room for nearly two hours. Six weeks later, after a hard-fought battle against infection, she returned to the circus aided by a cane.

Her latest injury, deep claw wounds on her left arm, occurred last September in Phoenix, Ariz., and kept her handicapped until just a short time before the start of her current season. An ordinarily docile tigress named Nellie leaped forward with a snarl as Miss Stark tripped over a stool. The animal fell upon her body and laid open her arm with its claws before showmen could drive it away.

Just in case people might think she had lost her "grip," Miss Stark faced the animal just as soon as she was able to leave her hospital bed.

Nellie entered the cage with 16 other tigers. The tigress glared at Miss Stark and snarled. Miss Stark's whip snapped. The tense moment was here. What would happen? Would she conquer or die?

Another snap of the whip. Nellie stood defiantly as though ready to spring. "Roll the ball," Miss Stark commanded with gestures. Nellie refused. The whip snapped again. A snarling growl. Again the whip. Nellie rolled the ball. Sulkily she remounted her perch. Miss Stark had conquered.

BORN in Montreal, Canada, and raised on a Kentucky farm, Miss Stark entered her dangerous profession by accident. In 1913, a graduate nurse, she went to Hollywood on a vacation and chanced to tour a film studio where a circus picture was being made. Miss Stark halted before a cage where a trainer was working with a snarling tiger.

A male companion laughed. "That's one thing you'll never do," he said. The little blond nurse smiled and said the equivalent of today's "Oh, yeah?"

She waited until the trainer left the cage. Then she stepped up to him. "I'd like to be an animal trainer," she said. The trainer grinned. "It takes a lot of nerve, little girl, and I'm afraid you haven't got that much."

"Let me go into the tiger's cage," she said. The trainer by this time was laughing. "That would be just plain suicide," he said. Miss Stark pleaded. Her manner was convincing. The trainer handed her his whip. The door was opened. She walked in.

The tiger stared at her and swished his tail. She cracked the whip. "Get up on your perch," she commanded, repeating the trainer. The tiger refused. Again she cracked the whip. Finally, the animal obeyed. Miss Stark said "good boy" and returned to safety outside the steel barriers.

The trainer was amazed. "I'll give you a job," he said, wiping great beads of perspiration from his face. Miss Stark beamed. "That's the biggest thrill I ever had," she said.

Next day, her nursing career forgotten, she returned to the studio and began in earnest her new-found work.

Candidates' Difficulties

NOW'S the time for all good office-seekers to pass the buck or the dough—at a pie supper.

To the present 58 candidates who are seeking the votes of Lubbock county ticket scratchers, hardly a day passes without an invitation "to attend a pie supper at . . ." It may be guised as chicken dinner, ice cream social, or box supper, instead of pie supper. But the politico is he who must quit hand-shaking to dig into his pockets the deeper.

Several dozen candidates for Haskell county and precinct offices, a recent press report reads, held their own mass meeting and among other things ruled out of their campaigning such "summer-diversions as box and pie suppers," presumably in self defense.

Off the record—that's what Lubbock candidates would like to do. The other day, just to make sure an item was printed, one of the harassed dropped by to emphasize that a "free" ice cream supper to candidates was being held May 13 at County Line school building. They "deserve" a nice write-up, another said.

The present slate of candidates will tinkle an easy $1,000 into cash boxes of various groups, never few, and now extended from schools to church classes and clubs of one kind and another. To the 40 of 58 who will not attain their goal, their share is merely a tax to prove their unpopularity.

Apparently, the only salvation so far has been a galvanized constitution to withstand the onslaught of week-day suppers of pie, or else be forgot at the polls. The Haskell county proposal offers food for thought, the County Line method an avenue of escape.—B. D.

"According to the sentiment expressed by a number of our exchanges, the press boys do not seem to be very enthusiastic over Tom Hunter's third race for the governorship," notes E. I. Many people are wondering whether Tom Hunter or Roy Sanderford will be second man this time. Many are guessing that Allred will win the first primary."

Today's One-Minute Sermon

So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

LINDA BOURNE, 20 years old, pretty and socially prominent in the little middlewestern town of Newtown, meets PETER GARDINER, political reporter, when she goes to the Blade office with an announcement about a charity bazaar.

The same day Linda's father, in financial difficulties, kills himself.

Peter goes to the Bourne home to break the news to Linda. Misunderstanding, she treats him rudely. Later she apologizes, and confides to Peter that her father's money is gone and she must find a job.

"I don't know what to do," Linda says, and Peter—amazing himself—replies, "You could marry me."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

Linda wasn't quite sure she had heard the words correctly. Pete himself almost doubted that he had said them—"You could marry me." He didn't want a wife. He wasn't in love with Linda Bourne. He hadn't given any romantic thought to her. He wouldn't know what to do with a wife and if he were going to marry any girl, he would have too much self-respect to marry a girl who was accustomed to luxuries he couldn't give her. Then he remembered that Linda was no longer an heiress to anything except trouble. Nevertheless, his overwhelming feeling was surprise that he had spoken so impetuously.

Whatever Linda's reactions were, she did not betray them. She knew why he had asked her to marry him, and she knew, too, how to reply.

"That was exactly the right thing to say to a lady in distress," she told him, "but I am not to be outdone in gallantry. I thank you for your kind invitation and regret that I cannot accept." Then she laughed gaily.

So she had thought it was only a gallant speech! Pete stifled the smallest sigh of relief.

It was easier after that for Linda to talk to him. She had established a lighter note and the tense strain of the hour they had spent dispelled itself. She told him that she was planning to sell the house, but until it was sold she would stay on there with the housekeeper who, in time, would retire and live with a married daughter.

"In the meantime," she said, "I've been thinking of things I could do. It can't be so terribly hard to be a secretary. I've had lots of experience at the League and I thought perhaps I could get through a quick course at a business college."

* * *

Pete had heard a good many stories from girls who had lost and were unable to find secretarial jobs, but he hadn't the heart to discourage her when he had nothing else to offer.

"Or perhaps," Linda chattered on, "I might try to get a job coaching dramatic courses. You know—Little Theater things."

Pete was glad the subject had changed to something about which he could talk. "You're interested in the theater, aren't you?"

"Crazy about it," she told him, and added hastily, "Not acting, you know. I couldn't do that. I'm not pretty." Pete thought she was more than pretty when her face lit up with enthusiasm and that her delicate, expressive hands spoke as eloquently as her voice. "But dramatic expression, plot development—those are the things I love. I haven't had any experience except with school clubs and things."

"And you wrote a play for the bazaar," he reminded her.

"Oh, that!" She dismissed that. She didn't want to think of it. It was too closely associated with the dreadful week before.

"Did you ever do anything else like that?" Pete asked her.

She didn't answer him immediately. She crossed the room, unlocked the desk and drew a sheaf of papers from it. Then she shyly resumed her seat beside him. Pete had never seen a girl who was shy, and it suddenly occurred to him that he had never enjoyed himself before as much as this evening.

"Yes, I have," she answered his question finally. "I've written a movie scenario, but I'm not going to ask you to read it. I know it isn't any good." — and, as he reached for it, "No, please."

"Then, tell me about it," he urged.

"You'll think it's all pretty silly but it has been fun and it's kept me from thinking . . . thinking things I didn't want to. One day at the hair-dresser's I picked up a movie magazine. Hair-dressers have the very latest movie magazines," she assured him gravely and he said he'd have to speak to his barber about that, he was getting tired of the Barber's Manual.

"You ought to, because your Big Chance may come that way! Well, I read in this magazine that there was a contest with a big prize and a job in Hollywood waiting for the winner who submits the best scenario. So I've been playing with the idea."

"Finished it?"

"Yes," she said. "It's finished, but I wouldn't dream of sending it."

"Would you let me read it?" Pete said winningly, and Pete could be extremely winning.

"If you'd like to, but take it with you. It would embarrass me to have you read it here."

"And may I bring it back?" Pete wanted an invitation, and he didn't know how to ask for it.

"I hoped you would. I'm here now all the time."

"The country's pretty fine now. Like to walk on Sunday?"

"I'd like very much to walk on Sunday."

* * *

It was a date and thinking of it, Pete pushed his hat a little more to the side as he walked through the quiet town, whistling on his way home. He didn't go directly home; he stopped at a newsstand and bought all the Hollywood magazines.

Linda wanted to think of him after he left. She wanted to go back, step by step, over all that had been said between them before he had surprised her by his half-serious proposal, but she fell asleep, thinking about Dix and wondering how much time would elapse before she heard from him.

The next day she wrote to Dix on her new, black-bordered stationery. It was a little note thanking him for his expression of sympathy, and adding that, since she could not go out, she would like to have him for tea on Sunday. Linda forgot her date with Pete Gardiner.

She dropped the note in the box and then went home to plan for Sunday. She must not be too sombre; she would wear a smart little black velvet frock and she would fill the house with flowers. She knew that her mourning would have a deep influence on Dix, and the enchantment of their companionship had been paced by gaiety.

There were four more days until Sunday. Every time the telephone rang, Linda's heart jumped to her throat as she took the receiver from the hook. She sorted the mail with trembling fingers and tried to put time from her mind. Dix was busy. He might not have received her note. He might be out of town. He might be ill. He wouldn't write. He would telephone. He couldn't disregard her note. He wouldn't want to, she kept assuring herself with faltering belief.

* * *

She dared not leave the house for fear of missing his call. The housekeeper was too old to be relied upon; that was the excuse she gave to herself. Deep in her heart, she knew her real reason was that if Dix called and said he couldn't come on Sunday, she hoped she could make him suggest another time.

On Saturday Wilda Jennings came to see her. Wilda had been Linda's right hand in those days that seemed so long ago.

"Honey," Wilda assured her, "none of us are having a good time, thinking about you having to stay here and all this terrible trouble. We don't talk about anything else, and the parties don't seem to be any fun at all without you. Don't you miss them?"

"No, I don't, but it's sweet of you to think about me. Now tell me all the news," Linda answered, wondering how she could ever have been like the other girls with nothing but parties to think about.

"There really isn't any news. Tommy is coming down from Cambridge next week-end, thank goodness. And Jane Wyatt's giving a cocktail party. She's always giving them. One tomorrow for Gracie. Oh, yes, there is news! Jane was at the movies last night with Dix Carter and he's taking her to Glee Club concert tonight."

After that, Linda couldn't remember anything else Wilda had told her. Dix was taking Jane Wyatt to the Glee Club concert!

She couldn't speak quite clearly for the flood of relief that poured into her heart when Dix called her a few minutes after Wilda left.

"I'll come by for a little while around four, Linda," he said, and Linda placed the receiver on the hook tenderly because she loved it. The nice, kind, friendly telephone that had brought Dix back to her as she knew he would come.

Pete Gardiner called her at 10 on Sunday morning. "I've got some wonderful news for you," he said. "But I'll keep it until I see you. How about starting around two and having supper at my house? My mother asked me to invite you."

Allotment Is Received For Project In Plainview Area

District WPA headquarters announced Tuesday that an allotment of $2,600 has been received for a project in precinct 1, Hale county, to rebuild fills and construct reenforced concrete culverts at four lakes on a rural road.

The project, employing 25 men, will be started within the next few days. Funds of $1,900 have been provided by the county. The combined money is sufficient for work through June.

North Carolina farmers will be entitled to $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in soil conservation grants this year.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE House investigation of the Townsend movement has blown up as far as saving seats for anti-pension Democrats and Republicans is concerned.

The inquiry, as Whirligig has pointed out, was framed to discredit the gray doctor's scheme and thus save the scalps of the politicos who have battled it inside and outside the House. But it had the opposite effect. It made the Townsendites mad at their self-appointed protectors, and started pilgrimages to Washington by the old folks. Proof came when a combination of Coughlin and Townsend votes defeated four good House Democrats in the Pennsylvania primaries. The unexpected reaction to the investigation endangers the seats of at least two members of the Bell committee.

That's why they postponed hearings for two weeks, and it is whispered that there may be further delays. The official explanation was "lack of important evidence from California," although sleuths have been operating on the coast for more than a month. The real reason is the fear that this is one sweet investigation which has gone sour.

* * *

TARDY: But the real story for the failure of Congressional rebuff of this crusade is short and simple-lack of political courage!

When the $200-a month pension movement assumed threatening proportions six months ago, economists in all sections of the country began to excavate it and examine it. They turned out scores of tracts demonstrating to the average mentality that it would ruin the nation, and force a comparative few to work for the 8,000,000 or 10,000,000 who have passed the age of 65. Copies of these dissertations were offered to members of Congress with the idea that they should disillusion Townsendites with facts and figures. There were almost no takers for the offers, the members depending on luck or expediency to pull them through next November.

But when the flood of Townsend mail continued, they got frightened. They authorized the Bell investigation. It has been a complete flop. But if 100 members are defeated next fall, they will have nobody except themselves to blame. They realize that now.

* * *

FIGHT: No Roosevelt power official has tried harder to play along with private utilities than Morris Cooke, Rural Electrification administrator. He has agreed to stay out of territory they will develop, he has favored government loans to the industry, he has turned over to them engineering files of economies which they can install. But his patience has almost reached the breaking point.

From the Ohio Farm Federation bureau he has received a confidential memo assailing the private utilities as guilty of sabotage of REA. In some cases, according to his report, the companies have sought rural business as agents of the government bureau. In others they have posed as Mr. Cooke's representatives. In some they have bought rights of way for high lines by explaining that they had negotiated a contract with REA when they had not. In one instance they resorted to bribery of a city council.

So Mr. Cooke recently summoned utility magnates into his office, and he got hard-boiled. "Listen," he said. "I've tried to cooperate with you fellows, but if you want a fight, you'll get it! You're in bad with your urban constituents now, but that won't compare to the troubles you'll have if I sick rural cooperatives on to you!"

* * *

LONE: England's predicament as the result of Il Duce's conquest of Ethiopia and Germany's reoccupation of the Rhineland is twofold, according to private diplomatic advices.

The English people clearly revealed they wanted no truckling to a foreign power when they spurned the Hoare-Laval proposal for turning over half a Ethiopia to Italy. But the government heads, as Winston Churchill recently blurted out, know that their navy is not prepared for a major conflict with Italy's fleet in the Mediterranean. They allowed Mussolini to surround Lake Tana, source of Britain's Blue Nile, and they winked at Hitler's watch on the Rhine, though Baldwin recently defined the German river as England's "new frontier".

What do these developments mean for America? As our diplomatic and army observers horoscope the situation, it appears that Britain's dominant influence on the continent is lost—that new alliances will arise—that the period of League stability has disappeared. So, for the U. S., it means increasing army-military costs, still further aloofness from world affairs and a gradual severance of sentimental and realistic ties with the British Empire. In sum, the British Lion is rated as a lone blundering wolf.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

A NEW YORKER who was an important figure in the Hoover administration and still maintains friendly contact with his former chief (which eliminates Ogden Mills) was recently discussing G. O. P. presidential possibilities with a top-flight business executive.

Said the Hooverite: "There's one man we especially want to stop." The industrialist thought of course he meant Landon. But it developed that he was talking about Vandenberg, whom he characterized as "unstable." That's a fair enough description from the Hoover viewpoint. The Michiganite certainly didn't set any rivers on fire supporting Hoover in '32. Less prejudiced observers think "political realism" is more accurate. They figure that Vandenberg's coolness towards his party chief was due to a practical realization that Hoover's ship was sinking and a justifiable unwillingness to go down with it.

But the important inference is that Hooverite opposition may well wreck Vandenberg's chances at Cleveland. The ex-President's convention influence should not be underrated. Of course he won't be nearly strong enough to dictate a nominee but is likely to have an effective veto power.

* * *

GROOMED: Here's how the best-posted New York insiders appraise the form chart in the G. O. P. presidential sweepstakes at present. Prospects are rated on the basis that Hoover and Borah will each be able to wield a wicked axe on candidates they don't like.

Landon: Miles ahead of the field, but seriously weakened by his showing in California and South Dahoka. Probably opposed by Borah, almost certainly by Hoover. Handicapped by critical indifference of eastern leaders. Believed out of luck unless he can win over important enemies and neutrals by backstage swaps. This could happen.

Vandenberg: Second best bet if it weren't for Hoover's distaste, which is probably strong enough to block him.

Dickinson: Borah's opposition probably fatal.

Knox: Not a serious contender—unless for a post in the cabinet. Illinois showing ruined whatever chance he had.

Borah: Obviously impossible as a nominee, but a strong factor otherwise.

Hoover: A 500 to 1 shot with no takers.

Fit these pieces together and what do you find? Steiwer of Oregon—shrewdly groomed by potent people—growing bigger, darker and horsier week by week.

* * *

THREAT: There has been a marked change for the better in the morale of Republicans and other anti-Roosevelt elements in New York in the past couple of weeks. Two recent rays of light have penetrated the prevailing gloom.

One was the Democratic protest vote rolled up by Colonel Henry Breckinridge in the Maryland and Pennsylvania primaries—small in itself but heartening as a symbol. Of course it is hardly a secret that a lot of Democrats don't like FDR. But somehow the tangible evidence is comforting and gives the Republicans fresh hope that an attractive candidate and a well-conceived platform will lure several million Democrats into their army.

EVERLAY Double Duty FEEDS

THE TARZAN TWINS, No. 39

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The frightful roar of the lion reminded the boys that even if they escaped from the cannibals, death would stalk them in the jungle. "I don't think we have much chance getting out of this," said Dick; "but I'd rather try than sit here and wait to be eaten, like Bulala and Ukundo are doing."

"According to what I can understand of Bulala's gibberish," Doc answered; "they're probably saving us for a big feast." The boys would have been horrified had they known the big feast was planned to celebrate the expected success of the witch-doctor's scheme to lead Tarzan to his death!

Soon the boys began to move about to warm themselves, but they succeeded only in awakening the two blacks, who laughed when Dick and Doc complained of the cold. Bulala assured them one was always cold at night; and as he and Ukundo were almost naked, the twins were ashamed of their grumbling.

The tropical sun rose at last, bringing warmth and new vitality. The boys were so hungry they could have eaten anything, but nothing was brought to them. At noon two warriors came and gruffly ordered all four of them out of the hut. "Big chief him want see us," quavered Bulala; "very bad!"

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—The stock market tried a feeble line-buck today, but was thrown for a small loss.

Gains of fractions to 2 or more points were scored in the morning. Then the going became a little rougher and the afternoon performance was a slip-shod affair at the best. In the final hour most advances were cancelled or replaced with fractional declines.

It was a draggy session throughout. Total transfers of 590,020 shares were the smallest for a 5-hour day since June 7, last year. They compared with 677,150 Monday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues yielded .1 of a point at 58.5.

Stimulating news was scarce for both bulls and bears, although the latter may have had a shade the best of this argument. Brokers said a little selling followed the walk-out of the Italian representatives from the League of Nations council, and a continuance of sanctions against Italy, at least until the middle of June when the league body reconvenes.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 12. (AP)—The cotton market developed very moderate trading today, a condition that has prevailed for some time past. Prices fluctuated narrowly within a range of about 5 points.

At the opening Liverpool was 1 to 2 penny points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 2 points on all active months with July at 11.19, Oct. at 10.25 and Dec. at 10.25. Prices soon eased off a point or two from the opening figures on the map showing of good showers in the eastern states where needed. July dropped to 11.18 and Oct. to 11.25.

Later in the morning prices rallied 3 points on trade buying and price fixing but trading improved but little. July rallied to 11.21, Oct. to 10.28 and Dec. to 10.29, or 4 to 5 points above the close of yesterday. The May position fluctuated only 2 points, being supported by firmness of spots.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP)—Cotton was quiet within a narrow range today, closing steady, net 1 point higher to 2 lower.

There was scattered selling of later deliveries on reports of showers in the south. The demand for May was supplied by brokers supposed to be operating for the pool.

Exports today 8,898, making a total of 5,540,818 for the season. Port receipts 8,344. U. S. port stocks, 1,753,005.

In a slow trade, quotations in the hog division were unevenly steady. The extreme top of 9.60 was paid in Chicago.

Uneven values were paid in the sheep department. Bulk of good to choice woolskins cleared from 11.00@11.40 and most clipped offerings brought 9.75@10.50. Arizona springers made 11.00 and California offerings reached 11.50.

Three Speakers Heard By Lions

Three interesting talks on life insurance, hospitals and dry-cleaning methods, by three well-versed speakers comprised the regular program of the Lubbock Lions club yesterday noon at the Hotel Hilton. A large attendance was noted, including a number of visitors and guests.

Dr. E. L. Hunt was program chairman for the day. President Hurley Carpenter announced next week's program would be in charge of the elections committee with John D. Mitchell, past president, as chairman.

Judge Clark M. Mullican discussed life insurance as a part of the Lubbock Underwriter's club observation of National Insurance week.

Bryce Twitty, Dallas, a former Shamrock boy who is superintendent of Baylor hospital, spoke on National Hospital day. He said by presidential proclamation for the past 18 years May 12 was observed as such.

C. C. Hubbard, Washington, D. C., a guest of John A. Stinson and here to attend the meeting of dry cleaners of this section, spoke briefly on that industry.

Arson Counts Are Faced By Negroes

Two negroes, Otis Matillar and Homer Furlough, Tuesday were named in arson complaints accepted by J. T. Trigg, justice of the peace. Matillar is the husband of Cora Matillar, negro woman recently charged with the same offense.

Matillar was held in county jail in lieu of payment of a fine for assault at the time fire razed the Matillar residence in The Flats, negro quarter. The woman, however, declared in her statement that the fight which led to Matillar's arrest at that time was planned to avert suspicion from Matillar.

The complaints were signed by Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, who with Deputy Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter took the woman's statement.

Officers continued to investigate a possibility that John Ross, a negro whose body was found in the burning house, had been slain.

A complaint charging Jimmie Lee (Sonny Boy) Wilson with arson as a result of the fire will be dismissed, said Fort.

A monument to a negro stands in Marion, Ala.

Cotton farmers of Lubbock county were urged by County Agent C. C. Jobson to get work sheets for their farms in the 1936 agricultural program, whether or not they plan to comply now. Jobson explained that filing of the sheet does not commit the farmer to the program. May 25 is final date for filing.

A 25-year-old Lubbock county man Tuesday afternoon was arrested by M. N. Davidson to be held for Brownfield officers on a bad check charge.

A 16-year-old Morton girl whose father, said authorities, is in jail, had not been located Tuesday night, said members of the Lubbock police. The girl had been told to stay home and attend to a younger family member but disappeared Monday.

Deputy Sheriff Finley of Spur said there were fewer chickens than usual in Dickens county. He reported 50 hens, 11 broilers and four Cornish game roosters had been stolen, and asked that a check be made here for possible suspects.

The local council of Girl Scouts met at Lubbock hotel Tuesday morning to consider plans for a semi-annual court of award, to plan a nosebag supper at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon on the lawn at the American Legion hall and to plan a camp rally. Part of the girls will enter camp at Camp Kiwanis, near Amarillo, and older girls to Camp Mary White in New Mexico. A program will be given in conjunction with the supper. Council members at the meeting Tuesday were Mesdames T. C. Delaney, A. B Cunningham, J. L. Nisbet, R. F. Hinchey, W. D. Wilson, George Finberg and H. F. Godeke, commissioner of the Lubbock district.

Lark Presley, facing a county court charge of theft over $15, Tuesday revealed whereabouts of a lawn mower taken from J. R. Hartsfield of 1723 Twenty-seventh street, said officers who recovered the property. A man in 2100 block Main street said he had bought the mower from a negro. Other charges may be filed, said authorities. Sam Fort, police identifications officer, signed the complaint filed Tuesday, alleging a gun valued at $15 was stolen from M. T. Taylor of 1722 Twenty-seventh street. The negro was being held.

Complaint alleging swindling by worthless $21.30 check Tuesday was filed in county court against a man who had not been arrested. Complainant Burton Houston said merchandise and money were received in exchange for the instrument. County Attorney Jess C. Levens prepared the complaint.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, associate professor of education at Texas Technological college, will deliver the commencement address at O'Donnell Friday night. He is to deliver commencement address at Dalhart tonight.

With arrest Tuesday morning of a 33-year-old Lubbock man, 23 chickens believed to have been stolen in Hockley county were recovered, said the sheriff's department. Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, and Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, arrested the man, who was in bed. Jess Smith, Hockley sheriff, was expected to come to Lubbock to question the man.

Condition late Tuesday of Edgar Bailey, 20, son of Mr and Mrs. Ben Bailey of near Lubbock, still was serious but was much improved, surgeons at Lubbock sanitarium said. He was injured late Monday afternoon when automobiles driven by J. R. Dickerson of Lubbock and A. L. Glossett of Dallas were in collision on the east side of Yellowhouse canyon on highway 24. No charges likely will be filed, said Bedford F. Carpenter, deputy sheriff.

A musical pageant, "Bluebonnet Land", will be presented by 125 grade school pupils of Acuff, Roosevelt school district, at 8 o'clock tonight at the Acuff community auditorium. Even Chief W. E. Twitty seemed pleased—which is taken to mean a pretty fair job resulted. Firemen Tuesday put their new Packard hose truck through its paces, after reconstructing it from a mass of fused and blackened metal. The chief, who directed assembling and new construction, said the flashy truck has power and speed to spare. Only hose reels are to be installed before the machine is ready to replace an old Dodge hose truck which has been in duty at station 2 since 1928. The new truck has a 140-gallon water tank, 300 feet of chemical hose and the new flashing-type Sirenlite, which has been on the market only two months.

With the finding of a bicycle Tuesday afternoon near the water stand on the campus of Texas Technological college, police had cleared the theft of three bikes from the carnival grounds last week. The bicycle found Tuesday was taken to the station by Jim Robinson and Jess Hardy.

After questions of fact and of law had been submitted to the court after a jury had been waived by agreement of sides and after hearing pleading, evidence and arguments of counsel, Judge Clark M Mullican of 99th district court Tuesday found for defendant in action of Loyde C. Foster against Hartford Accident and Indemnity company, suit to set aside compromise indemnity settlement of $25. Plaintiff said he breathed carbon monoxide gas when employed in 1935 by J. I. Case company at Amarillo and that an agent of defendant offered settlement which was accepted before plaintiff realized extent of his injuries. Plaintiff's petition and defendant's general demurrer were filed Tuesday morning.

First class honor rating of the National Scholastic Press association has been conferred on the Toreador, semi-weekly student publication of Texas Technological college. Almost uniformly high grades were given in division of news value, news coverage, balance, development of news sources, appeal to public outside the college, editing, proof reading, typography, copyreading, and other elements which go to make a newspaper. Peace Appeal Made By Pope

Pontiff Opens World Exposition Of Catholic Press And Charges That State Is Encroaching On Church

VATICAN CITY, May 12. (AP)—Pope Pius hailed the "triumphant news" of peace in Africa today and then, turning to other matters, asserted the state is encroaching upon the church's domains.

The pontiff, inaugurating the world exposition of the Catholic press, attacked communism. He mentioned its development in Soviet Russia, Mexico, Spain, Uruguay and Brazil.

Hopes For Peace

Speaking to thousands of visitors from a special throne in the pine court of the exposition, he expressed hope the end of the Italo-Ethiopian war would be "a prelude to true European and world peace."

"This peace should be and, we hope, will be a fruitful and coefficient prelude to true European and world peace of which this exposition itself should be and is a clear symbol and real proof of an efficacious instrument of fervid and trustful invocation in many languages to all, to God and men in heaven as on earth: Peace, peace, peace."

In charging that the state is encroaching upon the church, the pontiff declared, "the Catholic church does not intend at all to usurp anything of what appertains to politics, properly so-called, in accordance with their end."

Creating Difficulties

He asserted politics are creating every sort of difficulty, however, for the Roman Catholic church, obstructing it in those "vast fields which have a greater need for the church and could most profit by her—the youth, the family, the schools, the press, and the popular masses."

"The church recognizes to the state its own sphere of action. It teaches this and commands conscientious respect for it."

Discussing the absence of Russia and Germany from the exposition, the pontiff said Russia was "full of hatred against God."

Germany, he added, is "particularly dear to us, although regardless of every justice and truth, owing to the artificial confusion between religion and politics, it does not want the Catholic press to exist."

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—The stock market tried a feeble line-buck today, but was thrown for a small loss.

Gains of fractions to 2 or more points were scored in the morning. Then the going became a little rougher and the afternoon performance was a slip-shod affair at the best. In the final hour most advances were cancelled or replaced with fractional declines.

It was a draggy session throughout. Total transfers of 590,020 shares were the smallest for a 5-hour day since June 7, last year. They compared with 677,750 Monday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues yielded .1 of a point at 58.5.

Stimulating news was scarce for both bulls and bears, although the latter may have had a shade the best of this argument. Brokers said a little selling followed the walk-out of the Italian representatives from the League of Nations council, and a continuance of sanctions against Italy, at least until the middle of June when the league body reconvenes.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 12. (AP)—The cotton market developed very moderate trading today, a condition that has prevailed for some time past. Prices fluctuated narrowly within a range of about 5 points.

At the opening Liverpool was 1 to 2 penny points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 2 points on all active months with July at 11.19, Oct. at 10.25 and Dec. at 10.25. Prices soon eased off a point or two from the opening figures on the map showing of good showers in the eastern states where needed. July dropped to 11.18 and Oct. to 11.25.

Later in the morning prices rallied 3 points on trade buying and price fixing but trading improved but little. July rallied to 11.21, Oct. to 10.28 and Dec. to 10.29, or 4 to 5 points above the close of yesterday. The May position fluctuated only 2 points, being supported by firmness of spots.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—Cotton was quiet within a narrow range today, closing steady, net 1 point higher to 2 lower.

There was scattered selling of later deliveries on reports of showers in the south. The demand for May was supplied by brokers supposed to be operating for the pool.

Exports today 8,898, making a total of 5,540,818 for the season. Port receipts 8,344. U. S. port stocks, 1,752,008.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, May 12. (AP) (USDA) — As compared with last Tuesday, cattle receipts at midwestern markets show a slight decrease, but number approximately the same as a year ago. Steers in Chicago realized 9.10. Bulk of fed heifers cleared from 7.00@8.50. Generally steady prices were paid for stocker and feeder steers, with fresh supplies limited.

In a slow trade, quotations in the hog division were unevenly steady. The extreme top of 9.60 was paid in Chicago.

Uneven values were paid in the sheep department. Bulk of good to choice woolskins cleared from 11.00@11.40 and most clipped offerings brought 9.75@10.50. Arizona springers made 11.00 and California offerings reached 11.50.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, May 12. (AP) (USDA) — Hogs 1,300; top 8.60 paid by small killers; packer top 8.50, packing sows 25c lower, 7.50 down.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 12. (AP)—Wheat fell 2 cents a bushel maximum today responsive to predictions the government June crop report will show a substantial increase of probable yield.

Wheat closed weak ¾ to 1⅝ under yesterday's finish, May 92@92¼, July 84¾@84⅞, corn unchanged to ½ lower, May 62⅞, oats unchanged to ⅜ off, and provisions varying from 50 cents decline to 7 cents gain.

The government estimate of United States rye production was construed as bullish. Corn and oats sympathised with wheat weakness.

Provisions took their cue mainly from hog market downturns.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, May 12. (AP)—Grain was slow in demand at Fort Worth again today. Estimated receipts were wheat 4 cars, corn 4, oats 1, and sorghums 3. Wheat No. 1 red winter 1.08½@1.09½; No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing 1.07@1.13. Barley No. 2 nominally 52@53; sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom. 1.10@1.13; No. 2 white kafir nom. 1.09@1.13; corn, shelled No. 3 white 86@88; oats No. 3 red 38½@39½.

Three Speakers Heard By Lions

Three interesting talks on life insurance, hospitals and dry-cleaning methods, by three well-versed speakers, comprised the regular program of the Lubbock Lions club yesterday noon at the Hotel Hilton. A large attendance was noted, including a number of visitors and guests.

Dr. E. L. Hunt was program chairman for the day. President Hurley Carpenter announced next week's program would be in charge of the elections committee with John D. Mitchell, past president, as chairman.

Judge Clark M. Mullican discussed life insurance as a part of the Lubbock Underwriter's club observation of National Insurance week.

Bryce Twitty, Dallas, a former Shamrock boy who is superintendent of Baylor hospital, spoke on National Hospital day. He said by presidential proclamation for the past 18 years May 12 was observed as such.

C. C. Hubbard, Washington, D. C., a guest of John A. Stinson and here to attend the meeting of dry cleaners of this section, spoke briefly on that industry.

Arson Counts Are Faced By Negroes

Two negroes, Otis Matillar and Homer Furlough, Tuesday were named in arson complaints accepted by J. T. Trigg, justice of the peace. Matillar is the husband of Cora Matillar, negro woman recently charged with the same offense.

Matillar was held in county jail in lieu of payment of a fine for assault at the time fire razed the Matillar residence in The Flats, negro quarter. The woman, however, declared in her statement that the fight which led to Matillar's arrest at that time was planned to avert suspicion from Matillar.

The complaints were signed by Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, who with Deputy Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter took the woman's statement.

Officers continued to investigate a possibility that John Ross, a negro whose body was found in the burning house, had been slain.

A complaint charging Jimmie Lee (Sonny Boy) Wilson with arson as a result of the fire will be dismissed, said Fort.

A monument to a negro stands in Marion, Ala.

NEWS BRIEFS

Lubbock Boy Scout district committeemen discussed the feasibility of making facilities of Buffalo Springs available to scouts and scout leaders at their May meeting Tuesday noon at the Tree Top Inn. Summer camp activities were also discussed. E. L. Reed presided and 9 others attended.

Cotton farmers of Lubbock county were urged by County Agent C. C. Jobson to get work sheets for their farms in the 1936 agricultural program, whether or not they plan to comply now. Jobson explained that filing of the sheet does not commit the farmer to the program. May 25 is final date for filing.

A 25-year-old Lubbock county man Tuesday afternoon was arrested by M. N. Davidson to be held for Brownfield officers on a bad check charge.

A 16-year-old Morton girl whose father, said authorities, is in jail, had not been located Tuesday night, said members of the Lubbock police. The girl had been told to stay home and attend to a younger family member, but disappeared Monday.

Deputy Sheriff Finley of Spur said there were fewer chickens than usual in Dickens county. He reported 50 hens, 11 broilers and four Cornish game roosters had been stolen, and asked that a check be made here for possible suspects.

The local council of Girl Scouts met at Lubbock hotel Tuesday morning to consider plans for a semi-annual court of award, to plan a nosebag supper at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon on the lawn at the American Legion hall and to plan a camp rally. Part of the girls will enter camp at Camp Kiwanis, near Amarillo, and older girls to Camp Mary White in New Mexico. A program will be given in conjunction with the supper. Council members at the meeting Tuesday were Mesdames T. C. Delaney, A. B. Cunningham, J. L. Nisbet, R. F. Hinchey, W. D. Wilson, George Finberg, and H. F. Godeke, commissioner of the Lubbock district.

Lark, Presley, facing a county court charge of theft over $15, Tuesday revealed whereabouts of a lawn mower taken from J. R. Hartsfield of 1723 Twenty-seventh street, said officers who recovered the property. A man in 2100 block Main street said he had bought the mower from a negro. Other charges may be filed, said authorities. Sam Fort, police identifications officer, signed the complaint filed Tuesday, alleging a gun valued at $15 was stolen from M. T. Taylor of 1722 Twenty-seventh street. The negro was being held.

Complaint alleging swindling by worthless $21.30 check Tuesday was filed in county court against a man who had not been arrested. Complainant Burton Houston said merchandise and money were received in exchange for the instrument. County Attorney Jess C. Levens prepared the complaint.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, associate professor of education at Texas Technological college, will deliver the commencement address at O'Donnell Friday night. He is to deliver commencement address at Dalhart tonight.

With arrest Tuesday morning of a 33-year-old Lubbock man, 23 chickens believed to have been stolen in Hockley county were recovered, said the sheriff's department. Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, and Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, arrested the man, who was in bed. Jess Smith, Hockley sheriff, was expected to come to Lubbock to question the man.

Condition late Tuesday of Edgar Bailey, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bailey of near Lubbock, still was serious but was much improved, surgeons at Lubbock sanitarium said. He was injured late Monday afternoon when automobiles driven by J. R. Dickerson of Lubbock and A. L. Glossett of Dallas were in collision on the east side of Yellowhouse canyon, on highway 24. No charges likely will be filed, said Bedford F. Carpenter, deputy sheriff.

A musical pageant, "Bluebonnet Land", will be presented by 125 grade school pupils of Acuff, Roosevelt school district, at 8 o'clock tonight at the Acuff community auditorium. "Queen Texas" and her attendants will reign over the pageant and history of the state and all its products will be represented by scenes, in which all the children will wear appropriate costume. Other entertainment will be by a "bluebonnet chorus" of 12 girls in costume.

Even Chief W. E. Twitty seemed pleased—which is taken to mean a pretty fair job resulted. Firemen Tuesday put their new Packard hose truck through its paces, after reconstructing it from a mass of fused and blackened metal. The chief, who directed assembling and new construction, said the flashy truck has power and speed to spare. Only hose reels are to be installed before the machine is ready to replace an old Dodge hose truck which has been in duty at station 2 since 1928. The new truck has a 140-gallon water tank, 300 feet of chemical hose and the new flashing-type Sirenlite, which has been on the market only two months.

With the finding of a bicycle Tuesday afternoon near the water stand on the campus of Texas Technological college, police had cleared the theft of three bikes from the carnival grounds last week. The bicycle found Tuesday was taken to the station by Jim Robinson and Jess Hardy.

After questions of fact and of law had been submitted to the court after a jury had been waived by agreement of sides and after hearing pleading, evidence and arguments of counsel, Judge Clark M. Mullican of 99th district court Tuesday found for defendant in action of Loyde C. Foster against Hartford Accident and Indemnity company, suit to set aside compromise indemnity settlement of $25. Plaintiff said he breathed carbon monoxide gas when employed in 1935 by J. I. Case company at Amarillo and that an agent of defendant offered settlement which was accepted before plaintiff realized extent of his injuries. Plaintiff's petition and defendant's general demurrer were filed Tuesday morning.

First class honor rating of the National Scholastic Press association has been conferred on the Toreador, semi-weekly student publication of Texas Technological college. Almost uniformly high grades were given in division of news value, news coverage, balance, development of news sources, appeal to public outside the college, editing, proof reading, typography, copyreading, and other elements which go to make a newspaper. This is the first year for the publication to be in the semi-weekly class. A diploma, bearing the sheet's rating, will be received. Jim Lindsey, editor, was informed.

Peace Appeal Made By Pope

Pontiff Opens World Exposition Of Catholic Press And Charges That State Is Encroaching On Church

VATICAN CITY, May 12. (AP)—Pope Pius hailed the "triumphant news" of peace in Africa today and then, turning to other matters, asserted the state is encroaching upon the church's domains.

The pontiff, inaugurating the world exposition of the Catholic press, attacked communism. He mentioned its development in Soviet Russia, Mexico, Spain, Uruguay and Brazil.

Hopes For Peace

Speaking to thousands of visitors from a special throne in the pine court of the exposition, he expressed hope the end of the Italo-Ethiopian war would be "a prelude to true European and world peace."

"This peace should be and, we hope, will be a fruitful and coefficient prelude to true European and world peace of which this exposition itself should be and is a clear symbol and real proof of an efficacious instrument of fervid and trustful invocation in many languages to all, to God and men in heaven as on earth: Peace, peace, peace."

In charging that the state is encroaching upon the church, the pontiff declared, "the Catholic church does not intend at all to usurp anything of what appertains to politics, properly so-called in accordance with their end."

Creating Difficulties

He asserted politics are creating every sort of difficulty, however, for the Roman Catholic church, obstructing it in those "vast fields which have a greater need for the church and could most profit by her—the youth, the family, the schools, the press, and the popular masses."

"The church recognizes to the state its own sphere of action. It teaches this and commands conscientious respect for it."

Discussing the absence of Russia and Germany from the exposition, the pontiff said Russia was "full of hatred against God."

Germany, he added, is "particularly dear to us, although regardless of every justice and truth, owing to the artificial confusion between religion and politics, it does not want the Catholic press to exist."

Attorneys Are Staging Fight

Arguments Over Government's Power Policies Are Heard In Court; Illegal Plan Is Being Charged

WASHINGTON, May 12. (AP) — Government and private power company attorneys contested in the District of Columbia Supreme court today over the question of whether the Public Works administration has illegally attempted to carry out a national electric power program.

Newton D. Baker, counsel for four utility firms attacking the constitutionality of PWA, tried to put in evidence a mass of books and newspaper clippings, in his effort to prove an "illegal plan" followed by several New Deal agencies.

Word Not Taken

"We don't intend to take Mr. Ickes' word for what he claims to do with relief funds," Baker told the court. "We want to examine every word he has said, and all the things he has done and proposed to do."

Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat refused to accept in evidence a recent book by Secretary Ickes, which, Baker contended, described the program. The justice upheld the plea of Jerome Frank, PWA general counsel, who claimed that such evidence had already been ruled immaterial by the Supreme court in a recent TVA decision.

"These plaintiffs are the same ones as those who brought the TVA case," Frank said. "And they are trying to bring again before the Supreme court the same arguments it has already rejected."

Program Outlined

Chapter six of Ickes' book—"Back To Work: The Story Of PWA"—the center of today's controversy, outlines "a comprehensive program of public works for the conservation, development, control, and utilization of water power for the generation of electrical energy and its transmission and distribution to consumers."

"Mammoth power plants with intricate generators large enough to supply whole cities, are being erected beside the dams; land is being cleared for huge reservoirs, and big transmission lines are being strung up to carry to home and factory the low cost electricity that is to come," the disputed chapter reads. "This activity is only the beginning of a national plan to increase the supply of electric power and bring down its cost."

Justice Wheat is expected to rule late this week on the power company's plea for an injunction to prevent allocation of $2,444,000 for the construction of 10 municipal power projects located in four states. The companies involved are the Alabama Power company, the Texas Utilities company, the Oklahoma Utilities company and the Iowa Light and Power company.

Mr. And Mrs. Reeves Express Thanks To Friends In City

Cards in recognition of the banquet given them by Lubbock business men April 27 at the Hotel Lubbock were received Tuesday from Mr. and Mrs. Garnet O. Reeves, now of Pampa and formerly of Lubbock. Friends of the couple tendered them a banquet and presented Mr. Reeves, formerly of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, with a wrist watch.

"Words will not express our sentiment fully, so let us merely say: 'We Thank You,' and you may well imagine just how sincerely we mean it. Of course, we have tried to be of service to Lubbock and to our friends but if we have succeeded to any degree, it was because we were fortunate enough to absorb some of that wonderful progressive and cooperative LUBBOCK SPIRIT that you have generated for yours. That old SPIRIT has enriched our lives and we shall always be thankful for it."

Mr. Reeves is now manager of the Pampa Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce.
