Schick served as personal secretary to the late dictator, Gen. Anastasio Somoza, who was assassinated in 1979. When Somoza's son Luis succeeded him, Schick was named minister of education and later became foreign minister.

All voters also elected 3 party presidents, 16 senators, 34 deputies and town councils throughout the country.

An insignificant opposition arose from the Conservative Party of Nicaragua, led by Diego Manuel Chamorro, was trailing by 10 to 1 margin. No matter what the final count, this party will receive one-third of the seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

Nicaraguan voters also elected the president of the republic.

VALENTINE PARTY—Dianna Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams was hostess to some 30 friends Friday evening at the Snyder Country Club for a Valentine party. The club hall, serving table, refreshments and individual tables, all carried out the Valentine motif. Refreshments included cake, punch, mints and nuts. Several games were played during the evening. Miss Williams is pictured in the center among some of the guests.

ENGAGEMENT—Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Sumrall of Tulare, Calif. formerly of Snyder, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Gerald Richard Oswald of Tulare, Calif. Parents of the prospective groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oswald of Visalia, Calif. Grandparents of the bride-to-be are Mrs. J. E. Maule and the late Rev. J. E. Maule of Camp Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sumrall of Snyder. Miss Sumrall is a hair stylist in Tulare, while her fiancé is employed by the county of Tulare.

Sometimes flour is browned before use in the gravy for a stew; if you follow this method remember that during the browning process the flour will lose about half its thickening power.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were

N.Y. Antique Show

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
The cigar store Indian is making his last stand. As Americana dwindles, so do these pieces of art, often magnificent. More of them are going into private collections and museums, some are used in homes as statuary, and fewer and fewer are to be found in antique shops.

An Indian chief or two are still around among the good antiques, such as those at the annual East Side Settlement House Winter Antique Show in New York, long considered one of the most elegant displays of Americana. Prices of antiques are not insignificant, but as exhibitor James Abbey Jr. of Oyster Bay, Long Island points out:

"Just think what one pays for a good piece of modern sculpture, a print or a drawing. A small modern bird print may be priced at $65; a modern painting is apt to cost from $3,000, and we don't know whether it will be worth anything a few years from now. A good modern chair can cost as much as a fine early American chair."

A cigar store Indian such as Abbey displays is special find, he says. About eight feet tall from base to feathers, he's in perfect condition, having been kept oiled through little plugs in his great pine body.

"Abby points out, 'The cigar store Indian borrowed from classical images in our cultural history, portraying strength and masculinity.' People collect them for statuary, a form of art, not just as cigar store symbols, he says. This is true of most Americana, such as carved folk sculpture—an unusual piece of undetermined origin is a life-size figure of a Quaker in papier mache.

Primitive portraits have skyrocketed in price with the demand. One by Kent, Linner, is typical of the mid-19th Century, forthright, plain puritanical Americans who were painted.

"Linner is a term applied to one who makes likenesses," Abby explains. "The itinerant Linners traveled around countryside, painting farmers and their wives as recordings for posterity, and, though not trained artists, they eventually became opportunistic talents. Up until the time they portrayed that kind of people, only aristocracy was painted—in their velvets, lace, gold and wigs, and by good artists.

A primitive wooden rooster is an outstanding example of folk art. A heron decoy, mid-19th Century, is priced at $375, and will probably go to a museum, Abby says. Other Americana in his hands collection includes a carved wooden dog, a Shaker cheese basket, box and chair, a copper eagle weathervane.

The blend of modern furnishings and early American primitive antiques is a great wedding, Abby points out. He uses early American simple pieces painted in blue and yellow, some Shaker, some tavern pieces, in his own home, along with modern. "Things of the past are so timeless, they fit harmoniously into any setting," he says.

Many reproductions are passed off as good antiques, however, even though some frankly are billed as imitations. "What worries me more than imitations is the willingness of people to be content to have things made to look like old things, rather than the real thing. If a man makes a good decoy today, he admires it because it is a kind of art that can't be duplicated. But one doesn't feel that way about reproductions, copies of another's work, he explains."

A few years back certain pieces of pewter, tin wall scones and candlesticks often were palmed off for the real thing. Today's imitations include paintings on velvet, penny banks, decoys, wall plaques and iron fire markers, the kind that were used outside of buildings to indicate fire insurance.

Mexico's Paper Production Up
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Except for newsprint, Mexico is now self-sufficient in its paper production. The National Chamber of Paper Industries says. Mexico produced 470,000 metric tons of paper during 1962.

Much of Mexico's newsprint still is imported, however. Last year 30,000 metric tons were purchased abroad, mainly in Canada. The chamber also reported paper is now being manufactured in Mexico from sugar cane waste. It said the product has been generally accepted by the public.

REMEMBER HOW TELEPHONES USED TO LOOK?

Every old telephone here was once the last word in service. But times and telephone change.

Remember when phones needed fixing so often that each one had a door on the front for the repairman's convenience? Today's telephones give many years of trouble-free service.

Remember when you had to talk loud to be heard? Today you can talk on the phone as if the person were sitting next to you.

Remember when technology limited telephones to one color and one model? Today you can have colors and models to suit your own good taste.

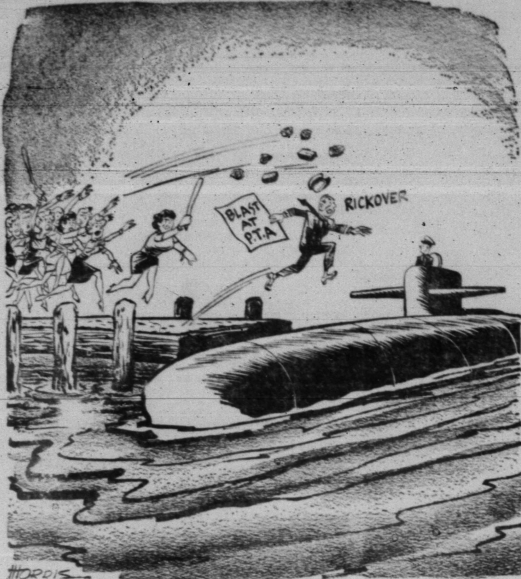

Continued development of better styling and engineering of telephones is another improvement made with you in mind. Our never-ending goal is to improve your telephone service and make it more valuable to you.

Frost's Death Is Loss To American Heart, Literature

BY INEZ ROBB
The world wasn't a desert when I came into it and it won't be when I go. Robert Frost said on his eightieth birthday anniversary.

When the great poet died eight years later, the body of his work had long since cast a bloom over the land. His loss to American life and literature is irreparable, but his loss to the American heart—to which he spoke so directly—is even greater. He was wise in the ways of both poet and man. To the end of his days, his bright eyes snapped with humor, tolerance and compassion.

"I'm not exactly tolerant, just good-natured," was the way in which he described himself when I last saw him, just two years ago. He was then on a tour of Greece and Israel, with honors heaped upon him wherever he went.

Over the years, when I had talked with Frost, it was my habit to come home and make a few notes. In looking them over, I find the following:

"I'm an Old Testament Christian. I believe in God despite all the evidence."

In discussing poetry and Dylan Thomas, he said:

"Dylan was not a difficult but a rhapsodic poet. He was a wilderness shared by all poets. You know, poetry is a wild game preserve."

"I never print anything that isn't six or seven years old."

"Poets sometimes die in philosophy, but old generals don't die or fade; they go into business."

"I write poems to see if I can make them all sound different from each other."

"No one ever made money out of poetry in ten centuries."

"I'd start to write a play or a novel and damned if it wouldn't always turn into poetry."

"In the classroom I'm always asked how a poem comes into my head. And next they ask if poetry shouldn't be sociological; that is, if it shouldn't do good. Then I say I don't do enough good. I am a poet, not an evaluator. Poetry isn't an industry."

A rugged individualist to the last, Frost once said that if he had complete security, he would, out of sheer boredom, take to playing the ponies.

"I never had any insurance and I never let myself think about it," he added.

"It is by craft and courage that you manage to temper life to yourself," he said on that occasion. "I never asked for security."

Woman's Auto Found

CANYON, AP—The car of missing Mrs. Jack Huddleston, 35, was found abandoned in this Texas Panhandle town Sunday.

Mrs. Huddleston, suffering from a brain tumor, hasn't been seen by relatives in more than a week. Operators of a restaurant on U.S. 87 said her car had been parked beside the highway here for several days.

A physician said Mrs. Huddleston had a brain tumor and she should be located as soon as possible.

Her husband, a Farmer County farmer, said she had only $11 when she drove away. The Huddlestons have been married 17 years and have two teen-age children.

Columnist Learns From Mail Again

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

It's made a woman's world every day. A recent magazine poll in Tokyo, once a bastion of male strength, found that more than half of younger Japanese husbands "hate" their wives.

Prosperity note: U.S. families with life insurance have an average protection of $14,000—but this isn't enough to send two kids through college comfortably.

Test this theory on your friends: It is said that the nose of a right-handed person points to the right, and the nose of a left-handed person points to the left.

History lesson: Only one physician served on the U.S. Supreme Court. He was Dr. Samuel Freeman Miller, appointed by President Lincoln, and he served for 28 years.

Our quotable notables: "Men have as exaggerated an idea of their rights as women have of their wrongs."—Ed Howe.

The world's most famous tilt is that of the Leaning Tower of Pisa in Italy. It is now 16½ feet out of line and sinks a fraction of an inch more each year.

No wonder American housewives are tired. They open 53 million cans and jars of food each day.

Abandoned wealth: The man who invented the safety pin sold his patent rights for $100.

Great minds in labor: The Colorado State Supreme Court has solemnly ruled that a telephone booth is a building.

What have you done to impress your bride recently? I took 20,000 men 17 years to erect the Taj Mahal, an Indian peacock's sentimental monument to a departed wife.

No one knows when the dog became man's best friend, but Egyptians kept dogs at least 5,000 years ago. Today there are at least 120 distinct breeds.

Health note: Since mental hospitals in 12 states unlocked their doors, only half as many patients have been restrained by lock and key.

It was President Theodore Roosevelt who observed, "A man who has never gone to school may steal from a freight car; but if he has a university education, he may steal the whole railroad."

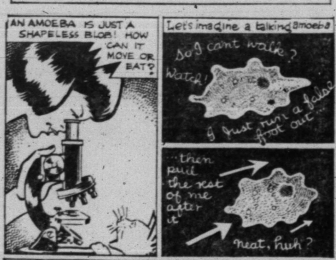

Fire Aboard Ship Is Extinguished
NEW YORK (AP)—A fire aboard the American freighter S.S. Bridgehampton in the Atlantic about 1,000 miles north-northeast of Bermuda has been reported extinguished.

No injuries were reported among the crew of 40.

The Coast Guard said today the crew was having some trouble getting rid of water used to fight the fire but the ship was not in distress.

The freighter, a 323-foot general cargo vessel owned by the Transp Shipping and Oil Transportation Corp., radioed the Coast Guard Sunday that a fire was being fought in the No. 2 hold.

Junior Editors Quiz on AMOEBAS

AN AMOEBA IS JUST A SHAPLESS BLOB. HOW CAN IT MOVE OR MOVE MAT?

Let's imagine a talking amoeba.

Do you want to know how it moves?

Then follow the cat and the ant.

Heat, huh?

Do some food? Ill flow around it in my good!

QUESTION: Without legs, eyes or mouth, how can an amoeba move and feed?

ANSWER: The amoeba is an amazing little animal. It resembles the billions of cells of which our bodies are composed—it's as if one of these should be a whole animal in itself, able to move around and feed. Yet the amoeba has no organs, no head, legs, arms, nerves or heart. It is so minute you need a microscope to see it. An amoeba is just a tiny blob of protoplasm with a darker spot, the nucleus, and a kind of skin or membrane through which the amoeba can breathe and discharge waste materials. These membranes receive impressions from outside, called "stimuli," and these cause an amoeba to move away from danger or toward food. The complicated protoplasm inside is in one of two states, either fluid (sol) or more solid and jelly-like (gel). When an amoeba is stimulated to move, a "pseudopod" or false foot is run, filled with sol protoplasm. Then this changes to gel and the rest of the animal is pulled up toward it. These false feet can point in any direction. Of course, amoebas don't think and talk as our artist has imagined. They act by complicated chemical changes, not all of which we understand.

FOR YOU TO DO: If you can get the use of a microscope at school, have a teacher show you an amoeba.

(Georgette Twine, of Greenwich, Conn., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper and you may win $10 or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.)

IN TIGER GYM TUESDAY

Surging Bengals Eye Chiefs Next

A triumph for the Snyder Tigers here Tuesday night over the Lake View Chieftains would tend to boost the surging Bengals into a tie for second place in the league standings.

Game time for the important District 3-AAA clash is 8 p.m. Preceding it — at 6:15 — Snyder B (12-7) will take the floor against Lake View B, a team it smashed 53-27 in an earlier meeting.

The action of the night marks the kickoff point for the second round of play in the double round robin slate. The Tigers were nudged out in their opening bid for a district win, in San Angelo when the Chiefs survived a late rally to pull down a 60-58 decision. The Tribe was dealt its first conference loss the past Friday by losing to Lamesa, 54-35, the same night that Snyder was disposing of Brownfield by 64-57 for its third triumph in a row.

A capsule glance at the race as it now stands (point totals do not take into account two forfeited games on the part of Sweetwater):

Loraine Cops Tournery Title

HERMLEIGH — The Loraine boys copied the championship of the Hermleigh B Team Tournament, felling Ira in final action of Saturday night, 56-29.

The other boys' result of the evening found Hobbs knocking off host Hermleigh, 53-30. Girls' games staged the same date saw Hobbs gliding past Hermleigh 42-22 and Ira bounding Hobbs 52-25.

Loraine, Hobbs and Ira all tied for top honors in the girls' division. The first place trophy went to Loraine, though, based on its winning 28-point spread during the tournament, while Ira was named second with its 14-point spread.

The Loraine boys breezed through all three of their tournament contests without a loss. Hobbs boys — Martin 1-3, Cret 4-2, 5-2, 6-2, 7-2, 8-2, 9-2, 10-2, 11-2, 12-2, 13-2, 14-2, 15-2, 16-2, 17-2, 18-2, 19-2, 20-2, 21-2, 22-2, 23-2, 24-2, 25-2, 26-2, 27-2, 28-2, 29-2, 30-2, 31-2, 32-2, By The Associated Press

Texas counted 24 violent deaths during the weekend, and there probably were three more.

Still undetermined Monday was the fate of three young men missing in the Gulf of Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Carter of Pasadena drowned Saturday while fishing in Turtle Bayou. The bodies were recovered Sunday.

Vicious north winds also were blamed for swamping a boat in the Gulf of Mexico.

Mrs. Birdie Smith, 18, was slain to death Sunday at Tomball. Her husband, James Smith, 25, was charged with murder.

Stevie Brown, 6, of El Paso, Minn., was killed Sunday while playing with a gun.

L. A. McCLANAHAN, seated, head of Jack and Jack Realty, signs on as area broker for the Federal Housing Administration as H. N. Hamilton, acting chief of operations of Lubbock district of FHA, looks on.

Jack And Jack Realty Firm Named Area Broker For FHA

Jack and Jack Realty of Snyder has been appointed as the Area Broker for the Federal Housing Administration.

The announcement was made by H. N. Hamilton, acting chief of operations of the Lubbock district of the FHA. The formal appointment of brokers is actually a new program of the F.H.A., Hamilton explained, although L. A. McClanahan, owner of Jack and Jack Realty, has been serving as a sort of unofficial broker for some time.

The Area Broker will receive current information on all housing and properties where the control of the property has been taken over by the F.H.A. He will make these listings to any qualified real estate agent in the area, and will give them such help as he can with such things as current status, prices, etc. Formerly each agent had to deal directly with the Lubbock office for this type of information.

Further, the Area Broker will furnish keys to real estate agents who will open a unique lock box on each house. These Jack boxes will contain the keys to the house. In this way, only one key is necessary to get into every FHA listed house in the area.

"With an Area Broker," said Hamilton, "we will be able to keep our properties better maintained and supervised." He added that any agent gets the full commission on any property he sells for the FHA, and that the broker receives no override or bonus for the sale.

Commenting on the FHA representation in Snyder, Hamilton said that, definitely, "We're not hurting in Snyder." He explained that one-half of one per cent of the payments on FHA-financed property goes into mutual mortgage insurance. Thus, any loss that is incurred in the reselling of properties is borne by this fund, and not by the government. He said that the fund had "adequate reserves and then some."

The job of Area Broker which is being assumed by Jack and Jack Realty will not be a new one, but will rather be an extension of their property management service which they have offered for some time.

Priority management is one of the specialized areas of the real estate business, and, explained McClanahan, while property management is not a particularly lucrative field, it keeps the operator constantly abreast of current conditions and market activity.

Skill, patience, and training were listed as necessary for good property management by McClanahan. Jack and Jack Realty already had over 100 clients before they took on the FHA Area Brokership. Some clients have been customers for over 12 years.

Their clients include non-residents who own property here, institutions, and those who because of illness or some other reason do not want to handle their own property. Jack and Jack Realty handles the collection of rents, either forwarding the checks or depositing them to the clients' account, renting of the property, preparing for rent, and maintaining the property. And, should the owner decide to sell, the property manager is prepared to do that too. The property manager is in a good position in this field since he is

World's Largest Bridge To Link 2 Historic Old Forts

By KALEIGH ALABROOK

NEW YORK (AP)—A new engineering wonder is being rushed to completion between two proud old forts that once stood guard over New York harbor.

The structure is the $23-million Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, destined to become the world's largest single span suspension bridge. It is to be completed in 1963 and will arch majestically from Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn to Fort Wadsworth in Staten Island. On a clear day it will be visible 10 miles away.

For travelers approaching New York by sea, it will be an imposing landmark of the huge metropolis.

The 4,260-foot center span will be 60 feet longer than San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, the longest between piers, and its two supporting towers will be almost 20 stories high.

If you want to compare it with other big things, the center span will be:

- Almost three times the height of the Empire State building
- Longer than the longest building, more than four times the length of the liner France (1,033), world's longest passenger ship, longer than the Grand Concorde (1,172), nation's largest concrete dam, and one-seventh the height of Mt. Everest (29,028), highest mountain the world.

The reason, a force of 1,000 men is doing a rush job is purely a matter of finance. The quicker the bridge, started in 1959, is completed, the sooner the city can start collecting tolls, and getting something back on its investment.

Both of the 600-foot towers are complete and much of the work is done on concrete anchorages to which steel supporting cables will be attached. The cables, most expensive item of the bridge, will cost $50 million.

Work on the four cables, each a yard in diameter, will begin in the spring and last for six months. Then the year-long job of erecting the suspended span will commence.

When completed the bridge and its approaches will be nearly three miles long and have two traffic levels of six lanes each. Unit traffic demands it, only one level still be used.

Although a bridge of such size ordinarily would cause considerable excitement and feelings of pride, there has hardly been a ripple in New York.

One reason, of course, is that the city already has four major suspension bridges: George Washington (3,500 feet), Triborough (3,500), Bronx-Whitestone (2,300), Throgs Neck (1,800) and the ancient Brooklyn Bridge (1,335).

It also has the world's longest steel arch bridge, the Bayonne (1,652).

There has been considerable discussion about whether a bridge of any kind should be built. Residents of Staten Island, where some cows still graze in pastures, fear their easy-going suburban life will disappear once traffic starts streaming across Staten Island can be reached now from the city's other four boroughs only by ferry.

The island is 2½ times the size of New York's largest borough, Manhattan, but its 220,000 population is only about an eighth as large.

With the bridge in operation, its population is expected to increase 138 per cent by 1975. New apartment houses already have been started and real estate values are up 75 per cent.

In addition to providing a quick way of reaching Staten Island, the bridge's purpose is to furnish an easier route through New York, keeping motorists out of the central business district.

6:30 NBC "Monday Night Movie" premieres tonight as a two-hour weekly feature. In tonight's offering, Robert Mitchum and Curt Jurgens star in "The Enemy Below", the story of a duel between an American destroyer and a Nazi submarine during the close of World War II. This is the first of sixteen first TV-run motion pictures produced during 1957 and 1958 by twentieth century Fox.

7:00 CBS "Live God a Secret". Jack Benny will be the celebrity guest and his daughter Joan will be on hand as a guest panelist substituting for the vacationing Bill Cullen.

7:30 CBS "Lucy". When one member of the Women's Volunte-ers department drops out on the eve of the annual contest, Lucy reluctantly agrees to Lucy's filling in. Hilarious comedy is featured as the Finnish vocal coach who tries to find Lucy's true voice.

8:30 CBS "Andy Griffith". Barney Fife look forward to seeing their high school sweethearts again when the Mayberry high school class of 1949 holds its reunion. Like most of us, they were not prepared for the changes time has made. Peggy May and Virginia Eilers are featured.

8:30 NBC "Telephone Hour". Pat Boone makes his first appearance on this series and Joan Sutherland returns for another engagement. Ballet stars Erik Bruhn and Sonia Arora join concert pianist John Browning and popular singer Mandy Patinkin to round out the cast. Pat Boone serves as program host and Donald Voorhees directs the symphony orchestra. COLOR.

9:00 CBS "Loretta Young". At a dinner party given for a magazine publisher and his wife, Chris-tine is unable to refrain from ver-bally attacking the couple, even though the job of Paul Belter is left hanging in the balance. Lari Erickson and Regina Galiano are featured.

6 Fishermen Tell About Ordeal At Sea

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP)—Six of nine fishermen who tied themselves together and leaped into a boiling sea when their trawler sank told today of the ordeal which claimed the lives of three companions.

They were in the Gulf of Mexico about 40 minutes before a Coast Guard cutter, hampered by 25-foot waves, could pull them to safety.

In all eight men landed together with a rope were hoisted from the sea about 25 miles offshore Sunday by the Coast Guard cutter Nike.

Two of the eight were dead. The body of a ninth crewman, who had been knocked off the line during the rescue operation, was recovered several hours later.

The dead were Willard Hall, 46, and Archie Wilson, 41, both of Pensacola, Fla., and Wesley E. Hackett, 35, of Theodore, Ala.

The skipper, Max Alford, 43, suffered broken ribs.

Treated for shock and exposure and rescued were John Summers, 37, John Grey, 43, John Tucker, 49, David Grigg, 21, and C. G. Smith, 36, all of Pensacola.

The men had been aboard the 37-foot Sea Horse, out of Bayou La Batre, Ala. She left that port Saturday.

Smith said the trawler began shipping water about 6:30 p.m.

A gale-like north wind hit them that night, and the Sea Horse headed for port.

"The seas were beating us real hard," said Griggs. Another survivor said, "It seemed like all the seams opened up, the water was pouring in so fast."

A Coast Guard plane dropped pumps, but they were carried away by huge waves, Summers said.

After the Nike showed up at 2:50 a.m. Sunday, the crewmen, with lifelines on, lashed themselves together and went overboard seconds before the Sea Horse sank.

Lt. Cmdr John A. Packard, Navy commanding officer, said the men were tied so close together the Nike crewmen could not pick up one at a time.

"We chewed them with lifelines," Packard said, "but they were worn out and could hardly help themselves."

SP Clerks Set Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Union clerks prepared today for a strike against the Southern Pacific Railway. It could come at any moment.

A federal mediation team, was expected to make last-ditch talks to keep the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks from idling SP operations in seven Western states.

The union saw little chance of averting a strike in a dispute over job security rules.

There are about 11,000 clerks. Another 20,000 workers, members of 27 other railroad unions, would presumably respect Clerks' picket lines.

Clerks' points of dispute are union demands for control over work force reduction and retraining of displaced employees for new railroad jobs.

Oilman-Rancher Dies In San Angelo

PORT STOCKTON (AP)—John R. Bennett, an oilman and rancher in West Texas, died Sunday in a San Angelo hospital. He was 83.

A former Port Stockton city councilman, Bennett and his family and brother established the first telephone at Odessa and Port Stockton. He engaged in the grain and feed business here for 25 years.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Robert Bennett of Levellville, La., and three sisters. The funeral service was held today.
