OREGON RIVER FLOOD THREAT AGAIN—Parts of the nation now face a new threat in the form of floods after several weeks of cold and snow. Near Eugene, Ore., the Willamette river, swollen by warm rains and melting mountain snows, is shown above as it begins to push out of its banks. Patrick M. Flynn watches as the waters cut away precious top soil and the base of a road. Price-Fixing Is Charged

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 21—The Attorney general asked court orders to stop alleged price-fixing on gasoline, mattresses, and a brand of wax polish sold in Texas.

Attorney General Price Daniel filed suit against ten major oil companies charging that since July, 1946, they have "combined their capital, skill and acts" to increase, fix and maintain uniform gasoline prices.

He alleged that the Simmons company and Montgomery Ward Co. fixed retail prices on mattresses, springs and beds.

Daniel charged that the Gold Seal Co. fixed retail prices on a household wax polish (glass wax).

Monday's anti-trust suits make a total of 17 such actions filed against 45 corporations and 23 individuals by Daniel. Court judgments have favored the state in nine suits. Price-fixing of milk, bread, butane gas and clothing has been charged.

The defendants charged with fixing and maintaining prices on gasoline delivered for sale at Texas filling stations are:

Arkansas Fuel Co., Cities Service Oil Co., Continental Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil and Refining Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., Standard Oil Co., of Texas, the Texas Co., Sinclair Refining Co., and Phillips Petroleum Co.

Asks Immediate Trial

The state's petition says the 10 companies manufacture about 65 per cent of the gasoline refined in Texas and sell about 80 per cent of the gasoline sold through bulk stations.

The petition says the 10 defendants own, lease, or control about 90 per cent of the retail gasoline outlets in the state.

Eight of the defendants were charged with combining efforts after the unsuccessful Phillips' crude price hike on Sept. 28, 1948, to prevent a general increase in Texas crude oil prices. The petition says their purpose was to maintain "the abnormally large profits existing as a result of the wide spread between the crude oil prices and the selling prices for refined gasoline."

Lubbock Solon Asks 'Open Meeting' Law

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP) — A bill requiring all state boards, agencies and bureaus spending state money or forming public policy to hold open meetings at all times was filed today for introduction by Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock.

Exceptions to the proposed law would be possible only by express legislative action.

Smith's proposal would require notice of regular and special meetings to be given the press and all newspapers in the city where the meeting is held.

Penalty for violation of the act would be automatic removal of the guilty members. Any person knowing of such violation could make complaint to the attorney general.

A person removed from office for such an offense would be ineligible for reappointment.

"The fact that many state boards, agencies and bureaus are now transacting much of the state's business behind closed doors in pretended executive sessions, from which the public and the press are excluded . . . creates an emergency," Smith's bill declares.

Smith said many of these closed sessions involve the expenditure of public funds and other matters of public interest of which the public should be informed.

Midwest Keeps Wary Eye On Mercury

Cold Weather Holds Up Threat Of Floods

(By The Associated Press)

LOW temperatures held off the threat of Midwest floods Monday and a rain-sleet combination glazed parts of the central Mississippi valley.

The rise and fall of thermometers became a vital factor in the snow-loaded northern plains and northwest mountain regions as the mercury edged upward in the vicinity of the critical 32-degree melting mark. Warm weather there might mean disastrous flooding in the river valleys.

There were exceptions to safe cold temperatures. New freshets were started in northwestern Nebraska, where Sydney reported a noontime 48 degrees, and in southeastern Wyoming. There, Cheyenne had a reading of 43 at midday, with Casper reporting 39.

Cold Holds Some Areas

Some melting was reported in the lowland headquarters of the Snake river, west of the continental divide. Boise and Pocatello, Ida., reported noontime temperatures of 41 and Salt Lake City had 39.

But it remained below freezing generally over most of the north plains blizzard area and in the higher altitudes of the snow-choked Rockies and Cascades.

Some daytime temperatures in these areas included Rock Springs, Wyo., 30, Rapid City and Huron, S. D., 24, and Pendleton, Ore., 27.

The mild temperatures in northwestern Nebraska and southeast Wyoming started a new heavy volume of water from snow run-off into the Platte river. But a spell of cold enabled that stream earlier to move its near brimful load a hundred miles nearer the Mississippi without serious overflow.

Army Speeds Work

Earlier, the Platte was reported out of its banks at Agency, Mo., and the Nemaha inundated some 23 square miles of farmland in southeastern Nebraska. The Missouri was four feet above bankful at Atchison, Kas.

Meanwhile, with continued favorable weather for cutting snowdrifts, the road-clearing operation of Fifth Army went into the home stretch in high gear. More than half of the 177,031 square-mile emergency area was chalked off the Army map as needing no further rescue assistance.

The sleet and freezing rain storm in the mid-Mississippi area made highways very slick in eastern Kansas, northwest Missouri, northern Illinois and parts of northern and western Oklahoma. Numerous injuries were reported in the slippery areas from falls and traffic accidents.

There was some rain on the northwest coast, but flooding was checked there. The Willamette river, which earlier flooded upper

Taft Praised On Labor Law Stand

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) indicated Monday that Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) may support a compromise between the Taft-Hartley act and the administration's repealer restoring an amended Wagner act.

Morse, who is working with Sen. Ives (R-N. Y.) on a compromise measure, praised the "fair-minded objectivity" of Taft in considering "shortcomings" of the present labor law during Senate Labor committee hearings which conclude Wednesday.

Morse conceded that he and Taft "may not agree on all details" as to the need for "drastic revision" of the Taft-Hartley act, and then added:

"But I am satisfied that we are much nearer together on the point of the need for a law less drastic against labor than we were in 1947 when the Taft-Hartley law was passed."

Morse said he hopes to win the support of Taft, who has been leading the Republican fight to prevent wholesale scrapping of the T-H law. Morse said:

"One of the finest things which has come out of our Senate hearings has been the fair-minded objectivity with which Bob Taft has considered testimony and evidence on the shortcomings of the Taft-Hartley law.

"What we need is legislation which is fair to both employers

Evidence Of Great Civilization Found In Outer Mongolian Tomb

MOSCOW, Feb. 21 (AP)—A Leningrad professor said today a tomb discovered in Outer Mongolia has yielded evidence that a fabulous civilization flourished more than 2,000 years ago in that isolated area of central Asia.

The find was made in the snow-capped Altai mountains. Because of the extreme cold the tomb had served as a natural refrigerator preserving the mummified bodies of a tatooted man and a girl musician, Prof. S. I. Rudenko said.

232 Portugese Killed When Wall Falls

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 21. (AP) —A huge wall collapsed yesterday with a terrifying roar and killed 232 persons, many of them women and children, who had assembled for a daily food dole in the center of Praia, capital of the Cape Verde islands.

Governor Joao De Figueriredo announced the number of dead and said many were injured. Forty-seven of the more seriously injured were hospitalized.

The disaster occurred at 11:15 a. m. yesterday, when 3,500 persons assembled in an enclosure for their doled ration.

U.S., France Denounce Soviet 'Vilifying' Of Western Powers

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 21. The United States and France tonight denounced Russia's frequent "vilifying" of the western powers and refuted Soviet charges of breaking the Italian peace treaty.

Meanwhile assistant U. S. Secretary of State Willard Thorp warned the Soviets that it would be "a bad error of judgment" to assume that a depression is underway in the United States because of "a relatively small decline in employment."

Thorp told the UN Economic and Social Council that "even a sizeable decline in a few prices" is no indication of a coming economic "bust."

In the Security Council, U. S. Representative Warren R. Austin angrily assailed assertions by Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik that the United States, France and Britain had violated the Italian peace treaty by proposing that Trieste be returned to Italy.

Austin lashed out at Malik and refuted "with indignation" the "vilifications" of the three western

U.S. To Give 'Pledges' In Atlantic Pact

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — A highly placed source said today the United States would give assurances in the proposed North Atlantic pact that she would not stand idly by if any of the signers is attacked.

The exact language of the promise remains to be worked out in final form, but the assurance apparently was enough for Norway. At Oslo, Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange announced that Norway would pin her security to the pact. This decision is in the face of Russian demands for Norway to stay out of the proposed security alliance.

The informant who spoke of the assurances to be given in the proposed treaty is an administration leader in Congress, who cannot be further identified. He said a clause in the treaty will leave no doubt about this nation's determining to resist aggression.

Understanding Seen

In England and elsewhere, considerable dismay had been expressed when Senate foreign policy leaders made it clear about a week ago they would not go along with an "automatic war" clause in the treaty.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) believe such a clause would by-pass Congress' right to declare war.

But an official said today Secretary of State Acheson has reached an understanding with the foreign relations committee on the nature of the assurances.

Decision Expected

Acheson is scheduled to meet within the next day or two with representatives of Canada and the European countries taking part in the talks.

The State department hopes to present the pact to Congress in a month, and to back it up with a multi-billion dollar military aid program for western Europe.

Norway's decision to go along with the west had been generally anticipated. Foreign Minister Lange told a news conference in Oslo that bitter experience has convinced his country that neutrality and isolation will not protect her. He cited the German invasion in 1940.

Reds Urged To Increase Arms

LONDON, Feb. 21. (INS)—A Russian army marshal declared Monday night that the Soviet Union must increase its "defensive" military strength because of international tension. He attributed this to the projected Atlantic pact and other western "blocs."

Marshal L. Govorov said in an article broadcast by radio Moscow that "wild" Anglo-American plans for "all kinds of military alliances and blocs aimed against Russia and the people's democracies are doomed to failure."

The broadcast came as British Foreign Secretary Bevin and Greek Foreign Minister Constantine Tsaldaris began talks in London on proposals to set up a Mediterranean pact similar to the pending Atlantic alliance. Turkish Foreign Minister Necmeddin Sadak had similar talks with Bevin last week.

Norway's Entry Seen

At the same time British Minister of State Hector McNeil announced in the House of Commons that none of the governments participating in Atlantic pact negotiations had yet committed itself to any military obligations.

INSTRUMENT NEEDED IN EVENT OF A-BOMB CONFLICT

Solons Told Atomic Energy Group Seeking Simple Radiation Detector For Mass Use If U.S. Attacked

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The Atomic Energy commission told Congress today that it is looking for a "simple, rugged and reliable" atomic radiation detector for mass use in event of an A-bomb attack on the U. S.

Atomic energy manager Carroll Wilson told the Congressional Atomic committee that pending discovery of such an instrument, the commission and armed services are planning for a force of trained gieger counter operators.

These operators, he said, would be rushed to the scene of an enemy attack.

He conceded that defense requirements call for a radiation detection device that can be produced in vast numbers and be so simple in operation that slightly-trained persons can handle it. Wilson said:

"We need a fairly simple, rugged and reliable instrument which can be produced in mass production and which can be used by little trained persons to be widely available in various parts of the country."

Rep. Holifield (D-Calif), asked if the commission has any plan for protection of civilians "if a bomb exploded" at such a target as Norfolk or Hampton Roads. Wilson replied:

No plan is existing today except that of the Navy on protection of Hampton Roads."

Holifield pointed out that a half-billion dollars of taxpayers' money has been spent on the atomic program and added:

"People should know something about the striking capacity and how to protect themselves."

HST Asks Aid For Americas

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—President Truman unfolded the first phase of his "global new deal" program today by asking Congress to vote 50 million dollars for aid to Latin America over a five-year period.

In a special message, the President asked the legislative branch to extend the life of the Institute of Inter-American Affairs for five years, and to fix a ceiling of 50 million dollars on the money which it would spend in this time.

The Institute, which is aiding Latin-American countries in public health, sanitation, education and agricultural development, is due to expire June 30, 1950. Under the President's proposal, it would be given a new lease of life until June 30, 1955.

Plan Would Lift Ceiling

At present, the ceiling on expenditures by the institute is five million dollars in any one year. The new plan would permit it to work out a five-year program of aid, with varying expenditures each year as conditions warranted. The institute was set up by Congress under an act passed Aug. 5, 1947.

The proposal ties in with the President's now famous "point four" program for aid to undeveloped areas of the world announced in his inaugural address January 20.

The "global new deal," as it has been widely called, is intended to dovetail with the Marshall plan for aid to Europe and in some measure to succeed it. The object is to build up the backward regions that are still free of Soviet domination.

HST Praises Program

The President said, in his message to Congress, that the institute's program has met with "exceptional success" and that "we should continue it as a vital instrument of our long-range policy." He explained:

"I stated recently that we must embark on a program for making the benefits of our scientific advances and industrial progress available for the improvement and growth of undeveloped areas.

"Within the western hemisphere we have already built firm foundations for this program, and have already begun to demonstrate the benefits that can flow from such a program."

Israel, Egypt Reach Virtual Agreement On Armistice Terms

RHODES, Feb. 21. (INS)—Israel and Egypt reached virtual agreement on armistice terms Monday, ending their eight-month war, and Trans-Jordan prepared to open truce talks Saturday.

Dispatches from Tel-Aviv said that the Israeli government has accepted the terms agreed on during the United Nations sponsored Rhodes talks. A copy of the agreement was flown to Cairo Monday and the Egyptian reply is expected Tuesday.

Observers predicted that Egypt also will agree to the truce terms.

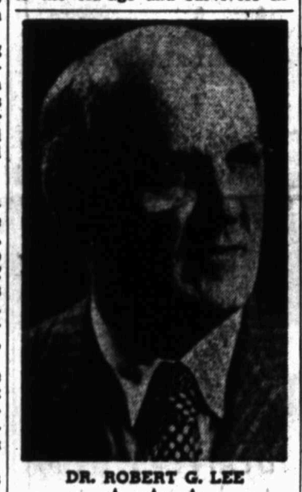

Higher Benefits, Broader Coverage Urged

Expansion Of Social Security Is Sought

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—President Truman's program for a vast broadening of social security benefits, bringing additional millions of persons under the system and increasing the payments and taxes, was unfolded on Capitol Hill today.

The legislation would bring an additional 20,000,000 Americans into the old-age and survivors insurance system, making a total of 50,000,0000 under this setup. The retirement age for women workers would be reduced from 65 to 60.

Baptist Leader To Speak Tonight

Approximately 2,000 men are expected to assemble in the First Baptist church in Lubbock tonight for a Brotherhood Evangelistic rally to hear a speech by Dr. Robert G. Lee, pastor of the Bellevue Baptist church in Nashville, Tenn., and president of the Southern Baptist convention.

The meeting will open at 7:40 p. m. Judson Burnett, layman of Levelland, will preside as district president of the Baptist Brotherhood.

Men from 169 churches are expected to attend the rally.

Held Notable Pastorates

Dr. Lee is a native of South Carolina and a graduate of Furman university. He was ordained to the ministry in 1910 and since that time has held notable pastorates in Charleston, S. C., at the First Baptist church in New Orleans and in Memphis, Tenn. He was president of the Baptist convention of Tennessee four consecutive years. He has been honored in many ways by the Southern Baptist convention.

Last November, he gave the closing message at the Texas Baptist convention in Texas. He spoke at the state evangelistic conference in Dallas last month. He has spoken to many large

The maximum insurance benefit would be boosted from $85 to $150 a month and in addition the bill would provide direct federal aid for all needy persons.

Tax Hike Proposed

It would also hike the old-age insurance tax rate from the present one percent to 1.5 percent on the first $3,000 of an employe's pay check and the employer's payroll next July 1. Under the present law, the increase is not due to begin until Jan. 1, 1950.

The rate would jump to two per cent against the first $4,800 of an employe's pay and employer's payroll next Jan. 1.

The administration's proposals were embodied in two bills covering more than 100 pages. The measures were introduced by Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee.

Committee To Start Work

Major features would provide:

1. Direct federal financial assistance not only for the needy aged, the blind and for dependent children, as at present, but for all needy persons. (This is distinct from the old age insurance system, under which workers and their employers are taxed so the workers can draw benefits when they grow old.)

2. Benefit payments for short periods of illness—and for extended periods of disability when a person is unable to work.

Doughton told newsmen he introduced the administration's measures for the committee to "start work on." He took no stand for or against the various proposals.

The legislation proposes that the present old-age and survivors insurance program be expanded to include a wide range of workers

Springlike weather held over the South Plains Monday as the mercury again climbed above the 70 degree mark after a mild cool front dropped reading slightly Sunday.

Yesterday's high was 72 degrees, one degree below the previous high for the year set Saturday. The low was 39 degrees. A low morning fog was quickly broken up by the sun.

The weather station north of town said temperatures today would range from a low of 38 degrees to about 70 degrees, and Wednesday's readings will be "about the same." Partly cloudy skies are forecast for today and tomorrow.

The absence of cold fronts north and northwest of the South Plains last night indicated that warm weather might continue for sometime, the forecaster said.

Former Spy's Testimony Tossed Bombshell Into Committee Hearings; Top Officials Were Named

No. 16

ELIZABETH Bentley, a Vassar graduate and later a teacher at the exclusive Foxcroft School, Middleburg, Va., drifted deeply into Communism through her hatred of Fascism and her love of a dying Communist named Jacob Golos.

Returning from her post-graduate studies in Florence, in the middle 1930's, she met a number of U.S. Communists and left-wingers who urged her to speak on Italian Fascism at several of their functions. In short order she joined the American League Against War and Fascism, one of the Communist fronts cleverly endowed with a name and apparent purpose calculated to enlist sympathy from Americans.

Her early mentor in Communism, she later testified, was Dr. James Mendenhall, a professor in Columbia University's Teachers College. Through Columbia, she was placed in a job with the Italian Library of Information, a propaganda arm of Mussolini's dictatorship. She began supplying Communist party headquarters in New York with information she picked up in line with her duties at the library.

Miss Bentley's efficiency in this modest role came to the attention of Golos, president of World Tourists, Inc., a travel bureau set up with Communist funds. The bureau served as a clearing house for the traffic between this country and Russia of a large number of Red agents, some of them travelling under false passports—as in the case of Gerhart Eisler.

She fell in love with Golos, and

Five Accused Of Acting As Czech Spies

By GEORGE MANCE

MUNICH, Feb. 21—A defendant in the Munich spy trial was accused today of obtaining information giving details of American atom bomb production and reporting that one A-bomb was "lost" in the United States.

The prosecution gave the trial a dramatic new turn by charging that Theodore Szendielorz had documents in his possession when arrested reporting the United States had produced 600 A-bombs since the Hiroshima attack.

The documents, discovered in a cheap ladies hand-bag, also told of the "lost" A-bomb but no details as to where the bomb had disappeared or when were forthcoming at today's session.

Session Is Public

Szendielorz, a Pole, and four German defendants went on trial in the second case to be brought against suspects rounded up last November as members of a spy ring for Communist-dominated Czechoslovakia.

The first defendant to be tried, the 31-year-old-waiter, drew a 20-year-sentence last week.

Today's session was open to the public, compared with the super-secret trial last week.

Authenticity of the atom bomb information allegedly obtained by the pro-Czech spy ring operating in western Germany apparently will be given no confirmation because of the security problem. The atomic information charges probably will be examined further Wednesday when the trial is resumed.

Military Information Found

It cropped up in a welter of evidence submitted against the five defendants, including documents seized from the prisoners giving reports on the British-American maneuvers at Grafenwohr last summer.

One set of documents showed the exact number of superforts, jet planes, troops and supplies scheduled to arrive in Germany long before they even left the United States.

Another gave an accurate description of the U.S. Army maneuvers and showed sketches of troop barracks, landing fields and ammunition depots.

Other evidence indicated the spy ring made its headquarters

Woman Charged With Swindling

A 20-year-old Lubbock woman, Kathleen Powell, charged Monday night with swindling over $50 by worthless check, admitted to the district attorney's department that she had passed at least four bad checks within recent weeks.

The charge on which she was arrested was sworn to by Vernon Peters of Peters Jewelry, to whom she allegedly gave a worthless $80.45 check in payment for a wrist watch and watch band. The charge was filed by assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr in the justice court of C. E. Lynn.

Burglaries Probed

Burglaries, thefts, wild chases of speeding motorists and other alleged offenses were reported to Lubbock officers Sunday and Monday.

Bob's Frigidway market, at Nineteenth and Ave. Q, was broken and entered at a back door, and $25 in money was taken from a cash register, the police were informed. A back door hasp was pried off.

Nothing else apparently was taken, Detective LeRoy Boling, jr., was told.

Mrs. Carrie M. Tanner of 3009 Merthel told police that her garage had been burglarized sometime within the last few days while she was away from home. Nothing was reported missing, but a further check will be made, she said.

Raymond Lee Tate, 21, charged Saturday night with forgery by endorsement, posted $1,000 bond.

His wife, Millie Tate, 21, was charged Monday with forgery of a $23.30 check and posted $750 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lynn in binding her over to grand

Former Spy's Story Was Bombshell For Committee

it was to him that she thereafter turned over the information she obtained from the library. When Hitler invaded the Soviet Union in 1941 Golos promoted her to the role of courier.

Her duties obliged her to travel to Washington every two weeks and collect copies of stolen government documents and other information. She received most of these, she testified later, from Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, Russian-born government official who, she said, headed one of several Communist spy groups within the government.

She also collected the Communist party dues of certain government officials, including a 20 per cent surtax on those earning more than $5,000 a year. Such political information as she received was shown to Earl Browder in New York. Then that information, along with the military data she obtained, was sent to Moscow by Golos.

IN her pocketbook, travelling bag and occasionally her paper shopping bag, she transported a wealth of vital secret information, including the date of D-Day, plans for the B-29 and other U. S. warplanes then in an embryo state, news that U. S. counter-espionage agents were about to break the Soviet code, considerable information about the secret work of the OSS, and U. S. plans for the post-war occupation of Axis countries.

She felt no remorse.

"It never occurred to me that I was betraying my own government," she testified later to the House Un-American Activities committee. "The mistake you make when you look at Communism is that you take it as an intellectual process.

"It is not. It is almost a religion, and it gets you so strongly that you take orders blindly. You believe it blindly. That accounts for the fact that no real Communist is religious or has any religion."

Finally Went To FBI

But things changed when her man Golos died of the somewhat unromantic malady of hardening of the arteries.

Miss Bentley tried working directly with Browder for a time, but found him evasive and contemptuous of her—as he was of all American Communists. Those he assigned her to ". . . were about the cheapest type of person I have ever seen—the gangster type." In July, 1945, she stopped paying her party dues.

When it became apparent to her superiors that she was drifting away, a great effort was made to placate her and revive her interest. It failed. In August, 1945, she went to F.B.I. headquarters in New York City, and told her story. She named the names with which she bombshelled the committee three years later.

THE F.B.I. made its report, followed her thereafter. But the Communist party did not give her up easily. Her case was considered important enough to enlist the attention of Anatol Gromov, first secretary of the Russian embassy. He gave her $2,000 in $20 bills at the corner of Fourth Street and Tenth Avenue in the fall of 1945 and later, by order of the Supreme Presidium of the U.S.S.R., the Order of the Red Star.

Though she turned over the $2,000 and the decoratiion to the F.B.I. immediately after receipt, and gave a fantastically detailed story of her activities and the men and women with whom she conspired, she apparently was viewed with suspicion by the Justice department.

For as soon as it was made known that the committee had subpoenaed her, at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn, Vincent T. Quinn, then Asst. Attorney General in charge of the criminal division and now a member of Congress from Brooklyn, came by my office to counsel caution. He was accompanied by George Morris Fay, U. S. attorney for the District of Columbia.

Held Closed Session

I sensed readily enough that their visit had something to do with Miss Bentley, so I rang up Chairman J. Parnell Thomas at his New Jersey home and asked the officials to speak to him—not me.

They urged Thomas to question Miss Bentley in executive session, and warned him that while the Justice department had never been able definitely to disprove any of her allegations there was available no material evidence, and a great dearth of corroborating witnesses.

The committee at first heard Miss Bentley in closed session when she appeared July 31, 1948. But after a very short period of questioning it was unanimously decided by member Democrats and Republicans alike that the hearing should be opened.

In her crisp, unruffled manner Elizabeth Bentley accused, among others, the following:

Asst. Secretary of Treasury Harry Dexter White; Lauchlin Currie, an aide to President Roosevelt; Silvermaster, former $9,000 a year government economist; William Remington, Commerce department representative on the Inter-Department committee determining exports to Russia and its satellites; Duncan Lee, legal adviser to OSS head Maj. Gen. William Donovan; John Abt, CIO-PAC official; Victor Perlo, official in six government agencies; Charles Kramer, attached to the Labor sub-committee headed by Sens. Claude Pepper and Harley M. Kilgore; Harry Magdoff, WPA official; Harold Glasser, who worked in a number of government offices, and Maj. William Ludwig Ullman, USAAF.

WHITE, co-author of the Bretton Woods Monetary plan, author of the so-called Morgenthau plan for Germany, and sponsor of the World Bank, was charged with moving Red agents into key positions in various government departments.

Currie, Miss Bentley charged, supplied her with advance information on the impending break of the Soviet code, the invasion of France, and the administration's plans for Chinese aid.

Silvermaster she called a Communist, and leader of one of the two important groups obtaining information from government officials, some of whom, she acknowledged, might have been sincere liberals who believed that hard-pressed Russia, as an ally, should receive information that was being kept from it. Miss Bentley considered Silvermaster an NKVD man.

Remington, who is currently suing her for libel, she called her "most valuable" government contact. He was subsequently suspended by the Commerce department. However, the Federal Loyalty board exonerated Remington and asked that he be reinstated.

Lee was accused of being a Communist and of supplying her with "highly secret (OSS) information, such as negotiations in the Balkan group and that we were parachuting people into Hungary."

Abt's New York apartment was used as a rendezvous for some of her fellow-conspirators, she asserted. His wife was described as an editor of the Communist magazine "Soviet Russia Today."

Headed Capital Group

Perlo, she said, headed the second large Washington document-stealing group and had described himself to her as a Communist who had ready access to aircraft production figures, ". . . and he supplied me with them," she added.

Kramer, who had appeared before the committee a year earlier, and who had refused to answer when we asked him if he had ever been a Communist, was known as "Krivitsky" in the Perlo group, in which he was active, according to Miss Bentley.

Ullman, she said, atended to the microfilming of secret government documents which found their way to Silvermaster's Washington home. When he was too busy at the Pentagon, Mrs. Silvermaster attended to the photographic work, Miss Bentley declared.

THE protests of most of those named were quick and generally indignant.

"This is the most fantastic thing I ever heard of," White told reporters. "I never heard of the woman before, I am shocked."

"I never met Miss Bentley nor knew of her existence," Currie said in a statement issued from his home in Scarsdale, N. Y. "To the best of my knowledge I have never known nor associated in any way directly or indirectly with either a Communist or a Communist agent. . . My work never brought me in contact with military codes."

So there we were, with the largest type of hot potato in our hands. This had inadvertently run the President's special session of Congress off the front pages. Before 24 hours had passed the committee was the target of a tremendous campaign of vilification. There were, indeed, some members who felt that we should have accepted the advice of the Justice department and confined Miss Bentley's testimony to a closed hearing. Corroboration most certainly would be difficult to obtain.

The subpoena I then served on Whittaker Chambers, for reasons which I shall explain in the next article, was a forlorn shot in the dark.

GEOLOGIST IS CLAIMED

PALO ALTO, Calif., Feb. 21 (AP)—The man who predicted the disastrous Santa Barbara earthquake of 1925 is dead. He was Dr. Bailey Willis, 91, known internationally as a seismologist and geologist. Dr. Willis died Saturday night after a short illness.

West Texas School Group Votes Okay Of Gilmer-Aikin Plan

Approximately 150 school administrators of the West Texas Teachers association Saturday went on record as unanimously in favor of the Gilmer-Aikin bills in the state legislature.

At a meeting held in Lubbock Senior High school, the West Texas group also unanimously approved a resolution calling for more aid for small schools, for transportation purposes, and for overhead expense if, in the opinion of legislators, it can be financed by the proposed plan.

In another resolution, the West Texas officials requested the legislature to re-investigate the amount of money needed to pay the deficit in the equalization fund for the year 1948-49.

Bills Discussed

C. M. Rogers, Amarillo public schools superintendent, was the principal speaker at Saturday's meeting. Rogers, who recently attended an Austin meeting concerning the proposed Gilmer-Aikin measures, discussed those bills.

The meeting here was called by Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, president of the West Texas Teachers association, at the request of the Texas State Teachers association and the Texas Department of Education.

Copies of the resolutions approved here are to be sent to state senators and representatives from the West Texas area.

Florida Cracks Down On Bookie Syndicate

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 21 (INS)—One of the country's largest bookmaking syndicates was at least temporarily closed today due to a state-wide crackdown on Florida's multi-million-dollar illegal bookie business.

The usual bookmaking spots along the bustling Miami Beach ocean front were ominously quiet and abandoned.

Deputy sheriff's prodded by Gov. Fuller Warren's edict demanding that the bookie trade be wiped out, kept a constant check on the cabanas and cigar stands that once harbored a large network of horse-books.

The influential Miami Beach Bookie syndicate, which operates under a thin guise of legitmacy, temporarily halted operations of its more than 200 "branches."

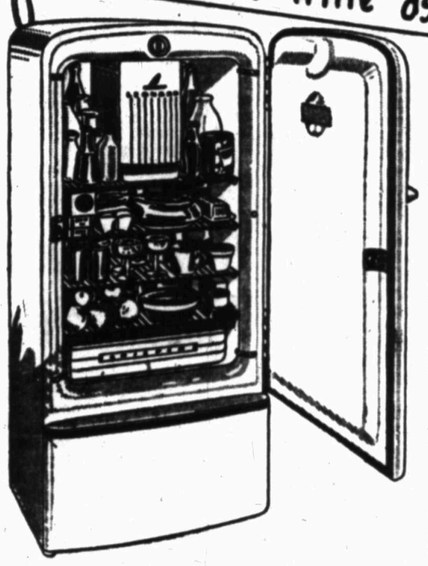

A few arrests were made over the week-end of bookies who ignored the governor's decree.

DON'T FAIL TO SEE THE FAMILY

How Bob Norris made the job he couldn't find

AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP
As they go, so goes the nation!

"Even then it took midnight oil and teamwork managing our money to get over those tough years," say the Norrises.

● It happened only three months after Robert and Marguerite Norris were married! Bob suffered an accident that changed his whole life. He could no longer do active jobs he knew; he lacked the training for any other! Big odds against Bob—but he refused to be beaten . . .

While Marguerite's job as movie theatre cashier helped keep things going, Bob set out to fit himself for a new job.

After six years of teaching himself accounting, Bob got his first break! He started in a $7-a-week part-time bookkeeping job. Little enough, but it gave him the chance to prove he could work as well as the next man. Meanwhile, he continued his studies at night. Finally he was qualified to hang out his shingle as a public accountant. But could he actually make all his studying pay off . . . ?

To help make ends meet after Bob started out for himself, Marguerite kept a firm hand on expenses. By careful buying, housekeeping, home canning, she still feeds family on only $700 a year. Clothes take $250, taxes on house, $60 a year.

Learning to save for things they want starts young in the Norris family! Albert William, 4, bought a train that way. His dad saved up to buy a car; mother put money aside regularly so that Cora Nancy could have music lessons.

Town teen center is a big interest for both the Norrises. They also teach church school, work for Clarksville recreation drive. And outdoors fun is in their picture too. Bob's job still gives him time for hunting and fishing.

Today the business Bob Norris made for himself provides an income of $6000 a year. But the family still manages their money with care. Making dresses is one way Marguerite helps build up savings for their big goals.

"But life insurance is our most important savings plan," Bob says. He now has a program of planned life insurance protection. It's budgeted at $29.49 a month. For the future he's working with his agent on a retirement program.

What's the secret of Bob's ability to beat the big odds he faced 16 years ago? "If you want to get yourself ahead," he says, "you can!"

Bob has plans for Albert William: Harvard, Class of '65! And Bob himself wants to study for a law degree. "Study pays off," he says.

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

The Norrises, like other American families, prove to all of us that the only way we really solve our problems is by our own efforts!

These stories of real families much like yours also show how much more success, how much more happiness is possible when you have peace of mind . . . the sort of peace of mind that comes from wise management of money now, and from knowing that future security has been adequately provided for.

The Life Insurance Companies and their Agents bring you these American family close-ups because what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

SLASH IN OTHER LEVIES PREDICTED

Snyder Demands Hike In Taxes On Life Insurance Companies

By EARL MARCKRES
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — The administration demanded sharply higher taxes on life insurance companies today as Republicans stiffened their opposition to any increase in regular tax rates.

House Republican leader Martin, Mass., predicted flatly that Congress will not increase taxes this year. Martin added that the House may vote to reduce them instead.

The administration's demand was voiced by Treasury Secretary Snyder, who declared that life jusurance companies are escaping income taxes altogether at present because of faulty legislation.

Claims Firms "Exempt"

Snyder explained that a statistically determined "normal" income is subtracted from the actual income of life insurance companies in determining the taxable amount, and that the "normal" has been exceeding net earned. The Treasury secretary added:

"Under the law, I have no alternative but to determine a figure which . . . in the absence of corrective legislation, will exempt these companies indefinitely from federal income taxation.

"This matter requires urgent attention. At the first opportunity the Treasury department will present to the Congress suggestions for taxing life insurance companies."

Tax Cut Bills Offered

Snyder said that he had conferred with insurance company heads, and indicated that they are willing to accept some adjustment of the taxing system.

The deducted "normal" income was 103 per cent of the actual in 1948, and 101 per cent in 1947. Between 1942 and 1946 it varied from 91 to 96 per cent.

Martin's prediction, made before Snyder's announcement at the Treasury department, referred to President Truman's demand for a four billion dollar increase in regular levies.

The former House speaker said a clear majority of House members oppose this. He claimed that he has lined up a majority of the Ways and Means committee in favor of his bill to reduce excise levies.

Martin is sponsoring a measure to repeal wartime taxes on such items as electric light bulbs, toilet articles, luggage, jewelry, furs and theater tickets. It would save the taxpayers about a billion and a half dollars a year.

Rep. Forand (D-R.I.) has also introduced such a bill, and Rep. Doughton (D-N.C.), chairman of the Ways and Means committee, several times has stated that he favors repeal of at least some of the excise levies.

New Car Production Increase Scheduled

DETROIT, Feb. 21. (AP)—Approximately 108,000 cars and trucks were scheduled for production in the nation's assembly plants this week. This compares with about 107,000 last week.

Excepting for Kaiser-Frazer all the car makers got into production Monday with accelerated schedules. K-F has closed its assembly lines at nearby Willow Run for perhaps three weeks. The shutdown announcement said it was designed to permit inventory adjustments and tooling for two new cars.

The new models are the utility units that look like standard sedans but function like station wagons or light trucks.

Chrysler reported an outlay of approximately $90,000,000 to get its new models into production. For that reason a price hike on all models is regarded as certain.

A large part of the tooling expense is represented in the soaring postwar costs of machinery and plant equipment.

Whatever hopes there may be for a levelling off in retail car prices right now are based on the fact the industry has no more drastic model changes in sight for many months to come.

Horses Flown From West Coast To Florida; New Mark Claimed

MIAMI, Feb. 21 (INS) — Capt. Dick Merrill, famed trans-Atlantic pilot flew two outstanding race horses from Burbank, Cal., to Miami today and cracked a cross-continent speed record for four-engined DC-4 planes.

The veteran Eastern Air Lines pilot was at the controls of a special coast-to-coast flight to return horse owner Fred Hooper's two speedy three-year-olds, Ocean Drive and Olympia, to Hialeah park.

Several weeks ago the two thoroughbreds were flown to California to run in the $50,000 San Felipe handicap, won by Ocean Drive.

The transcontinental journey to Miami was made in nine hours and 50 minutes. Merrill said the flight trimmed more than an hour off the previous record time for DC-4's.

The two horses that made up the transport's cargo will be entered in Hialeah's $50,000 Flamingo Stakes on March 5.

Two South Plains Cattlemen Add Aberdeen-Angus To Herds

Two South Plains cattlemen have added registered Aberdeen-Angus heifers from the Watson Brothers' Keillor Ranch to their herds.

The purchases, made at the recent Texas Aberdeen-Angus Association sponsored sale at Fort Worth, were made by Clyde Bradford of Happy and J. E. Jeffries of Plainview. Bradford bought two heifers, while Jeffries bought one.

Keillor Ranch had a heifer to win her class in the show of sale animals at the Fort Worth show.

January Telephone Damage Reaches Ten Million Dollars

January was the most costly month Southwestern Bell Telephone Company ever has known—ten million dollars damage from ice, sleet, floods, zero cold, wind. Winter's paralyzing blows brought the most costly disaster in company history, and also the most extensive.

From San Antonio and Pecos, through most of central and west Texas, diagonally across Oklahoma, southeastern Kansas, northwest Arkansas, and Missouri to Hannibal on the banks of the Mississippi River, new storms caused additional damage every few days. And floods in Arkansas washed out miles of long distance lines. The areas affected are shown on the map above.

These figures show the extent of the damage: 24,000 poles down, 36,000 crossarms broken; 4,800 long distance circuits knocked out; 53,000 telephones temporarily silent; 200 communities isolated for a time.

Service restored quickly

Two things made it possible to restore service quickly.

First, the diligence and skill of 4,200 telephone men. They came with their trucks and tools from all parts of our company territory and from other Bell System companies—Mountain States, Illinois Bell, Southern Bell.

Disregarding personal hardships and in the finest traditions of the business, these men worked from dawn to dark—from "can" to "can't" as Plant men say—seven days a week, under conditions that were always difficult. Sometimes they could scarcely walk on the ice crust, and their trucks were immovable on slippery highways. But, one way or another, they got to where they were needed, and they got the job done.

Reason No. 2—the teamwork that characterizes Bell System service.

Western Electric Company, supply unit of the Bell System, marshaled its nation-wide resources. From Western's warehouses or outside suppliers in 45 communities scattered through 21 states, the materials moved, at once.

A steady stream of poles, crossarms, drop wire, cable, insulators, steel strand, tie wire—all the things the storms had smashed—flowed into the iced area. At no time was work held up by lack of supplies.

Wire shipments during the month were more than was required by Southwestern Bell in all of the fourth quarter of 1948 for normal purposes. In addition to wire, thousands of poles, crossarms, and tons of pole-line hardware were moved by truck, by express, and by air into the storm areas.

Equipment is standardized

In the Bell System telephone equipment is standardized. The parts that fit in Texas work equally well in Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, or anywhere else. Thus, even the construction gangs from the other companies found no equipment puzzles—and their own tools worked perfectly.

Bell System teamwork met the challenge of these storms. Most of the service has been restored. But permanent repairs, especially on toll lines, will take months to complete. For every wire damaged by the storm must be retied and "resagged" to meet Bell System standards before the job will be finished.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

EVERYTHING important that ever happens happens, really, in the mind, doesn't it? No matter how joyous or poignant the event, the reaction to that event happens in the mind. So the lives of some of our great, those who through circumstances stand out in our country's history, have come to symbolize the qualities which have made us strong, which have given us goals toward which to reach in our struggle to learn the lessons we have been put here to learn.

George Washington lived a life which for us has become a beacon and guide post through the future's dark. The simple, homely faults all men are heir to, have, in him, been forgotten and only the power of his spiritual stature remains. It is good that it is so. Today, Washington's birthday, memory gives salute.

PUDDING RECIPE

HERE is Mrs. Harry S. Truman's recipe for Ozark pudding, which was requested by Mrs. Harry Urguette and several other readers some time back. It will appear in the new edition of the congressional cookbook.

First, beat one egg and three-quarters of a cup of sugar together for a long time until they are smooth. Then mix two tablespoons of flour and one and one-quarter teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt. Combine the two mixtures. Add one-half cup of chopped nuts, one-half of a chopped apple and one teaspoonful of vanilla.

Bake in a greased pie tin in a medium oven. Serve with either whipped cream or ice cream.

MALE BOSSES

TEN to one, women would rather work for a male executive than his feminine counterpart, reports the March issue of Charm, after an "Office Routine" poll of typical young business girls in 32 cities across the country.

Coincidentally, the Woman's Home Companion also took a survey and came up with the same statistics.

The Companion survey left the general impression that most women bosses are cats and inclined to jealousy. As one woman put it, "A man is a softy compared to a woman."

AMONG the suggestions for improving office routine, Charm's readers think that their bosses should set aside a specific time of day for dictation. This way, the girls could plan their work accordingly, and from the volume of dictation, they would know whether they were required to stay after hours to finish up.

While business girls are against the girl who rehashes last night's date via the office phone, they do feel that the boss should let his employe's conscience be the guide on the mater of personal phone calls. If some abuse the privilege, then discipline the culprits, not the whole office, readers say.

The majority of girls polled felt that their employers had a sense of humor, that they usually gave clear instructions, and that they were courteous.

You know, when it comes right down to it, probably women don't want to be bosses at all!

REPORT ON SURVEY

Wearable Fashion Choices More Abundant This Season

Choice of easily wearable fashions and selection of every costume part at prices women want to pay, will be bigger this spring than last, according to a survey of spring and summer fashion showings.

Skirts are a bit shorter and silhouettes are a bit quieter this year than last, the survey disclosed.

Extremely wide, billowing skirts are being reserved for evening wear, although daytime dresses still frequently feature full skirts. Important for daytime are skirts featuring fine and precise pressed pleats, as distinguished from the uncreased pleats of last year's skirts. Petticoats will continue popular.

Skirts Are Shorter

Skirt lengths for everyday wear will be about 13 inches from the floor, an inch shorter than prescribed for last year. Cocktail and dinner dresses will go down to within 10 inches of the floor. More ankle-length dinner and dance frocks are expected this spring than last, even for formal parties.

Although skirts for dresses are generally full, the spring suit is another thing, for it is almost without exception pencil slim with an incidental pleat or slash at the hemline for easy walking. Suits have a more tailored look, although not austere or mannish. Men's wear worsteds, navy and the new deep beige twills are most popular. Linen, shantung, new rayons and fancy cottons will be featured in summer suits.

Coats are casual, or, for big city wear, fitted. Belting the tweed or pastel fleece casual coat gives the right look for the spring. This will be a big navy season for the town coat, falling in with the overall dominance of navy for this spring.

Short Coat Is Popular

Knitted cardigan and short coats, convenient to wear with almost any kind of summer dress, including evening, are due for a big comeback this season.

Crisp fabrics, such as paper-weight taffeta, will be a vital factor in spring and summer fashions.

Prints are emerging with great vitality. Print patterns are imaginative, a kind of spaced geometric flower in a sizable motif being the newest. Polka dots, tiniest pindots, are much liked, and the neat little tie-prints about in quantities, not only in silks and rayons, but also in summer cottons.

Hats are being designed to go with the short hairdo. Close to the head, with a side-tilt, is the underlying idea in cloches and turbans. And the side tilt goes for sailors and larger brims in the straw department.

Straw handbags and shoes are much more ambitiously styled this season than last, and are so important as to be influencing other textures and colors in accessories.

With the fashion spotlight on low necklines in dresses, neckwear climbs to new importance. Stoles and scarfs for one kind of sover-up, and gilets and modesty pieces for fill-in where too much exposure is not desired.

Flowers are scattered all over the costume, instead of on the hat exclusively, as they have been for the past years. Flower accessories are being made to wear at the neckline, on pockets of jackets and dresses, and on cuffs of novelty gloves.

Mr. And Mrs. Knox Given Housewarming

Col. Thompson Fails To Appear Before Solons On Oil Issue

BY SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—Col. Ernest Thompson of Texas Railroad commission failed to appear Monday to testify before the Senate Finance committee in favor of amending the reciprocal trades law to include provision for import quotas. Evidently he and Governor Jester differ on the gravity of the import situation.

The appointment had been made for him to appear by Senator Tom Connally at the request of Gov. Beauford Jester in a wire dated Feb. 17. The night Thompson was in Washington telling a Texas newspaperwoman there was no cause for alarm in the present import situation as regards the Texas oil industry.

Thompson Gives View

When Thompson returned to Texas during the weekend, he found the Senate committee's invitation and then wired Connally: "My interest in protecting the general economy of my state is connected with the conservation of oil and gas. Any importation of foreign oil that would seriously curtail the demand for oil produced in Texas under strict conservation measures would necessarily be harmful to this state's economy."

While Jester was concerned about the situation, and was suggesting that Thompson testify, Thompson in Washington was saying that he had "every confidence that big importers would soon cut their imports.

Jester had wired Connally that he believed it would be "helpful to the economy of the state if Col. Thompson could testify to present a provision for quotas."

Just what was the reason for the visit to Washington last week of Col. Thompson, Jim Abercrombie, Houston oil operator, and Myron Blalock, Marshall, former national committeeman, was not clear yet. They talked to Speaker Sam Rayburn and to President Truman but insisted all was purely social.

During the visit, Col. Thompson had been quoted as saying that he did not believe that there was any real need for weeping and wailing by the Texas oil industry over the foreign import situation.

He believes along with Sec. of Interior J. A. Krug that the present oversupply of imports and its effect of cutting back the domestic production means only a temporary setback for the domestic oil industry.

Krug said imports could not be cut as quickly as state allowables but would decrease according to promises of several importing concerns. Krug said the cutback was made necessary by the self-sufficiency of the domestic market and that this might be only temporary. Col. Thompson was quoted as saying he also believed that this was only a temporary setback for the industry.

"I know that these concerns will want to cut back their imports as soon as tanker schedules can be curtailed because they are after all domestic producers of oil, too," Thompson said.

Three Hurt In Highway Crash

Three persons were injured Monday when two automobiles and a truck collided at 8:15 a. m. a mile and a half west of Shallowater, the state highway patrol reported.

The injured were Mrs. Minnie Ireland, 62, and Mrs. A. C. Wright, 53, both of Shallowater, and Homer R. Pierce, 21 of Littlefield.

Mrs. Ireland suffered a comminuted fracture of the right arm, Mrs. Wright bruises, it was said at West Texas hospital in Lubbock. Pierce suffered deep facial cuts, it was reported from Payne-Shotwell hospital in Littlefield.

Accident Described

State highway patrolmen who investigated at the wreck scene were informed that a car in which the women were passengers was being driven westward by Elmer E. Ireland, 65, Mrs. Ireland's husband. In attempting to pass a westward-traveling truck driven by Thomas Allen Whatley, 32, of 224 Ave. P in Lubbock, Ireland's car was in almost headon collision with a car driven eastward by Noland Ray Raney, 19, of Littlefield, it was related.

Pierce was a passenger in Raney's car, investigators were informed.

Charges Filed In Lamesa Beating

LAMESA, Feb. 21. (Special)—Charges of aggravated assault have been filed against two men in connection with the severe beating of School Principal Ray Culp at his home here Friday night, after Culp, earlier that day, allegedly whipped a son of one of the men as a matter of school discipline.

County Attorney Vernon Adcock said the men charged were R. D. Taylor, a farmer, and Jack Aldridge, a trucker. Adcock said the charges were filed in County Judge R. W. Herndon's court. Taylor was released on $1,500 bond and Aldridge on $1,000.

Adcock said his investigation showed the following occurred:

Culp struck Taylor's son five times with a rubber hose after the boy ran through a second-floor hall in the school building shouting. The principal said he had previously disciplined the boy several times.

Friday night, two men appeared at the Culp home. One beat Culp severely while they were on the front porch. The other held Mrs. Culp when she attempted to go to her husband's aid.

Culp was treated at a local hospital for a badly cut forehead, bruises and three broken ribs. He had returned to his home today.

UN MAY USE 'MORAL FORCE'

Intensification Of Cold War Seen In Conflict Of Religion, Atheism

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Astute United Nations observers are convinced that the East-West cold war soon will heighten in fury in an all out conflict between world religious bodies and militant atheism.

The first great battle of the conflict thus far, they say, is being fought over the trial and imprisonment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary.

The stage was set for another fight by the arrest of 15 protestant leaders by the Communist government of Bulgaria.

Vishinsky Admits Atheism

In this connection, most UN delegates recall the silence which followed the statement from the rostrum made by Russia's Andrei Vishinsky during the 1947 General Assembly.

Vishinsky, deputy Soviet foreign minister, said:

"I am an atheist and intend to remain one to the end of my days."

At that time no delegate took the floor to criticize Vishinsky's use of the UN forum "to propagandize for atheism."

Evidence that a world religious force to combat Communist atheism soon may be organized reached Lake Success from the Vatican this week.

Vatican Sounds Call

Papal sources indicated that the secret consistory held in the Vatican last Monday viewed Cardinal Mindszenty's imprisonment as sounding a call for drastic action.

The 16 cardinals who attended are said to have considered plans for the creation of a broad religious front embodying all faiths and paralleling the western world's defense front of political pacts and alliances against Russia.

That in itself has given UN officials something to consider. A strong movement has been making itself felt recently for emphasizing the tremendous power endowed in UN as a "moral force" in the world.

This "moral force" is certain to be called into action next April when the second part of the General Assembly session begins. A solid line-up of Latin-American states plans to act on the Mindszenty case.

President Favors Action

The president of the Assembly, Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, is known to be in favor of such a step, rather than to toss the issue of the cardinal to the Security Council for an inevitable veto by Russia.

In the Assembly, fifty-eight nations have a voice and vote without regard to big five privileges. The Assembly lacks the power of action embodied in the Security Council but—by a twist of developments—is now the instrument through which the UN appears to be most effective. That is because of the "moral force" it can mobilize in rousing and influencing world opinion.

What worries UN officials is that the fire touched off by such issues as the Mindszenty case could easily get out of hand and blaze into the worst conflagration yet witnessed in the UN.

Top Officials Worried

A number of top level officials at Lake Success have grave misgivings over letting the East and West powers turn the assembly into the battleground for world religion and Communist atheism.

But the inescapable fact is that the General Assembly is its own master. It can depose Secretary General Trygve Lie if two-thirds of its members feel so inclined.

It can invite presidents and dictators before it, or refuse the rostrum to any outsider. It can decide to move the UN session from New York to Paris, or Rio De Janeiro or what have you.

At the moment, there are few so bold among UN top officials or in the rank-and-file who would risk a prediction that the Mindszenty case—and the whose issue of Communist atheism and world religion in all its faiths—can be kept out of the Assembly next April.

The anticipated roar from Russia and her satellites will not be sufficient to drown out the growing world demand for this showdown which at the same time will embolden Western groups bent on pushing the issue into the Assembly.

Higher Phone Rates Sought For Lamesa

LAMESA, Feb. 21. (Special—The need for an immediate increase in telephone rates here was made known Monday by Mills Roberts, district manager for the Southwestern Associated Telephone company.

Higher costs of furnishing telephone service to this area make it necessary to raise the rates immediately, Roberts said, and said he planned to go before the city council at an early date to explain in detail the need for higher rates.

Subscriber Increase Cited

Roberts noted that the growth in the number of telephones in use here had been exceedingly rapid. He said there were 1,440 phones in service here now in contrast to a total of 438 in 1935, and that the company expected to install 500 more units during the present expansion program.

The new rates represent an increase of one and two-thirds cents per day for four-party service and two and one-half cents per day for one and two-party service using residence phones. Business phone rates will be hiked an average of from three and one-half to five cents per day, Roberts reported.

Hearne Man Indicted In Hot Check Swindle

FRANKLIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—The grand jury today indicted S. B. Jones, a Hearne insurance man, on charges growing out of an $81,000 hot check swindle of the First National bank here.

County Attorney Bill Palmos said Jones, 47, was indicted on three counts; two under the state's hot check law and the third on theft.

Bond for Jones, who is at liberty on bail on the original complaintts, wes set at $10,000.

The county attorney said that the indictment concerned a check for $10,850 which was cashed Nov. 27 at the First State bank here.

Worthless checks totaling $81,000 were cashed by the bank during the Thanksgiving holidays last year. The loss caused the bank to merge Dec. 18 with the First National bank here.

Jones was arrested near Matamoros, Mex., and returned to Texas Dec. 14. Eight complaints were filed against him. He told a reporter:

"I have at no time violated any criminal acts."

Jones was in the insurance business at Hearne and was engaged in business in the Rio Grande valley in which such items as used cars, refrigerators and barbed wire were sold in Latin American countries.

Tech Experimental Calves To Be Exhibited At Stock Show

A group of 10 steer calves that the Agriculture department at Tech has been experimenting with at Pantex will be shown at the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show to be held at the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds March 21-23, according to Dean W. L. Stangel, head of the agriculture department at Tech. The calves will not be shown in competition but rather for demonstration.

Stangel said that it would be a project that would involve a year's time. After the animals are shown at this year's show they will be placed on an irrigated pasture at Tech. During the first part of October of this year they will be taken from grass and placed in the dry lots.

The calves will be divided into two groups for fattening. Both groups will receive the same rations but one bunch will be hand fed and the others self fed. They will remain in the lot until the 1950 show.

A chart of the gains the animals have made along with the cost of the project and a history will be placed over their stall at that show.

The calves are from a herd that Texas Tech and Texas A. & M. have been experimenting with in connection with wheat poisoning.

"What Becoming Glasses"—
THEY'RE NEW PLASTIC FRAMES

More people are beginning to realize that many times appearances are actually improved by glasses, for the correct lens removes those tiny lines that are likely to gather about the eyes when there is even a slight eye strain.

Then again, there are the new plastic styles which not only reveal the charm of the eyes, but lend that smart modern touch to the whole appearance.

When in doubt about your eyes consult your Oculist (eye physician). When all is said and done, smart glasses are really a matter of the right prescription lenses and the style most suited to your facial contours.

U.S. Foreign Policy Takes On New Change With Atlantic Pact

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Reports from Washington, added to Norway's decision that the proposed Atlantic pact is good enough for her, indicate clearly that the United States is going ahead with firm guarantees against agression in Western Europe.

Times have changed in the 116 years since the United States informed Europe it would no longer brook foreign expansion in the western hemisphere. President Monroe said "we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety."

Since that day the frontiers of American interests have expanded clear across the Pacific and Atlantic oceans. It is a position into which the nation has been forced by the modern shrinkage of time and space which makes it impossible to escape the consequences of wars abroad.

Many of the nations at which the Monroe doctrine was directed are now within the orbit which once encompassed only the Americas.

Most Americans know that the Monroe Doctrine was directed against Spain and the so-called Holy Alliance, which included Russia as she participated in European affairs. But there was also a direct dispute between the United States and Russia at that time not involving Europe or Latin-America.

Russia, owning Alaska, had sought to exclude other nations from fishing and navigation within 100 miles of North America as far south as the 51st parallel (not far from the present U.S. border). The U.S. said then, six months before the doctrine, "no more European expansion in the Americas." Monroe included a special paragraph in his declaration, specifically directed to this dispute with Russia, expanding on the principle.

That is merely a sidelight on the history of U.S. resistance to the expansion of what is considered aggressive and non-liberal forces.

Thomas Jefferson considered the circumstances of the Monroe doctrine as the most momentous which had developed in the history of a free United States. So many things have happened since that it becomes difficult to decide just where to apply superlatives.

But Jefferson would certainly not be unaware of the portents as the United States moves toward military as well as economic unity with Western Europe in defense against the expansion of a system of which Monroe could not have dreamed.

Bo Harvey will be the Sandman. His two assistants are Virginia Jones and Marilyn Steele. Martin, a waiter who always has everything under control, is played by Bob Burks.

Frank Burton has been assigned the lighting for the show and Dave White is the head of the stage crew. Roy Grimes is to be in charge of sound effects and Bill Wilson is to take care of the art for the show. Ruth Cook, the author of the script, will personally be in charge of all of the costumes. Selection of the chorus girls and other specialty dances will be made later according to Billie Hutchins, dance director. For the time being, rehearsals are to be held in Room 208 of the journalism building on the campus.

Lamesa Cagers Hurt In Wreck

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Feb. 21—Three members of Lamesa High school's championship basketball team narrowly escaped serious injury in a truck-car collision about 1 o'clock Sunday morning three and one-half miles south of Lamesa on the Big Spring highway.

Teammates T. J. Womack, forward, Ronald Chapman, guard, and Bobby Hawkins, substitute guard, were on their way to Hawkins' home in a light truck he was driving. They had just returned to Lamesa by bus after winning the district 3-AA basketball title by beating San Angelo 35 to 32 in Sweetwater Saturday night.

The truck collided with an automobile driven by Sampel Ruiz, 45, of Lamesa, and overturned, hurling Womack out of the truck. Womack received a gash in the top of his head and Chapman was gashed on the forehead and suffered a dislocated finger on his left hand. Hawkins escaped injury. Ruiz and two companions, who were returning from Big Spring, suffered minor bruises.

Coach O. W. Follis said all three lads would be ready for duty when the Golden Tornadoes open their bi-district battle with Bowie of El Paso. All the injured were released from the hospital early Sunday.

Highway Patrolman E. B. McKnight, who investigated and reported the accident, said that charges of driving on the wrong side of the centerline had been filed against Ruiz, and of permitting an unlicensed minor to operate a motor vehicle against W. E. Hawkins, father of Bobby Hawkins.

Chairman Clement will appoint a head for the finance committee at a later date, Norris reported.

A troop leader training course will begin here March 3 at the Troop 23 hut, Rev. Bridges announced. He said the school would be conducted two nights a week for three weeks and would be climaxed with an overnight hike. He urged that all troop leaders attend the school.

Wichita Falls Transit Workers End Strike

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 21, (U.P.)—City buses rolled along their routes today as a strike of bus drivers ended.

The rank and file of drivers voted last night to accept a company offer of a five-cent hourly wage increase and a promise of better working conditions.

The decision to end the strike, which started last Tuesday, was announced after the drivers accepted an agreement negotiated in Dallas by A. F. Steele, union international vice-president; T. S. Reece, a Continental Trailways executive, and Ray Majure, a federal conciliator.

Additional Boost Granted

Reece said an additional two and one-half cents an hour would be given drivers as soon as the company completes legal requirements to boost bus fares to 10 cents for adults and five cents for school children.

He said that the entire fleet would be reconditioned and that five new buses would be purchased.

The pay raise will give the drivers a $1 an hour wage. They had asked for a flat 25-cent increase.

Transportation in this city of 60,000 had been crippled by the strike.

Lubbock, Childress Tangle In Bi-District Opener Tonight

Tussle Slated For Chapman Fieldhouse At 8 O'Clock

Lubbock meets Childress at 8 o'clock tonight at Chapman fieldhouse in the first game of the bi-district basketball play-off.

The Westerners will be out to avenge the 1944 bi-district defeat administered by the Bobcats. That year Childress took a clean sweep of the playoff by defeating Lubbock 38-31 in the first game here and then giving them a 56-25 pasting in Childress. Childress advanced to the finals of the state meet that year.

Childress Fares Badly

Although they don't have quite the team they had then, they have five boys who can give any team trouble.

Against District 1-AA teams this year Childress has fared rather badly. Pampa tripped them twice, 69-33 and 42-32. Borger turned the trick 46-34, but in a return match was edged by the Bulldogs, 26-25. And Amarillo gave Childress a 46-27 defeat. But the team has improved greatly in the last two months and have their eyes set on the state meet.

The Westerners went through a light but extensive drill Monday afternoon in preparing for the first game. Coach Roy Morris had his boys practicing on their shooting and offensive play off the posts. Then the team went through a defensive drill using a zone defense against the B team, but neither team was working too hard and the defense looked a little weak.

GAME WILL BE BROADCAST
Radio station KCBD will have a play-by-play rebroadcast of the game at 10:15 o'clock.

Farha Paces Bobcats

Heading the Bobcat attack are T. Jones, R. D. Bradshaw, Billy Ray Woods, Joe Powell and Emile Farha. In ten district games, not including the playoffs, Farha scored 74 points, Woods made 68, Jones and Powell each had 67, and Bradshaw, 6-foot 2-inch freshman, added another 59.

In district play the Bobcats scored 428 points while limiting the opposition to 368. In 27 games this year, including the playoff with Pampa, Lubbock has scored 1,130 points while limiting the opposition to 770. This gives Lubbock an offensive average of 42.2 points per game against 28.5 for the opposition.

The starting lineup for the Westerners will include Charles Galey and Jimmy Sexton at forwards, Jim Wilson at center, and Bob Rooker and Blair Hankins or Morris Turner at the guard posts.

E. J. Lowrey, athletic business manager at the high school, announced Monday that admission prices for the game will be 50 cents for public school tickets, 75 cents for a limited number of Tech student tickets, and $1.20 for all reserved seat tickets.

No student tickets for public school pupils will be sold at the gym. They must be obtained at their respective schools.

Bill Would Allow Fishing Freedom

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—A bill to establish a universal fresh water fishing license fee was almost approved for final passage by the house today. It was held back—temporarily—by one vote.

Rep. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth, author of the measure, said it would abolish 10 special license fees now in effect and allow Texas fishermen to wet a line in any public waters of the state for $1.65.

As amended during floor debate, the bill would allow fishing without a license in a person's home county and on either side of a body of water next to his county line. Also exempt from paying the fee would be the youngsters—those under 17.

The amendment to let a person fish on either side of the river or lake that might be the county dividing line came after several representatives protested that home-county exemption was not enough.

Willis said his bill would eliminate the $1.10 fee now required for fishing with an artificial lure.

The bill was approved on second reading, but the house refused by a one-vote margin to suspend rules allowing final passage on the same day. Final approval, which will send the measure to the senate, is assured at a later date because the bill has strong support from a majority of the house.

Official Deplores Cage Game Incident

DALLAS, Feb. 21. (AP)—The shoving of referee Ziggy Sears after the Baylor-Texas basketball game Saturday night today was termed an "indictment against the supporters of intercollegiate athletics."

James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, issued a statement on the incident.

Stewart witnessed the action.

A group of fans surrounded Sears after the game and shoved him back against the scorer's table. Baylor athletic director Ralph Wolfe and Baylor coach Bill Henderson came to his aid and escorted him to the dressing room.

Stewart said "the athletic authorities at Baylor are to be commended for their prompt control of the situation which averted a possibly more serious incident."

Some fans took exception to decisions by the officials. Three of Baylor's players left the game because they committed the alloted five personal fouls.

Stewart said in his statement today:

"The incident at Waco, following the Baylor-Texas basketball game last Saturday night, is very regrettable and is certainly an indictment against the supporters of intercollegiate athletics.

Anton American Legion ousted Hoyt Furniture 38-32, Panhandle All-Stars of Spade came from behind to edge the Sanders Motors five 36-35 and Matador Independents romped to a 49-29 victory over Hawkins Service.

Second round games will be played tonight in the O. L. Slaton gym beginning at 7 p.m. Curtis Barrett, tournament director, decided Monday night that it was not necessary to postpone the tournament one day, that some of the overflow crowd for the Lubbock-Childress game might want to see the independent team tournament and that a one-day lay-off wasn't fair to the competing teams.

Three Games Tonight

As a result, three games will be played tonight in the O. L. Slaton gym. Texas Lumber Bin and Blue Flame Gas will meet in the first tilt, followed by the Cloverlake-Brown-Layco clash and concluded with the Derrick Service-Sisco Grocery game.

Best game last night was between the Panhandle All-Stars and the Sanders Motor team. Sanders went into an early lead of 7-0 and then upped it to 17-4 midway through the first half. But the Spade quintet rallied slightly to leave the floor at intermission trailing 21-10.

The last half was a nightmare for the Sanders team. Two of the players had left early and Sanders wasn't at full strength, with Spade beginning to control the backboard. They crept closer and closer tying the score late in the last canto.

Sanders edged ahead by one point and then led 32-29. Spade cut the margin to 32-31, but Sanders went out ahead 34-31 and 35-33.

Chamberlain High Scorer

J. R. Chamberlain, who had been hitting from all parts of the court, sank a field goal and was fouled on the play. With the score tied at 35-all, Chamberlain calmly dropped the charity heave through the basket and with a minute and nine second remaining, Sanders was balked in an effort to go ahead.

Chamberlain was high scorer with 14 points, while Phil Ragland of Sanders had 10.

Bill Woods had 14 points to pace Anton Legion to victory over Hoyt, which was led by M. J. Crow.

Porter Willis had high honors for the night with 18 to lead Matador to victory over Hawkins, which was paced by Wade Eller with 13.

Hale Center's Owls Card Six Home Grid Contests This Fall

HALE CENTER, Feb. 21 (Special)—Six of the Hale Center High school football teams' 1949 grid contests will be played here next fall.

The Owls' schedule was announced by Coach Ralph Huntington, whose grid forces last year won the title in District 3-B by staging one of the big upsets of 1948 in the conference. The Owls, rated two or three touchdowns underdogs at best rose up to tie the powerful Dimmitt eleven 6-6, but won the game on first downs.

The defending champions open the schedule Sept. 16 against Anton at Anton and close the fall season here Nov. 11 against Olton. In between, the Owls will play seven other conference foes.

The schedule follows:
Sept. 16—Anton, there.
Sept. 23—Friona, here.
Sept. 30—Farwell, here.
Oct. 7—Spade, there.
Oct. 14—Amherst, here.
Oct. 21—Springlake, here.
Oct. 28—Whitharral, here.
Nov. 4—Dimmitt, there.
Nov. 11—Olton, here.

Six Counties Will Be Represented

District 18-A Girls Event Opens Tonight

Six counties will be represented in the District 18-A girls basketball tournament which gets underway tonight at Sundown and continues on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

The first and second place teams in each county will take part in the tournament, and first, second, and third place winners will be awarded trophies. Counties fielding teams are Bailey, Cochran, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, and Lubbock.

Two of the strongest teams in the district are Cotton Center and Roosevelt. Roosevelt has won approximately 30 of 36 contests this year, and Cotton Center has a record of 36 victories and four defeats. These two teams meet the second night of competition, provided Cotton Center gets by Three Way the opening night.

Whiteface has won 20 tilts and lost five, and New Deal has dropped only six games in 37 encounters. Both teams drew byes in the first round.

The winner of the tournament goes to the state meet in Hillsboro next month.

The tournament schedule is divided into two brackets. In the first is Abernathy, Amherst, Anton, Bula, New Deal, and Whiteface. The second is composed of Cotton Center, Three Way, Roosevelt, Morton, Spade, and Whitharral.

Admission for all games in the district tournament is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Time of the games the first two nights are 6, 7:15, 8:30, and 9:45. In the first round games tonight, Abernathy plays Amherst, Anton meets Bula, Cotton Center meets Three Way, and Spade encounters Morton.

Carroll Thompson Wins Last Slated Game From Brownfield

The Carroll Thompson Junior High school Cowboys won their last scheduled basketball game Monday, defeating Brownfield Junior High, 52-28, in the South Plains Junior High league.

Tommy Yelvington was red hot as he meshed the net for 20 points to lead the Cowboys to the one-sided victory. His teammate, Billy Williams, garnered 10 markers.

The high scorers for Brownfield were Blaik with seven points and Boyd with six.

The halftime score was 21-10 in favor of the Cowboys.

Class B Quintets Are Certified For Region One Meet

All 11 Class B high school basketball teams that will compete in the Region One, TIL regional tournament, which will be held Friday and Saturday in Texas Tech gym, have been certified.

Morley Jennings, Tech athletic director and also tourney director, said yesterday that schools not certified through Saturday had been certified since that time.

The high schools to be here, with their districts, include Stratford, District 1; Miami, District 2; Samnorwood, District 3; Carey, District 4; Dimmitt, District 5; Spade, District 6; Shallowater, District 7; Roaring Springs, District 8; Ropesville, District 9; Dawson, District 10; and Vega, District 11.

Will Be Top Tourney

From all indications, this will be one of the best Class B regional tournaments ever to be held here, with some of the finest court material in the state appearing in Tech gym.

Stratford High school is a former state basketball champion and defeated Lubbock High school, champions of District 1-AA, by 20 points earlier in the season. It is one of the outstanding teams in the state.

Carey, which sprang the upset of the year in 1948 to win the regional title here, will be back to defend its crown.

Shallowater High school, gaining strength with each game, is rated the darkhorse of the tournament. The Mustangs are led by their great center, Derrell Murphy, who now has 731 points in 35 games. It's an average of better than 20 points a game.

Meet Opens Friday

The Mustangs have won 38 games and lost only four during the season to cop the title of District 7-B. They feature a fast break and a scoring offensive that pivots around Murphy.

The tournament will open Friday afternoon, with seven games scheduled Friday afternoon and night. Other games will be played Saturday afternoon, with finals that night.

Winning quintet in the regional tournament will go to Austin to play in the state tournament as the representative of Region One.

Fort Worth's Morales Wins Golden Gloves Bout In Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 21. (AP)—Results of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions in Chicago stadium tonight:

112 pound class:

Fred Morales, Fort Worth, Texas, defeated Harry Tester, Cincinnati, Ohio. Three-round decision. Edward "Bunky" Stephens, of Port Arthur, a member of the Fort Worth team, failed to make weight in the 118 pound class and therefore did not box. He was substituted by Tony Maiarana, San Antonio, who drew a first round bye.

Morales, two-time flyweight champion of Texas, won his second bout of the night by a knockout. The Allen Academy student who represented Temple, Tex., in the state tournament, caught Alec Anglin of Danville, Ill., with a sledge-hammer right to the head in the first round and knocked him cold.

Johnny O'Glee, Dallas, Tex., dropped an opening round decision to Chicago's Alan Moody in the 135-pound class.

O'Gee went down for a count in the second round, but came back with a strong showing in the final round. The Chicago negro's lead, however, was too great to overcome.

"I'm not flying," said Arnold Driscoll, 46, American, after looking over the passengers in London, on a plane leaving for Montreal—and explained: "I never fly on a plane if there are children on board."

Levelland Five Drops Slaton Team, 37-24

O. L. Slaton Redskins were defeated by Levelland Junior High school, 37-24, in an upset basketball game last night of the South Plains Junior High school league at Levelland.

The loss dropped the Redskins to second place in league play behind Carroll Thompson of Lubbock.

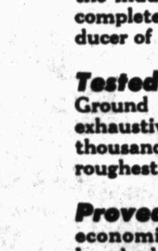

Levelland led all the way, resting at halftime with a 12-7 margin. Bobby Tixer scored 12 points for Levelland for the individual high, and Johnny Tatum made eight markers for the Redskins.

In an eighth grade game, O. L. Slaton's Warriors won, 13-11, over Levelland with Mikie Brady scoring seven points. Doc Sewell and Charles Suits made four each for Levelland.

Olton, Tahoka Bouts Set Tonight

Olton Will Sponsor Boxing Tournament

OLTON, Feb. 21. (Special) — A high school and grade school boxing tournament will be held in Olton March 3, 4, and 5, Coach Melvin Simmons announced today.

Any high school or grade school in this area may enter a team in the tournament, which is being sponsored by Olton High school and held at the school gymnasium. Tropies will be given to first and second place teams, and individual winners in the different classes will be awarded boxing trunks.

Olton takes its boxing team to Tahoka Tuesday night to meet Tahoka. The matches start at 7:30 o'clock, and 18 to 22 matches will be held in high school and grade school levels.

The weigh-in and pairing of the fighters will be arranged in Tahoka, and matching will be done according to weight and experience.

Some of the best high school boxers in the area are expected to meet at the Olton tourney, and teams from Sudan, Springlake, and Hale Center have signified their intention of bringing teams.

This is the second annual meet sponsored by Olton. The weighing-in will begin at 3:30 March 3 and continue until 6:30. The first bouts are scheduled for 7:30. There is no entrance fee, and matches will be according to weight in the different divisions, from flyweight to light-heavyweight.

Olton was the winner last year, and as many as 30 boys are on the Olton boxing team at present. This should make the local squad a contender for the team trophy again this year.

Reed Is Winner In Bowling Event

BIG SPRING, Feb. 21. (Special) Lubbock bowlers appeared en masse here Sunday for the opening of the singles sweepstake bowling tournament and placed one of their men in first place.

Tubby Reed, one of the Hub City's leading keglers, sent 1,540 pins tumbling during his eight-game stand to take over first place. It was the opening day of a two-week end tournament.

In third place only 59 pins behind, was Ben Brown, who scattered 1,481 pins in high eight-game effort.

Lubbock bowlers will not be back and will trust to luck that the scores they posted withstand the efforts of other bowlers next week end.

Among the group going to Big Spring, in addition to Brown and Reed, were A. E. Christensen, T. I. Brown, Jay O'Keefe, George Tate, Sam Carter, Ben Cave, Jim Buckner, Ed McCallum and others.

Siege Of Chicken Pox Hampers Harlingen's Cage Champions

HARLINGEN, Feb. 21. (U.P.)—A siege of chicken pox may hurt Harlingen's bi-district basketball chances Tuesday.

Harlingen, 14-AA district champions, will meet the 13-AA champions from Austin here Tuesday, and at Austin Friday. A third game will be played in the state capital Saturday, if necessary.

Buddy Caulk, big center and third leading scorer, went down on the sick list with chicken pox Sunday. Several others missed a short Sunday practice session.

Raiders Have Two Ultra-Tough Games Left

Arizona Leads In Border Loop; Tech Still Has Outside Chance

University of Arizona has its basketball team squarely in the driver's seat as the final few days of play in the Border Conference roll around.

The Wildcats refused to become worried over Texas Tech's threat and went calmly on their winning ways, despite two defeats in Texas. They met both challenges by Tech last week, winning their two games on the schedule while Tech was doing the same.

The burden strictly is on the Red Raiders, who have two games left. Both games are of the ultra-tough variety, with West Texas State Teachers college here Wednesday and a trip to Abilene to meet Hardin-Simmons scheduled Saturday night.

Tech will have to win both those games to keep pace with Arizona, which still has four games left. The Wildcats could drop one of their remaining games without damage and, if Tech lost one of its two, the Wildcats could drop two without worrying.

The Raiders face their biggest problem Wednesday night when they entertain the Buffaloes, who haven't forgotten that humiliating 53-39 on their own court earlier. Tech took a commanding lead, let the Buffs draw within two points of them and then turned on the steam to walk off with an easy victory.

Buffalo hopes are geared in high with revenge as their chief motive. They could gain a tie for second by defeating the Raiders, as well as revenge for that 53-39 licking. And if the Buffs do turn back the Raiders Wednesday night, Tech can kiss the Border loop court crown a fond, sad farewell.

Arizona was extended to beat Tempe 63-60 Saturday night, but they beat them and that's what counts. They face a three-game road trip that will be rough, especially since it includes Texas Mines at El Paso. The Miners have yet to win a game on the road, but they haven't lost at home.

Tech is fighting for no worse than a tie for the title and will be pulling for the Miners and New Mexico to do the trick. The latter might join Mines in handing Arizona two road defeats. The Lobos have an off-again, on-again team this year.

Not Back In Stride

But New Mexico, beaten 58-50 by Tech in Albuquerque, almost stole the pants off the Raiders Friday night here in Lubbock. The Raiders didn't show the beautiful teamwork and smooth court work that they did in the games before the exam period. In fact, the Tech quintet never has gotten back into stride.

In the meantime, WTSTC remained on their heels by winning a pair of games last week and still is only a game off the Raider pace. If they lick Tech Wednesday night the two teams will be deadlocked.

Has Remote Chance

Hardin-Simmons still has a remote chance to finish on top, but Arizona would have to lose three of its four remaining games. The Cowboys' chance of that is so mathematically slim as to be almost impossible, but in the Border loop anything can happen.

All the other teams have fallen too far behind to have any chance at all and the best they can do is fight for a place near the top. That also appears remote.

EAGLES HAVE HOLDOUTS

DALLAS, Feb. 21. (AP)—Bobby Goff, business manager of the Dallas Eagles baseball team, said today he planned to use the long distance telephone to prod 22 players who haven't returned signed contracts if the contracts don't arrive in a couple of days. Goff still insisted that the Eagles have no serious holdouts, however.

Local Grid Players Honored At Banquet

Four Lubbock High school football players of last year were among those honored at the annual Globe-News All-District 1-AA grid banquet Sunday afternoon at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo.

Lubbock boys honored were Back Bobby Brown, first team, and second team members Back Don Decker, Guard Morris Moyers and End Bob Rooker. Lubbock coaches C. R. Pattison, Fred Taylor and Bill Floyd attended the session.

The boys, members of the first and second all-district teams, were presented with certificates and the coaches were introduced.

Other guests were the all-district boys from loop schools and their mentors, and a large number of college coaches and representatives. Speaking briefly were Buddy Jungmichel, freshman coach at the University of Texas, Dell Morgan of Texas Tech, Frank Kimbrough of West Texas State Teachers college, Jack Curtis of Texas Mines, Berl Huffman and Walker Nichols of New Mexico university, Polk Robison of Texas Tech and numerous other mentors.

Wayland College Trounces Clarendon Juniors, 77 To 48

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21. (Special)—Wayland College defeated Clarendon Junior college by a top-heavy score here tonight, 77-48, after leading at the half, 42-12.

The high scorer was Harp of Clarendon with 17 points. Four men of Wayland almost tied for scoring honors. Bill Knighton had 13, Paul Young made 12, and D. W. Hawkins and Jess Woodard pitched in 11 markers each. Leon Burch had 9 points.

NAVAL RESERVE TEAM MAY ENTER

Plainview Jaycees To Sponsor Four Days Of Boxing In March

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 21. (Special)—Four days of boxing have been promised residents of West Texas by the Plainview Jaycees, who are sponsoring a tournament for both high school and open division boxers March 9 through March 12.

All boxers will weigh-in at the Plainview Auditorium March 9 from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. and no entries will be accepted after the final hour.

Meals and overnight accommodations will be provided on notification of the tournament director, Bud Dean.

Trophies To Be Awarded

Each champion in each weight division will receive a belt with a gold buckle and a boxing ring and boxers mounted on the buckle. The runner-up in each weight division will receive a gold-filled tie clasp.

In addition, there will be two handsome team trophies, a 27-inch trophy for the high school team and a miniature boxing ring for the open champion team.

An award will be made to the best competitor and another one will be made to the tough luck fighter. All entrants will be given a minature boxing glove for key chain wear.

A point system somewhat different than usual has been arranged for the tournament's two divisions. Each victory up to the semi-finals will count one point. Each victory in the semi-finals will give a team two points. And each champion crowned will mean three points.

AAU Sanctioned

The tournament has been sanctioned by the AAU and their rules will govern the tournament. Awards made will not interfere with a boy's scholastic eligibility. Only one boxer in each weight may be entered and considered eligible to fight for the team trophy, but as many boxers as wish may fight in the tournament.

Teams are expected from Lubbock Naval Reserve, Amarillo Junior college, Amarillo Blackburns, Lubbock High school, Olton, Tahoka, Muleshoe and other South Plains points.

DIESEL LOCOMOTIVES HAUL MORE GOODS AND PASSENGERS...

...WITH GREATER SAFETY AND COMFORT FOR EVERYBODY

BECAUSE OF ITS MODERN, ALMOST FOOLPROOF DESIGN, THE DIESEL IS PRACTICALLY AUTOMATIC!

Yet leaders of two railroad unions demand extra men on diesels!

Just plain feather-bedding—here's why!

Here's the truth about diesel locomotives.

Diesel locomotives are equipped with every modern device for maximum safety. They have automatic controls. They can be operated safely by one man. But two men—an engineer and a fireman—are now employed on a diesel road locomotive.

Diesel locomotives—adopted by the railroads as one way of improving their service to you—have hauled millions of passengers in recent years with one of the best safety records in railroad history!

They have pulled millions of tons of freight millions of miles—also with one of the best safety records in railroad history!

Full Pay—No Work!

Leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen are now demanding an extra engineer and an extra fireman on diesels, claiming the extra men are needed. But the facts prove these men are not needed. They would just be drawing full pay for doing no work.

The railroads are placing an ever-increasing number of diesels in service—both passenger and freight. These trains are operated at speeds consistent with safety and good service—and on both counts their record tops all public transportation.

Feather-Bedding Is Against Public Interest!

If the ridiculous demands of these union leaders were granted, it would mean paying out millions in wages to men not needed in diesel locomotives.

The leaders of the Engineers' Union have threatened to call a strike to enforce their "feather-bedding" demands. Nevertheless the railroads are resisting—and will continue to resist—such "make-work" schemes which require payment for work not done—schemes which are contrary to the interest of the whole American people.

HERE ARE THE FACTS!

1. The safety record of trains pulled by diesel locomotives is the best of all public transportation.
2. Diesel locomotives provide the best working conditions locomotive engineers and firemen have ever enjoyed: comfort, cleanliness, ease of operation, maximum safety.
3. Diesel locomotives are maintained at peak operating efficiency.
4. The diesel is virtually automatic. It is equipped with the most modern safety appliances.
5. The diesel locomotive is the last word in railroad efficiency, safety and comfort.

Woman Is Charged

jury investigation. She gave a statement to Pharr, assistant district attorney.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Horton swore to both complaints.

Three Are Charged

Three Slaton men posted bond after waiving hearing before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner here, on charges of theft from interstate shipment. Offense date charged was Saturday.

They were John Wesley Brown, 24, Joe Dale Clary, 35, and Charles David Brous, 32.

They were arrested in Slaton by C. W. Holt, special officer for the Santa Fe Railway company, which employs Clary and Brous, it was understood.

Brous' bond was set at $1,000, those of the other two at $500 each.

Railway officers said several cases of whisky had been removed from boxcars at Slaton several times.

Complainant was Curtis L. Perryman, resident agent of the FBI.

Bonds were marked instanter. Next term of court for the Lubbock division of the Northern Federal district is May 2.

Man Held At Amarillo

Only Brown was represented by counsel when bonds were set. Roy Carpenter and Byron Chappell, attorneys, waived all formalities of a hearing.

The sheriff's department will accept custody of Clarence Hill, 18, on a bench warrant within a day or so, from Amarillo authorities, it was announced.

Hill, said by officials here to be under seven-year sentence from Potter county, is wanted here on a felony theft indictment charging he took a truck from J. L. Cravens, it was related.

Several other counties want him, as well, it was said.

A 26-year-old Lubbock man, Richard Arnold Blake, was released Sunday to Houston officials who said they held a warrant charging illegal disposal of mortgaged property. The arrest was Wednesday, by Deps. Sheriff Raymond Land and Tom Cannon.

Car Caught In Chase

The police said that Sgt. L. D. Blakney figured in a chase that reached speeds approximately 85 an hour between Lubbock and Idalou, where the driver allegedly jumped out and disappeared. Two men and two women remained in the car.

He radioed for the state highway patrol to assist him, but they and Constable Harris of Idalou finally had to give up the search. The car was impounded, officials said.

The suspect and the other four were arrested approximately six hours after the chase had started, at a Lubbock residence. All were charged with disturbance, corporation court reports showed.

G. P. Cates, 21, Lubbock man whom police charged in their reports as the driver of the car, was fined $15 for disturbance and $75 for reckless driving. County officers said they fined him $25 and court costs and revoked his driver's license an additional two months, for driving while his license was suspended.

Second Chase Cited

Another car was impounded after the driver allegedly jumped out and fled after being overhauled in a chase on city streets. He allegedly left two occupants in his car. Bond of $100 was posted by Buster Ralston in connection with a charge of reckless driving, police said. The defendant was not otherwise identified, his attorney having appeared for him.

Charles Lee Osby, identified by police as a 27-year-old negro living on a Shallowater route, was chased down in another incident on city streets, the police said. His case had not been disposed of. Fines totaling $30 were assessed in three charges, police said.

Police said fender skirts valued at $25 had been reported stolen from David Garrison of 2516 North First. Ornaments from the radiator of the car of R. L. Yandell of 1523 Arnett were removed. Rex Terry of 2111 Twenty-ninth said a fender skirt valued at $20 was taken from his car.

A woman's $60 wrist watch was reported stolen from Afred Mattos of 1634 Seventeenth.

A. C. Gowan of 3107 Thirtieth reported to police that he saw two boys take a camera from his car in 1200-block Ave. R, but said they dropped the camera and ran when he yelled at them.

Roy L. Cave of Petersburg route 2 told the sheriff's department that someone had stolen the starter off his irrigation engine.

Several county court judgments were taken Monday morning by Judge Walter Davies.

Thomas A. Baber, 53, of Lubbock route 7, was fined $75 and costs and his drivers' license revoked six months, on a drunk driving charge. A similar assessment was made in the drunk driving charge against Dorsey Ephred Selvidge filed several weeks ago.

Fines of $125 and court costs were assessed against Mattie Shedrick and Ida Mae Jackson, charged with liquor law violation.

A fine of $100 and costs were assessed against Sarah Alice Hastings, charged last October with liquor law violation.

Ernest Adams, charged a month ago with check law violation, was fined $25 and court costs.

Additional county court judgments were announced late Monday.

J. D. Wall, 22, was fined $150 and court costs in each of two liquor law violation charges.

Manual Bean, 24, was fined $125 in a liquor law violation charge filed in September.

Bond of $500 was set for Curtis H. Mince, 31, in each of three liquor law violation charges, after pleas of innocent.

Bond of $500 was set in a case of liquor law violation naming Paulia Mince, 28, after a plea of innocent.

Ira Scott, 38, pleaded guilty to a theft charge and was fined $25 and court costs and sentenced to one day in county jail.

signed for use by the entire Soviet press, was written in connection with the forthcoming 31st anniversary of the Soviet armed forces.

He said the anniversary will be celebrated in "an atmosphere of outstanding efforts in all spheres of national economy" and added:

"Tension of the present-day international situation created as a result of provocative policy by imperialists compels us to increase our efforts for further strengthening of the defensive might of the USSR.

"Reactionaries of the Anglo-American bloc are scaring people by talk of lightning blows by means of atom bombs. . . but Soviet fighters are vigilantly watching the machinations of their enemies."

NATIONS SIGN TREATY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP) — Costa Rica and Nicaragua ended their ten-week old dispute today by signing a friendship pact at formal ceremonies in the Pan American union. Delegates of the two Central American countries said the document is effective proof of inter-American cooperation and a real step toward peace.

Atom Theft Is Hinted At Trial

near Nuernberg.

One document showed a sketch of the Nuernberg gas works and added the works would be valuable in the production of wartime barrage balloons.

Some of the seized documents, however, appeared to be based on sheer assumption, such as one report stating that "American general staffers" were in a certain railroad coach, merely because it was heavily-curtained.

At the opening of the trial, the defense claimed that if the prosecution intends to prove its case, it must demonstrate that the information obtained by the defendants was turned over to an "enemy country."

The defense contended that turning over information to a friendly power was in no way prejudicial to the United States.

All five defendants pleaded not guilty to the charges that they engaged in espionage from January to September last year.

In addition to Szendielorz, the other defendants are:

Roman Knopp, Helmut Schostok Rudolf Badura and George Kolodzie, all Germans.

Social Security Plan

such as farmers, small businessmen, doctors, lawyers and other self-employed persons now exempt. It would also bring in federal employes not now covered under a federal retirement plan.

The legislation would repeal the so-called Gearhart resolution by which, the administration claims, 750,000 independent salesmen were excluded from the program.

There now are approximately 30,000,000 persons under the old age and survivors insurance program. The other 20,000,000 or so workers were not included in the original program because no workable basis could be found then to administer a program for them.

The new measure provides that beginning with the taxable year 1949, the contribution rate on the self-employed would be 2¼ per cent.

Would Boost Benefits

Temporary disability benefits are not provided for the self-employed because of the difficulty of determining income lost by them over short periods of time.

The Social Security administration had this to say about the taxes:

"Contributions levied in the bill are intended to be sufficient to cover the cost of benefits for the next 5 to 10 years depending upon economic conditions. Thereafter, either the rates will be raised or the government will have to supplement the trust fund from general revenues, or both."

The legislation would boost the maximum monthly insurance benefit from $85 to $150.

If the benefits are incr eased, as proposed, a retired person who had been paying the security tax for 12 years would share in the program as follows:

If his average monthly wage had been $100, his benefit would be $46.20, instead of 28 in the present law; if his average was $200, he would get $63 under the new bill, instead of $39.20; at $300, the benefit would be $79.80 instead of $44.80; and at $400 the benefit would be $96.60, inste ad of the $44.80 under present law.

Amnesia-Stricken Bride Can't Recall Marriage Ceremony

SEATTLE, Feb. 21. (AP)—A 27-year-old amnesia-stricken bride of three months today realized she was married but could remember nothing of her husband's courtship, the marriage ceremony or her life from 1944 to 1949.

Since she was struck on the head by a 12-pound theater seat cushion thrown by an 11-year-old boy a week ago, Mrs. Hertis Sudgen has suffered amnesia. She doesn't remember her marriage to W. K. Sugden, a driver for the Seattle transit system.

Recalls Spanking

Her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. E. Sugden, said her son had talked to his wife of their marriage last Nov. 23 and showed her the marriage license and the guest book of the wedding reception.

"She realizes she is married, but remembers nothing of the ceremony or events leading up to the marriage," the mother said.

Her mother, Mrs. M. H. Henson, arrived here from Alden, Minn., Friday to be with her daughter. She brought a picture of Mrs. Sugden's father.

"I remember him. He spanked me once," Mrs. Sugden said. "I remember things up to 1944, but everything after that escapes my memory. It's awful to be like this."

Remembers Children

She said she remembered her daughter, Roberta, eight, and son Kenneth, 10, children by a previous marriage.

Mrs. Sugden said her husband has been "very thoughtful" since the accident.

"He has been trying to help me restore my memory. He's a good husband. I'm glad he's not fat, big and ugly," she said, "but I haven't the slightest feeling for him. He's an absolute stranger. He's very considerate and I guess he's having a hard time getting used to the "new Hertis."

Young Randall Charles Dupee, accused of hurling the cushion over the theater balcony, has been turned over to juvenile court.

Wall Street

MARKET TRADING LAGS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (AP)—Wall Street had time on its hands today.

In a sleepy pre-holiday market only 560,000 shares of stock changed hands. Prices, on the average, gently declined, more as a result of indifferent demand than aggressive selling.

Today's business was the smallest since Oct. 11 and compared with 690,000 Friday.

Some traders failed to show up for work because of the change for a long weekend offered by tomorrow's holiday recess.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of one point to 62.9, the third small decline in a row.

Only 874 individual issues appeared on the sluggish ticker tape, also a low since Oct. 11. Of these 427 were marked down and 234 advanced.

The financial district listened to reassuring words from Washington on the subject of taxes and controls but still failed to work up any enthusiasm.

Railway bonds moved lower, some losing more than 2 points.

U. S. governments were mostly unchanged in over-the-counter dealings.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular today in active dealings, featured by persistent evening-up in nearby March and switching to later months. The open interest in March was large at 221,700 bales as of last Saturday's close. New crop months were relatively quiet and easy, influenced by large crop ideas and sentiment that the Department of Agriculture will support flexible crop loans as now set forth in the present farm bill.

Old crop cotton futures rallied into new high ground for the day in late dealings on short covering in nearby March and mill demand.

Futures closed $1.10 a bale higher to 10 cents lower than the previous close.

Teachers Group Charged With 'Pressuring' School Bill Support

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—A member of the legislature charged the State Teachers association today with trying to high pressure teachers into support of the Gilmer-Aikin education bills.

Rep. Jimmy P. Horany of Archer City made the accusation in a statement issued after the House approved on second reading a bill to raise the state superintendent of education's pay from $6,000 to $10,000 a year.

The vote was 74 to 43, and Horany said this was "a good test" of the lack of strength of the Gilmer-Aikin bills in the House. Horany strongly opposes the Gilmer-Aikin proposals that would abolish the elective office of state superintendent and provide a new system of financing the public school system.

Rep. Herman Yezak of Franklin failed to secure a required four-fifths of the votes to suspend rules so his pay-raise bill could be voted on for final passage. He will have to wait until a later date.

House Votes Emergency Funds For Storm-Torn Farm Areas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—The House voted today for $44,000,000 in emergency loan funds for storm-torn farm areas.

It allows the regional Agricultural Credit Corp. to make immediate disaster loans to farmers and stockmen who have suffered from this winter's severe storms.

Emergency loan relief could be given to any section of the country under the bill.

Bodies Of Two Colorado Guard Pilots Found In Crashed Planes

KIT CARSON, Colo., Feb. 21. (INS)—Bodies of two Denver Air National Guard pilots were found today in the wreckage of their planes 20 miles northeast of Kit Carson.

The victims were Second Lt. Harry W. Wilkins, and First Lt. Jay A. Sheppard, both 24, and both pilots in the 120th Fighter squadron at Buckley field near Denver.

They had been missing since yesterday when they failed to return from a low-level navigation flight.

Sheppard and Wilkins became seperated from two other planes when bad weather was encountered over the Kit Carson area. The wreckage of the two F-51's was spotted about a mile and a half apart atop a plateau, in the rugged Twin Buttes country.

It was not determined whether they collided in the air or flew into the ground because of the poor visibility.

The wrecked planes were sighted from the air and a ground party sent to remove the bodies.

House Group Fails In Scheme To Delay Veterans Pension Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—A scheme by House administration lieutenants to keep a veterans pension bill from reaching the House floor blew up today.

Rep. Cox, (D-Ga.) told the House he would not be a party to it. He said that if the Rules committee ever approves the bill he will call it up for debate. As a member of the committee he has that right.

Senate Group Votes To Recall Mon Walgren For Testimony

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (AP)—The Senate Armed Services committee today voted to recall Mon Wallgren before it to answer charges that he has been "soft" to Communists.

Bandleader's Wife Hurt As Home Burns

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21. (INS)—A butler's heroic dash through a blanket of flames after he had been awakened by pet dogs today saved the life of Mrs. Jane Dorsey, comely wife of bandleader Jimmy Dorsey, when her palatial Toluca Estates home was gutted by fire.

The musician's wife was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where she was reported suffering first, second and third degree burns.

Efforts to contact her famous saxophone-playing husband, reportedly in Florida with his orchestra, were being made.

The butler, Ben Murray, an oldtime theatrical performer employed by the Dorsey's eight years ago, told police that five pet dogs, which were in the laundry room, began barking early today and woke him up. He added:

"I saw the fire and rushed into Mrs. Dorsey's room and carried her out."

She was taken first to Van Nuys Emergency hospital and treated for severe burns about the face, hands and shoulders.

Mrs. Dorsey was alone in the rambling, two-story stucco house when the fire started in the living room or an unoccupied bedroom. Spectacular flames shot 50 feet in the air and were visible for miles around.

Authorities estimated that the fire caused $75,000 damage to the $120,000 home, which is located on an exclusive private road in the Toluca lake district.

The program is expected to call for appropriation of more than $1,000,000,000 in the first year.

Unlike the alliance, such a program must have the approval of the House and the Senate. The North Atlantic pact will be presented as a treaty, requiring two-thirds approval of the Senate.

Santa Fe Official Is Claimed In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Feb. 21. (AP)—George C. Jefferis, general manager of the Santa Fe Railway western lines, was found dead in bed at his home at 2 p.m. today. He was 59.

Santa Fe railway sources said he had been ill for several days.

In addition to managing the Santa Fe western lines, Jefferis was vice president of the Panhandle Santa Fe lines.

Born in Philadelphia, Jefferis had been with the Santa Fe since 1911. He was made division engineer at Clovis, N. M., in 1917, assistant general manager of the western lines with headquarters in La Junta, Colo., in July, 1938, and became assistant to the vice president with Chicago headquarters in 1939. In July, 1942, he returned to the Southwest as general manager of the western lines.

Jefferis was found by E. Kancher, Santa Fe passenger and freight agent, and A. J. Hartman, mechanical superintendent. They had become worried because he had not called his office. They estimated that he died about a half hour before they arrived.

Funeral services are incomplete.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.) declared as the committee hearing opened that any inference that he had condemned the war record of manufacturers during the session Thursday was "untrue" and "unfair."

The senator said that some of his remarks apparently were taken out of context to give an erroneous impression in his exchange with Ira Mosher, past president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Pepper declared that he had not intended to "impeach the patriotism of any individual."

Injunction Against Doctor Is Dissolved

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 21. Special)—Judge C. D. Russell of the 64th District court, this afternoon dissolved a temporary injunction against Dr. O. W. Still of Littlefield which Drs. C. E. Payne and I. T. Shotwell, Jr., had obtained in effort to prevent Dr Still from practicing here or within a 50-mile radius of here.

The temporary injunction had been obtained by the two Littlefield men as the first step toward a permanent order which would have upheld what plaintiffs claimed was a contract agreement between them and the defendant.

Judge Russell's ruling in effect held that "this writing (contract) was not an enforceable contract" and therefore no basis for suit. The ruling came in the afternoon after the morning had been devoted to selection of a jury panel.

Wilson said the commission is attempting to reach "the right balance."

The atomic manager reported that about 40 private companies have gone into the atomic radiation detector field and are producing detectors now to meet the current demand.

Wilson explained that present defense plans call for swift-moving groups of experts with atomic radiation detectors to be ready for emergencies. He said:

"There would be an area operator's office to gather a stockpile of instruments to be rushed to the danger zone, with perhaps 100 men thoroughly trained in reading the instruments and interpreting the readings."

He said that the commission has "a certain stockpile" of instruments at the Oak Ridge plant which "can be distributed."

Bills To Improve Prison Setup Advance

Debate Slated On School Plan

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 21.—Three bills in the plan to rebuild Texas' run-down prison system made progress in the legislature today.

Finally passed in the Senate and sent to the House were appropriations of $4,196,075 for reconstruction and $529,398 in emergency operating funds. The House finally passed a bill setting up a new classificiation system to give convicts reductions in sentences for good behavior.

All were important sections of Manager O. B. Ellis' long range plan to give Texas a modern prison system.

License Bill Held Up

The Senate adjourned until tomorrow but the House ordered an afternoon session.

A bill to set up a general license for fresh water fishing in Texas was passed on second reading in the House, but an effort to ram it through for immediate final passage failed by one vote. This was on the question of rules suspension, but there was little doubt the bill would ultimately be approved and sent to the Senate.

Two other bills were finally passed and sent to the House by the Senate. They would raise the minimum salaries of district attorneys from $4,560 to $5,500, and raise nurse registration fees from 50 ents to $1.

Debate will be resumed tomorrow in the Senate on the Gilmer-Aikin education bills. The minimum foundation measure by Ottis Lock of Lufkin is set for special consideration and a new fight was expected.

Asks Teacher Salary Hike

Other developments today:

Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, Gilmer-Aikin critic, introduced a bill which he said was his answer to the reorganization plan. It would provide minimum teacher salaries of $2,400. The minimum is now $2,000. Senator Kyle Vick of Waco is co-author of the bill.

A resolution creating a nine-member insurance code commission to revise the insurance status was introduced in the Senate by William T. Moore of Byran.

Stricter laws for licensing beauty parlors and their operators were asked in a bill introduced in the Senate by Fred Harris of Dallas.

Senator Searcy Bracewell of Houston introduced three bills for the Texas State University for Negroes. One would appropriate $400,000 in funds to finish out the year. Bracewell said heavier enrollment than was expected had put a strain on operating funds appropriated by the last legislature.

55 Hurt In Jewish Riot Against Movie

BERLIN, Feb. 21. (INS)—Fifty-five persons, including an American radio correspondent, were injured Monday when 300 angry Jewish displaced persons clashed with police during a demonstration against the showing of the British film, "Oliver Twist."

The rioters, who fought with stones and paving blocks against police who used clubs and fire hoses, charged the film character Fagain who teaches youngsters to steal arouses anti-Semitism.

The outbreak resulted in permanent withdrawal of the film from the British sector of Berlin by the British military government. British officials said it had been obtained through normal commercial channels and was not subject in advance to British military regulations.

Use Of Water From Mississippi Talked

Newspaper Unfolds Plan To Irrigate Southwest States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (U.P.)—The Washington Times-Herald suggests that the government solve the flood problem on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers by turning some of their waters into the arid regions of the Southwest.

Such a project, the newspaper said in an editorial, would not only eliminate disastrous floods but would also open up vast new sources of food production.

"Of course the horse-laugh begins," said the Times-Herald, "when it is suggested that such a thing is not only physically possible but even amazingly simple as an engineering feat, compared with some others we have already pulled, and amazingly profitable as a national investment, by any test.

"As for the profit part, that is so obvious as to need little detailed explaining. It goes without saying that if the back country of Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona can get water in volume, the U.S.A. will be able to support and enrich double its present population. We will never in our foreseeable future feel the pinch of too many people and too little work, with such a garden to develop."

The editorial said it would be

'Feuding' Seen At Demo Session

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 21—More factional feuding was in prospect for Wednesday's meeting of the state Democratic executive committee here.

It will be a regular quarterly session but the outlook was it would be almost everything but routine. Two questions are almost bound to come up to touch off bitter debate:

1. The status of Wright Morrow of Houston, Democratic national committeeman.

2. Resolutions recommending enactment of specific bills pending before the current session of the legislature.

Beaumont Man Protests

Members of the executive committee over the state today received letters from Gilbert T. Adams of Beaumont, chairman of its legal affairs panel, taking a new crack at Morrow as sponsor of the Jefferson-Jackson day dinners.

Adams wrote Walter Hall of Dickinson, joining in Hall's protest over designation of Morrow by national committee officials as head of the Democratic fund-raising drive in Texas. Members of the executive committee here received copies of the letter.

Adams was author of a resolution adopted y the executive committee in Dallas Nov. 13, over whelmingly confirming action of the September convention seeking to remove Morrow as Texas' national committeeman and substituting Byron Skelton of Temple for the post.

Jester Remains Silent

National Democratic officials have taken no action on the protest, based on accusations of party disloyalty.

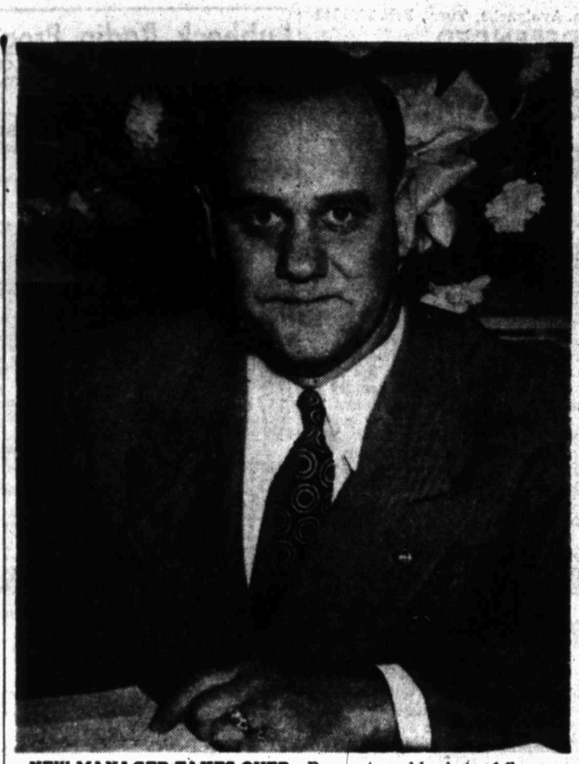

Morrow also has answered that he was active in the Truman campaign. Subsequently he was named to head up the fund-raising campaign in Texas.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester, who has had nothing to say in the effort to unseat Morrow, will not be here for Wednesday's committee meeting. He is out of town attending Washington's birthday and Charro day celebrations at Laredo and Brownsville and won't be back until Thursday.

The executive committee's subcommittee on legislation will meet prior to the general session Wednesday, under chairmanship of Woodville Rogers of San Antonio.

It is expected to make recommendations to the committee in support of legislation now pending which would be in line with

NEW MANAGER TAKES OVER—Bouquets and baskets of flowers from well-wishers provided the background as Steve Matthews, formerly of Pampa, assumed the dutes of Lubbock city manager Monday. MEETS WITH CITY OFFICIALS

Steve Matthews, New Lubbock City Manager, Assumes Duties

Steve Matthews became a Lubbock home owner Monday and settled down to the duties of city manager.

His first day in his new home town and in his new position was a long and eventful one.

He closed a deal for a six-room, three-bedroom residence nearing completion at 3115 Thirty-first street. J. D. Sanders is the builder. It will be finished in about two weeks, Sanders said.

Meets Department Heads

Escorted by resigning Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., he devoted much of the day to inspections of city property and to getting acquainted with department heads and other key employes.

He conferred during the afternoon with Mayor W. H. Rodgers.

He huddled with some of the department heads Monday night.

The change in managerial administrations was wholly without fanfare. Matthews arrived in Lubbock during the weekend from Pampa, where he resigned as manager to accept the position here.

Takes Oath of Office

He reached the city hall early Monday, where Smith was waiting to greet him. They talked briefly and then started their get-acquainted tour for the new manager. About the only formality during the day was Matthews' taking of the oath required by his official position.

He was the recipient of many congratulatory messages from well-wishers. They included a huge basket of flowers from Pampa friends.

Matthews expects to devote most of the daylight hours during the next two weeks to getting better acquainted with Lubbock problems and citizens.

Plans Conference

He plans a series of night-time conferences with city department heads to discuss departmental problems. The biggest job immediately ahead is the preparation of the city budget for the city's fiscal year which begins next April 1.

Mrs. Matthews and their 2-year old son, Stephen, remained in Pampa but plan to join him

Scurry Well Produces Oil

Oil developments made known over the weekend in the South Plains and adjacent area included announcement of a new discovery from the Canyon lime of the Pennslyvanian in southwest Scurry county.

The discovery developed for Humble Oil and Refining Co., No. 1 Bishop, wildcat 13 miles southwest of Snyder.

On a one-hour and 20 minute drillstem test in the Canyon at 6,649-70 feet, gas reached the surface in five minutes and oil in 54 minutes.

It flowed through a 5/8-inch bottom hole choke and a one-inch top choke for 26 minutes, producing 35 barrels of oil per hour. Gravity of the petroleum was 41 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 310-1.

Gaines Well Drilling

The venture has now drilled ahead to 6,680 feet and was to run another drillstem test, then attempt to complete as the opener of a new field.

Nearest production is at Lion Oil Co., No. 2 McLaughlin, also a Canyon discovery, four miles to the north.

This new Humble strike is 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 164, block 97, H&TC survey.

Magnolia Petroleum Co., was drilling ahead deeper into the unidentified dolomite with its No. 1 Hicks, southeast Gaines county wildcat, 30 miles southeast of Seagraves.

Last report had it below 12,879 feet. The current formation, which made water on a lesser depth, was thought by some observers as possibly Silurio-Devonian, but is evidently too thick to be that horizon. Many geologists think it is Ellenburger.

New Test Slated

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, league 273, Loving CSL survey.

The Pure Oil Co., is to start operation at once on two more Ellenburger explorations in the Dollar Hide field of southwest Andrews county. Those projects are to go to 10,500 feet, using rotary tools.

Pure No. 7-E-B E. P. Cowden, will be 660 feet from south and east lines of section 24, block A-52, psl survey.

Pure No. 23-E-A E. P. Cowden will be 1,983 feet from west and 1,594 feet from north lines of section 24, block A-52, psl survey.

Another drillstem test was run in the northwest Borden county Pennsylvanian at H. L. Hunt No. 1-B Clayton and Johnson, possible discovery from the Spraberry sand section of the lower Permian.

Test Shows No Oil

The tool was open 30 minutes at 7,575-7,620 feet. The test had a faint blow of air for five min-

Intelligence Officer Favored Secrecy On Spy Ring Report

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
INS Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Dec. 21—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's intelligence chief declared in Tokyo today that the report on the Richard Sorge Soviet spy ring in Japan should not have been published.

The officer, Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, said the report was released by Washington authorities and "was not favored at this headquarters."

At the same time, Willoughby declared his willingness to waive his immunity if author Agnes Smedley wishes to sue him for libel.

Author Scores Report

Miss Smedley and British journalist Guenther Stein, named in the spy report as members of a far flung Soviet espionage network in pre-war Japan, have been cleared of the allegation by Army authorities in Washington.

(In New York Miss Smedley declared:

("I am apparently caught in the cross-fire of a bitter internal War department fight involving overall Japanese policy between Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his aides on the one hand and Secretary of the Army Royall on the other."

(Miss Smedley said she would not file a libel suit against Willoughby because MacArthur was the man responsible for the report. She added:

("Let him waive his immunity and I will sue him for libel.")

Willoughby reiterated his previous declaration that he alone was responsibile for the report. He continued:

"I do not have the responsibility for its subsequent publication. It was a secret document developed solely for military intelligence purposes and was not written or intended for public release.

"The decision to release it to the public was the sole responsibility of Washington authorities and was not favored at this headquarters."

Willoughby said he did not know what agency released the report. He said that as a secret document of intelligence service scope, its contents embraced all information available in Japan with "comments and deductions therefrom to a security investigative agency." Willoughby added:

"This agency would have failed in its duty had it done less. . . I differ emphatically from those who belittle the documentation supporting the report."

He insisted that the unpublished documentation was "voluminous."

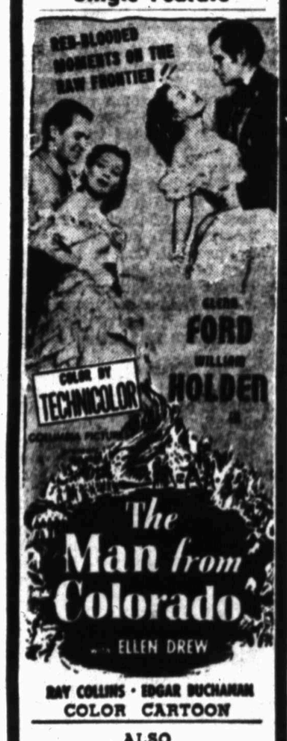

Willoughby, in waiving his immunity to a libel suit, declared:

"I welcome, not only as an intelligence officer but even more fundamentally as an American citizen, an opportunity thus to emphasize lurking dangers which threaten the American civilization in subversive systems hiding behind and protected by free institutions."

Export Control Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (INS) — The Senate approved and sent to the White House today a bill to extend for 28 months the President's authority to control exports through licensing.

The measure previously had passed both Houses, but Senate approval of a House amendment was necessary to complete legislative action.

The export controls, affecting about 25 per cent of all goods and applied chiefly to those deemed to be of strategic importance, will continue to be administered by the Commerce and Agriculture departments.

The measure is the second of the President's emergency power bills to pass this Congress. Both Houses previously voted to extend his authority to arrange voluntarily allocations of scarce materials.

War Is Not Near, Solon Believes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 —U. S. Senator Tom Connally does not believe war with Russia is on the horizon.

The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee said, "I do not think that war with Russia is imminent within any foreseeable date in the future."

Connally spoke on the Texas Forum of the Air, a transcribed program for broadcast over 19 Texas state network radio stations last night.

His views on a possible conflict with Russia was in answer to a question by Rep. Wright Patman.

Patman acted as moderator on the program, one of a regular Sunday evening series he plans to conduct.

U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson also appeared on the program.

Knows Of Bomb Pile

Connally said "Russia doesn't want war. She knows that we have the atomic bomb. She knows that we can fight. She knows that we are preparing for peace first, but that if war comes, we will be ready."

"Furthermore, Russia has not rebuilt her areas devastated by the Germans. Economically she is not ready for war. Materially, she it not ready for a war. Russia has large land forces, but they don't fly and they don't swim."

Johnson, junior Texas senator, said he believed Congress will pass a new labor law which "will and should contain most of the basic provisions of the Taft-Hartley act."

Dallas Man Indicted In Gunshot Death Of Postman On City Street

DALLAS, Feb. 21. (AP)—Charles Albright Gordon, 38, who sprayed a downtown street intersection with pistol bullets and wounded fatally a postman on Feb. 9, was indicted for murder today.

He was arrested after a number of rounds from a .22 caliber pistol had been fired from his YMCA room. Theodore Thornton, 44-year-old postman, died the following day of a head wound. Three other persons also were wounded.

After the indictment was returned by the Dallas county grand jury, Maury Hughes, Dallas attorney, said he had been retained to defend Gordon. He asked for a sanity hearing and a hearing on his motion was set for Wednesday.

Missing Dog Returns From Walk Nearly Six Years Late

KEARNEY, N. J., Feb. 21 (AP)—Just as if nothing had happened, Tinker, a black and white dog, sauntered home yesterday and settled into his favorite chair.

"He's home to stay," Bill Nichols, his owner, said happily.

Tinker, completely nonchalant and uncommunicative, merely curled into a corner of the chair.

The dog hadn't been home since he was let out for a walk six years ago.

Drastic Changes In U.S. State Department Setup Are Urged

By JAMES C. AUSTIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The Hoover commission, of which Secretary of State Dean Acheson was vice chairman, today recommended drastic changes in his department to permit greater attention to foreign policy.

Acheson had a hand in drafting the proposals before he became Secretary of State. Already he has carried out some of the recommendations for changes in the State department.

The commission recommended more top personnel in the department to relieve an "intolerable burden" on the secretary and that the domestic and foreign services be merged.

Other Changes Urged

In addition it advised Congress that legislation giving powers in foreign affairs to other than the President or an executive agency "will normally cause serious difficulty" in efficient administration.

The commission's report is its fifth on streamlining the executive department. It could not estimate how much would be saved with adoption of all its State department recommendations.

The commission recommended specifically:

1. Appointment of two deputy undersecretaries and another assistant secretary to aid the Secretary of State.
2. Gradual amalgamation of the department's permanent domestic employes with the foreign service.
3. Changes in the line of command with responsibility for affairs of geographic sections of the world vested in four assistant secretaries. A fifth would handle such international organizations as the United Nations. These were called "line units."

New Officials Needed

The report was critical of the State department's press relationships and its intelligence service. The "weakest and least effective" unit in the State department, the report said, is the intelligence unit.

It said its relationships with the central intelligence agency, "which at present partake of rivalry rather than cooperation, require correction."

The commission said that one of the new deputy undersecretaries should act "in matters of substance." The other would be a "general manager" for the department and the overseas service.

In addition to the five "line units" under assistant secretaries, the commission recommended an assistant secretary for economic and social affairs, another for congressional relations, and an eighth assistant secretary for public affairs. This official would be the high level adviser on all public opinion, and serve as press chief.

"The State department's relationships with the press and other media of public information are extremely weak," the report said.

The commission would keep the present legal adviser, appoint a planning adviser, and create the office of special assistant for intelligence.

UN Military Group To See San Angelo Stock Show, Rodeo

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 21. (Special)—Members of the United Nations Military Staff committee will attend the 16th annual Fat Stock show and rodeo at San Angelo March 3-6.

The high military officials accepted invitations extended by the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce last month. The group of military leaders represent the United States, Great Britain, France and China.

A special plane will fly the officers from their Lake Success, N. Y., headquarters to San Angelo. Directors and a special committee from the Chamber of Commerce are arranging entertainment for their visit. The visiting officers will review the opening day parade from a platform in the heart of the city.

Stevenson Faction Renews Effort To Obtain Election Investigation

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 21. (AP)—Renewed efforts for a Senate investigation of the August senatorial election in Texas have been made by supporters of former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, it was revealed here today.

Kellis Dibrell, San Antonio attorney, said plans to bring a Senate investigating committee to Texas to determine the validity of Senator Lyndon Johnson's claim to a Senate seat were made at a meeting here Friday.

Johnson won the election by a margin of 87 votes over Stevenson.

Greeks To Try Mother, Son Held In U. S. Newspaperman's Death

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21. (U.P.)—A State department spokesman said today that Greek authorities have reported they will try a Greek newspaperman and his mother for complicity in the murder of American radio correspondent George Polk.

The department said the U.S. consul general at Salonika was informed that Gregorios Stahtopoulos and his mother Ana Stahtopoulos "will be tried most certainly by the end of March or the first days of April."

Polk's body was found on the shores of Salonika bay, May 16, 1948. He vanished from his hotel May 9 while reportedly seeking an interview with Greek Communist leader General Markos.

Ceylon had record salt production in 1948—136,500,000 pounds.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 56, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 165 or 170 pounds."

WHY A BUDGET?

Loose U.S. Spending

THE $468,000,000 Deficiency Appropriation bill now awaiting the assured approval of Congress provides costly proof that budgets have come to mean little to official Washington.

Last year, Congress provided money for the operation of all government agencies and functions during the 12 months from July 1, 1948, through June 30, 1949. Dozens of the agencies already have spent the money allowed for that full year and now are seeking additional handouts in the form of "deficiency appropriations." Some of the amounts requested are large—$159,000,000 for the Federal Security agency, $102,000,000 for the Postoffice department, $99,000,000 for the Veterans administration, etc. etc. Furthermore, most of them are going to get all the money they ask.

So why should government agencies worry about budgets? If they run out of money, they simply ask for more, with the confidence justified by at least 16 years experience that Congress will provide it.

The condition is one for which there is no prospect of improvement unless and until Congress gets tough about budgets. If official money-spenders should be made to understand that the cash provided for a year's operation would have to last a year, most of them would make it last. But they won't be careful with funds on hand when they feel sure—as they are justified in feeling—that more cash can be had almost for the asking.

No Cheering, Yet

VETERANS of the two World Wars who may hope for early pensions will be unrealistic if they base any optimism on the proposal jammed through a House committee this week by Rep. John E. Rankin, of Mississippi.

Prospects for approval of pensions by the present session of Congress are dim for several reasons. Mr. Rankin's tactics have not improved the outlook. He antagonized seven members of the Veterans' committee so violently they walked out of the hearing which approved the proposition for submission to the House as a whole. His motives also are under suspicion. Many Washington observers think he is more interested in attempting to embarrass the administration to satisfy personal resentment than in getting pensions for veterans.

But, if Mr. Rankin's maneuver should force House action on the bill and if it should be approved there, prospects for its final passage still will be exceedingly remote. The chances appear very much against its approval by the Senate. But, if it should go to the White House, a veto is regarded as a virtual certainty, with practically no chance of it being over-ridden in Congress.

Whether the prospect may be fair or unfair, good or bad, is a matter of opinion. But it appears to be the outlook—one to discourage the building up of hopes which, from present indications, will serve only to intensify disappointment.

A man has reached middle age when he is ready to try most any remedy recommended for his aches and pains.

A small town is the place where there is always good attendance at a marriage or a funeral.

One is safe in quoting the Bible to the average man as the fellow isn't probably familiar with the passage.

No man hath greater love for the poor than a politician at election time.

How Times Have Changed

Beware Of Romance

By ROBERTA COURTLAND
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

XXXI

A QUICK gleam of what seemed almost alarm touched Carter's eyes and then was gone as he smoothed the tiny, crisply trimmed mustache he had recently acquired.

"I'm afraid your mother is going to be very upset," he said at last. "But of course I can't expect that to affect your decision in any way."

For a moment Merry was quite still, setting her teeth hard to bite back the angry retort that rose. And suddenly she had an impulse toward honesty and frankness that was too strong to be denied.

"Look, Carter, let's have it out, you and I," she said swiftly. "You don't like me any more than I like you. So why don't we admit it and go on from there?"

Carter was startled and somewhat shocked.

"M, dear girl!" he began.

"Let's be honest, Carter," she cut in before he could put his blustering protest into words. "Its no disgrace to either of us. It's simply the way people are. I think you're a—" She bit back the word just in time and added hastily, 'And I know you think I'm a spoiled brat."

A thin smile touched Carter's mouth beneath the trim mustache.

"Well, I'd hardly put it in just those words," he said mildly.

Merry gave him a tiny smile.

"But I'm sure you feel it's something like that," she told him quietly. "And that's your privilege Heck, lots of people don't like lots of other people, but as long as you and I are in the same house, sniping at each other, and boiling inside with dislike and antagonism, everybody's going to be miserable. Isn't it a lot better just to admit it, and do something about it?"

Carter was studying her curiously

"Such as what, for instance?" He was being cautious.

"Such as you and Mother staying on here where you have friends and a life of your own, while I go back to Marshallville, where I have friends? You don't like Lizzie and Andrew."

"They are badly trained, undisciplined, impertinent."

"So you think." There was an edge in Merry's voice which she tried hastily to smooth out. "I've known and loved them all my life. They are willing to go back to Marshallville with me, and with Aunt Jane there, we can have a grand time."

"Your mother feels there will be unpleasant gossip if you don't make your home with her."

"That's silly. I'm almost eighteen. Why shouldn't I have a place of my own, if I'm oroperly chaperoned and looked after? Then I can visit you and Mother, and Kin and Lissa, but still have a home of my own. And that way there will be no disturbing element here in your home. Because, Carter, you know as well as I do that if you and I keep nagging at each other, we'll grow to dislike each other more and more, and sooner or later, Mother will have to take sides with you against me, or with me against you. Can't you see what a mess it's going to be?"

"Frankly, I do," admitted Carter with a candor that surprised and pleased her. "As a matter of fact, Merry, now that we have brought the matter into the open for an honest discussion, I'll confess it's what I've been afraid of from the very first. Your mother was very unhappy while you were with your father."

"Jealous," said Merry through her teeth.

"I—ah—yes, of course," admitted Carter, and added, "I can understand that, of course. For I've been jealous of you ever since the moment I asked your mother to marry me and realized that she hesitated for fear you wouldn't be pleased."

"Well, then, don't you see what a wonderful solution it will be all the way round if I go back to Marshallville?"

"You are sure your aunt will be willing to stay with you?"

"Positive. She loves Marshallville and has a lot of friends there."

There was a brief silence and then she urged, "You will help me to make Mother see it our way, Carter?"

And Carter, convinced of his own inimitable charm, said with superb assurance, "Just leave it to me, Merry. I can convince her."

MERRY bicycled to the village later in the morning, to put in a long distance telephone call to Aunt Jane from the local telephone office rather than call from the house.

There was a tiny silence after she had explained that she wanted to go back to Marshallville and hoped Aunt Jane would come and live with her.

"So you can't take the Bagby, eh? Well, who'd want to? I'm surprised you've put up with him this long," said Aunt Jane cheerfully.

Merry laughed.

"Well, after all, I went to New York right after they came back from Mexico, and I've only been home since yesterday," she confessed

"I'd still call that par for the course," said Aunt Jane dryly.

"Will you come, Aunt Jane?"

"Don't be silly, child. I'm practically halfway there right now. All I have to do is rent my shack, and that's no bother, for there's an ex-G.I. and his bride that's fit to be tied from trying to live with his folks, and they will weep all over me if I let 'em have it. How soon are you going up?"

"In a couple of weeks, at the most. As soon as Carter talks Mother into it," said Merry.

"Then I'll see you. Keep your chin up, chick," said Aunt Jane briskly. And at the little pet name that was Kin's, Merry blinked and grinned a slightly lopsided grin.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

WARNING: IF YOU DON'T LIKE MONEY DO NOT READ THIS COLUMN!

This column today will be devoted to the defense of money.

Money is being consistently maligned, and it is about time that someone take up the cudgels for it.

BRANDEIS

I get so many letters in which people actually sneer between the lines every time they talk about people with money.

You'd think that inherited money were something like an inherited disease, and that making money were a form of economic prostitution.

What is wrong with money?

Would you consider yourself a criminal if an uncle in South Africa left you a million dollars?

Would you throw it into the garbage can?

Would you feel like a pariah?

What then is wrong about making money?

Has it become a crime to reap the reward for ability, industry, talent, character?

I must confess that I like money.

I like money because it gives me peace of mind, security, poise and a sense of pride in feeling that what I do is appreciated.

In Europe they used to have, and still have, other and much less expensive standards of signifying success.

You get a decoration. It may be called the Order of the Red Eagle, or the Knights of the Garter or the Star of His Royal Worshipfulness the Gracious Emperor of Bolonia. Or they may knight you by hitting you with a sword, letting you kneel down and kiss the King's foot or something.

Then you go back home with your decoration or your title, and you are just as broke as you were before you got it.

Try to flash one of those titles or decorations on a grocer sometime and see what happens.

HERE in America we are more practical.

If you want a uniform and a sword and a grandoise title, you join the Elks or the Shriners or the Eagles and, with all your royal accouterments, you have a darn good time at the convention and don't take all that stuff too seriously.

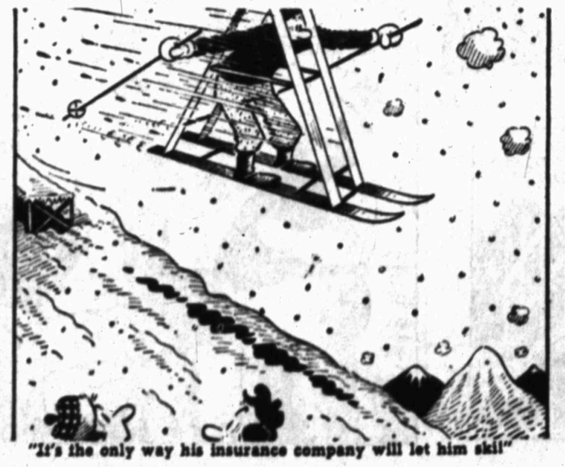

But the real knighthood, the real Star of Success here in America is in a gosh darn good salary or a gosh darn good commission on your sales or a gosh darn good profit on your business.

If you have any sense you don't go around flashing your success into people's eyes in the shape of forty-carat diamond necklaces, rudeness and display.

You take your success modestly. You realize that ability and character are divine gifts. You use your success not only for your own pleasure but in the service of your fellow men.

It isn't the money people sneer at. It's the misuse and the vulgar display of it.

IN SETTING UP ISRAEL

U.S. Played Big Role

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—H. T. R. of Minden, La., raises such a provocative question that his letter of inquiry deserves publication in full. And so sharp is the general sentiment—or passion—on the problem of Palestine that the reply must be more exhaustive than usual, especially as it is based on interviews with top American officials engaged in settlement of the Jewish-Arabian dispute.

TUCKER

Question: "To what extent is the United States responsible for establishment of a Jewish country in Palestine? David Marcus, a West Pointer, is given responsibility for creating the Army of Israel. President Truman seemed in haste to recognize the new state.

ROLE: "The Export-Import Bank has promised a $100,000,000 loan. There have been several news articles dealing with the smuggling of arms from this country to Israel. The press has represented Great Britain as opposed to the establishment of Israel, and Russia as ready to recognize and assist Israel, although possibly for the purpose of embarrassing the U. S. and causing dissension in the Middle East.

"The role played by the U. S. in creating Israel, and the reasons for this policy, which appear to be out-and-out aggression, is a topic of concern among many people. I would appreciate your discussion of it."

POLITICAL: Answer: The United States had an important part in this drama. It is idle to deny that domestic political pressures and considerations, in part at least, have led recent American Presidents to lend their great influence to the movement for a Jewish homeland. In fact, they have made it virtually a national policy.

It may be said, too, that they did so in order to appeal to the Jewish vote in this country. That, however, is no crime. All Presidents and would-be Presidents have "played for" such racial groups as the Irish, the Italians, and Canadians in New England, the Scandinavians in the Middle Northwest, even though their vote-getting actions involved grave foreign issues.

TRUE: Thus it is true that President Truman recognized the new state, both de jure and de facto, "in haste." The Export-Import Bank has promised $100,000,000, but under its charter it cannot do so unless the directors regard the advance as a worth-while investment. As to David Marcus's role in organizing the Army of Israel, he was a West Pointer, but he was a private citizen when he undertook this task.

England did originally oppose the Israelis because of her historic friendship with the Arabian states in this area. In the years before the Palestine question became such a live issue, she negotiated treaties of mutual assistance with them.

London entered the arrangements to preserve her vital lifeline to India, Egypt and Burma, which were then an integral and economically important part of the empire. Arabian aid in both world wars proved of tremendous help to the Allies athwart the bridgehead between the two continents.

INTEREST: Like Britain, the U. S. has an interest in this area—oil—and we cannot afford to have this historically troubled territory become the seat of permanent unrest or possible war. As H. T. R. notes, Russia barged in on the side of the Israelis solely to promote dissension, and to enable her to gain control of Turkey, the Dardanelles and the Eastern Mediterranean.

Here, as elsewhere, Stalin posed as the champion of a small state struggling for independence. For us to have take an opposite stand might have jeopardized our prestige throughout the world, especially in the Balkans, Asia and China.

RECOGNIZED: Given this political and diplomatic background Washington saw a chance to settle this cancerous problem, which also threatened to estrange this country and England. So, here is what happened late in January after months of pourparlers between the American and British capitals:

Despite official denials, the two nations jointly recognized Israeli and Transjordan, England's ally and the most powerful of the Arabian states. The Anglo-American intervention terminated a war that might have created world difficulties, as did the assassin's shot at Sarajevo in 1914 and Hitler's invasion of Poland.

AGGRESSIVE: As to our action being "aggression," that may be true in a sense. But we have assumed the aggressive, in the same way and for the same reasons, in Western Europe, for a while in China, and in Indonesia.

Events seem to indicate that the time has passed, and the world has become too atomically tiny, when a great power like the United States can afford to adopt a mere passive and indifferent attitude toward erupting volcanoes hurling hot lava on our own doorstep.

CHINA: "Have we any China policy, now that the communists seem in a fair way to conquer that vast country, and, if so, what is it?," asks F.M. of San Diego, Cal.

Answer: No, so far as I can discover. We have no China policy except our basic desire to be friendly to these 450,000,000 Orientals. We have discarded Chiang Kai-Shek, due largely to General George C. Marshall's recommendations, and we don't seem to know what to do about his bankrupt government.

We will, naturally, pursue a policy of friendship toward whatever new Government China creates, even if it is a communist creation. We must, or else we shall lose the good will of one-fifth of the world's population.

Here is our main hope, in the event of a complete communist triumph in China:

First, we think, rather wishfully, perhaps, that a communist China will be a nationalistic, domestic product, and not too closely allied to Moscow. The veering-away of certain satellite countries supplies substance to that idea.

Second, should Stalin overrun both China and Asia, President Truman and Secretary Acheson expect that he will have political stomach trouble. He may find it difficult to absorb and digest those sprawling, backward and uncivilized peoples.

Simile: Squeezed as tight as an empty tooth paste tube.

In a small town they know how to get work out of a citizen. They make him feel as if he was running the show.

Some men are so tolerant about religion that they don't care what you believe just so long as you don't preach it to them.

Life is like that. One man has a hard time living down his reputation and another has a hard time living up to his.

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

SOUTHERNER OFFERS PLAN

Compromise Program Is Studied

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The way of the compromiser is hard, even as is that of the transgressor.

This is true especially when the issue involved is as complex and emotional as race relations, which is currently before Congress and the nation in President Truman's civil-rights program.

STOKES

In witness thereof is the case of an earnest and sincere southerner, Rep. Brooks Hays (D., Ark.) who has learned about the hard way of the compromiser since he proposed a compromise civil-rights program a few days ago in a thoughtful speech to the House.

Plan Arouses Interest

Even the suggestion of a compromise on this issue is dangerous to a southerner in public life. Mr. Hays gets no thanks from a large element in the South to which compromise represents a confession to which they refuse to subscribe. On the other hand, he does not go far enough to satisfy those committed to the whole Truman program. He expected from the latter a kind word, maybe a helping hand. But they have avoided him as studiously as the immovable southern element.

His proposals, however, have aroused interest among moderates on this issue, including some leaders in his party, who are swayed by his argument that it is better to get something than nothing. It would not be surprising to see an attempt to work out a compromise program that could bear the Democratic label and attract enough border-line Democratic support, perhaps even among southerners, to give it the substance of a party program.

On civil-rights legislation the House is not, of course, the problem. On several occasions in the past few years that body has passed both anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills, though not under Democratic sponsorship, only to have them filibustered to death by southerners in the Senate. The House is certain to pass these two measures again, if given the opportunity, and might even go further on civil-rights measures.

The Democratic problem, politically, is to get Democratic sponsorship of a program because of President Truman's position and that of the party as enunciated in its platform. That explains the interest in a compromise. It would be ideal to have it come from a southerner.

Rep. Hays' compromise embodies four major points of controversy.

On segregation, the chief stickler in the south, he would go on further than to do away with it in interstate movements which he says would require no federal legislation since the Supreme Court already has established the principle in the Virginia bus case. That is as far as President Truman has gone specifically, though the report of the Civil Rights commission, which he endorsed in general, indicated broader action to outlaw segregation practices now followed in some states.

The Arkansas congressman suggests a constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax, still in effect in seven southern states, instead of a statute by Congress, which seems to be a tortuous and devious way to lift this restriction on the simple right of a free ballot as guaranteed by the Constitution.

Delays Are Seen

On anti-lynching he proposes a law that would permit intervention by the federal government, but only unless and until it was shown that the state attorney general and the governor has exhibited "willful failure" in prosecuting. This is not only so vague as to be almost meaningless and useless, but would cause such delay that the federal government might be seriously handicapped when finally permitted to act, as circumstances in such cases make plain to anybody who understands them.

Instead of a Federal Employment Practices commission to handle discriminations in employment on account of race, creed or color, Rep. Hays would set up a division in the Labor department that would have consultative and advisory authority only.

* * *

While Rep. Hays is to be commended for his courage in going as far as he has, and while his program is persuasive, too, as a matter of practical politics, it begs, in a sense, the essential issue involved. This is that there are basic rights guaranteed in the constitution which hardly can be compromised in justice. They have been compromised since the Civil war, which seems too long.

The weakness of the southern position is the assumption that there is anything to compromise in the first instance.

Henry Irving's "The Bells" was recently played, in Irish, in Dublin.

Knife And Fork Club Speaker Urges Greater Understanding Between Indians, Americans

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

Mrs. David S. Simms, an extensive traveler in South America, last night told members of the Lubbock Knife and Fork club that "the Indian is practically the heart and soul of South America."

The greatest barrier, she said, to understanding between that Indian and ourselves, is that "we do not know what he is up against, because we do not know what real hunger is, while he is always hungry, and does not know what it is like not to be hungry."

At the Knife and Fork club dinner, which was held in Hilton hotel, Clarence Whiteside, president, presided. The invocation was given by Mrs. Ivy Savage. Mrs. Simms was introduced by Mrs. William G. Dingus.

Claimed Under Whip

Mrs. Simms declared that "when North Americans take a trip to South America, we visit the 'edges' of that continent," and hence are not apt to find the heart soul of South America.

By far the majority of the people in South America are "men under the whip," she said. These men under the whip, as are those all over the world, are attempting to rise up and start out to discover what makes "Uncle Sam's children" tick.

"The man under the whip south of the equator wants to know how 'Uncle Sam's children' rule themselves," Mrs. Simms declared. "He's crying out to you. We must reach him before long, and it is getting late," she said.

She declared that religion is the thing that makes people of the United States "tick," the thing which the man under the whip in South America has sought to unravel in the character of the United States. "South America and all the world has figured out that religious freedom is the thing which makes you 'tick,'" she said.

"I was a white-haired woman before I knew about the man under the whip," Mrs. Simms said. "He is crying out to you. We must reach him before long."

But, Mrs. Simms cautioned, "the few at the top cannot bring us together. It has got to be the people who do it."

Noted Russian Composer To Attend Conference In New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. (U.P.)—Dmitri Shostakovich, Russia's noted composer, will be a member of the Soviet delegation to the Cultural and Scientific Conference of World Peace to convene here next month, it was announced today.

Dr. Harlow Shapley, chairman of the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, which is sponsoring the conference, said he had been informed by Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin that Shostakovich had been selected with four others to make up the Russian group.

Pittsburgh Couple Finally Finds Suitable Name For Eighth Son

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21 (AP)—Wellwishers please note: Mr. and Mrs. Albert O. Dietrich have named their eighth son Philbert.

On Saturday the public learned Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich were searching for a name for the newly born brother of Norbert, Albert, Robert, Hubert, Herbert, Wilbert and Gilbert Dietrich.

The news got around and the Dietrichs were swamped with telephone calls and telegrams offering suggestions.

"I'm thankful for the help," Dietrich said last night. "But we've received so many phone calls and telegrams that I'm sorry we even mentioned our problem.

"Just tell everyone he's going to be named Philbert when he's baptized next Sunday."

More than 110,000 bushels of grain were shipped to Omaha, Neb., in 1947.

There are more than 1100 active farmers' cooperatives in the state, and 95 percent of these serve local groups of approximately 200 members each. Eighty-nine new cooperatives were chartered during 1948.

ACTING PRESIDENT SEEKS BACKING

Chinese Nationalist Front Is Threatened By Cabinet Crisis

BY PETER LIU
INS Staff Correspondent

NANKING, Feb. 21—China's acting president Li Tsung-Jen was reported Monday to be rallying support in an attempt to unify his government in the face of a threatened cabinet crisis.

Li's sudden departure from the capital for Canton Sunday was believed to be an effort to create a solid Nationalist front on the question of making peace with the Communists.

Authoritative quarters in Nanking believe Li will ask Premier Sun Fo and the Chinese cabinet to return to Nanking and accept Li's announced policy of making every effort to end the civil war short of outright surrender.

Would Okay Terms

Li has agreed to accept the Reds' eight point surrender demands as a starting point at least for negotiations looking toward an armistice.

Sun, however, who fled with the cabinet to Canton with the announced intention of setting up a provisional government there, has declared the Communist ultimatum must be relaxed. He also indicated that he might seek to lead further resistance against the Reds if they don't soften their attitude.

Unless Li can bring Sun over to his way of thinking, a new government crisis appears to be in the making.

The Chinese Central News agency in Nanking reported that to strengthen his position and collect support for his policy Li will visit a number of other influential leaders while he is away from Nanking.

Yuan Plans Nanking Meet

The agency reported Li will stop in Kweilin, his native city. He was expected to contact some of the lieutenants on whose support he depends to a large extent in the effort to achieve enough influence in the Nationalist military clique for his forthcoming talks with the Reds.

Li is also expected to visit Gen. Chen Chien in Changsa who, it is believed, would support Li in the event of a complete Nationalist rift.

The threat of a government crisis appeared when the legislative Yuan decided to meet in Nanking.

Since the legislative Yuan dominates the cabinet headed by Sun, the decision suggested the possibility that the legislative Yuan might oust the cabinet if it persists in refusals to return to Nanking.

Some observers in Nanking believe such a break in the Nationalist government could result in a separate peace for the Nanking-Shanghai area.

DISEASE TO BE STUDIED

Water Plan Proposed

possible to catch the waters of the Mississippi near Minneapolis and the waters of the Missouri near Omaha and turn them toward the southwest.

"Engineers, whom we believe, say that there are in the western regions, old, lost and dried up water courses which can be used to throw the resultant flow of water all through the area . . . if they are linked together by canals and cuts.

"For how much? For less, they say, than the Panama canal cost us, and for many times more profit.

River Traffic Discussed

"Will the main course of the Mississippi be ruined for present and future river traffic? On the contrary it will be immensely improved, for there will be less filling up and twisting around of channels from floods. The Mississippi land basin itself will, of course, be immensely improved by the steadying of its water flow."

The Times-Herald said the Mississippi in its present shape, structure and flow is "utterly untamable."

"He lies there coiled in the middle of the nation, slippery-sliding incredible tons of silent energy past 2,470 miles of willows and sandbanks, idly squirting millions upon millions of gallons of valuable fresh water and irreplaceable topsoil out to sea . . .

Flood Waste Scored

"He waits until we have invested another flock of millions on new works along his banks, until the towns are edged right up to the waterline and the plantations are settled and dry. Then he heaves, just once, and leaves the middle of the nation sopping wet. Lives are lost, towns are ruined, farms are washed away and malaria and other fevers get a new grip on the whole south central U. S. A. . . .

"The Mississippi basin is swamped with too much water, uncontrollable and wasted where it is, and the western plains are parched for the lack of water into unusuable and wasted emptiness.

"The obvious thing, therefore, is to swap some dryness to the Mississippi region and some wetness to the west."

New City Manager

here about March 1. Matthews will be at the Hilton hotel until then.

Matthews is a native of Commerce, Texas, and a graduate in government of East Texas State Teachers college there. He holds a master's degree and has done extensive post-graduate work in business administration.

He has resided in Northwest Texas since 1939. He was city manager at Borger a year — the youngest such manager in Texas at the age of 26. He then went to Pampa as manager, obtaining a leave of absence in 1942 to enter active service in the navy. His service included two and one-half years of combat duty in Europe, North Africa and the Pacific.

Returning to Pampa after the war, he entered the laundry business and maintained that connection when the city commission there "drafted" him as city manager in 1947.

To Retain Business Holding

He will retain his business holdings in Pampa, but will not have an active part in their management.

His salary in Lubbock is $12,000 a year, the amount paid Smith.

The resigning manager has resumed his partnership with Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, consulting engineers. Smith was city manager from 1941 until 1943, resigning to help organize the engineering partnership. He was city engineer about 15 years before becoming city manager.

Smith again was appointed city manager, starting March 1, 1948, succeeding Homer Hunter, now a consulting engineer with headquarters in Dallas.

Democrats To Meet the platform adopted by the party at the September convention in Fort Worth.

There was some talk that the executive committee might be inclined to call the legislature's attention to the entire platform.

Often in the past, legislatures have met and adjourned without so much as a glance at recently-adopted Democratic party platforms.

Nineteen of the 23 motion pictures shown in Tehran, Iran, on the same day recently were American.
