Outright Battle Reported To Be In Progress

Clash Between Sudetens And Czech Troops And Police Is On; Tanks Being Used

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 14 — A Reuters (British News agency) dispatch from Prague today reported that Sudeten Germany party headquarters said "a regular battle" was in progress near Falkenau, northwestern Czechoslovakia, between Sudetens and Czechoslovak troops and police.

Sudeten leaders said heavy tanks were being used in the conflict and that between 10 and 15 Czech gendarmes had been killed, according to the dispatch.

No Figure On Losses

Losses of the Sudeten Germans were described as "much heavier" but no figure was given.

The trouble was said by the Sudetens to have begun in a fight between "communists" and Sudetens. The gendarmes attempted to separate the belligerents without using their weapons, the reports said, but were forced to retreat into a police station where they were attacked by the crowd.

FORTY DEATHS REPORTED

PRAGUE, Sept. 14 (AP) — Fighting between Czechoslovak gendarmes and Sudeten Germans armed with machine-guns, rifles and hand grenades at various towns in the Sudeten region near the German frontier today resulted in at least 40 deaths.

Bloody clashes were reported continuing tonight.

The Prague foreign office reported that eight gendarmes were killed in a battle with 2,000 Sudetens at the frontier town of Schwaderbach, where the Sudetens occupied the Czechoslovak gendarmerie station. Schwaderbach is a Sudeten village directly across the border from the German town of Sachsenberg.

When the Sudetens started a demonstration the gendarmerie received orders not to fire, lest shots crossing the border hit Germans and create a still more serious incident.

Shooting Breaks Out

Shooting then broke out and several policemen were shot down as

Mobilization Is Planned

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Sept. 14. — The French government was reported in informed quarters today to have completed plans for speedy mobilization of 2,000,000 more men, or eight classes of army reserves, in case a new grave turn in the European situation makes it necessary.

It is estimated there already are about 2,000,000 men under arms in the French empire, hence such mobilization would swell the total to 4,000,000.

From 27 to 34 Years

The classes from 1931 back to 1924 would be included, meaning that men from 27 to 34 years old, inclusive, would be called.

It was said that the question of mobilization of more men was one of the main matters considered by Premier Daladier last night and then was held in abeyance until this morning, when a postponement of proposed mobilization was decided upon.

Mobilization, it was pointed out, would be a natural move if the situation took a sudden, acute turn. Thus it was not considered surprising that plans were completed for its orderly execution. Whether these plans will be put into effect depends upon developments.

FDR's Power In Georgia Up In Test Today

(By The Associated Press)

Seven senators won renomination or moved to the front today in primary election returns, but national attention centered on the spectacular Georgia test of President Roosevelt's campaign against conservative legislators.

Georgia Democrats selected their senatorial candidate from these men:

Senator Walter F. George, described by Mr. Roosevelt as out of touch with the "broad objectives" of the Democratic party and the government.

Lawrence S. Camp, federal district attorney in Atlanta, recipient of a presidential blessing.

Former Governor Eugene Talmadge, who the chief executive said would "contribute little to practical government."

Lonergan Is Opposed

In Connecticut another Democratic senator who has opposed some administration measures was seeking renomination. He was Augustine Lonergan, endorsed by Attorney General Cummings, but opposed in a convention by Rep. Herman P. Kopplemann and two other aspirants. New Deal policies threatened to become an issue in the race.

They did not enter to any marked degree, however, into the seven senatorial selections made yesterday. In four states, the Democratic incumbents were unopposed. They were Senators Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire, Elbert D. Thomas

Curtain Time For Big Show

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 — It's curtain time for the big show to which Democrats and Republicans invite America's 40-odd million voters every two years.

The bulk of the cast—Candidates for congress and state offices — has been chosen. After today, only New York, New Jersey and Wisconsin have to pick their senatorial nominees.

To Start In Earnest

Consequently, the campaign is ready to start in earnest. It will last until Nov. 8. In the meantime, party leaders will try to patch up factional quarrels, orators will point with pride and view with alarm, and headquarters aides will send out stacks and stacks of pamphlets.

The Republicans, determined to cut down the huge Democratic majorities in both senate and house, already are at work. Last night their titular leader, Alfred M. Landon, told an audience at Little Rock, Ark.:

Party On Way Back

"The Republican party is on the way back. We are going to elect more Republican governors in 1938 than we have since 1930."

Chairman John Hamilton and other prominent Republicans will speak Saturday at some of 500 Constitution day rallies arranged by the party's national committee.

The Democrats, meanwhile, are not idle. Their campaign in Pennsylvania is under way, and the senate and house campaign committees are arranging itineraries for speakers.

Garner Given Endorsement By Convention

(By The Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, Sept. 14. — Vice President John N. Garner was given the Democratic endorsement of his home state for the presidency in 1940 in the closing minutes of the state party convention early today.

The convention, which praised the work of Jesse H. Jones, another Texas Democrat, who is a presidential possibility, chose the white haired vice president with a roar of approval that rumbled through the municipal auditorium.

Banners For O'Daniel

A few minutes before the endorsement of Garner, the Texas Democrats howled so loud when their gubernatorial nominee, W. Lee O'Daniel, tried to talk to them that he left the auditorium without uttering a word.

Even as the Democrats yelled for Garner and shouted down O'Daniel, banners floated above their heads urging them to endorse O'Daniel for the party nomination in 1940.

Woodward Redds Resolution

Former State Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman read a resolution praising Garner and President Franklin D. Roosevelt just a few minutes before the Texans started homeward at 1:05 a. m.

The resolution said in part that "in order that the broad, liberal and humanitarian policies and objectives of the Democratic party

Slaton To Vote On Bonds On Thursday

(Special To The Journal)

SLATON, Sept. 14.—Slaton's electorate Thursday will go to the polls to decide whether $55,000 shall be subscribed in bonds for erection of a new junior high and grade school building.

Application for $45,000 in PWA funds to supplement the bonds has been filed with federal authorities.

Joe Webb, superintendent of schools here, explained that conditions in the schools have made necessity for building almost an emergency.

"Overcrowding conditions have caused more than a third more students in some rooms than recommended by state department of education," he said. "There is inadequate lighting and poor ventilation under the present setup, sand can not be kept out, and the west ward and junior high schools, which would be razed, are architecturally unsafe."

Polls will open at 8 o'clock Thursday morning and close at 7 o'clock at night.

Tax Abolition To Be Talked

Abolition of the state ad valorem tax will be chief discussion of West Texas property owners in a meeting at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Hilton hotel.

The meeting, sponsored by the Texas Real Estate association, will attempt to bring about concerted action against the tax on the grounds that it is unequitable, E. B. Bynum, jr., of Dallas, secretary of the organization, said. Bynum is here to supervise plans for the meeting.

Differentials Are Cited

"Property value in Texas has increased 40 per cent during the past 100 years, while taxes have been increased 700 per cent," Bynum said. "The ad valorem tax has become unfair to property owners.

"One county, in need of funds, places a high evaluation on its property to raise local taxes, which at the same time puts a high state tax on property. In other counties both taxes are necessarily lower because those counties are not in need of local funds."

Puts Unnecessary Burden

Such practice puts an unnecessary burden on tax payers of certain counties through the ad valorem tax.

Lubbock county ranks near the top in Texas in tax equalization, Bynum said. Its system almost is as nearly perfect as any county in the state.

For several years the association has advocated abolition of the tax. Studies have been made and statistics compiled to bear out its contentions, Bynum said.

John E. Zeller of San Antonio is president of the organization. J. D. Hamlin of Farwell is executive vice president. R. C. Hopping, Lubbock real estate man, is a member of the board of directors.

Property owners throughout West Texas are invited to attend the meeting.

Pieces Of Wreckage Of Hawaii Clipper Are Reported Found

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 14. (AP)—A garbled message indicating pieces of wreckage from the Hawaii Clipper had been found in the eastern Philippines were ordered investigated by government officials today.

No authenticated trace has been found of the giant trans-Pacific flying boat since it disappeared July 29 with 15 men on a flight from Guam to Manila.

Postoffice officials said a vague telegram received from Malaga, on Samoa island, indicated wreckage of the Pan American Clipper had been found near Malaga between two small isolated islands west of Samar.

More Than Score Of Businesses In Tijuana, Mexico, Burned

TIJUANA, Mex., Sept. 14. (AP) — Firemen still played streams of water today on the smoldering ruins of more than a score of business establishments swept by Tijuana's most disastrous fire in years.

The fire, believed to have started at the rear of a drygoods store, spread with such rapidity that five stores had burned before the Tijuana municipal fire truck could bring its hoselines into play. California sent fire fighting equipment from San Ysidro. Chula Vista and the La Mesa state forestry fire truck.

Demo Session Is Closed In An Uproar

O'Daniel Is Shouted Down In Attempt To Speak But His Platform Adopted

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

BEAUMONT, Sept. 14—The 1938 Texas Democratic convention was history today but the memory of the wild, uproarious night session which concluded it lingered on in the memory of thousands of delegates and visitors.

In that session which ended long after midnight the new Democratic choice for governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, Fort Worth flour broker nominated in a sensational campaign last summer, was shouted down when he offered to address the meeting.

Police Were Called

Delegates yelled and stamped and hurrahed. Speakers who were recognized by the presiding officer were unable to make themselves heard. City police were summoned to assist in maintaining order.

With the smoke risen, however, these facts stood out:

O'Daniel, who campaigned for the governorship with an orchestra which played "mountain music," had obtained adoption of a party platform almost exactly as he wanted it except for one plank calling for abolition of the state poll tax as a prerequisite to voting.

Pension Plank Adopted

One of the planks approved declared for paying pensions to all persons over 65 years old the maximum in old age assistance within limits of the state and United States constitutions and federal laws.

The convention had gone on rec-

POWERFUL DEBATE WEAPON

BEAUMONT, Sept. 14 (AP)—Threatened negro domination of Southern elections once again proved a powerful debate weapon as the state Democratic convention last night handed Governor-Nominate W. Lee O'Daniel a substantial setback in his campaign for abolition of the poll tax.

Democrats attending the biennial party conclave said they wanted the levy retained despite the fact that both President Roosevelt and their state gubernatorial standard bearer favor its abolition.

The convention delegates were in a rebellious mood throughout the evening but the revolt reached its height so far as effectiveness was concerned when the O'Daniel-dominated platform committee tried to procure approval of the poll tax abolition proposal.

Storm Of Selling Hits Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—A storm of selling in the stock market today blew out of the darkening war clouds over Europe, as prices tumbled $1 to $5 or more a share in excited trading.

So pressing was the selling that the exchange's price reporting tickers fell as much as 6 minutes behind actual dealings of sweating brokers on the big trading floor.

The nervousness which engulfed traders came in a rush after fairly active morning proceedings in which there were willing buyers at rising prices of as much as $3 or so for some of the most active issues.

FOOD COSTS DROP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Retail food costs dropped two per cent between July 12 and August 16, labor department figures showed today. Compared with a year ago, prices on August 17 were 8.3 per cent lower.

American Business And Finance Is Prepared To Meet Shock Of General European Conflict

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—American business and finance is prepared to meet the shock of general European war in the opinion of leading Wall Street figures and governmental fiscal authorities canvassed today.

Cautious comparison of the United States business and financial world of today with that of 1914 led to the unanimous opinion of those consulted that this country is much better prepared, in manifold ways, to meet and weather that shock than it was 24 years ago.

No Intention Of Closing

President William M. C. Martin of the New York Stock exchange said before the regular opening time that there was no intention of closing the exchange on the basis of current information from Europe.

His confidence, and that of others consulted, was reassuring to those troubled by the volume of selling at the close of trading yesterday, which forced leading issues down $1 to $6 a share, and which continued in even greater force after the New York close in the San Francisco market.

Summary Is Given

Business men throughout the country asking what would happen to American business and finance in event of general war in Europe may find the answer in the following summary of Wall Street banking and governmental opinion:

1. A general European war would probably be an immediate shock to the financial and business world, as it was in 1914.

2. The American financial sys-

Operators Fight Death Battle As Screen Murder Is Filmed For Audience; One Is Killed

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. (AP)—Two film operators fought a death battle in a locked projection booth last night while 500 movie patrons below them sat watching a screen murder.

Clubbed by a fire extinguisher, Nathan Klein 33, was killed during the hand-to-hand fight in the tiny cubicle. Sol Schulman, 38, the other projectionist, was seriously injured.

Patrolman Wesley McClelland said Schulman told him he wrested the fire extinguisher from Klein when the latter attacked him after an argument. Schulman was charged with homicide.

The film being shown was "The Devil's Party" in which a night club owner is slain by gangland guns.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—An unofficial speed record was claimed today for Maj. Alex. P. de Seversky after a 2 hour and 48 minute flight from New York to Chicago.

The airplane designer and manufacturer averaged 262 miles an hour, 22 miles an hour faster than the previous record established on the New York-Chicago run by a commercial transport plane.

Many Democrats Muttering As They Return Home Today

(By The Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, Sept. 144.—Many Democrats were muttering as they scattered to their respective homes today about the old age pension plank of the platform drafted at the state party convention here.

Opposition to the plank threw both the convention and the platform committee into turmoil although a roll call gave it 1,005 yea votes against 558 nays.

Among those who believed that the plank perhaps did not accomplish its asserted purpose of declaring for full, universal pensions were sent Joe L. Hill of Henderson, Senator-Nominate. Doss Hardin of Prairie Hill, Rep. Albert L. Derden of Marlin, Rep. Eugene Worley of Shamrock, and V. A. Collins of Livingston, the convention keynoter.

The platform asked for "payment of the maximum pension and old age assistance to persons over the age of 65 years within the limits of the constitution of this state and the laws of the United States."

was reported keeping in constant communication with the state department.

James underwent an operation for a gastric ulcer Sunday morning at a Mayo clinic hospital. Reports from physicians consistently have said he is recuperating satisfactorily.

On a visit to James last night, father and son talked at some length about recent developments in Europe —including Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Nurnberg speech and the Czechoslovakian government's rejection of the Sudeten German ultimatum.

White House authorities obviously were worried about the international situation, and gave newsmen only the bare facts of Mr. Roosevelt's scheduled departure.

The president was to see James today. Then, if the later's condition was satisfactory, he planned to leave for the east.

"When I eat the wrong kind of food, or when my stomach turns sour, I often have the worst colic pains. And do I yell! But my mama is a smart mama and she gives me Teethina, because Teethina is a mild, gentle laxative. It cleanses my tiny bowels of irritating waste. This relieves my pain and relaxes me too, and I'm all set to go back to sleep. Teethina tastes good and you get twelve powders for only 30c. All little babies like me also need Teethina for temporary constipation and for loose bowels caused by a faulty diet." TEETHINA.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE Bad Breath

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing cannot get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities, Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT
Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life.

Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Possibilities Of Tydings-For-President Movement In 1940 Seen

FDR's Rebuff Has Reaction

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A decisive defeat for President Roosevelt's effort to defeat Senator Tydings in Maryland added to the unfavorable portents under which administration forces awaited the returns from Georgia's senatorial primaries today.

Political analysts believe Tydings' renomination over Representative David Lewis, in whose behalf President Roosevelt personally took the stump, has raised possibilities of a Tydings-for-president movement in 1940.

Has Strong Support

The Marylander, assuming his reelection, seems potentially assured of at least strong support for a favorite son candidacy. It was around the candidacy of the late Governor Ritchie of Maryland that the most formidable opposition to Mr. Roosevelt's original nomination in 1932 centered.

The outcome of Monday's primaries in that state is interpreted as pointing toward a strong "Stop-Roosevelt" effort again in Maryland in 1940, whether it is aimed at a third term candidacy by the president himself, or at a Roosevelt-sponsored candidate to carry forward New Deal policies. The president risked that reaction when he tried to eliminate Tydings. The failure of that effort tended to make a national figure of the Maryland man. Observers believe that if he returns to the senate he will have an increasingly important role as a leader of anti-Roosevelt factions in the Democratic party.

George Singled Out

Yet it is in Georgia that the Democratic senator against whom the president directed his most pointed attack, Walter George, awaits the decision of party voters. George was singled out by name by Mr. Roosevelt; told to his face of the president's opposition.

His victory by any such margin as Tydings rolled up in Maryland would unquestionably, in the minds of onlookers here, give George a special standing among Democratic opponents of Roosevelt, both in the next congress and in 1940. But for the tradition that has denied Southern Democrats presidential nominations since the War Between the States, it might make him the leading 1940 contender against Mr. Roosevelt himself or against any candidate favored by the president.

Some think that even this tradition may not hold good against George if he is sweepingly renominated, as his campaign managers predict.

Municipal Judge Claims That You Can't Insult Policeman

DENVER, Sept. 14 (AP) — Municipal Judge Philip B. Gilliam said you can't insult a policeman.

"Even if you could, there's no ordinance against it," he added.

Leslie L. Golden told the court he "was just scratching my nose" when Officers F. W. Johnson and T. L. Davy handed him a speeding ticket.

"I always scratch my nose that way," said Golden. "I scratch with my thumb and my fingers are kind of loose, and I guess they wiggle."

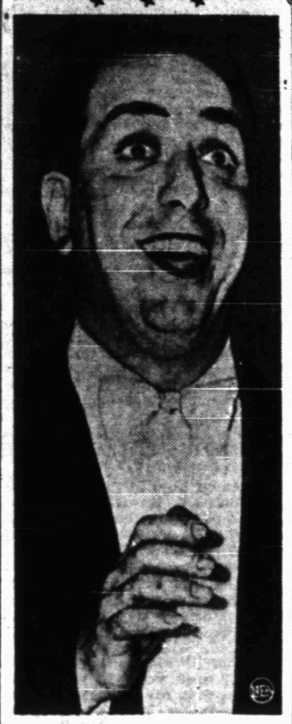

The judge fined Golden $25 on the speeding charge.

LONG LIVE REDWOOD

WASHINGTON, (AP) — California's famous redwood trees grow to be 2,000 years old. They reach a maximum height of 364 feet and the trunks grow to a 20 foot diameter. The National park service says they once grew in many parts of the world, but are now found only in California.

Enrico Caruso, Jr., Son Of The Great Tenor, Is Singing In Cabaret; To Try Opera

Patrons of a New York cabaret recently heard the soaring tenor of Caruso—and it wasn't from a phonograph record, either. The voice belonged to Enrico Caruso, jr., son of grand opera's greatest tenor. He is pictured above at the night club debut which he hopes will lead to the operatic stage.

By PAUL ROSS

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Enrico Caruso, jr., son of the great tenor, has just opened an engagement at Leon and Eddie's. Most singers would be tickled silly to get a booking at this 52nd Street hot-spot, but Enrico —while duly grateful — is thinking of other things.

In a short time, young Caruso is going to approach the head of the Metropolitan Opera for a tryout. And when he goes, he'll have more than that nervous feeling to overcome. Somehow, he'll have to put the quietus on a jinx which has clung to him—the jinx that comes from bearing his father's name.

The favorite way of rating a gifted tenor is to say "another Caruso." But "Ric" is not another Caruso. He IS Caruso. So people listen to him, sigh gently and remark he is NOT Caruso, after all.

"They don't say how good I am," the handsome, 33-year-old tenor reports. "They say simply, 'He's not the old man'."

The Experts Expert

There is one person who does have faith in young Caruso, the manager of a midtown record shop who, at own expense, has recorded "Ric" singing "Questa O Quello" from "Rigoletto."

Whenever there are expert record collectors in the shop, the manager quietly turns on "Questa O Quello." Conversation stops, there is a lull of listening, then the experts rush forward and ask, "Who is that?"

"Who do you think it is?" responds the manager.

"Caruso! Nobody but Caruso!" the experts exclaim.

The manager grins and says, "Yes, it's Caruso, all right." The experts smile knowingly, then the manager adds, "Caruso, junior."

Tryout Soon

"Ric" Caruso cannot be discouraged. "I know I'm not as good as father. The world does not often produce so great an artist. But I do want a chance to show how good I am in my own right."

He lives in a basement apartment in Manhattan and studies under Pietro Della Rosa, a basso who sang with the elder Caruso and who uses Caruso's "bel canto" system of vocal emission.

His livelihood has been a problem with young Caruso. His father left a big estate but litigation and impetuous youth dissipated most of it. Now an occasional singing job, a small advance from his sponsor—the record-shop manager — and such things bring in a little to keep "Ric" going.

The expensive racing cars and the amorous escapades which put him in the newspapers are gone forever. At 33, "Ric" Caruso has to cover the ground he lost in his 'teens and twenties. But he is making rapid strides.

He will soon be ready for that audition at the Metropolitan. "It won't be John Somebody who's getting the tryout," he says with a grin. "It will be Caruso's son and believe me I'll have to be good."

Alleged Graft In State Work Relief Is Being Probed

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 14 (AP)—A federal grand jury Tuesday opened an investigation of alleged graft in state work relief, calling as the first witness State WPA Administrator Fred Healy.

Ordered last week by federal Judge Colin Neblett to probe "common rumor" of WPA graft, the jury finished its routine criminal work this morning and launched an investigation which has been defined as statewide.

Arabs Are Jubilant Following Speech By Nazis' Hitler

JERUSALEM, Sept. 14 (AP) — Jubilant Arab reaction today to Adolf Hitler's references to Palestine foreshadowed increased resistance to government in this troubled British mandate.

"Now we are not without friends in Europe," an Arab spokesman said. "Our ultimate success as a nation lies in the hands of Hitler and Mussolini and not in Britain and France."

This was one response to Hitler's assertion at Nurnberg yesterday that "poor Arabs are defenseless and left in the lurch."

A Department of Labor survey of women in office work shows that the best paying jobs are secretary and supervisor—the lowest paying are file clerk, general clerk, typist and certain machine operators.

Can This Be Dignified Old England?

This comical sight was to be seen in London as dour-faced Bobbies leaped ungracefully (and ungraciously) into the Thames to test their life jackets, required equipment while they serve as members of the Port Authority dock patrol. Note the expression of grim determination on the face of the Bobbie just starting his leap. Although required to wear helmet, uniform and overcoat, he managed to remove his shoes.

Day Criticizes Commissioner

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Sept. 14—Tours of Texas by J. E. McDonald, state agriculture commissioner, to advocate domestic allotment farm plan were attacked in a statement by C. H. Day, president of the Texas Agricultural association, following a session of asociation directors here Tuesday.

Day said "any new experiment would decrease the living standards of the South through the low cotton prices necessary under McDonald's plan to freeze out foreign competition."

"The association recommended," Day said, "the present program be simplified and the fundamental principles of the 1938 AAA be retained, and that information regarding farm allotments be placed in the hands of the producers in time for the preparing and planting of next year's crops."

N. Y. Tests Prove Women Can Lose FAT

Ask Your Doctor If It Isn't Good Way. Read EVERY Word —

NEW YORK, N. Y.: A test conducted by a prominent N. Y. physician and a nationally known newspaper woman proved there is a harmless, effective way to lose fat, if you'll only STICK TO IT and give it a fair trial.

In 40 days, 5 women lost a total of 286 lbs. EVERY woman lost fat—the average loss per woman being 11½ lbs. The women first of all ate sensibly. And for proper functioning they took a little daily dose of Kruschen Salts. If you have the slightest doubt about this Plan just ask your own doctor about its safety and merit.

And this is important to know:

Kruschen is not just one salt as some people may ignorantly believe. Rather, it's a blend of 6 active mineral salts (see on box) which, when dissolved in water, make a healthful mineral drink similar to the waters of famous European Spas where wealthy fat women have gone for years.

Here's the Kruschen Plan: Just take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in hot water every morning for better functioning. Go light on fatty foods and sweets—eat plentifully of lean meats, fresh fruits and green vegetables. Plan to do this faithfully for 28 days and see if you don't lose fat and feel healthier and younger. A jar costs but a few cents and makes 5 gallons of a most highly efficient mineral health water. At druggists everywhere.—Adv.

YOU LIKE YOUR FRYING PAN SORT OF OIL-PLATED. I mean some of the butter, lard or cooking-oil gets to be a regular part of the pan. You could hardly scrub all of it off if you wanted to, and it keeps things from sticking. In a way, that's like OIL-PLATING, only not as good and slippy as the OIL-PLATING already attached to every part in your engine, now that you've changed to Conoco Germ Processed oil. There's a patent on it. They invented something special to put in this oil so that it gets drawn on to the cylinders and so forth like a regular plating which can't let loose. You can stop all you want for shopping and visits, but the same as any other plating, your OIL-PLATING can't go draining down. So you can start up a million times and it doesn't hurt the way it did before you had OIL-PLATING. All the while you keep to Germ Processed oil your engine stays OIL-PLATED instead of turning into an oil-eater. You won't be scared of needing a lot more Germ Processed oil all the time. The distance it takes you will make you say I've got a right to the name Your Mileage Merchant.

In the choices involving contests, Vermont Republicans renominated Senator Ernest W. Gibson, and Washington Democrats chose Senator Homer T. Bone over Otto A. Case, a Townsendite. Senator Carl Hayden, Arizona Democrat, was far ahead of two opponents in incomplete returns.

South Carolina An Exception

Voters yesterday showed a general tendency to renominate present house members, but South Carolina was an exception. Rep. John C. Taylor was defeated by Butler B. Hare and Rep. G. Heyward Mahon by Joseph R. Bryson in Democratic run-offs.

South Carolina also supplied the most dramatic election incident of the day, when national guardsmen under instructions from Gov. Olin D. Johnston took possession of Charleston county ballot boxes.

Wyndham M. Manning, apparently beaten for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by Mayor Burnet R. Maybank of Charleston, had asked for the troops because of reported "irregularities."

In New Hampshire, John L. Sullivan had no opposition for the Democratic nomination for governor. Gov. Francis P. Murphy, industrialist, apparently won a close Republican contest from Attorney General Thomas P. Cheney.

Tobey Leads In New Hampshire

Rep. Charles W. Tobey held a lead over two rivals in New Hampshire's Republican senatorial race.

In Vermont, Gov. George D. Aiken, Republican, won renomination by a wide margin. Democratic aspirants to Vermont's state and national offices had no opposition.

Michigan Republicans called on former Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald to battle Frank Murphy, Democratic incumbent, for the governorship in November. Murphy was unopposed in the primary.

Ammons Is Leading

Partial returns from Colorado gave Gov. Teller Ammons, Democrat, better than a 3-to-2 lead over George J. Knapp. Archibald A. Lee and Ralph L. Carr had no contests for the Republican senatorial and gubernatorial nominations, respectively.

Other Republican senatorial nominees in the West were: Utah, Dr. Franklin S. Harris, president of Brigham Young university; Washington, Ewing D. Colvin, Seattle attorney, and Arizona, Burt L. Clingan, unopposed.

A four-man contest for Arizona's Democratic gubernatorial nomination developed into a tight race, with State Senator R. T. Jones and Secretary of State James H. Kerby out in front. Jerrie W. Lee had no opposition for the Republican nomination.

Drug Clinic Is Closed In City

A two-day business clinic attended by more than 200 West Texas druggists was brought to a close at Hilton hotel here Tuesday night.

Similar clinics are being conducted this week in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. Speakers here Monday were in Dallas Tuesday and will go to Houston today. Those on Tuesday's program here will be in Dallas today.

Speakers On Program

Speakers last night and late Tuesday afternoon were Calvin Wheat, of Agfa-Ansco corporation; John R. Bromwell of Curtis Publishing company; W. L. Pearson of Texas-New Mexico Utilities Co. here; W. E. Lions Group To Inspect Six Rural Schools In Contest

Members of a Lions campus beautification committee will leave Lubbock Thursday morning for a final inspection of six rural high schools, to determine first, second and third prize winners, said Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent of schools and a member of the Lions committee.

Leaving at 8:30 o'clock, the group will visit, in order, Roosevelt, Idalou, New Deal, Shallowater, Frenship and Cooper schools.

In the group with Griggs will be W. L. Daniel, C. A. Sanford, chairman and Noel Stainaker.

Work of the committee was initiated last February, said Griggs, and visits to the campuses were made in July.

"Work of school boards and students has been remarkable in efforts to beautify campuses," he said. "Grass has been planted at each place and trees set out. At Cooper, where there is a 28-acre campus, 700 trees are growing. New Deal has a 200-acre campus and 200 trees."

European Crisis

they attempted to escape from the building.

The crowd seized weapons in the police station, including two machine-guns and a number of hand grenades. The Sudeten version said police reinforcements arrived a short time later from Falkenau and Zwodau and opened fire on the Sudetens, who returned the fire.

American Travelers Advised To Leave German Territory

BERLIN, Sept. 14. (AP)—American travelers have been advised "unofficially and informally" by the United States consulate here to return home "if they could conveniently alter their European travel plans," officials said today.

Members of the consulate staff disclosed that numerous United States citizens had inquired what they ought to do in view of the critical situation in central Europe.

The officials said, however, that American residents in Berlin have not been advised to leave Germany.

Others Given Similar Advice

Consulates of other countries have given their nationals similar advice.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler today called Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to meet him at Munich to discuss what Germany might do in the fact of what Nazis called the "new situation" in Czechoslovakia.

Some Move Expected

Germans generally expected Hitler to make some move, if only a public statement, in view of his defiant warnings to Czechoslovakia in Monday night's speech at Nurnberg, in which he proclaimed his will to protect the Sudeten Germans.

The German government has maintained complete silence so far on new disorders in the Sudeten area and the Prague government's emergency measures to suppress them.

German officials denied published reports of a conference of Hitler and military leaders at Berchtesgaden, his retreat in the Bavarian mountains.

They said Hitler was not at Berchtesgaden today. He was believed en route to Berlin from Munich, whither he had summoned Ribbentrop earlier.

Ultimatum By Sudetens Is Ignored By Czech Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

Efforts to solve the bitter dispute over the Sudeten Germans' demand for self-rule broke down completely today when the Sudetens' negotiating committee was dissolved.

Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein told the British Runciman mediation mission that in view of disorders in Czechoslovakia he felt the proper atmosphere for negotiations no longer existed.

New Troops Sent In

The Czechoslovak government, ignoring a Sudeten ultimatum, sent new troops into the Sudetan areas to strengthen martial law.

France was reported to have completed plans for speedy mobilization of 2,000,000 more men in case a new grave turn in the crisis makes it necessary.

The German government remained silent on the latest developments in Czechoslovakia. Chancellor Adolf Hitler, however, left his Bavarian retreat near Berchtesgaden for a conference with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop at Munich.

Germans generally expected Hitler to make some move, if only a public statement, in view of his defiant warnings to Czechoslovakia in his Nurnberg speech, in which he proclaimed his will to protect the Sudeten Germans.

German Press Bitter

The German press railed angrily at the Prague government for the stern measures it took to suppress disorders, in which at least 12 were killed, following Adolf Hitler's Nurnberg speech Monday night, and declared:

"No one can imagine that Sudeten Germans are inclined to remain in such a state."

A person close to the Berlin government said, however, that Germany's policy was one of "watchful waiting," an attitude which "may change any minute."

Prepare For Emergency

Britain and France were reported still hoping a settlement of the Sudeten dispute might be reached, but were preparing for any emergency.

Diplomatic sources in Paris believed France would go along with the British to the extent of pressing Czechoslovakia to grant demands for a plebiscite in which Sudetens could vote on union with Germany.

Such a concession, it was believed, would satisfy Germany and the Sudetens, but the Czechoslovak government was said to be determined not to agree to a plebiscite. As a result, the plan offered little hope.

British Cabinet In Session

King George prepared to return to London from Balmoral, Scotland, as the British cabinet met in its second emergency session in three days.

The cabinet meeting followed highly important ministerial conferences last night with the active chiefs of the navy, army and air force to consider precautionary defense measures.

First Formal Step In Wage-Hour Law Enforcement Is Launched

Textile Wages To Be Studied

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The federal government has taken its first formal step to apply the new wage-hour law to industry, setting up a committee of 21 persons to determine minimum wages for 1,300,000 textile workers.

Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour law administrator, chose the committee and directed it to explore the wage and competitive conditions affecting the manufacture of cotton, silk and rayon products in Northern and Southern states.

Under the wage-hour law, the textile industry committee is authorized to determine and recommend to the administrator the highest minimum wage between 25 cents and 40 cents an hour economically feasible in the industry without curtailing employment opportunities.

The 21-member committee, headed by Donald Nelson, Chicago, vice president of Sears, Roebuck and Co., includes seven representatives of each of the public, textile manufacturers and textile workers.

Making Real 'Cheese' Cloth

Possible birth of a new American industry that will provide men with suits made from milk is seen in an invention by two Government scientists. Casein, by-product of skim milk and important ingredient of cheese, is possessed so that it can be spun and wovep into a fabric resembling wool. Shown above in his Department of Agriculture laboratory as he demonstrates the pressure apparatus for spinning, is Earl O. Whittier, who, with his colleague Stephen P. Gould, has applied for patents on the new invention.

Ford Is Commended For His Drive Against 'Honky-Tonks'

AMARILLO, Sept. 14. (AP)—Members of the Amarillo Liquor Dealers association meeting last night with William Steinberg, national president of the National Retail Liquor Package Stores association, drafted a resolution commending State Liquor Administrator Bert Ford on the stand he has taken in regard to "honky-tonks."

"We feel that the abolition of 'honky-tonks' and other businesses operating upon the shady side of the liquor business will be of benefit both to the public and to the legitimate liquor dealer," the resolution said.

More Than 100,000 Americans Abroad

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)—More than 100,000 Americans are in European countries likely to be affected if a great war breaks out.

A majority of them are permanent residents. The tourists have already begun the seasonal trek homeward and boats leaving European ports are jammed.

State department files showed today that in Great Britain, France, Italy, Ireland, Czechoslovakia and Soviet Russia are 57,863 Americans who have taken up residence, some for purposes of business, other to live cheaply on small incomes.

The largest number is in Italy: 25,616. Next largest is in Great Britain—12,447. France has 12,384; Czechoslovakia 5,190; Ireland 1,630 and Soviet Russia 596.

New Mexico Physician Is Held For Murder In Wife's Death

SANTA ROSA, N. M., Sept. 14. (AP)—Dr. John H. Sanford, well known physician and former mayor of Santa Rosa, was held without bail here today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife, Hallie, 42, in a Tucumcari hospital last July 23.

District Attorney M. E. Noble at Las Vegas said a formal complaint entered against Dr. Sanford accused the physician of placing poison in his wife's coffee. She was stricken July 15, dying eight days later.

Sheriff's officers here made arrangements to exhume the body for examination.

Dr. Sanford's arrest, the district attorney said, culminated seven weeks of investigation prompted by alleged hurried burial of Mrs. Sanford, and the fact "the death certificate was vague as to the cause of death."

Big Show Clowns Are Rugged Individualists In Pantomime

Once the idea of variety was correlated in the public mind with the numerals 57, but in the clown alley of the Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto Combined Circus, coming to Lubbock, Wednesday, September 21, 57 varieties will not suffice for accurate description for there are 70 varieties of funmakers in the contingent drolls. No two are alike in appearance, in technique, in comedy ideas. The clowns are rugged individualists in pantomime, even when they produce their risible sketches in duos, trios and troupes.

Clown alley in the dressing rooms of the Big Show is an interesting section—long rows of trunks, with mirrors against upturned lids, motley, buskin, pantaloons and other mirrors hanging from clothes-lines stretched overhead, and folding chairs before each trunk. Buckets in groups everywhere. Here the best known and the most expert of the world's clowns make ready to do their stuff in the huge all-star program.

Few In Sunset Years

Here are heard all tongues, although almost all the foreign joeys now speak English. As these comics, young, middle-aged and a few in their sunset years, stroll into the dressing room, they look like business and professional men. This does not mean that they are solemn, staid, even sad. Not at all. Your business and professional man isn't that way, either. In other words, clowns with the Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto Circus are widely traveled, well read men who know what it is all about.

The performances, recently augmented by the stupendous new features of the Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Circus, including Bring 'Em Back Alive Frank Buck and Gargantua the Great, largest and most ferocious gorilla ever exhibited, will commence at 2 and 8 p. m.

The doors open at 1 and 7, permitting a full hour in which to visit the huge menagerie of 37 rare animals.

So Long, And Hurry Back

By Collier Parris

WELL, ABOUT ALL that's left to say is: Thank you, thanks a million—and so long.

This old pumper is practically brimming over with gratitude, greetings and good wishes after last night's stellar performance at the ball park, and after last night's great attendance.

So before we go bursting into tears, just let us say again: Thank you, Chicago White Sox and Bob Tarleton and Harry Faulkner and each member of the Hubber club—and you and you and you other fans, who brought professional baseball back to Lubbock and kept it here through a glorious season.

In thanking you, we think we bespeak the sentiment of Lubbock and West Texas baseball fandom.

In hoping you'll come back next summer, we are continuing to express the sentiments and wishes of the public.

You won't all be coming back, we know, and for you who are stepping up, or out, you have nothing but the earnest best wishes for continued success. You who are coming back next year can look forward to a big and rousing welcome in April.

We'll be looking especially for five favorites, maybe more. The "kids" of the club, who need, and know they need, more seasoning before they go up—Bob Mosel, first baseman; Malcolm Stevens, second baseman; Al Carr, right fielder; Boyd Watkins, center fielder, and lovable Pete Melito, catcher. We have virtual assurance they'll return, and, to a man, the boys seem to be glad. They've come to like Lubbock, and it's a mutual feeling.

So fare thee well, Hubbers, and the season of 1938. We'll get that pennant all embroidered and swing it, literally, from the flagpole on opening day next spring.

Calling Big Train On The Mat

BEFORE LAUNCHING full tilt into football, let's meander down to Sled Allen's Auditorium and see what goes on here in his Wednesday night grapple card.

There's a coupe of familiar figures in the preliminary. Old Joe Bauer, the Milwaukee valentine, is gonna rassle George Hartay, the hustling Hungarian. That's good enough for a start.

Here comes the semi-final, and there's another familiar person, the irresistable Sheik Mar Allah, author and grappler, native of old Persia, once a prince of royal blood, who still has the blood but deserted the rugs of his papa's pastures for the canvas of the rassling rings. Let's see, the Sheik comes up against a stranger here tonight, one Scott Williams. Let's hang around and see how the newcomer goes.

Well, look who's here in the main spasm! He's been in many a main trick at the Auditorium, but not in these clothes. It's old Big Train Clements himself, and he's wild and rearin'. His opponent, scowling over there in the opposite corner is none other than the dastardly Jack McNasty Hagen, the golf-playing stevedore from Shreveport who takes all comers and makes them not like it.

It ought to be a natural. Clements, as a referee, and Hagen the wrestler never did get along. So when Clements comes home to roost and rest a spell before continuing his career as a professional wrestler, he immediately contacts Promoter Allen and asks how about a match with Hagen. Allen demurs, on account of Clements is built along the heavyweight lines, and he does not wish any heavyweights musing up his prize middles and light heavies.

But Clements persists, and quotes his record against heavies and junior heavies in Oklahoma, Missouri, and points south and west, and says that he can shave off about ten or a dozen pounds if necessary. And Hagen is contacted, and he says it's all right by him, and that he would welcome a chance to pull off a little legal mayhem on the person of Clements, whom he dislikes as a man, a referee and a wrestler. So Allen finally acquesces, and we don't think he'll be sorry, because there's gonna be a lot of population hanging around the ringside tonight to see the only local professional wrestler yet developed go into legitimate action.

And it's time we were paying some attention to the grapplers. It has been a tough summer on Sled, what with baseball and all on Wednesday nights. Of course, his toughest luck was inability to line up the deep water grapplers during the summer. They seek higher and cooler climes in the warm weather, the best of them do, and it's hard to entice them away from there.

But with the coming of fall and cooler weather, you can look for an influx of old timers and newcomers who know their ways around the ropes. Sled anticipates a good fall and winter season, and he has it coming.

Furthermore, we wish to raise objections to a statement in Eddie Brietz' AP column of yesterday. Quoting: Hugh Benbow of Houston is the only fight promoter we know of who runs shows 52 weeks in the year, rain or shine.

Your attention, Mr. Brietz, is called to Promoter Sled Allen, the ex-big leaguer who for nearly six years has not skipped a Wednesday night with his wrestling show. Maybe you wouldn't call it fighting, but then you haven't seen our middleweight grapplers.

Right-Handers Draw Hurling Assignments In Texas Games

(By The Associated Press)

Right-handers drew all the pitching assignments today as the four surviving Texas league clubs paired at Beaumont and San Antonio for second games of the opening round in the Shaughnessy playoff.

Beaumont's Exporters, full season leaders and favorites to come through the elimination series with the pennant, relied on Schoolboy Rowe, former Detroit Tiger ace, to give them their second victory over the Tulsa Oilers, nosed out, 6-5, in 11 innings yesterday.

The San Antonio Missions planned to put Bill Trotter on the firing line against the Oklahoma City Indians, defeated last night by the Padres in a thrilling 2-1 game.

Rowe hung up 12 victories against two defeats during the regular season. Facing him today was Irv Stein, who showed 15 wins against the same number of losses for the campaign.

Clay Touchstone was ready for mound duty against San Antonio tonight. Touchstone has a record of 16 victories and 11 defeats.

The teams change game sites after today, San Antonio going to Oklahoma City and Beaumont to Tulsa.

Rotary Session Here Tonight

Clinton P. Anderson of Albuquerque, N. M., past president of Rotary International, is to be principal speaker at a chicken barbecue for Rotarians from Northwest Texas and Eastern New Mexico clubs in the livestock judging pavilion of Texas Technological college tonight.

The inter-city meet will open at 7:30 o'clock. W. P. Clement, president of the Lubbock Rotary club, said more than 200 visitors from other clubs are expected and that total number present possibly will be about 250.

Estes Will Speak

Linton Estes of Wichita Falls, 127th district governor, will be a guest and will speak.

George Mahon of Colorado, United States representative from the 19th Texas district, and J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls, past district Rotary governor, will be among guests.

W. O. Daniels is chairman of the arrangements committee. Dr. Sam G. Dunn and Homer Grant are members of the committee.

Clement will preside at the program.

Third Title In Row Is Just About Won

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, who, as everybody knows, are about to win the American league championship for the third straight year and the tenth time in their history, should reach the clinching point this week unless too many games are rained out.

Nothing but rain, apparently, can stop them. They made the task of pushing the Cleveland Indians further out of the picture look ridiculously easy yesterday when they walloped the Tribe 7 to 1 to open their final western tour. At the same time, the Detroit Tigers knocked off the second-place Boston Red Sox, 9-3, to place the Yanks within five games of the flag.

Full 16 Games In Front

New York now is 16 full games in front of Boston and has 19 games to play against 21 for the Red Sox. Cleveland trails by another half game.

If the Yanks whip the Tribe again today, the best Cleveland can get is a tie for first. If Boston also should lose again, New York would need to win only three of its last 18 contests to make it a certainty.

Ruffing Wins 21st

Yesterday's notable Yankee achievement was Red Ruffing's eight-hit flinging for his 21st victory of the season. It marked the first time in his 13 major league seasons he has won more than 2" games.

Pittsburgh's task in the national league was made easier in one respect and harder in another by yesterday's developments. The New York Giants decided it was raining hard enough to warrant postponing their first engagement with the Bucs and scheduling a doubleheader today. That puts a bit more strain on Pittsburgh's uncertain pitching staff.

Bees Come To Rescue

The Boston Bees, however, came to the rescue by beating the second-place Chicago Cubs, 5-2 as Jim Turner gave up only four singles and Elbie Fletcher rapped out two singles, a double and triple. The defeat left the Cubs four games behind the leaders.

Washington and the Chicago White Sox broke even in a doubleheader that completed yesterday's doings. Ken Chase, giving six hits and eight walks, pitched the Senators to a 7-1 opening victory but Thornton L. bested Pete Appleton in the closing mound duel and Chicago won 3-0.

The Cincinnati-Brooklyn and St. Louis-Philadelphia National league games and Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American were rained out.

Hubbers Bid Fans Farewell Tuesday

The high flying, pennant winning Hubbers, the class of anybody's Class D baseball, said their farewell to Lubbock and West Texas fans last night and today are scattering to their various homes with fond memories and full purses.

Before the largest number of persons ever assembled at a Lubbock baseball game, the Hubbers played the Fort Worth Panthers of the Texas League to a standstill last night, but lost the game, 2 to 1, when one of Lefty Jerry Blanchard's six hitting-material bails brought in a run and a wild pitch the other one.

Attendance Record Set

Nearly 4,000 spectators jammed the stands, sat and stood all around the field and on the roof, to see Blanchard and another lefthander, Clyde Smoll of the Panthers, tangle in one of the neatest southpaw duels you ever saw. Smoll, the Cats' ace wronghander and one of the leading southpaws of the Texas League, held the Hubbers to four singles and an unearned run to get the better of the argument.

The game closed out the season here, and brought a record-breaking attendance that may stand as the high mark for some time.

Despite loss of the game, there have been fewer happier crowds of young athletes than the Hubbers last night. They had been held over, following their pennant winning game at Clovis Sunday, to play last night's game, and as a result they go home today with pockets lined with extra silver. The game was played for their benefit, all proceeds above expenses going into the player pennant fund. Fans contributed generously in addition to buying tickets, and as a result the players gained about $75 each, or almost the equivalent of a month's salary in Class D baseball.

Miller Plans To Stay Here

By noon today, most of the players had left town, some of them for Chicago, Michigan, Indiana, Oklahoma, and intermediate points. The five Texans on the club planned to visit home for a few days, or to spend the winter. Some of them hope to return to Lubbock, find jobs and settle down here for the winter. Manager Hack Miller, recently sold to the Dallas Steers, is one who plans to make his home here.

Following the game last night, members of the club were treated to a big chicken dinner at a private home, and two more large cakes, similar to one General Manager Harry Faulkner received in pre-game ceremonies last night, were presented the club.

Before the game, General Manager Harry Faulkner was presented with a huge angel food cake, gift of Austin Food stores, inspired and presented by the KFYO radio staff, particularly Wes Youngblood.

The game itself, played under trying circumstances because of a muddy field and an overcrowded one, turned out to be a dilly of a contest.

The Cats, looking somewhat smoother and more at home at bat and afield than the youngsters making up the Hubber crew, but hustling no harder, got right down to work and didn't let up, except for a couple of bobbles in the eighth that resulted in Lubbock's only run.

Joe Gedzius, star Hubber shortstop who'll no doubt report to the White Sox for spring training next March, greeted Pitcher Smoll, considered one of the Texas League's leading lefthanders, with a booming single last night when Lubbock came to bat for the first time, but Smoll fanned Watkins and Johnny Taylor banged into a double play, ending the rally.

Blanchard had turned the Panthers down in order in the first of the inning, Centerfielder Suydam grounding to Gedzius, Thirdbaseman Gravin flying to Carr, and Shortstop Flippen grounding to Mosel at first.

One Earned Run

Fort Worth got its only earned run the second after Catcher Hancken and Secondbaseman Webb had grounded out to Gedzius and Stevens. Blanchard walked Paschal, first baseman, and it was bad news. Paschal swiped second, and scored on Winford's single over second. It was the only hit of the game that did damage.

From there until the seventh, the Panthers went down almost in order, a snappy double play, Stevens to Gedzius to Mosel, helping out in the fourth after Flippin had led with a single.

In the seventh, Paschal was safe on Taylor's bobble at third. Miller failed to field a short bunt by Winford, and the later was safe. Pampell bunted to Blanchard, advancing the runners, and Paschal came in on a wild pitch. That was all of the Cats scoring. Blanchard fanned three in the last two innings for a total of eight strikeouts.

Lubbock's tally came in the eighth when Mosel, leading off, hit a long fly to right which Pampell caught, juggled, and dropped. Mosel rounded second, made it to third when the relay from Pampell got by Gravin, and scored standing up. He made a home run out of two two-base errors.

Smoll had the upper hand in the strikeout books, wheeling his fast one by the Hubbers with success, frequently mixing up his routine with teasing slowballs. He fanned nine men, cutting down on the Hubbers in close places and when it meant the most.

'Needling' On At Oakmont

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 14 — "Needling" began today at the ordeal of Oakmont as 64 survivors of qualifying play in the National Amateur golf championship gave up trying to break through the invincible fortress of par and started slicing their own number.

With two quick death rounds of 18-hole match play programmed, the field will quarter itself to 16 by nightfall.

Face New Problems

The golfing gang which uncovered only two scores of less than par 72 in two days of blasting —one 70 and one 71 yesterday — had new problems in the psychological factors of man against man and the hard bitten veterans of match play set a grim grin of determination.

A sleeper in the person of Gus Moreland, a Texan transplanted to Peoria, Ill., led the qualifying parade with a 76-70—156 while the gallery and other contestants were busy watching the first day's mushroom heroes.

Willie Turnesa Second

Trailing him home was little Willie Turnesa of New York City, as familiar with Oakmont's intricacies as anyone in the tournament. He had a 71 and failed by two throws to tie for medalist honors because of the burden of a 77 chalked up in Monday's literally stormy session.

Pairings cast them today against opponents who squeezed into the match play 11 and 12 strokes off the pace — little Bobby Dunkleberger, the North Carolinian in the one case and Johnny Burke, Georgetown's intercollegiate champion, in the other.

'Big Train' To Perform On Mat Tonight

For the first time in the six-year history of professional wrestling here, a bona fide Lubbock man will don the trunks and take part in the wrestling proceedings.

He is Ray "Big Train" Clements, who'll look and weigh a few pounds heavier than his opponent, but Lubbock's only professional grappler doesn't mind that, and his opponent isn't squawking—yet. The opponent is beetle-browed Jack Hagen, of the Louisiana Hagens, and one of the toughest stevedores who ever left a dock.

Clements and Hagen promise one of the most exciting main events of the year.

No Stranger Here

The Shreveport stevedore, who turned from a "gentleman" grappler into a tooth-and-toenail toughy about a year ago, will be spotting the erstwhile Lubbock truck driver and wrestling referee ten or twelve pounds, but that's okay by Hagen, who seems to fear no man.

Clements is no stranger to Lubbock wrestle fans. For many months he was the third man in the ring at Sled Allen's house of horrors, officiating and at times mixing in with the tough guys. He always received the customary Bronx cheers a referee gets, and became one of the most popular men in town, in an unpopular way, before he decided to chuck the refereeing business and take up wrestling on his own hook early last spring.

So the fans probably will pour out tonight to see Clements, the only home town boy ever to wrestle here, tough it out with Hagen. Largest crowd of the warm weather season is expected to jam the Auditorium, and the potential entertainment merits a box office rush.

A Texan Abroad

Clements took to the wrestling road and has been doing heavy duty all summer against junior heavyweights and heavyweights in the Southern and Mid-western states, winning more than he lost, he came home recently with a flat nose, cauliflowered ears and a burning desire to tear somebody apart. He expressed his desire many times before Promoter Allen would consider putting a junior heavyweight against his middleweights or light heavies, but Jack Hagen accepted the challenge, and this is the night.

The main spasm is well supported by a cast of middleweights who should put out a lot of stuff tonight. George Hartay, one of the cleverest, although not one of the strongest, wrestlers coming down the pike, will trade punches and grips with Joe Bauer, the comic valentine from Milwaukee, in the curtain raiser, and it ought to be interesting.

Sheik Mar Allah, the toe-dancing Persian, takes on a newcomer, one Scott Williams, recruited from Jackson, Miss. Williams is advertised as being "pretty good," and hard to manage. It will be his debut in the local ring.

Series Of Elimination Bouts For Challenger Is Planned

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14. (AP) — Herman Taylor, veteran Philadelphia promoter, lined up six top-notch prizefighters today for a series of elimination bouts he hopes will develop a challenger to Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

The first of the bouts—a 10-round non-title encounter between Light Heavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis of Phoenix, Ariz., and Jimmy Adamick, of Midland, Mich. — is scheduled for tomorrow night at Convention hall.

Taylor said Jack Kearns, manager of Adamick, and Gus Greenlee, Lewis' pilot, were among the managers who had agreed to back the series and to let their boys fight exclusively under his promotion.

Red Raiders Work Hard For Opener

Texas Tech's Red Raiders were looking for a slightly easier time of it today, physically, that is, in their gridiron grind that is preparing them for the season opener against Montana State Saturday night here.

Since Saturday, the big Reds have been going hard and fast, twice a day, and yesterday saw them in the toughest drill of the fall season. From now until Saturday night they'll confine their labors to perfecting plays, smoothing up the rough spots, ironing out the wrinkles and generally shaping up for the opening contest.

Little has been done to indicate a first string lineup composed of any but the "seeded" veterans of last year, although the second and third stringers are so evenly matched in talent and attitude that there's little to choose between them.

Captain Frank Guzick's lineup of himself at quarterback, Bobby Holmes and Elmer Tarbox at halfbacks, Charles Calhoun at fullback; Thurman Bostick and George Webb at ends, Bill Davis and Line Captain Red Murphy at tackles, Dixie White and Holt Waldrep at guards and Rex Williams at center, seems to have a lot of everything. Only the guards, center and one end are new to the first eleven, but the center of Tech's line is expected to be about as rough as it ever was, and that isn't taking anything from Lou Jones and Pete Owens, stalwarts at the guard positions for two seasons.

Making a strong bid for a backfield berth is Sophomore Tyrus Eain, the Mexia mauler who is back on the squad after an early fear that he would be unable to return because of necessity of getting a job. Another backfield candidate from the sophomore crowd who was unintentionally overlooked in the opening speeches is Walter Rankin, heavyweight from Colorado who performed nobly as a freshman last year. It is going to be difficult to keep sophomores out of the Tech picture this season.

The Montana State Bobcats—not to be confused with University of Montana Grizzlies whom Tech plays at Missoula, Montana, on Oct. 15—are somewhere to the north and west of us at the moment, traveling toward Lubbock. They were scheduled to workout at several points along the line from Bozeman, having left there last week. They should be sailing in here possibly today, and may drill at Tech field tonight or tomorrow night.

Word from Bozeman has it that "Montana State has its best football prospects in more than a decade," which indicates that trouble lies in the immediate offing for the Red Raiders.

Saturday night's contest has been designated on the calendar as the "clean-up" game, even if it is the first on the schedule. The idea is not to "clean up" on the Bobcats, although that is the ambition of the players. The idea is to collect a lot of tin cans and bring them to the game. All youngsters bringing a at Bo Williams' office in the Hilton hotel lobby, at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers, at Hotel Lubbock Drug, at Mark Halsey Drug No. 2 and at the Tech drug. No seats are being sold for Sections C and S, the middle sections at the grandstand, except through purchase of season tickets, Williams said. Season tickets will be sold right up to the last minute, the middle sections being reserved for holders of the season-through coupon book.

Henderson Oilers Within One Game Of East Texas Pennant

HENDERSON, Sept. 14. (AP)—The Henderson Oilers, who finished third in the regular East Texas league season, were within a game of the pennant today.

Henderson tonight can clinch the pennant with a victory over Tyler. Henderson made the count three-to-two in games won last night by downing the Trojans, 7-6.

The others he said, were Joe Jacobs, who manages Tony Galento, of Orange, N. J., and former Heavy Weight Champion Max Schmeling, of Germany, and Joe Gould, pilot of Tommy Farr, of Wales, and former heavyweight champion, Jimmy Braddock.

Westerners To Invade Ft. Worth Friday

Their eyes on Fort Worth and their minds on the game Friday night against North Side High school's Steers there, the Lubbock High school Westerners bent their efforts and their backs in another tough workout yesterday afternoon. Friday night's game will be the season opener for both clubs, both of which are figured strongly in the coming Class A interscholastic league race.

In good condition after nearly three weeks practice the local lads are anxious to show their wares and test their strength. It is conceded that the 1938 team is of much higher calibre than last year's, but much is to be determined.

Competitive tryouts for jobs this year are more in order than in 1937 when no more than four positions could be trusted to substitutes. Everyone who makes the starting eleven this year must bow his neck and show Coach Chapman and his assistants, J. G. (Goober) Keyes and Walker Nichols, he is better than his understudy.

It is not unlikely that the starting lineup will fluctuate greatly when some of the greener boys get the feel of the reins. Regulars of a year ago may ride the bench any time. No position is secure.

In 1937 only the guard post could be filled capably by more than one man for each. All were lightweights. Joe Pytell, winner of two letters, Jerry Nash, Howard Alford, and Lloyd Sanders fought to the last ditch to get starting berths.

Nash and Alford have been sent to other positions this year to add experience where it is needed. Pytell and Sanders are figured to care for the center flanking spots well enough.

Loss of Herb Leaverton and L. D. Venable left the center position wide open. Now Paul Sparkman and Wayne Pipes are competing for the starting nod there.

At other spots merry fights are being waged for no one has clinched the coach's favor.

Their experience points to Capt. Jumbo Webster, who has only to put his soul and 180 pounds into the game to get all-state recognition, Rusty Johnston, Leete Jackson, and Harold Parsons are backfield berths.

The Westerners will go through their final workout this afternoon before boarding a special bus for Cowtown early Thursday morning. Twenty-five players probably will make the trip.

Funeral Directors Association Hold Session Here Last Night

Business session of the South Plains district of the Texas Funeral Directors association was held Tuesday night in the Hilton hotel here.

Ten towns were represented and attendants heard George Kearnes of San Antonio, president of the state association, speak.

Roy Collier of Brownfield was elected president and Clyde Branon of Lamesa was re-elected secretary. W. W. Rix of Lubbock is retiring president.

The organization is launching a membership campaign.

Second Trip To Be On Thursday

Second of a series of four good will trips to publicize the Panhandle-South Plains fair will take a delegation of Lubbock business men to points north of the city Thursday. Twenty-five members of Senior High school band will accompany the group.

Twenty-eight business concerns had made reservations early today. There is room for 33.

The day's itinerary will be:

Leave Lubbock city hall at 7 a. m.; Idalou, 7:30; Lorenzo, 8; Ralls, 8:30; Crosbyton, 9; Spur, 10:15; Dickens, 11; Roaring Spring, 11:45; Matador, 12:15 p. m. for lunch; Floydada 2; Lockney, 3; Plainview, 3:50; Hale Center, 5; Abernathy, 5:40; and return to Lubbock 6:15.

Welcomed by citizens of several South Plains towns, a group of Lubbock goodwill trippers Tuesday extended the invitation to thousands to attend the Panhandle-South Plains fair here Sept. 26 to Oct. 1.

The party, made up of approximately 25 business men here and a 25-piece Lubbock Senior High school band under direction of H. A. Anderson, traveled 217 miles and visited 11 towns.

Escorted By Patrolman

They were escorted on the trip by Lewis Kittrell, traffic sergeant of the Lubbock police department. They reached every town on schedule and arrived at Lubbock, after completing the tour 15 minutes ahead of schedule.

First stop was Slaton where they were welcomed by Joe Webb, superintendent of schools there, and Raymond Lee Johns, graduate of Texas Technological college and secretary manager of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development. The Slaton band, under direction of Clyde Rowe, conductor, played.

Welcome Is Extended

At Post, Hays Holman, superintendent of schools, welcomed the Lubbock group and Robert J. Allen, Lubbock county attorney, spoke.

W. T. Haines, superintendent of schools at Tahoka, spoke at the meeting at Tahoka. Seven hundred students had assembled on the school campus. Lee Hubby of Lubbock addressed the Tahoka crowd.

Charles Still of Lubbock spoke after a greeting by Southland's mayor and Supt. W. A. Smith. Approximately 450 students had been taken to Southland in buses from outlying schools.

School Is Dismissed

Paul Davis of the Lubbock delegation spoke at O'Donnell where the party had been greeted by S. F. Johnson, superintendent of schools there. School children were dismissed for the program.

The trippers lunched at Lamesa after a program presented at the school. A Lamesa Chamber of Commerce - appointed committee, composed of C. Baldwin, E. A. Conley, W. Guy Weeks, Clarence E. Martin, Weldon Lindsey, W. H. Collins, and S. D. Warner, met the delegation. V. Z. Rogers is superintendent of the Lamesa schools.

C. N. Gunn represented the trippers. Lunch was at the Green Hut cafe with the chamber of commerce committee. Band boys ate at Bill's cafe.

The tourists presented a program on the lawn of the Seminole school. The out-door presentation was interrupted, however, by rain, and Superintendent of School Dewey Davis invited the trippers and the crowd into the school's gymnasium. J. O. Kukendall spoke.

Bill Collins of the goodwill party, led the group in a song.

At Seagraves the welcome was extended by Lawrence Barber, city attorney. After the Lubbock band played, Ray Farmer spoke. Gene McCullough, superintendent of schools there, released school children so that they might attend the program. M. L. Davis, formerly of Lubbock but now a business man of Seagraves, spoke.

Collins Speaks At Brownfield

After a welcome at Brownfield by Mayor C. C. Coleman and J. T. Shelton of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, Collins, formerly of Brownfield, spoke in behalf of the delegation, Lubbock, and the fair.

Jake Hancock spoke to the Meadow school children and other persons attending. Farmer addressed the Ropesville citizens who attended the program there.

Rulers, passes to the fair on children's day, and other souvenirs were distributed.

Buses were driven by Foxy Hughes and Joe Fleck.

The trip was the first of a series of four to be made by delegations.

Persons making the Tuesday trip were Mike Barrier, Jack Simms, Joe Bailey Powers, Frank Lanotte, J. B. Beeson, Farmer, Collins, Gunn, Taylor Pendley, Hubby, Still, Hancock, Davis, A. Arnett, O. A. Woody, L. O. Holly, K. T. Wallace, W. E. Lavender, Allen, Homer Moss, Chas. Whitacre, and J. L. Blair.

Lavender performed sleight-of-hand tricks at each of the programs.

The Shadow Lengthens

Need Of Organizations Among Texas Sportsmen Is Cited

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 14. (AP)—The need of organizations among Texas sportsmen was stressed by William J. Tucker, head of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission in an address at the Texas Wildlife federation meeting here last night, attended by more than 250 representatives from 27 counties.

Most of the meeting consisted of scientific discussion of better methods of hunting and fishing, together with continued preservation and restoration of wildlife.

Henry W. Flagg of Galveston, president of the organization opened the session with a discussion of the work and aims of the federation. Dr. B. B. Harris of North Texas State Teachers' college gave an address dealing with the methods of better fishing, while a round table discussion led by Walter P. Taylor of the Texas Co-operative Wildlife service and presided over by F. F. Doyle of San Antonio closed the meeting.

Exhibition Match Is Postponed One Week

An exhibition golf match between champions, tentatively scheduled for Lubbock Country club Sunday, has been postponed at least one week.

Plans were being made for a West Texas Special here between Morris Norton, of Wichita Falls, twice winner of the West Texas Golf association tournament, and Jodie Bihl of Lubbock, winner of the 1938 West Texas crown.

Norton, who won the title first in 1936 and successfully defended it in 1937, was unable to compete in the 1938 event, conducted at Lubbock Country club. Bihl sailed through to the championship, and since has added two other major local titles—the Lubbock Country club and the City Open—to his string this year.

The Wichita Falls ace had agreed to come here and play Bihl, "to make up for not playing in the West Texas tournament," and the coming Sunday had been set for the exhibition. Norton notified the Morning Avalanche yesterday, however, that he would be unable to be here Sunday, owing to extra heavy business. He is agent for a company manufacturing explosives for "shooting" oil wells, and said pressing business matters would prevent him from coming this week. Norton said, however, that it would be a "date" as soon as he could arrange it, and suggested he might be here a week from Sunday.

Name Of W. C. Roche Refused For GOP Ticket In Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 14 (AP) — Secretary of State Ed Clark Tuesday refused to accept the name of W. C. Roche as the Republican nominee for the legislature from the 19th district comprising El Paso, Hudspeth and Culberson counties.

Clark ruled Roche was barred by statute because he had participated in the Democratic primary of July 23.

Harold Hankamer is the Democratic nominee.

The eighteenth amendment cost 32 cents a year per capita for enforcement.

Budge May Not Go Pro This Winter

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 14. (AP) — The double defeat of Bobby Riggs within a week's time makes it doubtful now that Donald Budge will turn professional this winter.

Sentiment around the clubhouse today, as the national singles championships resumed after a day's loss to rain, was that the amateur nabobs would be able to induce their meal ticket to continue with the old firm.

Up to the time Riggs began getting smacked around, first by Jack Bromwich of Australia and then by Gilbert Hunt, the feeling had been that Budge had done his full duty in bringing the Davis cup back home, and that he could become an outright professional with a free conscience.

Now, though, it is painfully obvious that Don's departure would leave the United States without a hope of beating Australia in the next Davis cup challenge round, and, even worse, would deprive the great tennis citadels here and at Wimbledon of their only real drawing card.

It is whispered that the English officials have told their American confederates to promise Budge practically anything his simple heart might desire, up to and including a guest suite at Buckingham palace next summer, if he only will remain true.

The all-England tennis club at Wimbledon, it might be explained, is big business, with debenture holders and everything. The profits have been very satisfying for many years. With both Budge and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody missing next summer, there would be little laughter in the board room.

PRAISES U. S. ACTION

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14 (AP) — Daniel J. Doherty, national commander of the American Legion, here to open the organization's annual convention next week, Tuesday praised the United States' action in strengthening its national defenses, and cabled birthday greetings to Gen. John J. Pershing, American commander in the World war.

General Pershing, now in Paris, is 78 years old.

Some clouds are 10 miles thick.

Burglars Get Oil And Tubes In Raid On Filling Station Here

Burglars late Monday night or early Tuesday took approximately 15 quarts of oil and three old inner tubes from a Phillips Petroleum company filling station here, George W. Birdwell, operator, reported to police.

Officers investigating had made no arrests nor located the missing property Tuesday night.

Birdwell said a rear window was broken, but the intruder did not enter the building because of bars. He reached in. A man and his wife living in a trailer house approximately 30 yards away said they returned from a show about 11 o'clock and found a light cord extension leading from their residence to the station had been pulled loose, indicating the intruder had visited the station before that time.

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 11. (Special)—Yesterday we told you something of the background of the Mormon movement in Utah and some of the results therefrom.

Today we present, as space permits, some facts about the Salt Lake City of today and the progress, up to the present, of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints—which is the prime moving factor of life out here.

Any story of Salt Lake City must start with what is called Temple Square.

Located in the heart of this city of 150,000, Temple Square houses the headquarters of what is called—somewhat erroneously—the Mormon church. On the square is the great, imposing Salt Lake Mormon Temple; the far-flung tabernacle of the church; and the assembly hall which, in itself, is a large size structure in which religious services also are held.

On the square, too, is the Bureau of Information, from which throngs of tourists are throughout each day conducted over the square by trained lecturers—but at no cost to the visitor.

There are no collections taken. The visitor has no opportunity to contribute to any fund. A tour of Temple Square is all free—and includes an organ recital by a top-notch musician playing on the 7,000-pipe organ which has the finest tones in all the world.

STATELIEST structure is the temple, to which visitors are not permitted.

In fact, only church members who may enter there are the priests, high officials of the church and members who are in good standing and who bear recommendations from their respective bishops.

Topped by the gold-plated figure of the Angel Moroni, standing 222 feet above the ground, the temple took 40 years to build—between 1853 and 1893—and cost $3,500,000. Largest of the nine temples located in the United States and Canada, it was paid for solely by contributions from a struggling pioneer group who—like their successors of today—paid in a tenth of all their earnings to the church.

During the early days of construction, work on the temple was carried on at great hardship, four oxen being used to haul each big granite block on it's 20-mile trip from the quarries to the building site.

Designed by Brigham Young, the temple here is a wonder of architectural perfection, its seven towers giving it a 15th century touch.

You've heard a lot about the great tabernacle, to which visitors are welcomed, and all you've heard is true.

Also designed by Brigham Young, the tabernacle was erected between the years of 1863-67 and must have cost a million dollars if it cost a dime—and that doesn't include its world-famous organ.

Resting on 44 stone buttresses, the tabernacle seats 8,000 comfortably, although it has been known to hold 11,250.

One hundred fifty feet wide, 200 feet long and with a height from floor to ceiling of 70 feet, the auditorium boasts accoustics which are world-acclaimed.

It is true one can hear a pin dropped in any part of the building; that a whisper in the pulpit can be heard on the furtherest removed pew; and that a man's hands being rubbed together in the pulpit can be heard on the back row.

The Plainsman will swear to these facts. He saw them all accomplished.

Most unusual thing about the auditorium is not the organ, however, but is the roof.

The roof contains over a million feet of lumber, held together by wooden pins and rawhide thongs—which were all that was at hand during the early day construction period.

THE assembly hall seats around 1,000 people and it, too has a fine pipe-organ.

The information building in addition to being what it is called, houses a wonderful museum in which are displayed many treasures of pioneer Utah days.

Also on Temple Square is the first house built in Utah and numerous monuments, chief of which is the Seagull monument—first recognition of its kind ever given birds.

Unveiled in 1903 and sculptored by Mahonri Young, a grandson of Brigham Young, the Seagull monument consists of a granite pedestal, upon which rests a granite column surmounted by a large granite ball, upon which two seagulls, in bronze and gold leaf, are shown alighting. Around the pedestal is a fountain and on three sides are bronze plaques depicting the story behind the monument.

Back of the monument is a very interesting story.

In the second year of the Mormon occupation of Salt Lake valley there were 1,500 residents.

Crops were very promising and everything looked fine.

Then came a scourge of crickets which began devouring every green thing in the valley.

Although the pioneers prayed long and fervently for deliverance from the plague, it all looked very hopeless.

Then appeared flocks of seagulls which attacked and destroyed the crickets, thus saving the people from hunger or, perhaps, starvation.

To this day, both by law and because of sentiment, seagulls which abound at Salt Lake are protected against death or injury.

* * *

IN addition to the property on Temple Square, the Mormon church owns, as we mentioned yesterday, numerous big business enterprises and much real property.

The offices of the church, for instance, are housed in a massive stone building, located within a stone's throw of the square, and cost hundreds of thousands of dollars to complete, in 1914.

Space will not permit listing everything concerning the position of the Mormon church in Salt Lake City, in Utah, or the world over.

Neither will it permit going into descriptions of the mammoth state capitol, one of the nation's largest, most imposing and expensive, of the beautiful state university here; of Salt Lake City's wide streets beautiful and expansive homes and parks; or of many other beauties, natural and man-made, which abound here.

But The Plainsman honestly considers Salt Lake City and Temple Square to be on a par with such interesting tourist meccas as the Statue of Liberty, the Washington monument and the Empire State building.

The person who can do so should, by all means, visit here and view the wonders on every hand.

To do so will give the individual a broader insight into his home-land.

AS for the believers in the divine authenticity of the Book of Mormon, once almost universally hooted and persecuted, they now are deeply respected by those who do not believe as they believe but who, none-the-less, appreciate sincerity of purpose, courage of convictions, and the fruits of honest labor.

No Mormon, but instead a Presbyterian with generations of Presbyterians behind him, The Plainsman finds himself vastly admiring these great people.

And while we are not versed on Mormon theology, we find no room to find fault with what we understand are the prime essentials of their creed:

Honest toil; obedience to the highest type of morals; love of God and country, and looking for the best, rather than the worst, in the other fellow.

Can you find fault with any of them?

CHAPTER XVIII

There were four entities in the living room of the Pennington-Parkr Restatorium. Reading from left to right: (1) Miss Sally Pennington, (2) Mr. Kinks Parker, (3) Mrs. C. K. Titus, (4) Wolfgang, the dachshunt belonging to Miss Clara Penimore.

Sally Pennington broke a breathless silence.

"If I don't hear just what happened in exactly two seconds," she said, "I'm going to scream my head off."

"Okay," said Kinks. "I guess I'm elected. Well, it was very simple. This morning I found the Great Pierre utterly confusing Mrs. Clipstack with sleight-of hand stuff. And just then I happened to remember that there were such things as loaded dice. Also I remembered that Bull Griffin and that fellow, Spaldini, were absolutly crawling ing with money. So, putting two and two together, it seemed to me that a crap game might help the situation. With the Great Pierre coming in strong with his prestidigitation. Get it?"

Sally gasped and nodded. "Go on."

"I broached it carefully to the Great Pierre and he caught on. It was to be a joke, of course. He was to slip me some of his winnings during the game. Well, he did. And when I'd got $200 I cleared out. And . . . well, you know the rest."

"But it—it was cheating!" said Sally, dismayed.

"Well, of course," said Kinks. "I'm going to tell Bull what happened. I'll give him, and Spaldini too, an I. O. U. How we'll pay them I haven't figured out yet. But why worry? We've got six months. The only thing is, I hope Bull can take a joke. It would be inconvenient to get 'da woiks' just now. And, incidentally, when I put the car up the game was still going on. Bull and Spaldini are down to their last yacht."

"Where did you go this morning?" Sally asked suddenly.

Kinks grinned. "To New Haven. We had to get some dice. And we did. One pair loaded and the other on the level. And did the Great Pierre do his stuff? Boy, oh boy!"

* * *

"Well," said Sally, "it all absolutely swell. I can hardly believe we're able to keep the place." Then a frown creased her forehead. "Of course, we'll have to do it all over again six months from now. And I don't like the Ames connection. They'll be furious after today. They may find some way to cheat us out of it yet."

C. K. Titus spoke for the first time.

"I think not," said C. K. Titus.

Sally and Kinks looked at him. "Eh?" said Kinks.

Mr. Titus cleared his throat. "I'm afraid," he said, with a shadowy smile, "that I owe you young people an apology. You see, my name isn't Titus. It happens to be C. K. Farnsworth. I own an organization called Farnsworth Hotels, Incorporated."

Kinks shook his head. "I don't get it."

"You will presently," said Mr. Farnsworth nee Titus. "Our corporation is always interested in houses that can be turned into small country hotels. Well, a representative of mine came to Winstock to look around and happened to meet Spencer Ames. Mr. Ames mentioned this place and even brought him to see it."

"Ah," said Sally, suddenly remembering something.

"However," said Mr. Farnsworth, "I wasn't entirely satisfied with my man's report on Mr. Ames. Mr. Ames told him one or two things that made me suspicious. So I came to see for myself. I make a practice of doing that, anyway, before I buy a property."

"You mean you want to buy our house?" Sally asked, her face falling.

"I'm coming to that," said Mr. Farnsworth. "I did not wish to use my own name here on account of Ames. So I selected 'Titus' and came to find you people running this—this madhouse. And then last night Mr. Parker told me of your difficulty. I appeared disinterested."

"I'll say you did," ejaculated Kinks. "You just walked out on me."

Farnsworth gave a quiet chuckle. "I only let you think so. I had no intention of seeing you lose this place. I had my own suspicions of this man Ames. He'd have bought it in, of course, and sold it to me. You can believe it or not, but if you hadn't raised the money today, I'd have raised it for you. I only"—his eyes twinkled at Kinks—"wanted to see how resourceful you were, young man. And I'm very well satisfied. You ought to make a first-rate hotel manager."

"Me?" said Kinks, blinking at him.

"I'll never sell this place," Sally said swiftly, "to be turned into a hotel with bar-rooms and bowling alleys and — and things. I won't have it altered."

"My dear young lady," said Mr. Farnsworth earnestly, "I haven't the slightest intention of altering it. I wouldn't touch it. It's one of the most charming spots I've ever seen. I'm merely suggesting that I take it over, leave it as it is, turn it into a hotel, advertise it properly and install you and Mr. Parker as manageress and manager. That's the sum and substance of my proposition. Now I've said my say. And"—he looked at them in amusement—"we seem to have arrived at one of those moments where a third party is entirely superfluous. I'll leave you to think things over." He nodded casually to them and went out of the room.

For a moment Sally looked wonderingly at Kinks.

"Oh, Kinks," she said breathlessly, "do you think he really means it?"

"Sure, he does," said Kinks. "He's one swell guy."

"We'll do it, then," Sally decided suddenly.

Mr. Kinks Parker took a turn up and down the room. He had something else to say and he wanted to say it in the right words. They didn't come easily. Trying to summon them, he looked out of the window. He beheld a queer procession approaching the house.

Heading it was Mr. Bull Griffin, swathed in a robe from one of the cars. Behind Bull marched Mr. Tony Spaldini, wrapped in another robe. And bringing up the rear was the Great Pierre, Maitre de la Magie. There was a beatific smile on the face of the Great Pierre and his arms were full of clothes, the clothes of Messrs. Griffin and Spaldini. The Great Pierre certainly liked a joke. In fact, his sense of humor was almost grisly.

Kinks swung away from the window. The right words just wouldn't come. The right words eluded him. The right words . . . all at once he took a deep breath.

"Listen, you blond-haired, blue-eyed tidalwave," he barked at Sally. "We've got all but one thing settled. And that's what's happening to you and me. Well, get this! I love you. I love you so much I make Dante and Mark Antony and the rest of those guys look like a bunch of mutts in the cheap seats. I loved you the moment I saw you and I'll go on loving you till the last whistle blows. I'm an ugly, fat-headed, half-baked guy without a nickel in the world, but I still think I'd make the best husband you could get in a year of sea-green Sundays. And all I want to do is hear you say you'll marry me and then I'm going to kiss you from now till next July the Fourteenth. And if you say you won't, I'll come over there and wring your neck. See if I don't.

Sally Pennington gave a gasp. Then, very suddenly, she knew that she was happy. She didn't know whether she stood on her head or her heels. She didn't know whether to laugh or cry. She did a little of both.

"Wel, you p-poor p-p-prune," she said, "h-how are you going to k-kiss me when you stay f-fifty yards away and pace up and down like a caged p-panther?"

Kinks Parker jumped.

"Whoops!" he cried. "Hold everything. Do you know what you're saying? You're practically saying you'll marry me."

"Of course, I am, you goop," gulped Sally. "What did you think I was doing, reciting the multiplication t-t-tables?"

Mr. Kinks Parker took a swift look around the room. There was only one thing between him and kissing Sally Pennington. That was Wolfgang, the dachshung. Mr. Parker addressed Wolfgang.

"Get out of my way, Von Hindenburg," shouted Mr. Parker. "Or I'll mow you down."

In a stride that would have sent Mr. Glenn Cunningham back to Kansas broken-hearted he was across the room.

And if you think that girls like Greta Garbo and boys like Clark Gable are any good in that exquisite state of being known as the clinch, you ought to have seen Sally and Kinks.

WISDOM IS QUESTIONED

Wisdom of the executive committee of the Texas League of Young Democrats in refusing endorsement to Vice President John Nance Garner for the Democratic nomination to the presidency will be questioned by many sage political observers.

Many reasons other than state loyalty, would have dictated approval of the Garner resolution. It may be true that the chances are against his nomination, but it is equally true that present indications are that Mr. Garner may become the most powerful figure in the 1940 Democratic national convention.

Especially is that likely if the fight narrows, as seems probable, to a contest between the President or his candidate on the one hand and the critics of administration policies on the other. If Mr. Garner should openly break with White House policies—and observers believe he will—he will become the figure about whom opposition to President Roosevelt will crystalize. That probably would not give him enough strength to win the nomination for himself, but it will give him a powerful voice in saying who is to be chosen for the honor. Chief obstace to his own nomination will be the fact that he then will be in his 72nd year.

Fortunately attitude of the Young Democrats isn't likely to carry much weight when Texas Democrats determine the position they are to take in the 1940 convention. If Mr. Garner then should be a candidate, it is almost certain that Democrats of his home state will be squarely and enthusiastically behind him.

Today's Thought

Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live; and so the Lord, the God of Hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken.—Amos 5:14.

We can do more good by being good than in any other way.—Rowland Hill.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14 — Short takes:

A songwriter got a hurry call from Michael Curtiz. The director said: "I need a song here immediately. I love you. I hate you. I got lots of money. The skies are blue. The birds are in bloom. Write me a song like that."

* * *

Two men in the uniforms of policemen, but wearing heavy makeup on their faces, hurried into a bookmaker's hideaway near Paramount the other day and offered some bets for the day's races. The bookie accepted their money, assuming that they were actors playing cops at the studio. But they were real policemen cleaning up some of the gambling spots.

* * *

R. S. V. P. If You Dare

The American Legion sent a list of movie players to the Producers Association with a request that none of the people named be included in any of the Legion's convention festivities.

Considered anti-American, the blacklisted actors were mostly those who have been red-listed by the Dies Committee.

* * *

The boss of a studio heard the head of his music department complaining that a new employe sent to be his assistant knew nothing at all about music.

The producer exclaimed: "Well, you know all about it. Teach him!"

Flash! They Don't Want To Be Talked About!

Movie exhibitors throughout the country are worrying again about Hollywood radio gossipers whose attacks on stars are considered harmful to business. And this time they think they've found a way to stop them: Five states have laws providing damages for every time a person's name or picture is used without authority for commercial purposes. Mention of a player's name on a sponsored program would, it is believed, constitute commercial use.

Casting For Casts

Joan Crawford may play a role identifiable as Barbara Hutton if her studio is able to buy a story called "Woman Without a Country" . . . Claire Trevor, never seriously considered for Scarlett in "GWTW," at this writing is the top contender for the part opposite Clark Gable . . . 20th-Fox has been testing frantically for a new Charlie Chan, and may try Charlie Lung, a Britisher known on the radio as "the man of a thousand voices." One of these should fit.

A foreign actress who has been quarreling about her roles emerged from a producer's office the other day and, white with fury, rushed through a lobby crowded with callers and studio visitors. Of nobody in particular, she demanded in a shrill voice: "Why do I even try to be a lady when all the people in this company are such —— —— fools?"

If Flyer Corrigan ever does get around to making a picture Gabe Yorke of the Hays Office believes it ought to be titled. "Gone Against the Wind."

About Rudy, Eddie, Bobbie, and Freddie

Eddie Cantor and 20th-Fox have called it quits, and his next two commitments are shelved . . . Hundreds of men who believe they look exactly like Rudolph Valentino have written Producer Edward Small asking for a chance to play the story of the idol's life . . . Robert Taylor who loves cowboy clothes, will have a chance to strut in all the accoutrements in "Stand Up and Fight," which is full of stage-coach holdups and such . . . Freddie Bartholomew is rehearsing for a six-week personal appearance tour.

Traffic Trouble: Auto—And Thrill—

Director Edward Griffith once fired a chauffeur for getting too many speeding tickets. Other day Griffith himself was hauled down and given a ticket. The policeman was the former chauffeur. . . . Clark Gable sold that fancy $3000 roadster. Fans could recognize it blocks away and were always pursuing him; one car full of youngsters even forced him into the curb and demanded autographs . . . A local theater has been drawing turn-away crowds by challenging customers to sit through a triple-billing of horror pictures — "Frankenstein," "Dracula" and "The Bride of Frankenstein." The Hays Office now frowns on such spine-chillers, but all studios now are looking for new scare stories.

Another Patient Coming Up For Treatment

It's Agreed People Shouldn't Have To Live On 50 Cents A Day But Fourth Of U. S. Does

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—Both Mr. Roosevelt and Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina agree that no one could—or should—live on 50 cents a day.

But now the President's own statisticians have informed him that at least one-fourth of all the people in the United States — 32,000,000 men, women and children—are living on 50 cents a day or less, sometimes much less.

Dutcher

The National Resources Committee in its report on "Consumer Incomes in the United States" didn't put it exactly that way. But it's what the figures show.

One Of 4 Persons

Twenty-seven per cent of American families, it reported, had incomes under $750 in the relatively good years 1935-36. The typical American family is one of four persons, so that meant that the 27 per cent were getting less than 51 cents apiece.

Further figures show that 14 per cent of families—about 18,000,000 persons—live on less than 37 cents a day. And about 4,500,000 do it somehow on less than 17 cents a day. These figures include income of all kinds, including home-grown farm and garden products used by families.

Buying Habits Analyzed

Many other interesting, important facts and figures are in this notable report, a great new gold mine for social scientists, business men and government. NRC already has publicized the fact that 89 per cent of the nation's 29,000,000 families and 10,000,000 single persons, considered as "consumer units," receive less than $2500 a year. About 2 per cent receive more than $5000. One-third had incomes of less than $780, one-half less than $1070 and two-thirds less than $1450.

This monumental report, prepared by Dr. Hildegarde Kneeland and her staff, is only a by-product developed from data on more than 300,000 families covered by a WPA consumer purchases study project.

Not Made Public

This study of buying habits, yet to be made public, will be of enormous value to business corporations. The first report itself is useful to those studying new federal and state programs. It tells manufacturers, other producers, distributors and advertisers where their best markets are, plus important facts as to regional, size-of-families and source-of-income phases.

Economists suggest that since two-thirds of families and individuals have incomes of less than $30 a week, industry will recognize that one of its chief problems is to gear itself to a low-wage market.

Both labor unions and employers probably will use the figures in wage negotiations.

Some politicians and reformers will use them to argue for a more even distribution of wealth. Others will point out that if the 59 billions of income received by families and single individuals in 1935-36 were divided equally between 128,000,000 persons, each would receive less than $9 a week.

No such exhaustive study was ever made before, here or abroad. About 7000 WPA white collar workers were employed on it. "IT WILL HAVE UNDIVIDED ATTENTION"
While the average executive does not throw his mail on the floor, as has the portly gentleman with the big cigar, the picture does bring home a serious fact which no letter writer can afford to ignore. Competition is great. Your letter will probably be one of many the reader gets in his morning mail. To get "undivided attention" your letter must be attractive—different! And your letterhead is a most important factor. The Baker Company always has the most modern type faces—add the skill of our master compositor, and you have a letterhead with a real "punch". (Continued From Page One)

Friends of W. Lee O'Daniel, Texas' next governor, said that was the language he wanted.

Senator Hill claimed the plank meant nothing and was favored by "the special interests desirous of a sales tax."

"I've seen more lobbyists here today," the East Texas senator shouted, "than I've ever seen in the senate gallery."

Hill and others insisted the plank would have to be changed in order to put the party on record for full, universal pensions.

PLAN ACTIVE CAMPAIGNS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 14. (AP)—C. D. Atkinson, Fayetteville, and Charles F. Cole, jr., Batesville, said today they would make active campaigns as the Republican candidates for U. S. senator and governor respectively in the November general election.

STUDENT IS INJURED

AUSTIN, Sept. 14 (AP)—Miss Patsy McGregor of Wichita Falls, University of Texas senior and member of Pi Phi sorority, was in a hospital here today with a broken leg after being struck by an automobile.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 5 to 9 points higher on trade and foreign buying with sentiment more helpful on the foreign situation. Oct. 7.81; Dec. 7.88; Jan. 7.85; March 7.87; May 7.14; July 7.83.

Fairly good buying from Liverpool, Bombay and the trade absorbed comparatively small hedge selling and liquidation. An upturn in the stock market brought in additional purchases. Prices advanced to net gains of 9 to 13 points following the opening. There was still enough nervousness, however, to attract selling on the bulge and Dec. reacted from 7.91 to 7.88, leaving the market at net gains of 7 to 10 points shortly after the first half hour.

Prices moved irregularly later in the morning but the undertone held about steady.

The census bureau reported 561,406 bales consumed in August against 449,511 in July and 603,617 in August last year.

Dec. at midday sold at 7.88, with the list 6 to 9 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14 (AP) — Cotton futures prices rallied briskly today in early dealings on less pessimistic views of the European situation and improved Liverpool cables.

The opening was steady 3 to 6 points net higher with the Oct. contract at 7.88, Dec. 7.93-95, Jan. 7.91, March 7.93, May 7.97, July 7.87-88 and Oct. (new) 7.80 bid.

Active options showed additional gains of 3 to 7 points in the first half hour of trading.

After the openings flurry of short covering and trade buying operations subsided but most of the gains were held with active options almost 50 cents a bale higher at mid-session.

The census bureau reported domestic consumption during August at 561,406 bales in July and 603,617 in August of last year.

The turnover yesterday was 31,300 bales and open commitments 404,500 bales, a decrease of 50 bales from the previous day.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP) — War fever ran wheat prices up 3¼ cents a bushel in Chicago late today and five cents at Winnipeg, despite earlier tumbles of 2½ cents.

The new soaring of values came after announcement of Czech extension of martial law in Sudeten German areas and that Sudetens and Czech soldiers were engaged in outright battle. Brisk profit taking, however, in Chicago forced what prices materially back at the last from the day's top.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅞-1⅛ cents above yesterday's finish. Sept. 68¾-⅞, Dec. 67¼-⅜, corn ⅞-1⅛ up, Sept. 53¾-⅞, Dec. 51⅝-52, and oats ⅜ to one cent advanced.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 14 (AP)—Demand for grain in general was somewhat improved today. Estimated receipts were: wheat 11 cars, sorghums 1. Cars manifested Tuesday were: wheat 8, corn 4, oats 1, and sorghums 2.

Wheat No. 1 soft red winter 79¼-80¼; No. 1 hard 80¼-84¼.

Barley No. 2 nom. 48-49.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom 86-88.

Corn, shelled No. 2 white 61½-63½; No. 2 yellow 62½-63½.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fresh waves of selling swept over the stock market today, sending prices into another swift decline, on reports of clashes between Sudeten Germans and Czech soldiers.

As the news of "incidents" in troubled Czechoslovakia came in over financial tickers, Wall Street seemed to relinquish an early show of hope for a peaceful settlement of the issue and markets gave up a struggle to recover from the staggering selling blow they suffered in the final hour yesterday.

Gains of 1 to 3 points scored by representative issues in the first half hour of trading were converted into losses ranging to around 5 points before the selling light'ened late in the session.

Liquidation was the heaviest since last autumn, with transactions approximating 2,800,000 shares.

Fatal Accident

only a few months. Mrs. E. R. Smith of Seagraves, aunt of Smith and Hudson, said this morning she thought Wood had gone to high school in Albuquerque, N. M.

A McMakin bus that reached the accident scene shortly after the crash took two victims to Treadway & Daniel hospital. Those in Seagraves hospitals were taken there by automobile.

Turned Over Several Times

Sheriff Gore said the car apparently had overturned several times. It was badly damaged.

Stephen had gone to Seagraves only about two weeks ago, and had spent about that length of time in Lubbock before going to Seagraves. He had come to Lubbock from Fort Smith about a month ago. The Southern Auto Stores agency here this morning received a telegram from the young man's mother. A representative of the store went to Brownfield.

Did Not Regain Consciousness

Wood suffered slight lacerations over his body in addition to skull fracture. He did not regain consciousness.

Mrs. Smith, aunt of the two youths in Seagraves hospitals, said this morning she did not know where the young men were going when the accident happened.

Initials of the father of the youth who was killed was given in one report as "S. A." One report was that the father is a Methodist pastor in Acuff.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately available.

Two Texas highway patrolmen left Lubbock this morning to investigate the accident.

VERDICT IS RETURNED

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 14 (AP) — Justice of the Peace J. P. Blocker at Christoval this morning returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Miss Ethelyn Mae Musick, 22, daughter of R. L. Musick. Miss Musick was found dead in bed. A note explained she had taken poison ord against legalization of hard liquor sales by the drink and a committee had killed a proposal to declare again re-legalization of wagering on horse racing, banned in Texas as two years ago.

Control of the party machinery for the next two years had definitely been placed in the hands of the governor-nominate, according to custom, by approval of a state executive committee composed of his friends.

Garner Is Endorsed

Vice President John N. Garner had been endorsed for president in 1940 and administrations of President Roosevelt and Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, had been praised.

The convention started off in fair enough weather, giving promise of being the "love feast" which Governor Nominate O'Daniel had predicted it would be, but came the night and presentation of the platform which O'Daniel forces had whipped through committee and harmony disappeared. Fireworks began crackling about the old age assistance and poll tax abolition planks.

Meeting Goes Into Tumult

Critics claimed the pension plank was indefinite, inane and meaningless, while proponents replied it demanded the largest possible pensions and accorded with O'Daniel's views. The meeting was in tumult.

O'Daniel was called by friends from his hotel to discuss the issue but when presented to the seething crowd of delegates was greeted by an angry howl. He backed to a stage door curtain.

Once more he came forth, only to meet a mighty roar of "no," whereupon he walked from the microphone without saying a word.

Acting Chairman Beeman Strong of Beaumont announced the nominee would "bow to the will" of the crowd.

O'Daniel Had Gone

Senator Joe Hill of Henderson, rushing to the rostrum, obtained a vote of delegates to suspend the rules and permit the new party chieftain to speak, but O'Daniel had left.

In a statement O'Daniel said later friends had informed him in the convention was confused about the wording of the pension plank and had requested him to go to the floor and state exactly what he had advocated.

"In compliance with their requests," the statement said, "I went to the convention with the intention of asking the delegates whether they wanted me to state in plain English just what my pledge to the citizens was.

"However, when I arrived at the convention the chairman was unable to restore sufficient order to permit me to ask the question and I refused to attempt to speak."

The controversy over abolishing the poll tax was even more vitriolic than that over old age assistance but O'Daniel, who could not vote for himself because he had not paid his poll tax, had no part in it.

Those favoring abolition said the people wanted it while opponents declared if the tax was eliminated negroes would control elections in some sections.

Other Planks Approved

Another plank approved reaffirmed allegiance to "the fundamental principles of democracy" and expressed desire to "recognize the leadership of our president and endorse the humanitarian program of the federal government."

Other declarations said unbiased consideration should be given adjustment of transportation problems in the state, capital investment in Texas for productive purposes should be encouraged, fair trade practices should be observed and opportunity for individual success in commerce and industry must not be destroyed by concentrated wealth.

"Our system of public education should be constantly maintained and improved, including our institutions of higher learning," the platform said. "This should not however, necessarily require continued increase in expenditures of the taxpayers money but should be accomplished by better distribution of available funds and by coordination of the work done by the several institutions of higher learning."

Laboratory Is Favored

Resolutions adopted included on favoring a state appropriation in an attempt to bring the authorized federal cotton research laboratory to Texas and another proposing that Democratic precinct conventions be held on the run-off primary date instead of the first primary date.

E. B. Germany of Highland Park was chosen chairman of the new executive committee, and Mrs. Frances Haskell Edmonson of San Antonio co-chairman. Germany succeeded Myron Bialock of Marshall. The new committee is composed of 31 men and 31 women.

One Killed In Coast Trouble

(By The Associated Press)

CORPUS CHR. TI, Sept. 14 — One boatman was killed, another wounded and Christopher Clarisch, 43, president of the Aransas Pass local of the United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing and Allied Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, was severely beaten this morning in a fight between striking shrimp cannery workers and boatmen at Aransas Pass.

Clarisch was charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Jim Cole, 55, boatman for Rice Brothers shrimp cannery at Aransas Pass. The complaint was signed by May Keepers, deputy sheriff. Clarisch is in a Corpus Christi hospital with a slashed wrist and face lacerations.

Another To Recover

J. B. Music, another boatman for Rice Brothers, was shot in the right side. He is expected to recover.

The difficulty between the two factions at the Rice Brothers cannery cropped out following a strike yesterday of approximately 250 shrimp peelers. Higher pay is demanded. The boatmen had gathered this morning to prevent picketing. The strikers disbanded following the shooting and beating of their leader.

America Prepared

tem is infinitely better equipped to brace itself and stand up under that shock than it was in 1914. Adequate machinery now exists for swift and effective handling of every financial crisis likely to arise. Furthermore, the impact of the shock has been at least partially softened by anticipation—a condition which did not exist in 1914.

Four Factors Cited

3. American business and agriculture probably would not receive an immediate set-back of the severity of that in 1914 and probably would not pocket profits of the scale of 1916-1918 because of four factors: The vastly greater advance preparation for war today; the depreciated credit status of major European nations; the neutrality laws; and the Johnson act prohibiting loans to nations which have defaulted on previous obligations. In the end, popular sentiment is expected to determine the effectiveness of these elements—a factor completely unpredictable today.

Far reaching fundamental changes have been made in the U. S. financial system since 1914.

Gold Reserves Up

The nation's gold reserves exceed $13,000,000,000.

Excess reserves of Federal Reserve system member banks amount to nearly $3,000,000,000—a sum capable of manifold expansion to meet credit demands as they arise.

Federal deposit insurance forestalls the likelihood of the uneasiness which played a part in the anxiety of depositors in 1914.

Prevents Situation

The ratio of gold to foreign requirements is satisfactorily high today, and in addition, government control of gold prevents a situation which might otherwise get out of hand.

Foreign short term assets, bank deposits, and brokerage balances today are estimated at around $2,000,000,000. Foreign holdings of United States securities are believed to be in the neighborhood of $7,000,000,000.

Garner Is Endorsed

may be continued and perpetuated for the enduring benefit of the American people, we submit the name of John N. Garner as the American best qualified to carry forward the banner of democracy upon the conclusion of the second term of our beloved president, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

The Texans approved the resolution with but a few dissenting votes from the floor. In the resolutions discussion F. M. Stevens, Houston attorney, opposed the Garner endorsement as premature.

Activity Books On Sale Today

Student activity books went on sale this morning at Texas Technological college so that students might obtain them in time for use for admission to the Tech-Montana State football game Saturday night.

A band rehearsal is to be conducted at 10 o'clock Friday morning and a pep rally likely will be conducted Friday night as other activities scheduled prior to the opening of the fall semester because the first game is to be played two days before opening of registration.

Plans for sale of the books were announced by James W. Huffman of Grapevine, president of the student body, and Hugh Williams, graduate manager of athletics.

The books will remain on sale from 9 to 12 o'clock in the mornings and 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoons the remainder of this week in the east rotunda of the administration building. Also, they will be on sale Friday and Saturday in the lobby of Hilton hotel.

To All Athletic Events

The activity books admit students to all athletic events of the school year. Price is $10 each. Money obtained from the book sales is divided between the athletic department, student council, Toreador, Association of Women Students, band, debate team, dramatic club, livestock, dairy and plant industry judging teams, engineering show, and home economics club. Benefits to the student, besides admission to athletic events, are a subscription to the student newspaper, admission to speech department plays, and other privileges.

D. O. Wiley, director of the band, said the band will play during the game Saturday night, although uniforms cannot be issued until next week. Letters have been sent to members asking them to be present for the Friday morning rehearsal.

150 Band Members

Director Wiley said he expected approximately 150 band members this year. There were about 135 last year.

Although there will not be time for preparations for a drill between halves of the first game, the organization perhaps will be prepared for a demonstration at the Sept. 24 Wyoming-Tech game, said Director Wiley. Band members will have their uniforms by that time.

Huffman said he thought it likely that a pep rally would be conducted Friday night. Definite announcement perhaps can be made today, he said.

Schools Show More Gains

Continued increase was reported late Tuesday in enrollment of city schools.

Supt. W. B. Irvin said he conservatively estimated registrations Tuesday at 200, although he had no definite check. Figures will be available Friday afternoon, when enrollment figures are computed at each school.

Classwork Is Begun

Classwork was begun in elementary schools yesterday after most grade pupils registered Monday. Senior and Junior high school students started classwork Monday. They had registered last week.

"Increase in enrollment has been uniform throughout the city schools," Irvin said. "Apparently the new zoning system has done much to distribute students evenly among the schools."

Central Ward was only school in the city which did not show an increase over opening day last year. It was explained that the greatest changes had been made there.

It is expected that attendance records this year will exceed those of 1937-38 when more than 6,000 students were enrolled before the term ended. Nearly 700 more were registered Monday than did opening day a year ago.

Lack Of Interest By Public In Democracies Decried By Texan

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 14 (AP)—Congressman Hatton W. Sumners, of Texas, chairman of the house judiciary committee, said Tuesday that lack of public interest in democratic government has caused that form of government to be challenged.

Pleading for renewed interest in government in an address before the Nashville Rotary club, Sumners said:

"We see free government disappearing from the earth and people ridiculing democratic government. This is something that faces the American people now.

"This is the most tragic hour probably in human history and yet we go along living a jazz life like nothing has happened."

Sumners added that "a man might be discussing the most fundamental problem of government and a medicine show could be started on the next corner and the crowd would leave and go there."

Dramatic Climax Of Sudeten Crisis In Moments

(By The Associated Press)

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Sept. 14 (AP)— Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain came to Adolf Hitler's mountain home today in a precedent-shattering effort to keep Europe from war.

In the rain, Chamberlain stepped from the entrance of his automobile to greet the elderly British statesman, who had flown from London to speak for the first time with the Czechoslovak crisis.

Smiling broadly, Chamberlain stepped from his special train here and boarded a Bavarian alpine motor car at 10:52 a. m., e. s. t.
